Tax Reform Victory Predicted

Vote Set For Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., the primary architect of the House version of the tax reform legislation, said the historic compromise measure will win in a showdown vote today with "an avalanche" of support.

Congressional tax reformers, having apparently dodged a dangerous bullet, headed into the House vote still short of committed members but confident of victory for their historic compromise legislation.

Leaders in both parties prepared for the House action by making head counts to find support for the sweeping legislation generally viewed as the most radical overhaul of the tax code in about a half-century.

Rostenkowski, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said on the "CBS Morning News" program today, "I think we can comfortably win this one by 30, 40 or 50 votes. When they get on the board early, you'll see an avalanche of votes supporting it."

Head count estimates were varied, but supporters said they were confident of winning enough votes from a large contingent of undecided lawmakers to pass the measure and send it to the Senate.

They needed a total of 217 votes for the bill to be approved by the House, and Democratic vote counters said Wednesday they had about 115 solid "yes" votes to match with estimates of 75 solid Republican votes.

Democrats said their total could increase to about 100 by the time of the vote, however, and GOP leaders expected to boost their numbers to about 120.

As part of their final push, supporters relied on a final lobbying blitz from President Reagan, who made the issue his

Study: 50% Of Doctors Abused Drugs

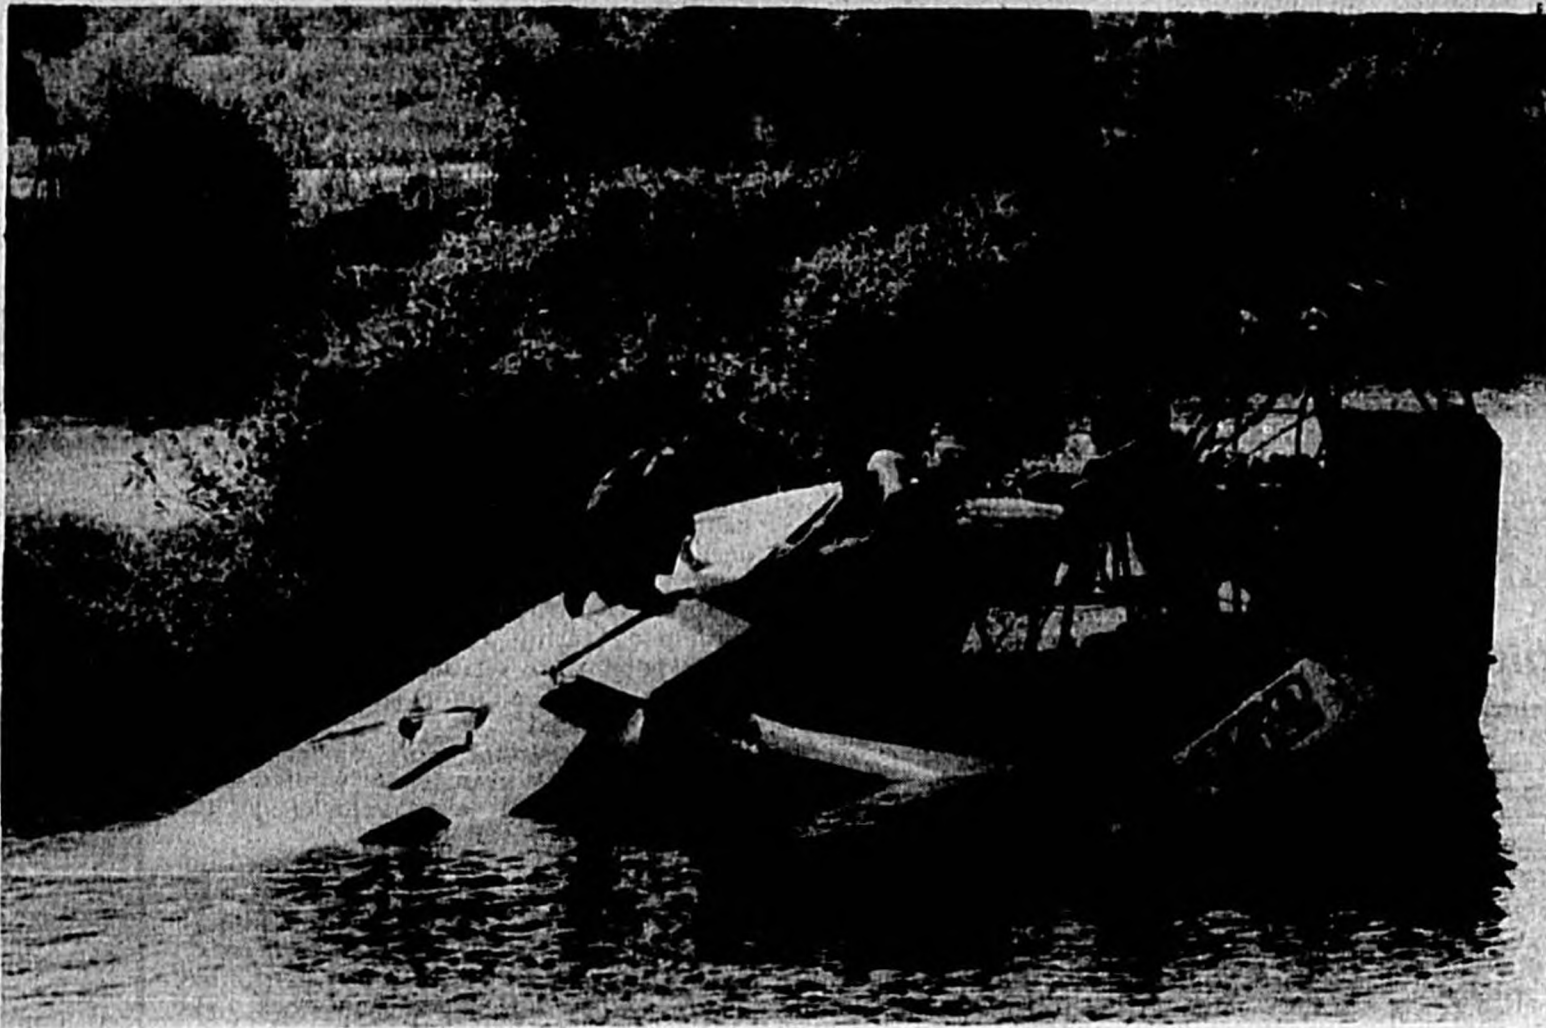

BOSTON (UPI) — More than half the doctors and three quarters of medical students surveyed have misused drugs, demonstrating they are part of the "drug-use epidemic" sweeping American society, researchers said Wednesday.

A study conducted by the Harvard School of Public Health found that marijuana was the most popular drug among both doctors and students and 72 percent of the students and 34 percent of doctors had at least tried marijuana.

The second most popular drug among students was cocaine, while a variety of types of opiates were the next most popular drugs among doctors.

"When a drug-user epidemic strikes society it permeates the full society, which would include physicians," said William E. McAuliffe, a sociologist and lecturer in the department of public health who headed the study.

Psychiatrists had the highest rate of drug use among doctors.

The plane crashed around 11 a.m. about a half mile east of Lake Monroe Park and a couple of hundred yards east of the Interstate 4 bridge. Both men received minor injuries.

After the passenger, Darrell Pell, 32, of Osteen, told the pilot, Paul Watkins, he wasn't the best of swimmers, Watkins considered letting the plane stall over a wooded area, but that would have been even more hazardous, said James Watkins, the pilot's father. So the younger Watkins apparently decided to put the craft down as close to the shore

Drug Contracts Distributed

Lake Mary High Begins Saying 'No'

By Kathy Tyrity
Herald Staff Writer

Earsplitting applause rocked Lake Mary High School auditorium Wednesday night as a packed auditorium of about 1,000 students, parents and club sponsors cheered on school officials in their effort to kick drugs out of town.

It was the culmination of many months of anticipation — the time the students would be asked to sign a drug contract promising to prove their abstinence from illegal drugs, avoid "pot" parties, and encourage their friends to do the same. From the sounds of the audience, those promises cannot be far behind.

But contrary to earlier stated plans to exclude those who don't sign the contracts from extracurricular activities, Assistant Principal Bill Moore said last night all students will be allowed to participate, regardless. The only stipulation is that if they are found to be involved in illicit drug use, they would be subject to the same enforcement provisions of the contract that the signers adhere to.

"This has been a change due to the input of the School Board attorney," said Moore.

"I understand both sides of this controversy," conceded the star of the evening, coach Doug Peters. "But I say, judge us not on where we stand, but in which direction we are moving. And by the unbelievable crowd here this evening, it's obvious the direction we are going."

All of the athletic team members, girls and boys, got a chance to fill out the drug contracts during the evening, and tonight a similar chance will be given to the members of band, Marionettes, flags and "Brain Bowl." There are some 2,450 students at the school. If the contract is violated and the student fails a couple of opportunities to shape up, he or she will be expelled from the

Stadium Operator Vows To Pay Sanford Back Rent

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

The operator of Sanford's Memorial Baseball Stadium said today he is confident he'll be able to pay the $5,485.71 in back rent he owes the city before it moves in court to invalidate his long term lease. Wes Rinker has about two weeks to come in with the payment he has owed since March.

Rinker said he expects to make payment to the city by early next week, which would stave off a hearing on the eviction suit city commissioners on Monday directed City Attorney William Colbert to file. Commissioners said the action will be dismissed before its hearing date if Rinker comes in with the money he owes.

Colbert said this gives Rinker about two weeks. The suit will be filed by the end of this week and be set for hearing probably within seven days from then, he said.

"I've put too much sweat and blood into this thing during the last 12 years to lose it now," Rinker said. "I know it (the payment) will get taken care of."

According to Commissioner John Mercer, who proposed the suit, Rinker should have to cover Colbert's collection costs as well as the $5,485.71 annual rent payment.

Right now, Colbert's costs are $179.17, according to vouchers he's submitted.

Colbert would submit additional billing to cover his preparation of the suit and filing fees.

Rinker's annual lease payment has been $5,485.71 since 1982, as payback on a $50,000 light system the city

Relatives Say Fugitive Should Have Been Held In Mental Hospital

Doctors Blamed For Bloody Rampage

PONTOTOC, Miss. (UPI) — Relatives of fugitive Michael Wayne Jackson say he was twice committed to a state mental hospital and they blame his bloody rampage on the doctors who allowed him to be released.

"It's not right that they would let someone go who is not all right," Jackson's uncle, Cecil Poyner, said Wednesday.

Jackson, 41, who was born in Pontotoc, is suspected of killing his parole officer and a store clerk in Indianapolis Monday and abducting six people and stealing seven cars as he fled to Wright City, Mo.

He shot and wounded a police officer and is suspected of killing a third person in Missouri before he fled on foot near Wright City Monday night. A massive manhunt remained under way in the area today.

Poyner said he believes Jackson could be headed for Pontotoc, and law enforcement officers in the area have been placed on alert.

"He has been a living dead person for a long time," said Jackson's sister, Onelta Modan Ward, who lives in Indianapolis. "I don't know why it keeps going on repeating itself all the time — people like Mike being turned loose on innocent people."

Relatives said Jackson spent much of his childhood in Indianapolis but returned to Pontotoc to live with his mother in 1963. He was arrested and charged with lunacy twice because of violent outbursts at his mother's house.

Poyner said he was temporarily hospitalized after each arrest at the state psychiatric facility in Whitfield.

"I blame the people at Whitfield," Poyner said. "They sent him to Whitfield after he beat up on my sister. He stayed there a while taking medicine and he would get better. But then they would let him out ... he would stop taking the drugs ... and he'd get worse."

Ward said her 73-year-old mother asked authorities last year to commit her son permanently after he cracked two of her ribs.

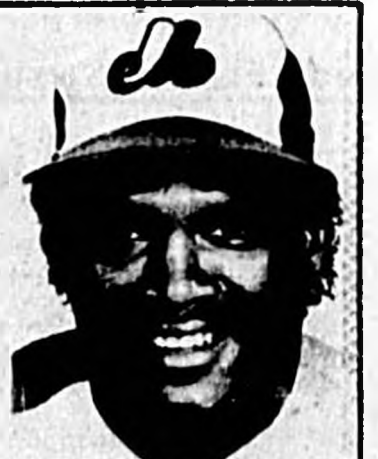

"My mother has pleaded to have Mike committed and to keep him off the street," Ward said.

House-To-House Search For Murder Fugitive Continues

WRIGHT CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Stymied for two days in their house-to-house search for a murderous fugitive, authorities hoped today that hunger, thirst or pain would force a desperate Michael Wayne Jackson to "tip his hand."

Jackson is suspected of killing three people in a three-state crime spree that started Monday when a parole officer went to his Indianapolis home to administer a urine test for illegal drug use.

Officials said Wednesday they believed Jackson was wounded, possibly in the side or arm, during a shootout Monday night outside Wright City. The former convict and mental patient has not been seen since the exchange of gunfire.

More than 100 officers Tuesday and Wednesday searched the rolling farmland and dense forests of Wright City. Door-to-door searches and foot patrols were curtailed at night, but authorities maintained roadblocks and scanned the area from helicopters equipped with lights.

Door-to-door searches were to resume early today.

Jackson, 41, is accused of killing his parole officer and a store clerk in Indianapolis and is suspected of killing a third man near Wright City. He is also accused of temporarily abducting five people and stealing at least seven cars Monday on his trip from Indiana, across Illinois, to Missouri.

Poll: No Government Censorship

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans have a right to choose and purchase certain books and magazines and the government should not be telling them what is and is not acceptable reading material, a nationwide poll showed today.

The telephone poll, conducted by Penn & Schoen Associates, was commissioned by Americans for Constitutional Freedom, a coalition of groups dedicated to preserving First Amendment rights.

It found that of 1,002 people surveyed, 67 percent said the government should not "discourage stores from selling particular magazines and books" while 25 percent said they believed that is a proper role for government.

Another 80 percent of those responding called it "unhealthy" for American society to have the government telling people what they should or should not read. Eighty-four percent said they felt the public has the "absolute right" to buy publications "that have not been judged to be illegal."

The poll was taken six weeks after Attorney General Edwin Meese released his pornography commission's controversial report that sparked an uproar by asserting that pornography can cause sexual violence and by encouraging citizens to monitor what is sold in their communities.

Reagan Lauds Candidates

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — President Reagan, declaring the "days of looking for the best man are over," hit the campaign trail for Republican women saying the GOP deserves credit for getting more women into politics.

In a day of campaigning to put a black in the Michigan governor's office and a woman in Nebraska's, Reagan told cheering crowds Wednesday that women are making great gains nationwide, especially in politics.

The president traveled to Nebraska to throw his weight behind Kay Orr, the Republican state treasurer making a run at governor in an unprecedented race against another woman — Democrat Helen Bosalis, the former mayor of Lincoln.

Orr is one of five Republican women running for governor this year, Reagan said, and is a symbol for the "virtually unlimited opportunity that our nation has come to offer to men and women alike."

Judge OKs Right To Die

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (UPI) — A dying, pain-ridden woman who refused a feeding tube is relieved and happy that a Roman Catholic hospital was ordered to honor her wishes and allow her to starve to death, her family said.

A judge ruled Wednesday that St. Clare's-Riverside Hospital could not force Beverly Requena, 55, a victim of Lou Gehrig's disease, to accept a transfer to another hospital that would allow her to refuse treatment and die.

Judge Reginald Stanton said the Boonton, N.J., hospital's ethical policy — based on Roman Catholic principles — that prohibits its staff from withholding nutrition is a violation of Requena's right to choose her medical treatment.

"The policy is in fact coercive," Stanton said. "Dying people must be treated with dignity, including the right to choose one's own treatment."

The judge said the policy amounts to "telling this woman it is wrong for her not to want to undergo longer suffering."

Study Cites X-Ray Dangers

BOSTON (UPI) — A new study found medical X-rays could be blamed for more than 800 cancer deaths in the United States each year, prompting researchers to call on doctors to reduce unnecessary exposure to radiation.

The Harvard School of Public Health study, published Wednesday in The New England Journal of Medicine, said routine medical and dental X-rays cause about 267 excess cases of leukemia and some 788 cases of breast cancer each year.

County To Challenge Annexation

By Paul C. Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County commissioners voted 3-2 Tuesday to challenge the annexation of five sections of state and county roads by the city of Casselberry.

Apparently, the city annexed the roadway sections to eliminate the possible challenge to city police department traffic tickets on roads that run in and out of the city limits, said Deputy County Attorney Bob McMillan.

Commissioners Sandra Glenn and Barbara Christensen voted against the challenge, while Commissioners Bob Sturm, Bill

Kirchhoff, and Fred Streetman supported the action.

McMillan called the annexations "strange." He said "we probably could have worked it out, and may still be able to work it out."

Casselberry city commissioners Sept. 8 approved having a voter referendum on the annexation. According to McMillan, the referendum vote would have to be approved by voters city wide, as well as in the affected area. In this case, there is no one living on pavement to vote, McMillan said. Voters would decide the issue in the Nov. 3 election.

"The annexations do not comply with state statutes,"

McMillan said. He said the city apparently hadn't done the necessary study to do an involuntary annexation, and had filed no information with the county regarding the taking of the streets.

McMillan said the county had 30 days from the adoption of Casselberry's ordinances of annexation to appeal the action to circuit court.

In an attachment to a letter from city engineer Kenneth Ehlers, notifying the county of its intentions to annex the street segments, which is dated the day the ordinances were adopted, one reason for the annexations is to "preclude evasion of traffic tickets by reason of technicality having to do with the jurisdiction of the police department."

The road segment annexations the county authorized its legal department to challenge include: State Road 436 from the intersection of Howell Branch Road to the Seminole-Orange County line; Lake Drive from the intersection of Carlisle Drive to the intersection of Easton Way; Lake Howell Lane from State Road 436 to the city limits; Winter Woods Blvd. from State Road 436 to the city limits; and Howell Branch Road from State Road 436 to the city limits.

But Budget Up Almost 9%

Longwood Holds Steady On Property Tax Rate

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The Longwood City Commission has adopted a $5.73 million city budget for the 1986-87 fiscal year and a property tax rate of $2.90 per $1,000 assessed valuation. The tax rate is the same as in 1985-86, but will generate $156,781 more due to increased assessments and more property on the tax rolls.

Commissioners unanimously approved the tax levy and budget Monday night after the final public hearing. The tax rate is expected to bring in $957,000 and is 8.98 percent more than the "rollback" rate of $2.68 per $1,000 assessed valuation. The rollback rate is the rate certified by the property assessor that would generate the same revenue as the last fiscal year, taking into consideration higher assessments and more property on the tax rolls. Last year's taxes brought in $800,239.

The proposed budget includes a general fund budget of $4.1 million with amounts allocated for city commission, $40,488; city clerk's office, $140,060; city administrator, $63,911; city attorney's office, $65,243; finance department, $55,975; general services, $190,412; code enforcement, $28,166; city elections, $2,500; land planning agency, $34,998; police department, $1,225,757; fire department, $644,091; building, planning and zoning, $130,187; parks and recreation, $124,830; street department, $1,128,782; and debt service, $54,890.

The $2.90 rate is expected to cost the typical Longwood homeowner, whose house is assessed at $75,000, city real estate taxes of $145. About 120 homeowners in the city of 14,000 pay no real estate taxes because of the $25,000 homestead exemption.

Glen Walker, of 1508 Canary Lane, objected to the budget because it contains $100,000 estimated revenue from a garbage franchise fee. Until the franchise fee passes we don't have a franchise fee. I'm here to do battle against having a single garbage franchise.

City Attorney Ann Colby responded that it is proper to anticipate revenue in the budget. Every possible anticipated revenue must be included and can be adjusted later. The budget can be decreased, but it can not be increased.

Another city resident Jimmy Ross said, "The budget requires revision in that $100,000 makes a mockery of the public hearing process. I don't feel the budget is acceptable until the franchise fee passes."

Basil Craddock of Winsor Manor spoke out against granting an exclusive garbage franchise stating that residents of the subdivision were against it. "Big Brother has no business telling us who picks up our garbage," he said.

City Administrator Ron Waller replied that "Last May Winsor Manor wanted fewer school buses and large vehicles in the subdivision."

Former Mayor Gerard Connell lashed out at Waller calling him "diffident and arrogant in the way you addressed this man. If you don't know the difference between trucks and school buses, we're in trouble. There are 50 buses going to Rock Lake Middle School every day. If you were an employee of mine, I'd fire you."

There will be a workshop on the garbage franchise at 7 p.m. Thursday in city hall at 175 W. Warren Ave.

In other business, the commission:

- Awarded contracts on the recommendation of City Engineer Charles Haasler for street paving to two contractors saving the city $41,000. Basic Asphalt and Construction Corp., Orlando, was awarded the contract for Georgia Avenue, Short Street, Park Avenue, West Lake (south of State Road 434) and Wilma Street for a sum of $230,348.45. Martin Paving Co., Daytona Beach, was awarded the contract for Warren Avenue and West Lake Street (north of State Road 434) for a sum of $230,545. Future hearings will be held before the contractors begin work.

- Adopted unanimously proposed charter amendments which will vote on individually in the Dec. 2 city election. The amendments would not be effective until 1989.

- Gave final approval to an ordinance prohibiting the throwing of unsolicited materials, such as circulars, newspapers, magazines and discarded material in residential areas and driveways and on vehicles on public property.

- Amended the 1985/86 budget that would permit transfer of $1 million loan proceeds for the new police station from the capital improvements fund to the expenditure accounts for all costs for completion and furnishing of the facility.

Dog Race Validity Upheld

The state Division of Paramutuel Wagering has ruled no error was made last month during a disputed dog race at Seminole Greyhound Park in Casselberry.

About 2,000 bettors protested a race in which one dog balked causing half the field to stop. Police were called in to quell the disturbance and two men arrested.

Three judges at the track ruled the dog was in error and that the track lure did not stop thus making the race valid. Paramutuel investigators agree.

The race was twice as long as usual and when the lead dog balked the lure had to be slowed down to entice them to finish.

Michael Gouge, of the division's Miami office, said video-tapes of the race indicated there was no wrong doing or manipulation of the race.

Legal Aid Agency Collects $5,400 From Housing Authority

Central Florida Legal Services Managing Attorney Treana Kaye said full payment has been received from the Sanford Housing Authority to cover the $5,400 in legal fees the agency compiled in a suit it filed against the authority in December.

The suit was filed to protect the agency being barred from holding free legal clinics on housing authority property.

The suit was dropped later that month after the housing authority board of directors reversed its ban on the clinics. The legal aid agency, subsequently, dropped holding the clinics.

The fee payment was ordered by a federal court last week, following the agency's declining a $750 offer the authority made last spring to cover the fees.

"We're obviously very pleased with the outcome," Ms. Kaye said of the $5,400 payment, which covers in full the fees the agency sought to cover its suit preparation and filing expenses.

The order for payment was issued through U.S. District Court in Orlando Sept. 15, after a series of filings and cross filings last spring and summer between the agency and the authority.

Housing Authority Chairman Alexander Wynn said "the check was cut" to cover the fee payment Friday, following a consultation with authority attorney Ned Julian. The authority board had been scheduled to discuss the fee order in regular session Thursday, but the meeting was cancelled for lack of quorum.

On a motion from Wynn, a board majority voted to halt the clinics last October. Wynn said he had only learned that month the clinics had begun the preceding August at the Castle Brewer and Redding Gardens apartment complexes. Authority Executive Director Elliott Smith had reportedly given permission for the clinics to be held, but Wynn said he felt the authority had "internal housekeeping" to conduct before it should consider allowing their continuation.

The authority board reluctantly agreed to lift the ban after receiving indications from counsel it would have a hard time upholding its position in court.

The clinics resumed in February but were discontinued in April when it was determined not enough housing tenants were availing themselves to the three hour sessions that were held in the Castle Brewer and Redding Gardens community rooms, Mrs. Kaye said.

"A lot of tenants were coming to our (Park Avenue) office, so we decided to hold off rescheduling (any more clinics)," she said.

The agency has no plans to seek permission to resume the clinics, Ms. Kaye said.

Man Sought For Sexual Assault Of Woman Jogger

A 43-year-old Altamonte Springs woman reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies she was sexually assaulted by a man who joined her as she jogged on Pineview Street near Altamonte Springs at about 10 p.m. Tuesday.

The woman said the man ran up behind her and said, "It's okay. I'm just mad at my brother and I'm just running to let off steam. Do you mind if I run with you?" She said okay and they ran together until she said she was ready to quit, a sheriff's report said.

He asked for instructions on how to get back to where they had started and the woman walked back to Grove Avenue at Pineview Street with him and directed him to Palm Springs Road. She started to walk away, but he grabbed her.

The woman said she was knocked to the ground and the man got on top of her, fondled her through her clothing and although she wasn't raped the man performed a sex act and then released her.

She ran home and reported the attack. Her T-shirt, which showed evidence of the assault, was taken by a sheriff's deputy as evidence.

The man is about 25 years old, weighs about 160 pounds, with shoulder-length, wavy blond hair and a mustache. He was wearing only blue jeans, the report said.

Murder Suspect Caught

ALBANY, Georgia (UPI) — Police arrested William Reeves as he got off a bus and charged him with fatally wounding an Indian River County, Fla., sheriff's deputy four times in the back and leaving him to die.

Dougherty County sheriff's deputies acting on a tip from the sheriff's office in Vero Beach, Fla., were waiting when the bus carrying the 37-year-old Gifford, Fla., man arrived.

An undercover officer engaged Reeves in a cocaine deal and police then arrested him.

Found on the suspect were three ounces of cocaine and a .380-caliber handgun believed to be the murder weapon.

Deputy Richard Raczko was fatally wounded four times in the back as he checked out a convenience store before dawn Tuesday. He died two hours later while undergoing surgery.

The information leading to Reeves' arrest came from two friends of his who were arrested earlier Wednesday.

Police said the two gave Reeves a change of clothes and drove him to a motel in Melbourne, Fla.

When investigators arrived at the motel, Reeves was gone. A check of telephone records at the motel showed he had called the bus depot.

Agents questioned at the depot said they remembered selling Reeves a ticket to Albany. Authorities in Albany were called and were waiting at the Albany station when the bus arrived.

Reeves is charged with first degree murder, assault on a police officer, trafficking in cocaine, resisting arrest with violence and possession of a fire arm in commission of a felony.

Raczko, 30, will be buried Friday at Fort Pierce, Fla.

The Sanford Fire Department has responded to the following calls, details based on fire reports:

TUESDAY

—5:20 p.m., 20th Street and French Avenue, car vs. child. A 7-year-old girl received a small cut on her right leg. Her mother declined hospital transport for the child.

—5:54 p.m., Eighth Street and Elm Avenue, car accident. Carolyn Jones, 27, 120 Drew Ave., reported feeling lightheaded. She declined hospital transport.

WEDNESDAY

—1:08 a.m., 100 N. French Ave., 7-Eleven convenience store, rescue. A 32-year-old Lake Mary woman was suffering from difficulty breathing. She was transported to the hospital.

Charles M. Bates, 45, of 5348 Land Yard Court, Winter Park, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $450 camera was stolen from his car Monday or Tuesday.

Leon Claude Allen, 29, of 147 Jackson St., Altamonte Springs, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a man he says took the keys from his car when he stopped at the intersection of North and Marker streets near Altamonte Springs, at about 7:30 a.m. Tuesday. That man allegedly opened the trunk of Allen's car and stole $300 worth of tools.

Betty Williams, 41, of 1475 Myrtle Ave., Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $350 video recorder, $500 worth of jewelry and a $280 microwave oven were stolen from her home Sunday or Monday.

Tools, an air compressor, a welder, two drills and a circular saw were stolen from a construction site trailer of Florida Home Crafts of Maitland, at 109 Lyman Road, Altamonte Springs, between Friday and Monday, a sheriff's report filed by a company supervisor said.

Retiree Bilked In Pigeon Drop Scam

A retired Longwood woman was bilked out of $3,000 in a "pigeon drop" scam perpetrated by a woman who approached her in the parking lot of Albertson's, Wekiva Springs Road, Longwood, at about 10:15 a.m. Tuesday.

Lucy H. Clark of 700 Fox Valley Drive, told sheriff's deputies the woman who approached her claimed to have just found $78,000 in the parking lot of Florida National Bank, Longwood. The conwoman told Ms. Clark she was an auditor at the bank and asked her to go with her to the bank and wait for her while she reported the find to the bank manager.

After the conwoman came out of the bank she told Ms. Clark that Ms. Clark would have to put up $3,000 in "earnest money," to be given to the bank, so she and the conwoman would be able to later split the $78,000.

The women had lunch together and then Ms. Clark withdrew $3,000 from her bank account and gave it to the conwoman after Ms. Clark reportedly had a telephone conversation with the "bank manager." After the suspect got the $3,000 she left, a sheriff's report said.

The Seminole County Supervisor of Elections has announced that the automatic ballot tabulating equipment to be in service for the Second Primary election to be held on September 30, 1986, will be tested in Room N249 of the

Be Skeptical Of Amnesty Offer

There are several reasons why the Reagan administration should be skeptical of Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski's announcement that Poland is going to release most of its political prisoners.

For starters, this will be the third amnesty since 1981. Many of the dissidents about to be released have been through this revolving door several times already. The most recent so-called amnesty was followed by wholesale arrests of hundreds of Solidarity activists who were deemed security risks.

Next, it should be noted that as a condition of release, the prisoners must refrain from any political statements or activities considered subversive by the government. Those who fail to do so are subject to criminal penalties and, of course, another jail sentence.

To the contrary, the police state is still determined to stamp out any semblance of political dissent. The other day, security forces swept through numerous cities, detaining and interrogating more than 3,000 suspected dissidents.

Which is to say that Gen. Jaruzelski sent a message to those Polish citizens who might otherwise be emboldened to take this amnesty business too seriously.

The Reagan administration would, therefore, be wise to retain the remaining U.S. economic sanctions against the communist nation.

By most accounts, Poland's economy is a basket case and promises to become even worse. Poland's trade surplus with the West is running behind last year's, which in turn registered a 28 percent decline from 1984.

President Reagan's response should be that the United States will not lift its economic sanctions until the Polish government releases all political prisoners, removes its ban on Solidarity and stops persecuting the Roman Catholic Church.

Protect The Site

The report a few days ago that an archaeologist has discovered the apparently undisturbed ruins of a pre-Columbian city in Central America was both exciting and slightly disturbing.

Looters, in fact, usually arrive before the scientists.

As University of Wisconsin archaeologist J. Jefferson MacKinnon noted, the Mayan city he discovered in Belize seems to be "one of the very few sites that looters haven't visited first."

Excavations at the Mayan city are scheduled to begin in December. It is of extreme importance that the site be protected until MacKinnon and his associates begin their work.

There's been absolutely no digging into the site by anyone," MacKinnon said. "You almost never find that anymore."

U.S. Should Renew Southeast Asian Ties

Vietnam has not been much in the news of late. Southeast Asia, nonetheless, is still wracked by instability, and the United States still pursues policies there that seem at odds with both the realities of the region and U.S. interests.

Writing in the current Foreign Affairs, Professor Bernard K. Gordon of the University of New Hampshire calls for a change in our policy.

In Professor Gordon's view, it runs counter to U.S. interests to boycott Hanoi and Phnom Penh.

It may be logical for China, with its centuries-old animosity toward Vietnam, to battle Hanoi and resist its presence in Cambodia. From the Chinese perspective, it is also makes sense to assist those elements inside Cambodia that are battling with the current Vietnamese-backed government in Phnom Penh.

But does it serve American interests to follow Peking's policy toward Vietnam and Cambodia? Professor Gordon's thoughtful analysis leads to a definite no.

By supporting the Chinese position in Southeast Asia we are strengthening the strategic position of China in Southeast Asia — something we supposedly fought hard to prevent during the bloody, costly years we were fighting in Vietnam on the mistaken assumption that Ho Chi Minh was a puppet in the hands of China.

We are also inadvertently strengthening the Soviet strategic position in Southeast Asia. By refusing diplomatic and economic cooperation with Hanoi — and by siding with Chinese policy in Cambodia against the Vietnamese and the government they are supporting in Phnom Penh — we insure Vietnamese dependence upon the Soviets. Soviet aid does not come cheaply.

sacrifices in Vietnam sought to prevent. It also makes little sense to boycott Hanoi and Phnom Penh. All evidence suggests that the Vietnamese and Phnom Penh desire to normalize relations with the United States.

Hanoi has cooperated with us on the issue of searching for the remains of Americans killed or missing in action during the war. Despite the fact that their own missing personnel are vastly greater than ours, they have continued to cooperate with us on this concern.

Ever since the end of the war in 1975, Hanoi has indicated its desire to establish diplomatic and trade relations with the United States. Why do we deny ourselves the advantage of such a relationship?

The time has come for recognition of, and cooperation with, both Hanoi and Phnom Penh.

Bladder Substitute Surgery

By Sandra L. Latimer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — A new operation that creates a growing, workable bladder out of a small section of intestine could mean the end to the use of external bags by patients whose original bladders have failed.

"I'm excited about this," said Dr. Stephen Koff, the Children's Hospital urologist who pioneered the surgery. "Doctors have been trying for 10 years to find a replacement for a bladder, but only now are we beginning to reliably have the bowel serve as a bladder without leaking."

Koff first performed the operation in April on Rodney Fetherolf, a 19-year-old victim of spina bifida. Fetherolf's bladder wasn't functioning because of nerve damage caused by the disease. He also had developed stones in the urethra, wiping out his urinary system, Koff said.

"We tried to divert his urine, but he couldn't keep a bag on," he said. "So out of desperation, we decided to work with the intestine."

Koff used six inches of Fetherolf's intestine to make a four-centimeter valve, which will keep urine from leaking out of another piece of valve that serves as a bladder. A human has some 30 feet of intestine.

"This is the first time an intestine has been used to move the urine out of the body," he said. "I'm pleased with the results and now we can start working on adults who have to have their bladders removed."

The doctor plans to discuss his work at the meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics in Washington in November and to the American Urological Association meeting in May.

Koff said the procedure can be performed in three and a half to four hours and the patient would probably have to be hospitalized a week to 10 days.

"Rodney was in the hospital for a month because we didn't want to take chances and we wanted to watch him to see how his body reacted," he said.

The procedure is especially important for children, Koff said, because the intestine will grow with the patient.

With the substitute bladder, the patient has to drain the bladder with a catheter four to six times a day, which the wheelchair-bound Fetherolf has been taught to do.

"He sets his little alarm clock and gets up in the middle of the night to do it," his mother Sharon said.

Congress Can't Stop Its Pork-Barrel Binges

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear
WASHINGTON — Despite all the cost-cutting rhetoric echoing through the hallowed halls of Congress, pork is still pork. Big shots on the House Public Works Committee — the most redolent pork barrel on Capitol Hill — have larded the latest highway bill with $1.2 billion in road projects for their home districts.

This "scramble for pork," as one disgusted junior member of the committee called it, is most outrageous in the section of the road-building legislation reserved for so-called "demonstration projects." These are supposed to test new ideas or new technology to make the nation's highways safer or cheaper to build.

But according to some disgruntled House members, the only thing these demonstration projects do is demonstrate the inequities of the House committee's pork-barrel politics. The great bulk of the "demonstration" money goes to districts represented by senior mem-

WILLIAM RUSHER

Right On, Daniloff

As every columnist knows, it's dangerous to comment on any incident before it's well and truly over, because your remarks may be, as the delicate expression goes, "overtaken by events."

But, speaking of the detention of U.S. reporter Nick Daniloff by the Russians, and confining myself to events preceding (say) the arrival of Soviet Foreign Minister Shevardnadze in Washington to talk with Secretary of State Shultz, I'm bound to say that I find very little to object to in the conduct of the Reagan administration. We might note, preliminarily, that the impressive heights attained by the uproar over this particular incident are almost certainly owing to the (theoretically irrelevant) fact that the victim is a journalist.

It's hard to imagine the media and their political sycophants getting quite so exercised over the Soviets' sleazy game if it had been played on a mere businessman or tourist. On the bright side, however, it is entirely possible that our liberal media will now be less disposed, at least for a little while, to snicker at President Reagan's description of the Soviet Union as an "evil empire."

Specific criticisms of the Reagan administration's handling of the affair are in much shorter supply than general bellows of pain. It is charged that the administration has foolishly allowed Gorbachev to snooker it into "equating" the innocent Daniloff's arrest on a trumped-up charge with the FBI's earlier arrest of a Soviet spy in a U.N. job who was caught red-handed buying classified U.S. documents. But, with one exception, the administration has in fact stoutly refused to mingle the two cases in any way whatever.

The exception was our early agreement to transfer the Soviet spy, Gennadi Zakharov, from the federal Metropolitan Corrections Center in Manhattan (where he enjoyed exercise facilities, unlimited phone calls and all the other perks we shower on our prisoners) to the custody of the Soviet delegate to the U.N., pending trial. This was done in return for Daniloff's being taken from an 8-by-10-foot cell in Lefortovo Prison in Moscow (which he was sharing with a KGB informer) and handed over to our ambassador to the Soviet Union for similar safekeeping.

Was that really a blunder? If Daniloff had been left in jail while our TV reporters interviewed his wife every day, the pressures to consent to a trade would have increased enormously. Would the American public really have preferred to let this reporter rot indefinitely in Lefortovo rather than give Moscow the opportunity to "equate" the two cases?

The only other specific criticism of the administration's conduct that I have heard came from a rather effete Austrian journalist who was interviewed on television about the incident. He declared that, in arresting a Soviet spy (about whom we apparently had known for years) just three weeks before the Soviet foreign minister was scheduled to arrive for talks preparatory to a summit, the administration was at a minimum guilty of perfectly dreadful timing.

It's an interesting theory — the idea that no Soviet spy must be arrested during the work-up to a summit, lest this indelicacy poison the atmosphere.

Initiation In Zig Zag Diplomacy

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, who believes in goals and in winning, faces some of his toughest fights in the struggle for some semblance of nuclear arms control.

He is getting an absorbing initiation into the art of diplomacy as the superpowers zig and zag toward an inevitable second summit meeting between Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

The road has been tortuous with both sides edging toward a compromise, some steps that will make a summit worthwhile and acceptable to their constituencies.

It appears that Reagan does seek to leave a legacy of some success in cutbacks in the devastating nuclear arsenals that both sides possess. But he sees no contradiction in the demand for more and more spending on military programs to the tune of billions of dollars that are mortgaging the future.

In short, he wants to continue an unlimited arms buildup as he plows ahead in negotiations for weapons cutbacks.

No drive for arms agreements has curtailed his deep opposition to a ban on testing nuclear weapons, producing the means for chemical warfare and nerve gas.

He is totally taken with the Strategic Defense Initiative, known as the "Star Wars" space defense, and interprets the Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty in a unique way so that it will permit him to test the new shield with impunity against charges that the United States is violating the accord.

He assured the United Nations in his speech to the General Assembly that space defense would lessen the need for offensive nuclear weapons.

In a recent vitriolic speech, Reagan accused members of Congress who seek a test ban of equating weakness with peace. On the other hand, he believes that no nation should stop preparing for armed conflict.

"To preserve peace one must prepare for war," is his credo, which he believes the lessons of history have often proved.

In view of his total respect for military might and his distrust of the Soviet adversaries, his stands appear to be ambiguous. But no American president can fall to declare his peaceful intentions, and nor could any Kremlin leader say otherwise.

bers of the House.

Rep. Jim Moody, D-Wis., a former professor of transportation economics, had the impudence to offer an amendment proposing abolition of all demonstration projects. "Is it more important to fund pork projects — demonstration projects — than it is to give all states a basic fair cut and fair break on the highway trust fund?" Moody asked.

The Public Works Committee's answer was a resounding "Aye!" It voted 48-2 to kill Moody's amendment, which had no better luck when he proposed it on the House floor. Prominent committee members argued that Congress should have some discretion when it comes to doling out highway funds. After all, they said, it was Congress that instituted the gasoline tax that pays for many highway projects.

Other committee sources told our reporter that Stewart Harris the net practical effect of Moody's amendment. "You can be reasonably sure Jim Moody will not get a demonstration project for a long time," one insider said.

Here are some examples of the pork-barrel projects that led to Moody's rebellion against standard committee practices:

— A $11.5 million bridge is to be built near an existing bridge over the Toms River in Dover Township, N.J., "for the purpose of demonstrating methods of reducing traffic congestion on an existing bridge." The bridge will be built in the district represented by committee Chairman Jim Howard, D-N.J.

— The most expensive pork project in the bill will be built in the district of Rep. Bud Shuster, R-Pa., one of the committee's "Big Four" members. For $90 million, a 12-mile highway will be built between Altoona and Tyrone to demonstrate new methods of painting lines on roads. A Shuster aide was hard put to explain why lines couldn't be painted on an existing road, but she pointed out that the four-lane demonstration highway will improve safety in the mountainous central Pennsylvania region.

— A stretch of road between a community college and a "large commercial center" is to be widened and fitted with traffic lights for $8.5 million in Fort Smith, Ark. The reason: "to demonstrate the economic growth and development benefits." An aide to the man behind the pork project, Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., explained that the road improvement was badly needed, but the town wouldn't fund it.

In that respect, the Hammerschmidt project is like other demonstration boondoggles funded by the Public Works Committee. As a Federal Highway Administration official explained, they aren't useless, but the local governments either can't or won't fund them.

Footnote: If it seems that most demonstration projects go to Republican districts, they do. Committee sources told us it's just the way Chairman Howard keeps the minority members of his committee mollified. As long as he throws them a bone now and then, they won't make trouble over his own pet projects.

Another 1 Bites Dust... Or Silent Night For Preps?

After the first week of the 1986 season, "Another One Bites the Dust" could have been the theme song for Seminole County prep football teams. The county went 3-1 against non-conference foes while Oviedo topped Lake Brantley in the Seminole Athletic Conference opener.

Last week, it was more like "Silent Night." Lake Howell was the only winner as the county went 1-5 against non-conference opponents. And, with the win, the 2-0 Silver Hawks are the only unbeaten team left in the county.

It wasn't just silent in that five (Seminole, Lake Mary, Oviedo, Lyman, Lake Brantley) of six county teams lost but, in losing, the five teams were outscored, 84-17.

Defense kept four of the five teams (Brantley lost to Evans, 27-0) in their games but none of them could do much on offense with Seminole's nine points the most by a losing team.

With the going on the ground getting increasingly tough, it may be time for the county to open up the air waves. No team has thrown more than 15 times in a game and no county quarterback has more than 127 yards passing for the first two games. Last year, two quarterbacks threw for more than 1,000 yards for the season.

This week, Lake Mary and Oviedo have open dates while two SAC games are on tap with Lake Howell at Seminole and Lyman at Lake Brantley.

With the sub-par showing by the county, the Fearless Fister Forecast recorded a mediocre 6-4 week. That includes 3-3 in preps, 2-0 college (not counting FSU tie), 1-1 pros. For the season, the record is 13-7. What kind of percentage is that? My calculator is broken, okay.

Lake Howell at Seminole

Lake Howell insists the rumor is not true. The Silver Hawks have not hired the Iron Sheik to put the camel clutch on Earnie "Sackman" Lewis. Lake Howell hopes to use the more conventional way — blocking — to stop Seminole's sensational linebacker although neither Titusville Astronaut nor Titusville was successful at it. Lewis figures to get his share of tackles, and maybe a sack or two, but Lake Howell will find a way to snare its third consecutive victory... Lake Howell by 9

Lyman at Lake Brantley

Greg Ebbert, the Boomer Esision of Seminole County, appears to be the answer to Lake Brantley's quarterback problem. And he has some good targets in Nigel "Hands" Hinds and Jason Puddicombe. Lyman's Greyhounds are still looking for the last few pieces of their offensive puzzle. While the 'Hounds keep searching, the Patriots will go up top and take this SAC encounter. In somewhat of an upset... Lake Brantley by 7

UCF at Akron

Unreliable sources reported Gerry Faust was spotted on a remote island off the coast of Libya consorting with Woody Hayes to overthrow the NCAA. Actually, that was Charley Pell, not Faust (it's only a joke, and not much of one at that). Faust can stop sweating now that he's out of the spotlight. It didn't hurt that the obnoxious Notre Dame exile inherited a powerful team in the Zips of Akron. The Knights are in for their biggest battle yet and, despite being one of the most improved teams in Division I-AA, UCF doesn't appear to have the power of the Zips... Akron by 10

Florida at Mississippi State

Legend has it that there isn't much to do in Jackson, Miss., so, for fun, the football team hangs out at the 7-Eleven, sucking sacks of sugar dry. Well, something has beefed up and toughened up the Mississippi State Bulldogs. After being overpowered by Miami and Alabama in consecutive home games, the Florida Gators will be out for blood Saturday. The Gators don't figure to lose three in a row... Florida by 12

Raines Raps 3 For .336; Rain Washes Out Gwynn, Sax

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Tim Raines, in a the midst of a heated three-way battle for the National League's batting average championship, has a simple philosophy for success: "I have to get my hits and hope they don't get theirs."

Padre Tony Gwynn and Dodger Steve Sax are they. Raines, who ripped three more hits in four at-bats Wednesday against the Pirates, upped his average to .336. Raines has 10 hits in his last 13 trips.

Gwynn, batting .332, and Sax, hitting .328, watched helplessly as San Diego at Los Angeles was rained out Wednesday. All three players have 11 games to play.

Gwynn, who easily won the batting title two years ago, has to be a bit surprised Raines and Sax have hung tough for 150 games. Although Raines has steadily improved his average the past three years (.298, .309, .320), he confessed he didn't "realistically" expect to be in contention come late

N.L. Baseball

September.

"I said in spring training I'd like to win the batting title, but I didn't really think I had a chance," Raines said via telephone Wednesday from Pittsburgh. "After what (St. Louis' Willie) McGee did last year, people would probably think I was nuts to think I could win it."

McGee, however, has never approached his .360 average of a year ago. The swift Cardinals' center fielder has not been a factor. It has been a two-man race between Gwynn and Raines until Sax butted in two weeks ago.

"Sax is a surprise," Raines said. "He has a chance to get 200 hits and last year he only had 11 extra base hits. Now, he's pulling the ball and is second in the league in doubles. He's pretty much done it all year. You can't count him out."

Raines said Gwynn and Sax had a chance to put him away two weeks ago when he slumped badly one weekend. "I was 0 for St. Louis," Raines laughed about the Sept. 12-14 series with the Cardinals. "I fell down to .325 but neither one wanted to take over."

"I guess we were all in a slump together. They didn't build up a big enough lead for me not to come back. I've always been able to finish strong. I just hope it happens again this year."

Raines said even if he comes up short, it won't devastate him. "Sure, I want to win it. It's important to me," the 27-year-old outfielder who can become a free agent at the end of the season said. "But if I get beat out by Tony Gwynn I won't feel as if I've let myself down."

Raines finishes the season with one game against Pittsburgh, two games against the New York Mets and six against the Philadelphia Phillies. He said his hitting around .400 against the Pirates, close to .300 against the Mets and "didn't know" about the Phillies.

Right now, the former Seminole High standout and Heathrow resident said past records don't matter. "When you're hot, it doesn't matter whose pitching or who you are playing," he said. "The Mets will throw three good pitchers at you, but I'm ready. I feel confident at the plate."

Maybe confident enough for his first batting title.

RAINES RAP — Tim received an assist from the official scorekeeper Saturday at Montreal. An error was charged to St. Louis shortstop Ozzie Smith but later was ruled a hit when it was determined Raines' speed forced a poor, hurried throw by Smith.

Raines is only the sixth player in major-league history to slap 30 or more doubles five consecutive years. The others: Baltimore's Cal Ripken and Pittsburgh's Johnny Ray, Honus Wagner (11), Paul Waner (7) and Gus Suhr (5).

Seminole wasn't ferocious enough against DeLand, losing two consecutive Wednesday.

Deceiving DeLand Sweeps Seminole

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

DeLand's Lady Bulldogs certainly don't look like a team with a 6-1 record. But looks can be deceiving.

The Lady Bulldogs rarely set up their offense and they have only one real standout athlete in big C.C. Hayden. What DeLand does is keeps the ball in play and waits for the opposition to make mistakes.

Wednesday night, Seminole High made enough mistakes to enable the Lady Bulldogs to pull out a 15-13, 15-10 victory in prep volleyball action at Seminole High.

While DeLand improved to 8-1, its only loss to Spruce Creek, Seminole dropped to 0-2. The Lady Tribe returns to action Saturday at noon against host Winter Park in the single-elimination Winter Park Tournament.

"We've got the talent and depth to be a strong team," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "But we have to go out and prove it. And to do that we have to be a lot sharper mentally."

DeLand took an early 5-0 lead in the opening game but the Lady Noles came back with six straight points on Diana Mitchell's serve for a 6-5 lead. Cindy Bengel's hit provided the first point of the rally and the other five were on DeLand mistakes.

Seminole held onto a 10-7 lead before DeLand came back with five straight points for a 12-10 lead.

The Tribe then regained the serve and took a 13-12 lead as Liz Long served three points. But her next serve went into the net and DeLand closed out the first game with Hayden serving three points.

The hitting of Bengel kept Seminole even with DeLand in the early going of game two, but the Lady Bulldogs then forged an 8-3 lead. Sheri Peterson then got Seminole back in the game as she served four points, two of them aces, to cut the deficit to 8-7.

Hayden then had her best offensive series when DeLand regained the serve. The 6-1 junior accounted for two points with spikes and one with a block as the Lady Bulldogs reeled off four points for a 12-7 lead.

A devastating spike by Long gave the serve back to Seminole and the Lady Tribe eventually came back within 12-10 on consecutive spikes by Adrian Hillman and Bengel. But Seminole could get no closer as DeLand went on to win the game, 15-10.

CAPPS LEADS MARY WIN

In one of its best offensive displays ever, Lake Mary rolled to a 15-6, 15-12 victory over Kissimmee Osceola Wednesday night at Lake Mary High.

The Lady Rams improved to 2-1 with the win and return to action Saturday in the Evans Invitational at Orlando Evans High. Lake Mary opens the tournament at 10 a.m. against West Orange, then plays host Evans and Kissimmee Gateway in the eight-team pool play tourney.

"We played really great at times," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said.

Henry said Angela Capps had a superb match all the way around for the Lady Rams while Lora Splatt and Marcie Dalziel were strong on offense and Marcy Lazar did an outstanding job setting.

"It's really nice to see power volleyball for a change," Henry said. "Angela (Capps) had probably her best match ever. We were going to her a lot because she was really on."

LONGWOOD — Seminole High freshman Cissy Burgess broke a pair of school records, but depth is what separated Lyman from Seminole and Oviedo in the team standings Wednesday in a triangular swim meet at the Lyman High swimming center.

The next meet for the county teams will be the Sharidan Invitational Saturday at Longwood's Sharadin Aquatic Club beginning at 9 a.m.

Burgess, sister of former Seminole standout Chuck Burgess, turned in a fine performance as she finished first in the 200 individual medley in 2:31.8 for one school record and broke another school mark in the 100 fly, where she placed second in 1:06.7.

Seminole coach Donalyn Knight said she was pleased with her Wednesday's effort.

Osteen Bridge Holds Classic

Coppen, Gaines Fish Foreign Waters, Catch $1,341 Prize

Saturday, Sept. 13, was a special day at the Osteen Bridge Fish Camp. The annual Osteen Bridge Fish Camp Classic took place on that day.

Thirty to 40 boats had participated in each of owner Dell Abernethy's eight monthly Osteen Bridge Bass Tournaments throughout the year, and the top 10 point makers automatically qualified to fish in the big tournament of the year — the Classic.

Competition had been fierce all year, and only 82 points separated the first place team from the team in 10th place. All 10 teams had an equal chance, and one big bass could have turned the tournament around for the lucky angler.

Bobby Coppen and David Gaines, two local anglers, were among the favorites to win the tournament. They had been the most consistent fishermen all year, amassing 964 points out of a possible 1,000.

Saturday, Sept. 13, dawned clear and hot. The 10 teams knew that they had their work cut out for them. The Classic was a winner-take-all tournament, so all teams were fishing for first place. Second place was no better than 10th place.

Most of the 10 teams had pre-fished the Classic and had developed a game plan for victory. Coppen and Gaines said they had not done well in the September Osteen Bridge Bass Tournament and knew that a change in strategy was in order.

They had been fishing the Lake Monroe area with topwater plugs, but this fishing fell off with the rising water level. When the bass boats took off on Saturday morning, Coppen and Gaines sped off to the Highbanks portion of the river — something they rarely do because of boat traffic.

The other nine boats all took off in different directions, each hoping to strike the mother lode.

As expected, the fishing was difficult due to the rising water and the hot temperatures. As the morning turned into afternoon, anglers were happy to catch keeper bass — over twelve inches long.

When the fishermen reported to the weigh-in at 2 p.m., it became apparent that no big bass had been caught. Fishing had been tough, and the anglers were happy to weigh in one- to three-pound fish.

Bobby Coppen and David Gaines emerged victorious. Their brave decision to fish an entirely different spot with entirely different lures paid off handsomely — to the tune of $1,341!

They switched to plastic worms and crankbaits and fished areas of running water to win the Classic. Their combined catch was 10 bass that weighed 17 pounds and five ounces.

Franki Dodsun and Jack Davis finished second with 12 pounds and 12 ounces.

All of the contestants were winners, for only the best teams qualified to fish the Classic. The honor of participating in this event was reward in itself.

The other teams were Carson Byrd and John Harmon, Mike Rankin and Frank Evans, D.R. Birlle and Danny Allen, Ralph Curry and Paul Hanna, Jim Wrennick and George Smith, Hank

Lake Mary Frosh Rout Howell; Brantley Topples Lyman, 18-14

Lake Mary jumped to a 21-0 first half lead and added another touchdown in the second half to blank Lake Howell, 27-0, in freshman football Tuesday night at Lake Mary High School.

"The defense turned in a good, team effort," Lake Mary coach Jim Hughes said about his 1-1 Rams. Lake Mary returns to action Tuesday, Oct. 7 at Seminole.

Dexter Fairclough put the Rams on the board in the first quarter with a 10-yard run. The PAT failed. Later in the second quarter, David Dease tallied on a five-yard run. Quarterback Dustin McDougald ran in the two-point conversion for a 14-0 lead.

In the second period, Pete Teemer scored on a four-yard run and Bobby Brantley kicked the point after for a 21-0 bulge. McDougald capped the scoring when he took it in from six yards out in the third quarter.

In other freshman action, Lake Brantley knocked off Lyman, 18-14, at Lake Brantley High School. The 0-2 Greyhounds journey to Lake Howell Tuesday. Lake Brantley, 2-0, hosts powerful Osceola Tuesday.

Paul Bowen tossed a 45-yard scoring pass to Marvin Reed for Lyman's first score. Bowen hit Mark Decker for the two-point conversion. Kennis Morse scored on a five-yard run for the 'Hounds second TD.

Packers' Lewis Calls It Quits

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Cornerback Tim Lewis' career came to a sudden, unfortunate ending on television before millions of football fans.

Lewis, 24, one of the Green Bay Packers' best players, announced Wednesday he is retiring because another neck injury could leave him paralyzed for life.

Fans across the nation Monday night witnessed Lewis colliding head-on with Chicago Bears receiver Willie Gault. He lay motionless for several minutes before he was carried off on a stretcher.

"We were like battering rams," Lewis said. "I ducked. I tried to get lower than he was but we hit head-on and, crunch."

After hospital examinations in Green Bay and Milwaukee, doctors advised Lewis not to play football again because another hit could leave him paralyzed. He was released from the hospital Tuesday.

Tempestuous McEnroe Wins

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — John McEnroe's temper is back in shape, following a six-month layoff from tennis.

McEnroe defeated Australian Broderick Dyke 6-2, 6-2 Wednesday night in the final first-round match of the $289,000 Transamerica Open men's tennis tournament and managed to argue with officials during the first set.

The temperamental southpaw was retaping his racket between points in the fifth game of the first set when he drew a delay warning from umpire Marv Goldberg.

While McEnroe did not equal some of his legendary tantrums of yesteryear, he gathered every official he could find and loudly complained for about a minute.

"I think the guy was out to get me," McEnroe said afterward. "I think it was absurd."

Byers: Drug Plan Sends A Message

WASHINGTON (UPI) — NCAA Executive Director Walter Byers says the NCAA's new drug-testing plan is "legally defensible" and will send out a message that drugs have no place in college sports.

NCAA officials, under pressure to deal with the growing drug problem in college sports, announced Wednesday a "fail-safe and fool-proof" program for testing student-athletes for a wide range of illegal drugs and performance-enhancing substances.

Byers said athletes will be tested by urinalysis before and after championships in 21 men's and women's sports as well as football bowl games, starting this fall. But Byers, citing a scarcity in medical laboratories certified to handle drug-testing analysis, said the NCAA will not test during the regular season, leaving that up to each school.

The NCAA will spend $950,000 this academic year on the testing and has set aside an additional $2 million for helping laboratories process the tests.

"(The program) is directed to the health and welfare of the student-athlete and it is directed to ensuring equitable and fair competition for national honors," Byers told a news conference. "It is designed to, in part, give the necessary support for the student-athlete to resist peer pressures to try drugs."

Byers brushed aside questions about civil libertarians' claims that drug testing is an unconstitutional invasion of privacy.

"We believe the NCAA program is legally defensible," he said.

"I think there are two or three factors here. One is that it is clearly designed for the student-athlete's health and welfare. Secondly, there is a consent arrangement whereby each year the student-athlete declares his ability to meet various eligibility rules of the NCAA, including being free of banned substances, and he consents to be tested in the event that he qualifies for national championship competition."

An athlete who tests positive or refuses to submit to a test before an event will be stripped of his eligibility to compete, while an athlete who refuses to take a test or tests positive after competition will be stripped of any honors, Byers said. If any player tests positive after a football bowl game — regardless of whether he even played in the game — his team automatically will be declared the loser, Byers said.

Byers added the NCAA will not publicly identify an athlete who tests positively, but will give the name to the school.

"We're swimming the times now that we were swimming last year at our peak in the season," she said. "We get beat by our lack of depth. We have none."

"I think that it is partly due to facilities (Seminole must train before school at the Sanora pool). We need more swimmers, but the kids out now are doing great," she added.

In the girls meet, the Lady Greyhounds turned in an impressive performance with 136 points, compared to Oviedo's 77 and Seminole's 60.

Chrissie Metzdorf led the way for Lyman with two firsts as Kim Kwiatkowski also turned in a fine performance with a first and second.

Metzdorf took the honors in the 200 Free in 2:17.5, and 500 free with a 6:11.1 effort. Kwiatkowski won the 50 free in 28.8 and finished second in the diving competition with a total of 57.25.

For the boys, Lyman tallied a total of 135 points to Oviedo's 55 and Seminole's 34. The Lyman squad took first place in both relays and had an individual place first in each event.

John Jones, a two-event winner, as Chuck Reinighaus, Tom Mooney, and brothers Jim and David Bandy all contributed first place performances. Also coming through for the 'Hounds were Charlie Rose in the relays and Sam Rennard who turned in two second place finishes.

Jones won the 50 free and 100 free, recording times of 23.8, and 1:00.5, respectively. Rose also turned in a nice performance with an excellent 48.0 on the final leg of the 400 free relay.

Lyman received another boost as divers Mike Licht and Chris Hebert came in first and second, giving Lyman the backup they need for the conference.

"They're (Licht and Hebert) really starting to come through for us," Lyman coach Don Clark said. "They have really been looking good. We'll need them for the conference."

Clark said his boys were still burning about an upset loss to Lake Mary (151-150) last week. "We haven't forgotten the loss," Clark said. "We're ready to swim against them again."

Galliger and Burch Sheldon, Mike Sandfert and David Perkins, and Bill Stephen and Bobby Braswell.

Dell and wife Patti threw a huge fish fry at the end of the Classic. Delicious fried fish, hushpuppies, and baked beans helped to nourish the hungry fishermen and onlookers.

Dell runs a first-class tournament and should be congratulated for his efforts. Tournament fishermen in this area are indebted to Dell for the time and energy he expends in organizing the monthly Osteen Bridge Bass Tournament and for his live-release policy of all bass caught.

SHUPE'S SCOOP — Saturday, Sept. 27, is National Hunting and Fishing Day. Since 1972, Florida has designated one day per year to give recognition to hunters and fishermen for their contributions to conservation.

You can't celebrate this special day more appropriately than by spending it in the great outdoors. (Tell your wife that it wouldn't be patriotic if you didn't go fishing.)

WEEKEND FORECAST — Ron Rawlins at Highland Park Fish Camp reports that bass activity is still slow. Brasm and cattiefish are biting in Lake Woodruff and the main river.

Dell Abernathy from Osteen Bridge said that just about everyone is catching bass, but that they are running small, from one to three pounds. The larger bass are being caught in local lakes such as those found in Osteen and Deltona. Brasm and Specks are biting around the new bridge on grass shrimp.

Sebastian Inlet is still slow for snook. Experts predict for things to really break loose during the full moon in October. If you must fish at Sebastian, the crowds are much thinner during the week or during the early morning hours.

Captain Jack of Port Canaveral reports that offshore trolling is still rated as good. A good number of wahoo are being caught this year, along with plenty of dolphin. Start at 12' of water and work out for the best action. Pelican Flats has also been producing plenty of fish for those fishermen who do not want to venture too far out.

The busy line is slow, with only a few cobia and tripletail being caught. Trout are slow in the Banana and Indian rivers, but redfish are there for anglers who are patient enough to wait for them to come by their belts.

The jetties at New Smyrna provide steady action for anglers who fish live shrimp on the bottom with a small weight. The north side of the north jetties is the place to be anchored — just a cast away from the rocks. You can catch anything from a sheepshead to a big redfish.

Lake Mary's junior varsity evened its record at 1-1 with a 15-12, 5-15, 15-6 victory over Osceola. Henry said Donna Rohr and Chrissy Snow led the way for the JV Lady Rams.

BRANTLEY WINS FIRST

Stephanie Glance had to wait a while, but she got her first win as coach of Lake Brantley Wednesday night as the Lady Patriots avenged an earlier defeat with a 15-6, 4-15, 15-9 victory over Apopka at Lake Brantley High.

The Lady Patriots, 1-4, return to action Saturday in the Evans Invitational. Brantley plays Orlando Colonial at 10 a.m., takes on Apopka at 11 and Orlando Luther at 2 p.m.

"The kids pulled together and played real well today," Glance said.

Glance said sophomore Dawn Gebhart led the Lady Patriots' attack with some powerful hits and added some good serves as well. Pam Wittig, Renee Upson and Gretchen Mull also performed well on the front row. Mull was playing just her second varsity match since being moved up from junior varsity.

Defensively, Julie DeRusso had an outstanding match according to Glance while freshman Jeanne Siedel had a solid match all the way around.

Anti-Abortionist Sentenced To 5 Years For Burglary, Mischief

PENSACOLA (UPI) — A frail-looking anti-abortionist dropped to the floor in protest when a judge sentenced her to five years in jail for rushing into an abortion clinic and damaging equipment six months ago.

Joan Elizabeth Andrews, 38, of Newark, Del., who has been arrested more than 100 times for her anti-abortion activities, was sentenced Wednesday to jail after telling Circuit Judge William Anderson she would accept freedom or jail but not probation.

Some of the mostly pro-life spectators in the court cried out following the verdict. The judge had to reprimand at least one of them from the bench.

Andrews had been among four people who entered the Ladies Center March 26 during a protest. Three of them, including Andrews, ran upstairs and caused $1,800 in damage to equipment.

Andrews, called "St. Joan of Newark" by some of her supporters, was convicted in July of burglary, criminal mischief and resisting arrest without violence. She could have received a sentence of seven years.

Suit Threat Ends Treatment

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The threat of a malpractice suit against Watson Clinic in Lakeland has led to a decision the attorney handling the case and his family can no longer be treated at the facility.

The wife of Kenneth L. Connor, a member of the State Ethics Commission, received a letter written Sept. 18 by Watson Clinic Executive Director Craig S. Suwinaki, telling her doctors at the clinic could no longer see her or other family members because her husband is representing a client who has threatened to sue the clinic. She was told she had two weeks to find a new doctor.

The Connors lived in Polk County for 10 years before he moved his law practice to Tallahassee late last year, and Connor credits the clinic with the family he now has. The couple adopted one child and then had three children after being treated by a fertility expert at the clinic.

"Due to Mr. Connor's acting as legal counsel for a person pursuing a malpractice claim against the clinic, I wish to advise you of the Watson Clinic policy which precludes yourself, your husband and your immediate family members from becoming a patient of, or maintaining a medical relationship with any physician subsequent to the pursuit of a malpractice claim against the clinic," Suwinaki wrote.

The widely known Watson clinic has treated some of Florida's top political figures, including Sen. Lawton Chiles and former Govs. Claude Kirk and LeRoy Collins.

Paris Police Arrest Terrorist At Park Press Conference

PARIS (UPI) — Police arrested one of the leaders of the extreme left-wing Direct Action terrorist group in a park today as he surfaced to hold a news conference.

A police spokesman would not say whether the arrest was linked to the terrorist bombings that have killed nine people and wounded more than 180 in Paris this month.

Police also declined to say whether eight others with links to Direct Action recently arrested were being questioned about the five bombings between Sept. 8 and Sept. 17.

"I have nothing to do with these bomb attacks," Frederic Oriach told a French television interviewer minutes before detectives seized him. He declined to condemn the attacks.

Israel Planes Pound Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Israeli warplanes pounded a Palestinian guerrilla base southeast of the southern port of Sidon today, killing one guerrilla, police sources said.

The sources said two warplanes fired six air-to-surface rockets and struck a building used by Yasser Arafat's Al Fatah group in the Miyeh Miyeh camp southeast of the port of Sidon, 24 miles south of Beirut.

The rockets devastated the building, killed one Palestinian guerrilla in a trench near the base and wounded two other fighters. The wounded were rushed to the Hlial hospital in the nearby Palestinian refugee camp of Ain Al Hilweh, the sources said.

as possible.

He did, dropping the $8,000 Cessna 152 into four or five feet of water and possibly clipping a couple of trees on the way in. The 1978 plane, owned by Sunray Airline at the Sanford-Central Florida Airport, broke in two on impact. Sunray is owned by Watkins' father.

"It happened damn quick," said Pell, who hit the windshield and was knocked out on impact.

"I don't know how I got out or to shore," he said from his hospital bed. The rescuing was done by Watkins, who dragged Pell to an islet then went looking for help until he saw a boat coming toward them. The men were picked up by the unidentified off-duty deputy and taken to the park off U.S. Highway 17-92.

Meanwhile, a trooper in a plane monitoring traffic on Interstate-4, confirmed the crash by radioing troopers on the ground. The four troopers on the ground then ran through some woods to the crash site, stripped, and swam to the empty plane, disturbing some alligators and snakes on the way.

Pell said they were over the lake when the motor "popped" a couple of times and quit. They were seven minutes out of the airport and carrying a full tank of just-loaded fuel.

He said Watkins headed the disabled plane toward I-4, perhaps in an attempt to land there, but when Watkins apparently decided he couldn't get over the trees along the Interstate, he put it down in the lake next to shore.

"I shut my eyes and held on," said Pell.

"I never rode in a Cessna 152 before and I don't think I ever will again," Pell said.

He did say, however, he would be back flying as soon as he's out of the hospital.

On the scene within a minute of the crash was the off-duty deputy and his passenger, according to Watkins' father. He said they took the men to the park near the Lake Monroe Bridge in Volusia County. However, Chief Deputy Duane Harrell said today it is unlikely that either of the boaters who rescued the men was a Seminole County sheriff's deputy. Harrell said he was one of the first to arrive at the park where the boat came in with the pilot and his passenger, and that neither of the men in the boat was known to him as a deputy from Seminole.

Watkins, a commercial pilot whose legal residence is listed as Lake Mary, but who says he lives at the Sanford airport, was flying the plane at the time and not Pell, a student pilot. It was initially reported that Pell was piloting the craft because he had reserved the plane. Later, however, he asked Watkins to fly him around, the the pilot's father said.

After the crash, one of the boaters who rescued them transported them to the picnic area where Watkins telephoned his father. By that time, rescue personnel had been called. The elder Watkins took his son to the hospital and an ambulance transported Pell, who was in satisfactory condition today at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford. Watkins was treated for head cuts and bruises, then released.

Two eye witnesses at the picnic area said the unidentified boaters carried the men in then left at a high rate of speed.

"They just brought them in and set them on the dock," said Bernice Ervin of DeBary, who works at the picnic area.

"What made me kind of suspicious was the way they took off," said Emma Huggins of Sanford, who was fishing at the area.

"It was a nice boat, not a fishing boat, but a nice boat," said Ms. Huggins.

"They didn't waste no time to drop those two men off and take off," she said.

"They came in kind of slow, but took off fast," Ms. Huggins said. "At least they didn't leave them out there in the water."

Ms. Ervin said one of the injured men slumped against a piling after being put on the dock and the other walked to a concession building. He asked what the nearby road was (17-92) then made a call from a pay phone.

The Federal Aviation Administration is investigating the crash.

installed at the stadium. Before then, the lease was set at $1 a year in return for his maintaining and improving the stadium and its grounds.

Rinker said he will raise the required monies from fees colleges and high schools pay to send their baseball players to the Florida Baseball Schools he runs at the stadium.

The stadium, which once served as the New York Giants training camp, is located on Mellonville Avenue, just north of the Seminole County School Board offices.

Rinker had given Sanford a check in May to cover the rent, but it was returned for insufficient funds. Since then, there has been correspondence between the city and Rinker, but no payment, Colbert said.

Rinker said he has "been on the phone" trying to secure the funds since he learned of commissioners' decision.

"I have payments coming from three or four schools that I'll use to pay the back rent," he said.

Between $25,000 and $30,000 in payments have been lined up from all the schools that will be sending players to training camps at the stadium next spring, Rinker said.

"I've planned on it (paying the rent) all along," Rinker said. "The city has definitely been very lenient."

Rinker also said although he was "not offering excuses," his failure to pay Sanford was due to "certain unfortunate circumstances."

He said $12,000 in cash and travelers checks was stolen from the stadium office last spring and he had been away from Sanford during much of the last six months promoting the stadium to the schools that provide its rent and operational expenses.

The check he wrote in May for the rent was to have been covered by reimbursement of the stolen travelers checks, Rinker said, but he subsequently learned the checks would not be refunded because he was third party on them.

Rinker said he is still hopes to secure the reimbursement by persuading legal action.

top domestic priority. The president sent House members a letter asking them to support the compromise bill that would limit many tax breaks in exchange for lower rates and raise business taxes to pay for individual cuts.

Reagan's support could not answer questions, however, about public enthusiasm for the measure. Various lawmakers complained it would not cut the federal deficit, could hurt the economy and could raise taxes for about 15 million lower- and middle-income Americans.

Nevertheless, supporters were heartened by the most significant development in favor of the bill Wednesday — a closed-door House Republican caucus where leaders apparently dodged a bullet by scuttling a troublesome procedural move being considered by dissident GOP members.

Led by Reps. Bill Archer, R-Texas, and Phil Crane, R-Ill., some Republicans had hoped to force the House to vote today on a motion to send the bill back to the congressional conference committee that molded it from original House and Senate versions with specific instructions to change several sensitive provisions such as the new limits on individual retirement accounts.

Crane argued that the compromise bill "is so fundamentally flawed that to go forward simply for the sake of getting a bill out is misguided."

team or club (and all extracurricular activities) for at least a year.

But regardless of whether a student agrees to the contract, he will be expelled from activities if drugs are found to be a problem, said Assistant Principal Bill Moore. This has proven to be a source of confusion so far, he said, adding that the anti-drug implementation procedures (of which there are 10) have been approved for students across the board — contract or no contract.

In other words, if any student demonstrates behaviors common to drug abusers, the principal will be notified, talks with parents will be set up, and the student likely will be referred to appropriate treatment such as the Grove Counseling Center (which has a contract with the School Board). Verification of counseling will be maintained, and then depending on the number of drug incidents the student has had, he may be allowed to continue in his club or team during therapy, he may be suspended for a week if it's a second instance, or he may get a year's suspension on his third referral.

"The contract is just a positive statement to help kids say no," said Moore. "The (disciplinary) measures remain the same regardless."

Another question the contracts have raised is whether the club sponsors and coaches will have to fill out similar promises. Moore said he asked each of the coaches some time ago if they would agree to urinalysis when the time comes. "Without fail, they all said they would," said Moore. Coach Peters added, "I don't know of anyone who wouldn't be willing to lead by example."

However, at this point the contracts are between the students, the parents and the school for a period of 12 months. Only an ACLU action threatens to thwart the intent of the contracts, and if that comes it will be many months in court.

School officials appear confident Lake Mary can govern its own students without the heavy hand of the courts.

"Don't tell us it won't work; it will work," said Moore, who is spearheading the campaign along with Principal Don Reynolds. "It's up to us to make it work. People in other communities cannot tell us what will work here. We must teach our students to stand up and support their convictions."

Moore and Peters were the sledgehammers in Wednesday night's production. Moore insisted Lake Mary wants the lifestyles of its druggie underworld "made public."

"And we hope to influence that minority."

He pointed out a recent instance related to him in which a girl-student's father had a birthday party for her — "and half the people who came were either drunk or stoned," he said. The father made them all leave, deciding the example was more important than the success of the party. He added that, "Somebody is allowing these drug parties at their homes, or it wouldn't be happening. Maybe if they had the support of this school body they wouldn't be tolerating it so readily."

During the two-hour orientation, program endorsements were given by Scott Leaman, senior class president; Mary Beth Willis, vice president of Lake Mary Student Government; Connie Mandeville, guidance director; Dr. Anita Phinney, psychologist and director of the 'Lake Mary Says No!' project; Larry Visser, executive director of Grove Counseling Center, and others.

Miss Willis said the student body needed and wanted the program as long as the adults appreciate what students accomplish in improving their lifestyles.

"We need positive reinforcement," she said. "Nothing negative."

The audience was told that "crack" cocaine represents a great danger to students because it is available for $10 and can be addictive within two or three uses. It travels to the brain after inhalation in 10 seconds; the "high" is followed by a depression that is most readily relieved by another hit. During the first six months of 1986 in Florida, 34 people died from crack cocaine use.

Credit and thanks was given to the School Advisory Committee for its year-long effort to find a program that will work against drugs in Lake Mary.

"If you sign these contracts, you've made a commitment," concluded Moore.

He was followed by Mrs. Mandeville who said she loves the students' counselors.

"These people come to me and they want a social life, but there are so many people saying, yes, try it. Our kids want to do the right thing, and we're going to help them do it. We're going to give them a greater ability to say no, and it's going to help our whole community."

The next step after tonight's meeting is four sessions for families to get together and form links helping one another and learning "Drug Awareness & Family Life Management Skills." These will be on Wednesday evenings at 7:30 - 9 p.m. Oct. 1, 8, 15, and Nov. 5, put on by the high school and Grove Counseling Center.

HRS Denies Pushing Abortions

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services will not encourage women infected with AIDS to seek abortions, despite charges by the Catholic Church, a department spokesman says.

Acting epidemiologist Dr. Michael Wilder said HRS is interested only in protecting women and unborn children from a deadly disease.

Wilder said HRS plans to supply voluntary tests for HIV, the antibody associated with AIDS, to members of high-risk groups.

A Year In Jail For Their Son Is Life Of Agony For Parents

DEAR READERS: From a Florida reader came the enclosed item, originally published in my column in 1972. Please read it and pay special attention to the last paragraphs.

DEAR ABBY: Recently a 17-year-old Florida boy pleaded guilty to possessing hallucinogenic drugs. He had also been charged with violence toward a Miami Beach police officer.

Judge Alfonso Sepe sentenced the youth to one year in the county stockade and four years' probation. The comments of the judge so impressed me that I ordered the transcript from the court reporter so that I may read it to my own children.

Your column is so widely read I am sending you the "lecture" Judge Sepe gave that boy in the presence of the grieving parents. I hope you will publish it and give it the national forum I think it deserves.

MRS. A.A. CATES, MIAMI

DEAR MRS. CATES: Rarely do I devote an entire column to one letter, but I agree, this is worth it. Here it is:

Judge Sepe spoke directly to the youth and said: "Do you know who is going to serve that year? Not you; your mother and father will serve that year. That is what's wrong. They get sentenced. They get sentenced for a lifetime. You serve a year. Your body is in the stockade for a year, but their souls are tormented for a lifetime. Why? Because you are a selfish, spoiled boy, that's why.

"There is no punishment in the world that I can inflict upon you that could in any way compensate for what you are doing to your mother and father. I have not spent 5 cents raising you. I don't know you from Adam. But your mother and father have put their lives, their hearts, their sweat, their money and everything else they have into bringing you up. And now they have to sit in this courtroom and listen to a total stranger who had nothing to do with your upbringing scold you and put you in jail.

"This is at a time when phony kids your age are yelling, 'You adults have your alcohol, we want our drugs; you have polluted our water and our air, you have polluted this and that,' and all the rest of the garbage that comes out of your mouths. Meanwhile, you put yourselves above everybody else. I feel sorry for you.

"I want you to think of this for one year, and the reason why I say it: If you are sick, a doctor will treat you and he won't be on drugs. The lawyer who represents you won't be high on drugs, and the people in whose custody you'll be won't be on drugs. Your astronauts are not on drugs, and your president is not. And your engineers who build the bridges that you drive across and the tunnels that you drive through are not on drugs, and those who build the planes that you fly in and the cars that you drive are not. Neither are those who build the bathrooms that you stink up with your lousy, rotten drugs, and this is because of people like your mother and father.

"But in the world of the future the same may not be true. Teachers, doctors, lawyers, legislators — products of the new drug-oriented generation — may well be high as kites. You won't know whom to send your child to, or whom to trust your life to."

Sepe sighed and closed the case file. "Let's see what kind of world you leave to your children before you talk about the world that we left to ours."

Well, readers, did Judge Sepe have a crystal ball? Because recreational drugs are illegal, there are not accurate statistics. But it would appear that this country is facing a major drug problem of unprecedented proportions and that the Judge's worst prophecies have been fulfilled.

The solution: If everyone swept his own doorstep, the whole world would be clean.

All Embryos Have Traits Of Female

DEAR DR. GOTT — You stated in a previous column that all embryos start as girls, and that only later in development do boys become boys. Whoa! I always thought an embryo was either male or female at the moment of conception. Please explain.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Ten years ago, I had a complete hysterectomy (except for one ovary). My general practitioner says that because I don't have a cervix, I don't need a Pap smear. The gynecologist (who, because of distance, I see infrequently) says I do. I am happy with both doctors, except for this one issue. Could you elaborate?

DEAR DR. GOTT — The Pap test is a smear taken from the cervix. Since you no longer have a cervix, I side with your general doctor, who believes that Pap tests are no longer necessary for you.

In all fairness, I should add that most gynecologists I know insist that women continue to have Pap smears after hysterectomy. I've badgered the specialists for their reasons. The only one that makes sense to me is that some women may develop cancer of the reproductive tract even though surgery has been performed; therefore, the gynecologists are being cautious. Your family doctor probably can do a splendid job of checking you out, so I recommend that you obtain your primary medical care closer to home and use the gynecologist if, in your doctor's opinion, a problem arises.

DEAR DR. GOTT — A year ago my husband was diagnosed as having spinal-cord atrophy, cause unknown. He takes 160 milligrams of Lioresal and 30 milligrams of Librium to help with his severe spasticity; other than that, no doctor in this area can give help. Can you give us more information on his condition?

DEAR READER — The spinal cord, a major part of the central nervous system, relays nerve signals between the brain and various body parts. Like other tissues, the spinal nerves can atrophy or shrivel. As you point out, muscle spasticity is a consequence of the unusual disease called spinal atrophy. Because other disorders can mimic spinal atrophy, your husband may wish to have the diagnosis corroborated. I believe that this could be done in a teaching hospital where, after appropriate investigation, he could be started on a program of physical therapy to maintain his independence.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Have you ever held too many high cards for your own good? Cover the East-West cards with your thumbs and plan the play after the jack of diamonds lead. The actual declarer won the diamond ace, drew trumps with the A-K and then took a club finesse. East won and returned a club. Eventually declarer had to start playing the spade suit on his own, with the unfortunate result that he lost three spades, tricks and his contract.

tempting club finesse, should play ace and another. And where does that leave the crestfallen defenders? On lead, with nothing to do but to lead spades — thus guaranteeing South a spade trick — or to give declarer a sluff and a ruff for his 10th trick.

You can now see the relevance of the opening question. If North's club queen were changed to a small card, wouldn't every last one of us easily make the right play of ace and a club after eliminating the red suits? Here the club queen tempts fate, and the declarer who succumbs to its lure will regret it.

'Dallas', 'Miami Vice' To Go Head To Head

By Mark Behwed
UPI TV Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The moment has finally arrived. The machine guns are loaded, the cowboy hats dusted off, "Dallas" and "Miami Vice" go head to head Friday night in the battle of the big guns.

NBC and CBS have put all their chips on the Nielsen table and moved "Miami Vice" from 10 p.m. to 9 p.m. to take down the folks at South Fork.

Whether viewers will go for the cocaine street commandos in vice or the slippery oil barons who frequent the nighttime soap is something neither network knows for sure.

Last season, Patrick Duffy was brought back from the dead to reanimate a story that had been stretched too far. Designer gowns and outrageous plots, borrowed from the folks at "Dynasty," did not wear well on J.R. Ewing and company. Now the focus is back on the basics.

Duffy was the key to CBS's plan. Bringing back Duffy as Bobby Ewing would let viewers know that old bonanza days were back. Forget that Ewing was killed in a car wreck and buried. They can write around it.

Bobby returned in the "cliffhanger" episode that ended last season. His TV wife, Victoria Principal as Pam Ewing, had just remarried. She goes to her room, opens the bathroom door, and there is Bobby in the buff. "Good morning," he says.

The answer to Bobby's return will be revealed in a special two-hour season opener Friday night (Sept. 26, 9-11 p.m. EDT). CBS expects to handily defeat "Miami Vice" on this first episode.

But the vice boys at NBC have also made a few changes in preparation for battle.

Sonny Crockett's fake Ferrari has been replaced with a real one, the colors will change and it is promised that the writing will improve. Vice also is returning to its beginnings.

"I think we're getting back to the revelation of the pilot where we were more equal," says Phillip Michael Thomas, who plays Crockett's black partner, Rico Tubbs.

"The writing is better this season. We're still young, but we're more seasoned."

NBC has placed its most highly acclaimed new show, "L.A. Law," immediately after "Vice," and in a twist of the lead-in logic, where the first show helps the second, "L.A. Law" may wind up bringing new viewers to NBC on Friday night and thus new viewers to "Miami Vice."

The new time will help "Vice" in one respect: the old slot at 10 p.m. was prime party time and young people had to make a choice between television on Friday night or partying on Friday night.

"Now people can see their favorite show and then go out and party," Thomas said.

When NBC's new serial "Crime Story" debuted, it featured violence to the max, including a daylight shootout in a crowded department store, and assorted shotgun slayings as well. Michael Mann, who produces both "Miami Vice" and "Crime Story," promised that the show about a special unit of Chicago cops in the 1960s was not all blood and guts. "There will be one or two episodes without any gunplay at all," he said.

It hasn't happened yet. The second episode opened with a psychopath entering a beauty shop and slaughtering all present, shooting some and strangling others with antenna wire (he believed he could contact his mother in outer space through television, thus the antenna). Later he used the antenna wire to crucify a prostitute and then electrify her.

In the end, he takes over a TV station and you can't tell how many people he killed.

In a way Mann was right. There was less gunplay. He just didn't mention guns would be replaced by antenna wire.

Birds Of Paradise: Polly Parton, Barbara Birdwell And Roy Afluff

By Marsha Kaykendall

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Marketing moguls at Opryland have found a different — and pleasing — way to satisfy the insatiable appetites of country music fans.

It's a menagerie of Polly Parton, Barbara Birdwell, Roy Afluff and Minnie Parrott the stars of "Birds of Paradise."

These in no way resemble Dolly Parton, Barbara Mandrell, Roy Acuff and Minnie Pearl.

Deborah Dorsey and Jennifer Lee are the trainers and emcee the show, featuring 10 performing parrots.

The brilliant-colored entertainers have been packing in audiences averaging 400 to 500 people per 20-minute show, five shows a day, six days a week.

Dorsey and Lee take turns fronting the act, but both acknowledge happily that they're upstaged by the unpredictable antics of their feathered friends.

"No two shows are ever the same; the birds have a mind of their own and you can't predict what they'll do," Dorsey said. "Sometimes they simply won't do a trick or won't stop doing a trick."

What's most unique about the show, Dorsey said, is its country music theme.

As the story goes ... Charmin and her friends, who live in a far away jungle, dream of visiting their relatives in Nashville.

The birds get various jobs — fixing cars, acting, playing basketball, ringing school bells, firing cannons, etc., to earn enough money — which they tuck away in a piggy bank and eyeball often — to make their way to Music City.

Finally their dream comes true and the show comes to an end as they meet their famous cousins Barbara Birdwell, Polly Parton, Roy Afluff and Minnie Parrot — all decked out in country-style rhinestone finery.

Dorsey is Opryland's head zookeeper and still spends a lot of time working with the park's other exotic animals. Lee is the primary trainer.

The show's stars are Harvey, Ruby and Beaker, Green-Winged Macaws; George and Grace, Blue and Gold Macaws; Sam, a Medium Sulphur-Crested Cockatoo; and Charmin, Merlyn, Ginseng and Bingsing, Moluccan Cockatoos.

Whether it's Harvey and Ruby racing across stage on their bicycles or Sam performing his prowess with consecutive baskets through a hoop or Grace solving math problems posed by the audience, it's clear the birds love the attention.

"They just eat it up," Lee said. "They were looking at us the first week, and then suddenly they realized there was an audience out there and they'd stop in the middle of a trick and just stare at the audience," Lee said recalling the act's first week.

Now, she said, the seasoned troopers actually seem to "psyche up" before a performance and are never above hamming it up for their audience.

Dorsey, a bird breeder for the past 10 years and zookeeper for Opryland's mini-zoo for the past 15 years, conceived of the show last year after park manager Ben Moore, suggested she do something with the birds at the park. "I'm always carting my baby birds back and forth from home," she said.

Opryland, intrigued by the idea, sent her to Florida where she filmed four bird shows, in different parts of the state, in three days.

"I came back and had this hilarious film because I'd never used a video camera before," and capturing birds in motion proved to be a challenge, she said.

Dorsey recalled her initial anxiety as the park show committee watched her video tape.

"They started out straight faced and very serious and when they began to laugh, I was elated," she said. The show was approved in June 1985.

Lee, who had worked for Dorsey previously at the mini-zoo and was hired as bird trainer in June 1985, graduated in 1984 with a degree in Animal Science from Middle Tennessee State University.

Then, strangely, two months after graduation "in about a 24-hour period, I became allergic to every animal known to mankind except birds," she said. She laughed often as she shared amusing stories about her work. Like the time Ruby got mad and shoved Harvey off the stage during their bicycle race.

Crash And Rescue On Lake Monroe

Paramedics, upper left, check over pilot Paul Watkins, 25, of Lake Mary, without shirt, and prepare his Cessna 152 passenger Darrell Pell, 32, of Osteen, for transportation to the hospital after their plane crashed in Lake Monroe Wednesday. The plane, upper right, broke in two on impact west of the Interstate 4 bridge directly across from the Central Florida Zoo. Watkins was trying to land on I-4 but couldn't coax the plane over nearby trees, so he landed in the lake. Paramedics check a neck brace on Pell, lower right, before loading him onto an ambulance, lower left, for transportation to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford where he remained in satisfactory condition today. Watkins was treated and released Wednesday. The plane was about seven minutes out of Sanford Airport when the engine "popped" and quit, forcing the landing on the Volusia County side of the lake. Sanford Plots Expenditures For Projects, Programs

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Addressing the high cost of municipal management led Sanford commissioners to approve more than $850,000 in payments to cover several operational and project expenditures.

Depending on the particular expenditure, payment will be made through budgeted funds, local option gas tax accruals or wastewater management program bond revenues.

The $850,875 expenditure total, approved Monday, includes $619,250 for two road paving contracts and a $9,444 attorney billing. The payment total is rounded out by $194,820 for wastewater management program expenses, $20,000 for a consultant to assist preparation of the city's comprehensive land use plan, $5,000 to renew a purchase option on a potential well site, and $2,361 for Chase Park irrigation supplies.

The city's road paving projects will be funded with the gas tax accruals, some of which were delivered today as follow-up to last month's settlement of the year long distribution formula dispute between Seminole County and its cities. These funds, which had been held by the state, will be added to accruals Sanford received before the dispute began to fund the paving projects.

The paving will begin early next month and cover sections of almost 50 city streets. Roughly 15 miles of Sanford roadway will be covered through the projects during the next four months, said City Planning and Engineering Director Bill Simmons.

The $619,250 paving expenditure breaks down to $115,250 to low bidder Briar Construction to rebuild 7,722-square-yards of McCracken Road, from Airport Boulevard to Persimmon Avenue, and $504,000 to low bidder Orlando Paving to place one inch asphalt overlays on the 50 city roads.

Sanford has roughly 160 miles of roadway under its jurisdiction, and has targeted developing a perpetual municipal paving program that would resurface all these streets as necessary, Simmons said.

The $9,444 attorney billing commissioners approved Monday will be paid from budgeted funds to the city's law firm, Stenstrom, McIntosh, Julian, Colbert and Whigham, for efforts primarily undertaken by City Attorney William Colbert.

Monday's payment covers attorneys' efforts from April through August and is on a par with billings submitted before Sanford tried to wrest Yankee Lake from Seminole County through a condemnation suit. The suit cost the city almost $170,000 in attorneys fees, which include city counsel's billing and fees for counsel that represented the prevailing side, Seminole County and the site's former owner, Jeno Paulucci.

Sanford sought Yankee Lake for its wastewater management program. According to vouchers submitted, Colbert's law firm was paid $61,000 during the litigation.

Payment approved for the law firm Monday is $8,885, which covers 137 hours of billing at $65 an hour, and $560 in related costs.

The billing includes $1,115 for counsel's efforts regarding the Mayfair golf course and county club lease violations Sanford has charged against the course's manager, Jack Daniels.

The attorney billing also includes a $500 payment for Colbert's review of the four local option gas tax proposals developed before a final distribution formula was adopted last month. The fees also cover $1,800 for preparation of proposed amendments to streamline the city's code enforcement board hearing process.

The approved $194,820 wastewater management program expenditure will be culled from the $16.98 million project bond the city floated earlier this month, said Sanford Finance Director Henry Tamm.

The wastewater project billings approved Monday include payments for soil studies to determine capacity at sites the city will use to dispose effluent through its spray irrigation system. The billing also includes construction materials for the city's Poplar Avenue sewage treatment plant.

Sanford turned to development of spray irrigation systems at sites it already owns after loss of the Yankee Lake suit. Project efforts are to comply with a state edict the city is under to cease treated wastewater disposal in Lake Monroe.

The $20,000 consulting fee commissioners approved Monday will be paid to the Orlando engineering firm of Ivey, Bennett, Harris and Walls, Inc from engineering department budget funds. The private consulting firm will assist the city in completing its comprehensive land use plan next spring, well before the state's April 1990 submission deadline, Simmons said.

The city's burgeoning development prompted the move for early completion, he said.

The comprehensive plan projects development trends and the municipal service needs anticipated growth will generate, City Planner Jay Marder said. The plan addresses municipal service provisions which include police and fire protection, traffic circulation and parks and open space needs.

The $5,000 well site expenditure approved by commissioners is an extension of an option they took on the 12-acre site in June. The parcel lies west of the city, near its Oregon Avenue well field.

The city will have the potential well site appraised in preparation for its presentation to commissioners for purchase consideration, City Manager Frank Faison said.

Its owner is asking $400,000, Simmons said. The $5,000 option extension as well as the initial $1,000 option payment are applicable to the site's purchase price, he said.
