

Seabreeze Launches Bombing Attack On SHS Celery Feds

The Pierce brothers of Seabreeze High School out on a little basketball bombing attack in their home gym last evening and when the dust had finally settled the dazed Celery Feds found themselves for the first time in that breezy city, on the losing end. Score: Seabreeze 23, Sanford 12.

That famous point racking committee of the IFA (basketball association) known as Warren Daniels and Bill Fleming, actually scored one more point than the Pierce arrow boys, dunking the ball into the hoop for 17 points against 16 points made by Coach McCracken's star duet, but all in vain. Save for Roland, the rest of the Feds appeared to have forgotten to eat their celery.

The Feds however, trading at the half 13 to 7, made a fine start in the third quarter, actually taking over the offensive and leading 11 to 13. The Seabreeze boys then lumbered up their heavy guns, and the Feds did a Rommel retreat and the quarter ended with Seabreeze three points in the lead, according to Coach Leonard Kichars.

Bear Succumbs To Spring's Appeal And Takes Hike

NEW YORK, 26. (Special) — A Roosevelt four-year-old Russian-brown bear, succumbed recently to whatever appeal a Spring like day has for Ursus arctos, and went for a mile-long stroll through the streets of Roosevelt, Queens.

The bear's adventure was tame as he was censored, but his unexpected appearance in the quiet city street provided excitement for hundreds of Queens residents, a problem for a score of police, and trouble for his owner, who got a summons.

Tuffy lives with his parents, Bill and Rose, on a cage at the rear of the home of Stanley George, son of a Romany chief, at 146-32 231st Street, Rosedale. At 2 P. M. the gypsy children, the George clan opened the cage door to feed the three bears.

His elders accepted the food with becoming gratitude, but the smallest, a steady, mischievous, first bear to stretch himself without bumping into his parents.

Before he reached the park, however, he was overtaken by an automobile driven by a neighbor of the George family whose aid had been enlisted in the absence of Stanley and his father, Gus. The gypsy, however, had no check on Tuffy's progress by edging in front of the bear and forcing him to the curb.

These antics availed nothing, since Tuffy simply outflanked the car and continued on his way. The park was full of people enjoying the sunshine and the Saturday daylight alert Mayor F. H. LaGuardia would have been pleased by the speed of the dispersal.

The neighbor in the automobile continued his harassing tactics, so Tuffy forsook the park and continued the jaunt along Mayday Road, followed by a throng of several hundred people who stayed a cautious 200 yards to the rear.

At 2:14 Mayday Road Tuffy gave up and entered an empty two-car garage owned by Henry J. Macdonald, Mr. Macdonald promptly and fearfully closed the sliding doors, and Tuffy just as promptly put one huge paw through the glass window in the upper part of the door.

Five police arrived from the Queens Village station and fifteen more came from the Ozone Park station. These officers, some of them armed with rifles, deployed in front of the garage and debated their next move.

Before they could agree on a plan of attack, Gus George, the 80-year-old Rommany chief, arrived on the scene with an apple, a nose-ring and a chain. The gypsy offered the apple through the shattered window, and Tuffy, apparently having overcome his disinclination for such titbits, accepted it in his non-retractable claws and munched it thoughtfully.

Tuffy then poked his nose through the window to see if there were any more apples where that one came from, and Gus spoke to him sharply in the gypsy tongue and affixed the ring to Tuffy's nose. He opened the garage door, attached the chain to the ring and that was the end of the adventure. The old gypsy led Tuffy quietly back over the "Mingling" route to his cage.

Police followed and gave Stanley George a summons to appear today in Flushing Magistrate's court on a charge of allowing a wild animal to roam at large in the streets.

Censor Uses Six Tongues In Work With Service Men

LONDON, Feb. 26. — They're not American, are they? — of their letters home start "Dear Mom" but not all of them.

In this Eastern Theater of Operations of the United States Army, hundreds of good soldiers have difficulty speaking English and can write it little or not at all. They are encouraged to write in their mother tongues since the Army feels that this is just one of the fundamental rights of a democracy.

These letters in foreign languages are censored personally by Lieut. Col. Ferdinand A. Hirsy or his foreign language staff scattered throughout ETOUSA. Hailing from Stevens Point, Wis., Lieut. Col. Hirsy speaks six languages and his staff can handle twenty handily.

While letters in foreign tongues usually require less blue pencil than others—because men of other backgrounds are very careful not to break security regulations they are read very carefully if they criticize lack of furloughs or late pay or health conditions. If these men write many complaints about relations with their fellow soldiers or their allies, or if they criticize lack of furloughs or late pay or health conditions, prompt investigations are made with a view to removing ground for the complaints. Officers have found they are less likely than their American comrades to grouse just for the sake of grouching.

Most of the foreign language letters read much as those in English. The men say they are getting along fine, army life isn't so bad and the rest of the things that sons write their mothers the world over; but occasionally Col. Hirsy runs into a problem. Like the case of the soldier who was determined to continue his education along with his military service and took a correspondence school course in Russian. The colonel had to wade through page after page of delusions.

The art of making glass was understood for thousands of years before its use in making spectacles was developed.

Japs May Try To Introduce Bogus Bills Into U. S.

By FRANK J. WILSON, Chief, U. S. Secret Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. Suppose you owned a department store and that your competitor hired 500 people to go into your store and buy everything you had in stock, giving you counterfeit money. You can guess the result.

Put a nation, the United States, for instance—in your position as the store owner, and put another nation, Japan, say, in the place of the competitor. The effect on the economic structure of the United States would be devastating.

The enemy would have to believe that it could never happen in your country. That is, without thinking, because throughout the ages kings, statesmen and warriors have circulated counterfeits freely in purchasing supplies for their invasions of Russia and Austria.

Napoleon Bonaparte was a counterfeiter as well as a conqueror. Counterfeit notes were used in purchasing supplies for his invasions of Russia and Austria.

Following the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the Continental Congress issued Continental currency. The British set about producing deceptive counterfeits and dumping them into circulation. This strategy contributed extensively to the downfall of the colonial money, and the expression "not worth a Continental" is in common use today.

A story of the Japanese occupation of Tientsin, China, tells of a neat trick employed by a patriotic Chinese engraver. The Japanese seized him and forced him to engrave plates for counterfeit Chinese one-yuan notes.

Part of the design of genuine notes depicts an old Chinese, the Imperial Taino, holding the scepter of his office in his hands. The engraver, however, changed the original design to show the scepter held under the arm of the figure, and the index finger of the right hand protruding from a circular opening made by the thumb and index finger of the left hand. The nose is humorous and symbolizes a form of contempt.

The use of bogus currency as an implement of war is an old Japanese custom. In the Russo-Japanese War the treacherous Japanese established in Kobe, Japan, what was probably the most elaborate counterfeiting plant in history, costing approximately $100,000.

There has been much talk of secret weapons. Is it unreasonable to assume that one of these much-heralded aids to Axis victory may be a veritable mountain of counterfeit money? It is not only possible but probably true that one or more of the Axis powers holds such a weapon and is awaiting the psychological moment to loose it in an avalanche.

 (Bombed, January, 1943)

(From The Washington Star)
 A little schoolhouse stands in mortal peril.

At heaven's wide, outwining portal
 Her walls are alabaster
 That were wood and stone and plaster

Her bells ring out to the very rim
 Of day for small new Cherubim
 Eternal youth and beauty there
 Who left their books on the golden stairs

And who have come to ask of God
 Reasons for earth, beneath His rod

Dear little babe ambassadors!
 That they, cherished one implores
 That God shall help men set
 The fragile world . . . revealing light

Breasts from a school at Zion's portal,
 Shining, tear-jeweled and immortal.

We'll bet Gandhi started his fast just to show the people of this country how much rationing is in India.

Most folks are not worrying about what's going to come after the war; they're worrying about what's after them now.

Did you go to church yesterday? Remember that though you are allowed three pairs of shoes, you only have one soul.

A Marine was awarded the Navy cross the other day for killing 200 Japs on Guadalcanal. No doubt he would have gotten the rest of them if his gun hadn't jammed.

They are said to have found soldiers with wooden guns guarding the House office building in Washington. But after all, what are they trying to do?

The St. Augustine Record in Florida is no great hardship to read in spite of your need. May be you can get some extra credit for your fingers in addition, you might as well be in the Solomon Islands.

It's funny how many believe these days are afraid they won't be able to feed their families properly under the new rationing regulations, while our country produces more food than it can eat.

2,700 automobile drivers have taken away from them their cars as a result of driving and having their cars away for periods as long as 180 days.

Fred T. Williams

Sanford and Seminole County have suffered an irreparable loss in the death of Fred T. Williams who for nearly a quarter of a century has been in charge of most of the engineering projects for this community. He was a tireless worker as well as a skillful engineer and the numerous products of his enterprise will long serve as a monument to his memory.

Outside of his professional activities Mr. Williams was able to devote part of his time to all kinds of civic work. He had been for many years chairman of the Seminole County School Board. He was a deacon in the Presbyterian Church. He was a charter member of the Rotary Club and for many years was an active director of the Chamber of Commerce.

One of his major interests in this section was the improvement of the St. Johns River and the proposed construction of a canal leading to the Indian River. He was instrumental in the formation of the St. Johns River Navigation District and later in the St. Johns River Improvement Association which has had much to do with the deepening of the river and with straightening out many of its numerous bends.

It is too bad that he could not have lived to see the completion of his work as was so clearly envisioned last week by Senator Pepper. But there can be little doubt that the goal for which Mr. Williams worked and struggled will some day be fully realized.

Unrationed Clothing

It is rather pathetic to see the frantic efforts which the OPA is now making to convince the public that it has no intention whatever of rationing clothing. Ever since the overnight edict on shoes was sprung on the American public one government official after another has issued public statements denying any intention whatever of rationing other forms of clothing.

But the buying spree which began with shoes continues. No one pays the slightest attention to the OPA promises. Everyone apparently is stocking up with hats, dresses, coats and pants for what they obviously believe is going to be a long hard season. The feeling seems to be widespread that if clothes are rationed people will be limited to a very small proportion of what they normally buy.

Unfortunately the current run on clothing stores is the thing most likely to bring about the very thing which everyone fears. There should be plenty of clothing to go around under normal conditions as domestic stocks of clothing are not being depleted by shipments to foreign countries, but if people try to stock up now for next year and the year after, current stocks of merchandise will not last long.

This deplorable situation illustrates only too well the fallacy of trying to kid the public. So many conflicting statements have come out of Washington during the last few months regarding rationing plans that nobody believes anything. And when the OPA announces that it does not intend to ration clothing, the public takes it for granted that clothing will be rationed.

The old saying that "Honesty is the best policy" applies to governments as well as to individuals. What a fine thing it would be in the present situation if the hoarding of clothing could be stopped by the simple announcement that clothing will not be rationed.

Army Slang, 1943 Edition

The war department bureau of public relations has compiled an official glossary of military slang—perhaps to help us understand Johnny's new lingo when he comes marching home. A rich imagination is indicated for the unknown soldier originators of some of the following:

- Armored cow—Canned milk.

- Battery acid—Coffee.
- Blind flying—A date with a girl you have never seen.
- Bunk flying—Talking aviation in barracks (air faeces).
- China clipper—Dishwasher.
- Chinese landing—One Wing Low.
- Dog Show—Foot inspection.
- Galvanized gelding—a tank.
- General's car—A wheelbarrow.
- Hashburned—Cook.
- Homing device—A furlough.
- Jackson—Form of address for any soldier.
- Refugees—Newly arrived recruits.
- Roll up your flaps—Stop talking.
- Serum—Intoxicating beverages.
- Shot down in flames—Killed by a girl friend.
- Sidle arms—Cream and sugar.

Dear Mr. Dean:

The writer's attention was called to the editorial in your issue of the 23rd, entitled "Need For Unity". The writer believes in unity and cooperation in problems that will benefit Florida, in which Sanford and all agricultural products will participate.

We are, naturally, strongly in favor of improving all NATURAL WATERWAYS. We believe that the channel in the St. Johns River should be widened and deepened with a connection between the Indian River and the St. Johns River. This channel is to be built.

canal, across the state or from the middle of the state that would improve the water supply by connecting the agricultural interests of Florida.

The United States Government will not spend the money to provide for Florida. It will, however, contribute money for natural waterways that will provide transportation facilities for agricultural products.

The writer is not sure if it is the plan of Senator Pepper to have this canal built. It would be a fine thing if it were.

The first million men sent in the U.S. Service. The quantity is 25,000 tons and the cost per ton is $2,700,000. It is estimated that service men consume five and one-half pounds of food per day to the civilian's four pounds. A report from a battleship at sea says that its complement of probably 600 to 700 men requires 170 pounds of coffee per day and in a month they use 5,100 pounds of beef, their entire food cost running to about $1,000 a day.

The federal director of civil defense says there is an increasing danger of an Axis air raid on the U.S. east coast; probably to bolster the fast falling German morale. But that would be the last straw to break the camel's back.

War brings out the worst or the best in us. A soldier had been so badly mutilated that he wrote his sweetheart that he released her from her promise to marry him. She replied that she would keep it as long as there was enough left of him for identification. Wasn't that splendid?

We are pleased to have our principal, Mr. Kipp, called to Tallahassee by the State Superintendent, Colin English, having been chosen with six other principals throughout the state to serve on the Text Book Rating Committee. This committee selected the "Arithmetic We Use" published by John C. Winston Co., as a text book to be used in the Florida Elementary Schools for the next eight years.

Ninety-two books were submitted for consideration of this committee. The Winston book was finally selected because of its treatment of Basic Concepts in Skills in Problem Solving, Remedial and Testing Program, and Problem Situation being meaningful in the lives of the boys and girls.

MRS. MCKINNON—Room 3
 A NEW RULE IN MIAMI
 There is a new rule, that was made in Miami, that in some ways is good. The rule is that mothers who are not bringing their children up in the right way are being tried in court.

We had a discussion about it in Room 8, and several gave their opinions. Several said that they did not like the rule, but most of the class approved it. One girl said, "Maybe it was not the Mother's fault. Perhaps their Mothers did not teach them to do the right thing so they do not know what is right."

One person said that we should do like people in Denmark. They have schools for adults.

The Judge up in Miami thinks when a child comes home from school and says the teacher has been picking on him, the parent should say, "What did you do?" It is not the teachers and church's fault, it's the way the Mother brings up the child.

I think the Mother's place is at home—most of the time anyway. If the Mothers would stay home and read the Bible to their children and tell them what is right and see that they do it, we might not have wars again.

MARY HELEN WHITE—Room 8
 We are enjoying studying in our new English books. Last week our lesson was about trips. Talks were given about trips we had taken. Billy Lyon told about his airplane trip from Panama to Miami. Billy's father is a colonel in the Army in Panama and last April the government gave orders for all wives and children of services men to return to the United States. Billy said when they left Panama the shades on the windows of the plane were drawn so the passengers couldn't see the canal, but after awhile they were allowed to look out, but they flew so high that they couldn't see anything except the sea. They landed in Cuba to repair the ship.

Billy's sister was sick and her ears hurt from the air-pressure, but Billy said he felt fine. He also showed the class some souvenirs of Panama. At recess the pupils watched the ships going through the locks of the canal and today they saw a couple of ships. Two destroyers and an airplane carrier.

JANE FORD—Room 1
 I WENT TO THE BANDHELL MORNING. John Williams, George Burdette, and Pauline Conner, and Stanley O'Connell were among those who went to the Army.

The platform was Barbara Baskin and Bob Deane.

They said that the Governor had met the family to see how they were getting on. They said they had to leave early in the morning.

MRS. EMERICK cut her second stencil this week, she is getting to be a regular stencil cutter.

MRS. HALL'S first period English class is studying about the sentence, if you want to know if a sentence is simple or compound, just come up to school from 9:00 to 10:00 every morning.

It seems that we had a holiday last Monday for the teachers and some of the pupils to help with the rationing, this is one of the bright sides of the war.

One of our most regular students is MRS. MAXWELL'S GRAMMATIC M. A. R. Y. JEAN, who comes to school and plays with the filing boxes and writes on the "writing board" as she calls it.

The pupils who were to take the Civil Service Test this week were WINIFRED LOVELL and MRS. MORAN, but it seems that MRS. MORAN's son was sick and that WINIFRED LOVELL is working at the Naval Station.

The new pupils this week are MRS. N. L. NOHRIS, MAMIE F. HARRISON, MRS. J. I. HANNA, JEAN, who comes up to school ELIZABETH WYNN.

We are glad to see BETTY SHELTON back. We are also glad to see HELEN STAFFORD after she has been taking a rest from school.

JOYCE WHIDDON has started taking shorthand this week. We hope she lives through it.

We are sorry to lose MRS. GEORGIA MOBLEY HARRIS who has to stop school for a while on account of ill health. We hope she will be able to return soon.

EVERLYN SHIVEY is back from working at Kierhoff's Office last week.

We are wondering what has happened to TONEY FAKES. Is he skipping school?

The typing class has been studying "rhythm drills." It surely makes a noise with the typewriters and music going at the same time, but all the typists seem to enjoy the music even if they can't keep up with it. Take me, for instance.

FANCHON KEENER is coming right along in bookkeeping since she started last week.

MELVALEE THOMPSON, one of our former students, paid us a visit this week. She is now employed at Camp Handing as a stenographer. We were all glad to see her again.

MRS. MAXWELL is taking over Mrs. Hall's second year shorthand class and combining it with her's to speed up.

"If you want to find out how much you don't know, just start in Mrs. Maxwell's Office Practical Class. This is from a student of this class.

The first lesson in the new filling class will be given Tuesday morning at 9:00. If you want to be in this class, please come then.

Some of the students are addressing several thousand envelopes for the Salvation Army this week.

The ones who helped with the rationing last week are: MRS. EMERICK, MRS. TEMPLEMAN, MRS. LYON, MRS. TOPLOUGH, MRS. B. B. SMITH, MRS. KENNEDY, MRS. WOOLLEY, MRS. HANNA, MRS. KNOX, MRS. TILLIS, MRS. FORT, MRS. HALL, and MRS. MAXWELL.

One of our students, HELEN MCGILL, is now working at The Sanford Atlantic National Bank.

Well, we are to the part of this column that you like best, the jokes:

Little boy: "My mother is saving fat to help win the war."
 Little boy's friend: "My mother is helping lose the war by saving coffee, we have over a hundred pounds."

Dear John:
 Come tomorrow evening sure. Poppa is at home, but is laid up with a very sore foot. Best,
 Helen.

Dear Helen:
 I can't come tomorrow evening? I'm laid up on account of your father's sore foot. Best,
 Sam.

Well, we will close this week, but we will be back next week with more news and jokes.

LYMAN SCHOOL

It seems that the Girls' basketball team can't be beaten since you have read this column we have scored again over Ocoee and Oviedo. This week we meet Appoka and it will probably be a battle royal!

The boys won their first game when they beat Ocoee the other night in a very swift game. Their team has been steadily improving under the coaching of G. Swafford.

John Forward and Elmer Helms, popular Seniors, have gone to Junior College this semester. We miss them but they visit us often and are still members of the class.

We were very happy to welcome Miss Lucy Rommel, our Senior Sponsor to Lyman. She seems greatly interested in the work of the Seniors and maybe we can keep her until graduation. Also, we miss our former substitute, Mrs. Mann. The Seniors, especially, want to welcome her to the Play and the Graduation Exercises.

Another Junior Dance was given Feb 13 at the Library. Swell music and ice cream was enjoyed by everyone. Dances seem to be quite the go in Longwood now.

By the way, speaking of dances, the Seniors are sponsoring a Blackout Dance Feb. 26, at the Library. Drinks will be sold and music will be furnished by a juke organ (we hope). Everyone is invited and we want to see a large crowd out. So come, please. This is all for this week, so until next time, bye.

Did you know that Ruth Strom and Jimmy are going steady? Too bad, boys!

Marty, Ann, and Beattie really swung out on "You Made Me Love You" Wonder who they were thinking of? Could it be Warren, Jimmy, and Nell ??? Our new boy, George Holman and already has his watch! Nice going, Jeanette!

Wesley Jackson spent the week end in Green Cove Springs and came back in a daze! Is she blond, brunette, or red headed, Wesley? Did you know that Angela Meisch is going with a cute Reddman, First Class, named Bob Johnson? That's it, Angela. So that he can wear sleeveless sweaters! With this bit of corn I'll sign off.

One of the greatest achievements in the history of government business is that of the Voluntary War Bond purchases of Americans since Pearl Harbor. Nearly 26,000,000 Americans (the greatest number of people who have ever owned the securities of any government) have purchased War Bonds. Of these, more than 25,000,000 persons have placed the regular purchase of War Bonds first on their budgets through subscribing to the Payroll Savings Plan. In December 1940 some 700,000 workers had pledged an average of 4% of their monthly wages for purchase of $5,000.00 of War Bonds a month. By December 31, 1941, the number of workers on the Payroll Savings Plan had grown to 25,000,000, with a deduction of 9% of their monthly wages for the purchase of nearly $100,000,000 of War Bonds a month. At the present rate of growth, the day is near when 30,000,000 workers will be investing 10% of their pay in War Bonds at the rate of nearly half a billion dollars a month—when sixty million people of all groups will be buying War Bonds out of current income. This is, of course, only the beginning of the story. The increasing cost of total war demands that Americans must increase their regular purchase of War Bonds this year. It is, however, proof that they will make any necessary sacrifice to insure Victory.

Sailor Writes Appreciation To People For Red Cross Kits Sent Overseas

Remember the Red Cross Kits each room prepared to send to the boys in the service? Perhaps some of you thought the boys didn't appreciate them but this letter, a letter from a sailor, should prove to each and every one of you how much these kits mean to our boys while they are away.

U. S. S. Drecklridge (145) Care Postmaster-N. Y. C. February 21, 1941

Dear Friend or Friends:
 Received your small gift bag today, and everyone else as well as myself enjoyed them very much. Regarding the card that was enclosed, it appeared as though you either wanted it, or thought it was going to the soldiers and we hope you're not too disappointed if a few sailors got them instead.

I've been in the Navy two and a half years and this is the first time anything like this has ever happened, and we really appreciate it, and hope you don't think it was done in vain.

Although I was born in N. Y., I have always liked the people of Florida. I spent 10 months in Key West and about two months in Miami and everyone I came in contact with always had something pleasant to say and that is the way you strike me. I have never heard of Sanford but sincerely hope some day my travels will lead me there and maybe meet some of the swell folks that live there. Is there any chance in telling me where it is?

Thanking you again for the swell gift, I remain,
 Faithfully,
 THOMAS D. DYMAN () M.M.E.C.

Japanese Invasion Speeded China Unity

Even "Bandit" Groups Fight for Nation

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

Mme Chiang Kai-shek's visit in Washington developed the surprising bit of information that China is under a queer kind of obligation to Japan. Who would have thought it? The Japs did not intend to do their neighbors a kindness, of course, when they attacked China. Far from it. Their scheme was to rob and enslave them, killing as many as necessary to accomplish their object.

Up to the date of Nippon's attack the Chinese had been a pretty badly disorganized people. There are several different local breeds of them and they generally were anti-Occidental for a long, long time.

No wonder, either. The Occidentals had exploited them for generations. They were such easy suckers that maybe the Westerners were excusable for the advantages they took. And possibly they were educational in the long run. Anyway, the "Chinese" got tired of it finally.

In saying that the Chinese and Americans at ways had been on uninterrupted harmonious relations, Mme Chiang was slightly forgetful of her country's "Boxer rebellion" in the early 1900's. Later, when congress voted the Oriental exclusion act designed to stop Asiatic immigration from across the Pacific, the Chinese certainly did not like that and still don't. Just now, by the way, there's a congressional move to modify it to let Chinese in as coolly as anybody and maybe even more so than Germans.

At all events, the Chinese were considerably disunited at that stage of the game. They needed some influence to solidify them, and, comparatively recently, the Jap attack did the trick. The amalgamation movement doubtless had been working mean time, but the Japanese invasion unquestionably compacted it.

Apparently, from frontier to frontier, it is now unanimous. There are Quilings in other countries. China seems to be remarkably free of them. Even so-called bandits are anti-Axis today. Maybe Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has played the principal part in lining up his countrymen against the enemy. Nevertheless, he needed Allied help. It's been rather slow in coming and Mme Chiang has attended to that part of the job. Partly it's personality, partly it's logic. Women are at a discount in Japan. They weigh in China.

Mme Chiang didn't come to Washington on an official mission but it was more than that. It was social also. And it's international. International politics and public society mix peculiarly, but they do mix.

In short, China is now in American "society." Mme Chiang did it. She is a public character also. He is too busy at home for the present.

In short, Mme Chiang is China's spokeswoman—now. Father Chiang is outvoted at present by Mama. Mama knows more about this country than Papa does. He has visited here but she was educated in our midst. He knows us. She's a "Chino-American." She "belongs." She verges more on being an American than the does Chiang.

Florida's Population Shows Large Increase

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 1. (AP)—Florida's population has increased almost 200,000 since May, 1942, when registration took place for war ration book No. 1, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce has estimated.

At that time the population of the state was estimated at 1,949,000, on the basis of the number of ration books issued. Verification of the large increase since then will result in greater allotments of food and other commodities for the residents of this state, the weekly business review of the state chamber stated.

Point Rationing Of 200 Foods Is Effective Today

Chart Can Be Used In Buying Processed Products

Point rationing of more than 200 processed foods began today and households felt the hardest impact of the war, grocery store managers reported after the first morning of handling consumer-purchaser.

The Office of Price Administration table of point values which appears on this page was run in The Herald by independent grocers for the convenience of their customers. Housewives should study the chart carefully and clip it out for further reference. The chart can be used in making out grocery lists, retailers pointed out.

The following items are not included on the chart and are not rationed: Canned fruits, chicken, corn, fruit cakes, fruit puddings, jams and jellies, pickles, potato salad, preserves and relishes.

So stringent are individual rations under the point value plan that the average person will be able to buy only four or five cans a month of common fruits, vegetables and juices.

For the next 19 months, he will get less than half the processed products he bought in 1942.

The civilian received only a gentle hint of what was in store when sugar and coffee were rationed. He will now gain sharp realization of what it means to supply not only the huge, growing United States armed forces, but also the armies of the Nation's Allies and the peoples of Allied and liberated territories. In about a month his normal pattern of living will be disrupted further by rationing of fresh meat, canned meats (excluding poultry), canned fish and shellfish.

The Office of Price Administration, striving to protect consumers from looming prices in fresh vegetables now heavily in demand, as a result of rationing program, last week slapped price ceilings on seven staple items: tomatoes, snap beans, carrots, cabbage, peas, lettuce and spinach. It promised to impose similar price control on other still unprotected foodstuffs as the need arises.

Thus some 96 percent of all foods now are under OPA price control and it is likely that most of the remaining 4 percent soon will be. A large share of the items common to the average citizen's table likewise are already rationed or soon to be, and restriction may be spread to such other staples as butter, milk and cheese—and ultimately to fresh fish.

Not only the home but the public eating place will be affected as the tight grip of point rationing is imposed tomorrow on restaurants, hotels, large boarding houses and similar establishments. These will be cut slightly less than 50 percent below their December 1942 consumption of processed food. Many restaurants may be forced to close early, turn patrons away or serve meager portions to meet the restrictions.

- INSTRUCTIONS—To find the Point Value of an item:
1. Find out the net weight of the contents (from the label, if any).
 2. In the line across the top of the chart, showing the weight in ounces and pounds, find the column in which this weight belongs.
 3. Find the item in the listing of items in the column to the left.
 4. The POINT VALUE of the item appears on the same line as the item and in the column listing the correct weight.

All Point Values must be determined by weights. If no weight is marked on the item, the item must be weighed.

In finding the Point Value of a container where contents are given in fluid ounces, consider the fluid ounce to be the same as the avoirdupois weight ounce. One pint is two cups; one quart is two pints.

The Point Value of any item weighing over four (4) pounds shall be arrived at by multiplying the number of pounds of that item by the Point Value per pound of that item as given in the "Per Pound" column. Fractions of a pound should be figured in quarter-pounds. Fractions of a quarter-pound should be figured to the next higher quarter-pound. Thus, an item weighing 4 pounds 9 ounces would be considered as weighing 4 pounds 12 ounces for the purpose of getting the Point Value of the item.
