HOOVER FARM BILL APPEARS NEAR VICTORY

Debentureless Plan Is To Be Given Test In Senate In Afternoon With Poll On Report.

WASHINGTON, June 11—(INS)— The Hoover administration faced a vote of confidence in the Senate today on its farm relief program, with the President likely victorious.

The vote will come at 4 o'clock upon the conference report on the new farm bill, from which the export debenture plan has been eliminated. Adoption of the report will send a debentureless farm bill to the White House within 24 hours for the President's signature. Rejection of the report will send the bill back to conference, deadlock the farm relief battle, delay enactment of the bill and probably force the House in a all-out vote on the debenture—something the astute politicians in that branch have dodged throughout the special session.

The President seemed likely to win, although by a very narrow margin. A careful check by International News Service indicated the debentureless report would be approved by the Senate by a margin of two votes, 47 to 45 or 48 to 46, depending on the number of absences. This would be in contrast to the 44 to 47 votes by which the debenture was first retained in the bill over the President's opposition. Two senators—Trammell and Fletcher, Florida Democrats—have shifted their state legislative unanimously condemned the debenture. A third, Kendrick (D) of Wyoming—left the city, ordering a pair against the debenture, after having been poised originally in its favor.

The vote will be so close, since a single senator changing against the President could bring a tie that Vice-President Curtis will be called in the pending offical's chair. Administration leaders have no fear for a repetition of the Womble incident, in which the absence of Vice-President Dawes was held in the rejection of a cabinet nomination by a tie vote.

Once the farm vote has been taken, there appeared a strong possibility that the Senate would dispose of the President's request for control of the national origins immigration act.

Both advocates and opponents of national origins quotas have claimed victory for the indication gave that the President would meet defeat. It seemed entirely likely that the Senate would refuse to discharge the Senate immigration committee from consideration of a repeat resolution. This action would kill the repeat, and the new quota would go into effect July 1.

Plans For Atlantic Flights Appear To Be Disintegrating

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., June 11—(INS)— Chances of immediate trans-Atlantic hops by the Bone-bound monoplane Green Flash and the Paris-bound monoplane Yellow Bird began to dim today. Armando Lotti Jr., sponsor of the flight of the Yellow Bird, was in New York continuing his study of weather reports and trying to convince his father in France to make the "Yellow Bird" is "air-worthy."

Roger Q. Williams of the Green Flash has given up his rooms at a local hotel and has entered our-wards outside flying. Meanwhile, bad flying weather continues to stall over the Atlantic, as it did for the past two weeks.

CITY APPRAISAL PLAN REJECTED BY COMMISSION

Board Opposes Plan Because Of Costs Estimated At $10,000

The City Commission yesterday entertained a proposal to employ experts to make an appraisal of Sanford property as the basis for making tax assessments but informally rejected the proposal because of the expense.

Leon L. Lefay, representing a Chicago company, submitted the plan and estimated the cost at between $6,000 and $10,000. The commissioners said the proposal had merits but their attitude was expressed by Comptroller George Steiner, who remarked that it strikes me we have plenty of experts now."

Mr. Lefay said an expert appraisal of the property would guarantee an equal distribution of the tax burden, and expressed the belief that this would result in an appreciable increase in tax payments. The commissioners said, "Buy your own freight." Mr. Lefay declared, in the amount of property it wouldn't restore to the tax rolls. As regards to his firm, he said would guarantee taxes recognized by holding banking and investment houses of the nation.

At a three-to-one vote, the commission turned down a request, submitted by E. E. Hauseholder, for endorsement of a proposed legislative measure to remove certain property owned by the American Fruit Growers and Lockheed interests from the Chicago limits. Commissioner Frank S. Miller alone favored the plan. Commissioner S. O. Chase was absent.

The Board instructed City Attorney Fred R. Wilson to negotiate with Atlantic Coast Line officials, requesting that a committee of a watchman be continued at the Goldsmith crossing. Commissioner R. A. Newman called attention to the fact that the watchman's services were recently discontinued. He described the crossing as one of the most dangerous in Sanford. The railroad officials, fearing that the incident of a watchman be continued at the Goldsmith crossing, Commissioner R. A. Newman called attention to the fact that the watchman's services were recently discontinued.

According to official advice received here, the raiders took the crossing as one of the most dangerous in Sanford. The railroad was also requested to improve the crossings where trees are declared to have become rough.

The commissioners also transacted extensive routine business and discussed informally a conference today with representatives of the bond houses.

SOLONS SCORE "DRY" SLAYING OF GUILTLESS

Anti-Prohibitionists Clamor For Official Action Which Will Stop Wild Shooting

WASHINGTON, June 11—(INS)— Arrived to a new pitch of indignation by the killing of Harry Vitkula, a tourist, in uniform, near International Falls, Minn., anti-prohibitionists were clamoring today for official action that will stop the hunting.

Rep. Henry Schaefer (D) of Wisconsin introduced the measure somewhat on the idea of the Royal Mounted Police of Canada would embrace the customs service, immigration inspectors, marine and coast guard officers and bring under its jurisdiction one department of agriculture.

The proposal serves to underscore the work of another of all kinds profit by a division of authority, and duties, Hudson asserted.

Rep. Hudson, one of the leading drys of the House, discussed the plan with President Hoover, who

U.S. Border Patrol Service Similar To Royal Mounted Suggested In Legislature

WASHINGTON, June 11—(INS)— President Hoover has suggested a sweeping reorganization of law enforcement methods on the Canadian and Mexican borders, it became known today with the introduction by Rep. Grant M. Hudson (R) of Michigan, a bill creating a "United States border patrol service."

The proposal serves to underscore the work of another of all kinds profit by a division of authority, and duties, Hudson asserted.

There are now 712 customs agents, 870 immigration inspectors, marine and coast guard officers and bring under its jurisdiction one department of agriculture.

Friends Of Babe Ruth, Now Ill, Declare He Has Been Over Worked By His Club

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 10.—Babe Ruth is just a well-paid drudge and the New York Yankees a soulless corporation so bent on extracting its pound of flesh from a $20,000-a-year investment that when mad Ruth the sick man he is admitted to be.

Such was the charge brought by friends of the home run hitter, their claim being that endless exhibition games, in which the club exploited Ruth to the utmost, gave him no rest and so weakened his resistance that he was liable to constant illness and injuries. Indeed they went further and traced his present illness to a heavy cold contracted because of what they said was callous indifference in insisting that he undertake a long spring trip to an exhibition date after playing a recent double header in Washington.

Ruth, they said, was completely fatigued after this pair of games on one of the hottest afternoons of the year, yet was routed out early the next day and driven 110 miles in an open bus to the exhibition game at Chambersburg, Pa. They say he got a chill en route and has been a sick man ever since.

Exhibition games, as a rule, are quite a break for the stars. Few of them are required to appear, unless the entire club is traveling and makes the barnstorming stop between points. Even then, they may not be expected to play at all if they are, they appear only for a few innings and let the rest of the game go by.

Not so with Ruth, "No Ruth, no game."

This, then, is said to be the story of all exhibition contracts made between the Yankees and the towns visited. Whether he feels like it or not, Ruth must play nine innings of baseball or the club forfeits its guarantee. So far, the club is understood to have been very reliable in this connection.

Exhibition games, of course, are an accepted part of the life that ball players follow and all of them, the best and the worst, must expect to take the ran at one time or another. It simply has been Ruth's misfortune to be so weak that he has had to take it at all opportunities, which have been many.

They have been too many, according to the Babe's friends who say that the Yankees are anxious to make all the money they can out of Ruth before his race is run, play twice as many exhibition dates as any other club in the Major Leagues. So much for Ruth's friends. They probably overlook the fact that Ruth's love for the game and his willingness to play it at the slightest provocation has contributed as much as anything to the state of affairs they are pleased to display. They also ignore the admitted effects of the good old walt motto, build me up, but break me down.

The Yankees, a business firm as losing thousands of dollars for every day Ruth is out of the line-up. They need him in there, not only for his punch at the plate but for his appeal at the turnstile. It was back in 1925, the last time he was serious ill.

I saw him then as he was driven from the hospital of a morning to practice a few half-swings in the stadium. After he had limped up and taken back to his private room. The day I saw him, he practiced for five minutes and then all but collapsed, being dragged to a nearby chair over which he sprawled in sheer weariness and for minutes thereafter panted and heaved and gasped for breath. Four days later, he was playing right field for the Yankees. That was the year in which later he leg was filled with water and his record with pin holes; in fact, it was the last really poor year Ruth had.

'MASS MIND' IS NEED OF CITRUS MEN SAYS PRATT

Clearing House Manager Backs Co-operation In Agriculture

WINTER HAVEN, June 10.—The greatest need of the hour for the Florida citrus industry is to produce in the state a group of growers who have the "mass mind" in regard to co-operation effort among themselves for the betterment of the industry they represent. That is the view held by A. M. Pratt, former sales manager of Chase & Company, who has just assumed his duties as general manager of the Clearing House, to which post he was elected to succeed J. Curtis Robinson, resigned.

Mr. Pratt, who was active in cooperative fruit marketing in California before coming to Chase and Company, five years ago, says that the prime need of the industry at this particular time is a united front, the "mass mindedness" that would make the growers a compact body in seeking to carry out the purposes for which the Clearing House was organized.

The growers of Florida have the greatest opportunity for co-operation in organization that has ever been given to southern agriculturists," Mr. Pratt said. "That is because it is very necessary that something vital along this line be done in Florida. Necessity has always been the mother of co-operation, as has been so clearly exemplified—not-only in Florida—but in California and other states. Sometimes I am amused at the almost reverent manner in which Floridians speak of California's example as a co-operative. Floridians usually speak of it as though it were a model of such thing. But those of us who have lived and labored in California know that to them co-operation is a practical thing born of necessity—the necessity of controlling largely the handicap that face a people who must ship their products long distances and over difficult routes to the markets of the nation. Florida is near the great markets of the country, but she has not yet learned fully how to control marketing conditions and situations. Hence, the necessity for co-operation among her growers is probably somewhat different from that of California, and yet even though like it that in both cases co-operation spells opportunity to control markets and realize satisfactory prices for the growers."

Mr. Pratt does not doubt for a minute that the Clearing House will solve this problem. "To me it is nothing less than an act of providence that we have the Clearing House to serve as a foundation for all constructive effort along this line." Mr. Pratt continued: "For it is not only the vehicle to bring about greater co-operation in securing equitable distribution of citrus products, it is the only means at hand to effectively fight the Medeville sheep Fly menace, granting, of course, the fine co-operation we are receiving from the federal and state authorities."

The fruit fly, though, may be the means of hastening this co-operative attitude, Mr. Pratt thinks for nations and individuals develop most in character and in ability to fight the game well when they have obstacles to meet and overcome. I believe that the fruit fly—while serious and not to be treated lightly, will be the means of bringing about such a splendid co-operation that Florida will through it learn its greatest lesson along this line. The fly presents an emergency which Florida is going to meet, and I believe that this page in our history will record the beginning of a period of constructive progress that will carry the state into the greatest prosperity it has ever enjoyed.

The attitude of the banks, the auto and commercial organizations and business in general should be one of optimism and confidence that the fly will be conquered and that Florida will soon arrive at its greatest period of expansion and progress.

The membership campaign on which the Clearing House recently embarked drew from Mr. Pratt a strong endorsement, the manager pointing out the need of a more extensive educational campaign among the growers, and declaring that the membership drive would supply that need.

"We must educate the growers in the benefit of the Clearing House," he said. "They are stated admiringly in the advertisements recently issued by the membership committee, of which A. W. Henley is the able director. Such a campaign will make growers realize their duty to themselves and their neighbors and will open the way for those who may not come in now but will join later. They will see that they can no longer sit on the sidelines and reap the benefit of other growers' labor."

"The campaign will also serve a good purpose in disabusing the minds of outside growers that this is not a growers' organization. Some have gotten the erroneous

Exploring Party To Seek Indian Relics In Mountain Region

BRYSON CITY, N. C., June 10—(GNS)—An exploring party of two men, a boy scout, and a guide, acquainted with a portion of the area early this morning plunged into the rugged and uncharted Great Smoky mountains, soon to be converted into a national park, to seek relics of a lost race of Indians, said to have inhabited the region once, and to uncover the other secrets that this primeval wilderness holds.

The explorers entered the park region above Smokemont carrying with them supplies for one month's stay. Carrie pigeons will be used to establish communication with the outside world. A formal celebration was extended the expedition before its start by city officials, civic clubs, and boy scouts of Bryson City. An aluminum tablet to Howard Kendrick, author and woodcarver whose writings gave impetus to the park movement, was given to the explorers by the Bryson City community to erect on Mt. Kephart.

The expedition is sponsored jointly by the Asheville Times and the New York Times.

The SEA HORSE 16

The new Johnson Twin Cylinder Class B Motor. Equipped with Johnson Release Charger to simplify starting by releasing the compression from one cylinder and supercharging and doubling the spark intensity in the other. Also has the Johnson Underwater Exhaust which does away with all gas fumes in boat and eliminates the noise of the exhaust, leaving only reassuring whirr of sweet running motor. Another new refinement, the Johnson Rotary Valve, which permits full gas charges into cylinders at high engine speeds—thus giving greater power and speed.

The SEA HORSE 32

The King of Outboards, Johnson's new four-cylinder Class D Motor! With the Release Charger—unbelievably easy to start—flooded—cold—any time! Underwater exhaust and Rotary Valve, also standard equipment. A power plant complete in itself, entirely different from any outboard ever known before. There is no other outboard that approaches it!
