New York Society Aroused By Further Revelations In Miss Vanderbilt's Marriage

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Testimony that the mother of Consuelo Vanderbilt threatened to kill Winthrop Rutherford of New York, if Consuelo eloped with him today, today intensifies gossip in the social world over the annulment by the Catholic Church of Consuelo's marriage to the Duke of Marlborough.

Some dispatches to the Associated Press show that the Rota Tribunal which nullified the marriage on the ground of duress, received testimony of the threat to kill. The former Mrs. William Kissam Vanderbilt, now Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, feminist leader, commanded her daughter to marry the Duke and, fearing that Consuelo might refuse to obey her command, placed a guard at her door to prevent her conversing with any one.

Twenty days after the marriage the Duke informed the examining body investigating his wife's plea for dissolution of the marriage, Consuelo told him she had gone through the marriage ceremony only under compulsion. Mrs. Belmont is now on board the steamer Berengaria.

According to the finding of the Rota, Consuelo was secretly engaged to Rutherford.

The culminating moment was when Mrs. Vanderbilt said that if Consuelo eloped with Rutherford she would kill him and consequently would be imprisoned and hanged and that Consuelo would bear the responsibility for such a horrible death. The sentence asserts that these statements were confirmed.

Coincident with the revelations about the Marlborough-Vanderbilt annulment came a denial and a disavowal of reports concerning Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt II. A dispatch to the New York World from Paris quotes Mrs. Vanderbilt, the former Virginia Fair, as saying she had started no annulment proceedings.

Associated Press dispatches from Rome show that William Marconi, the noted inventor of wireless, is appealing to the Rota Tribunal for an annulment of his marriage to the Honorable Beatrice O'Brien, daughter of the fourteenth Earl of Inchiquin. He alleges that it was agreed prior to their wedding that they might separate whenever they so desired. In the view of the Catholic church, since marriage is from its very nature indissoluble such a condition would make the marriage null in fact.

Marconi and Miss O'Brien were married in 1905. The marriage was dissolved in 1921. The couple have three children.

COURT RULING IS EXPECTED FROM JUSTICE PARKER

Jurat in Hall-Mills Trial Is To Decide on Admission of Testimony Contrary to That of Mrs. Jane Gibson

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 25.—(AP)—When the Hall-Mills murder trial is resumed tomorrow Justice Parker is to rule whether testimony should be permitted to deny testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibson that she was present when the murderer was committed to jail.

The defense contends that Mrs. Gibson, who is regarded by the prosecution as the only witness of the murder, switched her identification from Carpenter as Henry Stevens as the one who held some glittering object in his hand. Special Prosecutor Simpson argued that Carpenter was not a defendant in the present trial, and that Mrs. Gibson had not identified him in direct testimony.

Twenty Five Die In Monster Landslide In French Village

NICE, France, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Twenty-five persons are known to have perished in a landslide in the village of Roquevilliers, in the Alpes maritimes department, due to the recent heavy rainfall. The entire Belvidere mountain is suffering from slips of land. Part of the village of Bollène-Veaulieu has been evacuated.

The total fatalities in the stricken regions have not been ascertained, and it is expected that a long time will elapse before the exact number is determined. The victims are buried under thousands of tons of earth and would be rescued only if they could be given up their attempts to dig out the bodies in the fear of causing further slides.

Roquevilliers was the worst sufferer, an avalanche of earth, rocks and mud half a mile wide having swept down upon the village, with the inhabitants. Houses were crushed by the overflow from the Vesubie river. Nine families were crushed by the slide. Corpses from Nice, which is thirty miles distant, from the stricken zone are being held in readiness for identification. Prefect Henry de la Roche, of the Alpes maritimes department is in the town with General Fayat, commanding the Tenth Army division.

NAVY AIRMEN ARE FORCED TO GIVE UP FLIGHT

Fuel Shortage Forces Number Two to Land Near Isle of Pines, White, Lubrication Trouble Forces Others Down

Both Machines Fail Short Rodgers' Mark

Commander May Be Able to Finish Trip But Plane 1 May Abandon the Flight

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Once more the Navy has been thwarted short of success in its long distance seaplane flight attempts. As in the case of the late Commander John Rodgers' record-breaking flight last year with a PN-9 machine, its latest attempt with two PN-10 planes, also fell short, happily, of disaster.

With Colon Canal Zone, 2,000 miles away, as their objective, the PN-10, numbers "One" and "Two," manned by brilliant crews left Norfolk late Tuesday. Plane number two, in charge of Lieutenant Commander H. T. Bartlett, the flight commander, was forced down by fuel exhaustion 1,185 miles away at Nueva Gerona, Isle of Pines. Number one developing lubrication trouble, proceeded 213 miles further before a broken oil feed pipe compelled it to come down in the Caribbean.

Commander Bartlett, after replenishing his gasoline supply, will finish the flight. Whether the other machine, in charge of Lieutenant Byron J. Connell and Lawrence Curtin will proceed remains to be determined.

Both planes fell short of Commander Rodgers' record of 1,841 miles, established when fuel exhaustion blocked his attempt, in September, 1925, to reach Hawaii, and started a desperate search that lasted for days over a wide expanse of silent waters before he was foiled. A similar situation threatened to develop in the Caribbean last night when the PN-10 Number One had but an hour and a half, but as midnight approached, the Navy's anxiety was relieved by a report from the cutter Cincinnati that it picked up the plane 22 miles off its course at 0:35 and was standing by. She was ordered to tow the plane to the most convenient port.

Twenty-four naval vessels in Central American waters, meanwhile had been placed at the disposal of Captain T. L. Johnson of the Cincinnati, to conduct a search for the missing plane. The guardian ships stationed along the flight course between the Isle of Pines and Colon will resume their stations for the hop to be made by the PN-10 Number Two.

Commander Bartlett, after landing at Nueva Gerona, was able to obtain enough fuel to proceed to Sigüenza bay to await the Raleigh. While search for Lieutenant Connell's plane was proceeding, and it appeared likely that it might have to be continued today, anxiety here was heightened somewhat by reports from the Weather Bureau that a storm was likely to blow up in the Caribbean.

Little fear was entertained for the safety of the crew, however, for all were experienced men and Connell, himself, had gained training, seemingly designed to fit him for precisely such an experience by serving as a pilot of Commander Rodgers' plane in the Pacific.

Denew Thinks Thanksgiving Day This Year Is Happiest and Best in History

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Chauncey M. Denew believes Thanksgiving Day this year to be the happiest and best this country has ever had, and hopes the day will prove a healthy, elevating and inspiring symbol of a better world, with more right thinking and right action people.

"Mr. Denew is 91 and he is practically recovered from a recent attack of the grippe.

WASHINGTON IS SILENT IN ROW WITH MEXICANS

Various Senators Are Still Hopeful of Peaceful Outcome But No Indications of Settlement Are Heard

Calles Government Awaits Capital Move

Senator Borah Declares He Sees No "Threat of Any Ultimatum" in Four Notes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—While various Senators are taking a hopeful view of the situation, no indication has come from the State Department or Mexico City to relieve the strain which has been placed on relations between the two governments in the oil and land law controversy that has brought them almost to the breaking point.

The Calles government, apparently awaiting a new move in the dispute by the Washington government, has shown no inclination to modify its plan to put into effect, Jan. 1, the new retroactive nationalization laws.

In Washington, its demand for "concrete cases" is viewed as an invitation to continue the diplomatic exchanges.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, meanwhile, sees no "threat of any ultimatum" in the four notes made public this week by the State Department, nor does he think there is going to be any break with Mexico.

His view is shared by Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, who feels that American rights in Mexico have not yet been placed in jeopardy, although he holds that, if such a contingency does develop "we should sever relations."

Senator Swanson, of Virginia, ranking Democrat on the foreign relations committee, is another who does "not believe the matter will drift to a break between the United States and Mexico, and Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, is hopeful that an "amicable settlement of the issues" will be reached, while Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, is inclined to regard the "stern attitude of the State Department" as unjustified.

A suggestion is heard in Latin American circles, meanwhile that the issue between the governments is an ideal one for arbitration at The Hague. This idea, however, is not allowed to take on an official complexion and none of the diplomats are willing to be quoted about any phase of the situation.

American Legion's Hut Is Again Open To Winter Visitors

The American Legion Hut on Seminole Boulevard has been formally opened for the winter season and winter residents and tourists have been invited to use it as a recreation center and common meeting ground, according to an announcement by Secretary Edward Trotter, of the Sanford Chapter of Commerce.

The Legion donated the use of the hut for the entertainment of tourists last year and at that time many tourist activities were conducted there. This season new pieces of equipment have been added and a greater year is expected.

Water Turned Into Mine to Stop Fire

COLEMAN, Alta., Nov. 25.

(AP)—Thousands of gallons of water today were being poured into a mine of the McGillivray Coal and Coke Company, near here, to extinguish a fire which halted efforts to explore a tunnel in which ten men were entombed by an explosion recently. No hope was held that the men survived the blast. It will take a week to flood the mine.

Frank Serik, a Russian miner, was regarded as the hero of the disaster. He led six men to safety. One of them had been passed up as dead before Serik reached him and carried him to the surface.

FIVE GRID GAMES ON THANKSGIVING CARD IN FLORIDA

Warm Semi-Tropical Sun Is Beaming Down on Citizens Of This State While They Observe National Holiday

(By The Associated Press) A warm tropical sun beamed on Florida today as the population observed Thanksgiving, America's oldest custom, which originated in the colder clime of New England 305 years ago.

Athletic events crowded the afternoon following a morning devoted to church worship and returning thanks to God for the blessings of the year.

Five college football games rang down the 1934 football season, and provided an afternoon outing for those who did not attend church services.

Witness Game in Which Bulldog Will Attempt to Average 3 Defeats of Past

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 23.—Alabama's undefeated Tide rolled on to Richard Field here this afternoon to play the University of Georgia's Bulldogs before a capacity crowd of 17,000 persons gathered from every section of the state.

Teams arrived in the city and retired early for an undisturbed rest before the gridiron for the game at 2 o'clock.

Alabama, with visions of another West battle at Pasadena, goes into the fray with the thought of removing the last link from its seasons schedule.

The Bulldogs, smarting under three scoreless and overwhelming defeats at the hands of the season are admittedly determined that when the Turkey is placed before them tonight they shall win with a winner's zest.

A cloudy sky still prevails during the early morning but the other has promised fair weather by game time.

An aerial game is predicted. Captain Morton and Holm generally looked to for carrying Georgia's fight into Tide territory while Winslett, Brown, Barnes are the big waves upon whom Alabama has her hopes.

Georgia, however, had all to be gained and ought to be considered certain in the parlance of ball to "shoot the works."

To match this psychological advantage Crimson supporters point out the fact that Alabama has been defeated upon only twice this year and its goal line is uncrossed for past five games.

ENewspapers of Information Carry No Editorial Pages; Newspapers of Opinion are Almost Void of News Items

PARIS, Nov. 23.—(AP)—France has newspapers of three distinct types, with as many different classes of readers.

There are the newspapers of "information" with little or no attempt at editorials and the moulding of public opinion; newspapers of "opinion" or "combat dailies," the editorial pages of which are the center of interest and the printing of news rather a secondary detail, and newspapers trying to combine both features.

Five "Information" Sheets The "Information" sheets, of which there are five in Paris, all morning papers, are published generally on four or six pages, with an occasional eight page issue.

Subscriptions add sales in stands and on streets are the principal source of revenue, with advertising bringing the least in returns.

Local and domestic news fill four-fifths of the reading matter space in the "information" newspapers. Foreign news and especially American items are given very scant play. The average American newspaper in a good-sized city of the Middle-West prints more European news in one day than the "big five" publish in a week.

Sports Cabled Fully

The few occasions when the French press gives a full and circumstantiated report of an American event generally have to do with sports. More cabled matter was filed direct from New York about the Leiglen-Mallory tennis match in 1921, than concerning the Washington naval disarmament conference in the same year.

Among local news politics leads. Seven, eight and nine column reports of proceedings at the French Chamber are rather common occurrences. A cabinet crisis always fills the front page.

"Passion" Stories Popular Periodically, crop up the "affairs," a political scandal, a sensational murder—crimes resulting from passions, love, hatred, jealousy—especially involving prominent persons, are given a tremendous display. Other news items are cut down to a bare mention.

Here's Last Will And Testament Made By Famous Thomas Turkey

Editor's Note: A strange farewell message recently was discovered on an historic New England homestead. It has been pecked into the bark on the side of a sawed-off tree stump. Deciphered, it proved to be the last will and testament of one Thomas Turk.

Lying beside the stump was a picture, supposedly of the author. The picture is reproduced above. The farewell message follows.

To Whom It May Concern: I, Thomas Turk, being of sound mind and vasty worried state, peck this, my last will and testament, upon the side of a sawed-off tree stump that bodes me no good. The whirr of the grindstone is abroad in the land, and to my ears I am beginning to have grave fears.

Life has been sweet to me in this peaceful valley. I have roamed far and have eaten my fill. Now they have come nigh unto me to gaze upon my flesh with an eye aghast. But my wisdom has been greater than my vanity in this, for I have read into the eye they cast upon me a sinister meaning.

My family is old, older than any family of these white people about me, for I was here before them, and was king in the land they now call theirs. So I leave to my heirs the memory of a grand old name a name that has been associated with gratitude since 1698.

I leave, too, the memory of uncounted millions of my own kindmen who since that first dire November 23 have upheld well their dignity, on field and table, as the king of birds.

There are those who reap the harvest, and there is the harvest to be reaped. Sacrifice attends it all; the earth gives up its precious fruits; why should I balk at the martyr's crown that shall be mine?

I am resigned. Let there be no moaning among my heirs and kind-folk when mine enemies approach me with the sacrificial blade.

Shall I deem myself better than Marie Antoinette, or any of those brave folk of old?—Shall I quake with fear when the sharp ax gleams above me? Heaven forbid that I, Thomas Turk, scion of one of America's oldest families, quake at the hour of my fate.

I am a turkey. I am proud of my past and my destiny. That is the most precious memory I find worthy to leave all other turkeys in the world in the years to come.

The nobility of birds has spoken.

Executive Group Of Advisory Board Will Meet In Jacksonville

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 25.—(AP)—The next regular meeting of the Florida division, Southeast Advisory board, will be held at Jacksonville, Dec. 3, and R. Hurson Burr, chairman, has issued a call for a gathering of the executive committee of the organization, at Jacksonville, Dec. 2.

The meeting of the board will mark the observance of the anniversary of the organization of that body one year ago.

The executive committee meeting, to be attended by the "contact" committee of the railroads, will be held for the purpose of formulating a program for the full board meeting.

"We are not at this time in trouble in Florida, yet I regard this meeting as a very important one because we will determine the scope of work which the board will do for the ensuing year if the board is to continue to function for the future," the chairman said in his call. "It is my conviction that the board should be kept absolutely intact so that if any trouble should occur with our transportation systems, we would be ready at a moment's notice to undertake the task of clearing it up."

Proposals Should Be Made to Contribute Ideas

Many good results are expected to be the result of the annual meeting of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce to be held in Miami next week. It is believed that representatives from every section of the state will attend the meeting, and bring with them some real ideas for constructive service.

On Monday, December 6, there will be an especially important part of the program which will take the shape of an agricultural conference dealing with problems affecting farmers and growers, viz, and all the projects of Florida. It is at this conference that The Herald desires to call particular attention. A set of questions has been prepared for consideration, and from the opinions and discussions brought out at the meeting, plans for solving some of the problems they suggest will be set in motion.

The Herald hopes that a creditable representation from Seminole county will be on hand at that first day's conference, and be ready to give some commonsense answers to many of these inquiries. The fifteen questions as prepared by the committee certainly offer an opportunity for interesting discussion. They are as follows:

1. What regional and statewide agricultural problems are dependent upon legislative action for their solution?
2. What specific legislative action is suggested?
3. What statewide and regional agricultural problems are dependent upon local organizations for their solutions?
4. What type of local organization is suggested?
5. What agricultural organizations, if any, engaged in promotional or educational endeavors could profitably co-ordinate their programs?
6. What organizations which must rely upon educational campaigns for their effectiveness, and which lack a publicity department of their own, could with mutual benefit utilize the publicity organization of the State Chamber of Commerce?
7. What research or survey activities should be undertaken for the interest of Florida agriculture?
8. In what manner should the cost of these research or survey activities be met?
9. What are the prerequisites before raw agricultural lands should be sold to settlers?
10. What are the development, demonstration and cultural standards to which colonization projects should adhere?
11. What, if anything, can be done to create increased consumer demand for Florida agricultural products?
12. To what extent can Florida be made agriculturally self-contained?
13. What lines of possible agricultural development are now neglected and what should be done to stimulate them?
14. What are the state's outstanding marketing problems and difficulties?
15. In what manner can existing agencies best co-operate to effect a solution of these problems?

GOOD AND BAD VOTES

Miami Herald

It is the theory of democracy that everyone has an inherent right to the franchise who has attained certain technical qualifications. As long as the vote of a citizen is used as the basis of government, the theory of democracy is not perfect. It is a good many years ago, the franchise was extended to the colored people of the South. This was a good thing, but it was not a perfect thing. It was not a perfect thing because it was not a perfect thing.

The Iowa state chairman says the Democratic party ought to find a man like W. Bryan, coming hard on the boys. Bryan had some great points, and you could say, as it is, of another, "that man believes every word he says. Such men are a menace to our party."

PHILEAS MINISTER

Strenuous admits that a newspaper opposing the government of the German people was not a menace to our party. And then the paper went right on attacking the government, and attacking without any teeth in the attack.

DR. LORENZ

"Bloodless surgeon" of Vienna, says science is killing humanity by keeping the unfit alive. Nature tries to get rid of the unfit, but science prolongs their lives and adds children to the number.

PHILIP BERNARD

Used to kill babies and children. He said that children born defective. That didn't make a great number of babies, but it was a great number of babies. Some of the most useful men, great ones for instance, would have died if it were not for extraordinary scientific care.

THE ONLY SAFETY LOOK AFTER YOUR BLOOD

The only sure protection your body can have is blood in good condition. Other things may help; they can't prevent or cure. You will not suffer from catarrh, neuritis, grip, colds and coughs if your blood is right.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Kidneys and bladder irritation often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help to filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.
