Bus Loss Threat Diminishes

Labor Department May Release OSOTA's Money

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Officials of the Orange-Seminole-Osceola Transportation Authority (OSOTA) may be able to win release of more than $500,000 in federal money being held by the U.S. Department of Labor if it can come to an agreement with the Amalgamated Transit Union (ATU) at a Washington meeting Tuesday.

"It's possible" that an agreement acceptable to both OSOTA and the ATU can be worked out, said Ellis Rottman, public information officer with the employee protection division of the Department of Labor today.

A hold-up of the $568,000 operating money from the federal government had generated local fear that the bus service in the Seminole and Orange County areas would have to be halted May 1.

ATU has filed a challenge to the continuation of the federal operating funds with the federal agency which oversees employees' rights to collective bargaining.

The dispute between the union and OSOTA began a year ago when striking bus drivers who were union members were replaced by new employees who walked across the picket lines. Pat Hamric, OSOTA general manager, expressed "cautious optimism" the Tuesday meeting will resolve the problem before he left today for Washington.

Rottman, emphasizing that the department of labor is charged with the responsibility of overseeing the grant award from the department of transportation and is not in the business of designating bargaining agents, said the department only enforces the employee protection aspect of the law.

"Our role is to see that certain guarantees for protection are satisfied," Rottman said. "We oversee that aspect of the law and have to bless the arrangement between the two parties. We have to tell the department of transportation that the law has been satisfied."

Hamric said after new employees were hired to replace the strikers last year, OSOTA on June 29 notified the union it would no longer be recognized as a bargaining agent for the new drivers. He said OSOTA offered to abide by a vote of the employees on the matter, but the union did not call for a vote.

Hamric said the union is insisting on the department of labor that it still represents the employees and is urging the federal agency to hold up the money.

Meanwhile, the Seminole County Commission representative on the authority, Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff said he will explain to his colleagues on the commission Tuesday that several alternatives are available on the bus service. The budgeted funding for the authority will be exhausted by May 1 if the federal money is not released by then, Kirchhoff said.

"If the federal money does cease, we will have to re-evaluate service and what we are going to do," Kirchhoff said, detailing the alternatives available to Seminole County. "We will have to decide whether to discontinue service altogether, whether we will institute the service on a limited basis—for example in the early morning and late afternoon hours for working people dependent upon the transportation," Kirchhoff said.

"It will depend a lot on Orange County," he said. Orange County is to decide next week what measures it will take if the federal money is not released.

Child Support At Issue

Salfi Seeks To Enforce Payments

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi will recommend to Seminole County Commissioners during a 2 p.m. workshop session Tuesday that county money be allocated to create a Domestic Relations Commissioner's (DRC) office to handle matters involving the collection and enforcement of child support payments.

In a written presentation to the board Salfi is requesting a budget of $38,569.65 to create and operate the office from May 1 through Sept. 30 and a $65,280.65 budget for the office in the 1979-80 fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

The objectives of the DRC, Salfi said, is to "satisfy what is fast becoming an overwhelming need for effective, cost-efficient service to resolve child support problems and to relieve the burdensome obligation now on taxpayers who support children through tax revenue generated welfare payments."

Salfi said the Seminole County clerk's office now processes more than 2,000 support payments per month, double the number of just a few years ago, yet nearly an equal number of child support payments are either not made or are made in too low an amount.

In welfare cases only, the judge said, nearly $25,000 was collected in January, 1979, yet there are an additional estimated 1,500 cases of persons receiving some form of state assistance for children that could result in child support orders, benefiting both the children and the taxpayer.

Salfi included a magazine article with his memo to the county commissioners on how other states are handling the problems of requiring "runaway fathers" to support their children.

He said the DRC would offer information and assistance on all support enforcement matters including both filing for and collecting child support as well as providing disabled fathers a forum to seek a temporary reduction in child support before being hauled into court on contempt.

He said the office would facilitate accessibility to the court and would organize the enforcement process to better serve the parents who have custody of their children and who now must go to the state attorney, the clerk, the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services or a private attorney to obtain support for their children.

Salfi said the DRC would decrease the length of time between initiating enforcement and resolution; would consolidate, make efficient and more available necessary services; expedite enforcement and placing the responsibility for child support upon parents rather than taxpayers and would enforce court orders without constant time claims upon judges thus allowing judges to use their time on matters not requiring enforcement of rulings previously made.

He said the chief judge of the circuit on Jan. 9, established the office of the DRC and funds are now needed to begin the program.

"The DRC," Salfi said, will handle enforcement of prior orders of support whether welfare cases or not; claims for child support against non-paying parents where no prior order of support has been issued; requests of the state to intervene in cases where a prior order of support has been entered and the parent with child custody is on welfare; requests by a parent for temporary reduction or suspension of payments; petitions by county residents of court orders where a parent is out of state.

SCC Schedules Dedication Ceremonies For Facilities

By SHARON CARRASCO
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole Community College will hold its dedication ceremony either late spring or early fall to mark the completion of its new vocational building, a shop and lab building and library addition, says R. T. Milwee, assistant to the college president.

The new facilities were slated for completion in March, but a "few minor touchups" have pushed the date to May 15, Milwee said.

A dedication ceremony committee whose members consist of faculty and students are studying the most appropriate time to schedule the special event, Milwee said.

"We are leaning toward the early fall because we will have all the equipment and furniture in the building then," Milwee said.

The new facilities and their equipment and accessories will cost an estimated $5 million when completed, Milwee said.

The vocational building is being constructed to meet the increasing demand of enrollment, Milwee said.

With the addition of the vocational facilities, the enrollment for occupational education courses is expected to increase about 10 percent, said Russell L. Moncrief, director of Occupational Education.

"We anticipate we will exceed 2,000 full-time equivalents or a head count from 5,000 to 6,000 students for next fiscal year which represents about a 10 percent increase," Moncrief explained.

The Vocational Building will offer courses such as engineering, technology, food service, medical records, and home management programs. Its classrooms will also house typing and stenography rooms, business data processing facilities and general classrooms.

The Shop and Lab Building provides a permanent facility for the respiratory, emergency medical technology, paramedic and firefighting programs. New programs will be offered in small engine repair, auto body work and welding.

Special features of the library addition will include anthropology, bio-feedback, experimental psychology, and forensic laboratories along with study rooms, reading, cataloging and microfilm areas. Language, reading labs, offices and general classrooms will complete this addition to the college.

Seminole Community College offers all pre-professional majors in its basic two-year college program. In addition to its academic programs, the college also has a wide variety of technical courses, and its community service and leisure time programs are constantly expanding in response to the needs of the community.

At present, the number of students enrolling in the college parallel programs is increasing, whereas the national trend sees the programs holding steady. College officials say that the growth trend at the college is a reflection of the continued growth in the Seminole County area.

SCC is also an area vocational education school with modern equipment and facilities geared to help students acquire skills needed for employment or advancement in specific vocational areas.

Gas Shortages Strike Seminole

By GEOFFREY POUNDS
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford and area motorists planning any weekend trips would do well to fill their gas tanks by Friday — or even Thursday.

That's the message being given by local service station managers who say they are not being allowed by distributors to purchase enough gasoline to meet the demands of their customers.

One by one service station owners and operators in Sanford are closing on Sunday and reducing their Saturday and weekday hours as their pump supplies dwindle.

"What else can we do, we just don't have the allocation," said Marty Francisco of the Exxon Station at 2000 S. Sanford Ave.

Francisco said he has had to close the last two Sundays and now remains open until only 1 p.m. on Saturday. In addition, he said his weekday hours now extend until only 5:30 p.m. A week ago, he said, his station stayed open until 8:30 evenings.

The cause of Francisco's difficulties is a cutback in gas allocation per month by more than 15,000 gallons. He said the Exxon distributor in Tampa informed him this month he could purchase only 24,200 gallons of the 40,000 gallons he had previously been given.

John Butler, owner of the Butler Amoco Station at 1407 French Ave., said he keeps an eye on the daily average of gas sold and prevents customers from large purchases as the day goes on and the daily quota is neared. He said he has had to close Sundays, Saturday afternoons and may even have to cutback Fridays if the situation grows worse.

Butler said Sovell Oil Distribution in DeLand from whom he buys his gas has cut his allocation by 7,000 gallons a month. He said the cutbacks will continue "indefinitely."

"The bulk of our customers are once-a-week buyers... the regulars," he said. "We can't do that if we start getting a run of noncustomers."

Bill Scovell, Amoco distributor, said the gas squeeze is probably tied to more than one factor. He said the intent impact of the Iran oil loss, plus the OPEC increases which some major companies are not willing to pay, both contribute to the problem.

"The situation is tight but fairly stable," he said. "We're at 92 percent of last year's allocation and it appears it will stay that way for some months."

"The bottom line is that station operators can probably meet the demand of last year, but anyone who has experienced an increase in business — or anybody planning to use more gas than last year for their personal use — may be out of the creek," Scovell said.

In an effort to accommodate local customers, the Cumberland Farms Store on south Sanford Avenue has had to limit the gas sold on weekends to $7 per customer. But manager Cynthia Dyess said the store's supply of unleaded gas has completely run out despite the plan.

"We've been out of unleaded for two weeks and don't know yet when we'll get a supply. They just give it to us when they can," she said.

Decision Expected On Energy Request

By JANE CASSELL-BERRY

Action by Gov. Bob Graham is expected today on a recommendation that Florida Power & Light Co. be permitted to burn high-sulfur oil at 15 of its 21 plants to avert power shortages which the company predicted would bring blackouts or brownouts.

Included in the lifting of environmental restrictions for the 30-day emergency period will be FP&L's Sanford plant.

Without such authority, an FP&L spokesman said, the state's largest electric utility firm would have to begin rotating blackouts among its customers on Tuesday to do it," said FP&L district manager Scott Burns.

Do Truckers Have Carter Trapped?

Whether trucking firms are shut down by a strike or a lockout, the result is the same. Much of the nation's freight is not moving.

Actually, Mr. Carter is already involved. His Council of Wage and Price Stability has been a party all along in negotiations between the Teamsters Union and the management committee representing major truck lines.

Frank Fitzsimmons, the Teamsters president, is not aiming his invective at the freight companies but at "high-level government bureaucrats" who are trying to force a settlement that would do the least violence to the president's anti-inflation guidelines.

Mr. Carter may be in the uncomfortable position of asking for a Taft-Hartley injunction to end a strike-lockout that might not have occurred if his administration had not been at the bargaining table.

The point has been made before that voluntary wage and price guidelines are not really voluntary when the government is in a position to penalize those who violate them.

The familiar saying, "don't tempt fate," is excellent advice for motorists. Although many drivers take measures to keep their vehicles from being stolen, they unwittingly tempt thieves by leaving valuable articles where they can be seen by potential criminals.

The IRS Trying Harder

By DON GRAFF

Running into problems with your tax return? The Internal Revenue Service has a suggestion as to where to look for help: the IRS.

The tax people report they are extending themselves this year to assist taxpayers — the number of such calls across the nation typically runs into the millions by the mid-April deadline each year — will be getting an answer from the tax expert's expert.

That's the good news about IRS public relations. The not so good news is that the effort is badly needed. In the past, the IRS has not been all that accurate in advising the public.

Supplementary compensation in the form of health and life insurance, pension plans and stock like have become a major and still growing contributor to total employee income.

The packages tend to be more fully packed in larger firms than smaller operations. Among industries, the most beneficial is petroleum with an average of $6,481 in benefits.

Overall, the benefits share of average employee income has increased from about a quarter of wages in 1977 to more than a third currently.

That's some fringe. For American firms anxious to keep a step ahead in the race to do business with China, a New York importer has come up with the perfect "Someone up there doesn't like me," Carbo says, looking up the ceiling while changing his socks in the clubhouse. He doesn't mean someone with the Cardinals; he means someone in a bigger league than them, and he's saying that more out of frustration than conviction.

"I went through the draft this winter and four clubs drafted me, Montreal, Oakland, Philadelphia and this one. Three of them didn't offer me a contract, so on February 15th, I went through the secondary draft, which is when you call the ball clubs to see who's really interested, and the Cardinals were the only club that drafted me."

That's what Carbo finds so difficult to comprehend. He sees several American League clubs he feels he could've helped. Last September, when the Red Sox were so strapped for any kind of strength from the bench, some of their fans got a home-made banner which said "Where have you gone, Bernie Carbo," and displayed it at Fenway Park more than once.

"Can you imagine that, only one American League club drafted me," he says, still finding it hard to believe. "I don't know what the reason was. You tell me. I still think I'm a good ballplayer. I'm 30. I still have four-five years left. I can play left field, right field, and I can hit. I got power. I hit .289 and .282 the last two years. They were the last two years I ever got together back-to-back. As a designated hitter last year, I hit .268. Think of that — .268! That's not straw, and only one American League club drafted me. Maybe the owners are tired of the draft. Maybe they're only going for superstars. But I'll tell you this: I'm fortunate John Chaberski (the Cardinals' Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer) was in the Boston organization in 1974 and 1975 and saw me play. If it wasn't for him, I'd probably be back working on some assembly line now. This is the only club that showed me any respect."

Bernie Carbo's sensibilities have been hurt. Enough so that he could come back, win a regular outfield job with the Cardinals and have a good year. Right now, manager Ken Boyer has him penciled in as the backup man in left field and right field but Carbo has been told he could win daily suspension.

"To hell with them," Carbo says about all these clubs which didn't bother to draft him. "I know what I can do. It's just like in the spring of 1977, the year after I hit .216 for the Reds, with 21 home runs. I wanted $2,000 and (Bob) Hoovan was offering me $2,000. He told me to go home and carry a lunch bucket. I told him I wasn't gonna carry a lunch bucket as long as I could play in the big leagues."

Bernie Carbo leans back and reflects a moment. "You know, maybe I'll have to carry a lunch bucket some day," he says, rather resigned. "You know, though," he adds, brightening. "I know I can still play."

Holds Off Brewers, 2-1

John, Gossage Key Yanks

By United Press International

When Tomny John became a Yankee, he refused to issue any promises. That's understandable for a man whose career was once over.

"When I signed, I told George Steinbrenner I can't guarantee 20 wins or 15 wins," John said Sunday after tossing a six-hitter over seven innings to help New York to its first victory of the year, a 2-1 triumph over the Milwaukee Brewers.

John was making his first appearance in an American League game in seven years. "Today I felt like I was on a boat in the beginning. I threw five or six warmup pitches that didn't come near the plate and my first four pitches of the game were also way wide."

John settled down after that, utilizing the sinker that helped him post an 87-42 National League record with Los Angeles over the last seven seasons. The Brewers managed only three fly balls to the outfield off the 35-year-old left-hander, whose throwing arm was reconstructed surgically after a ruptured ligament in the elbow threatened to halt his career in 1974.

Chris Chambliss lined a one-out single to right in the fourth for the Yanks and one out later, Jim Spencer hit a 2-4 pitch from right Larry Sorensen over the lower field wall — just beyond the outstretched glove of Sixto Lezcano, for the only runs New York would need. The Brewers had taken a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Paul Molitor led off with a walk, advanced on a groundout and scored on Cecil Cooper's run-scoring single to right.

White Sox's Orville L. Goff Gossage singled in one run and scored two others to enable Chicago to gain its first win of the year. Red Sox's 1-baseman Fred Lynn hit a pair of two-run homers and Jim Rice scored the winning run in the 12th inning on Jack Brohamer's infield out.

Royals 8, Blue Jays 3

Arnold Osis drove in three runs with a double and a single and Paul Splittorf pitched a five-hitter. Do Truckers Have Carter Trapped?

Whether trucking firms are shut down by a strike or a lockout, the result is the same. Much of the nation's freight is not moving.

Actually, Mr. Carter is already involved. His Council of Wage and Price Stability has been a party all along in negotiations between the Teamsters Union and the management committee representing major truck lines.

Frank Fitzsimmons, the Teamsters president, is not aiming his invective at the freight companies but at "high-level government bureaucrats" who are trying to force a settlement that would do the least violence to the president's anti-inflation guidelines.

Mr. Carter may be in the uncomfortable position of asking for a Taft-Hartley injunction to end a strike-lockout that might not have occurred if his administration had not been at the bargaining table.

The point has been made before that voluntary wage and price guidelines are not really voluntary when the government is in a position to penalize those who violate them.

Even without any meddling by those supporters, North and South Yemen have a notable dismal record of governmental instability.

Notwithstanding its name, South Yemen lies generally east of North Yemen. Most of North Yemen, of course, is situated west of South Yemen.

But that's hardly the only disconcerting element in the chaotic corner of the globe where these countries have emerged as reluctant surrogates in the continuing conflict between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The familiar saying, "don't tempt fate," is excellent advice for motorists. Although many drivers take measures to keep their vehicles from being stolen, they unwittingly tempt thieves by leaving valuable articles where they can be seen by potential criminals.

Automobiles should be locked when unattended. Door lock buttons with knobs on the end should be replaced with the knobs that are tapered at the end since the latter are harder to pull up with a wire inserted through an opening in the window.

Valuable items should not be left where they can be viewed by someone outside the car. Lock packages, coats, etc., in the trunk, or hide such items under the seat.

Tape decks and citizens band (CB) radios should be mounted out of sight if possible. Consider using a portable rather than permanently-installed antenna so it can be removed when a vehicle is unattended. The antenna can mark the car as a target for CB thieves.

Tape decks and CB radios should be permanently marked with a unique number traceable to the owner. Motorists should contact local law enforcement for advice as to which number (state drivers license, etc.) should be used in different areas of the country. Decals indicating that all property within the vehicle has been marked with a traceable number should also be obtained and affixed to windows on each side of the vehicle.

Traffic deaths continue to climb. As of March 14, preliminary figures for 1979 are up 41 percent over the same period last year, according to the Florida Highway Patrol. Traffic deaths total 527 compared to 375 last year. Two easiest steps to save lives are to drive 55 or less and wear seat belts.

VIEWPOINT The IRS Trying Harder

By DON GRAFF

Running into problems with your tax return? The Internal Revenue Service has a suggestion as to where to look for help: the IRS.

The tax people report they are extending themselves this year to assist taxpayers who have lost their way in the forest of forms. Employees charged with fielding queries from the public have taken special in-depth training courses in some of the more complex tax provisions.

Theoretically, anyone ringing up his local IRS office with a tough question — the number of such calls across the nation typically runs into the millions by the mid-April deadline each year — will be getting an answer from the tax expert's expert.

That's the good news about IRS public relations. The not so good news is that the effort is badly needed. In the past, the IRS has not been all that accurate in advising the public.

American wage-earners do not keep their heads above the economic waters by salary alone. Supplementary compensation in the form of health and life insurance, pension plans and the like have become a major and still growing contributor to total employee income.

According to a survey of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, such fringe benefits have been increasing at almost twice the rate of actual wages. For 182 large companies surveyed, monetary value of benefits went up 163 percent between 1957 and 1977 compared with an average 98 percent rise in wages.

The packages tend to be more fully packed in larger firms than smaller operations. Among industries, the most sophisticated military hardware has an average of $4,411 in benefits. At the other end of the scale, the average for textile manufacturers is $2,838.

OUR READERS WRITE

Justified Concern?

May I take this opportunity on behalf of Sanford Lodge No. 1241 B.P.O.E. to thank you and your staff for the unselfish reporting concerning the controversial rock show that was to be presented with permission of the city commissioner.

We are fortunate to have a newspaper such as yours in our community. Thank you again for your cooperation and fine reporting. I remain, Louis J. Girard, Exalted Ruler

I wish to make a public protest on behalf of the members of the Senior citizens club of Sanford.

A recent vote was taken to elect officers, but to the embarrassment of our club, there were no ballots at some of the designated polling places.

There was a sad lack of civic responsibility on the part of the person or persons given the assignment to provide ballots at these designated polling places: Bram Torres, St. Paul's church on 8th St., the Knights of Columbus, the Chamber of Commerce and the West Side Improvement Association.

Such an occurrence could give one the feeling that it was a deliberate manipulation, but I sincerely hope that was not the case and that such an incident will not happen again.

Will this incident be allowed to stand as fair and valid? Kathryn Stager

Hairbrush Needed

The son who filed suit against his parents because at times in his life they neglected his need for food, shelter and love has been given the bum's rush by a Boulder, Colo., jurist.

Judge Murray Richel said the assertions of the son, Tom Hansen, 26, were wholly without merit. He said the mother, who had filed a motion for summary judgment, used every reasonable means at her disposal to perform the task of parenting in a decent and reasonable manner.

Hansen had filed suit last April, asking $200,000 from his parents for "intentional infliction of emotional stress." He said the treatment he received from his parents will necessitate his need for psychiatric help the rest of his life.

One reason there are so many weird suits filed these days is the great increase in the number of attorneys. And, sure enough, Hansen, the son, says he will appeal the judge's action.

Perhaps what he really needed instead of more food, shelter and love was a good whack from time to time with a hairbrush and to be told, "This hurts me more than it does you."

Qaddafi Supports Sadat Assassination?

TRIPOLI — Deep in the shadows of the Israeli-Egyptian negotiations, a team of assassins has been watching for a chance to upset the peace and turn the triumph into tragedy.

Ironically, these grim plotters may actually have begun to bring Israel's Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egypt's President Anwar Sadat together. But they haven't abandoned their attempts to murder the men who, in their view, have betrayed the Arab cause.

The story goes back to the summer of 1977 when a team of terrorists allegedly carrying Libyan weapons, slipped into Cairo. They had murder on their minds.

The details are shoddy; the Central Intelligence Agency still hasn't placed together the full story. But high on their hit list, our sources say, was the name of Anwar Sadat. The American minister in Cairo, Hermann Kilke, was also marked for assassination.

The mastermind behind the plot, according to intelligence sources, was Libyan dictator Muammar Qaddafi. Early in his political development, he had come under the spell of the charismatic Grand Muefti, the late Egyptian leader, who raised the banner of Pan-Arabism in Cairo.

Nasser's death, Sadat's accession and Qaddafi's coup only strengthened the Arab young leader's determination to make Nasser's dream come true. Qaddafi tried to make Libya with Egypt as the first step toward creating a great nation. Intelligence reports claim that Qaddafi even tried for awhile in Sadat's hands.

Murphy, Malone Lead Rockets In Must-Win Contest

By United Press International
The Houston Rockets must have realized how important Sunday night's game in Landover, Md., was to their playoff chances. The 81 games they played previously no longer mattered because it had all come down to this: Win and take the homecourt advantage for the upcoming 2-of-3 playoff series with Atlanta; lose and play two of the three in Atlanta, where the Hawks are mighty tough.

The Rockets won.
Calvin Murphy scored 24 points and Most Valuable Player candidate Moses Malone added 20 to give the Rockets a 119-102 season-ending victory over the World Champion Washington Bullets and wind up Tom Nissalke's "most satisfying" season as Houston coach. The Rockets won only 28 games last year. "Win or lose in this season," Nissalke said. "It has been my most satisfying season, and it doesn't matter what happens from now on."

The victory allows the Rockets to open at home Wednesday night but, more importantly, if a third game is necessary, that will also be in Houston, next Sunday. The Bullets now hang around to meet the winner in the quarterfinals.

Washington, who trailed by 12 points in the third quarter, came to within 24-23 on Greg Ballard hook shot in the final quarter before a 6-0 Houston tear put the game on ice.
Bobby Dandridge paced the Rockets with 31 points. The other matchups for the 2-of-3 preliminary rounds: Philadelphia against New Jersey (beginning Wednesday in Philadelphia), Phoenix vs. Portland (starting Tuesday in Phoenix) and Denver against Los Angeles (getting underway Tuesday night in Denver).

The Kansas City Kings went on the road Sunday and wrapped up the Midwest Division crown with a 107-101 win over the Indiana Pacers. Meanwhile, in Philadelphia, Denver dropped a 112-111 speaker to the Sixers. The Kings' win gave them their first division title and a bye in the first round.

Ostie Birdsong scored 22 points and Scott Wideman added 25 to pace the Kings to their 48th victory. Kansas City put the game away with a 14-0 third quarter. The Pacers, who won 12 of their last 17 games, were led by Johnny Davis' 27 points, 20 in the half.

The Kings now wait to play the winner of the Phoenix-Portland series while Seattle takes on the victor in the Denver-Los Angeles matchup in the second round of the Western playoffs.
At Philadelphia, Julius Erving scored 35 points to allow the 76ers to wrap up the best record of the Eastern wild-card qualifiers and the right to meet New Jersey in the opening round. Caldwell Jones and Darryl Dawkins added 16 each for Philadelphia and Dan Issel had 22 for the Nuggets.

DeNiro, Voight Lead In Race For Oscar

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Robert DeNiro and Jon Voight are favored to win the Oscar for best actor in the Academy Awards tonight, but for two other nominees — Laurence Olivier and Warren Beatty — the 51st annual presentations already are personal triumphs.

Awards host Johnny Carson

Olivier, nominated for the 11th time for his role as a Jewish Nazi-hunter in "The Boys From Brazil," will be given a special award for his unique, life-long contributions to movies. Cary Grant will make the presentation.

Beatty is only the second nominee in the history of the awards to win four nominations for a single film, "Heaven Can Wait," which he co-directed with Buck Henry, wrote, produced and starred in. Oscar Wiza turned the trick with "Citizen Kane" in 1941.

However, it is DeNiro and Voight, for their performances in two nominated Vietnam war films, "The Deer Hunter" and "Coming Home" respectively, who are the best bet to win the best actor award.

The fifth best actor nominee is Gary Busey for his performance in the title role of "The Buddy Holly Story." Busey, who became the first performer with the opportunity to become the winner of four Oscars with her nomination for "An Unmarried Woman," is competing with Miss Bergman for the Oscar.

Less Fat Means Low Cholesterol

DEAR DR. LAMB—I would like to know just what is cholesterol? Is there any way you can rid your body of it once you have it? Would you list in two groups the foods that are the best in cholesterol and the foods lowest in cholesterol?

Dr. Lamb

Cholesterol is a yellow waxy substance formed chiefly by your liver. It's emptied with the bile from your liver into your small intestine. Cholesterol is an animal product. That means that you get cholesterol from animal foods as well as from cholesterol formed by your liver. Both sources are mixed together in your small intestine and absorbed through the intestinal wall back into your circulation.

Sanford Blackouts Averted? Gov. Gives OK To Burn 'Dirty' Oil

Gov. Bob Graham today announced he will permit Florida Power & Light Company to burn high-sulfur fuels at 15 of its 21 oil fired units, including Sanford. Graham's action follows a determination by President Carter that a regional energy emergency exists in Florida because of the unavailability of low-sulfur content fuels.

Department of Environmental Regulation Secretary Jake Varn recommended the temporary suspension of air emission regulations for FP&L.

The governor also said he following an emergency hearing in Orlando Saturday.

'I agree with Secretary Varn's recommendation that we suspend certain air emission regulations to permit FP&L to burn fuel with a higher sulfur content than is normally allowed the company' — Gov. Bob Graham

"I agree with Secretary Varn's recommendation that we suspend certain air emission regulations to permit FP&L to burn fuel with a higher sulfur content than is normally allowed the company" — Gov. Bob Graham

The suspension is for a 30-day period. Any extension beyond that will require further action by both the president and the governor, but state officials say they see no problem in that area if conditions remain the same.

The governor also said he following an emergency hearing in Orlando Saturday.

A DOG IN HER PATH Beverly A. Labit, 22, of 2215 Cordova Drive, Sanford, suffered cuts to both knees Monday night when the car she was driving struck a pine tree on West Crisp Drive in the Loch Arbor subdivision. Ms. Labit said she swerved off the road when a dog ran in front of her car and she turned sharply to avoid hitting the animal. She said the accident took place about 10:30 p.m. Monday. A Seminole Memorial Hospital spokesman said it is in satisfactory condition.

County Attorney Suggests Annexation Settlement

County Attorney William Kirchoff said the city and county both look at their own interests and while the county is trying to hold down density the cities are looking toward population growth.

The discussion was continued to the 2 p.m. workshop today.

Miss Clayton also reported to commissioners that Attorney General Jim Smith is being asked by the attorneys of nearby counties to clarify his recent opinion that only "Blind Services" can handle sales by vending machines in county-owned facilities.

Gas Supplies Subject Of Concern For Seminole Schools

With rising gas prices and reported cutbacks in supplies, the Seminole County school system says it does not face a problem operating its school buses this year but next year may be different.

Chevron, Inc., the school's supplier, has allocated 540,000 gallons of gas at a cost of $28,500 for the county schools in 1979, said Don Coleman, chief purchasing agent for county schools.

The school district experienced a four-cent increase per gallon of gasoline about two months ago and now pays 31 cents per gallon, Coleman said.

About two weeks ago, the county was allowed to increase its then allocation of 504,733 gallons for the calendar year due to increasing transportation needs, Coleman said.

"By law, we are required to have several additional programs such as special education and these require extra bus runs," Coleman explained. "We figure about a three percent growth in student population for the county since last year."

The split session plan stated for Lake Brantley High School in September is a major factor for the request for additional gasoline this year, Coleman said.

Also known as an "extended day," the basic concept of the plan is to have juniors and seniors attend a five-hour morning session from 7 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and freshmen and sophomores attend a five-hour afternoon session from 12:05 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the school at 975 Sand Lake Road in south Seminole County.

The split session is one solution sought by high school officials to cope with its rising enrollment until the new Lake Mary High School is completed in December, 1980.

Seminole County Superintendent William P. Layer said the school board will discuss the gas situation during the budget hearings for the 1979-80 school year. The budget hearings will begin in late April and continue into May, he said.

"I am sure before this school year is out, we will have to have concrete solutions to conserve our gasoline supply," said Roy Wright of the transportation department.

In preparation of higher gas prices and reports of limited supplies, Wright said his department has developed informally several gas-saver ideas to the superintendent of schools.

"One way to save gas would possibly be to reduce the number of field trips for students each year," Wright said. "Another is possibly to reduce the number of courtesy riders."

The county school system has already taken some steps to conserve energy, Wright said. Bus drivers of the 160-fleet are assigned bus routes nearest to their homes to save gasoline, traveling to and from work, he said.

Last year, the county school board replaced its smaller capacity tanks with four 10,000-gallon tanks at key locations in the county, Coleman said.

"This way we were able to take a whole tank of gas at one time," Coleman said. "That saved us from five to six cents a gallon."

According to a recent survey, school buses in the county transported 12,468 miles per day, 2,225,000 miles during the 1977-78 school year, Wright said. Extra-curricular activities generated an additional 60,000 miles last year, he said.

Throughout the county, school buses are responsible for transporting 18,533 students to and from school per day, Wright said. To be eligible for school bus service, students must live two miles or more from their school, he said.

Approximately 1,800 students who live within the two-mile limit ride the school buses due to adverse walking conditions, he said.

All in all, the county allocates approximately $2,300,000 per year for its transportation budget, Wright said. This pays primarily the salaries of the bus drivers, the mechanics and clerical help, he said.

"The idea is not that we are able to buy gas, it is whether we will have gas to buy," Wright said.

Farr Reverses Vote, Rose Street Will Remain Open

Sanford City Commissioner David Farr reversed his vote on the closing of a portion of Rose Street Monday night after it was revealed the street closing would accommodate a client Farr represents in a real estate transaction.

Farr, a broker with Stenstrom Realty, would receive the commission from the sale of a parcel of land at the northeast corner of Lakeview and Rose streets if the seller, Jeff Gierland is able to negotiate an agreement with a developer planning to put an $85,000 quadruplex on the site. However, to comply with city setback ordinances, the developer would have to close Rose Street east of Lakeview in order to meet the 20-foot frontage requirement.

"Never in my wildest dreams did I think something as simple as the vacating and abandonment of a street would cause such concern," Farr said. "I don't want to cause the city or the commission any embarrassment."

Farr declined to comment on the amount of his commission if the sale is made.

The closing of the street had drawn opposition from neighboring property owners, who claimed such action would disrupt traffic and create parking difficulties.

Attorney William Colbert, representing one nearby property owner, said the closing "could be of no benefit to the public." Acting Mayor Julian Stenstrom said the commission had received a petition with the names of 19 nearby property owners objecting to the plan.

The commission initially rejected the closing by a 2-1 vote, with Mayor Lee P. Moore and Commissioner John G. Morris absent. But City Attorney C. Vernon Mize advised the panel that three votes would be required to pass or reject a motion. On the second vote, Farr reversed his position, voted with the majority, and the closing was rejected.

Farr said he switched his vote to avoid any suggestion of a conflict of interest. He said his broker and the seller would be upset by the vote, but he added, "I am sure before this school year is out, we will have to have concrete solutions to conserve our gasoline supply."

"The absence of two commissioners, both vacationing, also prevented the city from taking action on a request to extend the condemnation process on property at 911 Elm Ave. and 409 W. Third St. A three-vote majority to grant the extension was not obtained when Stenstrom and Eddie Keith voted in favor of the request and Farr voted in opposition."

Farr said granting the extension would mean the property could not be vacated for six months. He said that was "a real estate commission is not that important to me."

Farr said he switched his vote to avoid any suggestion of a conflict of interest. He said his broker and the seller would be upset by the vote, but he added, "I am sure before this school year is out, we will have to have concrete solutions to conserve our gasoline supply."
