

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

Clendenin J. Ryan

NEW YORK—Ten million dollars is a lot of money (this comment is herewith officially entered in the Understatement of the Year Sweepstakes) and I don't have it. However, if my reliable sources are reliable, Clendenin J. Ryan has it.

I had a long talk with Mr. Ryan today in his 27th-floor office in a Madison Avenue building, and on the whole I thought I acquitted myself well.

I behaved very respectfully toward that $10 million, and about the only time I stepped out of line was when I gave him a short lecture on the best way to breed race horses, a dodge into which he just has invested a little of his loose cash.

Ryan is a grandson of Thomas Fortune Ryan, a name that, as with the Astors, Whitneys and Vanderbilts, still brings out psychosomatic rashes on Communists' forearms. This Ryan lives on the upper East Side in a seven-story house with his wife and four children, and despite his connections, he has been a millionaire only a little more than 10 years.

"Understand," he told me today, "that the high life wasn't foreign to me. I always ran with that crowd; the only thing was, I never had much money in my own name."

"Back in the Thirties, when I was Fiorello LaGuardia's secretary, I got along on about $8,000 a year. I'd be getting along on something like that now, if my father, who also was Clendenin Ryan, hadn't neglected his diabetes and died very suddenly."

This dark event dropped about $4,500,000 into Ryan's lap. The word is that he has more than doubled his bankroll, despite four and a half years in the Navy, from which he emerged as a commander.

I looked at this genial soul—he's 45, stocky, blue-eyed and skillful at disguising his Princeton past—and asked him what difference the $8 million had made in his way of living.

"I spend more," he said with a grin.

RYAN IS IN THE NEWS RIGHT NOW for several reasons. Obviously, he was one of the prime reasons for the surprise election of Vincent Impellitteri as mayor of New York.

Ryan announced late in the summer that he was going to run for the office himself, but later said it was just a gesture of dissatisfaction with the local leaders of both major parties. He took all the radio and television time for which he had contracted and dumped it into Impellitteri's lap. The rest, in an immortal phrase, is history.

Also, Ryan has just bought the American Mercury, once the greatest of our magazines, for a reported chicken-feed of $27,500. It is as publisher of this that he will spend most of his waking hours in the immediate future.

Although the first new issue said something about attempting to capture the Mencken-Nathan flavor that had been lost in the shuffle since Lawrence Spivak purchased the Mercury 11 years ago, it appears from the contents that it will be more of a magazine dealing with social significance and national affairs than with the world of arts and letters that intrigued Mencken.

Ryan wants no part of political office himself. He feels that the minute you do take office, you must compromise. You must hand out patronage, you must make deals.

This is something that any veteran newspaperman knows to be a certainty, but it is a little startling to find a layman realizing it. Ryan wants to be free to throw his weight around to make this a better city and country, and he thinks rightly that he can do it better behind the scenes.

NEW YORKERS BECAME SHARPLY AWARE of Ryan early in 1949 when the then Mayor William O'Dwyer announced indignantly that an employee of Ryan's had tapped his telephone wires.

This brought to a head the bitterness between the two, the previous high point having been when Ryan went down to City Hall one spring day and tacked on the door of the Hall a list of charges made five years before by a grand jury that accused O'Dwyer of having been completely negligent as Kings county district attorney.

Now, of course, O'Dwyer has fled the New York scene, while the music and mire of police corruption during his mayoralty regime is being unearthed, and Ryan is a happy man.

I tried to get Ryan to sum up his feelings about LaGuardia, after so many years' association with the stormy one, but he couldn't seem to put his finger on them. He talked about LaGuardia but only off the record.

So—Clendenin Ryan, the reformer. "What's the use of working hard, having money and property and leaving it to your children," he says. "If the country they live in is corrupt? What use indeed, Mr. Ryan?"

HAVE YOU A PUNY CHILD?

HADACOL May Relieve the Cause of Distress that is Dragging Your Child Down IF DUE TO A LACK OF VITAMINS B₁, B₂, IRON AND NIACIN

You don't want your child to lag behind, be below par, unable to keep up with the other kids. Medical science has verified the fact that a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in the system can drag children down, cause them to fall behind in their development.

HADACOL the wonderful nutritional formula has been specially compounded to overcome just such deficiencies. Results are what count and mothers are writing us about the help HADACOL has given their children who were suffering from such deficiencies.

There is just one example—a letter from Mrs. L. Johnston, Lake, Mississippi, whose son was suffering from a deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin. Mrs. Johnston writes: "About two and a half years ago, our little boy, Johnny, had a very hard time and had to stay in bed several months. We had him on all kinds of medicine and he just wouldn't get up. I heard of HADACOL and decided to try it. I could tell a great difference. He has taken fourteen bottles. He is eleven years old, weighs 92 pounds, plays on the school ball team, rides his bike, runs and plays like other boys and feels grand, sleeps all night, without waking. I can never praise HADACOL enough. I have recommended it to all my friends and got them to take it. They are thrilled over finding such a fine product."

If your child, like James Edgar, is run-down, lagging behind because of deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin, why not try HADACOL today. Many doctors recommend it for their patients, for their own health. Try one bottle, $1.50; large family or hospital size, $3.50. Tampa Sheriff Is Linked To Crime Leader

Officer Is Accused Of Being Associated With Gangster In Real Estate Deal
TAMPA, Dec. 29—(AP)—Testimony linking Hillsborough county Sheriff Hugh Culbreath and a reputed gambling syndicate leader in a $14,000 beach property purchase was presented to the U. S. Senate Crime investigating committee today.

N. W. Eaton said he and Sheriff Culbreath negotiated to buy the property at Pass-A-Grille beach and use it in partnership for a marine yard and fishing business. However, he said, when time came to close the deal Salvatore (Red) Italiano, who hasn't been found by committee subpoena servers, showed up to close the deal and take title to the land in the name of the wine distributing companies he operates.

Caton said Italiano told him he was acting entirely for Sheriff Culbreath. He said Culbreath later told him he was out of the picture and his deal must be with Italiano's wine company. Caton checked up, though, and found Culbreath was paying taxes on the property.

Senator Lester Hunt of Wyoming sitting as a one-man committee hearing, opened a two-day committee hearing. Other members of the Kefauver committee are not here.

He is easier to find now than he was two thousand years ago.

It's all right for a husband to have words with his wife—since he seldom gets to use them.

The most deceptive and misused words in the English language are "always" and "never."

The geographic center of the state of Florida, according to surveys, is the kitchen sink in the home of a Lewiston doctor.

Now is the time to start thinking about turning over the new leaf we thought about turning over last year at this time and, on second thought, decided to leave until next year.

A new machine at the University of Illinois which can shatter a person's nerves in five minutes must be looked on as not completely revolutionary.

A Berlin anti-Communist group sent Stalin, as a birthday gift, a wreath fashioned from barbed wire.

A report from Khartoum in the African Sudan, declares that some areas of the once wild Nuba Mountains are becoming so modernized that the witch doctors are falling on hard times.

There are grammatical complications, too. Many people, if asked what they thought a primitive language was like, would probably think of it as something elementary and childish, like "man see dog."

Have you got the household budget worked out yet? If not, the sooner, the better.

Methods Of Defense

The move to create a real European army is of great importance; it contains the seeds of closer ties among the nations of western Europe as well as a plan for simple military defense.

Paradoxically, both the general fact of the formation of a European army and the special fact of the inclusion of German troops may increase the danger that the army will have to fight.

This paradox emphasizes the fact that in turning to the building up of our military defenses we have begun to neglect the field of diplomacy.

We have allowed this to happen through our failure—a historic American weakness—to give adequate attention to building up fighting strength while at the same time maintaining a vigorous diplomatic program aimed at winning our ends without war.

Freer Labor Dealings

The prevailing interpretation of what a law means is usually more important than what the law says. The ruling of a trial examiner for the National Labor Relations Board that John L. Lewis did not violate the Taft-Hartley Law, in ordering the three-day work week in the coal mines in 1949, might be taken as an open invitation to unions to effect work slow-downs by limiting the work week.

The examiner said the law recognizes that in an impasse the employer has a right to go ahead and alter working conditions according to the proposals he has made. He therefore reasons that the union has the same right.

Since the middle thirties the tendency has been toward closer supervision of federal law over dealings between employer and worker. It used to be hated by employers, welcomed by workers; lately these relations frequently have been reversed.

In the main, public opinion is the maker of laws. When labor and management show an ability to keep the wheels turning without federal interference, in what they regard as their private fights, they'll probably get the chance to do it.

Making A Dictionary

Anyone wishing a job which will last a good while could try making a dictionary of a little-known language. Prof. Clement Duke of the University of Witwatersrand in South Africa has just completed a Zulu-English dictionary containing 30,000 words.

There are grammatical complications, too. Many people, if asked what they thought a primitive language was like, would probably think of it as something elementary and childish, like "man see dog."

All these difficulties have not discouraged Duke. He is now starting on an English-Zulu dictionary, which will be double the size of his first work.

Chinese Reds

The Chinese have a system similar to that used by the former Japanese army. Instead of a general organization to recruit, train and supply all combat units, each division, army and corps has its own "rear echelon."

Behind all these statistical reasons is the basic fact that a Chinese soldier lives and is equipped like a beggar compared with his American counterpart.

It was found that in North Korea the soldiers of Chinese Communist divisions appeared in the field with a supply of 12 pounds of rice and enough ammunition to keep them going for a week.

Therefore, it is misleading to compare the $4,000,000,000 reported as allocated by Red China for military expenditure with the $42,000,000,000 outlay in prospect as the current expenditure by the United States.

Back last August some officials guessed that up to then perhaps $5,000,000,000 of the military funds had been or would be spent on the Korean war.

Philosophers

which has substituted in the objective thinking on public affairs.

There is no way to deal with Communists without curtailing the rights of such of the Korean Communists, not the hundreds of thousands of Chinese Reds who have swarmed into the picture since.

Morally Communist parties are on a considerably higher plane than Fascist parties, he said.

Lamont said Communists aim to wipe out racial discrimination, inequality of the sexes and:

"In spite of the color, blunder and act of international immorality on the part of the Communist controlled North Koreans in committing aggression against South Korea, I am convinced that Communist parties are dangerous on the whole of seeing world peace established."

Ross said there is ample proof that the Communists haven't wined and dined the masses, especially against the Jews.

He said the Communist Party isn't a political party at all in the usual American sense, and that hence it isn't entitled to legal protection.

"Does any political party have the right to be totalitarian in a Democracy?" he asked. "My answer is no."

Elliott said it may be true that the Communists say they want peace, but that the real question is "Peace, at whose price?"

He said there is no question but that the "controlled core of the Communist Party" is directed

US Hospital Ship Repose Is Unsung Hero Of Bitter Korean Evacuation

By TOM STONE (For Hal Boyle)

INCHON, Korea.—(AP)—The U. S. hospital ship Repose is one of the unsung heroes of the Korean war.

The sleek, 15,000-ton vessel inched 30 miles through a dangerous shallow channel, took aboard more than 750 wounded U. N. troops and carried them out safely before they could be trapped by a surprise Chinese offensive.

The glimmering white ship with big red crosses painted on her sides is safely back at anchor off Inchon in the Yellow Sea off the west coast of Korea.

All but a handful of her patients have been treated for battle wounds and returned to their outfits or returned to Japan for recuperation.

Capt. C. H. Perdue, commanding officer of the repose, said the big rescue operation occurred between Nov. 28 and 30.

"Several days before then," he said, "we were off Inchon when we got orders to proceed up to Chinnampo. At that time our ground forces were on the offensive. The mission of the repose was to provide hospital facilities for our troops in that sector."

He said there were very few wounded.

"But while we were anchored off Chinnampo the Chinese north of Pyongyang, about 25 or 30 miles northeast of us, started their big offensive."

"In a short time wounded began pouring aboard ship. We worked around the clock for two and a half days. Our litter hoists and beds wains chairs were lifting wounded aboard without a bobble. We didn't pull out until the ship's wards were filled to the brim."

He said some United Nations vessels, including American and Australian warships, remained to shell the enemy and bring out troops and equipment. Two U. S. ships were the destroyer escorts Foss and Forest Royal.

Thirty Navy nurses attached to the repose worked around the clock caring for the wounded.

Dr. J. J. Madge Atkins of Richmond, Va., and Lt. (jg) Eileen Farrell of Boston, said, "It was hard work and long hours but we didn't mind a bit. We are here to help take care of the injured."

The most perilous part of the job, said Captain Perdue, was the task of steering the ship along the narrow winding channel without running aground.

"We couldn't use the main channel because it was heavily mined. The channel we used was only 26 feet deep in places at high tide. The repose draws 25 feet 6 inches. At times our fathometer reading was about the same as the draw. We didn't have much water under our keel."

As far as he knew his ship was the nearest ever to get through the channel.

Captain Perdue said a helicopter hovered just above the water in front of the ship looking for from Moscow. Keeping this "controlled core" around, he said, is like "nourishing a viper."

Elliott recommended no specific legislation, but he said, "If you cut the head off this snake, the tail may lash but it can't strike."

Miss Betty Jo Brock Honored At Party

Mrs. Hawkins Connelly and Miss Daphne Connelly were hostesses at a dinner Wednesday evening honoring Miss Betty Jo Brock, whose marriage to Gerald Lanning will take place tonight at 8:00 o'clock at the First Methodist Church, and her bridal attendants.

A play-aid featuring a bride and groom holding a wedding ring marked the individual places. Before a delicious three course dinner was served, the groom toasted the bride-elect.

Arrangements of pink carnations and ferns were featured in the party rooms which were opened en suite. The dining room table was laid with white linen hand-cut-work mats and centered with a lovely candleabra holding pink tapers and surrounded by pink capers and ferns. The mantle in the living room was lanked with decorative holly and red candles.

Miss Brock presented each of her attendants with a beautiful string of pearls. The hostesses' gift to the honoree was a set of silver salt and pepper shakers.

Those present at the dinner were Miss Brock, Mrs. Nancy Brock, Mrs. Ralph Lanning, Mrs. J. E. Terwilliger, Jr., Miss Margaret Dingfelder, Miss Jean Sayer and Miss Charlotte Oldham of Leesburg. Mrs. C. L. Powell assisted in serving.

Joan McTeer Weds John Richard Deal

Miss Maude Joan McTeer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McTeer of Sanford, became the bride of John Richard Deal, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Deal of St. Petersburg, in a beautiful candle-light, double ring ceremony on Wednesday at 4:00 o'clock P.M.

The wedding was solemnized in the Assembly of God Church with the Rev. K. J. Wright of St. Petersburg officiating, and the Rev. L. A. Allen of Sanford assisting.

White gladioluses and pink polychrysanthemums, arranged in white baskets on both sides of the fern banks altar, formed a beautiful background for the ceremony, along with palms and lighted tapers in cathedral candleabra.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Albert M. Bower, sister of the groom, played the piano, using a selection of "I Love You Truly," "Shilbert's Serenade," "Clair de Lune" and "To A Wild Rose." Franklin McTeer, brother of the bride, sang "God Give Me You." At the conclusion of the ceremony, while the bride and groom knelt at the altar, Mrs. Bower sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was lovely in a gown fashioned of beautiful bridal satin. The gown featured a sweet-heart neckline with basque waist. The sleeves were long and tapered into points over the hands. The full skirt fell into a full length cathedral train. The finger-tip veil of sheer white net, edged in beautiful imported lace, fell from a tulle fastener of sweetheart design. Her only ornament was a lovely gold necklace belonging to the bride's mother. She carried a small white, ribbed corsage with roses and orange blossoms, with floor length streamers garlanded with orange blossoms.

The maid of honor, Mrs. Freda Harrison, wore a bright pink satin gown, featuring a high neckline with pointed collar, with which she wore a single strand of pearls. The sleeves were long and pointed over the hands, and the lacing waist fell into a full length skirt. Her bouquet consisted of small lavender chrysanthemums.

Mrs. W. E. McTeer, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Barbara Jean Deal, sister of the groom, served as bridesmaids. Mrs. McTeer was gowned in orchid and Mrs. Deal in aqua. Both wore fashioned the same as that of the maid of honor. They also carried bouquets of lavender and yellow chrysanthemums.

Little Linda Parker, cousin of the bride, who was attired in yellow satin, preceded the bride as flower girl.

Mr. Lewis Deal, Jr., brother of the groom, served as best man. The ushers were Tommy Denham and Charles Deal of St. Petersburg.

The mother of the bride wore a gown of slate grey faille, with which she wore gloves of black nylon and a corsage of red roses.

The groom's mother was gowned in teal blue crepe edged in lace. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. L. K. Price, Mrs. Tommy Denham, Mrs. Ansel Hallingsworth, Mrs. H. J. Dehnam, Mrs. Robert Doney, Mrs. Anna Nelson, Wayne Dykes, Mrs. O. P. Ropp, Miss Lenore Ropp, all of St. Petersburg; Mrs. M. B. Clark, Miss

The group sang songs and played several games. Janet Johnson won the prize for pinning the tail on the donkey.

Texas, Oklahoma And Clemson Are Picked To Win Major Bowl Games

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Two-planet football has become so popular that the gridiron sport has two seasons during each year—the scheduled program in the fall and the bowl "season" on Jan. 1. But to prove to you that the two seasons are really one, here are the winners of the coming bowl contests.

Saturday, Dec. 30
East-West Shrine game at San Francisco; the eastern forces, with Everett Grandelius of Michigan State as the spear, are seven-point favorites to chalk up a fourth straight triumph. But the real winner will be the crippled kids in the various hospitals, who get the gate receipts after expenses have been paid. The East to win.

But the real winner will be the crippled kids in the various hospitals, who get the gate receipts after expenses have been paid. The East to win.

Monday, Jan. 1
Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Mich. over California. Chuck Ortman is completely recovered from injuries suffered during the season and it is doubtful if Les Richter, California All America guard, and his play mates can handle the healthy Wolverine.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans
Oklahoma over Kentucky. Five Oklahoma men are supposedly on the hospital list. They will get well, miraculously, by the time of kickoff and football's longest modern winning streak will move to 32 games.

Cotton Bowl at Dallas
Texas over Tennessee. With Townsend in the backfield and McFadin on the line the Texas team is at least the equal of any team in the country.

Orange Bowl at Miami
Clemson over Miami. Injuries have forced Miami Coach Andy Gustafson to find a new quarterback and he has worried about his line. Clemson will give him even greater jitter.

Gator Bowl at Jacksonville
Wyoming over Washington & Lee. Eddie Talboom, Wyoming's star back, was one of the nation's leading scorers.

Cigar Bowl at Tampa
Valparaiso over LaCrosse (Wis.). Teachers

Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.
Cincinnati over West Texas State.
Alamo Bowl at Phoenix, Ariz.
Arizona State over Temple over Miami of Ohio.

Tangerine Bowl at Orlando
Miami over Emory and Henry.
Pineapple Bowl at Honolulu
Denver over Hawaii.

Oleander Bowl at Galveston, Tex.
Wharton, Tex., Junior College over San Angelo, Tex., Junior College.

Suspension Of Six Code Violators Is Being Considered

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Possible suspension of six alleged sanity code violators, a fight relating to television, all figures to keep things stewing when the National Collegiate Athletic Association holds its annual meet in Dallas Jan. 31.

The "sanity code" is due for possible suspension for non-compliance with the sanity code, said NCAA President Hugh C. Whitely as he mapped out plans for the meet.

Willott, University of Southern California professor and faculty adviser, as well as former president of the Pacific Coast Conference, would not divulge the names of the institutions in question, nor the five others which apparently have mended their ways since they were cited for alleged violations earlier this year.

Nor would Willott give any inkling of the nature of the purported abuses. But the sanity code deals with authorization of athletes and presumably this issue is paramount in the case involved.

Whether the group includes any of the "seven sinners" named at the slamy NCAAA convention in New York last year was also left unanswered.

The six have been cited, however, and their names will come up in four discussions over possible punishment at the coming Dallas session.

There may be strong agitation for revision of the code, however, and if some of the proposals are adopted, the suspensions would be automatically ended because they went into effect.

If the revisions fail, the suspended schools are barred from voting, and even more important, NCAA members in good standing are forbidden from competing with the suspended colleges and universities, represented by the intercollegiate conference, in the NCAAA.

One of the most important to come up will both loosen and tighten the grant-in-aid policies, and so its sponsors feel the proposal will permit a student-athlete or otherwise to accept financial aid beyond that permitted for tuition and similar expenses.

California Passing Must Improve To Match Michigan's

PASADENA, CALIF., Dec. 29.—(AP)—California's Golden Bears will have to display marked development in the air over the regular season if they expect to match the potentialities of Michigan in the air on New Year's Day.

Aerial statistics for the fall campaign give the Wolverines a marked edge, and their ace thrower, tailback Chuck Ortman, gained almost as many yards by himself as all the California Chukkers combined.

Thus the news looking out of California's drill grounds at San Bernardino today was interesting, said the rumors, is still concentrating on the regular season, but the Bears intended to pass more than usual.

Coach Lynn Waldorf gave the only answer he could. "That is, we are not going to be in a position of questioning, commented. "We have been steadily improving our passing attack but it still leaves a lot to be desired. Frankly, our coaches are just average, and the same is true of our receivers."

Gold statistics show that Michigan's M. Ottmann, despite injuries which curtailed his play and expediting all season, completed 11 out of 16 attempts, had seven interceptions and gained a net 500 yards for an average of 73.6.

California kept statistics on six of their passers, and they gained a total of 646 yards.

The No. one quarterback and chief thrower is Jim Marino. The San Diego lad threw 42 times, completed 24, gained 314 yards, had three interceptions and a percentage of 57.1 completion.

Behind him was Brent Ogden, who completed nine out of 25 for 134 yards, had four interceptions and ended with a percentage of 36.0.

California observers insist that Marino is a better passer than appears on the record, but that since Waldorf has such potent ground games in Johnny Olawski, Pete Schalyoun and Jimmy Monaghan, the boys are reluctant to leave the ground.

Michigan, it would appear, is more familiar with the overhead game. The big ten champions went into the air 104 times to an even 100 for California. And incidentally, Michigan played one less game than Cal, nine to 10.

The three big fixtures remain—the famed $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap March 3, the $100,000 Santa Anita derby Feb. 24, and the $100,000 Santa Anita maturity, which this year may gross well past $200,000 in added money for the newly turned four-year-olds on Feb. 3.

The first of the nine $50,000 prizes comes up tomorrow with the California breeders champion stakes and the next one is the familiar New Year's Day feature, the San Carlos handicap.

The Calumet entry was hardly expected to be a show-in this afternoon main thing appeared to be Alfred G. Vandell's classy little filly, "Hot Rod," which many thought was as good as her stablemate, Next Move, winner of the "Three-Year-Old Filly of the Year" honors.

Special Touch, Fair Regatta and some that were rated strong contenders in the seven-furlong sprint.

Patch and Gold Capitol headline tomorrow's Breeders' Champion event, and the New Year's day fixture boasts such speedsters as Calumet, making the second start after a lengthy vacation from the Calumet's campaign. William God's Year Best, Jean Lepitron handicap March 10.

Kentucky And Bradley Lock Horns In Sugar Bowl Tourney Saturday

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Seven major college basketball teams came through with victories last night to stay on the dwindling list of unbeatens.

They're luckier than Kentucky and Bradley, two more all-winning teams. Lather Bradley or Kentucky in a pinch to lose a game by the end of the week.

Both are in the Sugar Bowl tournament opening at New Orleans tonight. Kentucky plays St. Louis and Bradley meets Syracuse. If they win as expected, the country's No. 1 and No. 2 teams will meet in the finals Saturday night.

The major unbeaten fives who won last night are: Duquesne (8-0) 60 Detroit 52; Long Island U. (7-0) 77 Western Kentucky 70; Cornell (7-0) 59 Stanford 56 (overtime); Cincinnati (6-0) 83 Xavier (Ohio) 70; Navy (5-0) 60 North Carolina 61; Wyoming (10-0) 62 Colorado A&M 40.

The University of San Francisco took a 10 to 3 lead in the first five minutes and went on to defeat Georgia Tech 61 to 47. It was an easy victory for the Dons, who led 10 to 2 at the half.

Bierman White scored 26 points in leading Long Island to victory. Arizona handed national champion CCKY its third defeat, 41-38, in the opener.

Oklahoma A&M will play Arkansas tonight for the Oklahoma City tournament title. Arkansas advanced by defeating Alabama, 65-51.

Navy dropped North Carolina in the first round of the Dixie classic at Raleigh, N. C. The favorite, North Carolina State, defeated Tulane, 29-25. Paul Horvath scored 30 points for the Tar Heels.

Missouri, No. 9 nationally in this week's Associated Press poll, is the only member of the top ten to fall. The Tigers lost to Nebraska, 64-52, in the Big Seven tourney at Kansas City. The three who won are Oklahoma A&M, No. 3; Long Island U., No. 4; and North Carolina, No. 6.

Jim Iverson of Kansas State dropped a long one just before the gun to defeat Oklahoma 65-53 in another Big Seven tourney game.

At Champion, DePaul avenged an earlier loss by taking Illinois, 64-65. Iowa came from behind in the last 10 minutes to defeat Chicago, 61-57, and Northwestern downed Marquette, 61-50.

Urbansat Siena (4-0) whipped Toledo, 71-64. Toledo trampled Midwestern College, 21-54. UCLA defeated Pittsburgh 68-41.

Korean War

A North Korean regiment attacked Allied positions near Incheon, five miles north of the 38th parallel and were driven back. The Allies lost no ground.

General MacArthur said two Red regiments seized high ground north-west of Oron, 35 miles inland from the Sea of Japan coast and about 10 miles south of Parallel 38.

Another thrust rolled Allied forces back southeast of Yonpo, 13 miles due east of Oron.

MacArthur said the Reds were active in almost all sectors across Korea's front. He reported 5,000 to 6,000 Reds were massed west of the frozen Imjin River.

Another concentration was spotted south of Yanchon, in the central sector. Korean Reds were in the forefront of the enemy action.

U. N. warplanes struck the enemy all along the front and at its supply lines from Manchuria. Observation planes spotted camouflaged vehicles in the forward areas.

MacArthur said the assault in the Yonpo area began lightly, with U. N. troops dispersing 100 Reds in the initial attack. Later, a regiment of Communists was thrown at the Allied troops and ground was lost.

A briefing officer at U. S. Eighth Army headquarters said one Allied unit was thrown back 10 miles. Another battalion lost three miles.

Air observers reported mounting evidence of Chinese and North Korean forces moving up toward the battlezone.

Ridgway, Eighth Army commander, imposed tight restrictions on pinpointing any units of his force at this time.

While the lid was a little tighter on news in Korea by the Allied command, the Red radio at Pyongyang broadcast that United Nations forces had suffered losses of men and war material in the Kangwon area on Dec. 24 and 25.

"The People's forces operating in the Kangwon province inflicted blows upon the enemy's powerful units in the area south of the 38th Parallel on Dec. 24 and 25 with immense results," the radio said.

"According to a part of the war records, our forces inflicted about 500 casualties upon the enemy forces and captured about 110 troops in the said actions."

MacArthur quoted the enemy report in his communique.

U. S. Far East Air Forces and Fifth Air Force fighters and bombers kept plugging at the Communists near the Red front. Forward-harassing enemy men and supplies were blasted in North Korea.

Speedy American jets knocked down one Russian-made MIG-15 and damaged two others to enemy counters in far northwest Korea. All American planes returned safely to their bases.

Navy planes of task force 77 went back into action for the first time since the evacuation of the east coast port of Hungnam was completed on Christmas Eve.

They destroyed 27 buildings occupied by Red troops and damaged 67 others along the 38th Parallel.

Marine Corsair pilots from an escort carrier group operating off the Korean west coast reported they destroyed more than 100 buildings with bombs, napalm and rockets.

Senator Urges

(Continued From Page One) said both that country and Communist China would be fertile fields for a "command-type program of psychological and revolutionary penetration."

He cited Chinese Nationalist reports that there are "a million guerrillas" already in combat on the Communist-controlled Chinese mainland.

President Truman was asked at his news conference yesterday if there was any consideration of aiding Nationalist forces on Formosa to wage an attack or help anti-Communist guerrillas in China.

Wiley suggested setting up a "board of revolutionary strategy" to aid guerrilla action and encourage sabotage within the Iron Curtain countries.

Such a board, he said, should include military experts on guerrilla warfare, tactics, and racial groups, and should be on the highest policy level with the State Department, Central Intelligence Agency and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Conceding that some Americans "may be squeamish" about such steps because they fear it might "provoke the Russians," Wiley told a reporter "there is nothing that will provoke Russia more than our own weakness, our poor fighting and our stupidity."

"The time is overdue for us to stop following a mere pantywaist diplomacy—a mere wordy voice of American program. Hand grenades talk louder than hand appeals."

Inside WASHINGTON

MARCH OF EVENTS

lend-lease program / Immediate Future? / Defeated Senator Myers / May Become Demo Chief

(WASHINGTON)—Thus far in the defense mobilization program, nothing similar to World War II Lend-Lease program has been considered along such lines in the immediate future.

While Washington is watching an organizational growth similar to World War II pattern of controls, production bottlenecks, manpower shortages and other problems, Lend-Lease hasn't made an official appearance.

The nearest thing to it is the present military assistance program by which the United States is supplying limited quantities of military equipment to North Atlantic Pact Allies.

World War II Lend-Lease was much broader than this however inasmuch as the program then resulted in the shipment of clothing, food, industrial equipment, ships, railroads and almost every conceivable item.

Officials concede that should a more rapid military build-up of our Allies be required, a new version of Lend-Lease may become necessary.

They point out that to mobilize the full production potential of such countries as Britain and France, it would be necessary to provide them with food, clothing, shipping and industrial equipment to stabilize their domestic economies under the burden of military output.

However, in the light of mistakes attributed to the Lend-Lease program in the last conflict, the administration and Congress is maintaining a "go-slow, wait-and-see" attitude to such a vast step.

Only in the event of a "cold war" with Russia and the Communist world would they favor reinitiating the supply program.

NEW PARTY CHIEF? Capitol chamber sources are speculating strongly that Senator Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania, defeated for re-election by Gov. James Duff, stands a good chance of becoming the next Democratic national chairman, succeeding present party chieftain William Boyle.

It is anticipated that Boyle will retire shortly because of poor health and a strong faction of Democrats in Congress is hopeful Myers will land the post.

Lucas recently conferred at the White House on a "personal matter" but refused to disclose whether he was offered a Washington job. It's possible he may wind up on a diplomatic assignment.

MARCANTONIO COMEBACK PLANS—Another "I ame duck," Vito Marcantonio, the American Labor Partyite from New York, is also reported preparing for a comeback attempt in 1952.

The left-wing independent was defeated in his House race by a coalition backed by the Republican, Democratic and Liberal parties. His opponents felt a comeback his defeat in November spelled his finish as a member of Congress inasmuch as his New York City district is expected to be reshuffled in the new redistricting.

However, Marcantonio may run for the House again in another district as neither federal or state laws require him to live in the district he represents.

Whether the defeated Congressman could re-establish his personal machine or split the opposition in a new district is problematical however.

His predecessor, the late Fiorello H. LaGuardia, represented the same district for a number of years even though he lived in another section of Manhattan.

TITO TO GET... (Continued from page one) most defense plants were located because of fear that the east coast was more subject to attack.

This area, he added, is less apt to be attacked in another war since the enemy presumably would come from a different direction, meaning the west.

He said New England suffers most economically in a period of depression and should have some of the new facilities to help it out in a postwar era.

McGrath pointed out that during the slack business period two years ago Massachusetts and Rhode Island felt it so severely that they exhausted their unemployment funds.

The guide now should be, he believes, to locate the plants in areas where they would do the most good in later years in meeting unemployment problems.

With its production machine in low gear the U. S. has still delivered more than 725,000 tons of military equipment to friendly nations abroad this year under the mutual defense aid program (MDAP).

McGrath told reporters that...

LEGAL NOTICE: The undersigned is the holder of the... (text continues with legal details)

Federal Reserve

(Continued From Page One) last night after banks had closed. Today the board called on industry for a more rapid switch-over from civilian to defense production.

The Board's money freeze means there will be less to lend to business firms, or to individuals who want to buy houses, autos, television sets, furniture, stock market securities, or anything else.

There was nothing in the order itself to raise interest rates for those who manage to get loans. Neither was there anything to prevent banks from raising those rates, although officials did not expect a rate rise.

The Board's freeze was effected by raising "reserve requirements"—the portion of deposits that member banks are required to post with Federal Reserve authorities as non-lendable reserves.

Reserve System member banks account for the great bulk of U. S. bank deposits and loans, although they constitute a minority of the nation's 15,000 banks. It is up to state banking authorities whether to apply a similar freeze to the remaining banks.

The board's crack-down—which will cut bank profits by cutting their lending capacity—amounted to conceding failure for hard efforts to get banks to hold down lending voluntarily.

The board took some important risks in ordering the crack-down. The most vital one was that banks might dump on the market government securities, in which they have invested huge sums, in order to get the extra cash they will be required to post—or to raise cash for making loans that pay higher interest.

Another risk was that many banks might resign their membership in the Federal Reserve System to avoid being caught in the freeze and to take advantage of the easier requirements on state banks outside the system.

Although President Truman said at his news conference yesterday that it would take a long time to apply general price controls—if the government decides they are necessary—ESA said today it hoped to have most of its regional price-wage offices opened next month.

This move was assessed generally as preparation for strict controls if needed. ESA already has authority to impose price and wage ceilings and to order roll-backs. At present, however, it is seeking "voluntary compliance" from labor and management.

The rubber order, effective today, controls all imports of natural rubber and rubber latex in the hands of general services Administrator Jess Larson.

An official statement said it is necessary for the government to take over buying and distribution of rubber "to safeguard the supply and to assure that it is distributed and utilized most advantageously to the national defense."

As an indirect effect, officials said, the removal of competing private buyers from the field should hold down rubber prices which have been soaring since the outbreak of the Korean war.

The action is expected to have little or no effects on users of tires or consumers of other rubber products.

In calling on industry for a faster switch to defense production, the Federal Reserve Board said in its December bulletin issued today that "the task of building up our defenses will require extensive shifts in the use of manpower, materials and plant capacity, and reductions in output of many commodities for civilian purposes."

A couple in a coupe had to drive around the halted cab and Phillips jumped in with them and drove to a nearby store where he phoned his company.

The stranger meanwhile couldn't start the cab.

At that moment, George P. Bryan, representative of the Daley Monument Company, drove on the scene.

The stranger jerked open the car door and snatched him out.

Bryan told police he wasn't certain what happened but he struggled with the man for about 75 yards down the street, screaming for help while the stranger cut him in the left ear, neck and right arm.

Bryan was treated at Duval Medical Center, some stitches...

German Recovery

"Since the beginning of the Marshall Plan a total of $1,068,000,000 of goods and services have been authorized for allotments in Western Germany," he said. In addition, the results of the Marshall Plan counterpart fund investment program totaling 2,353,000,000 Deutsche marks ($588,250,000), have taken effect. These factors played no small part in the expansion of industrial expansion."

Cattier termed the industrial boom "one of the most miraculous features" of west German economic life during 1950.

Some of the biggest production increases have occurred in the automotive industry, manufacture of electrical equipment, non-ferrous metals and oil production and refining.

Cattier said the production of finished investment goods is higher than the output of consumer goods. Several industries are now taken in his cuts, then sent home.

The knife-wielder drove off in Bryan's Packard but got only a few blocks away before skidding into a ditch.

Two young married couples, driving along in separate cars, stopped.

The stranger ran to the one, flashed his knife, yanked Mrs. Louis Iturra out and told her husband, "I'm trading cars with you."

Iturra, 31, an electrical repairman, jerked the keys out and, picking a hubcap which happened to be lying nearby, slammed it against the other's head.

The knife-charged Iturra down the road, then turned and ran back to the second car, grabbed open the door, told Kenneth Crawford, 34, dry-cleaning shop operator, "get out—give up your car."

"He jammed the knife into my side and cut me a little. I shoved over against my wife. She got out and ran."

Iturra returned, got a bumper lack from his car and "I told him I'd beat his damned head in if he didn't get back to his car. I thought he was drunk."

The stranger went back to the packard, the couples drove off.

Police sent out an alarm for the man. They figured he was deranged.

Sabre Jets Battle Forty Red MIG-15s In Fierce Dogfight

Russian Made Jets Are Shot Down In Supersonic Clash; Attack Is Awaited

TOKYO, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Swift F-86 Sabre jets and Russian-built MIG-15 jet planes fought the biggest air battle of the Korean war late today near the Manchurian border.

Forty MIGs swooped out of the Manchurian skies and tangled with 15 American Sabres in a dogfight of dazzling speed.

Two MIGs were damaged. All the American planes returned safely to their base.

In an earlier, smaller jet fight Saturday, American Sabres shot down one MIG and damaged another near Sinuiju in northeast Korea.

The American pilots said they saw one MIG plunge into the earth in flames from 1,800 feet. They said the other was on its back, streaming smoke in downward plunge at low altitude.

On the ground, two Communist forces swung 12 to 15 miles deep into South Korea on the U. S. Eighth Army's left flank.

An Eighth Army spokesman said United Nations defenders were "in contact" with the larger force of 5,000 Reds. It was operating in the hill country 25 miles inland from the Sea of Japan.

The smaller Communist force of 2,000 troops was only 10 miles inland from the east coast.

There was no indication from aerial headquarters that a battle had begun.

Details of the war's biggest air battle were sketchy. The air force said the fight began at 3:15 P. M.

The MIGs with their swept-back wings and the sleek Sabres fought from 25,000 feet down to 3,000 feet.

The Communist Air Force has shown increasing willingness in flight as its ground forces of Korean and Chinese Reds massed along the Paratlet 38 for the second invasion of South Korea.

General MacArthur has predicted the invasion will start rolling between Jan. 1 and 10.

Lt. General Matthew B. Ridgway, the new United Nations field commander in Korea, stressed the gravity of the situation confronting Allied troops in a year-end broadcast on radio.

Gunman Is Killed In Battle With Police

LARGO, Dec. 30.—(AP)—James H. Gidden, 23, was fatally wounded early this morning in a gun fight with two local police who were questioning him in connection with a breaking and entering case.

Gidden was in Norton Field Hospital, Clearwater, at 3:15 A.M. Patrolmen Lloyd Fuller and Jim Boyett had a pickup for Gidden from the Clearwater police. The patrolmen said they saw a car parked on a side road and investigated.

They said Gidden showed them a driver's license issued to a St. Petersburg man, and then drew a .32 automatic pistol. They declared that Gidden fired first, whereupon they opened fire. Gidden was struck four times in the upper part of his body.

Gidden had been released from the Florida State Prison at Raiford in July after serving time on a burglary charge, police said. He died a few minutes after being admitted to the hospital.

NEGRO INJURED

Walter Grady, a 60-year-old Negro hiner on a city collection truck, was injured when he fell from the back of the truck as it started to move back of the Clinic building at about 9:00 o'clock this morning.

He was taken in a Neely Ambulance to Fernand-Laughton Memorial Hospital, and Dr. J. N. Tolar, city physician, was summoned to attend him. Following the fall, Grady was unable to move his legs. Police Chief Ray G. Williams and Lieut. Max Egan investigated the accident.

Rail Unions Ask Improvement Of Wage Peace Pact

Trainmen Express Dis- satisfaction With 3-Year Moratorium

CLEVELAND, Dec. 30.—(AP)—The nation's 80,000 engineers today asked improvements in a three-year wage pact the government hoped would settle a long wage dispute between the railroads and four operating unions.

For two days, 125 general chairmen of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers discussed the settlement plan announced from the White House Dec. 21.

Then last night, Grand Chief Engineer James P. Shields said he and his negotiating committee had been instructed to "go back to Washington to negotiate the terms of that memorandum into a more favorable settlement."

Shields declined to say what changes the chairmen seek in the plan, which provides wage increases for approximately 300,000 engineers, firemen, trainmen and conductors.

Before the meeting, however, he expressed dissatisfaction with the size of the wage boosts and with the three-year moratorium on future general increases.

The National Mediation Board indicated in Washington it would not act on the engineers' move until the other unions concerned vote on the peace proposal.

General chairmen of the firemen and of the trainmen met here next Thursday. The conductors' general chairmen meet in St. Louis Jan. 7.

If the settlement is approved by these three unions, a special board might be set up under the railway labor act to consider the particular problems of the engineers.

The trainmen, in their weekly publication, already have indicated editorially they "will probably approve" the pact "with some modification" as "the best deal possible under the most impossible circumstances."

The firemen's president, David B. Robertson, has observed: "When you're under government control, you take what the government gives you."

(The government has been operating the railroads since Aug. 20, when it took over to prevent the spread of a strike by trainmen and conductors.)

On Wednesday an official spokesman for the conductors said his union was dissatisfied with the pact.

The Washington talks which ended in announcement of the three-year wage pact followed a series of wildcat strikes which tied up Christmas mails in Chicago and St. Louis.

United Nations Staff Nearly Finish Move Into New Quarters

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 30.—(AP)—The men and women of 62 countries who keep United Nations every-day work going even when the diplomats quit talking have all but completed their move into the new international skyscraper capitol here.

All except 600 of the polyglot lot have been shifted by easy installations since last August from the flat-top factory in the lowlands of central Long Island to the glass and marble walled secretarial building on the shores of the East River in New York's mid-Manhattan.

Now they take elevators to their office spaces in the 39-story structure, one of four in the U. N. capitol set up lying between 42nd and 48th Streets. Instead of treading long corridors in the maze that was temporary headquarters at Lake Success since 1948.

By the end of next June all the 3,000-odd secretarial workers will be at work in Manhattan. Carpenters and masons, who have been following up the movers at Lake Success, will complete the job of making all of the old headquarters ready to produce typewriters and other military machines that the Sperry Company has been manufacturing on the other side of the U. N. partitions all along.

The buildings are in three stages. The secretariat building is almost finished. (Continued on Page 11)

Americans Will Usher In 1951 With Both Revelry And Prayer

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Americans, in their various ways, will bid farewell tomorrow to an old year and an old half century, and observe the start of a new cycle of time. Some will do it with revelry, and some with prayer.

Across the nation, the recreation spots and the places of worship prepared to mark the advent of 1951 and of the second half of the 20th century.

To many, it will be a moment to forget accumulated cares of the past and celebrate the fresh beginning. To many others, it will be a time of soul-searching for guidance in the future.

With the world, and America, beset by deep anxieties, hundreds of churches, under the leadership of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., have set a day of prayer.

Some will hold night-long services into the New Year. New Year's Day is a Roman Catholic Holy Day, so Catholics will attend mass both Sunday and Monday.

For sports enthusiasts, it is a day spiced with varied fare. The feature is the windup of the football season, with half a dozen bowl games across the nation.

The dean of these is California's Rose Bowl, which annually draws about 90,000 fans to Pasadena.

In the nightclubs and showplaces, there will be funny hats, noise and what is generally known as whoopee.

New York's Times Square will be jammed Sunday night, as it is every year. And the extra cops on duty will have their usual non-alcoholic headache with the traffic jam.

New York's liquor laws permit Sunday sales so there is no handicap for the saloons this New Year's Eve. Some of the better (Continued on Page 11)

Council Predicts 330 Will Die In Auto Accidents

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Nation's 1950 traffic death toll will climb to an estimated 35,000—the highest since 1941 and the sixth worst in the history of motor vehicle travel.

The National Safety Council's estimate of this year's traffic deaths includes the scores it predicted will be killed during the last two days of the year. It predicted 330 persons will lose their lives in motor accidents over a 78-hour period, from 6 P. M. yesterday to midnight Monday.

The 31,230 killed in the first 11 months this year was only 270 less than the traffic fatalities in 1949 and compared to the 32,259 killed in 1948.

The Council said that only five times has the traffic toll in one year exceeded 35,000. The record high was 39,949 in 1941. Other years in which 35,000 or more persons were killed in traffic mishaps were 1934, 1935, 1936 and 1937.

In last weekend's Christmas holiday, 845 persons were killed on the highways—one of the highest totals on record for an extended holiday.

Ned H. Dearborn, council president, said the figures are a sharp (Continued on Page 11)

Search For Peace Is Aim Of Humanity, Williams Asserts

"In the 2,000 years since the birth of Christ, less than 1 percent of the more than 200 billion people who have lived have known freedom," Volie Williams, U. S. state representative and local attorney told members of the Methodist Men's Club at their monthly supper meeting at McKinley Hall Thursday night. He was introduced by Col. S. G. Harrison.

"Since the earliest recordings of history," Mr. Williams declared, "men have prayed and searched for peace. The founding of this nation, our leaders have sought to effect peace and understanding between nations. And in each instance we have failed. All the leaders of all the peoples of the world have failed, and I believe that there is one way that has not been tried, and which, if fully sought, might lead to peace."

"While reading the Old Testament I found this passage in Chronicles, 'If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves and pray, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven, will I move their sins and will heal their land.'"

"At the time, I thought what a simple way that would be, why, oh why didn't we use it? But now I am inclined to believe that once kind is so prepossessed with its own wisdom that it is reluctant to call upon God for help in world emergencies. We seem to think that man alone can settle the ills of this world, and it is long since obvious that we cannot."

"You and I," he added, "when we pray after confessing our unworthiness and asking for guidance, understanding and wisdom, and yet when we talk on the street about foreign affairs, God is left out entirely. All we hope is 'let's drop the atom bomb on the Kremlin. Why don't they use that atom bomb; let's stop all of this. We shall plan and let's get out of Korea entirely.'"

"We don't seem to fall under what that prophet said, 'let's drop the atom bomb on the Kremlin.' Why don't they use that atom bomb; let's stop all of this. We shall plan and let's get out of Korea entirely.'"

Dulles Rips Into De- mand That US Re- tire From Defense Of Western Europe

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Senator Sparkman (D-Miss.) proposed today a full-scale Senate debate on foreign policy to help settle the rising controversy over Western defense plans.

Sparkman, who served as a member of the American delegation to the United Nations, told reporters he agrees with John Foster Dulles that the United States can never make its defenses impregnable by abandoning Europe and standing alone.

But he added that the issue ought to be discussed in the Senate— "without name calling"—so the country will get a better chance to decide between the views of President Truman, Secretary of State Acheson and the State Department.

Hoover has proposed that the U. S. create a Gibraltar of defense in the Western Hemisphere and not "hand another piece of another dollar" in Europe and run a cost-free "Secret Army" from against the Red threat.

Dulles, on the other hand, said that the best way to settle the issue is to let the people decide in a national election.

One Million Poul- dresses Granted Landlords In 1950

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(AP)—Landlords got a million more increases in 1950 and 1951, officials here reported today. Landlords were lifted from 4,000,000 to 5,000,000.

This was announced today by Housing Expediter Philip E. Woods in a news report on the work of his office.

Woods said federal estimates still are in force on another 7,500,000 rental accommodations.

The Housing Expediter said rent levels nationwide for 1950 were up from 1949 by 85 percent of all landlords who reported for them.

Under the present national rent law, Woods has orders to enforce all controls in areas where he finds the "demand for rental housing has been reasonably met." He must first estimate what total government housing will be in 1950 and 1951.

The rent law reported that his agency also settled 31,000 cases of rent overcharges which resulted in refunds and penalty payments of $1,667,874.

The summary further stated that Woods' office:

Ordered landlords to improve tenant services at lower cost. In 29,458 cases and corrected what Woods called "lesser violations" affecting 100,000 tenants.

Issued 98,231 certificates permitting landlords to adjust tenants and burned down 20,369 such petitions.

Obtained refunds of $231,509.37 for World War II veterans who were overcharged on new home construction or who purchased homes which failed to meet government specifications when built under postwar material priorities.
