

Actress Collapses After Performing Against Orders

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Actress Judy Garland, on a successful comeback trail, collapsed backstage at the Palace Theater last night after disregarding her doctor's orders not to perform.

The show must go on, the 33-year-old singer insisted, according to her physician, Dr. Udall J. Salomon.

She opened at the theater last Oct. 16. The critics raved, and the crowds flocked to the box-office.

In June, 1950, after her film studio suspended her for missing a rehearsal, she scratched at her throat with the shattered edge of a water glass.

All that was in the past. The Palace was the present, and she worked at a high clip. Dr. Salomon said exhaustion was "inevitable" and added that he had been treating her for several emotional reactions.

Yesterday the doctor sent an assistant to remain with her during the afternoon when she refused to rest. Dr. Salomon said he had her examined before the evening show by a heart specialist.

The specialist's report was negative, the doctor added.

Miss Garland appeared on the stage after a short delay. It was announced to the audience that there "was nothing to worry about." The orchestra played during the intermission.

Finally she walked on, sang a couple of numbers, asked for some water, and then left the stage. Some members of the audience said she appeared ill from the start.

Good Growth Shown By Church Of God

The Church of God located on French Avenue and Twenty-second Street has had a 20 per cent increase in membership, and a 60 per cent increase in tithes in the past year, according to an announcement today by the Rev. H. E. Newell pastor of the Church.

The church was organized in 1933 with the Rev. J. T. Roberts as pastor. At that time a frame building was constructed at Fifth Street and Holly Avenue by the members and was used for the church until 1949 when the building was sold in preparation for the construction of the present structure which will be completed at about $25,000 when completed.

The department denied it had ever received any substantiated information that Hilfer was spying for the U. The department said it had received no information that Hilfer stole "vital American secrets," as the senators had asserted.

McCarren, in the interview, strongly defended the work of the Internal Security Subcommittee he heads. It has centered largely on the institute of Pacific Relations (IPR) in a hunt for subversive influences on U. S. policy toward the Far East.

The senator said that on the China problem "everywhere you run across books, pamphlets and articles which reflect the Communist viewpoint in greater or lesser degree." He called this a "tremendous accomplishment" for the Communists and said "it is in my view a substantial share of credit for that accomplishment."

College Coaches Keeping Fearful Fingers Crossed

By ED CORRIGAN NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Coaches and athletic directors of the country's top football teams—a cautious lot—were walking around their campuses with fingers crossed today, afraid even to think of the games coming up.

Every time they begin to think of the coming bowl games and perhaps start figuring what's going in the cash box, they shudder and think back to what happened to Southern California.

The big, powerful Trojans were the shoo-ins of the Pacific Coast Conference, especially after they bounced undefeated California, the pre-season favorite, several weeks ago. The coast title and the gold and glory of the Rose Bowl were theirs.

But Stanford, completely overlooked before the start of hostilities, crashed the Trojan hopes Saturday with a 27-20 victory.

Now they're saying the Trojans can't miss. But even they're probably can beat Oregon State without much trouble this week, but the following week they go against California, which still is not rated a likely contender.

Same thing in the Big Ten. Illinois, another school overlooked in the pre-season dope—beats a 4-0 mark after trouncing Iowa, 40-13, Saturday. But Michigan and Wisconsin each still have 3-1 marks, and all three still have two conference games to play.

Illinois tangles with Ohio State and Northwestern, Michigan meets the same pair while Wisconsin goes against Iowa and Minnesota.

If defending champion Michigan wins, the Wolverines won't go to the Rose Bowl game, since a Big Ten rule prohibits the same school from playing there two years in a row.

It would seem that Wisconsin has the easiest task. The Badgers slipped Penn, 10-7, but Michigan dropped before Cornell, 20-7, Saturday, in a couple of Big Ten-Ivy League games.

Tennessee probably is the only team that can take Illinois underdog. With the exception of Georgia Tech, which already has won a national title, the Vol. masters of the Southeastern Conference had a 60-14 limbering up exercise at the expense of Washington State and need worry only about Kentucky.

Bobby Dodd Goes Fishing As Bowl Committee Waits

ATLANTA, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Head Coach Bobby Dodd, although a post season invitation, should be too old a hand at playing in the bowl league of college football to get excited about another invitation.

But the Yellow Jackets are excited just the same. And so is Head Coach Bobby Dodd although you never would have guessed it last week.

Bobby Dodd became the first coach in history to keep a bowl invitation and a bowl selection committee waiting while he went fishing with his wife and kids.

"You know," happy-go-lucky Dodd explains, "I get credit for doing some strange things. But, honest, I'm not crazy enough to flash through on Orange Bowl invitation. I was fishing, yes, but it was not a fishing trip."

Here's what happened, according to Dodd's account. Before the Orange Bowl game of Nov. 3 the Orange Bowl said it Tech defeated Duke by a committee vote, coming in Atlanta Nov. 5 to talk business.

Instead of defeating Duke by a predicted couple of touchdowns, Tech took a 14-14 tie. In Bobby Dodd's book a tie is not a victory over Duke. So the Tech squad was given Monday off and the Dodd family went fishing.

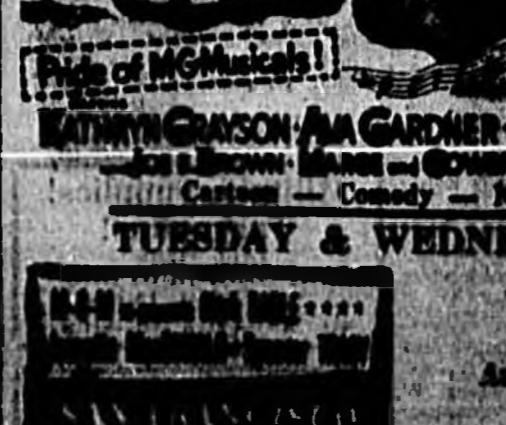

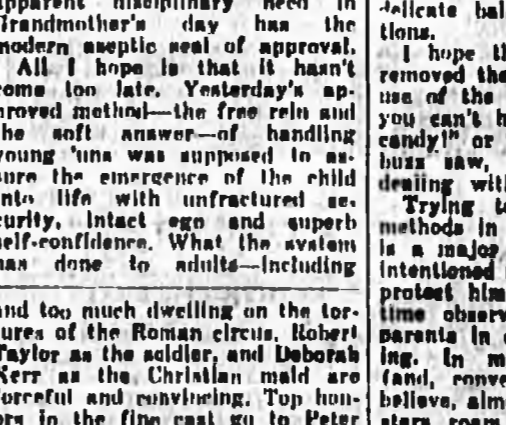

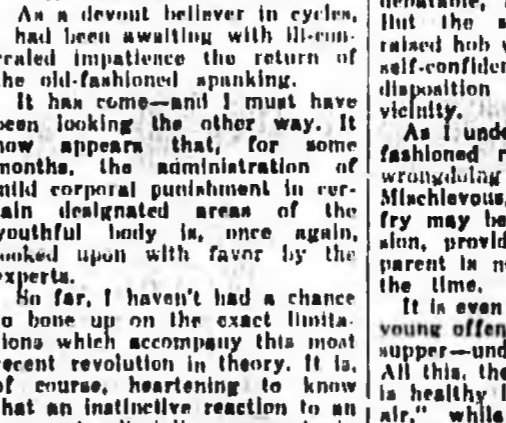

Van Kuyrow and Bill Ward, members of the Orange Bowl Committee, tried to reach Dodd but he couldn't be found. And Atlanta a committee vote came until after our Alabama game this coming Saturday.

As the affair unfolded however, Tech was far from being on probation. After whipping Virginia Military Institute Saturday, 34-7, the Orange Bowl announced Tech's selection and accepted an opponent has not been named.

The Rambling Wrecks were the first team in the nation to play in all four of the major bowls—Sugar, Rose, Orange and Orange—before Tech's selection. Under consideration as a possible opponent for the Engineers from Oklahoma, San Jose, Holy Cross, Villanova, Texas Tech, Christian, Baylor and Texas A. M.

Stuart W. Patton, president of the Orange Bowl Committee, said the committee did not expect to pick Tech's opponent in the "big game" for another week or two.

Cheating Admitted By Cornell Students

IITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 13—(AP)—Nearly half of 322 Cornell students who responded to a student council questionnaire admitted cribbing in classes or examinations.

The questionnaire was sent to 500 students at random recently. Of the 322 students who returned the questionnaire, about 10 percent admitted cheating "frequently or occasionally," the council said. An additional 37 percent admitted cheating "once or twice."

For purposes of the questionnaire, cheating was defined to include "cribbing, copying, giving and receiving aid such as signals and notes, and discussing and using information about an examination which had been obtained illegally."

The council said that although 47 percent of the students who replied admitted cheating, two-thirds of them disapproved of it.

Cornell has an enrollment of 10,000.

Thursday marks Egypt's cancellation of a month ago of treaties permitting the British garrisons. The British have refused to recognize the Egyptian action and have clamped a tight military control on the Canal Zone.

Success In Heckler Quelching Needed In Modern Show Business

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK.—(AP)—To get ahead in show business today you have to develop the art of squelching hecklers gracefully. For hecklers hang out in the swank night clubs as well as the rafters of Madison Square Garden. They fall into two broad types—people who try to get into the act deliberately, and those who unconsciously slow up the show. CHARACTER BUILDING

Just as football builds character in the boys who play, teaching them team work and how to get along as a group, so joining our organization as a carrier salesman teaches a boy how to get along with his customers, instills self-assurance and self-reliance and provides a business training that will prove invaluable in later years.

From the very start, our newspaper merchants are guided along sound business lines. Prompt deliveries and equally prompt collections, courtesy, fair dealing and constant efforts to please are the basis of the training they receive.

You, as their customers, can be of great assistance in helping us get them off to a good start. Pay the boy promptly. Don't present him with a $50.00 bill to change. Couch any criticism you may have in a gentlemanly fashion and set an example by your demeanor which will help build character in our future leaders.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Hard trials refine us if we have faith and courage to see it through.
Fire consumes rubbish but refines gold. He knoweth the way that I take, when he has tried me, I shall come forth as gold.
—Jb. 23:10.

Congratulations to the Seminole High School football on its well deserved victory over New Smyrna.

"In the publicity field," writes Allen Morris from Tallahassee.
"there is no doubt that former State Rep. J. Braley Odham of Sanford is a long way ahead so far. Odham had the good sense to retain James P. Etheridge, Jr. as his $150 a week 'campaign clerk'." Jim Etheridge is one of the most popular publicity men in Florida.

Elliott Roosevelt, who made a name for himself by marrying Faye Emerson, announces that he is going into the television broadcasting business in Georgia and Florida with Ed Rivers, Jr. of Atlanta. Following a survey of Savannah, Atlanta and Valdosta, he is expected to visit a number of Florida cities.

In Chicago, Ill. sometimes known as "The Windy City", an 11 year old girl recently gave birth to a "perfectly normal healthy baby", and has returned to school where she is in the sixth grade. By the time the mother has graduated from high school, her daughter will be entering primary school.

Juan D. Peron, who rules Argentina with an iron hand such as few other dictators would dare to employ, was re-elected by a tremendous majority in Argentina's recent election. He is no Communist, but what is called a Rightist, or a Fascist, or a Nazi, depending upon who is doing the name calling. And the funny thing about it is that he draws his principal support from the Labor organizations.

One indication of how much the American dollar has been diluted in the last 20 years is shown by the startling fact that American incomes now aggregate 250 billion dollars. That is a lot of money, but you can't eat money, nor wear it. In 1929, which was a pretty good year, too, as far as most Americans are concerned, the aggregate income was 70 billion dollars. Nobody wants to go back to those days, but we would like to be able to buy as much with a dollar as we could then.

Senator Spessard Holland will be the guest speaker next Thursday at the regular luncheon of the Sanford Junior Chamber of Commerce which last Thursday was held to Rep. Syd Herlong.
Senator Holland, who must run for re-election next year and who thus far is without opposition, was elected senator in 1946 after a four year term as governor during the war. Prior to that he had been a state senator for two terms from Polk county and had also served as county judge. He has a long and unblemished record of public service and is one whom all aspiring to public life would do well to emulate.

Anthony Eden sweet talks the Russians, trying to get them to see the light of day and be more reasonable in their dealings with foreign nations, and Prime Minister Churchill offers to go to Moscow to see Joe Stalin personally if that will do any good toward securing peace. It is a nice gesture. But nothing will come of it. The Russians do not want peace. They may not want war either, but they certainly do not want peace. They are the masters of the West because they have the atom bomb, and they know it. They are the masters of the East
because they have the atom bomb, and they know it.

Congressional Travel

Should Congressmen take trips at government expense?
Many kinds of journeys are made by legislators under the plea of getting first-hand data on situations requiring legislation. These trips are accepted by some taxpayers as desirable, while others give them the unfriendly term of "junkets."

One such trip became a political issue in southern New York State. A pending measure of congressional redistricting would throw two present representatives into the same district, so that one would lose his job. They have been reacting much like two cats tossed into the same basket.
Congressman W. Sterling Cole went to Europe on what he described as a confidential mission for the House Armed Services Committee. Congressman Edwin A. Hall called Cole's trip "unjustified junketing."

The Cole reply was forceful: "It is far better for a congressman to get out and see for himself than to sit on a rocker on his front porch, mailing out farm bulletins and thinking of nothing but how to get re-elected."

Taxpayers would have to know the details of any particular trip to judge its value. Sometimes such excursions are pure waste of public funds. In other instances they pay the taxpayer back many times by broadening a representative's vision and giving him knowledge and experience which he can pass on to his colleagues. No Congressional journey can be either condemned or approved on the basis of generalities.

Advantages Of Peace

The weight of expenditures for armaments grows burdensome in all the countries of the world. People are hungry, the ignorant cry to be educated, the miserable of many lands seek shelter and medicine for their diseases. Yet as long as the threat of war exists money which could be used to alleviate human suffering must be spent instead to build military might.

With this in mind the United States, Great Britain and France have proposed that all armaments be limited and that good faith in the limitations be assured by a thorough and complete system of inspections and inventories under United Nations supervision.

If the proposal should eventually succeed an era of world progress and peace could ensue such as has never been known. The laboratories which now develop weapons of destruction could turn their attention to the problems of building a better world. The money and energy used to make guns and tanks and planes could be spent to build schools and hospitals and improve homes.

It may be that Russia will still refuse to raise the Iron Curtain and the proposal will fail for the present. But at least the Big Three nations have stated their position clearly. The world will watch the answers of Russia to President Truman's statement on the proposal, in which he called on Russia to join in "the only kind of war we seek—the war against want and human misery."

Mahjong And Government

Americans who remember when the Chinese game of mahjong swept the country may be a bit surprised to learn that the game is now the object of editorial attack by a Japanese newspaper. It charges that Japanese government employees have become so enthralled by the game that they remain absent from work to play it or play it at work on the taxpayers' time.

The most severe critics of government workers in this country have never leveled charges of mahjong playing against them. But there are probably some citizens who, after wading through many pages of gobbledegook to learn how much they can legally charge for a stalk of celery, might be glad for some such diversion in federal offices.
Perhaps the people who write official documents might then be in such a hurry to get back to the mahjong games that they would state a matter quickly and simply, so that we might read the documents might also have time for mahjong.

THE WORLD TODAY
By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—(AP)—
The shilling, which blew across the Atlantic this past week was the news the British are in a financial jam again and expect to ask us for more help.

Shattered by the war, they were in bad shape when the shooting stopped. The U.S. gave them a loan of $3,750,000,000. That was in 1946.

And, starting in 1948, the U.S. added about $3,000,000,000 in help through the Marshall Plan. With this help the British began to get on their feet.

By the beginning of 1951 they were in the black and so confident of clear sailing that they said they didn't need any more Marshall Plan aid. But by the fall of 1951 they were in trouble again.

In this country those who disliked the British Socialist government probably blamed it for the downturn in Britain's fortunes, thinking that if only Winston Churchill were running the show he would by some special magic lift his country into prosperity again.

Churchill is in power now and almost his first act was to tell the British people, who have been been on rationing since the war, that living would have to become even more austere.

His government announced a cut in imports which will mean less food and other things for his people. The reason: to cut down on spending. More than 60 per cent of Britain's food has to be imported.

And it will be Churchill, or some of his men, who'll have to ask this country for help once more, probably when he comes to this country in January with his staff to visit President Truman.

But it was neither the Socialists nor Churchill who put Britain into the red again. It was the tide of events, starting with the Korean war in mid-1950 when Britain was just regaining its feet.

With the start of the Korean war this country and its allies, including Britain, began to re-arm.
Britain plans to spend $15,000, 000,000 on her rearmament program in three years.

This dislocated the British economy. It put the British in the position of spending more than they earn. In short, they are living beyond their means now.

This is a brief explanation of why:
The British are not producers.
They have to import raw materials, including food, which are then put through the British factories.

The finished products are then sold abroad to make money for the British. With the money they can buy more, make more, sell more. That was the way it was going until rearmament started.

Now big chunks of the raw materials brought in are put through the factories and come out as weapons which don't have a resale value.

The chilling part about the news is this: It raises the question of when will all this stop; when will we and our allies reach a point when they won't have to come to us for help? And how long can we keep on giving such help, raising our taxes, without going broke?
It would be a wise man who could answer that one. We have to arm to keep the Communists from overrunning us, us and our allies.
By the same token, we can't let our allies get into an economic collapse, through their armament program, because of the danger the Communists might take over

BASIS FOR TOP LEVEL DISCUSSIONS

Too Late To Classify
By RUSSELL KAY

When it comes to publicizing Florida, a character named "Flippy" has been doing a job that ought well make a lot of Chamber-of-Commerce and even the State Advertising Commission, turn green with envy.

Top movie stars, Princess Elizabeth or the Stalls, would have to hustle to keep up with "Flippy" when it comes to getting their names and pictures in the paper, on the radio, in the movie shorts or on television.

Although a national celebrity,
"Flippy" doesn't even know or care.
He has a scrapbook filled with thousands of clippings of stories and pictures that have appeared in the newspapers, of the nation and the world.

In a single month his picture appeared in over 3,800 newspapers, with a combined circulation of over 40,000,000. Another 50,000, 000 people "Flippy" on the screen at their favorite motion picture theatre. He wasn't invited to participate in the National "Movie-time" program but he has had more publicity than most of the stars now touring the country.

"Flippy" has done a tremendous job for Florida but he has never been invited to speak to a Chamber of Commerce, appear at a benefit or even take a bow.

You see, "Flippy" is a porpoise.
Captured off the coast of Florida a few months ago "Flippy", along with a number of other run-of-the-mill porpoises, was brought to Marine Studios at Marineland.
Animal trainer Adolf Frohn watched "Flippy" and his porpoise pals frisk about in the big Marine Studio tanks. He noted that "Flippy" seemed to be a jump or two ahead of his buddies when it came to going into the air for fish or racing for food across the pool.

No one had ever been successful in training a porpoise but Frohn wanted to try and he selected "Flippy" for his experiment.
Removing "Flippy" to the lagoon Frohn began a course of training.
The porpoise was taught to perform a lot of tricks. He learned to play ball, jump through a hoop, turn somersaults, and finally permitted himself to be harnessed to a water-sled which he would tow about the lagoon as though he had been doing it all his life.

The next step was to place a dog on the sled and let "Flippy" take him for a thrilling ride.
"Flippy" got a big kick out of it and the dog, his ears up and tail awag, seems to get an equal thrill out of it.

In no time at all "Flippy" and the pup became the best of friends. The porpoise would frisk about when the dog was being placed on the sled, jumping out of the water now and then to nuz-zle the pup.

When the trainer would point to a helen who stood at the other side of the pool with a mullet, flitted to the sled, "Flippy" would make a bee line for the fish.
The dog, clinging to the sled, would bark with joy as he was being carried through the water at breakneck speed.

Later a gorgeous bathing girl replaced the dog on the watersled, but this didn't worry "Flippy"; dogs, bathing girls or what have you made no difference to him. When his trainer held a plump fish aloft, that was the only signal he needed and he was on his way dragging the water-sled behind him.

Then he learned to jump through hoops suspended above the water.
No matter what the trainer told him to do, "Flippy" would understand and performed like a veteran.

Publicity Director John Dillon of Marine Studios didn't have to seek publicity for "Flippy." All the big picture services, the news reels, television camera men and movie people were at Marineland

Program Enjoyed By Baptist Circle

The program, "Revolt in Asia" was presented by Miss Dorothy Holloway at the meeting of the Elsie Knight Circle of the First Baptist Church which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Dixon on West Nineteenth Street last night.
Miss Holloway was introduced by Marion Harman, who gave a brief outline of the problems facing the East. She said that it is up to the people of the free world to use their influence to combat Communism and to turn their present loyalty toward freedom.
Miss Holloway stated that although Asia is the "mother country of the world" there are hundreds of acres of Asiatic soil still unexplored and many valuable minerals still undiscovered in this vast land.
The revolt of Asia, she explained, is for a better understanding of their problems; against poverty and drought and against the 100 years of humiliation and exploitation suffered by their people and the racial superiority practiced by these exploiters.
She stressed the urgency for missionaries and more missions to be established and a greater understanding of the problems facing Asia, for "It is our ignorance of their ways of life and beliefs that deprives us of the privilege of winning them to Christianity."
Mrs. J. T. Denton, program chairman, introduced the speakers and Mrs. N. C. Slawter, circle chairman, presided over the business session. The group accepted an invitation to attend a Spanish Supper at the church on Nov. 29 when the book, "Ina Gold" will be taught by Mrs. F. E. Gatebel.
Mrs. A. J. Peterson, president of the W.M.H. announced that the state president, Mr. Roy Lassiter of Clermont, will teach the book, "Pilgrimage to Spanish America," during the afternoon meeting of the W.M.H. She invited the members to attend the showing of the movie, "Advance in South Brazil" which will follow the study course at 7:30 P.M.
The devotional hour consisted of the song, "Because," favorite of brides for their weddings, was given by Mrs. M. T. Haynes. Mrs. G. C. Dixon asked members to save all their concerns and turn them in during December as they would be counted double for securing many useful items for the Children's Home in Arendell.

Among some peoples, like the Nabuthri Brahmins of Malabar, the canal, built in 1797, connecting Lakes Superior and Huron had a 9-foot lock, only large enough for canoes.

The "gray" penny, containing a minimum of tin, was minted in 1943 and proved so unpopular it was retired after that year.

Nine Filipinos Are Killed In Flaring Election Violence

MANILA, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Nine Filipinos were killed in flaring election violence today. A total of 104 have been killed since mid-September when campaigning started for the election of nine senators, all provincial governors and municipal officials.

More than 66,000 army regulars and reserves joined police in guarding against attempts by Communist-led Huk rebels to keep voters from the polls. Clashes between troops and Huk broke out in widely scattered spots on Luzon, main island of the Philippines.

Rivalry between candidates and political factions contributed to the gunplay.

Heavy balloting was reported in Manila, which is electing its mayor for the first time. Heretofore Manila's mayor has been appointed.

Few reports were received from other islands. Only scattered returns were expected before midnight (11 A. M. EST).

Dr. Jose P. Laurel, puppet president during the Japanese occupation, was generally conceded election to the senate. Laurel is leader of the anti-administration Nacionalista party. He charged the administration of President Elpidio Quirino, who defeated him in the 1949 presidential election, is wasteful and corrupt.

Huk raids delayed balloting by the 4,600,000 registered voters at spots. The Huk had warned voters to stay away from the polls or face death.

In Laguna province raiding Huk burned three bridges near Calamba. At one point temporary bridges had to be built before poll inspectors and clerks could reach their posts. Voting there started at noon.

An army patrol caught a Huk hand attempting to block a highway at another point in the province. The army said two Huk were killed.

Earlier, Huk attempted to raid Altaga in Nueva Ecija province. One was killed and three wounded. Another Huk raiding party lost one man at Quezon town in a fight with troops.

Troops in armored cars patrolled the Manila suburbs, including Caloocan, Makati and Malabon, to guard against interference with voters.

Quirino said "every precaution" was taken to insure orderly voting, and warned:

"We must not be influenced by the violent political rabble that usually infects our body politic."

Clashes between politicians and their supporters were blamed for about half the deaths. The rest came in fights between Huk and troops.

Supreme Court

(Continued From Page One) to rule on the case now explained in a brief order that it did so because there has been no final judgment. The order noted that Justices Black and Douglas favored hearing the case now.

The Supreme Court in recent decisions has said states must admit Negroes to their white universities if they have not provided substantially equal facilities at Negro schools. It also has declared that Negroes in state universities may not be segregated from white students.

The Negroes who sought admission to the University of Florida, and the courses they desire are: J. G. Hawkins and William T. Lewis, law; Rose Boyd, pharmacy; Oliver Mazyx, chemical engineering; Benjamin Finley, agriculture.

In other actions today the Supreme Court agreed to rule on the contempt of court finding against Secretary of Commerce Sawyer and eight other persons in a multi-million dollar steamship case.

Sawyer, seven other government officials and George L. Killion,

City Commission

"If the City determines to go ahead with the terminal project," he added, "I favor a referendum first because the results of the recent City election indicated that this is what the citizens want."

Mr. Carraway pointed out that Commissioner elect John Kader was also present at the meeting and expressed himself as being in favor of the resolution.

Mr. Stemper today declared, "I introduced the resolution because I felt that by the recent election the people indicated that they were opposed to this method of financing, and also if it is decided to go ahead with the port terminal, the people have indicated that they want a voice in it."

"I also feel," he added, "that this resolution will place the City in the best position to negotiate with the bonding firms."

Mr. Chase could not be reached for comment on the resolution this morning, but at the meeting last night, and during the long discussion preceding the vote, he indicated that he was strongly in favor of the action. When Mr. Chase was seated as a commissioner again, he was cordially welcomed by the other commissioners, by City Manager Clifford McKelvin, City Clerk H. N. Sawyer and A. Edwin Shindler, City attorney.

The resolution in full is as follows: "A resolution of the City Commission of the City of Sanford, Florida, providing that the Port Terminal and Parking Meter Revenue Bonds of the City of Sanford, Florida, be authorized to be sold in the sum of $250,000."

Police Continue Frantic Hunt For Three Small Boys

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 12.—(AP)—A frantic hunt for three small boys, missing since Saturday, today overshadowed the workday pursuits of the more than half a million Minneapolis residents. Kenneth Klein Jr., 8, and his two brothers, David, 6, and Daniel, 4, simply dropped from sight, leaving only wraithlike traces.

The boys left their northside home Saturday afternoon to play in a park four blocks away. The Mississippi River is only a short distance beyond.

Kenneth Klein, the boys' father, called police when they didn't come home Saturday night. A routine notice was radioed to squad cars. No results.

Police chief Tom Jones Sunday called out 100 civil defense auxiliary police to aid his reserves in one of the city's greatest manhunts. The volunteers combed the area for miles around the Klein home. They searched alleys, rang doorbells, found nothing.

One resident reported seeing three small boys resembling Kenneth, David and Daniel sitting on a curbstone late Saturday. A tracking dog was taken to the spot. The dog followed a trail to the river bank. There the scent stopped.

Police cars carrying loud speakers patrolled the fringes of swampland to hark the boys' names. No answer.

Squads plodded through warehouses of the river industrial district. Hollow echoes answered the flashlight beams. Truck parts were also scanned to no avail.

Yesterday, three civil air patrol planes wheeled over the Mississippi but again no clues to Kenneth, David and Daniel. A police launch towing dragnets turned up only waterlogged wood.

"It just doesn't seem reasonable that those youngsters could disappear in the midst of thousands of people," said Chief Jones. "It isn't in the books, either, that all three of them would tumble into the river together. But that's what it look like now."

The current at the spot reached by the dogs is very swift, he pointed out. "It would carry 'em away awful quick."

Capt. Kenneth Morre of the northside police, said he wasn't giving up yet. He has ordered a box car by box car search of nearby railroad yards. And he planned an alert to rail men for Messrs John Kader, Randall Chase and William H. Stemper were opposed to the proposed method of financing the construction of said Port Terminal, and said candidates were elected City Commissioners by an overwhelming majority, thus showing that the people of the City of Sanford were opposed to the proposed method of financing the construction of said Port Terminal.

"Now therefore Be it resolved by the City Commission of Sanford, Florida, that the aforesaid Port Terminal and Parking Meter revenue bonds purported to be authorized by said Resolution No. 700, be not issued or delivered to the said L. H. Gormanley and Co., Knoxville, Tenn., or either of said companies, or to any other person, firm or corporation unless the issuance and sale of said bonds be first approved by the qualified electors of the City of Sanford, at a special election, called and held to determine the matter.

"Be it further resolved, that so much and such parts of Paragraph 15 of Article IV of said Resolution No. 700 as may be in conflict with this resolution be and the same are hereby repealed.

"Be it further resolved, that this resolution shall become effective immediately on its passage and adoption."

president of American President Lines, Inc., were adjudged in contempt by the U.S. Court of Appeals here last spring.

The finding grew out of their refusal to give up government control of more than 2,000,000 shares of APL stock.

The court also ruled that drugs illegally seized from a hotel room could not be used as evidence against their owner, even though he admitted the narcotics belonged to him.

Justice Clark delivered the 6-3 decision involving the seizure of 19 bottles of cocaine and one bottle of codeine by police. They searched the room of two Negro women in the Dunbar hotel here without a warrant. Chief Justice Vinson and Justice Reed dissented. Justice Minton took no part.

New Customers Keep Iceman Just As Busy As He Was 30 Years Ago

NEW YORK, (Nov. 12.—AP)—The iceman is still delivering just as much ice—35 million tons annually—as he did 30 years ago. And this, in the face of the sale of four million mechanical refrigerators annually in recent years.

Members of the National Association of Ice Industries, meeting this week in Houston, Texas, say have found new customer in industry to replace the ones they lost in the homes.

They add they have been able to keep some of the old customers by new methods, new equipment and new services. The association says there are more than 10 million ice boxes still in use in the homes. And more than 6,000 ice companies serve the nation.

The ice men's meeting in Texas follows by one week the Chicago meeting of their rivals—the all-Industry refrigeration and air conditioning exposition with the latest in mechanical freezing and cooling.

But the ice man is not down hearted. His association reports it's going after still another big market through "hydro-cooling" of produce, developed by research it sponsored. Thousands of tons of ice was needed, the association predicts.

Hydro-cooling means plunging sweet corn, cherries, celery, lettuce, peaches, beans and other produce into an ice water bath immediately after harvesting, to remove the field heat and arrest maturity. This improves the condition of the fruit and vegetables, says the association. It is also trying to induce more food stores to display produce on ice beds, to keep them at their freshest.

Each a third of the ice produced each year goes into railroad refrigerator cars and many refrigerated trucks. The seafood industry uses some six million tons a year for this highly perishable food.

Ice also plays a part in the manufacture of many articles. The association lists chocolate, cigars, ice cream, liquors, drugs, varnishes, paints, explosives, sausage, film and glue.

The iceman got quite a jolt thirty years ago, when the mechanical refrigerator began to sell in volume. Some ice companies were rocked back on their heels. But others set out to save their imperiled business.

Manufacturers changed the old ice box into a streamline air-conditioned refrigerator, better insulated to use less ice, and draining directly into the plumbing to get rid of the greatest nuisance of all—the drip pan that father always forgot to empty in time.

Then the ice companies studied their customers' desires and came up with new methods. Trucks were spruced up and ice routemen put into uniform. Companies began to supply packages of ice cubes, crushed ice, or "iced" ice, as well as cake ice. In many cities automatic ice vending machines were set up.

The all-time peak of ice sales came in 1930 with 60 million tons, followed by a dip during the de-

There's a big, big room inside—six-passenger room—headroom, hiproom, shoulderroom, knee-room, front and back.

Come in, look it over, and we think you'll agree—it's big in everything but price.

And that's where it really shines. If you've shopped around you'll know what we mean when you read the price tags, and what they include in the way of standard equipment that shows up as "extras" on so many others. Over 250,000 Are Reported Killed In Korean Atrocities

Jaycee Speaker

PUSAN, Korea, Nov. 14 (AP)—The head of the U.S. Eighth Army's local section today said Reds have killed at least 250,000 United Nations soldiers prisoners, about 5,500 of them Americans, and some 250,000 Korean civilians in atrocities since the start of the war. James M. Humber, of Seattle, head of the local section, made the statement in a statement that 200 captured Marines were killed in a single day last Dec. 10 near Shinhui in northeast Korea. Shinhui is about 20 miles north of Incheon. Last December remnants of the U.S. First Marine Division and the U.S. Seventh Infantry Division were pulling back toward Incheon port in a bitter retreat. Humber said the Marines were killed on orders of the commander of the 23rd Regiment, 8th Chinese Division. He said 17 British war prisoners were slain by Chinese Reds May 15, 1941, near Yonpo and 150 others on April 10 near Yonpo. Humber said the count of military prisoners slain did not include South Korean troops. He gave no estimate of those, but indicated the number was about twice that of other U.S. soldiers killed by Red captives. Civilian men, women and children were slaughtered, Humber said, without food or even a formal death sentence. He said 700 civilians were driven into the horizontal shaft of a gold mine near Haegu, 80 miles southwest of the North Korean capital of Pyongyang, on Sept. 20, 1950, bound and gagged and dropped down a vertical shaft. They were left to die, he said. Four hundred more were given the same treatment on Oct. 2, 1950. Humber said three days earlier, he said, still another 400 were bound, gagged and buried alive in three big holes at Haegu airport. Humber said his statement had been made with the cooperation of the U.S. State Department. (Continued on Page Two)
