TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Secretary of State Tom Adams said today Gov. Claude Kirk apparently "lost his cool" over the Senate restriction dispute but the Secretary declined to name the two regents he claims Kirk asked to resign.

Adams quickly added that "I can assure you that from other sources there will be further confirmations of what I have said."

He said he was trying to settle the debate with Kirk, create a split or a breach but was just calling "in the middle" as the latest episode establishes a breach, he said, "It's just too bad."

In a speech at Orlando yesterday, which Adams attended, Kirk challenged the official to name the two Regent members who Kirk reportedly asked to resign.

Adams said he would not disclose the names because the two persons involved asked him not to do so to whom conversations last night. He quoted the members as saying the result would be only to further injure personalities and policies in the administration of education in Florida.

Adams made today's remarks in a specially called news conference.

The political breach between Governor Kirk and Adams widened when Kirk's first challenge to Adams to identify the two members of the University Board of Regents Adams says Kirk is pressing to resign.

The challenge was issued publicly Wednesday night to a banquet audience of some 200 educators at the Governor's Center in Tallahassee.

Commie Shells Blast U. S. Missile Cruiser

SAIGON (AP) — North Viet names: shore batteries fired two hits on the U.S. guided missile cruiser Canberra during a ship-to-ship duel Wednesday.

The American command said the shore batteries were silenced by fire from the Canberra's deck and did minor damage to some nearby installations.

Kirk's Action Said Illegal

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Florida's top insurance official, State Treasurer Howard Williams, has called illegal a plan of Gov. Claude Kirk to give commissions to insurance agents for plans for state employees to a former campaign ally.

The Democratic Cabinet official said the GOP governor's agreement with Jack Behringer of Fort Lauderdale and his brand new insurance agency is "in conflict with state governing the licensing of agents."

Aides of Kirk said Behringer, Kirk's 1966 campaign treasurer, was to conduct a 2-4 month study of group insurance plans involving more than 10,000 employees of E large agencies.

But agents representing the firms were told Behringer had been designated "agent in charge" of all sales and was apparently entitled to a commission which one insurance executive said might reach $25,000 per year.

Hoffa Ordered To Surrender

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Frank W. Wilson has ordered James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, to appear here Tuesday morning to begin serving an eight-year prison term for jury tampering.

Less than an hour before Wilson announced his decision Wednesday Hoffa designated Frank E. Fitzsimmons, general vice president of the union since last July, as his successor.

Wilson's move came after he denied Hoffa's request for continuance of his $75,000 bail pending disposition of a new trial motion. Attorneys for Hoffa, who took over the 1.8-million-member labor organization after Dave Beck, long time Teamsters president, was handed a 15-year sentence in 1958 for stealing union funds, said Wilson's order "more than likely" would be appealed.

Thousands Jam Store Opening

By Jane Casselberry

Thousands of eager shoppers swarmed into the 2 1/2-story Ward's new department store in Seminole Plaza, Casselberry, Wednesday after the traditional ribbon cutting was staged by Miss Florida and Mayor Arthur C. Wheatley.

The mayor welcomed the new store to the community in a speech earlier.

Store officials participating in the opening included M. D. Manger, vice president in charge of Ward's eastern region; J. F. Carson, district manager, and Dan Goodson, store manager.

An estimated 3,000 to 5,000 persons attended the VIP Preview Sale on Tuesday night by invitation.

On opening day, the crowds filled the store all day with a response that far exceeded the management's wildest expectations. Four patrolmen were kept busy all day in the parking lot, which was jammed with cars. The paved parking area accommodates 450 cars.

A special attraction for the younger set was the presence of "Miss Nancy," popular television personality of WBDF-TV's Romper Room.

"We are looking forward to much success in serving the people of this area," Goodson said.

Ward's Automotive Center, part of the $1 million complex, opened previously.

Bartholomew Award Goes To 'Flying Fleurs'

The Cdr. Barton W. Bartholomew Leadership Award, presented annually for Excellence in Naval Leadership, was awarded to the Fleurs of Reconnaissance Attack Squadron Six.

Capt. R. E. Fowler Jr., commander of Reconnaissance Attack Wing One, made the presentation to four commanding officers, Cdr. W. S. Thompson.

The trophy was awarded for the 1966 judging period.

The Bartholomew Leadership Award is named in honor of Cdr. Barton W. Bartholomew, former commanding officer of RVAH-11, who was killed in an aircraft accident at sea. The award is presented annually to the Sanford squadron displaying the highest level of Naval leadership for the calendar year.

The Fleurs are the third squadron to win the coveted award since it was first presented in 1961. The Savage Sons of RVAH-6 won the first year, and the Peacemakers of RVAH-7 won last year's award.

Competition for the award involves judging on all aspects of leadership from re-assignment rates to civil traffic violations. All Sanford based fleet squadrons are involved in the judging.

'Grasshoppers' Celebrate Birthday

Informed and inspired by their day-long visit to Seminoles, Sanford airfield, 80 members of the "Grasshoppers" — girls pilots — are back in their home field today after a feature-filled time that started when their wheels touched down on Flying Seminoles Ranch yesterday.

Here as the guests of the airport committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the Naval Air Station, these fliers found a greeting from Mayor and Mrs. Joe Baker of Sanford. They were also greeted by the Mayor's wife, Mrs. Betty Tracey, of Melbourne, who presented a gift of perfume from Faust's drugstore as the first one to arrive, and Mrs. Sylvia Hochstadt, of Sarasota, was given a silver watch pitcher from Kader's Jewelry as a door prize.

Jerry Lindsey and Tom Duch, proprietors of the Flying Seminoles Ranch, just five air-miles from the site of the Florida Technological University, and seven air-miles from Sanford, were pleased to have these fliers learn of their field's facilities. Lindsey said they few off with many comments on their interesting day with its "good sky and flying weather."

Rich La. Man Named In Probe

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Clay L. Shaw, wealthy retired director of the International Trade Mart, has been booked on a charge of "conspiracy to commit murder" in Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's first arrest in the Kennedy assassination investigation.

"There will be more arrests, a considerable number of them," said Garrison, who has been conducting a probe of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy for the past five months.

Shaw, 54, a decorated Army major in World War II, was released on $10,000 bond after his arrest Wednesday night. His luxurious French Quarter home was searched for nearly three hours by Garrison's agents.

Garrison has vowed to prove that a conspiracy conceived in New Orleans "culminated in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy" in Dallas Nov. 22, 1962.

Powell Ousted In House But Question Unsettled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has barred Adam Clayton Powell, its most controversial member, from the House, but his fate has trouble making the floor.

While the Harlem preacher returned at his husband's taking retreat at Bimini, his attorneys termed Wednesday's action of the House "unconstitutional."

They raised the threat of a federal court suit to overturn it.

The House itself may have to deal with the matter again, perhaps within two months. A special election will be held to fill Powell's seat and there is every likelihood he again will be elected to fill the post he has held 22 years.

"It will come back to haunt the House," said Rep. Emanuel Celler, the venerable New York Democrat, after the House removed Powell from the House.

Mr. Celler's recommendation of his select committee to a soft Negro Democrat with a stiff record of 40 years' service and the loss of all security.

The action also rejected leadership from both parties, who had backed the committee action, and led to the final ouster 307 to 166.

"I'm representing Adam Clayton Powell," Celler told reporters. "I'd take the case to court right away. I think he's got a good case."

Rep. Arch A. Moore Jr., the West Virginia Republican who fought alongside Celler for adoption of the censure proposal, offered reporters to his statement midway through the five-hour debate: "If we turn him out, his constituents will turn him back with an even greater majority."

The galleries were packed but orderly. Although Powell, 58, was absent, his lawyers were there. They listened intently but left when the outcome became clear.

Later, they issued a terse statement through Powell's office.

"Four Florida high schools are among secondary educational institutions which will offer Air Force junior reserve officers training courses this fall."

Eric Gen. Donald F. Blake, Air Force ROTC commandant, listed the schools as DeLand, Guntersville, Fort Walton Beach and Panama City Bay.

Advocate Of Sex Seeking Anonymity

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Jan Lientke, the University of Minnesota roed who suggested that people should take the burden off sex and enjoy it would like to slide back into peaceful anonymity.

She'd just as soon forget the whole thing, she told a reporter.

"It's not that I am sorry for what I said. I believe this was very strongly" added the attractive 16-year-old nursing school senior. "It's just that my comments have been taken out of context, sensationalized and misinterpreted."

"I've lost my privacy. I find it difficult to get back into the swing of my studies and school responsibilities."

What Miss Lientke said which shook up the conservative Midwest area — was that old morality codes are out of date and now that some contraceptives are 100 per cent safe, the sexual drive should not be suppressed.

Advocating premarital sexual relations as something natural, she said sex life is just a form of communication and shouldn't be regulated any more than dancing or shaking hands.

The willowy 1-foot-10 Miss Lientke, who looks like the girl next door, has been chided in newspaper editorials, insulted by letters and telephone calls and harassed by male callers.

Friends describe Miss Lientke as a quiet, refined girl with a brilliant mind who is thoughtful, words — "neither kooky nor showoffy."

Miss Lientke neither drinks nor smokes. She has one steady boyfriend, whom she dates only on weekends, usually going to the movies or playing tennis.

She is involved in art, music and literature and doubles as a part-time teacher in social studies.

Miss Lientke first rocked the state university last November with a letter to the university newspaper, the Minnesota Daily, in which she asserted a few students who had written that sexual relations between unmarried students are repugnant, immoral and a sign of weakness.

"I disagree," Miss Lientke wrote. "I believe that this philosophy, this supposedly moral view, is a denial of human nature and an out of date concept. I believe that much unnecessary frustration, much conflict and, ironically, many premarital pregnancies are a direct result of this philosophy."

On Feb. 4, Miss Lientke repeated her theories in a 35-minute talk before a group of students at a dorm week seminar.

"Sex has become an obsession with most people," she said. "It's a mystery. It has young people asking, 'What is this our parents won't talk to us about?'"

"What is it that has people whispering behind cupped hands? 'What is it that girls are so promiscuous?'"

"People assume sex is dirty and nakedness is filthy. I don't think so."

She said that if sex were brought in the open, there would be less interest in pornography.

"My theories wouldn't necessarily result in a variety of partners," she said. "Sex wouldn't be meaningless with just anybody."

March Boon For Family Food Shopper

By SALLY RYAN

AP News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—March is coming in like a lamb for the family food shopper.

A food price war is brewing in Portland, Ore.

In Oklahoma City, Okla., markets have cut egg and milk prices to keep up with the rest of the nation. That's right, gas stations.

In New York, a major supermarket chain cut milk prices.

And coffee wholesalers have cut their prices for the second time in six months.

In Portland, cut-up eggs are advertised at 27 cents a pound, bacon 48 and sirloin steak 86, butter 38 and coffee 58 to 62.

One chain quietly cut prices on the shelves last week and another, in the West Coast this week.

In the most dependent on the spotlight is liquor in pork. Supplies are much bigger than a year ago. Ham and bacon prices are lower on the West Coast this week.

Broilers are down 1 cent a pound in the Southwest.

Lamb is down 1 to 2 cents a pound on the West Coast, and a major supermarket chain in the New York area is having a lamb sale. Leg of lamb is down 70 cents to 65 cents a pound.

He Shoulda Stayed In Bed

PENSACOLA (AP)—The mayor of Pensacola was in court to help the son of a friend, but his visit backfired.

Michael Ray Staples, 19, son of a prominent supermarket chain owner, was in city court on charges of driving 90 miles an hour in a 35 miles-an-hour zone and was ordered to attend a six-week driver education course.

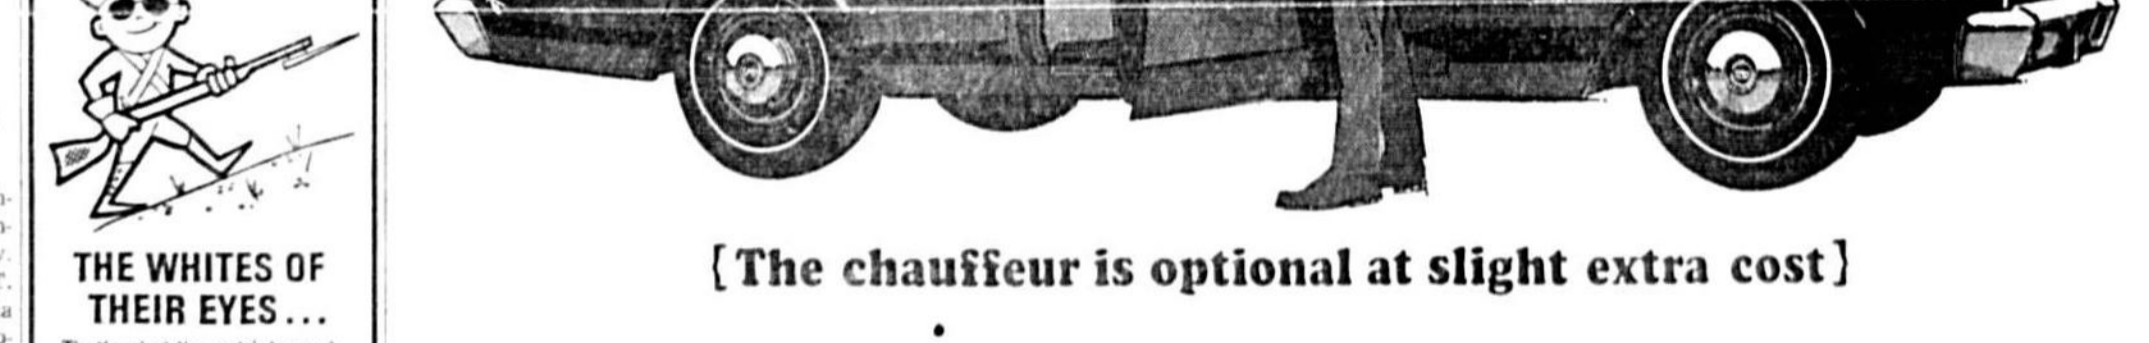

He left the courtroom and returned a few minutes later with the suffer penalty because, "I wanted to impress upon every body that I will not have the court intimidated."

Judge Joseph Crowell reversed the case, dropped the driver course sentence and imposed a $100 fine plus court costs. Then he gave the mayor a stern reprimand about "intimidating the court."

Said the judge: "He didn't go behind the railing where people are supposed to."

Crowell said he handed down the suffer penalty because, "I wanted to impress upon every body that I will not have the court intimidated."

Not All In Vain

Even though the job of electing a Florida Legislature must be done all over again, we doubt seriously the reapportionment muddle has negated completely the "good start" the voters authorized in November.

This was the constitutional amendment which allowed the legislators to assemble shortly after the election of officers and committee appointments.

Certainly the time needed by all incumbents to seek votes during the abbreviated primary and general election campaigns has slowed the impetus of the gains, but they haven't been canceled out.

In Seminole County, for instance, the delegation has completed hearings on local sentiments and proposed measures for the legislature when they get together in April. If all the incumbents are defeated, a highly unlikely development — this hearing held last Saturday was all held in vain.

Since the amendment to the Constitution is now on the books, it will serve such future legislatures as may be elected before a new state constitution can be drawn, submitted to the people for approval and activated.

The matter of the Constitution, which was the basis for the January call into special session, seems to have been largely set aside in all the turmoil about the court decision and the resulting elections.

When the "legal" legislature does finally come to order in April, we hope the lawmakers and Gov. Kirk will remember the need for complete revision of our basic operating law is just as imperative then as it was on the day the governor took office.

This is one more item the campaign-ers might find worth mentioning as they seek votes for March 14 primary and general election on March 28.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Lessons on preventing future Vietnam show up in the cease and desist of U.S.-aided civic action project in Latin America.

These are programs in which the local army, navy and air force help with school, road, health station and well building, set up youth camps for poor children and perform other projects for local communities. In most Latin countries the U. S. military has furnished advisers and the U.S. government has given modest amounts of money.

These inexpensive aid experiments — if successful — can become practical tools for blocking the growth of Communism. Inguerrilla wars can be stopped in the bud, there will be fewer heavy-sky Vietnams.

Take Colombia as one example. At last report only two full-time and seven part-time U.S. military men were assigned to civic action. They worked with 2,500 Colombian officers and men.

In one project the Colombian army assigned seven engineers companies to the building of two gravel all-weather highways that crossed areas of violence.

The result: Small trading centers have sprung up along the highways. Farmers can get their goods to market. The people's standard of living has risen. The new roads mean peace.

Analysis Of The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court will lose its clearest and best-organized writer when Justice Tom C. Clark retires sometime before the end of June.

Yes, he has had small recognition for the clarity of the opinion he wrote, perhaps because he was less colorful or controversial than some of the other eight justices.

The answer is that so far, Justice Clark's opinion takes precisely to stop cold, incipiently dangerous projects are excellent as pilot programs. Hopefully, we'll gradually learn what succeeds and what fails, then adopt the ideas when and where they are.

Letters

Editor, Herald:

Your and your old newspaper, I thought, had fun when you first ran a story about the Kiwanis Panacke supper. "All you can eat," you said. And for only one buck, Marlowe, it was because people are accustomed to believing what they read in your newspaper, but it seems that they believed that, too.

Then there were some more stories "battering up" the merchants who had given merchandise for the auction. Yes, it had some connection with the supper that was coming up, and the panackes that would be "swimming in butter" — or some such mouth-watering phrases — were being sold.

But I was sure that there would be many another Kiwanis who'd flip when the stories got real "syrupy" in telling about the fine money that was gotten from this "once a year community social event."

Well, I was right. Talk about flipping: There must have been at least two Kiwanis cooks that were flipping panackes like crazy when the Sanford citric began pouring into the Civic Center last Saturday.

And such "battering up" you never saw! Great big pitchers filled with hot melted butter that lavished tasty richness on already delicious panackes.

And those "syrupy" expressions were transformed into syrupy sweetness that oozed over and around the cakes and sausage that filled plates to the brim and that called for the thirst-quenching steaming coffee to supplement the satisfying food.

(Oh, yes, the fine fish who came to eat and to buy a worthy cause were delighted to bid for merchandise that went for bargain prices, even though it was sold by the experienced auctioneers and assistance workers you ever saw.

So, what you've done, Marlowe, is to show us all the Kiwanis — and a lot of money for our charities.

You and your old newspaper! Thank you a million times for a million, that's all.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Tom wonders why he was asked to submit two photos with his letter of application. That request often occurs, so study this case carefully. And avoid your various of the University of Chicago psychology student. Instead, be careful, like my graduate adviser, to win the job.

CASE 8-576: Tom W., aged 21, is the new college grad who wanted to write a letter of application for a psychology position.

"Dr. Crane," he added, "I notice that sometimes the jobs will ask an applicant to send in two photographs, both front and profile.

"Why is that? For I am not going into television or the movies so why should a firm want two pictures of an applicant?"

Physiognomy and Pherology: Such requests for two photos generally mean the future boss is a firm believer of physiognomy and pherology.

In physiognomy, each picture is to correlate your various character traits and talents with the thickness of your nose, the width between your eyes, your square vs. receding chin, etc.

Pherology is a Siamese twin of physiognomy, except the focus is on the bumps on your skull.

He thinks that specific talents cause thickening of the brain over corresponding areas, thus resulting in bumps of the skull.

Thus, over the spot on his forehead labeled "Musical," he has a bump, he thinks you are musically inclined.

On the contrary, if there were a depression over such a spot, he'd firmly insist you lack innate musical talent.

Actually, scientific tests have been made in psychology laboratories concerning physiognomy and pherology, but we have found no such correlations.

Yet the believers in these systems are often fanatical, so it often pays to go along with them instead of arguing.

For the most part, the disbelievers in these systems are a very good graduate student.

He and the holder of an M.A. degree from the University of Chicago had both applied for a high salaried executive position.

They had both survived the initial screening process and now were to be interviewed by the president of the firm who believed in pherology.

But the M.A. from the University of Chicago violently argued with his prospective future boss, saying that physiognomy and pherology were the bunk.

My student was tactful enough to go along with him, although I had also exposed the fallacies underlying such systems of character analysis.

So which one of these two men do you think landed that job?

If you're a student, of course, you had enough social understanding and tact to keep his mouth shut!

Physiognomy advocates usually stress the claim that a receding chin indicates cowardice while a jutting chin indicates boldhearted courage.

But Mussolini's prominent chin didn't prevent his cowardly attack on Hitler Ethiopia! Through tests show that courage is not due to your jawbone!

Moreover, musical talent, plus so-called genius, etc., are not located in "spots" in the brain covering (cortex) but involve your entire brain.

For example, in one of my articles, an actual thickening is not greater than a thin sheet of paper, and since the brain is covered with fluid, it is overlaid by the skull. Thus, it is overlaid by the skull. Thus, it is overlaid by the skull. Thus, it is overlaid by the skull.

In fact, neurologists and brain surgeons say that they cannot detect the brain of a genius from that of a feeble-minded imbecile by looking at the shapes, sizes or weight of the excised brains!

So send for my booklet on "Analysis and Advertising Strategy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of the newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

East Germany Today

WEIMAR, East Germany (AP) — Artillery thumps in the distance, taking part in a maneuver near the West German border. High above, an American airliner flies toward West Berlin.

These are symbolic, perhaps of East Germany today.

It is actively and heavily supported by the Soviet Union. It is overlaid by the West.

This is the part of Germany left in Communist hands after World War II.

The party membership, of both the hardcore and expedient kind, is said to total about 1.3 million in a population of about 17 million. There are the men and women who wear red flag pins in their lapels.

For the most part, the ideological Communists seem to move apart from the remainder of the population, living almost in a vacuum, but they are in contact with it primarily in the work place.

There parties and people share a mutual interest — the Communist line currently pegged to the people in trying to earn as much as they can to live as well as they can.

They clash in spirit in the churches, the schools, the homes. Told one thing by the party, young people often hear something else from teachers, clergy or parents.

"My young daughter," one man said, "brought home from school the idea that the May 8 holiday commemorated here the Soviet forces arrived here triumphant to the resounding cheers of the population. I had to get her straightened."

In one respect it is open war. Any East German who tries to cross into West Germany or West Berlin risks his life. Mines along the border may blow him up and guards may shoot him on orders of the Communist regime.

This is a relentless pursuit to prevent badly needed manpower from escaping. From the outside it gives East German life a grim look, grimmer perhaps than when seen inside East Germany.

As long as he stays away from the borders and does not protest loudly against the regime, the average citizen is left mostly alone in his private life.

In West Germany, Luther put up his 95 theses that led to the Protestant Reformation. High atop the Wartburg bluff 50 miles from Weimar he translated the New Testament into German, giving the Germans — previously plagued by many dialects — a common usable language.

Western radio and television may make life a little bit more entertaining, but the Soviet presence is real.

Soviet MIG and YAK fighters zoom overhead. Red army tank columns roll along autobahns built originally to ease German troop movement to the East.

Sigurs in Russian and German disclose that certain crossing points are for tanks.

Still, the Russians, estimated to number as many as 400,000, keep pretty much to themselves off duty. "Obviously, it is an order from their commanders," one knowledgeable East German says.

There is little American presence in most of East Germany at any time. "I saw five Americans last year," a Dresden theater-goer who lives near a hotel said. "They were looking at the Leppig fair."

The sight of a late American car brought immediate reaction everywhere along a 1,500-mile trip this reporter made. Passers cried the vehicle for a critical look. Some took photographs.

Officially, the East German regime pursues a hard anti-American line currently pegged to the Vietnam war. In the quiet industrial town of Finsterwalde a large sign shows a gun-wielding GI treating a Vietnamese mother and child.

Yet the reception given an American by the average East German is very friendly.

Through the mass exodus of Germans from Eastern territories after the war, many an East German has a distant contact with the United States.

A gas station attendant in Weimars asked, "Do you know my brother Max? He lives in New Haven."

Said a Dresden delivery man, "My son lives in Santa Monica (Calif.). He telephoned last week and we talked for 15 minutes. He told us he had gone to Las Vegas. He lost money."

The man spoke English. "I myself was a prisoner of war for two years in Arizona and I can talk German better than when seen inside East Germany."

Tradition and culture are active outlets for pent-up interest.

Weimar is where the great German poets Goethe and Schiller lived and worked; and they lie in caskets side by side.

In Weimars, Luther put up his 95 theses that led to the Protestant Reformation. High atop the Wartburg bluff 50 miles from Weimar he translated the New Testament into German, giving the Germans — previously plagued by many dialects — a common usable language.

Dresden, home of noted art collections, offers a good con-

Q—What is the UN status of the Republic of Indonesia?

A—In September, 1966, Indonesia returned to the United Nations. On March 1, 1965, it had become the first nation to quit the world organization.

Q—What is the established religion of Pakistan?

A—About 86 per cent of the population are Moslems with about 7 per cent Hindu. The constitution recognizes Islam as embodied in the Koran.

Q—1966 is the birth of the man who fully answered questions by the House Committee on Un-American Activities about himself? But refused to answer about Communists he might have known.

The court ruled just talking about it wasn't outlawed.

Yet in 1965 Clark wrote the majority opinion banning the compulsory reading of prayers in public schools.

But in 1964 he was one of the three justices against the majority opinion requiring the recitation of a state motto to state citizens of a state got more equal representation in the courts.

He wrote the majority opinion in 1965 saying the Civil Rights Act of 1964 wiped out pending state prosecution of sit-in demonstrators. And that same year he wrote the 5-4 decision which, in effect, barred desegregation suits.

In 1966 he dissented from the decision making it far tougher than ever for police in questioning suspects but he was with the majority in upholding important parts of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

In 1966 he was part of the majority which banned poll taxes as a prerequisite in state voting.

"Arabian Nights" Origin

The stories known as the "Arabian Nights" were first written in Arabic, but it is thought that the Arabians got them from the Persians who in turn took some of them from India. They were brought to Europe in the 18th century, when they were translated by a Frenchman named Galland.

Credit Eased By Federal Reserve

NEW YORK (AP) — In easing the amount of credit available to the economy, beginning last week, the Federal Reserve Board showed clearly that it has achieved a more cordial relationship with the President.

The unconventional evidence of this develops in the same month that the administration must decide whether or not to reappoint William McChesney Martin to another term as chairman of the board.

Martin and his board have tightened this credit easing by lowering the amount of money banks must keep idle as a reserve against possible claims on deposits.

The fact that the easing of credit, and the agreement which this is accomplished, matches the administration's policy may be a mere coincidence. The views should, in fact, coincide more often than disagree.

More likely, however, there has been an agreement between the administration and behind the scenes of course, that the fierce battle last year between Johnson and the board helped reduce at least of all the American economy.

Now there seems to be an understanding about the requirements and demands of each other's role.

This meeting of the minds comes little more than a year after Johnson blistered the board publicly because it needed tighter money was needed to slow the economy.

The board stood its ground stubbornly against a propaganda barrage from the very seat of federal power. It went ahead and put a grille on an economy it felt was swollen out of shape. It tightened the supply of money in order to slow spending.

This would not have had the same effect. It would, for instance, have been a slower method of getting money into the small or "country" bank areas. But still, it would have accomplished the job.

The board's action, then, is being interpreted by some as a token gesture towards easy money.

The nature of the move will put more money exactly where the administration has been, through its own efforts, trying to place the money; that is, in the hands of institutions which are likely to commit the funds to home mortgages.

One effect, among many, certainly will be to bring downward

Barracks 2898 Is Commended On Membership

By JULIA BARTOS
World War I Veterans Barracks 2898 of Altamonte Springs and the Auxiliary Unit held their meetings Thursday with Commander Roger Miller presiding. Two new members were obligated, Wesley E. Rowcraft and Charles O. Pierce. Senior Vice Commander Leroy Stover reported a total of 86 members to date.

Chaplain Ralph Peter noted that Bill Milligan, who was found at the Winter Park Hospital, is home and will appreciate visits from his many buddies. Confined at the Orange Memorial Hospital is Buddy Fitzpatrick who will remain there for some time. Horace Foskett is home recuperating. Service Officer Joe Keller reported on the Avenue of Flags for Highland Memorial Garden. All flags are subscribed for and new are available.

The barracks was invited to participate on Charity Night Races at the Sanford Orlando Kennel Club, March 23. All buddies are urged to attend, wear their cap and report at the window. It is hoped that the barracks will surpass last year's attendance which was very good.

Frank Lash, past 7th district commander and now national aide de camp, praised the barracks for its achievement in getting new members and the spirit in the way things are done.

Honored guests were Harold Shuler, Leslie Webster, and Buddy Frank Vandevosche. Senior vice commander of the 7th district barracks commended Mrs. Eva Keller for making 80 storage bags for the flag sets for the Highland Memorial Gardens.

The seventh district meeting held recently at Winter Garden was well represented by Barracks 2898. Attending were Roger Miller, Frank Lash, Joe Keller, Miller Evans, and Ralph Strehlow. Remarks and comments were made by Past National Commander Erickson. Regional commander Schaeffer and Department Commander Gamble.

The Auxiliary Unit was presented a certificate of honor by the department membership chairman for achieving 100 percent membership by Jan. 1.

Mrs. Helen Rowcraft and Mrs. Olive Pierce were obligated. On Feb. 10, Mrs. Lenore Borman was obligated at her home, a service rendered when a participant is unable to attend meetings.

After the meeting, members enjoyed games under the chairmanship of Florentine Stover, who also selected the prizes.

Optimists Elect New Officers

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
New officers elected by the South Seminole Optimist Club include C. L. Cooper, president; Kenneth Barfield, vice president; Roger Stieger, secretary; and Kenneth Perkins, treasurer. Board members elected are Darrell Griffin, Al Davis, Mike Brown, and John Brewer.

Don Richmond, safety director for Florida Power Corporation, was guest speaker at Monday night's meeting at Christ Episcopal Church Parish Hall in Longwood. He spoke and showed slides on the cause and prevention of injuries on the job.

Optimist wives served a dinner of pancakes and sausage. New project of the club is the organization of a Junior Deputy Sheriff's group in South Seminole. George Barge, safety officer with the Orange County sheriff's department, has been invited to the next meeting to explain how he organized a junior deputy's group in Orange.

The club will seek the cooperation of Sheriff Luther Hobbs in organizing and applying for a charter.

Local law enforcement agencies would be asked to work with the junior deputies in combating juvenile delinquency.

Deltona Lions 'Ladies Night' Is Monday

By MILDRED HANEY
Thirty-three members and guests attended the February meeting of the Deltona Lions Club at the Deltona Inn. Plans were discussed concerning the sponsoring of the athletic field where games are held for the boys and girls in various teams. Currently, baseball teams are now being organized for the Little League, the Babe Ruth League, and a girls soft ball team.

A color sound movie was shown of California vacation spots, sponsored by the United Airlines.

The regular dinner-meeting will be held Monday at 6:30 p.m. designated as "Ladies Night." Lion Barney A. Roth, Dist. 35-3 drive director of the Florida Lions Foundation for the Blind, will speak about the fight to save sight and the fine work all Florida Lions are doing for this cause. Carl Robert S. Baseball Population 'Booming'

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) - The baseball playing population is growing so fast that major league expansion may be only a few years away, says Commissioner William D. Eckert.

More boys are playing ball than ever before, the commissioner told newsmen Wednesday.

But new clubs will be added only on a sound basis, Eckert said. He spoke after a spring meeting of the Baseball Executive Council.

When there are enough players, along with sufficient public demand and enough park facilities, there will be an expansion, Eckert said.

The preliminary plans call for two additional clubs in each league. A dozen cities want in the majors, he said. He did not name them.

Discussing expansion possibilities, the council decided to work increasingly with universities, high schools and amateur organizations to develop more players.

Another flow of players, it was said, comes from Latin America. The commissioner said this influx is increasing rapidly.

The council established two Cy Young Awards. The baseball writers organization will select the best pitcher in each league rather than one for the two as heretofore.

The council asked the baseball scheduling committee to study a proposal to change the World Series schedule so series would start on Saturdays rather than on Wednesdays.

Seminoles, Lyman Clash On Cinders

Mantle At First - Yanks (Who Knows?)

The Great Experiment is off to an early start at the New York Yankees' spring training camp... and Mickey Mantle already is one up on Dr. Strangelove.

Mantle, determined to make the grade as a first baseman after 15 seasons in the Yankee outfield, jumped the gun Wednesday at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and scooped up about 30 ground balls with the big mitt.

He came through with a perfect fielding average, then scored with a quick pop when asked what type of first baseman's glove he was using.

"It's a Dick Stuart model," replied the 35-year-old slugger without cracking a smile. The reference was to the journeyman first baseman, now with Los Angeles, whose defensive shortcomings earned him the nickname Dr. Strangelove.

Mantle, who wasn't expected to begin working out at first base for several days, persuaded coach Frank Crossetti to tap grounders his way. "I've got to learn something," Mantle said.

Afterward, he admitted being "a little uncomfortable out there, at first. I can't feel that everything in the stadium was waiting for me to miss one."

"I want to make it. If I can do it, there'll be all strong arms in the outfield and it could give me a year or two more as a player than I'd have had as an outfielder. I've got eight days and the 30 exhibition games to find out if I can do it."

The Yankees, starting from scratch after last year's cellar finish in the American League, hope Mantle, whose succession of injuries have curtailed his maneuverability and weakened his throwing arm, can master the new position and free slick-fielding Joe Pepitone for center field.

The distance runners will be Mike Gibson, John Neiman, Bobby Halback and Kent King. In the 800 relay: Howard Hunt, Bruce McKibbin, Peoples and Frisby. The Sprint Medley relay: Hunt, Leslie Leggro, Peoples, Frisby, The Mile relay: Hunt, Ware Gardner, McKibbin and Vodopivec. In the shot, Stan Hemphill, Jay Stokes and Barney Hendrick will represent Sanford. This probably is one of the team's better events this year. Stokes, Benny Bishop, Mason Wharton and Roy Dunn make up the discus quartet for Seminole.

Sammy Parrish and Bob Repp do the pole vaulting. Repp reached his high mark of 10' 1" last week and should improve.

The meet could determine the winner. Darrell Vodopivec will go at the high hurdles for the first time this year. Bill Frisby, George Brister, Bruce McKibbin and Bill Bracken will round out the 100-yard dash field. These four boys swept the competition last week and took all four places against Bishop Moore and Orviso.

With three new faces added to the squad from basketball, Bill Wheaton, John Weston and Roy Dunn, and the return of injured star, the Seminoles should be at full strength.

Evans boasts of the state's best distance runner in Jim Mason, a sophomore mile and two-mile sensation. They also have a number of good sprinters. Oak Ridge will bring its elite team into the cinder-meet and Lyman could furnish the answer to "Who will win?" They are the defending group champions and their showing in the meet could determine the winner.

It's 'Play Ball' For Seminole High Baseballers Today

"O.K. gang, just go up there and meet the ball. Don't try to knock it out of the park. You get on first and we'll bring you around the sacks."

Samuel familiar to you? It's time to play ball for the Seminole High School baseball team as they open the 1967 season by hosting the Leesburg Yellow Jackets here in Sanford today at 3:30 at the high school diamond.

Coach Owen McCarron's diamond hopefuls will travel to Leesburg tomorrow night with game time set for 7:30.

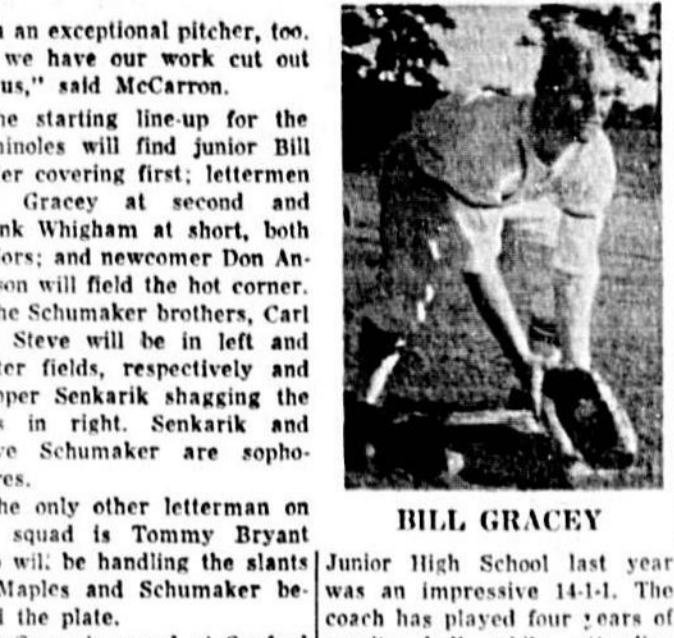

McCarron, who assumes the titular role after four successful years as the junior high school baseball coach, is carrying 18 players on the roster.

"We're hoping that we're able to get off to a good start," added McCarron. "All of these boys and I know that the ability and hard work will pay off previously."

The only other letterman on the squad is Tommy Bryant and he will be the starter in center field, respectively and Skipper Senkarik shagging the files in right. Senkarik and Steve Schumaker are sophomores.

The appeal will be presented by University President Dr. David D. Henry, Illinois' faculty representative and acting athletic director, Leslie Bryan, and James Costello.

The faculty representatives may act quickly or, more probably, make deliberate, painstaking study that could prolong their decision until Friday or Saturday.

The eligibility of the athletes also will be embodied in the appeal.

Woes Mark Recreation Program

The summer recreation program for the "kids" is running into a number of problems.

It is planned that there will be two Little League teams with six teams in each and one Ball Club League which will also field six teams.

According to the Sanford Recreation Department, one of the biggest problems confronting them is the lack of manpower to coach these teams. Additionally, they are in need of sponsors, practice areas in equipment teams, additional equipment and more money will be required to cover the umpire costs.

The Recreation Department has solved all of the problems except the manpower to coach these teams. It grows larger with each passing day due to the try-outs scheduled for March 15 for the Babe Ruth League and on March 22 for the Little League.

Anyone interested in coaching one of these teams is urged to contact the Recreation Department in the Civic Center at 322-3161, ext. 68.

Torrid Battle On In Classic Kegler Loop

A close battle is developing among three bowlers in the Monday evening Singles Classic as the current leader Harry Pentecost is being crowded by Bobby Borsdorf and the on-rushing Rich (Slingshot) Murphy.

In this league, which is figured at one point for every 20 pins knocked down, plus an additional point for each game won, Pentecost leads the league with 605 followed by Borsdorf and Murphy with 607.

Incidentally, Pentecost is carrying the highest league average with a 189 to 186 for Borsdorf and Murphy. Although he was not a member of the league since his beginning, Jack Frost has maintained a .88 average through 61 games.

The highest four game series rolled in league play belongs to Murphy with an 808 followed by Pentecost at 855.

The high individual games bowled this week were Pete Peterson 290 and Ed Callan 211. John Spohal 203 and 212. John Brazier 202, Harry Pentecost 212, Chuck Bowman 214, Jack Kanner 213, Murphy 204 and Borsdorf 205 and 212.

John Spohal has won six straight 10-10s. On his field he will be froth. Nelson, Lou Achilles, Berkey, Frank, Bob Thrast, Lighthouse, Ippie and Louie Trodson are beginning.

Tonight a card also featured a burlesque race with the Jompers going to the post in the fifth and final race. The Jompers won by a wide margin.

Army Officer Sentenced For Espionage

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — Retired Army Lt. Col. William Henry Whalen was sentenced today to serve 15 years in prison on charges that he passed military secrets on to Soviet agents.

The sentence imposed by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Oren B. Lewis was the maximum under the law. The judge ordered that sentences of 10 years and five years on separate counts should be served consecutively, making the 15-year total.

Whalen pleaded guilty in December to counts of acting to promote the interests of a foreign government and removing classified information from its place of safeguarding. Whalen, now 51, had been an intelligence officer in the office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff at the Pentagon. He resides in nearby Fairfax County.

He showed no emotion when sentence was imposed. In imposing the sentence Judge Lewis said "you got a very light punishment as far as this court is concerned."

A charge of espionage, for which Whalen could have received the death penalty, was dropped by the government after he pleaded guilty to two lesser counts.

Government attorneys said today they could have proved that Whalen conspired with Col. Sergei A. Edemski, a former assistant Soviet military attaché, and Mikhail A. Shumakov, a former first secretary of the Soviet Embassy, to turn over information on atomic energy and U.S. missile systems.

Computer Errs In Amount Of $80 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tax collector's computer can make an $80-million mistake — but apparently it won't make the same one twice.

The Internal Revenue Service admitted today its highly touted computer operation figured an $80 million refund last year for a large corporation simply because the computer reversed its tax identification numbers.

It took humans to right the wrong in an audit. But the computer made up for it. This year, it caught the same mistake by the same corporation before it punched out a refund order.

This year, for the first time, all tax returns are being checked fully by the computer, which already has processed 2.2 million individual returns and credited refunds worth $470 million.

More than one in nine taxpayers who filed for refunds through last Saturday made mistakes in completing their forms, IRS said.

Errors were discovered both by computer and humans on more than 200,000 of the returns. Among them were 65,700 errors in arithmetic and 25,000 returns which listed the wrong Social Security number or none at all, IRS added.

It's the Social Security number — or tax identification number — in the case of partnerships and corporations — which is important in the computer operation. Here's what happened when the computer goofed as related by an IRS source: A large corporation — IRS declined to name it — filed one return last year for its domestic operations and another for its overseas subsidiary. It pays no taxes on the subsidiary operations but must file a return. Despite all the tax and accounting experts employed by the firm, its tax returns were filed with the identification numbers reversed.

New Satellites To Change History

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A new family of satellites is on the drawing boards and they could change the course of history.

They could help prevent natural disasters. They could eliminate war born of starvation by helping provide food for the two-thirds of the world's people now inadequately fed. They could help lift underdeveloped nations from poverty by locating unknown reserves of oil or valuable minerals.

They could help city planners solve problems like traffic and housing congestion, deficiencies in water supplies and inadequate recreation space. They might help overcome the pollution of air, water and land.

The first of the new spacecraft, called Earth Resources Observation Satellites — EROS, is planned to fly in 1969 under a $20-million program announced by the Interior Department.

Initially, EROS satellites are expected to carry unclassified scientific sensing devices designed primarily to help engineers learn how future spacecraft of this type should be built.

But before the full potential of EROS can be harnessed, major problems must be hurdled — problems more political in nature than technical.

Scientists working on the project agree that to do its job properly — cover the earth's surface. And then must carry cameras and electronic devices so sensitive that a scientist can tell a wheat crop from an oat crop, healthy trees from unhealthy trees, a paper mill from a steel mill, a middle-class apartment building from a slum.

This means the cameras would be making observations over many sovereign territories. The issue of invasion of privacy could be raised by people living there.

To further complicate the issue, sensors which would do the best job are now classified. They were developed and perfected for purposes of military reconnaissance.

Scientists believe this psychological disadvantage can be overcome if the United States would publicly declare that all data from the satellites would be made available to the responsible scientists throughout the world.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall named Dr. William T. Pecora, director of the Geological Survey, to head the EROS program.

"We visualize EROS as an evolutionary program," Pecora said, "beginning with television cameras flown in an orbit which will cover the entire surface of the earth repeatedly."

"What we have learned from photographs taken recently from orbiting spacecraft indicates that the lands can be examined, evaluated, and mapped, and the type and vigor and in the area of training and measurement of the earth's surface."

"Even population counts and measurements of daily fluctuations in the traffic flow of both people and vehicles seem to be within the capability of remote-sensing techniques," Pecora said.

Potential benefits from a satellite especially built to survey earth's resources are "beyond our imagination," said William A. Fischer, the Geological Survey's research coordinator for earth orbiting programs.

Fischer said the Geological Survey is looking at the idea of "cooperative funding" with other government agencies such as the Departments of Commerce and Agriculture.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which would probably be responsible for launching EROS satellites, is also interested. It sees the earth as a "training ground" to test tools and techniques which can be used to study the moon and other planets. At least four unsolicited proposals have been made by industry wanting to build the satellite.

In operation, earth-orbiting spacecraft would use infrared and radar sensors to detect surface temperatures and temperature changes, wind patterns, rainy areas of the globe, the amount of moisture in the soil and snow, ice and cloud cover.

Radar sensors aboard satellites bounce beams of the earth, "illuminating" the terrain, then relay the data to earth stations. Each object on earth reflects, absorbs and re-emits this energy in a manner characteristic of the object's physical and molecular structure. Objects therefore have their own spectral "signature" which, when picked up by sensors, provides a means of identification.

Cameras use the same principle. They record electromagnetic energy radiated from sun and bounced off the object on earth. Tone contrasts in photographs can tell an expert the difference between a wheat and an oat crop, for example, or the healthy and unhealthy trees.

For population studies, "it seems to be technically feasible to observe individual fields, buildings, roads and other cultural features from orbital altitudes," according to a 1965 report of the National Academy of Sciences.

The list of potential benefits staggers the imagination. Scientists say it should be possible to improve the yields of cereal crops by determining the state of soil moisture and incidence of plant disease at critical times in the growing season.

Spacecraft sensors could permit continuous monitoring of changes in land and ice formations, enabling scientists to control beach and river erosion and harbor siltation.

Training Group Defends Its Title

The bell has sounded to signal the start of round one of the contest of Naval Air Maintenance Training Detachment 1002's effort to prove to the Administrative/Material inspection team from Naval Air Maintenance Training Group headquarters in Memphis, Tenn., its right to retain the title as the "Number One" detachment in the command.

In 1965, while competing against the other six detachments in the command, 1002 was selected as the top Attack Systems Detachment and No. 8 overall. In 1966 they moved up to "No. 1" overall.

The selection is based on the score attained on the Administrative/Material inspection. During this year's post-inspection critique, an overall adjective grade of "Excellent" was awarded to the detachment, and in the area of Training (the prime objective of the detachment) they received an "Outstanding."

Tuberculin Test Urged For Kids

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Twenty-five million people in the United States are infected with tuberculosis, although their cases aren't active, a U.S. Public Health Service physician estimates.

Dr. Sidney Dressler said of the 30,000 or so new active TB cases discovered in this nation yearly a majority involve persons who would have had positive responses if they were given tuberculin tests.

Dr. Dressler, in Los Angeles from Washington, D.C., to attend a symposium on the control of tuberculosis, told a news conference that tuberculin tests must be given to whole generations of school children.

Although cases of tuberculosis are increasing statistically, the reason is a better reporting and detection system rather than any actual increase in TB, said Dr. A. A. Grabau of the Erie County Health Department, Buffalo, N.Y.

TV Appearance Proves Costly

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Charles Hamilton Rhee's first television appearance cost him 30 days in municipal jail.

Rhee, 19, Cincinnati, was convicted Wednesday of stealing a $2 shirt from a store equipped with closed-circuit television.

"I was watching a monitor at the rear of the store and saw him steal the shirt," Patricia Pharis, 19, an employee, testified at the trial.

"I didn't know I was on camera," Rhee said.

Some Jokes Are Funny ... Some Jokes Are Unfunny

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jokes that draw chuckles from men and women look very different when viewed from the second sex's point of view.

Dr. Robert Priest describes this as a typical anti-female joke. "When Jack dances, he's all feet and when he stops he's all hands," he says.

Priest expected the first joke to draw chuckles from men and women. Surprisingly, reaction wasn't along sex lines at all. The women didn't like the joke about Jack any better than the men did, and the men reacted negatively to the one about a woman's age.

Statistically, this trend held throughout Priest's experiments, he told an interviewer Wednesday.

Priest said he hopes his studies will lead to an increased understanding of the conflicts that arise in daily living and possibly help with psychological diagnosis of conflict situations.

"Apparently," he said, "the forces which join the opposing groups are stronger than those which divide them."

"It also appears that when a person is confronted by a member of the opposite sex, he tends to inhibit hostility."

'All I know is one evening, in our living room, my wife and I decided it was a good idea to join the Peace Corps. So we did.'

What the David Kadars are all puzzled and puzzled a lot of people. Maybe because the Kadars weren't together for twenty years before they got together. Maybe because they gave up two years' worth of a lot of salary, two years' worth of a big job as General Counsel for the Long Island Light Company, two years' worth of the way they spent their whole lives building ... just to join the Peace Corps.

But when a lot of people don't realize it, the Peace Corps isn't just a place for soft-hearted college kids with string-primed heads and good size hearts. The Peace Corps is a place for people who want to do something and can do something. It's a place for people who want to see things and do things that are different and close up. People who want to give other people a chance to get to know and understand their country and themselves as they really are. People who care about the world and other people may be even as much as they care about themselves.

And, maybe more than anything, the Peace Corps is a place for people who, for some reason, are willing to give up whatever they have to give up to do something they feel they have to do. And the David Kadars are two of those people.

Pancake Event Cleared $2,700 For Kiwanis

Kiwanis annual pancake supper and public auction has provided $2,746.30 for this Sanford club's use in providing assistance for educational and allied programs which it supports from this single money-raising event. This is $16.30 beyond the set goal of $2,700.

Harold Kastner, chairman of the event reported to the weekly luncheon of the club in the civic center yesterday.

Kastner paid tribute to the splendid support which the club received from the people and merchants of Sanford. For example, he pointed out that the auction represented more participation in the number of articles from fewer donors and yet did put $989.80 into the total.

Gene Estridge, in charge of ticket sales, reported that $1,756 had come from that source. And Floyd Palmer, representing the Senior Citizens of the club (25), told of the $550 worth of tickets they had sold — of 25 tickets per man.

Speaking at this meeting was Albert Spain, representing the builders association, who delivered a fact-filled talk on the new nature of modern wood. He especially emphasized the fire-resistant nature of laminated wood beams. The meeting looked at a motion picture film showing the results of extreme heat on steel beams and laminated wood beams. And, as again noted the result showed the value of these new woods as fire-resistant and the warping effects of high temperatures on the steel. His information was directed to the architects, builders, and construction men in the audience. Boyd Coleman was the program chairman.

Spring Gardening Tips For Milady Exclusively

When winter landscapes start turning green, out comes the garden equipment and your focus of activity shifts outside.

More work is done in the garden during Spring than in any other season. And while the man of the house is tickled for heavy duties such as lawn preparation, chances are you're the one in charge of bringing those lovely blossoms into bloom.

Even though days are mild, the sun's rays can burn and irritate skin and eyes. Following are a few suggestions to make your Spring gardening a more pleasant chore:

- 1.—Wear a pair of properly fitted sunglasses when you're gardening on sunny days. Dark glasses protect your eyes against the irritation of bright sunlight, and also against development of unwanted facial lines around the eyes.
- 2.—Tender skin burns easily, especially the first few times out. Use a suntan lotion on warm Spring days, and limit your exposure to 15 minutes or so for the first day or two.
- 3.—Take an "eye break" periodically by lifting your eyes and focusing them on distant objects for a few seconds. A few drops of eye lotion will provide soothing relief for eyes irritated by overexposure to wind or weather. Eye drops also furnish a safe way to flush foreign particles out of the eye.

DON'T TRY FOR PERFECTION

Perfection is a bore so don't try for it. What you want is interest, appeal and pizzazz. First, decide how you want to look and then work to look that way. If you're unhappy about your hair or make-up, learn what's wrong and correct it. Shop for the dress you're going to wear in that special part with a definite idea of what you want. Worry about details like the fact that your accessories are right for the cut and color of your dress. Also, make certain that your undergarments are right for the dress so that you keep a smooth line.

Miss Jones, S.L. Cook, Jr.
Married In Home Ceremony

Miss Michele E. Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis B. Jones, of Sanford, and Sidney L. Cook Sr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney L. Cook Sr., were united in Holy Matrimony, Feb. 8 at 4:30 p.m. in Houston, Texas. Officiating clergyman at the impressive ceremony was Philip B. Jones, brother of the bride and a Presbyterian minister, who performed the ceremony at his home.

MR. AND MRS. SIDNEY L. COOK, JR.

The couple exchanged vows before the fireplace and mantel embanked with a profusion of pink and white carnations. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Gerald W. Jones, Atlanta, was attired in an elegant three-piece ensemble of wool and silk blend and carried a white Bible, centered with an orchid presented to her by a close friend, Dr. T. L. Holland.

Mrs. Gerald Cook, the bride as matron of honor and Tommy Wilks served the groom as best man.

A reception in the home followed the ceremony with Mrs. Ray Barth in charge, assisted by Mrs. Harry Stinson. The bride's table, overlaid with a white Italian cut cloth, was centered with a white floral arrangement, flanked by silver candelsticks burning tall white tapers. A tiered wedding cake and silver appointments completed the table decor.

The newlyweds are residing at 204 Payne, Pineville, La., where the bridegroom is a senior at Louisiana College.

Among the other out-of-town wedding guests were the bride's mother, Mrs. Willis B. Jones, Sanford, and Miss Glynna Bowman, Pineville.

Reading Council Invites Parents To Next Meeting

Mrs. Mary E. Dunn, one of the reading co-ordinators for Seminole County, was the principal speaker at the Seminole Reading Council meeting held at the county school.

Introduced by Mrs. Dorothy Baker, joint co-ordinator of reading for the county, Mrs. Dunn talked about the language experience approach to the teaching of reading.

"Nothing does more for a child's ego than a feeling of importance. A teacher's interest in a story, comment or experience he brings to school can stimulate his creativity, make reading something personal, and the teaching possibilities are endless," said Mrs. Dunn.

"The child likes to talk or read about something close to him—a personal experience or happening vivid in his mind," continued Mrs. Dunn. "The child is apt to take more interest in the things that have impressed him. The language experience approach capitalizes on this in introducing the child to the reading process. Stories written in the child's own words, make the initial reading experience an exciting and vital one."

Mrs. Catherine Nash, president of the Council, who presided over the meeting, discussed briefly the importance of inter-

Prints Explode Into Fashion

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — This is the year of the print. Printed fabrics are cropping up in every fashion category from gowns to sportswear.

One of the biggest factors contributing to the fashion awareness of prints is a new technology that makes it possible to put wild patterns and colors sharply and clearly even on easy-care fabrics.

A noted authority in the business of color (Interchem) has developed a special color printing system called "HiFast." This method of applying color to fabrics results in sharp and brilliant patterns, a most important element in all the current print trends.

Africa is an important source of inspiration for prints today. From the kanga cloths used by natives in Nigeria come some beautifully abstracted prints, all done in jungle shades of green, gold and orange. The animal kingdom, too, is a source of inspiration for fabric designers. Geometric prints provide pure drama, particularly when seen in one of the newest dress which end in harem pajamas.

There's a special gadget that will remove the core centers from grapefruit halves, but kitchen scissors will also do a good job. The centers may be filled with greening and the grapefruit served as a first course or dessert.

Milk has been food and drink long before history was even recorded. Civilization itself is the same possible only after the cow and other milk-giving animals were tamed and primitive agriculture began some 11,000 years ago. From that day to this, milk and its products have played a vital part in the history of the human family and its big progress around the world.

From the nutritional standpoint, milk is a storehouse of riches. No other family of food is so varied as that of milk. So each day's diet should include products that it is impossible to think of a single meal without one or more dairy products. Let's see what we have in recipes using a dairy product in some way.

How about an appetizer for Mom's social party? Try this TOMATO-LIME APPETIZER:

- 1/2 cup buttermilk
- 1/2 cup tomato juice
- 1 thin lime slice
- 2 ice cubes
- 1 mint leaf

Blend buttermilk, tomato juice and lime juice. Pour over 2 ice cubes in a tall frosted glass. Garnish with fresh lime slice and mint. This is just 1 serving.

Now a dip:

BLUE CHEESE DIP

- 6 tbsps. coarsely crumbled blue cheese
- 2 tbsps. onion salt
- 2 cups sour cream
- Gently fold blue cheese and onion salt into sour cream. Chill. Makes 2 cups.

CAULIFLOWER SOUP

- 1 1/2 cups skinned condensed cream of celery soup
- 1 1/2 cups skinned milk
- 1/2 cup cooked cauliflower
- 2 tbsps. finely grated raw carrot

Combine condensed soup and cup milk in saucepan; cook over moderate heat. Press cauliflower through sieve of heat cauldron and rest of milk in blender; add to soup mixture; heat just to boiling. Stir in 1/2 cup grated carrot per serving. Serves 4.

SOFT CREAM POTATO SOUP

- 2 cups dried raw potatoes
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup water and 2 cups chicken broth
- 2 cups scalded milk
- 2 tbsps. butter
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 tsp. flour
- salt and pepper

Cook potatoes, celery and onion in the water and broth. Drain in covered pan until very tender. Do not drain. Press through sieve. Add milk and butter. Mix sour cream with flour until smooth. Add to soup and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Season with salt and pepper. Serves 6.

FROSTY ORANGE SOUP

- 2 1/2 tbsps. cornstarch
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 4 cups orange juice
- 2 or 6 thin slices lime
- sour cream

Combine cornstarch and sugar in saucepan. Stir in 1/2 cup of the orange juice and mix until smooth. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and clears. Remove from heat and cool slightly. Gradually add and beat in remaining orange juice. Chill. Serve icy cold. Garnish with slice of lime topped with soured sour cream and dash of cinnamon. Serves 16.

Now for a main dish:

BUTTERMILK STEAK PUFFS

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1/2 cup Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- few grams pepper
- 1 tsp. grated onion

Combine all ingredients; beat well until light and fluffy. Break by heating teaspoons into deep hot fat and cook for 2 to 2 1/2 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes 24 small balls or 12 servings.

STUFFED VEAL CHOPS

- 1 tbsps. finely chopped onion

BUDGET HELPER

Combine 1 pound ground beef, 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs, 1/2 cup milk, 3 teaspoons salt and 1/2 teaspoon pepper. Line ungreased muffin cups with 1/2-inch thick layer of mixture. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Serve, centers filled with creamed potatoes.

18 Future Teachers Intern At Junior Hi

Eighteen members of Seminola High School Future Teachers of America Club assumed the positions of regular classroom teachers at Sanford Junior High School, which is directed by Miss Grace Stimpinger and N. E. Leach. Those who taught at the Junior High School were Junior to parents, assisting with teachers' monthly reports, grading papers, and observing regular teachers' methods. Faculty members made many favorable comments on the work of their student-teachers. One stated, "I have observed her almost all of the time and feel that she has done well. One with no experience." Another remarked that she backed the program 100 per cent. The young man who took her class was dignified, serious, well prepared, and did an excellent job. The total experience enabled students to realize what a "big job" teaching is and gives them an opportunity to sample it as a possible vocation.

Florida Flyer Lifted To Safety

SALGON (AP) — Air Force Capt. James Walbridge dangled helplessly in a North Vietnamese tree for an hour and a half. The flyer from Bradenton, Fla., was rescued from 100 miles behind the enemy lines in an area as rugged as can be found in Vietnam.

It is the region where the supply roads from North Vietnam cross into the jungles of Laos which shelter the Ho Chi Minh trail. The U.S. military command is reluctant to discuss the "silent war" in this border zone although it is widely reported to be the scene of a good bit of cloak and dagger activity.

Walbridge was straddled there when his F100 Thunderbolt jet was blasted by Communist ground gunners just north of the Ma Tia Pass—the vital transportation link to a region which most feel supplies to the South move.

He propped his section seat and flung down in an area that the Air Force did not pinpoint but which was evidently right on the North Vietnamese-Lao border.

Walbridge's chute slipped into a jungled area and caught on a tree, leaving him suspended helplessly in his parachute harness far above the ground.

Evidently alerted by his rescue call, four propeller-driven Skyraiders swept in low to provide cover during the wait for a rescue helicopter.

The rescuing "Jolly Green Giant" with its rescue cable which can be lowered into the trees, reached the avian 90 minutes later.

"It was a storybook rescue and a beautiful job," Walbridge said when he got back.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: To guide other college boys who are weekend guests, please tell them not to make the same mistakes our pal did last weekend. He opened the refrigerator door and helped himself to anything he wanted. Without willing to be told where to sit, he scrambled into my husband's place at the table.

He helped himself (generously) to my husband's bourbon, and when, at midnight, I offered him coffee and sandwiches to indicate that he was to be treated as a guest, he mixed himself several more drinks. He well-whistled when he met me and whacked me on the rear when he left.

MIDDLE-AGED MOM IN AUGUSTA DEAR MOM: I don't know if most college boys who are invited to the home of a "pal" for the weekend need a guide to proper behavior. Let me tell your son not to bring home any more fun-loving, thirsty, ill-thatched characters.

Jacoby and Son

Margaret Warner of Atlanta has been one of the best bridge players in the world for quite some time. When she first appeared on the bridge scene no one realized that this pretty girl with the Southern accent could play the cards just about perfectly. That is, no one realized it until about the second time they played against her.

Jacoby and Son

play is meant to imply that the man who plays it either has no money or the queen. If he has no money, he declares himself a trick; but if he has the queen, he declares he can finesse. This encourages the most direct of finesses. Against a good declarer the false card makes no difference, but it is invaluable in any event. Against the very good declarer it may backfire. Margaret thought avidly and went on with her ace.

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY: I was in a large family. Some discarded pants have pockets, so just cut these off as high as possible, and to match worn-out pockets in men's pants. I take any good pockets out of men's but one and usually sew all around. Whip around any holes to fasten to the newly put in pocket and if you forget how to re-stitch, you can look at the one still in place. Those who do not have such old pockets can use the one with holes and patterns and make completely new ones.

It worries me when I receive letters from readers saying, "Now I'm retired and the days seem so long. I have nothing to do." Another writes, "I'm miserable. I am lonely. I've never stayed at home before. I've always gone to work. What can I do?"

What a dreadful waste of time. Make use of time; enjoy it! Certainly I can understand that retirement is, at times, difficult to take, but you must do something. Pursue a hobby, make some kind of work for yourself. Consider the things you can do. There is always baby sitting, for instance, or cooking special dishes for needy people in your neighborhood. Also, if you know how to keep house and cook (most career women do), then apply for a house manager's job. There are so many couples who both work and who need someone at home to tidy up and keep the house and pick up the children. Now this woman does live in a big apartment house where there are many families, so she was lucky, but she could have just sat back and not gotten the job either. You have to be resourceful at times; think things out. You'll get there, however, just staying at home and being lonely. Get out and make sure they burn tomorrow: Black Necessary For Funeral?

Elk Slaughter Brings Protest

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Wyoming Gov. Stan Hathaway has renewed his fight against the shooting of elk by park rangers in Yellowstone National Park.

In a telegram to Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, the Governor said "It is one thing to pursue elk as sport and see normal harvest of animals by sportsmen, and quite another to see them gunned down after they have been chased into deep snow by helicopter."

In early February, Hathaway's protest of the proposed elk shooting was instrumental in causing the Park Service to postpone action pending an investigation by a wildlife conservation committee.

The shooting started Monday and Hathaway told Udall there were many Wyoming areas where elk could be transplanted, where elk populations are now low or nonexistent. He said if there is a hay shortage—either for trapping the elk, or for winter feeding, the state would be willing to provide hay.

The Park Service says at least 600 elk must be killed, in addition to those driven out or trapped—in order to preserve the elk grazing range in the park. So far, about 40 elk have been killed.

Census statistics reveal that women and girls outnumber men and boys in the United States by 2.6 million.

AROUND THE CLOCK

City Commission never leaves. They had another closed session Friday... This time with newly appointed Police Chief Ben Butler.

I don't know why people were shocked by Arnold Williams' resignation. Remember? "The sparrow sold me about a closed door City Commission meeting... But I'm still reeling from the shock and it will take at least a few days for me to recover... and then I'll publish it... WOW!"

Quite a lot of money stolen from the hospital... Police are investigating... Mayor is an inside job... The city will never make a case against two of the sellers of beer to minors. Ever hear of "entrapment"?

What are school officials gonna do when they get the word that parochial schools will eliminate the elementary grades? It's a thing of horror about in high Catholic circles.

A host of legislative candidates spoke at the Seminole Education Assn. at Southside last night... It was a merry old occasion... The teachers came to hear candidates but were... the need to raise salaries... quality education and to approach the 1968 election... They were not disapproving... The 1968 election is the deal with that most of the candidates said they want teachers to get more money... They can provide the money. I wonder how many teachers caught that?

In case anyone is interested, the city's liability structure is in jeopardy... thanks to all these cars being banged up... City may try to up the liability limit.

By the way, that was a school flat bed truck dumping all that trash by the road side the other day out at the county dump. You can't blame that on the city.

When are zoning board on authorizations gonna end down at that mess at Fifth St. in Lake Mary? ... Remember it's a residential area.

blame on educators for falling down on the job of not selling themselves on the needs of "quality education." Plante was one of a host of legislative candidates who spoke to the SRD. Most of the other candidates kept their three-minute talks to the need for quality education and a raise in pay for teachers. If money can be provided by the Legislature, Plante said education is a cause in need of support.

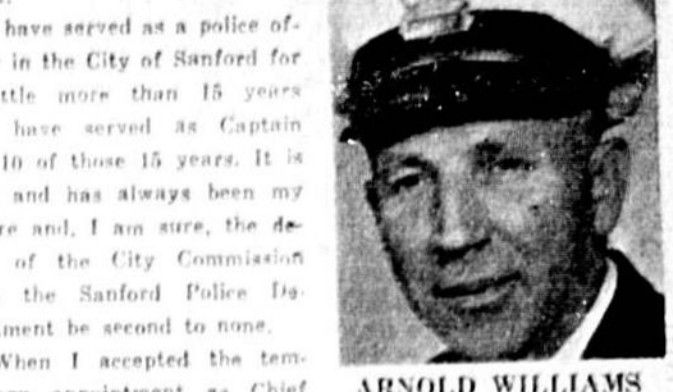

KEN PLANTE
Plante today also turned over to County prosecutor Ken McIntosh a list of names of responsible people who resigned from the society over the past few years.

Speeches by all the Democratic candidates for the Legislature in the Orange-Seminole district will be heard at the meeting of the Seminole County Democratic Women's Club scheduled for 8 p.m. next Wednesday at the Health Center on French Avenue.

'Death Trap' Causes Furo In SE Seminole

By IAN CASSELLERY
Many residents of the Lake Howell-Tanglewood area are expressing concern about the dangerous situation created by the steep, narrow, sharp curve section which has been constructed to join Lake Howell Road and the new divided section of SR 156.

Until the new section is opened officially traffic is shut off at this point at an extremely sharp angle to meet traffic coming up the Scourie from Lake Howell Road. At this point, traffic is heavily congested and the danger of an accident is high.
