BRIEFS

McVeigh guilty

DENVER — It took nearly 24 hours over the course of four days, but the jury found Timothy McVeigh guilty of blowing up the Oklahoma City federal building.

McVeigh, 29, could get the death penalty for the April 19, 1995 bombing which killed 168 people and injured hundreds more. Many of the dead were children who were in the building's child care facility.

The sentencing phase of the case is next. McVeigh could be sentenced to life in prison or to death.

Man dies after tri-county chase

ORLANDO — A 27-year-old Umatilla man was shot by law enforcement officers near the Princeton exit of Interstate 4 after leading officers on a chase from Lake County, through Seminole County and into Orange County. He died a short time later.

According to Orange County officials, Michael Welch was about to be arrested for harassing the family of a 16-year-old girl he had dated when he escaped from the Lake County Mall where he was meeting his probation officer. He stole a woman's car and sped away, leading officers on a chase through three counties.

In Orange County, near Lee Road, he abandoned the stolen car and carjacked another vehicle. He drove the few miles to the Princeton exit where the owner of the new car was let go and where Welch took off on foot.

Traffic on I-4 was stopped in both directions while negotiations were under way and while a medical helicopter landed after Welch was shot, causing a 50,000 car back up. Traffic on Princeton Street was also stopped.

He had vowed to the former girlfriend and others that he would not go back to jail and that he would shoot himself instead.

Robbery suspects nabbed

The Nations Bank in the 3800 block of Orlando Dr. was robbed by two black male suspects on Monday, but Sanford Police quickly arrested them.

Kenneth Fields, 32, came into the Nations Bank around 1:30 p.m. and presented the teller with a note, police spokesman Ofc. Tom Skiba.

Garth Clough, 42, was awaiting his accomplice in a maroon truck outside. Both suspects were caught and arrested by Sanford Police. Police were able to recover all the money taken and all other evidence pertaining to the case. The suspects are being detained at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Library show

The Seminole County Library will present the Mashed Potato Players in "Info Calling!" at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the East Branch, 310 N. Division Street, Oviedo; 3:30 p.m. Wednesday at the West Branch, 245 N. Hunt Club Boulevard, Longwood; 10 a.m. Thursday at the North Branch, 150 N. Palmetto Avenue, Sanford; 1 p.m. Thursday at the Northwest Branch, 580 Greenway Boulevard, Lake Mary; 3:30 p.m. Thursday at the Central Branch, 215 N. Oxford Road, Casselberry.

Admission is free. For information, call 339-4000.

Commission meeting

The City of Altamonte Springs Commission will meet today at 7 p.m. at 225 Newburyport Avenue, Altamonte Springs.

For information, call 263-3700.

Purchasing integrity for Seminole County

Meet the woman who held her ground in latest controversy

By RUSS WHITE
Herald Staff Writer

On the dark day last week when several of the men on the Board of Seminole County commissioners were behaving badly, a tall, athletic, 35-year old woman named Kelly Lee Loll stood her ground.

Ms. Loll, the county's purchasing manager, advised the commissioners to eliminate LifeFleet/Atlantic from any further consideration in the county's emergency medical services competition because the company did not include a rate sheet in its bid.

Boorishly, Commissioner With Adams questioned Loll's integrity, suggesting she and other staff members had a conflict of interest because the county's fire-rescue division was one of the bidders. Commissioners Dick Van Der Weide and Grant Maloy backed Adams, and LifeFleet's bid was allowed to stay.

Today, there's mounting evidence the three commissioners were doubly wrong.

Deloitte-Touche, the Big Six auditing firm Adams himself selected to monitor the EMS issue, not only said the bid deviated from what was required, but on Friday rated the county's fire department far and away the top choice for the new contract the BCC will choose at its meeting on June 10.

"The lady has integrity," Seminole County Manager Gary Kaiser said Monday, returning to his office after a week of vacation time. "Kelly Loll has taken the high road in this issue from the beginning. She has performed admirably...doing what she is paid to do. She has a strong commitment to excellence."

Having listened to tapes of last week's BCC meeting, Kaiser had some intense one-on-one meetings with the principals on Monday. He huddled with Adams late in the afternoon.

And he told Kelly Loll to "stay the course."

"I've got a very interesting job, and I love it," said Loll, a Palm Bay High School sports phenom in both track and swimming, an honor roll

Sheriff's deputies-your eye in the sky

Helicopter patrol spots the bad guys from the air

By SHARI BRODIE
Herald Staff Writer

Look! Up in the sky... It's the night sun. At 30 million candle power, it can light up a full city block.

Mounted on the front of one of the two Bell OH158C helicopters in the Seminole County Sheriff's Office Tactical Air Command, this searchlight is an integral part of the war on crime in Seminole County, according to Capt. W.T. Armstrong.

In a five day period, said Armstrong, six felony arrests can be directly attributed to the use of the helicopter.

"We have a great impact," said Armstrong telling of an incident near Seminole Towne Center mall. The two suspects left the mall on foot and were chased by the Florida Highway Patrol. The suspects hid in the woods near the mall. The helicopter was called in and after 10 minutes of circling, with the searchlight, the suspects surrender with their hands up. "We have a significant psychological effect."

While the helicopter responds to a wide variety of calls involving criminal activity, the primary job of the flight commander and flight officer on duty on a particular shift is crime prevention. Armstrong said they routinely patrol residential areas and the rooftops of businesses and they always fly with the searchlight on in high crime areas.

"We do a majority of our flying at night. It tends to be busier at night," said Armstrong. But just because the helicopter is in the air and the searchlight is on doesn't mean there is a criminal in the area.

"The light is actually there to protect you," Armstrong said. If a resident is concerned about activity in the area, when the helicopter is flying, "we do encourage them to call in (on the non-emergency number) and ask."

The sheriff's office aviation program began in May of 1995, when the office purchased two former military helicopters from surplus, "excess due to downsizing," Armstrong said. The acquisition fee was $250 apiece for units valued at $650,000 on the open market. Equipment added to each of the helicopters has been purchased through proceeds from drug trust fund money.

The interchangeable equipment for the two helicopters includes FLIR (forward looking in-

Who will attend Goldsboro Elementary School?

Federal desegregation consent decree muddles entrance criteria

By STEVE BARNES
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The proposed enrollment requirements for the Goldsboro Elementary School Magnet Program have changed.

Monday night, the Desegregation Consent Decree Task Force, a group of parents and educators responsible for making recommendations to the school board regarding implementation of the U.S. Department of Justice desegregation order, met to discuss entrance priorities for the Goldsboro Magnet School.

The task force voted to restructure dramatically the way students will gain admission to Goldsboro Elementary, once the magnet program goes into effect in the 1998-99 school year.

The new recommendation of the task force keeps the first three priorities contained in the earlier version. In order of priority given, they are:

- ESSS (exceptional students) and their siblings
- Students living in the Goldsboro preference zone, which extends from 25th Street, north to 13th Street and from U.S. Highway 17-92, west to South West Road.

student in college and a leader today among her peers as president of the state Association of Public Purchasing Officers.

Last year, Loll and her staff of 11 quietly and efficiently handled more than $60 million county business in bids contracts, requests for proposal, and work orders. "Our names haven't been in the news," she said, "perhaps because we were doing things right. No controversies. No news being good news."

The EMS issue changed things dramatically. By their bungling, the commissioners seriously tried to corrupt the county's bidding process, opening the door to the acceptance of future faulty proposals.

It's her responsibility that this WILL NOT happen, Loll said. "I've told my staff that no matter what, that every future bid will have a price sheet that each vendor must fill in properly. We'll be better than we were before."

Loll said the RFP for medical services was primarily authored by Deloitte & Touche, and allowed for "a creative process." A little, too creative it turned out.

Loll, who is 5-foot-11, said she received much of her competitive nature and leadership qualities from her dad, Bill Loll. "He played pro football for the Philadelphia Eagles and was a Lt. Commander in the Navy," she said. "Being involved in sports helped me appreciate the rules of fair play, team work and leadership."

The youngest of Bill and Pat Loll's six children, Kelly Loll was born in Wyndotte, Mich., and lived in four states in her grade school days before the family settled in Palm Bay. It was there she became a champion half-mile runner on Palm Bay High's track team and back-stroke record holder on the swimming team. She was named the school's Athlete of the Year her senior year.

She remembers competing in both sports one day in her senior year, rushing back from a morning track meet in Orlando for an afternoon swimming meet in Melbourne.

"I was a jock," she said. "Sports were my life. As a kid, I thought for sure, I'd be coach and physical education teacher."

Instead she went to Florida State and the University of Central Florida, gaining a bachelor of science degree in Business Administration. She began her government career as a buyer and purchasing supervisor for Brevard County. From 1993 to 1996 she was Purchasing manager for Lake County. In February, 1996 she became Purchasing manager for Seminole County.

Loll runs three miles two or three times a week and golfs once or twice. More endearing to her, though, are fishing trips with her 15-year-old son, Raymond. "I'm his mate; Raymond's the captain," she says.

Loll says Raymond aspires to be a doctor, that he has a 3.5 grade average and enters Melbourne High School this year.

She has told him all about her work - especially last week's doings in the EMS issue.

Of all the qualities she wants her son to possess, No. 1 is "integrity."

A big day for the Confederacy

Today is... VICKI DeSORMIER Staff Writer

This is grand day for those who still take sides in the long-done War between the states.

The Confederacy won a major military victory on this date when Union General Ulysses S. Grant was too stubborn to accept defeat. Like the Everyready Bunny, he kept going and going until nearly every last one of his men was dead.

According to the history books, the Battle of Cold Harbor took place on June 3, 1864.

Although Confederate General Robert E. Lee had placed his troops behind considerable breastworks (that's temporary fortifications for those of you who may have been thinking it had something to do with adult entertainment), Grant launched an all-out attack on the Southern army.

More than 7,000 federal soldiers were killed within the first half hour, but Grant was not about to give up so easily. He held on and launched a second unsuccessful attack.

When he ordered his men to attack yet again, he was all but ignored by the few remaining troops.

Battlefield tradition held that the first commander who sought a truce in order to tend to the wounded was the loser.

Never one to allow himself to be called a loser, Grant sat back and refused to wave the white flag. His wounded were left on the ground for three days following the battle. As a consequence, all but two of the thousands of wounded Union soldiers either from their wounds, or from hunger, thirst or exposure.

And they say women are stubborn...

The South also has reason to celebrate a birthday today. It is the anniversary of the birth of the only Confederate president: Jefferson Davis.

Davis was born in Todd County, Ken. on this date in 1808.

Following the Civil War, he was held in prison from May 10, 1865 until May 13, 1867. He was never brought to trial, but he was deprived of his rights as a citizen. His citizenship was restored posthumously in 1978 by Pres. Jimmy Carter who said "Our nation needs to clear away the guilts and enmities and recriminations of the past, to finally set at rest the divisions that threatened to destroy our nation and to discredit the great principles on which it was founded."

So the Civil War is over. Let's get over it.

Other than that, this is Chimborazo Day. It's a day set aside to bring the shape of the earth into focus for those who are members of the Flat Earth Society or those who just may not give the matter much thought otherwise.

The organizers of this celebration point out that Mt. Chimborazo, which is near the equator in Ecuador, pokes further out into space than any other mountain on Earth, including Mt. Everest.

(For those who want to do the math, the distance from sea level at the equator to the center of the Earth is 13 miles greater than the radius to sea level at the North Pole.)

And, if that's not exciting enough, maybe you can celebrate birthdays of the rich and famous. Today is Chuck Barris (producer of the "Dating Game," the "Newlywed Game" and the "Gong Show") 68th birthday; poet Allen Ginsburg (Howl) is 71; actor Maurice Evans is 96; Bernard Schwartz (better known as Tom Curtis) is 72; and singer/songwriter Curtis Mayfield is 55.

Safeco helps students pack ZOOtcases

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD - Representatives of the Safeco Insurance Company presented the Central Florida Zoo with a check recently to help spread the word about endangered animals.

The $4,000 presentation will help the zoo provide ZOOtcases, educational tools in a box, for teachers to use in the classroom.

The ZOOtcases are boxes filled with a variety of multi-media teaching tools that allow teachers to bring the information about endangered animals who reside both in Florida and around the world.

There will be information about the vanishing rain forests, as well.

The company representatives made a day of it at the zoo when they made the presentation.

They brought several members of the West Sanford Boys and Girls Club with them to visit with the animals and to have a lunch on the zoo grounds.

The representatives gave a ZOOtcase project. The educational tools are expected to be in the schools by the start of the school year in August.

Twelve local students earn OMYF scholarships

From staff reports

ORLANDO -- Twelve deserving, low-income Central Florida students will receive a four-year college scholarship, courtesy of the Orlando Magic Youth Foundation (OMYF). Take Stock in Children, Florida's innovative college scholarship and mentor program for low-income youth, received a $60,000 grant when named one of the 1996-97 Orlando Magic All-Stars at the Seventh Annual Black Tie and Tennis Charity Gala held in March.

"We are honored to be the recipient of OMYF's investment in scholarships, mentoring and hope for low income kids," said Ken Campbell, senior vice president of Take Stock in Children. "OMYF's goal of 'creating a brighter tomorrow for our children' will be achieved as 12 students will now have the opportunity of a lifetime -- four years of free college tuition."

OMYF will be able to see first hand the difference they are making in the lives of the 12 children. They will receive a photograph of the sponsored scholars and can follow their progress through the program, according to Campbell.

Take Stock in Children is an extraordinary successful program that provides college scholarships and mentoring to Florida's low-income youth.

The children sign a performance contract with their parents and their school -- pledging to stay in school, off drugs and out of trouble. Children are assigned a mentor who stays with them through the program to help them meet their performance criteria. In return, the children receive four years of college tuition purchased through the Florida Prepaid College Program. The program, which was co-funded by statewide sponsors Barnett Bank and Publix Supermarkets in 1996, has a 97 percent retention rate with scholars. There are more than 1,600 Take Stock Schools in 51 counties to date.

The Orlando Magic Youth Foundation is a team effort by the Magic players, coaches and staff, and the DeVos family. In partnership with fans and the community dedicated to the betterment of all Central Florida youth, especially those children and their families considered to be at risk. Private donations and special events assist worthy organizations through charitable grants, scholarships, educational programs, clinics, and much more. OMYF is a fund of the Robert R. McCormick Tribute Foundation.

Burglaries remain cause for concern

From Staff Reports

The 1995 FBI crime statistics have been released and, for the fourth year in a row, the number of burglaries in the United States has decreased. While this four percent drop is good news, homeowners should not be lulled into a false sense of security.

Despite the decrease, at a rate of one residential burglary every 18 seconds, the numbers add up. In the next hour, 194 homes across the country will be burglarized. That 4,756 residential burglaries today, 33,342 this week; 144,657 this month; and 1,735,881 this year. When you look at it that way, it really hits home. So, can you prevent your home from being hit?

No one can make their home 100 percent safe, but there are steps you can take to lessen your chances of becoming one of the statistics—namely a few tips from the experts and a little common sense. "It's unfortunate, but the majority of people think of home security only after a burglary," says Mike Bruening, executive director of the Burglary Prevention Council, a national non-profit organization dedicated to the prevention of residential burglaries.

Is Your Home Secure?

The Burglary Prevention Council recommends evaluating your current security measures and then addressing the trouble spots. "More often than not, there are simple, inexpensive solutions to most problems," says Bruening.

Burglars are opportunists who look for an easy target. If there is no easy way to enter a home, if it appears that someone is home or if there is no place for them to hide, a burglar is likely to pass by that home for another target. A few simple security measures can go a long way in discouraging a thief.

Effective steps to keeping your home safe include always locking all doors and windows securely, including sliding glass doors and the door to an attached garage; using timers and outdoor lighting to create the illusion that you are home; and keeping shrubs and trees trimmed.

According to FBI statistics, the average loss in a burglary is more than $1,200—and this does not include the damages incurred as the thief was breaking in. "Taking the time to secure your residence now could save you a lot of time and headaches later on," says Bruening. "The key is to safeguard your home before you become a statistic."

Booklet Offer

To help homeowners protect their property from burglars, the Burglary Prevention Council offers a 12-page booklet called "Safe & Secure". It outlines a comprehensive security program for those who live in single-family homes, townhouses, condominiums and apartment buildings.

To obtain a copy of "Safe & Secure", send a self-addressed, stamped business size envelope and $1.00 to the Burglary Prevention Council, 221 North LaSalle Street, Suite 3500, Chicago, IL 60601-1520.

Hurricanes can do much damage inland, too

From Staff Reports

WASHINGTON—It's not only those who live along the East and Gulf coasts who need to worry about this year's hurricane season beginning June 1, say officials of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

While the destructive force of hurricane winds begins to diminish after the storm makes landfall and usually dissipates rapidly as it moves inland, the danger of devastating floods is another story, FEMA officials point out. The risk of flooding can actually be much worse hundreds of miles away from the coast as the waning hurricane releases its moisture via torrential rains over a wide area.

Hurricane FRAN, which struck the North Carolina coast September 6 last year, is a case in point, according to FEMA Director James Lee Witt.

"Although not as strong as some other recent hurricanes (FRAN was only a Category 3 out of a possible 5), it was the third costliest in U. S. history in terms of damage," Witt said. "Much of this damage resulted from flooding that extended from North Carolina all the way to the Great Lakes, including the states of Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio. For example, water was three feet deep in the streets of Old Town Alexandria, Va., across the Potomac River from Washington, D. C."

Records from the National Hurricane Center show that Hurricane FRAN caused extraordinarily heavy rains not only in central North Carolina (12 inches), but also in Virginia (16 inches), West Virginia (8 inches), Pennsylvania (8 inches) and Ohio (6 inches). Nearly half of the 37 deaths attributed to this hurricane were due to flooding in the inland states. And of the estimated $3.2 billion total property damage from FRAN, $350 million was in Virginia, $100 million in Maryland, $40 million in West Virginia, $40 million in Pennsylvania and $40 million in Ohio.

"Unfortunately, all too few property owners who suffered flood damage were protected by flood insurance," Witt said. "While Hurricane FRAN resulted in more than $200 million in flood insurance claims paid to over 10,000 policyholders, most of the victims did not have flood insurance."

"Many people still don't realize that their homeowners insurance does not cover flood losses," Witt said. "For protection against flood damage, a property owner must purchase a separate flood insurance policy through the National Flood Insurance Program administered by FEMA. We're making a concerted effort to communicate the need for flood insurance to the residents of hurricane-prone states before this year's storms start heading their way."

"There is a 30-day waiting period before a new flood insurance policy becomes effective," Witt added, "so people need to take advantage of this protection while there is still time."

Witt also had a warning for people who think they can rely on federal disaster assistance in lieu of flood insurance:

"Disaster assistance is only available when the President issues a major disaster declaration," he said, "and even then it is quite limited—and usually in the form of a loan that must be repaid with interest. It is

Three cheers for TRIAD

Seniors make up a good 15 percent of Seminole County's population.

Providing them with the services they need is an awesome task, one which most would not choose to tackle.

Law enforcement officials from around the county have joined forces to help facilitate the dispensing of services to seniors. Both TRIAD (a three-pronged effort between the Seminole County Sheriff's Office, local police chiefs and a variety of seniors agencies) and SALT (Seniors And Lawmen Together) are doing a fine job of making things easier for our older residents.

We applaud them for their efforts.

Not only do they help seniors find the help they need in obtaining necessary services, but they also do work to help reduce the criminal victimization of our older citizens.

Volunteers like Paulee Stevens, an AARP regional representative and Dotti Burkett, Elder Services Officer for the sheriff's office, have done much to be sure the seniors of Seminole County are safe and secure on the streets and in their homes.

We laud those volunteers and representatives of the various law enforcement agencies who recently signed a resolution in which they agreed to work closely to continue to develop and implement policies and programs that reduce the victimization of seniors, to serve the older citizens' special needs and to enhance the delivery of law enforcement services.

The seniors of this county (and every county) deserve the commitment of those in the community who are sworn to serve them and keep them safe.

Sometimes older people, due to family circumstances or other factors, need someone to just look out for them to be sure they are doing the things they need to survive. Local law enforcement officials are being trained to keep an eye on the older people in the areas they patrol.

We are glad these groups are there to help provide such assistance and we applaud the groups for the work they are doing to help seniors.

Will Gore fight Gephardt's attacks?

Now that House Minority Leader Dick Gephardt (Mo.) has virtually declared war on the Clinton administration in launching the race for the 2000 Democratic presidential nomination three years early, what is Vice President Al Gore going to do about it?

As President Clinton's partner and political heir, Gore has three strategic choices: 1) fight like hell, not only defending administration policy, but also setting forth a post-Clinton "New Democrat" vision; 2) defend where necessary but blur ideological differences with Gephardt in hopes of maintaining ties to the AFL-CIO and other traditional Democratic constituencies; or 3) lay low for as long as possible and hope that Gephardt's candidacy either fails to achieve liftoff or implodes.

I fervently hope that Gore picks the first option to clarify issues for the future. And in doing so, Gore should help the administration win decisive victories in the budget, trade, and foreign policy fights that Gephardt is picking. But the second two options must have appeal for a cautious vice president who is his party's far-ahead front-runner.

The breadth and vituperation of Gephardt's attacks on Clinton's policy make it difficult for Gore to lay entirely low, but they also must tempt him to think that Gephardt ultimately will self-destruct.

Gephardt is making himself a caricature of an old-style, interest-group liberal in the mold of Walter Mondale in 1984, who barely beat Gary Hart for the Democratic nomination and then was crushed by Ronald Reagan.

At a time when the U.S. economy is booming for all but the poorest 20 or 30 percent of the work force and when the public is demonstrably happy with center-right management of the government, Gephardt is assailing Clinton's balanced-budget deal from the left, arguing that its tax cuts are skewed in favor of the rich and Medicare is cut too deeply.

Gephardt sounded harsh when he declared that the budget deal was marred by "many deficits: a deficit of principle, a deficit of fairness, a deficit of tax justice, and worst of all, a deficit of dollars."

In declaring recently that he will oppose most-favored-nation trade status for China, Gephardt even more savagely attacked the administration's overall China policy, adopting the right wing's charge of "appeasement" and claiming that Clinton is practicing "a diplomacy of indifference to human rights."

IAN SHOALES

Cynics have been busily compiling the Big Lies of our times.

You are important to us, kind of

Cynics have for some years now been busily compiling the Big Lies of our times.

You're familiar with many: "Your check's in the mail," "This is a bipartisan effort," "I'll always love you," "That color looks good on you," "Nice haircut" and "This isn't a war, it's a police action," for example.

I think I've snagged another one, by golly. I was navigating the voice mail of a bank the other day; even as I was put on hold, a pre-recorded voice told me: "Your call is important to us." I found myself wondering, well, if my call is so important, why am I listening to an efficient machine instead of talking to an incompetent human being, as God intended?

A day or two later, I was put on hold by a Major American Airline, and again told that my call was important.

Twenty minutes of trunty mood music later, I found myself despairing. I had reluctantly concluded that my call was not important at all.

Obviously, banks and airlines only have one operator working at any time. I've come to believe they even share this operator.

Don't get me wrong. When you actually get through to her, this operator is very personable and efficient. She knows the ins and outs of checking accounts and flight schedules, no problem. She probably knows tax schedules, collision insurance, defense policies, the truth about aliens, and who killed JFK as well.

But we're not important to her. Are you kidding me? She'd much prefer to share this information with the Illuminati, or one of the more enlightened militia organizations.

I've come to believe that as our technology advances, we become less and less important. Look at poor Garry Kasparov! Sure, he got a hefty sum for the public relations stunt with Big Blue, but he's got to be crying all the way to the bank -- for himself, for mankind.

But I'm not that worried about the future of chess. I've been checkmated by pretty much every human I've ever played. Why sweat the machines? I'm more worried about airports. After I got through to God -- I mean the human ticketing agent -- and received my "ticketless ticket," I found myself confronting yet another lie. Frankly, I just could not see how this ticket could in any way be considered ticketless. I had the same little envelope I'd always had, with a highly ticketlike item inside it. Oh, it said on its surface that it was a receipt, but it had the same general heft as a ticket. Let me go out on a limb here, and say that the ticketless ticket is in fact a ticket, and the hell with it.

As you may have noticed if you've traveled recently, we are also experiencing heightened security. If our call is so important to them, why are airlines making it so damn hard to travel?

The ValuJet crash was due to incompetence, malfeasance and bureaucratic humberg, according to what I've read. TWA Flight 800 was caused by military forces, aliens or mechanical mishap.

I don't want to get into all that. I just want to make the point that, any way you look at it, passengers boarding a plane with explosive devices does not seem to be a significant factor in domestic crashes.

Why then must I show a photo I.D. in order to exchange my ticketless ticket for a boarding pass (or "boarding passless boarding pass," I suppose). If I were really a terrorist extremist, I imagine I could obtain a phony I.D. pretty darn easy. Teen-agers can get one to buy beer.

Do we have a duty to die?

While he was governor of Colorado, Richard Lamm became, for a time, a troubling national presence. Not as a result of his politics but because of the challenge he issued to the citizenry in every state. At an autumnal age, he said, it is a moral responsibility to make room for the young. As leaves fall from the trees in the fall, so old people have a duty to die.

The governor and I were asked to debate this proposition at Pennsylvania State University. When we arrived at the hotel in the afternoon, he urgently asked the desk clerk if there were a gym nearby where he could have his customary workout. It occurred to me that he wanted to delay the day, as best he could, when his own leaves would fall.

As a consequence of the current national debate on physician-assisted suicide, its opponents have predicted that if assisted suicide is legalized, people whose illnesses are costly and long term may be convinced they have a duty to die. Feeling guilty because of the burden they have become to their families, they -- with suicide now approved by society -- may ask their doctors to help them die.

Now, in certain bioethical circles, the morality of dying as a utilitarian imperative is being advanced. Those who mocked Gov. Lamm's advice to go responsibly into the good night may have been premature.

The Hastings Center Report is one of the more respected journals dealing with the nature of human nature and medical ethics. The leading article on the cover of its March/April issue is John Hardwig's "Is There a Duty to Die?" The author teaches medical ethics and social political philosophy at East Tennessee State University.

At the start, Hardwig declares that "modern medicine and an individualistic culture have seduced many (into believing) that they have a right to health care and a right to live, despite the burdens and costs to our families and society."

Hardwig recognizes that there already is a legal right to refuse life-prolonging medical treatment. But, he claims, "a duty to die can go well beyond that. ... There may be a fairly common responsibility to end one's life in the absence of any terminal illness." Indeed, "there can be a duty to die even when one would prefer to live."

After all, "the lives of our loved ones can be seriously compromised by caring for us. ... There is a sense in which we fail to respect ourselves if in the face of illness or death, we stoop to choosing just what is best for ourselves."

Years ago, Michigan University law professor Yale Kamisar predicted that with the coming of assisted suicide, precisely this kind of argument could well persuade vulnerable patients to let themselves slip into eternity --

In certain bioethical circles, the morality of dying as a utilitarian imperative is being advanced.

rather than remain a burden.

Hardwig also makes the stern point that as we grow older, the duty to die becomes more compelling because "we will be giving up less ... we will sacrifice fewer remaining years of life." (Perhaps copies of Walter Huston singing "September Song" may ease the way.)

Hardwig presses on: "To have reached the age of, say, 75 or 80 years without being ready to die is itself a moral failing, the sign of a life out of touch with life's basic realities."

Will octogenarians who are not ready to die be publicly shamed as the moral community shuns them?

There is another criterion for being ready to join the falling leaves in autumn. "A duty to die," says Hardwig, "is more likely when you have already lived a rich and full life. You have already had a full share of the good things life offers." I assume that the chronically poor as well as long-term prisoners are given compensatory time to stay alive.

But there is a way out for most of the rest of us. If, Hardwig says, the society is willing to "pay for facilities that provide excellent long-term care (not just health care) for all chronically ill, debilitated, mentally ill or demented people in this country ... the duty to die would then be virtually eliminated."

Hardwig, however, is a realist: "We Americans seem to be unwilling to pay for this kind of long-term care, except for ourselves and our own." There will be no escaping, then, a duty to die, provided, says Hardwig, we have the courage to die in order to protect our loved ones from the costs, financially and emotionally, of our staying on.

John Hardwig is not alone. I have heard doctors say that certain patients, taking up expensive space in a hospital, have a duty to die because they will never be able to walk out of the hospital. Dr. Jack Kevorkian is his own kind of ethicist, but if his bedside manner were not so startling, he would be seen as not far from the current ready-to-die mainstream.

John Hardwig says, "We fear death too much." My sense is we do not fear bioethicists enough.

School

Children of employees applying to the school at which the parent is employed

At this point, the plans diverge. While the old plan launched into a complex set of priorities based on race and geography, including references to students classified as: "Northwest / Non-Black" and "Northeast / Black", the new plan calls for a "family lottery" system to kick in.

The proposed lottery system is supposed to give families throughout the county the opportunity to gain entrance to the magnet program.

Under the rules of the lottery, students anywhere in the county could apply to Goldsboro. Each student's name would then be randomly selected by computer and assigned a number, based on the order in which it is drawn. Those students will be next in line to register, following the three groups outlined above.

Students will be registered in order of the number they are assigned, provided that the child's race fits into the justice department's mandated quota system. In this system, there must be space not only in the school, but also within the grade level a child is entering, for a child of his or her particular race.

Parents fear this could create nightmares for them if they have more than one child in elementary school.

Take a hypothetical example: Suppose you are black and have two children, one in second grade and one in fourth grade. They apply and are accepted into the Goldsboro Magnet school.

While there is plenty of space available for black children in the fourth grade class, the second grade class has already reached the maximum number of black students it is allowed under the justice department's guidelines.

You now face the choice of allowing one child to attend Goldsboro while the other attends your second choice school, or keeping the children together by not sending either child to Goldsboro.

If you separate the children, the sibling who was not admitted would be placed on a waiting list and given priority over non-siblings on that list.

Another proposal, which would have given higher priority to students living within a two mile radius of the school was also rejected.

Task force members felt that allowing students in the two mile radius to receive priority placement would be unfair to students living in other parts of the county who would then be denied access to the program by virtue of the limited number of spaces available.

Of particular concern to some task force members was the effect on black students in other areas, as they would be denied any chance of attending Goldsboro due to the large number of black families in the two mile zone and the justice department's insistence on maintaining racial quotas.

Goldsboro Principal Ron Nathan, who feels the lottery is the only fair alternative, also sympathizes with residents who live in the two mile radius and have worked to make Goldsboro better.

He says many people have come to him saying that they have worked for years to make Goldsboro better and now that it is a magnet school, they are being denied access to it.

The recommendations of the task force will be forwarded to the school board before its next meeting.

School board members will consider the recommendations along with input from the justice department in making their final decisions regarding placement priorities and other matters related to the consent decree.

tra-red) that can recognize a thermal signal, and is sensitive to 1/10 of a degree of the background temperature. The helicopters can video tape a crime scene in color and are part of one of three police agencies that have auto tracking capabilities. On board also is the state-of-the-art GPS (Global Positioning Satellite) navigation system.

The helicopter is four-place, able to carry two flight crew and two passengers. The flight crew consists of one commander and one flight officer. To become a flight officer a candidate must have a minimum of three years of law enforcement experience and have served a minimum of one year as a sheriff's deputy. The flight officer operates the communications equipment. Flight officers rotate three to four times a month into the aviation program from their primary duties as detectives or road deputies. The flight officers take 200 hours of initial basic training and are evaluated over a six-month period.

Armstrong served 21 years with the Orange County Sheriff's Office before coming to Seminole. He holds a commercial helicopter rating and is also a fixed wing pilot instructor. He is one of three aircraft commanders. There are 18 flight officers.

Police officers from three Seminole County municipalities: Longwood, Casselberry and Altamonte Springs; and officers from FIIP also rotate through the flight officer program.

When the helicopter crew is not fighting crime, aid is given to other agencies within the county. Armstrong said the aviation program has assisted the county zoning department with oversight pictures of properties inaccessible from the ground. They help in searches for missing adults and children and work closely with K-9 units. They also work with fire department dive teams in waterway rescues. The choppers can carry and deploy gear to dive teams on the water. In an area search for suspects, one helicopter can do the job of 20 deputies on the ground, Armstrong said.

Device May Increase Gas Mileage by 22% TEST DATA

BOSTON - National Fuel Corp. of Boston has developed a low cost automotive accessory called the Platinum Gasaver which is guaranteed to increase gas mileage by 22% while meeting all federal and state emission standards.

With a simple connection to a vacuum line, the Gasaver adds microscopic quantities of platinum to the air-fuel mixture entering the engine.

Platinum has the unique ability to make non-burning fuel burn. With platinum in the flame zone, you increase the percentage of fuel burning in the engine from 68% to 90%.

Normally that additional 22% of the fuel would only burn when it came in contact with the platinum surfaces of the catalytic converter.

Unfortunately, the converter process takes place outside of the engine, where the energy produced cannot be harnessed to drive the vehicle.

But with platinum in the combustion chambers, 22% more of each gallon burns inside the engine so that 22% fewer gallons are required to drive the same distance.

After studying this process for five years, the government concluded: "Independent testing shows greater fuel savings with the Gasaver than the 22% claimed by the developer."

In addition to government confirmation of its fuel saving claims, the Gasaver has received patents for raising gasoline octane, and has been approved for reducing emissions to acceptable levels.

Joel Robinson, the developer, commented: "We've already sold over 300,000 Gasavers. To our surprise, as many people buy the Gasaver because it extends engine life by cleaning out the abrasive carbon deposits as buy it to increase gas mileage."

For further information call: 1-800-LESS-GAS or 1-800-537-7427

The government studied test data on vehicles made by several auto makers. Listed below is the data from a fleet of 15 identical 5-liter vehicles.

Students, teachers tend Jason's Garden

By CARTER GILMARTIN
Herald Correspondent

In the summer of 1995 Jason Matthew Bill was killed in a jet ski accident. Upon returning to Sanford Middle School that July, Jason's classmates remembered him by planting a stone garden. They placed a stone etched with his name, theirs and a heart amongst the flowers.

Now, two years later, construction at SMS necessitates the removal of "Jason's Garden". New construction and numerous portable classrooms will be in its place come fall.

To that end, Seminole High School students who first organized the efforts to plant "Jason's Garden" as SMS students, joined graduating and current SMS Sanford Middle School students and teachers in the afternoons of the last week of school on the task.

Saturday, May 24 -- the first day of summer vacation for SMS students -- teachers Bob Sellers and Bob Alexander, Sellers' wife Judy, parent and PTA president Kathy Hoffman, SMS students Katie Hoffman and Gil Gilmartin and SMS student Anne Gilmartin all showed up on the north side of campus to plant a border hedge, flowers and plants in memory of Jason.

Sellers constructed two archways out of landscape timbers which will eventually be covered by bougainvillea. They planted two loquat trees, Indian Hawthorne, leguminous hedges, crotons, caladiums and hibiscus plants.

Work continued on Memorial Day with SHS students Angela Gramkow, Christina Harden and Robby Walker added.

Working in Jason's Garden are teachers Robert Sellers, social studies, and science, and Seminole High School student Gil Gilmartin.

Walker, who had not gone to school with Jason, cut down an orange tree that, according to Sellers, "detracted from the magnificence of the oak tree." The cornerstone memorializing Jason was moved to a corner bed on the south end of the garden.

Sellers says they are not finished, "but the pressure's off. There are a lot of loose ends to tie up."

Money for the plants came from fund-raisers held in the past by SMS students. The balance is in an account for maintaining Jason's garden.

Sellers is now looking for free or reasonably priced pine bark to cover an area of the ground. By the time school resumes in late July, the work should be completed.

It is telling that this summer's project includes the efforts of both high school and middle school students who never knew Jason. They know his former classmates and teachers. In this way the memory of Jason Matthew Bill lives on at Sanford Middle School through "Jason's Garden."

Who was Jason? He was a son, a grandson, a nephew, a classmate. He was just a boy, who applied himself to his studies, treated others courteously, knew how to have fun. He was like anyone else's child--and that is what made him special.

In Lifelines, the SMS 1996 yearbook, then eighth grader Katie Hoffman wrote: "This garden was planned to reflect Jason's love, good character and kind nature and the students hope that future classes will continue to tend it and keep it looking beautiful."
...Just as Jason loved Florida, the garden is planted with things that love growing in Florida...Every act of caring for the garden is an act of remembrance and those who cultivate it in the future will be honoring Jason's memory, the memory of the rarest kind of person, a truly good person.

CONSOLIDATED PLAN FUNDING SUMMARY SEMINOLE COUNTY, FLORIDA VOLUSIA/SEMINOLE HOME CONSORTIUM (SOUTHERN SECTOR)

Notice To Citizens:

Seminole County is the recipient of federal grant funds through a number of programs administered by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). These include the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program, the HOME Investments Partnership Program (Volusia and Seminole Counties formed a consortium in 1991 to qualify for the HOME Program), and the Emergency Shelter Grant (ESG) Program. These programs are designed primarily to assist the County's low and moderate-income residents. In order to streamline the administration of these programs, HUD has consolidated all of the local planning and citizen participation requirements for these various federal programs into a single administrative process: "The Consolidated Plan."

Consolidated Plan Summary:

The Consolidated Plan represents the best thinking of the County, its residents, local organizations, and social service providers. As part of the Plan development process, the County held workshops with the residents of its low income neighborhoods, solicited ideas from its social service agencies, nonprofit housing providers, County and City Departments, and held public hearings to seek input on problems and needs, as well as on how the County should best use these funds.

Based on this information and analysis, in 1995 the County developed a Five-Year Strategic Plan. This Plan sets priorities for County activities in the coming years. In the area of affordable housing, the County, working with its non-profit housing partners, will continue to give priority to assisting its low income residents through down-payment, rehabilitation, and rental assistance and by helping homeless families with children, including victims of domestic violence. The County will continue to target its non-housing community development activities within its low-income target neighborhoods.

The County has prepared a One-Year Action Plan. The proposed use of funds for the Fiscal Year beginning October 1, 1997, are:

CDBG Program: The following allocation of funds is recommended by the CAB for the 12th program of the CDBG Program:

East Atamonte Community Center	$150,000
Midway Paving Improvements (Design Only)	87,750
Casselberry Paving Improvements	174,400
Bookertown Potable Water Improvements	370,000
Roseland Park Sanitary Sewer Improvements	370,000
City of Sanford (Community Policing)	180,500
Grove Counseling Center (Family Support Services)	10,582
Allen Chapel (Food Pantry)	5,500
Rescue Outreach Mission of Sanford, Inc.	7,000
Tajiri Arts School of Performing Arts & Academics (Historic Pres.)	22,000
Central Florida Chapter International Black Women's Congress	20,000
Teenage Families Emergency Shelter (JUTE Inc.)	55,000
Seminole Housing Advocacy/Action Coalition	25,000
Sanford Housing Authority	112,759
Boys and Girls Club of Central Florida, Inc.	51,200
SafeHouse of Seminole County	39,968
Clearance Program	119,154
Housing Services	275,000
Fair Housing	6,000
Rehabilitation Administration	2,400
General Administration	431,633
Code Enforcement	21,154
Contingency (Unprogrammed Funds)	140,000
TOTAL	$2,685,000

HOME Program: Staff recommends continuing activities funded in previous years, including housing rehabilitation, tenant-based rental assistance, and the rehabilitation and provision of low income rental units 9CHDO set-aside activity). The HOME Program has been very successful in providing affordable housing units to very low and low income households, and should be used in conjunction with the CDBG and SHIP Programs to provide a full rounded and comprehensive housing assistance program. The grant requires a 25% (4 to 1) match, which is provided chiefly through the SHIP Program under similar activities. The following allocation of funds is recommended by staff for next year's HOME Program:

Owner and renter occupied housing rehabilitation	$350,000
Tenant-based rental assistance	200,000
Purchase, rehabilitation and/or provision of rental units (CHDO set-aside)	150,000
Administration	64,499
TOTAL	$765,094

ESGP Program: The Emergency Shelter Grant is provided to the County to make improvement and assistance to homeless individuals and families and to those who are at risk of becoming homeless. Each year the County allocates 30% of the grant (the maximum provided by regulation) to the County's Community Assistance to make assistance available to households to prevent homelessness. The remaining funds go to one or more homeless shelters (there are currently three in the County) for renovations or for operating expenses. The grant requires a dollar for dollar match, which is provided by the funded organizations. The following allocation of funds is recommended by staff:

Homeless prevention	$21,300
Homeless shelter renovation or operating cost	49,700
TOTAL	$71,000

Thirty Day Public Comment Period:

From June 2, 1997, to July 2, 1997, there will be a thirty day public comment period to receive public comment on the County's Plan and Proposed Use of Funds. During this period, the draft Plan will be available for public review at the Community Development Office, as well as in each of the County's libraries.

Final Hearing:

A final hearing on the One-Year Action Plan will be held on July 8, 1997, at 1:30 p.m. at a regular Board of County Commissioner's meeting.

Response to Citizen Comments:

The County will respond within fifteen days, in writing, to all public comments received.

Additional Information:

A copy of the One-Year Action Plan can be obtained from the County's Community Development Office. Contact: Anthony Pelt at 321-1130, extension 7364.

Fishermen provide a $69.4 billion impact on economy

SANFORD — The economic impact of the sportfishing industry on the United States' economy totals more than $69.4 billion. The sportfishing industry is responsible for more than 924,000 American jobs. The National Fishing Week celebration, to be held June 2-8, will give more than 50 million anglers an opportunity to focus attention on the social and economic benefits of sportfishing.

According to the latest nationwide economic statistics available, anglers spend more than $24 billion on sportfishing goods and services. Anglers also provide $2.1 billion in federal income tax and $1.3 billion in state sales and income taxes.

The conservation and management of the nation's aquatic and fisheries resources are funded by anglers at more than $500 million annually. These moneys come from the purchase of state fishing licenses and through the Sport Fish Restoration Trust Fund. The Wallop-Breaux Trust Fund of 1984 established the Sport Fish Restoration Trust Fund to collect federal excise taxes and import duties on fishing equipment, gasoline used in motorboats, foreign-manufactured pleasure boats and interest on investments. The Wallop-Breaux Trust Fund is being considered for reauthorization by the United States Congress in 1997.

This year, at least 46 states, territories and the District of Columbia will offer "Free Fishing Days" to introduce citizens to angling and encourage former anglers to try the sport again. Each state establishes its own criteria for free fishing days and many states waive fishing license requirements, enforce limited restrictions and sponsor special activities at local events.

The National Fishing Week Steering Committee is a not-for-profit 501 (c)(3) organization, working to increase public awareness of the lifestyle benefits of fishing, recreational fishing opportunities and aquatic resource stewardship responsibilities.

IN FLORIDA, ANGLER EXPENDITURES ARE $1,837,246,000. ECONOMIC OUTPUT IS LISTED AT A WHOPPING $3,473,239,000.

FISHING FORECAST

The Puzzle Lake area is still hot for bass in the 1-3 pound range. Most of the bass are concentrated near sandbars, slough mouths, and deep bends. Wade fishing can be deadly for these concentrations of bass.

Sebastian Inlet has great action for snook in the 7-15 pound range. Large live shrimp fished on a plain lead head jig is the ticket. Remember that the snook season closure starts in June, so it will be catch and release. Also expect scattered redfish, small snapper, a few flounder, ladyfish and jack crevalle.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports that high seas have kept boats in Port. Offshore action has been hot for dolphin, cobia and king mackerel. Inside the Port, flounder and sheepshead are the main attraction.

Sheepshead are the big news at Ponce Inlet. Live shrimp and fiddler crabs are hard for them to resist. Also count on small bluefish, a few redfish and drum, and some jack crevalle. Trout and redfish are rated as good in Mosquito Lagoon.

Diamondbacks send Bambino series to third game

By COURTNEY LEFFEW
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — It's one game for all the marbles now.

Saturday afternoon at Roy Holler Field, the Fisher, Laurence, Deen and Fromang Diamondbacks turned the tables on the Enterprise Trucking Braves with a 6-0 victory in Game 2 of the Sanford Recreation Department Babe Ruth Baseball Bambino Division City Championship Series.

The game was almost a carbon copy of Thursday night's opening game, except the Braves prevailed in that contest 7-0.

In game one, the Braves came in and did their job and left with a victory. On Saturday, the Diamondbacks came back in full force with the same attitude the Braves had displayed two days before.

"The Braves have such a good team," said Diamondbacks coach Jeff Deen. "They are well coached and they have good players and good kids. They held back their best pitcher and we were lucky enough to play so much better this game. The team came out relaxed and played to have fun."

The third and deciding game will start at 6:15 p.m. this evening at Roy Holler Field.

Pitching again told the story in the game as Erik Broom, who suffered the loss in game one, came back to give up one hit and face the minimum of nine batters over the first three innings.

Waiting worth it in Co-Ed

from Staff Reports

SANFORD — For two hours Monday it was a very uneventful and boring evening for the fans in attendance at the Sanford Recreation Department Co-Ed Spring Slowpitch Softball League at Pinchurst Park.

The game game three.

The night started with Sunniland Corporation getting a 7-0 forfeit from BHM, which failed to field a team. That meant sitting around for an hour to wait for game two.

After a slow first inning, game two became a slaughter as Chang's Car Care exploded for 11 runs, highlighted by James Garner's grand slam. In the second inning and Maronda Homes only had one base runner, on a single by Mike Pezik in the second inning, and the game was stopped in the top of the fourth inning with the score 21-0 Chang's Car Care.

That meant more waiting.

The third game made the waiting worthwhile, as the Sharks and C and L Timber hooked up in a lead-changing slugfest.

The Sharks led 1-0 in the top of the first inning, before C and L Timber came back with three runs in the bottom of the first inning. The Sharks tied the game in the top of the second and the score was still tied (5-5) after three innings.

The Sharks took the lead for good as they scored two runs in the fourth inning and then raised the advantage to 13-5 with six runs in the top of the fifth inning.

But C and L Timber would not go away as it scored six runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to close to within 13-11 and, after the Sharks got a run in the top of the sixth inning, scored two more runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to make the score 14-13.

The Sharks added one final run to its total in the top of the seventh inning and this time C and L Timber could not mount a challenge as the Sharks held on 15-13.

Because of a problem last week, we are unable to give the standings.

Next week, in a make-up night from games rained out on April 14th, Chang's Car Care takes on C and L Timber at 6:30 p.m.; the Sharks face BHM at 7:30 p.m.; and Sunniland Corporation tackles Maronda Homes at 8:30 p.m.

Powering Chang's Car Care were Chip Smith (one home run, one triple, one single, three runs scored, three RBI), Lynette Barkley (three singles, three runs scored, two RBI), James Garner (one grand slam, one triple, two runs scored, six RBI), Chris Bryson (one home run, one double, two runs scored, three RBI) and David Blakey (one triple, one single, two runs scored, one RBI).

Also hitting were Zeb Webb (two doubles, one run scored), Gina Green (one double, one single, two runs scored, one RBI), Liz Turner (one double, one single, one run scored, two RBI), Carol Garner (two singles, three runs scored), Lynn Webb (two singles, one run scored) and Debbie Berning (one single, one run scored).

Top seeds lead B. Ruth series

SANFORD — The Blitz Clean Royals get to sit and wait.

Monday evening at Zinn Beck Field, the Royals, the American Division champions, completed a two-game sweep of the Knights of Columbus Cardinals with a 10-2 victory in the semifinals of the Sanford Recreation Department Babe Ruth Baseball League City Championship Series.

That victory came on the heels of a hard-fought 7-4 win over the Cardinals on Saturday.

The Royals will now take on the winner of the other semifinal, which is currently being led one game to none by the defending champion, and undefeated, Moose Lodge Pirates and their one man wrecking crew, Jay Roland.

The Pirates had little trouble in dispatching the Nobles Construction White Sox in game one, as Roland gave up one unearned run on two hits while striking out 11 in six innings of work on the hill and helped his own cause by going three-for-three with a home run and two doubles, scored two runs and drove in four as the Pirates won 8-1. Tyler Drake worked a scoreless seventh.

Game two of the Pirates/White Sox series is today at 5:45 p.m. at Zinn Beck Field. A win by the White Sox would force a winner-take-all game on Wednesday at 5:45 p.m. at Zinn Beck Field, while a Pirates win would advance them into Saturday's Championship Round against the Royals.

Doing the damage for the Royals on Monday were Bud Bennett (two doubles, single, run, two RBI), Pooh Killingsworth (double, single, run, three RBI), Alex Anderson (double, single, run, RBI), Jason Sheffield

SAC diamond players earn All-State honors

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Editor

SANFORD — The Seminole Athletic Conference was pretty well represented on the FSWA All-State Baseball and Softball teams released late last week.

Leading the way were baseball standouts Clyde "C3" Williams III from Seminole High School and Robbie Sitz from Class 6A State champion Lake Brantley High School. Both are juniors and were selected to the first team in their respective classes.

Williams, a first baseman-pitcher, was selected as an infielder after leading the SAC in five offensive categories this season.

Sitz, a pitcher, was 12-1 this season and a win and a finish at the state tournament.

The SAC had three players selected to the second team. Seminole slugging senior shortstop Chris Louwama was tabbed in Class 5A; while Lake Brantley senior hurler Chris Child and Oviedo sophomore catcher Jeremy Frost, who missed a majority of the season but still had phenomenal numbers, were Class 6A picks.

The final selection in baseball was Oviedo senior pitcher Mike Halaychick, who was 8-2, who was picked for the third team.

In softball, Lake Mary High School's Brie Van Swearingen, who .388, was the lone SAC player selected, earning a spot on the Class 6A second team.

(two singles, two runs), James Soydara (single, run, RBI) and Uriah Kiming (run).

Hitting for the Cardinals were Levi Raines (two singles, run), Willie Bennett (double, RBI), Donovan

Fred Howard relieved in the fourth and allowed only two base runners, one on a triple and the other on an error, over the final three innings to earn the save. The duo combined for nine strike outs.

"We have been blessed with four great pitchers this year," said Deen. "Erick Breum and Fred Howard have really carried us through the season."

The Braves duo of Cary Medlock and Daniel App also pitched well, only allowing four hits, but three of the hits went for extra bases and drove in runs.

"I am confident we can come back and win in game three," said Braves coach Jason Bender. "This was a disappointing game, but we have come back before and we can again."

The Diamondbacks took a 2-0 lead in the second inning when Mike McKenzie walked and scored on a triple by Sean Love, who later scored on a wild pitch.

The National Division champs increased the lead to 3-0 in the third as Roger Breum walked and came plateward on a double by Erik Breum.

The score stayed 3-0 until the bottom of the fifth inning when Jeff Burkett was hit by a pitch and was run for by Mike McKenzie. Two outs later Erik Breum singled and both runners came home on a triple by Howard, who later scored on a wild pitch.

Erik Breum led the Diamondbacks at the plate with a 2-for-2 evening that included a double and one run scored. Also contributing were Fred Howard and Sean Love (one triple, one run scored and one RBI each), Mike McKenzie (two runs scored) and Roger Breum (one run scored).

Donte Johnson tripled and Ryan Quinn singled for the Braves.

Herbal remedies vs. drugs

DEAR DR. GOTT: In several columns, you have described imported herbal remedies as being unsafe. I have read that, according to government statistics, about 60,000 people die every year from the side effects of pharmaceutical drugs and 140,000 people are hospitalized.

Why do you ignore this information? You promote the use of drugs with such zeal that I wonder if you are a "shill" for the drug companies. You don't have to be an M.D. to know that our bodies can react badly to any drug.

DEAR READER: Yes, they can — and often do. But, as I have repeatedly stated, you have to look at the risk/benefit ratio for any medication.

For example, in the past 50 years, thousands of people have died from taking penicillin. Are you suggesting that, based on this observation, doctors should withhold penicillin therapy in the presence of life-threatening infection? I think not.

The benefits of such therapy clearly outweigh the very real but ordinarily inconsequential risks. Doctors make such decisions every day, based on valid scientific studies proving drugs' effectiveness.

This is not true of most imported herbal remedies, which have not been thoroughly tested, have not been proved effective, and are often laced with dangerous components (such as cortisone) that do not appear on the labels. Thus, a person who takes an herbal remedy is, in a very real sense, performing his own experiment. If the risk is death and the benefit is questionable, why take a chance?

As I have said before, when an herbal remedy has passed the muster of scientific scrutiny, I'll endorse it — but not before.

Finally, I'm not a "shill" for the drug companies. If you were a regular reader of my column, you'd know that I often argue against using medication unnecessarily. I believe that people are frequently over-medicated and tend to rely inappropriately on drugs, both prescription and over-the-counter.

Each person who chooses to take a medication — even something as ordinarily innocuous as aspirin — must carefully analyze the risks and benefits of so doing.

To give you more information, I am sending you copies of my Health Reports "Consumer Tips on Medicines" and "Fads II: Herbs and Other Healing Fads."

DEAR DR. GOTT: During a recent exam, I was found to have a slightly elevated liver enzyme. Because I enjoy one cocktail at night and a glass of red wine at dinner, my doctor suggested that I cut out the cocktail.

Repeat blood tests showed a normal liver enzyme. Must I also stop drinking the wine I enjoy so much?

DEAR READER: Alcohol is detoxified by the liver. When the amount imbibed is significant (more than one or two cocktails per day), the liver may leak enzymes into the bloodstream. These enzymes can be measured. The amount reflects the degree to which the liver is stressed, or — in heavy drinkers — damaged.

Evidently, you had a mild abnormality that was corrected when you stopped drinking hard liquor. At present, the amount of wine you consume does not appear to be affecting liver function. Moreover, as I'm sure you are aware, a glass or two of red wine a day is believed to confer health benefits, notably to protect against heart disease.

MEDICINE
PETER GOTT, M.D.

Therefore, I see no reason for you to give up your moderate intake of wine. Remember, though, that drinking more than a glass or two is probably not healthful and may show up in future liver tests. So, continue to moderate your alcohol consumption and follow your doctor's advice with respect to alcohol and related health matters.

WIN AT BRIDGE

The intrigue of victory

By Phillip Alder

Earlier this year I was asked by two students how they could do better in the weekly duplicate at their club. That was an easy one. I replied that if they defended all opposing contracts perfectly, they would win every week. Adam Smith, an 18th century Scottish economist and philosopher, almost had it right when he wrote, "Defense ... is of much more importance than opulence." Well, good defense at the bridge table leads to one form of opulence: many plus scores. Take today's deal as an example. You hold the West cards, defending against four spades after South opened one no-trump. You start with two top clubs, South dropping the jack and queen. What next?

You should check the point count. Let's assume declarer has shown 16. There are 12 in the dummy, and you have 11. That leaves partner with at most a jack. So, you're on your own. This means that the only chance for a fourth trick lies in the trump suit. Undermine declarer's spade holding by leading a third club. Let's assume declarer ruffs in hand and starts on the trumps. You must duck the first two rounds. Now declarer is dead. If he switches to the red suits, you will get a ruff with your remaining low trump for one down. But if South continues in kamikaze fashion, leading a further round of trumps, you win and play a fourth club, forcing out dummy's final trump. You will score your last trump and a long club for two down. Whenever you've taken all your side-suit tricks, giving a ruff and discard is typically the best defense.

Your Birthday

Wednesday, June 4, 1997

A loyal friend who always has had your best interest at heart may be helpful to you again in the year ahead. Study his or her advice in an arrangement that could make or save you money.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You are rarely at a loss for creative ideas, even though they often end up collecting dust somewhere. However, today your ingenuity will have functional channels for positive expression. Gemini, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $2 and SASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you might profit from a commercial arrangement that won't be conducted conventionally. Although daring and different, it will be ethical.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The stars indicate that you should get along well with all associates today, especially if you're able to deal with them on a one-to-one basis.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Substantial strides can be made today where your work is concerned, provided that you replace old methods with unique approaches.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Try not to schedule your day too far in advance. Spur of the moment developments might emerge and you'll want to be free to participate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) An unexpected benefit may be channeled through a family contact today. Something of material value could be associated with this development.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The judgment you possess is quite keen today and your initial assessments of situations will be on target. Stick with your gut feelings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Unexpected changes might be made today that could have a positive effect on your earning powers. Let your imagination run rampant.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Situations that contain elements of chance could work out favorably for you today. Take care not to risk a lot merely to gain a little.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Today marks the beginning of a favorable shift in an arrangement you felt powerless to control. Closures should work out to your benefit.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You might hear from an old friend today who wants to get you involved in his or her latest idea. If it sounds a bit far out, research it in depth.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If your radar is working properly, you could be luckier than usual today in financial and career areas. Opportunities might develop in unique ways.
