SR 46 Resurfacing Will Be Completed

Douglas Stenstrom, chairman of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Long Range Planning Commission, announced today that contract for SR 46 (widening and resurfacing from Mt. Dora to the Wekiva River) has been let by the Florida Department of Transportation.

In commenting on other road work, Stenstrom disclosed that DOT had completed a survey on the entire route from SR 419 from Five Points to Oviedo. The right-of-way map has been completed on the area of the bad curves, and so have title searches, Stenstrom said.

The SR 419 project is scheduled for construction in the budget year beginning July 1, 1974.

Regarding the committee's work on the Osteen Bridge, Stenstrom said he had been advised that bridge borings had been completed and are being plotted to submit to the DOT so structural designs can be completed.

Roadway plans will be completed in March, 1973 by the DeLand District Office.

Bridge design plans will be done at Tallahassee. Title search has been obtained and DeLand is expecting deeds to be completed by the legal department in the latter part of March, 1973.

Acquisition of right-of-way should begin in July or August of 1973.

One of the absolute delights awaiting the residents of Sanford will be that time when they're able to watch the multitude of TV programs via the Orange-Seminole Cablevision.

Presidential Pledge Renewed By Nixon

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) - Richard Nixon renewed his presidential oath today amid celebration, protest and an intensive quest to begin a peace which can endure for generations to come.

The President's "four more years," fashioned in a nationwide outpouring of votes, began with his hand placed on the "swords into plowshares" passage in his family Bibles as he recited the 35-word pledge prescribed by the Constitution.

"We stand on the threshold of a new era of peace in the world," the President declared, as if taking his cue from Isaiah.

"The quest before us is: how shall we use that peace?"

At no time in his second inaugural address did Nixon mention directly the Vietnam war that has bedeviled his presidency as it did his predecessor's, except to call for civility "as America's longest and most difficult war comes to an end."

"The peace we seek in the world is not the flimsy peace which is merely an interlude between wars," the President declared, "but a peace which can endure for generations to come."

As some 20,000 invited guests watched, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was sworn in for his second term by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, who then led the President in the simple oath devised by the founding fathers:

"I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States and will to the best of my ability preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

The Bibles were open to Isaiah 24 as they were at the other times:

"And he shall judge among the nations and shall rebuke many people; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

The general public had to be content to watch the ceremony on television—only 19,439 were highly placed and lucky enough to obtain tickets to bleacher seats. The ornate, balustraded Florida site accessibility is paramount and charged fees of $100.

Policewoman Nails Gunman In Airport

Yeakel told authorities after his release that he had told the policewoman, subdue the gunman one of the DCU's engines was not working.

The gunman gave airline officials until 6 a.m. to provide another plane, but to the intended hijacking came to a swift end three hours before the deadline.

Kitchens and Louisville Police Chief Edgar Paul said the policewoman made five trips to the plane to talk with the young man during the night and early morning hours as he held Yeakel, 46, of Louisville hostage aboard the DCU at Standiford Field.

Market Office Move Is Denied

Commissioner Doyle Conner, Florida Department of Agriculture advised M.L. Cullum chairman of the Agriculture Committee for the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce that the proposed move of the market news office at Sanford to Orlando be denied.

Conner wrote that the support of the local people of Sanford for agricultural services outweighs the cost of moving the market news office to Orlando, even with a restricted budget.

The reference to a restricted budget applies to an earlier recommendation by T. Butz, Secretary of Agriculture with a request stating "enclosed you will find a petition protesting such removal from your area. I would be most pleased if you would give this your consideration and permit the local growers and producers the opportunity to discuss the matter at a public hearing before a final decision is made."

On November 13, The Sanford City Commission officially approved a resolution opposing relocation of the market news service.

No Disagreement After Saigon Talks

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer SAIGON (AP) — Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., President Nixon's special representative, left Saigon today after consultations with President Nguyen Van Thieu that could clear the way for a Vietnam peace settlement.

A THREE CAR collision sent three people to the hospital, destroyed two cars and damaged another. Gloria Sams Lewis, 19, of Daytona Beach, was cited by Trooper Robert Lovering for failing to obey a traffic control signal (left lane closed sign). Lovering estimated $600 damage to her 1971 Dodge.

RICHARD CHIAPPINE, 21, of Hampton, N. J., was also involved in the pile-up on Interstate 4, north of SR 434. His 1968 Plymouth was a total loss. He escaped without injury.

HOMER JEFFERSON Waterbury, 84, of Orlando, was charged with speed too great for conditions (considering construction going on for the repaving of I-4) by Lovering. Waterbury, his wife, Mary, 81, and Helen Stull, 65, were all taken to Florida Hospital for treatment. Troopers Richard Shaffer, John McGowan and Deputy Ron Morton assisted Lovering at the scene.

Watergate Jury Recesses To See Inaugural Parade

By DON McLEOD Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate jury arranged to watch President Nixon's inaugural parade today after two weeks of trial during which it spent most of the time waiting outside the courtroom while side issues were being argued. The jury heard only a few hours of testimony Friday before it was sent back to the quarters and every body left the courthouse to enjoy the half-holiday Nixon declared for federal employees.

Before court adjourned, former FBI agent Alfred C. Baldwin III testified he stood in a motel balcony across the street and acted as a lookout for five men arrested early last June 17 inside Democratic party headquarters. Baldwin said he saw two men in casual clothes and with pistols drawn appear on a balcony outside the Democratic office building in the Watergate office building.

Letters To The Editor Burning Laws Confuse Citizen

Editor, Herald: In the Sunday edition of The Sanford Herald, Don Oakley's article, "Pollution Cure Can Worsen Things" caught my inquisitive eye. However, I have been thinking the same thing for a long time.

Quite some time ago when there was so much talk about open-burning I decided to inquire about the regulations from our local fire department. I learned that this kind of burning was permitted only between the hours of 6 a.m. and 12 noon. After 12 noon all fires must be out.

The nation's pollution blinge is just one more trip they take into inter-space. Mr. Citizen the Monkey used to pull their string so that all of their crazy antics will work. Our dizziness is becoming more obtrusive every day.

Here's the catch! I'M REQUIRED TO DO THIS. Why? Because I'm a law abiding citizen, care about the air I breathe and was a POOL to ask Others, all over Seminole County burn their trash whenever they please morning, afternoon and night. Some have been asked, "Don't you know you're not supposed to have open burning except in the mornings between 6 a.m. and 12 noon?"

When I was a child (I'm a grandmother now) I taught the rules of safe outdoor burning; burn in morning on a clear day, only when there isn't any wind and stay with the fire until it is out.

Sanford Schools Suffer From Neglect

At long last the "worm has turned" and at a recent workshop meeting of the School Board, dissident north Seminole County residents expressed concern with the condition of "our" schools.

Precipitating the issue was announcement of a proposed seven new South Seminole County schools at an estimated cost of $9.6 million in which, if approved, voters will be requested to pass a 4 mill levy for two years.

Perhaps, as one school principal elucidated, the dissatisfaction came as a result of jogged memories of the 1968 bond issue. We well remember at that time the overjoyed reaction of parents that the antiquated Monroe-Wilson School would be phased-out and a new school built. Four years later, it's status quo.

We have long pressed for the same type of education and facilities for the children in all schools. Why should some, simply because of concerted development in some areas, attend ultra modern schools with educational tools to the nth degree, while others are in "horse 'n buggy" schools, some of which are health and safety hazards?

The School Board and administration has long closed its eyes to needs in the Sanford area. We remember, in particular, children in the Monroe Elementary School being blinded by the afternoon's sun until the PTO purchased blinds...Of Hopper Elementary, which had air conditioners purchased by the PTO reposed in packed cartons for lack of installation for many months...and we remember a walkway for inclement weather "on the drawing board" for Monroe School back in 1964 which is still in limbo. Also there is Sanford Middle School where the students theme song could well be "plaster keeps falling on my head."

Then there's Crooms High School...flies pour through windows without screens in the lunchroom and one student advised us three of her classrooms were unheated during the recent cold snap. Compounding the chilly drafts were broken windows in her Home Economics class. Also remember the freezing youngsters at Pinecrest Elementary School where a maintenance problem existed.

If memory serves correctly, being a life long Sanford resident, there have been only five new schools erected in the Sanford area in the past 41 years.

Construction, however, is not the only cancer eating at the heart of the educational system in which "tax and spend" seems to be the only solution advanced to the problems.

A Herald reader called us and reported mentioning to his nephew quotations of John Paul Jones and Stephen Decatur, "Who are they," he queried. And in our household during the funeral of President Harry Truman when a quip was made about "anno domini" our student queried "whose that?" Makes those of us educated in better days wonder what happened along the way. More money spent, higher teachers salaries...less knowledge. Doesn't add up.

Even legislator Jerry Thomas has stated "the public schools have become a haven for experiment. We have to return to the three R's with an important addition, emphasis on vocational-technical training."

Things That Make Life Worth It

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living: A full moon caught in the lacy boughs of an ice-coated tree on a clear winter night...a thrill in silver.

Getting over a cold or the flu. Finding one more cigar in your pocket when you thought they were all gone. Seeing a topless waitress with the hives.

Reading poetry that gives you goose pimples. Listening to ghost stories around a campfire on an owl-haunted evening.

The dreams of glory in the head of a young boy back in 1920 when a favorite uncle gave him a whole dollar to spend.

Opening the first letter of your life sealed with the lipstick print of a girl's kiss. Tacking in the wind on a summer day glorious for sailing.

Discovering after years of struggle that you can now eat a raw oyster without a struggle and with some pleasure.

Chasing a country tomboy through a summer meadow knee-high with whispering grass and loud with bees.

Signing a huge bill with your employer's name as his guest at his country club. Pumping up a new basketball for a bunch of waiting kids.

The joy of coming back from a war, still pretty much in one piece. Lolling in bed until noon on the first day of a long-awaited vacation.

Meeting a lovely smile in a pair of vacuous faces — like a flower in a garden gone to weeds.

Panting in victory after jogging a full mile in your 1973 physical rehabilitation program.

Checking up on yourself a month after you made your 12 New Year resolutions — and finding you've kept at least three of them.

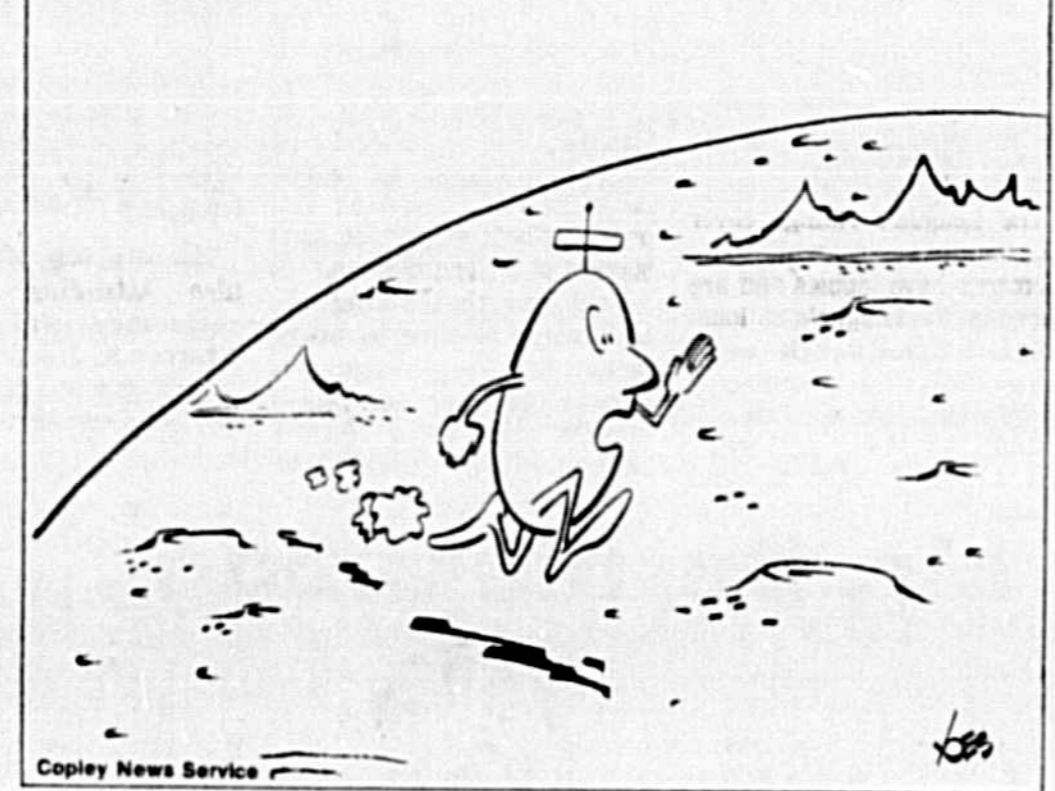

The salty surprise of tasting your own blood after a buddy bops you on the nose during a friendly boxing bout.

Nudging your small child to work key piece that will help complete her jigsaw puzzle.

Taking an immediate liking to someone new you hope will be a friend your lifetime through.

The mystic summons, the throbbing feeling of being part and parcel of everything on earth, the kinship to all, you get when standing alone on a hill on a starlit night.

For these and other benisons of being, we thank The Amen.

NATO Warning

Laird Urges Allies To Help

By L. EDGAR PRINA Military Affairs Correspondent Copy News Service

WASHINGTON — In his four years as secretary of defense, Melvin R. Laird has labored hard, largely in private, to convince America's North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies that they have got to bear a greater share of the burden of the common defense.

While he might not concede it, pressure in the U.S. Senate for the withdrawal of significant numbers of U.S. troops from Europe has helped him score some modest gains. But neither he nor the pro-withdrawal senators are at all satisfied.

Laird made his clear in his farewell statement to Congress with one of his strongest statements to date on the subject of "true" partnership.

"Our European allies can and must do more to deter the Soviet threat to their security," he said. "They do not lack the expertise and technology. All that they require is recognition of the strategic and political realities that face us all, and the will to act to meet them."

"The U.S. cannot be expected to bear the full burden of nuclear defense and, at the same time, an undue share of the burden of conventional defense. That is neither equitable nor politic."

Laird acknowledged that the Europeans—he did not cite specific countries—have made some force improvements, such as the financing of shelters for NATO tactical aircraft.

"But more—much more—must be done if we are to realize the full potential of the investment in conventional

Trudeau, Canada

Keeping The Prime Minister Afloat

By ERIC FORESTER Copy News Service

OTTAWA — The all-encompassing Trudeau Speech, presented to the minority government of Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau to the Canadian Parliament early this month, has assured that the Liberals will retain power for at least a few weeks.

In the initial stages of debate on the legislative plans of the government, the New Democrat Party, which holds the balance of power, pledged not to vote against Trudeau's Liberals on the basis of the speech.

Pundits feel that the NDP promise means Trudeau will survive as prime minister even beyond the two weeks he's been guaranteed, perhaps continuing as head of government until summer or even fall before another federal election.

To retain the support of the NDP, the Liberals may be forced into Canadian policies of the left-wing party's liking, which could be annoying to Washington.

For example, the government is expressing no inclination to reopening bargaining with the United States on outstanding trade differences between Ottawa and Washington, in spite of growing pressure from the White House on the issue.

Trudeau's speech from the throne included promises of beefing up Canadian laws to control foreign investment, too.

'Clandestinitism' Is Firm Peace Threat

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A friend in Asia who spends his days studying the North Vietnamese has sent a letter which explains in part the difficulties Dr. Henry Kissinger faces in reaching an agreement with Hanoi.

It is more than a national distrust between communism and capitalism, more even than normal Communist intrigue.

My friend calls the problem "clandestinitism" which he says, has more than a national distrust between communism and capitalism, more even than normal Communist intrigue.

Clandestinitism, my correspondent reports, was no simple penchant for secret political societies. It developed as a means of dealing with the foreign occupier, the Chinese for 900 years, then the French. The collective experience of the Vietnamese was one of unrehearsed duplicity and treachery of front-line officials, of citadel gates opened at night to the enemy.

The French colonial courts were venal, the legal system seen as something to be manipulated. Law consequently was without respect.

Vietnamese proverbs are almost all negative, cynical and pessimistic: When the water goes over the fish eat the ants; when the water goes down the ants eat the fish. In the sunlight all government is not seen as a duty by opportunity, but a way to reduce the chance of being cheated.

The world this is composed of unknown threats with which only the clandestine organization can cope.

Under the French, who for all practical purposes outlawed participation politics in Vietnam, clandestinitism reached a level probably unequalled anywhere in the world. The French, who for all practical purposes outlawed participation politics in Vietnam, clandestinitism reached a level probably unequalled anywhere in the world.

There developed over the years an ironclad code of clandestinitism in politics. These unwritten rules shaped behavior. Loyalty was a virtue but consistency was not. All policies must be obscure: none must ever involve an irrevocable position or final commitment. Nothing can be promised or taken. Accidental or uninvited guests are to be reached through private arrangements arrived at in secret. The best leader is skilled in intrigue, master of the feint and moves with drama.

One Man's Opinion Hospital Patient 'Bill of Rights'

By DAVID HENDIN

Now hospital patients have a "bill of rights" of their own, and it's about time such ideas were codified in some way.

The 12-point document has been issued by the American Hospital Assn., the nation's leading hospital association with some 7,000 member institutions.

Among other points the Bill of Rights for Patients makes clear:

• The right of the patient to respectful and considerate care.

• The right of the patient to receive from his physician — in language the patient can understand — complete, up-to-date information about his treatment, diagnosis and prognosis.

• The right of the patient to refuse treatment to the extent permitted by law, and to be informed of medical consequences of such action.

• The right of the patient to expect that all communications and records pertaining to his case should be confidential.

• The right of the patient to be advised if the hospital proposes to engage in or perform human experimentation affecting his care or treatment.

• The right of the patient to examine and receive an explanation of his bill regardless of the source of payment.

These points plus others in the AHA document have been approved by the organization as a national policy statement for the organization's 7,000 member institutions to adopt the document and make copies available to patients.

Many of the basic points of the AHA document have been put forth to physicians in one way or another in the past. In the early 1960s, for example, the American Medical Assn. said that "a patient has the right to withhold his consent to lifesaving treatment." Indeed, many courts have since upheld this point.

The AHA document, however, appears to be the first time that a firm statement on policy in this area has been made and put directly into the hands of the public.

Too often in the past such has been the case with much of our health care system. Physicians, hospital administrators and other health professionals have been overly secretive with the consumer. The individual has been kept in the dark about his health and his treatment.

It has been the victim of a silent conspiracy surrounding health care. He has been kept in the dark about his health and his treatment.

According to the AHA, publication of the "Bill of Rights" was meant to make communications between doctors and patients more effective. Indeed, as more and more of our citizens receive care in institutions instead of private offices, this new dimension in patient-doctor relationships must be clarified.

Altamonte To Write Fire Code

By MARION BETHEA

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — City officials will meet with architects, builders, fire inspectors and fire control device salesman to write a model fire code for the city.

Mayor Lawrence Swford stated that the city doesn't want "the builders or insurance people to write the code for Altamonte," and that until another code is formulated the present one will suffice.

The above spokesmen told city council that additional fire regulation building codes for the city would be superfluous due to already stringent codes imposed by the Southern Standard Building code and the hotel commission building code.

The issue arose over the high rise buildings planned for the city and discussion was relative to sprinkler systems, and smoke and heat detector equipment.

Mayor Swford said one developer planned to erect a 12-story building and another a six-story building.

Developer Wilson Knott elucidated that more persons are killed by smoke inhalation than by the fire itself and fire insurance companies are planning to erect several buildings in the city but are opposed to the sprinkler system, favoring either a fire alarm system or smoke signals.

The various types of systems for use in fires were described, among which were photo-electric types for fire and heat sensors for detecting the sprinkler described was infra-red detectors.

Fire Chief Thomas Seigfried received an affirmative from the representatives relative to a query if smoke detectors and sprinkler systems work best in conjunction with each other.

Knott said he and his associates are planning to erect several buildings in the city but are opposed to the sprinkler system, favoring either a fire alarm system or smoke signals.

"I will not vote," Stenstrom said, to simply put on the ballot a question such as "Do you favor districting, yes or no?" and then if the referendum passes, let the commission detail a legislature.

"I want the voters of Sanford to know exactly what they will be voting for or against," he continued.

Stenstrom said he wants the plan detailed because there are "some groups" in the city favoring districting but with completely different ideas about how it should be accomplished.

City commissioner Julian Stenstrom said he is opposed to the districting proposal must be presented to the voters in complete form.

To Draft Ordinance Time Is Running Out

By BOB LLOYD

Sanford Mayor Lee Moore has expressed concern that city commissioners won't be able to draft and pass a charter amendment ordinance to set up city commission districts in time to get it on the March 13 election ballot with a School Board Tax Millage proposal.

Elections supervisor Mrs. Camilla Bruce must have the Sanford referendum proposal by February 6 in order to get it on voting machine ballots in city precincts.

If city districting is on the March 13 ballot city voters can cast their ballots in county precincts throughout the city. If the districting election is postponed until a later date all city voters would have to vote at the downtown civic center—the only city of Sanford polling place.

City commissioner Julian Stenstrom said he is opposed to the districting proposal must be presented to the voters in complete form.

Women's League Rates Congressional Voting

WASHINGTON — The League of Women Voters of the United States today released its Political Accountability Ratings (PAR) of 1972-73.

However, our partnership on the second session of the 92nd Congress.

The League's ratings cover only issues on which its members have lobbies and are based on the League's national program. These include: equal opportunity, anti-poverty programs, mass transit, welfare reform, busing, foreign aid, UN financing and water quality.

Lucy Wilson Benson, president of the 160,000 member organization stated: "Our ratings are based on program not personalities. The League has specific legislative goals and we care deeply about how they fare in Congress."

Realizing that voting attendance is affected by many factors, the League assigns two percentage ratings to each member of Congress. In the first an absence or failure to announce or pair is considered a negative factor and counted against the individual. In the second, the rating is based on actual votes cast for or against the League position.

In the first rating, 14 Senators (8 Democrats and 6 Republicans) scored 100 per cent on the 11 votes selected. By the same method, 21 representatives (20 Democrats and 1 Republican) scored 100 per cent on the 12 votes selected.

By the second rating system, an additional 13 Senators (12 Democrats and 1 Republican) scored 100 per cent, totaling 27 perfect scores. Another 23 representatives (20 Democrats and 3 Republicans) scored 100 per cent, totaling 51 perfect scores.

Commenting on the dual rating system, Mrs. Benson said: "Basically the League believes in political accountability. We think this means taking a stand officially on all issues, by either being there or by being on the record."

New Court Reporter's Job Listed

By ANN SIECKZKOWSKI

What we really need is cooperation from the Board of County Commissioners in providing official service to the county," stated the new official court reporter Norman Robbin in his appearance before the Board on Wednesday.

Robbin told the board that he had 17 years experience as a court reporter and he felt that maybe some education of the board as to the responsibilities of this job might help.

He assured that he does not conduct private business outside court business, then he said, "to some extent, this might be true however."

The original design of the office is deposition work which is a means of income for the reporter. Until recently, the official reporter received a salary of $4,800 per year and "this is not sufficient to do the job." Currently, he receives per diem, and transcription services. He has a staff of several reporters working for him.

Robbin said that the judges have consistently controlled the price of depositions. Commissioner Greg Drummond was of the opinion that it is improper for the government to subsidize private work done by the reporter and the work done in the Orlando office of Robbin is considered private work by the commissioners, although Robbin said that is a misunderstanding of this point.

He said that he has no contract and that it would seem "wild" to consider investing in telephones when his services could be terminated without notice in the absence of a contract. He contended that there had been problems in getting office space and tele-

"FOR ME?" Sanford city planner Gerald Duke quizzed when presented with a pot of African violets by City Manager Warren Knowles at this week's zoning and planning commission meeting. Duke laughingly accepted the potted plant and speculated he may apply for city licenses to sell flower pots and water fountains. Earlier when city commissioners decided not to consider sign ordinance revisions recommended by Duke and the Z-P board, Mayor Lee Moore commented, "If you adopt everything the planner says you'll have flower pots and water fountains on every street corner."

Eleven Defendants Offer Guilty Plea

By MARION BETHEA

The criminal court trial docket, which included 26 cases this week before Circuit Judge Joe Cowart Jr., was decimated considerably by the guilty pleas of 11 defendants.

Joseph Williams, charged with grand larceny, pleaded guilty to the lesser offense of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Judge Cowart withheld adjudication of guilt and placed the defendant on probation for three years.

Willie Dan Adams, charged with carrying a concealed firearm, pleaded guilty to possession of a firearm. He was adjudicated guilty and fined $100 plus $1 court costs.

Eliza Drake, charged with two counts of aggravated battery and two counts of use of a firearm in commission of a felony, pleaded guilty to assault and battery. Circuit Judge Robert McGregor, adjudicated the defendant guilty and sentenced her to county jail for one year. The court suspended the sentence 50 weeks and ordered her to serve 14 days and after two weeks be placed on probation for two years and 11 months. The state nolle prossed one count of use of a firearm.

Robert Ansley, charged with possession and sale of a prohibited drug, pleaded guilty to possession of a prohibited drug. Judge Cowart withheld adjudication of guilt and placed the defendant on probation for two years. The state nolle prossed charges of sale of a prohibited drug, John Lee, charged with kidnapping, pleaded guilty to the lesser included offense of assault and battery. He was adjudicated guilty and fined $100 or 30 days in county jail.

Terry Gillin, charged with buying, receiving, or concealing stolen property, pleaded guilty as charged. Adjudication of guilt was withheld and the defendant placed on probation for two years. The court assessed a fee for the attorney's fee in the amount of $150.

James Bowles, charged with possession of drug paraphernalia, pleaded guilty to possession of cannabis in less than five grams. Adjudication of guilt was withheld and the defendant placed on probation for two years.

In another case, Larry Tyler, charged with uttering a forgery, on two counts was found guilty by a Circuit Court jury of both counts. He was sentenced on one count to a state prison for 30 months and on the second count to seven years probation. Both sentences are to run concurrently beginning Jan. 17. He was adjudicated guilty on both counts.

The state nolle prossed charges of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony. Judge Cowart adjudicated him guilty and sentenced him to county jail for one year. The sentence will run consecutively with a previous Orange County sentence.

Dennis William Duignan, charged in two separate cases with possession of cannabis I, pleaded guilty as charged in one of the cases. The court

Hearing Requested On Zoning Changes

By MARION BETHEA

WINTER SPRINGS—Councilman Troy Pland is to contact planner Harlan Hanson relative to changes in Winter Springs, Unit 5, in which a public hearing is requested. The changes have been recommended by the City Planning and Zoning Board.

The tract was previously single family home dwellings, and the developers are now requesting the addition of condominiums by Little Lake Howell as well as a commercial site in the PUD development.

The original plan encompassed half-acre lots in the single family residences, and now plans are for 75 by 150 foot lots.

City Attorney Thomas Freeman stated that the city has 46 acres zoned for commercial enterprises at present and that this will "supply more folks than are in the city." He continued that council should put in more commercial zoning "only after a great deal of thought... it is not good planning."

Councilman Clifford Jordan opined that if the Planning and Zoning Board recommended the changes, council should set up the public hearing for more information in the matter. However, Councilman John Booth stressed that a change from one-half acre to 75 by 150 foot lots was "quite a change."

Freeman suggested that modifications be requested before the public hearing so that the plan to be submitted to the public will be what will be acceptable to council. Jordan concurred, contending that council should also ascertain the reason for the changes.

Councilmen Victor Miller and Vicki Baker opposed the change upon the basis of the lots being too minimal.

In another issue, council agreed on proposed street lighting for the Highlands development. The lighting has received the approval of the Board of Planning and Zoning Board, and building inspector James Palmer indicated it had also met the requirements of the subdivision regulations. However, Miller said he wanted more technical data upon the light changes for each pole.

In further business, Mayor Granville Brown gave a progress report upon CALND. He said that work items in Phase I have been 30 per cent completed, the land use map 50 per cent completed and employment 25 per cent completed. "CALND," he stressed, "is moving right along."

Two From Area Scouts Present Top Awards

A Sanford telephone repairman and a Longwood housewife were among nine persons receiving the highest awards the Central Florida Boy Scout Council can make Saturday night.

Receiving the Silver Beaver were Russell B. Kitter, and receiving the Silver Fawn was Mrs. Rosalee Fouracre. Both scouts, who began his adult scouting in 1958, moved to Sanford in 1963 and assisted in organizing a Scout troop under the sponsorship of Grace Methodist Church. He has served that unit as "temporary scoutmaster" ever since. He has served on the district camping committee and was a leader team; and was a trainer of the National Junior Scout Troop in 1969.

He is also active as a coach-counselor for the juvenile detention home; has been MYF director at the church; Sunday School superintendent, and on the Seminole County United Fund board as well as a member of the Telephone Pioneers.

Mrs. Fouracre, during her eight years in the Cub Scout movement, has availed herself of all of the training available and, in turn, has served for three years as assistant cub leader, roundtable commissioner and cub leader training instructor.

She is also active in Parent-Teacher Association and the Ascension Lutheran Church at Casselberry.

The others receiving Silver Beavers were Christopher P. Watkins, Satellite Beach; Howard R. Rybolt and Louie F. Lanford Jr., Orlando; Robert J. Voke, Maitland; John T. Wayman, Winter Park; and Frederick C. Peterson, Melbourne.

Receiving a Silver Fawn also was Mrs. Joseph Wyman, Merritt Island.

The awards were presented at the 90th annual recognition dinner of Central Florida Boy Scout Council. It was held at Tupperware Auditorium, just north of Kissimmee, where more than 1,000 scout leaders and their spouses witnessed the ceremony.

County Takes Action In Land, Water Pact

By ANN SIECKZKOWSKI

According to reports at the meeting of the board of County Commissioners Wednesday, the board has taken the necessary action to qualify itself for participation in the Land and Water Conservation Fund Program in Florida. In a formal letter of application, Chairman Sidney Vihlen requested Seminole County be declared eligible to participate in this program.

It was necessary that a resolution be adopted declaring that the Board of Commissioners is the legally constituted public body empowered by the State of Florida to act for the citizens of the county.

Included in the resolution was formal affirmation that the Board would cooperate with the state in all matters related to the necessary maintenance of Florida's eligibility to participate in the program.

According to the further provisions of the resolution, Roger Neiwender, recently hired county planner, would be designated as the liaison agent with the State on all matters concerning County participation in the program.

The purpose of this formal procedure was to accord the Board of Commissioners as the official governing body to receive the matching funds which are to be used toward the Seminole Zoological Park development.

The park is located on the southwest shore of Lake Monroe off Highway 17-92 about one-fourth mile east of the 14 and 17-92 intersection. It consists of 104 acres.

Estimated total cost of the development this year, for which matching Land and Water Conservation funds are being requested, is $300,000. The land is heavily wooded, with very large trees of several species covering 85 per cent of the area. About 30 per cent of the land on the north end of the park is described as typical "Florida cypress hammock."

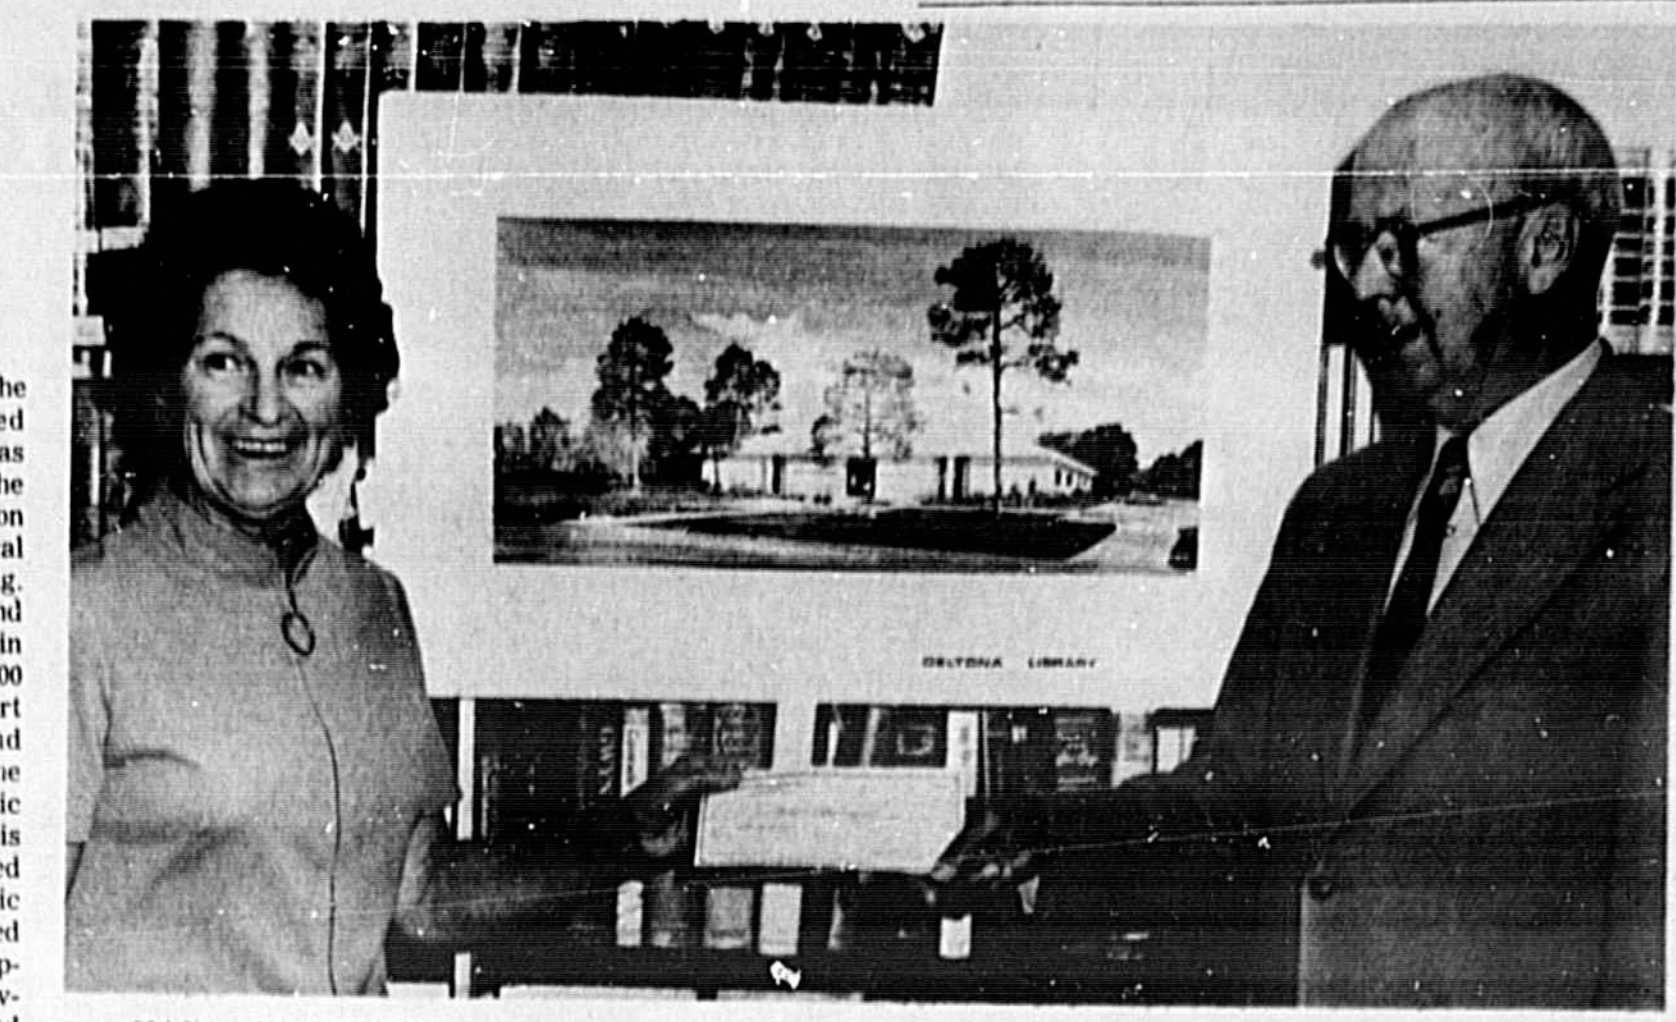

Principal features of construction will be an entryway with security gate and identifying sign. There will be about 2,000 feet of hard surfaced road for two way traffic; four parking areas to accommodate over 200 vehicles; eight picnic areas, two with rest rooms and sheltered barbecue pits, tables and benches; Another feature will be three miles of built up nature trails, perimeter-fencing, a small food concession stand for public convenience landscaping and utilities. Development, maintenance and operation will be by contract agreement between Seminole County and the Zoological Society. Clifford Nelson, past president of the Society has been named director of the park and was appointed last year by the Commission to serve as liaison between county and federal sources to try to secure funding.

The 104 acres of park land was purchased by the County in October 1971 at a cost of $3,000 per acre. It was a planned part of systematic park land acquisitions to make up the total Seminole County public parks complex. The land is considered to be ideally located from a standpoint of public convenience since it is located apart from nearby development; it is on the St. Johns River and Lake Monroe, and further, it is served by the principal highways from surrounding counties. Citizens of Seminole County are within 35 minutes of the location by auto; and residents of population centers of Orange, Volusia, Lake and Brevard Counties are within one hour of the park.

An agreement between the County Commissioners and the Seminole Zoological Society will permit the Society to construct at no cost to the County, a zoological park on the southern end of the park. This project contemplates capital improvement to the park of about one million dollars within ten years and will result in heavy use of the park by the public.

This fact, coupled with the unprecedented predicated population explosion of Seminole and surrounding counties makes it imperative in the minds of the petitioners, at least, that recreational areas already acquired be developed in a planned and timely manner.

The estimated date for submitting formal application to the Department of Natural Resources, Division of Recreation and Parks is February 28, 1973.

At Deltona Library Elects Officers

By FANNETTE EDWARDS

DELTONA — The Deltona Public Library Association met for their regular meeting and annual election and installation of officers on Jan. 10 at 10 a.m. in the Little Red Schoolhouse and Public Library.

Officers elected for 1973 and installed were: Dr. Anthony J. Borowski, president; Edmund Shinton, vice president; Mrs. Walter Sellman, recording secretary; Mrs. Alvin Wesley, corresponding secretary; Earle Woodhull, treasurer; Directors, Robert Wright, Charles Phillips, Ralph Ely and Mrs. Harry Brodt, all for two-year terms; Archy Schrock, one year; Mrs. McClain Post, Mrs. Joseph O'Brien and Mrs. George Fischer remain on as directors for another year.

Mrs. J. B. Williams, assistant librarian read the annual report for the Librarian, Mrs. Louis Ludwig, who could not be present. In it she stated that money from the sale of duplicate and reject books received, was used for necessary office supplies. Other committee reports were given, Mrs. Joseph O'Brien, ways and means chairman, collected $1,100 from the 1972 Library Directory. In speaking of the Householder Directory, Mrs. Charles Wyman of the Civic Association of Deltona, stated that the Civic Association had taken over the survey job, that the Boone Publishing Co. no longer compensates them for taking the listings, but that the Boone Company had promised a donation to the Library Building Fund.

However, President Archy Schrock said that the Library's greatest concern now, is in raising the $45,000 needed to begin building the Library and that only a fraction of that has been realized to date. He announced that $3,000 was realized by Mrs. O'Brien from the card party given to award the lot donated by Dr. Anthony Borowski. Persons interested in contributing to this worthwhile building fund should contact the president, Dr. Anthony Borowski or the treasurer, Earl Woodhull.

Memberships are being asked for in the Library Association, also. Individuals are $2; joint, $5; family, $5; supporting, $10; donor, $25; patron, $50 and benefactor, $100 each. To date 398 members belong.

For further information, write the Deltona Public Library, Box 144, Deltona 32763.

Here are some of the reasons a full service Library would benefit Deltona residents, says Publicity Director Eleanor Fischer:

The County system would supply up to 5,000 books immediately on a long-term loan basis.

Any book or material available in the Volusia County libraries could be delivered to Deltona at the borrower's request. Films, film strips and projectors could be borrowed for non-profit events.

ARBOR DAY was celebrated Thursday at Lakeview Middle School with a special tree planting ceremony. Students in the Learn and Earn program planted 50 trees on the campus. Florida was among the first states to observe a Tree Planting Day in 1886. Principal Ted Barker and Ron Higgins, teacher, watch as Sally and Jarvis Grant plant pine seedlings.

Altamonte Annexing 6 Parcels Of Land

By MARRION BETHEA

Altamonte Springs City Council passed on first reading ordinances annexing six separate parcels of property considerably extending the city's territorial limits.

The second annexation was that of 160 acres located on Montgomery Road owned by developer Lester Mandell. This tract has a divided zoning of a portion PUD and another C-2.

Another parcel, known as Goldie Manor is located on Jay Drive and carries C-2 zoning. Last annexation was that of re-annexing Village Green Apartments. The complex was annexed some time ago, but a controversy arose with the county tax assessor's office as to whether the complex was contiguous to the city.

City Attorney S. J. Davis, following adoption of the ordinances on first reading, noted that "this is a very productive little city" in that it has passed 196 ordinances since adoption of the new charter in 1967.

Among the parcels annexed was 200 acres owned by Leeward Construction Company located near Lake Lotus. The parcel will carry C-3 wholesale commercial zoning.

Developer Robert Hattaway told council an industrial park is planned for the tract, encompassing two-story office complexes similar to Regency Square. The rear of the buildings, he said, will be utilized as warehouses.

Secretary of State Richard Stone has announced the chartering of the following corporations: Home Services, Inc. 388 South Highway 17-92, Casselberry. Authorized stock: 50,000 shares of common at 1 cent.

Webb reported to council that the $382,000 edifice will probably not be completed until April, due to unforeseen delays. Webb related that "a lot of problems caused the delay." He went on to cite a delay in the arrival of materials, roofers delayed by the rains, problems with the stucco and plate glass and others.

Ground for the impressive structure was broken by city officials last April and excavations were to occupy the building by the first of this year. The single story structure will contain a large meeting room and several offices and will front Newberryport Avenue. It is located west of the present city hall. Webb also reported to council that the new civic center is completed, but cannot be utilized until completion of the site work.

Mayor Swofford said he was disappointed in the delay in the city hall and questioned if a penalty clause in the contract would have expedited the completion of the work. Webb replied negatively and added that it would only have increased the cost of the building. "Well, you can't win 'em all," quipped Mayor Swofford.

In another matter, council authorized City Attorney S. J. Davis to prepare a resolution including sick leave benefits for municipal employees into the personnel policy.

Employees will receive five days sick leave immediately upon employment and an additional five days at the end of six months employment, for a total of 10 days yearly. The sick leave may be accrued against a major illness.

At the risk of sounding like one of the uniformed and against big time college football we have to say that we are in total agreement with the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA) limiting schools to a "mere" 30 football scholarships per year.

It was a ruling we suspected was forthcoming after the NCAA permitted the use of Freshmen in varsity sports. Undoubtedly the first rule was adopted with the stipulation that the limit on the number of athletic scholarships would also be approved.

With the previous limitations on scholarships being leveled by the governing conferences the rich got richer and the weak got weaker. While some college coaches including Florida's Doug Dickey feel the same situation will prevail we feel overall the chances of the weaker colleges showing improvement are a great deal better.

College powers such as Southern California will prosper because they lie in an area where junior college football offers a great many proven stars. But even so the NCAA ruling is 30 scholarships per year and there is no carrying over the unused ones from the previous season. Should that situation arise.

However, one aspect of the scholarship pact we feel will aid schools such as USC is the one-year limit on athletic aid. At present schools can offer a four-year scholarship to future stars. After 1974 the NCAA says that will be a violation of the athletic aid program. Only one year grant in aids or scholarships can be offered.

This, we feel, could lead to a great many "under the table deals" which certainly can not help the college athletic programs, which already is in need of help.

The one year restriction on athletic aid will take away the college's responsibility toward the athlete. The way we read the rule is that after one year the athletic aid can be withdrawn. This we feel, will place undue pressure on the youngster since there will be no certainty as far as his academic and athletic future is concerned.

Speaking of college scholarships the University of Florida has already given 30 such parcels to standout prep stars.

In what coach Dickey calls a "tribute to the class of high school football and coaching in our state" all of the signees hail from Florida.

Dickey will continue to seek other prep stars and feels the northern section of the country, around Pennsylvania and Ohio, will be one of the areas he will be checking out.

As one observer stated the Florida coach is just now getting the "Dickey Era" underway. Looking over the prep stars we find the typical Dickey gridders such as 6-2, 260 pound Steve Kiefer of Ocala, 6-3, 227 pound Jeff Sprague of Ft. Lauderdale Stranahan, 6-5, 295 George Sullivan of Kissimmee, 6-5, 240 pound Ken Brock of Panama City, and 6-4, 226 pound Joey Pupello of Tampa Jesuit.

McLendon was able to get several easy buckets and it prompted the Pioneers to an eight point surge when their first session came to an end, 21-13. While the host team continued to make it look easy fall to 6-4 on the year, finishing on the short end of a 65-54 score against Oak Ridge.

The Pioneers had rolled to an easy 84-48 victory over the Greyhounds just a week ago in a game played on the Lyman hardwood. It was expected the Pioneers would improve on that effort in Friday's game against their home base.

Sinking Hounds Lose 7th In Row

ORLANDO — There was a vast difference in the Lyman Greyhounds Friday night but it wasn't enough to give them their first victory in Metro play this season. As it was the Hounds saw their Metro mark fall to 6-4 on the year, finishing on the short end of a 65-54 score against Oak Ridge.

The Pioneers had rolled to an easy 84-48 victory over the Greyhounds just a week ago in a game played on the Lyman hardwood. It was expected the Pioneers would improve on that effort in Friday's game against their home base.

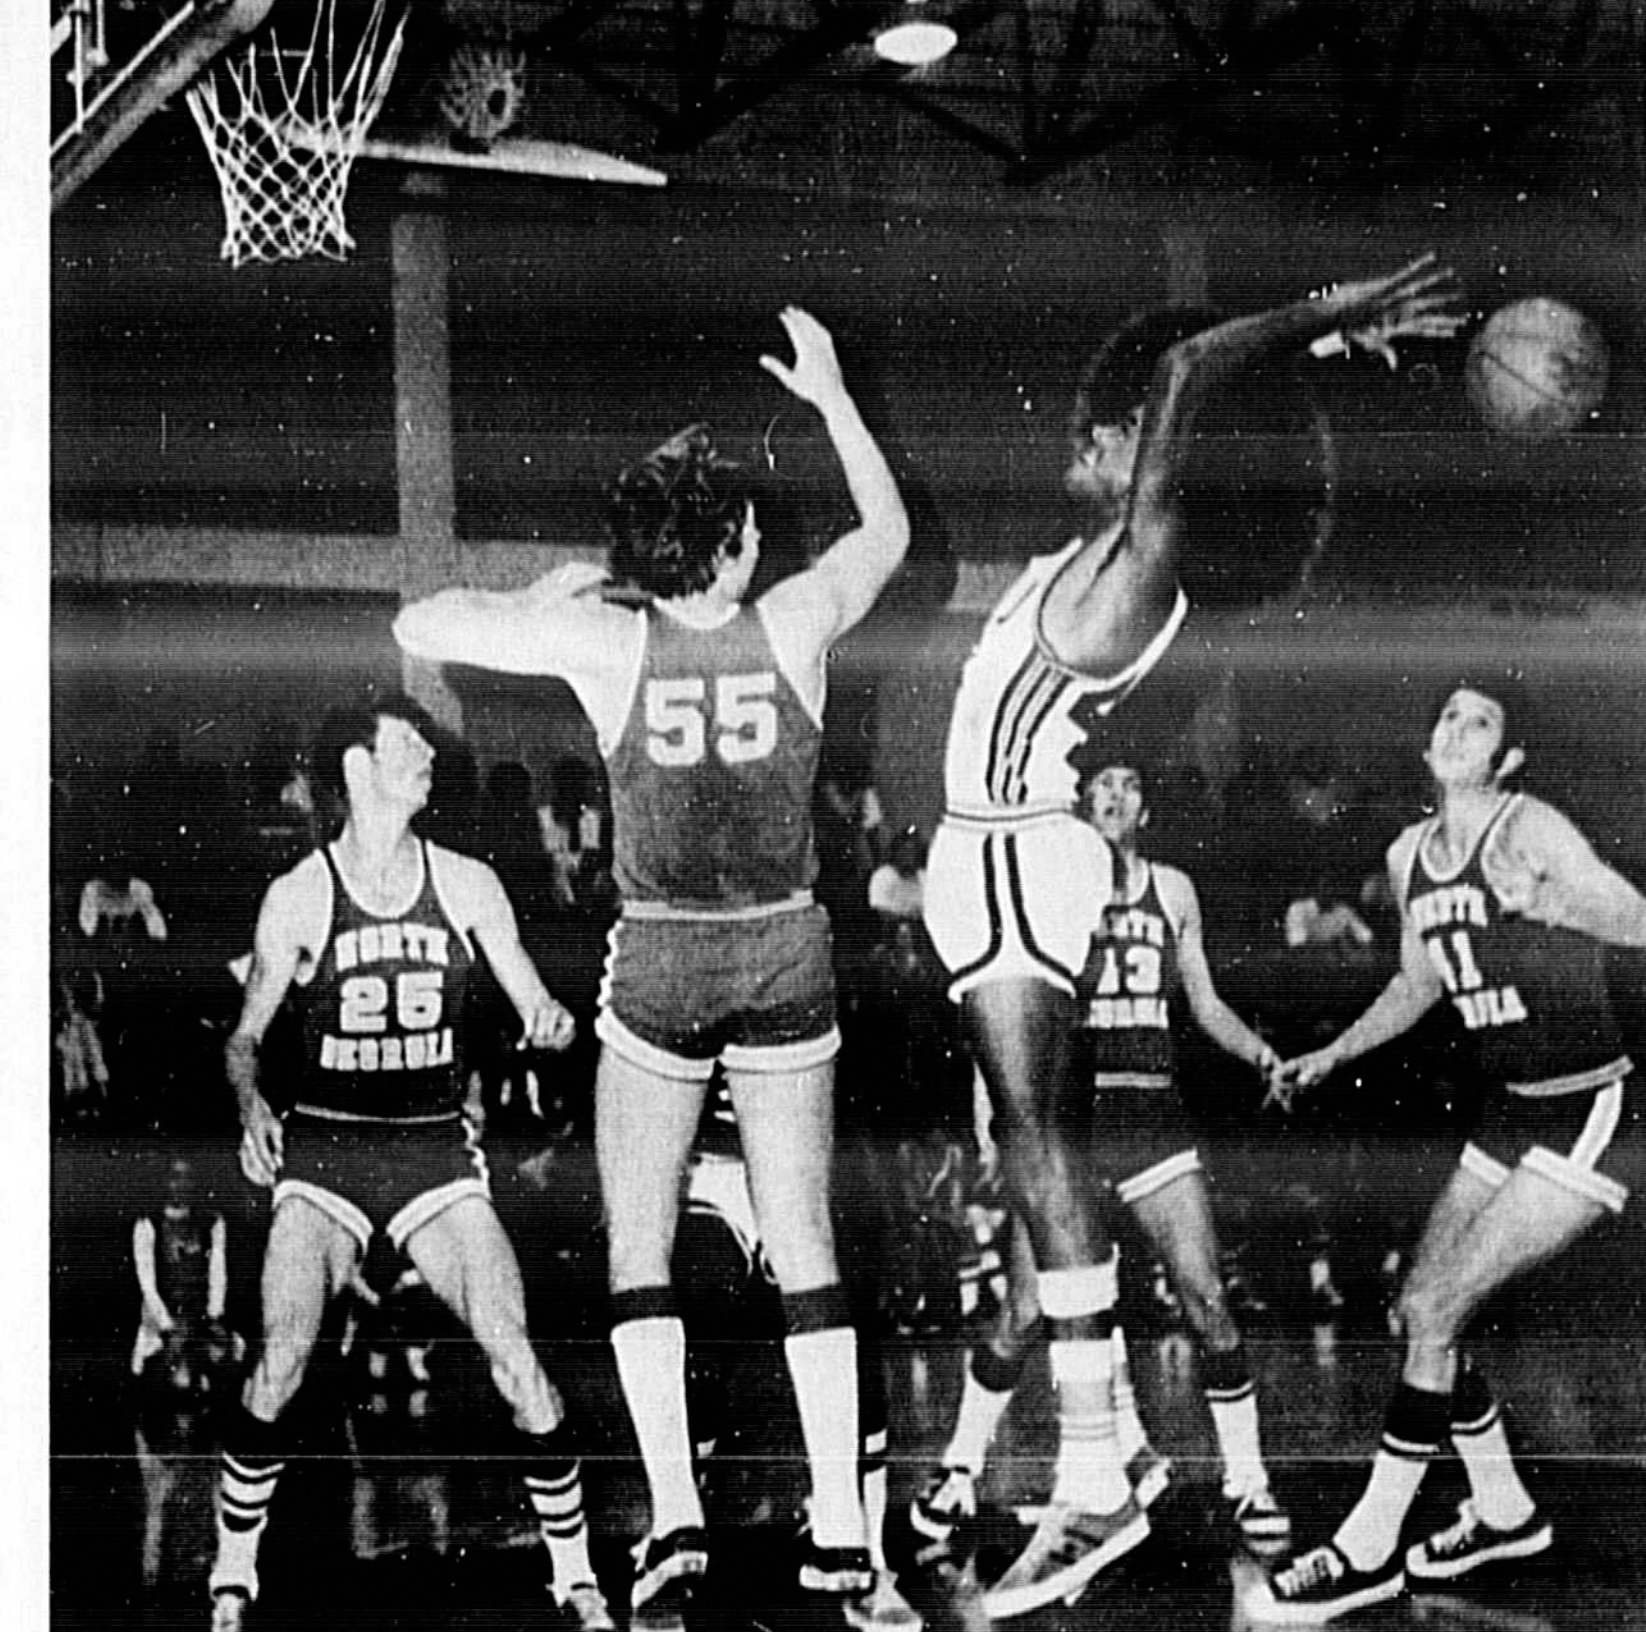

Joe McLendon and Earl Carr tried their best to make short work of the Greyhounds but were not given enough support from their mates and the Pioneers had somewhat of a battle on their hands for the final three sessions.

Tribe Halted By Lakeland Dreadnaughts

By J. RICHARDS Herald Sports Writer

Balanced scoring from six Lakeland Dreadnaughts who put on the pressure early and then coasted along with the Fighting Seminoles, shut off the visiting Tribe at two at the charity stripe, followed by Clifford Manley with 18, Ricky Russ with 15 and Jim Clements who added 11.

The Dreadnaughts lived up to their name, plowing into the Tribe at the outset, running and gunning as the Seminoles could not keep their hands on the ball and match the torrid pace, leaving the Sanford cagers with a 10 point first frame deficit.

looking Cudas now found themselves down by a dozen, 39-19.

In the third period the Lions refused to let up as they poured it on to the Cudas, even with three of their starters sitting on the bench.

But the replacements, Frank Goetz, Alan Daniel and Rob McCall turned in a fine job. The third period found the Lions continuing to set fire to the nets with their uncanny hot shooting.

For the Lions, Leon Cobb led all scorers with 22 points while Goetz had his best game of the season, hitting for 15 points - Patterson and Rhodes also placed in double figures as they both hit for 10 points. And for the losers, Cliff Beverly had 18.

In the second period the Lions began to do what they do best - run. With Fred Rhodes and Leon Cobb leading the fast break, the Lions began to put some distance between the Cudas and themselves.

Oviedo controlled the boards at both ends of the court but the big problem for New Smyrna was the Oviedo "break" which had put the Lions in front by 10 midway through the second period.

Rhodes, the Lions top ball handler and one of the best guards in the conference, moved Oviedo efficiently down the court while Cobb and Glennie Patterson made their presence known on both the offensive and defensive boards.

Will Seat 4,000 Florida Tech To Build Gym

Freshmen on this year's Florida Technological University athletic teams may be closing out their varsity careers in the school's own gymnasium. A 4,000 seat gym has been approved and construction on the facility should begin in the next year or two. Dr. Frank Rohrer, director of physical education and athletic director at FTU announced that plans have been approved by the Board of Regents and they've also ok'd the $1.85 million that will be needed to complete the construction.

Dr. Rohrer says the "target date" for completion of the gym is 1975. Should the former date be realized it would mean the University's present freshmen would be able to compete in the facility. According to Dr. Rohrer the complex will be used for basketball, wrestling and even tennis. The complex will be known as the multipurpose gym. In addition to the gymnasium there will be classrooms in which all physical education classes can be taught. The facility will also be used for an auditorium as well as a site for intramural activities.

In addition to use by the University Dr. Rohrer indicated the complex would be made available to the community. Presently the Florida Tech basketball team must travel 15 miles into Orlando to practice at the Lake Highland Prep gym. This not only burdens the present system but the recruiting of future athletes to the school.

FTU basketball coach Gene Torchy Clark felt just as depressed. He said he had been asked to leave quietly. That's primarily because the alumni often is a chief source of campus revenue in one way or another. A happy alumni usually means a happy college administration.

The general unloading of coaches came as no surprise to those who have been watching Division — just behind St. Louis. It was inevitable that Houston's Pat Peterson would depart, after a nightmarish 1-13 last place finish in the AFC's Central Division. In pro football, coaches must worry about the fans and the front office. In college football, the coach's greatest worry is the alumni. If the old grads turn their backs on a coach, he usually is asked to leave quietly.

Oviedo LL Prepares Changes For 1973

These may now be handled by the Association without penalty. Brantlett stressed that the Oviedo Little League remains a chartered member of the National Little League Organization. In discussing the 1973 plans, Brantlett indicated he is looking for a significant increase in parent participation to make this a highly successful season.

And that progress by the basketball team was taken into consideration when the decision to erect a gym was reached. But while the basketball program has been growing rapidly the same can be said for both the wrestling and tennis programs which will also use the complex.

Man Of The Year Deltona Legion Honors Lefty Vann

By FANNETTE EDWARDS

DELTONA — At a surprise Testimonial Dinner, given by the American Legion Post No. 255 of Deltona, in the Community Center, ARNOLD "LEFTY" VANN, was chosen Man Of The Year for 1972. Approximately 200 persons from Deltona, Osteen, Delary, Orange City, Deland and Sanford attended to receive the news, which is kept as a surprise until the moment of the dinner and known only to the committee that chooses the lucky man.

Lefty Vann has been actively engaged with the youth of Deltona ever since he and his wife, Lillie Mae came to Deltona from Milford Park, Pa. to make their home here. He had been a baseball player for 55 years, or as he puts it, "for as long as I can remember." Just 71 years young, Lefty looks and acts like one of 40 years his junior.

Born in Flushing, Long Island, N.Y., Vann first became associated with the game of baseball in 1917 when he was offered his first pitching job with New Haven of the Eastern League. The next year he pitched for Bridgeport and for the next five years, hurled the ball for Toronto of the International League and later became an outfielder. He led the league in hitting in 1925 with a .400 average. In 1932 and '33, Vann managed the "House of Vann" team and for two seasons worked with the Wentz Olveys.

In 1936, Vann took over the "conglomerate Gold Seals" and piloted them to the Inlri championship. From here on, he devoted all his time to managing and was called "Mr. Baseball" by his boys of the "Loyal AC Baseball Team" of Chester, Pa., which he managed for 22 years.

When Vann decided he needed the warmer climate, "in his old age," he chose Central Florida, because of its delightful weather. "The sun always shines in Deltona," he said, "and my wife and I just love it here. This is our last store Deltona, Fla., which he managed for 22 years.

Saints Come Close, But Bow By 52-47

By J. RICHARDS Herald Sports Writer

The Lapp brothers, Rick and John, threw a scare into highly favored Florida Air Academy in Melbourne last night, but a five-point Falcon margin in the final period powered the Air-men over the winless Saints 52-47.

Starting only his third game on the varsity, Sophomore John Lapp dumped in seven doubledeckers and one free throw for 15 points to pace the Saints, but Junior Arthur LeRick, who averages 29 points per game, hit 10 from the floor and 10 more from the charity stripe to garner 30 points in his winning effort.

Junior Rick Lapp and Doug Dyson combined for 23 markers with the older Lapp getting most of the work inside and Dyson returning to his form from the outside, for the Saints, who are now 6-11.

Lonn Beitsman added 12 markers, many of them coming in the hectic final frame to complete the double figure scoring for the Falcons, who moved their season mark up to 6-2.

The newly formed East Seminole Youth Athletic Association Inc. has been organized to conduct the Little League program for 1973. The East Seminole Youth Athletic Association was formed as a nonprofit organization to hold the Oviedo Little League charter and avoid many of the current restrictions on Little League activities.

These may now be handled by the Association without penalty. Brantlett stressed that the Oviedo Little League remains a chartered member of the National Little League Organization. In discussing the 1973 plans, Brantlett indicated he is looking for a significant increase in parent participation to make this a highly successful season.

A requirement for membership in the Association, in addition to the dues, is that each parent donate a portion of his time in support of the Little League program such as umpiring, coaching, scorekeeping, selling refreshments, etc. In this way, the burden of running a baseball program for

"You know being a 40 year old wrestler is like being a black quarterback on a Southern team. You'd better be good."

And before the Notre Dame match his critics, "he was afraid I'd get hurt," he explained. Yanovitch started his career as a 150-pound center at Wilkes in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., back in 1953, then enlisted in the Air Force a year later during the Korean War.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association rules permit Yanovitch to compete in any college sport because he interrupted his collegiate career for continuous military service.

So far, he's won two of six matches. But the victories aren't the motivating factors in his wrestling regimen. "With things like women's lib and taxation, the American male gets downtrodden," said the trim six-footer with graying temples. "The average American male 40 years old is in rotten shape, but if they have an opportunity to do something worthwhile, like I have here, they can put it out with anybody in the world."

But Yanovitch says he has to put up with a lot of fak from friends, teammates and opponents. A fellow Air Force retiree offered him a course in how to grow old gracefully. One youngster from East Stroudsburg College shook hands after he beat Yanovitch and said incredulously, "Do you know

Regional Match-Ups May Revive Baseball

By BILL CONLIN Copley News Service

Baseball attendance is sputtering, and now they're talking about "natural rivalries" as a restorative just when all other methods have failed.

The American League, which had 11,445,318 attendance this last season, wants to share its attractiveness with the National League, like the Giants versus the A's, the Dodgers against the Angels, Cubs vs. White Sox, Yankees vs. Mets, Philadelphia vs. Cincinnati, Cleveland vs. Milwaukee... and now you get down to unnatural rivalries.

So who needs consolidation? The suggestion is

TRACK TALK with George Crossley

Sebring Alive?

Here we go again. Businessmen from the Sebring area are trying to arrange a 12 Hour race at the old airport course with the sanction of the International Motor Sports Association.

At this point I should be saying how pleased I am that Floridians would have this great Classic return to Florida from a proposed site in 1973, Road Atlanta near Gainesville, Georgia.

But, there is a serious problem. The reason racing ceased at Sebring in 1972 was because of the atrocious condition of the old 5.2 mile airport road course. Sanction was not forthcoming in 1973 because of driver complaints about track conditions. That's why there is talk of sanction by the new International Motor Sports Association.

I have had the privilege of broadcasting the last two Sebring 12 Hour races over two different networks to stations around the country. I still cannot, for the life of me, see how any more racing can take place over the same old course.

I have driven around the course and it's rough at 70 miles an hour. I can't conceive of how teeth grinding it must be at 200 miles per hour.

Yes, there have been some great races over the years at Sebring. Last year we heard that a new facility was being planned and was to be built to replace the old. There later in the year we heard that instead of a 12 Hour race at Sebring in 1973, we would have a six hour race at Road Atlanta. Now that has been scrapped.

The Ullman family dropped its association with the race and the present situation arose. Well, I sure hope if racing does return to the old course that extensive modifications are made for the sake of drivers and spectators. I love the course but, lets face it, it's dangerous.

I will be watching with the greatest of interest any information that comes from that sleepy little town on U.S. Route 27 that once a year used to come alive in March for one of the greatest road racing events ever staged anywhere.

Latest Tip

Two separate and very reliable sources have Reggie Smith, who used to work for the Ullmans when they ran the Sebring Grand Prix of endurance, being elected President of a new Sebring based organization with full intentions of running a 12 Hour race under the sanction of the International Motor Sports Association and scheduled for March 24 of this year.

All the details haven't been ironed out but it appears that the old airport road course off route 27 in Highland County will again bear the roar of fifty or more powerful racing machines hurtling around the 5.2 mile course at speeds up to 200 miles per hour.

24 Hour Entries

Latest Florida entries in the 24 Hours of Daytona include Ray Kessler, Young Richie Panch, son of former stockcar ace Marvin Panch, and Dr. Wilber Pickett, piloting a Camaro; Guido Levetto from Daytona, Mario Levetto from Italy; Ara Dubs from Daytona; Ray Gage and Jim Grob from Ft. Lauderdale, driving a Lotus BMW.

Grob has distinguished himself in SCCA competition in Formula cars around the country.

Joe and Tim Whitwood from Jacksonville will be driving a Camaro. David Heinen and John Carter will be driving a Procr 911S. Helrick hales from Miami. Hurley Hayward and Peter Gregg will be driving a new Porsche 2.7 litre Carrera. This team comes from Jacksonville. This car should be very fast and this team should have the ability to take home all the marbles both in their class and in overall competition.

In addition to these Florida entries the North American Racing Team has entered three Ferrari GTB 4 Daytonas in the 24 Hour event. So far drivers are Sam Posey and Coco Chivetti with four more yet to be named.

Favorite to take home all the bacon should be the two Gulf Mirages with those 450 Horsepower 11,000 HP engines. Drivers include Derek Bell, Mike Hailwood, Howden Ganley and John Watson, all from England.

No less than seven powerful Crovettes are entered in the race with Tony DeLorenzo and Mo Carter being among those who will be given a good chance on taking it. All Atlanta entries is a Ferrari Dino driven by Pete Harrison and Robert Bruchler. Total entries at this time are 52 with time for still more. Practice for the Feb. 3 race will begin Jan. 31.

24 Hour Adjustment

A last-minute technical adjustment in the regulations governing the upcoming 24 Hours of Daytona is expected to swell the list of entries for North America's longest endurance race to more than 75.

The Commission Sportive Internationale (CSI) has postponed until April 1, 1973, the compulsory use of the Federation Internationale de l'Automobile (FIA) dry-brake couplings for refueling race cars. The postponement was instituted when it became apparent that a number of racing teams were unable to obtain and install the new systems in time for the World Manufacturers' Championship Series event set for Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 24, over the 2.8-mile road circuit at Daytona International Speedway.

Trout Also Plentiful Anglers Score With Speckled Perch

By BOB ORRELL
Herald Outdoor Editor

The cold, windy weather of the past few days temporarily put a damper on fishing, but not for long. As soon as the sun came out, local anglers unlimbered their gear and headed for the rivers and lakes again and the TALL TALES started flowing once more.

The best one of the week came from George Cheney at the Wekiva River Haven Camp West of Sanford.

Seems that one of the campers, hoping for a good big catch for the next days dinner, put out a set line over night. Along came a big bluegill bream which latched on to the mussel bait and got well hooked. Then came a bass of about three pounds looking for an easy meal.

The greedy bass tried to swallow the bluegill headfirst but got himself impaled on the bream's fins. The camper was rewarded next morning with a "two-for-one" special as both fish were still alive and in good shape for cooking.

Another camping party at the same spot found speckled perch in a biting mood downstream at the river's mouth, landing a string of 22 on one trip, 26 the next day. Missouri minnows were the bait both days.

Irene and Otis Faulk, operators of Camp Seminole on the Wekiva River, had word of many campers and visitors but not in many of them fishing. Those who did, came in with some fairly good catches of speckled perch.

Lake Harney specks have also come alive again according to Don Smith at Seminole Sporting Goods Store. Don listed a catch of 20 for Jasper Nicholson and John Carter along with one bass a few days ago. This twosome trotted with Beetle-Spin lures. Charles Merritt found bass schooling near Marina Isle Camp and used a Spot plug to land seven of them.

The first cast made with a purple worm accounted for a five pound bass for Carner Davis on a recent excursion and started the day off right. His total catch for the day was five but the first one was the biggest.

Plastic worms and live shiners accounted for five large-mouths for J. T. Turbin and Don Witt in the Lemon Bluff area, the largest one, a seven pounder, falling for a worm. The other four ranged from a pound to three and a half pounds.

Shiners are furnishing some sport for trrollers from Lemon Bluff downstream to Marina Isle Camp but not in great numbers the past few days.

Best bet is "specks" in the river right now. Bob King of Marina Isle guided Jim Gray and party to catches of 63 on two consecutive days and King says the situation looks good since the perch have recovered from the bad case of "lock-jaw" which they have had lately.

Another boat out from the same camp this week took home over 80 with three anglers sharing in the catch. King also mentioned some bass activity, Carmen Davis landing four on the plastic worm.

Lake Monroe has been too rough for small boats the early part of the week but Paul Johnson at the Osteen Bridge Camp relayed word that fishing is good in the old river bed and in the mouth of the river at the lake. Perch are hitting live minnows in the bunnets in this area.

SALT WATER NOTES

Daytona Beach angler Bob Ustled used live shrimp to land 180 pounds of drum, sheephead, and channel bass in Ponce DeLeon Inlet Friday confirming other reports that the inlet fishing is HOT now.

Wayne Brady, of the "Fishes Hole" Bait and Tackle Shop reported excellent trout fishing around Turtle Mound with Mirrolure plugs the best producers. The Halifax River is also good with blues and channel bass showing up in large numbers.

Further South in the Oak Hill area, Fred Behrens of Sanford found the T7 series Mirrolure plugs very effective as he took two large hauls of trout on recent trips.

The "Salty Dog" jig worked for Bob Miller as he fished out of Lopez Camp. Miller landed a string of 10 nice trout.

Another local angler, Larry his ballplayers. "They learned," said Shula, "that hard works equals success."

It is astonishing that one man can be such a force in pro football. The Dolphins reflect Shula's strength and personality, much as Lombardi once personified the Green Bay Packers. Yet Shula had reached a point in his career where he had to win the last game of the season or face more derision.

"All that we accomplished becomes more important if remembered within the framework of a championship season," noted Shula. "For me, it was very meaningful to win; it gets me over that last hurdle of winning the big one."

The Super Bowl is a game that transcends everything else in football. Shula spoke of the "naked realization" that America honors only the winner.

Shula is an exceptional coach, and a human being of matching quality.

In the course of his Super Bowl postmortem, Shula briefly reviewed his three seasons with the Dolphins and made a remark that reveals the extent of his self-confidence.

"We know what it takes to win," he said.

Then he recalled his first week in Miami when he punished the Dolphins with four workouts daily and "meetings in between." He quickly established a tone, and earned the respect and acceptance of Smith, tried live shrimp for bait at Turtle Mound but discovered the trout and channel bass preferred Mirrolures to his live bait offerings. In addition to the ones he caught, Smith said he saw several other boats with large catches of trout and reds.

Quoting from the monthly newsletter 'HOT KNOTS' published by the Halifax Sport Fishing Club, Inc., "Weekfish are beginning to show around the Old County Reef. Kings are hitting good on the Party Grounds both trolling and drift fishing. Drum and sheephead still good in the Inlet."

Joe Geisman of Al-Jo's Fish Camp on SEAIA south of New Smyrna Beach, says he has never seen channel bass bite better in all the years he has been acquainted with this area. The early part of the week saw fabulous catches made in the vicinity of his camp.

Live shrimp was the most productive bait, but were in short supply so many anglers resorted to Mirrolure plugs and Trout-Touts for the redfish and trout.

A "personal" inspection by the writer confirmed the trout part but the bass made themselves scarce, only one falling to a Mirrolure while 30 trout filled the ice chest.

Geisman expects shrimp to be running again by this week and the Reds to be back in quantities once more — LET'S GO FISHING!

Editors Note: The following letter was sent to John Spolski, a ninth grade student at Crooms High School. The Crooms student had sent a letter to the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission concerning hunting costs and regulations. The following is the reply of the FG & FWFC.

Mr. Spolski:

Finding a good place to hunt nowadays is a problem and, as you say, the Ocala (forest), because of its location and reputation, is perhaps the most heavily hunted. There are, however, management areas around the state which have much less pressure.

Enclosed is a copy of a booklet which lists these other areas, their location, game and restrictions. Maps of the individual areas are available from any of the regional offices listed on the reverse cover.

The $10 that you mention, but for a fee charged for hunting on a management area. This is for management of those areas with a major portion going to pay the lease fees of the property.

Here, too, is a problem. We have some four million acres in our management area system, yet in many of these, you have a very high hunting pressure. We need more land. Of this four million we have, we only own about 100,000 acres — (The remainder is leased. At some time in the future we could lose this hunting property to development or higher lease rates paid by private hunt clubs.)

This is the reason for the $10 management area permit. Under the law which made this $10 fee possible, the money from this increase must go to obtaining more hunting land. To be exact 60 per cent must go to buy land, and the remainder for leasing additional lands and for maintaining those and additional lands, plus existing lands.

So, even though this $10 may seem exorbitant to you, particularly in view of the increased hunting pressures you must endure, it will enhance your hunting enjoyment in the future.

Sincerely,
Jerry L. Givins,
Assistant Chief
Information Education
Division

It Took Hard Work For Miami Victory

By JACK MURPHY
Copley News Service

The pro football spectacular known as the Super Bowl grows bigger and bigger — and duller and duller.

Super Bowl VII was a game that only coaches and technicians could enjoy. Naturally, Don Shula thought it was beautiful.

"We moved the ball and we prevented the Washington offense from scoring," said the coach who is taking on an aura of the late, almost mythical figure Lombardi.

"Maybe it wasn't a good spectators' game but I liked it."

In seven years the Super Bowl has produced little in the way of dramatic football. The games have either been lopsided (the Dallas 24-3 conquest of Miami last year was one long yawn) or dominated by defenses. This does not lend itself to memorable entertainment.

Miami's 14-7 conquest of Washington was tribute to the coaching skills of Shula and George Allen, both defensive specialists. And that's precisely what made it so bland.

More than anything else this was a triumph for one man — Shula. He had been characterized by a former employer, Carroll Rosenbloom, as a coach who "freezes" in big games.

That's a cruel thing to say of a man who has led three teams to the Super Bowl in seven years, of the first pro coach to win 100 games in a decade, of the only coach ever to go through a 17-game season without defeat.

"It was especially satisfying to win in the backyard of a guy who has criticized me for three years for not winning the big one," said Shula.

Shula is an exceptional coach, and a human being of matching quality.

In the course of his Super Bowl postmortem, Shula briefly reviewed his three seasons with the Dolphins and made a remark that reveals the extent of his self-confidence.

"We know what it takes to win," he said.

All About Genevieve Richardson

Retired Ph.D's Business Is Still Fine Arts

EARNs DOCTORATE

I always knew that my Illinois had its share of interesting, well-educated, important, but kind, gentle women, but I really did not know how many until I moved to Deltona, was hired by The Herald to report on club and civic activities and then asked by our society editor, Doris Williams, to write a feature story each Sunday on an interesting, outstanding woman in this community.

From the time my first feature appeared, I have received many calls, giving me names of outstanding, interesting women and believe it or not, half of those women suggested I write about Genevieve Richardson.

Today, you are going to hear all about MISS GENEVIEVE RICHARDSON, born and raised in St. Joseph, Champaign County, Ill.

Grant and Addaline Richardson sent their daughter, Genevieve, to grade school and high school in St. Joseph and then to MacMurray College in Jacksonville, Ill. for three years. Here Genevieve majored in Speech and English.

SCHOOL TEACHER

She was offered a teaching position in Moline, Ill. where she taught grade school for the next twelve years. She then returned to her studies to complete her Bachelor of Science degree at the University of Illinois in Champaign-Urbana.

Upon receiving her B.S. degree, she taught at the Oakwood Township High School in Vermillion County, near Danville, for three and one half years. Following that, for two years she taught Speech and Theatre, at Geneva College in Beaver Falls, Penn.

Then in 1947 she was put on the staff of the University of Illinois in the Department of Speech and Theatre as an instructor and supervisor of costume.

UNIVERSITY STAFFER

For 22 years she taught at the University of Illinois and also served as costume on the technical staff for the "University Theatre." This entailed conferences with the director of all the school productions; designing the costumes; shopping for materials; supervising the student crews that actually made the costumes; and giving her final approval when the costumes were completed. All this was done for more than 220 productions during her stay at the University.

THEATRE PRODUCTIONS

Among the many productions were such famous ones, as: Shakespeare's, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "Othello," "Macbeth" and "As You Like It"; Tennessee Williams' "Street Car Named Desire"; Arthur Miller's "The Crucible"; Thornton Wilder's "Skin of Our Teeth"; "Carnival" and "Caucasian Chalk Circle."

WORLD TRAVELER

Miss Richardson, being vitally interested in knowing all she could about the history of her chosen profession and in receiving first hand information, decided to travel to the various countries of the world to gain that knowledge.

On her first trip she visited England, France, Italy, Sweden and Switzerland. Next time she revisited these countries plus Denmark. In 1960 she went on a Sabatical to most of the aforementioned countries plus Norway and Germany, a trip which lasted seven and one-half months.

In 1966 she went back to these places plus, to Spain, Greece and Portugal. In all these places she studied the theatre, visited the new theatres and old famous ones and the famous ruins of well known theatres of former years.

The costumes of the early productions, their history and 17th and 18th century costumes and productions were of main interest to her. Old ruins of the 17 and 18th century theatres in Greece, known as the "Theatre of Vico" and the one in Sweden, called the "Drollingham" were of special interest to her. She attended plays and costume museums and from every theatre she visited she brought back some little memento.

NATURE LOVER

Miss Richardson is a very quiet, gentle person, who loves nature, birds, flowers, trees and plants are of special interest to her.

She taught at the University until 1969, although last summer, when they were suddenly faced with a shortage of teachers she was asked to return to the school for the summer semester, which of course, she did.

In 1969 she came here, fell in love with the beauty of the country, built a home on the ground she had purchased in '62 and became a "Floridian."

She smilingly said to me, "Everyone looks forward to a life in sunny Florida, where snow and ice and the cold winds of the north cannot penetrate."

When I was a child we had a nice big house with lots of room and a garden in front and back and during her vacation periods or whenever she could manage.

Genevieve says that she sits in her glass-enclosed Florida Room, where we were standing watching these birds, rocking in her rocking chair, amid the many, many potted flowering plants she has grown, cuddling her pretty little brown shag-haired doggie, "Penny" in her arms.

This little three year-old snuggles up to her like a baby and "Mama Genevieve" does treat her like a baby.

LOCAL INVOLVEMENTS

Miss Richardson is a fine housekeeper and cook. She loves to entertain and try new recipes. She enjoys crocheting and needlepoint work and showed us samples of her handwork, including a most beautiful brightly colored needlework rug she had just completed.

As you can see, her hobbies are many. Beside the theatre, her interest centers on her church, The United Methodist Church of Deltona, where she is now serving her second year as president of the Women's Society of Christian Services. She gives the lesson to the Youth Group of the church on Sunday evenings. She participated in the Christmas Program of the Deltona Women's Club and belongs to the Camera Club and the Illinois Club of Deltona. She is on the board of directors of Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole and designed the gremlin costumes in the recent production of the guild's "The Captured Dolls."

She is a very dear friend of Miss Mildred Caskey, choreographer, of whom you read in this column several weeks ago) for they share the same interest... the theatre.

Thus you have another profile of an exceptionally and lovely lady of the theatre and Illinois, new to the Sanford Club and MISS GENEVIEVE RICHARDSON.

merchants; and DON CROUSE, Knights of Columbus. At last year's gala, reservations were sold out long before the big night so I suggest you get your names in the pot early. XI Epsilon Sigma Chapter is in charge of reservations under the command of VERTIS SAULS, 322-8830; RUHY CARTER, 322-6317; and JUNE WARNER, 322-8857. So call the NOW.

At the time you are reading this column, the official inauguration will be over in Washington, D.C.

Two of the special invited guests from Sanford, CAHN AND JAVIIE STOWELL, are probably, at this point, very weary but getting primed to do all the finery for the Inaugural Ball tonight.

I really too-boosted in my column last week I had CARIN a senior at University of Florida instead of Florida State.

At the risk of being Dirty Doris, sure Carin is deserving of a retraction... she's a SUPER SEMINOLE, not a GHIMY GATOR.

STELLA WOODHOUSE bombed into the office recently after addressing the Lion's Club. I commented on her outfit... a semi-mini white wool dress with a lime blazer, which she admitted was "old."

It looked "new" to me... since I haven't seen her in any threads other than pants and long gowns for what seems like ages.

Stella confided she was sick of pants and I'm sure the lions were just as happy that she exposed her nice legs.

Here's to DWIGHT BOWES, a favorite "plum" of the pudding!

DWIGHT, who is the son of BETTY and CHUCK BOWES, will graduate May 14 from Tulane University where he made straight A's or 4.00 average the first semester this season.

In reviewing the 1972 theatre season in New Orleans, S. JOSLYN FOSBERG, theatre critic for the New Orleans VIEUX CARRE COURIER commented that he wanted to pass out a few gifts, his favorite plums for the pudding.

Speaking of Sanford talent, our own dancers in Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole are on their toes again rehearsing madly for a big production. They will be on Main Street AT Disney World, tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon in a special production, waiting their cue. It would be well worth the trip to see them in action in the Magic Kingdom.

Another exceptional phase of the Fine Arts was witnessed Thursday night in Sanford Civic Center when the Bethune-Cookman Concert Choir performed with par excellence.

The auditorium was almost packed with fanatics of the Fine Arts enjoying the most delightful concert.

According to MRS. EDNA L. THETFORD, who sponsored the singers in concert when they were in their infancy, at Mount Dora, it is hoped this will be an annual event in Sanford-Seminole.

These winners will enter their creations at the District Fine Arts Festival, Feb. 22, when Miss Sanford Junior Woman's Club members will serve as hostesses to this event. More on this later!

Now that I am lagging on deadline... all I can say is a late... but real arty... ta-ta.

'Pink Ladies' Are Worth Their Weight In Gold

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI

"Service is the rent you pay for the space you occupy on this earth," according to the venerable Asenath L. Butler, president of the 15-year-old Seminole Memorial Hospital Auxiliary or "Pink Ladies" as they are widely known. She has over 11,000 recorded hours of service.

In her statement upon becoming president, Mrs. Butler echoed the real purpose of the organization and the attitudes of the women who serve in this very often thankless task of serving the public — a public, which by its very nature, requires special service.

GOOD WILL AMBASSADORS

For these are persons who are ill or they are persons related to someone who is ill and who, therefore, are many times not as easy to help. For this reason, it takes a very special kind of woman to be an effective ambassador of good will as a "Pink Lady."

FUND-RAISING PROJECTS

The auxiliary has the gift shop and snack room as their major fund-raising project. Also part of their fund-raising program are the sunshine cart, social caper calendars and card parties.

The auxiliary uses the funds accrued from the various projects to present a check for needed hospital equipment, Savings Bonds to the pediatric ward for children born during hospital week, and a $500.00 nursing scholarship.

SPONSORS EYE BANK

Also sponsored by the Pink Ladies is the Seminole Hospital Eye Bank Association (SHEBA), which was originated by Mrs. Frank Woodruff and is co-sponsored by the Lions Club. Through this organization, any person may donate their eyes following death.

ONE OF THE FAVORITE tasks performed by the Pink Ladies, is that of delivering flowers and caring for them in the rooms. Here Mrs. James Sayles, who has accrued more than 1,000 hours, waters a beautiful bouquet for a patient.

The Eye Bank containers are furnished by Mrs. Ramos in the hospital Laboratory. Upon request, the Sheriff's Department is notified to pick them up and take them immediately to Gainesville for Corneal transplants.

MRS. THOMAS SECORD is shown with a customer in the Hospitality Shop, performing part of the service which she has accumulated up to 299 hours as a volunteer. (Ann Sieczkowski photos)

Requests for women's news and photo coverage (parties, clubs, etc.) should be made at least a week in advance.

Chamber Meets For Annual Event

Walt Disney World Site Of 16th Gala

By JANE CASSELLBERRY

The Columbia Room of the Contemporary Hotel at Walt Disney World was the scene of Maitland-South Seminole Chamber of Commerce's 16th Annual meeting and banquet. Some 300 members and guests attended the gala event. A social hour and the Hemisphere Lounge prior to the banquet dinner of stuffed roast, Cornish hen and topped off by delicious baked Alaska carried into the darkened ballroom by scores of waiters.

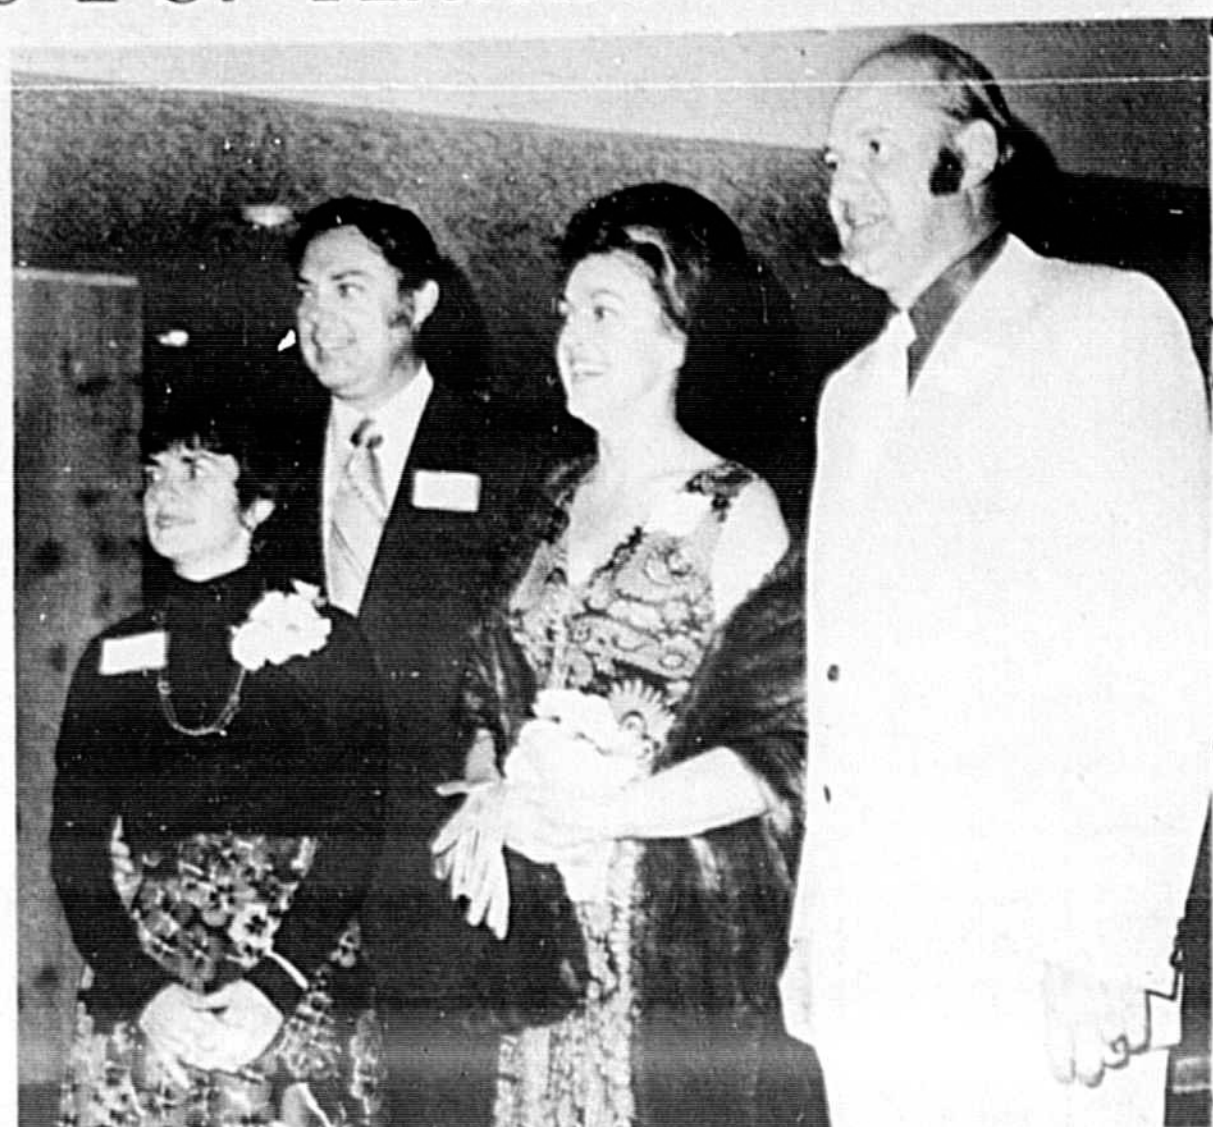

Thanks to the thoughtful planning of Annual Meeting chairman Harvey Titen entertainment reigned supreme while speeches were eliminated and announcements kept to a minimum.

The Disney World Band provided music to dance and dine by and popular entertainers Bill Raymond and his lovely talented wife, Phina, came up from their Miami engagement for the occasion.

Ashley Woodburn, a Chamber director, was awarded a plaque as outstanding member of the year and Don Tauscher, outgoing president was presented with a plaque for his term of service.

Incoming and outgoing officers and directors were introduced. Ronald G. Smith is president; Dr. E. C. Waldheim, first vice president; Robert Hattaway, second vice president; Vivian Morris, treasurer; and Priscilla Green, secretary-executive director.

ARRIVING for the annual meeting are South Seminole residents Bob and Peggy Hattaway and Tom Freeman.

Woman's Club Sets Poetry Contest

A poetry contest is being sponsored by the Fine Arts Department of the Junior Women's Club of Sanford. Eligible for competition are all students in the eighth and ninth grades in Seminole County.

There will be a $25 savings bond awarded to the poem adjudged to be best and certificates for two runner-ups.

The theme of the poem is "Living in America". Rules of the contest dictate that the poetry can be of any length, should be original and reflect the theme.

Notices have been sent out to all the appropriate schools and teachers appraising them of this contest and requesting that the students be encouraged to participate in this opportunity for self-expression.

Entries may be mailed or delivered to Mrs. Alan Dickey, Fine Arts chairman at 1306 Forest Drive in Sanford. The deadline is Jan. 26. For information call 322-4143.

Worry Clinic

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Claude wondered why I came to his church "for free," when the Lecture Bureau handling my weekday addresses charges a heavy fee. Well, it was my wife's idea, as explained below. It also lets me speak to thousands of teenagers. And meet many newspaper "fans" in person.

CASE WISOK, Claude E., aged 60, presided when I addressed the Bainbridge Christian Church.

It is about 50 miles from our summer farm home in Indiana. "Dr. Crane," he said, "how is it that you donate pulpit addresses on Sunday mornings?" "But your Lecture Bureau charges a heavy fee for all your other speeches?"

MRS. CRANE'S IDEA Well, it was my wife's idea! For I had taught the adult Dixon Bible Class for 35 consecutive years at various skyscraper Chicago Temple.

Incidentally that class holds the record in the entire Methodist Church of North America.

For it has been in continuous operation longer than any other. But about half the Sundays of the year I am down in Indiana, for an alternate week I must be at the Hopkins Synagogue to dictate answers to your personal letters.

Fortunately, about 97 percent of your requests are just for pertinent booklets and Hating Scales.

But the other 3 percent average 150 letters per week. So we'd drive down from Chicago on alternate weeks.

On Sunday, Mrs. Crane would then wake me at 5 A.M. so I could get dressed and she could drive me 25 miles to Danville, Illinois to catch a 6:45 morning train.

Then I'd arrive in Chicago about 10 A.M. and teach my noon Bible Class.

But I'd be forced to wait till about 4 P.M. for the train on its return to Danville.

She'd meet me there and we'd get under the Indiana farm home about 9 P.M.

Since my whole day was thus devoted to this hectic trip back to Chicago, I was too tired on Monday to do much creative writing.

Carolyn Rogero, M.G. Mettleman Married In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Carolyn Rita Rogero and Michael George Mettleman were united in Holy Matrimony, Dec. 30, 1972, at noon at St. Barnabas Church, Altamonte, Calif. Father John Klope was the officiating clergyman at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of LeDr. (U.S.N., ret.) and Mrs. E. (Gene) Rogero, 406 Rosalia Drive, Sanford. Mr. and Mrs. George Mettleman, Castro Valley, Calif., are the parents of the bridegroom.

Once I handled the E.A.M. Chapel Service at the U.S. Penitentiary at Terre Haute, and young folks seem to relish my usual address: "Jesus, the World's Greatest Psychologist."

The couple exchanged vows in a holiday setting of greenery and poinsettias.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal-length gown, fashioned along the Empire silhouette, with a satin peau skirt and Venise lace bodice. The same lace was repeated on the sheer lantern sleeves and the cuffs.

Her floor-length mantilla imported illusion, edged in Venise lace, was secured to a Juliet cap and she carried a cascade of white carnations and mums with Holly greens.

Miss Theresa Rogero attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a deep green floor-length gown accented with beige trim. A velvet cap held her illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of gold mums and carnations with Holly greens.

Mr. Mettleman served his brother as best man. Ushers were David Cassell and John Pring. Altar boy was Eugene Rogero.

Both mothers wore carnation corsages to complement their ensembles.

Immediately following the ceremony, parents of the bride entertained in an elaborate reception at the Officer's Club, NAS, Altamonte.

Registering the guests in the bride's book were Jean and Mary Jane Rogero.

Following a honeymoon skiing trip, the newlyweds are making their home at Altamonte where the bridegroom is staff analyst for Alameda County Mental Health Department. The bride is a December graduate of Cal State University, Hayward.

Wedding guests attended from Sanford, Seattle, Wash., Scottsdale, Ariz., Altadena, Calif. and Ventura, Calif.

This week Seminole Lodge spotlights Mrs. Mary Brewerton, one of our first residents. For many years Mrs. Brewerton served as Sanford's assistant librarian and played an active part in the community. At Seminole Lodge Mary has assumed the duties of social secretary. She writes "Thank you" notes to the many folks who provide helpful assistance to the residents, arranges for birthday cards, get well cards and in general is our "Mary Sunshine".

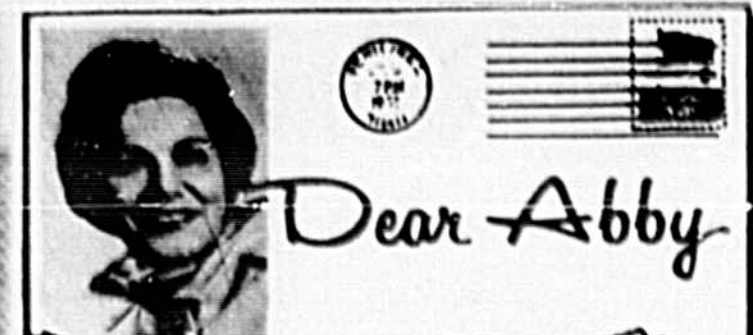

A member of the Episcopal Church, she and fellow residents enjoy church services conducted in her room twice a month by the Rev. B. F. Whitner. Mrs. Brewerton particularly enjoys visitors and meeting new people.

Look out, this guy isn't your style

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old girl who has never had a real date. I have been fixed up a few times, but it's never panned out.

Well, this one guy started to come over and hang around. He's sort of weird. He's 24, not bad looking, and does construction work. He comes here and keeps looking at my mother. She is a widow, 39 years old, and is a nice looking woman, but she has her own friends and isn't interested in this kid. He keeps making cracks, like "Older women are more experienced."

I don't know what to make of him. My mother says I should encourage him a little, but I don't believe in leading a guy on unless I intend to put out, which I will not do because I believe in God and virtue and I don't want to be shopped by the time I'm married.

So what do you suggest? INEXPERIENCED
DEAR INEXPERIENCED: The kind of "experience" this weirdo is looking for is definitely not your style. Stick to your principles and don't waste any more time with the likes of him. You're more apt to find your type of fellow hanging around church. Seek, and ye shall find!

DEAR ABBY: My life is a nightmare with my jealous husband. He has tried everything from marriage counselors to psychiatry, but to no avail. He does not trust me out of his sight and it is all so foolish because I have no interest in any other man and never have had.

My only hope seems to be a chastity belt. Can you please tell me where to send for one? I am 53 and my husband is 70 and he has been like this for the last three years.

This is a serious request. Please rush your answer. Whatever the price, it will be worth it. Thank you.
GOING CRAZY IN BLUE EARTH, MINN.
DEAR GOING: The only chastity belts I have ever seen are in museums.

DEAR ABBY: I am a single girl, 24 years old, and people are always telling me how beautiful I am, mainly because I have a good figure. (I'm 36-28-36). No single girl wants to pal around with me because if a guy is anywhere around, I'm the one who gets the attention. Married women don't trust me either, although I've never dated a married man in my life.

Abby, what I need is a man, but a guy takes one look at me and figures with all I've got going for me I must not have many. I am so lonesome, you wouldn't believe it. So where do I look for friends? Not at work. The females are so jealous they would tear me apart like wolves. Not at bars because men get the impression that I'm good for a one-night stand, and that's not what I want. I'm going crazy. I need friends! Sign me...
THE LONELIEST GAL IN TOWN

DEAR LONELY: You seem much too preoccupied with your looks. Beauty has never been a liability, so if girls mistrust you and men misjudge you, you'd better take a good long look at your packaging. If you look, dress and act like a lady and all you are going for you, you will be the busiest gal in town, not the loneliest.

BETTY CANARY
Sons Shine Only In Certain Places

Surely my son's name belongs in the Guinness Book of Records, as the titleholder of one who has taken the longest shower.

I grew a bit frightened when he was going after the record. We were staying at a hotel and he shivered up like a prune. And, all because he doesn't understand what I tell him.

To him, "Take a shower," means, "Use all the hot water."

He can understand complicated instructions when he is helping a repairman adjust controls on a television set. He can understand chemical formulas and has the ability to finish off the other side of a debate team on questions about the intricate workings of international law. It's the simple stuff he doesn't understand.

For example, when I say, "Go to bed," I mean, "Get into bed between the smooth, clean sheets; pull up the blanket, snuggle down cozily, dream a bit."

He interprets "Go to bed" as meaning, "Begin your homework, drink 20 gallons of water, tinker with the tape player, and spend 15 minutes on the telephone."

It's as if we sometimes speak different languages. When I say, "Clothes in the hamper!" I mean all dirty clothes. Why does he think I mean five dirty socks, his football pads and some parts from a race car set?

When I say, "Clean the garage," who does he think I mean, "Move everything into the driveway until it snows?"

Why does he interpret, "Fix your own lunch today," as meaning he should leave the refrigerator door open, make six pieces of burnt toast and turn over a 50-pound bag of dog food?

Why does, "Fix your own breakfast today," sound to him like, "Eat pizza?"

How does it happen that "Clean your room," translates, "Kick that stuff under your bed instead of the chest?"

That's what I keep asking him. Why, WHY, WHY??

WIN AT BRIDGE
When Not to Use Transfer

because his hand was maximum for hearts.

He managed to make an overtrick. He started winning the spade lead, cashing the ace and king of hearts; ruffing a spade in dummy; leading a diamond and sticking in the eight-spot.

West made his best return of a diamond. South cashed the ace and king; ruffed an other diamond; made a club on the 13th diamond and wound up losing just one club and one diamond.

This hand doesn't show any transfer bid magic. Or does it?

People who don't use transfers play all responses to two no-trump as forces and North might decide to jump into two no-trump rather than get to game with just one queen. After all, they might have only two hearts for his no-trump opening.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

The bid is not really complicated and it does get results. It must otherwise you wouldn't find most of our top players using it.

You can use it with any strength no-trump bid. It works best opposite the standard 16 to 18. Also it should only be used opposite opening no-trump. When the next player has passed. If he acts, forget about transfers.

Today's hand shows the transfer opening with a no-trump opening. South jumped right to four hearts.

Building Drop Predicted By S&L Official

By JULIAN STENSTROM

The year 1973 is not going to be the record smashing year for the building industry that 1972 turned out to be.

That is the prediction of Sherman Dantzier, executive vice president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Orlando.

Dantzier, speaking before the January meeting of the Seminole County Board of Realtors at the Longwood Hotel reviewed the countless records established by the building industry during 1972.

He pointed out that while the savings and loan groups throughout the United States made a record $27 billion in loans during 1971, the same groups loaned a record $51 billion in 1972. This put the savings and loan industry up to the $250 billion level in assets and made the industry the second largest in the nation. It is now second only to the commercial banking business. During 1972 the savings and loan groups passed the insurance industry and forced it into third place.

Dantzier pointed out that 1972 was a record year for savings in this state Florida by declaring that Floridians saved $3.7 billion. The amount of savings in Orange County during 1972 totaled $156 million but over $280 million was loaned in support of the building industry. He did not have final figures for Seminole County.

"But all is not good," declared Dantzier, "the clouds are forming on the horizon."

For example, Dantzier predicted that during 1973 there is going to be a shortage in savings capital. "People," he asserted, "are not going to save their money during 1973 like they did in 1972."

APARTMENT OVERBUILDING

He pointed to overbuilding of living units in the greater Orlando area, particularly in the construction of apartments. He reported that one out of every 11 apartment complex in the nation is in trouble. This is being reflected, he pointed out, by the fact that the Federal government is suspending many of its programs because there are too many vacant units.

"The year 1973," he predicted, "is going to be a year of prudent savings and prudent lending."

And, he predicted many changes that could come about during 1973 that would have a tremendous effect on the building industry.

He said that he could see where savings and loans would enter into the secondary mortgage market. He asserted that the Federal Home Loan Bank has money available. He said he could foresee other changes that would include authorization for S&L's to merge, establish service corporations, issue debentures to increase net worth and enable them to borrow more funds from the Federal Home Loan Bank, enter into the variable interest rate mortgage field, and, finally, he predicted stock issuing savings and loan institutions.

Despite all this, Dantzier, reiterated, 1973 is not going to be another savings and loan year. "We've hit the zero factor in the population explosion and interest rates are going to go up. "There will be less than $20 billion worth of building during 1973 because there will be less than 2 million dwelling units construction. This, along with the rise in interest rates, means that the building industry cannot sustain the records set in 1971 and 1972."

GOOD FOR BUSINESS AND COMMERCE

"While 1973 is not going to be the year for the building industry," Dantzier did say "It's going to be a year for business and commerce." He pointed out that both the building industry and commerce cannot be on the rise at an identical time. The nation's economy could not stand an increase in both at the same time.

"While business profits go up and up and up," he said, "the savings and loan executive predicted inflation will be off and running. It rose 3.3 percent in 1972 and it'll be far more in 1973. Capital spending will go up, the Dow Jones averages will exceed 1,300 at the end of the year, the Federal Reserve Board will increase reserve requirements, the discount rate for the savings and loan industry will reach six percent and that all controls on interest rates will be removed during this year."

SOCIAL SECURITY INCREASES

"Price controls will be removed during 1973 along with what is left of wage controls. Huge social security increases are predicted along with food prices. All labor contracts entered into this year will be favorable to labor, and he said that 1973 will be another deficit year for the Federal budget.

The former Korean War Pilot and graduate of the University of Georgia said there was no doubt: the prime interest rate would reach six percent and he foresaw home mortgages again hit the eight percent range.

"Of course," he pointed out, "there will be attempts to tighten the screws on inflation and when that happens we can look for a recession."

The Realtors group, meeting for the first time this year, inducted four new brokers and five salesmen-associates into the membership of the organization.

New associates inducted were Loyd B. Bjorlo of Royal Oaks, Horace West of Hattaway Realty, Timothy Hopkins of Hopkins Realty, and Loraine Messenger, and Carolyn Stenstrom of Stenstrom Realty.

New Realtors inducted included Lou Perrin of Perrin Realty, Ovidio, Edward Jiles of Citizens-Southern in Altamonte Springs, Michael Alexatos of Kalex Realty, Altamonte Springs and John Hagan, Royal Oaks Realty, Longwood.

For Jacksonville Center Developers Win Ecology Award

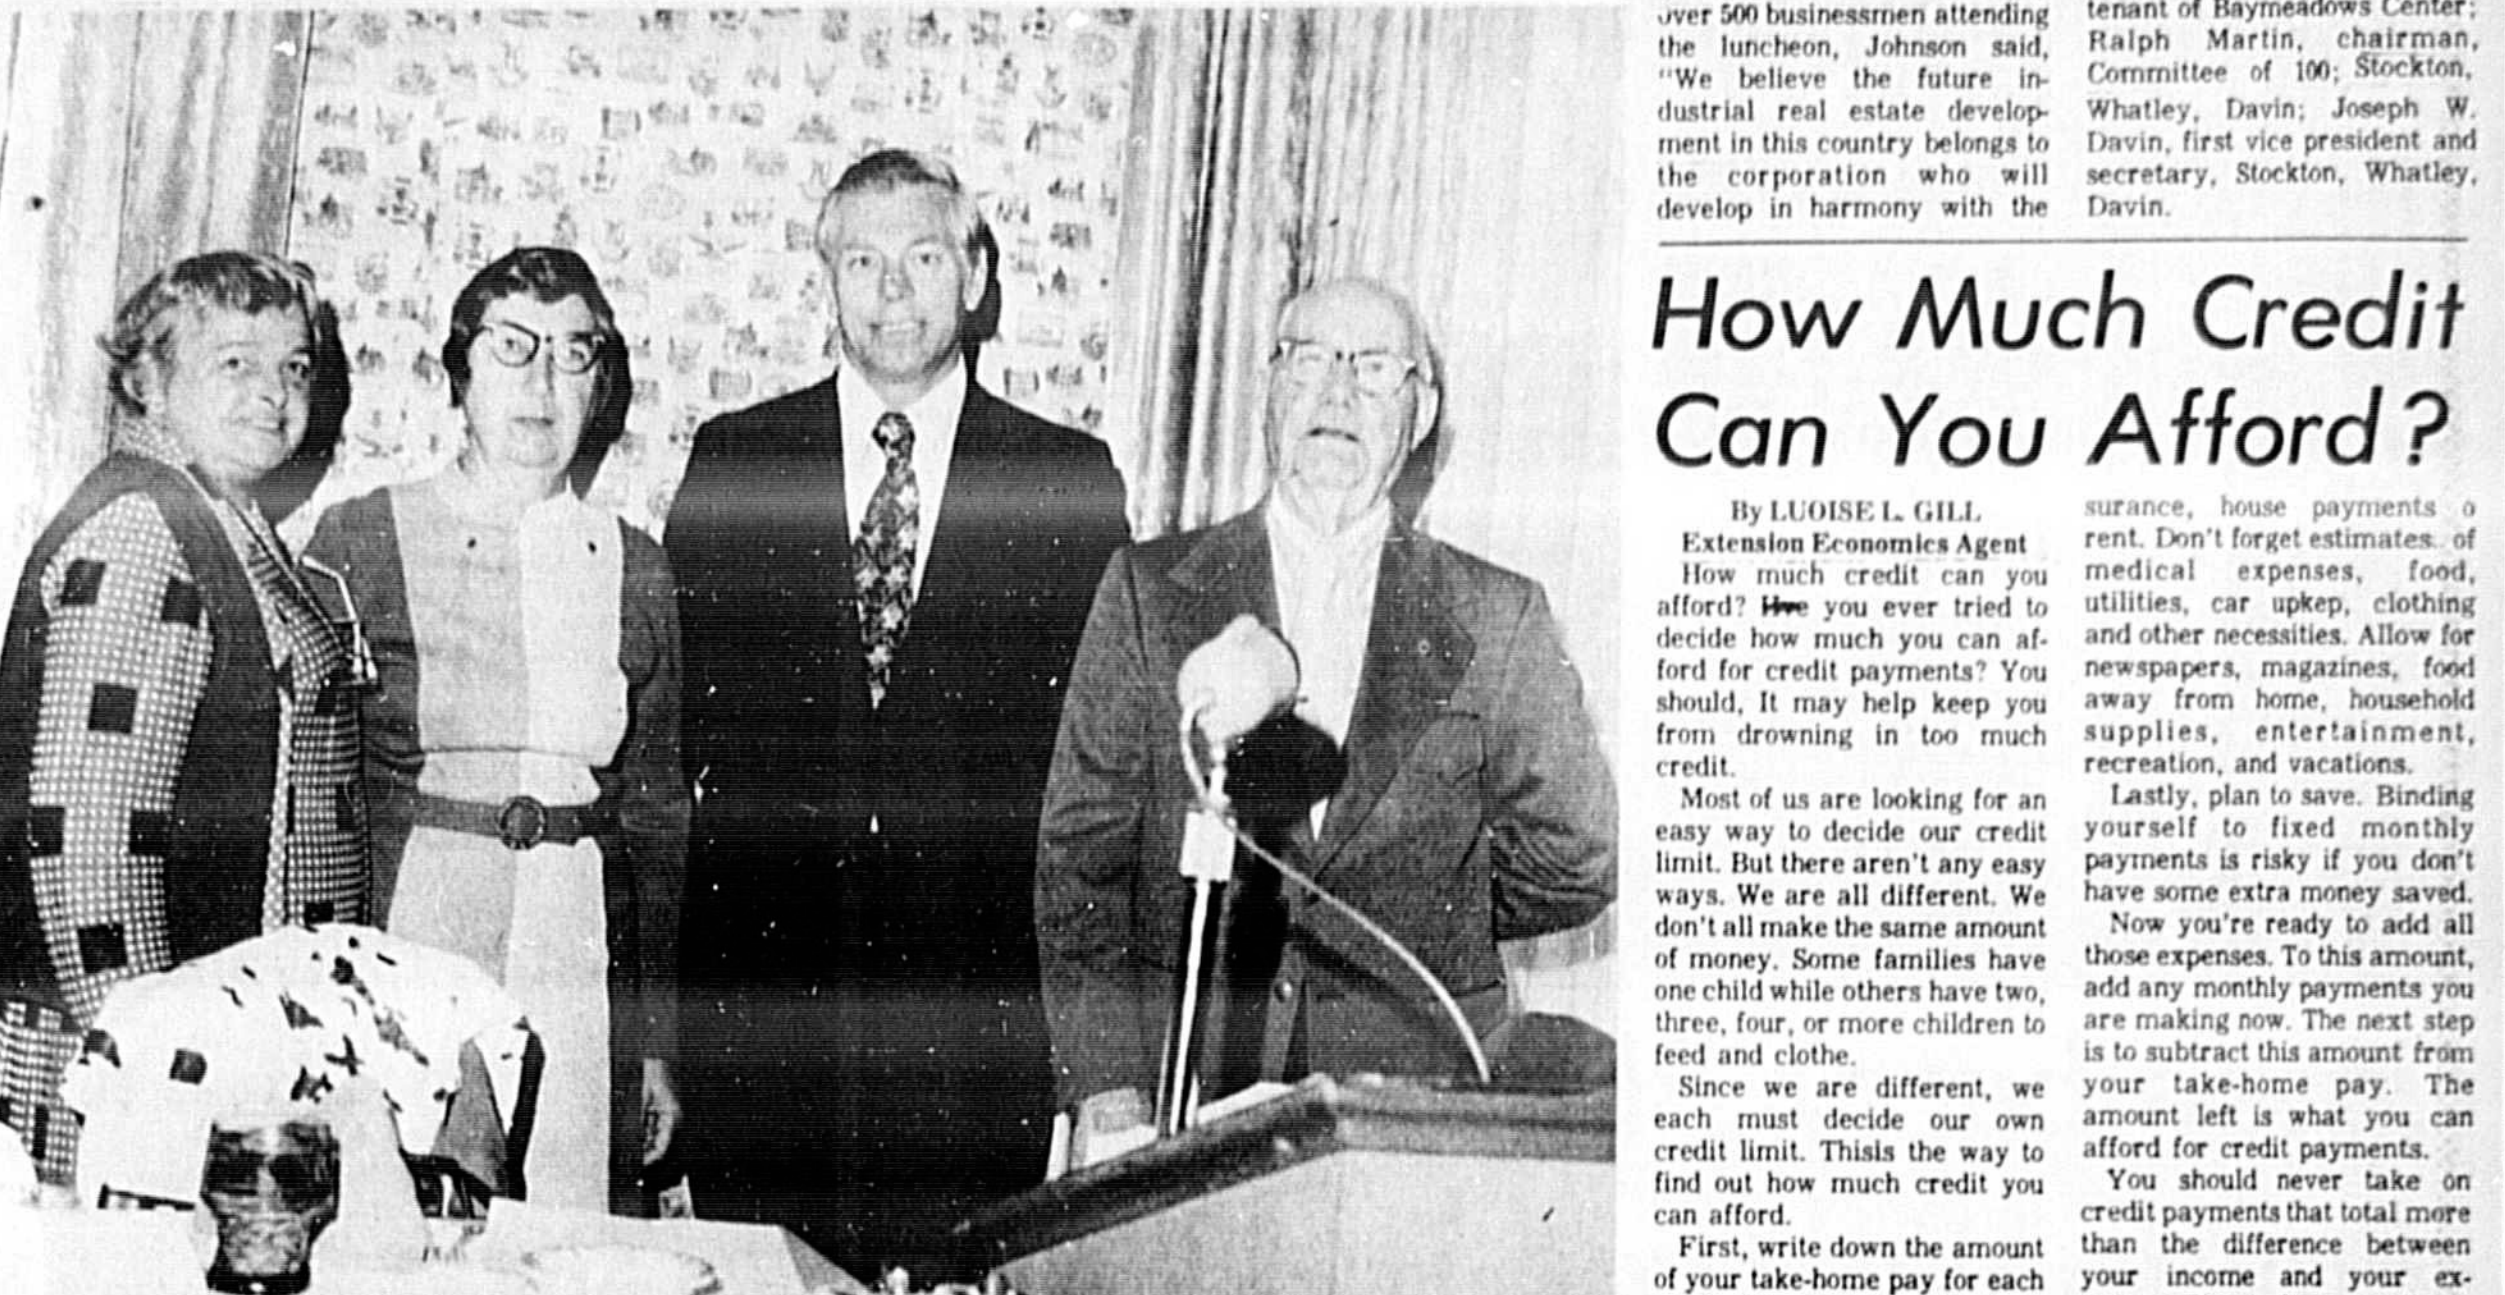

JACKSONVILLE — Stockton, Whitley, Davin & Company, Florida's largest mortgage banker and one of the South's foremost developers, has won the 1973 Ecology Award for Baymeadows Center, a Jacksonville office and industrial park, it was announced here today by Ed Coene, publisher of American Industrial Properties Report.

Red Bank, New Jersey. The award was given for achieving harmony with nature in industrial-office park design and construction at a Design of 100 Luncheon saluting Baymeadows Center, a multi-tenant warehouse and industrial building as well as an office complex, is located on 400 acres on the rapidly developing Southside of Jacksonville, Florida. Addressing over 500 businessmen attending the luncheon, Johnson said, "I believe the future industrial real estate development in this country belongs to the corporation who will develop in harmony with the environment. Proper Tools Make a Good Workman

By BARBARA A. CURRY
(First in a Series)

bring a sample of the "thing" you want. Sprinkle terminology around, but don't get carried away with the sound of your own voice.

TOOL UP
The old saw about "a poor workman blames his tools" is just that. The truth is that a poor workman with good tools can do almost anything. A hammer has it all over the head of a shoe.

Some words of caution—tools are not toys. They are meant to cut, shave, scrape, fasten and make holes in materials that are a lot tougher than skin and bone. Treat them with respect, and needless to say, keep them out of the reach of children.

Clippers, Wire. There are those that just cut wire (1) and then there is a kind (2) that cuts wire and also cuts as pliers. The second is more practical for you, since it can do several jobs. The flat, fine-lined jaws are particularly good for holding or tightening a little flat-sided things like nuts.

Hammer, Claw. A hammer can be used to tenderize round steak, crack black walnuts, or smash wood y stems of flowers so that they don't thirst to death. For other purposes, however, the front part of the hammer drives nails into surfaces and the back part pulls them out.

Knife, Putty. Another inexpensive helper. Basically, it's a thin-bladed, noncutting, flexible knife that can either lift things up (like old wallpaper) or smooth things down (like Spackle). I've never used mine with real putty.

Pliers. Slip-jointed pliers seem to be what the experts call these. The two parts slide back and forth to adjust the jaws (mostly when you don't want them to) to hold on to irregular objects of various sizes, up to 1 1/4 inches diameter.

Saw, Hand. This is just a tiny bit of saw, something to saw by hand with. One for you is about two feet long. It saws solid wood, plywood, hardwood, plaster-board, table legs, chair legs and sometimes fingers.

Screwdrivers. Even without vodka, these come in more sizes, shapes and varieties than almost anything. Most of them are bad. Let's consider the grip end first. Beware of the deep-fluted kind. It's a fast blister builder. The best screwdriver handle is made of solid, slightly fluted wood.

Wrench, Adjustable. This is great for really hanging onto nuts (square or hexagonal) to tighten or loosen them. Most of the time you can manage with pliers, but for practically any plumbing project like repairing washers, you need this tightfisted approach. Invest in them.

wood, hardwood, plaster-board, table legs, chair legs and sometimes fingers.

Now for the screwing end. It comes in two basic designs—straight and Phillips, or star-shaped. Live it up and buy three different ones; measuring end to end, two straight, one 5 inches to 6 inches long, the other 11 to 12 inches, one Phillips 8 to 9 inches.

Wrench, Adjustable. This is great for really hanging onto nuts (square or hexagonal) to tighten or loosen them. Most of the time you can manage with pliers, but for practically any plumbing project like repairing washers, you need this tightfisted approach. Invest in them.

H.E. Stenstrom Names New Sales Personnel

Herbert E. Stenstrom, owner of Stenstrom Realty, announced this week that three new sales personnel have become associated with the firm. They are Mrs. Loraine Messenger and Mrs. Rose Southard. Mrs. Messenger has been a licensed real estate broker for a number of years but has not entered the profession on a full-time basis and is listed as a Broker-Associate.

What type person does the city look for to serve on the planning board, Bergman said. The ideal member has the time, interest in the city and the background to do the job. And the members receive no pay at all.

Real Estate Question Box

By JULIAN STENSTROM

Editor:
Just what is meant by metes and bounds?

Mrs. WWW, Casselberry
Dear Mrs. WWW:
This is a type of legal description which is used to describe land, particularly irregularly shaped parcels.

The word "metes" refers to distance and the word "bounds" refers to direction.

Another way to easily remember this is to connect the word "metes" with measurement and the word "bounds" with angles.

Editor:
If we were to list our property exclusively with one real estate broker, and if we were to sell the property ourselves would we owe the real estate broker a commission?

ELB, Deltona
Dear ELB:
Yes and no. It all depends on whether you listed the property with your broker on an "exclusive agency" listing or on an "exclusive right of sale" listing, and whether you sold the property to someone to whom the broker had shown the property.

For example, if you listed the property under an "exclusive agency" listing with one broker and you sold the property to your own customer you would not owe the broker a commission. If you sold it to a party to whom the broker had shown the property you would owe him a commission.

Under an "exclusive right of sale" listing you would owe the real estate broker a commission no matter to whom you sold the property.

Editor:
I was told recently that a check written by a real estate broker on his trust escrow account was as good as cashier's check. If this is true, what makes it so?

JJW, Sanford
Dear JJW:
If a check written by a broker from his trust escrow account isn't as good as a cashier's check I'd hate to be in that broker's shoes.

Seriously, when a broker receives — let us say — an earnest money deposit to substantiate an offer on a piece of property the broker must, according to the Florida Real Estate Code, place such funds in his trust escrow account. He is not permitted to co-mingle such funds with other funds as his operating account or his personal account.

So, as I say, if a broker's trust escrow account check should bounce the chances are the broker will bounce with it — I might out of the real estate business!

I doubt if any business, industry, sport or profession in Florida is as closely regulated as the real estate business in this state is regulated by the Florida Real Estate Commission.

Editor:
At a party the other night a friend of ours who is taking a real estate course in her quest for a license to work for a broker said that we not only owned the land our farm is on but we also owned the air space above it. I had never thought of this before. Could she be right?

Mrs. HWS, Oviedo
Dear Mrs. HWS:
Yes, she is correct. You own the surface of your land, the earth beneath the surface (in a triangle to the center of the earth) and the air space above it to a height of 50 to 100 feet. Above those heights air space is, like a river, considered navigable.

If you have a question pertaining to real estate address it to Editor, Lifestyles, The Sanford Herald, Sanford, Fla. If your letter is used in The Question Box only your initials will appear.

New Prexy Sees Boom In Market

By JULIAN STENSTROM

The real estate market in Florida may reach "boom" proportions during 1973.

That's the prediction of Realtor Howard C. Babcock, Jr., Orlando, newly-installed president of the Florida Association of Realtors, as he delivered his inaugural address last night at the association's banquet and ball in downtown Orlando.

"In Florida, we anticipate a very promising economic climate ahead — even better than many other parts of the country," Babcock said.

He fortified his prediction for a "tremendous 1973" with various factors.

"Our standard of living will continue to climb. More people are going to be trading up for more expensive houses. Demand for summer and winter vacation houses will increase even more. And the huge increase in conversion of rental apartments into condominiums will become a real factor in the resale market. With this growing standard of living, we think Florida will have more visitors, and that there'll be more demand for model homes because people will simply have more money to spend on travel."

The new real estate chief expects continued "indications are that the sales of existing homes will be more than 2 1/2 times the rate of new home sales, but there will be a slackening in new housing starts."

"Added to all this, we think there will be an increase in available mortgage credit and new money for home payment conventional financing during 1973. Interest rates are expected to stay at current levels."

Babcock told the audience, composed of Realtors and sales Associates from throughout Florida, that the Florida Association of Realtors has nearly 23,000 members, which is 3,422 more members than one year ago. He pointed out that the association ranks "Number Two" in the nation, second only to California, in Realtor membership.

Tropical Foliage Short Course Begins Sunday At Orlando Motel

By JULIAN STENSTROM

World-renowned ornamental horticulturists will discuss utilization, production, merchandising and marketing of foliage plants at Florida's third National Tropical Foliage Short Course here January 21-24 at the Howard Johnson's at Lee Road and I-4.

Florida, the capitol of the tropical foliage industry, has a 25-million dollar annual tropical foliage business. More than 350 representatives of the foliage industry, including growers, buyers, maintenance and interior landscape design organizations from throughout the United States and foreign countries, are expected for the short course. Dr. Dennis B. McConnell, Short Course Coordinator and Ornamental Horticulturist, Florida Cooperative Extension Service, University of Florida said that growers from Canada, Honduras, Guatemala, Mexico and Puerto Rico will participate.

"We have planned a program to appeal to both in-state and out-of-state growers. This probably is the only short course in the world which has as its primary emphasis tropical foliage plant production and utilization," Dr. McConnell said.

"Anyone interested in his environment would find something of value in the short course. Man spends approximately 90 per cent of his time indoors and foliage plants are being used to beautify and improve this environment," Dr. McConnell commented.

Jim Griffin, Executive Vice-President of Florida Nurseryman and Growers Association will welcome the group and will be followed by Gus Watkins of the Jacob O'Hara Company of New York who will discuss the nurseryman's obligation to the consumer. The methods of installation and maintenance of interior foliage plants at the Tampa International Airport will be related by Ervin Wurthman of Velsco-Dasari's National Tropical Foliage Short Course here January 21-24 at the Howard Johnson's at Lee Road and I-4.

The entire concept of conditioning and acclimatization of foliage plants will receive major emphasis with three separate presentations scheduled during the National Tropical Foliage Short Course. Walter Gammel of Leaf Nurseries will discuss "Conditioning Florida Foliage Plants," followed by Ward West of James H. West and Son with the presentation "Producing Pre-Acclimated Plants." The Center Director of the Agricultural Research Center — Apopka, Dr. C. A. Conover will discuss "A Physiological Basis for Tropical Plant Conditioning." Highlights of foliage plant breeding will be related in "Hybridizing Foliage Plants for Interior Utilization" by Jim Ferguson of Bamboo Nurseries, Verne McClean of The House Company, Columbia, Maryland will discuss landscape designing with foliage plants. The question of "Determining and Accrediting Reputable Interior Plantscape Firms" will be asked by Everett Conklin of Everett Conklin and Company.

The Production Section Tuesday morning will offer short course participants a quick review of "Foliage Research Highlights" and discussions on foliage plant propagation and disease control. Dr. J. C. Haulston of Texas A&M will discuss "Northern European Pot Plant Production."

A tour of foliage nurseries in the Apopka area will be sponsored by the Central Foliage Chapter of the Florida Nurseryman and Growers Association and is planned Tuesday afternoon January 23rd. The banquet speaker, Arthur Greene, Chief Digital Systems Branch, NASA, Kennedy Space Center will tell the audience "The Truth About Everything" Tuesday evening.

The Merchandising and Marketing Section Wednesday morning January 24th will start with "Dishgarden, Hanging Baskets and Terrariums — Prepackaged Plants for the American Home" by Dr. T. J. Sheehan, Ornamental Horticulturist, Department of Horticulture, University of Florida. European Foliage Marketing and Production Methods will be presented by Professor J. K. Rathwell of Pennsylvania State University.

Seemingly

MALE CALL could be a boy sent to do a man's work in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., area mobile home park. Six year old Paul Smith "peeks" into box 89. Mobile home park was developed by Government following June floods which swept many homes away. In the bottom view, Sipes Avenue in Midway (east of Sanford on SR 46), seems like nothing was "swept away" including the weeds.

The problem, according to the FCC, lies in getting the corporation to "assume responsibility" for the content of its advertising. The FCC is not in the business of regulating the content of advertising, but it is in the business of regulating the industry that has been created.

Pentagon Wants Home Radio Warning System

Originally, Civil Defense Officials hoped for a law requiring that the radio receivers be built into every new television set sold in the United States.

By BROOKS JACKSON, Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon plans wide-scale tests next month on a radio warning system it wants to put in your bedroom.

The radio receiver listens silently to a government frequency and comes to life only when the military activates it with a special, coded signal.

The aim is to save lives by broadcasting warnings of tornadoes, hurricanes, floods or nuclear attack. Installation of the radio device would be voluntary.

Originally, Civil Defense officials hoped for a law requiring that the radio receivers be built into every new television set sold in the United States.

But White House broadcasting officials overruled the military, which runs Civil Defense operations. They feared the public might interpret mandatory installation of the receivers as part of a government propaganda and spy system similar to the one used by dictator Big Brother in George Orwell's novel "1984."

The Pentagon's system can only talk, not watch or listen.

Civil Defense officials, who conceived the warning system, have built a bombproof radio transmitter near Baltimore and plan to start test broadcasts to a 10-state area in early February. About 400 high-priced receivers are being built, and will be distributed at first only to state and local government authorities who want them.

But technicians are close to perfecting a home receiver cheap enough—about $10—for almost anyone to afford.

The civil defense officials call the system DDES, for Decision Information Distribution System.

Planning began in 1964, small-scale field tests were conducted in 1968 and Congress appropriated $2 million for the first transmitter and receivers in 1972. Cost overruns have raised the initial price to $5.7 million.

If next month's tests are successful, and if Congress goes along, the Pentagon plans eventually to build a total of 10 transmitters that together would reach nearly every corner of the nation, except Alaska and Hawaii.

The automated transmitters could be operated by remote control from the North American Air Defense Command near Colorado Springs, Colo., or at either of two back-up points.

By pushing buttons on a console, a technician at one of these control points would be able to turn on air-raid sirens, broadcast messages by voice or teletype to state and local officials, or send announcements over home receivers.

For warning of a nuclear attack, the controller could turn on every home receiver in the country. For warning of a flash flood or other natural disaster, he could turn on receivers in a certain area, in some cases as small as one-third of a single county. Specific instructions on how to cope with the disaster could be broadcast.

The Pentagon began thinking about improving its national warning system more than a decade ago.

Hunt Offered Money In Watergate Pleas

By DON McLEOD, Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — As the Watergate political espionage trial entered its third week today, Time magazine said it learned that one of the original seven defendants, E. Howard Hunt Jr., offered money to four other defendants as an inducement to plead guilty.

The government's key witness, Alfred C. Baldwin III, a former FBI agent, faced cross-examination from defense lawyers today.

Only two of an original seven defendants remained on trial in U.S. District Court here in connection with the break-in and alleged bugging of Democratic party headquarters at the Watergate last summer. Hunt and four others have pleaded guilty to the crime.

Time magazine said Hunt offered the other four $1,000 a month apiece for each month they spend in jail. It said the admissions of guilt by Hunt and the others "staved off" testimony that the operation had been approved by other persons.

Hunt's lawyer, William O. Bittman, said Hunt "categorically and emphatically denies" the magazine story.

Time magazine said Hunt recruited the four to bug the Democratic offices saying: "It's got to be done. My friend Colson wants it. Mitchell wants it."

The magazine said this was a reference to former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, who was also Nixon's campaign manager for a time, and to Charles Colson, a special counsel to President Nixon.

It didn't say where it obtained the information.

Colson's office issued a statement saying Colson "unequivocally denies what Hunt is quoted as saying and points out that he (Colson) had already denied it under oath."

Nigerian Crash Kills Over 162 Moslems

KANO, Nigeria (AP) — A Jordanian jetliner bringing 202 Moslems home from a pilgrimage to Mecca crashed on landing in a fog here today and burst into flames. Officials said most aboard were killed.

The death toll was variously given as 162 and 191 as rescue teams went through the burned wreckage. Radio Nigeria reported about 40 survivors. Officials here said they have recovered 11 persons alive.

A witness said the plane was engulfed in flames after it crashed on the runway at about 10 a.m.

The world's worst air disaster took the lives of 176 persons in the crash of a Soviet Aeroflot jet near Moscow last Oct. 14.

Mecca, the holiest place of Moslems, is in Saudi Arabia.

The Royal Jordanian Airlines Boeing 707 left Saudi Arabia from Jidda, near Mecca, on the 2,100-mile flight to Kano.

Officials in Lagos, 730 miles south of Kano, said it was not likely that a full report on the crash will be available before Tuesday.

MORE INJURIES AT LONGWOOD INTERSECTION

Six persons were carried to Seminole Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries, none believed to be serious, after two cars driven by Sanford residents collided at U.S. 17-92 and State Road 434 intersection. Longwood Police Patrolman Jim Pleicenes is shown interviewing occupant of one of the cars. Police reporters listed the drivers as Bernice Davis, 20, 1904 Airport Boulevard, and John D. Did Zoning Board Approve Final Plat?

By DONNA ESTES

LONGWOOD — The big question in this city today is: Was the final plat of Winsor Manor approved by the city's zoning board prior to its being recorded?

The recorded plat of Winsor Manor carries the signature of Jack Lindsay as "acting chairman" of the city's zoning board, indicating the development plan was approved by the advisory body.

When the Baptist minister was contacted via telephone Saturday, he could not recall having executed the plat, asked the reporter to describe the signature, and affirmed as best he could recall a statement made by Councilman B. H. Ferrell, Thursday night, that the zoning board had never approved the plat.

This morning at city hall, however, Rev. Lindsay exhumed the signature, stated without qualification that it is his and said he believed Winsor Manor plat had been mentioned at last January's meeting when he acted as chairman.

He said "someone" ... "the Council" ... "someone" had told him it was his responsibility to sign the plat as acting chairman.

Councilman Dick Crenshaw, also a member of the zoning board at the meeting in question last January, by telephone Saturday, said he did not recall the plat having been approved, but perhaps it was mentioned.

Minutes of the January meeting on file in City Hall do not reflect any approval by the zoning board of the plat, nor of authorization for Rev. Lindsay to sign the document.

Mayor Eugene Jaques said this morning, when this fact was brought to his attention, that the minutes are wrong and the item was probably omitted. He recalled personally being at the meeting, but did not elaborate on his recollection.

Zoning board clerk Sniye Haislip told The Herald this morning emphatically the final plat of Winsor Manor was never brought to the zoning board for approval.

Ferrell, who resigned in December, 1970, to seek a seat on the City Council, missed the first January meeting, but was reappointed to the board on the second Thursday of that month. He expressed surprise that the board had been approved on behalf of the zoning board. Ferrell remembers being approached numerous times to execute the plat and refusing each time.

High Court Bars States In Abortion

By BARRY SCHWEID, Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today barred the states from interfering with the decision of a woman and her doctor to end pregnancies within the first three months. In the 7-2 decision striking down the Texas abortion law, Justice Harry A. Blackmun said medical data indicates abortion in the first three months, "although not without its risk, is now relatively safe."

Therefore, he said, "any interest of the state in protecting the woman from an inherently hazardous procedure ... has largely disappeared."

The ruling followed two years of deliberations by the justices. It was based predominantly on what Blackmun called a right of privacy. He said the right "is broad enough to encompass a woman's decision whether or not to terminate her pregnancy."

Justices Byron R. White and William Rehnquist dissented. White said he could "find nothing in the language or history of the Constitution to support the court's judgment."

Rehnquist, meanwhile, said "the court's sweeping invalidation of any restrictions on abortion during the first trimester is impossible to justify."

City Mulls Landscape Standards

By BOB LLOYD

Under strict landscape standards, being considered by the Sanford zoning and planning commission for review of site development plans, no trees over 10 inches in diameter can be removed from a development site without approval.

With the city planning and zoning director's approval the trees can be removed but each tree must be replaced with three new trees of four inches or more trunk diameter and minimum height of at least three feet.

Currently under study by the zoning and planning commission are standards for site development plans including areas, paving, pedestrian walkways, fire prevention, storm drainage, water and sewer, land use design, vehicular and pedestrian traffic circulation, visual design and natural elements, arrangement and orientation and landscaping.

The recently adopted revised city zoning ordinance calls for site plan approval by the zoning and planning commission on all construction in zones except single-family residential.

The commission may attach to its approval of a site development plan any reasonable condition, limitation or requirement which is found necessary, in its judgment, to effectuate the purposes of the zoning ordinance and to carry out the spirit and purpose of the ordinance.

The ordinance calls for a development plan to include: A site with grades or contours, (Cont'd On Pg. 2A Col. 8)
