GOVERNMENT CONTROLLED CORPORATION FOR NITRATE PRODUCTION FOR FARMERS

AND TO PRODUCE FOR WAR PURPOSE IS PROPOSED

MUSCLE SHOALS

As Solution to Vexing Problem by Leader of Farm Bloc Dickinson

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—A Government controlled corporation to produce nitrate for war purposes and cheap fertilizer for farmers was proposed by Representative Dickinson, leader of a farm bloc who introduced a bill to put his plan into effect. The bill provides for a "Federal Chemical Corporation" consisting of the secretaries of war, agriculture, and three members to be appointed by the president who will be given power to complete and operate the Muscle Shoals plant.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Members of the new progressive bloc in congress got into action yesterday but at the very outset ran into White House opposition. Led by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, bloc members sitting in the senate agricultural committee obtained a favorable report from the committee for a constitutional amendment providing for abolition of the electoral college and for direct election of president and vice president, and for abolition of the long period of time usually elapsing between a congressional election and the regular meeting of the new congress. Such an amendment forms one of the planks in the platform adopted by the bloc at its organization meeting last week.

Opposition on the part of President Harding to any such change in the constitution was expressed by a White House spokesman soon after the senate agriculture committee resolution was laid before the senate and assigned to a special place on the calendar of business. Some administration leaders in the senate likewise voiced their disapproval of the amendment and last night it appeared that any efforts of the bloc to press the proposal might bring on a fight which would test the power of the progressive faction. The proposed amendment would provide specifically that "the choice of each state for president and vice president shall be determined at a general election of the qualified electors of such state," thus permitting voters to cast their ballots directly for president and vice president.

The vote would be canvassed by the senate and house meeting in joint session, each state being given as many votes for this purpose as it has senators and representatives. If such a canvass by states should disclose lack of a majority, then the president would be chosen by a majority vote of the house "from the persons having the highest number, not exceeding three, on the list of those who vote as president. The votes for vice-president would be canvassed in a similar manner, except that in event of no choice by majority of the voters, the senate would select that official as between the two persons receiving the largest number of votes.

The committee in reporting the amendment resolution through its chairman, Senator Norris, pointed out that the proposed system might result in the election of a president and vice president from different parties—"a matter of fundamental justice we ought to be protected by law in taking—should we desire to do it." The amendment would further provide that the terms of Senators and representatives should begin the first Monday in January following the biennial election and that congress should meet each year on that date. This would wipe out the session of the old congress after the biennial election. Another provision of the amendment would be to change the date of inauguration of the president

CLEMENCEAU MADE CALL ON PRESIDENT

ADVISED HARDING OF EUROPEAN AFFAIRS AND OTHER THINGS

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Georges Clemenceau visited the White House yesterday and talked with President Harding for forty minutes. But the subject nearest his heart—American participation in European affairs—did not come up.

The visit was described at the White House as merely a social call of courtesy at which, it was said, serious problems of state were not discussed.

The Times said last night, it was a "delightful visit," during which he gave the President his views about European conditions in general. He emphasized that he did not ask the President for any assurances, pointing out that he was merely a private citizen of France, and asserting he had not gone to "preach to the president, but to pay my regards."

If Clemenceau's picture of conditions overseas had any effect on the administration's foreign policy it was not indicated in comment at the White House later.

With respect to the Lausanne conference on the Near East, full particulars of which had been suggested by Clemenceau, the president was said to feel that every proper influence of this government—and this influence was described as great—already was being exerted in a manner believed to be in harmony with the best judgment of the world statesmen who were truly in touch with the situation.

The executive was reported as feeling that America could not take upon its shoulders responsibility for directing the affairs of the world.

Clemenceau apparently enjoyed his talk with the president, which was the first event of all day.

ANOTHER FORD STOLEN

Stealing Ford cars seems to be a favorite pastime in Sanford just now and last night another one went south or north, as the case may be. This time it was belonging to J. F. Ward of the Merchants and Minors Steamship company and the car was taken at the Montezuma hotel where Mr. Ward was stopping. This was rather bold on the part of the thieves but since they have taken them in front of the churches and other places it is easily accomplished. The stolen car was a Ford touring of the license number G-4180 and if anyone sees a car with this number they should grab it and notify the Merchants & Minors office at Jacksonville.

from March 4 to the third Monday in January.

White House officials in presenting President Harding's views on the proposal represented the executive as feeling that constant changes in the constitution were unnecessary and in some cases unwise. Mr. Harding, it was said, regards the present procedure under the constitution whereby a new congress does not meet for more than a year after its election as one of the wisest steps taken by the nation's founders for it allows passions to cool.

The agriculture committee, in its report, however, took an opposite view, declaring "the present condition of affairs is not only unfair to the citizenship at large, who have expressed their will as to what candidate they desire, but it is likewise unfair to their servants whom they have elected to carry out this will."

With respect to abolition of the electoral college, the committee declared its amendment would make it possible for an independent candidate to run for president without establishing an elaborate political machine.

When Martin Bomber Collides With Fokker

IN MAKING LANDING AT LANGLEY FIELD AT 10:00 O'CLOCK—TWO OFFICERS AND FOUR ENLISTED MEN MET THEIR DEATH FLYING OVER FIELD

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Dec. 6.—Two officers and four enlisted men were killed at Langley Field at 10:00 o'clock this morning when a Martin bomber plane collided with a Fokker while making a landing. The dead are: Major Gearhart, Captain Doyle, Staff Sergeant Mariek, Privates Blunka, Rolas and Jordan. The bomber was said over telephone was in the air when the major took off in the Fokker. His machine struck the tail of the bomber and both machines fell to earth. The major, captain and sergeant were caught in the wreckage and burned to death, while the privates were killed when they jumped from the planes.

ENTENTE PLAN FOR KEEPING OPEN DARDANELL STRAITS DURING PEACE OR WAR

PROVIDING FOR APPOINTMENT INTERNATIONAL COMMISSIONER OF CONTROL

OF GREAT POWERS

Including United States and Countries Bordering on the Black Sea

(By The Associated Press) LAUSANNE, Dec. 6.—The entente plan for keeping open the Straits at Dardanelles during war or peace, providing for the appointment of an international commission of control composed of great powers including the United States, Turkey, and other countries bordering on the Black sea, was presented to the peace conference today by Y. L. G. Durand, acting for the allies. The Turkish spokesman, outside the auditorium said the Turkish position probably would be found nearer the allied plan than the Russian. Turks, it appeared, suddenly realized that the Russian plan for Turk control would freeze Turkey to build a navy.

LAUSANNE, Dec. 6.—The treaty makers at Lausanne devoted themselves today to an attempt to harmonize the divergent views of the various delegations; everybody seemed to realize that a few more hectic sessions like that of yesterday would break down the conference and postpone Near East peace indefinitely.

The Allied leaders held long consultations to frame a common project for dealing with the Dardanelles, and are reported to have succeeded in drafting a proposal permitting warships to use the Straits under international control.

The implications last night were that the straits discussion would be resumed today, when the entente countries will fall in with the Turkish suggestion and set forth their wishes. The Allies seem determined to ignore the Russian attempt to speak for Turkey, and are determined also to convince the Russian representatives that Bolsheviki Russia is not dominating the straits discussion. In fact that Ismet Pasha conferred with the Allied leaders helped to strengthen the impression that if the conference is not yet out of danger, at least it is not yet on the rocks.

Another feature of the conference was the possible intervention in behalf of the Christians in Constantinople.

BEST MEETING EVER HELD OF KIWANIS CLUB

Nearly every member of the local Kiwanis Club sat down today to a real feast in the Palm Room of the Valdez hotel. The menu was excellent, the service good and the meeting probably the most interesting ever held by the Kiwanians.

Dr. Brownlee invoked the Divine blessing on the deliberations of the club, and was then called upon to render "Liza Jane," which he proceeded to do, starting the song with a new version: "I got a boy and you got none." It made a hit—considering a recent important happening in the doctor's home.

Forest Lake was late again and punished those present with his version of the song.

F. H. McMahon, the possessor of a most pleasing baritone voice, rendered two songs that were applauded to the echo.

Father Peck again was a visitor—and he is always most welcome. He was the guest of Kiwanian Dumas. When called upon for a talk, Father Peck spoke on the location of the new library building and urged the Fourth Street Park as the site of the proposed edifice. In this connection it was moved by Kiwanian Wilson that the club go on record as being opposed to locating the library building on the bulk head and the motion was unanimously carried. Then Kiwanian Smith moved that the club favor the removal of the band stand to Ninth Street Park and put the library building in the Fourth street park. A rising vote was necessary for a decision, but the eyes won.

Next came the election of officers for the ensuing year and it was moved and seconded that the secretary cast the unanimous vote of the club for the following candidates:

J. G. Sharon, president.
T. L. Dumas, vice-president.
J. D. Jenkins, treasurer.

F. Lake, E. F. Lane, T. W. Lawton, Dr. Langley, Dr. Caswell, John Gillon and Dr. Brownlee, Directors.

E. L. Dumas, district trustee.

Then Sharon and Dumas—before they could be choked off—arose and peddled a lot of hot air about what they expected to do and how the club was to be congratulated on electing such an excellent array of talent for its new officers. John Jenkins didn't say much but what he did say was to the point—that he hoped the members would pay their dues promptly so that money would be in the treasury to meet all bills.

Our own singer, P. M. Boyd, rendered two appreciated songs, and then a rising vote of thanks was extended Dr. Brownlee for the success attained by him and his committee in the attendance drive. Every seat at the long table was filled and it was necessary to make an addition to the table.

Taken all in all, this was probably the most successful meeting ever held by the local club, not only in the number present, but in the business transacted and in the enthusiasm shown. The meeting today showed what can be done in the way of providing a most enjoyable luncheon hour once each week, and the membership confidently expects that the newly elected officers will carry on the good work.

WILL OPEN CAFETERIA

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Thompson and family, formerly of Montgomery, Ala., are now located in the Wight property at 511 Park Avenue. Mr. Thompson will open a cafeteria in the new Mesch block as soon as the room is ready. He promises Sanford one of the neatest and best cafeterias in the state. He expects to be ready for business by Christmas.

NEGOTIATIONS OPENED TODAY COAL OUTPUT

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Negotiations were re-opened today between soft coal operators representing unions of union output and delegation of miners for purpose agreeing to some method of drafting the wage scale for miners next January. Casting aside sectional differences operators reported to have agreed on a plan to present to miners for approval.

Marshall Was Elected City Commissioner in Very Close Election

Dr. Marshall Won Race by the Small Margin of 22 Votes

In a very quiet election yesterday for the position of City Commissioner of the City of Sanford Dr. Marshall won by a majority of 22 votes.

The total score was as follows:

Marshall	283
Whitner	261

Two mutilated ballots were not counted.

There was but little interest manifested in the election other than a determined air on the part of men and women to cast their ballots as they saw fit and they had evidently decided on the question before they came to the polls as the entire affair was very business-like and very quiet.

The polls closed at 5 o'clock which is said to be the ruling of the city charter but was not generally known and as many waited until sundown they lost the opportunity to vote.

Dr. Marshall, the new city commissioner, is a well-known citizen of Sanford and a former resident of Oveido. He is a practicing physician and owns property in this city and takes a deep interest in city affairs. He is Exalted Ruler of the Elks and has many friends who are looking forward to a clean and manly record from the new commissioner.

The many friends of B. F. Whitner are not cast down over the defeat of their choice and neither is the candidate since he made a fine race and the close margin should be a cause of congratulation to him and his supporters. Mr. Whitner is one of the pioneer citizens of Sanford and has been connected with the First National Bank for the past twenty-five years, being the cashier at the present time.

FINES AND JAIL SENTENCES DO NOT STOP THE RECKLESS AUTOMOBILE DRIVERS IN CITIES

Chicago Tries Taking Them Through the Morgues and Hospitals

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Heavier fines, jail sentences, and trips through the morgues and hospitals to view the dead and injured victims of reckless automobiles becoming effective in many parts of the middle west to curb the steadily mounting toll of auto victims, digest from reports of several states shows. Fines alone reports indicate not proving effective. In Chicago and Cook county, despite the increasing heavy fines the death toll of auto accidents for the fiscal year ending November 30th was 736 lives compared to 660 last year.

PRIVY COUNCIL MEETS IN BUCKINGHAM PALACE TO CONFIRM TIMOTHY HEALY

As the First Governor General of Ireland and Free State Proclaimed

(By The Associated Press) DUBLIN, Dec. 6.—Ireland took her place among world's commonwealths today, the provisional government ceased to function, its place being taken by permanent parliament and cabinet of the Irish Free State, and a new commonwealth being formally proclaimed with an established government. Governor Healy expected to address both houses later in the week.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—History privy council held in Buckingham palace this evening dealt with the establishment of Ireland as an independent commonwealth. King George signed the proclamation giving effect to the new Irish Free State, also proclamation appointing Timothy Healy as the first Governor General of Ireland.

300 Armed Men Seek Murderer of Woman—Is Escaped Convict

(By The Associated Press) FERRY, Fla., Dec. 6.—A party of approximately 300 armed men last night spread around a swamp some 30 miles from here in an effort to take Charlie Wright, negro, wanted for the murder last Saturday of Miss Ruby Henry, 22 year old teacher.

In the meantime two negroes are held in jail on suspicion, but the authorities said their investigation pointed to Wright as the party who waylaid the young woman a few hundred yards from her home, slashed her throat and administered blows about the body with heavy instruments.

The young woman was enroute from her home to town, a distance of about a quarter of a mile.

Wright has been sought since Sunday morning, when the authorities returned to the scene of the crime in search of clues that might lead to the identity of the assailant. Well concealed in a nearby clump of bushes they found a blood stained razor, a suit case, handbag, and a double barreled shotgun. The investigation then was turned in the direction of the ownership of the articles. It soon developed that they had been stolen.

Wright was found to be an escaped convict from a Dixie county stockade. In addition to the official investigation of the past three days, impromptu searches have been made by groups of men here and there. Yesterday there came a substantial report that the negro Wright was moving about in the woods, approximately 20 miles from here, and the organized posse promptly got under way, headed by Sheriff Lipscomb.

Reports reaching here last night were to the effect that the negro had moved ten miles nearer the Georgia line and it was believed he was surrounded.

But it should be cooler for Christmas weather.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Neel and Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Lillard spent the afternoon in Winter Park.

Election day is passing off very pleasantly and quietly. Not a sound has disturbed the perfect serenity of the day.

Secretary R. W. Pearman spent the day in Orlando where he was the guest of the Orlando Chamber of Commerce at their regular weekly noonday luncheon.

The tool supply shed for the work at the new Milane theatre is being constructed and the big force of men will soon get busy on the foundations and walls of the new theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Murrell have moved to Orlando where they will make their future home. Mr. Murrell will confine his attention to the art of window dressing, something in which he is very efficient.

Mayor Duckworth, George McCullough, Dave Rogers and Dr. J. S. McEwan of Orlando were among the prominent visitors to the city today and their many Sanford friends were giving them a warm welcome.

F. W. Huston, general manager of the Southern Utilities, and George Hilly, treasurer of the same company and Vic Vickery, a prominent life insurance man, all of Palatka, were in the city today mingling with their many friends.

The county commissioners are meeting today at the court house holding their regular monthly meeting and having many matters of interest to the county and the inhabitants thereof. The official proceedings will be published in the Herald this week.

The benches furnished the grounds for the tourist amusement at Kiwanis Court at the corner of Magnolia and Second streets. The benches will have a canopy for the protection of the guests and horsehoes will be arranged for barnyard golf and there will be other amusements for the tourists. This is a fine location and the Kiwanis Club is to be commended for their good work in this respect. It will be greatly appreciated by the visitors to the city and the home folks.

THE WEATHER

For Florida: Wednesday cloudy; probably local rains and cooler in north and central portion.

SANFORD'S TEMPERATURE

Not so bad at 82 as the max on election day. The bulb usually mounts rather high on that day but all is quiet along the St. Johns today and lettuce keep it that way until we turnip our potatoes in the spring. What did you think of those jokes in the Sanford movies. They were true to life at that. Yes, the weather is fine.

THE BAT

Princess Theatre, Monday Dec. 11. "The Bat," the most successful play of its kind ever produced, and written by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood, will be presented at the Princess Theatre on Monday, December 11. This is an event in the theatre. If you doubt it just remember that "The Bat" played for more than two years in New York; played for over one year in Chicago and has been the outstanding success of all dramatic plays in both cities. In addition it is now the reigning sensation in London.

"The Bat" has been variously described by critics. Some have referred to it as a "dramatic smash." It is. Others have called it "The Play of a Century." That is not exaggeration. Its record speaks for itself.

Without resorting to superlatives, however, "The Bat" may be described as a thrilling dramatic play in which the suspense is sustained from curtain to curtain and running thru which there is one of the most delightfully funny characters ever introduced on the stage. It is 100 per cent entertainment and its best advertisement is what those who have seen it have to say about it.

No attempt will be made here nor in any other advance notice of "The Bat" to tell the story of the play. As a matter of fact "The Bat" is one play—and perhaps the only one—of which the story is never told. From the night it first opened, its authors and managers, the Messrs. Wagenhals and Kemper, have made it a point to ask both critics and public alike to refrain from telling the story of the play. And there is not one, so far as is known, who has broken faith. Suffice to say, "The Bat" comes here, staged exactly as it was played in New York and Chicago and acted by a company of excellence.

Be sure and bring the kiddies to the Holy Cross Bazaar Wednesday and Thursday at the Parish House. There will be special features provided for them. Among them being the "Sand Pile" (a new grab bag) in which all kinds of lovely toys are hidden. This will be both afternoons and evenings. Besides that, there will be free entertainments in the evening by the members of the Girls' Friendly Society, these will be enjoyable for both old and young. Be sure and come.

ST. AGNES GUILD

The regular meeting of the St. Agnes Guild was held yesterday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Julius Takach on Eleventh street.

The first part of the afternoon was devoted to business, articles were turned in and marked for the bazaar to be held Wednesday and Thursday of this week at the Parish House. After the business had been disposed of a short musical program was enjoyed and refreshments of ice cream topped with peaches and cakes were served by the hostess assisted by her sisters, Mrs. Seth Woodruff and DeLafey.

Among the members present at yesterday's meeting were: Miss Helen Terwilliger, Mrs. M. Minarik, Mrs. Archie Betts, Mrs. Raymond Key, Mrs. Clifford Peabody, Mrs. Seth Woodruff, Mrs. DeLafey, Mrs. Derby, Mrs. Lenke, Mrs. J. B. Coleman, Mrs. Howard Overlin, Mrs. Fred Daiger, Mrs. Paul Biggers and Mrs. W. M. Belding.

There will not be any more meetings until after Christmas, the next meeting being January 7th at the home of Mrs. W. M. Belding.

Congratulations to Palatka upon the opening of the Putnam County fair. It is the county fair that up-build farming communities.

We have so much to tell the world about this great section that it is difficult to tell where to start. The true story of the wealth in the soil of Seminole county would sound stranger than fiction.

The big edition of the Sanford Herald is enough to make everybody wonder how that city can support such a paper as that, until they learn that it is because of the celery, and other things there.—Tampa Tribune.

Time for congressmen to send out seeds again and the fellow who has a plot of ground will plant the same and thank the congressman for small favors and then watch the vegetables grow. If they grow, all right; the congressman will get the vote, and vice versa.

Orlando is making arrangements to buy the fair grounds. It would be a wise investment for Orlando. They have one of the finest locations for fair grounds, ball park and amusements of all kinds that any city in Florida can boast and the city should get it while the getting is good.

The deposed Sultan of Turkey left about two hundred beautiful wives in Constantinople when he was deposed and made to leave the country and now those wives are left without any means of support and the Turkish government wants to dispose of them. If any of the summer widowers in and around Sanford need some nice servant girls in their homes next summer it would be a fine chance to get competent help (for their wives) you know.

It seems that we are not to have the pleasure of a visit from President and Mrs. Harding this year. Despatches from the White House say that they will take a vacation but will not come to Florida. However, when the snow is on the ground and the president begins to think of Florida he will no doubt change his mind. And he should come to Sanford where there is the best golf playing in the world.

The Sanford Herald which now puts on the appearance of a metropolitan newspaper came out in a 24 page Thanksgiving edition last Monday. Sanford is a commercial city of growing importance and the determination of Bob Holly to have the Herald lead in the march of progress, is characteristic of the experienced newspaper man who understands the mission of the press to be one of leadership in community affairs. Success to you neighbor.—Reporter-Star.

The Sanford people who belong to the Country Club are certainly getting a lot of enjoyment out of the golf links. There is not a day passes but what the links are filled with players and the players are not confined to local people. Players from other cities in the country are coming here attracted by our fine golf links and they all say they have been agreeably surprised at the fine grounds and that Sanford has a Country Club and golf links of which they can well feel proud. The money spent on this project will return to Sanford one hundred fold not only in actual cash but in enjoyment as well.

Election passed off very quietly yesterday and now that all elections are over for a spell we can settle down to real business. It is good sometimes to forget politics, forget the street corner chatter, forget to take out the hammer and get down to real constructive building. No city can prosper that spends all the time chewing the rag about politics and while Sanford is getting better all the time on this score let us try to uphold the city commissioner's hands instead of kicking them in the slats every time they make a mistake. We should all get in the game of building up Sanford and not tearing down.

THE MOSQUITO CAMPAIGN

The Herald hopes that representatives from Sanford will attend the mosquito campaign in Daytona today and tomorrow. They will learn something to the advantage of the city and county. It is all right for certain sections to say they have no mosquitoes, but there are few spots in the United States free of these pests in the hot weather and they are said to be the worst in cold Alaska. We have them in Sanford and we had them here this summer worse than they have been in years just as other parts of the entire country had them. And to find out how to get rid of them is the greatest thing we can do. The Lakeland Star-Telegram says:

"Opening Wednesday and continuing through to Thursday night a conference is to be held under the auspices of the State Board of Health to see what can be done about eliminating the mosquito from Florida. There is a possibility that the outside world, when it reads about this conference, will jump to the conclusion that Florida is mosquito-ridden. The object sought is worth running a chance of misconception. There is so much of benefit to be gained in a permanent way that the subject can well afford to be handled without gloves. In many instances the existence of the mosquito is solely due to the indifference and carelessness of man and it is to overcome this carelessness and this indifference that the health authorities are seeking to get together the best minds of the state so that the pest may be removed and Florida freed from a needless nuisance.

"Here in Polk county there is absolutely no excuse for the presence of mosquitoes. Conditions can readily be brought about that would make it impossible for the mosquito to find a breeding place. The few that are noticed in Lakeland are purely a domestic variety, being home sown in cans and other receptacles holding stagnant water. Out of the Daytona deliberations will probably come some practical plans for a mosquito-free state."

PANHANDLERS

Florida has the kindest hearted people in the world. We would not knowingly or willingly let any human being go actually hungry, no matter how little deserving that being might be in every other way. But Florida does not intend to be the banquet hall for every trifling loafer who comes to this state in winter for the express purpose of living on the fat of the land and without cost to himself in either cash or labor.

Tampa is handling the situation this season very well. The panhandler who gets away with more than a couple of free meals without being actually in need and worthy of being fed, is smarter than we think he is. The business men of this city took that matter up early in the summer and arranged a plan whereby they get the measure of every mendicant pretty soon after he lands and starts work. Some have already landed in jail, others have been sent out and told not to return, and still others are undergoing a close scrutiny every day without knowing it.

Florida is trying to give some employment to every person who really needs and applies for it. There is plenty of work in the state, but as the Sanford Herald says, it is not the kind of work the panhandler is looking for. When the storm of a year ago left the city filled with debris, work was offered to all who wanted it. One man, a banker, told of six young white men applying to him and his putting them into the tangle of trash left in his yard by the storm. They worked about twenty minutes and then after a conference sent a "representative" to him to say: "You know we charge six dollars a day for this kind of work." Just such workers as those are still coming to Florida. And such as these are going to get nothing free in this state, if the people get wise to them—and they will.—Tampa Tribune.

OKEECHOBEE COUNTY TO BOOM

"We will soon have twelve or fifteen turpentine stills in Okeechobee county," the Okeechobee News reports, adding that the owners of the enterprise are locating buildings and getting ready for operations as soon as men and materials arrive. The extension of this industry will increase the population of Okeechobee county by some twelve hundred to fifteen hundred families, and, as the News says, add to the taxable valuations and create payrolls from which merchants will benefit. A further consequence is to be twenty miles more of telegraph line, numerous telephone extensions, railroad yards, railroad shops, more labor and still bigger pay rolls. The way other things are going in Okeechobee county makes the editor of the News jubilant, and with reason: "The Southern cattle ranch will never stop dipping. They have just rounded up 6,000 head of cattle and are not half through" this being another evidence of how the county is coming to the front. The paper points out that it took nerve to start a city and create a county "fifty miles in the wilderness and out on the prairie, almost out of civilization," but the undertaking is proving a success.

Okeechobee county borders Palm Beach county and its growth and prosperity will be reflected here. The turpentine, cattle and fishing industries, which are the chief business in Okeechobee county, are established in the part of Palm Beach county which joins Okeechobee, and these industries are developing and being maintained here also. When the Indian town road has been improved—as it deserves to be improved and the Florida East Coast railroad is extended from Okeechobee City to Canal Point, the present happy relations between the two counties will be strengthened to the profit of each.—Palm Beach Post.

PLAYING FAIR WITH THE BANK ACCOUNT

Plenty of people must think mighty poorly of themselves, for no matter how honorable they may be in their dealings with others, they don't seem to be able to keep pledges and promises made privately, "twixt me and myself."

There is that promise you made to put aside five, ten or fifteen dollars in the savings bank every month, and how are you keeping it? Yet if you were buying real estate or some kind of stock and were pledged to partial payments on the first or the fifteenth of every month, that obligation would be met, and the money would go where it was pledged.

Are we so weak minded, so lax in our dealings with ourselves, that such a system has become chronic? Let's hope not, for the savings banks are the refuge of the small investor.

It has been urged in certain quarters that banks devise some sort of investment scheme for the man or woman who wants to invest small sums each month. It is said if the banks would do this it would go far to offset the sale of fake stocks.

There is no doubt that the handling of small securities by reputable banking concerns would interest the small investor who feels that the banks have no interest in him. On the other hand there is this for the small investor to remember—he has no better friend than the savings deposit itself. It may offer a lower rate of interest than some other securities, but in turn it lacks some of their disadvantages. Every dollar deposited bears interest, and every dollar of accrued interest bears interest in its turn. It is quickly available and knows no periods of depreciation. When the sum in the savings bank has reached appreciable size, it can be re-invested upon the advice of the banker, in some good security and in this way the savings bank deposit serves a double purpose, receiving the regular monthly contribution, and storing up a fund toward a wise investment.

With this thought in view, isn't it about time we became honest with ourselves and played fair with the savings bank account that ought to grow regularly month by month?—St. Augustine Record.

THE STORY OF THE CHRISTMAS SEAL

Somewhere deep in the jungle of Cuba General Garcia must be found and a message delivered to him from the President. Strong hearted Lieutenant Rowan stepped before the president and said: "Sir, I will deliver the message to Garcia." It was strapped about his body and the hazardous journey began. For days he traveled under disguise and the shadow of night. The story goes on, but General Garcia was found and a losing battle turned into victory because Rowan never faltered until he delivered the president's message to Garcia.

About this time last year you probably received a letter containing some penny seals sent by the Florida Public Health Association asking you to purchase those little seals and contribute to the support of combating tuberculosis throughout the state. Perhaps you bought the little penny stamps, perhaps you didn't. This year, as the Christmas season of Good Will toward All Men approaches, you will again be asked to purchase the little penny stamps. Perhaps you will buy, perhaps you won't. Perhaps if you do buy you will do so because you want to lend a Christmas flavor to your Yule-tide mail, never stopping to think that behind every one of those little penny stamps is a story of saving human lives—a pathetic message to Garcia. You did not stop to think that in your purchase the Tuberculosis Christmas seals you were helping in a movement which saves many thousands of lives in the United States annually—hundreds of lives in Florida; that you were sending a health angel into the homes of your less fortunate neighbors, and that you were helping to educate more than fifty thousand school children in health matters that will prolong life and make the children of today healthy and strong for the healthy usage of society tomorrow when they must take their stand in the ranks of men and women who will direct our affairs and the affairs of the nation.

The dollar you contributed last year when you bought Tuberculosis Christmas Seals tells this story.

Somewhere in the jungles of Florida little twelve-year-old Garcia was not well. His cheeks were pale and thin, he tride very quickly and leaned against the school-house wall while other children played. He had lost weight and had no appetite. He was intermittently out of school and backward in his studies.

Nobody in little Garcia's family thought much about it. They took it as a decree of Providence that he should naturally be a delicate child. The parents were very poor and had to labor from early morn to late at night in their efforts to provide for themselves and three children. In this rural district there is no free medical service; but many miles away, in an adjoining county, the Florida Public Health Association maintains a free dispensary and nursing center where all may come for free medical examination and nursing service.

Came there a day when a friendly neighbor wrote a letter in little Garcia's behalf. In due course of time the story reached the public health nurse many miles away. Sunday, after her week of hard and long hours serving those in her own community, she gave up her only day of rest and set out over the rough roads to go to little Garcia and the family in another county.

"Tuberculosis" was the reserved conclusion of the nurse, though she tactfully kept the heretofore verdict from the poor and already overburdened hearts of father and mother until another day when she could point to the hopeful side of their pathetic situation.

Some days later another journey was made across country to this little family circle. Little Garcia was given a very thorough examination by a specialist trained in the diagnosis of tuberculosis. The verdict of this examiner was "tuberculosis." The nurse had prepared for the worst and stepped between the cold verdict rendered by the physician and the mother's breaking heart and assured her that she would care for Garcia and get him well.

Time went on. Garcia was provided with proper sleeping conditions, preventing a possibility of a spread of contagion to his little brother and sister. Milk, eggs, cereals—strength building foods, were provided. He had gained several pounds, the childish sparkle has returned to his eyes, the color to his cheeks, he now plays with his little school chums—he is conquering his implacable foe. More than this, his little brother and sister have been taught hygiene. His father and mother have learned things about the care of the child, sanitation and food values they never knew existed. Is it too much to say that a little life has been snatched from long misery—perhaps an untimely grave?

Christmas Seals, the little penny stamps tell this story, and many hundreds like it. When you bought the Tuberculosis Christmas Seals last year you sent this ministering angel on her mission of health to needy ones. She took the Message to Garcia. Did you send it?

If you bought Tuberculosis Christmas Seals last year, won't you buy again this year? If you did not, then won't you send a message to Garcia? If you have had no opportunity to buy Christmas Seals they will be sent to you if you will make the request to the Florida Public Health Association, 507 Dyal Upchurch Building, Jacksonville, Florida.

FROM OTHER SANCTUMS

OTHER SANCTUMS AMERICANIZE AMERICA

President Harding called congress into special session to consider the perplexing problem of ship subsidy. It's a mixed question, one that is most complex; it involves such either way you look at it and it unquestionably benefits some and harms others whichever way it goes; whether we subsidize or do not subsidize or merchant marine. It is charged that it is a Standard Oil measure. Some turn a deaf ear to the president's appeal and denounce the whole issue on this one charge. If that which was in fact a special privilege measure or the Standard Oil should be the one thing that would do most to help all business, why spite ourselves to deny the Standard Oil? We find a shipping board, confessedly incompetent, losing $50,000,000 a year, asking that we give it more money to distribute.

We used to sell practically all our bulk production to ourselves. Now we must find foreign markets for the excess which our own home markets do not consume. How are we going to get our goods to markets if we don't build the delivery vehicle?

One side tells us that we pay our seamen too much to compete against nations that pay less. We find that most nations pay more than we pay. Of all the great shippers, Japan alone is lower.

We find in other countries a national loyalty that induces shippers to patronize the boats that bear their own national emblem. We are told that the American shipper doesn't care a continental what flag a ship may fly; his is a lip loyalty. He has no national sentiment. American ships have failed at sea because the American shipper hasn't patriotism enough to patronize the ships that carry his own flag.

American ship builders go to English ship docks to have their ships made and launched on foreign shores when good business, as good patriotism would prompt them to build their ships here.

Practically all American shippers insure with foreign companies, thus taking money out of this country. They do this because the American marine insurance companies, in a combine recently validated by act of congress, soak American shippers and thus drive money away which might be re-invested in American ships.

All of this debate and controversy over the ship subsidy issue proves one very decided thing and that is that we need to Americanize America. Both those who favor ship subsidy and those who oppose it exhibit in their arguments a very un-American attitude on the part of ship builders, ship insurance companies and shippers generally.

On the radical side of congress you find such a man as La Follette who, opposing ship subsidy, made his campaign in his state by appealing not to American sentiment but to the foreign sentiment of the un-Americanized voters of Wisconsin.

The ship subsidy bill to congress is convincing in this one particular: that congress should go farther than the ship subsidy question and devise ways and means of Americanizing the American people, building up a national loyalty that will prompt every American to patronize and promote American enterprise.—Jacksonville Journal.

Don't be Fooled. "Fool me once," says the proverb, "and it's shame on you. Fool me twice and it's shame on me." Don't be fooled when it comes to spending your money. Patronize the merchants who have a reputation for fair dealing and honesty. Such motives must actuate the consistent advertiser. The man who invests real money in building a reputation for himself and his merchandise cannot afford to risk any of it by taking unfair advantage of his patrons. The consistent advertiser pays money to tell you about his goods. He KNOWS they are good—he backs them with his money because he believes they will satisfy. Only merchandise which is consistently good can be consistently advertised. So advertising PROTECTS you against fraud and inferiority. It tells you what is new and good, making you a wise buyer. It saves you money by pointing out for your consideration ONLY THE BEST products and the best places to buy them. Thrifty men and women read the advertisements. To them it is a plain every-day business proposition—a DUTY they owe to themselves and to their pocketbooks. Don't be fooled! Don't Spend Your Money Blindly Read the Advertisements

STARVE TO HELP NEW-BORN INFANT

Crew of Schooner, Becalmed 43 Days, Go Mad to Give Food to Mother With Baby.

San Francisco.—A tale of the sea, a becalmed ship, a starving crew and a mother with a new-born babe, to preserve whose life every one else sacrificed rations, thrilled the water front here upon the arrival of the motor ship, Annie Johnson, with news of the San Francisco schooner, William H. Smith.

The schooner was becalmed in the Pacific for 43 days, and was discovered when Captain Murray of the

A Pitiable Condition.

Johnson responded to her signals of distress and provided her with supplies.

A pitiable condition was found aboard the schooner. The crew of seven men had been 11 days almost without food except the coya with which the schooner was loaded.

They were physically unable to hoist the emergency supply of rations over the ship's side.

In the cabin Mrs. Nels P. Jensen, wife of the master, was attempting to nurse her baby whose cries rapidly were growing weaker. The mother, although favored by captain and crew in the matter of available food, could not supply sufficient nourishment for the infant.

The crew of the becalmed vessel, it was said, was beginning to show signs of insanity when the motor ship came to the rescue.

For 110 days no word had been heard from the unfortunate vessel, and she had been given up for lost.

NEW ONE FOR POLICE

One Spills Victim With Crutch While the Other Goes Through His Pockets and Relieves Him of Valuables.

New York.—John Rozwell, thirty-three years old, of 101 Allen street, was held by Magistrate Doumas in Essex Market court in $10,000 bail for the action of the grand jury on charges of robbery and felonious assault.

Rozwell, who is minus his right leg, is said to have held up and robbed John Ketel, forty-five, a house wrecker of 45 Allen street, with the assistance of another cripple, a man with his left arm mangled.

Ketel said he was passing through Hester street when Rozwell thrust a crutch between his legs, spilling him on the pavement. As he went down, he says, the other cripple pounced on him and made a narrow gauge search of his pockets, bringing forth a consumptive roll of $11.

Deaths Him With Crutch. In the meantime Rozwell, as a means of discouraging Ketel from arising, was beating a devil's tattoo on his skull with the half-moon end of a crutch.

When Ketel felt his roll slipping from him, possibly forever, he opened his mouth and released one of the loudest screams heard in many a long day in Hester street, where the loud lunged screech builds its nest and rears its young.

The agonized accents brought Patrolman Dan Lynch on the run. As Daniel breezed into the picture, the man with the one arm and the taking ways dropped out of it.

Rozwell, too, thought it was time that he was going. He started away on one crutch at remarkable speed and was making good headway when his crutch skidded on an empty lemon skin and clattered across the pavement into the gutter.

Goos After Hop Record. With Fate calling the odds on him at a thousand to one, Johnny Rozwell took a chance. Men have scented their way to victory. Others have vaulted, run and jumped. Standing there with one leg, both crutches gone, Johnny stepped out after a new record. He was going to hop to freedom.

It was a memorable event for the length of a block. No one was on hand to time him or to scale the swing of the arcs he described. Had there been there's small doubt that Allan A. Ryan, who gained fame through his corner of Stutz stock two years ago, has declared himself bankrupt with liabilities of $23,435,477 and assets of $649,529.

MOTHER SEES BOY DROWN

Parent Bess Body of Son, Two, Who Lagged Behind, Float Helplessly Down River.

White Plains, N. Y.—While a mother and daughter sat idly on the bank of the Sawmill river at Thornwood, a few miles from here, awaiting the return of the two-year-old son of the family, who had lagged behind during a walk through the woods, they saw a body floating down with the tide. The mother, Mrs. Rose Vesel, New York city, screamed, waded into the river to her waist, and brought the body of her son, Patrick, to the bank.

Both mother and daughter worked feverishly over the body, but to no avail. A physician was called and he used a pulmonary, but efforts to revive the boy failed. It is thought that the child slipped while playing on the bank.

FIND SKELETON IN CHAINS

Unearthed in a Mound in Florida; May Have Been That of a War Prisoner.

New Smyrna, Fla.—Removal of part of an inconspicuous mound from a lot adjacent to the Dixie highway on the outskirts of this city has uncovered the burying place of either a prisoner of war or a slave of the European or Indian inhabitants of Florida of more than 100 years ago. The mound, about five feet in height and of small area, has been a familiar object, and tall oaks and palm-trees are growing upon it.

A real estate dealer, who had the property listed, noticed recently that some unauthorized person had been removing earth from the mound, and upon investigation he discovered what he at first believed to be a shell of peculiar form. It was identified later as part of a human skull, and further excavation disclosed the skeleton of a man who was about six feet in height. Rusty chains were about the neck, arms and legs, with all sections of the chains joined together.

The body had been placed upon the level ground and the earth had been heaped over and around it.

"Champion Panhandler" Must Serve Jail Term

William Powers, of Boston, self-styled "champion panhandler of the world," boasted in a municipal court that he made from $3,000 to $5,000 a year by begging. The court expressed surprise and then sentenced Powers to six months in jail. He was arrested on a charge of vagrancy.

Johnny today would be acclaimed the champion all round outdoor one-legged hopper of the civilized world.

While Dan Lynch was conveying Johnny Rozwell to jail, an ambulance surgeon from Bellevue hospital was placing 11 stitches in Ketel's scalp—one stitch for every dollar he had lost.

MOTHER SEES BOY DROWN

Parent Bess Body of Son, Two, Who Lagged Behind, Float Helplessly Down River.

White Plains, N. Y.—While a mother and daughter sat idly on the bank of the Sawmill river at Thornwood, a few miles from here, awaiting the return of the two-year-old son of the family, who had lagged behind during a walk through the woods, they saw a body floating down with the tide. The mother, Mrs. Rose Vesel, New York city, screamed, waded into the river to her waist, and brought the body of her son, Patrick, to the bank.

Both mother and daughter worked feverishly over the body, but to no avail. A physician was called and he used a pulmonary, but efforts to revive the boy failed. It is thought that the child slipped while playing on the bank.
