NEW CABINET MEMBERS

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Speculation about the possible cabinet selections of the incoming administration was cast into more definite lines today by consultations between the president-elect and leaders of his party in and out of congress.

Three names which stood in the foreground among the many discussed as possible cabinet members were those of John W. Weeks, of Massachusetts for secretary of the navy; Will H. Hays of Indiana, the republican national chairman, for postmaster-general; and Harry M. Daugherty, of Ohio, the Harding pre-convention manager, for attorney-general.

Pronouncement also was given by the day's conferences to the possible selection of David Jayne Hill of New York, former ambassador to Germany, as secretary of state, although such leaders as Charles Evans Hughes, Elihu Root, Senator Philander C. Convictions For Failure to Screen

SIX BUSINESS HOUSES IN COURT FOR NOT HAVING SCREEN DOORS

There were six convictions for violation of the screen ordinance yesterday in Judge Housholder's court. The violators were among the merchants of the city who were probably unaware of the law but this did not save them and they were put under suspended sentence and made to pay the costs of the court proceedings. The state inspector, Julian Denazaree swore out the warrants and the county was represented by County Attorney Schelle Malnes. The law requires that all places that offer food of any kind for sale shall be screened and where there are no screen doors to these establishments the proprietors will be arrested and fined. If there are any other places in the city that are not screened the owners of the same should get busy and have screen doors put up immediately as the inspectors are active and intend to enforce the law in every particular.

The president did not refer to the League of Nations except perhaps inference in quoting Lincoln's "Let us have faith that right makes might and in that faith let us dare to do our duty as we understand it." He said "I have not so much as laid before you a series of recommendations as sought to utter confession of faith, of faith which I was bred and which my solemn purpose to stand by until my last fighting day. I believe this to be the faith of America, the faith of the future. The president sent his message by a messenger, adhering to his decision not to address congress in person as has been his custom.

FIGURES ON FLORIDA FRUIT CROP

George R. Williams, special agent of Chase & Co., of Jacksonville, who is making headquarters here, stopping at the Hotel Thelma, furnishes us the following figures on citrus shipments this season:

Up to December 3, there had been 3,267 cars of grapefruit shipped from Florida, equivalent to 1,143,000 boxes.

At the same date there had been shipped 4,192 cars of oranges, equivalent to 1,500,000 boxes.

The crop of citrus fruit for the year is estimated at 13,000,000 boxes. There has been more fruit shipped up to this time than to the same date last year.

Mr. Williams states that while the price of fruit just now is somewhat lower than it has been—oranges bringing about $2.35—he looks for an improvement after the holidays and believes satisfactory prices will prevail later.—Lakeland Telegram.

Will Have Sewerage and Water Connections

AN IDEAL LOCATION

AND ONE OF THE BEST IN THE ENTIRE STATE, BEING IN HEART OF THE CITY

All things come from what at first seems insurmountable difficulties and the Auto Camps that have been talked about for many months now seem to have come to the point where Sanford will have the best location in the state—right in the heart of the city.

The temporary camp established on Sanford Heights has outgrown its usefulness and has been a source of annoyance to the city officials as the residents on the Heights objected to making it a large camp and the city never intended it for a permanent camp but had made no provisions for another camp and as the city had invited the campers to come in and take a place they availed themselves of the opportunity and camp in such large numbers that the camp grounds were soon filled with tourists and if the grounds became unsanitary as is charged the city is to blame for it and not the tourists. It is up to the city to see that the camp is in first class sanitary condition and that is the prime reason for having it well within the city limits where a better sewerage system can be arranged and where the military and police departments can have supervision over the camp just as they have over the citizens of Sanford who are living in houses. The camp grounds are no different from regular residences and should be under the same regulations.

Yesterday without any warning the city officials gave the campers 24 hours notice to move and while City Manager Ryan had fixed up a temporary place farther out on the Heights for the campers it was not what they desired and they were preparing to leave for other points when J. D. Hood came to the rescue and told them to camp on the bulkhead as soon as he could have the city level off the ground and place sewerage connections thereon, but J. D. Hood could not wait for that and this morning carried a petition around among the business men of the city and collected an amount sufficient to make these improvements and if the campaign can be made on the grounds just across from the old hotel property instead of farther down the lake front Sanford will have one of the finest camping grounds in the state and one that will have all the modern conveniences and that will hold 500 families very comfortably.

This camp should be established at once and then the city advertise for the people to come here and make Sanford their home for the remainder of the season. Other cities are spending big sums on the camping grounds and making them permanent institutions for it will be years before the house shortage can be met and these camps are giving Florida cities more advertising than any improvements that have ever been made. These campers are good people who are seeing America first and come to Florida to get first hand information. They like Sanford and many of them have bought property or will buy property before they leave and become regular winter visitors. Sanford owes them a good camping ground but it should be on the lake front with the best of sewerage systems and everything absolutely sanitary.

SAYS LOLLYPOPS AND HIGH HEELS WRECKING NATION'S WOMANHOOD

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—A ban on high heels, such as never carried a Puritan pilgrim ancestress to church, is to be sought from the legislature by the Massachusetts Osteopathic Society. Announcement that the society would introduce a bill to stop the high heel at its source—the manufacturer—was made at its 19th annual convention today.

Dr. R. Kenrick Smith of Brookline, who read a paper on "High Heels a Crime," told his associates that the advent of woman suffrage had given the society courage to propose a bill prohibiting the manufacture, sale and wearing of heels more than one and one-half inches in height.

The fad of sucking lollypop also was attacked.

The "lollypop is not a bad piece of physical enjoyment," said Dr. Robert H. Veitch of Medford. "Were it not for the danger of functional derangement of the stomachs of our school pupils and others by its excessive use."

HARDING MAY SPEND A PART OF HIS VACATION IN MIAMI IN JANUARY

MIAMI, Dec. 6.—In a radio telegram received here Saturday Frank B. Shuts, owner of the Miami Herald, from Ex-Governor W. T. Durbin, of Indiana, the statement is made that Senator and Mrs. Harding will probably spend some part of their winter vacation in Miami during January and February of next year. Gov. Durbin returned from the Canal Zone on the steamship Pastores with the president-elect and his party and is now at Hampton Roads.

Work on the jetties near Fort Pierce has been proceeding slowly during the last week or two, owing to the rough weather which has interfered with the placing of the rock, and the fact that the jetty now reaches the breakers and it is possible to work only at low tide.

RHODA ROYAL'S BIG CIRCUS COMING TO TOWN

Every dead wall and all the bill boards in this city for over a week have proclaimed the fact that Rhoda Royal's greatest, biggest and best shows would be in town next Friday and give two grand performances. Don't you make a mistake and think that it is a little one night, one ring affair, where a small boy works his way in by carrying a pail of water to the elephants, and after the show has come and gone, sit sadly and wistfully listening to some of your neighbors and their happy children tell of the marvelous features they saw in the mammoth menagerie and the wonderful acts they saw in the three rings beneath the dome of the colossal big top, where a hundred of the world's best known acrobats, gymnasts, leapers, aerialists, riders and clowns disport themselves for the edification of the multitudes that come from all over the county, and those adjoining, to see this, the biggest and best of all big shows. In the way of a show there is about everything from a white rat up to an elephant, and the rarest of all rare animals, the Bovnlapus. The only one every exhibited in this country, and the only one perhaps you will ever have a chance during your life to see, as they are becoming extinct even on the Upper Nile. The free street pageant at ten in the morning will give you a faint idea of the magnitude of this gigantic amusement institute, and it will be worth coming a great ways to see.

WAGING WAR ON POTATO WEEVIL

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 6.—The State Plant Board has been taking all precautions during the past three years to prevent any further spread of the sweet potato weevil, the worst known insect enemy of the sweet potato. The quarantine rules of the board prohibit the shipment of sweet potato plants out of the counties that are infested with the weevil and also require the fumigation of all sweet potato tubers shipped out of these counties. As a matter of fact, owing to the ravages of the weevil, those counties infested with it are "importers" rather than "exporters" of sweet potatoes and must draw on the uninfested counties for their supply of this root crop.

In Baker county the board has been carrying on in co-operation with the United States Department of agriculture, an experiment in eradicating the weevil. In this work growing of sweet potatoes by the farmer is not interfered with, yet the inspectors are able to gradually reduce the numbers of the pest and on many farms in Baker county which were heavily infested in 1916 and 1917, no weevils at all can be found at present.

In general the area infested by the sweet potato weevil in this state extends from the northern part of Volusia county southward along the coast to Key West and then up the west coast to Tarpon Springs. The plant board has carried on extensive scouting work to determine if any inland places are infested. With the exception of the area in Baker county and an isolated infestation near Lilly in DeSoto county the pest seems confined very closely to the strip along the coast just described.

All of Western Florida seems to be free from the weevil and the board has been able thus far through its quarantine regulations, to keep this part of the state free from the pest.

REGULAR EVERY-DAY AFFAIR

Most Mothers With Small Sons Will Recognize This as Strictly According to Schedule.

Aw, mother, not yet! Just lemme stay out a little longer—just five minutes. Just one minute? Aw, gee!

Get ready? Why, ain't I all right to go this way? Why not? Aw, gosh, not my shirt! Yes, I see those edges on the cuffs, but I can keep my coat sleeves down over them. Gee whiz, you're pertickler. Why do you have to see my shoes? I did black them, just yesterday.

Yes, I'm all done washing; no, didn't hurry too much. Lemme alone—my neck's all right! Well, I'm sure I don't know why those dark places are on my hands; why, I just washed them. Ouch! Don't brush my hair so hard! Well, the place that sticks up is right over the bump, so that's why I couldn't brush it there. No, I haven't done my nails yet; I was just getting ready to when you made me wash my hands again.

I don't need anything. Well, then, just a sweater, not my overcoat. Aw, gee! No, I don't know where my gloves are; I don't need them, anyhow. Gosh, not my rubbers! Aw, mother! The mud isn't very deep, and it takes about a year to put the darn things on. Gee whiz.

Well, why? Yes, I am hurrying. Well, I'm gonna start right off, soon as I speak to Bill a minute; he's right up at the corner, and he might be going my way. Aw, why not?

Well, s'long!

Fill Fountain Pen Without Dropper.

How can the fountain pen be filled without having a dropper handy? A man does not usually carry a dropper with him. But in the crowd at hand there is likely to be someone who has a self-filling fountain pen. If he can be induced to lend it for a moment the trick is done, says the Popular Science Monthly.

Take the self-filling pen and steep it in ink until it is full. Assure the owner that no damage will be done to the point of his valuable self-filler and permit him to watch the following performance:

Press the lever of the borrowed pen, and through its point discharge its contents of ink into the barrel of your own pen. Then refill the borrowed pen and return it.

BISTILLING ATTAR OF ROSES

Business in Which a Great Part of Bulgaria's Population is Vivially Interested.

Every year in Bulgaria there is an immense harvest of roses in which the people take a good deal of interest. This rose crop, says a writer in the Philadelphia Public Ledger, is the support of one hundred and seventy-three villages and amounts to some twenty-five million pounds of rose flowers. It is for the world's supply of that rare perfume, attar of roses.

From all these million pounds of blooms, however, the average yearly distillation of pure attar amounts only to about one hundred and twenty thousand ounces. It takes from one hundred and sixty to two hundred pounds of rose flowers to make one ounce of attar, and there are about three hundred roses to the pound.

The distillation of rose flowers is carried on, during the progress of the harvest, in copper boilers with condensing attachments; the first product of distillation is redistilled into what is known as "second rose water." This double-distilled water is very strong in odor and very turbid in appearance. It is full of tiny, yellow-white, oily globules, and when the long-necked bottles in which the rose water runs are filled they rise to the top. These globules are the real attar of roses. They are skimmed with little conical spoons and put into separate bottles that have little holes in the bottom large enough to let the water run out, but not the oil.

OBJECT IN MYTHICAL SUIT

Oriental "Faked" Case Before English Magistrate to Settle Quarrel Over a Woman.

Two Indians came before an English magistrate, one complaining that the other had allowed his cattle to stray off the path through his cornfield, whereby the crop had been greatly damaged.

The defendant replied that he certainly had driven the cattle along the said path, there being right of way, but that he had taken care not to allow the crops to be damaged. Both brought witnesses to support their case.

The magistrate, with the intuition which comes from experience with Orientals, adjourned the case, and rode out many miles to see the field and the damage done. He found on the one hand that no such field existed, and on the other that the defendant had no cattle!

Further inquiry disclosed the fact that the two Indians had quarreled over a woman. Not caring to bring her name into court, they had decided to put up a mythical case to the magistrate, the victor to have the woman!

China's Miracle.

The miracle of South China is associated in my mind with a certain landscape in northern China. Near Chinglungshan, on the Peking-Kalgan section of the Chinese government railways, it was necessary for a section of the great wall of China to be demolished in order to let the locomotive pass through. At a point where one instinctively pauses to enjoy an impressive view of the historic barrier which winds up the precipitous sides of the mountain like a huge dragon, the eye drops back to the foreground and to the familiar switch signal that indicates a sidetrack. There it stands in the very gap made in the great wall, this prosaic emblem of modern progress. This switch signal and a huge billboard on the crest of the mountain to remind the visitor of the merits of a certain brand of cigars are my most vivid memories of the great wall of China.—Edgar Allen Forbes in Leslie's.

Pretty Japanese Custom.

Since the earliest days and in every land, the launching of a ship has been the occasion for a ceremony of some kind, usually resembling in a general way the ceremony of christening a child peculiar to the particular country. Of all the launching customs, however, that of the Japanese is undoubtedly the prettiest and most symbolic.

When the Japanese ship is ready for launching a large cage filled with birds is hung over the bow, and as the ship glides into the water the birds are released. The Japanese sailors firmly believe that by no other means may a ship be insured good luck. The birds, they say, will, in gratitude for their liberty, guide the ship to safety in times of peril.

Men Dodge Age Proposition.

Service of women citizens on the registration boards leads to interesting personal revelations about their neighbors.

A man who holds a position in the city government had always given his real age, now 48, before women sat on the boards. When his wife went in to register for the first time one of the women on the board said to her:

"Oh, Mrs. Blank, isn't your husband an old codger?"

"Why, no," said Mrs. Blank, "I don't think 41 is so very old."

"But he registered as 47." Silence fell and Mrs. Blank entered the booth to fill out her enrollment ballot.

Next year, when the husband entered the registration place and was asked by a man on the board his age, he replied, "42."

The woman whose undue interest had evidently caused a family Bible meeting looked at him and her look said volumes. But he stared her down, and so the record stands.—New York Evening Post.

It's easy for an old bachelor to get married when a widow camps on his trail.

At a Party.

There had been a party at Lightleigh's house and Lightleigh was bored. Said he to his wife:

"My dear, I have a splitting headache. Can't you manage, in some deft way, to get rid of these people, nice as they are?"

"I can't very well show them the door," said Mrs. Lightleigh.

"Certainly not," rejoined Lightleigh, with an ingratiating smile, "but, my dear, you can show yourself at the piano."

What People Quarrel Over.

"What was the quarrel about?"

"I said if I ever inherited money I'd build an opera house. My wife said she wouldn't let me."

"Have you any prospects of inheriting money?"

"No."

"Then why quarrel?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Making the veterans reel at home.

Beattyville, Ky.—World war veterans thought they were back in the Argonne when a pitched battle was fought on local streets. Three men were using their guns and only one bystander was hit. He was Berry Jackson, aged 42, who received a death wound. Sam Allen, released on bond after being arrested on a charge of killing his brother-in-law, was shot four times. Hume McDonald was shot in the leg, while Charles Blunk, town marshal, who joined in the fray, escaped unharmed. McDonald and Allen were fighting a duel when the officer tried to stop it with his own shots. No one knows who shot Jackson.

We should have a real auto camp.

The lake front will do nicely for this year but is only temporary and other plans should be laid for next season.

The Herald office is torn up again today on account of the arrival of new machinery for the printing of a bigger and better Daily Herald.

There are hundreds of fine yachts tied at the wharfs on the east coast that would be plying the St. Johns river if we had that outlet to the Indian river.

That spirit of "letting George do it" should be left with that spirit of thinking the town is good enough—in the discard—and we should all begin to work for a bigger city and work toward some real end.

Edwin Lambright, former editor of the Tampa Tribune and now postmaster of Tampa is being mentioned for the position of City Manager of the new commission form of government. Tampa has long recognized the fact that her newspaper men are the real men behind all the public spirited movements on that city and deserve the plums.

The city officials are preparing a permanent auto camp south of the city and the suitable arrangements can be made for this land for a certain period that would justify the expense they will make this a real camping ground for all time. All other camps are only temporary arrangements being made to take care of the many tourists who want to stay in Sanford and are unable to do so on account of the dearth of houses. Other cities are making arrangements to take care of the hundreds of people coming to Florida and Sanford should be meeting the new comers half way and locate them for the winter.

PUBLIC DEMANDS THAT BUSINESS ADVERTISE

Modern business depends upon many things, the most important of which is advertising was not essential to commercial success, today it is, because the leading concerns throughout the country have adopted it as the most satisfactory and economical method of reaching the public, and the smaller concerns have been forced to follow the lead of their progressive competitors.

The art of advertising has been developed to such an extent that the buying public is suspicious of an organization that does not advertise. Maybe this is fair, maybe not; but it is a cold fact.

"Flare advertising" attracts, although consistent advertising is the most profitable in the long run. Recently we heard this conversation, which is illustrative of the point:

"If you inherited ten million dollars and decided to buy your wife the finest diamond ring on sale, where would you go to purchase it?" asked one man of his friends.

Without hesitation the friend named a jewelry establishment in New York.

"Why?"

"Well, in the first place, it is the only large jewelry concern I know anything about."

"What do you know about it?" "Oh, I have been reading its advertisements for years!" and he considered that proof enough of its business integrity.

A soft drink concern started out in Atlanta with a capital of $50,000. It advertised regularly and attractively. It kept its name constantly before the public eye. It overlooked no opportunity to reach the people. In a recent statement it was disclosed that it had increased its assets by $1,370,000 since the previous statement, and it is now worth $6,572,647. It has $3,283,000 in real estate and a surplus of $2,924,898.

An automobile corporation reports increased sales of over $13,000,000 for the past year. Credit is given to advertising. A cereal company which advertises extensively reports a gain of $1,356,972 in gross earnings. This is an increase of sixty-seven per cent in two years.

A biscuit company last year decreased its advertising appropriation. In one year profits shrunk from $731,172 to $422,371.

Truthful advertising is being demanded more and more by the public, and advertisers realize the advantage of honest representation. The fake advertiser is fast becoming a type of the past. He cannot compete with the houses that have proved repeatedly their policies of rigid adherence to the facts.

Experience's answer to the old question, "Does advertising pay?" is in the affirmative. It does pay. Furthermore, it is absolutely essential. The public demands it.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

THE ANSWER IS HERE

When will the price of papers and advertising rates be reduced to a pre-war basis? was the question asked recently by a local merchant at an association dinner of a representative of The Tribune.

Here is the answer—leaving out the part that newsprint is still playing, at prices double and triple the pre-war cost.

Editor and Publisher, a New York journal for editor and publishers, has prepared a table showing the price paid in 1914 and the price paid in 1920 for newspaper labor. It is an interesting one. It divides the United States into five great sections, and taxes six to twenty leading newspaper cities from each section, and gives the scale paid to typographical, admen, pressmen, stereotypers and photo engravers.

In the South Atlantic section, which includes Florida, it is shown the increase for typographical workers is the greatest for any part of the United States, the average increase being 101 per cent. The next highest increase shown is in the North Atlantic states, containing Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and other great newspaper centers, where the average is 80.1 per cent.

Going carefully over the figures in all the tables, the employing printers of Tampa are found to be paying a higher wage to typographical operators, pressmen and stereotypers than nearly any other city in the country outside of New York.

The newspapers of this state made but slight increase in rates for circulation and advertising when faced with the enormous cost of paper and the steadily increasing cost of labor—less than 10 per cent, while facing 100 per cent increase in both paper and labor. Did any business other than the newspaper publishing business try to get across the financial chasm on a percentage of increase less than 10 per cent?—Tampa Tribune.

ATTENTION

The Royal Neighbors will meet the second Tuesday night in December, the 14th, for election of officers for the ensuing year and a full attendance is urged. Meeting will open at 7:30 in Eagles Hall on Oak Street.

tional church will hold their annual evening. Cooked food and fancy articles will be on sale. 210-4tc

You want some of those new and up to the minute correspondence cards at the Herald office. We can print your monogram on them if you wish.

The Cedar Chest

The Old Ivory Reed Rocker, The Electric Parlor Lamp and the two Gold Pieces that we are giving away are all very valuable prizes and the interest being displayed in these by the hundreds of ladies as well as the men prompts us to again call your attention to these as we want you all to have chances on them.

During the Coming Week

every one should see that they make their purchases for Christmas, such purchases that they intend making from our line, so that they not only get these chances but save some nice money also. Our sale ends next Saturday night and at 8:30 that night the drawing will take place for these prizes. There will be just one drawing for each prize so that if any of the holders of these chances are not present they will be given an opportunity to call for the prizes later. We shall post the winning numbers in our store right after the drawing.

GET IN ON SOME OF THESE GOOD THINGS WE HAVE AT OUR PLACE FOR YOU.
