OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR SEES IMPEACHMENT TODAY

CHURCH CALL FOR RALLY TO AID PROHIBITION

MILITARY COURTS DIGGING INTO FLOGGING CASES WHILE GOVERNOR SQUIRMS

Says Not Any Called Meeting of Legislature Would Be Illegal.

MANY ARE TRIED

And All Whipping Cases Reported Will Come Before Military Court

(By The Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 22.—Military courts courts in Oklahoma City, Tulsa and Shawnee dug into flogging cases and Ku Klux Klan activities today while Governor J. C. Walton laid plans for combatting the impeachment movement against him. Last night the governor, asserting that the called meeting of the legislature would be an "unlawful Klan ceremony" because 68 members of the lower house are klansmen, declared there would be "no meeting."

"The Klan is whipped," he said.

During the day Governor Walton gave out an opinion written by Paul Nesbitt, state highway commissioner, and a former speaker of the house who had said that the legislature has a legal right to assemble except at the executive's call.

The claim that 85 of the 107 representatives would be present Wednesday was made today by Representative W. I. Cunningham of Sapulpa.

N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Klan in Oklahoma faces charges of rioting as the result of information filed against him last night. He is charged with implication in the flogging of E. R. Merriman, a year ago.

A total of 110 whippings had been uncovered during the military court investigation at Tulsa, officers of the court said last night. Two additional floggings were revealed today, it was stated.

With the indictment of six Tulsa county citizens today by the Wagoner county grand jury on charges of participation in the flogging of Ben Wagner, a Wagoner county farmer, the number under indictment in this case grew to 16.

Military authorities today invaded Pottawatomie county and arrested three men charged with implication in the flogging of L. C. Bowers, an insurance man, at Shawnee. The county and military authorities convened a joint court of inquiry, which it was announced would continue to function until the situation in Pottawatomie county is "cleaned up."

Work of the military court in Oklahoma City grew to such proportions that three separate courts were formed to hear testimony.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 22.—A threat to close Oklahoma state fair and place Oklahoma county under more rigid enforcement of martial law unless members of the legislature abandon their plan to meet in extraordinary session next Wednesday, was voiced by Governor Walton.

The Seminole Cafe has an advertisement today calling your attention to the "Sunday dinner" that has made this place famous all over this section of the state. The Seminole dinners and the perfect service makes one want to go back again and again to the Seminole Cafe. Tomorrow will be no exception to the rule as we go to the Seminole and get a dinner that will be satisfying in every respect.

Boston Red Sox and Detroit split a double header which was played at Boston. The Sox won the first game 4 to 3 while the Tigers copped the second affair by the overwhelming score of 15 to 6.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The statement of Rev. Newton, that an initiation of Klansmen had been held in the White House, is declared by White House officials to be too ridiculous to discuss.

Government of Sofia Declares Martial Law To Prevent Insurrection

MR. JEFF WALL SONG LEADER OF THE TENT MEETING.

The Weigle-Wall tent meeting will begin one week from Sunday. The great tent will be erected on the corner of Third street and Palmetto avenue. This is an ideal location affording large space on paved streets for parking cars.

Next Thursday afternoon, the half holiday, there will be a "Tent Erecting," the work done by the generous volunteers of the city who have promised to give their services for three hours and aid in putting up the tent and building the platform and seats. We cordially invite any one who will donate a few hours work to be there on Thursday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Weigle will be on hand to superintend the job. He will need a few good carpenters to aid him, and the balance of the people will do the work. We shall have a jolly time.

A number of cottage prayer meetings were held Friday afternoon in different parts of the city, and from reports were well attended. These group meetings will be held again next Tuesday afternoon, and on Friday also. Members of all our churches are taking part in these preliminary meetings.

It is desired that at least 100 persons be on the platform at the first service to help in the singing. Not only those who belong to the choir of the city, but all others who can and will help us. It will be a veritable training school in music for those who take part. You are urged to contribute your voice to these meetings.

Let Sanford rally to this work and make these meetings a Sanford movement and not especially a denominational one. If the forces of evil can unite to secure wrong ends it seems like the churches should be only too glad to unite their forces for three weeks to build up the moral and spiritual interests of God's kingdom.

Come one, come all. If any church is not greatly blessed by this meeting it will be because it puts nothing into it.

GOV. MCCRARY WILL BE ASKED RESIGN OFFICE ON ACCOUNT OF HIS FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES IT IS SAID.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 22.—Whether Governor McCrory will be asked to resign as the result of his financial difficulties will be a question submitted to republican state committee at a meeting to be held here next Saturday, according to reports from well informed republican circles. Governor McCrory recently turned affairs over to creditors committee who agreed on arrangement, it is said, and try to put his business in shape.

NEWSPAPERS ARE BLAMED FOR MUTINY

In Banner Mines Near Birmingham; Convicts Rebelled.

MONTGOMERY, Sept. 22.—Blame for the mutiny in the Banner Mines near Birmingham September 10, in which leased convicts rebelled against guards is laid to newspaper agitation by State Convict Supervisor Boyd.

He declined to discuss his appearance before the grand jury investigating conditions of convict camps and would not say whether convicts would be permitted to testify. Governor Brandon would not say whether convicts would appear. Solicitor Davis of Jefferson county said convicts would be required to appear before inquisitorial body and expected no executive interference.

CLYDE LINE DAILY SERVICE STARTS MONDAY

City of Jacksonville Will Take Up the Regular Run.

It will be good news to the people of Sanford and all of south Florida to learn that the daily service on the St. Johns river will be resumed next Monday. The tri-weekly runs have been on for some time while the City of Jacksonville was being put in trim for the regular run between Jacksonville and Sanford. It is also said upon good authority that the daily boats will remain in service all this year round from this time forward.

The business here has picked up to such an extent that the daily boats are necessary to handle the freight to say nothing of the passenger service. The Jacksonville Times-Union says inauguration of a daily, except Sunday, passenger and freight service down the St. Johns river to Palatka, Welaka, Astor, DeLand and Sanford has been announced by the Clyde Steamship Company, effective Monday, September 24. This is earlier than the Clyde line has ever before established the boat service and is a effort directed at making this line an all-year project. H. G. White, general agent, states.

The steamers Osceola and City of Jacksonville, after thorough renovation, will be operated on the St. Johns this season by the Clyde line. Through the heart of tropical Florida, the St. Johns boat trip is one of the most famous of the sight-seeing tours conducted in this state.

The steamers will leave Jacksonville on week days at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, arriving in Sanford at 11 o'clock the following morning. From Sanford, the boat leaves at 12:15 p. m., and arrives in this city at 7 a. m. the next day. Captain Land will command the Osceola and Captain Coleman the City of Jacksonville.

Summer excursions have been conducted during the hot months by the Clyde line even the lake waterway and these will be continued for a while.

To Take Up Public Situation And Meet On Tuesday.

BERLIN, Sept. 22.—Chancellor Stresemann has summoned the premiers of federated states of Germany for conference on the Ruhr situation, it was announced today. BOND ELECTION TOOK UP TIME AT MEETING

Of Chamber of Commerce and Field Was Covered.

The coming election for a bond issue to the amount of $160,000 was the principal subject engaging the attention of the members of the Chamber of Commerce at last Friday's meeting. The election, which is to be held October 9th, is one of the most important of its kind that has ever been held in Sanford. If successfully carried the city will take over the city houses and links of the Sanford Country Club on which over $300,000 has been spent to date in cost and improvements. The property is one of the most valuable in Seminole county, and the nine hole course completed thereon, is one of the sportiest in Florida. What opposition has developed to this feature of the issue has been caused primarily by a lack of knowledge of what is proposed being done with the 40,000 appropriated in the lease for the golf course. Those whose contributions made the construction of the course possible will not be reimbursed for any portion of the money they have paid in. Any statement that the present stockholders will benefit by the acquiring of this property is absolutely false. For a careful consideration of all the facts in the case makes it very evident that the city is receiving benefit of the $15,000 these stockholders have paid in. It was brought out at the meeting that if the city acquires the property it will eventually prove the most profitable investment that has ever been made by a municipality. The golf course is considered one of the principal adjuncts of the city in the bid it is making.

For Combatting the Seeming Apathy Regarding Eighteenth Amendment

WOULD SPUR ON

Those Church Folks Who Believe In Prohibition, But Take No

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—A call for a rally of the dry forces of the nation in support of the eighteenth amendment was sent forth last night by the Federal Council of Churches. A "good citizenship and patriotism conference" was announced to be held in Washington October 16, 18 and 19 "to spur on those who believe in prohibition but have lost active interest."

The call was signed by 750 men and women, including business men, college and university heads, clergymen, members of congress, mayors, heads of religious associations and leaders of women's organizations.

Heading the list were the names of William Jennings Bryan, United States Senator from Ohio; Governor Carl E. Milliken of Maine; and Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes.

Dates chosen for the conference precede by a few days the time tentatively selected by President Coolidge for a meeting of governors on law enforcement. The call went out, however, before Mr. Coolidge's plan had been announced, and it is said there was no significance to be attached to the time of the gathering.

Two commissions of the Federal Council of Churches—those of temperance and on councils (local) of churches, sponsored the call which, it was announced, was issued in recognition of the tremendous propaganda which is being carried on to nullify the 18th amendment and the Volstead act and to disintegrate law.

"Realizing," said a statement issued by leaders in the movement, "that inactivity and apathy has resulted in an apparent growth of liquor sentiment and in a non-observance of the enforcement act not only by state officials and bootleggers, but also by men and women who are law abiding in every other way," the leaders state that they have planned the conference with the idea of "recovering the moral of the moral and Christian forces upon the prohibition issue."

The statement set forth as "serious fact" that in certain cities there was an "alarming" degree of law violation and "a dangerous widespread of indifference" to all laws of laws which seem to have become "no-called personal liberty."

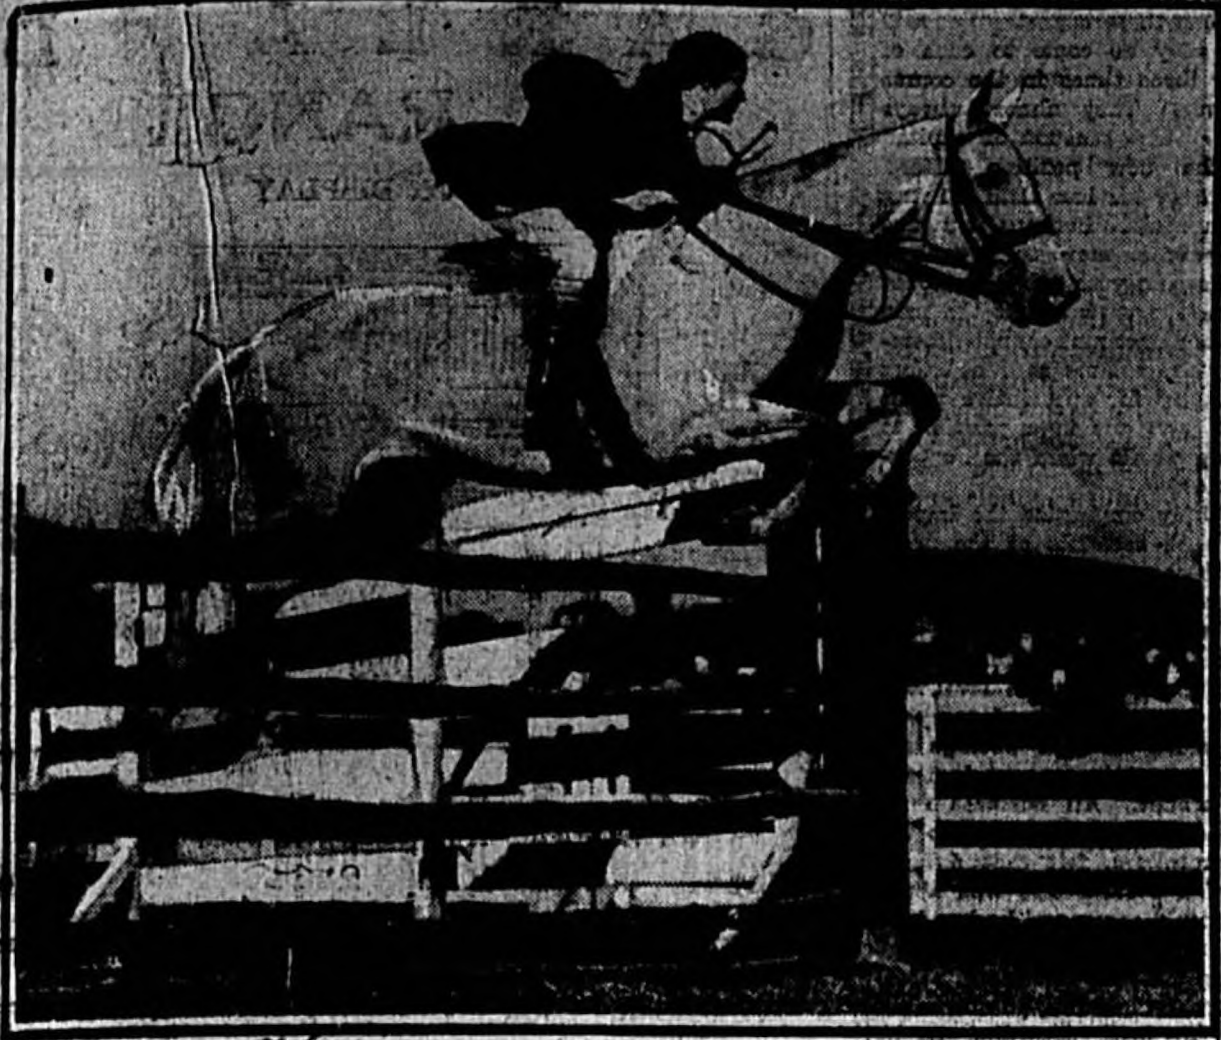

It said, if unrestrained, eventually would manifest itself in "the violation of all law" and "the rule of the mob will become the method of the vicious."

Plans for the conference, however, plate it being open to "all citizens without distinction as to race, religion, or belief in the prohibition of the constitution of the United States and the strict enforcement of all laws, including the 18th amendment and the Volstead act." It will be a purpose to make provision for carrying out whatever plan is decided on.

MUNICIPAL SWIMMING POOL

More and more as the question of a municipal swimming pool is discussed among the people here are almost a unit in wanting the pool started early next spring. They are beginning to think that a municipal swimming pool on the lake front with perhaps other amusements in connection would help many people at some next summer who are otherwise attracted to facilities that have some amusements and our pool would also attract people from other cities to come here in the summer. The Jacksonville Observer says:

"There can be no question that a very large majority of the people heartily approve of Commissioner Acosta's efforts in providing a public swimming pool.

"Jacksonville needs public swimming pools. It gives proof of public spirit, and they are necessary. The swimming pool in Springfield was indeed popular—entirely too much so for the residents thereby, and the latter complained.

"In all fairness the residents were justified in their complaints. The sanctity of the home and the comforts thereof are molested with swimming pools in close proximity.

"But Jacksonville should have swimming pools. It needs one in each of the four big sections of the city. However, they should be placed in a location that will not interfere with the quietude of the home or with traffic.

"Jacksonville applauds Commissioner Acosta in his desire to provide such necessities, and hopes the commission will sustain him in placing these pools in localities that are appropriate."

McADOO AND THE RAILROADS.

William C. McAdoo is evidently getting tired of the continual nagging about his administration of the railroads during a portion of the war period. He has written a letter to Senator Couzens of Michigan, in which he charges the railroad executives with maintaining a "deliberate and organized propaganda of falsification," and he wants to know how much money has been spent for this work. Commenting upon his disposition to fight back, the New York World says:

"That last might interest the security-holders of the roads, but for everybody else the point of interest is M. McAdoo's charge, of which the truth is becoming quite manifest. Granting that the costs of war operation were comparatively high, why blame Mr. McAdoo altogether? He was Director General only during the year 1918. Walker D. Hines was Director General for fourteen months thereafter, and he is a practical railroad man of large experience.

"But why stop with either or both? The roads under Government operation were actually operated by the more prominent of these same railroad executives who were chosen by Director General McAdoo for the purpose, and who continued for the Government the work they had been doing for the private owners. Is it their present purpose to prove their own disloyalty to the government in stress of war? Or are they talking here at the command of Wall Street bankers who control them?

"It would seem to be soon in order for the people engaged in discrediting the government's war operation to point out any business whose costs did not increase and increase greatly because of the war. They should next explain why $600,000,000 of operating income generously guaranteed to the roads by the government on the basis of prior peace conditions of operation, should now be included in the proof of extravagance against government war operation.

"Then comes M. McAdoo's present charge that costs of operating the roads since private control was restored have increased 17 to 22 per cent. That also calls for a word from the executives. As it is, they are only manufacturing still greater public hostility to the roads as now controlled and managed."

EULOS SULLIVAN TO BE EXECUTED AT LITTLE ROCK

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 21.—Eulos Sullivan, convicted of murder of United States Deputy Marshal J. Walter Casey, at Harrison, Ark., on July 16, and scheduled to be executed today was twice shot down in attempts to escape and admitted having twice "run under the guns" to get away from the Oklahoma state penitentiary.

His last break for freedom was made early on the morning of July 26 at Kennett, Ark., when he leaped, handcuffed and shackled, from the porch of a hotel between trains while officers were bringing him to the death cell in the Arkansas penitentiary, dozed after being thrown off guard by simulated sleep on the part of their prisoners. Sullivan had barely vanished in the darkness when the alarm was sounded.

Weakened by loss of blood from a bullet wound in his arm, and tired from loss of sleep through fighting the mosquitoes in the Red River bottoms, Sullivan was recaptured less than 36 hours later, while asleep in a berry shed, scarcely four miles from the scene of his escape.

Sullivan, it was learned later, held to an eight-inch step by his shackles, made his way by leaps, procured an axe at a residence in Kennett and hacked off the handcuffs and shackles.

Stimulated by offers of rewards by Sheriff Bob Shaddox of Boone county, from whose custody Sullivan escaped.

LONGWOOD—THE POULTRY CENTER

We knew the "Longwood bunch" were a live crowd, and when they asked us for a Longwood edition, we had no idea they would rally to the colors as strong as the larger sections, but they certainly surprised us and have went them all one better.

What it takes to make a success in the poultry business—what it takes to produce quality poultry and eggs—what it takes to put their section on the map—LONGWOOD HAS IT.

The story of poultry successes as told in the May issue made us wish we had settled in the neighborhood of Pensacola or DeFuniak Springs, then the Tampa district poultrymen caused us to decide to locate there, when the Orlando crowd caused us to change our mind, and now Longwood calls us, and we honestly believe we would be content to settle down among those good folks of the Longwood district, where each one seems to take pleasure in helping the other fellow. That's co-operation, and they believe in that old adage, "United We Stand—Divided We Fall." Longwood, reserve a berth for us—we're coming some day.—Poultry In Florida.

THE FLORIDA MAGAZINE.

The Florida Magazine, sent out as a supplement to a number of Florida newspapers, is out for September, and is most attractive. The front cover shows a scene in Sumter county on the famous million-dollar asphalt road, which goes right through the county. The spot selected for the picture has the road passing through a grove of huge live oaks, their great gnarled limbs festooned with Spanish moss. The smooth, wide road stretches away into the distance. The special feature of the magazine is entitled, "A Tour Through Sumter County," and the story of progress and activity is interspersed with many excellent pictures, made from photographs. A cross-page picture shows hundreds of acres in growing cabbage in the famous Warm Springs' hammock section. The field seems to spread out beyond the line of vision, and the plants nearby are strong and almost cover the ground. An interesting article is on Landscape Gardening for the Country Home and Barn, by William Gomme, and there are other excellent articles and many pictures.—Times-Union.

The Herald sends out the Florida Magazine and has a number of copies that the folks can have now to send to the people in other states.

THERE WAS AN OLD LADY WHO LIVED IN A SHOE

SANFORD COULD ACCOMMODATE THEM.

When everything is said and done you can't blot out the fact that Sanford has no houses to accommodate the crowds that are coming to Florida. The advance guard of this big crowd is the tin can tourists—so-called—and they are coming into the state by every road. The tin can tourists is not as black as he has been painted by some of the newspapers and he is a very desirable citizen in many respects having less undesirable in their midst than in many of our cities. If Sanford decides to have a fair grounds and athletic field a fine camping ground could be arranged in connection with the fair grounds and the whole affair would be self-supporting. Our fair ground and athletic field will of a necessity have running water, electric lights and sewerage and when this is installed the grounds would make an ideal tourist camp and the tourist camp would solve the housing question to a large degree. The Jacksonville Observer says:

"They are coming. The advance guard is already here. Scores of automobiles from other states passed through Jacksonville this week. They were headed for St. Petersburg and other South Florida points. There are those who decry the 'tin can' tourists, but in proportion to numbers they are more valuable than any other class of tourists. Now and then a 'tin canner' is impressed and buys himself a little orange grove or a farm and remains here as a producer. The counties alive to opportunity are working to impress these 'tin canners.' Jacksonville should at once plan to hold hundreds of this class of tourists. They should be given all possible comforts free. They should be entertained and should be made familiar with Duval county opportunities.

"By the first of December, the state fair grounds will be vacant. Why not allow these tourists the use of the grounds and one of the buildings for dances, lectures and other amusements.

"The county and city could easily employ a reliable man for four months to take charge of this work and prepare rules to govern the same. Then advertise this camp site along every highway leading to the city. The city could provide electric lights, and the water is already there.

"By January 1st there should be at least 2,000 tourists in camp and there would be if the proper action is taken. These tourists would give Jacksonville thousands of dollars worth of advertising. Many of them are well provided with funds and some would be induced to invest in Duval county lands.

"They would buy supplies from our merchants and be valuable in every way. Maintaining a camp of high order would stop this 'passing through.' The Observer knows the management of the fair would gladly co-operate in an enterprise of this kind, because the rules and the proper manager in charge would be of no injury to the grounds."

Read what Roger Babson says today about your savings account.

THRIFT WILL HELP BUSINESS SAYS BABSON. Sees Improvement In Increased Bank Deposits.

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., Sept. 21.—Helping business by saving money instead of spending it may sound strange but that is what Roger W. Babson, the statistician, proposes today, in a statement on the investment value of savings accounts.

"Why it is that people differentiate between bank accounts and investments is more than I can comprehend," says Mr. Babson. "Apparently men and women feel that the money which they have in the bank is not 'invested.' They seem to think of it as tied up in bags in the vault of the bank. The fact is that just as soon as you deposit a dollar in the bank, that dollar is loaned by the bank to some one to build a home, or to buy merchandise, or is used for the purchase of bonds. When these bonds are bought, the money is still used by the company issuing the bonds, perhaps for the developing of a water power or the buying of railroad equipment or some other equally useful purpose. Therefore, money deposited in a bank is invested just as truly as any other money. The main difference is that it is invested by some one with experience and training instead of by one who may know little of financial matters.

"Bank accounts have all the advantages of the most attractive investments. Among these may be mentioned the following three: (1) Bank accounts are safe. Statistics would probably show that smaller losses come from bank accounts than from any other field of investment. (2) Bank accounts are very liquid,—that is to say, we can quickly get our money at any time. Other forms of investment may be 'permanent' investments. Many of them are so permanent that they cannot be liquidated when desired. (3) Bank accounts offer a good opportunity for speculative profit. This may seem a strange statement but let us examine it.

"The real opportunities to make money are thru chances that come to take partnerships, to make money are thru chances that come to take partnerships, to make special purchases

Roofs that Challenge Weather

It was Mark Twain who said, "Everybody talks a lot about the weather but nobody does anything about it."

But there is one thing you can do about the effect of weather on the roofs of your buildings. Cover them with our prepared roofing or shingles and you can laugh at intense heat, pounding rains, driving snow storms and severe cold.

or to do other things, which, if undertaken, often bring success. One never can tell when these opportunities will come but they do come to each of us two or three times in the course of our lives. They almost always require a certain amount of capital. Perhaps the new position offered means working for less than a living wage for a while. Perhaps it means taking a year or more for travel or study. The man with a bank account can finance the venture but the man without a bank account cannot. Therefore, I say that a bank account offers an opportunity for speculative profit because it puts one in a position to make a big profit when the opportunity comes.

"I especially emphasize the importance of bank accounts at the present time because many people have not increased their bank accounts materially since the low prices of ten years ago. For a great many years prices ran along a certain level and people got into the habit of carrying about so much in their savings account and a certain amount in their checking account. All business men, from the large manufacturers to the humblest retailers, felt that a bank account of a certain size was about what he should carry and he has held the same idea up to the present time. Yet, during the past ten years, prices have increased from fifty to a hundred or more per cent. according to be commodity considered. Taking into consideration all factors entering into the cost of living, the dollar of ten years ago is worth only about sixty cents today. As prices increase we should increase our bank accounts to correspond. We take out increased insurance today on a building which was built ten years ago even though it was then insured for all its cost. The fact is that the cost of building has gone up and if we had a fire we would have to rebuild at much higher prices. Therefore, we insure not on the basis of the cost of ten years ago but on the basis of replacement as of today. It seems to me that we should follow the same principle regarding our bank accounts.

"One great trouble with business today is the amount of money being wasted on things of only temporary value and the small proportionate amount which is being 'banked' for things of more permanent value. This is one reason why the Babson chart has again so radically declined, standing today at 10 per cent below normal compared with 9 per cent above normal in February. Just as things got better around the first of the year, people again got careless, bank deposits fell off and the safety valve began to let off steam. Increased bank balances would help start business up toward normal again."

SHARING JAPAN'S LOSS.
The Japanese catastrophe makes necessary a vast amount of new construction. Japan has to obtain materials from abroad, and America is the natural market. There will be a big demand, for several years, for American steel, lumber, copper, machinery and other products.

Profitable for America? Perhaps. But even if there were a tendency to gloat over the prospect, reflection brings doubt.

Has America really gained anything from the similar circumstances which, through destructive war in Europe, made this country a world market for several years? Only superficially. Economists say we have really lost, though not so much as other countries. Our gain has been negative. Some of our people, war profiteers and peace profiteers, for example, have actually gained. As a whole, taking into account incomes and expenditures since 1914, and our huge obligations in the way of war debt, army rehabilitation work, pensions, etc., for the future, and especially curtailed markets resulting from loss of foreign buying power, we have certainly lost greatly.

So it will be, perhaps, in the present case. The matter works in many curious ways to distribute the economic loss beyond the borders of Japan. While selling huge quantities of materials to that country, and making money for the American manufacturers and work for their employees, we drain our own country of materials and labor and everybody has to pay higher prices. We lend Japan money or credit to buy, and that raises the cost of money here. And when Japan has strained her effort and credit to the limit, in reconstruction, she can buy less.

Thus, over a long period, everyone loses, and all civilization combines, unknowingly, to make up the loss in property and life of any part.

TOO MANY TEARS WASTED ON AMERICAN FARMER

An exceedingly interesting article was found in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post under the head of "Short Turns and Encore." The writer is of the opinion that too many tears are being shed over the farmer. He lives in a small town, and in the past twenty-five years a good many farmers have made a fair competence and moved to the town, leaving the boys to look after the farm. During the same time many have not accumulated anything and some have failed and moved away.

But in all that time, he says that no grocer has achieved a competence, and many have failed. No druggist, barber, dry goods merchant, butcher, baker, real estate man, doctor, attorney or milliner has been able to retire from business with a competence.

He adds that since the women have received the ballot and have a very earnest and admirable desire to influence the world, he takes pleasure in telling them how they may serve the country; two of the most crying needs are more gray and more home made apple butter. And after they have taught the worthless, inefficient, incompetent, slatternly women how to keep house, they can then start in to teach the men how to run their business to make money. The idea is that in farming, as in all lines of business, and considering the greater number engaged in farming there are probably less failures in that game than in any other.

As a matter of fact, it takes management to succeed in any business, and if there is lack of management by the man and a like lack by the wife, there is sure to be failure, whether the business is farming, running a newspaper, or a moving picture house.

Law will not help many men to succeed, and at all times there will be men who want the legislators to make laws which will make them able to make a living without work and it can't be did.

Guests of a motorist are really his victims

Many a car owner drives on over-inflated tires, and thinks little of it, because he does all his riding in the driver's seat. Ride in your rear seat some time and see. If your tires are over-inflated, your car will get the full force of bumps and jolts that you miss on the front seat.

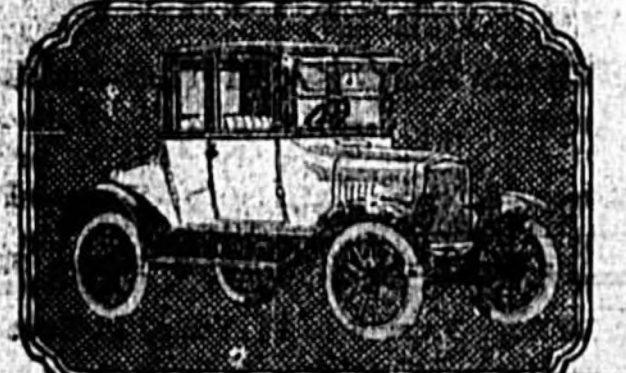

That's bad enough for comfort—but it's particularly bad for the car. The pounding and vibration may wear out the whole car prematurely.

The thing to do is to keep a constant check on the air pressure in your tires. It's no work—it's easy.

Drive in our Filling Station it will be a pleasure to check your air.
