Busing OKd For Special Children

By BILL SCOTT Transportation for trainable mentally retarded children will be provided by the District School Board to classes at Longwood starting Monday. This was promised to a group of TMR parents Tuesday morning by Supt. John Angel.

The group included Charles Kampf, past president of Little Red School House; James Ryan, chairman of Seminole Retarded Children Association; Wendell Agos, vice chairman; and other TMR parents who met with Angel and requested the School Board's help in obtaining transportation for the approximately 40 children from seven to 15 years who attend two classes at Longwood Elementary School.

These children from the Sanford, Geneva, Goldenrod, Chuluota, Oviedo, Forest City, Altamonte Springs and Casselberry areas are eligible to attend the Longwood facility, which is composed of two classes consisting of ages seven-11 and 12-15.

Kampf stated the group was frustrated that Angel had listened to the problem and had agreed to do something about the lack of transportation that until now had been left up to parents to furnish. Mrs. Joseph Tindall, a TMR parent, said she was pleased at the reception Angel had accorded the parents group.

David Pierce, another TMR parent, stressed that it was important that a unit consisting of 10 TMR children not be lost to the county if not enough eligible children attended the classes, which begin at 9 a.m. and last until 2:30 p.m. each weekday.

Angel told The Herald that he expected to lease a vehicle, probably an eight-to-10 passenger station wagon, for the hauling since this would eliminate the need to have to furnish a yellowed vehicle with special equipment if a van was used. Angel said, "These children need to be in school now since teachers have been hired and funds approved for that purpose."

LAND USE PLAN It was emphasized that this is just a land use plan and does not affect the zoning in any particular area. Also yesterday afternoon the Commissioners approved the transfer of two desks and two chairs from the Food Stamp Program to the County Commission's office and authorized the clerk of Circuit Court to purchase five electric typewriters with trade in for $2,100 from excess fees.

Paving Would Make It 'Beautiful Drag Strip'

"If Rantoul Lane is paved, it will make a beautiful drag strip." So stated James Ryan when he appeared before the county commission yesterday with a petition from residents of the area relative to the traffic situation.

Ryan said that there had been three serious accidents recently in which the cars were totaled. He continued that although there was posted a 25 mile limit and subsequently a 15 mile limit, a hidden entrance sign on both sides of the road that these merely gave speeders a "target to aim at" and that they were "abusing over the hill at 65 miles." Ryan said that it was virtually impossible to see traffic when emerging from Par Place, and that the only way that he avoided accidents was to "make a hasty exit into the orange grove." The spokesman continued that "law feels that anyone coming out of Par Place is part and parcel of the accident." Ryan suggested as a solution reduction of the hill elevation or the installation of concave mirrors.

Commission Chairman John Alexander injected that the road department had put up every conceivable sign for prudent drivers.

Reed, who has recommended establishing the police academy at Tallahassee, appeared before the State Cabinet Tuesday in an effort to continue to push for the state capital location at an expected $1 million cost, while, at the same time, Sanford Industrial Commission director David Kelley, Sheriff John Polk and Moore were seeking approval of the airport structure for $20,000 yearly lease.

Apparently, the invitation to Reed will be an effort by the city to overcome his objections to the local facility by having the executive and his staff inspect the facility first hand.

Kelley, Moore and Sheriff Polk have indicated that despite the interests and some efforts by other state municipalities and counties, only Tallahassee is considered a major problem in getting Cabinet approval for the Sanford site.

A delay came at this week's Cabinet session after a delegation from Southeast Florida asked that the matter be withdrawn in favor of allocating funds to various state regions for police training to be done on the local levels at state junior colleges.

The delay was reported to be for a two-week period but it is believed that because of the present political climate of the state no decision will be made on an academy location until after the Nov. 3 elections.

Airport Building Inspection Invited

William Reed, Florida Department of Law Enforcement head, has been invited to come to Sanford and personally inspect Sanford Airport building 310 for use as a site for the proposed State Police Training Academy. This was disclosed yesterday by Mayor L. P. Moore, who stated that Reed and his key staff members will be asked to visit Sanford Wednesday by city and county officials.

Reed, who has recommended establishing the police academy at Tallahassee, appeared before the State Cabinet Tuesday in an effort to continue to push for the state capital location at an expected $1 million cost, while, at the same time, Sanford Industrial Commission director David Kelley, Sheriff John Polk and Moore were seeking approval of the airport structure for $20,000 yearly lease.

SIC Serves Notice What Are Page's Plans?

By BILL SCOTT Sanford Industrial Commission (SIC) at this morning's meeting served notice of intentions to have a complete fixed base operator (FBO) service at the Sanford Airport, when it unanimously approved a motion by W. E. Knowles, member, to request a meeting with Page Airways, Inc., to find out what plans the present FBO has to provide all aircraft services at the airport.

The motion came after Sanford Aviation Inc. (SAB) representatives Lloyd Shoemaker and Kenneth McIntosh, SAI attorney, appeared for the second time to request the SIC consider them for a second fixed base operator.

At their first appearance one month ago, the SIC advised SAI to talk with Page Airways about working toward some form of agreement whereby both could serve as FBO's at the airport. The meeting with Page and McIntosh said it was the aim of SAI to bring private airplane owners to the airport, but Page had indicated these would be come customers as it was Page that first developed the airport's business.

Since it appeared there was no way to work out a cooperative agreement with Page, McIntosh said he would like to request the SAI original offer for an independent FBO operation.

He said SAI had proposed to bring in an aviation school, airplane sales, charter service, hanger and tie-down service, and radio repair.

World Confab For Peace in SE Asia Proposed

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

Five Points

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a new five-point bid to end the war in Vietnam, President Nixon has called for a standstill cease-fire throughout Indochina.

1.—I propose that all armed forces throughout Indochina cease firing their weapons and remain in the positions they now hold.

2.—I propose an immediate and unconditional release of all prisoners of war held by both sides.

3.—We are ready to negotiate and agree immediately for complete withdrawal as part of an overall settlement. We are prepared to withdraw all our forces . . .

4.—I ask the other side to join in a search for a political settlement that truly meets the aspirations of all South Vietnamese.

5.—I propose the immediate and unconditional release of all prisoners of war held by both sides.

and a big new international conference to negotiate peace for Southeast Asia.

"Our side is ready to stand still and cease firing," Nixon said in a series of television and radio addresses in a speech from the White House Wednesday night. He urged North Vietnam to start serious negotiations promptly.

"Nobody has anything to gain by delay and only lives to lose," he said.

At one point in the 12-minute speech he offered to negotiate "an agreed timetable" for troop withdrawals from South Vietnam without specifying numbers as a condition. But adds said Nixon was talking about a schedule for removing North Vietnamese as an assembly members meeting in Hanoi.

Egyptians Select President

By United Press International

Anwar Sadat emerged as Egypt's interim president today and with a pledge to follow the policies of Gamal Abdel Nasser appeared likely to win the Oct. 15 national plebiscite by an overwhelming majority and to rule Egypt for the next six years.

Unanimously nominated to the presidency by 350 national assembly members meeting in extraordinary session Wednesday night, the former two-time vice president spelled out a six-point program in a 20-minute acceptance speech closely turned to Nasser's foreign and domestic policies.

Sadat pledged to press Egypt's "conflict of destiny" with Israel, vowed to recover all the territory seized by Israel during the 1967 June war and to lead the Palestinian Liberation Movement in following the goals of his predecessor, with whom he was closely associated since 1952.

In Jordan, Amman Radio said the Arab officials who organized a cease-fire between the Palestinian guerrillas and troops loyal to King Hussein during the Jordanian civil war worked out a new agreement today to govern "relations between the belligerents."

The more detailed version of the original cease-fire pact signed Sept. 27 by Arab kings and heads of state was designed to ensure peaceful coexistence between both sides and to plug loopholes in the original accord which said the guerrillas should move to "places suitable for commando action" but did not define those places.

Water, Oil in Beef Raising Questions

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says demands for thicker beef sandwiches at fast-food shops are raising questions over how much water should be used to make them seem that way.

Adding water to some meat and poultry is allowed as long as it is part of a mixture intended to improve the food's tenderness or taste.

It cannot be added if the only objective is to increase its weight or size.

But the regulations have not spelled out to government satisfaction the practice of adding water or oil mixtures to partially cooked meat demanded by the nation's thriving drive-in and quick-snack trade.

"These products—beef was considered as an example—are treated during processing with a flavoring or tenderizing solution, partly cooked and then passed on to the retail food shops.

"At the drive-in, cooking can be completed quickly and because of the earlier treatment the meat is juicier for sandwich consumers.

Current regulations generally limit the extra water or oil mixtures to three per cent in the case of meat and six per cent for poultry.

"The department announced Wednesday it has given temporary approval for using solutions as long as labeling on the products carrying a list of ingredients is bold and clearly understood by users.

"Solutions approved thus far range from 2 to 10 per cent of the weight of the meat product, and 3 to 6 per cent of the weight of the poultry product."

A spokesman for the consumer and marketing service said the temporary approval had been in effect for several weeks and was directed primarily to wholesale or institutional meats and not items generally found in supermarkets.

But the matter is far from settled. The department announcement also asked public comment on the possibility of changing federal regulations so specific limits can be put on the amount of liquid mixtures used in meat and poultry.

"We want to get out more about it," the consumer agency official said. "It is all so relatively new that we need to gather all the information we can."

Another popular example of recent years are the "self-basting" turkeys available at retail food stores.

The turkeys are injected with mixtures of liquid fats or water and seasoning. The liquid helps spread the tenderizing or seasoning agents so the bird is juicier and more tender.

Communies In Major Thrust

By FRANK PROSCH

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Thousands of North Vietnamese and Chinese troops attacked a 16 battalion Cambodian force around the town of Tang Kau today in what the Cambodian government said was the largest Communist thrust of the war.

"I must tell you that our situation is deteriorating; that our situation is very, very serious," said Maj. Am Rong, the official Cambodian military spokesman. "It appears to be the largest Communist offensive of the war."

Am Rong said intelligence estimates showed between 7,000 and 10,000 Communist troops were trying to overrun the Cambodian troops, the most assembled in the Cambodian campaign and stalled since Sept. 25 at Tang Kau, 52 miles north of Phnom Penh.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese also attacked Cambodian forces at Prakhlan, 46 miles north of the Capital and at Kompong Chhnang, 38 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. The attacks all began at dusk Wednesday and continued into this morning.

"We are sitting directly on their supply lines and they want them back," Am Rong said. "This is why there is a battle at Tang Kau."

The Cambodian force began at Skoun, 17 miles south of Tang Kau in an attempt to clear Highway 6 to Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of Phnom Penh. The Cambodian force began with eight battalions and grew to 16 battalions or nearly 10,000 men by the time it captured Tang Kau.

Officials Decline Comment

Two officials of Chase and Company, Sanford, declined to comment at this time on the lodging in Orlando's U.S. District Court yesterday of a suit charging the vast agriculture interests with stock manipulations in violation of the Federal Securities and Exchange Act of 1934.

S. O. Chase Jr. and Lee P. Moore, both of Sanford, are defendants along with Randall Chase and J. W. Chase in the suit filed by John E. and Dorothy Bolt of Seminole County, now living in Gainesville, both reserved any comments on the suit until they have had the opportunity to discuss the case with attorneys.

Moore, who is also Sanford mayor, said he had not been served and would have to wait until later to comment on the suit. Moore did disclose that Mrs. Bolt was his wife's sister.

Chase stated, "I have not seen any pertinent yet on the case; the records are here and we will stand on the records."

The Bolt's claimed the defendants acquired stock in 1960 to 1961 in a series of transactions and set the price at five. City Attorney S. J. Davis was authorized to prepare the budget ordinance.

War Purse Strings Studied By Solons

By JIM ADAMS

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — New efforts to draw Congress' purse strings on the Indochina war and pull U.S. troops out were promised in the House today based on the heels of President Nixon's cease-fire proposal.

Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Min., Other amendments being drafted for the $66.7 billion defense appropriation bill as it went before the House today.

—Clamp a $65 billion lid on the bill, leaving to the Pentagon the decision on where to cut the extra $1.7 billion.

—Direct a $0,000-man reduction of U.S. troops in Europe.

—Trim the Safeguard missile system, although critics were uncertain before the debate how much they should try to cut—or if they should try at all since almost all Safeguard funding has been approved recently by the House.

The bill, trimmed $2 billion from President Nixon's $68.7 billion request in committee, contains an additional $417 million for Navy ships and cuts $12 million for four proposed Safeguard sites feared to be Chinese attack.

It appropriates all $38 million Nixon asked for boosting South Vietnam's combat ability as part of the administration's Vietnamization program.

The committee's major slice was a $1.5 billion cutback in dozens of weapons development and purchase projects.

Most major weapons systems—including MIRV nuclear warheads, the US supersonic jet, the F111 fighting fighter and F14 and F15 fighters—got full funding. Almost no weapons were eliminated.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Highlights of President Nixon's broadcast to the nation on "a major new initiative for peace" in Indochina:

CEASE-FIRE — "I propose that all armed forces throughout Indochina cease firing their weapons and remain in the positions they now hold. This would be a 'cease-fire-in-place' for the United States if you wish."

PRINCIPLES — "The cease-fire 'must be effectively supervised by international observers.' Neither side must build up its strength during the truce. All kinds of warfare, including bombing and acts of terror—just stop. It must apply not only to the fighting in Vietnam but to all of Indochina, including Laos and Cambodia."

PEACE CONFERENCE — "The Paris talks, seeking peace in Vietnam, are too narrowly based for a war that now encompasses Laos and Cambodia as well. He proposed the convening of 'an international conference to deal with the conflict in all three states of Indochina.'"

U.S. TROOP WITHDRAWALS — "We are ready to negotiate an agreed timetable for complete withdrawal of all U.S. forces 'as part of an overall settlement' in Indochina. The United States is 'prepared to be flexible on many matters' in negotiating a peace settlement, but will insist on two basic principles. First, there must be a political solution that 'reflects the will of the South Vietnamese people' rather than one which imposes a predetermined regime upon them. Second, the settlement must 'reflect the existing relationship of political forces'—that is, the realistic balance of power between the contending parties.

PRISONERS — "Finally, I propose the immediate and unconditional release of all prisoners of war held by both sides. This includes 'all journalists and other innocent civilian victims of the conflict.'"

Professor Invents Computer

FTU — An engineering professor at Florida Technological University has joined the ranks of inventors with a small mechanical computer designed to solve complex problems in the field of stress and strain.

Word that a patent has been granted for his "Gimmo" has been received by Professor Gerald C. Ward, a retired Air Force colonel who joined the FTU faculty from Northwestern University in 1968.

The name of the device stems partially from the inventor's Air Force days. It's a combination of "gimmie" (defined as "something whose name is forgotten . . .") and the name of German mathematician Otto Mohr, who developed "Mohr's Circle," a geometric method used by engineers to determine stresses at a given point.

What Ward's device does is speed up the process of solving the problems, which otherwise would require more difficult calculations or geometric solutions, using Mohr's circular analogy.

The Gimmo, a box-like affair which is rotated on an axis and whose innards are a complex series of brass gears, was first unveiled by Ward during the last International Congress of Engineering Education. Since then, he has had inquiries from fellow engineers and educators from such far away places as Australia, Turkey, India, and South America.

"It simply shows that mathematics is an intrinsical language," said the affable Ward. Since receiving all those queries, he's decided to release the Gimmo a bit, then try and interest a manufacturer.

He also would like to scale down the Gimmo to tabletop size for use outside the classroom by design engineers.

One application of a smaller model would be by aeronautical engineers who must determine the stress on rocket skins and jet engine parts, for example.

In the college classroom, the normal-size Gimmo would be "a great help, especially to young instructors," Ward believes.

He hopes that, unlike the gimmo, the Gimmo will not become something whose name is forgotten.

FTU Enrollment Triples Over Two-Year Period

Final registration figures released today show that enrollment at Florida Technological University has more than tripled from what it was in the days FTU began its first classes, two years ago this week.

From the original 1,500 students who started classes when FTU was still a here-located campus has come a student body that now stands at 5,000.

In those two years, the campus has changed from an almost deserted-like appearance to an oasis of green, with paved parking lots galore, lustful landscaping, and most important, additional buildings to absorb the increase in student input.

The question now is whether the growth of the campus will keep pace with the anticipated rise in enrollment over the next several years. Estimates at last stage show 27,000-plus students by the end of the decade.

For Natural Gas

North Orlando Grants Franchise

By MARION BRETHER
NORTH ORLANDO — Village Attorney Thomas Freeman has prepared an ordinance granting a franchise to Florida Public Utilities for the Village with natural gas.

Prior to the approval representatives of the concern and those of the present supplier, Suburban Propane, gave brief presentations in support of their application for franchise.

Florida Public Utilities cited the advantages of the natural gas and said that they "would be ready to supply the Village before the ordinance is passed."

Suburban Propane, however, said they had "given good, fine service for six years." Further, that they had 24 of their own reservoirs, that there was no problem of a shortage of gas, and asked for consideration that the council consider "our 183 customers who are our friends . . . the people want us here . . . we ask to be allowed to continue under the present franchise . . . we have shown that we can perform."

BUILDING ROOM

In other business the council was told that the building boom was continuing in the Village with its many homes under construction under the 215 program. Mayor Clifford Jordan stated that the Village had been approached by the County Commission relative to paying a stretch of Tustawilla Road lying within the city.

This would be under the usual criteria of the county furnishing the labor and the city the materials. Jordan said that he told the commission that if they decided that this was a connecting road, it was needed by the county, the Village would give the "go ahead."

Otherwise, he said, the Village had no interest. Council approved a re-plot of a portion of North Orlando Towneats Fourth Addition. Brian Sanders representing J. Hilbert Sapp said that the developer had made provision for a new entranceway on Charles Street and requested acceptance of a one-year maintenance bond. He provided a certificate of unencumbered status, tax receipt, surveyor's certificate, etc.

Nobel Prize Winner

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Russian author Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn whose works are banned at home but read and admired abroad, today won the 1970 Nobel Prize for Literature.

The prize carried a cash award of $75,000.

The 52-year-old author of "One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich," "Gulag Archipelago" and "The First Circle" had been a leading candidate for the award for several years.

Many literary experts believed that the Swedish Academy of Letters would choose to ignore him because of the political implications attached to his name.

Solzhenitsyn, who was expelled from the Soviet Writers' Union earlier this year, was one of two candidates remaining when the academy went to vote.

The other was Australian novelist, Patrick White, who missed out for the second time.

Political Fireworks: No Insurance Rate Remedy

Political fireworks, presented by that master of such eye-filling spectacles as Gov. Claude R. Kirk, has a habit of providing should be avoided in the one-day session of the state legislature which opens in Tallahassee tomorrow.

Especially is this true when the facts which preceded the increases in auto insurance rates by several of the top insurance companies is allowed to be viewed with clarity, judgment and reason.

Governor Kirk, seeking a second term, is not the one who seeks such solutions of problems. He is much more the habit of jumping on an issue which has aroused public emotions, aligning himself with the popular side and riding it along the headlines until events show it to be unprofitable politically.

It is almost alarming for thoughtful voters in Florida to read that their chief executive, expecting strong opposition from the insurance industry, warns that "... if anybody gangs up on Kirk, Kirk gangs up on them!"

No doubt that this knight-errant pose of the Republican governor catches the eye, arouses the emotions and produces a momentary plus for the gubernatorial candidate of the GOP.

We certainly agree with those who see these boosts in auto insurance premiums as another hard blow on the family pocketbook. We would like them stopped and rolled back.

But if this is the goal of the one-day session, then any flamboyant oratory which would substitute sound and fury for the sober operation of law is much more the habit of jumping on an issue which has aroused public emotions, aligning himself with the popular side and riding it along the headlines until events show it to be unprofitable politically.

We are also quite aware that the entire operation of the state insurance commissioner's office is in a state of flux with the lame-duck occupant, Edward Williams defeated in the primary and the two hopefuls — Democrat Tom O'Malley of Miami and Senator Tom Slade of Jacksonville, GOP nominee — fighting it out on the sidelines.

Probably what needs to be kept in mind is that the present "California plan" insurance regulations allow the companies to fix rates and then have those rates surveyed by the state insurance office to justify the amounts.

This is what the companies have done. The most competent authorities point out that any freeze or rollback of rates attempted by the state legislature would be under attack in the courts as unconstitutional.

Commissioner Williams, whose defeat in the primary was caused by a vigorous attack on the California plan by Mr. O'Malley, considers the session inspired purely by political motivations.

In a sobering comment, the Insurance Commissioner has also pointed out that the matter of rates is technical, is under study by the Department of Transportation where more than $3 million has been spent for this purpose, and cannot logically be solved in a one-day session.

Of course, there is another fact that should not be overlooked. The bill creating the rules under which the insurance companies are operating was passed by the legislature in 1967 where Senator Slade was sitting and was signed by Governor Kirk.

What is most disturbing about the Kirk actions in this insurance matter are the flamboyance of his words and the confrontation embedded in his challenge to the insurance industry.

There is an issue. There is a problem. There is a proper way for Florida to handle the matter without once more allowing the national spotlight to center on flamboyant performances.

Good government would not have allowed this to have developed. Good government would have been about the business of government. Good government is, after all, the real issue of the November elections.

Pork Barrels

Economist Peter Drucker once wrote, "The moment government undertakes anything, it becomes entrenched and permanent." Frightening affirmation of Mr. Drucker's thesis can be seen in the steady expansion of government programs that cost the taxpayers untold billions of dollars.

One of these programs, known as "aid to federally impacted areas" is the subject of a revealing article in The Reader's Digest by the Digest's Washington Editor, Kenneth O. Gilmore. Mr. Gilmore reports that Presidents Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon have sought to stop the outflow from this particular pork barrel.

According to Mr. Gilmore, it is a device by which vote-seeking politicians can practically guarantee themselves votes. This particular federal spending program was conceived in 1950 as an emergency measure to help local school districts that were being inundated by large numbers of "federal" school children — children whose parents worked at government installations.

Mr. Gilmore finds that the program which began with a modest $30 million outlay has soared to more than a half billion dollar annual subsidy to 4,500 school districts across the nation. Today, although only 2.8 million children are actually "federally connected," half of the nation's 45 million public-school pupils attend schools now receiving impact aid.

Speaking of Mr. Nixon's attempts to trim the sails of the impact aid pork barrel, author Gilmore says, the President's "... recommendations to revamp or eliminate government programs that no longer serve the general public interest, if they are to be successful, must be backed to the hilt by an aroused citizenry." This can mean but one thing—vote against the spender.

Domestic Comment: Faster U.S. Withdrawal Urged

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — This reporter has spent considerable time in recent months talking with men close to President Nixon and the leaders of his major opposition in the South Vietnam Senate and elsewhere.

Most of these men have wide military-governance experience. Most would like to see the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops out of the country. Almost all are hawks. They are strongly anti-Communist.

Without exception, they believe the time is ripe for President Nixon to sharply increase U.S. troop withdrawals.

They believe this will help win the war.

Their personal estimates vary. One, a very strong hawk, has stated privately that the South Vietnamese anti-Communist organization and who holds a strong position in the Senate intend to withdraw all U.S. troops from the country by the end of 1971. He said that if all goes well, it will be practical for the United States to withdraw all troops—except a modest residual force—by the end of 1971. ## Global Comment: Cuban-Soviet Missile Crisis

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

On Oct. 22 it will be exactly eight years ago that President John F. Kennedy sent a tremor of fear through the free world with his announcement that the Soviet Union had established offensive missile bases in Cuba.

He declared: "This secret, swift and extraordinary build-up of Communist missiles in an area well known to have a special and historical relationship to the United States and the nations of the Western Hemisphere, in violation of Soviet assurances, and in defiance of American and hemispheric policy—this sudden, clandestine decision to station strategic weapons for the first time outside of Soviet soil is a deliberately provocative and unambiguous change in the status quo which cannot be accepted" by the U.S.

The President declared further that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko deliberately had lied to him about the bases.

It was a month later, on Nov. 20 that the President announced Russia's agreement to remove the missiles from Cuba and to prevent their reintroduction in the future. He added: "If all offensive weapons are removed from Cuba and kept out ... and if Cuba is not used for the export of aggressive Communist purposes, there will be peace in the Caribbean."

With this backward look into history, we come to the present.

President Nixon has just returned from a show-the-flag mission to the Mediterranean and a forceful reminder to the Russians that the U.S. 6th Fleet, the most powerful naval force ever assembled, is in the Mediterranean ready to back up any U.S. diplomatic move.

In the Atlantic and the Caribbean, Soviet warships are proving an equally forceful reminder of growing Soviet ## Helen Fuller Says: That Old HC Of L Still Booms Along!

WASHINGTON — Eyes of officials in all countries are riveted on what will come in the Middle East after Nasser.

But the reality from which the President is temporarily relieved by visiting foreign capitals and U.S. battleships at sea, is the persisting worry of the high cost of living.

This past month that cost rose 4.7 per cent. The price of food alone went up 2.7 per cent above the already sky-high level. It is a rare family, except in the upper-income brackets, who want shopping last week without coming home, not only without any change, but with a hole in their pockets.

Who to blame? That still is what most people don't know and the politicians running for election in November would like to find out.

Don Oakley Says: Halting Cruelty

By DON OAKLEY
NEA Editorialist

For more than 30 years, the American Humane Association, in co-operation with the U.S. film industry, has kept an eye on the treatment of animals used in pictures.

But just as Hollywood has been plagued with "runaway" film production, in which producers move to foreign locations to save production costs, runaway cruelty to animals—sometimes extending to actual killing—has created new problems for the association.

On several occasions, action through the International Society for the Protection of Animals, the Royal SPCA and other agencies has stopped planned cruelty to animals in foreign films. However, the lack of humane standards in some countries is a major concern.

Ex-Convict Facing Charges

DADE CITY, Fla. (AP) — Henry Thomas Ashley is scheduled for grand jury action next Tuesday on charges he killed five people in robberies amounting to less than $500.

State Atty. James Russell said, however, the 27-year-old Ashley could go before a justice of the peace for a hearing before then.

Ashley, identified by Russell as an ex-convict from Virginia, was picked up at a Jacksonville bus station and returned to Pasco County, ending a four-day manhunt.

Officers said he had less than $12 when arrested. He carried a suitcase which was turned over to laboratory detectives. Contents were not disclosed.

Ashley is accused of fatally shooting two couples in a roadside bar and a young hitch-hiker whose body was found along a Gulf coast beach in New Port Richey Sunday.

He was picked up on a federal fugitive warrant in a bus terminal Tuesday. Authorities said he was waiting to board a bus for St. Petersburg.

Ashley had been arrested in St. Petersburg last week on a concealed weapons charge and was on $500 bond.

The FBI said agents had been making routine checks of transportation terminals since Monday when a car Ashley was believed driving was found abandoned in Dade City.

During his arraignment in Jacksonville Ashley spoke to confirm his name and sign a bond, clearing the way for Pasco County authorities.

He was shackled and taken by car to Dade City. En route authorities stopped along Interstate 95 to search a pasture.

Officials said the murder weapon has not been found.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dorn and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Valania, whose bodies were found in Dorn's Hideaway Restaurant and Richard La Plante, 19.

Pasco County Sheriff Basil Gaines said 10 spent 22 caliber shells were found in the bar and seven to 10 near La Plante's body.

State News

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charges that Office of Economic Opportunity cash is financing a newspaper which attacks police through articles and cartoons will be checked by OEO investigators, Rep. William C. Cramer said Wednesday.

The Florida Republican congressman presented members of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee with several copies of "Muck Rake," a mimeographed publication Cramer said is published in Belle Glade Youth-COBY.

Spokesmen for COBY said the group is financed in the OEO program but say the paper is published with outside funds.

Cramer said he learned of the OEO involvement with Muck Rake on a recent trip to Florida, and advised OEO director Donald Rumsfeld of the situation Tuesday.

"The congressman said Rumsfeld indicated he would send investigators down there right away."

At the committee meeting Cramer quoted from several editions and displayed several anti-police cartoons, among them one which depicted four members of COBY being lynched by a uniformed policeman. A bystander asked the policeman if he thought "this will stand up in court."

Still another cartoon compared local police to the Ku Klux Klan.

Cramer said the OEO money stemmed from the Florida Rural Legal Services, an OEO agency in Belle Glade which he said has been instrumental in assisting with the publication of Muck Rake.

Cramer also said FRLS has helped COBY fight criminal charges in Belle Glade stemming from accusations that COBY is practicing extortion against local businessmen.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The market's present dull performance should give way to a "sparkling" rally within the next few weeks, Spear and Staff says.

The firm bases its prognosis on the probability that investors will respond to likely administration-directed boosting of the economy prior to the November elections.

Some slowing of the money stimulation seems likely once the elections are over so that inflation and speculation do not defeat the good that has been accomplished, Harris, Upham & Co. observes.

The current period is a difficult one in which to size up the market's prospects, the firm says, but the artificiality of the pre-election period will disappear early in November.

No-Fault Auto Insurance Law Is Pushed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A no-fault auto insurance law passed recently by the Massachusetts Legislature takes effect Wednesday called for elimination of the fault system of settling auto insurance claims.

"The only way to achieve substantial savings for the public in auto insurance is for the Legislature to get rid of the present law suit system of settling insurance claims and to adopt a new system which will compensate all injured victims for their actual losses without having to fix the blame for the crash," said T. Lawrence Jones, president of the American Insurance Association.

The record simply will not substantiate the government's charge that insurance companies are profiteering in auto insurance at the expense of the Florida public," Jones said.

"If anything, it's the other way around. The public is receiving insurance protection for considerably less than it costs insurance companies to furnish it."

Jones commented in New York after Kirk, who has called for special legislation session for Friday to roll back recent auto insurance rate increases, attacked the industry even as it

Raiford Hospital Conditions 'Poor'

By JOHN VAN GIESON
Associated Press Writer

RAIFORD, Fla. (AP) — A young prisoner wheeled a tray of hypodermics into Ward J West at Florida State Prison Hospital and rattled to skinnily emaciated David Rich.

Rich uttered the drug string on his filthy pajama bottoms. The other prisoner stuck the needle into Rich's buttocks.

Paraplegic Daniel Benitez, confined to a wheelchair by a bullet that severed his spinal cord, gestured toward his unfeeling thigh. The other prisoner stuck the needle into Benitez's leg.

At Raiford prisoners are not allowed to give other prisoners medication.

"I'll check that personally because they're not supposed to give shots," Warden Don Hass further said later when asked about the incident. "The nurses and the orderlies are supposed to give shots."

Hospital Medical Director Dr. Delton G. Linnecomb said two days later the incident was under investigation.

While the hospital did not seem the chamber horrors depicted by Jack Anderson in columns distributed widely last week, an after-the-fact visit this week turned up numerous details that seemed improper.

Among the findings: —Prisoners complained of poor medical treatment. —They were no significant therapy or rehabilitation programs for handicapped prisoners like Benitez or for the drug addicts confined at Raiford without criminal convictions. —Cockroaches that Anderson said "skittered up the walls" were not to be seen. But hundreds of flies buzzed through screened windows and crawled all over exposed food supplies. A hospital official said convicts destroy window screens. —The hospital was greatly overcrowded. The medical staff worked under a staggering burden.

Whoops Sailors Go Mod

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — The main barber shop at the Naval Training Center is doing a rush-order business on mod-style wigs from sailors whose crew cuts apparently turn the strict off.

The wigs, in 18 colors, sell for $13.50 each, and Claude Woodward, personnel services officer, said "we will style them, cut them and trim them."

The barber shop started selling the wigs after getting the idea from the Navy ship's store officer in Brooklyn, Woodward said.

"The sailors had a hard time getting dates," with their cropped, regulation hair styles, he said.

"They are supposed to be for the younger generation, but the older generation is buying them," Woodward said. "We've had a couple of chiefs who have bought them. The chiefs know where the action is."

Grand Jury Eyes 5 Murders

DADE CITY, Fla. (AP) — Henry Thomas Ashley is scheduled for grand jury action next Tuesday on charges he killed five people in robberies amounting to less than $500.

State Atty. James Russell said, however, the 27-year-old Ashley could go before a justice of the peace for a hearing before then.

Ashley, identified by Russell as an ex-convict from Virginia, was picked up at a Jacksonville bus station and returned to Pasco County, ending a four-day manhunt.

Officers said he had less than $12 when arrested. He carried a suitcase which was turned over to laboratory detectives. Contents were not disclosed.

Ashley is accused of fatally shooting two couples in a roadside bar and a young hitch-hiker whose body was found along a Gulf coast beach in New Port Richey Sunday.

He was picked up on a federal fugitive warrant in a bus terminal Tuesday. Authorities said he was waiting to board a bus for St. Petersburg.

Ashley had been arrested in St. Petersburg last week on a concealed weapons charge and was on $500 bond.

The FBI said agents had been making routine checks of transportation terminals since Monday when a car Ashley was believed driving was found abandoned in Dade City.

During his arraignment in Jacksonville Ashley spoke to confirm his name and sign a bond, clearing the way for Pasco County authorities.

He was shackled and taken by car to Dade City. En route authorities stopped along Interstate 95 to search a pasture.

Officials said the murder weapon has not been found.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dorn and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Valania, whose bodies were found in Dorn's Hideaway Restaurant and Richard La Plante, 19.

Pasco County Sheriff Basil Gaines said 10 spent 22 caliber shells were found in the bar and seven to 10 near La Plante's body.

Prep Predictions

Well, back to the future ways. Not only did Pittsburgh let the doves, but I say for three on my predictions. I say that those prep football teams just can't seem to follow my predictions. Really, it's close on in Toledo as the Lions slipped by the SNA Middle 5-3 picked that as an upset with the Blue and Gold winning, but that's the way it goes. I'm so close to you.

In this week's action, the top billed game is the "Coca-Cola" game at Sanford. Look for the mighty scoring machine of the Blue and Gold to dominate the game. The Lions slipped by the SNA Middle 5-3 picked that as an upset with the Blue and Gold winning, but that's the way it goes. I'm so close to you.

It's a real battle of the sexes Saturday night in Sanford. Sanford Naval hosts Trinity Prep, and it looks like the 13th straight loss for Trinity. Give the Middles a 14-0 nod.

Lynx hosts "Yon" Friday night, and the Greyhounds should have no trouble remaining undefeated. Probably a 36-0 win for the Metro Conference bracket. That's the way it looks this weekend.

Speaking of high school football, we welcome aboard Frank Edwards as a new sports staff writer. Frank is a student at the Sanford Naval Academy and will be reporting on "Yon" throughout the year. The senior is also sports editor of the school newspaper.

Bullfighting
Somebody had sure better get the facts straight like maybe the handful of individuals who tried to stop the bullfights at the Orlando Stadium last weekend.

"Crusety to the animals," they said. Hardly. If one would take a look at the banderilla used to stimulate the bull and the terminal of the bull, it would be evident that no pain could be administered.

There just is no way. First of all, a felt-like cloth is pasted over the bull's hump. The hump feels no pain, even if it were to be stuck with a sharp object.

Most people, this writer included, were led to believe that an object with barbed end would be stuck into the cloth. Not so. The banderilla is made of latex wood and on the end is a piece of velvet. It just stings to the cloth. It is the same material used on bandages and what supports and the likes, to make them hold without the use of a safety pin or such object.

If anyone still thinks that this can possibly harm the bull, invite them to come down to the paper office on "Yon" Avenue. I have on display one of the banderilla, and one of the pieces of cloth, straight off the bull's back.

Pete Ahtback, owner of the Orlando Sports Stadium and promoter of Florida's first bloodless bullfights, has announced that the next bullfight will be November 1, with all new material.

Pete went to great expense to help Central Florida gain another title. He had to contract the bull ring. He had to purchase the bulls. Five of them were imported from Mexico. He had to bring the matadors here; three were from Spain. And there were all the other expenses involved with the promotion. But the bullfights, as an aid to Orlando and the Orlando Sports Stadium had another first.

So now I hear this same group which tried to keep the fans away from the first fights, is trying to get a bill passed by the Florida Legislature to stop the next fights.

In my way of seeing it, this is just stupid. There are a lot more important things these people could worry about. These November 1 bullfights should be just as exciting as the first ones if not more so. See you there.

First Year Prosperous

Brewers Have Promising Future Ahead

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Take the Seattle Pilots, and a little seasoning from various major league teams, a dash of the New York Mets and stir vigorously with an extract of the Cincinnati Reds.

The result is a Brew that has been successful at the gate in its first season, with promise of success ahead in the future.

"The Milwaukee Brewers became a reality only seven days ago. The 1970 baseball season began when a federal judge cleared the sale of the Seattle Pilots to a group of Milwaukee businessmen. On opening day, 27,227 fans poured into Milwaukee County Stadium, a facility legally built to house the Milwaukee Braves.

But it was not several games and threatened others in September as a bid to attract one million fans in the first year just barely fell short. In fact, the Milwaukee Brewers have a record of 10-10.

Nova, Next Lyman Victim?

By CLAY HARTSOE
Herald Sports Staff
The Lyman Greyhounds destined to be the Cinderella team of 1970? With three games of the season already in the history books, Lyman has yet to lose. They also appear to be getting better with each game. Head coach Dick Copeland said, "The chances were good for an excellent season. Copeland has won the early games, now it remains to be seen if his prediction will come true. By the way, Copeland isn't wrong very often.

Lyman meets their fourth opponent tomorrow night at their home field in Louwood. Their guest, which they hope to send home unhappy, is Ft. Lauderdale Nova. Nova defeated an always strong Melbourne 11 last week, by a score of 12-6. The area that Nova plays in produces some of the strongest teams in the state. This might well prove to be the toughest team that Lyman has faced yet this season.

The Greyhounds finally put it all together in last week's 28-14 victory over Auburndale. Playing their first away game, the "Hounds" seemed a little jittery in the first quarter, but from the start of the second period they completely dominated the game.

Bruce Rose, Lyman's quarterback, had his best game. He was involved in three of Lyman's five scores; he passed for two and ran for the other. Perhaps the most

Students Boo Texas Governor Off Stage

HOUSTON (UPI)—Gov. Preston Smith walked out on the stage to tell 1,900 University of Houston students how proud he was of Texas youth.

The Texas governor was going to tell them how he has recruited young people in his administration and how, twice this year, he has summoned student leaders from representative universities to consult with him on youth problems.

Smith never got the chance to open his mouth.

When he walked out on the stage Wednesday the students began shouting, booing and then chanting: "Free Lee Otis Johnson." Johnson is a militant Negro from Houston sentenced to 30 years in prison for possessing a marijuana cigarette.

The shouting, booing and shouting grew louder and Bill Hollis, a campaign aide of the governor's, was unsuccessful in his attempts to quiet them. Smith tried to speak several times and finally threw up his hands in despair and was escorted through the shouting crowd by a cordon of 15 security officers.

Chapman said the governor "sat up there with his big bubble face smile and did not respond" to questions concerning why Johnson had not been paroled. Johnson was sentenced in 1968.

"He never made an attempt to speak and people started yelling," Chapman said. "He came here to talk to children and was met by adults with a political consciousness. He just could not respond to it. I don't think he will dare show up on any campus in the state of Texas. I really scored me later in a prepared statement."

Dumping Waste In Oceans Hit

By STAN BENJAMIN, Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon endorsed today recommendations from his Council on Environmental Quality urging strict regulation of waste dumping in the oceans.

In his message to Congress, transmitting the report, Nixon said, "The oceans, covering nearly three quarters of the world's surface, are critical to maintaining our environment, for they contribute to the basic oxygen-carbon dioxide balance, upon which humans and life depends."

Nixon said that in the legislation to combat ocean dumping "we will be acting—rather than reacting—to prevent pollution before it begins to destroy the waters that are so critical to all living things."

The recommended legislation would establish penalties for violation and provide for enforcement by the Coast Guard.

The environmental quality council, established last January to recommend environmental policies to the President, said its study shows "that the volume of waste materials dumped in the ocean is growing rapidly."

The report recommended legislation requiring a permit from the newly authorized Environmental Protection Agency for the transportation or dumping of all materials in the oceans, estuaries, and the Great Lakes.

U. S. Treats Farmers As 'Orphans' - Claim

WASHINGTON (AP)—Country folks don't move to the big cities, anymore to find bright lights and indoor plumbing, but because of the government's deliberate neglect of rural America, the Senate has been told.

Clay Cochran, chairman of the year-old National Rural neglect of rural America stems from the myths that the height of civilization will be reached when 90 per cent of the population lives on one per cent of the land.

Recent publicizing given pollution and the accompanying problems is helping puncture this myth, he said, but still little notice is taken of rural America's needs.

"The American people, including the Congress, must be made aware of the widespread need; that two-thirds of the bad housing is there (in rural America) and that bad water and lack of sanitation destroy the health and lives of people," he said.

Cochran proposed establishment of an emergency Rural Home Development Administration to help families or individuals who otherwise ineligible for housing from Farmers Home Administration or public housing programs.

The proposed agency would provide minimum housing, sanitation and clean water, plus other community facilities such as day care centers, in any town of 25,000 population or smaller, he said.

"Let the existing institutions take stock and struggle to maintain their domain by doing more of the job they should long since have completed," he said.

Stronger Crime, Dope Legislation In Offing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House and Senate have exchanged bills to give the federal government stronger legal weapons against organized crime and narcotics traffic.

The Senate is expected to accept the House's sweeping anti-crime bill. But the Senate narcotics committee measure was headed for a conference committee where attempts will be made to iron out differences with a bill approved earlier by the House.

Both bills were approved Wednesday by the anticrime committee, calling on the House 341 to 26, the narcotics control legislation getting 540 favor in the Senate.

The House anticrime bill, which survived attempts to softener it, would give the federal government greater legal powers against organized crime and more authority to deal with terror bombings, including the right to send federal agents to college campuses to investigate evaluations and fires.

Enacted in the bill are a dozen recommendations of the administration, a Presidential crime commission and members of Congress.

The bill would, among other things: establish grand juries with expanded powers to investigate organized crime activities; strengthen procedures to compel witnesses to testify; protect witnesses from intimidation on the dash were lacking.

Military Takes Over Bolivia

By REYNALDO GARCIA

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI)—President Juan Jose Torres conferred today with his backers and representatives of labor and students in an effort to form a cabinet for the Bolivian government proclaimed Wednesday by the leftwing general.

Political sources indicated the cabinet probably would be announced later today.

Even as Torres assumed power Wednesday after defeating rightist officers in a struggle for power, army troops fought workers and students in Oruro, a tin mining town 180 miles south of La Paz. Seven persons were killed but details on the clash were lacking.

New Breed of Doctors Dedicated To Improving Quality Of Care

EDITOR'S NOTE—The medical profession has always attracted the ambitious young man and woman. But never more than now. For out of the nation's medical schools have come a new breed of doctor in recent years shunning the material rewards of medicine to work for the public good. A report from AP's Living Today Department.

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

Dr. Chris Ramsey is 28. This year he turned down numerous $30,000 and offers from medical schools, drug and insurance companies and private foundations.

Instead, he draws a $12,000-a-year salary from the Washington-based organization he founded while still in medical school, the Institute for Study of Health and Society.

Ramsey is one of a new breed of doctor dedicated to improving the quality and delivery of medical care in America.

"I don't intend to practice the traditional methods of medicine," said Ramsey, whose four-year-old government-funded institute was set up to study medical, dental, educational and legal needs of individual communities.

"You can't look at the health care problems alone. You have to look at the needs of the whole community. The problem is there are just a few opportunities for students who want to innovate within the system."

"The health situation in this country is in desperate straits. The medical schools are beginning to respond but they need more help," he said.

The prodigies in this case are the medical students themselves. And in a result almost unheard of in the country's medical schools have added courses in community medicine to their curricula.

"Almost all the medical students are aware of the problems and want to do something about them," said Dr. Alexander Leaf, chief of medical services at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

Last spring, Dr. Joseph W. Gardella, who surveyed 42 interns and residents at Harvard Medical School, analyzed the influence of ideas and goals of today's medical students in a recent interview in his Boston office.

"They've a greater sense of social awareness, a real sense of compassion, a great concern for justice and a seriousness of purpose. I haven't seen in other generations—so much, in fact, that it often irritates their sense of humor," he said.

He continued: "Today's medical student will devote minute time and energy to achieving his purposes if he thinks they are just and right. I've developed a great sense of respect for the contemporary student. He's seeking a different life style, different goals and different values. He's very concerned about the quality of his education and standards are of a former generation," he said.

"We're entering the era of community medicine where students are concerned that the delivery of medical care of all segments of society be based on need rather than finances," said Dr. Daniel H. Finkenstein

Access Outlined On Osteen Span

A new Osteen bridge came one step closer to reality yesterday and Seminole County may be getting more than it originally bargained for.

At a meeting with the Seminole County Commissioners yesterday afternoon, Al Frame, Design Engineer for the State Department of Transportation (DOT) and Al Cosmetti, Assistant Location Engineer for the DOT, revealed a new access road from SR 46 East of Cameron Avenue to the new bridge will be constructed. It will serve as the primary access road to the new bridge and the SR 416 will be realigned so as to meet the new access road at a right angle immediately south of the bridge, according to preliminary plans.

The construction of the access road was not in the five-year program of the DOT previously. The access road eventually will form part of Pineway bypass from the Osteen bridge down east of Sanford and then turning west and meeting Lake Mary Boulevard.

According to Cosmetti, the new bridge tentatively will have 25-foot clearance and the middle span will be constructed in such a way that when the St. Johns River Canal is connected it may be removed and replaced with a draw span.

When queried by Commission Chairman John Alexander concerning visibility at the point where the road crosses SR 416, he assured that the approach grade could be only three per cent and would allow for maximum visibility.

The bridge will be constructed so it crosses the St. Johns River at a 45-degree angle to get maximum elevation of the bridge and a 1.25-foot approach, everywhere is called for in the preliminary plans.

Prescribed By Doctors Certain Students On Drugs

By RILL SCOTT

Some Seminole County school children are under the influence of drugs while attending classes.

This was disclosed at last night's school Board meeting by school psychologist, Bruce Holliman, who explained the drugs were prescribed by pediatricians for certain hyperactive elementary pupils who would literally "climb the walls" unless given the medication.

Holliman stated at the board session after Pat Bule, board member, advised news media he intended to ask for an investigation to determine if drugs are being given county students.

The psychologist stated the school never prescribed or administered the drugs but did recommend to parents of hyperactive pupils that they consult a pediatrician concerning their child's lack of control over their movements while in class.

Holliman stated that parents administer the drugs to children after a doctor has looked into the particular case and decided that medication was needed to calm the child into a desired behavioral pattern.

Concerning the dissemination of drug laws and information to county school students, Bule recommended the board call the help of the state attorney or sheriff in this purpose, so students would not be branded as felons, if they are arrested for being with a violator.

Commissioner Robert Parker revealed at a meeting yesterday afternoon between the County Commissioners and representatives of the State Department of Transportation (DOT) that the DOT is going to make the county acquire the remaining rights-of-way for SR 416 between 14 and the Orange County line.

The commissioners had previously anticipated obtaining only the rights-of-way necessary to complete the work already started on the 4 1/2 mile from the Orange County line east that was necessary to complete the portion being repaired and widened from U.S. 411 and the county line which by necessity extends into Seminole County 1/2 mile to a reasonable stopping point.

County's Secondary Road Plans Given Setback By State Bureau

By LARRY NEELY

The secondary road program for Seminole County has appeared to receive its first setback.

Parker stated that the latest estimates cite approximately $500,000 as the amount needed to obtain the rights-of-way for the entire distance. The commissioners had previously anticipated a figure of only half that amount.

But $500,000 Needed

Since the $500,000 will have to come out of the funds allotted for the county's secondary road program for next year, the commissioners will be meeting with a representative of the DOT to determine where the money will come from and which projects, if any, will have to be deleted from the coming year's program.

Prior to the apparent setback, according to Parker, Seminole County was in the best shape it had been in in years. The Commissioners are expected to discuss the possibilities of floating a bond issue to keep the secondary road plan on schedule.

Commissioners the amount of $49,000 was included for the purchase of the rights-of-way for the 1/2 mile section now being re-done and contained no allowance for the remaining rights-of-way between 14 to a point 1/2 mile east of the county line.

NOT CONTINGENT

"Placement in school is not contingent on medication," Holliman informed.

Bule, obviously concerned, asked Holliman why the disturbed students were not asked to consult a psychologist instead of a pediatrician and the psychologist explained that when a child appears to be physically rather than emotionally impaired the medical doctor is recommended.

Holliman said some children climb on tops of tables unless they receive medication and he stressed that some students going to Head Start classes are particularly hyperactive.

He informed that these same children have been able to learn to read since they were placed on medication.

ATTORNEY CONCERNED

Douglas Stenstrom, school board attorney, concerned with possible legal complications, questioned Holliman and brought out that the schools do not prescribe, administer or

Board Delays Decision Until Next Session

School Policy Changes Are Considered

School Board last night took under consideration several proposed school policy changes affecting yearly averages of students, graduation for part time students, correspondence work and length of school working day.

In line with policy requirements, the board withheld approval until the next session on such items as: Determining yearly averages; secondary yearly averages shall be determined by averaging the grades at the end of each of four nine-week grading periods with the final examination, subject to the following: "To receive credit for any course a student shall receive a passing grade on three of the five grades with at least two of the passing grades coming in the last three grades given, which means one passing grade given for the third and fourth nine weeks and final examination."

Part-Time Students: A student who begins the third year in a senior high school (grade 10-11-12) in order to meet graduation requirements may enroll and attend only those courses needed for his graduation.

Correspondence work: A student who begins the third year of senior high school with nine units toward graduation but is ineligible to take six subjects may, at the end of the first nine weeks grading period, if he has no grade lower than C, be permitted to take one correspondence course from the University of Florida for credit toward graduation.

This course must be approved by the principal, the guidance department and the department head representing the area he has chosen for correspondence work.

2 Juveniles Arrested On Burglary Charges

County Detective George Abby yesterday arrested two juveniles, ages 15-16, on breaking and entering charges.

The detective stated the pair are accused of taking a child's bank containing $35 from the Denise Rottenberg home at 10215 Duntaway Way in Forest City's Oakland Hills subdivision.

James Adrian Cotton of South Seminole has been arrested on two grand larceny charges. On warrants taken by Brenda Cotton, his niece, Cotton is alleged to have taken two $1,000 U.S. Treasury notes, according to information from the office of Peace Justice Thomas Lovett.

He is being held on a total $5,000 bond at the county jail. County authorities reported two incidents of homes being burglarized last night.

The Judy Kruger home on West Lake Brantly Road at Forest City was entered and

Bulletin

By JOHN VAN GIESON
Associated Press Writer
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida House today passed 186-7 and sent to the Senate a bill imposing a 128-day moratorium and premium rollback on auto insurance rates.

The House immediately began debate on whether to consider a bill repealing the California Plan as it applies to auto coverage, and again substitute the pre-1947 requirement that firms get state approval before hiking premiums.
