In Sanford Election; Longwood Unaffected

Fog Slows Early Turnout

By Deane Jordan Herald Staff Writer

Foggy weather slowed voting in municipal elections early today in Sanford, but had apparently little effect in Longwood.

Alhough polls opened at 7 a.m., voting was not expected to pick up in Sanford until after the fog lifted today. Polls in both cities are open until 7 p.m.

By 8 a.m. in Sanford only 51 people had voted in District 3 at the Jesus Christ Church of Latter Day Saints on Park Avenue. At District 4 - where voters cast their ballots at the Sanford Fire Station #2, Orlando Drive - voting was also light with 50 votes in by 8 a.m.

"I think we would ve had more if the fog wasn't so heavy," said Mrs. Charlotte Smith in Sanford at the District 3 poll.

A field of 13 candidates lined up in Sanford for two city commission seats, five for District 3 and eight for District 4.

There are 36 absentee ballots in the Sanford election and will be counted in the Supervisor of Elections' office after the rest of the votes are tallied today.

Voting in Longwood is at city hall, 175 W. Warren Avc.

"It's going about as we expected." sald Donald Terry, city clerk.

He said during the first hour the poil was open there were 71 voters. which he said was what was the expected turnout or a little better. Terry predicted that if the vote remains steady the turnout may be higher than expected.

He said the heavy fog did not appear to be affecting the vote in that city.

Entertainer Pearl Bailey has agreed to be the guest speaker at a Sanford luncheon honoring Martin Luther King Jan.

The announcement was made by Shirley Schilke, chairman of the luncheon committee in charge of obtaining a speaker for the keynote occasion. The committee initially scheduled personality Art Linkletter to speak but his selection raised a furor among Sanford black community. Black leaders said e inappropriate choice to speak at the King event because he was not involved in the black move-ment and thus would not speaking from experience or as one attunded to the problems they faced.

According to Mrs. Schilke, she and Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith decided to contact Ms. Bailey after the Linkletter oblections were raised. She said she and Mrs. Smith had met Ms. Bailey in Washington D.C.

She said the committee wanted a "blg name" speaker at the event to attract a large audience to not only pay for the event by raise money for a scholarship fund. She said they hope between 500 and 600 will attend.

Mrs. Schilke said all that needs to be worked out is paying Ms. Balley's travel expenses and accommodation. She is expected to travel to Sanford by train. Mrs. Schilke

After-School City Program Funds Asked

Sanford Parks and Recreation Director Jim Jernigan is eyeing almost $30,000 in budget contingency funds to continue expanding his department's after-school offerings.

The monies are the balance of the $44,437 funding request Jernigan made to commissioners in October to start the programs. Commissioners approved $15,000 of Jernigan's request and said they'd consider approving the additional $29,437 If the programs are successful.

Jeringan cited the high marks Sanford youth are giving the programs that started in October with the $15,000. Those programs are run at Hamilton and idyliwiide elementary schools.

Jernigan said he hopes to have the additional $29,437 in hand by Jan. 1. The funds will enable the Idyliwilde and Hamilton programs to continue and new programs to open at Pinecrest Elementary and the Crooms School gym, he said.

The $29,437 would be used to hire a full-time program supervisor and pay the salaries of eight part-time staffers, two for each of the four schools, Jernigan said. The salaries would be paid from Jan. 1 to Sept. 30, when the budget year Between 40 and 75 young people take part in the idyliwiide and Hamilton offerings each day, Jernigan said.

"The programs have been very well received by students and their parents" and also have been endorsed by the schools' principals, he said.

The programs run from 3:15 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, with activities ranging from touch football to checkers to spelling bees. A tutoring program is also in the works and "playground camps" would be set up this summer at

Planning Board To Advise On Flea World Expansion

The Seminole County Planning and Zoning Board, acting as the local planning agency, will make a recommendation for approval or denial of the development and for requests from other developers Wednesday in a 7 p.m. meeting. Those recommendation will be passed on to the County Commission for action Dec. 16. Both meetings will be held at the County Services Building, 1101 East First Street, Sanford.

County staff planners have recommended to the P&Z that the expansioin be approved if Levy meets certain stipulated conditions.

The Fica World expansion would allow the site to add 70 acres to the existing 33 acres in use. About 35 of the 70 acres, however, would be dedicated to Seminole County as a Drainage Water Conservation Easement, and would not be developed.

Convicted Killer Says Coercion Caused Confession

Stano Gets Stay Of Execution

Serial sex killer Gerald Stano testified he had been coerced into pleading guilty to the murder of two cocktail waltresses and was granted a stay of execution Monday, less than a day before he was to die for the killings. Stano is also serving seven life sentences including one for the death of "Madam X" in Seminole County in 1974.

Volusia County Circuit Judge S. James Foxman granted the indefinite stay and said he would at a later date to hear testimony on the appeal, which claimed Stano had ineffective counsel at his 1983 trial for the murders.

During the hearing. Stano recanted his confessions to the murders and claimed he was coerced by his attorneys to plead guilty.

"I just simply want to know if we're punishing an innocent man," Foxman asked Stano. 'Are you innocent, Mr. Stano?"

"Yes, I am," the former short-order cook and gas station attendant replied. Foxman said he was "not ruling in any way on the merits (of the appeal) in any way. I'm just saying I need more time." Death row inmates usually do not appear during an appeal for a stay of execution, but Stano was brought to the courtroom from death row at the Florida State Prison for the hearing, a court clerk said. Stano was scheduled to die at 7 a.m.

Foxman sentenced Stano to die for the December 1975

Stano said he picked her up on State Road 436 near Interstate 4 and stabbed her to death when she refused to have sex with him.

Stano also has admitted to the 1969 murders of two teenagers whose bodies were found along the Garden State Parkway in southwest New Jersey. He also claims to have killed "two to four" hitchhikers in the Bucks County, Pa., area between 1969 and 1971.

Trial Set On Card Charges

A trial has been tentatively set killed after they refused to have accused of using another woman's credit card to buy clothes.

> Trial is scheduled next week for Patti Lynn Ege. 29, of Mt. Horbe. Wis., and formerly of 132 D Hummingbird St., Sanford. Ms. Ege, released on bond, is charged with grand theft.

According to court records, a waitress at Fitzgerald's lounge in Sanford reported her credit card was used in June without her permission after she received a bill with $562.01 worth of Items oh it that she had not purchased. Charged were clothes, four pairs of shoes, a charm, an anklet and two necklaces.

A description of the suspect for a former Deltona woman was developed by talking to store personnel. The suspect, a waitress who worked with the victim, denied any involvement with the card's use. The victim. however, said the waitresses' purses are kept in the same place at the restaurant, thus the woman had access to her purse. and that the charges were made at a time shortly after the suspect got off work, according to court records.

Jonestown Cult Member Convicted in Murder Conspiracy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - Jonestown survivor Larry Layton was convicted of conspiracy in the murder of a California congressman and wounding of a U.S. diplomat on a jungle airstrip hours before the ghastly 1978 massacre at the Peoples Temple commune in Guyana.

The U.S. District Court jury retrying Layton heard testimony for nearly six weeks and deliberated for 25 hours over six days before returning guilty verdicts Monday on all four counts against him.

Layton, 40, is the first person convicted in any of the grisly events at the Peoples Temple compound or the nearby airport.

Layton was accused of conspiring to kill Rep. Leo Ryan, D-Calif., and to wound State Department official Richard Dwyer and of alding attempts on both men's lives. He faces a maximum life term on each count.

Meese May Name Prosecutor

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Attorney General Edwin Meese, faced with mounting pressure in the Iran-Contra aid scandal plaguing the administration, is likely to turn over the criminal investigation to a special prosecutor soon.

And as President Reagan said Monday he would welcome an independent probe of the secret transfer of Iran arms proceeds to the Nicaraguan rebels, internal Pentagon documents revealed that seven government and military official are key targets of the FBI investigation.

Justice Department officials said Meese requested all information from the Pentagon, White House, State Department and CIA on former national security adviser John Poindexter; his predecessor, Robert McFarlane; Don Fortier, an NSC aide who died last summer; Lt. Col. Oliver North. Poindexter's deputy fired last week for running the operation; Paul Thompson, another top NSC aide; Adolfo Calero, director of the pro-Contra United Nicaraguan Opposition in Miami, and retired U.S. Gen. Two Near Collisions Investigated

CHICAGO (UPI) - Two passenger jetliners nearly collided with small planes in separate incidents within a half hour of each other over Chicago - in both cases missing disaster by about 20 seconds, a federal official

The incidents occurred during landing approaches Monday near O'Hare International and Midway aiports at opposite ends of Chicago within 29 minutes of each other, FAA spokesman Mort Edelstein said. It is unusual to have two such occurrences in one day, let alone in such a short time span, he added.

At the speed the planes were traveling, he said, they could in both cases have covered the distance between them "in maybe 20 seconds."

A definitive report on the incidents was expected today. Edelstein sald.

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) - The space agency is studying long-range plans for a second-generation 21st century shuttle that would be more powerful but cheaper to fly than ships in the current fleet, an aerospace

Dugger Named Prison Chief

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Richard Dugger, Governor-elect Bob Martinez' choice to replace controversial Department of Corrections chief Louie Wainwright, was disciplined seven years ago in connection with an attack against two handcuffed inmates by prison guards.

Martinez aide Mac Stipanovich said a background check by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement showed Dugger was suspended in 1979 for "failing to process a report about excessive force (against the inmates) expeditiously enough."

Dugger, 43, a former Army Green Beret, started with the department as a corrections officer 22 years ago and has spent the past four years running the huge prison near Starke that houses Florida's electric chair and death row.

Corrections staff welcomed the announcement that an insider would take the reins of the bureaucracy during the ongoing inmate overcrowding crisis. At one point last week, the system came within 14 inmates of legal capacity and faced the early release of some inmates.

County Commission Must Wait For Road Impact Fee Report

By Paul C. Schaefer Herald Staff Writer

Two weeks ago, Seminole County's Transportation Impact Fee Review Committee members conceded they wouldn't have their final report ready by the Dec. 23 due date set by the County Commission.

And Committee Chairman Roger Neiswender said, while a January or February finish may be reasonable, he won't rush the group to a final report by

The meeting will be held at the county Agricultural Center, 4320 U.S. Highway

"Everybody interested wants this done as soon as possible, but we want to allow enough time for thorough discussion. We want a solid conclusion, and everybody's working hard at it. We don't want a flaw," Neiswender said.

Flawless work is critical, he said.

The county government intends to adopt a transportation impact fee ordinance to collect money for road construction projects needed as the result of new growth. If projections for needed road improvements are wrong, or if studies to backup the rationale for assessing the fees is incorrect. the process of producing an ordinance must begin all over again. The effort has taken a

"These impact fees are for sizeable and immediate needs. They've got to be done right," he said. If the fees would be found inappropriate in a court, money collected would have to be rebated to developers, and paid from other county funds, which could mean a special bond issue, paid by tax dollars, he added.

"We've all got to realize that we live in homes and shop in stores built by developers. We just need to strike a good balance between the needs and what is legal and proper." he said.

Neiswender said Wednesday's meeting will probably focus on questions to county staff about the transportation model which designates road improvement needs, the priority list for improvements, and road engineering and planning. He said he also expects legal descriptions and definitions of collector and arterial roads will also be

He said however, it may take at least four more committee meetings before the committee recommendation is ready for it's trip through the county local planning agency to the Board of County Commissioners. Under the proposed fee table, fees totalling between $400 and $750 could be assessed new single family residential units in the county for collecter and county-wide road needs. Those fees will be attached to the price of new homes. Other fees have been designated for multi-family units, hotelmotel, office, retail, hospital, industrial, manufacturing, restaurants, and banks. Nelswender, who was Seminole County administrator, is self-employed as a planning and mangement consultant.

A More Sensible Welfare System

Among social experts there is broad agreement that America's welfare system perpetuates a poor underclass that is chronically dependent on government support, often for successive generations of the same families. Yet there is little agreement over the degree to which the "narcotic" of welfare contributes to dependency, and even less consensus on what steps to take to end the culture of poverty.

The debate over welfare reform is being spurred by the Reagan administration, most recently in a 64-page report which blames much of the problem on the Great Society programs of the 1960s and 1970s.

Single mothers raising children account for a growing segment of America's poor. The breakdown of the family, then, contributes heavily to welfare dependency. Yet, conversely, government benefits also encourage family disintegration, thus establishing an unrelenting cycle of poverty that too few recipients ever break.

"Welfare," concludes the report prepared for the White House Domestic Policy Council, "contributes to the failure to form the family in the first place ... Welfare in all of its forms has become a powerful force for destruction of family life through perpetuation of the welfare culture.

This is due in large part to the way welfare eligibility rules work. They send a young woman the message that if she has a child but does not live with the father, the government will provide her a minimum level of support. For a teenage woman who has lived her entire life in a welfare household, a pregnancy can be seen as a ticket to independence, because a child qualifies the mother for benefits. At the same time, the system provides incentives for fathers to abandon their responsibility to provide support for their families.

The proposed solutions to cracking the debilitating culture of poverty are as controversial and varied as the political

At one extreme is social critic Charles Murray! who advocates the elimination of benefit programs as the only sound way to break the gyole of dependency. Such a solution is hardly humane; even if it were practical and effective.

A less draconian but nonetheless radical notion advanced by writer Mickey Kaus would substitute job guarantees for benefit payments. Under Kaus' model, government would not "need to require (recipients to) work. Work would be all that was offered." Those in need, says Kaus, would be assigned such public tasks as painting bridges and then be paid for their work. Unwed mothers would only be provided daycare centers to enable them to take jobs.

The Kaus idea advances to its logical extreme the potential of "workfare" programs that are now in place in 28 states. Workfare, a concept pioneered in San Diego, applies varying requirements that recipients work in exchange for their government payments. Expansion of workfare, now utilized to a very limited degree even in states that have adopted it, holds promise for a gradual evolution toward a more sensible welfare

The Reagan administration also is offering other proposals, such as doubling the personal income-tax exemption to alieviate the tax burden of impoverished families. But this would only benefit the working poor who earn enough to owe taxes. This objective already was accomplised in part by the 1986 tax-reform measure, which eliminated millions of working poor from the tax rolls.

The complex culture of poverty will not be eradicated by any single fix, but now that attention is focused on remedying the mistakes of the past, constructive solutions can be pursued.

Researchers: The Nose Knows For Sure

WASHINGON (UPI) — Discovery that human beings, as well as insects, may give off pheromones obviously came as no surprise to anyone in the perfume business.

For years, researchers have made it possible to lure insects to their doom by isolating and chemically reproducing certain scents emitted by the opposite sex.

Opposite to the insects, that is.

Now we get word that the researchers themselves have sexy scents. Thus far, however, there have been no reports of insects setting

That may be because there apparently has been no move to duplicate human scents in the laboratory.

If and when that happens, human pheromones may be used to balt traps. Not that trapping would surprise anyone either, especially married people. Over the years, many luckless persons have been caught by innocently following their noses.

Napoleon Bonaparte, I understand, used to drench himself with cau de Cologne. And we all know what happened to Josephine.

Not that the eau de Cologne Napoleon used smelled anything like he did. In fact, he may have been trying to cover up something.

Suppressing body odor was one of the main reasons why artificial fragrances were invented about 4,500 years ago.

In one of his stories reprinted in "The Hitchhiker's Quartet," author Douglas Adams wrote that somewhere in the universe is a race of "small blue creatures with more than 50 arms each."

What made them unique, he added, was "being the only race in history to have invented" aerosol spray before the wheel.

Adams doesn't say so but I like to think that from such humble beginnings sprang the perfume business we all know so well. However. I have found that what I like to think may bear no relation to reality.

One neuroscientist quoted in the National Geographic this fall said the human sense of smell "taps into all our emotions" and can make life pleasant or disgusting.

That is particularly true at the dinner table. A perfumer employed by International Flavors & Fragrance was reported trying to replicate the aroma of plastic trash bags. Talk about instant nostalgial if scientists learn to reproduce the essence of trash bags, to say nothing of lacy underthings, we're all in trouble. "In the days before modern medicine," the Geographic reports, "physicians depended on their noses to help diagnose illness. Typhoid smelled like baking bread. German measles like plucked feathers, scrofuls like stale beer, yellow fever like a butcher shop.

I can only guess what a cold virus smells like.

The Geographic does not touch on viruses that may inhibit our smelling ability, like the common cold, other than to note that about 2 million Americans suffer from some sort of olfactory disorder.

Smell also influences our sense of taste. A French vineyard owner was quoted as opining that taste "is only confirmation" of what the nose already has figured out about wine.

I'll drink to that.

Wisdom? Or Is It Racism!

New Republic, an Increasingly indispensable magazine, has just asked a useful question, and followed it up with a variety of answers from different people.

Suppose, it asked, "You own a jewelry store in a downtown neighborhood. Because you worry about robberies, admission is by buzzer. Someone arrives at your door. He is male. He is black. Do you buzz him in? Are you a racist if you

A woman named Rhonda Sohoem, who had just taken over her retired father's jewelry store, chose to answer for her father; "I am a retired jeweler in Washington. D.C., and yes, I had a buzzer system in my store... I experienced several 'snatch and grabs' prior to the installation of my buzzer, and they were committed by, yes, 'young, black males age 18 to 25'... Like everyone clse who contemplates a buzzer, my two fears were: Am I a raciat? Or will I be a dead merchant as a result of a robbery that gets out of control? Which fear do you choose to live with? If you're branded as a racist, the worst that can happen is that you're out of business in one way or another but you continue to live and breathe. I chose the buzzer," that is, protec-

Walter Williams, the distinguished economist, who is black, cited Sir Thomas Bayes, the father of statistics, and thought that it is correct to act like "an intelligent Bayesian." That is, because the 'information we gather is not only imperfect, it is costly as well," we therefore "learn to economize by guessing, prejudging, and using stereotypes." The stereotype in this view consists of a kind of shorthand for accumulated experience. I like Walter Williams' statement that acquiring "information" can be "costly." As the jeweler above knew, gathering information about the man outside his door could cost him his life.

Williams concluded that "a white jeweler who does not open his door to young black males cannot be labeled a racist any more than a black taxi driver who refuses to pick up young black males at night."

This columnist has talked with black cab drivers in Manhattan who say that they routinely make just that refusal. They are not racist, but intelligent Bayesians.

No. I am afraid that though black Americans have problems, they will either solve them themselves, or fail to solve them themselves, and that there is nothing much that either government or other people can do

WILLIAM RUSHER

Foul-Up Checklist

"After watching the president's press conference, House Democratic majority leader James Wright told reporters. 'I think the major questions about the Iranian affair have this whole thing behind us."

about the above paragraph, your, critical faculties are in good condition. The chance of Wright, or any other leading Democrat, being satisfied with the White House's explanations on Iran is roughly on a par with the chance that Pope John Paul II will announce next week that he has decided to turn Protestant.

Flaps like the Iran imbroglio (only usually far worse) are a standard feature of every presidency, and it occurs to me that one way to reap some permanent benefit from this one would be to codify, for future reference and use, the ritual maneuvers that invariably take place during these affairs.

Herewith, then, is Rusher's Standard Checklist of Steps to Be Taken by the Opposition Party and Media Whenever a Wheel Comes Off in the White House:

1. First and foremost, launch as many congressional investigations of the matter as the traffic will bear. The object is to televise the merciless grilling of administration officials by virtuous-looking senators and representatives. If any conflicts or contradictions appear in the testimony, the transcript of the hearing can be sent portentously to the attorney general. "to determine whether there are grounds for a prosecution for perjury."

2. Once some individual scapegoat has been isolated, call for the poor devil's resignation and then demand the appointment of a "special prosecutor" to determine whether his misdeeds warrant criminal prosecution.

3. Float rumors of the impending resignation or dismissal of as many high officials of the executive branch as possible. With luck, some of them can be panicked into criticizing each other or (better yet)

4. Within a matter of weeks, it If something sounds fishy to you, should be possible for polisters like Gailup and Harris to announce that public confidence in the president's handling of his office has fallen 10 or 15 percentage points.

5. The collective views of specific categories of retired officials former presidents, former secretaries of state, etc. - are often wonderfully useful. Former presidents frequently harbor deep grudges against the incumbent and enjoy cutting him up.

6. Run stories on the shocked and/or outraged reaction of friendly foreign nations and even Moscow. Suggest that the NATO alliance has been shaken to its very roots. (N.B.: A little caution is advisable here. Saudi Arabia was reported to be especially enraged over the sale of arms to Iran, which it allegedly fears. Then it transpired that the Saudis have been selling badly needed refined oil to Iran themselves.)

7. Every discussion of the subject should be salted with such words as 'disaster." "flasco" and the like. It should be standard practice to assert that the president's "credibility" has been fatally damaged, and that the entire administration is in deep "disarray." Special effort should be made to use the words "president" and "liar" in the same

8. Above all, if the president can be anookered into invoking "executive privilege," the stakes in the game are automatically redoubled. There is no document so incriminating as the one they won't let you see. If the president is that foolish, GO FOR IT!

SCIENCE WORLD Draining Dixie's

Water By Delthia Ricks UPI Science Writer

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - The process of restoring forests in the southeastern United States is draining so much water that conservation efforts should be implemented to avoid droughts, a geographer says.

Reforestation — planting trees over large areas — is draining ground water that could be used for other purposes in the Southern Piedmont plateau region which inludes portions of Alabama, Georgia, and the Carolinas.

"When forests expand, the price for that growth is a decreased water supply," said Stanley Trimble, a University of California, Los Angeles geographer who presented results of his 11-year study at a recent meeting of geographers in Lexington, Ky.

"If forests are allowed to exist at their present size in some areas. they will consume water that society may want to use for municipal gation and power." he said."

Foresters have long examined the role of water consumption by trees. But Trimble's study is the first to show significant decreases of water as a result of reforestation in large river basin areas.

"An average forest in the southeast consumes roughly a foot - one cubic foot of water for every square foot of forest - more than competing land uses such as pastures or cropland.

"This is equivalent to an average net consumption of about 326,000 gallons of water per acre of forest per year," he said.

Trimble said that compares to a U.S. per capita water usage of about 150 gallons per day.

"Although we have concentrated on the southeast, our findings could also apply to other forested areas around the globe," he said. "In fact, future planting of forests have already been banned in parts of Scotland and a tree tax has been proposed there."

Much of the data used in the study was from precipitation figures compiled by the U.S. Weather Bureau as well as streamflow information from the U.S. Geological Survey.

The study region covers approximately 20,000 square miles of forest and pasture land. Trimble said the area is unusual because it has undergone extensive reforestation during this century with large areas of cropland being replaced by forests and pastures.

"Cutting down forests to increase streamflow will almost surely lessen water quality," he said.

IRS Can - And Does - Make Mistakes

By Jack Anderson

And Joseph Spear WASHINGTON — It's no news that the Internal Revenue Service occasionally makes mistakes. But in the case of Donald Kostyu, a Michigan autoworker and veteran, the IRS error was much more personal than the mere transposition of a couple of numbers.

The revenuers included Kostyu's name in its "lliegal Tax Protester Information Book." an internal intelligence manual profiling 40 organizations that advocate tax evasion. racism and violence, and highlighting 83 tax-protest leaders who have criminal records or have made throute against IRS personnel. Kostyu was listed as one of the 83. But Kostyu told our reporter

David Davis he's never been charged with anything illegal, vio-ient or non-violent. A search of government records confirmed this. Kostyu agrees with the IRS that many of those named in the manual which has been withdrawn from circulation — are indeed dangerous. All the more reason he doesn't want to be in the same company with "The thing that concerned me was that I thought it might go beyond character assassination to the real thing." he told us. "My wife was scared to death that I was going to be shot by mistake, that the state police would pull me over and see my name in the book as a dangerous tax protester and I'd get shot. ... She was afraid that any night (the authorities) would come in with automatic weapons drawn and shoot the dog and all."

How did Kostyu get into this pickle? It might be because he has been publishing his own newsletter,

The Constitutionalist, which opposes the income tax.

Yet the IRS intelligence manual identifies him as the Dearborn leader of a group called We the People. which it says "encourages individuals to become involved in local and national issues, and urges congressmen to vote against legisla-tion that would 'impair freedom.''' That seems innocuous enough, but the manual adds that, according to Information from its Detroit office. We the People also "displays a propensity towards violence." Even so, the agency could find no record of Kostyu as a leader of the group — or as a man of violence —, in either its Detroit office or its Washington headquarters.

IRS wrote to Kostyu recently. "Also. there is no report which identifies you as an 'illegal tax protester.'" Kostyu figures the reason he was fingered in the short-lived intelligence manual is that for years he has been battling the IRS legally. He has, for example, spoken out about "IRS abuses" like the agency's seizure of a local day care center in a tax dispute. He has appeared on radio talk shows and has helped taxpayers fight the revenue service in court.

Despite its written confession of error in the letter to Kostyu, the Internal Revenue Service Insists that the internal manual was accurate. It was distributed in January. and ordered destroyed after its "We have determined that there existence leaked out. Experience, Newcomers Give Lady Rams Edge from a "Sanford Attitude."

Bill Moore, Lake Mary's basketball coach, makes a point with his Lady Rams. Lake Mary, 2-1, is the favorite to win the Seminole Athletic Conference and District 4A-9. Moore has already won four district titles while at Lake Mary.

Going into the 1986-87 season. Lake Mary's Lady Rams sit alone on top of the Seminole Athletic Conference basketball mountain. Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks are clawing their way up the summit, Seminole and Lake Brantley are trying to get their troops together before starting the climb and Ovledo and Lyman are trying to figure out how to use the equipment.

years and two years as freshman are supposed to win.

Lake Mary, defending SAC champion, is the only team in the league that can boast more than wo seniors with extensive varsity experience.

Seniors Tonya Lawson and Cynthia Patterson, the Lady Rams' "Crunch Sisters," are the top returning performers for coach Bill Moore's team which has a 2-1 record after finishing second in the Lady Sunshine Tournament this past weekend. Lawson is an explosive offensive player and probably the Lady Rams top outside shooter when she's on. Patterson, 5-5, continues to amaze the opposition with her quickness around the basket and excellent leaping ability.

The Lady Rams also have size and strength underneath with 6-5 junior center Teri Whyte and 5-11 Junior forward Sharon Bonaventure, a transfer from Winter Park High. The biggest addition to the Lake Mary team is senior point guard Gabby Olden, an exchange student from Sweden. The season is only three games old, but Olden may very well be one of the best, if not the best, point guards to ever play in Seminole Olden and Patterson were both all-tournament selections in the Lady Sunshine. Lake Mary dropped a 59-43 decision to defending 3A champion St. Petersburg Gibbs in Saturday's final. Gibbs' Maria Teal, who scored 22-second half points against the Lady Rams, was the tournament's most valuable player.

Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks, the county's overachievers last season, looked sharp in the first three games of the '86-87 season. If the Lady Hawks avoid injuries and continue to play the hustling team basketball that has them with a 3-0 record, they may be the biggest threat to Lake Mary's SAC reign.

Lake Howell has one of the top returning players in the county in senior sharpshooter Erin Hankins. As a junior, Hankins averaged 15 points per game and she had 18 in the Hawks' opening-season victory over DeLand. Hankins missed this past weekend's West Orange ing onslaught with Simms firing Merchant's Tournament with a sprained ankle but is expected to return to action this week.

In Hankins' absence, junior guard Tammy Lewis took over the leadership role for Lake Howell and scored 36 points in two tournament games as Lake Howell won the consolation bracket. The Lady Hawks entered the tournament in the losers' bracket. Lake Howell also received outstanding performances in the tournament from junior Kelley Grider, sophomore Brooke Burns and senior transfer Denise Arriola.

Seminole High had just seven players in its opening game of the Winter Park Rotary Tournament, a loss to Orlando Colonial, and had eight in an overtime loss to DeLand. Seminole has just one senior on the team and started a pair of freshmen in the Rotary opener. Experience is the main thing Charles Steele is concerned about.

"Once the girls get some games in, we'll be all right," Steele said. "By late in the season, we should be competitive against everyone we play."

Sophomore guard Adrian Hillsman was practically unstoppable in the two tournament games, scoring 54 points, including a tourneyhigh 32 against Colonial. Sophomore forward Liz Long also scored in double figures in both games. Seminole was without sophomore point guard Aretha Riggins who was out with the flu.

After losing its opener to eventual champion Winter Park, Lake Brantley (2-1) came back to win the consolation bracket for the third consecutive year. Sophomore point guard Tracy Brandenburg led the way for Lake Brantley in the three tourney games, including a career-high 16 point performance in the consolation finals

The Glants, guaranteed a wild-card berth, play the Redskins Sunday with undisputed possession of first place in the NFC East on the line. The 49ers dropped to 7.5.1 with the loss and trail the NFC West-leading Los Angeles Rams by a game and a half.

"When you look at it (the playoff picture), it's not as bad as it seems," San Francisco quarterback Joe Montana said. If we win the next two games and Los Angeles loses one, it'll come down to our Friday night game with the Rams."

New York took control of the game in the third quarter. The Giants defense forced the 49ers to punt from the 49ers 9, 38 and 27. Perry Williams also ended another San Francisco drive by intercepting a Montana pass.

"They could have come out in the second half and been lethargic, but instead they took control of the game," San Francisco tight end Russ Francis said. "They played damn good football. Field position is the name of the game and they carned it on the fleid."

Giants quarterback Phil Simms, who had been averaging just under 30 passes a game this season, rescued the Glants offense in the third quarter. The veteran was 11 of 13 for 198 yards and two touchdowns in

The Giants opened their scora 17-yard scoring strike to Joe Morris to make it 17-7. Simms then found Stacey Robinson twice behind San Francisco defenders. Robinson beat Tim McKyer down the sideline for a 34-yard touchdown reception. He then beat Don Griffin on a 49-yard pass that gave New York the ball at the one-foot line. Ottls Anderson crashed over one play later for a 21-17 lead.

Montana and the 49ers had seemed to have everything under control in the first half, rolling to a 17-0 halftime advantage.

The 49ers opened the scoring late in the first quarter. Montana, capitalizing on the Giants defensive backs' deep drops. completed three of six passes for 55 yards to help move the ball from the San Francisco 19 to the New York 16. However, the drive stalled and the 49ers settled for a 30-yard Ray Wersching field

San Francisco built its lead to 10-0 early in the second quarter when Montana once again riddled the Giants secondary. completing six of seven passes for 41 yards to set up an 11-yard scoring pass to Jerry Rice.

The margin went to 17-0 with just 45 seconds remaining in the half when Rice scored on an end around.

Quality And Quantity: Mays, Turners Have Help This Year

By Mike Andrew Special to the Herald

There's something different about the Seminole High wrestling team this year. Wrestlers. Lots of them.

Always blessed with quality and never quantity, the Tribe struggled in dual matches because it didn't have the bodies to fill the classes. This year, however, second-year coach Glenn Maiolini has gone on a major recruiting mission and it has paid off.

Quantity and quality are going to the mat hand and hand.

"Start strong and finish strong." Maiolini said. "Last year we only had three returning starters and 20 ninth graders. There was no experience going into the season. This year, though, we've worked hard in the oil-season, and hope to start stronger and build momentum."

Seminole opens Wednesday at home against Daytona Beach Mainland. The junior varsity match begins at 6:30 p.m. and the varsity at 7:30 p.m. The 'Noles are coming off a 5-9-1 season a year ogo, but turned in the record after starting 0-7. After getting the slow start, and finishing last in the conference. Seminole placed fourth in the district and regional tourneys, and managed an impressive seventh in the state meet, the highest finish ever for Seminole High.

Maiolini will send four grapplers to the mats with state experiece. Derrick Butler returns to the heavyweight ranks after reaching the first round a year ago. Alongside Butler will be Sheralton Mays and brothers Tracy and Troy Turner.

Mays returns at 109 pounds after finishing runnerup in the state a season ago, and the younger of the two Turners, Tracy, will try to better his fifth-place finish last year. The man to watch for the 'Noles. though, is Troy Turner. Turner has finished as state runnerup for two consecutive seasons after having to default last year's title match because of an injury suffered in the semifinal faceoff. Turner was to have faced a wrestler. Merritt Island's Solomon Fleckman, he had already defeated in the regular season.

"The third time is a charm." Malolini said. "At least I hope so. I think this is Troy's year. He can still outwrestle anyone he faces, and they'll all be "Troy doesn't have any really spectacular matches during the season." Maiolini explained. "But that's because they're all afraid of him. Troy really has to earn his points, almost everyone he wrestles is very conservative. They either come out all the way, or sit back, there is no in between. Troy can dominate everyone he wrestles. He is a man among boys."

Colts Select Meyer Coach

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) - The Indianapolis Colts, the NFL's only winless team, Monday fired Coach Rod Dowhower and replaced him with Ron Meyer.

"It's been kind of a whirlwind affair the last day and a half," Meyer said at a news conference. 'It's been a very traumatic experience for everyone in the Colts organization. I have great empathy for Coach Dowhower. I look on this as a tremendous opportunity."

Meyer, former coach of the New England Patriots, will attempt to revitalize a club with an 0.13 record. If the Colts lose to Atlanta next week, they will tie an NFL record for most consecutive loses during a season.

Meyer said he talked with Colts owner Robert Irsay Saturday about the position and conferred with him for several hours following the Colts' 17-3 loss to San Diego Sunday. Meyer said he and Irsay agreed to a "long-term commitment" at about 3 a.m. EST Monday.

13 Howell Seniors Make Debut Easier For Griffin

By Scott Sander Herald Sports Writer

The Lake Howell Silver Hawks soccer team won conference and district titles last season. With 13 seniors returning, first-year coach Glen Griffin will be looking to duplicate last season's success of Norm Wight.

"I'm blessed to have such a veteran club, but I'm cursed because the team could be in a rut next season since we will be losing so many players."

The Hawks will be counting on the brother tandem of Jeff and Jerry Philips. The twins are the key to the Hawks scason, according to Griffin. "Jeff and Jerry are are tough players," Griffin said. "We need the same effort from them this season that they gave last year." Jerry will be playing sweeper while Jeff will start at center-midfield.

Griffin said that the goal of the team is to repeat as conference champions. "We think that we can win the conference," Griffin said. "Anything after that would be gravy for us. GIRLS BEGIN CHASE

The Oviedo Lion and the Lake Howell Silver Hawk girls' soccer teams will be trying to keep pace with the two teams that have dominated the county in recent years: Lyman and Lake Brantley.

Oviedo coach Gene Lescollette and Howell coach Art Raynor both realize that Lyman and Lake Brantley are the teams to beat. "Every team has improved a great deal since last season," Raynor said. "We know that Lyman and Lake Brantley are very good. We are just hoping to be competitive when we play Lescollette said that he will be counting on Jenny Whittaker, Kathy Bergman, and Kelly Price to put the ball in the net. "Thay are three good players. Lescollette said. "They are going to have to play well for us."

Raynor said that the play of forward Kirsten Reesman is important to the Lady Hawks. "Kirsten will hopefully be our goal-scorer," Raynor said. "Our offense should be very aggressive this season.

The first road race, the Climb ... Quantity

"Experience is the biggest plus," Maiolini said. "It's something we didn't have last season. We lost only one starting wrestler (Cecil Scarborough moved to Massachusetts), and besides that everyone is back." The Seminoles will wrestle one of the toughest schedules in the area, including a big tri-meet in early February in Miami. The 'Noles will challenge Miami

Southridge and Miami Lakes, both being highly-regarded programs. Southridge is the defending state champion, while Lakes finished among the top four last

"There is a reason for the tough schedule," Majolini said. "We wrestle them so we have the experience against good teams when tournament time comes around. Southridge has won the state championship five times in the last 10 years, and Lakes is very strong too. We also will wrestle Bradenton Manatee, and they finished fifth last year.

'Some schools pad their schedule," Majolini said. "They play weak sisters to better their dual meet record. But, when the tournament comes around, it shows. You can tell these guys haven't had enough exposure against quality competition."

Maiolini stressed the importance of the off-season training, and thinks it will be a big advantage for his forces.

"We're ahead of most the teams in the area." Maiolini said. "Wrestling is a sport you have to work on all year 'round and our kids have really worked hard. They have all participated in tournaments, some as many as 15 or 20. And, 1 would say they have all wrestled in at least 10. Hopefully that will help us get rolling this season."

Seminole begins against Daytona Beach Mainland, and the Buccaneers pose an interesting challenge for the 'Noles. Mainland has included on its roster two girl wrestlers.

"I think Mainland is using them just for forfeit points." Maiolini said. "I've heard they wrestle at 100 and 107 pounds. If they wrestle JV, we'll go ahead and forfeit it. but if the Mainland coach puts them in varsity, that's a different story. I'm not going to forfeit any varsity points.'

Seminole had a tough time with Mainland last season, but wrestled them early before they got rolling into the season. In the first match, Mainland squeaked out a 39.36 win, while Seminole drew a tie (36-36) in the second meeting between the schools.

Gridiron Friends, Foes Mourn Death Of Layne

LUBBOCK, Texas (UPI) — Bobby Layne was remembered by those who lined up with him and against him as one of profootball's legendary characters whose will to win on the field was matched only by his desire to have a good time off of it.

Layne. 59. died Monday of complications involving a chronic liver disease. Funeral services were pending. "Bobby always loved a challenge," said William "Rooster" Andrews, Layne's roommate during their college days at the University of Texas. "He was just as competitive whether it was football or baseball or betting horses or pitching washers or shooting marbles. "He went grocery shopping and thought he was the best shopper in the store."

Football

Layne earned a place in the Pro Football Hall of Fame after twice quarterbacking the Detroit Lions to the NFL championship. He played for four NFL teams following a college career in which he broke every passing record at Texas - some of which stood until this fall. While he was establishing himself as one of pro football's first post-war heroes, however, he was also building a reputation for nighttime antics. "I don't think there's any way possible I could have played for 15 years if I had done all the things I'm supposed to have done."

Layne said after he retired. "If you ever get your name in the paper with that kind of reputation, it's going to continue. Other proathletes did the same things I did. I was just too open with mine.

"I'm sorry, because it did hurt my family, A lot of things that were written weren't true. The only thing I did different from everyone else was walk in the front door instead of the back."

During his tenure with the Chicago Bears, New York Buildogs, Lions and Pittsburgh Steelers, Layne perfected the art of moving the ball down the field in the final minutes of the half or game. He thus gave birth to what coaches now refer to as the twominute drill.

Petersen, Kingsbury Are MVPs For Lake Mary Cross Country

Junior Eric Petersen and senior Sue Kingsbury received the Most Valuable Runner Awards Monday night at the Lake Mary High cross country banquet.

Petersen, when he was healthy, was consistently among the top five runners in Seminole County all season. Kingsbury ran a courageous season in which she battled a nagging hip injury. Kingsbury finished her career with eight of the top 10 times ever for the Lake Mary girls.

In the boys awards, Junior Scott Plyler was Most Improved and Junior Brad Smith got the Burger King Coach's Award.

For the girls, senior Lisa Shelby was Most Improved, junior Heather Heikkila received the Burger King Coach's Award, freshman Allison Snell was selected Most Promising Freshman-Sophomore and Junior Tabatha Gano was Most Dedicated.

The Lake Mary boys finished third in the Seminole Athletic Conference, sixth in District 4A-5 and seventh in Region 4A-3.

The Lady Rams came on strong in the late season to finish third in the SAC, fourth in District 4A-5 and fifth in

Knight Wins Comeback Award

NEW YORK (UPI) - Ray Knight improved this past season by "working on the right things," New York Mets coach Bud Harrelson said.

Knight, the Mets' third baseman and winner of the Most Valuable Player Award in the World Series, Monday was selected National League Comeback Player of the Year by United Press International. The 33-year-old third baseman bounced back from a disastrous 1985 campaign in which he hit only .218 to bat .298 and play a pivotal role in the Mets' spectacular season. Knight was named the World Series MVP as the Mets defeated the Boston Red Sox in seven games. Knight garnered 21 of 24 votes by UPI baseball correspondents. Mike Krukow of San Francisco received two votes and Giants teammate Candy Maldonado was given the remaining vote.

Ross is Last Terp To Go

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) - The resignation of University of Maryland football coach Bobby Ross completes a clean sweep of officials overseeing the school's revenue sports since the cocaine death of basketball standout Len Bias.

Ross, who rejuvenated an ailing Terrapins program. resigned Monday after five seasons as coach, citing broken promises made by university officials about improving the school's aging athletic facilities. Last month, Athletic Director Dick Dull and 17-year basketball coach Charles "Lefty" Driesell had announced their resignations in the wake of Bias' death and the subsequent controversy centering on the academic shortcomings of the school's athletes.

Knicks Replace Brown With Hill

NEW YORK (UPI) - In an attempt to add stability to a much maligned team, the New York Knicks fired Coach Hubie Brown Monday and promoted assistant Bob Hill.

Brown, mired in his third losing season and unable to rally a team decimated by injury, was fired by Knicks Vice President and General Manager Scotty Stirling. Terms of Hill's contract were not released.

Oviedo had a tough time in the Rotary Tournament mainly because it had no experienced ballhandlers on the court. The Lady Lions are another team with a promising young player in 6.01/2 sophomore Suzanne Hughes. Lyman lost most of its scoring threats with the graduation of Forsyth, Latanya Johnson and Denise only at 7) and Lake Brantley is at Stevens. Thelee Bouey is the Lady Greyhounds' leader this season.

As expected with all the youth among the county teams, there were plenty of mistakes in tournament action this past week. But I have to nominate myself for the biggest bonehead play of the week.

After Lake Howell disposed of Groveland in the West Orange Tournament, I exited the gym and headed for my car when I (0-2) return few players from suddenly took a step and there their teams of a year ago and was nothing to step on. The both lost dominant players in result of missing the flight of stairs was a severely sprained and humoungously swollen left ankle and equally deflated pride.

Patriots To Rely On Brains Instead Of Quickness, Size

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

Coach Steve Jucker doesn't have the quickest, tallest or best-shooting basketball team in Central Florida - but he may have the most intelligent.

Jucker, beginning his second year at the Lake Brantley helm, said the grade point average of his team is close to 3.8 on a scale of 4.0.

"We've got the smartest guys in the world," Jucker said Monday on the eve of Brantley's opener at Daytona Beach against Scabreeze. "We better play intelligent because we aren't very tall or quick."

Jucker and the Pats posted posted an 11-13 record last year. but graduation took his two best scorers - Mark Moser (14.3 points per game) and Wade Wittig (13 ppg) - along with defensive specialist Dave Hardwick.

"Our lineup is pretty cut and dried," Jucker said. "Brent Bell and Darren Leva are going to

Lady Bucs Topple Lake Howell

By Chris Fister

Herald Sports Writer CASSELBERRY - It was Daytona Beach Mainland's leapers against Lake Howell's hustlers Monday night in girls basketball action at Lake Howell High. And it was Mainland leaper Kristy Austell's layup with 15 seconds left that gave the visiting Lady Bucs a 52-51 victory over the Lady Silver Hawks before 101 fans.

The Mainland victory snapped a three-game Lake Howell win streak. The Lady Hawks, 3-1, return to action Thursday at Orlando Luther.

Mainland used its two leapers. Austell (game-high 18 points, 16 rebounds) and Segena Mackerov (10 points, 13 rebounds), to control the boards on both ends of the court. The Lady Bucs outrebounded Lake Howell.

"We were terrible on the offensive and defensive boards tonight," Lake Howell coach Dennis Codrey said. "And we couldn't make a foul shot in the fourth quarter.'

Mainland led by as much as 11 points in the first half but the Lake Howell guard tandem of Erin Hankins and Tammy Lewis hustled the Lady Hawks back into the game. Hankins, returning from a sprained ankle, had a team-high 13 points while Lewis contributed 10 points, three assists and five steals. Brooke Burns, the Lady Hawks fourth-quarter weapon, scored six of her eight points in the final eight minutes to keep Lake Howell close down the stretch.

Lake Howell's only lead of the first three quarters was at 3-2. Mainland led by six at the half, 30-24, but Lake Howell pulled to within three, 43-40, going into the fourth quarter. Burns popped in a Jumper for the first points of the fourth quarter, slicing the Mainland lead to 43-42. Lake Howell took its first lead, 47-46, since the first quarter with 3:06 left on Arriola's free throw.

Mainland came back to take a 48-47 lead on Austell's layup after an offensive rebound, but Burns, a 5-6 sophomore, put in a layup over the 5-11 Mackeroy to give Lake Howell a 49-48 lead.

Flip Ross tossed in a layup after getting the rebound on a missed free throw as Mainland took a 50-49 lead but Lake Howell got the lead back with 40 seconds left when Hankins tickled the twine from 20. Mainland then missed the front end of two one and one situations, but Hankins also missed a one and one with 23 seconds left. Austell then drove in for the game-winning layup with 15 seconds remaining. Lake Howell had an out of bounds play with six seconds left, but could not get off a good last shot.

Stocks Sharply Higher

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened sharply 0.6 percent in October after a revised 0.2 percent higher today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

Early turnover amounted to about 14,063,000 shares.

The market opened with the knowledge that the government's main gauge of future economic activity - the index of leading economic indicators - increased by a larger-than-expected gain in September.

The stock market swung widely in moderate trading Monday on investor reaction to the Iran arms deal, with a sharp drop early in the session but a near-total recovery in the final hour as sentiment improved.

Monte Gordon, research director at Dreyfus Corp., said the late gain was due to futuresrelated buying, prompted by investors' anticipation that President Reagan will act to curb political damage linked to the Iran arms affair.

"You have to remember that futures prices are an indication of where people think prices are heading," Gordon said.

than 91 acres are to be land, and about 12 acres water retention ponds.

Expansion at the facility will include a 90,000square-foot exhibit hall and a 30,000-square-foot warehouse, as well as increase the parking capacity to 3,500 unpaved spaces. Levy has said the bid to expand has cost him in excess of $100,000 for plans and studies related to the effort, which has sometimes stirred controversy. "We're sure glad it looks like it's going to be over," market General Manager George Schnippel Schnippel said the exibition hall will be used to host events such as car and boat shows, that may attract those who normally do not attend flea markets, in order to attract a border market.

If approved, Schnippel said construction of the parking area would begin first. He projected that construction of the two buildings may begin in June or July.

Opponents of the expansion have complained that growth at the site will endanger a nearby hardwood swamp, create traffic problems on 17-92 and County Road 427, and spur growth that will be too intense for the septic tanks used at the site.

Levy, however, has made a series of concessions to eliminate potential problems.

Two major concessions include withdrawing a request for an entrance on County Road 427, thus eliminating additional traffic on the road, and turning control of the 35 acres to the county. If approved, the commercial acreage would grow from 28 acres to 50 acres; commercial space square footage available would grow from 185,000 square feet to 305,000 square feet; and parking area from about 9 acres to 21 acres.

If Levy agrees to the conditions the county planning staff has placed on the project which are written into the development order to be considered, the county staff recommends approval of the project.

Among the stipulations necessary for considcration of approval:

 Septic tank usage cannot exceed 15,000 gallons per day, and the market must tie into a sewer system when one becomes available;

 Install a five-foot-wide sidewalk along 17-92; Dedicate right-of-way and access rights along County Road 427 to the county to guanantee there will be no access onto County Road 427;

 Pay ail applicable impact fees: Of the approximately 103 total acres, more Pay for all traffic light installations and operation, and maintenance costs as needed on

> Construct a new entrance road and median crossing on 17-92 to county standards and close the north median cut, thereby restricting traffic movement to right in and right out:

Construct all needed turn lanes:

 Monitor air and water quality and correct any problem that may be created: Construct a 6-foot high masonry wall along the southern property line. Other change of zoning requests to be considered by the P&Z board Wednesday include those from:

- Florence Dees, requesting a zoning change from residential professional to restricted neighborhood commercial for 1.5 lots on Laura Street, east of 17-92: - Bayer Cadillac, Inc., requesting a zoning change from C-1 retail commercial to C-2 retail commercial for a parcel less than one acre in size at the intersection of Howell Branch Road and Lake Howell Road: - Robert T. Petzel, requesting a zoning change from agricultural to single family dwelling district use for five acres on Lake Drive, east of Spicewood:

 Charles Bradshaw, requesting a zoning change from agricultural and R-1A and R-1AA single family dwelling district to R-1 single family dwelling district for 20 acres at the southwest corner of Pearl Lake:

 Wekiva Trust Park, requesting a zoning change from office professional to restricted neighborhood commercial for 14.6 acres at the intersection of Wekiva Springs Road and East Lake Brantley Road.

Also to be considered is an amendment to the planned unit development final master plan for Fernbrook Trails at the intersection of Howell Branch Road and Floyd Road. Harling, Locklin, and Associates are requesting a northern access road onto Howell Branch Road, and redesignation from 150 duplex units to 62 duplexes, 56 single family units, and 32 Quadraplexes.

The board will also consider proposed changes to the county's land development code.

Baby-Boomers Go For Gum

By Glen Warchol

SPOKANE Wash. (UPI) — In an example of the baby-boom generation's fascination with its cultural roots, a recent temporary marketing of three "nostalgia" chewing gums was a popping success.

In September. Warner-Lambert Co., maker of Trident sugarless gum, dusted off the recipes for three gums that shared their heyday with "Sky King" and Duncan yo-yos. They reproduced pungent Clove, sweet Beeman's and the dusty ebony memory of Black Jack gum.

Faster than you could sing a verse of "The Name Game," the sugary gum was attacking the teeth of adults who should have known better in the 48 contiguous states during a 90-day test marketing that was over more than a month early due to lack of product.

"Our stores were sold out in two weeks," said Bob Rebich, a merchandizer for Spokane's Rosauers Super Markets Inc. "All three flavors are all very popular. I don't know why they ever discontinued them. We've had requests for Black

Warner Lambert would not say how much gum was sold, citing proprietary interests, but the company claimed it thought it had enough for three months and noted the quick sales were generated with only $100,000 of advertising and Jack Kelley, product manager of New Jerseybased Warner-Lambert, said the sales of the gum were phenomenal, almost all of it to buyers in their late 20s or older. But the company is still studying the data before making a decision to market the brands again.

"It was kind of a neat thing for them (baby boomers) to chew it again," Kelly said in a telephone interview from Morris Plains, N.J. "When they were kids, they were chewing it because their grandparents gave it to them."

"That gave us a good warm feeling." Kelly said.
"But we're trying to find out how BIG it is." Concocted in 1870, licorice-anise-flavored Black Jack is America's oldest flavored gum, while as a cure for heartburn. Clove was introduced in 1933 after Prohibition was repealed as "the gum that takes your breath away." It was sold in bars for obvious reasons.

was 13 I developed torsion of the testicles. My left testicle atrophied and the right one is constantly tender. My sex life is normal and I've fathered twins, but I'm concerned that this condition may lead to serious problems in the future. Is removal indicated?

DEAR READER - The withering of one testicle is not a dangerous situation. In fact, it is quite common in men who have had testicular infections, like mumps. However, because your remaining testicle is tender, I suggest that you check with your doctor to make sure that you don't have an infection or 12 Gay abnormality in the normal testi-

DEAR DR. GOTT - What home remedies will relieve the irritation and burning of 17 Large mass of atrophic vaginitis?

DEAR READER - I am not 18 idol aware of any home remedies to treat atrophic vaginitis, the drying, thinning and narrowing of the lower reproductive tract. The condition is a consequence of the aging process and commonly occurs after menopause because of diminishing amounts of female hormone. Newer treatments involving estrogen/progestin replacement can reverse the menopausal vaginal changes - and can help prevent osteoporosis (loss of bone density), too. Ask your gynecologist if hormone treatment would be appropriate for 38 Chemistry

DEAR DR. GOTT - Several years ago, while taking birthcontrol pills, I developed splotchy brown patches on my nose, cheeks and upper lip. The problem persisted after I stopped the Pill and got worse during pregnancy. It's been 18 months since I gave birth, but the patches remain. Is there anything I can do for it?

DEAR READER condition is called chloasma (the brownish discoloration that affects some women who are pregnant or on oral contraceptives). Although it may be a cosmetic problem, chloasma is entirely harmless.

DEAR DR. GOTT - When I allergist told me that I have vasomotor instability. What does this mean? He says this is causing my extreme sensitivity to cold, wind, air conditioning.

DEAR READER - Vasomotor instability means that the lining of your nose reacts violently to temperature changes and air pollution. This condition produces nasal stuffiness, runny nose and swelling of the nasal

I can always count on my expert friend Terry Gibson for an interesting deal. Terry held the South cards today and felt that his partner's bidding denoted at most a singleton heart. If North held three aces. Terry visualized 12 tricks. In their Blackwood methods, the five-club response showed three aces. The double by East had a somewhat unhappy result, stopping West from leading the heart king and taking the first two heart tricks. When the nine of clubs was led, Terry could see that he needed somewhat of a miracle to make his ambitious contract. But he played for it.

He won the club king, played the king, queen and ace of spades, and ruffed a small club. Then he cashed his last trump.

throwing a heart from dummy. He then ran four rounds of diamonds. Dummy's last three cards were the heart 10 and the A-J of clubs. Poor East had to keep the queen of clubs guarded. and he certainly was not going to throw the ace of hearts away against a slam contract. Sure enough, declarer played the heart 10 from dummy. East won the ace and had to lead back into the club A-J to give Terry Gibson his slam.

There are two lessons here. As declarer, don't give up, even when you are in a terrible contract. As defender, if you can see that you may be thrown on lead to your great disadvantage, do anything short of murder to prevent it, even if you have to throw an ace away.
