

What Christmas is really all about . . .

Sometimes in the rush of holiday shopping and activities, we lose sight of the real meaning of Christmas. Of course, we know it's more than Santa and gifts and parties but that's easy to forget amid the festivities and preparations. Now more than ever, we need to stop and think about what Christmas is really all about.

It's a celebration — a celebration of the birth of Jesus and the birth of hope for mankind. That hope is born anew in our hearts each Christmas, as we contemplate the Christ Child. For He is indeed the Prince of Peace, bringing peace to every heart that will admit Him. May the joy of Christmas — the real Christmas — be yours!

Mood Rings, Pet Rocks Under Many Christmas Trees It Seems That Everyone Got A Piece Of The Rock

By JEAN PATTESON
Herald Staff Writer

Rocks for their fingers, rocks for their mantle shelves. To many, it seems that Christmas shoppers this year had rocks in their heads—at least, on their minds. Because that's exactly what thousands received as Christmas gifts.

"It's unbelievable," exclaimed a clerk in Jordan Marsh, Altamonte Mall, "but we sold all 500 in a couple of days."

Five hundred Pet Rocks, the craze that swept gift-hungry Christmas shoppers off their feet and into stores across the nation to purchase, at $4 a throw, smooth

Mexican beach pebbles neatly crated in miniature doggie carrying cases. They even come with a handy manual entitled "The Care and Training of Your Pet Rock."

Stores in Sanford and the South Seminole area reportedly "sold out." The mania for Pet Rocks has made a millionaire out of Gary Dahl, 38, an advertising copywriter from Los Gatos, Calif. who reports he first hit on the idea when drinking in a pub with friends. Apparently he made a comment about having the perfect pet—a rock which required little in the way of food, care or friendship. Then he decided to take his wisecrack seriously.

Pet rocks have been selling at a rate of about 100,000 a day—and Dahl clears 95 cents per sale.

He attributes the success of his Pet Rocks to people being "so damn bored, so tired of their problems." Their Pet Rocks are a kind of "fantasy trip," Dahl explains. He claims to have "packaged a sense of humor."

Dahl's getting the last laugh!

And if it's not rocks the shoppers bought it was stones—mood stones.

"They're buying them for gifts; they're buying them for themselves," said a sales clerk at J.C. Penney's in Sanford, referring to the mood stone rings that doubtless stuffed an estimated million stockings on Christmas morning.

Instead of wearing their hearts on their sleeves, everyone is running around wearing their emotions on their fingers. One glance at that tell-tale ring and you know—black indicates she's nervous and tense; purple means she's passionate—ready for love. Or if his ring changes slowly from yellow to royal blue, you know that whatever was causing his indecision or moodiness has been resolved; now he's totally at ease and feeling fulfilled.

It's not a gift for the subtle or secretive!

The mood stone ring is a chemically treated stone—a heat-sensitive coating on the under surface reacts to body temperature, changing color as temperature varies. In so doing, it reflects the changing moods of its wearer.

Josh Reynolds, 33, is co-inventor of the mood stone and designed the mood stone ring. Co-founder and chairman of the Stress Transformation Center (STC) and Q-Tran Ltd., he hails from New York City.

The craze started early in August when 1,500 of his "truth rings" sold out in the first week they were offered in Bonwit Teller's, New York.

3 Jailed On Drug Charges

By BOB LLOYD

Sheriff's deputies and police in Seminole this afternoon reported things were quiet after a busy start for the four-day Christmas Holiday.

The quiet was broken just after midnight when an off-duty Altamonte Springs policeman arrested three men who allegedly sold him illegal drugs at a Fern Park night spot.

Sheriff's deputies arrived to assist officer Norman Floyd Jr. and arrested two Orlando men who were fighting outside the Circus 4-6-66 lounge, U.S. 17-92, on affray charges.

Then as deputies were exiting the lounge with Floyd and the three men accused of selling the officer "speed" pills (the deputies reported a woman tried to spit on deputy John L. Poole, cursed him and used profane language.

Deputies jailed Olivia H. Trevino, 35, of Guadalupe, Arizona, on charges of disorderly intoxication and open profanity.

Ramiro, Herrera, 34, and Enrique Herrera, 14, both of Apopka, were being held today in county jail in lieu of $10,000 bond each on charges of sale and possession of controlled substance.

George Gonzales, 36, of Guadalupe, Arizona, was held in lieu of $5,000 bond on a charge of conspiracy to deliver a controlled substance.

Holiday Burglary
One holiday burglar came away empty-handed after breaking into a vacant house on Raymond St., Altamonte Springs, sheriff's Lt. R. C. Parker reported.

Three persons on the nearby Helling Hills Golf Course told deputies that they watched a car drop off a balding man wearing a turquoise jacket and then circle the block.

The witnesses said the man used a pry bar to force his way into the empty house and quickly exited and was picked up by the unidentified man in the auto.

Deputies said a search of the County planners are putting together a comprehensive plan which, if it's accepted, is designed to guide Seminole County through the year 2000.

The plan touches on everything from county development to mass transportation—something county commissioners don't envision, at least in the near future.

The reason the plan may never surface is it's difficult to get all five commissioners assembled at one time to back their way through the report.

And, Commission Chairman Michael Hattaway, 273 planners would be spinning their wheels if they produced any guidelines without compliance of the full board.

So, the commission has scheduled time at a future commission meeting to work through the report presented by County Planner William Kercher, who, incidentally, says the commission must approve the basic premises upon which the comprehensive plan is being constructed.

One interesting item contained in the report is a recommendation for construction of countywide bicycle paths.

Commissioner John Kimbrough said he is very "skeptical" about funding bike paths. He says bicycles do not return any revenue to the county and that he would be reluctant to appropriate funds.

Hattaway says County Engineer Bill Bush feels bicycles— if bike paths were constructed— should be required to buy tags, like car owners, to help pay the resulting upkeep.

Bush, according to Hattaway, feels tags should cost anywhere from $25 to $50.

Hattaway says he is uncertain how to handle the issue. County planners, on the other hand, say bike paths could be constructed both for recreational use and for transportation.

Concerning mass transportation, county officials were uncommitted because planners have yet to decide what the future holds for transportation— one man in one car or some type of mass transit system.

However, Seminole County planners would like to begin planning ways of making highways safer.

SR-436 in Altamonte Springs was mentioned as an example. Kimbrough acknowledged that persons in South Seminole are actually moving out of the county to avoid snarled traffic on SR-436 near the Altamonte Mall.

Area Retailers Say Sales High

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

With the sounds of cash registers ringing in their ears, area retailers are all smiles as they report heavy holiday sales receipts and are looking forward to many happy refunds.

The day after Christmas not only signals the annual rush to exchange Christmas gifts for cash or more suitable merchandise, it also brings customers to spend money and gift certificates received.

Chris Elsea, manager of Penney's Sanford Plaza store reported Wednesday night was their best Christmas ever and pre-Christmas shopping was up over last year. He also anticipates a surge of post-Christmas exchanging and buying. The store accepts merchandise for exchange from any Penney's store in the country.

In Downtown Sanford, Michael Kapko of Cupp's Men's Store estimates Christmas sales were up 25 per cent over last year and there was a big surge of last minute shopping during the past week. He credits some of the increase in sales to the new lines of leisure shirts and suits.

"We look forward to exchanges," Kapko said, "as it means additional business." Some of the exchanges will be due to the fact sizing is different with the new European fit.

Daniel Moss, assistant manager at Zayre Department Store, Sanford, said the increased sales indicate the economy is showing strong signs. "We are always pleased to exchange items. It is a part of doing business."

Jim Kitchen, assistant manager of Sears in Altamonte Mall said the store opened early today for the convenience of customers who were waiting at the door, and by the normal opening time the store was filled with customers. The entire mall was extremely busy with the parking lot three-fourths full, he said.

Kitchen said he expects today and tomorrow to be the biggest sales days of the year and thinks the trend will continue through January, because of the many visitors to the area.

Judging from Sears charge cards used in his store, Kitchen said most of the tourists are from the northeast and mid-west.

In the second year of business at the Mall, he said the store is exceeding sales budgets and Christmas sales were better than last year in all departments.

Winter Springs Mayor Troy Pland also was looking for peace — "a nice peaceful Christmas at home with family and friends," and his wish came true.

County Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski, under indictment by a grand jury, no doubt wanted Santa to bring him an "acquittal" of charges of violating Florida's sunshine law. Since Santa's elves did not have legal expertise, Kwiatkowski said he would settle for "a good omen in the economy which would put a whole bunch of people back to work."

Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore got "the usual things a father receives — golf balls, ties, shirts, socks and a sweater."

What he really wanted was to have all his children together including a grandson and

County Commissioner Chairman Michael Hattaway, an outdoorsman and hunter, wanted one "clear shot at an eight point buck" and in search of that dream he was not available today to say if it came to pass. He also wished for a year of "peace for all the people in Seminole County and the nation."

Winter Springs Mayor Troy Pland also was looking for peace — "a nice peaceful Christmas at home with family and friends," and his wish came true.

County Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski received his best present of all long before Christmas this year when his first son, John Travis was born. Also an avid hunter, Kimbrough was hoping for a "good bird dog." He said he had two old dogs and two young ones, but none hunted "vigorously enough for him."

Also in search of a buck, he was not available for a progress report today.

Altamonte Springs Mayor Norman Floyd wanted a nice quiet, happy Christmas with family and all three children and Mrs. Floyd's mother were

NATION IN BRIEF

GAO Report On Agencies: Living High Off The Hog

WASHINGTON (AP)—A report by the General Accounting Office says three agencies that regulate the nation's banks indulge in "wasteful and lavish spending" of tax dollars. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today. Proxmire, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, said the report by the government watchdog agency says officials of the Federal Reserve Board, the office of the comptroller of the currency and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., "live high off the hog" compared to employees of other government agencies.

Minimum Wage To Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Millions of America's lowest-paid workers will be eligible for immediate pay raises when the federal minimum wage law jumps to $2.30 per hour on New Year's Day. The Labor Department said Thursday that nearly four million workers will be eligible for the pay raises. Included are farm workers, domestics, local government employees and retail clerks. The revised minimum wage law actually covers 57.4 million American workers, but the Labor Department says more than 53 million already earn more than the minimums.

Ford On Ski Slopes

VAIL, Colo. (AP)—President Ford says he plans to tackle a raft of official business before spending more time on the ski slopes at this Rocky Mountain resort. The President helped his family demolish a 23-pound Christmas turkey on Thursday. Then, with about four inches of fresh powder snow on the ground, he spent some three hours on the slopes, winding up somewhat out of breath and confessing he was tired.

New Medical Group Certifies Physician

Dr. Charles S. Dexter of Sanford has been certified by the newly-established American Board of Nuclear Medicine. To be qualified for this certification Dr. Dexter completed specialized training in Nuclear Medicine and passed a comprehensive board examination in that specialized field of medicine.

Dr. Dexter had previously received "Board Certifications" in Radiology, in Therapeutic Radiology, and in Nuclear Medicine, and from The American Board of Radiology. Michigan State University provided Dr. Dexter his premedical education, the University of Michigan his medical education leading to his M.D. degree. He served his internship at Wayne County General Hospital in Detroit, Mich., and his residency in Radiology at Hurley Hospital in Flint, Mich.

Dr. Dexter and Dr. John T. Johnson, are the radiologists for Seminole Memorial Hospital. Seminole Memorial Hospital in Sanford has recently added a Xeroradiography Unit to the diagnostic equipment in its Department of Radiology. This equipment is particularly valuable in diagnosing breast cancer. Before this new equipment was installed Dr. Dexter took special training in interpreting "Xerograms" at Hutzel Hospital in Detroit. Dr. Johnson received similar training at one recent meeting of the Radiological Society of North America.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Tornadoes Rip Panhandle, Leave Four Hospitalized

FORT WALTON BEACH (AP)—A series of Christmas Day tornadoes bulldozed through parts of the Florida Panhandle, leaving four people hospitalized and others patching up damaged homes. Civil Defense officials in Okaloosa County said two twisters touched down Thursday afternoon in the south end of the county, overturning mobile homes, uprooting trees and downing power lines. Civil Defense Director Tom Nichols said the injured were rescued from overturned mobile homes and taken to a local hospital. Their conditions ranged from critical to good, he said. Earlier Thursday, a tornado cut a 10-mile swath through Escambia County, damaging homes but leaving no reported injuries in its wake.

Shootings Interrupt Party

WINTER GARDEN (AP)—"Don't I've been shot! Please come and help me!" Those words Christmas Eve opened what one veteran police officer called "the worst case I have ever handled." They led him to blood-spattered store where he found four persons dead and his best friend seriously wounded. Police Chief Don Fiske said he was at a Christmas party when he received the call from W. Zeigler Jr., the owner of a local furniture store who was due at the same party.

Lion Mauls Elderly Woman

WEST PALM BEACH (AP)—"The only thing I could think of was getting the lion off her," says an employee of an animal attraction who rescued an elderly woman being mauled by a 400-pound lion. Dennis Pruitt, 20, was credited Thursday with saving Emma Bates, 72, in the "Wednesday" incident. "It's a miracle I am alive," Miss Bates said from a hospital bed. "It's a real Christmas miracle." She had gone to Lion Country Safari to visit and feed a lioness named Elsa, the only surviving lion of six she has raised over the years.

Santa's OK Say Officials

(Continued From Page 1-A) together with the Floyds for the big day. Floyd, something of a fashion plate, also got a new leisure suit for Christmas. County Commissioner Richard Williams was hoping to get the tires back on his bicycles. He had found time to repair them, but was searching for time to put the tires back on. Congressman-elect Lawrence Goldberg of Longwood and his family celebrated Hanukkah, the festival of Lights, and his sons, Keith and Jonathan, really made out. The Jewish tradition is that the children receive one gift a day for eight days.

Goldberg, whose family enjoys a Christmas tree during the season in addition, played Santa Claus for a B'nai B'rith party for children this week. "We have the whole family together — father, mother, sister, brother and sister-in-law — too," he said. County Commissioner Sidney L. Vihlen Jr., asked for "a bag of tricks so I can keep up with county politics during the next 12 months."

He no doubt also is hoping that his broken ankle will mend quickly so that he can get back to county business and break the tie vote over whether County Attorney Thomas Freeman's services should be continued.

County Plan Under Study

(Continued From Page 1-A) subsidized housing for certain areas of the county. Hattaway says the comprehensive plan will have to set aside certain areas for this type housing — or it could easily be tested in a court of law and the entire plan thrown out. "Every county has got to take its share," Hattaway said. Commissioner Richard Williams said the key to remember is precisely what is this county's share. Kimbrough said, however, that the federal government cannot order county government to subsidize federal housing. Kercher said there is "plenty of space" in the county for low cost housing, and these areas will be mentioned in the plan. All in all the plan — when completed — will set guidelines for Seminole County's growth at least through the year 2000.

Holiday Fatality Recorded

The Florida Highway Patrol today reported no traffic deaths in Seminole County so far during the four-day Christmas holiday weekend but Longwood Police recorded a traffic death just hours after the holiday period began at 6 p.m. Wednesday. Mrs. Naomi P. Dorigan, 51, of Casselberry, died two hours after a 9 p.m. collision at U.S. 17-92 and Dog Track Road, Longwood police said. Mrs. Dorigan was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Kenneth Harry Dorigan, 53, officers reported. Dorigan was treated at Florida Hospital North, Altamonte Springs, as was the driver of the second vehicle involved in the collision, Frank C. Carter, 27, of Longwood. Police said the Dorigan car was northbound on U.S. 17-92 and making a left turn onto Dog Track Road when it collided with a southbound car driven by Carter, an off-duty sheriff's deputy. Police said the Carter vehicle overturned and Carter was also treated for lacerations at Florida Hospital North. Officers predicted that 31 persons would die in traffic accidents across Florida during the 102-hour holiday which ends at midnight Sunday. In 1974, a one-day holiday, 204 persons were killed. In 1973, the last four-day observance of Christmas, 529 persons died.

America's Bill of Rights, which was ratified 184 years ago, stands more than ever this year as a miracle in the history of mankind's effort to create workable forms of self-government. The latest session of the United Nations General Assembly has exhibited how hypocritically some governments are capable of treating the issue of human rights.

It has been 27 years since the United Nations adopted a "Universal Declaration of Human Rights" which aimed to commit the nations of the world to the kind of principles embodied in the first 10 Amendments to the U.S. Constitution, the Bill of Rights we commemorate today.

That much-abused U.N. document called for universal recognition of "the inherent dignity and the equal and inalienable rights of all members of the human family." It held that all people should be protected from an arbitrary arrest or detention and from cruel and unusual punishment. It supported the presumption of innocence until proved guilty and the right of defendants to a public trial.

When the U.N. General Assembly passed a resolution condemning South Africa and Chile for holding political prisoners, U.S. Ambassador Daniel P. Moynihan offered another resolution calling on all nations to grant amnesty to political prisoners. The point he was trying to make was that many countries voting to condemn South Africa and Chile were themselves among the guiltiliest in denying free political expression and basic civil rights to their people.

Mr. Moynihan's cause went down in the swamp of semantics which so often smother any effort to tell the truth in the U.N. He had to rise up recently to defend the United States against outright lies in a resolution accusing us of supplying arms to South Africa and trying to portray our Coast Guard units in the Virgin Islands as a military force threatening Latin America.

The Survival and strength of the American Bill of Rights may lie in the fact that the Founding Fathers placed at the head of it the guarantees of free speech and a free press which can call the government to account for everything it does. The hypocrite and liar do not last long in American public life, and as the spate of investigations in recent years into affairs at the highest level of our government has shown, even the most hidden abuses of power in our country can eventually be brought to light.

The U.S. Bill of Rights states its principles in a few words which are taken to mean what they say by our courts and our citizens. That is the distinction between our country and those in the United Nations who speak loudly of "human rights" while sweeping their own offenses against those rights under the rug.

Down On The Farm

A revival of American optimism, signaled by a return to brisk holiday buying, is in marked contrast to the grim economic outlook in the Soviet Union.

And the national moods are almost certainly linked to 1975 harvest figures.

A record U.S. wheat crop of 2.13 billion bushels has contributed to a drop in food costs, indicative of future consumer breaks in other areas of the economy.

At the same time, the potential for a disastrous crop in agricultural prices was offset by the worst Russian crop yield per capita since 1913, which forced the Soviet leadership to turn its eyes westward for rescue.

The Russian wheat harvest of 137 million tons fell far short of the 215-million-ton goal and the impact has stifled industrial production and again dampened the hopes of the Russian people for improved output of consumer items.

Science Detente Failed

WASHINGTON — In the beginning, a modest scientific detente with Moscow seemed an excellent idea.

It would include a series of cooperative research projects, a wide-ranging exchange of scientists and a smooth system for passing information back and forth. All this would be in non-military fields, keeping in mind that much civilian non-military information is translatable into military use.

This all seemed wise because the Russians apparently were doing some remarkable work in weather modification and in the handling of the first step on the road to cheap, safe nuclear electric power. They had done excellent work in some chemical lines.

There was to be an added bonus, which no one mentioned. Percentage-wise, so far as could be determined, the greatest push in the protest movement against the secretive police-state role in the Soviet Union year in and out, had come from the Russian scientific and technical community. If so many Soviet scientists dared openly oppose Khrushchev's fascism and aggression, it was hoped here that the USSR science community as a whole, while loyal to the Soviet Union, would be a healthy leavening force in relations between the two nations if exposed to American aims and policies through greater contact with U.S. scientists.

Moreover, so far as could be determined from preliminary talks, the Soviet government seemed genuinely eager for a meaningful exchange.

Things haven't worked out as expected.

Recently I was standing next to one of America's more respected scientists, himself deeply involved in exchanges with the Soviet Union, and a long-standing advocate of scientific detente.

"It's been a one-way street," he said. We sent top men there, gave information of great value. When it's their turn, the Russians hold back. They cooperate strongly in fields where they are far behind and have much to learn from us. They delay interminably when the situation is reversed, when we want to get into fields we have reason to believe they have made important advances which might be useful to us.

The same problem exists in American industrial contacts with the Russians. Efforts by Americans to penetrate the Soviet market appear to succeed only where there is a major technical input the Russians can buy for an exceedingly cheap price in rubles. Unlike grain, there seems to be little normal long-term market for most American products. The Russians want prototypes they can study and build for themselves — or technically advanced factories.

Now there is nothing sinister in this. The USSR is simply looking out for itself. But we are deluding ourselves if we believe the Kremlin is living up to its end of the bargain in scientific exchanges.

JACK ANDERSON

Spencer Harden of Sanford was named champion non-professional rider of the world's largest cutting horse contest held in Fort Worth, Tex.

Harden, a cattle rancher, rode his Palomino mare Wee Durin to the title and defeated 100 other amateur riders in the 14th annual National Cutting Horse Association (NCHA) Futurity held Dec. 9-14 to win $3,000.

The entire futurity, including professional and non-professional riders, attracted 338 three-year-old horses from 33 states and Canada to compete for a total purse of $15,283. It was the highest paying non-racing single horse event in the world.

Harden had one of the highest scoring horses in the preliminary rounds prior to competing in the finals of the non-professional division. He qualified for the semi-finals of the open division, which included the top 45 horses, but failed to be among the 15 riders to compete in the finals.

One of the nation's top amateur cutting horse riders, Harden was the fourth leading nonprofessional in the NCHA in 1975, earning $5,322 on his horses Bill's Sylvia and Bill's Jazabel. He has won first or placed in the NCHA Futurity several times.

A non-professional in the NCHA is a person who has never been paid for training a cutting horse or for showing one other than his own or one belonging to a member of the immediate family.

It is estimated that 31 persons will die in Florida traffic accidents during the 102-hour Christmas holiday period, according to the Florida Highway Patrol.

This estimate is based on daily experience during the past three Christmas holidays along with an 11 per cent decrease in traffic fatalities observed during the first 11 months of this year.

The official countdown began at 6 p.m., Wednesday, and ends at midnight on Sunday.

"Drivers face greater dangers of vehicle accidents during the month of December than at any other month of the year," advised Col. Eldridge Beach, director of the Patrol.

The patrol commander said a maximum number of troopers will be patrolling the highways and the FHP airplanes will be used extensively during the holiday period.

"Enjoy the yuletide season, but when you are in your automobile, take every precaution. Leave early, avoid heavy traffic whenever possible, keep a watchful eye for pedestrians and above all, if you drink, don't drive," concluded Colonel Beach.

We join Col. Beach in urging all our readers to drive with extra, extra caution during the holidays — and every day for that matter.

Remember that our children are out of school and at times they get a bit careless when crossing the streets, etc.

End Justifies Means?

NEW YORK (AP) — As the year ends New York City's finances are patched together, but the technique used in doing so has left a lot of loose threads that could produce snags in the future.

So great was the sigh of relief that arose when bankruptcy was averted that it drowned out the cries of those who, without exaggeration, were horrified at the methods used, and the possible consequences that could result.

Investors cannot ignore the fact of a moratorium on repayment of the bonds they purchased. The contract terms of these bonds were changed, and they could do little about it. Their bonds now are not redeemed on time.

One consequence of the New York City situation, which some urbanologists maintain is latent in many other large, industrial cities, is the introduction of a bill that would smooth the way for municipal bankruptcies.

If passed, this bill would permit financially distressed cities to file for bankruptcy without first obtaining permission of their bondholders, as they must now do.

Two of the municipal bond market's most striking underpinnings that have cracked, and may lead to further problems, are the availability of direct consequence of the New York financial crisis, but interest rates in general are higher. Money is available. Municipalities everywhere outside New York have been in the market during recent weeks and the vast majority of those with sound ratings had little trouble selling their bonds.

These, however, are unusual days. The stock market despite its occasional volatility, offers only mild competition at the moment. Fixed-income investments, in contrast, offer relatively high returns.

Competition for funds also is likely to become more intense when industry begins gearing up for expansion. At the moment, businesses are seeking relatively meager amounts of capital because of an existing overcapacity.

Recycling America's Economy

The old American motto of "waste not, want not" may only lately have been reborn in the nation's environmental consciousness, but recycling has been an important element in America's economic life since its founding.

Two signers of the Declaration of Independence were among the nation's early metal recyclers. Paul Revere was a noted silversmith and coppersmith who, like every metalsmith of his day, made extensive use of scrap materials.

The Liberty Bell is the product of recycling, having been cast twice from the same materials.

Another little-known fact of recycling history deals with the fate of a lead statue of George III which once graced New York City's Bowling Green Park. In 1776 it was toppled by patriots, hauled into pieces and shipped off to Litchfield, Conn., where it was melted down and cast into 42,000 bullets for the guns of American revolutionaries.

These and other historical tidbits are contained in a booklet "The Recycler in America," just issued by the National Association of Recycling Industries, which itself is nearly 63 years old.

The booklet traces the emergence of America's scrap dealers and peddlers and their impact on the economy, as colonial, fragility gradually gave way to exploitation of the country's natural resources and "limitless" raw materials and the advent of the throwaway philosophy which is still predominant.

But recycling is coming back into style, and on a more modern note. The Aluminum Association reports that one out of every four aluminum cans was recycled in the first nine months of 1975.

This was a total of 2.8 billion cans recovered during the first three quarters of this year, compared with 2.3 billion cans collected during all of 1974.

Recyclers have received more than $18 million so far this year for 124 million pounds of aluminum brought back to some 1,300 recycling centers. Much of this money was paid to private individuals and to organizations like schools.

More than $45 million has been paid to such groups and individuals since 1970, says the association.

Those 124 million pounds of aluminum recycled back into cans and other products represent not only a substantial saving in material resources but also in energy. Recycling an aluminum can requires only five per cent of the energy it took to make it in the first place.

If marijuana were legalized, the Surgeon General might have another problem on his desk. He might have to require that it carry an even stronger health warning than is presently printed on each package of tobacco cigarettes.

According to a report made at the First Chemical Congress of the North American Continent held in Mexico City recently, smoke from marijuana cigarettes has been found to contain higher concentrations of several known cancer-causing agents (carcinogens) than tobacco smoke.

Not only that, but the more potent the pot, the larger the amounts of potential carcinogens, said Indiana University chemistry professor Milos Novotny.

Letters to the editor are welcome. All letters must be signed with a mailing address and, when possible, a telephone number so the identity of the writer may be verified. The Evening Herald will respect the wishes of writers who do not want their names to appear in print.

Much of the information is of no practical value to anyone except some bureaucrat with a Big Brother complex.

For page after page, Murphy also tells how to dig out information from private sources. He relates, for example, how he tracked down a nameless Hungarian airplane-parts manufacturer by using bank records.

Another time, he checked whether a subject had ever been bonded by one of her employers. It turned out that she had, and he swept up the loose information that had been unavailable from other sources.

Murphy has also found landladies an excellent source of information. "The landladies of these rooming houses often get to know their roomers quite well," he comments. Federal investigators.

Alumni reunions can be productive. "At such gatherings," he advises, "a photograph is inevitable, and it might be wise to obtain an up-to-date photograph for use in your inquiry."

Murphy also recommends checking with the public utilities that serve the subject's neighborhood. "The records of the gas, electric, water, telephone and sewer companies are particularly helpful," he confides.

It is clear from Murphy's handbook that newsmen often come under the federal spyglass. He has found the musty, old accreditation records from World War II and the Korean War are loaded with intimate details about correspondents.

"The files will contain travel data and will include complaints about the (newsman), such as leaving debts behind, excessive drinking or inaccurate reporting," Murphy says.

Lead singly, the federal files may seem merely another dreary example of bureaucratic excess. Examined in larger lots, they provide an intriguing study of just how far the government has intruded into the lives of Americans.

Footnote: Perhaps the only trouble riffs from the government's file on newspaper files is that while they have not been deleted, files are still being made. The 1960 census, which relates with a touch of regret, was destroyed in a 1921 fire.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Fifth American Kidnaped, Four Others Still Held
ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — A fifth American, Ronald B. Mischak of Mabel, Minn., has been kidnaped in Asmara, the capital of rebellious Eritrea, Ethiopia's northern province, the U.S. Embassy announced today.

An embassy spokesman said Mischak was kidnaped by a group of unidentified armed men. Other sources said he probably was taken by the Eritrean Liberation Front, whose nationalist guerrillas have been fighting for independence for 14 years. The E.L.F. is holding four other Americans kidnaped in July and November.

All five Americans were on the staff of the U.S. Kagnev communications base outside Asmara. The embassy spokesman said Mischak was a civilian employe of the Collins International Service Co.

Lebanon Fighting Continues
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Christian-Muslim fighting raged through the night in Beirut, the Tripoli area and in Zahlah, east of Beirut, after a brief lull Christmas morning.

Mortar and rocket duels terrorized Christian and Moslem residential districts of the capital. Hundreds of families spent the night in air raid shelters or basements. The government radio said all streets were unsafe, and the city's northern and eastern approaches were closed to traffic.

Traditional Feasts, Religious Services Held

Strife Darkens Christmas Celebrations

By The Associated Press
The Christian world celebrated the birth of Christ with traditional family feasts and religious services yesterday, shadowed by economic worries in all countries and by strife in Lebanon, Argentina, Northern Ireland and Angola.

Christmas masses, tree-lighting and feasts were attended by Christian communities in the Soviet Baltic republics, the western Ukraine and in Moscow. Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported.

In Sydney, Australia's largest city, 18 persons perished and more than 20 were injured in a Christmas morning fire that swept the small, seedy Savoy Hotel.

The war in Angola continued, but it diminished Christmas enthusiasm only in Portugal. Angola's former colonial master, despite hopes for a Christmas truce, another wave of street battles, murder and kidnaping, fared in the Lebanese civil war between rightist Christians and leftist Moslems.

"They wrecked our holiday, we're going to wreck theirs," said a Moslem gunman. Earlier this month, the Moslem holiday of Id El Adha was spoiled by fighting that followed the execution of 370 kidnap victims, most of them Moslems.

But the largest crowds of tourists and pilgrims since the 1967 Arab-Israeli War were reported in the Holy Land next door. The Israeli government estimated 25,000 visitors to the Bethlehem, Nazareth and Jerusalem.

Christmas Eve mass at Nazareth was celebrated at 9 p.m. instead of midnight because, it was explained, in previous years too many people were there by midnight.

At the Vatican, Pope Paul VI closed the bronze Holy Door of St. Peter's Basilica door to end the Holy Year, an observance held every quarter century.

Then the 78-year-old pontiff celebrated the first outdoor Christmas Eve mass before more than 100,000 persons jamming St. Peter's Square. Many millions more in nations watched on television.

Members Beaten, Tortured

Africans Attack Witnesses

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The Jehovah's Witnesses says its members were being subjected to a new campaign of beating, rape, torture and detention in Malawi because of their refusal to join President Kamuzu Banda's Malawi Congress party.

The religious sect, which believes that all governments are sinful, also claims it is being persecuted in Zambia and newly-independent Mozambique.

Violent attacks on the Witnesses began in Malawi in 1964. President Banda's supporters burned the homes of 1,000 members of the sect and more than 100 of their meeting places, called Kingdom Halls.

The Witnesses are also unpopular with the white rulers of Rhodesia and South Africa — both involved in low-key guerrilla wars with black nationalists — because they refuse to

Drainage District Cooperation Urged

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS—Mayor Norman Floyd urged the city commission this week to look toward the Board of County Commissioners for cooperation in setting up a drainage district for the south end of the county.

In response to a report from Commissioner Cal DeVone that he had approached the Seminole Legislative Delegation with a recommendation that it consider adopting legislation to create a county-wide drainage district, Floyd said the city and the county have the power to create a drainage district.

The mayor said he is getting together a package of plans and recommendations to take to the county for consideration.

"If the county won't act, it will be up to the citizens," Floyd said.

Floyd blasted the legislators, noting that three of the four—Rep. Vince Fechtel (R-Leesburg), and Sens. Lori Wilson (L-Merritt Island) and John Vogt (D-Cocoa Beach)—

Here's A Resolution To Keep Those New Year Resolutions

No one asked me, but: Now is the time to chuck out that Christmas shopping list and start making up New Year's resolutions. We have seven days, counting what's left of today, to come up with some solid ones.

I'm going to lose that 40 pounds I've been thinking about getting rid of for the last year. I'm also going to try to save more money next year, not let folks slip down the electric garbage disposal and remember which dry cleaning store I took my clothes to.

I'd like to be able to go through another year without getting a speeding ticket, not burn my meat loaf to a crisp and remember to finish off the old jar of mayonnaise before opening another.

Maybe this will be the year I learn to rebote. It's the toughest part of amateur jai-alai for me, taking the pelota off the back wall and throwing it to the front.

I'm going to try and return to the ranks of professional putters, and play for a piece of that surprising green stuff they give to winners in Putt-Putt simply for directing a little white ball into the cup.

I don't want to think about a new car, or at least not the payments. But with 93,000 miles on the old one, it's a wait-and-see situation.

How about finding more time for the children? At least one afternoon a week of comradeship seems in order, whether it be fishing, playing catch or just shooting baskets in the driveway.

MIAMI (AP) — Running back Mercury Morris, who has been pressing for a trade from the Miami Dolphins since mid-season, says he expects to be in a new uniform by the start of the 1976 National Football League campaign.

Morris said he would meet with Coach Don Shula after Jan. 1 in a final attempt to reach an understanding on playing time.

And therein is a problem with New Year's resolutions.

To be sure, one must aim high to achieve. In golf they call it "never up, never in."

The key, I believe, is to restrict one's self to attainable goals. I wouldn't try to, for example, vow with a clear conscience to visit my parents every month. They live too far away, and my work schedule doesn't permit it. But I will try to work toward a meaningful trip, perhaps during the summer vacation.

Resolutions, cynics are made to broken. Perhaps, if they are made in that vein, Mine aren't.

LONGWOOD — Much like the swallows returning to Capistrano, so will Central Florida greyhound racing fans come in numbers to the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club tonight.

Jerry and Jack Collins open the doors to historic SOKC for its 41st season with an 8 p.m. post time.

The weatherman isn't cooperating perfectly, but a crowd in excess of 5,000 is expected for the 13 race program which features quarterhorses plus, place and show on every race. Perfecta wagering is one of the most popular types of wager, with three trifecta races on the slate.

However exotic fans consider wagering possibilities, handicapping is an unlimited area.

Kennel owner Wayne Strong is returning to SOKC this season, and other new faces from the kennel ranks will be H. R. Parrin, Fred Peterson and Herb Beasley.

The night's other Grade A feature will be the 10th race, the Inaugural Handicap, and newcomers have grabbed most of the berths. The field includes (by post position) Southern Roots, Tally Abe, Fruit Floater, G.R.'s Explosive, Highway Robber, J.F.'s Top Job, Brown Spectre and Mixer B.

The night's other Grade A feature will be the 11th race, the Wildfire Ida against other top talent like Buck Bannon and Berkeley Kelov. Gardner had the top kennel at SOKC last season.

SOKC is open nightly except Sunday and schedules matinees Saturday and Monday at 1:45.

Mercury Eyes And Bowl Beat Continues Trade Block

Florida, Jax Cagers Vie In Gator

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — Both Jacksonville and Florida must make some adjustments if either is to win the Gator Bowl Basketball Tournament, which begins tonight.

Florida is 3-2 and Jacksonville is 1-4. In both cases, new lineups haven't worked together efficiently.

The same problem has plagued Jacksonville's 7-foot sophomore Felton Young. Because of it, the Dolphins have been able to use him and 6-foot-9 senior Marvin Lloyd in a variety of ways.

All four teams have appeared in the tournament previously and all expect Wake Forest to be a very interesting game, especially if Atkins is able to play and is at full speed. Both finished at 3-2.

JOHN POLK (all calls 183-99-11)

Pittsburgh over Kansas — No question who the stronger team. Nebraska over Arizona State — Nebraska all the way.

Texas over Colorado — Texas to bounce back after ASU loss.

Florida over Maryland — Gators already beat 'em once, so... West Virginia over N.C. State — I go for the underdog.

Alabama over Penn State — Alabama... enough said.

Arkansas over Georgia — Both great teams.

Ohio State over Michigan — Definitely... no question.

Oklahoma over UCLA — And that's only a guess.

Minnesota over Dallas — The Vikings' year.

St. Louis over Los Angeles — Cardinals ready to make noise.

Pittsburgh over Baltimore — Past performance pick, it's probably a tossup.

Oakland over Cincinnati — Down deep, I think the Bengals could win, but I go with the old man.

Pittsburgh Place Kicker DOES Have Sense Of Humor

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Prior to today's Sun Bowl game against Kansas, Pittsburgh placekicker Carson Long recalled the black mood he was in after missing three field goals in a 7-10 loss to Penn State.

"There was a story going around," Long said, "that I tried to hang myself—I couldn't kick the stool out."

"We've got to get some long drives going and keep the ball away from Anderson and his bunch," observes quarterback Ken Stabler. And cornerback Willie Brown adds: "Once we can stop the pass, everything will fall in place for us."

The Rams are hurting—but not on offense, which was instrumental in carrying the team to the NFC West title with a 12-2 record. Quarterback James Harris is nursing a bad shoulder and running back Lawrence McCutcheon, the team's leading rusher, has a pulled calf muscle.

The Cardinals, on the other hand, are healthy. Jim Hart quarterbacked the St. Louis "horn" squad, headed by speedy Mel Gray, full-back running back Terry Metcalf and power runner Jim Ottis, the NFL's leading rusher.

"Minnesota probably has even more talent this year because the young players have come through," says Dallas coach Tom Landry. "It's as solid as the recent Viking Super Bowl teams."

And Coach Bud Grant of the Vikings returns the compliment. "They've moved the ball on everybody in the league," he says. "On defense, they don't use a lot of variations, but they're very sound."

Colts Vs. Steelers: Mirror Image

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's a mirror image of what used to be.

Once it was the Baltimore Colts who were the Super Bowl champions, battling to maintain their image as kings of the National Football League.

And once it was the Pittsburgh Steelers who were struggling off a losing image and emerging as hungry, young challengers.

Now it's the other way around—and on Saturday, the Colts, written off as a herd of losers before the season began, try to take another giant step toward an impossible dream which the Steelers realized over the years.

Don't Talk About Amy's 'Roommate'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 DEAR ABBY: Our 23-year-old daughter (I'll call her "Amy") has been living with her boyfriend for three months. Although I don't approve of the arrangement, I can't do anything about it without cutting off all communication with her, and I don't want to do that.

My problem is that I feel terribly awkward when a relative or close friend inquires about Amy. One question leads to another, and I am inevitably asked where Amy is living and with whom.

I don't feel comfortable talking about her living arrangements, but I have to say something. What should I say?

I'm sure lots of parents have the same problem these days, so you'd be doing all of us a favor by answering this in your column.

MOM IN THE MIDDLE

Dear Abby

DEAR MOM: Simply say, "Amy's living with a friend, going to school (or working) and seems to be learning (or enjoying life)." Period. If the inquirer wants to know more, talk about Amy and leave the "friend" out of it. And if the interrogator wants to probe further, change the subject. Matter of fact, no matter if "relatives" or "close friend" inquires, Amy's lifestyle is her own, and you should not explain, defend or apologize for it.

DEAR ABBY: It is quite common for friends to take pictures of their children from their wallets and show them off. I usually say, "He (or she) is very nice-looking," or, "He (or she) favors you," whichever the case may be.

What I'd like to know is what is the proper comment to make if the child is obviously very homesy? Recently my boss showed me a picture of his teenage daughter, and the poor thing was an adolescent mess. Cross-eyed, stringy hair, big nose and bad complexion. Also, she didn't favor him. I couldn't force myself to use either of the two comments I usually make because it would have been lying. And had I lied, I'm sure my insincerity would have been obvious. What is an appropriate remark to make under these circumstances? A person has to say something. HER HUSBAND: DEAR HUSBAND: If you don't want your beautiful bride on display scantly clad before strange men, say so, but your fears of her having to fend off "unwelcome advances," being man-handled and having her privacy invaded are unfounded. The one legitimate objection to her working as a fashion model you didn't mention. It is very hard work.

DEAR ABBY: My husband insists that he is not an alcoholic because he doesn't drink any alcohol—only beer. But he drinks a six-pack every evening and on weekends he can put away a couple of cases. He gets very drunk. At least he acts drunk to me. Yet he tells me that as long as he drinks only beer, he is not an alcoholic. Is that right?

DEAR WIFE: No! There IS alcohol in beer, and anyone who drinks as much beer as you say your husband drinks qualifies as an alcoholic in my book!

Eastern Music Festival Auditions

Victor Stern, representative of the Eastern Music Festival (EMF), will be in Orlando Jan. 28 to hold auditions for admission to the 1976 summer season, June 25-Aug. 7. Auditions will be held at the Orlando Youth Orchestra rehearsal, Edgewater High School, 3190 N. Edgewater Drive, from 2 to 5 p.m. For further information, contact Charles Gottschalk, director of the Youth Orchestra, at 671-

062. Auditions may be scheduled by calling Stern in Miami (305-667-1389), or the interested student may simply come to the audition during the scheduled hours.

The Festival offers instruction on all orchestral instruments, piano, and in conducting and composition to selected students age 12 to 30. The Eastern Music Festival faculty of 30 represents major American orchestras and music schools.

Two hundred young musicians from all over the U.S. will be selected to attend the Eastern Music Festival in 1976. They will perform in one of the two student orchestras and participate in chamber music ensembles and master classes. Also offered will be classes in theory, seminars in "Art and Society," and lectures on music and related fields. The Eastern Philharmonic Orchestra, professional orchestra-in-residence, offers weekly concerts and chamber music programs for the student and the general public, and members of this ensemble form the teaching faculty for the Festival. A limited number of scholarship grants are available, awarded on the basis of need.

The audition consists of a short prepared piece, scales and sightreading, and will last approximately 15 minutes.

Yuletide Is Season Of Song

Winter Springs Elementary School presented a delightful Christmas program on Dec. 16, at the school media center. The kindergarten class sang and performed a group of new and old Christmas songs.

Third graders performed an original play with music and art work developed by the group. Fourth graders sang a medley of traditional Christmas carols. The highlight of the evening was the singing of a new and original school song, which was written by John and Barbara Newsome. The song was entitled "Springaro" after the official school mascot and is sung to the tune of Yankee Doodle.

D.A.V.A. Is Busy At Holiday Season

Unit 30 of the D.A.V.A. gave three baskets to needy D.A.V. families for Thanksgiving and gave one basket to a needy D.A.V. family for Christmas. Auxiliary officers also gave food to two needy children not associated with D.A.V.

A Christmas party was given for the D.A.V. children on Dec. 13. "Hanna the Clown" took the place of Santa Claus, who could not make the party. Hanna is Millie Garner, a member of Unit 30 and the Sixth District D.A.V.A. adjutant.

On Dec. 20, five of the Auxiliary members rang the bell for the Salvation Army Kettle in front of the Public Market, Casselberry. The members helping on the kettle were: Florence Williams, Adline Smith, Rose Plumley, Joyce Fogel and Louise Landress.

The Auxiliary sent $35.00 to each of the following V.A. Hospitals for a Christmas party for disabled veterans: Lake City V.A. Hospital, Gainesville V.A. Hospital and Tampa V.A. Hospital.

The Auxiliary sent enough money to the volunteer service representative of the D.A.V.A. to pay for a cement table and benches at the Tampa V.A. Hospital. It is a project of D.A.V.A. to furnish cement tables and benches for the disabled veterans at this hospital so they may sit out in the sun.

The December meeting of the D.A.V.A. had two guests. The guest speaker was the only woman sheriff's deputy in Seminole County. She spoke to the Chapter and the Auxiliary

As Head Of Household Seminar Examines Woman's Position

Most women do not view themselves as being the head of the household.

Yet, regardless of whether a female is single, married, separated, divorced, working outside the home, or a confirmed homemaker, a woman as head of the household, may be the only head of the household; or may be the potential head of the household.

How does one cope with the special responsibilities and problems that one encounters as the head of the household?

In answer to the question, Project 21st Century Woman and Seminole County's Home Economics Department will offer an educational seminar, "Woman as the Head of the Household," Jan. 10, 1976 at the Seminole Community College South Center (located in the Pan American Bank Building on S.R. 406 at the Interstate Mall) from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Special topics, which are pertinent to women today regarding the aspects of being a head of the household, will be offered. The morning schedule and subjects include: Jan Awsumb, of the American Federal Savings and Loan Association, who will present financial planning for women and the legal aspects of financial planning; Susan League, from the Department of Health and Rehabilitation Services, who will inform and discuss with the audience the topic of child care centers in Seminole County, the 4-C's program, how women can utilize this program, and future funding for child care centers; Louise Howell, Coordinator for N.O.W., will discuss sex discrimination laws and regulations, how to file a sex discrimination complaint, and Florida laws for women; Patti Martin, of the women's Center, will present information about female health care and health care referral services.

Women are encouraged to bring a bag lunch, beverages are available. After lunch,

D.A.V.A. Officials Make Area Visits

Florence Williams, commander of Sixth District, Unit 30, Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary (D.A.V.A.) and her adjutant, Millie Garner, have been making official visits throughout the state of Florida. They visited the newly reorganized Unit 104 on Nov. 20, and received a warm welcome. They found the unit doing well and are making plans for the future.

The 6th District Commander attended the meeting of District 4, in Arcadia on Dec. 2. On Jan. 25, the Sixth District of D.A.V.A. will hold its meeting in Orlando at Unit 16, with Commander Williams presiding.

In February, at the D.A.V. Hall in Sanford, the home of Unit 30, a school of instructors will take place for all who care to attend throughout District 6.

The guest speaker and instructor will be Tiny Hill, past Department of Florida commander. She will instruct the commander of the unit within District Six how to conduct a meeting, the dos and the don'ts of holding a meeting and then she will answer questions regarding business and regular meetings.

Their next visit was to Titusville Unit 109 on Dec. 11. The Sixth District commander and adjutant were guests for the Christmas dinner and meeting of fellowship afterwards. Unit 109 is active and has done a wonderful job of selling fruit cakes to raise money to help needy veterans in the V.A. hospitals.

On Dec. 13, they visited Unit 16, Orlando. The unit was making plans for a Christmas party the following week. They visited Unit 92, Orange City, Dec. 22, and found everyone in the spirit of Christmas and making plans for 1976. Stacy Tule, the State executive committee woman for Unit 30, also attended the meeting.

Junior Police Sing Carols, Enjoy Christmas Parties

Winter Springs Junior Police had an activity-filled week. On Dec. 18, they held a regularly scheduled meeting and spent the time practicing Christmas carols and songs.

On Dec. 18, from 7:30 p.m., the youngsters, bundled up because of the chilly weather, walked through Meadowlark Terraces, raising their voices in song.

On Dec. 21, from 2:30 p.m., the group gathered at the home of Claude and Betty Ash to enjoy a Christmas Party. The Ash home was the perfect sight for such an event because they have a wooded two-acre site in the Ranchlands with a small lake that enabled the group to run and play to their heart's content.

The party was made possible by the kindness of Betty and Claude Ash, K-Mari, Zayre and Rose's department stores, who contributed gifts, and a generous cash contribution by Vincent Truncelle, a Miami businessman.

Tuskawilla 'Lights Up'

The Tuskawilla Garden Club sponsored the "lighting of the Luminarias," an old Spanish tradition, for the first time this year. They hope to make it traditional for the residents in the area.

Two thousand candles were placed inside white paper bags filled with sand and were lighted all along the street in the Tuskawilla area. About 50 families in the development took part in this beautiful ceremony.

Later on the same day, the group proceeded to the Lakeview Nursing Center in Sanford where they walked through the corridors singing Christmas carols and songs to the delight of the patients. The group also presented the Nursing Center patients with a small Christmas gift, a token of their love.

The Junior Police will contribute fruit and candy, along with the VFW Ladies Auxiliary of Winter Springs, Post 5495 in the Seminole County Juvenile Detention Center.

Nostalgia is "in" these days... especially at the beginning of a New Year. Everywhere you turn there are reminders of the Roaring Twenties or the Fabulous Fifties. Old-car buffs abound, and fashions reflect the fads of long-ago decades.

A Christian is able to face life like it is today! He can meet his obligations to himself and to society with confidence and faith—and he can strengthen that faith each Sunday, by going to church knowing always that the Lord is waiting for him there.

Pastor's Corner

By REV. A. H. DAVIS, Church of God of Prophecy

Now that our Lord's birthday has been celebrated just yesterday, let all of us who really know Him as Lord and Master get on with the purpose of His birth. While it is good to remember His day of birth, it is better to remember the Purpose of His birth.

This world is not lost in that it is perfectly willing to celebrate the birthday of our Holy Saviour with a bottle of whiskey, a case of beer, and any number of ungodly ways.

Does not God demand that the modern-day preacher cry out against the evil of this modern world? Man is, by the nature that God gave him, a creature with the right to choose his own way, and it is a fact that the Devil sees that he knows the evil way.

The Singing Rambos To Sing At Calvary

On Wednesday, New Year's Eve, Calvary Assembly, 1918 Miller Ave., Winter Park, will have a "Watch Night Service" beginning at 9:30 p.m.

The Rambos have been singing, making gospel music the major part of their lives since Buck and Dotie were married 23 years ago and Reba made it a trio almost a dozen years later.

At 7 p.m. on the same day, a New Year's Service will be held with the Pastor, Rev. Douglas E. Porter, preaching. It will be a Watchnight-type service, but only one hour long.

SPER FAMILY SETS CONCERT. Nationally known gospel musicians Doug Oldham and The Spier Family will appear Jan. 15, in the Orlando Sports Stadium for a "one-of-a-kind" concert.

'Time To Run' Film Showing Scheduled

"Time To Run," a film that is a mixture of problems and solutions, will be shown at Community United Methodist Church at Casselberry on Jan. 4, at 7 p.m.

SINGING KINGS OF JOY ARE HONORED. The Singing Kings of Joy were honored with an appreciation program by various churches of the Sanford area.

Oral Roberts

Q. I am trapped in a dead-end job, and I'm floundering. How can I be successful?

A. There's no magic about success. It's no accident. Success comes to the person who believes and who will do certain things. Recently a man came to me with a problem similar to yours.

I said, "The same thing can apply to your work. Try going to your job with the attitude you are going to stroke it with love. Be thankful you have a job. Do that job better than anybody else."

I hire hundreds of men and women. Who am I looking for? Someone who will do his job with love and joy. Success is waiting for a person like that!

To receive a copy of my new book, A DAILY GUIDE TO MIRACLES AND SUCCESSFUL LIVING THROUGH SEED-FATHER, simply write and ask for it. It's free. My address is: Oral Roberts, Tulsa, Oklahoma 74102.

Cancer Detector Added

A new breast cancer detection device that combines x-ray technology with the fast, dry-copying abilities of a Xerox copying machine, has been added to the facilities of Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Radiologic Technologist Becky Louwsma of the hospital's X-ray Department, said that the device, the Xerox 125 system of xeroradiography, is viewed by radiologists as a distinct advance over all present methods of detection of breast cancer.

The unit detects the early signs of breast cancer, including calcium deposits which could be as tiny as a pin point, Mrs. Louwsma said.

It is particularly effective in the examination of the remaining breast after mastectomy, in women with a strong family history of breast cancer and in patients with very large breasts that are difficult to evaluate by other means.

The system produces high quality pictures on paper within 90 seconds. The high resolution and superior edge definition of the picture image makes it easier to read in normal room light, Mrs. Louwsma explained.

The system uses conventional x-ray techniques, but substitutes a selenium plate for x-ray film. When the plate has been exposed, it is processed in a manner similar to copying an office document on a standard Xerox copier. The picture image is "printed" on plastic-coated paper, which can be stored as a permanent record by the hospital.

The American Cancer Society estimates that 88,000 women will develop breast cancer in 1976 and 33,000 will die of the disease. "Physicians know that earlier detection should save more lives," says the society. "The stage at which breast cancer is detected is crucial to the outcome of the treatment."

Currently about 85 per cent of patients discover their condition themselves through self-examination, but by that time 60 per cent of them have cancer that has spread to the axillary lymph nodes, according to the society. At that stage, the five-year survival rate is 40-45 per cent, but if the cancer is detected while it is still localized, the survival rate is 80-85 per cent.

An attorney says he's blocking police only temporarily from interviewing his client, the lone witness to a Christmas Eve massacre in which four people were killed.

"This man, a personal friend of mine, is in the hospital with a bullet wound in his abdomen and he is suffering pain, both physically and emotionally, from this terrible incident," attorney Ralph V. Hadley III, said Friday.

Hadley said detectives will be allowed to interview W.T. Zeigler Jr., as soon as he is able to withstand questions about the shooting in which Zeigler was wounded and his wife, her parents and a long-time customer were killed.

Zeigler, in the intensive care unit of a local hospital, was listed in satisfactory condition early today.

Authorities had waited until Friday to try to question Zeigler about the shootings, which police said came during an apparent robbery at Zeigler's furniture store after it closed for the holidays.

Orange County Det. Don Frye said doctors kept him waiting nearly two hours before letting him see Zeigler, and Zeigler then refused to talk without an attorney.

Sheriff Melvin Colman refused to say whether Zeigler was a suspect in the shootings. "I understand he has obtained an attorney. I'm not sure why, but we haven't talked with him yet on this matter," Colman said.

Ingenuity Key To Canoe Firm

By AUDIE MURPHY
Herald Staff Writer

There is scarcely a fisherman or boater around who has not had occasion, at one time or another, to envy the person who glides past in a canoe.

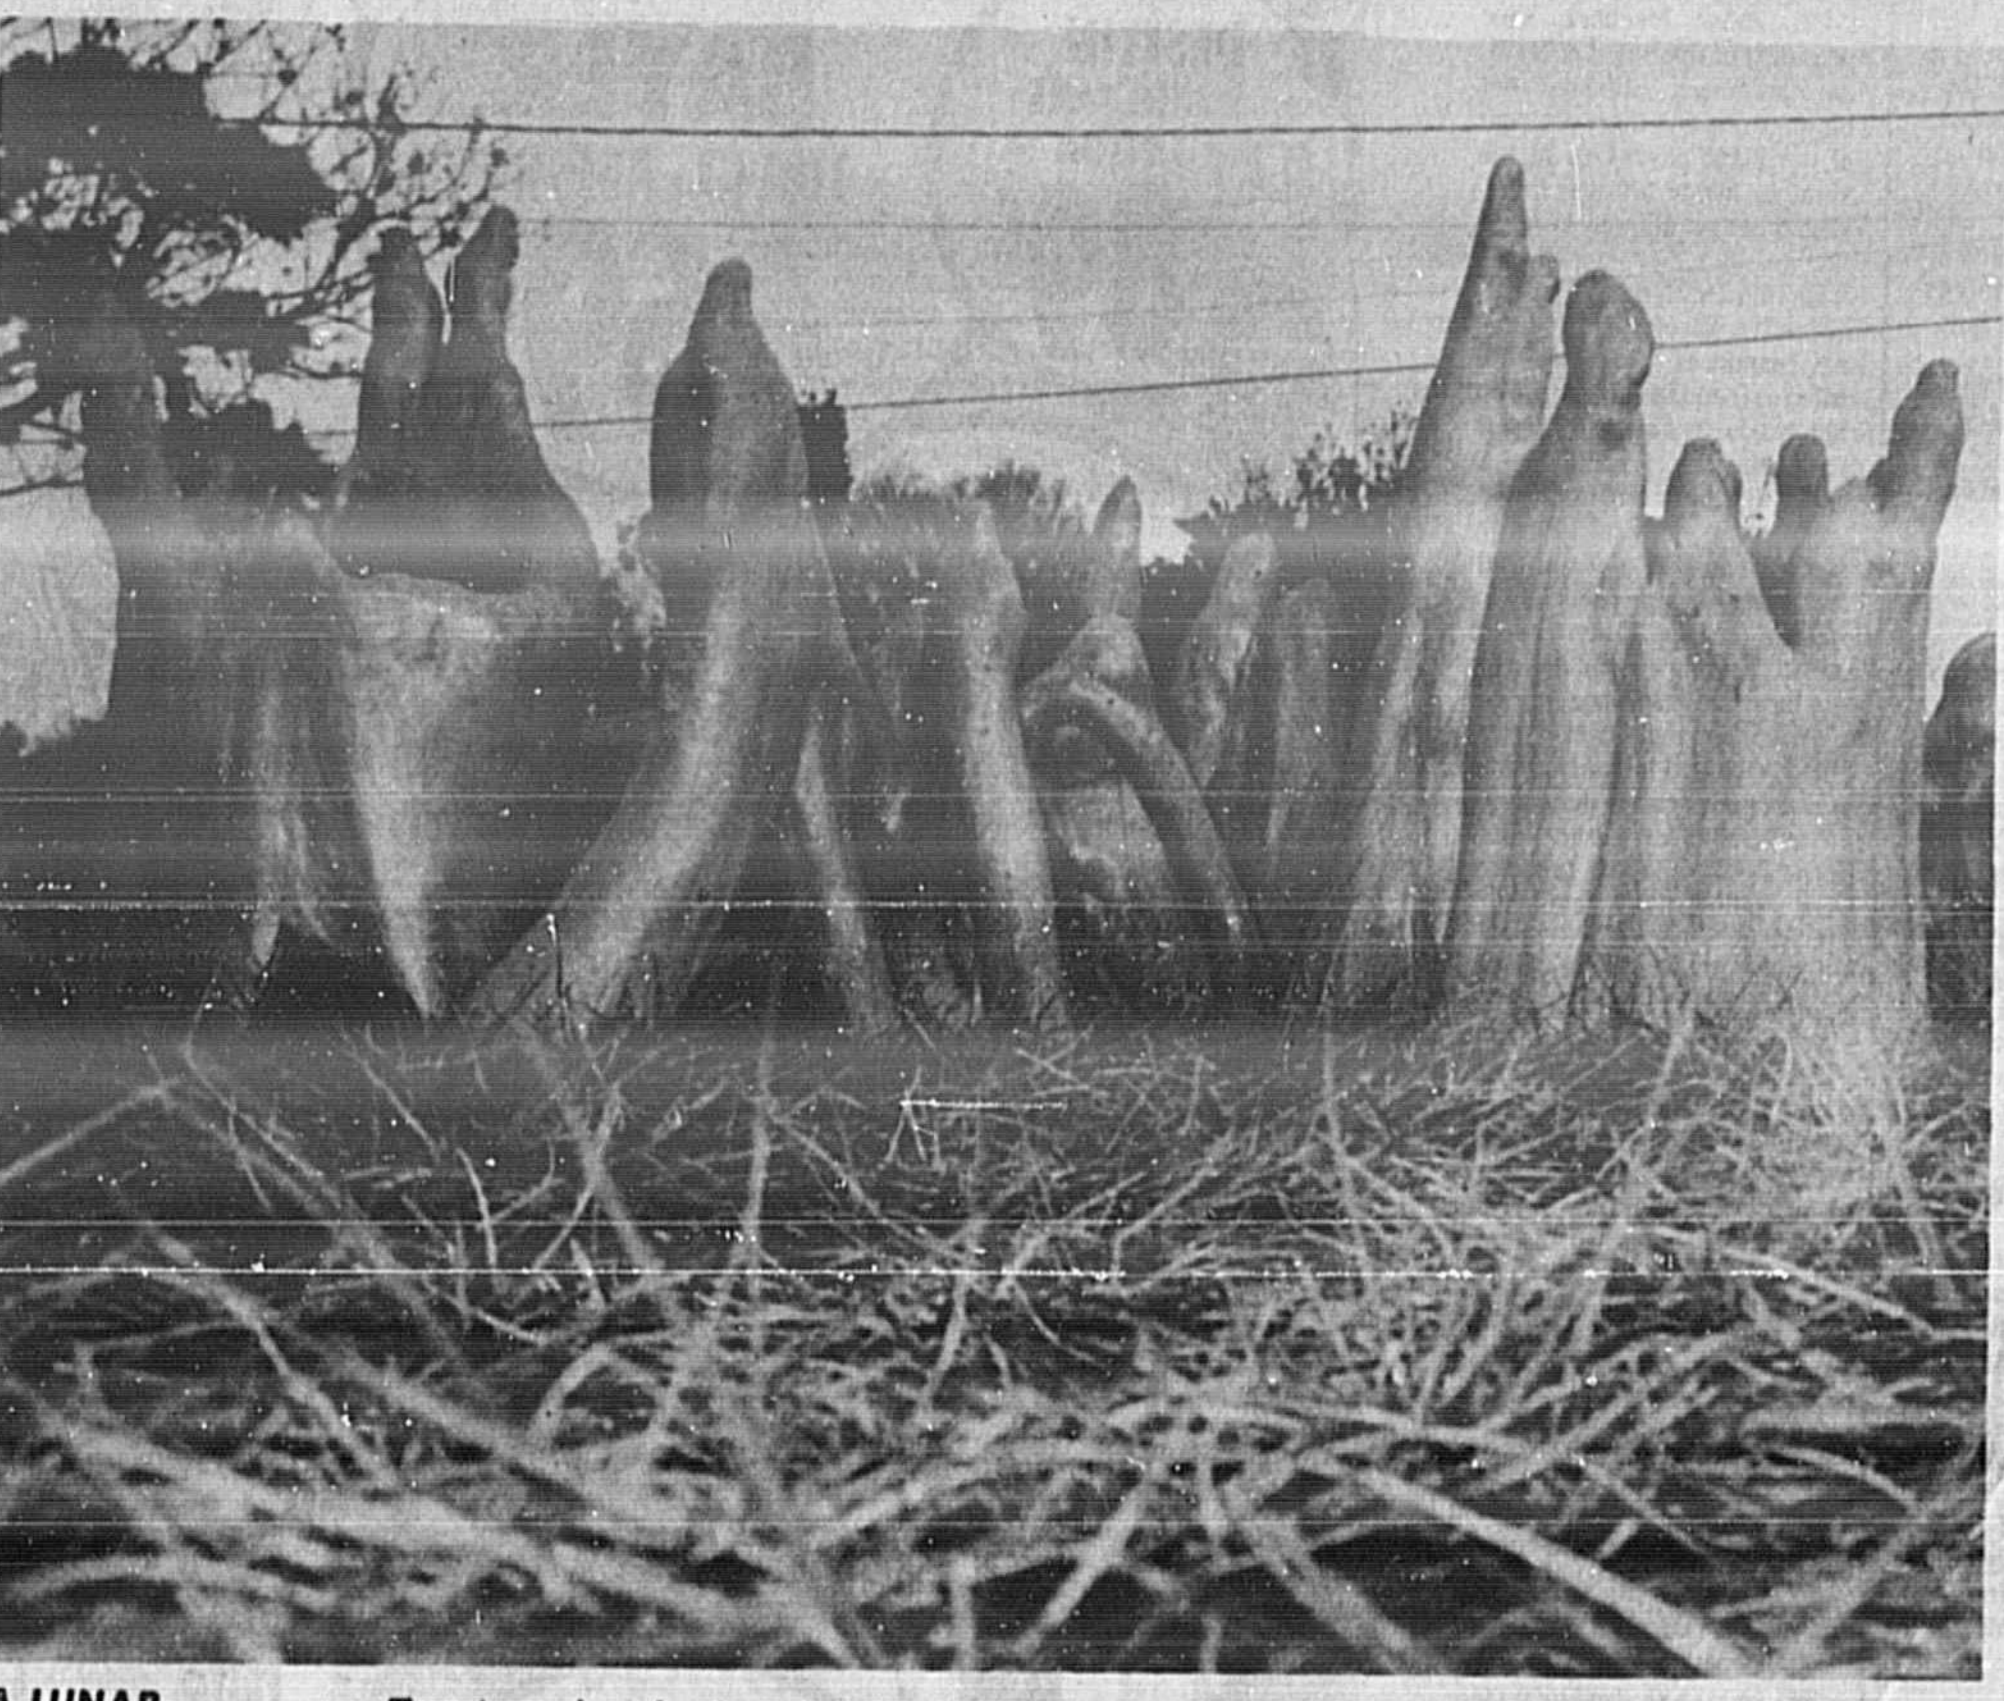

Perhaps while maneuvering a john-boat through a morass of water hyacinths, or while coaxing a cantankerous outboard motor to start (just one more time).

The sleek canoe, which can float silently along twisting creeks, or sail contentedly across a sizeable lake, is one of those products that seem designed especially for Florida.

So it was only natural that James E. Matthews Jr., 36, an enterprising Orlando man who studied business administration at Florida Technological University, chose the canoe as the product to manufacture.

Actually, Matthews said he had a number of reasons for going into business for himself.

"I graduated from F.T.U. in August of 1974, and was working as an assistant manager in a department store," he said. "But I've always liked the idea of going into business for myself, so

Lone Witness To Slayings

Massacre Survivor Remains Silent

Colman said that no arrests have been made.

"I don't anticipate any in the very near future," he added.

"We're investigating every aspect," he said. "Hobbyry was the apparent motive, but we're looking at all angles of the case. We haven't ruled out anything."

Investigators said that almost every detail of the case would be kept secret.

"We're going to keep the lid on this one so tight nothing can get out, you can believe that," one officer said.

Don Ficke, police chief of this Central Florida city, said earlier that he was at a Christmas party when Zeigler, his best friend, called and said, "Don, I've been shot. Please come and help me."

Casselberry Faces Test Says Mayor

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Casselberry Mayor Bill Grier, with only a few days left in office, faces problems ahead for the city he served for nine years as councilman and chief executive officer.

The major problem Grier sees ahead is monetary — the lack of sufficient money to operate as the spring and summer approach.

"The new people going into office will be surprised what it takes to operate this city," he said, noting his proposal that an ad valorem tax be levied for the first time in the city's 30 year plus history no doubt led to his defeat.

Casselberry is the only city currently in Seminole County which does not levy a property tax.

"I was just trying to be realistic," Grier says. "Both utility bond ordinances are tied into the city's utility tax rate, and this tax must be continued at least until sufficient sums are on hand to meet the bond requirements of 1.35 coverage," he said.

The only way the coverage can be reached is for both utility systems — the original system and the newly acquired General Waterworks — to be tied together and that will take a year or more.

Grier predicted that at some time in the new year the city council will have to transfer $50,000 to $60,000 monthly from the general fund into the operation and a maintenance fund for the utility system to continue operation.

"When that happens," Grier said, "the city will have three choices:

"To cut out all services, to lay off all personnel or to go to a local bank and borrow for the city's general fund at 12 to 15 per cent interest.

"By stopping the ad valorem (property) tax, the inevitable was only postponed," he said.

Financial woes coming from other sources, Grier noted, will include a reduction of at least two per cent in anticipated state revenue sharing money. He said Gov. Reubin Askew has asked for the two per cent cut and predicted by the time the money reaches the city it will actually be cut at least five per cent.

The mayor added that a bill is now in Congress to eliminate federal revenue sharing money to cities and states from that source means another $70,000 loss annually to Casselberry.

"These are the things after one has been in office for sometime and has an understanding he can work with everyday," Grier said.

"To ask for a property tax was not the popular thing, but I truly believed and do believe this is the thing that would have kept Casselberry alive. Without it, the city cannot survive. Again being realistic, it is the fairest form of taxation," Grier said.

Heater Starts Sanford Fire

Fire units from three Seminole County communities responded Saturday to a fire in the Lincoln Heights subdivision. No injuries were reported in the blaze at the home of Alfred Brooks, 1807 Knox Avenue.

Fire vehicles from Five Points, Pools and Forest City responded to the alarm, which came at approximately 7:45 a.m. Saturday morning.

Brooks reportedly told fire department personnel that he and his wife were eating breakfast when a neighbor rushed in to tell them their house was ablaze. Brooks and his wife, the only persons in the house, managed to escape.

Fire officials said the cause of the fire was an overheated space heater that, ignited the ceiling and wall lining.

As the Christmas holidays pass, law enforcement reports indicate that burglaries continue to plague Seminole County residents.

Cameras Taken

On Friday, James Lambert, 36, P.O. Box 2262, Panama City, told deputies his residence, at 129 Hobson Street in Longwood, was broken into on Friday evening.

A transceiver, a microphone, three cameras, a movie projector, a movie screen, a clock radio and a radio scanner, together valued at $847, reportedly were taken.

Tools Stolen

Another burglary, of a construction trailer on SR 434 in Longwood, netted $400 in construction tools, according to reports. Steve Mueller, 45, 5027 Ferncrest Drive, Orlando, told deputies the trailer, which is owned by Agnarr-Larjensen, Inc., was broken into on Dec. 24 or 25. The missing tools included extension cords and two saws.

Color TV Target

Color televisions continue to be favorite targets in residential burglaries. Charles Hamby, 42, Rt. 1, Box 178-0 Sanford, reported Friday that someone had broken into his house on Lake Drive during the past week. A rented color television valued at $400 was taken.

Also on Friday, Joe Coljeski, 23, 2161 Sussex Drive, Winter Woods, reported to the sheriff's department that a movie camera, film, and a silver certificate, together valued at $243, were missing from his home. Coljeski reportedly told authorities that he had discovered on Dec. 18 that his house had been broken into, but did not realize the items were missing until he wanted to use the movie camera on Friday.

A Product For The Masses

When the opportunity came along . . .

With partner Bill Rawls, 52, and James Matthews Sr., a former boat company manager, as an adviser, Matthews set up Seminole Canoe & Boat Company in Building 77 at Sanford Airport.

That was in April. After "a couple of months" of preparation, Matthews said the company began producing canoes and boats.

"The idea behind the canoe was to produce a craft that most people can afford," Matthews said, adding that the canoe's portability made it extremely attractive to the younger generation.

With a canoe there is no trailer to hook up or motor to maintain, he said. The owner merely places his canoe on top of the car and takes off.

"A dealer in Fort Lauderdale told me once, 'If you can't put it on top of a car, I don't want it,'" Matthews said.

But that doesn't mean that Seminole Canoe & Boat Company produce canoes exclusively.

Matthews said one of his most popular boat models is the tri-fisherman, a tri-hulled fishing boat with a sleek design and plenty of room for gear.

Although the company began manufacturing the Tri-Fisherman in August, Matthews said he already has seven of the 15-foot, 4-inch boats to dealers.

Another popular Seminole boat is the 14-foot, 3-inch Perch. Matthews said the model is popular at fishing camps, since the flat-bottomed design is similar to that of traditional wooden fishing boats used at many fish camps.

But all Seminole boats are fiberglass, not wood, and Matthews thinks a lot of fiberglass.

"Wood will dry rot on you, and aluminum is difficult to repair," he said.

"You can't beat fiberglass. It's light, and even if it gets cracked, it's relatively simple to repair it."

The popularity of canoes is reflected by the fact that Seminole Canoe & Boat Company has sold 223 of them in the past six months.

Matthews said the boats are shipped to such Florida cities as Fort Lauderdale, Sebring, Okeechobee, Lakeland, Ocala, and Jacksonville. The boats also are shipped in dealers in Georgia and Tennessee.

Construction of the boats is not difficult, according to Matthews, with the assistance of employees Elsie Smart and Arthur Muller, a mold is waxed and sprayed with gel-coat. Fiberglass and resin is then added to the mold, and allowed to dry for a period of several hours.

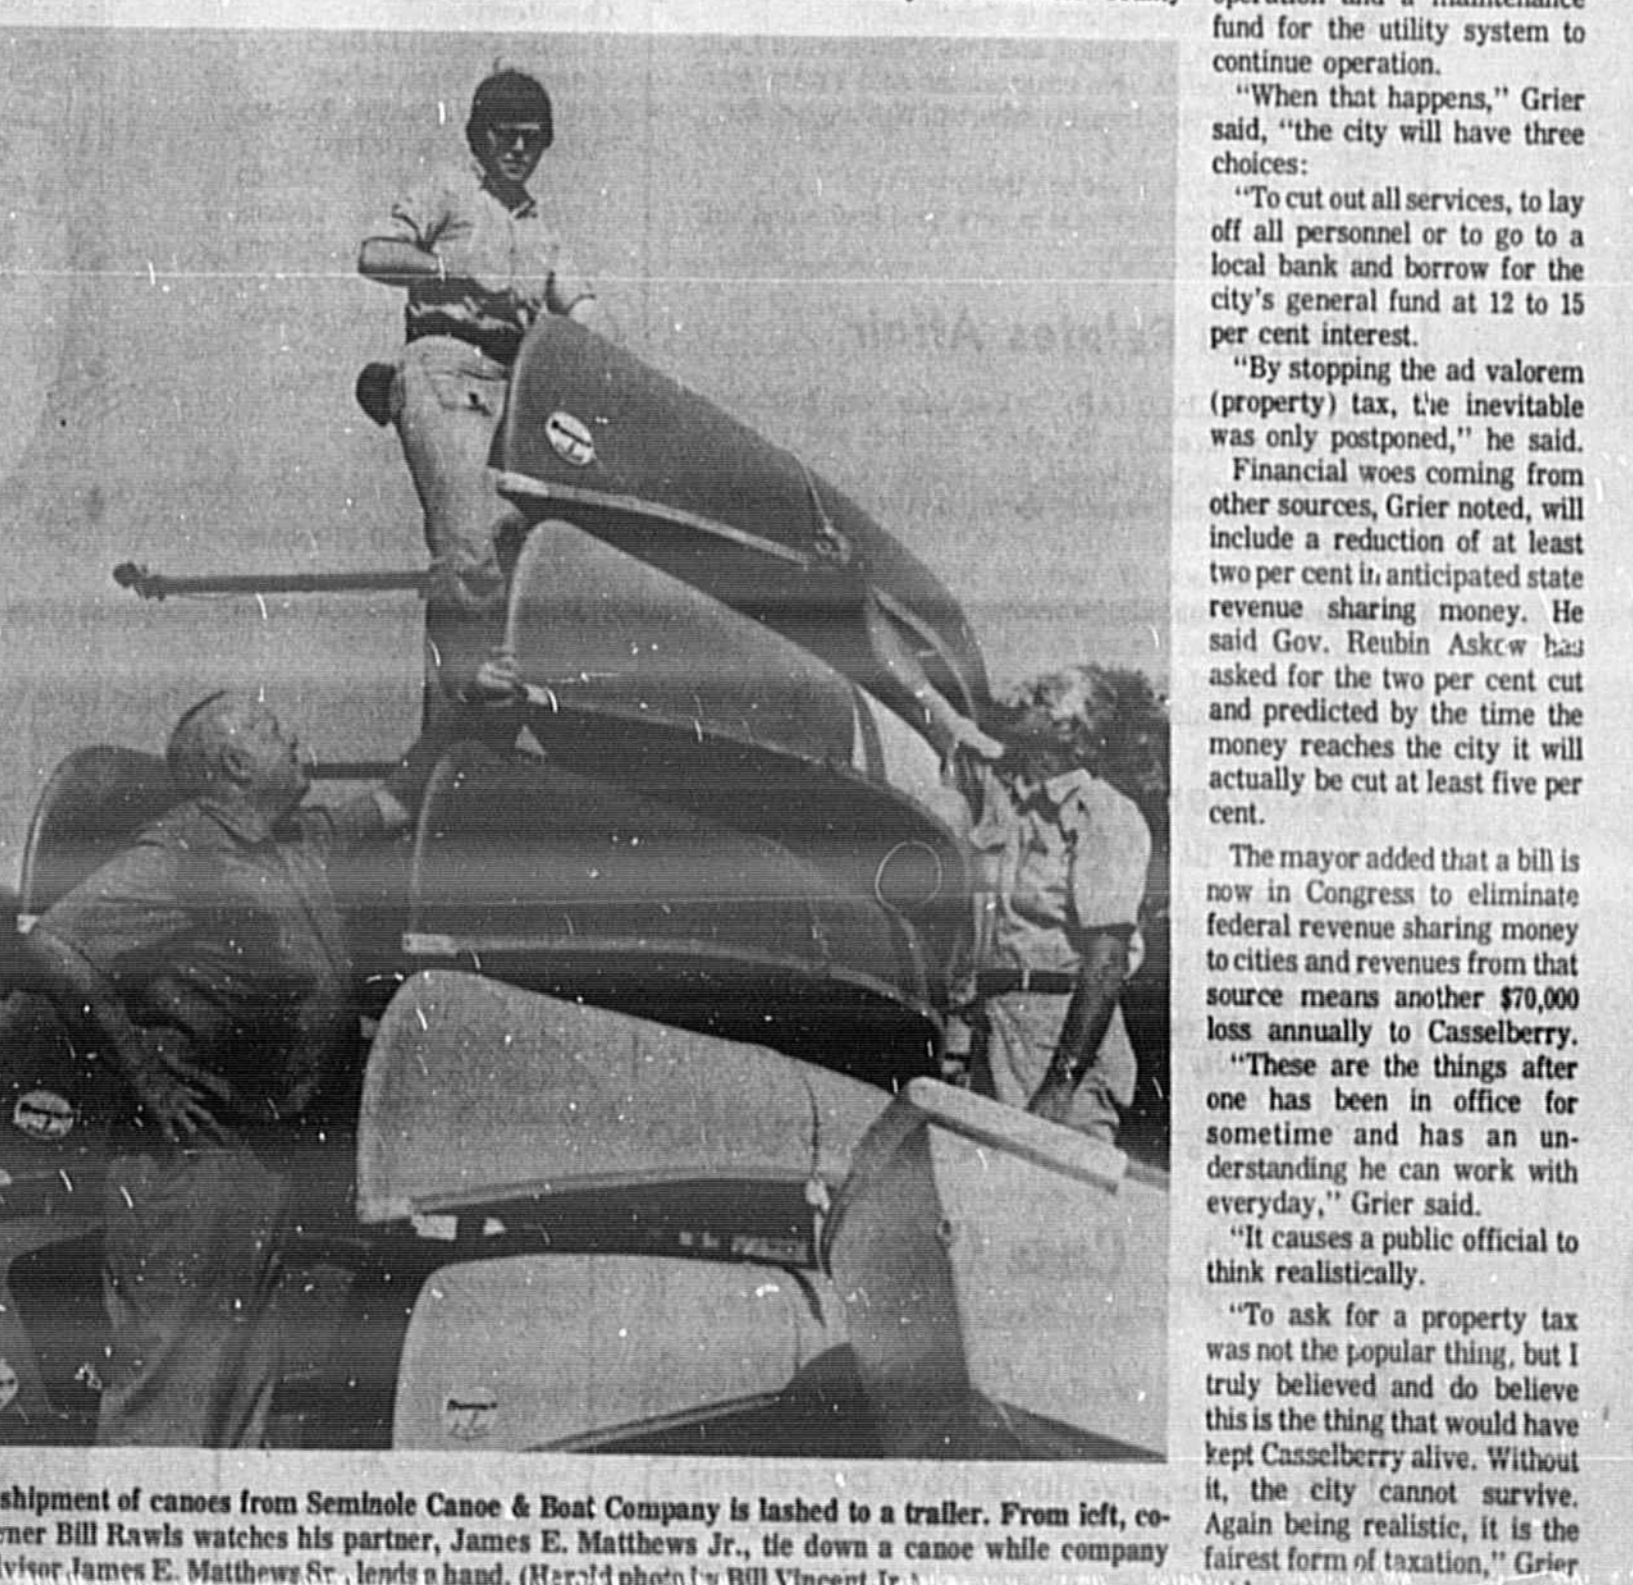

Then, if the final result is a canoe, it is simply lifted out of the mold. When the larger fishing boats are ready to leave the mold, air hoses are inserted into the base of the mold to help separate the boat, which is lifted out by four men.

Matthews explained that, in concurrence with Coast Guard regulations, plastic foam is added to the canoes and boats to provide buoyancy in case they are capsized.

The fishing boats then are equipped with seats, mechanical steering, rod holders and lights.

About his plans for the future, Matthews said he wants to increase the variety of boat models his company produces.

If business stays brisk, Matthews may not have time for his hobby — fishing — and boating.
