Body Of Girl Found Stuffed In Dresser

Discovery Of Partly-Clad Corpse In Hotel Surrounded By Mystery INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The partially clothed body of a 5-foot-7 small-town girl was found brutally jammed into a four-foot-long dresser drawer in a downtown hotel yesterday.

The girl was 18-year-old Dorothy Poore of Clinton, Ind. The body was partially decomposed and technicians fought today to determine how she was killed.

The register of the hotel, the Claypool, showed a Jack O'Shea had rented the room, 605, Thursday and paid through the next day. He gave a New York City address which proved to be false.

The body was found after a maid noticed an odor as she was cleaning the room. What police thought was the license number of O'Shea's car stored in the garage used by the Claypool proved to be that of an obscure New York couple who also was staying at the Claypool.

Police had started a search of the western third of the nation for what they thought was O'Shea's car. An X mistakenly given to police instead of a Y in the license number added complications to the search.

An autopsy by Deputy Coroner William J. Pierce did not show the cause of the girl's death. He said the decomposition may have concealed injuries. The vital organs were removed and sent to the Indiana University Medical Center for chemical tests, a lengthy process.

Honorary Captain Robert E. Riley theorized it would have taken a heavy man to force the body of the pretty brunette into the dresser drawer four feet long, 10 inches deep and two feet wide. The legs were doubled under the body, which was lying slightly on the right side, right arm doubled underneath. The head was cocked at a grotesque angle on the right and forced down under her chest.

The body was clad only in brassiere, panties and slip. The girl's blue jeans, slippers and a shopping bag were found stuffed in the room's air vent.

The discovery of the body came just one month short of the 10th anniversary of Indianapolis' most famous unsolved murder, that of WAC Cpl. Mauna Riddings on the fifth floor above in the Claypool.

Cpl. Riddings, who once nursed the late President Roosevelt at her home town resort Warm Springs, Ga., had been slain to death by Jack Wilkinson, Mrs. Harry Lee, and Miss Elsie Farley, also, apparently was criminally assaulted.

Commission Again Enforces Use Of P-Tags By Farmers TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The Motor Vehicle Commission once again is enforcing the P-tag law, but there no longer is an angry outcry from farmers etc. for using the special $5 license plates on public highways.

Farmers in Palm Beach County raised such a fuss when tag inspectors began handing out citations for illegal use of the P-tags in April that Acting Gov. John F. Campbell, in a move to help the farmers, ordered Motor Vehicle Commissioner E. V. Fisher to halt enforcement.

"We started again enforcing the law on P-tags several weeks ago but have had no trouble," Fisher said. "The farmers have been most cooperative. Most of the violations were due to misunderstanding. Farmers do not know that use of the P-tags was restricted to vehicles used exclusively on the farm and on the highways."

French Premier Near Indochina Deadline

GENEVA (AP)— French Premier Pierre Mendes-France went today into the final 36 hours of his diplomatic duel with the Communists for peace in Indochina with what a British spokesman described as "a chance, that's all."

Another Western official said he wouldn't even bet on the proposition. The top Communist delegates here kept to themselves.

One high conference source said Mendes-France had pushed away one obstacle to peace in a tentative fashion—the long debated question of the International Commission to police the armistice. The source said the French and the Communists seem to have settled the commission's position with the United States has not been made known.

In the past the United States has opposed the inclusion of any Communist states on the commission because of the unhappily results in Korea, where Czechoslovakia and Poland hampered operations of the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission with their veto power.

Under the tentative agreement reached by Mendes-France and the Communists, decisions would have to be taken by unanimous vote on any issues which might lead to the resumption of hostilities. The French majority would decide. The conference source emphasized that the agreement was not in its final form.

Progress also was reported unofficially on the question of elections in Viet Nam after the armistice. There were reports the Communists were ready to accept a delay of 18 months. Earlier they had asked for a vote on a new government within six months. The French originally asked for a two-year delay.

There was little doubt that Viet Nam was going to be partitioned somewhere between the 16th and 18th parallels.

A Viet Nam spokesman said "daily today" they will have a partition and we realize we cannot avoid it."

He said his government still clinging to its demand for U. N. supervision of the armistice but that the issue would be decided "on your heads." He complained again that the Vietnamese "are kept in ignorance of whatever happens."

A high American source said it will be very difficult for the Communists to turn down the offer made by Mendes-France and "will make it appear they want peace."

Iran Rejects Red Objections TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iran has firmly rejected Soviet objections to her joining U. N. sponsors' military planning committee. The Iranian, told the Kremlin they have sovereign right to take any measures necessary to safeguard Iran's "security, defense and political and integrity."

Foreign Minister Abdolkarim Foruzanfar delivered the memorandum yesterday to Soviet Ambassador Leo Hendonov "in a firm assurance concerning the participation of Persia (Iran) in the military measures of the U. N. in the Near and Middle East."

The United States would like to include Iran in the recent Pakt-Turkey alliance though no formal invitation has been made.

Stormy Clash Highlights Resumption Of Communist Hearings By McCarthy

NEW SCHOOL FACILITIES — The garage at the site of the new All Souls' church primary school is being remodeled and expanded to provide space for the teaching of eight grades next September. The photograph was taken during the open house and was presented to the school board by Mr. and Mrs. Randall Chase, who will be used as a resident teacher of the school (Staff Photo)

About 300 People Attend Open House At School Site

Approximately 300 people attended the open house yesterday afternoon and evening conducted at the site of the new parochial school being started here by the All Souls' Catholic Church.

An ice cream social was conducted in conjunction with the open house by the Catholic Women's Club, with funds going toward the school. Co-chairmen of the social were Mrs. A. Constantine and Mrs. Robert Bauman, while members of the Holy Name Society, under its president, Robert LeFils, participated in the activities.

The large garage building at the rear of the residence is being expanded for use as classrooms in the new school, which will take its first class on through eight. Sister Bernard is in charge of construction, while the architect is R. Hill.

Approximately 125 children already have been registered for the 7 opening, according to Father Lyons, who said that four nuns with full teaching certificates will direct the school and supervise the instruction. Subjects will be those of a fully accredited primary and intermediate school.

It is understood that the present facilities being provided for school nuns will be only temporary, and that plans are to build a complete modern school building on the same grounds in a few years.

Although temporary in construction, the new classrooms will be well-lighted, heated and fully equipped for the purpose of effective education. Father Lyons brought out.

"It is a great milestone in the history of Sanford, a century of Catholic life in Sanford," he said. "It is a tribute to the courage and generosity of the Catholic people of All Souls parish in Sanford, members of the club whose contributions have made it possible."

Two of the teaching nuns will arrive in Sanford for a preliminary inspection of the facilities and a discussion of books and courses and the purchase of necessary equipment.

Senator Has Man Removed Individual Called Red

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) began public hearings today on his repeated charges of 130-odd subversives in defense plants and ran into a stormy clash with a man named as one of them. It wound up with McCarthy's having the man removed from the hearings room.

Verling, about informers and about papers found by McCarthy, was hauled out by a Capitol policeman acting on McCarthy's orders.

Verling, who has been identified as a Red by James W. Glavin, a Boston man who testified the "Sims" had joined the Communist party as an FBI undercover man.

McCarthy interrupted Verling's testimony to inquire if Verling was in the town of a street of a young man in grey slacks and dark shoes to come forward. The senator asked if he would like to be sworn in as a witness so he could affirm or deny whether he was a Red.

Attempt To Kidnap Young Boy Fails; Threats Are Made

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A 13-year-old boy's fight against two men was credited today with thwarting a kidnaping.

The two men attempted to take Kenneth Ogle from his home Saturday night. Even after the abduction failed, a man telephoned the boy's father at a grocery store he manages and demanded $100,000.

The father warned that unless the money was paid "we're going to get you out of your family." The father, Dennis D. Ogle, contacted police.

The police had Ogle carry out the father's instructions, using a false postpaid check to take the money to a street intersection as instructed, while police waited, but no one turned up for the payoff.

The men lured Kenneth from his home at a rate.

When they attempted to force him out of his car, Kenneth, who is 5 feet 8 and weighs 120 pounds, fought them. He is a son of his mother and a 15-year-old sister. The father have made no arrests.

Traffic Death Rate In Florida Shows Slight Decrease

TALLAHASSEE— Motorists on Florida highways eliminated each other last month at the rate of about one a day, wrecks investigated by the Florida Highway Patrol. Thirty people lost their lives in rural area accidents last month compared with 46 the month a year earlier.

For the six months period, the figure had reached 277 traffic deaths in rural areas, three per cent less than were killed in motor vehicle mishaps the first half of 1951.

These figures were shown in the monthly activity report of the Patrol, which takes into account only the accidents investigated by state troopers. Figures do not include all traffic accidents, injuries and deaths, but only those investigated by the Florida Highway Patrol.

On the enforcement side of the book, troopers showed a marked increase in arrests, winding up the month with 23 per cent upward trend activity and eight per cent more warnings of a total of 3,571.

Fully equipped war ranges were up too, by 28 per cent, for the month of June only.

Safety education men showed some increases and some decreases. In the monthly report on speeches on safety, they were down seven per cent but up five per cent on the six months on radio talks, they showed a monthly increase of 31 per cent and a six month increase of 14 per cent.

On movies for safety, they had a one per cent monthly increase but were down 10 per cent for the half year.

Troopers showed marked increase in hours on patrol, from 44,892 to 62,746 in the month and from 282,846 to 340,311 in the six months of the year.

The driver's license division gave three per cent more tests in June than the same month one year ago, and the six months report showed a 13 per cent increase; three per cent fewer passed in the month of June while 2 per cent more passed for a comparable time past than for the six months of a year ago. Failures rose 10 per cent in the month of June and 26 per cent for the six months.

Nurse Lady

By ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

SYNOPSIS
Norman Brandt and nurse Cynthia Doyle had first met at the scene of an accident near Washington, D. C. He had tried to "date" her to pay her court but Cynthia's romantic interest centered around Dr. Sellers, with whom she was in the clinic. It was not until the doctor discovered that he had a rival for Nurse Doyle's esteem that he began to see her as a woman as well as a nurse. He is greatly concerned when Cynthia accepts an invitation to dine with his business partner.

CHAPTER NINE
CYNTHIA said "It's good of her to want to help," after Norman had explained why he had taken the blame for the accident. "Though I'm afraid it can't make up for what happened—Julius doesn't get well."

"Oh, but he will! He must! What do you mean by that?" Norman leaned across the table. "Julius will get well," he said earnestly. "I know it about breaking your heart to see the poor little chap lying there with his leg in that confounded hammock arrangement—Lord, but the kids got what it looked like a whimper out of him, just that a little bit and those big dark eyes that eat right into your heart. But he will get well—you don't mean he won't do you, Cynthia?"

"I mean he may never walk again. Or if he does, never like other children—to be able to run and play." For that was what Walt had told her when she had asked him. It was a severe blow to Norman; she saw how deeply it affected him.

He said, "Gosh . . ." and shook his head. Then, "I won't believe it, not until I have to. We'll keep on hoping. It's only when you give up hope, Cynthia, that you're lost."

"That's right. I didn't mean we should give up hope," she told him. "He'll have to be in traction for several months. Then we'll see what we can do for him in the clinic. He must have a lot of therapy. And maybe Dr. Sellers can perform a miracle. He has done it before."

"Dr. Sellers . . . Oh, he's your doctor, isn't he? The giant-sized packages with the letters A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, X, Y, Z. Does he ever laugh at life—or himself? But forgive me, Cynthia. Norman reached across the table to lay his hand on hers, having seen that she resembled this. "Maybe he is a miracle man. I hope so for Julius' sake."

She murmured that she hoped so, too. But all she could think of was his hand, lying on hers. It made her self-conscious. It made her sort of jittery inside, too. And people would think they were holding hands.

"You haven't presented a convincing case," Norman said, his hand still covering hers. "Maybe that she could not pull it away."

"Exhibit A is faded out." "Well, there's Exhibit B," she said, and she pointed to the newspaper clipping. "I don't know if you could be subtle with a man like this. I don't make it a habit to become friends with, or have dates with anyone who has been dating one of my girl friends."

"If you mean a flax, we were never more than the most casual friends." He said this with such earnestness, looking her straight in the eye, that it was impossible to doubt that that was how he felt toward her. "I have never given the any reason to believe I was seriously interested in her. It was a flax, not an affair, and I don't happen to be the kind of girl I could fall in love with and want to marry."

"Oh, dear! They seemed to be getting on very well. He was holding her hand, and she was holding his. He was still holding her hand."

"I'm afraid you are under a different impression." "I just because I saw her on the street and for old times' sake, asked her if she'd care to go out one night?"

"It must be more than that. You're the kind of man Ros would be interested in—seriously. And anyway, since she knew you first."

"I've never let myself be seriously interested in any girl because of the kind of job I have. It has taken me on missions so secret I couldn't let anyone know where I was. But now I guess Uncle Sam has decided I've raked my neck often enough—I'm going to be in Washington from now on. I can settle down, plan some sort of future."

"Why was he telling her all this? He should have been telling it to Ros. Ros would adore living in Washington. It was only a few driving hours away. She would adore having a husband connected with international affairs. And what he had said about his position before explained why Norman had suddenly dropped out of sight."

"I know you'll think it's much too soon," he was saying, "but the minute I saw you, sitting there in the middle of the street with that kid in your arms, I knew you were the woman I had been looking for all my life, Cynthia. You mustn't refuse to be friends, give me a chance to—"

"But I—I can't." She was dismayed, yet she couldn't help feeling proud and well, yes, glad. He was apparently thinking that there was someone else. For now he said, "I know there's that doctor of yours. He's too big for even me to pick a fight with, if I wanted to, which I don't. However, good credit and carry not less than $100.00 worth of merchandise."

I never give up hope. "No, I'm not engaged to anyone," she knew the color was high in her cheeks. "And I don't suppose I can very well refuse to be friends, if you make it all right with Ros. But I wish, Norman, you'd stop holding my hand."

"Your wish is my command!" His dark eyes took on that teasing look, and he took her hand and, with a smile, placed it back into her lap. "Since I'm such an optimist, I hope next time it will be more than holding hands. Though I'd do my damndest not to rush you too much. As for Ros, please let me take care of making things right with her."

He was, Cynthia thought, the exact opposite of Walt. Walt thought there was all the time in the world to get around to rushing anything or anyone. When Walt had her hand, it was to take her pulse. Unless Cynthia used Norman's tactics, as she had today, and gave that young doctor a very rude awakening.

"Friday evening night tell the story." "When will you let me see you again?" Norman said now. "Besides those accidental meetings in the hospital when we go to visit Julius, I mean. Since you agreed to be friends, you can't refuse me."

He certainly knew how to put her on the spot. However, she could be obstinate. "I can't see you, or have a date with you, until you've squared things with Ros. And even then, Norman, I don't believe it's any one, really I don't."

"At the end to admit that he not only was likeable and charming and unpredictable, as Ros had said, but also a man that a woman could admire and respect."

It was the next evening as the three girls were sitting down to supper that Ros announced she was going to give a party.

"And you two will have to help me make it a success," she said. "I think it will be just the right number. You can invite your doctor, Cynthia, and Nora you ask your cousin Tommy, to come. I guess I don't have to tell you whom I intend to invite. In fact, that's the whole purpose of this shindig."

"Purpose?" Nora repeated in her absent-minded fashion. She had just had a letter from Alan saying he would be home in about a month. So Nora was up in the clouds these days.

Cynthia did not have to ask what Ros meant. She thought, her heart sinking. Here we go again! "I've got to do something," Ros confided. "Here I've stayed home practically every night since that one big date waiting for the phone to ring."

THE OLD HOME TOWN

POLICE SAY GOODBYE TO CHARWOMAN
DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Police Department — from commissioner on down — said goodbye last week to Mrs. Ann Kaiser, who was retiring at 66 after 28 years as a headquarters charwoman.

Old-line officers said they could tell how things were going, just by looking at Mrs. Kaiser's face. A smile meant things were okay, but frowns meant something was off in the department.

"I couldn't begin to count how many smiles I've seen . . . whenever they were in some sort of a jam."

The Free Farm Program advocates growing trees as a sustainable crop. The program helps in part to assure a continuing supply of southern pine, so important to Florida's economy, and the nation's defense and housing needs.

The monstrous baobab mystery tree of Africa is called one of the seven wonders of natural history. Young trees of the species have never been found. One African explorer-scientist claimed the smallest baobab he ever saw was forty-five feet in circumference and five to six thousand years old. The wood of these giants is usually hollow. It is spongy, and useless as timber. The tree is so soft that a 30-06 bullet will go clear through the largest trunk.

Actress Faces Trial In Death Of Boy, 9

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Blonde actress L'wile Baggett faces Superior Court trial on charges of hit-run and manslaughter in the traffic death of a 9-year-old boy.

Municipal Judge Louis W. Kaufman, after preliminary hearing yesterday, ordered the 31-year-old actress to appear July 29 for arraignment. Her bail was reduced from $10,000 to $5,000.

Mrs. Baggett is accused of driving a station wagon which collided with another on July 8, killing Joel Wainick. Two witnesses testified the station wagon was traveling 40 to 50 m.p.h.

Seasoning is such an important factor in good performance of lumber that Southern pine lumbermen have made it a primary requirement of grading rules.

Motorist Arrested After Ride On RR

WEAVER, Idaho (AP)—Vard Hogan, a Weaver Flat farmer, told Justice of the Peace Joe Gallagher yesterday he didn't even notice the bumps when he lost his way while driving home Wednesday night.

Washington County Sheriff Elmer Hickman said Hogan had driven a half mile on a railroad side track before hitting a switch frog at the entrance to the main line.

Gallagher fined Hogan $100 and revoked his license for drunken driving.

CHILDREN TAKE PILLS
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Each day John Welch, 3, and sister Linda, 2, seem to come up with new tricks at avoiding their afternoon naps. What they did last week worked in reverse.

Mrs. Lois Welch put them to bed, but as soon as she left the room John and Linda were up. Into the bathroom they went and found a bottle of white pills. They tried some and went fast asleep.

Mrs. Welch, looking in on her children, spotted an empty sleeping tablet bottle. After a quick trip to a receiving hospital John and Linda are okay.

GIVES FALSE ALARM
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Four police cars raced to a house where a burglary was reported in progress. "There's a man in there with a flashlight," warned Mrs. Lucille Patterson, returning home from a movie.

Officers charged inside and discovered the light was cast by a TV set which Mrs. Patterson had forgotten to turn off.

Speakers At District Press Meeting Praise Work Done By Newspapers

Two men at the Sixth district meeting of the Florida Press Association Saturday lauded the Press for the work it is doing in cutting down on traffic deaths and for its activities in reporting governmental affairs.

One of the men, Sgt. Karl Adams of the Florida Highway Patrol, said that accidents for the year had resulted in 28 less fatalities than during the same time last year.

"Attitudes and habits are the main causes of accidents," he told the newspapermen, and went on to say that newspapers in Florida are the greatest single influence of "curing people of bad habits."

He said the support of the Press is appreciated and that he hoped the year would end with 50 fatalities less than last year.

State Senator Vern Pope, St. Augustine, the second speaker, said that the State Legislature "is deeply obligated to you." Later, he said: "No occupation in the United States stands out and makes a contribution to this country as much as the Free Press."

He related that news of governmental affairs is printed accurately and that the public can draw "pretty accurate conclusions" as a result. The senator pointed out that it is becoming increasingly important that the public is adequately informed on all governmental "questions and expressions" which come before the Legislature.

The senator brought forth that weekly papers (which make up most of the membership of the FPA) are the "bulwark" against "trust" systems in the newspaper field. He dwelt upon the public service and free publicity which are given by newspapers and suggested that a "Free Press Day" be observed.

Senator Pope stated that newspapers are doing an "outstanding, impartial job" in reporting on State operation and government.

He emphasized that the citizenry has to guard zealously "against outside dangers of the government and against the great danger brought about by lack of confidence in public officers. He expressed the opinion that public officers as a whole are doing good jobs.

Both these men are close to the public and to responsibilities dealing with the citizens of the State of Florida. Both were highly complimentary of the conscientious endeavor of newspapers to keep the public informed and to be of public service.

Backing of newspapers by men such as these makes a lot more sense than the efforts of those who would throttle the Free Press. We must keep a Free Press in order to maintain our freedom and our rights.

Honesty In Government

Whenever evidence of dishonesty in high government places is revealed, as in the recent Federal Housing Administration scandals, the public is outraged. Condemnation of the public servants who betrayed their trusts is bitter, and justifiably so. All too often, however, the other party to the dishonesty, the man doing business with the government and who corrupted the officials concerned, is forgotten.

Honesty in government is a two way street; it calls for honest officials and honest citizens. Every person who tries to turn aside the law for his own profit helps to break down the structure of government. That goes for using political influence to fix a traffic ticket as well as for giving lavish gifts to public figures in the hope of special favors. It also goes for campaign contributions which are made not because the donor wishes to further the cause of a political party but because he hopes to gain special consideration if the recipient of his gift comes to power.

The great majority of people who do business with the government are completely honest as are the majority of public servants. The few who are not must be exposed and punished. It must be demonstrated that bribery is unprofitable for the person who offers the bribe as well as for the person who takes it.

Government Security Is Varied

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Q" clearance, name check, full field investigation, evaluation, top secret, security risk, confidential in government names for deciding who can stay in a government job or be trusted with secrets.

There was national shock when atomic scientist Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer lost his "Q" clearance, although the Atomic Energy Commission didn't use that phrase when it parted company with him.

It just said he was a security risk, that he couldn't be trusted any more with secrets he had been handling a dozen years. "Q" clearance is the AEC's way of saying a man has been found trustworthy with AEC secrets.

In Oppenheimer's case it had been found he had a long and continued association with Communists. Another man could be dropped as a security risk even though he didn't deal in secrets at all but drank too much.

And there is a difference in the degree of secrets. One kind, of the most vital nature, is labeled top secret. A less important one is "secret" and a still less important one is "confidential." For example, a "confidential" document might be an FBI report of its investigation of a man against whom nothing wrong was found. But if the report got into Communist hands it might disclose "investigative techniques" of the FBI.

Officials in any agency dealing with matters involving national security decide who can be allowed to see "top secret" documents, who should see only "secret material" and who needs to know only "confidential" matters.

That "need to know" position is at the heart of security in agencies dealing with information vitally affecting the national welfare. For example, a public relations man in the AEC would have to be cleared to know some information. But there might be no reason why he should be let in on a decision to make bigger or smaller hydrogen bombs. He'd be allowed to handle only information that he needed to know to do his job.

Before a government employee gets into a position of handling any secrets at all — or no secrets —

he's supposed to be investigated. The government doesn't check on all its employees in the same way. For example, this would be routine for a man in a job in an agency which doesn't deal in national secrets, like the Labor Department.

Jones wants a clerical job with the Labor Department. He fills out an application on which he lists for some previous years the jobs he held and the places he lived. In addition, he answers questions about subversive organizations to which he belonged, if any.

In a case like this, a man looking for a nonsecret job (no secrets involved) in a nonsecret agency — the Civil Service Commission's own investigators make a check.

They check with his previous bosses, perhaps with his old landlords and neighbors. They run a "name check" with the FBI. That is, they find out whether the FBI has any record on him or information against him. The same check is made with the Army and Navy and House Un-American Activities Committee, which keeps an extensive file on subversives, either real or reported.

If Jones then is not found to be an habitual drunk, or homosexual, or criminal, and if he has no suspicious history of connections with Communists, he can get the job.

But if doubtful information is turned up against him, then the FBI can be called in to make a full field investigation, which means an investigation since the day he was born.

In the AEC, where all jobs are considered "sensitive," although some are more sensitive than others, a more thorough check than the routine civil service investigation is supposed to be made.

When all the investigations are finished, one thing remains: Since some derogatory information is bound to turn up against anyone thoroughly investigated — either factual or spurious information — agency officials have to evaluate it to determine whether a man can see secrets or not.

INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION SHOWS NO CHANGE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Industrial production in June showed no change from May, marking the 20th consecutive month of no change from the monthly adjusted index figure of 100 per cent of the 1947 average.

According to the preliminary report, the Federal Reserve Board reported the June rate ran slightly above that of March and April but was 2 per cent below June 1953.

Industry Predicted To Ease Living

NEW YORK (AP)—What is the real reason people snore?

A British doctor recently advanced the theory that the snoring of husbands was a sign of affection for their wives.

He said it might be a rare memory relic of the caveman who "made the noise at night to keep marauders away from the den."

Thus the husband now who keeps his wife awake with his grunts, whistles, groans and snorts may really be trying to protect the dear girl by unconsciously warning away robbers or would-be rivals.

This theory is as full of holes as a sweater hung in a closet full of moth, and the doctor who advanced it must be an amateur student of snoring. No wife I have discussed his idea with has any faith in it whatsoever.

Everyone who has heard an elderly hound dog snoring before a fireplace is sure that his eager whines and snuffles indicate he is living over old happy hunting days in his dreams. One wife I talked to is sure that this holds equally true of her husband.

"Don't tell me that hum's snoring means he is trying to guard me and our home," she said. "If that is what he were trying to do, he'd be scolding and growling about chasing some pretty blonde, and it makes me so mad I get up and pour cold water on his face. Sometimes he looks so happy while he's snoring it is all I can do to keep from slapping him."

As I know this lady's husband, I feel there may be some truth in what she says. In the office where he is employed the girls call him "old cold paw" and "Harry the false-toothed wolf."

But what about women? The snoring of wives is becoming a real problem in many households today. Does this merely mark another step in woman's drive for equal rights—a subconscious assertion of the principle that if the man of the house can snore, she'll show him she can, too?

Or is there more to it than that? Does this increased snoring by wives indicate that in our present world of nice-men a lady feels even in her sleep she must snarl and growl to protect from danger

Committee Okays Cutting Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee has approved a subcommittee's action in cutting 15 million dollars from a military housing authorization bill.

The bill, in which the Defense Department originally had asked for authority to spend $50 million for 25,000 family units at various military installations now goes to the House.

Some of the projects were completely eliminated, others sharply reduced. Funds to carry out the construction have to be provided in later legislation.

The projects, and amount au-

"What will I do if he bites?" Garcia asked.

Sports Selections

By PETE OSBORNE

When a baseball team forfeits a game, regardless of whether it is for walking off the field, or on another cause, it is just cutting off the hand that feeds it, or killing the goose that lays the golden egg as the proverb goes. It makes the fans mad, and when the fans are angry, they stay away from the turnstiles in large numbers. And without the spectators sitting in the bleachers, the long green flows less rapidly, if at all.

In all sports it's the people that attend that pay the way. Obvious, if they don't attend the games, it is much harder to make ends meet and the payroll ledger comes out in the black. More than one club, major or minor league in real ink at the end of the season simply because there wasn't enough attendance to pay the way.

So when a game is forfeited in Orlando in the Florida State League, it's time to comment. League President John Krider lifted Lakeland manager Rip Sewell's indefinite suspension after the team manager came forth with apologies to all concerned. And maybe the next time his team shows in Orlando, the fans will flock to the park in hordes of another thrasher. But that stuff only goes so long.

Yesterday the St. Louis Cardinals handed the Philadelphia Phillies a 9-0 win via the forty-fifth game of the season. It came in the fifth inning with the Cardinals down 4-1. The game was rapidly approaching and the game was still not official because St. Louis had not finished its turn at bat. Enter the biggest riot since the Brown v. Board case.

But the trouble like to get their money's worth, and although they perhaps had their fill of baseball in the three and a half hour fight, a doubleheader was offered. If you bill a nine-inning game and sell it for five, you should play a nine-inning game or the "Corn Shucks League" or the like.

You can win the fans only a few times. And when that's over, it's so long for you've probably seen the last of them.

Sports Roundup

By GAVIE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—There is no reason why the Australians should not be permitted to take a few years for the recent successes of their young athletes in international competition.

Rulers of world tennis for the past three years, they now are making threatening gestures toward a similar domination in golf. They have John Landy, holder of the men's record of 3-56, and they are among the world's mightiest swimmers. They have been the world's cricket champions for so long that England is thoroughly sick of them.

Two of the most coveted golfing crowns fell in recent months to a pair of sharpshooters, Aussies whose names scarcely were known in this country. First, Douglas Bagchi, a small-size tavern owner from Broadmead, Victoria, won the British amateur title by defeating our own Bill Campbell in the final, and then Peter Thomson, a 25-year-old pro from Melbourne, who had done well on the American winter circuit, mopped up the British Open to complete a great double.

All of which adds up to an amazing record for a nation which at the most recent head count numbered only about 12 million persons, not counting aborigines. A person who has made several trips to the country, we are asked with increasing frequency if there is any ready explanation for the out-of-all-proportion successes of the Aussies.

Orlando Boosts Lead In League To Two Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lakeland Manager Rip Sewell came out of the suspension doghouse last night by his slippers. He didn't get him any runs in celebration and just to Deland 5-0.

Orlando took advantage of it with a 7-3 victory over Jacksonville Beach and increased its lead over second-place Lakeland to two games. In the other game Cocoa noted Daytona Beach 3-2.

Sewell had been suspended indefinitely and fined $50 after he and two of his players were ejected from a game at Orlando last week and the Lakeland team walked off the field. John Krider, league president, said he reinstated Sewell yesterday after the manager told him he would apologize for his acts.

Deland's Jim Reitz shut out Lakeland on six hits. He pitched back homely for 11 hits and also got the benefit of four Lakeland errors.

Orlando ran its winning streak to seven by scoring the deciding run in the eighth inning. Jackie Beach rookie Roger Drake, the 16-year-old lanky right-hander, playing his first professional game, relieved Phil Swanson in the third and allowed only one run until the ninth. Then four walks, a scratch single and two sacrifices scored Bob Wilson and Duke Wilson.

Cocoa Manager Hama Rowell led a two-run homer in the last of the ninth with one out to edge Daytona Beach.

Trinidad Boxer Makes His Debut Here Wednesday

NEW YORK (AP)—Volande Pompey, the man from Trinidad whose name sounds like the first line of a Calypso tune, makes his first U. S. start Wednesday at Cinders Stadium against Moses Ward of Detroit.

For three years, Pompey has been attracting attention in Britain, knocking out the late Dave Sarley, fighting a draw with Jimmy Slade and beating Slade in a rematch. He is ranked fifth among the light-heavy challengers although he may amount to a middleweight after a few American fights.

Pompey got down to 162 for Bobby Dawson Jan. 25, the only fight he lost. In his last outing he switched away when he knocked out William Panchi May 13 in London.

Ward will be remembered for his exciting bouts with Willie Tony, Holy Miss and George Johnson. Although he lost all three and was stopped twice, his action style won many fans.

The Chicago match will be seen on CBS-TV.

Arthritic Detroit Businessman Wins Blind Golfers' Title

WEST BOSTON, Mass. (AP)—Quiet Fred Shields, wracked with pain from creeping arthritis, has done without sight what he never did when he could see—become a champion in the national sport of blind golf.

Shields, a 57-year-old Detroit businessman, battled aches, fatigue and insomnia six days before heading for his eighth national blind golfers' championship yesterday with a record-smashing 104-10—205 for 20 holes.

Rendered sightless as a result of his arthritis at the family dinner table in 1918, Shields astonished a gallery of several thousands at Waukegan Golf Club during the two-day tournament. Besides skill and courage, he demonstrated a new approach to the blind game which his fellow golfers say may change the style of play.

Like golfers who can see, his grandfather who has fabled himself "the old man of the links," waggles his club several times before hitting the ball. His fellow competitors, unaided by other hands, take one solid swing after their direction has been set by their caddy coaches.

"I'm so tired, I couldn't take any more," said Shields after dropping a 2-foot putt on the final hole. But he'd concluded an incredible success story.

Shields, once a handi-capped golfer at Detroit's Oakland Country Club, resumed the game just five weeks ago and played only 43 practice holes, with his newly acquired coach, Andrew Miller, a former "Give Andy the credit, he's wonderful," insists Shields. The caddy-coaches point the golfer and his club in the proper direction and help him judge distances.

Shields had to sit on a camp stool between shots on the weary 10-hour trek over the course, pressure applied by Howell, 38-year-old Birmingham, Ala. native who lost his sight due to German shellfire in World War I. The former youth and football player had 108-105-213 total couldn't match Shields' determination.

Surprises Occur In Net Tourney Underway Here

The doubles team of Dr. John Morgan and Fred Ganas advanced to the finals of the Sanford Tennis Championships yesterday by triumphing over Bill Proctor and Bill Dooley, 6-3, 7-5, after passing the Bill Fleming-John Angel combination, 7-5, 6-1.

The Morgan-Ganas twosome had previously stopped a Weaver-Walker team 7-5 and 6-3.

The upper bracket in doubles play will find Gene Tucker and Charlie Morrison vieing with the winner of a Katz Davis versus Evans Williams match which is set to be played this afternoon at 6 p.m. The finalists in the doubles will clash Wednesday afternoon.

Betty Anderson surprised four net followers by beating past defending women's champ Betty Doris Williams 6-4, 6-0, to earn the right to play Rebecca Stevens in the final which has been set for next Sunday. Miss Stevens qualified for the final round by beating Ellen Betts, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, in a three-set match.

Men's singles play produced a surprise when Bill Fleming won over Earl Evans, 3-6, 6-0, and 6-1 in the semi-finals. Hugh Carlton topped Dooley, 2-6, 6-2, and 6-4, for the right to meet Ganas in the lower bracket, while Fleming will compete with Tucker to meet the finalists. Ganas had to go three sets to beat Morgan, 7-5, 6-8, and 6-3 to qualify for semi-final play.

FIL All-Stars To Play Leader Of Loop Tonight

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Petersburg's Florida International League leaders will meet a picked team from the other club tonight in the league's annual All-Star game in St. Petersburg.

The All-Stars won last year's game in 12 innings, defeating Fort Lauderdale.

League of Miami is scheduled to start on the mound for the All-Stars. He will be followed by Gene Stiles of West Palm Beach and Bob Jones of Miami. Jerry Blackburn may get the starting call for the Saints.

St. Petersburg defeated Tallahassee 10-9 and Miami shut out West Palm Beach 6-0 in last night's league games.

Local Legion Victorious Over Daytona

Ralph Farina who has paced the Sanford ballroom under through the season, singled home first base man J. C. Jenkins in the eighth inning to give Post 53 a tight 3-2 win over Daytona Beach in an exhibition game played Saturday at the Indianwood field in Daytona Beach.

The hearts opened with a two-run surge in the first frame to build the margin until the eighth. A single, a triple and a sacrifice error accounted for the scores. Post 53 came back for one run after the margin until the eighth. A single, a triple and a sacrifice error accounted for the scores.

Flip Of Coin Decides Open

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—A flip of a coin decided the 17th annual South eastern Skeet open's overall title here yesterday.

After two days of firing Tommy Spivey of Tampa and Frank Kilts of Jacksonville were tied with 341 of 350. It was too late to have a shootoff of 25 targets in each of the four divisions so they tossed a coin. Spivey won.

Bill Arthur of Jacksonville Navy broke 150 straight targets to win the AP (Gauge) title and led Jacksonville Navy to the team title.

The St. Louis Cardinals operate 22 minor league clubs in 15 states and two foreign countries—Canada and Mexico.

District 6 Tourney Starts Wednesday

Only Two Teams Will Take Part In Rivalry Here

An abbreviated tournament involving only a pair of teams will open here Wednesday morning to decide a District Six American Legion junior baseball representatives to the area playoffs.

Originally six clubs were scheduled to vie in the local tourney, but Water Park and Goodland folded recently. Three do had done and way through the regular state and Orlando was declared ineligible by the state headquarters for not filing entry papers late.

The local effort must be established as a favorite by virtue of the record. Sanford pitched its initial two contests at the expense of the Lake County club in the state opening match against Jim Hawkins turned in a sterling 14 strikeout performance to take the first victory, 10-0, and Charlie Pearce, against the second with a one-hit mound stint.

During the progress of the tourney, Post 53 achieved a 6-4 victory which includes two runs over Cocoa Beach and a split in two games with Daytona Beach. Both opponents are out of the Sanford district.

The tourney narrowed down to two contests when Orlando was forced out by state chairman W. A. Hartgering. The club was forced by many to waive district and area play but was delayed until the necessary entries. The Orlando representatives come to Al McMillan, district chairman, and requested a few days of grace before the time 30 deadline which in the interest of betterment of district competition, McMillan granted. He was not upheld, however, by the state office, and Orlando club disbanded a week ago.

Winter Park failed because of supposed "disinterest" on the part of the players, though the district eliminations might well have been decided between the two clubs. Grounded out because of financial factors.

According to McMillan, the two teams will play at an outdoor Wednesday morning and again the same afternoon at 3 o'clock. If necessary, action will resume with a third and final tilt Thursday.

Post 53 coach Red Hines is confident of victory in the play-off. He says that the local club will be much tougher than in their last meeting. "These were the first games of the season for both of our teams, and although we've improved, Ed Stack surely has not his team on for us now," Hines emphasized, adding, "but if we get into the area tournament, we hope to arrive in a few people. Sanford is used to a winner and we hope to give them one again this year." He will use his best pitching.

Germany Political Monstrosity

BERLIN—The man who said there is nothing new under the sun is dead in Germany, 1944. It's the political monstrosity of the ages—the body politic with two heads.

How it functions at all defies normal rules.

From the Rhine to the Elbe, 6 million Germans look to Bonn, the capital of the West. From the Elbe to the Oder, 18 million East Germans make up the Communist "German Democratic Republic," their capital in a suburb called Pankow.

The rivalry is now five years old.

Although the world talks of uniting Germany—even the Russians—no one really seems to want to merge itself into by a specter in the tug-of-war.

Bonn and Pankow are 400 miles apart by automobile—the concrete highway ribbon Hitler built for his assaulting legions. They are miles apart in philosophy.

Here is how Red rule operates in East Germany:

In a police state in every sense, a permit is needed for every movement except a share of a million men and money-trained men in uniform "protect" the government and the electoral party. More than 20

Russian divisions back them up and the violent June 17, 1943, workers' rebellion proved that the Russians are needed.

The police seem to be everywhere. A Western-owned automobile in East Berlin picks up "tails" like a magnet, be they on motorcycles or in sinister black sedans. A request to see any top official about any subject is an utter waste of time. And underlings don't dare establish any Western contact, however innocent, unless they're playing a double role in the service of the broad security police (SSD).

Pankow calls itself the "people's government." The phrase excites bitter laughter from the East Berliners, who can see with his own eyes how much the people have to say about it and how close to the people the government actually is.

Top rung Communists live in greater seclusion than the imperial emperors ever did. On the outskirts of Pankow they are concentrated in plush villas surrounded by a 12-foot high concrete wall built in 1944. Inside there are about 2,000 families. The entrances are barricaded and guarded by tommy-gun police and infantry sentries.

The Red inside runs in and out in big cats. Their families call shop behind the wall. At night, a double watch patrols the wall on both sides, accompanied by vicious dogs.

Everyone in East Germany lives in fear from morning to night. The regime is afraid of the public, once roused. The public is afraid of the regime. They're all afraid of the Russians. And deep down the Germans are afraid of the Lenin once said the Berlin wall had the power to wag the Moscow dog.

The bustling, steel and coal-rich west, backed by Allied aid and boasting the strongest freely-elected government in Europe, is the other side of the German coin. And it glitters.

The West German, like everybody else in the world, beefs about high taxes and high prices. But he's living high off the hog, especially considering the fact he lost a significant war only nine years ago.

The industrial Ruhr is starting to look as though it never heard of bombs; and the muscle-flexing Ruhr is the strongest man with- out a wall. The chancellor was already old. Now he is nearing four score but can take the physical beating of political life better than any of his staff. When he needed a capital for free Germany, he chose this town of Bonn on the Rhine. Then it was merely a university town of 30,000, happy to be off the beaten path.

Today the population is about 100,000. The Bonn natives wish the newcomers would all go away, even though they are making money in sums they never dreamed.

Theodor House's villa was dripping wet in rain but he happily explained:

"We need it. It's good for the land."

He went on to explain how one could obtain a permit to visit the presidential palace or the chancellor.

One of his mates, who seemed to be the only cop on duty that night behind the federal parliament, explained that one policeman was enough on account of there was only one building.

Excellent wine, venison, thick steaks abound in West Germany if you have the price. Everyone eats well and drinks his share. The restaurants and wine houses are full.

MANY POLICE LEAVE

WASHINGTON—The U.S. Information Agency says 10,000 members of East Germany's police force—the equivalent of a complete military infantry division—have bolted to the West since 1951.

Stormy Clash

Today's hearing was the first directed at what McCarthy said are 130 odd individuals who are Communist party and work in defense plants. He said he used the word "apparently" because "some may be FBI agents."

McCarthy started the hearing off as a one-man quantum. Later Sen. Mundt (R-N.Y.) came in and took a spot by McCarthy's side.

Mundt said Wolchowski's "riotous activity" had "an old aroma to me" and the man apparently was under Communist discipline. He suggested Alvin Chalmers be notified and cautioned to get him away from any access to defense work or persons familiar with it.

McCarthy said there is a "serious question" whether Alvin Chalmers has the right to fire anyone who refused to say whether he is or is not a Communist but he hoped the company would follow the example of General Electric,

Bachelor Beaten, Robbed At Home

CAMBRIDGE, Md. — Winnie M. Jones, 57, a frugal bachelor who made thousands of dollars crabbing and oyster tonging but didn't trust banks to keep it for him, was near death and penniless today.

Neighbors, who heard his cries for help early yesterday, found him lying in the kitchen of his neat four-room house at Bishop Head, 30 miles south of here. He had been savagely beaten.

Sheriff Wadde H. Robinson, who questioned Jones at the hospital during one of his rare periods of consciousness, said he told him he had been carrying between $5,000 and $6,000.

Strolling

(Continued From Page One) Sanford, a native of Savannah, Ga., he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Curry, formerly of Sanford, and made his debut on Broadway a year ago after his graduation from Benedictine Military School, in "The Devil's Disciple," which starred Maurice Evans. His first film was Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "In The Town." He was directed by Gene Kelly. His debut in musical comedy was in Cole Porter's "Out of This World" for which over 1,000 young men were auditioned. Other movies in which he has appeared include "The Merry-Go-Round," "Fourteen Hours" and "Teresa." He has appeared on the Jackie Gleason Show, the Firestone Hour and was featured on "Celebrity Time" for CBS-TV.

Spending his first summer at Green Mansions, resort art colony at Warrensburg, N. Y., Mr. Curry was signed for the 15-week season at the Hilton Hotel, and appeared in the multi-million dollar Caravan at the Hilton Hotel. This summer season on Broadway will find him in "Finian's Rainbow" musical comedy by Vernon Duke which will star Ella Logan.

Five local Explorer Scouts, accompanied by W. W. Tyre, Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 34, will launch upon a pleasant adventure tomorrow morning when they leave with other Central Florida Scouts for the Philmont Scout Ranch at Cimarron, N. M. Twenty-one Scouts in all are going on the trip. Those from here are Allan Maffett, Bruce David Brown, Billy Tyre and Johnny Williams. Also going are Jordan Maynard, Scout leader executive of the Orlando district, and Steve Corbett field executive of the St. John River district, of which Sanford is a part.

Bomb Activity Is Suggested

LOS ANGELES — A UCLA psychologist suggests family psychiatry examine any "H-bomb" day.

Experience has shown that activity reduces fear and anxiety, Dr. David Boder said yesterday. He has studied the impact of disaster on large populations. Accordingly, he suggested:

Plan specific duties for each member of the family. Dad can be in charge of the food. Older Mother looks after the food. Older brothers and sisters can care for the younger children.

Decide in advance on a familiar "leave" in case family members are separated. Don't start resist evacuation. Even if the family isn't hurt by a blast (food and water may be contaminated).

Have identification tag for all the family bearing name and blood type. Invest in E Bonds, cashable even if lost or destroyed, especially with a list of serial numbers.

ERROR REARDED

DENVER — The birthday cake for Mrs. Louise Brothman, wife of the Republican candidate for governor, was just fine — except the frosting read "Happy Birthday Bernice."

The hostess, Mrs. Charles M. Armstrong, erased the error with a diplomatic swipe of her thumb.

Planned forest management, on a sustained yield basis, has grown from five million acres in the South in 1905, to over sixty million acres in the 1950's. In Florida, 2,451,253 acres of Tree Farms indicate the trend toward this wise utilization of a vital raw material and the farm foresters offer free assistance to small woodland owners.

Nudists Hold Annual Parley

TAMPA — Nudists ranging in age from 2 to 85 attended the annual convention of the Eastern Sunbathing Area over the weekend at a lakeside retreat near here.

The two-year old tots were children of delegates attending the meeting. Sejar, the dormitories housed men and women and there were quarters for couples.

Only outsider was Mike Moran, Tampa Tribune reporter who sat in on the panel discussions of nudist problems.

Speakers told the more than 100 delegates public attacks on nudism are declining and at the same time more sunbathing clubs are being formed. Other speakers said nudism offers a good remedy for prevention of juvenile delinquency and divorces are rare in families which practice nudism.

Cohn Resigns Position With Subcommittee

Chief Counsel Says Action Taken Because Of Feeling Among Cohorts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) today announced the resignation of Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel of his Senate investigations subcommittee and No. 1 target of members demanding a staff shake up.

McCarthy made the announcement in a statement just two hours before a scheduled meeting at which committee members seeking the scalps of Cohn and others were set to seek a showdown vote.

"The resignation of Roy Cohn must bring great satisfaction to the Communists and fellow travelers," McCarthy said.

"The sneers and pressures to which he has been subjected make it clear that an effective anti-Communist cannot long survive on the Washington scene."

McCarthy made public a letter in which Cohn said he was resigning because "there appears to be a lack of unanimity among the members of the investigations subcommittee upon the question of continuing my services as chief counsel."

Actually, the committee was reported to be lined up 43 in favor of firing Cohn.

Before McCarthy's announcement, there had been widely published reports that Cohn was resigning.

The Chicago Tribune quoted Cohn as saying, "I feel that my helplessness in the subcommittee has been brought to the vanishing point. In any future investigation in which I appeared as chief counsel, all the standards voiced against me would be repeated to minimize the evidence presented."

Cohn's resignation letter was dated yesterday. McCarthy's prepared statement of comment on it bore today's date, and was released in his absence from his office.

While McCarthy did not state specifically that he was accepting the resignation, he spoke of the young lawyer's withdrawal as an accomplished fact.

Herndon Attacks Hobby, Duncan About Tax Issue

County Clerk O. P. Herndon this morning stated before the County Board of Commissioners that the 1954-55 tentative budget was ready for presentation and said, "For the first time since 1945 there is included in the bills the line and forfeiture fund which I believe is in my opinion is directly attributed to the collusion between Sheriff J. L. Hobby and Justice of the Peace Hiram Duncan by adding unnecessary costs to County court cases."

Herndon pointed out that the bills to continue to maintain the same four mills, and the general revenue fund remains at seven mills, but said Duncan and Hobby were causing court costs to be added, necessitating the increased levy. At the meeting Hobby claimed the increase was caused because he was unable to obtain warrants from the County Judge.

"That's ridiculous," Herndon countered, "for the case in which you obtain the warrant. The people will come by your office and thank you, Sheriff Hobby, when they pay their taxes, in the fall. They'll remember the Hobby-Duncan tax," Herndon spoke unskillfully.

The sudden explosion sparked an otherwise routine meeting of the commission. Henry Kramer, superintendent of the County Board, had appeared before the board and told the commissioners that an unruly patient, who had attacked an attendant, had been placed in the County Jail. This met with the approval of the board, and the superintendent thanked Kramer for so advising them.

A copy of a letter written by the judge of the Small Claims Court to the board, dated Aug. 19, 1954, announcing his resignation effective Aug. 20, was read to the commission. Herndon, who is chairman, tendered his resignation, he said because of the press of other business which makes it impossible for him to adequately handle the duties involved.

A resolution was adopted by the board closing certain roads around a Negro school in Gainesborough as a board of equalization, a which time Herndon will present the tentative budget.

Filibuster Is Held In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) said today that by "conducting a filibuster to prevent a vote" Senate foes of the administration's atomic energy legislation are acknowledging they are beaten.

"You don't filibuster if you have the votes," Knowland told news men shortly before the Senate began a session two hours earlier than usual to continue debate on the measure.

Knowland said every effort would be made to shut off talk and force a show-up vote on the legislation in the afternoon.

But Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) who has been acting as signal caller for opponents of the bill was not so optimistic.

"I don't see how we can get a vote today," Gore said. "There are a number of speeches and I have one of considerable length."

Gore himself held the floor more than 7 hours in the 12 1/2-hour session that ended last night. Specifically the group he heads is battling against an amendment which would spell out authority of the Atomic Energy Commission to sign a private power contract for the Tennessee Valley.

Knowland did not outline the strategy he lay out to bring about a showdown vote. But he said, if this can't be done the Senate will stay in session even later tonight.

Though important farm and foreign aid bills among major legislation are being held up by the atomic measure, Knowland insisted they will not put the atomic bill aside.

Knowland said 4th great talk is 33 1/2 hours.

Hanoi Residents Hear Broadcast About Agreement

PARIS (AP)—A broadcast of military men here heard without interruption today a broadcast report that a cease-fire agreement had been reached between the French and the Viet Minh in Hanoi, Vietnam.

Radio stations here and Saigon broadcast a French news agency dispatch out of Geneva that a tentative agreement, reached last night, would permit partition of the city near the 17th parallel and require the French to evacuate Hanoi in 30 days and Hanoi to be set up as a free zone. The agreement was described as a preliminary agreement.

Little words of civilians, both French and Vietnamese, discussed the report on street corners and over coffee at sidewalk cafe tables. Their faces were clouded. The reaction was one of resignation and acceptance of the inevitable.

An Italian merchant looked over his stock in a department shop at how much he could take to Hanoi and how much he could sell there. A Chinese shopkeeper peddled his wares to the Chinese Nationalist consulate and registered himself as a family of five as a refugee.

A consular official said the Chinese made about the month's stay in Hanoi for a quarter of a million dollars. The Chinese Nationalist government has chartered to take Chinese to Hanoi and Saigon. Fall shuttle service to Hanoi will start today.

It was learned that the Chinese Communists who originally asked that the United States be included in the list were now not included as hosts on this point. This block, thrown into the negotiations at the 17th hour, had impeded optimism for a while.

A responsible Liaison source said that agreement also was reached on the question of regrouping of "resistance forces" in Laos and the withdrawal of an estimated 100,000 Viet Minh troops in Laos within 60 days.

A few minor issues remained to be settled.
