

Easter's Bat Keeps Indians 1 Game Behind Yankees

Brooklyn Increases Lead To 4½ Games Over Giants With 2 Wins Over Cubs

AP Sports Writer
 Luke Easter, former target for Cleveland's "boo birds," is top man on the hit parade of Indian fans today.

Easter's blazing bat is spearheading the Indians' bid for the American League pennant, a drive that finds them only one game behind the New York Yankees. Both combatants have 14 games to play including a face-to-face meeting in Cleveland on Sunday.

Easter drove home two runs last night on a single and his 29th home run to lead the Indians to a 5-3 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics. But the Yanks protected their slim lead as Al Reynolds pitched the Yankees to a 6-1 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

Meanwhile, the Brooklyn Dodgers moved 4½ games ahead of the New York Giants in the National League race. The Dodgers' Ruth Williams' first-inning home run in a 4-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-2, on Don Mueller's home run.

Easter, who failed to hit his weight during the first half of the campaign, has been making up for lost time since he got back into the lineup on July 15, following a sojourn with Indianapolis of the American Association.

The 240-pound first baseman departed unannounced with a 208 average. Since his recall, he has been hitting away at a .310 clip and has driven in 55 runs in 52 games.

The Indians were playing .568 ball and trailed the Yanks by 3½ games when Easter left. Since his return they have won 36 and lost 23, a .610 pace.

Easter, who has hit safely in 13 straight games, singled home the Indians' first run in the opening inning. Bob Lemon blanked the Athletics on three hits until the fifth, when he suddenly wilted. The A's loaded the bases with one out and Lemon issued two walks to force home two runs. Ted Wilks, the old National League fireman, came on and saved Lemon's 10th victory.

Reynolds was in top form against the Browns. The right-hander allowed only five hits and fanned 14 in racking up his 18th consecutive win. He collected 15 hits against Duane Pillette and two relief pitchers.

Johnny Hutherford, with assistance from Joe Black and Carl Erskine, turned in a superb performance for a pinch-hitter during a game-winning, four-run rally in the seventh of the opener. Black replaced the Cubs in order the rest of the way.

Erskine coasted to his 12th victory in the second game. Mueller's homer for the Giants sent game Murray Dickson down to his 26th defeat. Dickson, who won 20 games in 1951, is the first Pirate pitcher in modern history to be tagged with a score of defeats.

Miami President Thinks Florida Will Play Canes

Miller And Ashe Go Into Huddle For 2 Days In Stuart

MIAMI — The University of Florida and Miami may get together on the question of playing football in the state capital, Gainesville, on Nov. 23 as scheduled.

"I think we are coming along," said Dr. Bowman F. Ashe, University of Miami president, Wednesday night in revealing that he had conferred with Dr. J. Willis Miller, University of Florida president, Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

They discussed a new football contract between the two institutions. "I had a talk with Dr. Miller last (Tuesday) night and this (Wednesday) morning at Stuart, where he is fishing," Dr. Ashe said.

"We discussed the situation quite a bit but we need to have another little talk, which we may be able to do over the phone. I think we are coming along," Dr. Ashe said. Dr. Ashe said he would not have much more to say until after he talks with Dr. Miller again.

"I think probably, if we get together somewhere, we may make a joint statement," Dr. Ashe said. Miami Daily News Sports Editor Stanley Woodward said Wednesday it was "reliably reported" that the presidents of the two universities "will agree to adopt a one-year interim agreement to go on with the game." Dr. Ashe did not comment on that report.

Possibility that the intense football rivalry between the two schools would end arose several days ago when Florida Athletic Director Bob Woodruff demanded that Miami sign a Southeastern Conference contract.

Miami football officials said if Woodruff's demands were met the Hurricanes would have to operate under SEC rules without enjoying any advantages of conference membership. Officials of the two schools have been negotiating a new four-year contract including this year's game, for which $40,000 worth of tickets already have been sold.

Sanford All-Stars Are Edged, 4-3, In 7th By Orange Buick

Sanford's high flying, recreational All-Star softball team received their first jolt in the Orlando Invitational tournament last night as Orange Buick came from behind in the late innings to defeat Sanford, 4-3, in the bottom of the seventh at Exposition Park in Orlando.

Sanford led most of the game before they fell victim to several scratch infield hits and fluke bunts. Iron-Man Hires went the entire route for the losing side, but two walks, four runs on eight hits.

With the score knotted up in the bottom of the seventh and Orange Buick at bat, Malley looped a Texas League single over second, which glanced off the edge of John Keeling's outstretched mitt.

Malley laid down a perfect bunt which Frankie Stenstrom raced in on an overcast to Keeling at first. The runner beat the peg but Stenstrom's throw smashed off Keeling's glove and rolled into right field. Right fielder Mason sped in to relay the ball to the plate but his throw hit the ground as Malley streaked across the plate, beating catcher Coleman Yates with the game winning tally.

The loss ended the All-Stars' two-game winning streak and dropped them into the losers' bracket with still no more chance to make the finals. However, they must win all their remaining games to take the Orlando crown.

The locals talked once in the first when Stenstrom led off with a single. Flanery walked and Bill Crabtree singled Stenstrom across. Hancock maintained their 1-0 lead until the fifth when they added two more on Keeling's walk, Flanery's bing and a pair of fielders' errors.

Orange Buick parlayed a hit and two bunts into their first two runs in the bottom of the fifth to make the scoreboard read 3-2. Sanford, The Buickmen added the tying run in the sixth on Anderson's triple and a fly ball to Flanery by first baseman Baird.

Sanford plays again Friday night at Exposition Park in Orlando at 7:30 p.m. The All-Stars will hold a practice at the Lakewood Diamond tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Sports Roundup

By ED CORRIGAN
 (For Gayle Talbot)

NEW YORK It seems like only yesterday that the major league pitchers, who are the most famous men in the business, were being accused of a conspiracy to rig the game.

Now all is silence and a look at the records will explain why. The other day we glanced at the leading batters in the majors: Would you believe that the National League pennant winner may not have a better batting average than the losers?

In fact, the last three in the top 10 in the National League were hitting under .300. Jackie Robinson was the Brooklyn operative with a .298 mark and Whitey Lockman was banging away at .301 for the New York Giants.

The American League wasn't much better. It, too, had the last three in the top 10 under .300. Gene Woodling of the New York Yankees and Dale Mitchell of the Cleveland Indians both were well up but where were the others? Only Mickey Mantle was managing to stay above .300.

We don't want to be one to paint a gloomy picture, but we would like to urge Stan Musial to start looking for more value or he's going to have the lowest average of a National League batting king since 1919.

The last time we looked his mark showed .335 and barring a slump of catastrophic proportions, he would win the championship in 1943 and in 1948 it was a mighty .376.

In 1919 Ed Roush of Cincinnati won with a .321. This, of course, was an overgrowth of world wars and a baseball trying to stay on its feet. Nothing even approaching Roush's somewhat anemic figure was posted until the next war.

In 1942, Ernie Lombardi won it with a .330. In the American League, Ferris Fain, who is trying for his second straight year, is leading with a .346 last year and currently is hovering around the .330 mark.

SEC Teams Begin Scrimmages And Harder Practice

Injuries Mar Drills In Georgia Tech And Tulane Camp

By The Associated Press
 This is the scrimmage season for Southeastern Conference football teams—the annual mid-September period when teams get in some of their heaviest knocks as they prep for opening games nine days ahead.

Almost every SEC team scrimmaged Wednesday and most of them either got back to simulated game conditions today or Friday. From these rough, long sessions usually come injuries and Wednesday was no exception.

Broken hand and wrist bones resulted at Tulane and Georgia Tech. East Brunswick, first string offensive center for Tulane, broke a bone in his left wrist and probably will have to put the wrist in a cast. He should be ready for Tulane's opener Sept. 27. The opponent is Georgia and the opener is a week later than most SEC teams get started.

Ben Daugherty, Georgia Tech's fine defensive tackle, broke a bone in his left hand. He'll miss both the Citadel and Florida games. Field work at Tennessee and Georgia was far from impressive if you listen to two of the best moaners in football—Coach Bob Neyland of the Vols and Wally Butts of Georgia.

Tennessee worked through both offensive and defensive scrimmages and results were disappointing to Neyland. Jim Haslam, tackle, and John Michels, guard, were the best operators on the field. Bill Barthel was released from the hospital after breaking a nose bone.

"Distressing" was Butts' word for Georgia's drill. But that word didn't cover the performance of Conrad Manisera, Manisera, a New Jersey product, put on one of the fastest exhibitions of football seen in Athens in years. He scored three touchdowns. Zeke Bratkowski and Jimmy Harper, both quarterbacks, passed well.

The swing to the split T in the Southeastern has been marked Wednesday, Coach Bill Edwards of Vanderbilt took his first look at his new split T offense. Freshman Quarterback Bill Kriemeyer looked good running and passing. Vandy scrimmaged at length.

Bear Bryant mixed in practice on fundamental football between scrimmage sessions at Kentucky. The team looked slow after a long session of two-day workouts. Two-day workouts have ended for Auburn. Meanwhile, first string running back Vince Bowler came back after an injury. He won't work through the rough phases again until Saturday when a game scrimmage will be held.

Clemson And Maryland Cannot Take Titles Even If They Win.

By ROBERT MOORE
 RICHMOND, Va. — The Southern Conference finds itself making football history this season before a single game has been played.

For two of its members — Maryland and Clemson — are expected to have teams which will rank among the best in the nation. Yet, neither can win the conference championship.

Both Maryland and Clemson are on the conference blacklist. They placed there for playing in New Year's Day bowl games and were given one-year football suspensions.

Virginia, another top-flight area outfit, can't win, either, for the Cavaliers aren't conference members. Maryland has its eyes set on becoming the nation's No. 1 team. And the Terps have every reason to believe that's where they'll wind up.

They thrashed Tennessee, last year's top-ranked team, in the Sugar Bowl Jan. 1. And Coach Jim Tatum flatly admits the Terps will have their best running attack in Maryland history and a defensive unit which will compare favorably to the 1951 defense which limited its foes to an average of 75.3 yards per game.

Tatum has Jack Scarbath, a great quarterback, around to direct his tricky split-T version. He has an abundance of other speedy backs in Chester Hamrick, Ralph Felton, Ronnie Walker, Frey Layman, Joe Horning, Dick Nolan, Ed Fullerton, Ed Barritt, Bernie Paloney, Charley Boxold and Lynn Wright. Leading the Maryland line is Dick (Little Mo) Modzeleski, who along with Scarbath is being boomed for all-America honors. Fifteen other lettermen are sprinkled among the line candidates.

Clemson has a terrific triple-threat back in Billy Hair. Hair was sixth in the nation last year in total yards gained with a total of 1,579.

Virginia has a small squad of 15, but all of them have a lot of football savvy and were on last year's squad.

Duke's Blue Devils have become odds-on favorites to cop the conference crown with Maryland and Clemson safely out of the way for a year.

Virtually all of Duke's 1951 team is back. Their big problem is to develop a defensive backfield. Wake Forest, William and Mary, North Carolina and possibly South Carolina could cause the Dukes trouble. Wake Forest, particularly, should come up with a hard-to-beat team since many experienced hands are back.

North Carolina has turned to the Tar Heels do will depend on how quickly Coach Carl Snavely can bring them around to their new formation.

Giants Can Thank One Monte Irvin If They Win Flag

By JACK HAND
 NEW YORK — If the New York Giants pull another "miracle" this fall, a fellow named Monte Irvin will deserve much of the credit.

Just as Giant hopes crumpled Irvin's broken ankle in spring training so they have risen with his return to regular action.

The strong slugger from Orange, N. J., stretched his consecutive game hitting streak to 11 yesterday with a home run for Brooklyn. He won over Pittsburgh in 13 innings.

This was a miserable summer for big Monte, sifting home while in their uphill climb. Irvin was anxious to return to action but he just couldn't afford to take chances until the doctor gave his okay.

A little walking exercise in his back yard, then some batting practice. More hitting and light exercise while he made a Western swing with the giants. Then a return to the active list for pinch-hitting duties.

Finally he got back in there on an every day basis when the Giants were being read out of the race some 10½ games behind the Dodgers.

"Irvin is the difference," you hear on all sides in the Giant clubhouse and dugout. "Since he came back we started to win."

Batting .325 and lashing vicious line drives as the cleanup hitter, Monte is doing his best to lift the Giants toward another flag.

Federal Wildlife Changes Only Few Laws For Season

TALLAHASSEE — (Special)— The tightening of one regulation and the loosening of another featured the revisions of the Federal regulations for the taking of migratory game birds in Florida this year, according to the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

A revision in the 1952-53 regulations states that the daily bag limit of ducks this year is four, possession, eight, only one of which may be a wood duck. Last year, the possession limit on ducks was two day's bag, which included two wood ducks.

The other regulation permits the shooting of migratory game birds from a boat or other craft having a motor attached or "such craft is fastened within or upon" immediately alongside of any type of stationary hunting blind.

In previous years, it has been illegal to hunt with the motor on the boat, and before shooting was permitted the sportsman had to undo the motor and place it in the floor of the boat.

For years, sportsmen have contended that the regulation prohibiting shooting of migratory birds while in a boat with a motor attached was unwise for "it's worth your own life to try and take off a motor while you're in the boat on the water."

Move For New Parleys With Britain Made

Churchill May Come To Talk With President Over Anticipated Money Crisis

By JOHN A. SCALI
WASHINGTON (AP)—A new "dollar crisis" conference between Britain and the United States appears to be shaping up for early next spring.

Prime Minister Churchill himself may fly to the United States to talk with the president about Britain's ideas for new moves to strengthen the Western world's finances.

Nothing definite about the dates for any such high level meeting has been decided upon. But American and British financial and trade experts are already busy behind the scenes exploring possible proposals for action.

The present plan calls for government agencies to draft a comprehensive report summing up the West's economic problems. This is to be laid on the desk of the new president after he assumes office Jan. 20 along with alternative proposals for United States action to meet the situation.

Officials here believe it likely that Churchill will want to discuss these problems personally with the new president. If he doesn't come himself, it is believed virtually certain he will send Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and Britain's ambassador to the executive, H. A. Butler, to talk with the next American secretary of state and treasury.

President Truman, questioned about this at his news conference yesterday, said any such discussion would necessarily be with the new administration and that he knew nothing about it.

The backstage study now going on in American government agencies seems to stem from a growing belief that America's allies may have to halt their rearmament drive unless new financial programs are found for their shaky economies.

Britain and France already have cut back their rearmament schedules and American defense experts fear any further cuts in armament production may seriously hurt the Western world's plan for defense against communism.

What new steps can be adopted to bolster Western finances is not clear. Congress appropriated a total of $6,447,730,750 for military, economic and technical aid to nearly 40 countries during the 12 months (Continued on Page Two)

County Zoning Referendum To Be On Ballot In November Election

A referendum that would empower the County Commission to adopt zoning regulations and a building code covering the use of property not included in any municipality and adjacent to state and county roads, will be presented to voters of Seminole County for approval in the November election, O. P. Herndon, county clerk, stated yesterday.

The County Commission recently decided to include the referendum, which was passed by the State Legislature as Senate Bill No. 902, on the November ballot. It carries with it a stipulation that it is not effective until it is ratified by a majority of the qualified electors of Seminole County.

Zoning control outside of municipalities will be limited to areas within 500 feet of the center line of any state or county road. This will include regulations and restrictions in the use of the property and the enforcement of a building code.

Section 2 of the bill provides that the County Commission may divide the territory under control into districts and "may regulate and restrict the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, repair or use of buildings and structures on land and water."

"All such regulations shall be uniform for each class or kind of building throughout each district, but the regulations in one district may differ from those of another district."

Section 3 of the bill, defines its objectives and states it is intended to "secure safety from fire, promote health, provide adequate light and air, prevent overcrowding, and provide for the adequate provision of transportation, water, sewerage, schools, parks and other requirements."

"Such regulations shall be made with reasonable consideration, among other things, of the character of each district and its particular uses and with a view of conserving the value of buildings and encouraging the most appropriate use of the land and water throughout the county."

The bill also provides that the board shall provide for the manner in which such rights, restrictions and boundaries of such districts shall be determined, established and enforced and from time to time, supplemented and changed.

Senator L. F. Boyle, however, in drawing up the bill, included provision for complaints by citizens on the bill states, "However, no such regulation, restriction or boundary shall be come effective until after a public hearing in which citizens and parties interested shall have the opportunity to be heard."

"At least 15 days notice of the time and place of such hearing shall be published in a paper of general circulation in the county."

Changes in the regulations shall require a favorable vote by three-fifths of the County Commission. In order to carry out the provisions of the bill, it will be necessary for the County Commission to appoint a Zoning Commission of not less than 3 or more than 7 qualified electors.

The duties of the zoning commission shall be to "recommend the boundaries of the various districts, and regulations to be enforced. They shall make preliminary reports and hold a public hearing before submitting a final report to the Board of County Commissioners. They shall not hold public hearings or take action until it has received a final report of such commission. Zoning commission members will receive no compensation."

In putting the act into effect, the County Commission will employ the clerk as an employee of the board to enforce the provisions (Continued on Page Two)

Acheson Hits At Critics Of Foreign Policy

Calls Plan Of Using Force To Wean Red Satellites As Disaster Prescription

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson has slapped a "disaster prescription" label on critics of his foreign policy who urge the use of force as a means of aiding countries under Russia's domination.

Assailing critics of the administration's foreign policy as men who "sit on the horns and feel their feet on the brakes," Acheson declared last night.

"Our position in the world calls for responsibility, not only by of force, but by all of us. We cannot dictate, we cannot be irresponsible if we are to fulfill the mission of leadership among free peoples."

He spoke at the convention of the AFL International Association of Machinists.

In New York John Foster Dulles, Republican foreign policy adviser, said neither he nor Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower contemplated a "war of liberation" when they recommended different foreign policy in Eastern Europe.

The republicans a presidential nominee recently and the United States should not rest until the Communist dominated countries of Eastern Europe are liberated. He told the American Legion Convention in New York he was advocating only peaceful measures.

Dulles, in a radio interview, blamed "President Truman's misinterpretation" for any alarm Eisenhower's Legion speech might have caused in Europe. The speech had been interpreted by the president as increasing the possibility of war.

Dulles cited Yugoslavia's withdrawal from the Communist bloc as the type of "ambitions" the U. S. should work for. He also mentioned economic measures, internal discussion in Communist enclaves, and the need for a strong, unified front against present foreign policy planning as inadequate.

Acheson told the machinist convention:

"I believe, as anyone must who shares the democratic faith that free societies can and will be more durable, and that ultimately they must exercise a strong, unified front that will shift the balance in our favor."

"But if through impatience or imprudence we are urged to seek the 'liberation' of territories by peoples by force this advice would be neither realistic nor responsible."

"If this is what is meant by being more 'positive' then it is in fact a positive prescription for disaster."

Taft Avers He And Ike Agree Substantially On All Issues; Adlai Diagnoses Corruption

In Regard To Graft, Stevenson Says We Have What We Deserve In Capital

Stevenson Tours The Northwest

By HELMAN MORIN
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson went on the offensive today with a denial, framed in his strongest language, that Democrats alone are responsible for corruption and misconduct in the federal government.

"Whose fault is it," he asked, "that we get what we deserve in government?"

And his answer was: "It is the fault of you the people. Your public servants serve you right, in that they give you better than your apathy and indifference deserves."

This was the core of Stevenson's answer to one of the central issues in the battle for the presidency. He quoted his Republican opponent as saying it is "the only issue."

Stevenson devoted a whole speech to it in Los Angeles yesterday in a speech here he painted a picture of the United States 20 years from now, promised a golden future, and said of the Republicans:

"They have always been afraid of tomorrow. Seligson has been a bold idea for building America bigger and stronger for the future, but that Republican voters are raised saying, 'You can't do that.'"

Stevenson carried his campaign today into the Northwest, heading for Arizona and New Mexico. He plans to be in his Springfield headquarters late Saturday.

His two Los Angeles speeches were foundation stones in the campaign he is building.

In the first, his effort was to destroy the Republican argument that the Democrats alone are to blame for corruption in Washington.

In the second, he sought to identify his party with progress, and to prove that the Republicans are "the party of the past."

Analyzing the question of corruption in public office he made these points:

1. The American people have a moral responsibility.

"You are not going to clean up crime and corruption until you clean up American civic and political life. Government is like a stamp, and what it stamps up is just what we are, a fair sample of the intellect, the ethics and the morals of the people, no better, no worse."

2. He himself, he fought for clean government.

"I do not, I have not, nor will I condone, excuse or explain away the 'liberation' of territories in public office wherever the guilty or wherever they are stationed. I have had the satisfaction of filing and prosecuting a good many, and I mean from both parties."

3. Bureaucracy is not confined to government.

"When you realize that American private business is swindled more than a billion dollars each year by its employees, from clerks to executives, it is not too remarkable, however deplorable, that I mean from both parties."

4. Grant and bribery are not the only forms of corruption.

"Perhaps the proper description is 'misleading the public.' The legislator who will vote for all kinds of special interest bills to catch or hold some votes. Call that what you will, but it is you who are the guilty party."

5. He said, too, that there are "tens of thousands" of honest, efficient public officers. The "criticism, abuse and intraldrage" Stevenson added, is making it more difficult to bring good people into government.

Senator Says He Believes Eisenhower Will Pursue Policies Of Platform

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft said today that he and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower are in substantial agreement on all issues and that he will speak anywhere in the United States to support the president's program.

"I am convinced that Eisenhower will carry out the policies of the Republican platform," he said.

He said he was "completely satisfied" that Eisenhower would give the United States a good administration.

Taft also said he is convinced Eisenhower believes in the principle of a Republican "strictly committed to Congress."

He said a new conference "I cannot say I believe in all of them. Eisenhower's views on foreign policy, but our differences are merely differences of degree."

Later in answer to a question, he said the degree was largely a matter of emphasis. He declined to change, saying he would discuss his views of foreign policy in his own speeches.

Today's broadcast conference at Los Angeles, California University home was the first since Eisenhower defeated Taft for the nomination in Chicago last July.

Saying that he himself would speak on a national broadcast and speak anywhere to the extent of his ability, Taft urged all Americans "to have confidence in my judgment" to support the Republican ticket.

He said he and Gen. Eisenhower (Continued on Page Two)

Over Crowding Of School Buses Now Corrected

Lawton Says Gut Is Preparing New Plan On Traffic Control

No conditions of over-crowding of school buses in this county now exist, Supt. T. W. Lawton announced this morning.

He declared that before the school year started yesterday before the School Board to protest bus over-crowding, the situation had already been corrected, and he personally inspected bus loading and had found no over-crowding.

In regard to protests of north-central office hazards created by parking violations at the South Side Primary School, Mr. Lawton said that H. James Gut, superintendent of the school, had worked out a new parking plan for the school area, and will submit this to the City for approval.

This is obtained, he added, Mrs. J. C. Mitchell, South Side School principal, will write mother-teacher groups to inform them of children at the school, and to inform them of the new parking regulations.

W. L. Allman, former driver of the Naval Air Station, was granted a year of absence.

Former Brewer Is Indicted For Evasion Of Tax

Indianian Is Charged With Being Shy By Nearly 200 Thousand

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lawrence P. Bardin, former Indiana brewer whose name has been brought into congressional complaints of government tax irregularities, was indicted today on charges of trying to evade his 1948 income taxes.

The two-count indictment, at Indianapolis, was announced by Atty. Gen. McGranery.

Bardin's name figured prominently in charges by Sen. William H. Cramer in Williams' revelation of alleged irregularities in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

McGranery's announcement described Bardin as former manager of the Indianapolis Brewing Company.

The two counts charged that Bardin reported an income of $29,824 and a tax thereon of $26,382 for 1948, but should have reported $759,827 and tax of $639,841.

Williams told the Senate Feb. 11 that Bardin settled a big tax claim for a small amount in 1946, but should have reported $759,827 and tax of $639,841.

Williams said the Senate Feb. 11 that Bardin settled a big tax claim for a small amount in 1946, but should have reported $759,827 and tax of $639,841.

Nunan said, however, that he never represented the brewing company, never spoke to anyone in its behalf and never received a fee from the company.

Williams contended, nevertheless, that he had a photograph of a waiver Nunan obtained from the Treasury to represent the firm. Such a waiver would be required because of Nunan's recent connection with the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The first count against Bardin charges that he "willfully attempted to defeat and evade his tax by not reporting his correct income." The second count charges a willful attempt to defeat and evade the payment of the tax of $639,841 by allegedly concealing his assets from the government.

This morning, said Mr. Evans, the letter to the Attorney General was being written, and plans of the area affected will be enclosed.

The committee, he said, will wait to hear from the Attorney General before seeking the advice of Mr. Spencer on further proceedings.

Property owners on the committee include Edward Zimmerman, James Yates, William Leffer, W. P. Burke, Homer Givson, Roy Howell, Jr., Raymond Bell, Jr., John Peckham, K. E. True and Mr. Evans.

Head Of Justice Department Tax Policy Group As Division Is Fired Deadline Nears

Step Follows Recent Contract Negotiation And Possible Strike Will Occupy Agenda

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. McGranery today relieved Ellis N. Slack as head of the Justice Department's tax division and replaced him with Charles L. Lyon who has been chief counsel of the House committee investigating tax scandals.

He said that Slack will return to his former post as chief of the appellate section of the tax division.

Slack has been acting chief of the tax division since Nov. 6, 1949, when President Truman fired T. Lamar Childs for "outside activity."

Slack has been under fire of a congressional committee recently in connection with a St. Louis protest held with a conclusion on its main issue.

Lewis was elected today with Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers' Association, at union headquarters. The two were reported discussing a share the work plan with the District owners.

Under the plan Lewis would work on a fourth working day in any week and double time for a fifth day's work.

The idea is to level out employment in the industry. Some times, most of them in the South, work as few as two days a week while the "straggler" mines of the North, owned by steel and utility companies, work as many as five and six days a week.

The Lewis contract with the Southern coal producers' association is to expire Sept. 30.

Lewis is reported to be seeking higher wages and greater welfare benefits from Southern mine owners, whose spokesman is Harry Moses, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators' Association.

WASHINGTON (AP)—John E. Lewis today summoned the policy committee to review contract negotiations here Monday and prepare for a possible strike of the coal miners on Sept. 22, a week later.

The United Mine Workers' contract with northern coal mine owners expires Sept. 22, and Lewis and a team of negotiators, who would be free to take up for work on Monday.

U. M. W. President Lewis has been negotiating separately in the contract from the southern and southern segments of the soft coal industry and with Penna. Vanna anthracite industry.

The contract would be off and running, and about a year hard coal and anthracite mines.

The three sets of talks have been proceeding with some signs of progress, but with no conclusion on any main issue.

Methodist Church To Operate Its New Air Conditioning

Plans are under way to use for the first time Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock, the new air conditioning system installed in the First Methodist Church, the Rev. J. E. McKinley announced today.

It is planned to keep the temperature between 70 and 75 degrees, he declared, and much of the humidity that causes discomfort will be taken out of the air.

This, it is believed, will be the first church in this part of Central Florida to be fully conditioned for the comfort and health of the worshippers. At Winter Haven, a Christian Science church is similarly air conditioned.

Work has also been progressing on other improvements in the Methodist Church auditorium including the installation of an automatic lighting system. The lighting fixtures of the flush type are recessed. Three spot lights, independent of the other lighting, can be directed from the ceiling on to the stage.

The next step in an improvement program estimated in cost at more than $50,000 will include the enlargement of the chancel, and complete redecoration of the church, inside and out.

Youth week activities are continuing every night through the week at the church and are being enjoyed by approximately 70 young people of Junior High School age and up at McKinley Hall.

This, said the Rev. McKinley, is a week of training by carefully selected leadership. The "interest areas" include worship, evangelism, leadership and recreation.

The Rev. Al Brock is leading the group in worship; the Rev. Fred Stinson, Orlando, the Federation; Mrs. J. L. Leonard in leadership training; Rev. McKinley in evangelism; and the Rev. Long, director of religious education of the church, is working with intermediates in program planning.

Sanford Wives Discover Their Husbands Excel In Culinary Arts

By WILLARD CONNOLLY
Absolute proof that Sanford husbands are among the best "chefs" in America, was demonstrated last night at a "Cook It Yourself" program at the model kitchen at the Florida Power and Light Company office.

Day heaped and allied in their costumes, a number of local electrical appliance dealers, as part of a sales training course conducted by the power company, prepared a savory meal, including pie and cakes while approving wives looked on and later highly complimented the men on their expert cooking.

Two electric ranges were used. Equipped with typed cooking instructions, and guided by Miss Rachel Peace, expert instructor of the company, the men tackled the cooking job with zest.

Andrew Stine of the Hill Hardware Co. drew the assignment of preparing a Hollywood meat loaf which included ground beef, carrots and peas, and it turned out so well that Mrs. Stine, looking on approvingly, declared, "This is the first time in 34 years that I know he could cook."

Arthur Moore, also of Hill Hardware, drew an easier assignment, preparing applesauce, and also came up with paprika potatoes that melted in the mouth.

Florida Power's Jim Grant had the pleasant task of cooking green beans and preparing a Hungarian pudding that the women highly praised.

All Lyons of Sanford Electric, single handed, produced a steaming pot roast and a luscious crumb pudding. Joe Chidline of Wilson Meier Furniture Co. served some delicious and well steamed shrimp.

C. P. Henderson of Vopchek Sales and Service co-operated with E. C. Hauser of Sanford Electric Co. in a supreme cooking effort, apple pie.

A pleasant aroma came from the oven as C. K. Carter of Randall Electric Co. broiled steak patties. To M. H. "Skeet" Watson of Florida Power, fell the task of preparing "meat loaf" frosting for a big cake.

Among the spectators were Mrs. Ava Wright Davis of Sears-Robuck, Mrs. Betty Mrs. M. C. Graham, Miss Charlotte (Irene) and Mrs. John Meich Jr.

Mrs. H. B. McCall, a former teacher, has opened a kindergarten school here for some time in the kindergarten work, opened her Kiddie College Kindergarten Monday at her home at 2317 Mellonville Avenue.

Two large rooms are devoted to the kindergarten of 25 children, one room for assembly and the other a play room equipped with toys. A big yard serves as a playground.

Children attend the kindergarten from 9:00 a.m. until noon, five days a week and enjoy songs, games, stories and free hand drawing. Their lunch includes fruit juice and cookies. Among them are children of Naval personnel.

Children learn the primary colors, but no attempt at instruction in the alphabet will be made until February, she said. The main thing they learn, she added, is sociability and getting along together.

Senator Taft

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Taft agreed to reduce drastically government expenditures to the point where the federal budget would be down to 70 billion dollars in the fiscal year of 1954 and 80 billion in the following fiscal year.

He said he had wished to state his own views after a personal meeting with the general in which both agreed that there was "one great fundamental issue between the Republican Party and the Fair Deal, the New Deal and the Stevenson Deal."

That issue, he said, was "liberty versus creeping socialization in every field" of the government.

"The greatest threat to liberty is internal," he said, "and it is the responsibility of the government to insure that it is not."

Money Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—The period ending next July 1, together, nearly 28 billion dollars has been provided by the United States to friendly countries during the past four years, beginning with the unprecedented Marshall Plan for Western European recovery.

The present thinking is that the foreign aid program must be continued for several more years but that additional steps are urgently needed to make certain that Western European countries can put their financial houses in order in the foreseeable future.

No Relief Seen From Heat Wave In North

By The Associated Press
No immediate relief appeared today in the September heat wave which has hit wide areas in the eastern half of the country.

In contrast, snow plows cleared mountain highways along the Northern Nevada-California border. More than six inches of snow fell Tuesday on Donner Summit, on the California side of the border in the High Sierra.

In Southwest Texas, floodwaters from torrential rainfalls left five persons dead, two missing and hundreds homeless.

Adventist Pastor Appeals For Poor

"American youngsters have the best educational facilities in the world," Pastor Kenneth Menning of the Seventh-day Adventist Church said as he urged members to share their privileges with children of other, less fortunate lands. He disclosed that the local church would join other Adventist groups in a drive to establish or enlarge at least five overseas schools.

With a total mission contribution of $5,337.515 recorded for the first half of 1952, North American Adventist churches will devote offering received Saturday to a special fund for the extension of educational and medical work, he pointed out.

Areas slated to receive financial assistance from the offering for the erection of schools, are the Philippines, Mexico, Peru, and New Britain in the South Sea. Medical work in Tokyo and Baghdad is also scheduled for improvement.

Soloist To Appear At Local Church

Included in the ministry of music at the First Presbyterian Church's Sunday morning service will be a solo by Mrs. Grace Krick, Sanford, distinguished vocalist of the Congregational Church in Winter Park. It was made known today by Mrs. George Touhy, Minister of Music.

Mrs. Sanford will sing Roberta Blignold's lovely "The Greatest Of These Is Love," the composer of which was a classmate of the soloist according to the announcement.

A graduate of Oberlin Conservatory and of the Juillard School of Music, Mrs. Sanford continued her studies to gain her Master of Music degree at the School of Sacred Music at Union Theological Seminary where her husband, Harold Luis Sanford, was on the faculty.

An accomplished pianist as well as singer, the Sanford visitor was in the ministry of music at the Second Presbyterian Church in Newark, N. J. for ten years. Since coming to Winter Park where Mrs. Sanford is organist at the Congregational Church, she has appeared frequently as a vocalist and with her husband in two-piano recitals.

The church choir will sing "Thou Will Keep Him in Perfect Peace" and the sermon will be by the Rev. A. G. McInnis.

Keeping Industrial Machine Busy Will Be Official Burden

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—How to keep the greatly expanded industrial machine busy with jobs for all is wringing official brains as well as those in industry.

Commerce Secretary Sawyer tells businessmen that once the re-arming peak is passed, they must put as much thought into the problems of marketing their goods as they have been into producing them.

The problem industry can turn out more goods (and it quits making arms) than consumers seem willing to buy, at present prices. Loss of government money for defense work, therefore, could mean that men and machines would be idle. And the feared slump would be here.

Robert C. Turner, new member of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, startles some businessmen by warning that the leveling off of defense spending, on which their prosperity is built in large part, may be at hand much sooner than most of them had expected.

that deliveries of military hard goods would reach their peak in mid-1953

Sawyer's lecture on the need to improve the methods of distribution of civilian goods is aimed at the moment at the other industries who won't be getting military orders in volume.

But over the long term, it will apply to all Sawyer warns that "military production goals are being approached," adding that when "our tremendous industrial machine turns again mainly in producing goods for non-defense purposes we will obviously face many problems."

Distribution is what happens to goods after they're made. It includes all the expense of transportation, wholesaling, retailing and advertising everything involved in finding a final buyer for a product.

The Department of Commerce is surveying the problem of "potential markets for goods and services" to keep the nation's swelling industrial plant operating after defense needs are met. The report is planned for the first of the year.

Sawyer is also reported planning to set up a new office of distribution within the Department of Commerce. In time it might take over much of the work now done by the National Production Authority.

The job of the new office would be to do for all business what some big manufacturers and trade associations do in furnishing for their members data on market opportunities and on lowering distribution costs.

In the last 20 years industries have done quite a bit for them-relies in changing distribution costs and improving sales method.

Sawyer has reassuring words, however, for those who fear a seriously sharp when defense spending slackens.

He says the civilian economy has a big prop of the total of private savings which could be turned into buying power.

Also, he hopes it less to put on defense taxes could be lessened, thereby increasing consumer purchasing power.

Many a businessman hopes Sawyer is right on both counts.

SANFORD - ORLANDO - HIGHWAY

This isn't as frightening as it might seem, Turner says, that spending is leveling off at better than four billion dollars a month or around 10 billion a year. And is likely to hold at that through next year.

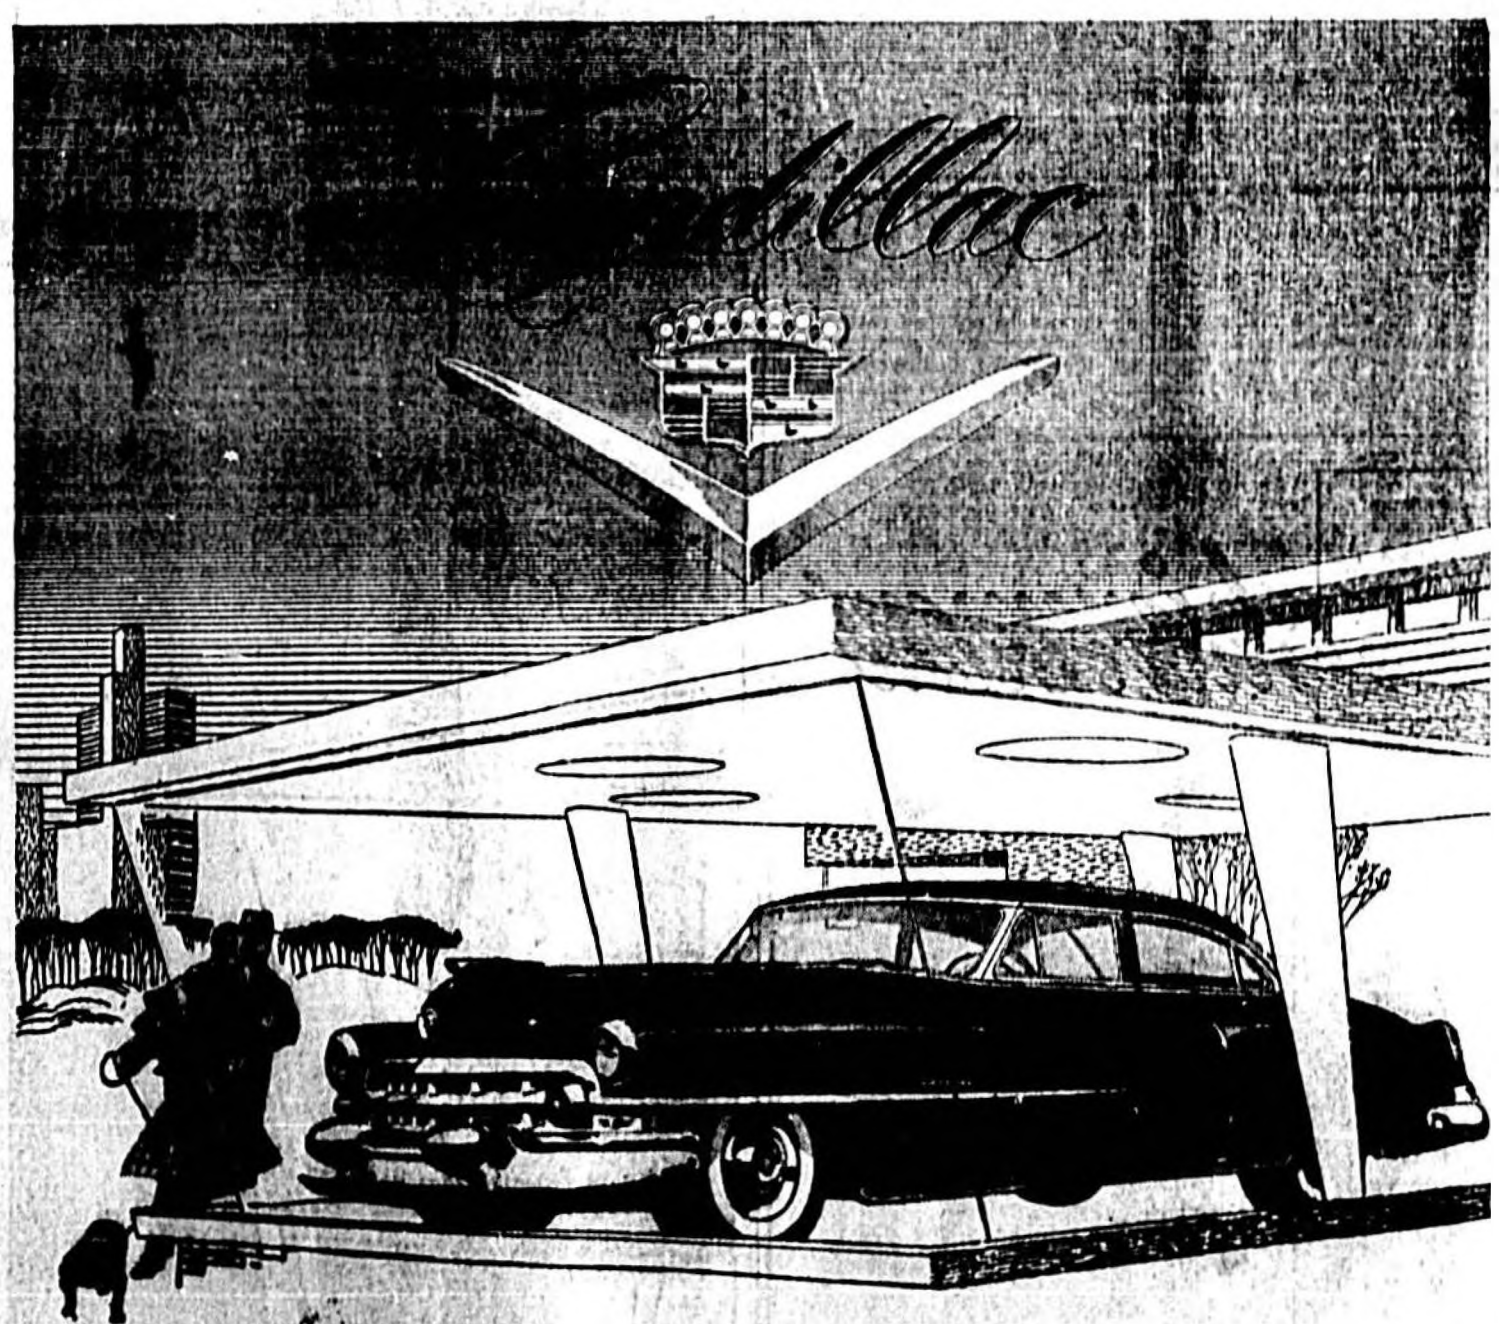

Actually the spending on the hard goods of war will continue to expand up to next summer at least. That will be offset, Turner says, by a downturn in spending on soft goods (like uniforms) already under way, and the leveling off of spending for housekeeping and maintenance of military installations and the armed forces.

In other words, industries like aircraft making, automotive, electronics, chemicals, and shipbuilding will continue to flourish on government money for months to come.

Come On In and Order One... Today!

There are many people in this community who want a Cadillac car so badly—and who are almost persuaded to order one——but who, for one reason or another, are just holding back and waiting.

To all these people we wish to say: "Come on in and order your Cadillac today!"

Every day you wait is simply postponing, still further, the wonderful time when you can enjoy the many delightful things a Cadillac will bring you.

There is, for instance, the deep feeling of pride which comes from owning a car which is universally acknowledged to be the Standard of the World...

... the great satisfaction that comes from driving a car so quiet you can "whisper and be heard"; so easy to handle that driving is no conscious effort at all; so comfortable and restful that a day at its wheel is the essence of relaxation...

... the comforting confidence that comes from knowing your car is so soundly-engineered and so beautifully built that you can keep it and enjoy it over almost any period you may care to designate...

... and, finally, the happy knowledge that you probably paid less for your Cadillac than hundreds of thousands of people who are driving other makes of cars—for there are numerous models produced by other manufacturers which actually cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac!

Isn't all this too much to miss for even one needless day?

Owners of Cadillacs will tell you it is—out of their own experience. Time and again, people who have just moved up to Cadillac have said to us—"Why did I wait so long to enjoy all this?"

That's why we urge you to come in today and start down the happy road to Cadillac ownership. You have already missed too much—too long!

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Youth choose their mates with small regard to their character and intelligence. If mates turn out to be wise and prudent the Lord deserves the credit.
A prudent wife is from the Lord.—Prov. 18:14.

We understand a "Sanford Eisenhower for President Club" is soon to be organized here.

We have every reason to believe that the hospital referendum will be put on the ballot in spite of considerable pressure to keep it off.

Governor Stevenson says, "I am a little tired of having to tell people
I am an honest man." Caesar's wife didn't have to tell people she was an honest woman.

We wish Trygve Lie would change his name or the UN would get another secretary general. Every time we see his name in headlines we think the politicians are having another argument.

Another straw that shows which way the wind is blowing was the defeat of Martin Luther King, Jr. in the election for mayor of Atlanta.
King was a member of the Federal Reserve Board, for the Republican senatorial nomination in Utah.

Defending General Eisenhower against the charge that "He is another Sherman marching through Georgia", John Temple Graves says he is more than that. All Sherman did was to burn Atlanta, but Ike set fire to Atlanta, Jacksonville, Miami, Tampa and Birmingham. And the grass roots of the great prairie!

In a poll recently conducted by the Publishers' Auxiliary, national newspaper publication, among 8-570 weekly newspapers and 1,406 small dailies all over the United States, 65 percent thought their communities favored General Eisenhower for president, about 24 percent favored Stevenson. Of the editors themselves 68 percent favored Eisenhower, 24 percent Stevenson.

The talkathon which Brailley Od-ham made famous in Florida suffered a blowout in Wisconsin where Senator McCarthy whipped five other candidates at one time with his nearest opponent, Len Schmitt, using the talkathon, getting less than half as many votes as Mc-Carthy. The talkathon is a political device which showed enormous possibilities as a novelty, but whose usefulness is apt to wear off with wear.

We generally think of Florida as the nation's playground, the No. 1 vacation state in the entire country.
But it is not. Know which state is?
New York. And California is second.
Something ought to be done about that. Florida ranks third with just about half as many vacationers as New York. Highway improvements, better housing accommodations, civic beautification, both rural and urban, would do a lot to help push Florida to the front.

There is at least one poll we have seen which favors Governor Stevenson. It was conducted among the newsmen accompanying General Eisenhower on his swing around the country, the ones who write the news stories you read about what he has to say and how he is received in the various towns and cities visited. Well, they voted 24 to 7 in favor of Governor Stevenson as their choice for president. So if you think the newspapers are produced against the Democratic nominee, it might be well to keep in mind that the men who wrote the stories are for him.

Is the federal government obligated to carry out its treaty obligations in dealing with a foreign nation, and with an individual state, to keep its word? Governor Talmage of Georgia thinks it is.

When Texas became a state, it had a treaty with the United States government that the state would control the land to the 101st mile mark. It did not. The government has control that treaty and government control of the federal control of the land to the 101st mile mark.

Colleges And Amateurs

An amateur, by strict definition of the word, is one who does something for the love of it rather than for professional reasons. In athletics amateur has come to mean a participant who does not receive money for his performances. On occasions athletes have been barred from certain events, and even stripped of medals they had already won, because they accepted payment for their services.

In Florida recently the University of Florida threatened to break off football relations with Miami University because the latter school changes some of its practices. The Gainesville officials maintain that Miami is paying football players $25 a month, $10 more than is allowed in the conference of which the University of Florida is a member. They also state that Miami is using a transfer student from another college, a practice frowned on in the conference.

Just why an athlete should receive any cash is not explained. Scholarships for boys with athletic ability are understandable. Allowing young men who can meet the academic requirements to attend colleges on scholarships ensures a pool of physical education teachers who can serve a real need.

Often college players do not receive pay directly for their participation in sports. Sometimes the money is paid for jobs the players do on campus. Those jobs may or may not be legitimate. Subsidizing athletics of course, is a general practice and is not confined to any region.

The college basketball scandals, the reports of wholesale bribing of young men to attend a particular school, are symptoms of something very wrong with the athletics programs at too many schools. Unless the schools do something about it themselves all that is good in college sports may be lost.

Sortie Into The South

The maneuver General Eisenhower has executed in the last two days was a reconnaissance in force. It not only gathered information in "enemy territory" but inflicted damage.

The reception accorded the general reflected more than the warmth of southern hospitality. It expressed also a real enthusiasm for "Ike" and a deep repugnance for the evils he was attacking. It was enough to encourage Republican strategists to make more effort "below the line," and to alert Democratic managers to the danger of taking the South for granted.

The planning of this sortie showed imagination and a realization that the South is today much more than the "land of cotton." New developments in agriculture and the wartime industrialization of many sections have brought fresh winds of political and social opinion to the region. It has become possibly both the most world-minded part of the country and the section most critical of the New Deal.

General Eisenhower, making the first trip of a Republican presidential candidate to the deep South, appealed to both feelings. But the main strength of his attack was on corruption. Here he struck out with vigor—both of biting phrase and persuasive statistics.

Here is an issue on which the Democrats are decidedly vulnerable. Choosing it for major emphasis on his sortie into the ancient stronghold of Democracy, the Republican candidate struck a shrewd blow. There are other issues on which he can also appeal to the South—namely states' rights—but Dixie Democrats have long been outraged by the big-city machines' capture of their party. And the best in the South has been slowly awakening to the fact that the elements that dominate the party machinery have corrupted government in more than one way. The Republicans have their own weak spots, but no such pattern of boss rule.

If General Eisenhower can keep hitting at this issue with the same effectiveness he will make a sharp impression not only on the South but on the whole country. Governor Stevenson, sincere as he is about cleaning up, could not speak with the same vigor and specific documentation. And as he is handicapped in speaking on corruption, would he Christian Science Monitor.

WHATEVER IT IS, IT BETTER BE GOOD

THE WORLD TODAY
By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (U)—James Thurber once suggested in a story that if Gen. Grant had been plastered when Gen. Lee called to surrender, Grant might have surrendered instead.

This was in the grand tradition of writers who try to imagine what might have happened, if things had been different. It's a fertile field which, however, can't be carried back to the very beginning.

If some one, for instance, tried a story called "If Adam Had Ignored Eve Altogether," the results would hardly have been worth writing about.

But when the history of our day is completed there will have been plenty of wondering on what might have happened if Secretary of State Acheson had been more aggressive in handling the critics of him and his foreign policy.

The Republicans, as Samuel Lubell says in his book, "The Future of American Politics," have been "howling" for Acheson's English mustache.

From time to time it is true Acheson and his aides have attempted answers to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and other Republicans but, compared with the vigor of the attacks, the answers have been mild, indeed.

Sometimes it has seemed as if Acheson, who has maintained almost a marble silence in his own personal defense, thought that if he paid no attention to McCarthy and the others might go away.

Instead of diminishing the attacks on the State Department, on Acheson's foreign policy and on Acheson himself have increased until now they are one of the main issues in the campaign.

When Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower led off on that foreign policy conference, in answer to a question, that he might consider making a reply in a speech to be given this week.

That same day one of his assistants explained the secretary wanted to be very careful not to get involved in politics. But the fact is, the Republicans have been involving him in politics for years with their attacks.

On the human side, he must be increasingly lonely. If his name was mentioned once at the Democratic convention in way of praise, I don't remember it. And the Democrats in this campaign spend little time defending him, at least by name.

In view of the nature and intensity of the attacks on him, the historians of the future will certainly wonder why he has been reluctant to get down to a rough-and-tumble with his critics.

It is possible, although perhaps not likely, that if he had been more vigorous in defense of himself and his policies neither he nor they would be a campaign issue today.

Those same historians of the future, and maybe psychologists, too, will have a question which may never be answered:
What would have been the national attitude toward, and the effectiveness of, Acheson, his foreign policy and the State Department if he had pursued his critics with bareknuckles instead of ruffing them with polished restraint.

His critics, some of whom are not themselves distinguished for restraint, will always maintain, no doubt.

At PENNEY'S the other day I saw some good looking corduroy shirts for boys, between the ages of two and eighteen. Bright red, green, blue and maroons that will be warm and comfortable during the coming months, and made of a washable material that will be easy to take care of, selling for $2.98. This shirt would also be nice worn in a jacket by the small fry girls.

They were just unpacking a shipment of young girls jockey sets at Penney's which were nice. The full color were beautiful, and also included 7 pairs of high-heel slippers, with prices starting at $7.50. See them tomorrow at Penney's on East First Street.

Paradise Kittens will be your wardrobe for shoes after you see them at IVEY'S on First Street. One in particular is a red calf trimmed with black calf, using the midway heel, and a smart tie on the top, $12.95.

Mr. Ivey described them as the lightest shoe you ever walked on, because of the soft kitten insole, and the powder puff toe. Besides the red and white, they can be used in black suede and tan calf trim which is equally attractive. They will be glad to show them to you, and tell you about them at IVEY'S.

For those of you looking for something unusual to give for Christmas, KADEB'S received several pieces of simply styled glass condiment sets, in round bases, and a shrimp set in iron with pockets on the sides to hold tooth picks of individual shrimp appetizers.

Hints to Housewives

By ALICE L. CROMWELL

Frozen Puree

This is an excellent way to use guava pulp. Press through a strainer of food mill to remove seeds. Squeeze in taste, usually 3 cups pulp to 1 of sugar, unless you are using very sweet guavas, then reduce sugar to 2 1/2 cup to 3 cups pulp. Lime juice added makes an interesting flavor. Pack in sterilized containers, leaving 1/2 inch head space, label and freeze at zero Fahrenheit. This frozen puree can do anything and anywhere the canned puree does—and you'll enjoy it too.

Guava Juice

You'll surely want to put some juice up from this season's crop. It is grand in punch and it does well in Velva Fruit Juice. Wash and slice about 1 dozen guavas into a large container. Add 2 1/2 cups of water and boil 20 minutes. Strain through a jelly bag or flannel. To can, reheat to boiling and pour at once into sterilized jars. Seal and process in a simmering water bath for 5 minutes. The addition of one heaping teaspoon of lemon juice is recommended if you are to use for jelly making. AFL Conclave Hears Attacks On Labor Law

Green Is Bitter And Dewey Wonders If Parley Isn't "Democratic Clambake"

NEW YORK (AP)—The AFL's 114th convention — apparently preparing for a Democratic presidential endorsement — heard a bitter opening attack today on the Taft-Hartley Law.

The tenor of the opening speeches led Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to wonder in his welcoming address if the convention isn't "a Democratic clambake."

AFL President William Green referred to the Republican-sponsored 1947 labor law as the "obnoxious, dirty Taft-Hartley Law."

He told the convention: "We will concentrate and mobilize every ounce of strength—our economic strength as well as our political strength—to bring about the repeal of this un-American act at the earliest possible date."

The convention is expected to endorse Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson for President and one of the very first speakers, Martin T. Lacey, said he had no time for fixing course.

Lacey, president of the AFL Central Trades and Labor Council, said he didn't see how any trade unionist could support the party behind the Taft-Hartley Law.

Dewey, a chief backer of Republican candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower drew a laugh when he told the convention: "Mr. Lacey suspects this is a Democratic clambake."

Decision on a presidential choice is expected to be made a week from tomorrow after the convention has heard addresses by Stevenson and his Republican opponent, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. The general will talk Wednesday, and Stevenson next Monday.

The 132 convention delegates represent some eight million AFL members.

The AFL's Executive Council filed a report last night in which it decried the Taft-Hartley Act as a "dismal failure" and called the wage-price control program unfair to labor.

Green stressed in his address that if the delegates decide on a presidential choice it will be largely — if not entirely — based on the laws which changed the party platforms regarding the Taft-Hartley Act.

Stevenson and the Democratic platform advocates of the Taft-Hartley Act, a new labor relations act, E. J. Connelley, are against repeal, but has recommended revisions to improve the law without changing its "basic principles."

"This is bound to have an effect on the delegates," Green said. He added that Eisenhower has to say "yes" to the AFL convention formally endorses either candidate.

"If the AFL in 1952 backed the late Sen. Robert F. Taft, the Progressive candidate, but the action was taken by a special committee — not by a convention as a whole."

The AFL's committee to oust racketeers from the ranks of unions began an investigation yesterday.

Accidentally Killed His Son

MYSTERICAL WITH GRIEF are members of the family of four-year-old Frank Mitchell Jr., as they attend the Chicago inquest into the death of the child who was accidentally shot and killed by his father, Frank Mitchell Sr. (left). On such are Mitchell's wife, Rose Ann, and his mother-in-law. The father said he had put a tin can on the back steps of his home and was using it as target to test his 22 caliber rifle. Tito Asked To Share Part In Joint Defense

Proposition Is Laid Before Dictator By U. S. Admiral On Carrier Coral Sea

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—The United States has asked Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia for greater cooperation in the joint defense of Southeastern Europe, including the use by American forces of bases in this country.

From a responsible source, it was learned that Vice Adm. J. H. Cassady, commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean-based Sixth Fleet, laid the proposition before Tito last week aboard the giant aircraft carrier Coral Sea during his visit to Split.

It was presented in the course of a special briefing before the Coral Sea's sailors and aviators put on a demonstration of American sea and air power. Tito was shown charts outlining how and where the Adriatic, could strike in Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria if Yugoslavia was attacked by the Soviet satellites.

Cassady was quoted as paying a glowing tribute to Yugoslavia's resistance against Russian pressure since its break with the Soviet Communism in 1948. He expressed American gratification at this country's recent measures to increase its defensive cooperation with Greece and Turkey.

But he said the United States would like even greater direct cooperation with Yugoslavia — cooperation already marked by an increasing shipment of American arms to equip Tito's tough, well-trained forces.

Poker faced, Tito remained non-committal. This came as no surprise. The briefing was in English and progress during the past two years that he declined a translation. There were English speaking aides with him who could give any details he might have missed.

But it was unlikely, in any event, that he would make an on-the-spot decision. Probably, the Church of Belgrade, told the Rotary Club today, Australia is 1000 miles long from north to south and 300 miles wide, comprising about 3,000,000 square miles, or about the size of North America without the Great Lakes.

Its population, however, is only 2 people per square mile, he added, and 80,000 of them are native aborigines who are scarcely civilized.

Pointing out that people are always inclined to think that any one different from themselves is queer, the Rev. Haas admitted that when he first came to this country he thought America was "the queerest thing he had ever seen."

Illustrating his talk with numerous pictures, the Rev. Haas, who was introduced by Charles J. Burns, a former plumber turned preacher, now some 10,000 miles from home, said that Australia is a land of enormous trees some of which are 300 feet high, of gum mountains as well as plains, of beautiful beaches and warm climates, of engineering and big industries, of sheep raising and fine universities.

He said that sheep ranches provide the main industry of Australia and there are more than 120,000,000 sheep on the continent. There are also more than 600 species of birds, and 82 species of snakes. One of the oddest of animals is the kangaroo which is the inventor of the first "rattle seat," the Rev. Haas said, a sort of pouch in which the kangaroo carries its young.

Visitors at today's luncheon included Earl Freeman of Ocala, W. L. Thorpe of Orlando, J. C. Bradley and Leroy Lawson of Deland. President Bob Harris presided.

Eisenhower Sees "Nothing Funny" In Campaign Issues

Adlai Says Taft Has Taken Over Ike's Campaign

By JACK BELL. ABOUT EISENHOWER SPECIAL AD Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told a mildly responsive crowd at Ft. Wayne, Ind., today that "I see nothing funny" about the issues of the presidential campaign.

Opening a Friday, 12-state drive, the Republican presidential nominee said:

"I am in the business of running for office because I believe America is in peril. There is nothing funny in that."

Stevenson told a news conference, which covered a wide range of subjects.

"This puts an entirely new aspect on the campaign and the election. Hitherto I have had to address myself to the rival policies of both Republican parties because it was not certain whether Taft or the general would end up in the command post. It now appears pretty clear that Sen. Taft has taken over."

Stevenson said he believed many people would be "genuinely alarmed" by the turn he said the Republican have taken since the Friday conference between Taft and Eisenhower.

"These views will prevail," he asked, "because, clearly, they can be traced to Sen. Taft, who has not abandoned his views. Has the general abandoned his?"

Replying to questions, Stevenson also said:

"He believes 'substantial reductions' in the federal budget and taxes can be expected by fiscal 1955 depending upon the progress of the rearmament program and the international situation."

He has exchanged several letters and had telephone conversations with President Truman since he began campaigning. "The letters were mostly very kind, expressing satisfaction and approval with my campaign to date."

"I certainly approve of anything the President does in support of his campaign."

He does not believe he will propose the appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican.

He does not consider all the Democratic candidates for election this year. "I will endorse individual candidates."

He does not know the point of disagreement between himself and Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia. Stevenson expressed the utmost regard for Sen. Byrd as a public servant and his anxiety to reduce the cost of government. "I respect his integrity. I would be the first to assert his right to disagree where he chooses."

City Experiments With Repaving Of Part Of First St.

If Successful, Other Portions Of Paving Slated For Repair

Repaving of a section of East First Street in front of the Army Post was started Friday by the City in an effort to determine the probable cost of repaving not only the now badly cracked road between Sanborn Avenue and Hollenbeck Avenue but Seminoles Boulevard east of Park Avenue as well. City Manager Tom Lemon announced today.

Green stressed in his address that if the delegates decide on a presidential choice it will be largely — if not entirely — based on the laws which changed the party platforms regarding the Taft-Hartley Act.

Rev. Bass Speaks To Rotary Club About Australia

Sheep Raising Main Industry Of Country Big As U. S.

Australia is a land of many industries and strange plants and animals, the Rev. Herbert J. Haas, pastor of the First Christian Church of Belgrade, told the Rotary Club today. Australia is 1000 miles long from north to south and 300 miles wide, comprising about 3,000,000 square miles, or about the size of North America without the Great Lakes.

Its population, however, is only 2 people per square mile, he added, and 80,000 of them are native aborigines who are scarcely civilized.

Reporters Find Hunt For Truth Difficult Task

Group On TV Program Sees Less Freedom Of Information Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Because people and governments want to show only their good side, says a panel of topflight newsmen, the reporter's search for truth is harder than ever.

The half dozen experts, on the NBC television program "American Investigator" broadcast Sunday from the National Press Club, considered the question of whether greater or less freedom of information now than in years past.

"It was generally agreed that there was less freedom of information now than in years past," Kenneth L. Dixon, editor of the Lake Charles (La.) American, said. "Each must get away from the idea that whatever is said about him must be kept quiet and what is good must be made public. Carry that to the ultimate and you will have a very serious problem."

Robert Wiggins, managing editor of the Washington Post, said: "I think citizens have greater difficulty in getting access to reliable information, particularly about the federal government, than ever before."

Wiggins recommended this solution: "Wider recognition that all freedoms depend finally upon freedom of information."

George Sandifer, who covers Washington for the United States Chamber of Commerce, found more information available but added: "The question is how factual it is — we are in an era of public men and salesmen."

Clark Mollenhoff, Washington correspondent for the Cowles Publications, saw "too much suppression of news." He attributed this largely to "big government and the fact that you can't get to the sources."

Carroll Hinder, editor of the Minneapolis Tribune, said: "The volume of information available on world affairs is immeasurably less—the loss is very real to the people who must make the decisions on American policy by their votes."

Col. Edward Kirby, former reporter now in charge of radio and television activities for the Army, said that, as far as the Army is concerned, there is "more access to factual information today than ever before."

Dr. Rucker Finds Dentist Approval Of Fluoridation

Members of the American Dental Association at their recent meeting in St. Louis approved the fluoridation of drinking water.

Members of the American Dental Association at their recent meeting in St. Louis approved the fluoridation of drinking water. Dr. Rucker, who presided over the meeting, said that the fluoridation of drinking water is a "simple, safe, and effective method yet developed to control tooth decay."

Dr. Rucker, local dentist, declared today following his return from the convention.

He pointed out that in an address to the dentists Dr. LeRoy M. Kniss of Philadelphia, president of the Dental Association, predicted that more than 50,000,000 persons in 500 communities of the United States will be drinking fluoridated water by the end of this year.

Fluoridation of community water supplies was unanimously approved and recommended by the association's House of Delegates two years ago. Dr. Kniss said, "as the most effective public health measure yet developed for the prevention and control of dental caries (cavities) among children."

Dr. and Mrs. Rucker were accompanied on the trip by their son Wayne Rucker Jr., a graduate of Seminole High School, who has returned to the University of Maryland, Baltimore, to continue study to become a dentist.

The Ruckers, who left here on Aug. 22, stopped at Seminoles University, Atlanta, Ga., to visit their daughter, Barbara. At Lake Lanoka, N. C., father and son visited the Southern States Amateur Golf Club. The Ruckers are members of the Institute of Church Music for one week. Dr. and Mrs. Rucker then went on to St. Louis, and Wayne Jr. to Baltimore.

Motorists Warned To Protect Children

"These bells are a warning to motorists, and teacher parents, and teacher parents in solving the common problem of saving young lives."

The Patrol Director concluded by saying that the return to school of thousands of students creates heavy concentration of children along our streets and highways with a resulting high accident exposure for them, and we should be ever alert for their welfare. Remember, it's their street too."
