BRIEFS

Woman jailed after accident

SANFORD — A Sanford woman is in jail charged with leaving the scene of a serious accident Wednesday.

Valerie Dawn Heishman, 21, 4358 Bedford Rd., Sanford was arrested Friday and charged with leaving the scene of an accident with serious bodily injury, driving while her license was suspended or revoked and having no insurance.

Lake Mary Police arrested Heishman in a supermarket parking lot off Lake Mary Boulevard. Police allege Heishman was driving a vehicle Feb. 9 which was involved in a serious traffic accident at 25th Street. They claim she fled the scene on foot without giving aid or reporting the accident. She is being held on $10,000 bond.

Missionaries alive

SANFORD — New Tribes Mission Crisis Management Committee, (CMC), in Columbia has reported hearing from two men kidnapped on Jan. 16. The Sanford New Tribes office reports that a cassette tape was received Tuesday, Feb. 8, with messages from missionaries Steve Welsh and Tim Van Dyke.

The tape had been requested by the CMC as a verification of the condition of the two men. The report says the tape contained personal greetings from the men to their families and instructions from the captors for further communications.

The CMC said there were no threats or demands contained on the tape. Direct radio contact was attempted on Feb. 9, but due to a power blackout and poor atmospheric conditions, the attempt was unsuccessful.

Health care program

LAKE MARY — The Sanford-Lake Mary chapter of United We Stand America-Florida will sponsor a program on local, state and national health care systems at their meeting Sunday at 7 p.m. The gathering will be held at Old Lake Mary City Hall, located north of City Hall. Mark Van Fleet, administrator of West Volusia Memorial Hospital will be the guest speaker. The meeting is free and open to the public.

FHP roadblocks set

SANFORD — Troopers with the Florida Highway Patrol will establish roadblocks on area roadways next month to assure vehicles and their drivers are safe.

Troopers will stop traffic during daylight hours to check for such potential safety risks as worn tires, defective brakes and inoperative headlights. They will also check to make sure motorists have valid drivers licenses and vehicle registration. Any criminal law violators, such as drunken drivers, will be met with arrest.

Troopers may establish the roadblocks at the following locations:

Feb. 11 through March 17: County Road 15, Old Lake Mary Road, Orange Boulevard, Osceola Road, Celery Avenue, State Road 426, E.E. Williamson Road, Gen. J.C. Hutchinsonson Parkway, Bubbel Road and Dodd Road.

Union: Cops vote yes

Management criticized; Chief: business as usual

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Sanford police left no doubt Friday night they want to establish a local Fraternal Order of Police to act as their collective bargaining unit with the city. The vote was 57 in 4 in favor of the FOP.

After the votes were counted in the training room at the city police station, about two dozen FOP supporters and their families cheered and applauded. Of the 84 member police force, 69 were eligible to vote.

The city has 15 days to challenge the election results. If no challenge is made, the results will be certified and negotiations on a collective bargaining agreement will start.

It will be business as usual, according to Chief Ralph Russell. He noted that discussions about a union started long before he became chief.

Bill Dantschisch, an FOP senior staff representative who helped local officers organize, said the vote sends a clear message.

"After last year, when the city made a lot of promises to the officers that things would change," Dantschisch said, "it was pretty SANFORD — The loud excitement of the New Orleans Mardi Gras spilled out onto the streets of Sanford this weekend.

On Saturday afternoon hundreds gathered in the courtyard outside the All Souls Catholic church and school on Oak Avenue.

Drawn there by carnival games, rides, delicious foods and arts and crafts, the crowd moved through the streets and the Park on Park play area quietly, but with a bubbling enthusiasm.

From the petite young lady in combat boots, a lace skirt and a T-shirt that read "Leave me alone" to the priest in clerical garb, there was something for everyone who attended.

"I think this is pretty neat," said John Steinberger who had come to the event at the invitation of his cousin who lives in the

YMCA expands to meet needs of area families

Officials call for volunteers

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The Seminole County branch of the YMCA is planning to expand. It will be the first since the 'Y' facility was built at 665 Longwood-Lake Mary Road, in late 1986.

The proposed $1.5 million expansion includes an 8,000 square foot gymnasium for youth, teens, adult sports and recreation; a complete fitness/wellness center; a community room for meetings; and a second multi-purpose room for a variety of fitness classes and teen programming.

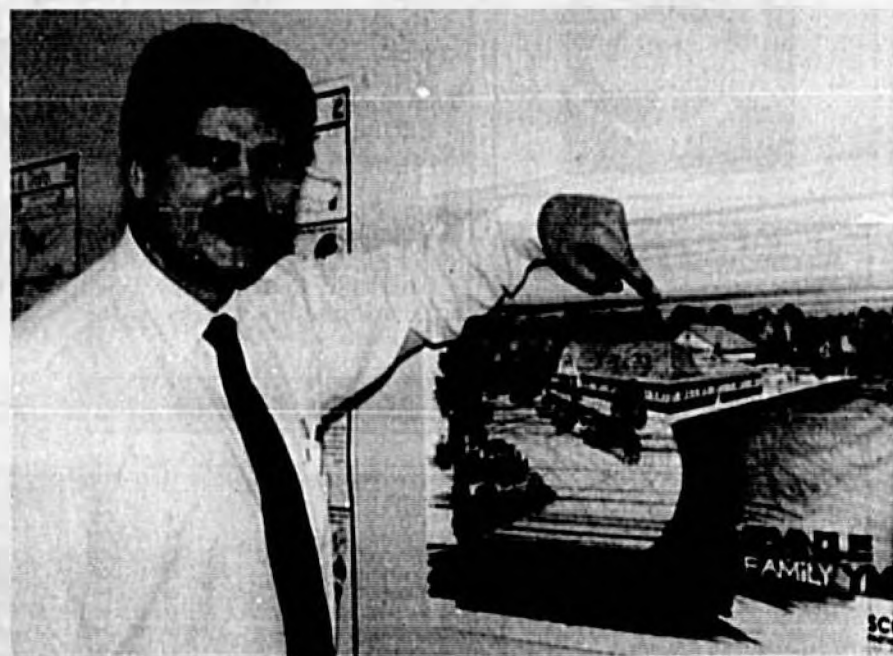

The Fitness/Wellness Center is projected to have the latest in exercise equipment and a second set of locker room facilities for adults.

"This expansion is planned to serve the entire community needs," said Executive Director Ed Thomas. "The 'Y' is not just another youth agency. It is designed to meet the needs of the entire family."

He explained, "This will be the most complete multi-service, human care delivery system in the area. Our mission is to develop

SANFORD — The paddlewheels of promotion began churning last week by an investor group seeking to convince state and local officials of the merits of riverboat gambling.

Representatives of Florida Riverboat Corp. met with County Manager Ron Rabun Friday to discuss the potential of a riverboat gambling operation conducted out of the Port of Sanford. Florida Riverboat principals are scheduling meetings with county commissioners this week.

At home, downtown

Anytime homes in Sanford's historic district are discussed among my circle of family members, in-laws, outlaws (those related by marriage) and friends, the talk always leads to that remarkable residence on the southeast corner of Eighth and Park still known to us old timers as the Thigpen home. One reason is all my life I'd been under the impression it was the only house in Sanford with a basement. But now I find it's not true. I'll explain later.

WAY BACK WHEN

JULIAN STENSTROM

It was in 1987 at the 50th reunion of the Seminole High School class of 1937 I saw Mrs. Hamilton Oven (nee Kathryn Thigpen) for the first time since before World War II. The girl I remembered as a tall, gangly teenager had become a statuesque brunette who with an equally tall and handsome husband made a most impressive couple. Believe me, I was quite astonished.

In 1992, I saw Kathryn again. This time it was the 55th reunion of the SHS Class of 1937. She was the same in her elegant and gracious appearance but I detected something missing. I soon found out her husband, Hamilton, a civil

POLICE BRIEFS

Drug charges filed

Gregory Owen Dickey, 31, 839 Crows Bluff Lane, Sanford, and James Kenneth Brown, 32, 295 Second St., Lake Mary, were arrested at a South Orlando Drive video store Wednesday night on charges they sold an undercover informant a pound of marijuana for $1,200. Both were subsequently arrested on charges of conspiracy to sell and sale and delivery of marijuana.

Concealed gun leads to arrest

Jeremy Dwayne Shuler, 19, 1804 Tangerine Ave., Sanford, was arrested on a charge of carrying a concealed firearm outside a Southwest Road convenience store early Wednesday morning. A Sanford policeman reported finding a .22-caliber handgun during a safety put-down search.

Domestic violence

Gerald Anthony Nash, 33, 473 Springwood Court, Longwood, was arrested on charges of domestic violence battery and grand theft by a Seminole County deputy Wednesday evening. Nash's estranged wife said he took unspecified possessions from her apartment, then pushed her thrice during an ensuing argument.

Butting heads

Tammy Ann Logerfo, 27, 473 Springwood Court, Longwood, was arrested on a simple battery charge at a County Road 427 food store Wednesday night after an undercover City County Investigative Bureau agent reported she bumped his head with hers. Preceding the incident, the agent reported a nearby woman shouted they were police officers. The woman, who refused to give her name, was arrested on an obstruction charge.

Son reports assault

Ronald James Leadholm, 46, 119 Countryside Drive, Longwood, was arrested at his home Wednesday night on domestic violence battery and assault charges. Leadholm's son reported he poked him on the chest several times during an argument. While a Seminole County deputy was taking a statement from the son, he reported Leadholm raised his fist as if to strike his son.

Disorderly conduct

Adria Charnell Taylor, 20, 611 Park Ave., Apt. 4, Sanford, was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge by Sanford police Wednesday evening. The policeman reported she became loud and attracted attention of others while he was questioning her four-year-old son about an earlier incident.

Dispute, arrest

David Matthew Wilson, 22, 318 Palmetto Ave., Apt. 7, Sanford, was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge by Sanford police Wednesday night. Police report Wilson refused to leave the intersection of Fourth Street and Palmetto Avenue after a dispute with a woman.

Brother's name used

Jimmy Loyd McKnight, 21, 614 S. U.S. Highway 17-92, Room 8, Fern Park, was arrested on giving a false statement charge by a Seminole County deputy early Thursday morning. A deputy reported McKnight gave a signed statement that he was threatened earlier by two men, one bearing a gun. After Winter Springs police located the two men, McKnight identified them. The deputy subsequently discovered the name used by McKnight was actually that of his twin brother. McKnight said he was concerned for his safety, deputies report.

Warrant arrests made

The following wanted persons were taken into custody:
 • Arthur Wilbur Bimbo, 54, address not given; on a probation violation charge for a disorderly intoxication conviction.
 • David Mark Cadwallader, 39, 103 Eastwind Drive, Sanford; on a battery probation violation charge.
 • Thallas Jerome Inman, 21, 201 Franklin Arms Apartments, Sanford; on a charge of failure to pay fines for two traffic convictions and one open container conviction.
 • Anthony Herring, 27, 2549 Ridgewood Ave., Sanford; on a Florida Parole Commission emergency warrant for robbery controlled release violation charge.

Toyotas: Thieves' choice

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Three out of four stolen vehicles recovered by sheriff's deputies Thursday, were Toyotas. Two were the same year.

Deputies responded to a restaurant parking lot in the 100 block of Hickman Drive, where a vehicle had been reported parked for several days. A 1982 Toyota was located. A check revealed it had been reported stolen in Orlando on Jan. 29.

Three vehicles were recovered Thursday on Cameron Avenue east of Sanford. At 7:50 a.m., deputies located an abandoned 1985 Toyota which they found to have been stolen from an Altamonte Springs man.

At 1:41 p.m., also on Cameron, near S.R. 46, deputies discovered another 1985 Toyota, partially in a ditch. The incident report said the vehicle was unoccupied, had no license plate, the rear window was broken out, and the steering wheel and radio were both missing. The vehicle was found to have been the property of a Sanford man, but no stolen vehicle report had been filed.

At the same location, deputies said they also found an abandoned white mini-van, but were unable to determine any information regarding the vehicle.

One vehicle was reportedly stolen, also on Thursday. A 1984 white Toyota van, license number HLA-01A was reported missing from the 100 block of Idyllwilde Drive.

Help the 'Y'

The Seminole County branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, YMCA, is ready to launch what may seem like a monstrous task. It wants to raise at least $1.5 million through donations.

The role of the YMCA in the lives of children and adults, is unparalleled. For only a slight charge, programs too lengthy to list, are available to one and all.

While the name implies it is a male organization, it combined many years ago to include young women, (YWCA). Because of the familiarity of the name however, it remains unchanged.

Present planned expansions will provide for a large gymnasium, a fitness/wellness center, more locker rooms, a community meeting room, and a second multi-purpose room.

It also includes more than doubling the parking area.

If over $1.5 million can be obtained, there are additional plans for further expansion which will provide even more facilities for all ages.

The immediate goal is to obtain possibly as many as 125 volunteers who are willing to work on this project. Some may do paperwork, while others may actually go out and seek funding and grants.

Persons with such experience are urgently needed if this project is to succeed.

In relationship to the YMCA, we see three types of persons. Those who are familiar with the operation; those who know where it is but have never taken advantage of it; and those who don't care about it.

There is no need to convince those who know the advantages of having a YMCA in the area. For those who are only slightly familiar, we suggest they visit the facility and take a tour.

For those who may not care, we suggest you look at how much the YMCA helps the total community.

Visit or phone the Seminole Family YMCA at 685 Longwood-Lake Mary Road, 321-8944.

Africa, the cradle of civilization

The picture evoked in the minds of many Americans when the African continent is mentioned is one of scantily clad natives, dark of hue, carrying primitive spears. However, Africa is really a land that intrigues the imagination and has been designated by scientific research as the cradle of civilization.

Africa is four times the size of the United States and the second largest continent on earth. It is as large as India, China, the United States and Western Europe combined. Its land surface is one fifth the land surface of the earth. It is the most tropical of continents. It is a leading depository of raw materials.

Scholars have suggested that the malady that impacts African history prior to the European colonization is the same problem that impacts all history that is not European or American. History has not been written from an objective perspective but has been basically ethnocentric. History has served to engender patriotism and establish ancestors as heroes. Cultures beyond the west were either ignored or relegated to a minor place.

Let's focus upon another picture of Africa, that of societies with division of labor and majestic kings and queens. Prior to European colonization there existed areas of Africa where civilization had reached its zenith and had significant rulers.

Hannibal - ruler of Carthage 247-183 B.C. is one example. Regarded as one of the greatest generals of all time, Hannibal and his armies captured major portions of Spain and Italy and nearly defeated the mighty Roman Empire. Hannibal crossed the Alps in 218 B.C., however, his fortunes were revised in 203 B.C.

SEMINOLE OPINION

Cleopatra VII, queen of Egypt 69-30 B.C. became queen at the age of 17. She was highly intelligent. She was multi-lingual mastering Greek, Syrian, Latin, Hebrew and her native language. Her dreams for Egypt were never realized although she persuaded Julius Caesar and Mark Antony to become her allies.

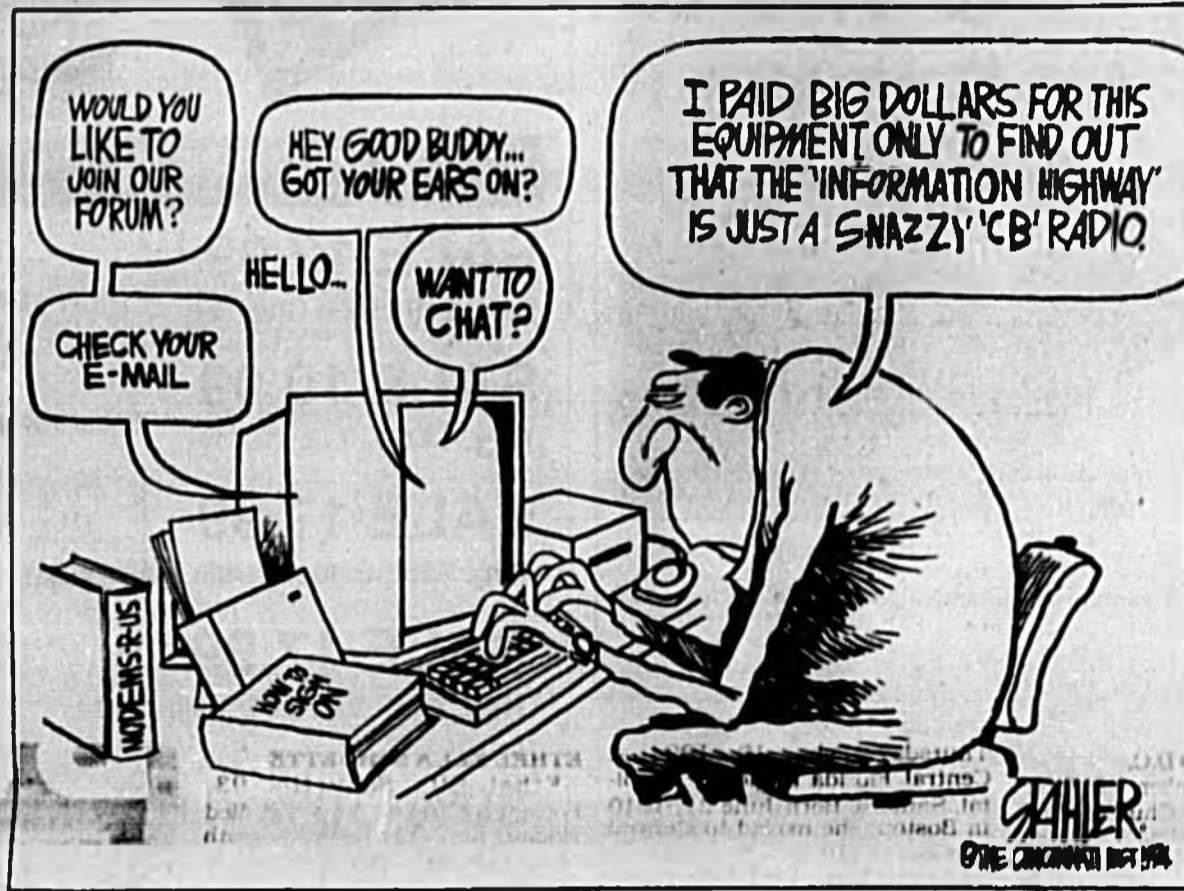

Mali was one of the great countries in Western Africa. Mali, also known as Melle, began as an organized kingdom approximately 1235 A.D. Its political organization had its epigenesis in the seventh century. There were two particularly famous kings of Mali about which much has been written.

The exploits of Abubakari, also known as the Martiner Prince of Mali, has been chronicled in a book by Ivan Van Sertima. The foundation of Van Sertima's research was laid from a trilogy of works by Harvard linguist, Leo Weiner. Abubakari's fascination with the sea prompted him to relinquish his throne to his brother, Mansa Kankan Musa and sail away, never to return. Van Sertima credits him with reaching the West prior to Columbus. For more information read "The African Presence in Ancient America: They Came Before Columbus," published 1976, Random House.

Mansa Kankan Musa ruled Mali from 1312-1337 A.D. He had a reputation for being a shrewd businessman and a scholar. In 1324 he led over 70,000 of his people on one of the most spectacular holy pilgrimages from Timbuktu to Mecca.

Many have found Africa fascinating and have written much about the land. Africa is indeed a land of paradoxes. It has great wealth, it has great poverty, it has much human suffering. Today many lands suffer from this same affliction. Africa is the land that scientists from multiple disciplines have identified as the cradle of civilization. It is the place where man began his earthly trek.

What's happening to language?

BOSTON - It is a miserable day on the planet, or at least on the northern part of the planet's Western Hemisphere, and CBS begins the evening news with a report on the relentless cold. The camera hones in on a young, neat specimen of the Chicago tundra. The man is asked his opinion of the winter wonderland and he answers cheerily: "It sucks." My sentiments exactly.

But not my language. The next night, another of the cameras endlessly stalking Tonya Harding films her while she practices her routine. When she slips up, the camera zooms in. You don't have to be a lip reader to recognize the outline of the word. The expletive not-deleted is "shit."

I don't flinch at this. Nor do I purse my lips into some variation of "Tak, tak." I am neither pure nor prim about language that's used to make a mythical sailor blush and a dotty elder wash a child's mouth out with soap.

Years ago, when my 3-year-old daughter broke a bottle on a supermarket floor and loudly blurted out a four-letter word, I demurred. "Isn't it terrible what they pick up on the playground!" I didn't fool anyone. Nevertheless, I am fascinated at what's happening to words. We seem to be in this fluid era where any number of formerly dirty words are being washed clean. At the same time, formerly acceptable terms have become fighting words.

The traffic light of language, the signal that says what does and doesn't go in public, is operated by a button that is labeled: "Offensive." Offensive language is usually given the red light.

For a long time there was a single standard of such words, a community threshold of sensitivity. But now the definition of what is offensive and who is offended changes as often as the venue.

Consider for example the anatomically correct speech that makes its way into the daily news. Remember when various male television anchors faced with reporting toxic shock syndrome had to practice saying the word "tampons" into the mirror before they could get it over the airwaves?

By the time the Bobbitt case ended, American journalists were talking and writing about penises with more clinical objectivity - I almost said detachment - than even their seventh grade hygiene teachers. And few people were offended.

We have also had multicultural revisions. I'm not talking about basic Farrakhan-speak. I'm talking about what is often hostilely described as politically correct speech. When the Los Angeles Times offered up some guidelines on ethnic, racial and gender terms last November they asked reporters to ask themselves: "Are they (these terms) likely to be considered offensive?"

Among those words the newspaper labeled most likely to be offensive were babe, Bible-thumper, bitch, crippled, dyke - and we're still in the D's. Moving right along the alphabet they added: gal, hick, Oriental and white trash.

But at the same time we're minding our p's and q's, or at least our "gals" and "white trash" in one part of the media culture, we have Howard Stern, expletivizing all over the radio and Snoop Doggy Dogg singing "For All My Niggas and Bitches" on a CD.

Indeed it is entirely possible to find people who will not deign to speak or write of the Washington Redskins or the Cleveland Indians, but will feel perfectly comfortable telling you that the tomas suck.

In general, I agree with anatomically correct speech. It would be absurd to speak of John Bobbitt's "private parts," let alone his "peepee." Anatomy isn't vulgarly.

It would be absurd to speak of John Bobbitt's 'private parts,' let alone his 'peepee.' Anatomy isn't vulgarly.

The right to bear arms in America

Article II of the Bill of Rights of the U.S. Constitution states: "A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the Right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed." Let us examine this from a grammatical point of view.

What is being stated as necessary to the security of a free state? Is it a well regulated militia which the founding fathers feared, or is it the right of the people to keep and bear arms? Could it be that both are an indispensable part of our freedom and heritage as U.S. nationals.

Let us ask, what is the militia? According to Webster's New World Dictionary, militia is an army composed of citizens called out in time of emergency. It would stand to reason that the citizens called out to compose this militia would need to be armed, and not armed by the state!

The word arm is defined as any weapon usually used in warfare or fighting! Also, it is to prepare for or against attack. This definition also compliments the U.S. Supreme Court ruling in the 1939 Miller vs. U.S. case! It was ruled that the Second Amendment provided for the individual citizen to own weapons of military type for participation in the militia at large! There are those today that try to claim that the Second Amendment applies to the National Guard and not the individual citizen. Feb. 28, 1990 saw the U.S. Supreme Court in a case, The U.S. Vs. Verdugo Urquidez, state that "people" a word "employed in select parts of the Constitution," specifically the Preamble, First Second, Fourth, Ninth and Tenth Amendments, means the same thing throughout - "the rights of the individual!"

A few years back Minnesota Governor Rudy Perpich challenged the Army's sending of the Minnesota National Guard to Central America for its summer training. The U.S. Constitution states that states are responsible for the training of the militia. The U.S. Government responded that the National Guard is not the militia, but a branch of the Army, citing Section 311 of Title 10 of the U.S. Code!

Infringed as defined by Webster's New World Dictionary is the encroachment into the rights of the people, which by command of the Second Amendment, government shall not do with respect to the keeping and bearing of arms.

Many people still think that gun ownership has something to do with target shooting, squirrel hunting, match competition, going after deer, or gun collecting. Those are enjoyable recreational uses of firearms, and they are relatively unimportant in the quest for control of the American people by the New World Order!

The real issue is not the recreational use of firearms, it is freedom and survival! The primary purpose of our guns is the defense of life, liberty and property, the protection of our loved ones from robbery, rape, assault and crime in general. And, in times of crisis, the defending of our nation and our kinsmen from governmental tyranny and despotism such as that which we are starting to see in the New World Order!

Gun control is as important to the New World Order plan of World Dominance as is NAFTA! Henry Kissinger stated in the Aug. 1, 1993 edition of the Miami Herald that the North American Free Trade Agreement is the keystone to the New World Order!

And so did Sarah Brady, chair of Handgun Control, Inc. who made remarks to Liberal Senator Howard Metzenbaum as he lobbied in support of a ban on semi-automatic firearms: "Our task of creating a socialist America can only succeed when those who would resist us have been totally disarmed."

You see, the real reason for gun control is to disarm the militia. If the sheep in this country were to ever wake up and learn about the plans for us under this New World Order, they would most assuredly organize the militia and remove the tyrants from government!

It is the constitutional right of "We the People" to organize as the militia and not to overthrow the Constitution but to remove the tyrants from it! We were founded as a constitutional republic and today we have a socialistic democracy. I pray that you will read and learn more about the founding fathers and the great documents that they left us! Learn more about this New World Order. And remember, the man that wants your guns is your enemy! Live free or die, for death is not the worst of evils!

When freedom's gone

I am writing with regard to the gun control law proposed by Ron Klein and Howard Forman. As usual, this is nothing more than a scheme to subvert the Second Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, an attempt to take weapons out of the hands of honest law-abiding citizens. The way it is written, with the $200 per gun registration fee, will leave guns in the hands of two groups, the "very wealthy" and "the criminals." It is not a crime bill. What we really need is more severe punishment for the criminal element. Serve full time, no gain time, no time off for good behavior, no more "country-club" jails. They should have behaved to start with, and three times and you're in for good.

This proposed gun law is nothing more than a blatant attempt to enslave the people of the United States so that the politicians can do as they damn well please. Sorry to say, if this bill passes, we will have two classes of people in this country - the ruling class and the slaves - and if you think this will be the end of it, freedom of the press will be the next to go. (They are already trying to take Rush Limbaugh off the air.) Talk about communism, we're headed that way, I am sorry to say. In my lifetime, I have never held any prejudices such as anti-Semitism, anti-black or any other race, creed or color. My mother and father taught me better than that, but I am coming to the conclusion that my parents didn't tell me that rotten apples exist in every barrel.

Never surrender guns

It seems some of our state lawmakers don't know what the Second Amendment means or why it was written into the Constitution of the United States. Many of these bureaucrats are, apparently, blissfully ignorant of the Florida State Constitution as well. House Bill 241 is in direct violation of both mandates, and will surely draw a lawsuit at the very least.

Creating laws to solve a problem that only exists in the fertile imagination of the news media, is not only dishonest, it can be called treasonous. The facts speak for themselves. Since the sponsor of HB 241 and the media haven't bothered to look them up, here they are. Fact: So called "assault weapons" are used in gun-related crime 1 to 2 percent of the time. Hardly the terrible menace as they have been portrayed, and certainly not a good reason to steal honest citizens property.

Fact: Americans use firearms of all types, well over a million times a year to defend themselves. The events in the aftermath of Hurricane Andrew bare this out.

Fact: Accidental shootings, especially among children has been falling for the last 30 years. Even as the total number of firearms in the country has increased.

Why do they want a disarmed America if not to control crime? Basically for the same reasons that the Nazis had, socialist people control. The bureaucrats know they are about to start abusing the citizens far more than ever before, and the very idea of people owning firearms makes them nervous, and that is as it should be. Never surrender your firearms.

tion comprise of a local builder and individuals with Midwest riverboat gambling business experience, wants to invest $40 million to $100 million to create a 300-foot-long gambling boat to sail up and down the St. Johns River on two three-hour cruises daily. The enterprise could employ up to 1,000 with an average pay of $24,000 annually. The company has reserved 19 acres at the Port of Sanford for the venture. Port director Dennis Dolinger said if the venture is pursued, the port authority would collect about $10,000 per acre annually for the land actually leased.

Statewide, a fleet of 18 riverboats could produce jobs for 65,000 people and produce $375 million annually for state and local governments in taxes and fees, according to a study performed by Hank Fishkind of Winter Park for Florida Riverboat.

Rabun said he was not prepared to take a position on the proposal following the meeting. That decision will be for county commissioners, he said.

"I'm not going to be the pitch man. It's a political thing," said Rabun. "But when you hear of anything that improves the local economy, the first reaction is going to be 'yeah,' but then you have to weigh the downsides."

Should riverboat gambling be allowed in Florida and the venture begun at the port, Rabun said it would face many of the normal development reviews for traffic and other impacts. The potential for an attraction to criminal activities would also have to be addressed.

Low Oliver, Florida Riverboat attorney, said water-borne gambling will have few of the drawbacks of casino gambling or even pari-mutuels. Because access to the cruises will be limited, spur-of-the-moment gambling impulses will be kept to a minimum, said Oliver. Gamblers must pay boarding fees for the scheduled cruises, said Oliver.

Because the boat will be away from the dock for gambling to occur, not tied up, visitors will not be able to come and go at will, he said. So, the attraction for pawn shops, adult entertainment clubs and criminal activity around the embarkation point at the port will be reduced, said Oliver.

"There will be a lot less of the blight you have now around casinos and even pari-mutuels," said Oliver. "I think tourists will see a big paddle wheel-type gambling boat as Disney-esque."

Oliver said Florida Riverboat is comprised of president Gerald Briley, owner of Genesis Group, an Orlando homebuilding company; Bill Niemeyer of Peoria, Ill., a mechanical tool manufacturer and founding investor in an Illinois gambling riverboat venture; Monte Brannan of Peoria, an architect and developer and co-investor in the Illinois riverboat venture; Joe Jamison of Orlando and Illinois, captain and assistant manager of the Illinois riverboat venture; and Art Hahn of Mobile, Ala., a riverboat gambling consultant.

Oliver said Niemeyer and Bannan are the principal investors, but eventually, the corporation will be opened up to other investors and corporate sponsors, primarily from Florida. Oliver did not preclude limited participation in the venture from major gambling concerns, such as Bally's or Caesar's Palace.

The venture hinges not only on local acceptance, but also state approval. Several proposals will be considered by the Legislature this year, including one sponsored by Sen. Alberto Gutman, R-Miami.

Oliver said he submitted a draft bill to Gutman after testifying before House and Senate committees in Tallahassee last month. The Gutman bill includes a provision allowing for riverboat gambling cruises.

What is uncertain is whether the Legislature would attempt to legalize gambling without going to the voters first. Florida voters have already turned down two earlier proposals, but recent surveys suggest a majority of residents might approve some limited gambling now.

Oliver said Florida Riverboat prefers a state-wide vote of residents because it bypasses a potential veto by Gov. Lawton Chiles and allows residents to decide for themselves.

leadership qualities in youth, promote healthy lifestyles among adults, strengthen families and meet their needs, increase inter-racial understanding and brotherhood, and make our community a better place to live."

Over the next few months, volunteers are being sought to help organize a capital campaign, develop and assemble materials, keep records, and call on potential contributors.

"We actually need volunteers to handle three separate categories of this drive," Thomas explained. "The first is major gifts from large companies and through grants; the second is the pacesetter, to obtain gifts from smaller companies, businesses, and key individuals; the third, which will require the most volunteers, is the public fundraising drive."

Thomas said approximately 125 volunteers will be needed.

Last year, over 8,000 participants of all ages were involved in programs at the Seminole YMCA. Many of the programs were coordinated through the use of schools, churches and city parks.

With the facilities expansion, more programs and events will be able to take place at the 'Y' facility.

"Part of the plan will also include an expansion of parking spaces," Thomas said. "With our present facility, we have 53 parking spaces, but with the expansion I expect we will have more people so we are looking at building up to 130 spaces."

Thomas said there are already additional plans to possibly enlarge more of the facility which would enable even more expansion such as a larger wellness center operation.

"Right now we need volunteers," he commented. "This is going to be a project to support the entire community, and we really need help from everyone."

Getting to the heart of the matter

It's coming. Red hearts and pink flowers are appearing everywhere.

V-day has arrived once again. No matter where you go it's like a big flashing neon sign. "Buy this for your Valentine. Get this for your sweetie."

Is V-day just a conspiracy from store owners to make you buy expensive gifts and baubles? Sometimes it makes you wonder.

Hopeless romantics roam around aimlessly trying to find that perfect gift and drive everyone else in their paths insane with their whining about it.

I don't know why it happens it just does.

People make a big deal about not really wanting a present but if they don't get one they throw a hissy fit.

Explain that one. So much hype is put on this one day that people plan months in advance for the perfect evening. They spend paychecks on dinner, dancing, and diamonds.

Jaime Dillman

And most of the time nothing goes as planned. Somewhere these hard arranged ideas are blundered and the love birds get disappointed.

Awwww...too bad! Call me a cynic, but I find no romance in a day built around an ancient ritual.

A while back (o.k. a few centuries back) village men would get all of the village virgins and beat them with dead animal hides to make them pure.

How this was accomplished I'm not sure but that's how everything was started.

I can see it now, women running through a town while insane men went after them trying to flog in purity.

Then what?

Did they soothe them with a Whitman's Sampler afterward?

I hear some of you arguing that V-day was named for a saint and that's correct also. Saint Valentine to be precise, but how do you go from saints and virgins to boxes of chocolates and cards?

I just don't get it.

What messages are we sending children? When they all line up in class to give out their little cartoon-character cards how does that one kid feel when he doesn't get as many as the other kids?

Hmmm... maybe that's how we get our snipers.

And how do those people without a special someone feel? Do they send cards to themselves or come home teary-eyed because their mail boxes are empty?

I find the whole V-day scheme ridiculous.

But I'm sure that the florists, and jewelry stores, and chocolatiers, and clothes, and anyone else making something for people to buy on February 14th, aren't laughing.

As a teen I see guys struggling with acceptable offerings for their ladies and I see girls go nuts trying to find something that he might like.

Why? Don't we have better things to worry about? Like, oh... I don't know... school?

I just believe there are other items that need our attention.

Well, this day will come and go like any other has and I'll wish everyone a happy Valentine's Day.

I sincerely hope you get whatever you've been dreaming of. I k n o w l d o .

Nominated to the academies

U.S. Representative John L. Mica has nominated the following Seminole County students to be in this year's entering class at the U.S. Military, Naval and Air Force academies.

The candidates were interviewed, screened and ranked by an advisory board composed of prominent veterans, business people and civic leaders throughout the 7th Congressional District. The names were then submitted to Mica for final approval.

The academics will now select the persons best qualified from the list of names.

Nominated to the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, NY: Vanessa Holden of Oviedo, Scott Kuschmider of Oviedo, Ian Saunders of Lake Mary, and Richard Saunders of Longwood.

Nominated to the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.: James Dorton of Altamonte Springs, Vince Garlatti of Longwood, Jason Gustin of Winter Springs, Mark Jordan of Lake Mary, Marcus Kaiser of Altamonte Springs, Melissa Martin of Longwood and Ricardo Roman of Lake Mary.

Nominated to the U.S. Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Co.: Yvonne Carrico of Longwood, Collin Clingan of Altamonte Springs, Vince Garlatti of Longwood, Mark Jordan of Lake Mary, Ricardo Roman of Lake Mary, Ian Saunders of Longwood, Chris Schlachter of Altamonte Springs, Brad Stebbins of Winter Springs, and Mark Thomas of Oviedo.

SANFORD — Valentine's Day means different things to different people.

Marcia Landau of Sanford is 6-years-old. She said she "hasn't really figured out" who to send her Valentines to.

"I think I'm gonna give one to all of my boyfriends cards, because I don't want to hurt none of their feelings," she said.

She said the top four boys she likes would be getting cards, but she could not decide on the others.

"Valentines is a good day to eat chocolate and stuff and my mom always gets flowers from daddy, but I think she wants a ring or a necklace instead," she noted.

Her mother Krista Landau said she had no need for jewelry.

"That isn't what Valentine's Day is all about," she said. "I think my daughter watches too much television. I don't need jewelry to know my husband loves me."

Laurie Wallace of Lake Mary said she is looking forward to getting "something sparkling" tomorrow morning.

The 17-year-old said she and her boyfriend started dating eight months ago. Last month when they were shopping he asked her if she liked a particular pair of earrings.

"I think that's what I'm getting," she predicted.

She declined to reveal what his gift would be, saying he could wait until Monday to find out.

"That's what Valentines is all about," she said. "It's surprising your boyfriend with neat stuff that says 'I love you'."

Lawrence Richards of Sanford said he thinks Valentines is all about flowers and candy.

"Candy and roses are the best way to let your girls know you care about them," he said.

Yes, he said girls.

"Hey, I'm only 10," he said. "I can't be expected to have settled on just one girl. I date three or four at a time, but I treat them all real special."

Marshall Bernard of Lake Mary is 16, but he said he's found his "perfect lady."

He plans to buy her chocolates and "something real special" in celebration of their first Valentine's Day together.

"After all," he said. "I want her to remember this day when we get old."

- Fishing: Be sure to fish in designated fishing areas only. Care should be taken with fish hooks.
- Frostbite: In the cold of February, frostbite is likely to strike. Common symptoms are a gray or yellowish coloring in the skin and numbness or a doughy feeling of body parts. A person with frostbite should go indoors immediately. Put frostbitten areas in warm — not hot — water immediately. Frostbitten feet should be kept off the ground.
- Fire: Many fires are the result of basic carelessness. Be sure all appliances (toaster, iron, coffeemaker) are turned off before leaving the house. Never, never smoke in bed. If you see a fire, call the fire department immediately.
- Forests: Never walk through the forest during hunting season. Stay in familiar areas.

VNA offers home emergency monitoring

Due to a rash of recent in-home accidents associated with falls, VNA HomeCare, Inc., a division of the Visiting Nurse Association, Inc., a non-profit, United Way Agency, is offering a 24-hour emergency monitoring service.

VNA HomeCare, Inc., will make a home visit and install the Health Watch Personal Response system which will provide immediate access to family, medical, police, or fire intervention at the touch of a button. The client receives a personal, waterproof transmitter that can be worn around the neck or clipped to a belt and can be used to summon help immediately. Two-way voice communication ensures that only the appropriate help is sent.

The Health Watch system is designed to automatically confirm daily, instead of monthly, that the system functions properly. The system, which can monitor any home in the United States, has a battery backup in case of electrical power outage and a lifetime warranty.

For a personal demonstration or more information on the VNA HomeCare Emergency Response Service, call 800-801-5095.

Grief Support Groups planned

The support groups are free to the family of any patient served by Hospice of Central Florida. There is a one-time fee of $20 per family, covering all six sessions, for those whose loved one was not served by Hospice of Central Florida.

Anyone wishing to attend one of the following groups, please call 875-0028 ext. 486.

• Winter Park: Tuesdays at 7 p.m., Feb. 22 to March 29, Killarney Baptist Church, 701 Formosa Ave., Winter Park.
• Lake Mary: Wednesdays at 10 a.m., Feb. 23 to March 30, Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 760 Sun Drive.

Women and AIDS seminar set

More than 35 percent of those diagnosed with HIV today are women. Is the community at risk? Find out at "Women and AIDS: The Startling Realities," a free seminar on Feb. 24 at 7 p.m., at Radisson Plaza Hotel, Orlando.

Kathryn Anastos, M.D., of the Bronx-Lebanon Hospital Center in New York, will discuss HIV management and treatment issues as they relate to women.

This seminar is co-presented by C. Jeffrey Goodgame, M.D., Lynne A. Hopkins, M.D., and the Center of Excellence for Immuno-suppressed patients at Winter Park Memorial Hospital. Reservations are not required.

For information, call 646-7860.

Studies link glue sniffing to birth defects

CHICAGO — Pregnant women who sniff glue or spray paint or other solvents may increase the odds that their babies will have defects, some resembling those of fetal alcohol syndrome, new studies suggest.

Both studies are published in the February issue of the journal Pediatrics.

Researchers from the University of Colorado, Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston and the University of Arkansas reviewed 35 cases of children who had been exposed to the solvent toluene, used in glues and paints, in the womb.

They found that 42 percent of babies were premature, 52 percent had low birthweight and 32 percent were born with an abnormally small head, which is usually associated with mental retardation.

Examinations of six of the children at ages ranging from 1 to 10 found many features present that previously have been linked with exposure to toluene in the womb — small eyes, an underdeveloped midface, shortened fingers or a small head.

Researchers said past studies have shown these are usually accompanied by growth retardation, abnormal muscle tone, developmental delays, hyperactivity and other defects found in children with fetal alcohol syndrome.

"Toluene abuse is an underrecognized form of substance abuse which may have devastating consequences for both mother and infant," the authors said.

In a related study of 18 infants with a history of toluene exposure in the womb, researchers at the University of Arizona Medical Center and Maricopa Medical Center in Phoenix also found that some of the abnormalities may resemble those in fetal alcohol syndrome. Common features include folds over the eyelid, a thin upper lip and incomplete facial development.

Richard Leavitt, science director for the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation in White Plains, N.Y., said the first case of apparent toluene associated birth defects was reported in 1979.

The new research, he said, adds important information to "scanty" evidence on the problem.

Hybrid AIDS virus tested on baboons

SAN ANTONIO — Baboons have been infected with a hybrid human-monkey AIDS virus in an effort to make it easier to test experimental vaccines, scientists say.

Two baboons at Southwest Foundation for Biomedical Research were infected by researchers with SHIV, a simian-human immunodeficiency virus developed at the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute in Boston.

To produce the genetically engineered SHIV, the outer protein envelope of HIV is grafted onto the core of a strain of simian immunodeficiency virus, an AIDS-like virus that infects nonhuman primates.

Efforts to develop an AIDS vaccine have been blocked by the lack of a plentiful animal model. Chimpanzees, the closest primate to man, are capable of becoming infected with HIV, the virus that causes AIDS. However, chimpanzees are rare and protected.

Baboons are the second primate species to become infected with SHIV. Two years ago, Harvard researchers successfully infected cynomolgus monkeys with the virus.

Jonathan Allen, a virologist at Southwest Foundation, said that, because most AIDS vaccines under development are designed to attack the outer envelope of HIV, scientists should be able to test their effectiveness against SHIV.

Researchers in Japan have developed a similar hybrid simian-human virus.

San Antonio foundation officials said the two baboons have remained infected for 36 weeks and are not expected to develop AIDS-like symptoms.

Procedure puts snorers at rest

Households across Central Florida could be resting more comfortably tonight.

Why?

No more snoring.

Thanks to a new procedure being performed by John A. Coleman Jr., M.D., and the ENT Surgical Association, chronic snorers will have the first good night's sleep in years.

The procedure — Laser Assisted Uvula Palatoplasty (LAUP) — involves the use of a laser, which trims and reshapes the uvula and soft tissues at the back of the throat.

Snoring occurs when there is an obstruction to the free flow of air through the passages of the nose and mouth, often caused by a long, soft palate that may narrow the opening from the nose into the throat. As it dangles into the airway, it acts as a flutter valve during relaxed breathing and contributes to the noise of snoring.

The LAUP procedure is performed in Dr. Coleman's office and takes about 15 minutes. Treatment is spread over 3-5 visits, to minimize discomfort and ensure a full recovery.

Patients may have a sore throat for a few days, but there is no bleeding, and eating and speaking are not affected.

—John A. Coleman Jr., M.D.

Sometimes, a decrease in snoring can occur immediately. According to Dr. Coleman, 80 percent of habitual snorers who have had this procedure have been cured, while 12 percent will experience a reduced level of snoring.

"Patients may have a sore throat for a few days, but there is no bleeding, and eating and speaking are not affected," he said.

Previously, the only treatment for curing chronic snoring was extensive surgery, which involved hospitalization and a long recovery period.

One out of every four Americans is a habitual snorer, while as many as 45 percent of adults snore at least occasionally, according to the American Academy of Otolaryngology.

For most people who snore, the condition can cause social and medical problems, because they do not sleep restfully which leads to difficulty in staying alert during the day and often it is disturbing to their bed partner. Snoring is more common in men and people who are overweight.

"Not everyone is a candidate for this surgery," Dr. Coleman explained. "Sometimes, all a person needs to do is lose a bit of weight."

LAUP is not recommended treatment for those who suffer from sleep apnea, a condition that causes people to stop breathing during their sleep.

"Sleep apnea is a much more serious condition that requires constant monitoring, and there are several methods available for treatment," he added.

Soon, doctors also will be using this same laser surgery to remove inflamed tonsils in adults.

For more information on LAUP, call the ENT surgical Association at 644-4883.

Daily amounts of fish may reduce stroke risk

By STEFANI G. KOPENEC
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS — Eating small amounts of fish may lower the risk of certain strokes, a study shows.

But the researchers also warn that eating too much fish may increase the chances of other types of stroke.

In the study of 552 men over nearly three decades, those who ate more than two-thirds of an ounce of fish each day had a lower risk of stroke than men who ate less fish. A usual adult serving of fish is about three ounces.

"To our knowledge, this is the first time that an inverse relation between fish consumption and stroke incidence has been reported," the scientists at the National Institute of Public Health in Bilthoven, The Netherlands, said in their report.

Dr. William Baran, a professor in emergency medicine at the University of Michigan, said the study again points out the link between diet and health.

"In terms of whether everybody should eat a lot of fish, I think there's probably better ways people can control their stroke risk — cigarette smoking, exercise and, probably most important, control of blood pressure because that's the No. 1 risk factor for stroke," Baran said.

The researchers say that eating certain polyunsaturated fatty acids in fish leads to changes in the blood and blood vessel wall that might protect against stroke. Those changes may reduce the risk that blood vessels supplying the brain will become blocked by a clot.

About 80 percent of all strokes are caused by blood clots.

"Evidence is accumulating that the consumption of at least one portion of fish per week may have a protective effect" against cardiovascular disease, the scientists say in the study published in the February issue of "Stroke," an American Heart Association scientific journal.

However, fish consumption has been linked with prolonged bleeding, so eating large amounts might increase the chance of a stroke involving blood vessels bursting or hemorrhaging in the brain, the researchers said.

Love, relationships: Hot topic on Monday

LONGWOOD — For the past eight years Richard S. Brown has been speaking to standing room only audiences on the subject of love and relationships.

The director of the Institute for Pastoral Counseling and Relationship Therapy, the Rev. Brown will present "Love is For Life," Monday, Feb. 14, at the Altamonte Springs, Hilton, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The presentation is sponsored by the South Seminole Hospital Women's Forum, 555 W.S.R. 434.

"I don't believe there are any easy answers or quick fixes, but I do believe if we become more aware of the unconscious dynamics that go on in the relationship we stand a greater chance of having a relationship that is not just tolerable but alive and well," says Brown. "Falling in love is easy. Staying in love is a challenge."

Drawing on his close relationship with Dr. Harville Hendrix, author of the best sellers, "Getting the Love You Want: A Guide for Couples," and "Keeping the Love You Find: A Guide for Singles," the Rev. Brown will lead

Study downgrades high arches

By IRA DREYFUS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Dr. Lowell D. Lutter considers this a case in which medicine guessed wrong.

Doctors including himself have thought that high arches and loose joints predisposed some people to ankle sprains, said Lutter, president of the American Orthopaedic Foot and Ankle Society.

But a study that Lutter reviewed indicates those people have no higher risk. The research on athletes in Vermont instead blames imbalances among the muscles of the foot and ankle.

So much for the accepted wisdom.

"In a small kernel of research papers, the prejudices you bring to a sequence of things are shown not to be the case," said Lutter, a St. Paul, Minn., physician.

The study by Dr. Judy F. Baumhauer and colleagues at the University of Vermont College of Medicine in Burlington followed 145 lacrosse, soccer or field hockey athletes. The athletes had no histories of severe ankle problems.

The researchers checked for high arches and loose joints. They also tested the strength of muscles that move the foot and ankle.

Over the course of their seasons, 15 athletes suffered sprained ankles.

Of them, 75 percent had imbalances in the muscles that control up-and-down motion or side-to-side motion of the foot and ankle, Baumhauer said. Her study found nothing unusual about the other 25 percent, so she could not tell whether something else might have predisposed them to be injured.

The muscle imbalances may have led to the sprains in the ligaments that connect the bones, Baumhauer said. However, her study did not examine the athletes to investigate the mechanics of the injuries.

The study found no unusual numbers of people with high arches or loose joints among the injured athletes, so Baumhauer figured these conditions don't raise the risk.

Baumhauer does not want to say flatly that muscle imbalances cause most ankle sprains until other researchers follow up her study. She also can't rule out the possibility that the imbalances are common even among uninjured athletes.

although Lutter says her statistical analysis did try to account for this.

But she says 15 minutes with an exercise tester could pick up the athletes who may be at risk because of muscle imbalances.

Playtime Darts coming Monday
SANFORD — Due to space limitations, this week's Playtime Darts League report will appear in Monday's Sanford Herald.

LOCALLY

Sanford Rec. baseball-softball

SANFORD — The Sanford Recreation Department is now registering children between the ages of 5 and 15 for its upcoming baseball and softball season's.

Kids can sign up at the Downtown Youth Center located in the lower level of Sanford City Hall or they may register the day of tryouts.

To register, the players must have the $10 registration fee and his or her birth certificate.

For the first time this year, in addition to Pee-Wee (7-9), Little Major (10-12) and Babe Ruth (13-15) leagues, Sanford will offer a T-Ball League for children who will be 5 or not turn 7 before August 1, 1994.

All returning players who will be in the same leagues as last year must register but will not have to attend tryouts.

Babe Ruth tryouts will be Saturday, Feb. 19. T-Ball players will not try out, but everyone will be assigned to a team.

Tryouts for softball will be announced later. For more information, call 330-5697.

SCSC Spring softball

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Seminole County Parks and Recreation is holding registrations for its 15-week Spring Slowpitch Softball Leagues that will begin play the week of March 7 at the new Seminole County Softball Complex.

A managers' meeting will be Tuesday, Feb. 22, at 7 p.m. Roasters are due on Feb. 28.

Fees are $420 (subject to change) for Seminole County, plus $40 for Metro Orlando (subject to change). Payments are separate. Fees must be paid at time of registration.

Maryland gets past FSU

TALLAHASSEE — Florida State's basketball team falls to Maryland 60-66 in a raucous game to end its season.

Charlie Ward's desperation 3-point shot for a possible tie at the final buzzer rimmed out, probably erasing the Seminoles' chances of any postseason play.

Florida State's Bob Sura, the Atlantic Coast Conference's leading scorer, missed four free throws in the final 1:43 that would have put his team ahead. Sura hit only 5 of 13 free throws in the game and finished with 14 points to share team scoring honors with Ward.

AROUND THE NATION

Arkansas skins Gators

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — Scotty Thurman scored 24 points. Corliss Williamson 20 and Darnell Robinson a career-high 15 as No. 3 Arkansas beat No. 20 Florida 99-87 Saturday in a matchup of the Southeastern Conference leaders.

The game was tied six times in the first half, but Florida (19-4, 9-2) never got even in the final 31 minutes. The Razorbacks (18-2, 8-2) were ahead 13 with 5:47 to play before Dan Cross hit a jumper and a 3-pointer to make it 90-84 with 1:38 left.

Corey Beck made five free throws and Williamson two in the final 35 seconds.

Cross scored 29 points and Martil Kuisma contributed 15 for the Gators.

Bonnett to be buried Monday

HUEYTOWN, Ala. — The funeral for NASCAR driver Neil Bonnett, killed in a crash at Daytona Beach, will be buried Monday at Garywood Assembly of God.

Arrangements for a memorial service at Daytona International Speedway were to be announced later.

The family said donations in Bonnett's name could be made to the following charities with which he was associated:

- The National Head Injury Foundation, 1776 Massachusetts Ave., Suite 100, Washington, D.C., 20036-1904.
• Big Oak Ranch, Rt. 9, Box 587, Glencoe, Ala., 35905.

Rams, 'acquaintances' in semis

From Staff Reports

LAKE MARY — One thing working in the favor of the Lake Mary Rams in their quest for the Class 5A boys' soccer state championship will be familiarity.

Joining the Rams (27-2-1) in next weekend's semifinals at the Cocoa Expo Center are the Melbourne Bulldogs (26-1-2), Tampa-Leto Falcons (19-4-2), and Miami Beach High Tides (16-6-3), teams that Lake Mary has played this season.

Unfortunately, Lake Mary was 1-2 in those three contests, beating Miami Beach 2-1 in Miami on Dec. 12 but losing to Melbourne 1-0 at the Cocoa Expo Center on Dec. 11 and falling to Leto 1-0 in the quarterfinals of the Pizza Hut Invitational on Dec. 28 at Edgewater High School.

By the same token, the Rams were without the services of forwards Jody de Bruin and Aren Cook for the Melbourne and Leto games, de Bruin was in Mexico with the U.S. Men's Under-20 national team while Cook suffered an injury in the first minute of the Melbourne contest and played sparingly the next two weeks.

"We played well in both of those games (the losses to Melbourne and Leto)," said Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle. "We were never upset with our performance. Those losses were due more to coaching mistakes than anything else."

"We were playing a lot of players at the time. We pretty much had a set lineup, but we were looking for other players we could count on in pressure situations. We did what we felt we had to do at the time and I think we're seeing the results of that now."

Since the loss to Leto, the Rams have won 15 consecutive games, including a 4-1 win over Pensacola-Washington in the 5A-Section I championship game Friday night.

de Bruin scored all four goals for Lake Mary. While the first goal was unassisted, the opportunity was created by Nate Garcia, who forced a turnover by the Pensacola-Washington defense, the ball making its way to de Bruin.

The second goal, which came two minutes into the second half, began with de Bruin serving a corner kick past the goal mouth to Jason Tisdell, who cracked a shot that was blocked and deflected back out to de Bruin. He dribbled in a

TAMPA — After slashing through the rest of the state on their way to another appearance in the Class 5A girls' soccer state championship game, the Lyman Greyhounds found themselves face to face with a neighbor.

Playing in the Class 5A semifinals at Pepin-Rood Stadium on the campus of the University of Tampa Friday, Lyman beat Parkland-Douglas 3-1 before the Winter Park Wildcats ripped Miami-Bradcock 6-0.

Lyman and Winter Park were to play for the state championship at 7 p.m. Saturday.

The Greyhounds and Wildcats played twice during the regular season, Lyman winning both games, the second by a 5-0 margin.

On Friday night, Danielle Garrett scored two goals while Danya Harris had a goal and an assist to lead Lyman (27-1) to its 24th consecutive victory and the Greyhounds' third state championship game berth in four years.

LAKE MARY — On to the next round.

Lake Howell and Lake Brantley advanced to the finals of the Class 5A-District 4 girls' basketball tournament in dominating fashion Friday night at Lake Mary High School and, in the process, earned spots in next Tuesday's sub-regionals.

Top-seeded Lake Howell out-scored No. 4 seed Spruce Creek 38-16 in the second and third periods to race away from a 15-15 first quarter tie and cruised to its 31st victory of the season, 61-41.

The third-seeded Lake Brantley Patriots used a blazing start and exceptional execution on in-bounds plays to upset No. 2 seed Daytona Beach-Mainland, 68-58.

Defense nets 4A-6 finals for Seminole

From Staff Reports

ST. CLOUD — Plagued once again by poor shooting, the Seminole High School girls' basketball team cranked up its defense Friday night to rally past Leesburg 68-36 in the semifinals of the 4A-District 6 tournament at St. Cloud High School.

In the other semifinal, St. Cloud — ranked No. 1 all year in the Florida Sports Writers Association's Class 4A state poll — eliminated Cypress Creek 80-42.

While St. Cloud was to host Seminole in the district championship game at 7 p.m. Saturday night, Friday's wins guaranteed both teams a subregional game next Tuesday in the Florida High School Activities Association's expanded playoffs.

The winner of the Seminole-St. Cloud will host the runner-up from District 5 (which includes two Volusia County schools and four from Brevard) while the loser visits the District 5 champion.

In the first half of their game with the Leesburg Yellow Jackets (14-7), the Seminoles fell behind 13-4 after one quarter and trailed 26-16 at halftime. Over the final two quarters, Seminole (11-16) out-scored Leesburg 52-10.

"We came out with no spark in the first half," said Seminole coach John McNamara. "In the second half, we came out and held them scoreless for the first four minutes and 25 seconds of the third quarter. We were playing defense all over the place."

In the process, Seminole forced Leesburg into 52 turnovers, 17 in the third quarter alone. Mindee Hampton led the Tribe's defensive attack with 10 steals. Tennessee MONTVERDE — That must have been some halftime talk.

If you happened upon Friday's game between Orangewood Christian and Montverde Academy and saw a score of 6-6, you may have thought it was a baseball contest rather than the semifinals of the Class B-District 5 girls' basketball tournament.

But the Orangewood Christian Rams finally awoke in the second half, outscoring Montverde 28-18 in the final 16 minutes to claim a 34-34 victory and a spot in next Tuesday's sub-regionals.

"Jessica Maffet had a great game," said Orangewood head coach Bob Daugherty. "She pulled it out for us. When we were tied at halftime, I was beside myself and wasn't sure what to do. We were horrible. But Maffet and Andrea (Hart) had good games to save us."

Roberts, Perkins help Arrow Force II to 10-0 SAC mark

By KURT LUTTERMOSE
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — You can try and contain them. Stop one, maybe. But to halt both Eric Roberts and Ray Perkins, the guards for the Seminole High School boys' basketball team, never.

On Friday night, the talented duo combined for 42 points as No. 8-ranked Seminole completed a perfect run through the Seminole Athletic Conference with a convincing 73-59 win over the Oviedo Lions.

The victory, Arrow Force II's 13th in a row, gives Seminole a 24-6 heading in the 4A-District 6 tournament next week while Oviedo finishes the regular season at 9-18.

With Oviedo playing tough in the second quarter and a score of 15 all, Roberts took over both defensively and offensively.

Roberts found teammate Andre Hall (five points) underneath for a quick two. As soon as Oviedo had chance to turn around, Roberts had the steal and another easy two.

Before the Lions knew what had hit them, the junior guard went on to score his squad's next five points, the last three coming off a beautiful, twisting lay-up accompanied by a foul.

Seminole never looked back.

"We've been getting great play from our guards all year, especially from Eric and Ray," said Seminole coach Bob Traina. "With those two setting the tone and our big guys getting down on the break, our offense has been really clicking."

The first half ended with more Roberts theatrics. Calmy looking at the clock, Roberts (22 points) came upcourt and found Brad Traina (6 six), who gave Seminole a 35-22 halftime advantage.

"It was good to close out the season like this," added Traina. "The kids really worked hard for the No. 1 seed (in the district tournament) and they deserved it. But one thing the seed doesn't guarantee is easy wins. As (Oviedo) Coach (Ed) Bolton says, it's never a sure thing."

Along with Roberts' 22 points and five rebounds, Perkins pumped in 20, many of which from dazzling off-balance jumpers and fast break lay-ins.

The Lions did manage to score Seminole into a time-out in the fourth when Shawn Sams dunked home a deuce. But the score was 71-59 with :41 on the clock when Sams scored. The dunked looked nice but it was too late for Oviedo.

Brad Boss led the Lions with 20 points. Sams finished with 12.

Intrigue and turmoil take back seat as Winter Olympiad begins

By DAVE CARPENTER Associated Press Writer LILLEHAMMER, Norway — Against a spectacular snowy backdrop, the Winter Games opened today with a pageant of traditional Norwegian cultures — trolls and reindeer included — and a breathtaking fly-by lighting of the Olympic flame.

"We want to present these Games in the Norwegian way," said Gerhard Heiberg, president of the Lillehammer Olympic Organizing Committee. They sure have, for a start. The sun shone for the first time in a week, and snow flakes floated as 400 local children formed the Olympic rings from five perfect circles at the foot of the jumps.

birthplace of the Olympics, came first, and the United States was third, based on alphabetizing in Norwegian. Canmy Myler, a luge racer from Lake Placid, N.Y., carried the American flag at the front of the U.S. team, clad in long blue down coats and grey cowboy hats. The 200-strong U.S. contingent did not include the two protagonists from what has become the dark shadow of these Games — figure skater Nancy Kerrigan and Tonya Harding.

For 98 years, a torch has been carried into a stadium to ignite the Olympic flame that burns brightly while the youth of the world compete for gold and glory. Never has it arrived in such a way as this. Atop the 120-kilometer hill, Gruben took the torch, a gracefully bent 5-foot piece of wood, tipped with silver and carrying the fire lit by the sun at Ancient Olympia, Greece, last month. Gruben, a last-minute replacement when the original jumper was injured in a practice fall this week, roared down the hill and soared through the air, the flame held high in his right hand. As he landed on the flat of the stadium, the crowd cheered, and Gruben handed the torch to Cathrine Nottingnes, a 19-year-old cross-country skier and guide who is almost blind. Nottingnes, who will participate in the Paralympics for handicapped athletes next month, in turned took the torch to Norway's Crown Prince Haakon, who shares his name with one of the Games' human mascots, Haakon and Kristin. Haakon, the prince, touched the torch to the top of a tall cauldron, and the Olympic flame burst to life. Vegard Ulvang, a Norwegian icon for his cross-country gold medals and globe-spanning bravery, took the Olympic oath for the athletes. Ulvang had criticized Samaranch and the IOC this week as being backward and undemocratic, but he stood proudly as he recited the pledge to compete "in the true spirit of sportsmanship, for the glory of sport and the honor of our teams."

Southern Bell settles suit Phone bills expected to go down

By NICK PFEIPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Most Southern Bell Telephone subscribers can expect their phone bills to go down. The prediction was made by Southern Bell Regional Manager Larry Strickler.

A compromise settlement has been announced in a rate cut law suit filed in July, 1992. The suit against Southern Bell involved the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), and the Florida Consumer Action Network (FCAN). Also involved was Florida Attorney General Bob Butterworth.

Because a compromise has been reached, specific details of the suit have been declared moot, and will not be pursued further.

"Everyone was surprised with our compromise offer," Strickler said. "But when the Public Service Commission approved it, we felt it was a historical decision, where both sides wanted to reduce rates, and actually, both sides came out better."

"Effective 30 days after the FPSC approves the agreement," Strickler said, "the $1 per month charge for touch-tone phones will be dropped. Additionally, local service rates have now been capped until 1997, so rates will not climb."

"We also have a service-guarantee plan which will start in late 1994," he continued. "Under that, we would provide rebates to customers if it is determined that installation or maintenance services were unsatisfactory."

Other changes include capping basic business lines and directory assistance charges at current levels, also through 1997.

Southern Bell withdrew its optional expanded local service proposal, and agreed not to propose any local measured service request on a statewide basis.

The actual agreement as a result of the suit calls for approximately $300 million worth of rate cuts, to be phased in over the next three years.

Southern Bell employees were issued a statement on the results of the settlement. It explained the rate cuts and agreements. It did not, however, mention whether the cuts would involve any employee cutbacks.

"We have been down-sizing the company for several years now," Strickler explained, "and people know what will be happening with staffing. Actually, we are offering a great deal of assistance for those wishing to relocate, and working with others on early retirement plans."

"We may end up with fewer employees," Strickler commented, "but we will be doing it in a planned and open fashion."

The Barcelona, the new Dave Brewer Home at Alaqua in Longwood

Barcelona added to Alaqua

LONGWOOD — Dave Brewer Homes, Inc., has started construction on the "Barcelona," a five-bedroom 4,600 square-foot home in the custom home community of Alaqua.

Vice President of Marketing and Sales Bob Underwood said the home will be ready for the Spring Parade of Homes in April.

Situated on a heavily wooded homestead, the "Barcelona" has interior design by Marc Michaels and Associates of Winter Park.

The "Barcelona" is priced at $759,900.

Underwood said there are some 40 homesites available at Alaqua, with homes starting at $800,000.

The community is located off Markham Woods Road, between S.R. 434 and Lake Mary Boulevard in Longwood.

SANFORD — In 1992, feature films such as My Girl and Passenger 57 were among major movies produced in part in Sanford. Since that time, film segments, television commercials and lately, a magazine-type TV show segment was filmed in Sanford.

"Over $92.3 million were spent on production in the local area last year," said Melanie Forbrick, with the Metro Orlando Film and Television Office.

The organization handles TV, motion picture and commercial shooting in Seminole, Orange, Osceola and Lake Counties.

The organization was established in 1986 according to Kathy Ramsberger, director of the Economic Development Commission of Mid-Florida's Metro Orlando Film and Television office.

"It has truly made a niche for itself with television and commercial production," Ramsberger said. "Our office tracked, permitted and provided assistance to numerous television shows, specials and commercials in the area."

She explained, "Television and commercial producers come to our area because of our state-of-the-art production facilities, outstanding vendors and qualified and enthusiastic crews. The area also offers great locations ... from small quaint towns and dark green jungles to wide open fields."

Although some filmings and/or tapings are conducted within the confines of a studio, many others are shot outdoors. 1992's My Girl, for example, clearly shows many familiar scenes in the historical residential district of Sanford as well as some shots downtown.

Among 1993 productions which may have familiar sights for Central Floridians, are: Welcome Freshman; G.U.T.S.; Clarissa Explains It All; and Weinerville.

Among syndicated TV shows filmed in this four-county area are episodes of Circus of the Stars; Jeopardy; Unsolved Mysteries; Mickey Mouse Club; Full House; Academy of Country Music Awards, and many others.

In addition, there is a list of commercials filmed locally, which covers all types of products from Kmart to Ford Motor Company and various commercials with Shaquille O'Neal.

Family saluted during Black History Month

Love and total dedication to God and to each other represents the foundation of the John and Sonja Thomas family we have chosen to salute this week for African-American Month.

Thomas was proud to speak of his beginnings as a young boy. He said his childhood days were rooted in a loving Christian home with John's mother and father, the late Mrs. Cora Mae and Mr. Stenson Thomas. There were seven brothers and eight sisters in the family. Sonja's parents, the late Mrs. Mattye and Mr. Herbert Cherry, were the parents of three girls and one boy.

John said education was a top priority in his family as well as in the Cherry family. So after he graduated from Hungerford High School in Eatonville and she graduated from Crooms High School, Sanford, they both attended Seminole Community College. Following SCC, they attended Appalachian State University in Boone, N.C. John received a bachelor of science degree in industrial arts and Sonja earned a B.S. in elementary education.

65th anniversary celebration

The Galloways reach memorable milestone

Not too many couples celebrate 65 years of marriage, but James O. "Slim" and Ina Galloway have happily reached that milestone — a memorable event that called for a gala celebration.

Vivacious Ina is real proud of their accomplishment and admits that all has not been "clear water." She laughed, "Hang in there...give and take. We wouldn't do any exchanging...we've enjoyed it."

The couple, who were married Feb. 3, 1927, in Albertville, Ala., were honored on Jan. 30 at a reception given by their children at the Lake Mary home of their daughter, Mrs. Robert (Bobie Jean) Reaves who was assisted by their son, J. Hoyt Galloway of Rockledge. Approximately 100 friends and relatives called during the appointed hours.

The Galloways moved from North Alabama to Sanford in 1934. Slim spent many years celery farming when Sanford was the celery capitol of the world. After 25 years in law enforcement, he retired in 1976.

Slim recalls that when he was elected constable in 1951, there were five officers at the Seminole County Sheriff's Department. He served the city of Sanford on the Planning and Zoning Board from 1975-1985 and served as chairman from 1978-1984. He also worked on the Code Enforcement Board for three years. Presently, Slim is a member of the American Legion, Forty and Eight and the Elk's Club.

Miss Ina, as she is fondly known, was employed by Raborn's Seminole County Laundry and Dry Cleaners for many years. Later she served as a Seminole County Court bailiff for 10 years. She is still active in the Central Florida Regional Hospital Auxiliary (the former Pink Ladies) of which she has been a member for approximately 40 years.

Active in the Central Baptist Church, the Galloways do all of their yard work, house work and shopping and are members of Central Baptist Church. They have three grandchildren, five great grandchildren and two great, great grandchildren.

Ina says they have had a good life...lots of good things. But she recalls two devastating times when, in 1944, her son had a brain tumor which required surgery, and, in 1961, when she Crocheting rags into rugs may have been something grandma did to conserve every scrap piece of material, but Terri Reinolda has found it to be a relaxing pastime. Her hobby of making dolls also uses her God-given creativity. With her door always open to someone in need, she utilizes her inventiveness to brighten another person's day. Her calm and gentle spirit reflects the commitment of a life that is dedicated to serving others.

LAKE MARY — One doesn't have to go to New York City to find a slice of instruction in the arts. A little piece of it can be found in the Shoppes of Lake Mary. Under one roof are dance instruction, gymnastics, art lessons and piano and voice classes.

David and Karen Capoun began their venture with Lake Mary Dance Academy, formerly located at Driftwood Village. They have been in business for eight years and one year of that time has been at the Shoppes of Lake Mary.

"My wife, Karen, owns Lake Mary Dance Academy," said David. "She always wanted to open a shop for dancewear, shoes and children's clothing." It was the brainchild of Karen that began their business of K.C.'s Closet located next to the Dance

Catherine Vitale, Nellie McCarthy and Dottie Smith make Boo-Boo bears.

The Lake Mary Seniors Woopie Sewers are continuing with their goal to make 100 Boo-Boo bears for the Family and Community Education volunteers. The seniors work on these bears every Tuesday from 9:30 a.m.-noon at the senior center (Old City Hall). Seniors unable to get to the center for health reasons make the bears at home.

Quilting class and art: Paint On Your Own, which meets at the same time as the Woopie Sewers, are also going strong. Any seniors wishing to participate in these activities are encouraged to stop by the senior center at 158 North Country Club Road.

A very special senior program will be offered Tuesday, Feb. 22 at 10:30 a.m. at the senior center. The guest speaker will be Dottie Burkette, community service officer from the Sheriff's Office. She will be explaining the daily calling service which is provided by the Seminole County Sheriff's Office. Finger food will be provided and all seniors are encouraged to attend.

The seniors have two field trips planned for February. On

The second field trip for February will be a trip to the Florida State Fair, Friday, Feb. 18. The cost will be $19 which includes transportation and a ticket to the fair. Lunch will be on your own. The seniors will leave at 9 a.m. and return at 5 p.m.

Breakfast in D.C.

When Father Beverly Barge of St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Lake Mary received the official looking invitation in the mail, he had to make a few telephone calls before he could believe it was real. The invitation was asking him to attend the National Prayer Breakfast in Washington, D.C.

The National Prayer Breakfast is a Senate/House joint committee who meet each week for prayer, Bible study and discussion. This particular meeting was held in conjunction with the National Leadership Seminar.

Barge said he and his wife attended a regional dinner and a media seminar on Wednesday evening, Feb. 2 prior to the prayer breakfast on Thursday morning, Feb. 3.

The breakfast was attended by more than 4,000 invited guests from the United States and the world. Barge said he knew at least four heads of state were present. Readings were given by Don Shula, Vice President Al Gore, Senator Mark Hatfield and President Clinton.

But the most surprising and marvelous thing about the morning according to Barge was the keynote speaker, Mother Theresa. Barge said that the ovation given to her when she

Schaffer-Johnson vows exchanged aboard ship

KEY WEST — On Dec. 19, 1993, Heather Marie Schaffer and Steven Blake Johnson were joined in marriage by Capt. W. Clark Voss Jr. aboard the Appledore sailing ship. The famous Key West sunset was the perfect setting for a romantic wedding ceremony attended by guests and crew of the Appledore sunset cruise. The newlyweds honeymooned in Key West for several days before returning home for the holidays. The bride, daughter of Joanna and Joseph Schaffer of Sanford, attends the University of Florida, Gainesville. She will graduate in May 1994. The groom, son of Jim and Nita Johnson of Sanford, is employed by Suwannee River Log Homes, Inc. He will attend classes at Santa Fe Community College, Gainesville, in the fall. The newlyweds are making their home near Gainesville.

ENGAGEMENTS

Pedigo-Alexander

LAKE MARY — Eddie and Paulette Pedigo of Lake Mary are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne Marie Pedigo, to Frank L. Alexander, son of Frank L. Alexander, Willie Parks and Gayle Alexander of Orlando. Born in Orlando, the bride-elect is the maternal granddaughter of Dovie Morehead of Bowling Green, Ky., and the late Mr. Paul Morehead. She is the paternal granddaughter of the late Mr. Haakel Sr. and Mrs. Ottilie Pedigo, formerly of Bowling Green.

Ms. Pedigo is a 1988 graduate of Seminole Community College Adult High School, Sanford. She is a 1992 graduate of Valencia Community College, Orlando where she received an associate degree in science-radiology. Ms. Pedigo is currently employed as radiologic technician at the Woman's Center for Radiology in Orlando. Her fiancé, born in Orlando, is the maternal grandson of Mrs. Mildred Bradford of Orlando and the late Mr. Ralph Bradford. He is the paternal grandson of the late Mr. Byron Alexander Sr. and Mrs. Carolyn Alexander, formerly of Orlando.

Alexander is a 1988 graduate of Lake Mary High School, Lake Mary, where he participated in varsity soccer for three years. He attended Belmont Abbey College, N.C. for two years and was a member of the varsity soccer team. Alexander is presently employed as a roofing subcontractor. The wedding will be an event of March 19, 1994, 2 p.m., St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Ocoee, Fla.

alphabet, A, B, C, and D. Being a housewife and mother of four keeps her very busy. She also works one morning a week within the mission and assists her husband in the print shop on occasion. She finds time for her crocheting when the children go to bed. "I was shopping and walking around Fica World one day," she said. "I saw a heart rug crocheted with material and felt in love with it. I said to myself, I'm learning to crochet and am making one of the heart rugs. I was determined to learn how." Reinalda buys material from a lady with a booth at Fica World.

The material comes in spools and is in many different patterns. Women in earlier years used actual rags or scraps of material, instead of the spools used today. "You don't have to rip or piece it together now," she said. "You can buy the spools of material in varying widths." She also makes baskets from the same crocheting style. "I would occasionally make baskets for the lady at Fica World," said Reinalda. She cited that it took about two hours to make a large basket, 10 hours to crochet a rug and 1 hour for placemats. "It really is enjoyable," she said. "You can watch television and visit with friends and still work on it. Once you learn the pattern, you can work on it any time." Another of Reinalda's creative hobbies is what she refers to as "roly-poly dolls." "They are made from sand, poly-fill, material and a wooden bead for the head. She had displayed in her home an Amish man and woman, a grandma and grandpa set, a Santa and Mrs. Claus, an angel, and the beginnings of a bride and groom. "I made a complete Nativity set at Christmas time," she said. "All the dolls are great to give as gifts." To begin a doll Reinalda cuts the material needed and bags up the sand. "I use sand because when I made them with just poly-fill they wouldn't sit up evenly," she said. When the material was draped around to form a plump body a glue gun was used to put the material in place. "I add accessories as needed," she said. "I use baskets for the Amish women, small bouquets for the brides and other accessories. They're easy and fun and it's something my mother has enjoyed helping me with." Rugs and dolls may occupy some of Reinalda's time but one of her favorite dolls, the angel, validates her beliefs that her angels are truly set on those things that are above.

Academy. The store sells ballet and tap shoes, leotards and tights, as well as consignment clothing and shoes for children. An array of ballet pins, ballerina hair barrettes and other dance themes for accessories and dance items are available.

Karen Capoun is one of the instructors for the Dance Academy. "We have five instructors and five assistants," she said. "There are over 400 students enrolled and most take at least two classes. There are three dance rooms within the studio." The Capouns offer pickup service from Lake Mary Elementary, free of charge. Capoun has found that many parents have discontinued day care, have saved money by the decision, and feel comfortable that their children can go from dance to piano to art lessons if they so desire.

"The parents are happy to know their children aren't just being baby sat, they're being trained," said Capoun. The Dance Academy offers gymnastics, tap, ballet, jazz, baton, pointe, flag and rifle, and dance skate for children. Adult tap and jazz has mostly mothers and grandmas between the ages of 40 to 73, she said. "We offer a four-week class for the dads. It's always a real hit. About 63 participated in the last recital. We played Daddy's Little Girl and they dance with their daughters. The moms all had tears in their eyes." Plans are in the works to begin a performing arts class. The class will involve instruction in singing, acting, modeling and cheerleading. They will also teach runway modeling. The students at Lake Mary Dance Academy have won much publicity and honors. ent competition for the last two years. Students were in Disney's 20th anniversary celebration and the Citrus Bowl's half-time show. One student, John Raser, was in Disney's Christmas Spectacular. He dances with the Kids of the Kingdom. His sister, Teri Raser, was one of nine chosen out of 300 applicants, and was on the National Teacher's Awards Show," said Capoun. The interesting fact is one third of Carol Sissom's piano students also take dance and one-half of Celeste Pipitone's art students take dance. Karen Capoun then met Sissom, who instructs students in piano and voice lessons. Her business, Music Express Studio, is located in a suite within K.C.'s Closet. She is a professional musician and vocalist with numerous credits. Sissom currently is the pianist for the teen choir at her church in Sanford.

"I began teaching lessons out of my home, but my student load grew too big so I began looking for space to rent," said Sissom. She teaches beginners, intermediate and advanced lessons to all ages. "A child should be at least 6 or 7 years old before considering to take piano lessons," she said. "They should be able to read. They need good eye, hand coordination." Classes are scheduled late afternoon and early evening, but she has some adults participating in morning sessions. Her style of teaching leans more toward the traditional and classical, but she felt she does gear the material toward the student's interest. Sissom cited that she felt children needed to be offered more than just sports in school. "I think cultural enrichment is important." Celeste Pipitone is the instructor for Art Lessons for Kreative Kids. "Most of my classes are on drawing right now," she said. "Another class I have is creative media and crafts." Pipitone directs students through painting with a feather duster, bubble painting (food coloring in bubbles), and miscellaneous crafts. Charcoal drawings were the classes in which some Lake Mary students participated. "I like to use different drawing mediums," she said. "We deal with the basic, proportion, perspective, shading, and still life." Painting classes will be available. Classes for art instruction are also in the late afternoon and early evening. Students are able to receive instruction in a wide array of the arts without traveling long distances. The convenience is a tremendous plus for parents, yet, best of all, students enjoy themselves, and Capoun, Sissom and Pipitone have found a way to make learning fun.

Law student honored
J.J. Partlow has been elected to represent the Mississippi College of Law in the National Trials Competition beginning this month in Arkansas and progressing to Chicago for the original competition in April.

J.J. is a third year law student at Mississippi College. He presently has his externship with the Rankin County District Attorney's Office prosecuting. He is a Mount Court Board Member and is presently placed on the Dean's List. Partlow, son of Deborah Partlow of Sanford and Pat Partlow of DeLand, was a 1991 honors graduate of Florida State University in Criminology and Criminal Justice. He is also a 1988 graduate of Seminole High School, where in addition to being awarded several athletic letters, his executive internship program was under the leadership of the late attorney Thomas Whigham and the law firm of Stenstrom, Macintosh & Whigham. J.J. will be receiving his Juris Doctorate in May.

Cora and Jack Kanner will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary next Saturday in Sanford. The Kannerns made their home in Sanford until about two years ago when they moved to Inverness to be near their daughter, Linda English.

Jack is a native son and was in the glass and auto business in Sanford. Cora was employed by the Casselberry Police Department, among other positions. They lived in the same house on Sanford Avenue for 40 years. Congratulations, Cora and Jack!

Super Bowl 'nice'

It may be a little late, but better late than never. Sharon Vereen was the recipient of a free trip to the Super Bowl game in Atlanta, thanks to a drawing conducted by Kay Jewelers. Sharon said she and her husband, Danny, were married in August and that he bought her ring at Kay's. In December, Sharon said she went back into the jewelry store to have the stones checked when she filled out a stub for the drawing. And, guess what? When drawing time rolled around, Sharon's number was selected. She and Danny departed for Atlanta on Saturday around noon and arrived back home on Monday. They were given the full red carpet treatment at the Marriott, Atlanta Airport, where they enjoyed incredible hospitality and superb food. "It was wonderful. It was really nice," Sharon said.

But all Cinderella weekends must end and now Sharon is happily back at her post with the Orlando Police Department.
Do-Do Day
The first phase of the first United Methodist Church's Do-Do Day will be held Thursday, Feb. 17, in fellowship hall. This event, open to the public, is the night when hearts are trumps for all the sweethearts expected to attend. A baked chicken dinner with all the trimmings will be served for $4. Reservations and tickets are available through the church office or the men of the church. Several surprises are in store including recorded music by Emile Podoff. The second segment of DO-Do Day is scheduled March 5. More on this event later.

for those families. This is the first year for the Seminole County Fair. It will be held at the Seminole Greyhound Park. The fair starts Feb. 24 and runs through March 6. The Family Health Day will be March 5 only.

Over 30 agencies will be setting up booths at the fair for the Family Health Day to show citizens what Seminole County has to offer. Free immunizations will be offered through the Seminole County Health Department to those in need. To help take away the sting, various volunteer groups, including the Lake Mary Senior Citizens Woppie Sewers, are making Boo-Boo bears to give to the children who get immunized. Other health services will be offered, such as HIV testing, eye screening, and blood pressure checks. This is a family health day and everyone is invited to attend. The Family and Education volunteers are working with the schools to encourage participation and to get children to think about their families. At the elementary level, there will be a poster contest, "Why My Family is Important to Me." At the middle school level, the contest is through the English Department with an essay on family. At the high school level, the yearbook is sponsoring a photography contest on family. The first prize in each contest will be a free use membership to the local YMCA, donated by Ed Thomas, branch director for the YMCA. There will also be second and third place prizes at each level.
Father-daughter cruise
Saturday, Feb. 5, several Lake Mary Girl Scout troops enjoyed a father-daughter cruise with the St. John's River Cruises and Tours. Girls and family from Troops 1592, 536, and 1397 took to the water at 9 a.m. Various wildlife, including 8 bald eagles, was spotted. The only disappointment — no alligators! At 10:30 a.m., girls and their fathers from Troops 592, 441 and 148 set out. This trip netted only four bald eagles, but they did get to see a three-foot alligator and two water moccasins. Both trips netted plenty of questions from children and adults which father and son guides, Bob and Robert Hopkins, had no trouble answering.

Scouts visit Brownies

In other Girl Scout happenings this week, two Junior Girl Scouts from Troop 148 visited Brownie Girl Scout Troop 1104. As part of their bridging, steps Girls Scouts take to go from one level to another, Troop 1104 invited the girls from Troop 148 to come to their meeting and tell them what it's like being a Junior Girl Scout. The girls traded camping stories and ended the evening with everyone's favorite camping dessert, S'mores.

Youth dances

Are you ready for a "Friday Night Blast" of "Atomic Proportions"? Then you should be at the Lake Mary Community Center, 260 North Country Club Road, on Feb. 18 for the second in a series of youth-oriented dances sponsored by the City of Lake Mary. Geared towards kids ages 11 to 15, this night of "House Shaking Entertainment" was well attended when first held in January. A deejay, "Mr.

J..." will provide a light and sound program, food and drinks will be on sale, and there will be free give-aways and door prizes. According to the community center coordinator, Terry Diederich, the event will be well chaperoned by city staff and the police department. The dance will run from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door for $3. If you would like more information, please contact the community center at 324-3097.
Olde Lake Mary Days
There will be a planning meeting for Olde Lake Mary Days at Old City Hall on Wednesday, Feb. 16 at 8 p.m. This meeting will finalize plans for civic and other groups who are interested in participating, so all interested parties should attend. # Learn to be a sweetheart by following these rules

DEAR READERS: Can you believe tomorrow will be St. Valentine's Day again - already? And what better time to revive my Ten Commandments of Love?

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Yes, Dear Readers, I actually had the chutzpah to write my own Ten Commandments, but it wasn't as though I was stealing from strangers - one of my ancestors was privileged to have received them on Mount Sinai from the Lord himself - at least that's what the Good Book says. Originally, I wrote two sets of commandments - one for men and one for women. Then, Mandy Stillman, a lawyer and early feminist from Milwaukee, wrote to demand equal rights for women, insisting that there be only one set of commandments.

She was right, of course. So how's this for a gender bender? THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF LOVE

— Thou shalt put thy mate before thy mother, thy father, thy son and thy daughter, for thy mate is thy lifelong companion.

— Abuse not thy body with excessive food, tobacco, drink, or any foreign substance that goeth into thy arm or up thy nose.

— Do not forget that cleanliness is a virtue.

— Permit neither thy business nor thy hobby to make thee a stranger to thy children, for the most precious gift a parent can give his or her family is TIME.

— Make not a beggar of thy mate. Willingly share with him or her thy worldly goods.

— Forget not to say, "I love you." For even though thy love may be constant, thy mate doth yearn to hear those cherished words.

— Remember that the approval of thy mate is worth far more than the adoring glances of a hundred strangers, so cleave unto thy mate, and forsake all others.

— Keep thy home in good repair, for out of it cometh the joys of old age (not to mention its resale value).

— Forgive with grace, for who among us does not need to be forgiven?

— Honor the Lord thy God all the days of thy life, and thy children will grow and bless you. Tomorrow, be a sweetheart.

Call someone you love and say, "I love you." (Make two or three calls; who says you can't love more than one person - in different ways, of course?)

Go through your closets and give all those clothes you've been saving until you lose 10 pounds to your favorite charity. Call someone who's lonely and say, "I'm thinking of you." Or better yet, say, "I'll be over tomorrow to take you to lunch...or run some errands...or give you a ride."

Visit a sick friend. Say a prayer. Donate some blood. Adopt a pet. Will your eyes, your kidneys and all your usable organs to someone who can use them after you're gone. Forgive an enemy. Hug your teen-ager. Write a fan letter. Listen to a bore. Pay your doctor. Tell your parents you think they're wonderful. Spay your dog. Neuter your cat. Quit smoking. Drive carefully. If you're walking, watch where you're going.

And don't wait until next year to be a sweetheart again.

Love, ABBY

John served his country for two years in the U.S. Army and survived a tour in Vietnam.

Their dedication to the youth of the area has seen them sharing an educational career together as a family. John has been a teacher and coach at Oviedo High School for the past 20 years where he coached football, basketball, track and field. Sonja has taught in the Seminole County school system for 23 years, 20 of them at Lake Mary Elementary School. She was named Lake Mary's Teacher of the Year in 1988.

The Thomases are proud of their heritage and they smiled broadly when they began to talk of their three lovely, gifted children: LaTonja, Rena and son Aaron. LaTonja is a graduate of Oviedo High where she was very active in many organizations and received numerous awards in track and field. She was conference champion in the 100- and 200-meter dash for two years and won a four-year scholarship to Florida A&M University. Her freshman year she received the Rookie of the Year award in track. LaTonja is presently a sophomore majoring in political science.

Rena is a junior at Oviedo High School where she is active as a varsity cheerleader, a former basketball player, a track team member, National Honor Society, Beta Club, Synergistics, Mu Alpha Theta and Gospel Choir. While at Sanford Middle School, Rena was awarded the Walt Disney Dreamer and Doer award.

Aaron is a freshman at Oviedo High where he is an active member of the JV basketball team. He was also selected to the state's AAU All Star basketball team. Baseball is one of his sports and he is actively involved in the city of Sanford's league. He is a 5-year member of the Pop Warner football program and an ardent soap box derby racer and has competed in the Sanford Soap Box Derby for two years.

The Thomases said they believe in putting God first in their lives. Their children are constantly reminded that all talents and gifts come from God, who must receive the glory. The family are Christian workers in the vineyard for the Master at the St. John Metropolitan Baptist Church where John is superintendent of the Sunday school and Sonja is piano assistant and teacher. LaTonja, Rena and Aaron are active students of the Sunday school and the Young Adult Choir. The Thomases are serving as deacon and deaconess of St. John's where they also lead services, and use their golden voices as members of the senior choir.

We salute this dedicated Christian family for their devotion and service to the community. We salute them for helping to make the dreams and talents of the youth of today stand out in this world and in helping them become successful citizens.

History month set today

St. Matthew Missionary Baptist Church will observe Black History Month with a program this morning at 11 a.m. by the youth of the church "Knowing Your Heritage." The community is invited to attend this service. The Rev. Leonard Wilson is pastor.

Awarness program today

The New Salem Primitive Baptist Church, West 12th St. is sponsoring a Black Awareness program this afternoon at 3 p.m. The community is invited to share in this occasion. Elder Eli Simpson is pastor.

Renew your vows

Second Shiloh Baptist Church invites you to renew your wedding vows this morning at the 11 A.M. worship service and special ceremony. The morning's speaker will be Evangelist Emma McDuffie of Clermont. The Rev. R.T. Davis is pastor.

School presents black history tribute

Lake Mary High School presents "A Tribute to Black History" beginning Tuesday, Feb. 15. African-American artifacts will be displayed in the media center. Classroom activities will include the history of Sanford, the development of black neighborhoods, presented by Atermese Bentley. Politics as it relates to black culture, presented by Commissioner Robert Thomas. Old-fashioned remedies will be presented by Mercedes Medlock.

Catherine Gordon will present African poets and writers, and Dr. Lurline Sweeting will present African Queens and Kings.

Feb. 16 from 10:45-11:45 a.m., an African fashion show will be shown in the multipurpose room. Thursday, Feb. 17 at 7:30 p.m., the African-American celebration will take place in the school auditorium featuring the Fellowship, Praise and Worship Community Choir directed by Eddie Montgomery. The community is invited to attend.

The closing celebration will be held on Sunday, Feb. 17 at 7:30 p.m. Featured will be "Terpsichoreans," performed by the Hampton University Dance Company of Hampton, Va. This show will feature the renowned Sanford's own, Demetria Petty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Petty.

Trio set Sunday

The Central Florida Jazz Society presents Harry Allen Trio, Sunday, Feb. 20, 2-5 p.m. at the Rosemont Country Club, Orlando. You're "gonna" love the sounds of the saxophone playing of Harry Allen who is dedicated to melodic beauty, both in tone and interpretation.

 YOUR BIRTHDAY
 Feb. 13, 1994

Improvements in your financial position are probable in the year ahead. You might have to work a little harder than you've been accustomed to, but it'll be worth it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today if you plan to buy something expensive, take along a friend who knows more about the product you're considering than you do. You may not be getting as good a bargain as you think. Aquarius, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, N.Y. 10163. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be firm with those in your charge today, but also be tolerant and compassionate. If your methods are heavy, they could produce sorry results.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Conditions in general are trending in your favor at this time, but for some reason you might anticipate negative results instead of victories, and thus impede your own progress.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Enjoy yourself today, but try to do it as inexpensively as possible. If you associate with extravagant friends, there's a chance you could become too loose with money yourself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Before devoting your time and energies to a specific endeavor today, be sure its worth the price you'll have to pay. There are indications it may not be.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Today there's a possibility you might hold back some information which you should share with persons who are sharing a common interest with you. Your actions could weaken the alliance.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you have any financial transactions with friends today, double check the numbers to be sure everything comes out fair and equal. Feeling shortchanged is the last thing you want to happen.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You might not take things as seriously as someone with whom you'll be involved today and this could make your associate feel very uncomfortable. Try to be more sensitive.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It might be necessary today for you to criticize a person you like, because what he/she is doing also reflects unfavorably on you. Bite the bullet and do what needs doing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) To be on the safe side today, it may be wise not to take gambles on persons or things about which you know little. Your lack of knowledge could be costly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In order to placate your mate today, it might be necessary for you to make a one-sided concession. Even though it's not a comfortable resolution, it could keep the peace.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't let your personal feelings interfere today in a commercial matter. Just because you don't like someone, it doesn't mean his/her ideas aren't feasible.

something today that appears to serve another's interests. However, you might know it can be equally rewarding for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Behaving diplomatically won't dilute your strength today, actually, it could increase it. The calmer and more logically you speak, the greater your clout and forcefulness.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you have the will today, a way can be found to finalize to your satisfaction a matter that has thus far been unresolved. Give it priority.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Occasionally everyone needs a recreational break and some type of diversion from mundane routines. You won't be goofing off or wasting your time if you follow this prescription today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you have anything going for you at this time that might make or save you money, give it top priority on today's agenda. It could become a reality.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

Today's deal has caused much controversy. Giorgio Belladonna, the Italian superstar who has won 19 world championships, was credited with finding the right play at the table. However, he has always denied that he played the deal. Others claimed it was devised by Paul Lukacs, who used to be the world's best composer of declarer-play problems.

Maybe I have found the answer. In the April 1965 American Contract Bridge League Bulletin, there is the single-dummy problem set by Lukacs. (In a single-dummy problem, you are given only the North and South hands. In a double-dummy problem, you can see all 52 cards.) After West leads the diamond king, how would you play in four spades?

The risk is that you might lose one spade and three heart tricks.

If you could peek at the opponents' hands, you would make the contract. But even without the advantage of X-ray vision, you have an almost guaranteed line of play. After winning with the diamond ace, cross to dummy's club ace and lead the heart nine from the dummy.

If East wins with the queen or ace, you will lose at most three tricks: one spade and two hearts. So let's assume East plays low and West takes your jack with the queen. If the trumps are 2-1 and West leads one, you won't have a spade loser. And if West leads a trump from king-third, you win and play another heart. If West wins with the ace, he cannot remove dummy's spade jack without sacrificing his king. You will get a heart ruff in the dummy.

If you found the right play without having seen this deal before, very well done.
