

Sanford's New City Hall Will Offer 1-Stop Convenience

By MARK WEINBERG
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's new city hall, now under construction, will provide offices for all city department heads except the police and fire departments who have business with the city.

Parks and Recreation Director Jim Jernigan's office is now located in the civic center, and two other department heads have offices in trailers adjacent to the old city hall building, which will be demolished when city employees move into the new city hall in December.

City Manager W.E. Knowles hopes the switch will take place before Christmas. "That's what the contractor (Williams Development Co. of Orlando) says. They'll make it if our luck holds out. We should be able to move in by the first of December," Knowles said.

When the new building is completed, Fire Chief George M.

Harriet's office will still be at the central fire station at 14th St. and French Ave., and Police Chief Ben Butler will remain at his office at the law enforcement center at 8th St. and French Ave.

About 30 city employees are now located in city hall, and Knowles doesn't expect the number of city employees in the new facility to increase by much.

"We'll have about 22 employees in the new building, but there will be a number of improvements over what we've got now which should make things more convenient for the public and provide a better working environment for our employees," Knowles said.

And the new building will have office space to provide for more city officials as the population of Sanford expands.

City departments with interrelated functions will be located next to each other, an arrangement which Knowles said should increase the efficiency of city employees.

The utilities and public works departments and city engineer's offices will be located in one area of the new building's second floor. There also will be an office for a city planner, but that doesn't mean city officials plan to hire a full time planner.

"In the past we've employed a city planner from time to time, and this arrangement will continue. In the new building, he'll have an office to work in," said the city manager.

Across the hall from those offices will be a walk-in public service center, which Knowles said will "handle at least 90 per cent of the business our citizens will have in city hall."

The service area will include central locations for the cashier, utilities office, building officials, zoning supervisor and licensing officials.

Next door to the service area will be Jernigan's parks and recreation office, and further down the hall will be an administrative working center containing supply areas, files and the city's copying machine.

"That machine is now located in my office," Knowles said. "The new arrangement will be more convenient for more city officials and should be a real time saver."

Another convenient feature will be a data processing room.

"Those machines generate a surprising amount of heat. We'll have special arrangements to deal with that and to keep the machines at just the right temperature and humidity. Those machines are extremely finicky," Knowles said.

Farther down the hall will be the finance office, including the payroll, accounting and employee credit union, as well as the offices of the city clerk, civil service and personnel office, run by Allen Bush, assistant to the city manager.

There also will be office space for a city attorney and labor relations specialist, though the city has no current plans for full time positions for these functions. "We might need them someday," Knowles said, "but we don't need them now."

The first floor will house the legislative wing, with a city commission meeting room and conference rooms across the hall. There will be no individual offices for the mayor or city commissioners Knowles said.

Portraits Of A Tragedy: Boy Drowns Near Lake Monroe Marina

Sanford police divers recovered the body of Emanuel Innman, 10, of 1219 1/2 Southwest Road, Thursday evening an hour after he slipped without a eye beneath the waves of Lake Monroe about 50 feet off the north beach of the lakefront marina complex. Two younger boys, who had been swimming and wading with Innman in shallow water, ran to the marina for help after their companion dropped from sight while retrieving a drifting innertube, police said. The frightened boys then ran home, officers said, as police and fire rescue teams converged on the drowning scene. Officials used a sheriff's patrol boat and police airplane in the search. Officers said police diver Larry Monti found the youth's body in a dredge hole with a sharp dropoff near where he disappeared.

Food Costs Boost Consumer Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another big jump in the cost of food pushed consumer prices up eight-tenths of 1 per cent in April, the third big monthly rise in consumer prices this year, the government reported today.

Food prices rose 1.5 per cent during the month, more than twice the March increase of six-tenths of 1 per cent. A major cause of the food price rise was the 13.1 per cent increase in the price of ground coffee, the government said.

The April increase in consumer prices, equivalent to an annual rate of nearly 10 per cent, showed inflation will continue to be a major economic problem for the months ahead. However, administration economists remain confident that spiraling food costs will slow down later this year, easing the overall pressure on consumers' pocketbooks.

Seminole's Human Services Director Troy Todd: Man With A Mission

Troy Todd is a smallish man. Smallish in appearance, that is. Not in ideology. Because Todd — Seminole County's new director of Human Services — has a philosophy that expresses precisely what his job is all about.

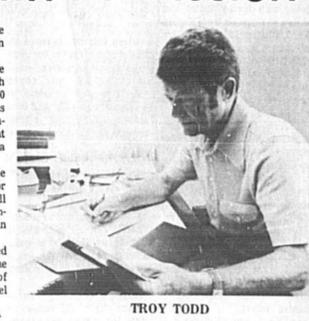

Serving the people. That's how Todd views his position. And with a million-dollar-a-year budget and about 70 employees, that's what Troy Todd intends to do.

A Navy man for 30 years, Todd joined county government Jan. 3. Before retiring from the Navy the 49-year-old director "Mustang" his way up through the ranks to a Navy Commander. No small feat for a young man who joined the navy in 1946 — right out of high school.

"I feel like I'm really doing some good. I go home at the end of the day tired to death with what I've done. I know I've helped people," Todd explained. One recent day in his office over on Magnolia and Third Street in Downtown Sanford.

Todd's position was first suggested by Management Consultant Woody Underwood. Underwood's thinking was to get all the county's social service, or related agencies, under one umbrella, so to speak, presided over by one director who reports directly to the county commission.

Before, you see, about six different chiefs ran their departments independently. Now, they all report to Todd who coordinates the entire effort with elected officials in county government.

Knowing Tire Size Not Enough In Finding Them

Knowing the correct tire size used to be the only way to find a replacement. Today, however, there are many ways to find a replacement tire. For best all-around car make tire shopping, consult a tire expert. He will check the tire's tread, sidewall, and other features. A single new tire should be purchased for the most part. The Rubber Manufacturers Association (RMA) offers some tips on buying tires.

New Tires On Road

If you are buying a new pair of replacement tires, put them on the rear wheels first. A single new tire should be purchased for the most part. The Rubber Manufacturers Association (RMA) offers some tips on buying tires.

Checking Hoses

Most hose problems are caused by leaks. The most obvious problem is a leak. However, it is best to check each hose by squeezing it to determine if it has been damaged. If a hose is damaged, it should be replaced.

Size steps to save fuel without cutting down on travel are suggested by Auto Club:

1. Drive at moderate speeds. Most cars get about 21 per cent more miles per gallon on the highway at 55 miles per hour than at 45 mph.
2. Avoid idling at red lights.
3. Drive at a steady pace — avoid stop-and-go traffic.
4. Minimize braking — anticipate speed changes. Release the accelerator as soon as a red light is visible ahead.
5. Do not overdrive — drive at a speed that allows you to stop safely in an emergency.
6. Do not let the motor idle for more than a minute if temporarily stopped at a red light.
7. Turn off the engine if you expect to be stopped for more than a minute.

U.S. Army General To Meet Carter On Withdrawal Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — On orders from a displeased President Carter, the third-ranking U.S. Army general in Korea is flying here for a face-to-face White House confrontation triggered by his public criticism of Carter's plan to withdraw American ground forces from South Korea. At issue is Maj. Gen. John K. Singlaub's public statement that adherence to Carter's plan for withdrawing a U.S. ground force from South Korea over a period of four to five years "will lead to war."

Diet Soft Drinks Life Slim

FDA commissioner Donald Kennedy clearly was impressed by the parade of diabetics, parents of diabetics and doctors who told two days of hearings that ended Thursday of the plight of diabetics under the FDA's saccharin ban, which will take effect in July.

Sanford Man 'Not Guilty' In April Stabbing Death

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

A circuit court jury Thursday found Sherman Nelson, 29, of 906 E. Eighth St., Sanford, innocent of second-degree murder in the April 9 stabbing death of fellow roominghouse tenant Walter Knight.

Nelson testified he came home at 2:30 a.m. to the bedroom he shared with 36-year-old Alberta Junior and Knight, 37, lying in a pool of blood on the bed. He said he ran to a neighbor's house and telephoned for help.

Medical Examiner Dr. G.V. Garay testified that Knight bled to death when an artery in his left leg was severed by a sharp instrument like a butcher knife. "I don't know when or how he got cut," Nelson told the six-member jury. "I'm not a violent man."

Miss Junior testified she loves Nelson but wouldn't cover up for him. She told the jury that he awakened to find that Knight had crawled fully clothed into her bed and that Nelson came home, argued with Knight, went to the kitchen, returned with a butcher knife and stabbed Knight in the leg as he sat on the bed.

She said she grabbed the knife from Nelson and threw it onto a chair in the bedroom and ran for help.

In closing arguments to the jury Kelly theorized that Miss Junior stabbed Knight and "assumed" Nelson "would cover up for her. She didn't intend to kill Knight, just to stick him and get him out of her bed," Kelly said. He told the jurors that Assistant State Atty. Ralph Eriksson had failed to prove allegations against Nelson, "beyond a reasonable doubt."

Zoning Panel Okays Meeting Hall Plan

The Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission Thursday night approved a site plan for a meeting hall for a fraternal organization, granted permission to increase spaces available for vendors at Super Flea Market, okayed a conditional use for a ground sign and gave the go-ahead for operation of a soft drink store which would also sell beer and wine.

J.W. Jones was granted permission to add 60 spaces to the Super Flea Market at 15000 French Ave. The spaces will be used for vendors selling merchandise from campers.

Judy Kriger, who operates a plant business at her home at 1301 Park Ave., received permission for a ground sign.

R.L. Crenshaw's request to open a soft drink store which would also sell beer and wine also received approval from the zoning board. The store would be located in Pinecrest Shopping Center east of Marc Slade's Chrysler-Plymouth dealership on French Ave. Crenshaw now must apply for a beer and wine license, on which the city commission will make the final decision.

Burglary Charged In TV Theft

Sanford police arrested Craig Bernard Brooks, 29, of 1122 Willow Ave., Sanford, Thursday on a burglary charge after a television was taken in a break-in at a 1215 Lincoln Court residence.

Bond for Brooks was set at $10,000, according to police records.

Officers reported witnesses saw a man leave the burglary scene with an object wrapped in a pink blanket. Police recovered the television set in a wooded area near 1521 W. 13th St., officers said.

Preparatory School, Goldenrod reported a 1965 Raintree self-propelled sprayer was stolen from the school's baseball field. Deputy B.L. Thompson reported the thief left the hose to the sprinkler behind.

Carter, Ford Refuse To Support Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard Nixon's claim that a President is above the law finds no favor with Jimmy Carter and draws no response from Gerald Ford, who pardoned Nixon for all crimes because it was "the right thing to do."

White House reaction to Nixon's statement that "when the president does it, that means it's not illegal" was swift.

"President Carter does not feel that any president has the right to break the law," said spokesman Rex Granum. "He feels very strongly that it is a tragic mistake to follow that philosophy, as past events have shown so dramatically."

Hamilton Jordan, the President's chief aide, said "if we haven't learned from Watergate that the president and the people around him are not above the law, then we've learned nothing."

And Ford, here Thursday for a Republican fund-raiser, said:

"As far as any questions about Mr. Nixon are concerned, his words speak for themselves."

THE PRESIDENT AND CRIME

Nixon said he approved the Huston plan, calling for wiretappings, burglaries, mail-openings and other covert activities for reasons of national security. He said these actions were not crimes because the President is above the law.

He said, "when the President does it, that means that it is not illegal."

VIETNAM WAR

Nixon thought Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson were "right in going in" to the war, but "they could have conducted it in a more effective way."

He said it would be popular to declare the whole venture a waste, but "I'm not going to say it because I don't believe it."

House-Senate Conference

Irons Out Elections Reform

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee — the first of the legislative session — has ironed out major fund-raising differences in a hefty elections rewrite measure and sent it back to the House and Senate for passage.

The 322-page compromise bill, which had passed both chambers by overwhelming margins in slightly different forms, places tight restrictions on testimonial functions, campaign expenditures and slushfunds of unspent campaign donations.

"I just hope the appropriations conference works as well as we did," commented Sen. Jim Scott, R-Fort Lauderdale, following the 10-member panel's second session Thursday.

Boy Found; Charges Filed

DAYTONA BEACH (AP) — A deputy sheriff checking a reported burglary has found a 6-year-old boy who has been missing from his Wheeling, W.Va., home for two months, authorities say.

The Volusia County sheriff's office said Thursday that Jacob E. McCarthy, 22, was charged with kidnaping after officers found Eric Reinhardt in McCarthy's trailer home.

McCarthy, who was being held in Volusia County Jail without bond, also faces federal charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

The boy was unharmed. He was taken to a state shelter pending travel arrangements back to Wheeling.

Stage Set On Disclosure

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The stage has been set in the Florida Legislature to settle the question of how much financial information public officials should disclose.

Both the House and Senate passed divergent bills Thursday to implement Gov. Reubin Askew's Sunshine Amendment.

There was a good likelihood, one senator said, that the difference between the two houses was so great that a stalemate would keep any measure from passing.

That happened last year and if it does this time, it means the requirements imposed by the constitutional amendment would be retained. These impose stringent disclosure for 1,000 top state and county officials.

Judge Faces 10-Year Term

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — A Florida circuit judge, who was convicted of possessing 1,600 pounds of marijuana and conspiring to distribute the illegal drug, will be sentenced in federal court June 3.

Circuit Judge Samuel S. Smith, 54, of Lake City faces a maximum term of 10 years in prison, five on each charge, and a possible fine of $30,000.

Richard E. Bradley, a 22-year-old private pilot from Alachua, was also convicted of the charges in the April trial that lasted four weeks.

Grover L. Lee, 39, a former Florida State University football player from Live Oak, faces a maximum five-year sentence and a $15,000 fine. He was convicted of conspiracy, but was acquitted of the possession count by the jury.

Miami News Publisher

MIAMI (AP) — Cox Enterprises has announced the appointment of David Kraslow as the new publisher of The Miami News.

Cox President Charles E. Glover said Thursday that Kraslow, now chief of Cox Newspapers' Washington bureau, would take over on August 1.

Kraslow, 51, succeeds Daniel J. Mahoney Jr., who will continue as publisher of other Cox newspapers, including the Palm Beach Post and Times.

For Detention Facility

Lake Mary Supports Federal Funding

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The City of Lake Mary, Thursday night, joined the City of Sanford in supporting Sheriff John Polk's quest of $4.5 million in federal funding for a proposed central detention facility at Five Points.

On urging from Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore, the Lake Mary City Council adopted a resolution stressing that the proposed sheriff's department complex will be a county-wide facility "of interest to everyone" and that each of Seminole County's cities should work with Polk to obtain and provide "this needed facility."

The resolution is to be forwarded to Sheriff Polk.

In other business, the council supported a resolution from the City of Casselberry to the Florida Legislature opposing legislation which would increase costs to the cities of participating in the Florida Retirement System.

Costs under the proposed legislation would be increased from nine per cent for regular employees to 10.2 per cent and for special risk employees (police and firefighters) from 13 per cent to 14 per cent.

Lake Mary currently does not have its employees under the state retirement plan. But, Casselberry officials, in recent weeks, said if the increase becomes law, it would cost that city an additional $12,000 annually and might bring about, by necessity, an increase in property taxes.

The council turned down an offer from George Hess, husband of former-Mayor Margie Hess, to sell to the city his former hardware store in the central part of the city and the accompanying property for $6,000. The reason stated for the turn-down is that sufficient time was not given for due consideration by the city.

Mayor Walter Sorenson reported to the board that a special council meeting will be called just prior to the county's planned June 7 public hearing on its proposed comprehensive land use plan guidelines.

Sorenson, noting that the official hearing on the plan scheduled for this week was rescheduled because of advertising problems, said the council should consider just prior to the new hearing the county's amended plan.

Pointing out that the plan considered by the county this week had been revised, Sorenson said the council in meeting just prior to the new hearing can "formulate its opposition" if any is found to the newest revision at that time.

Casselberry Seeking Ways To Refinance Utility Bonds

The City of Casselberry has decided to refund or refinance its $9 million utility bond issue. Still to be decided is what financing plan will be pursued; whether to opt for level savings or immediate savings; whether to use current funds on hand; whether the city's utility tax will continue to be pledged as part of the repayment and how releasing the utility tax pledge could affect the bond ratings.

The city council earlier this week met with representatives of three bonding firms: H.T. Henann and Co. from Fort Lauderdale; William R. Hough of St. Petersburg and Orlando and Robert W. Wagner, Southeastern Municipal Bonds Inc.

The three firms were requested to submit to the city by 5 p.m. today computer runs showing the exact amount of savings to be realized considering each of the alternatives and the firms' record on the bond rating market.

Following Monday night's regular council meeting, the board in workshop is to consider the information supplied by the firms to the city and to select a firm to prepare a proposal.

The firm chosen will have until 5 p.m. Wednesday to prepare and submit a resolution on the refinancing plan.

City officials were told this week that by refinancing the bond issue the city may realize savings of $1 million or more.

All three firms warned that a new ruling is expected from the U.S. Treasury Department by June 1 tightening up regulations to end the practice by cities of selling bonds at a low interest rate and then using those funds to invest in government securities bearing higher interest rates.

Revenues derived from the difference in interest rates is usually used to defray the costs of discounting and other expenses of floating bonds.

In addition to giving cities an opportunity to earn money, the present regulation also gives individuals a chance to buy tax-free municipal bonds.

Release of the utility taxes as a pledge may also have a direct effect on the bond rating.

Railroad Crossing Answers Coming

Complaints of motorists traveling east and west over the railroad crossing on SR 436 near SR 47 in Altamonte Springs should be answered within the next two weeks, said Altamonte Mayor Norman Floyd today.

Floyd, noting that city hall has been deluged with complaints from motorists about repairs by the State Department of Transportation (DOT) "should be there in their current resurfacing program within the next two weeks."

He said the resurfacing is to correct the dip in the crossing that motorists have been complaining is creating problems with shock absorbers on their cars.

"If they had made the crossing a little higher, we could drive under it," Commissioner Cal DeVosney said, repeating criticisms he has heard from area motorists.

Floyd said when numerous complaints were received the city applied to the DOT to correct the repair work.

Lake Mary Glimpses First Land Use Plan

A preliminary draft of the proposed comprehensive land use plan for Lake Mary, required by law to be adopted by Oct. 1, was presented to the Lake Mary City Council Thursday night by City Planner Reggie Alford.

Representing more than a year's labor by Alford, Zoning Director Francis Jenior and the city's land planning agency (the planning and zoning commission), Alford said he anticipates the document will be completed by mid-June and submitted to the city council, sister cities in the county and the county commission soon thereafter.

The proposal recommends that Lake Mary purchase land for a new city hall complex, for a new police-fire complex and for the location of parks over the next few years.

It urges that low density zoning be retained in the city's "environmentally sensitive" areas to the south, pointing out that natural drainage flow is in that direction and eventually winds up in Spring Hammock and Lake Jessup. "In this way we want to maintain the natural drainage flow through the city," the planner said.

Alford said the plan foresees a cooperative effort — a plan of

Workshops May Be Key To County Plan

A couple of key questions were spawned from Tuesday evening's public hearing hosted by the Seminole County Commission on the county's proposed Comprehensive Plan.

First: What was learned? Second: What next? The answer to the first question is obvious: nothing new. Only elaborations and reaffirmations of the persistent fears among officials of the municipalities that the county is involved in a gigantic conspiracy to steal everything these entities own and cherish — from services to property.

Tuesday's meeting was principally a forum for opponents of the plan, mainly from the ranks of municipal officials. Each argument seemed to echo the last. But only — as Commission Chairman Dick Williams noted — in generalities. Specifics were few and far between.

One explanation for this omission could be the time element. As Nathan Van Meter, Casselberry council chairman said, discussion of specific objections to specific portions of the plan would have consumed more time than was available.

Mr. Van Meter's point probably was well-taken. As was another he offered. He suggested that, for clarification and amplification of the county's intent, plan and motives, workshops between the county and the municipalities would be in order.

To his credit, Chairman Williams agreed. That's the answer to the second question: joint sessions. The wheels already are churning in that direction. Mr. Williams has prepared and mailed letters to the officials in each of the municipalities to arrange these meetings.

June 7 is the date the commission is scheduled to make a final decision on the plan's outlines, prior to the adoption required by Oct. 1.

In mentioning his workshop plans, Mr. Williams has brought up an interesting point. Each of the municipalities in the county — as is the county itself — is required by law to prepare its own comprehensive plan. "We're anxious to look at theirs," comments Williams. "I wonder why they have never come to us?" he asks rhetorically.

Thus the workshop sessions could prove doubly beneficial. They could iron out the difficulties encountered by city officials in accepting the county's plan and, at the same time, give the county a chance to learn what the cities are doing and thus mesh the plans.

All efforts emanating from the county thus far — aimed mainly at lessening the cities' fears of consolidation — have failed. In many ways they have raised more questions than they have answered.

These newly planned workshops may give all parties a second chance to clarify differing views and language and create input assuring proper planning for Seminole County's growth.

We hope they prove fruitful in instituting some kind of reasonable grand design for this growth.

The Truckers' Image

The state's trucking industry is unhappy with the "wild bunch" role it has been assigned in legend and song in connection with the federal speed limit of 55 miles per hour.

A.J. Eyrand, president of the California Trucking Association, resents the loss of the "good guy" image once enjoyed by truck drivers, noting that operators of passenger cars and buses are as guilty as truckers in violating the speed regulation.

But he concedes that leafed-out individuals in the industry have made the trucks a target for criticism.

"When you're big, you attract attention," Eyrand said. "To reinforce his association's support for tougher enforcement of highway and safety regulations, he has urged the public to report to his organization by license number or truck number any violations of "good driving practice" by truck drivers. Owners will be informed, he said, and drivers will find that "the boss means business."

California motorists can aid the enforcement campaign by sending the description of offending trucks to Eyrand's organization at P.O. Box 923, Burlingame, Ca., 94010.

There is something positively delicious and tempting about a row of bins stacked high with dew-fresh produce.

When that produce is also available at wholesale prices to you and me and the rest of John Q. Public it becomes a really special treat. Precisely that will happen in Sanford this weekend when Farm City Day takes place.

At two locations in Sanford (the Sanford Plaza at Airport Boulevard and Hwy. 17-92 as well as Fort Mellon Park) the farmers of Seminole County will be making produce available to the public at prices usually reserved for major buyers such as supermarkets.

The variety alone promises to be interesting, with cabbages, celery and corn leading the list of available green goodies.

Fiddle buffs — especially those with home-canning equipment — will find themselves able to amply stock up on little cucumbers.

What other vegetables will be available will depend on the crops which have reached ripeness, but members of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce's Agri-Business Committee, sponsors of the Farm City Day celebration, are happily anticipating a good many crops.

With tables full of produce available as early as nine o'clock on Saturday, and entertainment off and on throughout the day (not to mention refreshments available for a small fee) the Farm City Day celebration looks like a great way to spend part of your weekend.

If you are the proud owner of a pressure cooker for canning or a freezer for icing down a bushel or two of vegetables, Farm City Day is going to be a great way to stock up at prices that can't be beat. Even if you are only buying for one, the combination of fresh vegetables, entertainment and the display of all sorts of farm equipment deserves a look-see.

Farm City Day is scheduled to include several static displays of antique farm equipment, as well as a collection of tractors and other modern devices intended to permit one person to do the work which formerly required a field full of "hands."

If looks at all that food makes you unbearably hungry, there also will be a collection of short order delights for sale — hot dogs, hamburgers and soft drinks will be available for a titance, almost as small as that required to buy the fresh produce.

Entertainment for the day will be provided by "pickers and singers" from area high schools. The combination of great quantities of fresh vegetables, small prices, antique and up-to-the-minute farm equipment, refreshments — and picking and singing — only happens once a year in Sanford. Farm City Day is here again — enjoy!

Are Babies Important As Birds?

WASHINGTON — The mail brings a comprehensive 485-page report prepared for the Council on Environmental Quality, which details the more than 100 treaties, international agreements, federal statutes, executive orders and federal regulations which protect our wildlife. Among the laws we now have on the books to protect our animal friends are the following:

— The Migratory Bird Treaty Act. Passed in 1916, this statute makes it unlawful "to hunt, take, capture, kill, or possess" any bird protected by the law, except as permitted by the Secretary of Agriculture. Under this law, in one case, an oil company that failed to cover an oil pit was fined $500 for each of 14 migratory birds which drowned in the pit, after apparently mistaking it for a pond.

— The Bald Eagle Protection Act. Passed in 1940, it was amended in 1972. A "first" violation which kills an eagle can get a maximum fine of $5,000 and/or one year in jail; for subsequent killings, the penalties increase to a $10,000 fine and/or two years in jail. Any person taking or possessing any eagle, part, nest or egg thereof, can be fined up to $5,000. Anyone who supplies information that leads to a conviction under this act can get a "citizen bounty" of one-half of the fine levied.

— The Wild Free-Roaming Horses and Burro Act. Passed in 1971, this law provides that any person who "maliciously causes the death or harassment" of a protected horse or burro, or who "processes or permits to be processed into commercial products the remains" of same, may be fined up to $2,000 or jailed for one year, or both.

Among those international treaties that protect our wildlife we have:

— The Treaty for the Preservation and Protection of Fur Sales. Signed in 1911 by the United States, Russia, Japan, and Great Britain, this document protects the Northern Fur Seal from "pelagic sealing," which means killing this seal while it is swimming along its migratory route.

Besides this treaty, we have signed other treaties to protect fish, whales, polar bears, Antarctic seals, and various forms of Antarctic flora and fauna.

Under the Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972, there is a wide array of civil, criminal and other penalties. Any person who "knowingly" violates this act can be fined up to $20,000 and/or a year in jail. If a vessel or other conveyance is involved in such a violation, its entire cargo or the monetary value thereof is subject to forfeiture and seizure, and the vessel itself may be fined up to $25,000.

If you willfully violate the 1973 Endangered Species Act, then you're in a heap of trouble. Criminal penalties include up to one year in jail and/or a fine of $25,000; civil penalties up to $10,000 fine; and if your violation is not willful, you can still be fined up to $1,000.

Midshipmen Calling Massage Parlors?

WASHINGTON — The cheating scandal at West Point may be matched in military annals by a telephone scandal at Annapolis for the lonely hearts at the Naval Academy have been running up telephone bills with calls to massage parlors and girlfriends.

The telephone records also show a number of calls from the Annapolis naval establishment to gambling emporiums, race tracks, finance companies and stockbrokers. There have been political calls to such diverse organizations as the Daughters of the American Revolution, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and Nazi party headquarters.

One call was traced to a bookie in Florida, others to health clubs and diet groups. Someone from the Academy, apparently suffering from an acute Big Mac attack, telephoned a McDonald's drive-in restaurant 3,000 miles away in Bellevue, Wash.

A private study of the telephone habits of the midshipmen and other naval employees at Annapolis show they spend a lot of time on the telephone. Many of them also charge their toll calls to the taxpayers. A study of only four per cent of the telephone records uncovered 690 long-distance calls at the taxpayers' expense during the first half of 1976.

The taxpayers are also paying for thousands of unnecessary toll calls that could be carried on the Navy tie lines to Baltimore and Washington.

Trees: Teapot Tempest

SAN FRANCISCO — The tallest trees known to man — the coast redwoods (Sequoia Sempervirens) which can tower 300 feet in forests on the north coast of California — are again at the center of a political storm.

Congress is debating whether it should double the 50,000-acre Redwood National Park created in 1968 to protect these trees, some of which were already giants in 1066. Money for the purchase is available: $50 million has been set aside from offshore oil revenues. The Carter administration is committed to expanding the park and it has strong support in Congress.

But there is an obstacle. The three lumber companies which own forest lands surrounding the present park do not want to sell, and the lumbermen who fell the trees and truck the logs over the rugged wilderness to sawmills see their livelihood threatened.

An angry tussle has broken out between these two groups both of them emotional. While committee hearings favorable to enlarging the park were ending this week, the irate lumber town of Eureka, Calif., whose economy is 80 per cent dependent on timber, was planning to send a cavalcade of log-laden trucks across the country to the Capitol; their presence was expected to make a protest louder than words.

Last month lumbermen snarled up traffic in San Francisco, where committee hearings were being held, by driving over 100 lumber rigs into the center of the city.

ERDA Report Said To Be Suppressed

Is the Carter Administration leveling with the people on the energy issue, or is there a heavy dose of propaganda involved in its moves?

Skeptics and sympathizers will debate this for months, no doubt. But there are some nagging concerns that the Administration hasn't been telling all the truth when it comes to the energy situation.

First, it let the C.I.A. release an unusually gloomy assessment of world energy reserves on the eve of President Carter's energy plan announcement — totally ignoring a recent United Nations survey which draws far more optimistic conclusions.

Next, Mark Stegel, a deputy assistant to the President, told the Washington Press Club details of the White House's plans for saturation selling of the Carter program, including the view that they would like to manipulate school curricula to fit their concept of America's energy future.

Now it turns out that a 500-page environmental impact report prepared by the Federal Energy Research and Development Administration is being suppressed by the government, presumably because it does not conform with White House views on nuclear energy.

Carter's proposed program, you will recall, cited a need for some reliance on nuclear power plants, but strictly those operating on uranium, of which we have a limited supply (often estimated at about 20 years). The President's commitment to stopping the spread of nuclear materials around the world apparently led him to the conclusion that he should not advocate the use of breeder reactors which use plutonium, a byproduct of nuclear fission.

Plutonium can be recycled and breeder reactor research has been aimed at creating reactors that would generate more plutonium than they consume. Thus, a perpetual energy supply.

The Naderites purport to be scared stiff of breeder reactors and peddle colorful scenarios about theft of plutonium by terrorists or devastating accidents which somehow turn nuclear power plants into giant bombs. The latter is technically impossible, and the former is a matter of good security.

The E. R. D. A. report, Document 1554-D, has been gathering dust since February, probably because it does not fit the Administration's avowed bias against plutonium and breeder reactors. This is despite the fact that this renewable energy source could solve a lot of our problems.

The E. R. D. A. report makes some important points. Among them, it says that plutonium safety is good and getting better. It says that, "with full recognition of the need to provide adequate protection against theft, or sabotage of facilities involving nuclear materials, it is concluded that there is no safeguards-related reason to delay the development of fuel cycle facilities to demonstrate reprocessing, including plutonium conversion and storage."

It says that, "with full recognition of the need to provide adequate protection against theft, or sabotage of facilities involving nuclear materials, it is concluded that there is no safeguards-related reason to delay the development of fuel cycle facilities to demonstrate reprocessing, including plutonium conversion and storage."

But we pointed out on it. "Another told us: "You would be amazed at the intensity of the lobbying."

"Footnote: A Coca-Cola spokesman said the industry "favors a returnable bottle system that would save much oil. It also takes oil, he argued, to wash and refill bottles after they are returned. As for litter, he said: "Newspapers cause more litter than anything else."

WHO'S NEWS — A team of prominent Americans is secretly helping President Carter find a replacement for FBI director Clarence Kelley. The group has whittled down the list of prospects, including judges, police chiefs, FBI officials and some academics. A final recommendation is still weeks away.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Arms Treaty Compromise Referred To Moscow Leaders

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — A breakthrough is reported in the nuclear arms talks between Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, and a compromise formula has been referred to Moscow. U.S. and Soviet negotiators indicated they should know today or Saturday whether the two superpowers are going to be able to agree on their second treaty — SALT II — to limit or reduce their arsenals of long-range nuclear weapons.

Begin Gets Small Majority

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Late returns from the Israeli election give Menahem Begin's conservative Likud bloc and its potential coalition partners enough votes for a small but effective majority in the 120-member Knesset, Israel's parliament, election committee sources said today. The unofficial count of civilian ballots from Tuesday's election gave Likud 43 seats in the 120-member parliament while the religious and right-wing partners that are expected to support it had 19 seats. This would give the coalition a total of 62 and a majority of four.

Snook Presents A Problem Outdoors

What has the disposition of a cantankerous old man, looks like a long silver torpedo with a black stripe down its side, and seems to have a permanent case of lock jaw?

Two days and hundreds of casts later, we had our answer: Gene Meadors, Mason Brannon, Joe Brannon and I decided it was time to pull out all the tricks and put a few of these silver beauties in our boat.

As we arrived at the marina to launch Gene's boat, fever was mounting. Beautiful weather, clear water and a good tide chart had put the odds in our favor. We even had a small piece of going-away moon at the crack of dawn with a tide change.

Two days and hundreds of casts later, we had our answer: Gene had been telling us about the beautiful little islands just south of Boca Grande Pass with quiet coves, tranquil beaches, and all a lack of flesh-eating bugs. As most salt water buffs can attest, mosquitoes and sand fleas can make a fishing trip almost unbearable, particularly at this time of year.

Gene Meadors, Mason Brannon, Joe Brannon and I decided it was time to pull out all the tricks and put a few of these silver beauties in our boat.

When the sun finally sidded into the Gulf and the tide was struggling to make its turnaround, adrenalin started pumping — now was the time.

Dulando Claims Mustang Tite

Miller, Baker Sparkle

Dulando Auto Screens is the first half Mustang Division Champion. The reliable combination of Bobby Miller and Clint Baker pitched Dulando to a 10-6 win over AFCON in the playoff game.

Steve Beard, Rob Diablaeker, Paul Wood and Miller all had two hits for the champions, who will now face Sobik's Sandwich Shop in a playoff for the second half championship, which also ended in a tie.

Dixon Hurls No-Hitter As Rebel Pee Wees Win

Craig Dixon threw a no-hitter to beat the Twins as the Rebels scored a 9-0 victory in Sanford Wee League Thursday.

They say one man's joy is another man's sorrow, and that certainly fit Steve Kolacki and David Wiggins Thursday night in the opening round of the state high school tournament at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Moose Topples K of C

Jim Williams, Lance Abner, Richard Bradley and Bernard Merthle all had two hits to lead Moose to a 10-0 victory over K of C in the Sanford Junior League Thursday, 11-10.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC: ONE OUT OF 327 PEOPLE DO IT.

That's right and everyone should. Only one out of 327 people drive a new car before they buy it. Sounds improbable but it's true. If everyone would drive their new car before purchasing, there would be many less dissatisfied customers. Perhaps you are asking "well why don't they?" The answer is simple. Most people appraise the styling, and then immediately get into the deal part of buying.

If everyone were to take a 20 minute demonstration ride in the automobiles they are considering, they would find many things that might change their mind on their purchase. Some of them are: does the car handle, steer, and accelerate well? Is it nimble in traffic? Is it safe to get on the expressway with?

How comfortable is it on rough terrain? Does it rattle? And last, do you like the way it rides and performs?

YOU SHOULD DO IT! Let's presume you are interested in buying a new car and are interested in a Vega, Pinto, Datsun, Volkswagen, or Toyota, and that after looking at the cars and talking to some owners, you have narrowed it down to two or three of the above. I can tell you that there is as much difference in the above automobiles as there is between bitter or sweet chocolate.

Nearly every car looks fine on the showroom floor and most customers suppose because it is a brand new vehicle, with everything factory fresh, that it should please them with its handling characteristics. Our Toyota cars are designed to please you when you sit in and drive them. They are built for comfort, convenience, ease of handling, with superior quality of materials, as well as workmanship. There is a big difference in the handling and performance of most small cars.

Because of the engineering superiority of the Toyota car, its rides, handles, and performs exceedingly well.

A car's reputation is either enhanced or detracted by its owners. It is either recommended or not recommended. We have the most loyal, best satisfied owners in our sales area. Toyota is a good, reliable car, but as I have said before, it is not perfect. Nothing is, however, it is the best assembled, best quality automobile for its price that you money can buy. For all around use, it will give you the best service and the most satisfaction for your dollar.

All of us would like to live forever without any medical maintenance or doctor bills, but as you know, this is an impossibility. We all require check-ups, operations, and now even replacement parts, to maintain life after a certain number of years.

Even though a Toyota motor car is built by skilled craftsmen, who really care about their product and use only the finest quality materials, it too, once in a while, can have a problem. While this is negative selling on my part, it has to be said because it's true. It is also true that your Toyota will have less problems, less trouble, and give you more miles of satisfactory driving than any other car of its price and type that I know of. Its reputation is a good one because it's a very good car to begin with.

So, please, if you are contemplating the purchase of a new car, stop by one of our 148 dealers in the southeast and pick your own proving ground. For this premium quality car, with fine handling characteristics, you do not have to pay a premium price, and that you can take to the bank.

Sincerely, Jim Moran

Jim Moran, President Southeast Toyota Distributors, Inc.
