Lake Michigan Ship Disaster In Which About 30 Lost Their Lives

This remarkable telephoto picture gives a graphic view of the excursion steamer disaster in Lake Michigan, a mile off Chicago, which took a death toll of about 30. The Favorite, a small excursion boat, was carrying about 75 people out into the lake to escape the oppressive heat, when a sudden squall struck it. Most of the passengers rushed to one side of the boat to escape the rain. This extra weight on one side and the strong wind caused the boat to tip over on its side. The craft then righted itself, but sank so that only its smokestack and top deck were visible as shown in the picture. Life guards rushed to the scene of the wreckage. The arrow points to a group of the rescuers taking the body of a woman out of the water. In this group is Johnny Weissmuller, world famous swimmer, who aided in the rescue work. The picture was taken from a boat by NEA Service, which reached the scene shortly after it occurred.

BRENNEN THINKS NOMINATION WILL GO TO AL SMITH

Illinois Democratic Leader Voices View That Governor Of New York Will Be Named Without Much Opposition

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(INS)—George E. Brennan, the Chicago Democratic boss, predicted yesterday at the WaZorf that Governor Smith would be nominated for Democratic National Convention in 1928 virtually without opposition, and his view was supported by former Representative Timothy Thomas Ansberry, of Defiance, Ohio banker and one of the campaign managers for James M. Cox in 1920.

Brennan and Ansberry attended a conference where insurance and politics were blended. Others present were James J. Hoey, one of the Smith managers in the 1924 convention; Joseph P. Tumulty, President Wilson's secretary; Joseph P. Tumulty Jr., James A. Beha, State Superintendent of Insurance, and Charles A. Douglas, a Washington lawyer.

See No Real Contest Governor Smith's name will be the only one considered in the convention after the usual ballot for favorite sons," said Mr. Brennan, apparently fully recovered from a five months' illness in a Chicago hospital. "Governor Smith is the outstanding figure in the Democratic party in the nation today. He is so far in the lead that the others will not seriously be considered when the real balloting takes place. The Governor has been four times elected chief executive of the most populous state in the nation and has made good."

It is suggested to Mr. Brennan that Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, who favored the elimination of prohibition as an issue, had said recently that of the Democrats named a candidate whose record and personality symbolized the wet issue it would make prohibition the leading issue of the campaign.

Uncertain as to Chief Issue "That does not necessarily follow," said Mr. Brennan. "The convention is still a year away. Crop failure, business depression, or something else may develop as the leading issue. Personally I stand just where I stood in the 1924 convention, solidly for Al Smith."

"Will Illinois send a solid Smith delegation?" "We never have a solid delegation for anyone from Illinois," said Mr. Brennan. The Chicago leader would not discuss the triumph of William Hale Thompson, the Republican mayor of Chicago, or the possibility that the friends of William G. McAdoo might thwart the Smith boomers next year. Mr. Brennan said the conference here was not political, but a gathering of business friends interested in insurance here and in Chicago.

UNITED STATES MAY ENTERTAIN ENGLISH PRINCE

America May Have Opportunity To Be Host Again To Wales And His Guest, The Premier

OTTAWA, Can. Aug. 1.—(INS)—The United States may play host again to the Prince of Wales.

The Prince and Premier Stanley Baldwin of Great Britain are due to arrive in Canada early in August. Although no official confirmation can be secured, it is regarded as quite likely that the prince will visit the United States after stopping at his ranch at High River. There will be few actual public engagements during the visit of the Prince of Wales in Canada it is expected. Premier Stanley Baldwin will probably carry the chief burden of public appearances.

Visit Capital Of the Prince's three-day stay in Ottawa, only Wednesday, August 3, will be taken up with official duties. His Royal Highness, at noon on that day, will unveil the altar of sacrifice in the memorial chamber of the Victory Tower. At 3 o'clock he will unveil the statue of Sir Wilfred Laurier recently erected on Parliament Hill and at 4 o'clock he will visit the International Poultry Congress. Premier Baldwin will address Canadian Clubs in Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto. While in the Capital both the Prince's and the Premier's party will be guests at government house. Mrs. Baldwin will address the woman's Canadian Club in Ottawa. After leaving Ottawa the two parties will go to Brockville, where they will board a private yacht and cruise through the Thousand Islands to Kingston, where there will be an hours reception. They will proceed by boat to Toronto. In Toronto there will be a state dinner as well as a Canadian Club luncheon, probably on Saturday, and on Sunday the royal party will make an informal trip to Niagara. Afterward they will start for Banff, Alberta.

Baldwin Sails First After leaving the Prince in Alberta, Premier Baldwin will start back, making hour stops at Calgary and Regina, with a somewhat longer stop in Winnipeg. From Manitoba the Premier will move right through to St. John, where there will be an official reception. In Halifax and Charlottetown there will be further receptions, and on August 18, Mr. Baldwin will sail for home.

From High River the Prince's plans are uncertain, largely depending upon his own wishes regarding the length of his stay. In any event, some programme of official stops at Western Canadian cities will be worked out for the trip East.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON.—when you read that "Washington is all a fog" or that "Washington believes that," don't you believe it. Such assertions of massed common sense thought are erroneous. They may apply to the minority of politicians, lobbyists and correspondents here, but not to the 95 per cent of ordinary Washingtonian is a government clerk. The point is that Washington itself doesn't take any marked interest in politics, large national issues, or the sectional troubles of the rest of the country. The main concern of the government workers are to do their jobs satisfactorily, to have as good a time as possible and to hear up under the heat. They don't even pay much attention to Congress which, for all its importance, is one of the best shows on earth.

The Washingtonians—opinion is divided to whether a majority or minority—show an unfortunate attitude toward the Volstead Act, but here, as elsewhere, there are wets and dries among the citizenry and here are so many churches that the dries up a formidable front. This city, like any other, is primarily interested in its local affairs. The fact that it is less interested in politics may be partially explained by the fact that its people have no vote and that it is governed by Congress and a board of commissioners appointed by the president.

The people of the city do seem to have a more affectionate regard for President Coolidge than many of the higher officials and politicians. They laughed their heads off at their movie theatres when the news reels showed Mr. Coolidge in his new cowboy outfit. The president, it was at once obvious, had shown all the makings of a game sport when he put on those pants, for he was obviously not designed for such habiliments. The spectacle of the president descending the steps after changing

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY: FELLOWSHIP:— We took sweet counsel together, and walked into the house of God in company. Psalm 55:14.

PRAYER:—Develop in us, Lord, the beautiful spirit of brotherhood.

THE RUE ANEMONE: Under an oak tree in a woodland, where The dreaming Spring had dropped it from her hair, I found a flower, through which I seemed to gaze Beyond the world and see what no man dare Behold and live—the myths of by-gone days— Diana and Endymion, and the bare Slim beauty of the boy whom Echo wooed; And Hyacinthus whom Appollo dewed With love and death; and Daphne, ever fair; And that reed-slender girl whom Pan pursued.

I stood and gazed, and through it seemed to see The Dryad dancing by the forest tree, Her hair wild blown; the fawn with listening ear, Deep in the haze, kneeling on one knee, Watching the wanderer Oread draw near, Her wild heart beating like a bee-eye bee Within a rose—all, all the myths of old, All, all the bright shapes of the Age of gold, Peopling the wonder-worlds of poetry, Through it I seemed in fancy to behold.

By Madison Cawein. The canal is an issue seems to have been about lost sight of.

Who is the clever wit that writes "Nomin' Around"? He has a style that rivals Franklin P. Adams.

Harry Neel is still getting out the Kissimmee Gazette which seems to be as good a paper as ever.

Well, now that Bob Hooker has gotten his weekly out, do you know what became of the hospital money?

"Yes Men" asking the question of the "Agitators" have paid their taxes, make us wonder if the Commissioners have paid theirs.

The attempt to divert the public mind from the diversion of public funds will have little effect upon a citizenry oppressed by taxation and disgusted with governmental extravagance, mis-management, and mis-appropriation.

It's easy enough to get a woman to tell you something, but try and tell her something.—Waxeyross Journal Herald. Oh, that's not so hard after you get used to it. Our office boy told his girl he loved her, and she hasn't gotten over it yet.

One is not necessarily indulging in "personalities" when he mentions an individual's name, or criticizes the official acts of a man in office. "Personalities" is the disparagement of a man's character or person. This word is coming in for considerable abuse of late.

The political ring is like a boxing ring; they are both square. Now you tell me.—Sanford Herald. Huh, we have seen more than one political ring, and more than one boxing ring that were not "square."—Florida State News. Spoken like a true disciple of Dick Croker.

It may be that other Florida cities do furnish water free of charge to independent construction companies, but that does not make it right. Sanford is not alone in being a mis-managed community. Very few city governmental heads in Florida showed wisdom in the disbursement of public funds, during the boom and they are all now paying the penalty.

A Friend In Need

We overheard a conversation on the street the other day which being particularly applicable to the political situation at this time, we feel that it might be of interest to the general public to reproduce at least part of it here. The two gentlemen had names of their own, but to avoid any unnecessary embarrassment for them when their notes come due, we will call them Hector and Lucius.

They had been talking for some time but as we came up, Hector was saying: "I don't give a hang! I'm going to vote for Lake anyway. He's my friend."

To which Lucius, after customary formalities to us, replied: "Well, I don't care. You're on the wrong side. Do you think it is right for a man to take money that the people voted for a hospital and pave streets with it?"

"Aw, that ain't nothing," Hector came back strong. "They call it 'mis-appropriating funds,' but what difference does it make whether you pave streets with these dollars here that the people voted for streets, or with those dollars there that the people voted for a hospital. They're all dollars, ain't they?"

"Mebby so," said Lucius cautiously. "But I've noticed this thing, that seems mighty peculiar to me. Whenever they mis-appropriate funds, they do it to pave streets. They take the hospital money and put it into street paving; they take the swimming pool money and put it into street paving. Everything goes into street paving. Why, we got asphalt streets running so far out into the woods there don't anything use them except deers and snakes. If they got to mis-appropriate something why don't they take some of the street money and build the hospital with it?"

"N' another thing! What did they do with the money that we did vote to pave streets with? Why did they have to use hospital money for streets when we VOTED money to pave them with?"

"I don't give a hang!" Hector shouted again. "I'm going to vote for Lake. He's my friend."

After we left, the thought occurred to us, how much better friend to Mr. Lake, Hector would be if he voted in favor of the amendments. As Mr. Douglass brought out at the mass meeting Friday night, if these amendments do not carry, "the City Commissioners are going to catch Hell!" The City's finances are in a terrible condition. Five men will have all they can do to work out the present situation; three men would find it an almost impossible task; and one would be completely swamped.

Real friends of Mr. Lake will insist upon giving him some help, even if he himself has too much personal pride to admit the need of it.

The Enjoyment Of Life

Henry Ford, who passed his sixty-fourth birthday on Saturday, says life holds more interest for him today than it did four years ago. The reason for this optimistic view as expressed by the auto magnate is "because he has a new job to tackle." Thus the Detroit manufacturer epitomizes a philosophy of life that demands the consideration of all of us.

There is no real enjoyment like that which is derived from doing big things. A certain amount of satisfaction comes to him who has achieved success in particular lines of endeavor, but the most enjoyment is to be obtained by him who undertakes to accomplish a bigger task. The overcoming of an obstacle after obstacle, produces the thrill and exhilaration that makes life fascinating.

Henry Ford is not content to rest on the fame that he has already achieved. The fact that he has manufactured more motor cars than any other individual, has become the world's richest man, and has made revolutionary changes in the labor industry, does not deter him from seeking new fields to conquer. With a record of fifteen million cars already manufactured, Henry Ford now undertakes to build a new car and to develop commercial aviation. Both of these tasks hold his attention and interest at a time when many men are retiring from business.

The automobile magnate offers a study for those who would get the most out of life. As Arthur Brisbane expresses it, "there is no standing still in life; men go ahead or backward. Ford goes ahead and life interests him because he is everlastingly trying something new."

Do things and after you do them, begin work on something bigger, something that is more difficult. Be like Henry Ford, get a real "kick" out of life because you have a new job to tackle.

SANFORD FORUM

Editor The Herald:

In rather a superficial way, Col. Youngberg, in his address Wednesday evening at the Court House on the proposed improvement of the Upper St. Johns River Navigation District, outlined the benefits which would potentially result by reason of said improvement.

During the discussion, he made frequent references to the East Coast Canal and made the statement that the United States Government has decided to take over the East Coast Canal at a cost of $4,250,000.00 and that, in his opinion, the yearly maintenance of this canal by the government would amount to $125,000.00.

Among other things, Col. Youngberg stated the tolls yearly collected by the East Coast Canal amounted to a large sum and during his address he said that he had in his file a report showing the amount of tolls collected by the East Coast Canal during the past year but, for some reason, he failed to make known these figures representing the tolls collected by the East Coast Canal during the last year.

Col. Youngberg also stressed the fact of the amount of tonnage yearly passing through the East Coast Canal and mentioned also the numerous pleasure craft using this waterway during the winter season, the general trend of his remarks being to the effect that the East Coast Canal was an essential waterway of Florida, practically an indispensable waterway. He drew the illustration that the improvements contemplated in the Upper St. Johns River Navigation District would give to this district a profitable freight tonnage over the proposed waterway connecting the St. Johns River with the Indian River and would afford an avenue and channel for the plying of numerous pleasure craft, all of which would rebound to the benefit of the people of the Upper St. Johns River.

Navigation District.

What Col. Youngberg said on Wednesday evening does not conform to a former statement made by him, with regard to the East Coast Canal, in an address delivered by him at the quarterly meeting of the Association of Chambers of Commerce of the East Coast of Florida, held at Melbourne, Florida on October 10th, 1924, which address is in printed form and entitled: "Water Transportation and an Intracoastal Waterway from Jacksonville to Miami".

I quote the following excerpt from his printed address with regard to what Col. Youngberg the night of the East Coast Canal on October 10th, 1924: "To be sure, it (the East Coast Canal) can be traversed from Jacksonville to Miami by any one whose boat is small enough, whose time is long enough and whose purse is deep enough. In April of 1923, I made the trip from Jacksonville to St. Augustine in the District inspection boat which draws less than 5 feet. The master of the boat knew exactly what he was up against and he took advantage of the tide and proceeded through the artificial canal sections at the locality, possible speed. In spite of every care the boat struck 18 different obstructions on the round trip, damaging the propellers, bending the shafts, wrecking the clutch, and scraping off the copper sheathing. The repairs to the boat cost the United States over $485. The owning company has since then cleared the channel of a number of snags and snags."

"Not a little between Jacksonville and Daytona, but the cost of repairing the boats engaged in this business consume practically all the profits. In justice to the owners of the canal, I will say that the tolls collected do not pay all of which would rebound to the benefit of the people of the Upper St. Johns River pay a decent wage to the toll chain

Steel and Automobiles. Mount Benito Mussolini. Angora Rabbits Pay. Governor Fuller's Problem. By ARTHUR BRISBANE Copyright 1927 by Star Co.

UNITED STATES Steel crawled up a little higher yesterday. Wall Street heard that Secretary Mellon, now in Europe, had done long-distance shopping to the extent of 100,000 shares or $13,000,000 worth of steel common.

THE BIG automobile fight that is coming in the fall does not discourage automobile builders. Mr. R. J. Reuter, president of the Oldsmobile Company, is adding 76 acres to the plant at Lansing, Mich., a one-third increase. Oldsmobile gained $10,500,000 in sales in the last fiscal year. People want good automobiles. When you make good ones, you can sell them at all kinds of prices.

ITALIANS WILL change the name of Mount Blue to Mount Benito Mussolini. St. Petersburg is now Leningrad. Constantinople may soon be Kemalopolis. Mount Mussolini seems appropriate. It is the ancient rulers could name the months of the year in their honor, why shouldn't Mussolini, inheritor of their glory, name the highest mountain Mussolini?

In honor of the event Vesuvius burst yesterday into a fine eruption.

IN FRANCE THE fur of Angora rabbits sells for 280 francs per kilogram. Several thousand French families in Paris suburbs add substantially to their income every year by raising rabbits. The fur is used in woven textiles largely. Some of it makes fairly good chinchilla. This will interest Angoras.

MRS. JOSEPH Pulitzer, whose husband created the St. Louis Post Dispatch and the New York World, died yesterday in France.

Mr. Pulitzer said more than once to this writer and to other friends, "My St. Louis paper was earning more than I needed or wanted, and I was planning to go abroad. It was my wife whose urging caused me to buy the New York World, instead of going to Europe."

Fortunate is the man whose wife is his mental partner, stimulating his ambition.

GOVERNOR FULLER of Massachusetts heard yesterday the last plea by counsel for Sacco and Vanzetti, under sentence of death for murder. The sentence of the men, known all over the world, has been pronounced in many places and should the alleged murderers be executed undoubtedly violence would follow.

If there is doubt, even the faintest, as to the men's guilt, Governor Fuller will set them free. No clamor will influence him.

If, on the other hand, he concludes that there is absolutely no doubt, he will let the sentence stand, and the law will take its course.

No clamor or threats will influence him there either. Fate has forced upon Governor Fuller a duty difficult and dangerous. But he possesses the qualities that his responsibilities demand.

IN A BANK vault in Tokio lies $500,000 worth of solid gold, nobody knows who owns it, nobody claims it. Many a young man will say "I will do anything to get that $500,000 gold, that nobody claims."

Young gentlemen should remember that in their own brains, in their resources of patience, common sense and energy, $500,000 in real money and more may be found if they want to work. They need only do "anything" to get it, just work and be steady.

Disarmament is the process by which a country which has several obsolete battleships displaces them for nice new shiny cruisers.

keepers and the clerical help necessary to the administration of the waterway. From the standpoint of present day requirements of commerce and navigation, the existing waterway is scarcely better than no canal at all."

Col. Youngberg seems to have had a change of heart regarding the resulting benefit in the maintenance and operation of the East Coast Canal since his address at Melbourne, Florida, on October 10th, 1924 and he now seems to contend that the East Coast Canal is a profitable enterprise and that a canal connecting the St. Johns River with the Indian River, in the Upper St. Johns River Navigation District, will prove equally as profitable.

EFFORT TO BREAK DEADLOCK NAVAL PARLEY CEASES

Next Plenary Session Is Postponed Until Thursday But No Hope Is Held That Factions Will Be Able To Compromise

GENEVA, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Informal conferences between the chief delegates to the tripartite Naval Disarmament conference have failed to break the deadlock, and it was admitted this afternoon that the next plenary session of the conference will probably end the parley.

Postponement of the plenary session, scheduled for today, had raised hopes that some means might be found to avert a breakdown of the conference. But after private discussions, it was admitted frankly by the chief delegates that there is no hope of an agreement.

One delegate stated that the only reason for the postponement of today's plenary session was "to give time for preparing impressive funeral services."

The events of the last twenty-four hours have been marked by refusals of either the British or Americans to make any concessions.

The Japanese delegates called on Hugh Gibson, American delegate, yesterday and asked if the Americans were disposed to make even the slightest concession. Gibson replied in the negative.

Bridgman called today on the Japanese delegates and asked if they saw any sign of any possible agreement. The Japanese reply was in the negative.

After this series of rebuffs, those who had hoped for some new development that might save the conference, admitted that the situation seems hopeless and only awaits a formal ending.

Hugh Gibson has already prepared the speech he will deliver at the end of the session and it is understood President Coolidge has approved and even strengthened it.

It was learned today that in the course of a private dinner yesterday Viscount Admiral Saito, chief Japanese delegate, told his colleagues that the conference had ended to all intents and purposes.

The reason that the American Delegation published the text of the suggested safeguard clause was stated today to be only for the purpose of clearing up any misunderstanding.

Secretaries of the various delegations are meeting this afternoon to fix the date of the final plenary session, which will probably be Thursday.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—While the postponement of today's plenary session of the Geneva Naval Conference may have aroused slight hopes in some quarters, the general belief is that an agreement is as remote as a major.

With a majority of the cabinet absent on holiday and the office closed down on account of bank holiday no official opinion was forthcoming.

The press is virtually unanimous in declaring that the delay cannot be said to make the prospects for an agreement brighter, though some newspapers see in the report that the request for a postponement came from the Americans, the possibility that President Coolidge may have an eleventh hour proposal to save the face of the conference.

After admiralty officials had examined the text of the alternative proposal of the Americans, it was declared to be identical with the suggestions put forward by the American delegates more than a week ago and rejected at that time by the British.

One high British admiralty official was quoted as saying: "We cannot very well discuss a proposal for carrying out a treaty when no treaty exists."

The differences between the Americans and British over the number of cruisers and the size of guns have not been reconciled, and apparently an agreement over these technical questions is impossible under present circumstances.

The daily news editorial renews its suggestion that president Coolidge and Premier Baldwin meet for a personal exchange of views, adding: "Failure of the conference followed by mutual recriminations and a senseless race in armaments would be an international disaster. At least a direct conference between the political heads of the states chiefly concerned would put a check upon recriminations and ill will. At best such a meeting might enable the conference to begin all over again, this time under proper auspices and with adequate preparations."

Premier Baldwin is in Canada.

Miss Lila Thornley left Friday for Washington, D. C., where she will spend a month.

Edgerton Patterson leaves Wednesday for Tallahassee where he will spend his vacation.

Miss Katherine Teague of Orlando spent the week-end here with her sister Mrs. Edmund Melach.

Mr. and Mrs. Le Clerp Irwin were among the Sanford people spending Sunday at Daytona Beach.

ENGINEER RAPS STATEMENT BY G. A. DECOTTES

engineer and his numerous statements relating to the engineering features of the work have been, and continue to be, quite generally wrong. I shall in due time, undertake to place before the public an adequate presentation of the engineering features of the work and their operation and use. It appears to be sufficient to say here that the Board of Commissioners is clothed with broad powers and a wide discretion; as witness Section 2 of the Act which contains language as follows:

Said District is authorized and empowered to do any and all other acts and things which may be or may become requisite, necessary or convenient in carrying out all or any one or more of the powers in this Act or hereinafter granted to it.

The Board (Mr. Decottes to the contrary notwithstanding) may divide the project into three or thirty or any other number of sections. It may execute the work in the various sections in any sequence that it may deem proper and it may change the number of sections or the sequence of the work as often as it may deem requisite, necessary or convenient.

Half-truth, misrepresentations, innuendoes, unwarranted insinuations and inferences, have no place in either private or public discussions of the Upper St. Johns River Navigation District.

It is not within my province to read Mr. Decottes a lecture on the ethics of his position whether as a lawyer or as a citizen, but I deplore his inaccuracies and respectfully submit a suggestion that any man who undertakes to instruct the people on any matter of public concern should be particularly solicitous in placing before them the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

American Loans Over The World Total 12 Billions With Sum Rapidly Rising

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(INS)—With the rest of the world already owing American bankers and bondholders more than $12,000,000,000 we are continuing to send funds abroad at the rate of more than $125,000,000 a month or around $1,500,000,000 a year. These startling figures are disclosed in a compilation of foreign loans placed in this country through American banker made public by the Department of Commerce. It shows that for the first six months of 1927, America took foreign paper, of this approximately $500,000,000 was in the form of loans for governmental purposes, including central governments, states, provinces and municipalities and industrial loans under government guarantee. The other $265,000,000 went to private corporations.

Equally startling is the fact that foreign borrowings made on governmental account are for political uses. The great bulk is for constructive public works, such as port facilities, railroads, highways, sanitation, water supplies, public buildings, etc. A smaller portion is for refunding purposes and a still less amount for general government use. Agriculture, however, shares to a considerable extent.

Agriculture, however, shares to a considerable extent.

The totals would be far greater but for the fact that the American State Department is giving close scrutiny to all foreign flotations and in numerous instances is withholding approval for political or other reasons. For instance, none of the more than $100,000,000 of French loans floated in recent months have been marketed in this country because of the failure of the French government to negotiate a settlement of its war debts to the United States, the State Department refusing to sanction any French loans until the debt question is disposed of. The French have turned to Canada and other substitute money markets, $15,000,000 of French steamship loans having been floated in Canada the past spring, which would have come here had the way been open. The syndicate under the Sherman anti-trust law. Two years ago the State Department vetoed a German potash loan because of the monopolistic control of the potash trade. Likewise a huge Brazilian coffee loan was refused official sanction under the same monopolistic theory. The potash and London for most of their financing, also.

Sanford Is Defeated By Miami Hustlers In Sunday's Contest

Four Run Lead Made By East Coast Outfit In First Frame Too Much For Feds

Casares And Pug Allen Hit Homers

Dunbar Poles Double In Ninth And Comes Home On An Error

MIAMI, Fla., August 1st, (Special to Herald.) Henry Myers batted Lefty Meyers and Lee Withrow here yesterday and the Hustlers took the last game of the series from the Celery Feds by a 5 to 3 count. This victory put the Miami club on top and gave it an even break in the four game series. Lefty Meyers started the game for the Celery Feds but was touched for three hits which coupled with a base on balls netted the Hustlers two runs. Withrow was sent in and he was greeted with two more base knocks which tallied two more runs. Miami scored again in the fifth when Casares slugged one of Withrow's fast balls over the right field fence.

Sanford did not score until the eighth when Pug Allen hit one over the right field wall with Meyer on base. Sanford added another in the ninth when Dunbar doubled to left and went all the way round as Bouza allowed the ball to roll through his legs.

Hoke Beazley tripped in the third with two away but was left stranded on the bags as the next grounded out. The two teams left for Sanford right after the game where they will play a three game series in the Feds' back yard.

Tagging All Bases

By International News
 There's a red light on the National League track today for the New York Giants have won six of their last seven games and apparently are headed for first place. They are only six games behind the Pirates, who now lead the Cubs by the slight margin of half a game as a result of being held idle yesterday while the Braves were winning.

Along with the Reds, who have won seven of their last nine contests, the Giants are burning up the league. The Pirates have done no better than break even in their last eight games, while the Cardinals have dropped six out of nine and the Cubs have lost four out of seven.

In the American League, the Yankees and the Senators have been playing the best ball, each winning seven of their last eight games. The astounding Red Sox have cupped six of their last eight starts.

Harris's homer with the bases loaded slaked the Giants to a 7 to 1 victory over the Cardinals yesterday. Terry also hit for the circuit.

Pitcher Elmer Rhein, who had threatened to quit the Cubs, has decided to hough off his $2,000 fine in the hope of getting a slice of that delicious world's orbit melon.

Charles Root chalked up his 18th victory and Buck Wilson whopped his 19th homer as the Cubs swamped the Phillies, 12 to 2.

The Reds held on to fifth place by splitting a double bill with Brooklyn. Cincy won the opener, 6 to 2, with Luque on the mound. In the nightcap Rube Feltzard, Brooklyn's relief pitcher, went the route and won a 3 to 2 decision over Red Lucas.

In the only game played in the American League, Washington killed the hopes of the Tigers for second money by trouncing them for the third game in succession, 7 to 2. Lucubee allowed only five hits.

"I got the idea from Florenz Ziegfeld"

Behind the scenes at the Ziegfeld Theatre
 Ulysses Grant is remarking to Flo Kennedy between acts of the Follies.

Florenz Ziegfeld's famous theatrical producer, writes:

"As the producer of 'The Ziegfeld Follies' I know full well how important it is for my stars to have clear voices at all times. Several years ago, when I first began to smoke Lucky Strikes, I noticed that my voice remained untroubled after a most strenuous time directing rehearsals. I passed this information on to my stars and now we are all agreed: Lucky Strike is a delightful smoke and most assuredly protects the voice, eliminating any coughing, which often interrupts a perfect performance."

Florenz Ziegfeld

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON—The country is slowly beginning to realize that the country is facing an unusual situation.

The eighteenth amendment is not in danger of repeal, modification of the Volstead Act is not an imminent possibility, and the voters are not about to elect a wet Congress.

But despite the reluctance of politicians in both parties to grapple with the issue, the question of prohibition enforcement and the increasing filtration of prohibition into nearly every angle of political thought and political action present an increasingly large and important subject for thought.

Even the drys admit prohibition enforcement is far from satisfactory, and the thought which immediately concerns the country for such a state of affairs and the question of what the future hold.

The ultimate danger center, from the viewpoint of the drys, is the fact that the Civil Service Commission will not be able to put the prohibition enforcement service on a new and sound basis until long after its wisdom and the money for reorganization in the commission.

Andrews Force Fades Away
 The Andrews enforcement of prohibition since the general inauguration is rapidly disintegrating. Those who were to be in the front line are being discharged from the enforcement service when it is needed under Civil Service. Some of them, perhaps, were inefficient to begin with. The rest, despite the fact that some may be able to turn onto their jobs in other lines, are in the "hot" line of men in the enforcement service. The fact that the law is so broken by the "wet" is bound to fall. The "wet" will not be content with the present situation. They will try to get a better law.

Viewpoints of the prohibition law will be even greater if the law is not enforced. The enforcement of the law will not be continued as a result of the present situation. Furthermore, it will be an unwise and expensive experiment which may require a long time to be put to rest by Andrews and the case of reorganization (former administration). What it can and will accomplish is at this moment a matter of guess work.

GREEN COVE SPRINGS—Several streets of city being paved.

WINTER HAVEN—Streets of Winter Haven will be repaved and improved.

FOR SALE: one wood range, one burner oilstove, with oven, one 2 burner gas range and other furniture cheap. 306 Magnolia Ave. Phone 206.
