Some weather, some weather.

Will soon be bringing down the tourists.

And we should be ready for them. Get that spare room fixed up.

Or put a tent in the yard or anything that will house a family. They want to stay in Sanford.

There is an objection to the auto camp being on Sanford Heights but we should see that we have one farther out and one on each side of the city and the sanitary provisions should be made beforehand.

The more people we can stop here the more money there will be in Sanford and not all of them put up at the hotels. Don't make any mistake on that score. There are plenty of people camping out in Florida who could buy the city of Sanford and throw it into the lake if they wished.

St. Petersburg caters to all kinds and all classes of tourists and there in lies the success of St. Petersburg as a tourist resort. We go away in the summer from Sanford and do not always put up at the finest hotels. We might tour the country some summer and want an auto camp and want god treatment from the people where we camped. It takes all kinds of people to make a world and while some kinds of people might be obnoxious in a camp it is no more than is happening in our city or other cities every day—there are obnoxious people here, living here, and yet we do not dynamite the town or move away from it on account of not loving our neighbors like ourselves. Most of us love ourselves too much, don't you think? Maybe a little more catering to the strangers within our gates would get a few inhabitants now and then.

PUNISHING PARTY BOLTERS

The Leon county Cox-Roosevelt Democratic club expelled from membership Edward Eppes, defeated candidate in the party primary for nomination as tax assessor for running "independent" in the general election. The Leon county club has pointed straight to the duty of every political party club, or organization in the country which finds within its doors a traitor.

Registered as and claiming to be a Democrat, the Leon county man asked for and received a large vote of the Democrats in that county. More, voted for his opponent, who was given the official nomination. Mr. Eppes, doubtless encouraged by a number of his personal friends, repudiated the party principle—abide by the results of the results of the primary—and contests, as a "Democrat," the nomination received by the other man. In other, and plain words, he has "bolted the party," and it attempting to carry with him sufficient of that party to destroy its power in his county.

Every drop of the sporting manly blood in a man cries out for "him to play the game according to the rules, and one of the rules is, abide by the result, and do it cheerfully, and in spirit as well as in words.

"I FIND HAPPINESS AMONG THOSE WHO POSSESS OPTIMISM, VIM AND ENTHUSIASM, WHO LOOK UPON LIFE AS A GREAT GAME OF SPORT IN WHICH ALL PARTICIPATE. THE DEGREE OF SUCCESS AND HAPPINESS DEPENDS LARGELY UPON ONE'S INDIVIDUAL EFFORTS TO ATTAIN AND MAINTAIN. A REGULAR INCOME MAY BE MAINTAINED FROM AN INVESTMENT IN 8 PER CENT CUMULATIVE PREFERRED STOCK OF THE SOUTHERN UTILITIES CO. THERE'S NONE BETTER."

In reality, a political bolter is a disgruntled sorehead whose fool friends have irritated his outraged vanity to a degree that he believes himself so important as to be in the way of the machine, and that all he has to do is to run independent, and the people will "rebuke the machine" by a vote for him which will make it stand gaping and aghast.

What happens to him is this: the friends he had in the first race, mostly good sports and true party men, are so disgusted with him that they quietly vote for the nominee. The morning after election the independent wakes up to find that his case of "big head" has been successfully operated on by the Doctor People.

Here's a typical Democrat: Over in Lake county, one of the candidates, a man named Lee "Whats in a name?" you ask, was defeated in the primary for nomination as sheriff, by one vote. His friends tried hard to make him consent to running "independent" to let them put his name on the ticket "by petition." Nol he thundered: and that "No" is yet reverberating over "Alpine Florida." Now Mr. Lee might have found it was one-half a minute past polls closing time according to corrected chronometer, when the last two men voted, and he may know they voted for his successful opponent. On that knowledge he might have claimed that he is "the rightful nominee" but not having the time or the money to go through the courts he will submit his claim to the people, they knowing his Democracy to be untainted and all that. But he didn't! Our guess is that four years from now the man who runs against Candidate Lee for sheriff of that county will be running against a brick wall of votes piled up by those who recall his fine attitude and his real spirit of Democracy, as shown in 1920.

Voters of Florida men and women who call yourselves Democrats, vote for the regular nominee of the party. This is no time to encourage "bolters", or other traitors, under whatever guise they may come, or how much they may call themselves Democrats. The Democrat entitled to your vote and your respect is the Democrat who has the party's official certificate. Vote for him.—Tampa Tribune

WOMEN IN PULPITS
GENEVA, Oct. 30.—Women's right to occupy pulpits has been recognized by the cantonal government of Basle. Two other cantons already have taken this action and it is expected in church circles that the Geneva synod will do likewise.
Interest in the question was quickened some months ago when Miss Maude Royden, of England, was permitted to preach in the cathedral here during the last International Congress of Women.

BRITISH EMPIRE DOES NOT WANT TERRITORY

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Oct. 29.—The expansion of the British Empire in Central Asia is at an end and rightly so, Earl Curzon, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, told the Central Asian Society in an address last night.

The function of Great Britain in the future, he added was to absorb territory there but to give security and to arrange that the evolution to a different and higher state of things should be easy.

The great bulk of Central Asia, he said, had been thrown into the vortex of European politics. The Russian Empire which Englishmen have regarded with apprehension had been, from the moment, obliterated from the scene. China was in the throes of a military crisis, the upshot of which no one could foresee. Afghanistan had acquired something like independence.

All India was seething with agitation and trying to establish some new form of government. In Tibet, the British had been welcomed as friends.

Lord Curzon expressed the hope that the Persian government and parliament would ratify the Anglo-Persian agreement and that this would assure the integrity and independence of that country.

He advocated setting up an Arab form of the administration in Mesopotamia and said Sir Percy Cox had gone out to assist in carrying on that work. He hoped for some form of Arabian unity which would gratify the ambitions of the Arabs.

In Afghanistan there was serious trouble and commotion. The Secretary said he knew of no country in Central Asia where the bolsheviks had greater hopes of causing trouble for Great Britain, yet he regarded the interests of Afghanistan as identical with those of Britain. It might take years before the commotion in Asia subsided and no one should suppose that the work of Englishmen in those countries was over.

Six Kinds of Safety

Have you every paused to consider the safety of the bank where you deposit your money?

The first consideration is the capital, which should be ample to meet the requirements of the community the bank is to serve.

The next question to consider is the officers in charge. They should be men of experience, high character and successful. Without men of ability no institution can succeed.

Then there is the question of confidence. The public should have confidence in the officers and in the bank.

These three principles determine the success of a bank.

We adopted these principles in the outset of our career and we expect to live up to this high standard and increase our usefulness to the community as the years go by.

We Offer You:

- 1ST: LARGE CAPITAL AND WORKING RESERVE.
- 2ND: TRAINED MEN IN CHARGE—MEN OF SEVERAL YEARS EXPERIENCE.
- 3RD: THE CONFIDENCE OF THE PUBLIC, WHICH IS PROVEN BY THE DAILY ADDITION TO OUR LINE OF DEPOSITORS.
- 4TH: PROTECTION BY TWO EXAMINATIONS EACH YEAR BY THE STATE BANKING DEPARTMENT, TWO AUDITS EACH YEAR BY AN INDEPENDENT RECOGNIZED PUBLIC AUDIT COMPANY AND TWO SWORN STATEMENTS SUBMITTED TO THE STATE COMPTROLLER BY THE CASHIER, GIVING THE BANK'S CONDITION IN DETAIL, ALL OF WHICH INSURES REGULAR, SYSTEMATIC AND THOROUGH OPERATION OF THE BANK.
- 5TH: THE ADVICE OF A COMPETENT BOARD OF DIRECTORS, WHO MEET WITH THE OFFICERS REGULARLY EACH MONTH AND ADVISE THEM AS TO THE OPERATION OF THE BANK.
- 6TH: INSURANCE OF ALL DEPOSITS EVERY DAY OF THE YEAR. THIS IS A PROTECTION NOT COMMONLY FOUND IN BANKS AND IS AN ABSOLUTE PROTECTION FOR YOUR FUNDS, IN ADDITION TO ALL THE OTHER USUAL SAFEGUARDS.

THESE ARE REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD DO BUSINESS WITH US, AND WE BELIEVE THAT NO BANK CAN OFFER BETTER INDUCEMENTS.

HALLOWEEN LAST NIGHT WAS QUIET

BOYS SOAPED A FEW WINDOWS AND POLICE FORCE ARE AFTER THEM

Halloween comes on Sunday this year and consequently the small boys are at a loss to know just when to celebrate and to celebrate in the language of the small boy means to cut up all kinds of pranks. Now we have all been small boys—those of us who are men—and we remember how dear to the heart was Halloween night when we could sneak out and carry off stuff and put tick-tacks on windows and ring door bells and cut up jack generally. Boys will be boys all right in all stages of life and this boyish-spirit crops out in grown men at times. But the boys should always remember that pranking and destroying property are two different things. For instance, soaping windows seems harmless enough to the boys but when they soap screen windows or doors it absolutely ruins the screens and in many instances cannot be erased from the screen at all and when it is washed it rusts the wire. And on windows and doors where there are signs painted on the outside the soap eats off the paint and a fine sign can be ruined in one night and costs the owner many a dollar aside from the fact that all the windows and doors have to be washed every time the soap is put on. This seems harmless enough to the perpetrators but is one of those many little things that if brought to the attention of the boys may save them a lot of trouble and the Mayor and City Commissioners and the City Manager have instructed the police force to arrest any and all who are caught soaping windows and doors.

Have all the fun you want, boys, but don't get gay with the soap. And then you had your fun last night and should not attempt to carry on tonight for regardless of the confusion in dates this year last night was Halloween—if you did not go out last night you lost out. The date has passed. Save your pranks for next year.

WILL HE MAKE THE TOP?

Frequently, on board ship, several poles are rigged and inter-divisional arguments settled by seeing which has the best climber. This is especially true on Decoration Day and other holidays when sometimes the sailors are at sea and haven't a chance to see their teams clean up in baseball or rowing, then all hands gather around and many an unheard of new champion appears to take his place later among the foremost ranks of the Fleet's athletes.

AUTHOR OF "SMILES" IN FLORIDA

Noted Song Writer and Wife, who is Accomplished Musician, To Spend Season in New Smyrna

"There are smiles that make us happy, there are smiles that make us blue", runs the refrain in "Smiles", a song that has in the last year reached from ocean to ocean in the United States and even crossed the sea. Probably few of the millions who have sung and whistled it realize that J. Will Callahan, the man who wrote it, is so handicapped that most people would think he has little in life to make him smile.

Severe attacks of reumatic iritis, from which he suffers greatly causes almost complete blindness at times, and make necessary his spending most of his time in a darkened room, but he never loses his cheerfulness. Through all his songs there are smiles, even though they sometimes smile through tears.

Mr. Callahan will arrive in New Smyrna next Monday night from Petoskey, Mich., where he has lived for many years, and will spend the winter season here at the home of Mrs. C. E. Pitzer.

Because everyone is familiar with "Smiles", many readers of the News will be interested in learning something about the author of that popular song. He was born on a farm near Columbus Ind., March 17, 1874, and moved to the city with his parents when very young. As a small, dark-haired child, with big, solemn eyes, he peddled matches on the streets of that city many years ago. He was graduated from the Columbus high school then studied law and practiced there and in Indianapolis, where he lived nearly 20 years. Even when a small boy he scribbled verse and many of his early efforts showed much talent.

Mr. Callahan, who is very modest is not much inclined to talk a great deal about his work, but when asked recently as to his opinion of the reason for his success, replied that possibly it was due to the cheerfulness that runs through his songs. This, he says, also is apparent in the music, which is composed by Lee S. Roberts, with whom he is no collaborating exclusively. The song writer also attributes much of his success to the encouragement and help of his wife, who is a talented musician. To her he dictates his songs, sometimes with a heavy black curtain between them, when his eyes are in inflamed condition. Often he sings them to her accompaniment on the piano. Through all the years she has been his guiding star.—New Smyrna Breeze.

ECONOMIC ALLIANCE GERMANY AND ENGLAND

(By The Associated Press) BERLIN, Oct. 28.—Pan-German elements are agitating for an economic alliance with England as the only way in which Germany can regain her pre-war commercial prestige. The radical wing of the conservatives believe the European situation has made such a union not only practicable but probable, and are urging that ancient hates be forgotten and an understanding reached between the two nations. England and Not America, is considered the chief factor with whom Germany must reckon in international and European commerce.

Writers in the newspapers discuss at length the problem of allaying what they say is an unabating anti-German feeling among the English. The KREUZ ZEITUNG, the old organ of the monarchists, says in an editorial: "If we have in mind any foreign alliance only England can be considered. I am fully aware that I will meet with the earnest opposition of many of my comrades when I suggest an alliance with England, which has done everything to destroy us. In spite of it I hazard to recommend an alliance with England on the following grounds:

"Politics are not founded on sympathies. That is the first lesson that the honest German should learn from his English cousin. We should possess enough cleverness to put sympathy out of our politics and as a wise business people travel with the partner who can make the going profitable. "And England certainly can do."

SANFORD HERALD

The Facts of the Telephone Situation in Florida

By J. EPPS BROWN, President.

SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH CO.

Other Increased Costs of Operation

Coincident with the increase in the cost of labor, as shown in the Company's wage bill, the cost of all telephone material and equipment has steadily increased.

The advance in telephone material prices is shown by the following partial list of the principal units of a telephone plant:

	1914	1920	Per Cent of Inc.
1 30-ft. Class C Chestnut Pole.....	$ 5.70	$ 13.50	137
1 30-ft. Class CP Pole.....	10.55	19.00	80
1 Cet. Mi. No. 12 Iron Wire.....	28.79	70.20	144
1 Cet. Mi. No. 12 Copper Wire.....	83.90	160.00	91
1000 ft. 100 pr. 22 Ga. Aerial Cable.....	389.30	597.64	54
1000 ft. 600 pr. 22 Ga. U. G. Cable.....	1349.44	1,792.35	33
100 ft. 4-duct Single Clay Conduit installed under Asphalt Pavement.....	193.82	328.48	69
1 subscriber's Drop installed.....	4.83	7.00	45
1 subscriber's Station installed wall set.....	13.90	19.80	42
1 subscriber's station installed desk set.....	15.41	22.36	45
1 section No. 1 subscriber's Sw'b'd. installed.....	7430.00	17,140.00	131
1 section No. 1 Toll Switchboard installed.....	1984.00	5,240.00	164
Buildings per cubic foot.....	.26	.50	92

Today the average price of all plant material is more than 97 per cent higher than in 1914.

There is no present indication that these prices will be lower.

The combined effect of the increase in its wage bill, and the prices of material, means that it costs the Company more than $2.00 to construct, maintain and operate the same amount of plant that formerly cost $1.00.

The cost of construction concerns the owners of the property, being paid for out of the capital account of the Company.

The cost of replacement of the present plant concerns the owners of the property, being paid for out of the replacement reserve fund.

Practically all of this fund was created upon a basis of pre-war costs. Present-day costs make it inadequate, so that it must be supplemented by new capital when replacements are made at present-day costs.

The cost of the daily, current maintenance of the plant concerns the telephone user, being an expense of operation, paid for out of the earnings of the Company at current labor and material costs.

Annual contributions to the replacement fund for the plant constructed today and tomorrow, concerns the telephone user, being an expense of operation, paid for out of the earnings of the Company; based upon the costs of labor and material when the plant is constructed.

The gross earnings of the Company must be sufficient for the daily, current operation and maintenance of the plant, and to create an adequate replacement fund to replace the plant at the end of its service life.

In no other way can efficient and continuous service be had by the public, or the property of the owners be protected.

The next advertisement will show the effect of these increased costs of labor and material upon the Company's operations during the past four years.

MILLER'S BAKERY

Milk Production Sensitive to Changes in Prices

Milk production is so sensitive to changes in prices that the milk producer, the milk distributor, and the milk consumer are best protected through a fluctuating price which insures, as far as now seems possible, a fairly constant supply of milk, according to a bulletin just issued by the agricultural experiment station of the University of Illinois. Owing to the great variation in the monthly cost of milk production, a flat rate for any extended period would probably shift production to the more profitable months. If the price of milk fluctuates approximately with the cost of production, the distributor's supply is automatically regulated, the milk producer's market is protected, and the consumer is assured of a normal supply of milk throughout the year.

The bulletin confirms the opinion held among dairy farmers of the great importance of pasture in milk production. The feed expense in the summer months in which pastures are good is occasionally only one-fourth of that in certain winter months when large amounts of farm-raised and purchased feeds are fed.

The amount of man labor involved in the production of milk is considerably less in the summer months than in the winter months. This is true whether based upon the total amount of labor used on the herd or upon amount involved in the production of one hundred pounds of milk. Proper significance of this reduction in labor is appreciated only when attention is drawn to the fact that these savings in labor occur during the pasture season, which coincides with the crop season, when the maximum labor is needed in the field. Aside from man labor, feed and horse labor, the expenses of producing milk are more or less constant throughout the year. When all expenses are included the net cost of producing one hundred pounds of milk in June is sixty per cent of the year cost, and in December about one hundred and twenty per cent.

With a fluctuating seasonal cost, it is expected that farmers will tend to concentrate production in the more profitable months. As the urban trade demands a constant supply of milk throughout the year, the price of milk must fluctuate approximately with the cost of production in order to prevent an extra shortage at one time and a large surplus at another. In other words, a properly adjusted fluctuating price for milk throughout the year protects the farmer's market and the distributor's and consumer's supply.

HARVARD UNIT OF RECONSTRUCTION COMPLETES WORK

(By The Associated Press)
PARIS, Oct. 28.—The Harvard reconstruction unit which came to France in July has completed its work in the devastated regions and may of its members have returned to America. Considerable work was accomplished by the organization which consisted of 25 persons. The American architects planned an entirely new town to take the place of Boureuilles and a new site has been selected. This plan was drawn up by Hale Walker of Carthagena, O., George Lee of Boston and Prentiss French of Williams-town, Mass. The new town plan has received the enthusiastic approval of the mayor.

A number of the members of the mission were living at Chermont-en-Argonne, close to the point where America made its most successful effort in the war, completed a new survey and map of that village. This work was done by Nathaniel Knowles of Philadelphia, Joseph Hayner of Cleveland, Rupert Giddings of New York, and Thomas Wilder of Cincinnati.

While engineers were making the survey, six members of the unit including Richard Stas, of Corona, Cal. and Frederick Blaine of Elyria, O., traced property of the district which survived from the war.

Two schools have been designed and measurements of the church of Saint Jacques at Rheims have been completed. This latter work was done under the direction of Isadore Richmond, of Boston, and Myron Danzell, of Minneapolis. At Sorme-Py, Hale Walker cooperated with the town architect in making changes in the town plan itself while Merritt Farren and Leon Keach, both of Boston, completed drawings and plans for a new town school. Other members completed a survey for a new water supply system and sanitation plan. The non-technical members of the unit were engaged for two months in construction and painting of dwellings in various parts of the devastated area.

"EVERYWOMAN" THE GREATEST WOMAN PLAY OF THE AGE

Those who saw it last night at the Star Theatre were more than pleased although the news that Walter Browne's famous morality play "Everywoman," had been made into a motion picture was no surprise to those acquainted with this dramatic masterpiece. Its striking story and manifold opportunities for spectacular scenic effects make it admirable screen material. The basis for a magnificent cinema spectacle was there. It remained for the directing skill of George H. Melford, the acting ability of an unusually excellent cast, and fine artistry in arranging the elaborate scenic effects to transform "Everywoman" into the beautiful photoplay that is being shown at the Star Theatre tonight for the last time.

Here is a dramatic production that is manifestly even better suited to the screen than it is to the stage. It requires an expansiveness that the cramped quarters of the largest stage will not admit. It probably the screen version of "Everywoman" has realized more perfectly the author's conception of his story than have all the productions of the play since its famous premier in New York in 1911.

The title role is portrayed in masterly style by beautiful Violet Heming, the young actress who made such favorable impressions in "Three Faces East" and "Under Cover." Miss Heming lends the dignity and universality to her interpretation of Everywoman that the allegorical character of the story demands. The remainder of the cast is far above the usual in merit, including as it does such names as Theodore Roberts, Wanda Hawley, Monte Blue, Charles Ogle, Raymond Hatton, Bebe Daniels, and Tully Marshall. Mr. Roberts as Wealth, Miss Hawley as Beauty, and Mr. Blue as Love are perhaps the high spots in an interpretation that is uniformly excellent.

As is quite well known, "Everywoman" is in the main allegorical in character. The story opens much as a drama of ordinary life. A beautiful girl at a bazaar is wooed by a millionaire, an actor, and a poor physician. She is also besieged by the offer of a stage manager to embrace a dramatic career. Thereupon the story becomes a transcript of the journey of life. The heroine becomes Everywoman, the millionaire is Wealth, the actor Passion, and the other characters bear similar names. Everywoman is urged to go upon the Stage of Life by Flattery to seek King Love. Her long journey leads her through many pitfalls, past the temptations of Wealth and Passion until finally she reaches the humble hut of Love, who turns out to be the young physician.

Scenes of lavish splendor form the setting for the story. The revels in the magnificent palace of Wealth, where scores of beautiful women disport at a monster banquet board, one part of which encircles a swimming pool and the other a dance hall, and the episodes in the great gaming hall are among the most elaborate ever screened. The bazaar at the opening of the story is virtually a great fashion show. Women arrayed like birds move through the picture like extraordinarily clad mannequins exhibiting the latest creations of the modistes.

ROCKY ROAD FOR THE BOSS

(By The Associated Press)
VIENNA, Oct. 29.—By an act of the National Assembly, the newspaper fraternity of Austria is given a special standing in its relation to employers. Members of the news departments of papers always have enjoyed the customary legal protection as regards notice of discharge, vacations and similar matters but the new law sets apart with unusual safeguards.

The act covers editors, editorial writers, artists and reporters, engaged on a fixed salary, but not persons to whom newspaper work is a secondary employment. Under its provisions the employe must be given a written agreement describing the nature of the work for which he is employed, amount of salary, allowance for special work and stipulations for repayment of expenses incurred in the discharge of his work. It also provides for increased pay at intervals of five years up to the sixtieth year of age.

One month's annual leave is guaranteed with pay and after ten years six weeks with pay. Three months notice must be given of discharge and after five years continuous employment, one month addition for each year, with a maximum notice of one year.

The employer is compelled to pay into a pension fund a minimum of 500 crowns a year for each employe. The details of the pension system are to be promulgated in the form of ordinances by the departments of education and interior.

The provisions as applying to the sale of a newspaper are interesting. A new proprietor may within one month give notice to an editorial employe that he will continue his employment, whereupon the latter is entitled not only to the pay of the period as above provided for but, if he has served the former owner less than five years, also to one year's full pay and, if his service was for a period between five and ten years, to pay for a year and a half.

Should a new proprietor fail to give a notice of discharge within 30 days the employe are entitled to one year's notice.

Both the seller and buyer of a property are bound to guarantee the claims of the editorial employes.

In event of the suspension of a paper six months notice or an equivalent of salary are required. Should a paper alter the political policy the employe can claim the same privileges as if the paper had been sold. In case of dispute an arbitration court is provided for two members being chosen by the parties affected, the fifth to be a member of the National Assembly.

NEW FRENCH MINISTRY HYGIENE

Paris, Oct. 30.—France's efforts to raise the birthrate and lower the death rate, by means of the new Ministry of Hygiene, are too recent to be judged by comprehensive statistics. The importance of the problem, however, is given pessimistic prominence anew by publication of the Labor Ministry's statistics for 1919.

There were three deaths to two births last year. In only one department, Finisterre, did births exceed deaths. In a number deaths were doubled and even nearly triple the number of births.
