

Insurance Adjustments In Storm Area Are Not To Be Completed For 3 Months

LAKESIDE, Fla., Oct. 15.—Three months will pass before insurance adjustments can be completed in the storm area of the state, according to Daniel, special agent in charge of the insurance department, in an article written for the insurance underwriting publication, "Insurance Adjustments in the Storm Area," which is being distributed to the field bureau at Miami.

The writer will probably reach 8,000. The heaviest liability is in the home owners' policy, such as down-burned buildings, hotels and apartments. There are hundreds of small claims and each will have to be adjusted with the same care and precision, the article says.

Daniel stated that he had received "many confessions" from company executives, insurance agents and brokers, and that the low estimate of loss to insurance companies at $6,000,000 and the estimate at $10,000,000, with the amount, in his own opinion, is nearer to being correct.

Conservative estimates of property damage from wind and water damage around $105,000,000 in Greater Miami district, which includes Hollywood, Miami Beach, Coral Gables and various other resorts," the article says.

"Tornado liability in the Miami district is surely between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000, entirely on buildings, and none on contents, and none on use and occupancy.

"Under tornado policies will be around 25 per cent. There are lines outstanding with a loss as low as 5 per cent. There is a large line where it may make a difference of 10 per cent. Let us say that the total tornado loss runs approximately $7,000,000."

Including, the article says:

"It has indeed made Miami a point; it has concentrated here its adjustment work; it has the first time brought into use tornado losses, the conflagration of the National Board of Underwriters that gives adjustment work an orderly procedure; it has created contact, a union of fire and casualty lines on a large scale for the first time in loss adjustment history."

"Miami cannot long endure in its damaged state, said Count Blithen, Prime Minister of the parties at Buckingham Palace. In 1924 there were three, last year two, and this season.

UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI OPENS DOORS TODAY

Over Seven Hundred Students Will be Enrolled, 70 Per Cent Being From Florida

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 15.—(AP)—University of Miami started its first academic year today, the original date set.

The majority of the faculty members have arrived and the football squad began practice on Thursday last.

Of the 700 students already registered 60 per cent of them are from Miami, it was stated. About 400 of them are students in the school of liberal arts and 50 of them will enter the freshman class in law. According to officials, more than 100 other students are expected to register in the evening school and still another 100 in the late afternoon and Saturday classes.

Workmen are now hurrying to completion the work on the building that was formerly the Anasrasia hotel, which will be occupied by the classes and administrative offices. The university offices now in Miami proper will move to Coral Gables on November 1 next.

The states represented by the 700 students, the majority of which are freshmen, are Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Illinois, Alabama, West Virginia, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Michigan, Vermont and Mississippi.

There will be 25 members of the faculty of the law and liberal arts school while the school of music will have 35 instructors on its staff.

Both faculties are composed of leading educators and musicians, according to B. F. Ashe, executive secretary.

The administrative group is composed of Bowman Foster Ashe, executive secretary; S. S. Hochl, registrar; Warren Woodling Zinnmaster, auditor; Henry S. West, chairman of late afternoon and Saturday classes; John T. Holdworth, chairman of evening classes; Henry H. Provin, director of athletics; Dorothy V. Havens, assistant to executive secretary; and Ethel N. Hayes, secretary of housing and employment.

Members of the board of regents are as follows: William E. Walsh, chairman; Ruth Bryan Owen, vice chairman; Frederic Zeigler, secretary; Thomas J. Puncost, treasurer.

COLORFUL GOLF STORY IS TOLD BY OREGON MAN

Chandler Egan at 22 Copped Amateur Title and Comes Back at 43 for More Laurels

MEDFORD, Ore., Oct. 14.—Business men, whose once-a-week struggles on the golf course often bring about a sour disposition instead of the eagerly sought lower score, can take heart from a page of the colorful links story of H. Chandler Egan, Medford peat grower.

Despite his 43 years, Egan sallied forth last month to capture the California amateur title from a high class field of younger and more active players.

Champion 22 Years Ago

Twenty-two years ago, Egan waded through the pick of the country to win the amateur national championship. This feat was accomplished at Baltusrol—the difficult course where George Von Elm of Los Angeles conquered Bobby Jones this year for the identical title. In the following year, 1905, Egan again stroked his way to the highest pinnacle of amateur golf, donning the crown in 1909 when he was runner-up for the crown.

After that year, the Oregonian concluded operating a 170-acre ranch and engaging in outstanding competitive golf were enterprises that did not mix to advantage. So five years passed in which he played no championship golf. Then in 1915, he polished up his clubs and proceeded to annex the Pacific Northwest title. Every so often he drops his work long enough to disprove the old adage, "Youth must be served."

His Game Better At 43

Egan believes that his own game is better today than it was at 21. That is because he learned it in the old school where three clubs—cleek, midiron and mashie—furnished most of the shots. And at the same time, he is equally certain that the business man who golfs can improve his game.

On one of the rare occasions in which he has given an interview, he said:

"You business men golfers, though you play but once a week, can go on improving just as long as you have your health. You can cut strokes from your game as you add years to your life. That is true whether you are 15 or 50."

Where Youth A Handicap

To accomplish what seems to be a hopeless task, Egan has this formula: "Use your head."

After declaring that in the "rule for successful golf," he went on to say: "The youngsters who compete in championships almost invariably use a hook shot. No question but what that will get them maximum distance. But it is treacherous. It is not half as reliable for the average golfer as the faded shot. This is but one instance where headwork would enable young golfers who have all the requisites of champions to reach their objectives sooner."

"Today golfers use the same machine-like swing on every shot. Their irons, from 1 to 16, will give them all the variations they require."

Old School Hardest

"Twenty-five years ago we had only a cleek, midiron and mashie. The intermediate shots had to be made by the players own ingenuity in changing stance and stroke. This was a hard school, but I believe it had the compensation of developing more thorough shot-makers than the general run today."

The Egan style of golf is marked by exceptional smoothness and balance while the swing tends more to the upright than to the flat. While not particularly outstanding in his work on the tee, Egan is a master at the half and three-quarter iron shots. His stance on all irons is considerably open. The possible handicap of a pair of slender wrists is overcome by their flexibility and an exceptional production of power. On unusually fast downswing which the greens he is noted for his long and spectacular rainbow putts.

Egan came into prominence in 1902 when he captured the intercollegiate championship for Harvard University. In addition to his national titles he four times was Western amateur champion.

He started the game at the age of 15 and by way of diversion designed a links on his father's cow-pasture in the suburbs of Chicago. He since has designed the Lakewood and Waverly courses in Portland.

Seaboard President Backs Officials In Storm Statement

AVON PARK, Fla., Oct. 15.—(AP)—No less a personage than S. David Warfield, president of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, justified the statements regarding storm damage that were issued by Mayor E. C. Rompf, of Miami and Governor John W. Martin.

"It is regrettable that statements put out for the purpose of raising money to help the needy, which should be raised, were not confined to the actual directions in which this money was required. Inference in many cases has been that there was complete devastation."

He said in a statement that will be printed by the Sun this afternoon, in which statement he says the rehabilitation of hotels, apartment houses and business blocks will be complete in Miami and Hollywood by December 15. He added that the storm damage to modern structures in Fort Lauderdale and Deerfield, the worst hit towns, would not be over five per cent.

"Buildings of modern design and construction have withstood the storm with few exceptions. The principal streets of Miami now show little outside effect of the storm," he declared.

A Reasonable Request

We do not take back the unused part of an ice cream order.

To do so would be an injustice to ourselves and the party to whom returned ice cream would be sold.

We make our ice cream out of the best materials obtainable, using more than half sweet cream. This gives our customers more for their money than any other food, and we get only a very reasonable margin of profit on each gallon of ice cream, which will not permit losses as would result in giving credit for unused tubs.

Therefore, before ordering ice cream from us be prepared to use it all even if second helpings are necessary, and be assured that you are getting cream that hasn't been in any other home and "mussed over," or allowed to melt and become icy.

THE STATE IS AD AT CAPITAL

Education Board Orders
From Refunding Bond Issue

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 16. (AP)—The state of Florida's last debt has been paid, and the commission which had been set up to liquidate it is now absolutely free of bills.

The action of the State Sinking Fund Commission in paying over to the State Board of Education $2,000,000, representing the principal and accrued interest on six 3-percent refunding bonds, cleared away the last outstanding "indebtedness."

The bonds, issued on Nov. 20, 1931 and Dec. 20, 1933, in clearing up a previous indebtedness of about $2 million, were divided as follows:

Issued to the Agricultural College Fund, $3,900; to the East and West Florida Seminary Fund, $21,000; and to the State School Fund, $245,000, three 3-per cent bonds each, to mature in 1951.

Issued to the same funds, in amounts of $131,900, $75,000 and $125,000, respectively, three 2-per cent bonds, to mature in 1955.

The so-called "indebtedness," state officials said, was a case of "brother owing brother," as the funds were paid from one state "strong box" to another.

The State Board of Education accepted payment for the bonds, tendered by the State Sinking Fund Commission. Although the occasion was rather a momentous one in the annals of Florida, there was little pomp and ceremony about the affair. Two members of the board were absent. They were W. Cawthon, state superintendent of education, and H. Clay Crawford, secretary of state. Governor John G. Martin, chairman; Attorney General J. B. Johnson and State Treasurer J. C. Luning accepted the settlement, tendered by themselves as members of the State Sinking Fund Commission.

Mr. Luning was responsible for liquidation of the State Sinking Fund Commission by the legislature. One of the duties of that body was to look after the paying off of the indebtedness of the state through its operations, the state school fund "indebtedness" was paid off years before maturity of the bonds by interest from public funds on deposit in banks over the years. The "debt" was settled without extra taxation, by increasing the income of the school fund approximately $120,000 to $125,000, with a saving on interest charges to the general revenue fund of about $18,000 annually.

Diver Hopes To Make Undersea Walk Of Five Miles In Less Than 4 Hours

NORFOLK, Oct. 16. (AP)—Klaus Everetts, deep sea diver, who took a practice stroll recently across the bottom of the Elizabeth River, between Norfolk and Portsmouth, donned his bulky suit again today for his first attempt to cross the bed of Hampton Roads on foot between Old Point Comfort and the naval operating base.

Everetts' choice of unusual spots for his rambles was based several months ago upon the contention that swimming the English channel was becoming common. "any body could do it," and his challenge to beat any pedestrian in a race across the roads along the surface of the earth.

In his previous submarine hike, the diver walked a little more than a mile in 50 minutes, clad in a regulation diving suit. Before he entered the water at Old Point wharf today he said he expected to traverse the five miles to the Naval base in less than four hours.

A launch will accompany him to carry the air pump. He also carries a small telephone connected with the launch and will converse during his journey with those aboard the launch. From them he will obtain directions as to his course, as he will be walking in total darkness.

Sunken wrecks and channel currents are expected to hamper him, but the chief obstacle will be the main channel, which drops away for some twenty feet. When asked how he intended to cross the Everetts said:

"Slide down one side and crawl up the other."

11 Persons Drown When Vessel Sinks

QUEBEC, Canada, Oct. 16. (AP)—Eleven persons, including one woman, lost their lives when the freight and passenger steamer Guide sank in heavy weather last night near Godbout, on the northern shore of the St. Lawrence. News of the disaster was received today by the North Shore Trading Company, owners of the vessel.

The Guide was a passenger and freight and steel crew steamer, registering 155 tons, and built in 1891 at Dumbarton. She plied between Quebec and points on the northern coast of the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Unseen Sources of Long Life

The basic sources of automobile value are not always apparent to the eye.

A motor car, like a house, may LOOK a great deal more substantial than it really is.

Because of this difficulty, more and more thousands are turning to Dodge Brothers product for insurance against disappointment.

The years have proved, and each year proves anew, that Dodge Brothers are as deeply concerned with the UNSEEN goodness of their motor car as with the seen.

The mileage it will deliver, the safety it will provide, the expense and trouble it will save the owner over a period of years; are quite as important to Dodge Brothers as the more obvious details of equipment and style.

The fourth instance they don't consider so bad. It even gives them cause for a little hope.

First, the Illinois senatorial fight is triangular—Frank J. Smith, regular Republican nomi- nee; Hugh S. Magill, dry inde- pendent Republican, and George E. Brennan, very wet Democrat.

Second, there are three Senate candidates in New York—Senator James W. Wadsworth, regular Re- publican; F. W. Christman, dry, in- dependent Republican, and Judge Robert F. Wagner, wet Democrat.

Third, there are three in Ore- gon—Frederick Steiwer, regular Republican; Senator Robert S. Stambaugh, whom Steiwer beat in the primary for re-nomination, but who is running independent, and Bert Hanes, formerly of the oppo- sition house, Democrat.

Fourth and last, there are three in Wisconsin—Governor John J. Blaine, regularly nominated La- Follette Republican, which to the Old Guard, is worse than being a conservative Democrat; J. N. Tittemore, Republican, of the regular type, and T. M. Kearney, Demo- crat.

Hurricane Has Served To Make Many More Friends For State, Says Rose

ORLANDO, Fla., Oct. 15.—(AP)—by the hurricane, Florida has set the recent hurricane that tore a path of destruction across the low- east coast of Florida has served to make many friends for this state where as a few days pre- viously the papers and many individuals throughout the country were denouncing Florida daily, according to Walter L. Rose, chair- man of the state re-ally commis- sion with offices in this city.

Mr. Rose declares that "Florida is America" today and throughout the nation "brother is brother" and the country at large bends to give comfort to those who have been wounded.

"America's attitude toward Florida has changed overnight," the commissioner asserted, "Whatever there was of hostility has turned to sympathy. Florida is America's brother. Where one is hurt, the other bends to bind his wounds and breathe words of com- fort, and their brotherly ties are renewed and strengthened. So it is with Florida and the rest of the United States.

"The hurricane may be credit- ed responsible.

"Newspapers which, previous to the disaster, were launching the most scathing attacks upon Flor- ida, are now publishing some of the most editorials ever written about the state. They discuss her resources, her wonderful possibil- ities, her people and her future in a manner most highly optimistic.

"Banks, industries, and business men of the nation have taken this opportunity to rise and endorse Florida. And their statements are not wholly for pity's sake. The hurricane has served to make them see more clearly.

"Throughout Florida, whatever their was of sectionalism has van- ished. Union remains. The storm has supplied the bond to make in- vulnerable now the slogan, "Flori- da for all and all for Florida."

"One of the most inspiring ex- amples of heroism I have ever wit- nessed, and one deserving of of America's admiration, has been accorded to me in the picture of rickton Florida turning resolutely from her graves to her working tools. Nowhere has there been a better exemplification of Ameri- can spirit. Almost as if to wreak vengeance on the havoc wrought
