HOROSCOPES

Saturday, Feb. 13, 1999

The more you associate with persons who are resourceful and progressive, the better the year ahead will progress for you. Dealing with nonproductive types will only prove to be a drag for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You could discover today that by holding a grudge against someone who did something you resent and who you're forced to be involved with will cause you more pain than it does him or her. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10108.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Review how much time and money you've been spending on nonessential things and activities. You'll quickly identify the outfits today and be able to weed them out. ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you appreciate the fact that objectives you set for yourself might not be too easy to come by today, you won't be so inclined to quit should the going get tough. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Being cautious about things is understandable, but being totally negative is self-defeating. Should you resort to the latter, you might possess too many doubts to do anything worthwhile today. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Just because you think you have something more important to do today, don't renege on an obligation you promised to take care of, or you'll look very bad in the eyes of others. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Pessimistic associates could have a very bad effect on your outlook today and cause you to see mud instead of stars. Avoid these types if possible. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You could easily turn insignificant tasks into gigantic undertakings today if your methods are slipshod. Plan what you're going to do before you swing your hammer.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Make positive projections today instead of negative ones or you could spend all your time worrying about things that'll probably never happen. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Unless you're spilling for a fight today, don't try to pin the blame on your mate for everything that goes awry in your household. Treat his philosophically. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) If you attempt to embellish what you're selling or promoting today, your deception will quickly be discovered and you may never be trusted again. Instead, use the soft, factual approach. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't saddle yourself today with something that could later cause buyer's remorse. Be certain that any purchase of consequence is exactly what you want. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Dispute or any disagreements among family members today should be settled as expeditiously and speedily as possible; if not, tensions might take a great deal of time to mend.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Keeping an eye open

By Phillip Alder

Bridge experts tend to divide into two camps. The first plays with blinders on, concentrating on finding the best technical line. The second uses "table presence." These players are like My Favorite Martian, with antennas always up, tuned in for any little clue the opponents are willing to transmit. (It is illegal to take any notice of partner's rhythm or demeanor.) Dorothy Truscott is particularly good at noting her opponents' tempo. She gives this clue in the final chapter of her book "Old Better, Play Better" (Dorcy Press).

North did well to pass out three no-trump; four hearts would have had no chance. West started with two top diamonds, East discarding a club. Now West switched to the heart jack. Truscott won with the ace and returned a heart to dummy's king, hoping for a favorable break. However, when West threw a diamond, she continued unerringly with a spade to her ace and a low spade from hand, bringing down the king. Now South had nine tricks: four spades, two hearts and three clubs. Why did Truscott play the spades in that abnormal way?

The first clue came when West cashed his second top diamond. This warned him with a side entry, which had to be the spade king. Without that card, he would have switched at trick two, hoping partner could gain the lead to pots a diamond through South's queen.

The second indication also came at trick two. East was reluctant to part with a club. With five clubs, he wouldn't have been worried. And if he had four clubs, he must have begun with four spades. Hence West had-ling-doubtless.

ASK DR. GOTT

Foods interact with anesthesia

By Peter B. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: After recent surgery, I had a devil of a time coming out of anesthesia. The anesthesiologist concluded that the reason may have had to do with my diet. Is such a thing possible?

DEAR READER: As strange as it sounds, certain foods can exert a major influence on patients under anesthesia, according to research conducted at the University of Chicago Medical Center and reported at the October meeting of the American Society of Anesthesiologists. Here's the reason:

Many foods contain bitter-tasting amounts of naturally occurring toxicants, called anticholinergic drugs, which block the production of many neurotransmitters and muscle relaxants. SGA's are found primarily in tomatoes, eggplants and — most notably — potatoes. The researchers discovered that the consumption of moderate amounts of potatoes two hours before surgery could result in SGA-like effects, such as a slowing of your breathing and what kind of

be on the safe side, patients anticipating big surgery should restrict their consumption of SGA-containing foods for several days before receiving anesthesia.

To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "An Informed Approach to Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $5 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2617, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10108. Be sure to mention this ad.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My pre-teen son is physically mature for his age. However, his penis is smaller than I think it should be. What can be done to enlarge his penis and what kind of doctor should he use?

DEAR READER: Pre-adolescent boys may maintain small penises also until the effects of male hormones reach their peak later in adolescence. I suggest that you ask your son's pediatrician if the boy is following a growth pattern that is normal for his age.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I want to start a family, but I am concerned about the effects of stress on the unborn baby. I suffer from agoraphobia, which causes me great consternation.

DEAR READER: A physically sound, well-nourished pregnant woman is able to withstand a pleasant amount of stress without raising her unborn baby's bloods. Agoraphobia (a fear of crowded or stimulating environments) is not genetically transmitted. Therefore, from the limited information you have provided, I believe that you need not worry about pregnancy, but have you considered consulting to relieve your own anxiety? Perhaps this should be your first step. Once you are pregnant, you will need under the care of a good obstetrician, relax and relish this very special experience.

Postage stamps by computer transfer

Early in 1999, the public will be able to buy electronic stamps online or in a small device attached to computers. Electronic postage can be printed out on all types of envelopes using ink jet or laser printers. Eventually "e-postage" could be part of the most popular word processing programs and be offered by Internet providers as an extra service. At present, four companies have been testing their versions with the blessing of the post office. All the e-postage services being developed work pretty much the same way. Users log onto a company's online postal store and download a small software application, which allows them to make credit card purchases of postage in various amounts and store it on the company's secure web server. For this convenience of buying on line, the companies will charge 5-10 percent of the stamp value as a transaction fee.

America Online is using E-stamp to provide digital postage for an upcoming postal center they expect to launch in early 1999.

Cramming is Top Scam in 1998-Don't let it happen to you in 1999!

According to the National

BARBARA HUGHES

Consumer Focus

Correspondent

Fraud Information Center. "cramming" was the top phone scam last year. Cramming occurs when phone customers are charged for service they never ordered or received.

The two newest ways to be "crammed" are:

1. You may receive a sweepstakes promotion in the mail requesting that you call an 800 number to win a prize. When you call, you are automatically enrolled in a club or program and the charge is placed on your phone bill.

2. You may fill out a contest entry form and discover later that you've signed up for a calling card, voice mail, or some other service. In many instances the fine print on the form said that by entering the contest you've agreed to switch your phone service.

Actions you can take to protect yourself against cramming are to carefully read your phone bill each month. Look for unfamiliar company names, logos, or charges you don't understand or remember ordering. Call your carrier and ask for an explanation if you have questions. Request that all offers from communications providers be sent to you in writing so you can review them before making a decision. Read offers carefully before signing any form, contest entry, check or survey.

Is it better to save 10 percent of nothing or 15 percent of something?

Recent U.S. Commerce Department figures say the U.S. personal-savings rate hit an all time low of -0.2 percent in September 1998. Translation: We're spending more than we're earning, which leaves less than nothing for saving.

Conventional advice is to save 10 percent of take-home pay, with a goal of saving enough money to cover 6 months worth of living expenses. For those living from paycheck to paycheck it would take about 5 years. But at the rate many Americans are going they could save for 5 million years and still not reach their goal.

Discipline and deferred gratification is the key to saving. For people unused to saving especially those in their first jobs, retirement is so far away that saving for it gets ignored. Talked to them about "financial independence" gets their attention, however the question then becomes what actions can be taken now so you can be financially independent and have the option to work only if you want to.

On Jan. 14, 1999, the Treasury Department issued an Advance Notice of Proposed Rule-making asking for comments by April 8. Should the treasury regulate or prohibit arrangements between financial institutions and payment service providers such as check cashers where federal money would be deposited into non EFT accounts that have less consumer protection? For more detail, access <http://www.fins.treas.gov/ext> or call 202/622-5529.

Husband hesitates in war between sisters

DEAR ABBY: My wife, "Patty," and her sister, "Anita," have a love-hate relationship. They can't be together for more than an hour without a major argument. Anita is usually the instigator of these loud, ugly disagreements.

My problem is, Patty feels I should confront Anita and put her in her place. I'd like to, but my feelings are so strong I'm afraid I'd have one hellacious, final argument with her and demand that she stay out of our lives forever. I'm afraid if Anita becomes aggressive I might hit her. I haven't hit anyone since childhood, and under normal circumstances I can control my temper.

I've told Patty that although I support her, I can't do what she's asking. It has put quite a strain on our marriage. If I give in and have that final argument, I know Patty will miss her sister and want to make up with her. What then is the background, I know I wouldn't be comfortable with Anita in our home.

Should I do as my wife wishes and reprimand her sister, or tell my wife this is between her and Anita, and keep my mouth shut?
BETWEEN THE THATCHFIELDS AND MC COYS, LITTLE ROCK, ARK.

DEAR BETWEEN: Your wife is old enough and sufficiently experienced to fight her own battles. Your reasons for remaining neutral are compelling. Stay out of it.

DEAR ABBY: Last month a dear friend's husband passed away. The death notice placed in the newspaper by her son-in-law closed with, "Memorial donations to the Mary Jane Doe Educational Fund in care of John Doe appreciated."

Abby, Mary Jane is the deceased's 2-year-old granddaughter. John Doe, the deceased's son-in-law (who is a lawyer and is easily able to pay for his daughter's education), was asked, "Is the money to be used for a scholarship for a needy student?"

He answered, "No, it's for my daughter."

John Doe's mother is Jewish. So, is this a Jewish custom?

CONFUSED IN CANADA'S CAPITAL

ADVICE COLUMNIST

DEAR CONFUSED: Your letter is a first. No, it's not a Jewish custom. And the rabbit with whom I discussed your letter was not embarrassed as I was.

DEAR ABBY: I have known and cherished "Ellen's" friendship for 36 years. We're both in our 70s now and have been corresponding regularly because we both live comfortably and well in different states. We look forward to receiving mail from each other.

However, for the last four years, Ellen's letters have been written on memo pads, old pieces of paper or whatever appears to be available. The last one I received from her was written on three separate scraps of paper.

My letters to her have always been on pretty, matched stationery. Do you think Ellen would think I was implying she was cheap if I mailed her a box of stationery and asked her to use it to write to me?
SICK OF SCRAP, BILLINGS, MONT.

DEAR SICK OF SCRAP: I have a better idea. Be considerate. Send her a lovely box of stationery with a note that says "When I saw this, it reminded me of you and our many wonderful years of friendship - as I thought you ought to have it."

A friendship of 36 years' duration should be more important to you than the kind of paper that contains it across the distance.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for four years, and we have a 2-year-old son. My marriage is happy except for one problem. I can't get my husband to remember important dates.

He has forgotten our anniversary and my birthday for the last three years. He never remembers Mother's Day. However, he always remembers our son's birthday and Father's Day.

Abby, my parents think this lapse of memory is terrible, but his parents don't remember special days either. Any suggestions?
ROBELESS ROSIE

DEAR ROSIE: Men are notorious for forgetting days that are important to women. Your husband's disregard for your anniversary and birthday may seem like the normal attitude about special days. Since he was not raised to remember them, he doesn't understand the importance you attach to these occasions.

Remind, remind, remind him. About two weeks before your birthday and your anniversary, remind him it's approaching. A week before the big day, remind him again. The day before, give him a note, and post one on the refrigerator or the bathroom mirror.

If your husband still fails you, buy yourself a gift, charge it to him, and tell him what you did.

Since your marriage is happy in every other way, consider yourself a lucky woman. His habits could be worse, so don't sweat the small stuff.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 37-year-old woman who works in a hospital linen room. One day I noticed a man on a ladder doing repairs. I was mesmerized in an instant by his smile. Every time I see him, I get butterflies.

I wrote him a note and asked a co-worker to deliver it. I got no response. I composed my courage and handed him a second note myself. Still no response. Finally, I asked him directly if he had read it. His only comment was, "Nice penmanship."

Rather than let that be the end of the matter, do you have any suggestions?

to just tell me he is not interested? What can I do to get a response, either positive or negative?

WAITING IN ARLINGTON, TEXAS

DEAR WAITING: You have already received a response. He isn't interested. Accept reality and leave the man alone.

DEAR ABBY: Once again you have allowed a reader to euphemistically refer to someone in her little melodrama as "Bill."

Do you have any idea how much trouble this has caused me over the years with your moronic readers who believe that all these "Bills" are in fact me? Even when I'm able to convince them that that "Bill" is not this Bill, my explanations are time-consuming and mentally taxing. And after just so long, my allies are no longer believed by some of these imbeciles, and I end up not only having to apologize for the behavior of the phantom Bill, but to apologize as well for having initially denied it was me!

Abby, thinking up enough good lies about my own atrocious behavior is something I can barely keep up with as it is. Will you please stop adding to this burden? Why not use the name of my brother, "Bob," instead? He gets away with a lot.
BILL B. IN MELBOURNE, FLA.

DEAR BILL B.: I'll make a deal with you. If you promise to stop calling my readers moronic and imbecile, I'll refrain for one year from labeling any character in my column as "Bill." And if I break that promise, you can bill me!

Good advice for everyone - from to readers - is in "The Anger in All of Us and How to Deal With It." To order, send a business-sized, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $2.95 ($4.95 in Canada) to Dear Abby, Angus Media, P.O. Box 607, Mount Morris, IL 60070-0607. (Postage is included.)

Storybook donation

SAINTS AND SINNERS

Getting the lowdown on mediums

Everybody knows there is fraud among psychics and spiritualists. But some who acknowledge that fakes, cheats and liars abound in the mediumistic field maintain that there are mediums—rare though they may be—who can really put us in touch with persons in the spirit world.

If there are genuine mediums out there, the Rev. Lucius Graves (not his real name) was not one of them. For 15 years he was a spiritualist minister in Florida.

On one occasion he wanted to impress upon his congregation that departed spirits have the ability to protect entities on this plane of existence from harm.

He took a glass of water that was sitting on the pulpit and poured the water over some flowers. After wrapping the empty glass in a handkerchief, he smashed it against the side of the pulpit.

There was a sound of glass shattering. Then the minister opened the handkerchief to show the jagged pieces of glass to the congregation and popped a piece of glass into his mouth. He munched on it and swallowed it.

The people in the audience groaned. One woman fainted.

After the service, incredulous church members crowded around the pulpit to examine the leftover jagged pieces of glass. They went away shaking their heads.

"Spirit protection," Graves assured them, "is a wonderful thing."

What the people didn't know was that before the service Graves had placed a dish containing ice inside the pulpit. What he was crunching on during the amazing demonstration was not glass but a piece of ice.

But how about the information—unknown to everyone except the person sitting for a seance—that the medium provides through a contact (or guide) in the spirit world?

The secret of these "hits," says Graves, is spies—not spirits.

Mediums who comprise what Graves calls the "psychic Mafia" keep files on "seance freaks" and swap their confidential items with other mediums.

Graves said he himself made a habit of carrying a small notepad in his pocket and jotting down every casual remark that would help provide him later with "messages from the spirit world."

"Rarely did I use such information soon after picking it up," he says. "The rule was to wait until an individual had forgotten everything about the conversation, and then, out of the blue, spring on him during a seance some juicy morsel which he himself had provided."

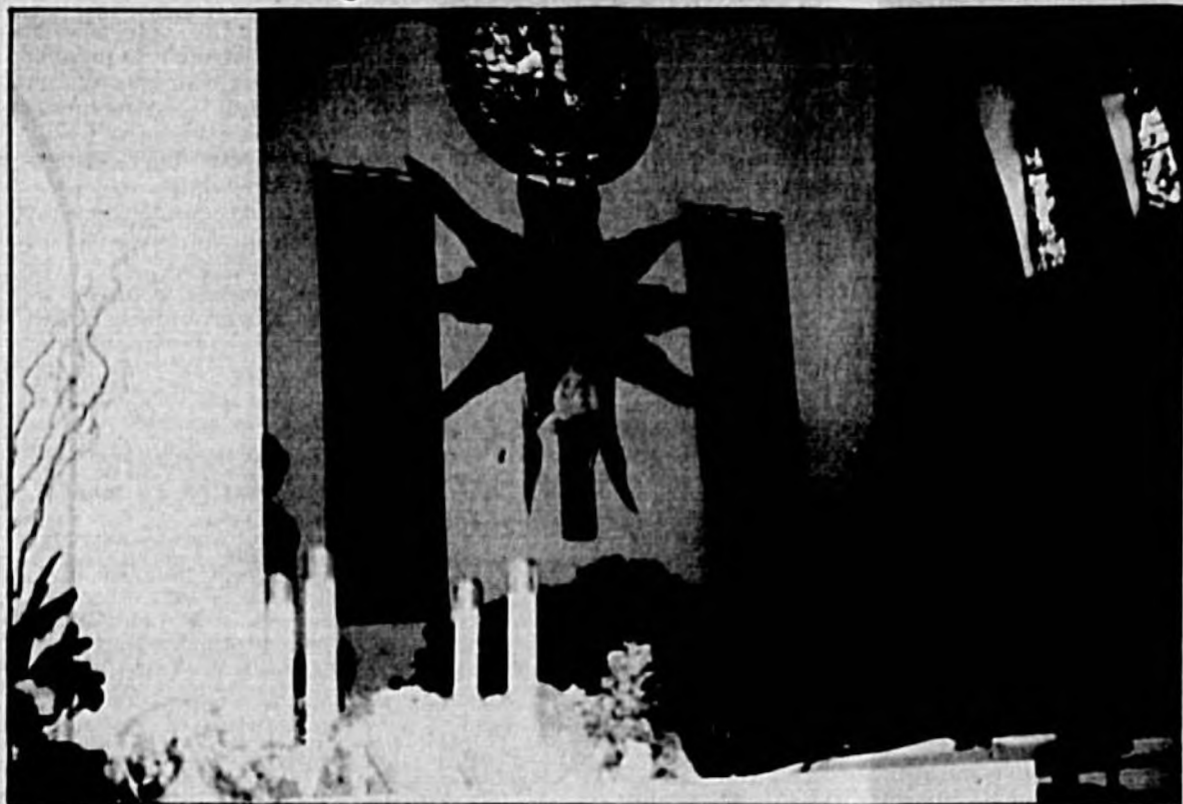

It is probably the average person's craving for immortality that is behind the interest in spiritualism. Christianity has always affirmed a belief in an afterlife, but science has served to cast doubt on this belief. The result has been a growing desire for proof.

Spiritualism claims to offer this proof by establishing communication with those who have departed this life—demonstrating that there is no death.

Another reason people consult mediums for "go-betweens" who intervene between this world and the other is to keep unbroken the ties of affection with loved ones who have gone on.

As we know from the bereaved characters in Menotti's "The Medium," to those who want to believe, no amount of explanation will convince them they are being duped.

Nativity members RENEW their faith

Members of Nativity Church in Longwood are gathering in small groups to celebrate their faith in RENEW 2000.

By Jeff Bartolotta
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

While people all over the world are living in fear of the new millennium, the congregation at Nativity Catholic Church in Longwood has embraced it.

Over 480 members of the church are participating in RENEW 2000, which carries Pope John Paul II call to think of the new millennium as the springtime of Christianity.

Churches all over the country are participating, but Nativity has had tremendous success as it prepares for its second of the four seasons which comprise RENEW.

The new season is "Conversion" and begins in the first week of Lent. The season will be made up of six weeks with themes of Willingness, Decision, A Glorious and Grace-Filled Life, Choosing New Life, "Lord, that I might see," and "Do you believe?"

The idea behind RENEW is that groups of around 10 people gather weekly at a parishioner's home to study the theme of the week. The hosts have been taught how to instruct their group by a team that came down from New Jersey last year to train laypeople.

The response among the congregation has been overwhelming.

"We're very pleased with the response," said Pastoral Associate Ariene Pelzer. "It has moved people to share their faith with each other."

The first season began last October after 10 of the core group members worked all summer organizing. The effort culminated in a 4-day mission last September that set the final groundwork for RENEW.

Every member of Nativity was contacted by telephone and, after 18 months of training, RENEW is underway.

Even those who aren't participating directly get the opportunity to share in the effort. Each Sunday's liturgy follows the theme of the week, so that everyone in the church has the chance to be involved in some way.

RENEW is also not limited to adults. There are programs for the high school and middle school groups as well as the senior citizens. The message is adjusted to the age group of the members involved.

"We find that RENEW, in its infancy, has shown that we've witnessed an empowerment of our people," Pelzer said. "People are learning about the love of God."

Pelzer added that one of the best parts of the RENEW project is that it offers its parishioners the chance to deepen their faith in a relaxed, personalized manner in a small group setting.

Other seasons in the RENEW program included "God: A community of love," which began last October. Other in coming months include "Reaching out through Evangelism," "Reconciliation," and "Renewing for the 21st Century."

Passover celebration

A gourmet Passover recipe exchange, the sharing of favorite family Passover stories, and the special appearance of well known Judaic ceramist, jeweler, artist extraordinaire, Joanne Mann, will be the featured events for Sisterhood of Congregation Beth El of Central Florida, Monday, February 15, 1999. This regular monthly meeting begins at 7:30 p.m., and is held at the Synagogue, 160 Hibis Road in Longwood.

Sisterhood President, Millie-cent Dachman, invites all the community to participate in this fun-filled, informative evening. The very best recipes for the Passover season are always those handed down from the generations. We learn each year about the various cultures worldwide and enjoy the opportunity, often trying them out for our own Seder, as well as hearing wonderful stories that often inspire these recipes.

Originally from Boston, home based in Orlando and Israel, Joanne Mann's artistic renditions are always a welcome sight at the art shows in the Florida region. Loving clay in all its varied forms, Joanne turned childhood play into artistic sculpture and design audiences worldwide have acclaimed. She is mostly self taught in jewelry and design and has had formal training at the Bulova School of Design in Woodside, New York, and the Jewelry Institute in Providence, Rhode Island, where she is a graduate of design, fabrication and repair. Mrs. Mann will be demonstrating the many stages from inception to completion of differing art forms.

The evening is open to the public at no cost. To RSVP call 407-886-2236.

All Souls Catholics celebrate mission

In the heart of "olde" Sanford is a church. This church is comprised of wonderful people. These wonderful people comprise the heart of a spiritual community. This community is growing by leaps and bounds and invites you to join with them in a spiritual awakening of your soul.

All Souls Catholic Church, in Sanford, hosted a Mission from Sunday through Thursday 11.

The theme of this year's Mission was "Give Thanks...With a Grateful Heart," and it will be led by Father Peter Schavitz and Father Jack Dowd, Redemptorist missionaries, from Chicago. Both priests have been on the Mission Team for several years and have wide and varied apostolic experience.

It is not unusual for the grace of God to touch many lonely, angry, discouraged hearts with a special forgiving love during many Redemptorist missions. Peoples' lives change as the mission is a constant reminder that there is no one who cannot return to the friendship of God. Many people become more determined than ever to love and serve God. The Redemptorist parish mission is being discovered as a means of parish renewal whereby an entire parish is offered the opportunity to reflect on one's life in a positive way and to celebrate the life of the community in God.

Seminole, Winter Springs pull off wins, Lake Mary rally falls short

By Jeff Berlingke

ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - Winning doesn't have to be pretty.

In fact, sometimes winning can be pretty ugly.

That was proven by the Seminole High girls basketball team at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium Thursday night as it advanced to the Class 5A-North I Regional Finals with a 45-41 win over Ocala-Forest, which was ranked seventh in the state by the FHSAA.

The Seminole win means the Noles will have to travel to Pensacola to face Washington High School (29-1), a 61-53 winner over Gainesville-Buchholz Thursday night, on Saturday at 7:30 p.m. CT.

It wasn't pretty, but a win is a win, especially over a ranked team. Seminole hasn't lost to a team below Class 6A all season except for state-ranked Winter Springs, but scored its biggest victory yet over ranked Ocala-Forest.

"It was ugly, but all that matters is getting a 'W,'" coach Sylvester Wynn said.

Seminole won despite an alarming amount of turnovers.

The Noles led 24-15 at the half as Natasha Fisher scored 13 straight points. She hit three straight three-pointers during the run.

But Seminole's first 13 possessions of the third quarter resulted in 11 turnovers, a missed shot and a ball lost to the possession arrow.

While the Fighting Seminoles was throwing the ball all over the court, Forest mounted a comeback. With a fierce, pressing defense, they took a 26-24 lead before Seminole finally scored with 2:27 left in the third quarter.

Seminole went up 27-26 after a Felicia Willingham follow, but Forest fought back to take a 30-27 lead, led by Teresa McNair, who paced her team with 20 points.

The Noles ended the period with three more turnovers, making it 13 in the quarter.

"We have to work on that a bit," Wynn laughed.

In the final quarter, Seminole started to beat the Ocala-Forest press. Martina Kendrick stole an inbounds pass and laid it in to cut the deficit to one, and Laqueena Grayson tied it with a free throw after Forest started to get sloppy.

After Forest tied it for the final time at 34-34, Seminole went on a mini-roll. Grayson took a long pass from Fisher and scored, then Fisher followed through on a rebound to make it 38-34.

A jumper by Grayson put the Noles up by six, but Ocala-Forest mounted one last challenge, cutting the deficit to 43-41 with 22 seconds remaining.

Willingham hit a free throw and, after Ocala-Forest missed a three-pointer, Kendrick made a free throw to make it 45-41.

For emphasis, Kendrick blocked a desperation buzzer

Hanley wins second feature at World Series

Special to the Herald

SAMSULA - Junior Hanley of Canada picked up his second win in the Late Model division 25-lap feature on night five of the 33rd World Series of Asphalt Stock Car Racing at New Smyrna Speedway.

Hanley took home the winners share of the purse but it was Scott Wimmer who won the race on the track. Wimmer was disqualified during post-race technical inspection and found to have a carburetor that did not meet specifications.

"We just can't keep up with this little pooch motor we have and we had to do anything we could," Wimmer said. "We got caught and we'll take it and go out and win tomorrow."

"I don't like to win races like that," Hanley said. "I would hate to lose a race like that and I know he (Wimmer) would too."

"When you win a race like that you don't feel like you won the race."

Lee Faulk of Orlando started on the pole for the main event and led until lap nine when another David Rogers took the top spot heading into turn one with an inside pass.

Rogers continued to roll up front until a late race caution bunched the field and Wimmer took the lead from the outside on the white flag lap and led the final 1/2 mile for the apparent win.

"I got saved by a caution once when I slipped going into one and Wayne Anderson almost got me and the caution flew but this one at the end killed me," Rogers said. "We're penalized here for an 18 degree motor that we run with some added weight and it takes me a little while to get going and when these guys get a run on me in the corners on the outside they just pull away. I could run them up high but I try to race them clean and give them the room."

Wayne Anderson scored another top five finish bringing home third.

"We passed Rogers once and the caution killed us," Anderson said. "These double file restarts here are just crazy."

"For us last night to blow a motor and come back and run like we did it's just a credit to this race team," Anderson added.

Wisconsin's Jason Schuler continued his consistency bringing home fourth.

"It seems like I've got the car to be around at the end and finish in the front I just don't have enough car to win."

Schuler said, "I'll tell you what when we ran all those green flag laps and we started going around lapped traffic three-wide through the corners I

Mike McLahan drove in five runs with a triple and two singles and scored three runs, all while batting in the 11th spot in the batting order as Wolfys beat Wilson-Eichelberger 27-17 to remain undefeated Thursday.

Wolfys gains top spot in Thursday softball

By Dean Smith

SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - Wolfys got off to a fast start and never looked back as it whipped Wilson-Eichelberger, 27-17, in a battle of unbeatens in the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Men's Wednesday Night Polar Bear Slow Pitch Softball League.

After scoring three runs in the bottom of the first inning, Wolfys plated seven runs in the second inning to make the score 10-0 before Wilson-Eichelberger dented the scoreboard with three runs in the top of the third inning.

Wolfys answered with 10 runs in the bottom of the third inning and it looked like the rout was on.

Wilson-Eichelberger had other ideas, however, and closed to within 20-17 after scoring 11 runs in the top of the fifth inning.

Wolfys ended any rally hopes though, scoring seven runs in the bottom of the fifth to end the game by the run rule.

In the other games, Headrick Feed defeated the Regulators, 11-7, in a game that was not as the score would indicate, and Matthews Associates/Psycho had little trouble in beating of Westview Baptist Church, 23-3A.

At the mid-point of the season, Wolfys stands alone at the top of the standings with a 5-0-0 record. Completing the standings are Wilson-Eichelberger (4-1), Headrick Feed, Matthews/Psycho and the Regulators (all 2-3) and Westview Baptist Church (0-5).

Next Wednesday night at Pinchurst Park, Wilson-Eichelberger plays Westview Baptist Church at 6:30 p.m., the Regulators challenge Wolfys at 7:30 p.m.; and Matthews/Psycho battles Headrick Feed at 8:30 p.m.

Providing the offense were: Headrick Feed: two hits

Matt Kucinaki (home run, triple, two runs, five RBI), Dave Hudick (two doubles, run), Mazy Silvia (double, two runs), Bruce Sellers (double, run), Bryan Cronin (two runs), Dave Johnson (two RBI), Hank Toole (two RBI); one hit Matt McChaloo (double, run), Mack Throne (run), Gene Brannigan: one run, Curtis Hamilton.

Regulators: two hits, D.J. Please see Softball, Page 5A

School reunion planned for Olde Lake Mary Days

By Mary Rowell

CORRESPONDENT

LAKE MARY - It's been seven years since everyone got together and told tales about the way things used to be. The occasion for the reunion then was the retirement of Lake Mary Elementary School teacher Ettie Jane Keogh. That reunion and two previous reunions were set up by people who used to work at the elementary school.

This year, the Lake Mary Historical Commission is in charge of organizing the fourth Reunion of Lake Mary Elementary School. Alumnae from the school will meet in the commission chambers during Olde Lake Mary Days, scheduled for March 6 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Everyone is invited to bring pictures and lots of memories to share.

No special invitations are being sent out for the event, but if you're a former student, parent, faculty or staff, or were just a serious friend to the school, you're invited to attend. The oldest alumnae attending the reunion will be recognized. Some alumnae are coming from West Palm Beach, Georgia and as far away as North Carolina.

Alumnae who stop by the commission chambers during Olde Lake Mary Days can sign up for a dinner that night. Dinner will be at Easy Street Cafe on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Lake Mary at 6 p.m., so if you'd like to attend, you need to sign up by 3 p.m. The commission needs to know how many are going to be there, so they can forewarn the restaurant.

If you'd like more information on the event, please call Ettie Jane Keogh at 321-3094.

Board member sought

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

The Seminole Soil and Water Conservation District has a vacancy on its Board of Supervisors. The SWCD is a subdivision of the State of Florida. The District develops and carries out conservation programs for the county's soil and water resources.

A supervisor is a non-salaried public official who serves on the governing board of the district. The Board meets once a month. The term of office for appointed Supervisors is two years.

The Seminole SWCD has an office and one full-time employee. Technical assistance on agricultural lands may be obtained from the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service. The district has a part-time Natural Resources Conservationist, a Soil Scientist, and access to experts in rangelands, engineering, and biology.

The SWCD is currently involved in several educational programs for elementary and middle and high schools. Seminole, Orange, and Brevard districts recently formed the East Central Florida Resource and Development Council which is a non-profit organization to promote the development, and wise use of human, financial, and natural resources in order to improve people's quality of life. The District is also involved with managing 1,300 acres of public land.

If you are interested in any of these conservation activities, or in the possibility of becoming a Board Supervisor, contact the District at 506 W. Lake Mary Blvd., (407) 321-8212. To be considered for membership on the board and to learn more, please attend a monthly meeting on the third Wednesday of each month at 4 p.m. The next meeting is Feb. 17.

Attention focused on exotic species control

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

ORLANDO - President Clinton recently signed an executive order making the prevention and control of "exotic" or non-native species a higher priority among federal agencies.

Exotic species are plants and animals that have been introduced to areas outside their natural range. Invasive exotics are those that spread into new areas and develop self-sustaining and expanding populations that are able to continue the pattern of spread. They are posing a serious threat to the nation's lands and waters and to the natural heritage of local communities. Non-native invasive plants now represent the second greatest threat—just behind habitat loss—to our nation's ecological health.

According to Bill Weeks, executive vice president of The Nature Conservancy, the executive order calls for a coordinated federal approach that will trigger more partnerships among public and private groups seeking solutions to the invasion of exotic species. "It may also free up needed resources for on-the-ground prevention, research and control efforts," Weeks said.

With non-native plants and animals threatening some of Florida's most valued natural treasures, this national attention is welcome news to local conservationists. The Conservancy's Florida Chapter and other land management groups are fighting invasive species such as melaleuca, Brazilian pepper, Old world climbing fern, cogongrass, Australian pine, skunk vine, hydrilla and latherleaf. These species are among the 62 most invasive plants identified by the Florida Exotic Pest Plant Council.

Using its world-wide system of 1,340 nature preserves as a living laboratory, The Nature Conservancy has been battling the challenges posed by invasive species on land and waters it has owned and managed for several decades. The Conservancy's team of scientists and land managers have experimented with innovative techniques to prevent the introduction of new exotics, quickly detect and eradicate new invasive species, control and manage established problem species, and protect and restore native plants and animals.

BRIEFLY

A new area code for Florida's "Space Coast" will reflect the region's count-down-rich tradition: 3-2-1.

The designation, which will go into use on a voluntary basis in Brevard County Nov. 1, and become mandatory a year later, represents weeks of discussions with federal officials by the Public Service Commission.

The "321" area code will also go into effect as an overlay in Orange, Osceola and Seminole counties Dec. 1.

All areas affected by the "321" area code currently use the "407" area code.

Residents in Orange, Osceola and Seminole counties will begin using the "321" area code in conjunction with the "407" area code on a permissive basis April 1, as part of an overlay plan. Use of the "321" and "407" area codes in those three counties becomes mandatory Dec. 1, when 10-digit dialing will be used for all local calls.

The DeBonna Organ Club will meet at 7 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the Presbyterian Church, 267 E. Highways Road, DeBary, on Tuesday.

After a short business meeting, Charlie Hart and Dorothy Bethune will entertain on their keyboards. Refreshments will follow.

Music books and sheet music will be available for sale at bargain prices. Also tickets for the 16th annual Extravaganza on Feb. 21 at 1:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn on U.S. Highway 92 in DeLand will be available. Tickets are $8 in advance and $8 at the concert.

For information please call Jean Hart at (904) 943-8154, or Dorothy Bethune at (407) 800-4871.

The Suburban Republican Women's Club, Federated is holding its February meeting on Wednesday at 11 a.m. The meeting is being held at Heathrow Country Club.

This month's meeting features Barbara Peterson, Executive Director of the First Amendment Foundation. Peterson will be speaking about "Government in the Sunshine-The Sunshine Laws."

All state and local legislators as well as all registered Republican women are invited to attend this very informative meeting.

Developer wants $70/70 year lease for Ft. Mellon

By Bill Kerns

STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - The developer that wants to build a hotel and conference center on nine acres of Fort Mellon Park is proposing to lease the site for gross revenues starting at 1 percent, while paying $1 per year to lease the lakefront property for 70 years.

The proposal also would give PRA Management and Development Inc. first rights for 70 years to build any hotel or similar project on any city-owned land, including the Orlando Sanford Airport.

Sanford Mayor Larry Dale said a final lease agreement would be substantially different. He said he first saw the proposal earlier this week, and that the commission has yet to see it.

"This is just a starting point," Dale said. "Nobody has acted on it. I've not had a chance to digest it yet, and the commission hasn't even seen it. I don't negotiate these agreements. It will have to go before the commission. This is only a draft."

The proposed lease will be discussed at the next commission session, Dale said. He said he has not studied the proposal that would give PRA the right of first refusal to build a hotel or similar project on city-owned property.

The proposed gross revenue payments are too low, Dale said. Under the proposal, the city would receive 1 percent of gross revenues from the 13th month of operation through the 21st month. The city, county and state would also receive property taxes.

From the 22nd month through the 30th month, the city would receive 2 percent of gross revenue payments. The payments would increase to 3 percent from the 31st month through the 70th month. Please see Lease, Page 8A

Fisherman aids rescue of stroke victim on lake cruise

By Russ White

STAFF WRITER

LAKE MONROE - Don Bangs decided early Thursday that he should not venture too far on his morning fishing trip. It was foggy and dangerous.

Usually, Bangs fished on Lake Jesup. This time, he stuck to Lake Monroe and the St. Johns River.

"The scenery was at the right place at the right time," said his wife, Mary Bangs.

The 75-year-old Sanford man, who frequently has helped stranded boaters, became a key contributor to a rescue mission of an elderly woman who had a stroke aboard the Rivership Romance.

A county spokesperson said the victim was taken in critical condition to Central Florida Hospital.

A hospital official said today she could not give any information on the patient, whose name has not been disclosed. A Rivership Romance official said she was with her husband on an early Valentine's cruise, and was from Pinellas County.

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office received the emergency call from the Rivership Romance at 11:45 a.m. - less than an hour after the cruise had begun.

County and Sanford rescue teams sped to an area near the 17-92 Bridge. Bangs transported County Rescue 34 personnel in his boat.

Cynthia Moore, comptroller for the Rivership Romance, said the victim was one of 180 passengers on a 4-hour luncheon cruise.

"Most were off a bus tour from Pinellas County," Moore said. "If there be a blessing in such a situation, it was that the Romance was near the 17-92 Bridge."

Water Rescue

Emergency rescue teams from Seminole County, Sanford, and surrounding cities transport an elderly woman, who suffered a stroke while on a cruise with her husband. Sanford resident Don Bangs was the hero of the day when he used his fishing boat to help transport rescue workers from the lakefront to the ship.

Meet the Sanford candidates

Commission candidates will answer questions during a forum at the Greater Sanford Chamber

By Bill Kerns

STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Sanford residents will have a chance to ask City Commission candidates questions in a debate next week.

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce is hosting a Meet the Candidates Forum on Tuesday, Feb. 16 at 7 p.m. The chamber will ask the candidate questions from the public, as well as questions from the chamber itself.

Tom Carpenter, Dean Ray, and A.A. McCluskey are running for the District 3 seat being vacated by current Commissioner Kerry Lyons. Whitely Eckstein is running unopposed for re-election in District 4. All the candidates will be at the forum, according to Russ Rees, executive director of the chamber.

Carpenter works for the U.S. customs department, Ray is a business owner, McCluskey is a defense attorney, and Eckstein is a high school teacher, according to the city.

"We want to ask these questions on economic development and Sanford's future," Rees said. "We want to ask questions about things that we believe are important."

The chamber will not endorse any of the candidates. "This is an opportunity for people to ask questions," Rees said.

The city-wide election will be held March 2.

Also on the ballot will be a Charter Referendum to make the city manager responsible for hiring and supervising the police chief and the fire chief, rather than the city commission.

"It's difficult for (Acting Police Chief) Ray (Eckstein) to answer questions from five supervisors," Commissioner Whitely Eckstein said at a recent commission meeting, referring to the commissioners and Mayor Larry Dale. "It would be more efficient and efficient for him to answer to one immediate supervisor."

Since the city manager, Tony Venturino, is responsible to the City Commission, the police chief and fire chief would report directly to the commission.

Grant money will help improve water quality

By Stuart Swartz

STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - Sewerage is the greatest of all pollution sources, according to a spokesman for the St. Johns River Water Management District.

Measures to tackle some of the damage done by sewerage run-off will be paid for in part by grants recently awarded by the district to the county and to Winter Springs.

"To fix everything everything else," said Bill Graf, of the office run-off has on the water quality of Central Florida lakes and rivers.

The grants, provided board approved funding for development of wastewater management projects for the area, totaling $100,000. Seminole County will receive $50,000 and Winter Springs will receive $50,000.

"The goal of this program is to support wastewater management efforts which promote best control, demonstrate best management practices or implement wastewater solutions," said Henry Dean, district executive director. "Particularly programs like this are only one of the ways we assist local governments in addressing their water resource needs."
