

One on Mamma.
Two little girls during the Christmas feasting the other day were confronted with the problem of selecting a choice from two apples—one apple much bigger and redder than the other. The mother of the little girl who was the hostess of the moment, was trying to have her decide to give the finer apple to the visiting little neighbor. "Your papa," she said, "is a gentleman, you know, and always generous and kind to everybody. You know very well that if it were father he would give this nice big rosy apple to Maggie and take the other for himself. You are father's little girl, aren't you? You want to do just what father would, don't you?" Esther's mind was visibly troubled, but she clung to the big apple. "I ain't father's little girl," she argued, logically but not flatteringly. "I'm your little girl." The mother, however, is one who can very safely tell this story on herself.

Policeman's Woe.
Stranger demands are often made at police stations than the most improbable situations in fiction, but the climax, in the minds of the officers at the East Dedham street station, came when a young woman entered the building breathlessly and wanted three canaries fed and watered. The lieutenant was about to give her the address of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals when she explained that she had been put out of her room by her landlady and had been unable to take her pet birds with her. The lieutenant detailed an officer to protect the young woman, the landlady proved not as hard hearted as her lodger had feared, and the canaries were given enough water and seed to sing merrily.—Boston Post.

How Popular He'll Be Some Day.
He is six and she is five. They are in the same kindergarten class. Their homes are less than half a block apart. They love each other dearly, and every day he escorts her home from school and leaves her with a kiss. The grown-ups noticed all this, and there was a little teasing. Finally Little Girl's mother said, "I wouldn't let the little boy kiss me good-bye if I were you." The next day mother was at the door when Little Girl and Little Boy came home together. "You musn't kiss me," said Little Girl. "Mother says she doesn't like it." Little Boy looked disconcerted for just about the tenth part of a second. Then, "But YOU like it, don't you?" he said, and kissed her as usual and trudged along.

Code of Honor.
Duelling is a survival from the ancient judicial combats which were at their height in the middle ages. The first formal duel among English-speaking peoples was in 1096. France seems to have been the land in which the "code" had its most flourishing times. From France the practice passed over to England, and from England it came over to America. In the early days of our country duels were quite common, but since Burr killed Hamilton the practice has been steadily on the decline. It is today a very rare thing for a duel to take place in any civilized land, and in the United States the foolish custom is practically extinct.

"The Intellectuals."
"In our democracy, where everything else is so shifting, we alumni and alumnae of the colleges are the only permanent presence that corresponds to the aristocracy in other countries. We have continuous traditions as they have; our motto, too, is noblesse oblige; and, unlike them, we stand for ideal interests solely, for we have no corporate selfishness and wield no powers of corruption. We ought to have our own class-consciousness. Les Intellectuals! What prouder club name could there be than this one!"—William James in "Memoirs and Studies."

Simple Question.
"What is the difference," asks the man with the dispirited whiskers and the keen eye, "between a girl with a clothespin on her nose, and one whose little brother is quarantined because of a disease incident to childhood, which is characterized by an eruption of the skin?" "To avoid argument," sighs the man with the rectangular Adam's apple, "what is the difference?" "One's brother is measles, the other's brother is muzzled." And afar down the glen arose the mournful cry of a loon lamenting its lost love.—Chicago Post.

Soothing Occupation.
"Who's that man who just kicked the chair over and threw a pack of cards into the fireplace?" Inquired one waiter. "Oh," replied the other, "he's the gentleman who tries to rest his nerves by playing solitaire."

Game Easy to Play.
I know of no easier or more delightful occupation than that of managing other people's business at long distance and without responsibility for the result.—Exchange.

Odd Ways of Catching Fish.

The Icelanders are said at one time to have taught bears to jump into the sea and catch seals. In China birds do equally well, for at a signal they dive into the lakes and bring up large fish grasped in their bills. In Greece the fishermen use branches of pine steeped in pitch and lighted, the inhabitants of Amorgos used cypress-leaved cedar, which served when lighted as a flambeau, and the Chinese fish in the night with white painted boards placed in a manner to reflect the rays of the moon doubly upon the water. These attract the fish to the boat, when the men cast a large net and seldom fail to draw out considerable quantities. Anchovies are fished for in a similar manner.

Hopeful of Results.

"Your wife is taking a tremendous interest in abstruse economic questions."

"Yes," replied Mr. Meekton, "and I'm glad of it. Maybe it will result in her conversation's putting me to sleep instead of keeping me awake."

In the Smart Set.

A woman who lives in one of the fashionable districts of New York telephoned the police. "A little baby's been left in the vestibule. We found it just a few minutes ago all wrapped up in a black shawl. We really don't know what to do with it." "Goodness! We didn't know it was getting as bad as all that."—Toledo Blade.

No Previous Employment.

"You say, 'Rastus, that you want work for your wife,'" said Gunbusta, eyeing the husky darky before him from head to foot. "Was she ever employed before?" "No, sir," replied the negro, nonchalantly, "dis am her first marriage."

CULLED FROM THE STATE PRESS

An Epitome of the Week's Most Important Happenings in the State's Domain.

By the overwhelming vote of 215 to 75, the voters of Daytona today ratified the granting of a franchise to the Sholtz Railway and Electric Company to operate street cars in this city. It is proposed by the electric company to operate an inter-urban system between DeLand and Daytona, the year round and also connecting with Daytona Beach and Seabreeze by constructing a concrete bridge over the Halifax river. Although the opposition to granting the franchise was small, it was spirited and much interest was shown in the election.

April 17.—R. A. Turner, a laborer employed by the Peninsular Telephone Co., was killed Wednesday afternoon near Bradley Junction, while assisting in unloading telephone poles from a truck. In some way one of the poles swung against Turner, who lost his footing and fell. The stick fell upon his head crushing his skull like an eggshell. He lived fifteen minutes.

Gov. Gilchrist has designated April 22 to 27 as the date for the official opening of the Everglades Canals from the Gulf of Mexico to Lake Okechobee and the Atlantic ocean, at which time an official tour of the canals, beginning at Fort Meyers and proceeding up the Caloosahatchee canal to Lake Okechobee, and thence down the north Lauderdale canal to Fort Lauderdale will be made by the governor, State Comptroller Knott and other State officials.

The representatives of at least twenty-five or thirty of the largest daily newspapers in the United States, particularly of the north-west, and the executive officers of the leading railroads of the State have been invited to accompany the party.

Col W. M. Toomer in the City

Col W. M. Toomer of Jacksonville, candidate for Congress at large, was in the city yesterday, accompanied by his son, William. Col Toomer did not have an opportunity to address the people, but managed to meet many of them and impressed everyone most favorably. In a conversation with a Herald representative Col Toomer said he was against the initiative, referendum and recall, but in case it should be adopted he would "refer" the candidacy of Claude L'Engle to the Socialist party and have Albert Williamson recalled immediately.

He is advocating the administration of the quarantine and health laws by a cabinet officer of the government, because, he said, this function of government is too important to be left in the hands of minor officers. As he sees it Florida will be the most exposed of the states to the infectious diseases the south, once the Panama canal is opened.

He favors a revision of the tariff downward, and said: "Let us get at the job and have it done with. This continuous talk of tariff revision without anything being done is as pernicious in its result as high tariff itself."

He also advocates the transfer of the machinery now being used on the Isthmus to build a ship canal across Florida.

Congregational Conference of Florida

The General Congregational Conference of Florida and the Southeast brought to this city many visiting pastors and delegates this week. Because of the central location of Sanford, and the special interest in the Men and Religion Forward Movement, a particularly large delegation was present. Among the matters of business before the conference were certain phases of the difficulties in the Tampa church. The situation was handled most vigorously and it is earnestly hoped that this distressing situation may soon be remedied and the Tampa church put in line for better things.

Prominent among the visitors to the conference were President W. F. Blackman of Winter Park, Rev. George L. Hanson, D. D., now of Atlanta, Prof. Lawrence Phelps of Atlanta Theological Seminary, Dr. Frank E. Jenkins, missionary superintendent of the south, Rev. Jas. P. O'Brien of Kansas City, and Rev. Jas. Conway, D. D., of Orange City.

The conference adopted resolutions expressing their appreciation of the kind-

Carpathia Is In With Pathetic Story of Titanic

Latest Authentic Report Gives Loss Of 1700 Souls On The Ill Fated Vessel—Several Die From Exposure

Boiler Explosion Was Cause Of Rapid Destruction Of Ill Fated Vessel

NEW YORK, April 19.—The Cunard liner Carpathia, a ship of gloom and succor, came into New York last night with first direct news from the great White Star liner Titanic which sank off the grand banks of Newfoundland early last Monday.

To this awful death list six persons were added. One died in the lifeboat when it put off from the liner's side and five subsequently succumbed on the rescue ship Carpathia. The list of prominent men missing stands as previously reported and the total death list as brought to port to-night by the Carpathia is 1,501.

Survivors in the lifeboats huddled in the darkness at a safe distance from the stricken ship and saw her go down.

As to the scene on board when the liner struck, accounts disagree widely. Some maintain that a comparative calm prevailed; others say that wild disorder broke out and that there was a maniacal struggle for the lifeboats. That the liner struck an iceberg as reported by wireless, was confirmed by all.

Sensational rumors told by hysterical passengers who would not give their names, said that Captain Smith had killed himself on the bridge; that the chief engineer had taken his life, and that three Italians were shot in the struggle for the boats. These rumors could not be confirmed in the early confusion attendant upon the landing of the survivors.

Ripped from stem to engine room by the great mass of ice she struck, the Titanic's side was laid open as if by a gigantic can opener. She quickly listed to starboard, and a shower of ice fell onto the fore-castle deck. Shortly before she sank, she broke in two abaft the engine and as she disappeared beneath the water, the expulsion of air caused two explosions which were plainly heard by the survivors adrift. A moment more and the Titanic had gone to her doom with the helpless passengers on board.

To the survivors were visible the remaining passengers moaning and crying as the vessel sank from sight.

Every woman and child with the exception of those women who refused to leave their husbands were saved. Among the last was Mrs. Isador Strauss.

The steamer went down with the survivors watching the lights ablaze, heard her band playing amid the groans of those left on deck.

Reports vary as to the extent of the disorder on board.

news and hospitality of the citizens of Sanford, particularly in the generous use of several autos, which made possible a visit to the marvels of the Celery Delta.

The Women's Home Missionary Union held their meeting Thursday afternoon. After the opening exercises Miss Mabel Bowler, accompanied by Miss Ward sang beautifully "Just for Today." Among the interesting features of the afternoon were Mrs. Emsinger's account of the West Tampa mission with some songs sung in Cuban by little Emparo, one of the inmates of the school, also a representation of a Turkish woman who in costume gave the story of her life, the part being taken by Mrs. E. S. Burleigh of Tavara. There was also an Indian widow represented by little Emparo.

Bryan Will Be Here

The Great Commoner Will Make An Address in Sanford next Friday night. Hon. William Jennings Bryan will address the people of Sanford, in the Star Theatre, on next Friday night, April 26th, at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Bryan will give one of his noted lectures on vital questions of the day, and the building will hardly hold the immense throng that will be here to hear him.

In order to accommodate those who would like to attend, and procure seats, the tickets will be sold in advance, at the price of 50 cents each. Mr. Bryan is very much in the public eye at present, and is expected to throw some light on the policies of his wing of the Democratic party, and the Convention at Baltimore.

Beside Mr. Bryan, there will be other candidates here; and the day will be made a gala occasion. Remember the date—April 26th.

Sold at Auction

The stock of the defunct Boston Store was sold at auction on Wednesday and was knocked down to D. L. Thrasher for the lump sum of $3,310.30. Capt Marks acted as auctioneer in his usual gentlemanly manner and was highly complimented for getting such a good figure.

Woodruff & Watson

In this issue of The Herald appears the advertisement of Woodruff & Watson, the style of the newest firm in Sanford, although the gentlemen who compose it are not new to the public. Frank Woodruff has been a citizen of Sanford since the memory of man runneth not and for the past several years has been engaged in the shoe business, but being busily engaged in many other matters was forced to cast about for an experienced man to assist him in the business and take care of the constantly increasing trade. Will Watson happened to be in town and the two were not long in getting together and almost before the public was aware of the fact the firm of Woodruff & Watson had been organized. Mr. Watson needs no introduction to Sanford people, having been in the store of D. L. Thrasher for many years and is one of the most popular young men that ever called Sanford home. Mr. Watson has been on the road for some time, but the chance to come back to Sanford was too great for him and on first of May he will again become identified with Sanford's business interests. A big sale will help to clear out some of the older stock and a lot of new stuff will be shipped here immediately and the new store will make a strong bid for new business and more of it. In a new store room with new fixtures and new blood, Woodruff & Watson will become a household word.

Dinner Club

The Dinner Club, and the guest of each member of the club, were entertained by Misses Veda Ward and Lella Michaels, at the home of Miss Veda Ward, Tuesday evening. The long table was very attractive with vases of beautiful flowers on each end. The center piece was a large embankment of gorgeously lovely nasturtiums. The dainty menu cards, tied with narrow green ribbon, were ornamented with a fine group picture of the ten members of the Dinner Club. The delicious three-course dinner consisted of roast pork, escalloped corn, marmalade and beaten biscuit, banana salad, sandwiches, cheese balls, strawberry short cake.

When the dinner was concluded, the club and their guests enjoyed a very amusing guessing contest, which was won by Miss Genie Wicker, and also the prize, a pretty pin cushion.

The pleasant evening was enjoyed by the members of the club, Misses Emma and Estelle Beard, Flora M. Johnson, Lella Michaels, Lillian Gibson, Annie Lee Caldwell, Midge and Veda Ward, Mrs. J. B. Lawson and their guests, Misses Peach and Lenda Leffler, Belle Smith, Mabel Bowler, Elizabeth McLaughlin, Genie Wicker, Ruth Mettinger, and Lucy Whitner.

Sanford Music Club

The Sanford Music Club will give the annual concert at the High School auditorium next Monday night and one of the best musical events of the season is promised. Elsewhere is given the program of the event. Tickets on sale at T. A. Newlan's drug store. Price 35 cts. The following members will take part: Club Chorus, soprano, Mrs. Geo. Hoy, leader, Mesdames B. H. Pugh, T. A. Newton, C. L. Polk, F. C. Roumillat, Ernest Tolar, Misses Mabel Bowler, Florence Frank, Jessie Stumon, Ellen Mahoney, Flora Johnson.

Altos, Mesdames James Bowler, H. C. Geroy, F. S. Munson, Misses Josie Stumon, Carrie Lovell and Martha Fox. Accompanist, Miss Olive Hill.

Auction Bridge

The Auction Bridge Club were entertained by Mrs. S. O. Chase Monday afternoon. Three tables of bridge were played. The highest score was made by Mrs. Samuel Puleston who won the first prize, a handsome Bohemian vase. The guest prize was received by Mrs. E. M. McCullough of Orlando, Mrs. B. F. Whitner's sister and guest. After the cards delicious strawberries and cream were served with cake. Mrs. Chase's guests were Mesdames Keelor, Brady, McLaughlin, Puleston, McCullough, Newman, Miller, Lane, Rapworth, Whitner, King.

Unable to come to an agreement, the jury in Federal Court that has been trying E. G. Lewis, the University City man and founder of the various Lewis enterprises, has been discharged by Judge Amidon. The jury was out seventy-two hours. Lewis was charged with fraudulently using the United States mails.

In the cotton region the season everywhere is backward, according to a crop bulletin of the weather bureau. The soil appears in excellent condition as to moisture. In portions of the lower Mississippi valley much land is under water, which will retard planting.

Heavy rainfall over Louisiana added to the already miserable plight of the flood sufferers in the north eastern section of the state, which for several days has been under from one to fifteen feet of water. Four fatalities are reported as a result of the storm, and hundreds are homeless and destitute. Most of the sufferers are negroes, being plantation hands, who sought safety from the rising waters.

Chairman Alexander of the House committee on Merchants' Marine and Fisheries, announced that an investigation would be held to question the Titanic survivors concerning the inability of the steamship officials to save the lives of all the passengers. The state will also probe the disaster.

Mr. Holly, our editor, was out Saturday. We are always glad to see him. By the way, did you notice what Bro. Holly said about "The Real Problem" of the farmer in last Friday's paper? He certainly gets at the real problem and if only he and all others who talk of farming interests here would make these facts prominent, things might some day be different for the farmer.

The Farmers' Club will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening, April 23rd, at which time election of officers will occur.

At this meeting the club and its friends will be given the privilege of listening to a scientific lecture by a man who is well known in Sanford and vicinity. Any and all interested in such entertainments are most cordially invited to be present. The moon will be shining, come and bring your friends.

The pastor and members of our little church have been much gratified recently by the reception of nine new members.

J. F. McClelland has been on the sick list with a painful abscess in the head.

GENEVA JOTTINGS

Special Correspondence to The Herald

Dr. and Mrs. Lewis have returned to their summer home in Defiance, Ohio. We hope to see them in Geneva again early in the winter. Especially will the M. M. S. society miss the pleasant face of Mrs. Lewis.

Geneva remembered the beautiful Easter in many ways. On Sunday afternoon an interesting program was rendered by the Methodist Sunday school, the songs and recitations by the little tots being especially sweet. The lovely roses, carnations and evergreens added much to the occasion. On Monday Mrs. Pattishall gave her class an egg hunt, also one was given the little folks of Geneva on Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Harrison and Miss McLain.

Little Miss Georgia Geiger celebrated her birthday on Wednesday last by giving a party to her little friends. From 3:30 till 5 the children enjoyed games and then were served with cake and lemonade, which they enjoyed as only children can. All went home wishing Georgia had birthdays often.

The many friends of Miss Ethel Fry of Baltimore, who visited Mrs. Curlet in Geneva last January will be interested in knowing of her marriage to a Mr. Elliott near Palm Beach on April 6th. Cards to that effect have been received by friends in Geneva.

Miss Della Jones and Ramona McLain visited Miss Harris in Winter Park Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Adams returned to their home near Washington, D. C., on Tuesday, after a visit of several months to their sister, Mrs. John Adams, who accompanied them as far as Sanford.

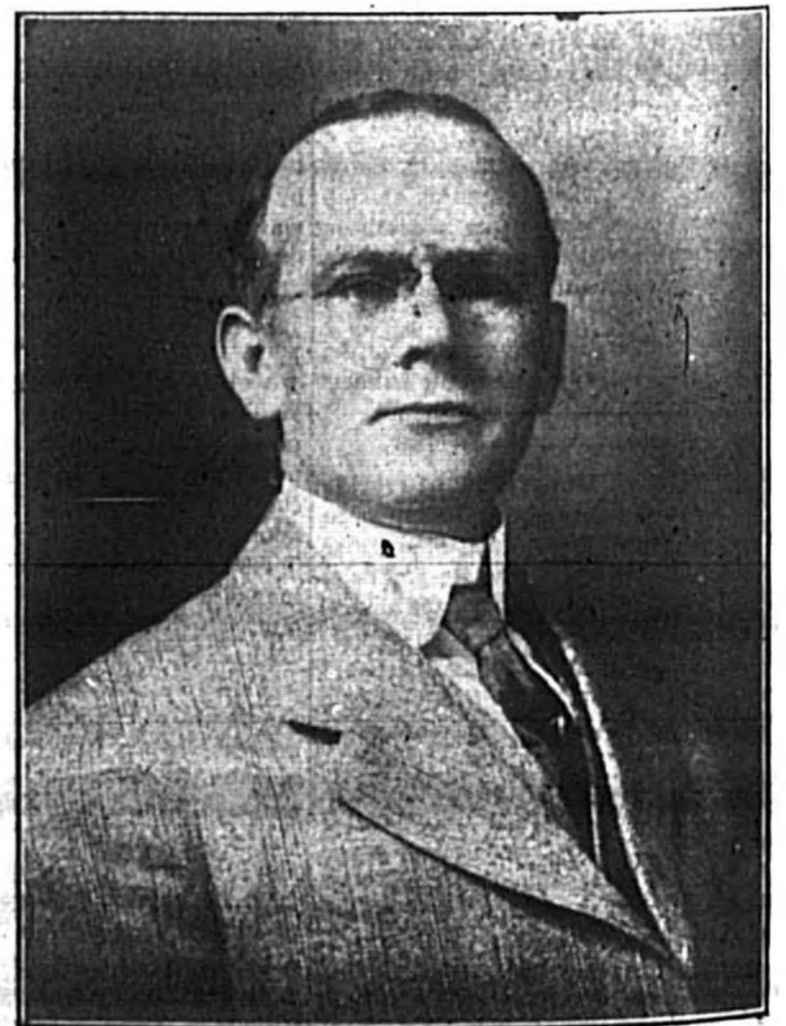

Mrs. Charlie Harrison entertained the M. M. S. society last Thursday afternoon. On account of the threatening weather not very many were present. Quite a pleasant afternoon was spent. A most enjoyable feature was the lovely singing of Mrs. Will Adams, who, as a consequence commands attention and admiration whenever heard. Miss Della Harris also gave a musical selection on the piano. Mrs. Harrison served her guests with a salad course and also cake and lemonade. She was assisted by her daughter Miss Claire.

Rev. E. Lee Smith, pastor of the Methodist church in Geneva, will resign his pastorate at this place.

Relatives and friends in Geneva of the bride have received invitations to the wedding of Miss Louise Fletcher to Dr.

COUNTY SOLICITOR

RE-APPOINTMENT

DEMOCRACY OF UNDERWOOD AND WILSON CONTRASTED

Underwood a Native and Always a Resident of the South and Always Loyal to the Democratic Party.

WILSON A RESIDENT OF NEW JERSEY FOR YEARS AND A HABITUAL PARTY BOLTER.

A Comparison.
Underwood and Wilson will be the two leading candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination as far as Florida is concerned. Harmon and Clark will have their supporters in this state, but not as many as the two other candidates. For the benefit of the voters we parallel the records of the two as follows:

	Underwood	Wilson
Born	Kentucky	Virginia
Educated	Univer. of Va.	Princeton, N.J.
Moved	To Alabama	To New Jersey
Now resides in	Alabama	New Jersey
Voted 1884	For Cleveland	For Cleveland
Voted 1888	For Cleveland	For Cleveland
Voted 1892	For Cleveland	For Cleveland
Voted 1896	For Bryan	Against Bryan
Voted 1900	For Bryan	Against Bryan
Voted 1904	For Parker	For Parker
Voted 1908	For Bryan	For Bryan
Faithfulness	Always at his post	Time out of state
Politics	Regular Dem	Habitual bolter
Chief work for party	House orator leader	Seeking great dental nomination

We do not take the interest in the sectional standing of the two that some others take; but, though Woodrow Wilson claims to be a southern man though living in New Jersey, it is proper to give the facts for what they were worth.

Which Southern? Only Underwood. Underwood's father took him north when he was three years old and kept him there for a short time. Woodrow Wilson took himself north when twenty-nine years old and has since remained there. Underwood married first in Virginia and, his wife having died, married again in Alabama. Woodrow Wilson married in Virginia. While Woodrow Wilson went north to get his collegiate education, he took a law course at the University of Virginia. Underwood was educated entirely in the south.

As Democrats. Underwood has always taken the southern view of politics. The southern idea is to settle disputes in the party and then present an unbroken front to the enemy. It is this habit of thought that has enabled him to keep the party in the house solid under his leadership. Woodrow Wilson has never supported a Democratic nominee who did not represent his views. When his faction was not successful he has gone out of the party to fight it. He has never been a southerner in political thought. First he belonged to what he now calls the Wall street wing of the party, and when the buying of the presidential bee induced him to put away ideas that would render his nomination impossible he went to the extreme of western populism.

No Reason Why. Of course the men who have been promised postoffices and other federal positions if Woodrow Wilson is elected will naturally support him, but we can't see why any man who has nothing to gain by it would prefer a man who pretends to be a southerner to one who is one a man who takes back everything he said up to four years ago to one who is right and has always been who makes no apology because he has nothing to apologize for. Above all, we can't see why any Democrat should prefer a bolter to a steadfast Democrat—Jacksonville Times-Union, March 28, 1912.

Missionary Reading Circle

The Methodist Study Circle of the Methodist church held their regular meeting under the leadership of Mrs. H. V. Perry, third vice president of the society, at the residence of Mrs. W. E. Housholder Tuesday afternoon. A large number of the circle were present, with several visitors.

A chapter from "The Incoming Millions" was read by several of the members, concluding the study of the characteristics and conditions surrounding the Slavs and Italians who are making their home in America.

After the conclusion of the interesting topic, Mrs. C. H. Summers and Mrs. T. A. Newton, accompanied by Mrs. H. V. Perry on the guitar, sang as a duet the beautiful Gospel Hymn, "Not My Own."

Rev. J. M. Bass

Mr. Bass is a man of unusual power and quality, he faces the issue with rare ability, and stands for a religion that makes a true, honest, manly man. That the magnetic power is with him is unquestionable, and the community is being affected by his strong preaching. Few indeed if any, who have visited this section, deal with truth as does this man and the effect of his preaching is little short of Pentecostal.

Mr. Stapleton, the evangelistic singer who has recently been named in a Savannah paper, "as a leader among the best," who have visited that city, is conducting the music and sings a solo at each night service, and has been used to touch many hearts with his "gospel of song." His rare gifts of voice and his ability as a choir leader with his religious fervor, make a combination that is rare and successful in revival work.—Adel News.

Arrangements are now being made for these gentlemen to begin their meetings in Sanford May 26th. A large gospel tent will probably be erected near the business section of the city.

CATARRH CURED

Drive The Poison Germs Out of Your Blood With Leonard's Blood Elixir and Get Well

No other disease is as common and prevalent as catarrh. The mucous membrane, that is, the pink flesh lining the inside of the mouth and respiratory organs, discharging an irritating fluid. This condition is called catarrh and is due to poisonous germs in the blood.

No local treatment can cure catarrh. It may give relief for a short time, but catarrh poison is in the blood and the trouble will soon return, even worse than before.

Leonard's Blood Elixir cures catarrh in the right way and in the only way,—by purifying the blood and driving out all the poisonous catarrh germs from the system. Do not expect to be cured by any local application. Catarrh is a deep-seated affection that needs the persistent use of a blood purifier like Leonard's Blood Elixir, although the first bottle almost invariably shows a decided benefit. In fact there is nothing that gives as quick relief in catarrh troubles as this remedy.

In all blood diseases such as tumors, ulcers, rheumatism, syphilis, kidney and liver complaints, catarrh, etc., Leonard's Blood Elixir is the best home treatment that can be used; in fact, it is better than the medicines used in many hospitals and will give quicker and more permanent results. It has cured thousands of cases of blood poison after they were given up by physicians who said there was no help for the patients.

Leonard's Blood Elixir is a true blood purifier and maker of new, rich, red blood. Careful experiments have shown that it increases the amount of new blood several ounces a day. In this way it gives new life and new vigor to the system and tones up and strengthens the organs by furnishing a supply of clean, pure, rich, health-giving blood. Circulating through the veins of the mucous membrane, this new, rich blood drives out the catarrh germs and puts the whole system into a healthy condition so that the inroads of catarrh can be and are resisted. No sufferer from catarrh should go a day longer without using Leonard's Blood Elixir.

The $1000.00 guarantee given by Mr. Leonard inspires confidence in the use of his blood Elixir. Every dealer is authorized under this $1000.00 guarantee to refund money on first bottle to any purchaser of Leonard's Blood Elixir who is not perfectly satisfied with the results it has given. No other remedy for catarrh or blood poison has ever given a guarantee like this because no other remedy ever equaled Leonard's Blood Elixir in scientific merit and curative powers.

HON. OSCAR W. UNDERWOOD OF ALABAMA
DEMOCRACY'S BEST ASSET
Candidate For the Presidential Nomination, 1912

He is the actual leader of the national Democracy. Whoever is nominated most win largely upon the party's achievement under his leadership. As a practical proposition his friends throughout the country feel that he is, therefore, pre-eminently the man of all others best fitted to be the party standard bearer.

UNDERWOOD STRONGEST MAN
DEMOCRATS CAN NOMINATE

---Colonel W. L. Pool

"Regardless of action I consider Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama the strongest man the Democratic party can nominate to make the fight for the presidency this year," said Colonel W. L. Pool, president of the American National Bank.

"My opinion is based entirely on his demonstrated qualities of leadership. In his career in congress he has shown himself the ablest exponent of Democratic principles we have. He has conducted the tariff fight from the Democratic standpoint with an ability which we have not seen demonstrated in years. Successful in business, he has proved himself equally successful in conducting the business of the nation and in keeping at the same time in accord with his party principles.

"I am a strong Underwood man because I regard Underwood as the strongest and ablest Democrat. He has been tried and tested and has been found fully capable. We have got to make the tariff fight, and as Underwood has managed it so ably in the house he is the man of all others to lead the party in this contest.

"In talking with Democrats in the north and east on recent visits to that section I am convinced that we could not nominate any man who would receive as strong or stronger support in those sections than Underwood. To win we have got to carry some of the states of the north and east like New York, Indiana and others, and I am satisfied that Underwood will do it where other Democrats cannot.

"To my mind there is no question of action in this contest. It is the question of the best man. Democrats all over the country want the best man, no matter where he is from. It makes no difference whether he is from north, south, east or west. It would be very gratifying if we could have a president from the south, but the first question to consider is the man.

"To my mind Mr. Underwood meets all of the qualifications better than any other Democrat we could possibly make, and I believe under his leadership we will attain Democratic victory this year, which I do not believe we can do if any other candidate is named."—Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution.

PARK TRAMMELL

CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR
PARK TRAMMELL is the LEADING CANDIDATE is the report from all over Florida. He will have a big lead with a chance to win in the first primary.

PARK TRAMMELL'S record as Legislator and Attorney-General has been one of aggressive, loyal, and efficient service for the people. No man in Florida has worked harder to stamp out the abuses of the special interest classes.

PARK TRAMMELL in the future, as he has always done in the past, will champion the cause of the people and fight their battles.

PARK TRAMMELL is not running on money. He has not and will not spend one penny for speakers or their expenses, or for hired workers.

VOTE FOR TRAMMELL, and stamp out the idea that a man has to have money to win for Governor.

CONVICTS-ROADS: Placing the State convicts on the road with the county as the unit for road-building, as advocated by PARK TRAMMELL, WILL NOT INCREASE TAXES as claimed by Mr. Milton, as the expense for labor will be cut off when the convict labor is worked in the place of labor now paid for,

CONVICTS-SUGAR: Mr. Milton's plan for a convict cane farm and sugar factory WILL INCREASE TAXES About EIGHT MILLS to get ready for EXPERIMENTING in cane growing for sugar on the new untried and unseasoned Everglade lands.

SUGAR PROFITS: Louisiana's convict cane farms have made no such profits as the figures set forth in Mr. Milton's literature. The facts show but bare wages for the convicts.

TAXPAYER: Do you want a known value—good roads—from the labor of the convicts WITHOUT A HEAVY TAX BURDEN, or do you want your TAXES RAISED EIGHT MILLS for getting ready for Mr. Milton's EXPERIMENT, with an UNCERTAINTY as to getting any value in return for the TAX BURDEN and the labor of the convicts?

PARK TRAMMELL advocates Experimental farms in the Everglades, but says experiment with thousands WITHOUT A TAX BURDEN. Mr. Milton's plan means a HEAVY TAX BURDEN—a raise in TAXES of about EIGHT MILLS, for getting ready for the EXPERIMENT.

And that with the RESULTS VERY UNCERTAIN.

PARK TRAMMELL is with the TAXPAYERS and VOTERS upon this matter. He wants to protect them against a BIG TAX INCREASE.

VOTER: Give no heed to eleven-hour falsehoods and mud-slinging if attempted against PARK TRAMMELL.

FOR AGED PEOPLE.

Old Folks Should Be Careful In Their Selection of Regulative Medicine.

We have a safe, dependable and altogether ideal remedy that is particularly adapted to the requirements of aged people and persons of weak constitutions who suffer from constipation or other bowel disorders. We are so certain that it will relieve these complaints and give absolute satisfaction in every particular that we offer it with our personal guarantee that it shall cost the user nothing if it fails to substantiate our claims. This remedy is called Recall Ordinies.

Recall Ordinies are eaten just like candy, are particularly pleasant and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night, do not cause diarrhea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very subtle but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowels, thus overcoming weakness and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity. Three sizes, 10¢, 25¢ and 50¢. Sold only at our store. The Recall Store, L. R. PHIPPS & CO.

UNDERWOOD FOR PRESIDENT.

Notes and Comments From the Press. Underwood in removing the duty on sugar is certainly in a fair way to become the "candy kid" if he doesn't become the candy date. Gainesville Sun.

The tariff the "central issue" according to Governor Wilson. But there is no Wilson tariff. There is an Underwood tariff. Why say more? Athens (Ga.) Constitution.

What is the matter with Underwood? Nothing so far as we know, nothing so far as anybody knows, unless it be that Bryan does not happen to like him because he has not been able to boss him. Charleston News and Courier.

Arranging his forces for the national campaign, Congressman Underwood continues to lay up stores of tariff ammunition with a fine contempt for the new thought cult in politics which insists that the initiative, the referendum and assorted results are the burning issues of the hour. Providence Journal.

We Democrats must not allow the hullabaloo of irrelevant hope to obscure the great main question on which the party is to win the fight in 1912—the tariff question. Underwood is the leader in the tariff revision fight. To Underwood must the party look for leadership in a fight based on this vital subject. Athens Banner.

THE FORCES AT WORK

Taking their cue for the outrageous charges and insinuations made by Congressman Frank Clark on the floor of the House of Representatives, before the Committee on Expenditures in the Agricultural Department, and in many newspaper interviews, numerous upstart reporters, representing railroads and other interests, have caused to be published in the newspapers of every state the most flagrant and unwarranted statements, reflecting upon the honesty of our administrations and the citizens in general.

Some of these newspaper reports are particularly vicious, but none are more so in direct statements than those of Congressman Clark in his insinuations.

Only one man could be found who was willing to stand up for the representative from Florida in this dastardly, cowardly, bush-whacking attack upon us. That man is Congressman Bathrick of Ohio.

The damage these two men have done to the reputation of Florida is almost beyond conception. No man in this state can estimate it, because the area over which these false insinuations have been spread is every day increasing.

A syndicate article which has been printed in hundreds of papers is written by one Wm. Shepherd and dated from Jacksonville for the purpose of giving the credit of the article to a resident of Florida. There is no such man as Wm. Shepherd living in Jacksonville. It is safe to say that the article was written by a hireling. It appears in nearly all papers under the following caption: "Buy Florida Everglades Land by the Gallon; It's the Best Way. Millions of Acres Sold in Swamps." The article carries a map of Florida, a portrait of Frank Clark and a picture showing a swamp. The article, after commenting on the fact that it is exposed by Congressman Clark's "expose" says: "There are thousands of acres of swamp lands that are graveyards of the 'rainy-day' fortunes. In the 'gator ponds,' the 'cypress swamps,' the 'palmetto prairies' lie the life-savings and old age hopes of thousands of families."

The Journal of Hancock, Mich., carries an article with the name of a local bank attached to it, in which the following is given: "Congress now threatens to investigate and charge that the state of Florida has loaned its name to the sale of one of the biggest land swindles in history."

The St. Paul, Minnesota, Pioneer-Press, of Feb. 14, carried this editorial:

"FLORIDA LAND SCANDAL"

Congressman Frank Clark, of Florida, is taking the usual course in demanding a Congressional investigation of the means employed to boom land sales in his state. He has the courage to denounce a plan which, WHILE IT BRINGS THOUSANDS OF INVESTORS TO THE NEAR FUTURE, MUST DISCOURAGE DEVELOPMENT WHEN THE INVESTORS THAT THEY HAVE BEEN MADE VICTIMS OF DISCOVER THE FRAUD.

The Florida Congressman charges that thousands of persons in different parts of the United States have paid between four and five million dollars for lands that are worth an acre, that, as he puts it, "would have to be dug out with a suction dredge, harrowed with a scum and then taken to a steamboat." This land lies in portions of the Everglades and are permanently under water and CANNOT BE USED FOR CULTIVATION.

These are only samples of articles which have appeared in thousands of the newspapers of the country. The syndicate articles bear a portrait of Congressman Clark giving him credit for uncovering a vast "swindle."

The Paducah, Ky., Democrat, Feb. 21, says: "The late Governor Broward into the Everglades and made a land distribution."

The same character of article appeared in the Washington Daily Chronicle, the Leavenworth, Kan., Democrat, the Kansas City, Mo., Journal and a hundred other papers.

The Chicago Tribune of Feb. 9 quotes a Congressman as saying: "Millions of dollars have gone into the collection of land sharks in Florida for lands that were eight acres and were under water and that should have been sold by the government."

The Brooklyn, N. Y. Eagle, after an article on the subject says: "The Florida member realizes that there are probably many people in the state, Florida, who will criticize him for forcing an investigation of the lands, good and bad, submerged and otherwise, that it will have no weight with him."

The California papers are especially vicious in their attacks on Florida. The caption to an article in the Fresno Republican is "Everglades Fraud Hearing." The caption of the article in the San Francisco Chronicle is "Clark Stirs Florida Swindle."

The Portland, Oregon, Telegram of Feb. 16, in a special point of the Everglades investigation having been made by Congressman Clark, "In whose district the largest area of the Everglades lie, that a quasi-public enterprise, the manner as to excite suspicion that it would victimize large numbers of people in all sections of the country. The congressional representative of the territory in which this project is being carried out is believed to be questionable and perhaps crooked."

The St. Louis Republic says: "Avoid Florida Land."

The Guard, Batesville, Ark., says: "Beware of Buying Lands in Florida."

The Chicago Examiner, quoting Clark says: "High Officials in Florida will be caught in investigation." And all of these are inspired by Congressman Clark, who says he loves Florida.

To endorse Clark at the ballot box is to aid and these premeditated and malicious attacks on Florida.

Every loyal, patriotic citizen will repudiate Clark and thus give the lie to these vicious tales.

A Benedict Arnold deserves the same treatment today that was accorded the original.

The TRUTH about Florida is GOOD ENOUGH.
 The TRUTH about Mr. Clark is BAD ENOUGH.

R. Hudson Butt,
 Candidate for Congress, Second District

OSCAR W. UNDERWOOD OF OUR SISTER STATE OF ALABAMA

ACTUAL LEADER OF THE NATIONAL DEMOCRACY

Being a southern man is, however, but one of Mr. Underwood's qualifications for the presidency. He is a national figure—the only Democratic leader who ever led his party so safely by the political mountain passes and Republican pitfalls; a man of high purpose, rare ability, unquestioned integrity and rich experience; a master of the tariff question and as such the only candidate in the Democratic fold who by leading the Democrats to victory in the next campaign can kill the Banquo's ghost of American politics; the great floor leader from the south; the brilliant representative of our sister state of Alabama in the halls of congress; the real Amundsen in the field of candidates—Oscar W. Underwood, a Democrat from Dixie.

Sterilized Coal.

Coal in the mine is one of the things freest of germs. Old-time doctors used to notice coal miners' wounds healed fast, though begrimed and besmeared with coal dust. For a long time it has been thought that breathing in coal dust caused lung diseases in miners. Some experts find fresh coal is as good as sterilized, and say miners have lung trouble because they do not take the trouble to put on their damp and sweaty clothing before going from the mine to their homes, thus taking cold in the open air walk. Experts say our miners ought to put on warm and dry clothes at the mouth of the mine. But it seems the miners have minds of their own, and although the coal companies in some places fixed up hot and cold water baths and dressing-rooms at the mouth of the mines the men would not use them, but went home to wash and dress, as had been their custom for generations.

Plea for the Sparrow.

Every little while some one starts an agitation against the sparrows, which are so plentiful in all our parks in the north during the wintertime, claiming that they drive other birds from their nests and that they litter up suburban piazzas. But the sparrows, with the doves, bobolinks, flickers, quail and blackbirds are friends to the gardener at all seasons and times, because they eat weeds and the sparrows, because of their pluckiness and numbers, lead all the others as weed destroyers. In the wintertime, sparrows eat almost entirely on weed seeds, as the ground is altogether too hard in the northern latitudes to permit them to secure any of the succulent worms with which they regale themselves in summertime. That means less weeds—Suburban Life.

Modernized.

"That story of the building of the Tower of Babel should be modernized." "But how would you account for the confusion of tongues?" "Why, I suppose they had the tower pretty nearly up and then somebody yelled 'Graft' and everybody accused everybody else and the job was hold up!"

One of the Mysteries.

"The railroad business is pretty complicated." "Yes," replied the traveling man. "I don't suppose I ever will be able to understand why two towns that look so close together on a railway map got so far apart when they come to measure up the distance with a mileage book."

Shutting Out Sound.

"Why do so many of you classic musicians wear such very long hair?" asked the inquisitive girl. "So that we can comb it down over our ears in case anybody plays ragtime."

Didn't Conform.

"Well," said the grouchy old dad, here is the money you've been coaxing me for. I ought not give you a cent, but I'm doing it to get rid of you. You are a spendthrift, sir, a spendthrift. But remember, a fool and his money are soon parted." "I don't see how you make that out, guv'nor," answered the youngster, pocketing the check. "I've been tormenting you for this money for more than two weeks."

From Farm Hand to Statesman.

Joseph Taggart, who went to congress a few days ago from the second Kansas district, began life as a farm hand. By teaching in the little school houses which with their cyclone cellars dot the plains of Kansas he earned the money that paid for his legal education. He came to general notice throughout the west by solving three murder mysteries. Exchange.

Office in Herald Building Telephone No. 148

The long days of summer are coming and the clerks ought to have that half holiday ere long. Good fishing weather and baseball will soon be here.

The Florida Postmasters held a Taft Memorial meeting at Daytona this week. Here's hoping the next meeting of Florida postmasters will change complexions.

The Herald will soon be made up of machine composition and then we can really give the people a paper. With a little more encouragement from the people who want a bigger city the Herald can be made a daily.

The Pensacola Evening News ought to fire the artist who attempted to foist cut of the Titanic on them and forget to scratch the name Olympic out. The ship's carpenter ought to paint the name it. Felkel is a seafaring man too and was on the bay.

The candidates seem to give Sanford wide berth. Other cities are having lots of campaign thunder and as yet we have not had a speech from one of them. These spell binders think we are going to vote for them without hearing those burning appeals they are badly mistaken.

The products of the soil shipped from Sanford last week amounted to over $100,000. Ten years ago Sanford was a deserted town of about 2,000 population. Now it has over 8,000 and is growing rapidly. With brick paved streets, street cars and many fine buildings, it is now one of the most attractive cities in Florida. St. Petersburg Times.

The many changes taking place in Sanford's business circles and a general activity in building and manufacturing lines all point to one of the most prosperous seasons in Sanford's history. Election year in the north is always dreaded by business men but in Sanford the Presidential election will not retard business. We will go right along doing business and will only pause long enough to elect a Democratic President.

The Herald was on the job with press dispatches on Tuesday and intended to get out at three o'clock and beat the city dailies to it, but the machinery refused to help us out and the news was late in getting to the reader although we were there with the latest telegrams, at that. Not content with news that filtered in from other channels, this paper telegraphed New York and received press reports up to three o'clock which is some enterprise for a weekly paper.

Sanford has a barrel factory that turns out 1,000 barrels a day and it is running at full capacity, to supply the demand for barrels in which to ship the 300,000 of Irish potatoes from the Hatterick and as many more from points. Florida is certainly becoming a wonderful producing state. Sanford's barrel factory is not being operated for growers but Sanford, where Irish potatoes are moving now at $1.00 per barrel.

It pleases me to hear the Sanford Herald comment upon some of the dope shove off upon an innocent public. I do most exceedingly hate to have him call this paper the "Palm Beach County Times." That's what gets my goat. It's just plain County—k-o-u-n-t-y. Of course there's good Times all over this county—and the County goes all over the county at all Times: but if Bobby Holly calls this the "County Times" many more times there'll be something brewing that will require more than a dash of mint to make it palatable. If Br'er Holly will come for just once to a real live city I'll show him one of the Times of his monkish life—Palm Beach COUNTY.

THE RACE FOR SUPREMACY.

The awful catastrophe of the Titanic and the loss of more than a thousand souls is another example of the made race for supremacy. With a new ship the record must be broken in order to eclipse all former efforts at crossing the Atlantic and in crossing the northern passage was taken because it was shorter and though the danger from floating icebergs was evident to the owners, danger was forgotten when time was considered and the toll of death resulted.

The automobile races are held to give each maker of cars the chance to demonstrate the speed of his car and the crowds gather to see these speed demons race around a narrow saucer or tear up a country road with the attendant disasters of cars smashed and drivers and spectators killed. They must make the speed and the loss of life is only a secondary consideration.

A new train is put on one of the famous roads and the first test is a race against time in order to get a mail contract or free advertising as being the fastest train in the world. A broken rail or one of a hundred incidents cause a wreck, and the loss of life is taken as a matter of course. The time must be made in the race for supremacy.

The race against death, the race for supremacy, the mad scramble for the top of the ladder and the loss of life is the toll taken from the hopper. Where will it end?

A BELATED CANDIDATE.

Our friend and former editor of the Citizen at the very last moment announced himself a candidate for the Legislature, as indicated by our Winter Garden correspondent last week and by Mr. Newton's card.

We are rather surprised, as the lines seemed to be drawn and perhaps most of the voters had tied themselves fast to those already in the field.

We are quite sure that had Mr. Newton announced early in the game some one of the voters would not have done so.

In fact, when there was a casting about for available men and the editor of the Citizen, with other was interviewed, the Citizen, recognizing no reason why the two former representatives Messrs. Robinson and Lake should not have a second term, agreed to support them before the people. There is no change in the situation and our friend, Mr. Newton, cannot and we are sure will not expect us to change front or that votes already pledged will be changed at almost the last moment, thus we feel bound to say in support of the candidates pledged to, though personally we are kindly disposed toward Mr. Newton. Orlando Citizen.

SPEAKING ABOUT BOYS.

What shall we do with the boys? The time to discuss this question is propitious now that so many of our people are gathered together to listen to the able discourse of learned men on the great religious movement of the times.

Speaking of the boys reminds us that in Sanford there are a great number of young boys, many of them are at home or in a good Y. M. C. A. building. While on the subject The Herald will pause long enough to remind the people of Sanford that they have done nothing toward providing a place for the boys.

A Y. M. C. A. building would not only prove to be a paying venture from a commercial standpoint but better than the monetary consideration would be the dividends in good healthy youngsters, strong not only in body but in mind, strong physically, morally and mentally. The boy has a surplus of nervous energy and a military company, a gymnasium, a swimming pool, a reading room, a pool room, a bowling alley all concentrated in a Y. M. C. A. building would work wonders toward making many men from the raw material.

There are rich men in Sanford who could well afford to finance a building of this kind but they are so imbued with the idea of piling up more wealth that they have been oblivious of the Young America growing up around them. Pause a moment in your scramble after the nimble dollar and take a deeper interest in the boy the boy who will soon be a man and depends upon your help to assist him toward better things.

MODERN HEROICS.

The spectacle of those brave men on the decks of the steamer Titanic assisting the women and children to safety in the life boats and all thoughts of self forgotten is a theme for the poets to hand down to future posterity and eclipses the brave deeds of ancient times. The human mind can hardly grasp the awful situation faced by every passenger on the Titanic when in the dead hour of night they were forced to leave their bed and rush on deck confronted with Death and no chance to escape. With none of the details before us we are led to believe that no disorder prevailed, no brutes rushed in and trampled women and children to death in the mad desire to escape as did the men on the Italian ship that foundered several years ago. The men were English and Americans and some from other nations and they seemed to have stoically faced Death and desired to live only to assist the weaker sex and the helpless little ones. With all the women and children saved the Titanic sank beneath the waves with lights ablaze and the band playing "God be With You 'Till we Meet Again."

No ancient history records such a noble sacrifice and never again will the true manhood of the nation have a greater test of the manhood that makes modern heroes.

They lie beneath the waves where the waters of centuries will roll over them. Where no marble shaft can commemorate their deeds but their names will live in song and story and that memory will be kept as long as history survives.

Prominent Orlando Citizen Here

Hon. Joseph Guernsey, one of the most prominent citizens of Orlando and one who is always identified with all the progressive movements of that progressive city was in the city today and paid The Herald office an appreciated visit. Speaking about the many improvements taking place in Orange county Mr. Guernsey fully agreed that the Herald was on the right track in advocating a tourist hotel and country club for Sanford. The Orlando Country Club will open on May 2nd and Mr. Guernsey extended us a gracious invitation to attend. This class of improvements have made Orlando a tourist's Paradise and the influx of new people each year is wonderful. Sanford could well profit by the experience of our sister city in this respect.

A Wonderful Machine

The new Monotype, at work in the Herald office, is almost human in possibilities, and this week set up the bulk of the advertisement of D. A. Caldwell & Sons, an ad that usually takes the time of one man for the greater part of a day. The Monotype can put up the different kinds of type, and do the work in a hurry, and a glance over the advertisement will convince the most skeptical that the day of the machine is here. The Monotype setting single type and casting job type and sorts, is the machine for the printer who has a large run of all kinds of work and the Caldwell ad is a fair sample of what the Monotype will do in the hands of an experienced operator.

Mrs. Newman Hostess

Mrs. Robert Newman entertained at Auction Bridge, complimentary to Mrs. C. E. Bell, Thursday afternoon. Two tables of bridge were played. The highest score was made by Mrs. O. W. Brady, who won the first prize, two dainty Irish crochet and velvet ribbon bows. The consolation prize, a pair of crochet mats, were cut for, and won by Mrs. Frank Lane. Mrs. F. J. Gonzales received the booby prize, a deck of cards.

When the pleasant games were concluded a delicious salad course was served. Mrs. Newman's guests were: Mrs. Charles E. Bell, Mrs. O. W. Brady, Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin, Mrs. J. W. Dickins, Mrs. F. J. Gonzales, Mrs. Frank Lane.

Will Learn the Monotype

Zeb Rutliff, a valued employee of The Herald will leave tonight for Philadelphia where he will take a ten weeks' course at the Monotype factory and become thoroughly conversant with the machine that will play such an important part in The Herald office. Miss Aline Trafford, who will operate the keyboard will be busy here learning the intricacies of this part of the machine. Mr. J. A. Hill will remain here for some time getting the Monotype in shape and setting the delinquent tax list.

Frank Clark Will Be Here

A telegram from Hon. Frank Clark bears the intelligence that he will be here on Friday afternoon, April 26th, and will address the people of this section. As Hon. William Jennings Bryan will probably be here that day, Sanford will have a large crowd, and, if Hon. S. G. Hilburn and Hudson Burr, can come, we guarantee plenty of excitement. The people here are anxious to hear from Frank Clark, and to know why the land sharks are fighting him.

Fancy Work Circle

Mrs. W. H. Milteer was the hostess of the Fancy Work Circle Wednesday afternoon. The members of the Circle were delightfully entertained with their fancy work and the social afternoon together. Delicious ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. Milteer's guests were: Mrs. J. J. Purden, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Hines. Mrs. H. H. Hill, Mrs. T. S. Davis, Mrs. W. T. John, Mrs. Esterby.

Great Prize List

The free gifts that will be given away by the well-known firm of D. A. Caldwell & Sons are causing a stampede at that store, and, in a few days announcement will be made, regarding the time, when the public will be invited to come in and take possession of the articles. If you don't know about this event, or the prizes, see Caldwell.

The Wednesday Club

The Wednesday Club held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Henry Wight Wednesday afternoon. After the minutes were read by the secretary Mrs. S. O. Chase, the president called for the report of the committee empowered to decide on a subject of study for the next year's work of the club. The report was made by Mrs. Chase, one of the committee, who stated that after consideration and discussion by the committee, they had had aside the topic suggested and had made a departure from the former custom of choosing subjects and had decided on the Bay View Course of Study for the season 1912-13, in which Central and South America and Mexico would be the principal topics of study. After a short discussion of the civic department of the club and its work for the next year and other interests the club had in view, the program for the afternoon was taken up.

A delightfully interesting sketch of Hans Egede, the Apostle to Greenland, his life work among the Esquimaux, their wonderful love for him and the fadeless memory he left in that beautiful land, was given by Mrs. F. F. Dutton.

Mrs. Stringfellow gave a short sketch of "Enrico Dalgas, the Reclaimer of the Heath," telling of the inspiration which came to this well informed and deep thinking man of the possibility of reclaiming for the agricultural people the vast heath of Norway. An exceedingly interesting article and sketch of "Nils Finsen, the Wolf Slayer," was read by Miss Nell Whitner, giving a synopsis of the wonderful discoveries and inventions of the brilliant scientist and physician who had the ability to do so much to alleviate suffering, and to discover a cure for the fearful disease known in his country as "Lupus."

After the consideration of several matters of interest and the appointment of a committee, the club adjourned to meet at the residence of Mrs. Wight next Wednesday afternoon.

HILL HARDWARE

The GLOW of the RUBIES

by FRANCIS PERRY ELLIOTT
ILLUSTRATIONS by RAY WALTERS
COPYRIGHT 1911 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Richard Lightnut, an American with an affected English accent, receives a present from a friend in China.

CHAPTER II.—The present proves to be a pair of pajamas. A letter hints of surprises to the wearer.

CHAPTER III.—Lightnut dons the pajamas and late at night gets up for a smoke. His servant, Jenkins, comes in and, failing to recognize Lightnut, attempts to put him out. Thinking the servant crazy, Lightnut changes his clothes intending to summon help. When he reappears Jenkins falls on his neck with joy, confirming Lightnut's belief that he is crazy.

CHAPTER IV.—Jenkins tells Lightnut of the encounter he had with a hideous Chinaman dressed in pajamas.

CHAPTER V.—In a message from his friend Jack Billings, Lightnut is asked to put up "the kid" for the night on his way home from college. Later Lightnut finds a beautiful girl in black pajamas in his room.

CHAPTER VI.—Lightnut is shocked by the girl's drinking, smoking and slangy talk.

CHAPTER VII.—She tells him her name is Francis and puzzles him with a story of her love for her sister's room-mate, named Francis. Next morning the girl is missing and Lightnut hurries to the boat to see her off. He is accosted by a husky college boy, who calls him "Dicky," but he does not see the girl.

CHAPTER VIII.—Jack Billings calls to spend the night with Lightnut. They discover priceless rubies hidden in the buttons of the pajamas.

CHAPTER IX.—Billings dons the pajamas and retires.

CHAPTER X.—Lightnut later discovers in his apartment a heavy iron safe in the top-drawer and a certain perfume. Jenkins calls the police. When the intruder is a criminal, named "Dicky Grandpa."

CHAPTER XI.—The intruder declares he is Lightnut's guest and appeals to the latter in vain.

CHAPTER XII.—He is hustled off to jail.

CHAPTER XIII.—In the morning Lightnut is astonished to find Billings gone and more astonished when he sees a message from the latter, describing the clothes. Lightnut is out for Billings' home, discovers the rubies, and the girl of the pajamas on the train.

CHAPTER XIV.—Lightnut speaks to her and alludes to the night before. She declares indignantly that she had never seen her in black pajamas. At the same time Francis is met by a husky college boy, who calls him "Dicky," but he does not see the girl. Lightnut takes the next train home.

CHAPTER XV.—Billings storms over the outrage of his arrest. He and Lightnut discover mysterious Chinese characters on the pajamas.

CHAPTER XVI.—Professor Doozenberry is called in to interpret the hieroglyphics.

CHAPTER XVII.—The professor calls the girl to the laboratory.

CHAPTER XVIII.—The professor takes that a person wearing the pajamas wears. The professor borrows the pajamas for experiment. He would have known it. It was more like a shrieking squeak—rusty hinge, you know, that sort of thing.

The professor looked up from the pajamas, and folding his arms, eyed Billings with a chilling leer.

"I think I see," he said, leveling his finger. "You have both demonstrated how nonsensical is the assertion in this inscription. Doubtless you desire an experiment upon my part to confirm your proof of its absurdity. Reductio ad absurdum—eh, gentlemen?"

A devilish queer look had come into Billings' face. He nodded, gathered the pajamas into the professor's arms and patted him on the shoulder in a way I thought offensively familiar.

"You've got it, professor!" he said, grinning.

Then he whispered to me aside:

"Not a word, Dicky—great Scott!"

But he needn't have said that, even if I had been mind-reader enough to guess what word he meant. It was about all I could do to get out a last word to the professor as he went out the door:

"Night!"

CHAPTER XIX.

The Collapse of Billings.

"Are you sure, Mr. Lightnut?"

I stood, cap in hand, one foot on the sidewalk before the Kahoka, the other on the running-board of the car—a big double-tonneau red whale sort of affair. This was as far as I had been admitted to the vehicle.

For the frump was sitting there behind the steering wheel, looking down at me in a nasty, sideways fashion. Ever have them do you that way? Besides, I somehow felt that she had a feeling toward me as a man, an unvoiced protest against my existence at all. It found expression in her suspicious, snifty manner. Dash it, I just hated that woman from the start! I felt it was bad enough, her English twisted as in getting the introductions

twisted as in getting the introductions

twisted as in getting the introductions

twisted as in getting the introductions

twisted as in getting the introductions

twisted as in getting the introductions

twisted as in getting the introductions

twisted as in getting the introductions

with half an eye that she was determined to make trouble about yesterday.

"Haven't we met before, Mr. Lightnut?" she had asked.

But it struck me that Frances glanced at me with a kind of wistful light in her lovely eyes, and I saw that the game was to lie like a gentleman—that sort of thing, you know. And, by Jove, I was getting kind of used to it now, anyhow—I mean since I had broken the ice last night. Not hard at all, though, after a few goes—really!

So I stood out that I had never had the pleasure, you know—all that sort of polite rot. And all the time felt like a jolly cad, too, meeting a girl with that, when she remembered! But, by Jove, it was worth sacrificing the frump fifty times over just to see Frances' face brighten and note her faint flush and smile as she looked at me. For, dash it, I knew then I had done the right thing!

"Um!" grunted the frump, compressing her lips and looking at my darling. "There's one good thing: the experience with Mr. Smith will teach Francis a lesson!"

The cat! Nice sort of host!

But the dear girl just laughed—how I remembered that laugh!

"Poor Francis!" she said lightly. "Do you know," she added, "I believe I can forgive a Harvard man almost anything, Mr. Lightnut!"

By Jove! The angel! And before I knew what I was doing or thought about the frump, I had stretched out a hand to her, looking her straight in the eye and smiling. She hesitated an instant only, then laughed, and I felt her little fingers just brush my palm—but it was enough.

She flushed a little shyly and addressed the frump.

"Are we going to keep Mr. Lightnut staring like this all day?" she asked.

Half on earth and half in heaven, how what his name's coffin, I suggested. Devilish good, that, don't you think? She thought so, for she opened the door herself as the frump turned, murmuring some silly thing about China and the open door to America. What did China have to do with it?

And it was just then that Jenkins bolted wildly from the building.

Mr. Lightnut—quick, sir! Mr. Billings, sir!

I thought of the telephone right off, but he just caught my arm. First time ever knew Jenkins to take a liberty.

"Come quick, sir," he exclaimed. "He's upstairs and, oh, off his nut, sir—awful!"

"By Jove!" I gasped, "Excuse me—will see—come right back and tell you I feared this last night." And I rushed to the elevator with Jenkins.

He's in them black pajamas he was talking about," said Jenkins gloomily, "and how run the professor off. Last night he ain't there, and his man can't get Mr. Billings to go. He came down for me, but I couldn't do a thing with him, either."

I knew I understood. It was the dwelling of his mind upon the rubies! He had gone back in the night for them—in his sleep, for all I knew. But I thought most likely awake, for recent experience with him showed me that he didn't think anything of wandering around the neighborhood in his pajamas.

The janitor's pale face met us at the landing.

"I've sent for the police, sir, and it would be a good idea, don't you think, if you could get him away before they come. I don't want to get Mr. Billings into no trouble."

"Good idea," I agreed. "We'll just rush him to the car—but, h'm!"

I suddenly remembered he was in pajamas. It might be all right to Billings to wander around in public streets and vehicles in his night things, but it certainly wouldn't do under the present circumstances. He might not care, but then, there were the feelings of the girls to consider. And besides, dash it, I had some sort of idea it was against the law.

Billings was standing by the window looking at a glass thermometer that he had just withdrawn from his mouth.

"Um!" he grunted complacently. "Ninety-seven and a quarter—my usual healthy subnormal temperature. Pulse sixty-five—respiration, twenty-four and two-fifths—excellent, excellent! I am myself. Hal!" And he whirled triumphantly.

"Ah!" he said, advancing eagerly and rubbing his hands. "It is you! You have heard, then? Marvelous, isn't it—wholly incredible! But do you know"—here he plucked at my coat—"here he plucked at my coat—"

VOTE FOR DONEGAN FOR STATE SENATOR

(From the Kissimmee, (Florida) Valley Gazette)

"When the County of Osceola was created, the late John Milton Bryan was the senator but at the next election Orange County furnished the senator and E. M. Hammond was elected. He was succeeded four years later by M. R. Marks, of Orange County, giving that County the senator for eight years. Mr. Hammond was succeeded by C. A. Carson, of Kissimmee, who served for eight years and he was in turn succeeded by Louis C. Massey, of Orlando, who has just completed his service for eight years. Then, clearly, if precedent is to be observed it is Osceola's time to have the senator again; and in presenting the name of Arthur E. Donegan, the people of this county feel that they can assure the people of Orange County of a representative in the State Senate in every way the equal of any of those who have preceded him in service in that distinguished body."

"I cannot find any transmigration. The materialization appears to be wholly optical."

"Never mind," I said anxiously, for I knew he was talking about the rubies; "we don't care." I smiled brightly. "Let's go down and see the car—nice car!" And I tried to get hold of his fat side, but missed it.

"Car?" Billings looked puzzled. Then his face broke into a smile. "Carpe diem—eh am I not right? True true? Whither you say." He looked about on a table. "Um—my notes, now," he muttered; and he caught up a small book and a pencil.

The professor's man protested: "Professor Doozenberry don't like—" "Oh, dash it, let him have them!" I exclaimed, for Billings was already chuckling happily and writing in the little blank book.

"Come on," I pleaded, catching a fold of the pajamas. "Wouldn't you like to come get some clothes on?"

He drew back in alarm. "No, no—not yet—not until I complete my notes," was his crazy answer. "You know: sublati causa, tollitur effectus!" And he looked as though he thought this would finish me.

"But your friend," he exclaimed suddenly, as he allowed me to throw a blanket about his shoulders and we moved out of the door, "the gentleman I met last night—Billings—is not that the name?"

I looked at him miserably as we entered the car to go down.

"Oh, I say, Billings, old chap," I protested earnestly, "don't you know me?" I pointed to the little panel of mirror in the cage. "Don't you know you are Billings? Can't you see?"

His fat head pecked at the glass for an instant. Then he looked at me with eager, batting eyes. He chuckled hoarsely, gurglingly, and out came the note-book and pencil from his sleeve.

"Better and better," he muttered. "Now, if we could only go to him!" He caught my arm. "In the interest of this investigation of scientific phenomena, would he consider a call intrusive—could we not seek your friend, Mr. Billings?"

"It's all right, you know," I gently reassured him. "Yes, we're going to him—going, riding, you know."

SENATOR LOUIS C. MASSEY

CANDIDATE FOR RE-NOMINATION

Senator MASSEY has taken a leading part in the State Senate ever since he entered that body. The Committees on which he has served are the most important in the Senate. He has been Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary; of the Committee on Finance and Taxation, and on the Committee on Legislative Expenses, besides serving as a member of the Committees on Constitutional Amendments, Education, Appropriations, Fisheries, Militia, Corporations, Railroads, Canals and Telegraphs, and Rules. Consequently has obtained a knowledge of State affairs and of legislative matters that would naturally be of use to the people of this senatorial district. His record is not attacked in any particular.

WHY MAKE A CHANGE?

... love, the way he cackled made my heart ache! I whispered to Jenkins to run ahead and prepare the boxes. But the first thing we saw as the cage hit the bottom was a woman and dash it, the frump from ... gave a little scream and fell on ... neck, almost bearing him to ... "Jacky Jacky!" she sobbed ... "I have almost felt myself!" So ... was the way the wind lay? And I had never even so much as suspected. That was why he had raved so about her beauty! Beauty! Poor old ... If I had been sad about him before, it was a devilish slight worse ... "Worse? Why, dash it, she kissed ... and to see him standing there, kind ... thing and rolling his eyes and ... like a girl does when she ... a strange piece of candy out of ... oh, it just broke me all up! ... wonder he was crazy? Why, dash it, he would have to be crazy! ... He was muttering to himself. ... "Remarkable!" I heard. "Singularly serene and exhilarating! Now, I never would have thought—um!" ... And then he very deliberately took her head between his hands and ... kissed her. Then he looked upward thoughtfully and did it again—like a chicken drinks water—you know! ... And then while we—that is, Jenkins and I—were trying to urge him ... out came the note-book again and he scribbled rapidly, muttering audibly: "Labial osculation—extraordinary ... sensatory ganglia—muscular membrane—" ... "Police!" I whispered brutally in the frump's ear. "Better let's get him away!" And, by Jove, that woke her out of her trance! In two minutes she had cajoled him to the car and we had him inside on the cushions. We bunched blankets and rugs about him to hide the pajamas. "Jacky, dear," gushed the Chinese freak, "wouldn't you like for me to sit by you and hold your poor hand?" It looked as if he would. The frump turned to me. "Can you drive the car, Mr. Lightnut?" "Could I? Well, I would show her! Especially as Frances had changed to the front as she saw us bringing out Billings. "Take the train—get Billings' things from the club," I called to Jenkins. "Sharp, now! And here, unbook that number there on the back—give it here!" Jenkins hesitated. "I think there's a heavy line still," he hinted. I snapped my fingers at him and he jumped to obey. "Worse things than a jolly fine," I said, looking at poor Billings smiling ... over the frump. I threw the number plate into the car. "And just in time!" ... "My dear, the car," whirled a policeman ... "I know my—" ... "Then tell me," panted the officer. "I know my—" ... And then he gave a shout and sprang for the car. "It's that fellow that was prowling around the station house!" he yelled. "Here, stop there!" ... "And I don't want to. For one thing, I've a half block away, and I had really coasted a towel supply ... and scattered the wares of a pushcart across three sidewalks." ... My cap went flying as we skidded a corner, and I was devilish glad, for the mortar threw Frances' head almost against mine and I felt the tickling brush of a little hair wisp as it swept my nose. Her eyes were dancing with excitement. "She looked back waving her hand at the figure of O'Lee's trotting from around the corner, and her laughter pealed joyously, deliciously in my ear. "Oh, I think American men are great—are wonderful!" she cried, striking her little hands together. "Especially Harvard men—and especially—" She stopped with the faintest catch. "By Jove!" I cried. "Do you mean it?" ... And for the briefest instant the hands were three; but her scream brought me back to earth just in time to save the lives of a man and a boy. Devilish ungrateful, too, for I could see the man, three blocks behind, and still shaking his fist. The way with these pedestrians! ... At Fifty-ninth street we caromed with a hansom trotting too leisurely across the plaza, and I listened for nearly a block to the remarks of a bicycle cop before he dropped behind. What dashed me not a little was Billings' indifference to the record I was making for his car—didn't seem to care a jolly hang. The frump was still hanging on him in a way to make you sick, and cooling and going on in a nervous, half-hysterical way I never would have thought her able to chirp up to. And Billings was holding her hand! "Hello!" I called to him, just after we clipped Yonkers. He looked up at me, smiling and nodding. "Feel all right now, old man?" I inquired cheerily. Billings looked at me hard, and then, dash it, he winked! And I began to wonder, by Jove, if it was just plain drunk. CHAPTER XX. My Darling is Blandered. Seemed to be only about a minute more and we were clipping through the curves of the Wolhurst park—Frances pointed the way—and had slowed down under the porte cochere. The frump whispered to the man who opened the door. "As quietly as possible, Wilken," she said, and without his father seeing him. "The judge is away, miss," said the man. "He drove down to the village with Senator Soakem, who had to catch a train back to Albany; but I'm looking for him every—" "Be quick, then," jerked the frump. "You know what to do." "I guess I do, miss," answered the butler gloomily. "I've had to do it often enough—Perkins and me. A good cold souse—that's the thing—and then bed. I know!" Billings waved his hand to the frump as he mounted the stairway inside. And then, dash it, he kissed his fingers. The frump kind of glared down the deserted vista of the fine old hall and shrugged her shoulders.

"Everybody loafing, as usual," she muttered sourly, and she hurried her coat at the carved back of a great cathedral chair—and missed it.

It was clear that her type scorned conventionalities and knew how to make themselves thoroughly at home. "I hope you'll be made comfortable here, Mr. Lightnut," she said, peeling a glove with a jerk, "but I have my doubts."

And she gave a kind of hollow laugh. "Awfully tiresome, these country places," I said sympathetically. "I screwed my glass at a couple of footmen who came into view at the far end of the hall, and who were whispering and chuckling about something. 'Things seem to be run a bit loose, don't you know—that's a fact. Don't mind for myself, but fancy a girl might find it rather trying visiting here.'"

By Jove, how she opened her eyes at me—surprised, I knew, at finding me such a devilish keen observer. My sympathy touched her, too, for her eyeballs shone moist of a sudden and I saw her lip tremble as she stared. Then she swallowed hard and slapped her gloves sharply across her palm.

"It's Francis that's to blame for that sort of thing," she rasped, nodding down the hall.

"Francis?" I ejaculated in protest. "Oh, here, I say, now—"

"You don't know Francis, Mr. Lightnut!" Her jaw ground with a snap, and what a look she gave me! "Wait till you do—you just wait! And eyes and hands lifted to the ceiling—"

I coughed again.

The cat! And this was my darling's friend!

But her claws raked on: "I tell you you just can't be familiar with grooms and half-fellow well-met with footmen without demoralizing them—and that's what Francis does! She jerked this way, viciously, and while I gaped, went on: 'You know very well, Mr. Lightnut, if you play cards and drink and carouse with your men-servants until two or three o'clock in the morning you can't reasonably look for respect from them.' She breathed heavily. 'The trouble is, Francis has no self-respect—'

"By Jove, if I love you, Miss—er—Dash, no! If I hadn't forgotten her name! If you feel that way, I don't see why the deuce I'm here. I mean why do you stay on here and sacrifice yourself? I dashed this in the most devilish sarcastic way. I'd pick my belly-trunk and get as far away as I could."

I added earnestly, continuing: "And stay away, you know."

And I took a deep breath for I expected to see her wilt or get straight up in the air. I knew it was a toss-up for either.

Not she! She just twisted a snarl smile at me.

"Umh," she grunted. "Perhaps you don't know that Francis has suggested that to me several times—frankly and openly, when I have been plucked. I'm a little suspicious."

"Dash, say you've got a good deal of sense though for a woman," I said, "but have it coldly deliberated. Brother Jack has been a sort of compensation—that's it, eh?"

And I shot her a foxy wink!

That is I almost did pulled up, though, just on the brink. "By Jove, gave me cold narrow-eyes for an instant, thinking how I might have compromised myself, you know. Besides, I could spare her that. Just as I did in so devilish a way. That is, you would have thought so for that sort of thing said to a normal Yankee girl would have stirred her pride or unchained the jolly lightnings from her eyes—you know!"

But dashed if this imported freak didn't suddenly nod with a sort of chokey snuff and reach out her hand for mine.

"How you do understand!" she crooned unblinking, and she leaked a big cold tear down upon my hand and let another splash my cuff—and Jenkins hadn't come with my things yet, dash it! "I do try to be patient about Francis for Jack's sake—he asked me to, and I do try not to mind the way things are run, but oh, Mr. Lightnut, what this place needs is a head!" She almost squeezed my hand, and blinked dully at me out of her pasty face. "And then," she sniffed, "I do so want to make a home for my father and my brothers. They have never known what it was to have a home—think of it!"

"See here," I said, fixing my monocle sternly and folding my arms—for I had got back my hand under pretense of fixing my part. "You don't mean to say that Jack would ever ask you to take charge here?"

Rather plain and direct, that, don't you think? Sort of heavy broadsword stroke, you know. But she took it full and clean—never winced or turned a hair. Just looked thoughtful.

"Yes," she said slowly. "Jack says it'll have to come to that some day—some arrangement. Neither of us ever want to marry."

"Oh!"

And my monocle dropped!

Young Women

Read what Cardui did for Miss Myria Engler, of Faribault, Minn. She says: "Let me tell you how much good Cardui has done me. As a young girl, I always had to suffer so much with all kind of pain. Sometimes, I was so weak that I could hardly stand on my feet. I got a bottle of Cardui, at the drug store, and as soon as I had taken a few doses, I began to feel better. Today, I feel as well as anyone can."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Are you a woman? Then you are subject to a large number of troubles and irregularities, peculiar to women, which, in time, often lead to more serious trouble. A tonic is needed to help you over the hard places, to relieve weakness, headache, and other unnecessary pains, the signs of weak nerves and over-work. For a tonic, take Cardui, the woman's tonic. You will never regret it, for it will certainly help you. Ask your druggist about it. He knows. He sells it.

WOODLAND PARK NOTES

To the Editor of The Herald

Sunday, April 7th, Reed's bus brought Mr. and Mrs. Reed and son, Mr. and Mrs. Gray and three daughters and Mrs. Stone and daughter. They are Woodland Park enthusiasts and come as often as they can. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith drove down to give the baby a swim and brought their friends Mr. and Mrs. A. King, Mr. Roy Symes and three ladies motored down. Capt. Pagenhart brought a party on the "Mamie." Mrs. Geo. B. Dickinson leased the park for last Friday to give her pupils a nice outing, an example that will be followed by other teachers after they hear of the enjoyment this gave to the girls. Capt. Pagenhart brought them on the "Mamie" and had two good loads of jolly girls. They certainly enjoyed themselves and kept the trolley squeak, swing and whirl going full tilt. Ask them if they want to come again. Some grown people also came as invited guests. Sunday was a good day. In the morning a party of boys came for a swim and other recreation. After noon Mr. Jenkins, who comes every Sunday, brought some friends in a launch and they all enjoyed the pool. Capt. Tillis made three trips with the "Nettie." The "Nettie" is all right, but with the Woodland Park habit growing, Capt. Tillis will have to get a larger boat this summer. Many people came by bicycle, buggies and a foot. Messrs. Crown and Wagner of the A. C. L. went to the park Saturday to investigate that railroad crossing, and after satisfying themselves decided, since it had to be, the crossing should be put in at once and promised positively to have the work finished promptly without any more delays, excuses, etc. This will enable autos to come by way of Monroe on a wide, dry road and enable Monroe people to come without wading.

CULLED FROM THE STATE PRESS

An Epitome of the Week's Most Important Happenings in the State's Domain.

The Order of Boy Scouts in Miami held a big banquet a few nights ago. The work for the summer months was outlined and a general big feast enjoyed.

The citizens of Sarasota have voted in favor of a twenty thousand dollar bond issue for public improvements.

Grading of the roadway from Duellon to Old Town is now in progress. Ties and rails will be laid as soon as the grading is completed. A short line is also to be built by the A. C. L. to Monticello. When these two roads are completed, Tampa will have a short route to the West.

Tampa is to have a new city hall which will occupy a whole block not less than 270,000 square feet.

Fort Meade has just voted for bonding $19,000 for water works and $20,000 for a sewerage system.

Six prairie schooners, or covered wagons, filled with men, women and children, passed through Miami a few days ago on route to the Homestead section, where they will become settlers. The newcomers are said to be from Oklahoma, and have been traveling ever since early last winter.

Resolutions of Respect

The following resolutions of respect were adopted by Celery City Aerie No. 1853, of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, on the death of their beloved brother Isham B. Williams:

WHEREAS, Our dearly beloved brother I. B. Williams has been called to his long well deserved rest, and

WHEREAS, We have since the institution of this Aerie in the City of Sanford, been favored by his fellowship, he being one of the charter members of this order, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, That we bow our heads and will to the law of our God above us, with appreciation for the pleasure and honor of his long and faithful fellowship with us, and

BE IT RESOLVED, That we extend to his wife and family our heartfelt sympathy in this their hour of dire distress and trouble, and

BE IT RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be sent his family, one spread on our minutes and one sent for publication to the Sanford Herald.

Signed by the committee:
C. H. WALSH,
Geo. DeCOTTES,
G. W. SMITH,
Sanford, Fla., April 17th, 1912.

FINDING TITANIC VICTIMS

Sixty-Four Bodies Have Been Recovered From The Sea

The bodies of sixty-four of the victims of the Titanic have been recovered from the sea by the cable ship Mackay-Bennett, according to a wireless message received in St. Johns, N. F., Sunday night.

The message states that a number of bodies were recovered and cast back into the sea, obviously for the reason that they were in such condition as to make identification impossible.

The cable ship was ordered to the scene of the disaster as soon as it was known that the Titanic had sunk.

J. Bruce Ismay, president of the International Mercantile Marine Co., received a message from the Mackay-Bennett, stating that the steamship Rhein reported passing wreckage and bodies near the scene of the disaster.

An Old Time Revival

"Sanford will soon see a religious revival such as has not been here for years" is the statement of a prominent church worker of the city. Arrangements are being completed for the revival meetings to be held in this city beginning May 26 under the management of Evangelist J. M. Bass and his assistant, Prof. J. W. Stapleton, who has charge of the music.

Word has been received from Evangelist Bass who is now holding forth in Forsythe, Ga. that the meeting there is very successful. Many souls are seeking the light at every meeting and great interest is manifest. Among the interesting incidents that are occurring every day in Forsythe on account of the meetings are the settling of old scores among enemies, paying of old accounts, returning of ill-gotten goods, and the "burying of the hatchet" on several old family quarrels.

The merchants of the city are closing their places of business for one hour every morning, in order to allow their clerks and themselves to attend the meetings.

Notice I. O. O. F.

The members of Sanford Lodge No. 27, I. O. O. F. are requested to meet in lodge at 7 p. m. sharp, Sunday, April 28th, to observe the ninety-third anniversary of Old Fellowship in America. All Old Fellows are invited. The anniversary sermon will be preached by Rev. J. W. Wildman at the Baptist church.

Clyde and M. & M. Wreck

The steamer Cretan of the Merchants and Miners line bound from Jacksonville and Savannah to Baltimore is making her way up the coast, seriously damaged above the water line from a collision during thick weather early Monday off Hatteras with the Clyde line steamer Iroquois from New York for Charleston and Jacksonville. The Savannah line steamer City of Montgomery was standing by the Cretan to give assistance if needed.

News of the collision stated that the Cretan was in no immediate danger, but gave no information concerning the whereabouts of the Iroquois.

It is thought the Iroquois, perhaps, sustained little damage and has proceeded on her voyage southward. No fatalities were reported.

Base Ball for Orlando

Let the sirens shriek, the horns toot, and the very rattlers rattle, for at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the base ball fans of Orlando will assemble at the San Juan hotel to decide the question of a ball team this year.

The call went forth from that dignified gentleman in the court house who, it is said, has been batting pens around with lead pencils for the past three weeks.

Mr. E. G. Duckworth will be there, you bet your life, and with spikes on his shoes. He will be in a rather embarrassing position when war is declared, by the way, because he has a store in Sanford.

B. Beacham, Jr., and Paul G. Biggers spent Tuesday afternoon and night here. They have been campaigning in West Florida for several days in the interest of Hon. Braxton Beacham of Orlando who is a candidate for Congressman-At-Large. They were well received and did some effective work for Mr. Beacham who will be through this part of the state himself in a few days.—Chiploy Banner.

Mrs. Braxton Beacham, Miss Mary Davis and Bonny Beacham of Orlando were in the city yesterday.

T. E. F. Hoskins, of Orlando, spoke on the street here yesterday.

POTATOES ARE MOVING

Twenty Car Loads Left Sanford During Past Week

BRINGING TOP NOTCH PRICES

Sanford Growers Have Over Four Hundred Acres This Season in Early Potatoes

The Irish potato crop will be a great factor in the Sanford Celery Delta this season and on account of the scarcity of the crop all over the world, the price bids fair to remain strong until the northern crop comes in. Sanford has over 400 acres in potatoes this year and they are of very good quality, bringing $5 and more for the No. 1 and even the culls bringing a fair price. The Hastings crop is of large proportions and will come in about May 1st, but this fact should not prove a bugaboo to the Sanford grower, as the price is bound to hold up during the season. Twenty car loads went forward last week and about the same number will go out this week.

Coggins & Co. are very active in the potato deal and this firm is making f. o. b. sales, paying out last week over $12,000 for potatoes here. F. F. Dutton, the resident manager, deserves great credit for the able manner in which he has handled the potato deal this season, and is very optimistic over the outlook, not only of the potato crop but also of the tomato crop.

Messrs. Walker and Pugh are probably the largest growers of potatoes in this section and will have about 3,000 barrels, which are bound to net them a neat sum as they are moving them this week. Both of these gentlemen are fully alive to the possibilities of the potato crop in this section and realize the value of Sanford soil. Mr. Walker has owned a farm here for several years and is one of the pioneers in the potato deal, having some fifty acres that he usually plants in potatoes. If any one wishes to learn of the possibilities of Sanford soil and diversified crops Walker and Pugh are always ready to take them over the place and show them real potatoes raised on irrigated land. The potato crop in this section is not to be despised and will fatten many a bank account that would otherwise be depleted by pinning faith to a fancier crop.

Unlike celery and lettuce and other tender vegetables the potato does not have to go to market at once, but can be held for some time. In fact the longer the potato stays in the ground the larger it grows.

At a safe estimate the Sanford potato crop will bring the growers about $50,000 and from this the net profit should be $30,000. On this same land the farmer can plant corn and this will mean that he can almost make back his fertilizer bill.

Some of the potato growers also have tomatoes on the same land and where they diversify in this manner the profit should be enough to satisfy the most pessimistic grower that ever played the avil chorus.

The possibilities of Florida soil are almost beyond computation.

Catholic Fair Attracting Crowds

The oil paintings on the fancy table at the Catholic fair are greatly admired by all patrons of that attraction, they are to be given away with other prizes Wednesday night. See the ladies about them. Everything good to eat is served at the supper table. One man, a veritable Epicurean, declared that he never tasted the like of that "Blooming Flower Cake." Never was it placed on a Sanford table before. The country store also has its attractions, and it looks as if the home-made candy will not last over Tuesday night. This fair is for a good purpose and every cent you spend there will remain in Sanford. The ladies will appreciate your patronage to enable them to continue the good work of improving our city.

Rummage Sale

The Ladies' Union of the Congregational church will hold a rummage sale Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week in the vacant store in the Stone & Gove block. Second hand clothing, furniture, shades, matting and other articles will be on sale. The ladies will appreciate any donations of this character from friends of the church. Articles can be sent to Mrs. C. E. Walker, Elm avenue or the Congregational parsonage or a phone message to either address, and the articles will be called for.

REGARDING ELECTION EXPENSES

G. R. Calhoun Takes Exception To The Herald's Questions

To the Editor of The Herald

After reading your article in the last issue of the Herald headed "Make A Statement," I think it would be best to post yourself on matters of this kind before going into print with it. You are in error and have evidently been misled by an article which recently appeared in the Oviedo Advance.

The Secretary of the Committee after each primary, makes his report to the Campaign Committee.

Everything is paid by checks. When the checks are returned, they are attached to the stubs.

The Committee always extend an invitation to candidates to attend these meetings. These deliberations are never behind closed doors.

The books are at the disposal of anyone interested at any time.

The proceedings and assessments of candidates in several counties in the state are also on file and open to the general public.

The Committee will meet at the court house in Orlando on Friday, May 3d, 1912, at 11 o'clock, for the purpose of canvassing the vote and transacting other business, and I am sure they will be pleased to see you and all others interested.

For your information, we have on hand Twelve Hundred fifty nine and 25/100 dollars.

Yours very truly

G. R. CALHOUN,

Chairman Campaign Committee

Replying to Mr. Calhoun's statement will say that the Herald is not in error and is not led by any statements of any other paper. The candidates think they are assessed too much and naturally they want to know the actual cost of a primary and so does the general public. We asked for a printed statement, and expect to get one either from an Orlando paper or from the committee. No reflections have been cast upon the committee, and no exceptions ought to be taken by a simple request that publicity be given to the actual expenses. If there is now in the hands of the Committee the sum of $1,259.25 does this represent the total assessment for the election, and will it cost that much to hold one? The Primary system is a costly affair and if the candidates can enter the lists with a lighter assessment they are certainly entitled to it. At any rate we will have the statement as per se.

Peglow Goes Higher

H. C. Peglow has been promoted to the position of master mechanic of the A. C. L. shops at Jacksonville. Mr. Peglow has been general foreman of the shops here for seven years and while his many friends here hate to lose him and his estimable wife and little son, Harry, they all rejoice in his well deserved promotion. Mr. Peglow will sell his home on Sanford Heights and make his departure this week.

F. A. Bissett of Port Linton will take the position of general foreman of the shops here and with his family will make this city their home. We welcome them to Sanford.

The Baby Show

The baby show is the magnet that is attracting large crowds to the Imperial Theatre every afternoon and night.

The pictures are fine and the contents are very laughable and enjoyed by all. At the small price of admission it is really cheaper to go to the show and enjoy yourself than to stay at home.

The Dixie Amusement Co's photographers are still taking photographs and snapshots and the show will continue all this week. The following has been received regarding the free baby:

Jacksonville, Fla., April 22, 1912.

Goodrich & McGary Sanford, Fla.
Gentlemen—Your favor of the 20th at hand and will say in reply we will send the baby girl to you on Wednesday, April 24th and she will reach you on the afternoon train.

If you fail to secure a good home for her kindly advise us promptly.

Yours respectfully,

B. F. JOHNSON,

Supt. Orphans' Home.

Circuit Court Postponed

The date for the Spring term of the Circuit Court has been postponed until June 4th, on account of the Primary dates coming so close as to conflict. At a request of the Orange County Bar, Judge Perkins kindly consented to change the date.

HAPPENINGS DURING THE WEEK

Here the Readers Will Find a Brief Historical Spring Flowing For Hurred Readers

With the arrival at Galveston of the steamships Denver and El Sud, which figured in the collision off Galveston bar at 7:45 Saturday night, first details of the accident were learned. The Mallory vessel, the Denver, is not badly damaged, but the El Sud has a hole rammed in her port side just forward of the forward hatch, reaching more than half way through the vessel from the deck to the keel. She was crippled and her forepeak full of water, but she was still afloat and with the assistance of two tugs and the pilot boat Texas, was able to make her way to the Southern Pacific docks. There were no lives lost and none injured.

Directors of the United States Steel Corporation, through stock ownership and places on directorates of the great railway systems of the United States, have a controlling voice in nearly fifty-five per cent of the roads of the country, according to a statistical study prepared for the Stanley Steel Trust investigating committee of the House. The aggregate value of the railroads is fixed at approximately $18,000,000,000, and of that the Steel Corporation affiliates are said to control more than $8,000,000,000.

Thirty-two persons are known to be dead half a score were so severely injured they may die and a hundred and fifty others were hurt in two tornadoes, one of which swept over southern Illinois and the other across northern Illinois into Indiana just before sunset Sunday night. Twelve were killed at Bush, Ill., five at Willsville, three at Redick, Ill., three near Murphysboro, Ill., and nine at Morocco, Ind.

News from the flooded area in Missouri, Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana continued today to be increasingly grave. Thousands of those who were compelled to flee to higher places when the yellow flood invaded their homes have been cared for, but there are still many more who are in imperative need of aid. As the waters continue on their destructive way, more appeals for help are being received by those in charge of the relief work.

Five persons were robbed of money or valuables or both by three masked hold-up men who went through the sleeper Nottingham, of the Rock Island westbound Golden State Limited, a few minutes after last midnight, at Sheffield, Ill., forty miles east of Moline. After the robbers had finished their work they shot holes in the air signal tube connecting with the engine, thus bringing the train to a standstill and quietly made their escape.

The Race is On

Strawberry Festival

The Hospital Association will hold a Strawberry and Ice cream Festival on Tuesday evening, May 2nd., at the park. The Sanford Band will furnish the music for the occasion and a good time is predicted for all. The feast will be from four o'clock until eleven. Everybody is invited to come out and assist in this worthy cause. Mrs. A. H. Moses will have charge of the affair which guarantees its success.

To Rival Celery City

With the same soil and the same flowing wells as at Sanford, why should not the land of and adjoining the Beresford Celery Company's property not rival if not surpass the famous Celery City output in quality and quantity?

With that expectation in mind, Messrs. J. F. Wilcoxon and F. E. Nettleton of Scranton, Pa., and Dr. Sturgeon of Pittsburg, Pa., bought through the DeLand Realty Co. 3 1/2 acres of property of the St. Johns River Land Co., at Beresford, this county, and the new company will at once clear the land for cultivation of celery.

There are other negotiations in progress with Eastern parties to take up more of this choice land.—DeLand Register.
