City gives chamber $10K boost

By Jamie J. Anderson-Potter
Staff Writer

$35,000 donation comes amid budget cuts, job losses at City Hall

The Sanford Chamber of Commerce will receive $35,000 from the city of Sanford in the upcoming fiscal year in order to hire additional personnel.

During a budget work session Wednesday, city commissioners approved the distribution of funds - a $10,000 increase from previous years - based on a four-year plan presented by the chamber.

The decision to increase chamber funding comes after commission eliminated 17 city jobs last month in order to overcome a $1.65 million deficit in the 2003-2004 budget.

"I think they are doing a good job," said Commissioner Velma Williams. "I feel we needed to increase their funding some..."

Chamber officials had originally requested $50,000 from the city, which would have doubled the city's current contribution of $25,000. Under the proposed four-year plan, this money would be followed by additional allocations of $35,000 in 2005 and $20,000 in 2006. After 2006, the chamber would relinquish rights to request funding from the city.

Commission, however, was unable to justify doubling the funding this year, and swiftly settled on the $35,000. According to Mayor Brady Lussard, the city still wants to hold the chamber to its four-year plan and "wean the chamber from needing city funds."

"This would have given us a big jump start in becoming the biggest chamber in Seminole County," said

Angella Gordon, president and chief executive officer of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce. "We want to be a partner with the city and help it grow during this important time. We think it [the funding] is an excellent investment for the city."

"We're grateful for what the city has done - especially with their budget constraints," said Gordon. "In the perfect world, we would have received the $50,000, but this will definitely help."

According to Gordon, the sole purpose for the requested increase was to assist in hiring additional personnel, including an event direc-

Lane closures for GreeneWay

Be alert to alternating lane closures from 7 p.m. Saturday until 6 a.m. Sunday, as crews resurface and reshape lanes in both directions on State Road 417 (Central Florida GreeneWay) from State Road 80 to the Orange-Seminole county line.

Bad weather and other unforeseen circumstances could delay or prolong work.

Crews are scheduled to continue nighttime resurfacing and reshapings from 7 p.m. until 6 a.m. nightly through Friday.

The Orlando-Orange County Expressway Authority is widening State Road 417 from State Road 80 to the Orange-Seminole county line, south of Aloma Avenue, and has expanded the University Main Toll Plaza to add highway-speed, Express E-PASS lanes.

The $22.8 million project began Jan. 28, 2002, and is expected to finish by the end of July, weather permitting.

LIGHTHOUSE FOR THE LAWN

Curly Giles prefers lawn ornaments with character

Sarah Scoles

When driving past the Giles residence, something strange captures the attention of the passerby. Instead of the usual lawn gnomes or plastic flamingos, Tom and Betty Giles have a lighthouse in their front yard.

Tom, known to friends as "Curly," is a retired tugboat captain. In his prime seagoing years, he transported fuel. He traveled from Texas to Fort Lauderdale to New York, often going 300-400 miles into the ocean. Giles spent 40 years living the life of a sailor, and he enjoyed every minute of it.

In the beginning, working at sea was merely a job. However, it soon became his life.

"He just wanted to go to sea," Betty commented. Tom worked his way up the nautical ladder and progressed from the boiler room straight to the top: he became senior captain.

Although he has been retired since 1989, Curly's love of the ocean has not diminished. Since he now remains on solid ground, he always keeps a lighthouse in his yard to remind him of his days at sea.

The lighthouse, which stands about 12 feet tall, has been in the yard for years, but the Giles recently decided to reconstruct it. DeVaughn Painting, located in Sanford, is in charge of the restoration.

does not seem to mind her husband's taste in lawn decoration. "Oh, I love it," she says. Hopefully, the neighbors agree.

Battle over HPB seats on Monday agenda

By Jamie J. Anderson-Potter
Staff Writer

With the resignation of Marveen Kelly from Sanford's Historic Preservation Board (HPB) last month, the city is faced with whether to fill the vacancy or reduce the size of the volunteer board.

"It is our recommendation to the City Commission to reduce the number of board members," said Scott R. Singelton, chairman of the HPB, during a telephone interview last month. "We hope to ease this by attrition - so as a board member retires we choose not to replace them. We won't actively search out people for a reduction."

Kelly resigned from the preservation board on June 27 stating "personal reasons" as the cause.

"I treasure my years on the board and appreciate having been involved in the preservation of Sanford's valuable historic resources," she stated in her resignation letter.

Owner of senior home arrested

By Sarah Scoles
Herald Intern

A phone call to Florida Abuse Hotline shut down an assisted living facility Tuesday.

The owner/operator, Ruth Maria Soto, 58, of Vineland Road in Orlando, was arrested by Seminole County Sheriff's deputies.

Soto is accused of exploitation of an elderly/disabled adult, which is a third-degree felony, but posted $1,000 bail Wednesday afternoon for release from the Seminole County Jail.

The Eden Park retirement home, located on Eden Park Avenue in Altamonte Springs, has been in business with a valid state license for several years. However, Soto has been the owner for a little more than a year.

During this time, she allegedly used a client's funds, intended for patient care, to purchase tires for her own vehicle. In addition, Soto transferred $23,000 from the victim's retirement funds to an account she helped the 62-year-old open.

The Sheriff's Office also believes Soto used the money to purchase a John Deere riding lawn mower, worth over $2,000, and a pressure washer to maintain the Eden Park facility.

Because of the victim's age and mental condition, the offense is punishable by up to five years in prison.

"The resident doesn't have the mental capacity to understand what he was doing," sheriff spokesman Steve Olson said.

Five other residents, four of which lack the capacity to care for themselves, were transferred to other facilities.

Over the past year, the home has been cited numerous times by state inspectors. Offenses include improper storage of medication, improper dispensing of medication and inadequate staff training. The Florida Agency for Health Care Administration will decide whether the facility will keep its license to operate.

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Vile vandalism: Five weeks. That's how long it took for some misguided "artists" to deface the new Vigilante Memorial Park dedicated May 30 out at the airport.

Patty Mahany, vice president of the Airport Memorial Committee which created the park, said Friday that vandals had left their mark during the past week. She doesn't think the damage will be too difficult to clean up. Any vandalism is a slap in the face to those who worked so hard in

by Dan Ping

Around the Clock
building a beautiful park. It also doesn't say much for the respect these petty Picassos have for the men and women the park is intended to remember. Because of this incident, Mahany said the committee may erect a fence to prevent future vandalism. That's a shame because a fence would restrict access to those who would like to visit the park. It also means the committee has to spend money and security measures when those funds could be better spent on future amenities.

In the 'hood II: At age 36 I shouldn't have to worry about memory loss, but increasingly I've become more forgetful than Mr. Magoo. Some have hinted that my Tennessee roots combined with my University of Alabama degree may be to blame (Tennessee and Alabama ranking behind Florida in poor education systems).

Whatever the case, in my column last week about Mayfair being the Sanford's "power neighborhood," I left Art Woodruff's name off the list. The District 1 commissioner lives within a block of mayor Brady Lessard, new city manager Al Grieshaber, planning and zoning commissioner Mike Skat and police chief Brian Teoley. With that type of home owner's list, I'd suspect that any Mayfair neighborhood function must first be cleared through the city attorney so the state's Sunshine Law isn't violated.

Someone else will have to cover those events, however. I'm too busy trying to remember where I put my dictionary.

Best of the best: In today's newspaper readers will find a ballot for The Seminole Herald's first ever Best of Seminole Readers' Choice Awards. With nearly 100 categories, readers will be able to nominate their favorite businesses, from best cup of coffee to best cellular phone service. Ballots will appear in the Herald for the next several weeks and the winners will be announced at the end of August. Pick up a ballot and vote for the best of the best.

Power play: The self-ordained lords of the historic district are in the midst of a coup. It seems some members of the Historic Preservation Board (HPB) don't want Stephanie Powers to serve on their board.

Not only did HPB recommend to the city commission that Powers be removed from the board, the committee is also recommending that the number of board members be reduced. Kind of reminds me of Franklin Roosevelt's court-packing plan, only in reverse.

Powers has a relationship with developer Rami Yosefian, one of the HPB crowd's least favorite people. She also wrote a letter criticizing her colleagues. "They run on emotion, ego and they do not conduct themselves professionally," Powers wrote. "They do not consider anyone's feelings, investment or time." From my discussions with many who have gone before they HPB, that's the general perception of some applicants.

Powers failed to mention another complaint by applicants. On more than one occasion, HPB has turned an applicant down for a proposed improvement and then a board member has directed the applicant to a friend's business who can do the work to HPB's standards.

Nice work if you can get it, I suppose.

If you've got it, flute it

Marching to the beat of a different drummer, or maybe no drummer at all, Flutist Sarah Scoles enjoys marching and playing with the Greater Geneva Grande Award marching band during Geneva's July 4th celebration parade. The band formed on short notice, and played admirably for having only minimal practice. Sarah is a summer intern at the Seminole Herald and is a Geneva resident.

Book chronicles Bookertown history

Local historian Charlie Carlson, left, and Bookertown resident Charlie Morgan review "Bookertown: A Journey to the Past." The two men wrote the book to chronicle the history of Bookertown, a black neighborhood that grew into an active community near the community of Lake Monroe. The book is a companion to "The History of Lake Monroe," written by Carlson and Christine Kinlaw-Best. Carlson's and Morgan's book provides memories, humorous tales and folklore provided by Bookertown residents. It also contains previously unpublished photographs. Copies of the book can be purchased for $6 at the Sanford Museum and the Museum of Seminole County History. They can also be purchased by calling Morgan at 407-321-4270.

tremendous to know you can make a positive difference in a community. I'm gratified to be able to do my part to make our communities safer," Hastings said.

Hastings, 47, heads the Repeat Offender Division in Wolfinger's Seminole County office where he has been the division chief for the past 13 years. He is one of the most successful prosecutors on Wolfinger's staff, with a 95 percent trial conviction rate for the past 10 years.

His record with murder cases is even more impressive. Of the 21 defendants charged with first-degree murder to which he has been assigned, six have been found guilty at trial and 15 have entered guilty pleas, making for a 100 percent conviction rate.

"Despite his incredible record as a prosecutor in the courtroom, it's not just his outstanding trial record that Tom is being recognized for. It is his combination of integrity, community service, and dedication to excellence in everything he does that has brought him this honor," said Wolfinger, adding that all the while, Hastings remains a humble public servant.

The Gene Berry Award is given annually to a Florida prosecutor for "outstanding prosecutorial service" in pursuit of justice. The award is presented in honor of Assistant State Attorney Eugene Berry who, in 1982, was mortally shot by the wife of a man Gene sent to prison on drug charges.

A plaque bearing the names of the yearly recipients hangs in the governor's office. Since 1989, Hastings, working with Lake Brantley High School, has spearheaded a mentoring program that leads students through a study of the judicial system, culminating with a mock trial.

Coincidentally, in 2001 then state Education Commissioner Charlie Crist gave Hastings a plaque recognizing his contributions to education in Seminole County. This week, Crist who is now the state's Attorney General, was in on the presentation. Additionally, in 1999 Hastings received the Thomas E. Whigham Award from the Seminole County Bar in recognition of his community service and professionalism. In 1989, he was appointed an honorary Sanford Police Officer and in 1996 the Seminole Bar recognized him for his pro bono work.

Hastings prosecuted Michael Reynolds in May for the triple murder of a mother, father and 11-year-old daughter, receiving a unanimous jury recommendation for death. Just before that trial, he led the prosecution of three armed men who robbed the Lake Mary AmSouth Bank, all of whom were found guilty and sentenced to life in prison.

"What impresses me the most about Tom is his character, his reputation among his peers and others in the community for integrity, and his trustworthiness. The defense bar has a high respect for him and the defendants scheduled to face him in the courtroom fear his tenacity and ability," Wolfinger said.

Hastings himself is a victim—of sorts. He was the intended victim of a murder-for-hire plot late last year. The defendant in that case is currently pending trial.

"Tom is a true professional and well deserving of this award. The public is in good hands thanks to prosecutors like Tom Hastings," said Wolfinger.

They're out to get you Publication fools readers into purchasing subscription

I received a magazine in the mail this week - it was a cooking publication. With it was a nice and friendly letter thanking me for ordering it, and telling me this would be the first issue in my subscription. On the back was a "special offer." If I would increase my subscription from one to two years and pay in advance, I could save approximately 14 cents.

Of course they wanted me to send in at least the first year's subscription payment immediately whether or not I wanted that second year. They even supplied me with an addressed envelope. Of course I would have to supply the stamp - they weren't that generous.

There was also a statement included that this publication does not accept advertisement, that it is strictly published through the generosity of subscribers like me.

No advertisements? There were no ads as appear in other publications, but each article certainly had its share of commercial products included.

Don't tell me these product names were put in these stories out of the kindness of that publisher's heart.

There were also a number of articles which were not fully complete - suggesting the reader send in a subscription to another publication for further information.

How did they get my name and address? I found references to another publication which I do subscribe to, so it must be from their mailing list.

My point here is - how many unsuspecting people are going to get this letter and automatically send in a year's subscription - possibly two year's worth if they want to save that 14 cents. They are clearly being duped - lied to - scammed - robbed of their money.

Even if that magazine they sent me would help me win the lottery, I wouldn't subscribe to it. Yes, I sent their letter requesting immediate payment back to them - and you can bet I didn't send any payment. What I did send, I'll leave to your imagination.

But WATCH IT folks. This, no doubt, isn't the only publisher out there trying to fool you into thinking someone ordered this subscription.

Before you send anyone even one single penny - check what it is for - and if you are not certain, ask someone else to advise you. It's a dog-eat-dog world out there and this is one dog you don't need.

Equal treatment for Florida taxpayers

By Rep. Tom Feeney (R-Oviedo)

While toting up your federal income deductions, you'll notice that state and local income taxes are deductible. But that's worthless information since Florida - like seven other states - shuns a state income tax.

Instead, we rely on a sales tax to fund our state government. So you search in vain for a similar deduction for your sales tax burden. "What gives?" you wonder, "After all a tax is a tax."

Good question! Why don't you ask your two U.S. senators?

Academics and politicians debate about whether a tax system should tax a person's income through an income tax or consumption through a sales tax. If you're interested in economic growth and job creation, you should favor a consumption tax that rewards savings and investment.

America has 50 experiments in this tax debate as each state designs its tax system. Forty-two states impose a state income tax - some incredibly onerous and prompting many to flee to Florida. Eight bastions of sanity refuse to impose an income tax. Florida's choice seems well-grounded. We lead the nation in job creation during this time of uncertain economic growth.

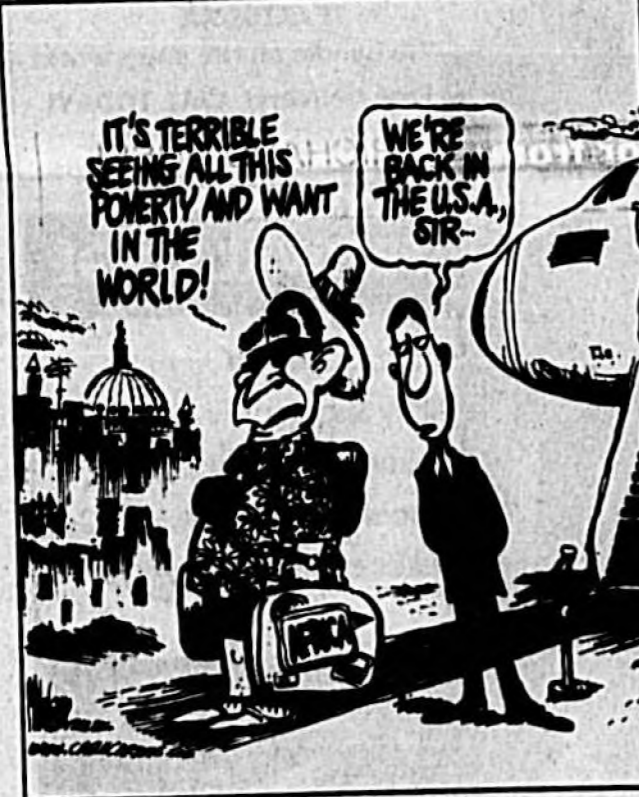

The federal government should respect this decision and allow you to deduct your share of Florida's sales tax - again, a tax is a tax. But you can't deduct your state tax burden while your brother-in-law living in New York can.

As a freshman congressman, I'm working to remove this fundamental disparity that unfairly penalizes Floridians. I've teamed up with 75 other republican and democrat colleagues to cosponsor H.R. 720, the Sales Tax Equity Act of 2003, which would restore a sales tax deduction to federal taxpayers residing in states without a state income tax. And I, along with 15 other Florida congressmen, have urged Florida House Speaker Byrd and Florida Senate President King to pass a resolution urging congress to act now.

Restoring this needed fairness in state tax deductibility would relieve stress on Florida family budgets. A family of four making $55,000 would gain an additional $1081 deduction resulting in over $300 of tax savings. A single mother with one child and a $35,000 income could deduct an additional $641.

Currently, members of the U.S. Senate and House are meeting in a conference committee to settle differences in proposed family tax relief. Senators negotiating this issue are waiting for a signal from Florida's two senators. But so far, senators Graham and Nelson are still studying the issue. I've taken a stand. Your voice can help educate them.

Blacks must speak out against Mbeki's intransigence on AIDS

South Africa, a success by standards of the continent, nevertheless struggles with one of the world's largest populations of people infected with HIV - 4.7 million, or nearly a tenth of its population. If not curbed, the disease will wreck the country's chances for prosperity and stability.

During his visit this week, President Bush highlighted his pledge of $15 billion over five years to fight the disease. But it will take more than money to beat the epidemic in South Africa. It will also require exorcising the demons of denial that have overwhelmed common sense in President Thabo Mbeki.

For reasons that remain unfathomable, Mbeki, a Western-educated economist, refuses to fight the disease vigorously. Instead, over the years, he has expressed doubt that HIV causes AIDS, cast aspersions on Western medical practices, courted know-nothings who claim AIDS doesn't exist, and castigated whites for allegedly spreading false stereotypes about South Africans' sexual practices.

Just a few years ago, Mbeki's curious refusal to face medical facts was little more than a distraction - fodder for gossip among global public health advocates and Africa experts. Since the price of AIDS medicines was then exorbitant, there was little chance South Africa could have afforded to treat its infected population, anyway.

But that has changed. Under intense international pressure, major pharmaceutical companies have essentially allowed their patents to be copied by generic manufacturers, making AIDS drugs available in impoverished countries at a fraction of the cost here. One generic manufacturer offers anti-retrovirals for about 55 cents a day. With help from Western donors, including the United States, South Africa could provide drugs to most of its HIV patients.

Inexplicably, Mbeki continues to dawdle, allowing bureaucratic hurdles to interfere with widespread dissemination of AIDS drugs. Last year, Mbeki's Cabinet finally lifted a ban on giving anti-retrovirals to rape victims and pledged to provide the drugs to pregnant women, which would curb transmission from mother to child. But he has done little to provide drugs to others infected with HIV.

Inside the country, Mbeki's intransigence has prompted protests and campaigns of civil disobedience. Even Nelson Mandela has chided Mbeki for his irresponsible approach to AIDS.

Some AIDS activists were disappointed that Bush didn't publicly criticize Mbeki's reluctance to confront the epidemic.

"There's no evidence that President Bush's visit advanced the South African government's thinking," Mark Heywood, an official of Treatment Action Campaign, a prominent anti-AIDS group, told The New York Times. "We are still stuck with a government policy that is at odds with medical thinking universally."

But this is a lobbying effort more appropriately taken up by black American activists, groups such as TransAfrica Forum and Africa Action. Those organizations, among others, were prominent in the battle to end apartheid, so they have credibility on issues affecting South Africa. They ought to denounce Mbeki's willfully dangerous intransigence.

By African standards, South Africa has a relatively well-developed infrastructure. Its government could deliver AIDS medications throughout the country, even to rural areas. And a broadcast network of radio and television could readily transmit a broad public health campaign encouraging condom use. The country ought to lead the fight against AIDS in Africa.

Instead, an estimated 600 South Africans die of AIDS every day. If their deaths were caused by a racist white government, black Americans would be marching in the streets of Washington, D.C., demanding action. Instead, Mbeki's foolishness has drawn only muted criticism.

In his refusal to use the tools at hand to rescue his people, Mbeki's behavior is tantamount to genocide. It's time for black American activists to say so.

Sending troops to Liberia could be a bridge too far

By Dick Morris

The Bush administration is showing signs of all of the vices of successful foreign policies - arrogance, overreaching, elitism, and messianic zeal - in its decision to enter the Liberian quagmire.

Americans will gladly support their president when he attacks nations that sponsor or harbor terrorists. We will even back him in a preemptive war against a country that might attack us. But when we start sending troops around the world to stabilize nations that, if left to disintegrate, might become breeding grounds for terror, it's a step too far for most Americans.

Why are we suddenly sending troops to Africa?

Is it because President Bush is touring the continent and wants to have something to offer the leaders he meets?

Is it in response to importuning from U.N. General Secretary Kofi Annan or other world leaders who are asking for a quid-pro-quo for sending troops to Iraq?

Does the desire to satisfy global public opinion play a role?

Or do his nostrils smell oil in West Africa?

None of the above is justification for sending American troops to yet another foreign venue. Bush will need all the patience we can extend to him as he asks us to put up with troops dying in Iraq while other units fight in Afghanistan, the Philippines and other places where terrorism threatens. It is foolish to use up our tolerance with an adventure in Liberia.

Nor should Bush put his trust in limitations on the mission in Liberia. One good fire-fight and the United States is committed. Remember the reply of French Marshal Foch to the British general who asked, in 1914, what was the minimum British military contribution that could effectively assist France at the start of World War I.

"One British soldier," he is reputed to have answered.

"And we will see to it that he is killed." Africa is a quagmire if ever there was one. The civil wars there are eternal and unending.

They have no start and no finish. The cycles of revenge make any assessment of right and wrong, good or evil, almost naive.

It is not our fight, and we are unwise to, in the words of John Quincy Adams, "go abroad in search of dragons to destroy."

Besides, the U.S. Army is not the only force in the world. We should let the African nations and European powers take the lead while we husband our resources to fight in heavy combat or where our presence alone can do the trick.

The growing potential of West Africa as a source of oil should not tempt us into military action. We must make sure never to do what the left accuses us of doing each day - trading blood for oil. The sudden interest in this oil-producing region might leave many skeptical and troubled.

Bush must remember that a large minority of Americans, on both the left and right, are isolationists. In a survey for President Clinton, I found the exact percentage to be upwards of 35, evenly divided between the two parties.

Those America-firsters have suspended their criticism of Bush (at least those on the right) because of the unique circumstances of the Sept. 11 attacks and the global threat that terrorism represents. But it is unwise to tempt them into political alienation.

Idealism that makes no distinction between areas where our national interest lies and those from which it is remote does no good for America. The weariness of the post-Vietnam, post-Korea, post-Vietnam era is never far from the national mood.

Bush will need Americans to stay focused and alert as we face the common danger of terror and work together in far flung corners of the globe to counter it.

He does himself and his cause no service by asking us to invest in conflicts remote from our vital interests and far from our national mission.

Dick Morris was an adviser to Bill Clinton for 20 years.

HPB

The City Commission will interview Sanford-resident A. Bart Peterson for the position during a work session Monday afternoon.

Peterson is a realtor with St. Johns Realty, a past president of the Elks and a member of the board of directors for Sanford Main Street.

"I want to help and participate in the growth of downtown Sanford," Peterson stated in his application.

Linda Daniels, Julie

Overstreet and Eric Zendell have also applied for the position.

Commission could vote, however, to terminate Kelly's position as suggested by the HPB. According to Singelsen, the board feels the reduction in members will ensure that its monthly meetings run more efficiently.

The members also say they will remain dedicated to finding volunteers with varying viewpoints to serve on the board.

The city will also decide Monday whether to uphold the recommendation of the HPB to remove board member Stephanie Powers. During its June meeting, the HPB voted 7-1 to recommend the City Commission remove Powers from the board.

In an April letter to her fellow HPB members, Powers wrote, "I am not impressed with the Historic Preservation Board members. They run on emotion, ego and they do not conduct themselves professionally. They do not consider anyone's feelings, investment or time. When the people [applicants] leave, they go away frustrated."

At press time, Antonia Gerli, Sanford staff liaison to the HPB, was unavailable for comment regarding the recommendation to remove Powers from the board.

In other news, Commission will:

- Hold the first of two readings to replace the existing HPB Schedule S with a revised version.

- Decide which health insurance, group life insurance and dental insurance coverage best meets the needs of city employees and falls within the guidelines of the 2003-2004 budget constraints.

- Review an offer received regarding the purchase of property located at 2313 S. Sanford Ave. The cost for the parcel running east-west along the north side of 2313 S. Sanford Ave. would be $7,500.

COLLEGES

A total of 2,479 students at Illinois State University completed requirements for the bachelor's degree at the end of the Spring 2003 semester.

Illinois State University is the oldest public university in Illinois. Local resident Heather Renee Davis of Sanford received a bachelor's of science degree.

Curry College's Dean of Academic Affairs, David Fedo, announced that Elizabeth Allison Fountain of Heathrow attained membership to the college's Dean's List for the Spring 2003 term.

"These students have really made a commitment to their learning, and we are proud of each and every one of them," said Fedo.

To qualify for the Dean's List, a full-time student must carry 12 or more credits, earn a 3.30 GPA and have no grade lower than a "C" for the semester.

tor, as well as a membership director.

"We need additional staffing because of the growth of the city," said Gordon. "Sanford is the ninth fastest growing city [in Florida], which is a real reflection of how many people come into the chamber. We want to be able to staff our office appropriately.

"This won't give us all the employees we need right now," she added. "It will be a start, though, and we are looking at other areas for money."

According to Kevin L.

Smith, Sanford's finance director, since the budget was balanced at the time Commission approved the funding, the extra $10,000 has to be reallocated from another source. In this case, the funds will be shifted from a contractual service line item in the city manager's budget worth $29,200, pending approval of interim city manager Andrew Van Gaale.

"Question as to what the contractual service item was for led to this decision," said Smith. "Commission couldn't find any justification for it, so we decided not to leave it in the budget, which freed up $29,200."

According to Smith, Commission will wait until the end of the year to determine where the remaining $19,200 will be used. It is possible it will be allocated for city employee Christmas bonuses.

The Way We Were — The WWII years in Sanford

This is a continuation of events in Sanford during World War II, particularly during April-June, 1943. The information is taken from Peter Schaal's book "Sanford and the World War II Years."

War Activities at Home
Banker J.L. Ingley was named chairman of the upcoming War Loan Drive. Contractor R.A. Dyaon won the contract for the new

USO Recreation Building. Peter Schaal announced that his new SHS football team MVP would be awarded on graduation day, but no trophy would be given due to war restrictions on metal.

Kiwanians cooperated on a huge letter to be mailed to POW Dr. Orville Berka.

Puller Warren was speaker at the Flag Day program held at the bandshell. Mrs. Carrie Brown was presented with a four-star pin.

Legion Commander New Smith was speaker at the Confederate Memorial Day ceremony at Lakeview Cemetery, where gold pins were presented to Mrs. R.D. Baker, Sr. (5 in service) and Mrs. J.N. Robson (3). Flags and flowers were placed on the graves of 53 Confederate veterans' graves. They were

Colonel B.R. Whitner, Major Joe Whittier, Captain W.A. Pitts, Captain R.H. Marks, Otis Tarver, D.B. Manley, Judge W.A. Cocks, Judge L.G. Stringfellow, Dr. D.J. McRae, Dr. N. Dev Howard, Dr. R.H. Fristoe, Dr. C.A. Adams, Dr. J.F. Smith, Dr. A.K. Phillips, Dr. A.C. Caldwell, Dr. J.J. Harris, Sidney Barnhart, A.J. Vaughan, M.J. Holmes, J.D. Hawkins, E.H. Laling, Ellison White, J.C. Calhoun, E.W. Peabody, J.P. Scarslett, J.F. Early, Ben Lord, C.G. Evans, W.N. Leffler, C.H. Leffler, G.W. Williams, Buck Thrasher, Richard Woodbridge, D.A. Cassidy, M.J. Doyle, J.M. Rolan, W.R. Rowan, J.M. Parham, James Prince, A.C. Martin, John Ingraham, Miles Taner, Frank Norris, John M. Lord, W.F. Mobley, T.J. Wilson, W.A. Buchanan, H.H. Sturgis, J.S. Dinkle, J.M. Lee, R.W. Lawton Lewis Oglesby, Algernon Speer and Arthur Speer.

Business News
The Sanford Herald, citing a shortage of paper, ink and manpower, plus oppressive taxes, would cease publication of Tuesday and Thursday issues.

Fletcher Bolla purchased the Sanford Paint and Glass Co. from G.U. Stuart, retaining John Senkarik as plant foreman.

With an honorable discharge, Jack Hall returned to his Yowells position from Camp Shelby.

Moving from the Meisch Building it had occupied since 1928, J.C. Penney Co. opened an enlarged store at 104 East First Street.

Mrs. Frank L. Miller opened a dining room on the Orlando Highway.

Southern Bell delivered 2000 new telephone directories.

John King became Florida Hotel manager with Sam Kenis as restaurant manager.

Chase and Co. donated $20,000 to the city for future projects, with W.A. Leffler stipulating that not over $6,000 could be used for any one project.

CLASSIC RACE

The Great Race stops in Lake Mary

More than 100 vintage cars, including this 1916 Hudson Indy Speedster from Tennessee, raced through Lake Mary to the finish line in Daytona as part of The Great Race 2003. This was the first time in the history of the annual race that the racers have stopped in Lake Mary. The 4,000-mile race began June 21 in Livonia, Mich., and concluded in Daytona on July 5. The Great Race is the country's oldest and richest vintage automobile race featuring a purse of $250,000 and a $3 million combined value of the automobiles. Any car, truck or motorcycle at least 48 years old can be entered into the race. For more information, go to www.greatrace.com. Above: A 1936 Buick owned by Ron Stiles of Madison, Wis.

My brother's keeper? You bet!

Welcome to Stetson's Corner, where weekly we hope to share a bit of what is good about the town of Geneva. This column is dedicated to a man who did the same — Deputy Sheriff Gene "Stetson" Gregory, who was killed in the line of duty July 8, 1998 in the place he was sworn to protect, but which could not protect him. Geneva will never be the same because of Deputy Gregory...it will be better.

Daria Kinney Scoles

In the Biblical story of two brothers ... Cain, (who had just killed Abel) when asked as to the whereabouts of his sibling, replied, "Am I my brother's keeper?" These words have lasted through the ages, as has the idea of benevolence toward all people, as the way things should be.

These ideals are certainly at work here in eastern Seminole County—as illustrated by the following opportunities for area 'families' to help one another in a good cause...

A community benefit for auto accident victims Debbie

Landon and David Norman will be held Saturday, July 12 at the Geneva Inn on East S.R. 46 from noon until the last chicken wing disappears. The day will include an auction, bake sale, horseshoe and dart tournaments, 25-cent chicken wings, raffles, and 50/50 drawings. Children's games (with prizes) will take place from noon until 3:00 p.m. with face painting available as well. There will be a barbeque dinner at 6:00 p.m. and live music by 'Second Chance Band' and 'Double Shot.'

Tournaments will be held at 3:00 p.m. and the auction begins at 4:00 p.m. Auction items include plants, cookware, truck accessories, home décor and more.

The Geneva Inn is located four miles east of the Geneva stoplight (C.R. 426 & S.R. 46) and the public is invited to attend, as well as to donate baked goods and auction items. For more information contact Terri at 407-349-9685 and leave a message; or email my_tyme@netzero.net with the subject line Benefit.

Geneva Elementary mom Jovanna Nelson has put out the all-call for people who might be interested in helping out with a good cause near to her family's heart.

I met Jovanna this past school year as part of the "Swish" team, and was impressed with her continuous efforts in dealing with the challenges of raising a young child with Cystic Fibrosis. Not only does she deal with the day-to-day stuff, she operates a business to benefit CF, and gets involved in efforts such as the 2003 Cystic Fibrosis Foundation's (CFF) Sports Challenge.

This is a fun-filled half-day of corporations competing in a series of five mini-Olympic style events, followed by an awards ceremony and post-event party.

Students, parents attend Goldsboro Pre-K Camp

Goldsboro Elementary Magnet School held its Pre-kindergarten Camp for the students and parents June 6-26, 2003.

Principal Sherry O'Leary and Assistant Principal Patrice Still extended a hearty welcome to the attendees.

Family liaison Delora Campbell and Dividend Kim Tupper led the tour of the campus. Laura Host spoke on the curriculum.

The lecture "Experience the World of Technology through the Eyes of a Child" was given by Erik Rayner and Debbie Rivera, Technology Specialist at Goldsboro.

Make-N-Take was taught by Delora Campbell and Mary Lynntess.

The second week of training for parents began a full week of family, parental, home and student training by Karyn Lindsay, Training and Project Coordinator of the Florida Partnership for Family Involvement in Education, Parental Attitude, Home Environment, FCAT for Families and Guided Reading. Student/Parent Culminating Celebration was held in the multi-purpose room with Jane Lane, Dividend program manager, in charge.

Another successful Pre-kindergarten Camp for students and parents who are enrolled at Goldsboro Elementary Magnet School.

The women of Evergreen Temple No. 321 Order of Elks of the World, located in Sanford, continues to be active in the state IBPOE.

PGDR Joyce J. Cummings serves as directress of the State Community Department. A card shower was shared with members unable to attend the state convention.

PGDR Azalean J. Jenkins, Kinder Club Department Directress of the LAD's Kindergarten Department, purchased a student's first pair of shoes.

LDR Ruby Smith, Teen Pregnancy Department Directress, adopted a twelfth-grade student, who was reminded that God is a forgiving God. The student graduated with a GPA of 4.0 and went on to complete her life goals.

PGDR Linda Stuart, Directress of the Food Bank, donated a 2003 gift card to a special family, a way of saying to families they are a part of our sisterly love.

The 7th Convention Department under Directress PGDR Edwina "Tina" Smith shared celebrations of long remembrance, of moments of fraternal excellency under the administration of State Daughter Lor Alyce Dean of Royal Palm Temple No. 890 at her inaugural convention.

Tickets are available to attend "Our Story," an original play aimed at addressing the myths about HIV/AIDS in the African-American community. People of all ages are invited to attend this play.

No Longer Bound, Inc., located at 511 West South Street Suite 11, Orlando, 407-650-1696, has FREE tickets.

"Our Story" is scheduled in Orlando July 18, 19 and 20, 2003 at the Lowndes Shakespeare Center, 812 East Rollins Street. Shows are Friday, July 18 at 8:00 p.m., Saturday, July 19 at 5:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. and Sunday, July 20 at 5:00 p.m.

This play will increase awareness of HIV/AIDS throughout Sanford and Central Florida and educate everyone on the effects this disease has had on the black community.

From the moment scientists identified HIV/AIDS, society has responded with FEAR, denial and discrimination, which are compounded when you consider the factors of race, class and economics. It goes without saying that HIV and AIDS are as much about social phenomena as they are about biological and medical concerns. For further information call Fannie Spivey, Executive Director, at 407-650-1696, Mount Pleasant No Longer Bound, Inc.

The 79th anniversary celebration of Celery City Lodge 542 and the 78th anniversary celebration of Evergreen Temple 321 of the Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World will be observed July 18-20, 2003.

Friday, July 18: 7:00-11:30 p.m.—Dinner cruise RiverShip Romance, 9:00 p.m.-2:00 a.m.—Disco at the Lodge.

Saturday, July 19: 10:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.—Family Fun Day picnic and free food at the Lodge, 9:00 p.m.-2:00 a.m.—Summer Explosion Dance at the Lodge, casual dress Sunday, July 20, 11:00 a.m.—Worship service will be held at Allen AME Church, Rev. Valarie J. Henry, pastor. Brunch at the Lodge after service. Willie Hooks, Jr. Exalted Ruler. Retha Baker, Daughter Ruler.

Seminole County Schools
G.E. McKay resigned as of June 30 after 23 years of service in the county school system. At present he was principal of Seminole High.

L.E. Jordan was named school board chairman succeeding R.T. Williams. Coach Leonard McClus resigned as coach at SHS for a similar position at Robert E. Lee High School in Jacksonville.

The school board named Herman E. Morris principal of SHS and R. Earl Kipp principal of Junior High and Grammar Schools.

Seminole High graduated 63 seniors on June 7 including seven serving in the armed forces. These were Valerie Wells, Kenneth Echols, Woodrow Burnsed, Jimmie Ridge, Russell Cleland, Melvyn Dekle and Andrew Hasty.

Junior Billy Fleming was named winner of the Peter Schaal Trophy.

Politics

Municipal judge Frank L. Miller resigned after seven years, claiming a controversy as to whether a layman was qualified to act as a judge. His salary had been $55 per month. He commented that in handling over 10,000 cases, only one had been reversed.

On April 26, Atty. J.G. Sharon, county judge 1925-36, was unanimously chosen to succeed Miller as municipal judge.

The city commission named Arthur Yowell, S.G. Gray, W.A. Leffler, R.L. Cornell and J.L. Ingley to a new Public Projects Board.

The city commission authorized a 30-year lease to the United States on the new USO building.

Organizations

The Chamber of Commerce imported former secretary Karl Lehman to stage a one-day drive for $50,000. The drive was held later in the month and set a new record with 174 new members and 454 renewals.

Miscellaneous

Funeral home owner William C. Erickson, 42, died here April 26. He had been born here July 21, 1895.

A.L. Betts, A.F. Collum and Joe Gonzalez, Sanford Atlantic Bank employees, were indicted for allegedly embezzling $35,000.

First Christian Church became debt free as officials. Led by Rev. V.L. Grantham, they burned the mortgage on May 8. The church had been organized September 30, 1926 with Rev. F.M. Marler as its first pastor.

Services were held in the Legion Hut until the new church was built on Sanford Avenue in 1929. Succeeding Rev. Marler were Revs. O.S. Brooks, H.T. Bolton, O.H. Greenwall, Ed Rudicell, H.W. Forbes, A.V. Isenburt, T.W. Dance, C.E. Elmore and V.L. Grantham.

Charter members included the Raymond Wilsons, Mrs. Laura F. Gallaway, the R.G. Foxes, Mrs. E. McCall, J.J. Cates, R.L. Hill, the H.J. Clauses, William McKim, Mrs. R.A. Terheun, W.V. Wheeler, B.F. Borden, W.S. Robbins, Mrs. S.C. Brown, Mrs. J.R. Richards and the Misses Cora Hilly, Kathryn Wilkey and Bonnie Byrd.

Men Killed in the Line of Duty

I have discovered a few more Seminole County men who were killed in the line of duty while serving our country. The list was printed June 1.

In the 1945 Salmagundi there is a list of former SHS students who gave their lives during World War II. Those not previously mentioned are James C. Arant, W. Edwin Brana, Sam R. Dighton, Wilbur W. Tullis and Tillman B. Whitmore.

I received calls from readers about three men who were killed in Vietnam. Michael Johnson from Geneva was a former SHS student of Bob Schmidt who called me.

The other two were stationed at SNAS, and their widows contacted me. These are Captain E.A. "Tommy" Stamm and Cdr. Edward Gold.

If you know of others, call me at 407-322-4381.

Bleier, Mercer to wed July 18

Mark and Kay Bleier and Barb Ballantyne of Appleton, Wis. are pleased to announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rachael Ann Bleier, to Bryan Evans Mercer, son of Carl and Barbara Rexroad of Henderson and Mike and Shirley Mercer of Channelview. Rachael is the granddaughter of Dutch and Roseann Bleier of Appleton, Wis. and Richard and Lucille Suttler of Hartford, Wisc. Bryan is the grandson of Helen B. and the late A.R. Harris of Henderson and John Y. and the late Juanita C. Mercer of Sanford. The future bride is a 2001 graduate of Trinity High School in Euless and is currently enrolled at the University of Wisconsin where she is seeking a degree in education. The future groom is a 1995 graduate of Henderson High School and a 2000 graduate of Ouachita Baptist University with a bachelor's degree in finance. He is currently working at Community First Credit Union as a personal banker. The couple will exchange wedding vows at 1 p.m. July 18, 2003, at the Homestead Meadows in Appleton, Wis., with Carl Rexroad officiating.

18, the event will be held this year at the University of Central Florida track and soccer field. Central Florida companies and organizations will bring 300+ participants to the Challenge, including professional men and women ranging in age from 21 to 60.

Volunteer opportunities to help now range from committee participation to team sponsorship. Committee involvement entails monthly meetings, tasks leading up to the event, and of course the big day itself.

This fundraising endeavor has been happening for seventeen years and is one of the most unique events ever to benefit the CFF and its sponsors.

In addition to raising dollars that fund medical programs and research, the Sports Challenge exploits one of the most basic marketable concepts in America today—fitness.

Furthermore, it stimulates community spirit and encourages friendly, corporate competition. Through this event, businesses, organizations and professional groups are asked to form eight ten-member coed teams to compete against each other in a variety of events.

The activities traditionally include: Basketball Shoot, Tug-of-War, Obstacle Course, Relay Race and Standing Long Jump. Points are awarded to each team based on their performance in individual events, and the winner is determined by the team with the highest point total after all the events are completed. Events are organized so that similar businesses and organizations that compete daily in the marketplace, also compete on the athletic field.

To get involved, or to contribute financially to the cause, contact Nelson at 407-977-6480 or jovan-na67@worldnet.att.net. Cystic Fibrosis is a genetic disease affecting approximately 30,000 children and adults in the United States. The mission of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is to assure the development of the means to cure and control cystic fibrosis and to improve the quality of life for those with the disease. The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is located at 1080 Woodcock Road, Suite 245, Orlando, FL 32802. Phone: (407) 896-1113.

Finally, the military men and women honored at Geneva's 4th of July parade and celebration represent the idea behind "my brother's keeper" in a special kind of way. Their names, posted at the Geneva Community Center, include: Captain Charles Canon USAF, Brian Foster USAF, Stf. Sgt. Kristine Neviasser USAF, Lt. Thomas Farrington USN, Stf. Sgt.

Daniel Hughes USA, Spec. Jeffrey Hughes USA, Spec. Stefani Hughes USA, Mathew Mikall, Caz Sydio, Wyatt Fluharty, Levi Campbell, P.O. Charles Rupe USN, Jennifer Holton, Carolyn Spicer USN, Scott McDonough, Chris Johnson, Pvt. Edward Canon USNG, Spec. Benjamin Wilde USA Res., Sgt. Brent Klaiber USA.

And while we can't really get involved in their cause, we sure can support it and them. Post these names at home and remember them often. Thanks!

We need you to tell us what you know that is good about Geneva! Please share your information, ideas and comments by calling 407-349-2140, writing to Stetson's Corner c/o The Seminole Herald via e-mail at editor@seminoleherald.com, (please put "Stetson's Corner" in the subject line), or with a fax to 407-323-9606.

SANFORD — Matt's Team and the Saints from Westview Baptist Church have once again wrapped up marvelous regular seasons and will be the favorites when the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Spring Recreational Volleyball League holds its postseason tournament this Monday night. The tournament will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Salvation Army Gymnasium on West 24th Street behind Badcock Furniture and admission is free. Many-time champion Matt's Team won their first eight games, covering the first four weeks of the regular season, before finally tasting defeat in Week 6. Matt's Team completed the regular season with a 25-3 record, but has not been perfect since Week 5, giving the Shoestrings, which has handed the champions a loss in each of the last three weeks and posted a 17-11 record, and Morrison's (0-28 in the regular season) hopes of being able to pull off the upset in the tournament. The Saints, who also won both the regular season and tournament titles in the Polar Bear League, were even more dominant in the B League.

After opening the season with a perfect 4-0 night, the champs lost a game in Week 3, then were perfect for two weeks before losing their second game in Week 6.

The Saints then closed out the regular season with two perfect weeks to finish the campaign with a 26-2 record.

Sanford Church of God finished in second place at better than .500 (15-13), while Morrison's won just

Varitek voted to All-Star team

From Staff Reports

Former Lake Brantley High School star Jason Varitek is finally an All-Star.

The Boston Red Sox catcher, now in his sixth full season in the majors, became a first-time All-Star by receiving 3,210,509 online votes in the stoppage All-Star Final Vote, sealing his selection to the American League All-Star Team for the 74th Midsummer Classic Tuesday in Chicago's U.S. Cellular Field.

The game is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. Eastern and will be televised by FOX (Channel 35 locally).

Milwaukee outfielder Geoff Jenkins was the National League selection. This will also be Jenkins' first All-Star appearance making the number 30, out of 64 on the rosters, that will be rookie All-Stars this year.

The voting took place exclusively on MLB.com and ESPN.com.

Most impressive about Varitek's victory is that he beat out two established stars in Jason Giambi and Frank Thomas. Eric Byrnes and Bengie Molina rounded out the five-man ballot.

Always highly regarded for his defensive skills, leadership and

In the above photos, Oviedo's Macey Hall (right) gets ready to catch the first pitch thrown out by UCF Softball coach Renee Luers-Gilliepie (left). In games played as of Friday morning involving local teams, the Oviedo 10-and-Under team lost to Tri-County, 4-3, and Apopka defeated Keystone, 8-5, putting Oviedo into a loser's bracket game with Keystone. Oviedo's 12-and-Under team, which advanced to the regionals as 10's last year, romped in its first game, 14-0 over Tri-County, and was scheduled to play Maxville, a 12-2 winner over Apopka. Altamonte Springs lost its opener, 10-0, to MSA and was to play Lake Area in the Loser's Bracket. In the 14's, host Oviedo advanced to the Winner's Bracket finale with a pair of crushing defeats, whipping Middleburg, 16-0, and also whitewashing Flagler, 6-0, to advance to a game with Normandy. Altamonte Springs lost its opener, 7-4, to Chieftand and was to have played Middleburg in the Loser's Bracket. No score was listed for Altamonte Springs' game in the 16-and-Unders. The tournaments will continue through Sunday at the Oviedo Sports Complex, located Southeast of Apopka on SR 428 heading toward Chuluota. Church Softball to finish tourney

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

SANFORD — And then there were four.

The City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Adult Spring Church Slowpitch Softball League will wrap up its Postseason Tournament with a tripleheader at Pinehurst Park Monday night.

What began last week as a 10-team battle between the "A" and "B" divisions is now to a four-team shootout between four "A" squads.

But the tournament has not been without its upsets.

At Zinn Beck Field, Seminole Community Church's Red team clobbered its sister team, Seminole Blue, 18-2, and then Sanford Church of Christ humbled Crossways, 21-1.

In the Quarterfinals, Seminole Red came back to eliminate top-seeded Central Baptist Church of Sanford, 24-16.

Central Baptist is a many-time champion of the Church leagues and was the regular season A Champion and favorite to win this tournament as well.

The games at Pinehurst Park also produced a surprise.

In the first round, the Knights of Columbus (All Souls Catholic) outscored the Green team from Seminole Community Church, 18-10, and Westview Baptist Church put a hurting on Grace United Methodist Church, 20-5.

The Knights of Columbus then returned to oust "B" Division champion

Celebrity Mascot Games expands to three shows

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO — The top college and professional sports mascots from across the country converge on Orlando and DeLand for the eleventh year of the Celebrity Mascot Games.

The Celebrity Mascot Games return to Central Florida, July 17-19, 2003, showcasing the comic talent of the best, brightest and funniest team mascots from the world of sports. Due to the overwhelming popularity of this charity event, a second show has been added at the TD Waterhouse Centre in Orlando.

Proceeds from the Celebrity Mascot Games benefit New Hope for Kids, an Orlando based not-for-profit organization that grants wishes to children under the age of 18 who are suffering from life-threatening illnesses. Since its inception, New Hope has granted more than 3,000 wishes, focusing on the children of Central Florida. Since the first Mascot Games in 1992, this event has raised over $200,000 for New Hope programs.

An all-star selection of more than 32 mascots is invited to participate from the NBA, NFL, NHL, Major League Baseball and NCAA. Count on seeing your favorite mascots including Stuff of the Orlando Magic, Albert Gator of the University of Florida, Knightro of the University of Central Florida, Rowdy of the Dallas Cowboys, Klaw of the Orlando Predators, Sealvester of the Orlando Seals, Captain Fear of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, Sebastian of the Miami Hurricanes and many others!

Mascots compete in zany games of skill and agility including a tricycle race, jumbo basketball, dizzy bat race, wheelbarrow race and team tug of war. They are divided into four teams and monitored by two referees and a panel of judges. Fans are given cheer cards according to their seating section, giving them the opportunity to encourage their corresponding team on to victory.

The festivities begin Thursday, July 17 with a matinee show at Orlando's TD Waterhouse Centre at 1 p.m. The mascots then take their antics to Volusia County Friday, July 18, at 1 p.m. at the Stetson University Edmunds Center in DeLand. The action then returns to the TD Waterhouse Centre, Saturday, July 19, at 7 p.m.

"This has developed into one of Central Florida's cornerstone family events," said Central Florida Sports Commission Executive Director John P. Saboor. "We are pleased to add a third show so that even more families in Central Florida can take advantage and take part in this unique event."

The Central Florida Sports Commission is a private, non-profit organization created to attract international, national and regional sporting events to Central Florida.

Tickets for all shows are $7. Tickets for the Stetson show are available at the Edmunds Center box office and tickets for the Orlando presentation of the games are available at the TD Waterhouse Centre box office. For more information regarding the 11th Annual Celebrity Mascot Games, please call the Central Florida Sports Commission at 407-648-4900 x13.

Varitek

Continued from page 11 preparation, the 6-foot-2, 220-pound switchhitter has busted out offensively this year, giving his All-Star candidacy the final push it lacked in past years.

Hitting mainly in the No. 9 spot in the loaded Red Sox lineup, Varitek has a .304 average with 15 homers and 54 RBI.

Much of his production has come in clutch situations, with his pivotal two-run double in the eighth inning Wednesday night serving as the most recent example. That hit helped bring the Sox all the way back from a 7-3 deficit en route to an 8-7 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays.

New Full Page Advertising Opportunities In The Seminole Herald

High Visibility

Starting in July our Sunday editions will feature a new reader friendly advertising product, which will become known as the "Wrap". The "Wrap" will better package our advertising inserts for our subscribers. Full-page advertising space will be made available with this product. The ad space will be very economical because the "Wrap" will be made printed once per month and inserted each Sunday. With each new monthly printing, ad copy may be changed.

Advertising Rates With a 13 Week Commitment

$300 per issue for the front page
$225 per issue for the back page
 Both rates include Process color pressive trio!

Saxon Woods, Alexandria Place and Venetian Bay - come be impressed!

Great Alexandria Place makes the most of its gorgeous Webbs River area location. Located off Rock Springs Road in Apopka, desirable schools are minutes away. New homes nestle on large lots. Florida's lush natural beauty is as close as the West Orange Bike Path or the two spring parks nearby. Venetian Bay is an impressive gated community located directly across from beautiful Lake Monro and only minutes from Sanford's Historic District. Lots of shopping and dining options are within a convenient, scenic drive! Saxon Woods is a charming neighborhood surrounded by trees and the gentle rolling hills of DeBary to the south and backing Orange City to the north. Parks, playgrounds, and superb golf courses are just around the corner. Come visit all three neighborhoods - prepare to be impressed!
