'55 On-Tree Value Of Citrus Crop Is Highest On Record

LAKELAND (U) — The on-tree value of the Florida citrus crop last season was 196 million dollars, highest on record, the Florida Citrus Commission reports. It topped the previous high for the 1949-50 season by 20 million dollars. It was $1 million dollars above the on-tree value for the 1953-54 season.

The on-tree value is the value before the fruit is taken to be packed or processed. Production for the 1953-54 season was only 4 per cent greater than the previous year and the high cash value to the grower was a result of better prices a box for oranges and tangerines. Prices for grapefruit continued to be low.

The trend toward putting Florida citrus in cans in one form or another grew stronger. Processors used 53 million gallons of concentrate compared to 50,000 gallons 10 years ago.

Frozen orange concentrate took 54 per cent of the orange crop. This made 70 million gallons of concentrate.

Oranges averaged $1.25 a box on-tree; tangerines $1.87 and grapefruit 87 cents.

For oranges the total on-tree value was $128,100,000 for grapefruit $22,100,000 and for tangerines $46,800,000 the commission reported. Florida maintains its top spot among citrus producing centers for both the United States and the world. The 124,000,000 boxes grown in Florida last season were 74 per cent of the U.S. total and 23 per cent of the world total.

Rocket May Be Sent To Moon

By VERN HAUGLAND
WASHINGTON (U) — Two Navy scientists said Tuesday it may have become possible to send a rocket to the moon.

The rocket probably would deliver no more than a "four-pound payload" to the moon, said Kurt R. Stehling, chief of propulsion at the Naval Research Laboratory here, and Richard Foster, a member of the laboratory propulsion staff.

For that reason, they said, the initial payload might consist of nothing but a charge of metallic dust. They said that if it were fired at a new moon and if it landed on the darkened surface, the impact might be witnessed from the earth as a large bright flash.

Stehling and Foster expressed their views in an article prepared for a new magazine, Missiles and Rockets. The article is based on a paper scheduled to be read tomorrow at the International Astronautical Federation Congress in Rome.

They stressed that the opinions expressed were not to be construed as reflecting the views of the Navy Department.

Stehling and Foster said that "when carried aloft to 70,000 feet by a huge four-million-cubic-foot skyhook balloon, a solid-propellant step rocket will be capable of bringing a four-pound payload to the moon."

They noted that small rockets frequently have been carried aloft and launched from balloons, but added that a lunar rocket might require a cluster of smaller balloons for greater stability. The rocket would be launched straight up, through the balloon or balloons they said.

The Navy scientists proposed a three-stage rocket vehicle which they said should hurdle the payload toward the moon. The distance between the moon and the earth varies from 221,463 to 252,710 miles as the moon moves around its orbit.

Many People Don't Know How To Use Their Leisure Time

Millions of wage-earners still active in their jobs can remember a time when the 10-hour working day was not uncommon. Millions more can remember working a six-day, 48-hour week without overtime pay. Millions are now working a five-day week of 40 hours or less.

The trend toward less time on the job with no reduction in pay continues. One of organized labor's big goals, a goal that has been receiving special attention lately in trade union circles, is an even greater cut in working hours.

Quite aside from the immediate impact of additional work-time reduction, it raises important questions about how leisure hours will be used. For though a certain amount of loafing is not a bad thing, too much loafing is wasteful and enervating. Leisure time can be negative—simply time off, aimless and fruitless. Or it can be creative.

This is not to say that everyone can write stories, or compose music, or paint pictures in his leisure hours. But there are many other creative activities. Do-it-yourself projects are creative; volunteer social service work is creative; even recreation can be creative. That is the good side of the picture.

The bad side is that many people do not know what to do with the leisure time they now have, let alone with more free hours. Off the job, they seem lost; they fritter their time away. They need what might be called idleness training, a development of inner resources that will make leisure time fruitful.

They and their kind will pose a growing challenge to society as working hours decrease.

Winning Votes

Politicians are fond of thinking of voters in blocs. They speak of the farm vote, the nationality vote, the religious vote. There may have been a time when this approach to winning votes was accurate. But there are now indications that this is becoming less true.

The man who is a farmer is also a parent. He is naturally interested in how government affects agriculture, but he is equally concerned with what it does about public education. The member of a labor union wants to see government which will deal fairly with labor—but he is also interested in education, in better roads. The business man wants to see his taxes reduced—but he also has other interests which may have even more effect on him when he goes off to vote.

The wise politicians today—and that certainly includes the two men who are seeking our country's highest office—have become aware that a general appeal to citizenship may be more effective than promises to voters as small groups. This is as it should be.

Our aim has always been a society in which artificial class barriers do not exist. Those who seek the support of American citizens at the polls should appeal to them as Americans, and not to the essentially selfish motives which move all of us to some degree.

Court Membership

The resignation of Justice Sherman Minton of the Supreme Court on account of ill health is a reminder that this body is by no means as stable in its membership as is generally supposed. Of the nine members of the court, four justices and two chief justices have died or resigned within the last ten years.

Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone died in 1946, and 1955 saw the death of his successor, Fred M. Vinson. In 1949, Justices Frank Murphy and Wiley B. Rutledge died. Justice Robert Jackson died in 1954. And now Minton has resigned.

Yet the fact that there have been numerous changes during the past decade does not mean that the court is any flimsier or less sound than in past years. Four of the present members have served 17 years or more, and there is no reason to suppose that others may not serve long terms in the future.

It also is true—and this is a most significant point to remember—that the court's high tradition gives it a continuing stability that cannot be weakened by changes in its membership. As long as those who have died or retired from the court are replaced by men of great ability and lofty principles, the Supreme Court's peerless reputation will not be tarnished.

'Old Truth'

Life magazine vividly restates what it termed an "old truth" in these words: "... The more a government does for you the more it has to do to you."

Before government can provide you with any service, it must first take the money from the pockets of you and all the rest of the taxpayers. And it always takes more than it returns, inasmuch as the administrative costs run high.

That isn't all—or even the worst of it. Any welfare state eventually turns to a cheap money policy and lets loose the tides of inflation. Every dollar then buys less and less. The result is a murderous combination of sky-high taxes and depreciated money.

Navy Unveils Model Of World's First Man-Made Satellite

NEW YORK (AP)—The Navy has unveiled a full-scale model of the gleaming metal ball that will whiz into outer space as the world's first man-made satellite.
 The tiny globe will circle the earth in a search for the secrets of space.
 The model was exhibited Monday at a conference of the Instrument Society of America in the New York Coliseum.

The shiny sphere is 20 inches across and weighs about 20 pounds when packed with its miniature instruments. Several small dials—the eyes, ears and fingers of its metal brain—peek the smooth surface of the ball.
 Four radio aeriolas about a yard long stick out from the satellite. Radios inside will relay data back to earth.

Heads Focus On London For Confab

By BEN PRICE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomats of 18 nations, including Secretary of State Dulles, are converging on London for a conference on the Suez crisis.

This is the background of that crisis which rests, in large measure, on the international convention of 1888 'respecting the free navigation of the Suez Maritime Canal.'

This convention was signed at Constantinople Oct. 29, 1888. Parties to it were Great Britain, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Spain, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Russia and Turkey.

At the time the Ottoman Empire, which radiated from Turkey, was Egypt's nominal ruler, but in truth Britain held the canal and, for all practical purposes, Egypt itself through agreements with Egypt's all-but-independent Khedive.

England began to enter Egypt commercially in 1848 when the Pasha Abbas I granted permission to build a railroad between Alexandria and Cairo.

After Abbas' death his uncle Said Pasha became khedive and it was he who gave his good friend, the Frenchman Ferdinand de Lesseps, a franchise to build and operate the Suez Canal.

This franchise, which was to last 99 years ending in 1988, in no way denied Egypt's sovereignty over the canal.
 Originally the British opposed the canal's construction and succeeded in delaying the project for two years. Eventually, though, De Lesseps got a go-ahead from Said, who in turn gave the British franchises to operate banks and telegraphs.

 When Said died in 1868 he was succeeded by his nephew Ismail, whose personal extravagances led Egypt down the road to national bankruptcy. To raise money for his private pleasures, Ismail sold Egypt's holding in the canal to Britain, thus giving Britain 44 per cent of the canal's stock.

Under Ismail, Egypt's finances deteriorated into chaos. Britain and France entered Egypt to protect their investment and took over Egypt's revenue systems.
 The presence of these foreigners stirred Egyptians to a revolt under a cabinet member named Orabi. In May 1882 there was a massacre of Europeans in Alexandria. Britain invited France to help put down the unrest. France declined and Britain went in alone. She bombarded the Alexandrian forts, landed troops and suppressed Orabi. Suez became a British base.

While Britain brought order and increased Egyptian prosperity, her presence fanned a still burning flame of nationalism.
 Meanwhile, British presence at the canal inspired some unrest among the canal's users. The result was the 1906 convention.

The first article declared, "The Suez Maritime Canal shall always be free and open, in time of war as in time of peace, to every vessel of commerce or of war without distinction of flag."
 Under Article 3 "the agents of Egypt of the signatory powers... shall be charged with its execution. In case of any event threatening the security of free passage

 "Sure," beamed the gypsy. "I put 'em there myself. I also give bowling lessons."

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. I have a $10,000 Korean GI term insurance policy. I understand that after Jan. 1, 1957, no more of this insurance will be issued to Korea veterans. Will I have to give up my policy after that date?

A. No. Policies already in force on Jan. 1, 1957, may be retained after that date.

Q. My father died as a result of a service-connected disability, and therefore I am eligible for schooling under the new War Orphans Education Program. Is the amount of schooling I can get based on the length of time he served in the armed forces?

A. It is not. Regardless of how long your father served, you may be eligible for 36 months of schooling. This period of schooling will be shortened only for eligible young men and women who are veterans and who already received training under the Korean GI Bill or Public 894 for the disabled.

Q. I am the widow of a World War I veteran who died of a nonservice-connected condition. I receive a pension from VA each month. Will my pension be affected by the Survivor Benefits Act which revises benefits for dependents of deceased veterans?

A. Your Pension will not be affected by the new Survivor Benefits Act. Only death compensation is affected—payments made to dependents of veterans whose death was due to service-connected causes.

Q. I hold a World War II GI term insurance policy. Is there any deadline for converting my insurance to a permanent plan?

A. There is no deadline for converting your World War II GI term insurance to a permanent plan. You may continue it as term insurance for as long as you please. However, the longer you keep your term insurance the higher will be the premiums. Premiums on permanent plans, on the other hand, remain constant and do not rise.

Veterans living in Central Florida who wish further information about their GI benefits should write or visit the VA office at 42 E. Central Ave., Orlando.

Home Should Show Likes And Dislikes Of Inhabitants

Your personality is expressed in your home. There are revealed your likes and dislikes and an indication of your way of living. Your home must be designed for comfort and to suit the needs of your family, but yet you want it to make the best impression possible.

You cannot furnish your home haphazardly and expect it to have a good appearance. You should allow plenty of time for thought and planning before the first purchase is made.

It's a good idea to draw a rough floor plan and begin your planning from that. Be sure to take into consideration the traffic pattern so that you will not have tables or chairs getting in your way when you walk from room to room.

For a co-ordinated look, pick a basic color and build your color scheme around it. Don't buy a chair in a color which suddenly strikes your fancy and then expect to find other pieces which will go well with it. A harmonious effect can rarely be achieved in this way.

Keep your own family in mind when selecting seating pieces and materials. White and other pale colors, while they may be very pretty, won't stay that way long if there are young children around. But if you feel you must have something in a pale color, choose one of the new synthetic materials which require a minimum of upkeep.

Another good idea is washable paint or wall coverings. Finger marks, which are bound to appear when there are children in the family, do not make attractive wall decorations.

Remember to include plans for a television when arranging your floor plan, as most American homes nowadays do include one.

While you certainly can't expect your furniture and carpets to last forever, you can use a little foresight when making your purchases, choosing pieces that are covered with a durable fabric which will not show dirt quickly and which can be cleaned easily.

To sum up, the most important thing to remember when furnishing a home or apartment is to plan carefully.

Chaplain Arnold Featured Speaker At D.A.R. Meeting

"The Goodly Heritage of Americans" was the subject of the talk given by Chaplain C. L. Arnold, S.N.A.S., at the Constitution Day Party of the Harrison Chapter, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution at 3 p.m. Monday afternoon.

The meeting, held at the "Skyline", was the official opening of observance of Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23. At this time members were reminded, through a message read from Mrs. Frederic A. Groves, President General, N.S.D.A.R., that "The Constitution is the backbone of this country, the Declaration of Independence the heart and the flag, the soul. Constitution Week serves to remind us all that we must keep our backbone strong and firm in these times, surely as perilous as any that ever faced our nation."

Interest centered in the "Grace Before Meals" cards that were presented each one present. The cards contain a grace taken from George Washington's First Proclamation of Thanksgiving, the Preamble, and inside the card, technically called "table tents"—some facts about the Constitution.

Mrs. A. R. Key, chapter regent, president and National Defense suggestions were given by Mrs. L. P. Hagan. The meeting was opened by the ritual, all members participating, and the singing of the National Anthem.

Hostesses were Mrs. R. E. Roumilt, Mrs. A. R. Key and Miss Irene Hinton.

A delightful short ride was enjoyed before the rain storm. Remembrance cards were signed by all and sent to two ill members.

An ice and sweet course was served to: Mrs. A. C. Benson, Mrs. M. J. Bram, Mrs. C. S. Brown, Mrs. P. P. Campbell, Mrs. Mary Sue Compton, Mrs. C. R. Dawson, Mrs. Alexander Greek, Mrs. L. P. Football Dominates Talk At Lions Club

Football dominated the conversation at the Lion's Club regular luncheon meeting yesterday. Ensign John Borton, supply officer for HARBOR 21, Sanford Naval Air Station, and Dave Laude, coach for Seminole High School spoke to the group. Borton played four years for Ohio State University and was quarterback and captain of the team when Ohio State racked up an Orange Bowl victory against the University of Southern California two years ago. Borton has made commitments for the draft system of pro football when he is discharged from the Navy. Dave Laude, hailing from Southwick, Mass. was a four year letterman from Seton, after which he served with the Marine Corps in Japan.

Borton, six-feet two-inch, 210 pound quarterback described football life in a Big 10 college. "Football in the Big 10 is no guessing game," he told the group. "There are 8 full-time coaches who do nothing but watch with the boys there every four full-time trainers there three physicals, one of which is on duty every day at practice." Borton's last year at Ohio State witnessed the smashing of attendance records for regular season college football. Ohio State led the nation with an average attendance of 73,000 per game. "Big time college football is created by the fans, not by the players," he said. "It is the misconception of many people that the four weeks before the season opener is a mad rush to whip a Big 10 team into shape." Borton said. "Actually this is far from true. The season starts the last half of the prior season schedule. By this time the schedule contracts for the following season has been signed, and the scouts are covering the final games of the prior season's first two or three weeks of intensive spring training. This period is spent with heavy work on fundamental and acquiring the team with the potential of the coming opposition. Scrimmage is a daily thing with films taken at least three times a week. These films are a part of the routine moving drill practice, whereas they are shown for the benefit of the boys as well as the coaches. It is an indelible transcript of each player's potential strength and weakness. All during this time the scouts are busy watching the opposition.

Scouting is not looked upon as a menial thing in big-time football. Each team is allowed two scouts to be on hand for the team workouts. They are allowed binoculars and a typewriter, but no camera. A file is begun on each member of the opposing team, and the team member is well analyzed. "By fall practice almost everything is charted.

"The Coaching staff has four weeks to prepare their club for the approaching season in fall practice. Contact work during the season is very light. This is based on the theory that the men have displayed their ability or they wouldn't be there. Most of the days of fall practice are filled with lectures and conditioning exercises. Tuesdays and Wednesdays are the only days where scrimmaging is held.

"The outstanding feature about big-time football is the set routine. Everything is the same one day to the next, one week to the next. Getting into a set routine is the best thing any club, athletic or otherwise, can develop."

After discussing Big 10 football before the club, Borton commented briefly on the current scandals being publicized about the Big 10 and the west coast clubs. "This pay-off thing has received the wrong emphasis," he declared. "It is not the fault of the players, nor the fault of the schools. The full responsibility falls on the shoulders of the many merchants who want big time football at their college. Each college has an employment service and the big players are more often than not deficient in funds. A football player is allowed to earn $100 per month in part-time work. This becomes a pay-off when the appreciative merchants do not require the players to report for work in order for them to draw their part-time salary."

After his talk Borton was asked if it was dangerous for a boy to play college ball by a Lion member who has a son presently playing for a college team. "There is a calculated risk involved," Borton retorted. "The greatest danger for injury is when the player lacks proper physical condition or when there is poor supervision." He explained that there were certain minor injuries that were bound to happen, but the physicians on duty were expert at mending. "During my four years at Ohio State, there were only two players who were injured severely enough to terminate their football career."

When the meeting adjourned Borton was asked about his personal "minor" injuries. They included a broken nose, a broken finger, cartilage torn from four ribs, sprained ankles, and a bruised inner-ear. "The broken finger gave me the most trouble," he said. "It happened in my senior year, and I was neither able to receive the ball from the center nor able to hand it off when I finally got it." As a closing remark he said, "It's no worse than learning to ride a bicycle."

ly interested in the Ohio State football roundup when they are reminded that this team revolutionized modern Big Ten games when they invented the Split-T offensive formation. The Split-T offense was adopted by Seminole High School last year.

Crooms Academy Will Open Season Against Melbourne

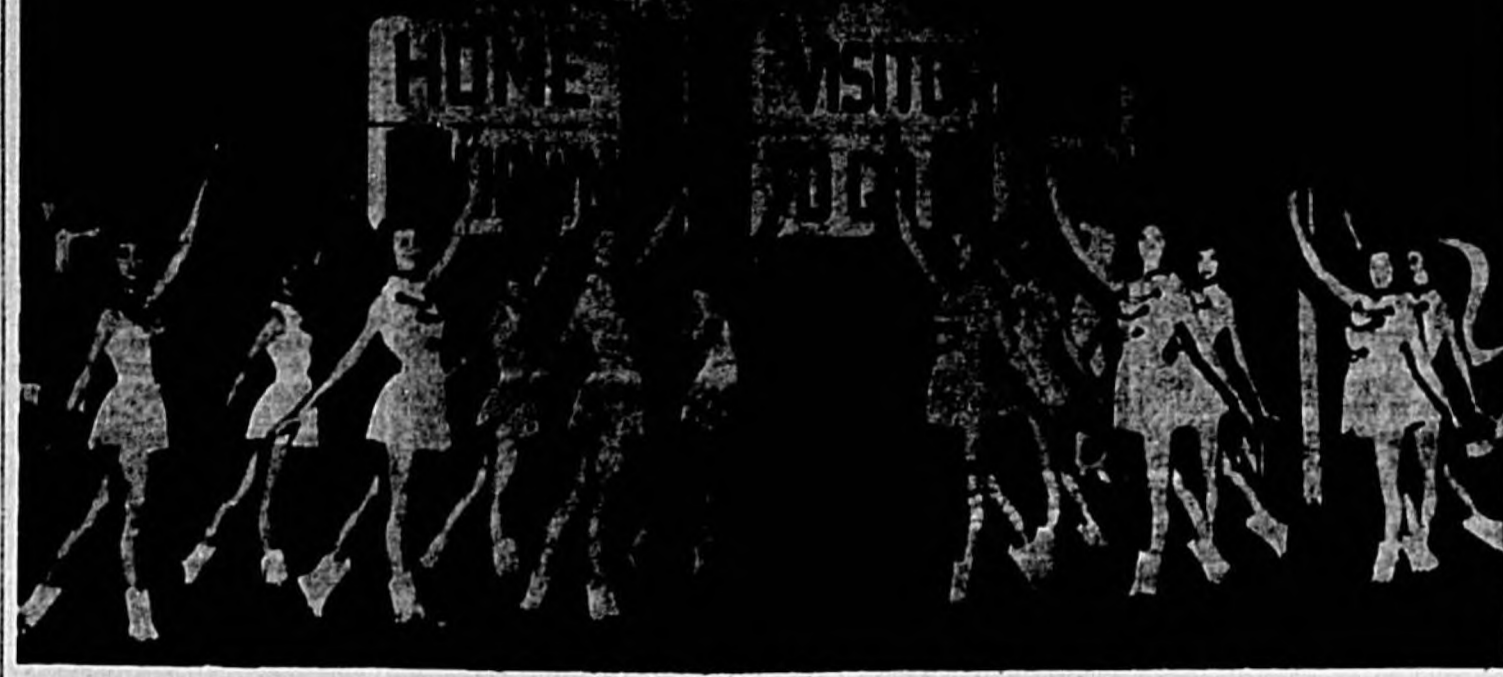

The Crooms Academy football team will play its initial game of the 1956-57 season, Saturday night, Sept. 22, against Melbourne at the Sanford Memorial Stadium.

The team was hard hit by the graduation of such stars as Arthur G. Knight, Donell Burke and Freddie Washington. There are fourteen lettermen returning for the season who are mostly linemen and a few backs who will replace those lost by graduation.

They have such promising starters as Roy Hawkins, Nathaniel Strawn, Joe Walker and Melvin Ruth. These boys have shown satisfactory progress in preseason practice. Crooms High, formerly a member of the Central Florida Conference, is now a member of the big "9" North Conference by virtue of its enrollment. This gives the Panther Squad a very tough schedule having to face such opponents as Jacksonville, Miami, Palatka, and Orlando. Other teams completing the 10 game schedule are Melbourne, Howard Academy of Ocala, Hungerford, Euclid, (Homecoming), Campbell Street High of Daytona and Euclid High of Deland.

Some of last year's lettermen who showed up in preseason practice were Addys Lamb who is an end, L. J. McFadden, Halfback, Joe King, Guard, Eddie Lanier, Fullback, Grady Robinson, halfback, and Ralph Thomas, tackle. These boys have the makings of all star players.

Despite the odds, Coaches Joe Fair, Halbur Meadows and Ed-

In an interview last night, Seminole Chiefs Club President, John Schirard Jr., said that a membership drive for the Chiefs Club was in order as soon as Thomas Stringer, vice-president and membership chairman, returned to the city. "In the meantime," Schirard said, "membership applications are being taken at B. L. Perkins & Son and Jim Robson Sporting Goods. Both stores are located conveniently downtown on First Street."

Annual membership fee for the Chiefs Club is only five dollars.

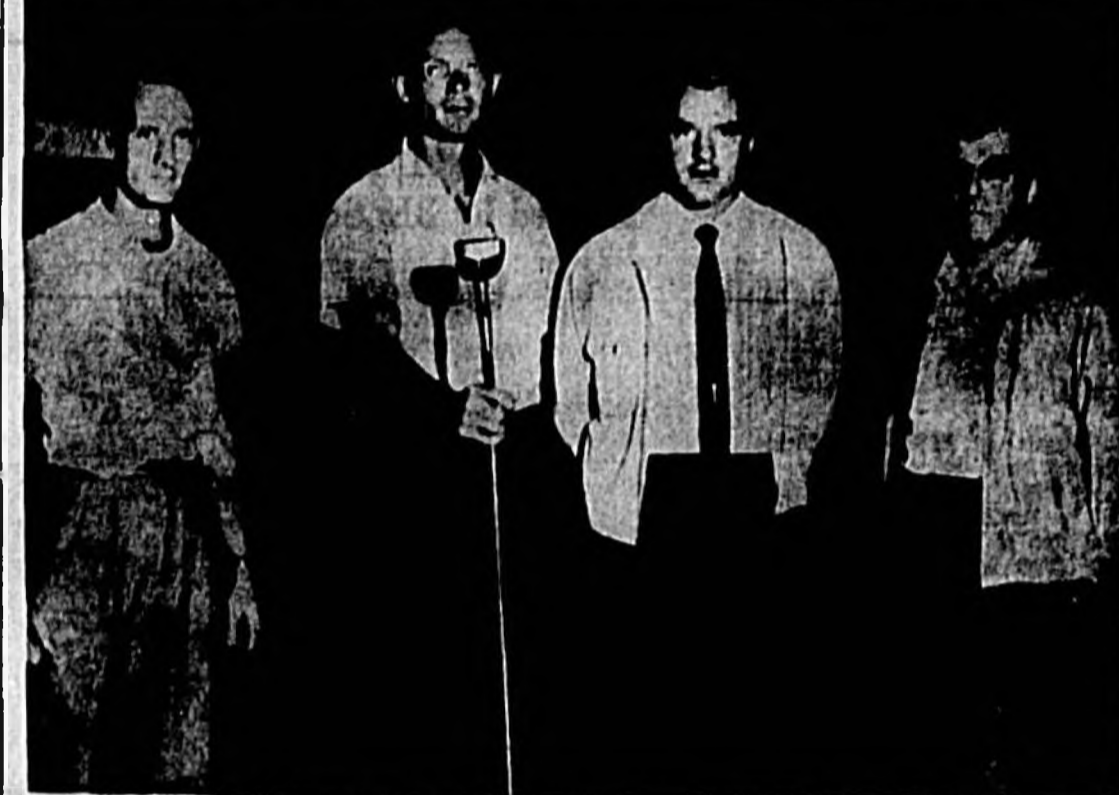

400 Fans Brave Rain To Wish Seminoles Victorious Season

Old man Weather cast his dark shroud over the Chiefs Club sponsored Pow-Wow and Football Rally last night in Memorial Stadium, but some four-hundred avid fans disregarded his threats and turned out to wish the 1956 edition of the Sanford Seminoles a victorious season. Seminole Chiefs Club president, John Schirard Jr. was very enthusiastic with the turnout and told the crowd, "We of the Chiefs Club are very pleased with such an attendance as this under the circumstances, and this is a favorable indication that this occasion will become an annual one. We hope to make Football Rally Night an annual affair: one that will increase in proportions and scope with time. Schirard told the fans that the primary purpose of the Chiefs Club was "the instigation of a continuing interest of the citizens in the entire program of high school athletics."

The crowd of sports enthusiasts sent cheer after cheer resounding through the air as they were introduced to their athletic program and administrator. Athletic Director Fred Ganas announced the shift in seating arrangement for the Sanford fans. In previous years the local supporters have used the temporary East bleachers, but this year they will enjoy the comfort and better vision provided for them by the new permanent bleachers erected on the West side of the playing field. A tremendous ovation sounded approval to the introduction of the new electronic scoreboard donated to the Sanford Seminoles by the Florida State Bank. The majorettes, band, cheerleaders, and pep squad led the attendance to a pitch of high excitement in their music, dancing, and cheers.

Principal Andrew J. Bracken created a ripple of laughter in the audience when he praised the efficiency of the rain and the deleterious effects on the turnout. Head mentor Bill Fleming introduced each gridstar to the crowd and gave each man's playing history. Then he explained in excellent and exciting detail the operation of the defense and offense, the calling of signals, and details of the fundamental plays used in the deceptive Split-T offensive formation. After his most effective breakdown of his team's operation, coach Fleming and his assistants, Bud Lauer and Dave Laude put the team through their warm-up paces to the pleasure of the fans. The successful Pow-Wow and Rally broke up with "Clobber Cocoa" singing in the hearts of all the fans.

Laude Predicts Better Season

Dave Laude, end coach for Seminole High School, told the attendance at the Lions Club luncheon meeting yesterday that they could expect a better season this year than last. Laude said that the key words in this year's season were depth and desire.

"This year's Sanford Seminoles program boasts a 66 member squad," he informed the attending members. "25 of these boys have made a successful bid for the varsity. This additional depth will be exploited to offset the lack of experience by the club members." Laude explained to the group that proper prognostication of the season was not in order inasmuch as the Orange Belt Conference was new and unfamiliar to the Seminoles. "But," he urged the group, "it is very important to the team that you boost the squad by attendance. Playing to an empty stadium is an automatic drawback to the team."

Laude praised Brantley Schirard, Jack Stotsky, Phil Byrd, Al Stanley, and Bob Johnson for their outstanding pre-season performances in key positions. "This year the Sanford fans will see wide-open ball games," Laude declared. "Coach Fleming has adopted a philosophy of game playing that will make the team gun for a touchdown on every play, and there will be more aerial action this year than in the past." Coach Laude ended the talk by encouraging the Lion membership to attend last night's Pow-Wow and Rally.

'Rain Is Killing Us' Say Seminole Coaches

"The rain is killing us!" coach Meredith Scott, Billy Tyrone, Bill Fleming said today. "This Guards; Murray Nance, Terry is all very discouraging," he con- Goemble; Linebackers; Brantley lined, "there is more work Schirard; Jack Stotsky; Halfback; ahead of us now than we can Al Stanley, Bobby Johnson; Safety; man: Phil Byrd. "There will be possibly complete before game time with Cocoa Friday night." As at least five changes in this lineup for the offense," Fleming said.

The above is the general opinion voiced by the entire Sanford Seminole coaching staff, as they sash about in the mud, trying to disregard the drizzle, and fight against waning time before the season's opener.

Most of the day was spent on defensive work and scrimmaging, and for the first time in the season the probable starting defensive lineup has been named. "We think we have found the right combination for our defensive play," coach Fleming said. "But bear in mind that it is probable and that it is not the offensive team." Fleming gave the nod to the boys as follows: Ends: Allen Swaim, Tommy Brown; Tackles: wet pads.

Draft May Call Men For Military Reserve Duty

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sharp lag in voluntary enlistments may make it necessary to draft men for military reserve duty, an advisory group reports. Congress once rejected the draft idea, but the National Security Training Commission said voluntary enlistments during the first year have provided only 40,000 of the 100,000 men sought for the program. Under it, youths below the 18 1/2-year draft age limit are encouraged to volunteer for six months of active duty training, to be followed by 7 1/2 years in the active reserve. The volunteers become exempt from the 24-months service requirement of regular draftees, who also must continue service in the reserves. But the commission said that despite "the greatest effort of its type ever put forward in peace time . . . on behalf of any armed forces program," results of the drive for volunteers fell far short of expectations. Unless the rate of volunteering can be doubled or tripled soon, the commission said in a report to Congress, "we should fundamentally revise the program and take steps to provide the necessary manpower."

Passport to Happiness

By MAYSIE GREIG

SYNOPSIS
Mrs. May Featherstone, quality English governess, resigns a post and returns to her home in England. She is a woman of high character and high standards. She is a woman who has been a governess for many years and has seen many things. She is a woman who has been a governess for many years and has seen many things. She is a woman who has been a governess for many years and has seen many things.

CHAPTER 2
VAL DREW her thoughts away from the old conversation that had taken place last night at the Orange after she had got Mrs. Featherstone to bed, and turned to look for patient.

"Don't look at me as though I were mad, girl!" Mrs. Featherstone rapped out sharply. "I know what I'm talking about. Read Dirk to me."

"Yes, of course, Mrs. Featherstone," Val said gently.

Mrs. Featherstone was wringing her hands. "I don't really know what to do, I don't really know. I should never have come on this ship after I saw him standing there on the top deck."

Val felt really sorry for her employer by this time. Whether it was imagination or not, she was obviously suffering deeply.

"I'll go and get Mr. Hanson for you now," she said quietly. "But do please try to rest."

Feels Ill
"I feel ill, really ill. My heart... Mrs. Featherstone drew a small breath. "Suppose I become really ill on this wretched boat?"

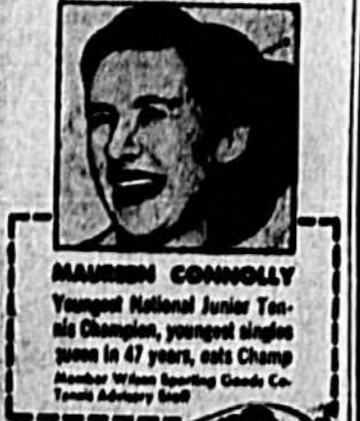

"But there's a ship's surgeon on board, Mrs. Featherstone. I saw his name on the passenger list. Val looked around for the list, but Mrs. Featherstone had it clutched in her hand.

"No, no!" The older woman started up and clung tightly to Val's arm. "No, Nurse, whatever happens you must promise me you won't call in the ship's doctor! You've only got to follow Doctor Mangin's instructions. As I told you, he knows all about my heart and he said he'd given you more than enough medicine to last until

MUSEUM BEING BUILT
PENSACOLA (AP)—A museum is being built here to contain one of the most complete private collections of Florida historical items in the state.

The cornerstone was laid yesterday for T. T. Wentworth Jr., a real estate man who started the collection in 1906 when he was eight years old.

It was valued at more than a quarter of a million dollars in 1939 by the government's historical records survey, and has been expanded since then.

New Facts About Inside Of Atomic Nucleus Reported

SEATTLE (AP)—Some new findings about the inside of an atomic nucleus, which will take scientists another step forward in their efforts to understand the nature of matter, were reported Tuesday to the International Congress on Theoretical Physics.

The new details relate to what has been determined about the behavior of protons and neutrons, the basic particles of nuclei, while they are still within the atomic core.

Heretofore research has centered mainly on what these particles do when they come out of the nucleus. By themselves, they act as atom-smashing bullets if they are traveling at high speed and if they hit an atomic nucleus head

One report on their sharply different behavior while they are still inside the nucleus was made by Dr. E. P. Mottelson of the European Nuclear Research Center at Geneva, Switzerland. This center was set up with a reactor supplied by the United States after the "atoms for peace" conference there last year.

Dr. Mottelson's report, along with another by Dr. Victor P. Weisskopf of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, throws light on what holds the nucleus together. This has been a long-standing scientific mystery.

Reason for the mystery is that protons carry a positive electrical charge, and because of this they repel each other strongly when outside the nucleus. But they do not repel each other while inside the nucleus; otherwise the nucleus would fly into many pieces. Instead, it is a tightly knit particle of matter.

Inside the atomic core, said Dr. Mottelson and Dr. Weisskopf, protons and neutrons apparently are held together by clouds of other particles called mesons. Mesons are highly energetic particles of matter and energy which are served outside the nucleus during atomic explosions.

The meson cloud inside a nucleus apparently is something like the dust cloudlet that fills space between stars in a galaxy or Milky Way. Protons and neutrons within the nucleus not only rotate on their own little axes like stars but also move through the nucleus in circular or elliptical paths, another phase of stellar motion. This movement produces a nuclear field, a form of energy that is neither magnetic nor electrical but something which controls the behavior of the particles.

1909 SHS Graduate Introduces Former Principal At Club

A former Seminole High School principal rang the bell again for one of his "star" pupils at the Sanford Kiwanis Club noon luncheon meeting yesterday.

Col. N. J. Perkins, principal of Seminole High School from 1904 to 1914, and now visiting his brother, B. L. Perkins Sr., in Sanford, rang the bell for Ed Lane who graduated from the school in 1909.

Ed Lane introduced Col. Perkins, who left Sanford in 1914 to become Headmaster and Principal of Fork Union Military Academy at Fork Union, Va. Col. Perkins served the school for 23 years and then retired. Lane told the Sanford Kiwanis Club yesterday "I am happy to have the privilege of introducing the principal of the school from which I graduated 47 years ago."

Col. Perkins said "I spent ten of the happiest years of my life here in Sanford."

The retired school principal revealed that he came to Sanford by boat in 1904, went to Orlando (then the county seat) to take the examination for school principal, and then stayed here until 1914.

Store Clerk Hit By Steel-Tipped Hunting Arrow

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A liquor store clerk was hit in the back with a steel-tipped hunting arrow shot from a crossbow last night and is in critical condition.

The 16-inch arrow came whistling through an open rear door of the store and struck William E. Allen, 20, below the shoulder, passed through his body and protruded from his chest.

Allen, who was alone, staggered into the street and hailed a passing friend, George Dercenia, 22. At Allen's urging, Dercenia withdrew the arrow, causing severe hemorrhaging.

Deputies summoned by Dercenia said they found a steel crossbow, cocked and loaded with another arrow, lying behind a hedge across an alley from the rear of the liquor store. Four arrows similar to the one that hit Allen lay in a box nearby, they said.

No attempt was made to rob the store, the deputies said. Allen was unable to offer any explanation for the shooting.

Steelworkers Will Support Democrats

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The United Steelworkers convention yesterday endorsed Democrats Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver.

Some 2,500 delegates representing 1,200,000 members unanimously adopted a resolution to that effect.

President David J. McDonald told Stevenson that his unionists were "99 per cent" for the Democratic standard-bearer.

Stevenson spoke to the convention by telephone from Washington and drew loud applause as he accused the administration of a breach of faith on the Taft-Hartley Act, the NLRB and the minimum wage. His voice was carried over a public address system.

McDonald assured Stevenson that the union would give him monetary as well as manpower support.

Osceola No. 1 Choice For New NAS Location

"The Osceola Field is the number one choice of the survey team which looked into the feasibility of moving the Sanford Naval Air Station to another Seminole County site," Congressman A. S. "Syd" Herlong said this morning in a telephone interview with The Sanford Herald.

The Airways Engineering Corporation, employed by the Navy Department to conduct a survey of the Osceola Air Field have completed their studies and have submitted to the Chief of Bureau of Aeronautics of the Navy Department.

Selection of the Osceola Field as the number one choice, does not necessarily mean that the Sanford Naval Air Station will move to that site since further studies have already been made by Airways Engineering Corporation and a study by a survey team from the Sixth Naval District is underway.

Congressman Herlong said that "The Sanford Air Station was found to be too small for marginal safety, in the feasibility reports."

However, he said that use of the Osceola Field was up for a feasibility study to determine whether or not the field can be used as a major Navy Air Field.

The Airways Engineering Corporation was employed by the Navy Department to make the further study. Unofficial information reaching The Sanford Herald reveals that Osceola continues to be the "number one field."

Kiwanis, Rotary Clubs Will Hear Herlong Oct. 22

The Sanford Kiwanis Club yesterday approved a joint meeting with the Sanford Rotary Club to hear Congressman A. S. "Syd" Herlong when he visits Sanford on Oct. 22.

It is believed that all of the Sanford civic organizations have been invited to participate in the joint meeting to hear the Congressman.

Plans for the location of the auditorium where Congressman Herlong will speak have not yet been revealed.

Former Resident Mrs. B. Stephens Dies In Tampa

Dorothea Raye Stephens—another Tampa woman who battled the same type of illness as Babe Zaharias, and with the same type of courage—died yesterday afternoon at her home.

Mrs. Stephens was 49. She was the wife of Byron Stephens, a member of The Tribune art department and Assistant Rabban of Egypt Temple Shrine. As one of the Ladies of Egypt Temple's Divan, she was widely known in Southern Shrine circles.

She had been ill for several months at her home, 494 Seventh Ave., Davis Islands, and had undergone several operations. Her good spirits during her sickness won her many friends.

Grew Up At Sanford Mrs. Stephens was born in Waycross, Ga., July 21, 1907. She moved during infancy to Sanford, where she grew up with Byron Stephens, in whom she was married shortly after her graduation from high school. The couple made Sanford home base during the years when Stephens, accompanied by his wife, made diagrams and traveled with the Florida State Exhibit. They moved to Tampa in 1938.

Canal Plan Is Gaining Support

LONDON (AP)—The Western Big Three proposal for a canal users' association gained new support today in the 18-nation Suez conference as delegates pointed toward finishing their work by this weekend.

Turkey and Portugal joined nine other nations in backing the plan outlined by U.S. Secretary of State Dulles for the association to work in cooperation with Egypt until the Suez crisis is permanently solved. Ethiopia and Spain gave qualified support, but did not commit themselves to joining the association.

Sweden repeated her call for an immediate approach to the United Nations.

Representatives of the 18-nations agreed this morning to form a working committee of experts to complete details of the users' association, which would seek a share in running the canal. The working party worked on a report for the fourth full conference session this afternoon.

An American source said Dulles hoped to leave London Friday night to leave a commitment in Washington Sunday, but may stay over until Saturday night if necessary.

Turkish representative M. N. Birgi, secretary general of the Turkish Foreign Ministry, told the "very reasonable proposal which conference the Dulles proposal is can bring the conference to a useful conclusion."

Ike Headed For Farm Belt; Adlai Remains In Capitol

President Confident Of Health

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
President Eisenhower pointed his re-election campaign toward the Farm Belt today after telling a nationwide radio-TV audience he is "confident of my own physical strength to meet all the responsibilities of the presidency."

Adlai Stevenson, Eisenhower's Democratic opponent, remained in the Washington, D. C., area preparing to follow Eisenhower into Iowa later in the week.

Meanwhile, Stevenson's aides said the Democratic candidate would make what they called "a few well-chosen remarks about the Republican 'truth squads'" when he speaks tonight at a party rally in Silver Springs, Md., just outside the capital.

One of these squads — dispatched by the GOP National Committee to follow Democratic campaigners — said in Minneapolis last night it has decided to stop trailing Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the Democratic vice presidential candidate.

This four-man group said Kefauver's "needle has stuck" and that it now plans to move in behind Stevenson and former President Truman, if Truman should campaign extensively for the Democratic ticket. Earlier, at Madison, Wis., the GOP team had accused Kefauver of making "irresponsible" statements about depressed farm incomes and the Eisenhower administration attitude toward the rural electrification program.

Kefauver, in the midst of what the Democrats have billed as a "truth-telling" campaign, was in Moorhead, Minn., last night where he said that Eisenhower "began the betrayal of the American farmer the minute he appointed Ezra Taft Benson as secretary of agriculture."

Vice President Nixon carried his fight for the Republican ticket deeper into the Pacific Northwest today with a pitch for the Eisenhower administration's "partnership" power policy.

He said in a speech prepared for delivery at Nampa, Idaho, that only by a partnership of federal state and local resources, and private enterprise can the problem of power development be solved properly. He contended that what he called the Democratic program of "single-shot federal development for all projects" will not work because it cannot tap all these immense resources.

Truman Carter of the Bureau of Employment Security in Washington talked to the group to outline the criteria that must be met if the Sanford office is to receive support from the Federal budget. Carter said that he was sure that the standards were well known to those making the survey, but he was anxious to do all he could to assist in the planning. He added that his presence indicated advanced interest on the part of the national office and their recognition of the recommendations of Tom Lawton, manager of the Orlando office of the State Employment Service.

Residents Gather Friday To Welcome Oviedo Teachers

OVIDEO—One hundred and thirteen parents and teachers gathered at the Memorial building Friday evening to welcome the new teachers of the Oviedo School and a welcome back to those who returned this year.

Mrs. John Duda and Mrs. Roy Weisenberger, room mothers for the seventh and twelfth grades, assisted by the mothers of their respective grades and Mrs. T. L. Lingo Jr., hospitality chairman, had charge of the wonderful covered dish supper that began at 7 p.m.

Mrs. James Partin, president, played a twin-bill that evening, acting as president of the P-TA to welcome the guests of honor; also, being a guest of honor for the occasion. Mrs. Partin returned to the school as teacher of the fourth grade after an absence of several years as a teacher although she has served as girls' athletic director for the past two years. She formerly taught the first grade and started many Oviedo youngsters off on their school career.

After being introduced by W. H. DeShazo, the new principal of the Oviedo School, from Humbolt, Tenn., gave a brief talk on his background before coming to Oviedo to assume the duties formerly held by F. S. Gistrol, now supervising principal of Seminole County.

The new principal then introduced the teachers as follows: Mrs. E. A. Sexton, formerly Miss Ernestine French, returning as teacher of the first grade; Miss Dorothy Rice, also returning as teacher of the second grade; Mrs. Walter A. Teague, returning as teacher of the third grade; Mrs. James Partin, fourth grade and girls' coach; Mrs. W. H. DeShazo, a newcomer, fifth grade; Mrs. J. E. Windham, returning as teacher of the sixth grade; Mrs. J. M. Staley, returning as seventh grade homeroom teacher and teacher of some high school subjects; Miss Lois Ruddell, returning as eighth grade room teacher and teacher of high school subjects.

L. R. Blankenship, replacing Professor Richards as ninth grade room teacher and science teacher; Miss Kathleen Watt, of Cocoa Hills, Pa., a newcomer, eleventh grade room teacher and high school subjects; Mrs. G. W. Smith, returning as tenth grade room teacher and high school English; and Professor Paul Mikler, returning as twelfth grade room teacher, history teacher and boys' athletic director.

Also, Mrs. Carolyn C. Anderson, of Mars Hills, N. C., new music director; Professor Michael Fisher, returning as band director; Mr. and Mrs. Lynn J. Nealy, custodians; Mrs. Blanche Partin, Mrs. A. T. Carledge and Mrs. W. G. Wietmon, lunch room supervisors.

Gene Nunnelly of Sanford, sang several numbers accompanied by Mrs. Farmer also of Sanford at the piano. Miss Nunnelly also lead the members and guests in group singing.

Steps Taken To Lower Home Down Payments

WASHINGTON—The government's home financing agencies took steps today to lower down payments and ease credit for construction of housing.

Four specific actions were announced by the White House. They are designed mainly to stimulate the low-cost housing field. This is what was done:

1. The Federal Housing Administration cut from 7 to 5 per cent the minimum down payment on homes appraised at $9,000 or less. On a $9,000 house this would lower the down payment by $180.

2. Employment Office Survey Will Begin Here Immediately

Federal, state and local officials of the Employment Service were represented at a meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday to plan a survey that is being made of this area to determine the possibility of re-opening the employment service office here.

Truman Carter of the Bureau of Employment Security in Washington talked to the group to outline the criteria that must be met if the Sanford office is to receive support from the Federal budget. Carter said that he was sure that the standards were well known to those making the survey, but he was anxious to do all he could to assist in the planning. He added that his presence indicated advanced interest on the part of the national office and their recognition of the recommendations of Tom Lawton, manager of the Orlando office of the State Employment Service.
