Gas Supplies Okay, Price Hike Due

The new year meant fresh gasoline supplies today for many of the nation's motorists, but government officials say stiff price hikes may be right around the corner.

"The situation should improve considerably today and Thursday" said Anthony Ippolito, an Automobile Club of New York official. Gas allocations are delivered at the beginning of each month in most cases, and he said many

Charles Binsted, of the Washington-based National Congress of Petroleum Retailers, said he expected most stations to reopen around the nation today because they "have gotten their January allocations or will shortly."

Oil companies were given the go-ahead Monday to hike gasoline prices 1.5 cents a gallon. Federal Energy Office officials said Tuesday

Most gas station operators took New Year's Day off, even though some had gasoline.

"We asked them to close early this week to conserve fuel for the holidays," said Dan Usner, a New Orleans, La., operator and president of the state Service Station Association. "The steps we took to conserve apparently helped out." Even though stations had more gas today, he TURIN, Italy (AP) - An Italian airliner landing in fog and rain at the Turin airport New Year's Day hit a house under constructions, crashed and burst into flames. Thirty-eight persons were killed, and four others were injured. All aboard were believed to be Italians. The twinengine Fokker F28 of the Itavia airline was en route from Sardinia to Switzerland.

Commanders Reshuffled

TOKYO (AP) - China's Communist rulers have begun 1974 with a reshuffle of military commanders apparently designed to weaken the power bases of possible challenges to Mao Tse-tung. The changes involve 11 of the country's 13 military regions, but they appear to be shifting around of commanders rather than a purge. There appear to be few outright dumissals. COPLEY NEWS

With the spiraling cost of medical care a potential threat to every American family, it is not surprising that Congress has placed health insurance legislation at the top of its agenda for the election year of 1974. President Nixon is expected to offer a revised version of his 1971 proposals to bring more Americans under private medical plans. Thus it can be regarded as a virtual certainty that Congress will attempt to complete action by next November on some kind of government program to broaden and upgrade the quality of medical insurance coverage for the American people.

As this debate gets under way we would all do well to remember that health insurance itself does nothing to control or bring down the cost of medical care. It simply spreads out the burden of paying for it. If the so ... rnment is going to get deeper into the business of administering health insurance plans—deeper than the Medicare and Medicaid plans it already maintains — then the net effect must be to increase over-all costs by adding the expense of even more bureaucracy.

Fortunately the 93rd Congress has taken a cool attitude toward the plan for governmentmanaged cradle-to-grave health insurance for all Americans that Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., began pushing three years ago. The massive tax program to meet its minimum $60 billion a year price tag is too much even for a Congress that likes to think big on health and welfare. Sen. Kennedy is said to be switching to a strategy of "incrementalism" - clinging to his over-all ambitious program but trying to arrive at it by a succession of cumulative bites.

The Kennedy plan, as unrealistic as it is, lies at the end of the road once the government takes the fateful step of assuming any degree of responsibility for the medical bills of citizens at large regardless of their age or income

Covering such costs is a major dilemma for our society, but surrendering the responsibility to the government would create a precedent from which there would be no turning back. Thus it is not just the cost in taxes of a limited venture into health insurance by the government that Congress must weigh in the months ahead. The real issue is whether we want to nationalize the entire function of health care in the United States of America. That is indeed a potent political

Truce Of The Bear

Detente Is Yet Unfulfilled In U. S

"When he shows a seeking quarter, with paws like hands in prayer, that is the time of peril - the time of the Truce of the Bear." Rudyard Kipling's verses about the folly of being hoodwinked by a "bear that looks like a man" were written long before the Russian bear became the symbol of a predatory Communist power. However, the little Kipling parable fits the world perfectly today. The pious appeals for detente from the Soviet Union have made this the time of the Truce of the Bear and it is a time of peril, to Nearly two years have passed since President Nixon's trip to Moscow gave formal recognition to a new era in East-West relations. The President did what the cause of world peace demanded that he do. There is no underestimating the peaceful benefits that could flow from a genuine change of spirit in Soviet policy. Today benefits are flowing indeed provided American wheat to rescue harvest. Detente has started a flow of U.S. technology and industrial goods to the Soviet Union. Detente has drawn Western Europe, particularly West Germany, into agreements recognizing Soviet hegemony over Eastern Europe. But what has flowed in the other direction? At the European Security Conference, the Soviet Union has shown it has no intention of granting its own citizens or the people of Eastern Europe more freedom of movement or communication with the West. It simply wants the West to accept police states under Moscow domination as the permanent way of life for half of Europe.

During a year of negotiations on the size of military forces on either side of the Iron Curtain, the Warsaw Pact has increased the strength of its own forces while splitting hairs over the meaning of the "mutual and balanced" reduction that both sides

Communists want to protect their geographic and numerical advantages in the deployment of troops and weapons, not balance the strength of East and West.

The first-round agreements in the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks and the frustrating second round now under way turn out to be buying time for the Soviet Union to beef up its nuclear arsenal with new, more powerful missiles and multiple warheads. The Russians have announced a token reduction in the defense item of their national budget, which is known to conceal much more than it reveals, while their heavy investment in weapons technology was made graphically clear in the Arab-Israeli war. The peril in this chain of disappointments is that the alliances which defined the free world against the Russian Bear are being allowed to decay and the U.S. defense budget is being drawn as if all the expected blessings of detente had come to

Ralph Novak

Though this seems surprising at first, the process of logical deduction leads to the inevitable conclusion that this is the source of the problem
First of all, while it is true that the Arabs and the Israelis are of differing religions, this is no reason to go around fighting wars and causing international tension and making motorists run out of gas on the Indiana Turnpike. The Costa Ricans and the Icelanders, for instance, are of different religions, they they do not actack each other and rarely even call each other bad names. Throughout history, in fact, countries with different religions have coexisted side by side, or at least fought their war once and for all and then forgot it, without dragging things out. Thus we see that religion is not the cause of the

It has also been said that the dispute centers around the land occupied by what is now Israel. But it is clear that the way things are done in the world is to let bygones be bygones when it comes to conquered territory. Do the British keep attacking the United States to get Massachusetts back? Do the Italians keep attacking Britain to get back the colony the Romans lost? Does Mexico keep attacking Texas to get the Alamo back? Does the suburb of Oak Lawn, Ill., keep attacking Chicago to get back the territory it lost by annexation?

No, they don't. In situations like this, people have traditionally adopted the profound philosophy best explained by Doris Day when she sang "que sera, sera" which means "life is not a bowl of cherries after all, is it?" Another explanation sometimes given for the Arab-Israeli differences is that the two nations are actually only pawns in the bigger battle between the Soviet Union and the United States. But if that line of reasoning were valid, then we would find things like North Vietnam fighting South Viet-nam, which we do find. This is the exception that proves conclusively the rule that logic can always be counted on in studying international relations. Therefore, since no other reason holds up under scrutiny, there is obviously only one possible explanation for the animosity in the Middle East: the Israelis like to eat corned beef, while the Arabs don't. Have you ever seen an Arab cating a corned beef sandwich on rye, with or without pickles and mustard? OF course not. Which leads us to an obvious solution to all the trouble: instead of sending weapons to the Middle East, the United States should send tons of corned beef, thousands of loaves of rye bread, hundreds of gallons of mustard and perhaps even a little potato salad. Then the Arabs and Israelis could get together on neutral ground and eat themselves into harmony.

Postman's Holiday?

Like sports scribes and fans throughout the country, I tried to week-a week I might mention I had off. But, you're never really "off" in this role, so I decided to tune in a few minutes of the various games being offered to keep up with the world wherein I draw not only some of my pleasure, but also sustenance. A postman's holiday? Hardly.

Bright Idea?

It seems whenever I get a bright idea it's always on my day off. Maybe that's because of the extra 12 hours of sleep the day before and I function better when the fog's lifted-say, around 2p.m. or so.

My roomates were busy. John Smith, Student Government President at Seminole Junior College, was busy writing a late term paper for philosophy; and Frank Gilbert was wailing away on his saxaphone, ignoring not only an upcoming school term, Smith's pepcil gnawing and my rumbling about something cold to go along Everything was fine. Each in its rightful place and appointed time. But not for long. I'm used to interruptions — to unexpected and usually cataclysmic occurances — that most of the time get a few good bursts of adrenalin going through the bloodstream, but what happened was just too much.

Secret Blood Oath

The budding philosopher, figuring reading was not "right" at the time, and the budding musician, also coming to a similar conclusion, must have made a secret blood-oath pact to infect me with their vicious career wrecking disease ... ambition.

"Hey, J, let's paint the living room now," I heard, while trying to staff a handful of popcorn in one side of my mouth. I ignored their summons like any respectable member of the fourth estate's highest calling - sports - is required to do by our unwritten hylaws. Like mythical mothers-in-law, or even worse, over-critical coaches, if you ignore them they will go away.

But no one ever told these two characters that was the way hings were supposed to do. Frank went for the kitchen - my bastion, an inner-sanctum, where I rule without question - and thwarted his decision to "defrost the refrigerator."

Living In Bliss

Have you ever tried defrosting the north pole?" I chuckled. Meanwhile, John, eyes aglow with meaningful work to do and an impossible schedule to meet, set about mixing, spattering, and smearing paint across the once-hallowed halls of our living room. A place heretofore devoid of such personal amenities as orderliness, crispness and livability. It was what I wanted. "No one is going to change all this bliss," I murmured to

Invasion Of Rights

But enough of my personal problems. I'd just settle back in the bean bag and watch, still somewhat content. Their unseemingly enthusiam couldn't match my dour spirits. I've been perfecting the art of ignoring physical labor longer than they had been at their Huskers Rip Texas toils. But, two-on-one is a mite unfair. I stretched, that startedit all. From there on it was total chaos and confusion. My arm tipped over a bucket of paint, luckily it In Cotton Bowl 19-3 matched the shirt I was wearing at the time. I'm not sure about how to get mushroom out of my hair yet, but with a few more dabs of yellow-brown and white, I'll be ready for most any occasion.

Surrender?

Only, the bean bag had been set aside to allow for the runoff paint to form a pool - just about dead center of where I sat down. Yelping, I shot straight up, tripped once again, stumbled into a Siamese cat that condecends to allow us to humbly await her every pleasure. She yowled. I grimaced back a few well chosen yowis of my own, turned around just in time to see Roger Stauback get intercepted and stepped into the roller tray filled with a nice

DEAR POLLY - and B.G. who wants to know how to starch her crocheted doilies stiffly - I crocheted 32 doilies one summer and learned to make a very heavy cooked starch with lump or powdered starch. I did not find the liquid or instant starches were satisfactory. Use two or three times as much as suggested for the heaviest finish. Dissolve starch in cold water until smooth and then add boiling water and stir constantly so there are no lumps. Bring to a boil until it is transparent and as thick as pudding. Dampen doily, then dip in hot starch using a spoon to get it all through the croche and to protect your hands. Do not wring doily too dry and then spread it right side up on a big heavy cardboard that has been covered with waxed paper. Stretch center evenly to size. If ruffle is very full shape over paper or foam cups of the proper size. If ruffle is double-joined at top and bottom of each ruffle use pointed end paper cups or paper towels rolled to cone shapes to stuff each ruffle. Dry in the sun if arriving and shaping as the doily dives the which she plays a playing wife and mother that the producer, defended the segsoon as ruffles will hold their shape remove stuffing. until doily dries they may be hard to remove. -MRS. R.P. DEAR GIRLS - Leona wrote that she uses somewhat the same procedure but stiffens her doilies with a sugar mixture rather than with starch. It, too, is boiled until clear and about twice as much sugar is used as water. She also uses small drinking glasses, held in place with clothespins to shape her ruffles. Both methods are widely used but like Mrs. E.P. I personally prefer the starch method. -POLLY. Ghost voice hams up reader's life ghost story? One evening while sitting alone, I heard a man's voice distinctly. I could find no one inside the house or out. A while later I heard it again. It seemed to come right out of the air. I checked the TV sets. None was on, I was completely bewildered and somewhat frightened. A few nights later, a neighbor was visiting me and we both heard this man's voice. We searched the house together and discovered the voice was coming from a transistor radio that was turned off! My "ghost" was a ham radio operator in my neighborhood, broadcasting with such a powerful signal that he kept coming out of everything but the fillings in my teeth. I suppose that's next. My "ghost" interferes with the reception on my TV, radio, stereo-everything. Some neighbors have told me they have the same trouble. I've written to the FCC in Washington and they have done nothing about it. Can you HAUNTED IN HOLLYWOOD DEAR HAUNTED: The next time you hear your "ghost," write down his call letters, and send it in a registered letter of complaint to your regional FCC office. [Federal Building, Los Angeles.] Ask your neighbors who have been similarly annoyed to sign it, and send a registered copy to your ham. He is using improperly shielded equipment, which is against the law, and can be remedied. The FCC is reluctant to crack down too hard on offending ham operators because in times of emergencies and disasters, these hams provide a wonderful public service [gratis] when all other communications fail.

DEAR ABBY: What should one do about a sister who, upon seeing something of yours she likes, says: "Oh, will you please leave that to me when you die?"

She is my younger sister, and she does that with all of the older brothers and sisters, too. IRAED II. PORTLAND DEAR IRKED: Tell her you will consider it-if she doesn't die first.

DEAR ABBY: I had my wedding date all set and was given several lovely showers, then I had to cancel my wedding due to a misunderstanding. [My fiance's wife changed her mind and refused to give him a divorce.] I returned over 100 shower gifts. Suddenly, the whole picture changed when the wife met another man, so now the wedding is rescheduled. I would like to write a little note on the wedding invitations to those who gave me a shower gift asking them to kindly return my shower gift.

When I mentioned this idea to a few of my friends they said I shouldn't do it. Why not? I'm marrying the same man, only the timing is different.

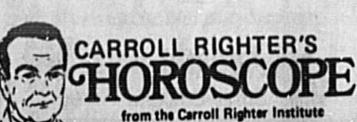

DEAR RESCHEDULED: Once a gift is returned it no longer belongs to you. If your friends want to shower you again, they will have to reschedule the showers.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Organize your life on a more secure foundation and get those of a practical turn of mind to go along with that plan of action that means much to you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Use your own judgment which is good today and not that of an adviser who is off base now. Make p.m. a happy one with mate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use intellect in making the improvements to your appearance and you get fine results now. Listen to what others have to say at any group affairs. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make tasks fun, easily accomplished, by adopting a more practical system. Others come to you for advice on problems, so give it willingly. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Although you want to be with good pals, don't take them away from important duties. Assist others with their problems, Be LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Follow every rule and regulation that applies to you. Listen to a bigwig for greater success, and

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be alert to fine, new ideas that come your way. A new acquaintance can become a fine pal, though not particularly handsome or pretty. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Somewhat annoying chores are necessary to get your affairs in good order. Mate is peevish, so do whatever placates. Have more thought for yourself, SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Enlarge interests to accomplish more. Steer clear of an opposing partner today. See friends you have not seen in a long time, SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Put aside fun and do treatments for greater health and happiness. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your fine creative ideas should be put in operation quickly today, but make sure you do not fight with mate. Enjoy the less expensive amusements. AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan how to make your life at home more satisfying. Rid yourself of whatever it is that work awaiting your attention important to your welfare, Take has been causing strife. Be thoughtful of others. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Ideal day for the shopping you can really afford. Use care in motion. Handle any transportation matters with real care, since they are

Rules Okc. Sought

TALLAHASSEE- Atty. Gen. Robert L. Shevin Thur. sday will ask Gov. Reubin Askew and the Cabinet to ratify the last two ground rules for implementing the sweeping 1973 Unfair and Deceptive Practices Act.

The rules proposed by Shevin would require mechanics to give repair estimates accurate to within 10 per cent on major automobile jobs and would make health spa and dance studio contracts subject to cancellation within

The new law, called the 'Little FTC Act' by its sponsors. allows Shevin to go to court to enjoin unfair and deceptive trade practices. If Shevin finds merit in complaints by dissatisfied customers he can seek a court for a refund of the customer's money and a ban on practices found to be unfair or decptive.

Fringe Benefits Study

TALLAHASSEE- Studies are underway that will result in proposed legislation to improve fringe benefits in the state university system.

A faculty committee and Board of Regents staff members are discussing several flexible programs that would allow employes to select a combination of benefits which would best meet their own personal needs, according to Dr. George Bedell, chairman of the study

Recent national and state compensation studies indicate that fringe benefits for state university system faculty members and administrative and professional personnel in Florida are among the lowest in the nation,

Nixon Watches Games

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) - President Nixon joined millions of others New Year's Day as he relaxed in front of the television set, watching football bowl games. There was an indication Nixon's working vacation here would last the rest of the week as aides said his friend and Florida neighbor, C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo, was flying to California by commercial jet.

RISH SPRING

NEW YORK (AP) - With a promise to "give the people a real voice in their own destiny," Abraham D. Beame became this city's 104th mayor.

The 67-year-old Brooklyn Democrat, the city's first

Jewish mayor, succeeds John V. Lindsay. Beame took his oath privately Monday night and publicly Tuesday in front of City Hall as some 1,500 persons looked on in cold, drizzly weather. Lindsay, 52, described his emotions on leaving office as

"It's been a long eight years," he said. He did not seek re-election and has not announced future plans.

Van Dyke's Granddaughter

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) - The first child born in 1974 at Memorial Hospital here has as her grandfather a television star - actor Dick Van Dyke. Named Jessica Lee by her parents, Christian and Caroline Van Dyke, the child was born at 1:09 a.m.

"I called my father and he was so excited he could hardly speak," Christian said. "It was my parent's first grandchild and my wife's parents' first. She's just a beautiful baby."

Christian is a law student at Arizona State University. Caroline's parents are Mary and William North of Shaker Heights, Ohio.

Gas Priority System

SALEM, Ore. AP) - Phillip Webb wants to protect his regular service station patrons during the gasoline shortage. So he's designed a system of windshield stickers and will ration fuel on a priority basis. "I had to decide which individual behind the wheel is important to me," Webb explained. "And that's the steady customer."

Rep. Teague Eulogized

SANTA PAULA, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon and Vice President Gerald R. Ford have eulogized veteran California congressman Charles M. Teague, dead of a heart attack at 64. Teague was found dead in his bed here Tuesday by his son Alan, mayor of Santa Paula.

Nixon said Teague "will be remembered most especially for his interest in American agriculture and for his many years of devoted service on the House Agriculture Committee." A spokesman for Ford said that American agriculture owes a great deal to Teague "for his dedication to the best interests of the American farmer. Teague, a lawyer, was elected to Congress in 1954.

Bing Crosby Recovering

BURLINGAME, Calif. (AP) - Singer Bing Crosby is making a satisfactory recovery from pleurisy at Peninsula Hospital, a hospital spokesman says. "We don't know when he'll be released," nursing supervisor Rawnie Gordon said Tuesday. "Of course everybody's hoping it'll be by Thursday," when the 33rd annual Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Championship opens in Pebble Beach. Crosby, 69, reportedly spent much of the day Tuesday resting comfortably and watching televised football He was admitted to the hospital Monday after developing back and chest pains that were diagnosed as pleurisy, an inflammation of the lung membranes.

Bridge Climber Saved

NEW YORK (AP) "I need help! Nobody cares!" shouted 21-year-old Jim Weber as he scurried among steel cables of the Brooklyn Bridge nearly 300 feet above the Weber, a former restaurant worker from East Aurora, N.Y., climbed up a tower of the bridge Tuesday and for more than an hour eluded police attempting to grab him. Emergency squad officers equipped with safety belts climbed up cables toward the youth as other officers tried to approach him from the top of the tower.

A friend of Weber's, the Rev. Robert Meyer of the Bay Ridge United Methodist Church, was brought to the scene. He used a bullhorn to urge Weber to come down "because it is too high for me to climb up to you."

Oil Lack Kicking The Poor

NEW DELHI - (LENS) -The indians are confident that Prime Minister Indira Gandhi got the better of the bargain in her recent talks with Leonid Brezhnev in New

She staved off the Soviet leader's plea for Indian endorsement of his "collective security" scheme for Asia, even though her warm references to Soviet friendship will have given Brezhnev satisfaction; they show that India does not consider nonalignment to mean a policy of equidistance between Russia and America.

But India stood firm i refusing special facilities in Indian ports for Russia's In dian Ocean fleet, and its em bargo on vessels carrying nuclear weapons remains unchanged. Even a harmless agreement on co-operation in deep-sea fishing failed to materialize. Both sides tool pains to say that Soviet mili tary supplies to India did no igure in the talks at all. the most important benefit from the visit for India was the 15-year economic agreement signed by the two leaders. For the first time the Russians have promised to nprove future credit terms to ease India's staggering repayment burden. A prolocol to the agreement spells out Russia's readiness to provide equipment on credit as well as expertize for setting ip more than 10 million tons if new steel capacity, 2 million kilowatts of generating plants and probably a million ons of new shipping. Even more valuable is a commitment to provide specialized components and chnological aid for existing lants. Some pressing needs of India's - for kerosene and newsprint, for example - are to be met on a priority basis; but fertilizer, which India needs even more desperately at a time of world shortage, will be supplied only if Russia fails to trade off its surplus to the west. India's chances looked bleaker after an American firm, Occidental Petroleum, revealed a conworth of Soviet ammonia and urea every year for 20 years. Mrs. Gandhi came away with a Russian promise to see India through its next fiveyear plan. The actual credits will still have to be negotiated separately for each project. But Brezhnev has given the green light. What he Soviet Union gets in return is the chance to demonstrate the advantages of Soviet friendship over

Oddities Include Kohoutek

By NEA/London Economist News Service LONDON - (LENS) - The Skylab astronauts scotched rumors that the comet Kohoutek had broken up by reporting that they could see it with the naked eye and its tail had now divided into two forks. But astronomers admit that Kohoutek is not going to be as spectacular as they had been forecasting when they made such a fuss about making sure the last Skylab crew were still in space to photo But remembering the traditional association of comets with natural disasters, President Nixon and Prime Minister Heath may both be tempted to read of the dimming as a good omen. After examining the data ent back from the planet Jupiter by Pioneer 10, scientists are enthusing over the remarkable color photographs without, however. allowing anyone else to see them. Pioneer 10 did, it turns out, come within an ace of being destroyed by Jupiter's Engineers had warned that it was going in closer than the instruments might stand and it was only by a hair's breadth that it sustained so little damage. The scientists now have to accept that Pioneer 11, following a year behind Pioneer 10, will not be able to cut it so fine.

Is there any point. therefore, in sending it on precisely the same mission, since it cannot go in any nearer than the 81,000 miles from the surface of Jupiter reached by Pioneer 10? Had Pioneer 10 gone wrong. Pioneer 11 would have been needed as a back-up, but now it might be better to send it elsewhere. At the moment, it is ploughing through the asteroid belt between earth and Jupiter.

In the excitement of the Pioneer 10 triumph, the scientists have begun to ask themselves whether they should not change Pioneer 11's course slightly, by sending it between two of Jupiter's moons, and dispatch it off in the direction of Saturn. Such details as Saturn being as far away again as Jupiter, so that it will take something like three more years for Pioneer 11 to get there, are being brushed aside as of minor importance.

Perhaps they are. It is only a short time since the ransmission of pictures from a space probe 260 million miles away, which is Jupiter's distance from the earth, would have seemed technically impossible. And not many would have taken bets on the condition of instruments that had been travelling through space for nearly two years to get there. Yet although one or two of Pioneer 10's instruments went on the blink when it was closest to Jupiter, none actually broke down, and all seemed to be functioning as it went past the planet and off into space.

The Saturn venture does not seem quite as improbable now as it did even 10 days ago. Saturn is unlikely to be any more hostile a plaise than Jupiter, and for its improbably symmetrical rings alone it is worth a visit.

Wash cast-iron cooking utensils with soap suds instead of with a synthetic detergent. Soap protects the surface and helps to keep it from rusting better than detergent does.

BANK GIVES DOCUMENTS

JOHN MERCER, (r) president of the United State Bank of Sanford, presents a framed historical document to School Supt. William P. (Bud) Layer. The bank donated 1,500 sets of documents to Seminole County schools. They include a copy of the Constitution, Declaration of Independence, Bill of Rights, Gettysburg Address, Monroe Doctrine and the Star Spangled Banner.
