By MAYSIE ORRIS

By now, as I really see my life in his hand...

"I might not have been successful without Val's help, Cynthia," he said quietly.

"Of course I do appreciate the help Sister Alison gave you," Cynthia said, but not very graciously.

Val made an excuse to go, but Bruce said he'd come with her. They walked out onto the sunlit patio at the back of the hospital and sat down at a small table under the shade of an umbrella. He gave her a cigarette and lit one for himself.

His hand was steady, but his deep voice wasn't so steady as he said, "It seems I've made a fool of myself all over the shop, Val. The autopsy proved Mrs. Featherstone died of a heart attack."

She nodded. "Did she telephone me last night?"

He gave her a sharp glance. "I suppose he blames me for the stand I took, but I felt it was my duty."

She nodded again, but said nothing. Her silence broke through the control he was trying to keep on his feelings.

"Good heavens, Val, you're not remembering anything stupid I may have said yesterday morning? I'd had a heck of a night—my head had, for that matter—and no one can be responsible for what he says when his nerves are jittery and he's groggy from lack of sleep."

"Then you didn't mean it when you said that it was partly jealousy that made you insist on an autopsy?" she asked quietly.

"Of course not," he said angrily. "You can't hold that against me, Val. After all, the circumstances were darned suspicious. I know I involved you. I'm sorry about that, and I'm glad I was wrong about Dirk. He looked directly across at her. "You believe that, don't you?"

Her own eyes fell away from his. "Yes, I believe that," she said.

There was a pause.

"Why did you tell Matron Cameron about the autopsy on Mrs. Featherstone?"

Sewing for fall? Now is the time to take your pick of fall and winter cotton fabrics. Old favorites, such as denim, corduroy, and velveteen, have been joined by a host of new fabrics. There are striped tweeds, woven plaids with a worsted look, tie-dye prints, crease-resistant knits, waffle-textures, and linen-like weaves. These fabrics are cottons through and through and can be easily made into smart-looking fall and winter dresses.

Coordinator, Committee Will Be Named To Study Junior College Program

Rotarians To Stage Program Tomorrow For Kiwanis Club

Two Rotarians, with fear and trepidation in their hearts, will enter the portals of the Yacht Club tomorrow noon, to stage a program for the education and entertainment of the Sanford Kiwanis Club.

Charlie Morrison, well-known local quizmaster, member of The Herald's advertising staff, aided and abetted by Francis E. Rounhill Jr., well known local pill-roller and dispenser, will dispense honest to goodness coin of the realm to any and all Kiwanians who qualify with the right answers.

Eighteen categories will be listed on the Yacht Club's blackboard and, in order to give the members of the Kiwanis Club ample time to brush up on the subjects during the night, here they are: Art; American Government History; Aviation; the Bible; Business and Industry; Drama; Early American; True or False; Famous Men; Brain Teasers; Geography and Sports.

Messrs. Morrison and Rounhill, in putting on the program, have one regret: It will be impossible, due to lack of space, to place the contestants in an isolation booth. Since no booths are available, there will be no need to have a charming young lady conduct the contestants into the non-existent booths.

However, two very important "props" used in the program are a cash register which indicates the amount each contestant wins and a "cacophonous buzzer" which sounds like an exaggerated "Bronx cheer", used by Rounhill, with great delight, to indicate that the contestant has erred to put it very mildly, in his answer.

The quiz programs staged frequently at the local Kiwanis Club by genial Charlie are very popular, probably due to the fact that he always gives away much money. Many members of the club are still retaining the silver dollars awarded them during the past fifteen years, although Morrison always states at the end of the program that he will be at the door to pick up the dough, as it "was only loaned for the occasion." What chance has a Kiwanian to get a refund from a Kiwanian? Even Charlie doesn't know the answer to that one.

FHP Said Becoming State Police Force

Club Speaker Urges Listeners To Help Fight Delinquency

No action was taken at last night's meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners on the suggestions submitted by the State Safety Committee.

Commissioner Earl Higginbotham said "The Florida Highway Patrol is attempting to take over city and county authority and it is fast becoming a state police force."

"Our governmental agencies are constantly striving to increase their authority and perpetuate themselves," Higginbotham commented.

Merle Warner City Commissioner elect, sitting in on meetings prior to being installed as a commissioner Jan. 1, said "Between the lines it means they will take over police powers."

Higginbotham again stated "They're getting too broad in scope."

Commissioners expressed concern over adopting many of the measures incorporated in the suggestions submitted by the Safety Committee. They agreed that "some of the suggestions are good as far as road signs, safety lines and such measures are concerned."

However, they would not act in adopting any of the suggestions except on a local government basis, either city or county, to be enforced on the local level only.

Stewart Gatchell will be appointed coordinator for the Community Junior College Program in Seminole County, Milwee announced this morning.

State School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey said that the State Department of Education would attempt to discourage community junior colleges set up in Florida from growing into four-year universities.

Bailey said the two-year junior colleges had entirely different functions from universities and it would be a "great mistake" to set them up with the idea they would grow into universities.

Citizens Urged To Shop, Mail Early This Year

Postmaster Joel S. Field today urged the citizens of Sanford to shop early and mail early this Christmas season to facilitate the processing of the largest Christmas mailing in the history of the Sanford post office.

To put off mailing Christmas cards and parcels until the last moment results in an extra burden being placed on the postal employees and on the postal facilities of the post office Field pointed out.

Every facility of the Sanford post office will be pressed into maximum service so that again this year, as in the past, the post office will be cleared, if possible, of all Christmas mail by Christmas.

"There are still some people who retain the mistaken idea that a gift or card arriving on Christmas Eve has a special significance," Postmaster Field said, "if it is thought behind the gift or card, not the time of arrival which is the important consideration."

In an appeal to all the citizens of Sanford, Postmaster Field praised the fine cooperation of past years when record mail loads were processed and delivered and asked that this same cooperation be again in evidence this year.

"By following the simple suggestions of mailing early, wrapping carefully and addressing plainly, the citizens of Sanford will be assured of the safe and timely arrival of their Christmas mail," Postmaster Field added.

School Patrol Mothers Call Meeting Friday

A meeting of the Southside School Patrol Mothers will be held Friday, Nov. 30 at 10 a. m. in the School Administration Building on Commercial Ave.

Sanford Police Chief Roy G. Williams will be the speaker at Friday's meeting.

Flks Set Memorial Service To Absent Brothers Sunday

Four Central Florida Elks Lodges will unite in a memorial service to their absent brothers, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the lodge rooms of the local Elks' organization.

Joining with Sanford Lodge No. 1241 in the annual service of tribute to the memory of deceased members, will be DeLand Lodge No. 1463, Daytona Beach Lodge No. 1111 and New Smyrna Beach Lodge No. 1537.

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, a distinctively American organization known as B.P.O.E., observes three obligatory services annually: Mother's Day, Flag Day and Memorial Day to "Our Absent Brothers." Strictly patriotic in nature and engaging in charitable works and the helping in health of crippled children, the Elks for over three quarters of a century have been acclaimed as one of the nation's leading exponents of charity and good will.

The program scheduled for Sunday afternoon will include special music to be provided by Miss Allison Lee and a male quartette made of William W. Brown, Al Case, Warren D. Adams and Charles S. Morrison. Roger Harris will act as accompanist for this group and also for William W. Brown who will be heard in a solo.

A committee headed by Richard Mapes is in charge. The service is opened to the public and the lodge officers extend an invitation to all those wishing to attend.

Southern Bell's '56 Tax Payment Is $34,881.32

If taxes were paid daily, Southern Bell would have been billed at the rate of $103.81 by Seminole County, per day during the current tax year for telephone company operations, according to Gordon J. Rothemel, Sanford-DeLand Group Manager.

However with tax bills due once a year, Rothemel turned over a check in the amount of $34,881.32 to J. L. Galloway, Seminole County Tax Collector.

Southern Bell's 1956 payment is one of the largest payments received.

2 White Men, 38 Negroes Arrested On Bolita Charge

POMPANO BEACH — Two white men and 38 Negroes were arrested last night by special grand jury investigators who said they had smashed a lucrative bolita numbers racket in north Broward County.

Lionel Grant and Dominic Vitale the investigators, broke in the front door of a laundry here, rounded up the occupants and seized $600 in cash and an abundance of gambling equipment.

The two white men, both Miamians, were R. C. McLendon, 43, and Paul F. Urbee, 44. Grant said they were "big time bolita operators" linked with the Howard Pinder gang in Miami.

The 40 persons arrested were freed today under bonds totaling $43,000. Bonds for McLendon and Urbee were set at $5,000.

Delicious Meal Enjoyed Many Turn Out For Baptist Homecoming

By MARIAN JONES
OVIDIO—I finally managed to stick my head out Sunday morning to see if the weather would be suitable for the Oviedo Baptist Homecoming. To my surprise I found it ideal weather for the occasion. I had feared cold, brisk winds—as it was to be held out of doors—the eating part I mean.

After much trouble and deliberation we managed to get our lunch packed and to the church. A large group of local and out of towners had been on hand for the Sunday School and 11 a. m. services. The Rev. Louis L. Day had delivered a special homecoming message for those present.

Mrs. W. A. (Myrt) Ward Jr. and her committee did a magnificent job on all details of the dinner.

The lovely decorations on the table spelled Minnie Means (Mrs. George C.) as soon as I spotted them. Of course, I found it to be true. They were carrying out the Thanksgiving theme and, of course, done in her usual adroit manner.

Those seen helping with the serving committee were: Mrs. W. A. Ward Jr., Mrs. Theodore Aulin Jr., Mrs. Joe I. Heasley, Mrs. Arthur T. Carlidge, Mrs. J. N. Thompson, Mrs. Charlie Dishman, W. T. Walker, Fred Person, Joe I. Heasley, Theodore Aulin Jr., W. A. Ward Jr., and Charlie Dishman.

The Rev. George H. Carlton, pastor of the Oviedo Methodist Church, led in prayer, after which over 300 people began filling through the serving lines.

I wondered what held the tables up, they fairly groaned under the heavy load of food thereon. There was enough left over to feed another three hundred. Honest!

The ladies responsible for the cooking of the turkeys and making of the dressing did a "bang up" job. It was delicious.

We found that we had to count our calories as we finally wandered down the table. That extra plate we fixed was not devoured by us—really. It was for a busband who had to work and could not come, but his entire family was present.

Believe it or not — we did not even eat one piece of cake or pie. We confined our eating to the turkey, dressing and cranberries.

This was the third annual Thanksgiving fete and homecoming celebrated by the Baptists. The attendance was grown by leaps and bounds. This year exceeding all others.

Being new, they did not have a correct list of former members compiled, but at time goes on they will—then they will have a large affair.

Who came up from behind and greeted us but Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Silne, of Sanford. Then there was Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Martin now of Orlando, to chat with. Baptists, but now of Orlando, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dickert and family. Bob, formerly known as Robbie 28 years ago when we came to Oviedo, as the son of the then pastor of our church, the Rev. Dickert.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Eason, of Savannah, Ga., who have been visiting Mrs. Mae E. King and Mr. and Mrs. George C. Means, were present. We enjoyed visiting with Roy and Louise very much. They have visited here quite frequently and are quite well known by now.

The Methodists were well represented, too, and we were so glad to see them out with us for the day. We will not try to name them, as there were so many, but we will say we were so glad to see Ruby, Kay and Tommy Estes. They have always been with us whenever we have had a joint occasion.

The Baptists deacons were on hand to greet everyone and see that they had a good time and plenty to eat. Among these were: B. F. Wheeler Jr., T. W. Lawson, Joe I. Beasley, W. T. Walker, Fred Pierson and Lawson A. Hardy.

It was a very successful day. It will be a whole year before another.

U.S. Living Costs Rise In October

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has reported that living costs rose one-half of one per cent in October to another record. It was the fourth peak reached in a 1956 climb.

The increase means pay raises for about 1 1/2 million workers in auto, farm equipment, metalworking and aircraft industries whose wage rates are feared in part to the government index.

For most of these workers, the amount of the pay raises will be two cents an hour.

Nearly all consumer spending categories except food went up in October. Food remained unchanged from September. Prices for new cars rose nearly 11 per cent in October, reflecting higher price tags on 1957 models without the dealer discounts that had prevailed on the 1956 cars.

The index kept by the Labor Department's Bureau of Statistics rose to 117.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average, the base period. This is one-half of 1 per cent higher than in September and 2.4 per cent above October last year.

The bureau reported also a record for worker earnings.

The agency said net spendable earnings of factory production workers—their total pay less federal tax deductions—reached an average for workers without dependents of $67.46 a week. For workers with three dependents it was $74.87. These amounts represented an increase of 50 cents over September and approximately $2.80 over a year ago.

Navy's Special Calls Aid Grief Stricken Families

CHARLESTON, S. C.—Sorrow at the death of a member of one's family is an emotion that knows little reason — yet sound business management of many affairs occasioned by the death is always involved.

The United States Navy has evolved a tried and proven program to absorb many details that face the survivors of a deceased member of the Naval Service.

It is called the Casualty Assistance Calls Program — or "CACAP."

CACAP is designed to ease the burden of survivors during this period of distress by assuming most of the responsibility for the myriad of intricate details necessitated by the various official documents concerned with any service man or woman.

At Sixth Naval District Headquarters, U. S. Naval Base, Charleston, the man who directs the CACAP for the seven Southeastern States under the command of Rear Admiral George C. Crawford, District Commandant, is Captain W. E. Kaitner, Assistant Chief of Staff for Personnel.

Whenever word is received of the death of a Naval person on active duty, Captain Kaitner initiates a message to the Naval activity nearest to the residence of the next of kin. From there, a specially designated Casualty Assistance Calls Officer takes over.

That officer may be a Navy chaplain, or he may be an officer of the line or of any staff corps. He is an officer well versed in the CACAP Manual, which spells out the details the survivors would need to know.

The question of shipment of remains, and burial, usually is the first concern. Whether they travel by rail or plane; whether the destination is a government cemetery, or a private one, must be decided. The CACAP officer plans all this in accordance with the wishes of the designated next of kin.

Every Naval District in the United States follows the organized plan of CACAP, which began experimentally in the Fifth Naval District in early 1954. The Navy on July 1, 1955 officially adopted the program for all Naval Districts in the United States.

The Sixth Naval District, second largest in area among U. S. Naval Districts, has effectively administered the CACAP and there are many reports to show its value.

One case, elaborately reported by the CACAP Officer because he was so impressed by the gratitude of the family, told how the sobbing father of a seaman shook the hand of every Navy man present just after his boy's burial. He could not wait for return of his composure to express appreciation to those who had assisted.

A Navy nurse, whose family requested full military honors at her funeral, received them. A Rear Admiral of the Medical Corps from the hospital to which she was attached when she died, several senior officers, 11 Navy nurses and 17 enlisted men, arrived for the rites. Full honors were rendered, and the mother watched her daughter committed with the honors she deserved.

There are many cases in which the next of kin of deceased Naval personnel reside in rural areas,

WATER FILTRATION units in the Federal Civil Defense Administration warehouse at Smeeta, Ill., await use in a possible future disaster. These warehouses filled with vital equipment are located sufficient distance from expected nuclear blast-eyes, and to the west—usually upwind—from target cities to lessen the chances of blast damage and fallout. (FCDA Photo) many miles from the nearest Naval activity. This is no deterrent, however, to the CACAP Officer.

Strict orders to officers standing duty at Sixth Naval District Headquarters in Charleston require that the activity concerned with the case be notified by the Naval Communications System immediately upon receipt of notice of death whether it be noon or three o'clock in the morning. This is a measure to expedite the movements of the CACAP Officer.

Only when the next of kin has been notified of a Navyman's death does the CACAP Officer go into action, and his orders come from Sixth Naval District Headquarters if the next of kin resides in the seven States of the District. Other Naval districts operate similarly.

As civilian families who have lost an immediate member know, there is need during their distress for an uncle, or a brother-in-law, or a friend, to help with the many details involved. In the Navy as in any Government service, the details are similar but considerably more involved. There are more legal complications.

In the Navy, the CACAP Officer must help the family with such details. He assists in proper filling out of the various forms to provide if desired by the family: burial expenses, government headstone, military allotments, and allowances, financial assistance to the family, death gratuity, transportation of dependents, household and personal effects, government life insurance, arrears in pay and a list of more than 20 items to help the next of kin of the deceased.

The beginning words of a telegram, "I regret to inform you," signed by the Chief of Naval Personnel or the commanding officer of a Navyman's duty station, are the beginning of sorrow for a family. It is also the beginning of a period when the Navy pitches in to help them solve as rapidly as possible the many problems they confront.

Dermatologists warn against using chemical depilatories in the armpits where they may inflame the delicate skin.

Instead, use a razor to remove unwanted hair. First, wash the armpits with warm soap suds, and then apply a thick lather of fresh suds. The soap serves two purposes: to make the razor glide smoothly, and to protect the skin from infection in case it gets nicked or scraped.

FCDA Stockpiles Would Aid U. S. After Huge Attack

One of the world's largest "hardware dealers" sells no merchandise, has an 80,000-ton "inventory" which is constantly increasing, and hopes that none of the "hardware" will ever be used.

This vast stockpile of machinery and supplies, housed in 65 warehouses across the nation, is the Federal Civil Defense Administration's store of items which would be urgently and immediately needed if the United States were ever attacked.

IT INCLUDES such widely diverse items as medical supplies and blood "expanders" (chemicals which augment whole blood), portable emergency hospitals, gasoline-operated pumps, generators and water purifiers, and radiological "survey meters" for detecting fallout.

FCDA warehouses of all types are located from 25 to 100 miles from most major target areas in the nation, the size of the stockpile depending on the size and potential need of the target city.

While FCDA stockpiles are primarily for man-made disaster, they have also played a vital role in some recent floods.

The cities of Easton, Stroudsburg, and Scranton, Pa., depended on emergency pumps and purifiers for their city water in August 1955. FCDA medical supplies and 600 cots alleviated human suffering in Marysville and Yuba City, Calif., in December 1955, while pumps bailed out inundated Yuba City.

Russia's Navy 2nd In Size To U. S.

LONDON (AP)—An authoritative survey says Russia has built a navy second in size only to the United States—but that it lags far behind the Americans in guided missiles and atomic-propelled ships.

The one advantage of the Soviet Union reported in the 1956-57 issue of Jane's Fighting Ships is its great fleet of more than 400 submarines — far more than the United States. Jane's said a large percentage are new, long-range vessels.

The United States in recent years has concentrated on building new types of submarines, some powered by atomic energy, rather than increasing the size of its submarine fleet.

Jane's said Russia and the United States have outstripped all the other navies of the world, including Britain's, in construction and experimental development.

Since the end of World War II, Jane's said, Russia has built more cruisers and more destroyers than all other nations.

Jane's said atomic energy and guided missile weapons already are an actuality in the U. S. Navy and predicted that within 10 years many American ships will have atomic power.

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. I have added the total disability income rider to my GI insurance policy. If anything happens to me so that I receive disability payments, will those payments reduce the face amount of my policy?

A. No. The face amount of your GI policy will not be affected by any payments you might receive under the total disability income provision because you are paying an added premium for this protection.

Q. How much special restorative training may a handicapped man or woman receive under the War Orphans Education program?

A. As much as is necessary to overcome or lessen the handicap of the disability to the extent that the young man or woman may pursue a program of education. However, the special training may not exceed 36 months.

Q. I am planning to sell my GI house. How do I go about applying to VA for a release from liability to the Government?

A. You must submit a written request to the VA Regional Office which processed your loan. The request should include your VA loan number if you know it; address of the property; name and address of the proposed purchaser; and name and address of the lender who holds the note and mortgage.

Q. If I want to take a course under the Korean GI Bill that often is considered avocational or recreational in nature, what steps am I supposed to take?

A. You must submit justification to VA that the course will be of bona fide use in your present or contemplated business or occupation. You must get VA's approval before starting the course.

Veterans living in Central Florida who wish further information about their various GI benefits should write or visit the VA office at 42 E. Central Ave., Orlando.

Letters To The Editor

Editor Sanford Herald,
Sanford, Florida.

While thanks are being given for our many blessings, it is pleasant to write this letter.

At the state convention of the Florida Mental Health Association in Daytona Beach last week grateful recognition was given to the splendid support you and your paper has given to the mental health programs.

It is a real pleasure to me to give you on behalf of President Robert J. McCloskey of the state association the Certificate of Appreciation authorized by the convention.

While speaking the gratitude of the state organization, I want to take advantage of the opportunity to tell you that we of the Mental Health Association for Seminole County also want to tell you how splendid it has been of you and The Sanford Herald to support in your news and editorial columns the activities of this social service group and how grateful we are to you.

From the experience of the past, I know that we may depend on your continued support of plans to enlist popular interest in a program of social service.

Yours truly,
George Touhy,
President

Man On Same Payroll For 80 Years

By HAL BOYLE
CORNING, N. Y. (AP)—Frank J. Yank Hultzman is a man who looked for steady work—and did a better job of finding it than perhaps any other living American workman.

At 88 Hultzman, a retired glass blower who turned out some of the world's first electric light bulbs, has been on the same payroll 80 consecutive years.

A spokesman for the Corning Glass Works here said, "This service record is believed to be the longest continuous employment record in American industry."

Hultzman, a blue-eyed, Buddha-faced little man with a puckish sense of humor who wears a cap—even in the house—to protect his bald head from the cold, may well have hung up another record along the way. In the last eight decades he has chewed about 60,000 packs of tobacco.

He started chewing tobacco at 12 the same day he went to work in the glass works in 1876 during the last year of President U. S. Grant's second administration.

"He never missed a day of work in his life—and he never missed a day of chewing tobacco," said Mrs. Edna Sullivan, his widow daughter. "He'll still chew two packs a day if I let him have them."

The old man grinned up from his chair like a small boy caught swiping cookies.

At the start of his career he was paid $3.50 for a 33-hour week. Glass blowing is hot work, and in those informal days one of his chores was to "rush the growler"—to fetch beer so the thirsty gaffers, or master glass-makers, could cool their pipes.

Hultzman is one of the few surviving workmen who can remember the birth of the electric age. He was on the scene in 1879 when the first glass "bubbles" were blown to enclose the glowing filaments with which Thomas A. Edison revolutionized the world's lighting.

Soon as a gaffer himself, he and two helpers were turning out 1,000 light bulbs a day.

"But I always knew the day of hand-blown bulbs would have to come to an end," the old man said wistfully. "People needed too many."

Today a single machine can stamp out 2,000 bulbs a minute. Turn out more in five minutes than Hultzman and his crew could in a week.

The National Safety Council, American Automobile Association and other agencies have worked diligently to try and overcome driving hazards. Press, radio and television have been extremely generous in using safety publicity, but nobody has come up with a foolproof method of controlling the one nut that can wreck the best automobile ever built, the nut behind the steering wheel.

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay
Mitch Menacof of Coral Gables has been giving a lot of thought to the subject of highway safety. He is driving instructor at the Coral Gables Senior High School and is president of the State Safety and Driver Education Association.

To find out what drivers themselves think he conducted a survey interviewing 4310 persons from 39 states. The survey was conducted during September-March in Miami, Miami Beach, Hialeah and Coral Gables.

3,192 of the 4,310 listed their chief complaint as being slowed down behind trucks, buses and house trailers. Over 3,000 complained of poor road marking on many highways and lack of "recreational signs."

As a result of his survey Menacof advanced a suggestion to the National Committee on Safety Education that an effort be made to standardize highway markings with different colors to indicate directions. He would designate all route markers red for going North, yellow for East, orange for South and green for West.

Interested in his plan, the National Safety Council polled its membership and found that 27 states favor the idea. It is believed that all states could be induced to adopt the plan if an effort were made in that direction.

Several western states are already using a modification of the Menacof idea, and use various colors on highway signs but not in a manner that will indicate to a driver that he is heading in the right direction. The State Road Department is trying color on some routes in Florida.

Menacof is also spearheading a movement for uniform school bus marking. He suggests that school buses all be painted yellow with diagonal black markings and that no other type of vehicles be permitted to use such marking. His reason for this is that in Dade County alone there are 41 commercial companies using vehicles painted the same color as our school buses and even school buses in Dade County are painted four different colors.

Among the people contacted in his survey Menacof found that 3,809 liked his idea of directional colors and felt it would be very helpful in overcoming route trouble particularly for persons who had not traveled an area before. Out of the 4,310 people interviewed 63 said they were color paired eyesight or who suffer from other handicaps that makes driving difficult for them and dangerous for others. Here in Florida it has been revealed that we have issued driver's licenses to persons who were found to be on the relief roll drawing compensation for blindness.

The National Safety Council, American Automobile Association and other agencies have worked diligently to try and overcome driving hazards. Press, radio and television have been extremely generous in using safety publicity, but nobody has come up with a foolproof method of controlling the one nut that can wreck the best automobile ever built, the nut behind the steering wheel.

Blind and such a plan wouldn't help them, but such drivers are in a similar spot when it comes to reading stop lights and red, yellow or green traffic signals. Any plan of idea that will aid the motorist today is worth serious consideration. Carelessness, impatience, lack of courtesy and over-confidence in driving ability cause countless accidents that might easily have been avoided.

Menacof feels that there is a great need today for refresher driving courses for older and so-called experienced drivers as well as for driver training in our schools. Surveys have shown that many people are driving cars on our highways with badly im-

AN ADVERTISING EXECUTIVE named Albert Crockett devised a method to dramatize the speed, easy handling, etc. of a new series of big motor trucks. He and a special driver went on a tour aboard the largest model with the avowed intention of burning up the roads so that they would be pinched for speeding in one city after another—with resultant publicity, and, of course, pictures on the front page.

Alas, day after day they got the truck up to eighty miles an hour without flushing a single cop! To cap the climax, they had about given up in disgust when they got a summons—for going 15 miles an hour in a 10-mile zone.

Cook Pork Thoroughly

By NERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
THERE are two reasons why you should cook all pork very thoroughly. I've previously warned that you can develop trichinosis, a muscle-draining disease, by eating raw or partly cooked pork.

Two Yale University investigators recently found that you might also get another disease, toxoplasmosis, by eating undercooked pork.

Resembles Pneumonia
Dr. David Weinman and Anne H. Chandler say the disease, which resembles pneumonia in its symptoms, is now extremely common.

In some sections of the country, between 30 and 70 per cent of those in the 40 to 60 age group are infected. Just 10 years ago, the disease was considered rare.

Generally, the disease is not severe. Because of this, only the acute cases get much attention. The disease is caused by the protozoan Toxoplasma.

Survives Freezing
In pork, this Toxoplasma organism can survive even freezing temperatures. So while pork can be rendered relatively safe from the Trichinella worm by keeping it frozen at temperatures ranging from 5 degrees, for 20 days, to minus 30 degrees, for six days, this will not free it of the Toxoplasma.

There's another way in which the Toxoplasma differs from the Trichinella worm. The Toxoplasma is not easily identified in sections of infected pork because it is much smaller in size and is haphazardly distributed throughout the tissues.

Pork is a valuable food. In fact, it is one of the most important sources of thiamine. It is rich in other B vitamins, too, and in minerals such as phosphorus and iron.

So you don't want to—and you don't have to—stop eating pork. Just make sure that it is thoroughly cooked. Cook it until it has a gray color throughout.

Remember, pink pork can be dangerous.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
W.C.: A friend of mine has received radioactive substances for treatment of a disease. Would it be dangerous to be near him?
Answer: Usually there are no precautions needed. It would be almost impossible for the person having the radioactive substances to transmit them to someone else.

Alice Mills asked me to remind all Driewood circle members of the meeting December fifth at Betty Guy's home on Mellonville. It will start at nine-thirty in the morning, and will be a combined work shop and discussion of Christmas arrangements. At this time two arrangements will be made for the fashion show to be held the following day at the Mayfair Inn. Alice herself is leaving this Wednesday, taking the children to Washington and preparing to fly to Europe to join Ernie for the holidays. She may leave New York as soon as December fifth. Bon voyage, Alice. You should have some exciting tales when you return.

A beautiful dinner party was given for Walt and Beryl Swinson Friday night at Jean Doocey's home on Seminole Blvd. John and Jane Miller were co-hosting. Guests enjoyed cocktails in front of the two roaring fireplaces that are back to back in Jean's impressive living room. Yellow chrysanthemums added to the cheeriness of the surroundings. A delicious dinner of roast beef was served, with Johnny Miller doing an excellent job on the carving. After dinner those assembled, sat before the fire and sang. All in all it was a most pleasant evening. Hiding farewells to Walt and Beryl (who are leaving next week) were Betty and Doc Linker, Dolie and John King, Louise and Jim Parker, Cy and Jean Fitton, Betty and Jim Guy, Betty and Bill Lemos, Bill Hill, Marge Chandler, and Bob and Ginny Conn. Marge Chandler and her children were down here from Jacksonville for the week-end visiting Cy and Jean. Already she has decided that Sanford would be an ideal spot for their next tour of duty. And she was sold on it before I could get to her with my usual ravings.

Forrest Norvelle is back from his tour in get training at Olathe, Kansas. Pete and Mary Schwartz are leaving today for El Centro, California.

Either the baby sitters are going begging or the Navy people in Sanford are no longer public relations. My spies seem to have fallen down on activities. Do know that there are a lot of parties being given for Don and Diana Miller, who are leaving Sanford. Rosemary Duncan is having a tea on Thursday afternoon for Diana.

Calling on Jane and John Miller Sunday afternoon were Millie and Bill Thomas, Shirley and Jim Ross, Paul Grander, Wendell McGuire, and Bud Bramley.

The Brownies will have a float in the parade Wednesday, so keep your eyes peeled for it, as each troop will have a representative on it. The other girls will wear their uniforms as they watch the parade from the side lines.

It's a little time, so I think I will discuss something that has been on my mind for some time. Sanford is a small town, in my opinion an extremely superior one. In every small town there is always a lot of gossip. Cities are no exception. Gossip may get lost in a city if the gos-

Beautiful Christmas Tree Can Be Made From Feathers

Maybe you're old-fashioned enough to insist upon buying a live turkey for that all-important Christmas dinner. If so, you'll probably find yourself with a whole heap of feathers that you don't know quite how to dispose of. Well, I have the perfect solution to this problem. Or if you like so many of us, enjoy the convenience of a frozen turkey, practically ready to pop in the oven, you can probably get all the feathers you want at the nearest poultry farm. The rest of the materials you need for this feather Christmas tree—

Upsala Church Has Thanksgiving Day Service, Dinner

Upsala Church members and friends enjoyed Thanksgiving Service and a Fellowship Dinner at the service the Rev. C. C. White, pastor, emphasized the blessings enjoyed through the year, and enumerated many of these: Individual, home, state, national and spiritual. He read from Psalm 103, and referred to the Psalms with his whole hearted and complete concentration of himself to honor God for blessings he recognized in his day. "Then what about blessings of our present day, and our appreciation and our thanksgiving unto our Lord," said Rev. White.

Solo was rendered by Gene Nichols and a poem given by Mrs. Wm. Ertel which she had written. After the morning service many enjoyed the bountiful and delicious dinner, with turkey and all its trimmings, etc.

After dinner, brief remarks were given of thankfulness and poems were read. Also, a picture of the group was taken by William Ertel. All dispersed feeling that it was good to be together, on this Thanksgiving Day.

Oviedo

By MARIAN R. JONES

OVIDEO—Gainesville looked like a Ghost Town Thursday as discovered. We went up to spend Thanksgiving with Johnny, who had had to stay with the varsity team to practice.

The others remaining over the holidays included the famous Gator football team. A few students who lived a long distance also remained.

On our many trips to the college town we had never seen it so deserted. We had no trouble getting in a place to eat— as is sometimes the case.

At 2:30 we went to the stadium and saw the coaches putting the "wonder" team through their paces. We also saw some Georgia cars and wondered if they had some spotters from Georgia Tech there.

We came home with the conclusion that Gainesville will not hold the football fans for the Gator-Miami game if they do defeat Georgia-Tech. The crowd will resemble that of Homecoming.

Johnny pointed out some of the famous celebrities of the football team, including Jim Rountree, as they were entering the dorm following the practice.

We also saw some of the basketball players, coach John Warner, and the manager of the basketball team, who happened to eat at the same place we did.

We decided that we may even entertain the idea of going up to the Miami game with Jimmy and Johnny. It has been a long time since we have been to a football game—but we will.

Head Coach Orders Change In Seminoles Practice Schedule

Bill Fleming, head football coach for the Sanford Seminoles, ordered a radical change in practice scheduling yesterday.

Potentially the Seminoles are a better club than the Lakeview Devils. The Devils jumped to a shaky start in the beginning of the season, and were lightly regarded by opposition.

When we go on the move, Friday night as we have in all prior games, we're going to stick to the combination that is moving the ball until it fails.

Administration Ma Seek Excise Tax Rate Extension

WASHINGTON (AP)—A treasury official told Congress the Eisenhower administration probably will have to ask for another year's extension of present excise tax rates in 1957.

Dan T. Smith, tax assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, also indicated that when any tax reductions are recommended, the administration would want to give priority to a cut in personal income taxes.

Smith told a House Ways and Means subcommittee that, pending the determination of the new budget to be submitted to Congress in January, it is too early to offer any final recommendations on tax policy.

Questioned by Rep. Eberharter D-Pa. on whether he would prefer reductions in the personal income tax or in the retail excise rates, Smith replied:

"I don't believe I can give an advance blueprint, but I believe we should put the reduction of personal income taxes high up in priority."

The testimony opened a series of hearings on possible excise tax revision by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Forand D-R.I.

U. S. Investors Are Warned Against Buying Gold Bricks

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—American investors who lose money speculating in stocks often have themselves to blame, the head of the government agency charged with policing the securities business said.

"Learn not to buy 'gold bricks,'" he advised.

J. Sinclair Armstrong, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, in a speech prepared for the annual convention of the Investment Bankers Assn. of America, warned that some unsound stock is being sold to the public by various high-pressure methods.

He said the problem can be met in three ways:

1. More prudence on the part of the investor.
2. Greater alertness on the part of the securities industry.
3. Responsibility of the SEC in seeing that the securities law is obeyed.

"Federal laws," Armstrong said, "do not give the SEC power to pass on the merits of securities. If the responsibilities of the commission, industry and public are shouldered, the congressional objectives expressed in the securities laws will be achieved, and public confidence in the capital markets as a medium for investment of the nation's savings will continue to grow."

Armstrong listed the responsibility of the investor as of major importance.

"Congress clearly left to the public investor the ultimate responsibility for his investment decisions," he said. "That public, particularly in this era of great prosperity, must not blame government or industry for bad or foolish investment decisions, unless government or the securities industry have failed in their responsibilities.

"The person who loses money in uninformed or unwise speculation cannot, after he has lost, shift the blame from himself. There is no more of a hedge in the securities law against stock prices going down than there is a guarantee that a 'bull market' will go on forever."

He urged securities dealers to

"re-appraise" their responsibilities and to report promptly any violations of the SEC regulations.

"We have no authority to approve or disapprove securities issues. It is the public investor that the federal securities laws seek to protect, but the protection afforded is to put the investor in an informed position to make his own decisions, to assure him free and fair markets, but not to prevent him from making his own investment decisions and not to have a federal agency make his decisions for him."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A TEXAS FARMER left his team of horses in front of a village store just as two medium-size Texas mosquitoes buzzed upon the scene. When the farmer returned ten minutes later, the insects had eaten the horses and were pitching horseshoes to see which would get the farmer.

Then there's the tale of another Texas farmer who was pinched for speeding on a highway in his harvesting machine during a dust storm. "Don't stop me!" begged the farmer, indicating a solid cloud of dust behind him. "I planted that alfalfa, and by golly, I mean to harvest it if I have to follow it clean into the Gulf of Mexico!"

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

By WILLIAM RITT

IN MOST of the U. S. October, which they swapped an alligator proved such a wonderful, balmy month that it was almost—but not quite—worth waiting for all that dreary, wet summer.

Unquestionably the nation's most optimistic people are those cheer leaders of perennially losing football teams.

An Ohio wife got a divorce after she testified her husband talked to his goldfish instead of her. Could it be because the fish never talked back?

A New York zoo and a Polish zoo have just concluded a deal in which they swapped an alligator for nine snakes. Don't ask us why.

In a deal like that, suggest's Enoch Damsköp, somebody's liable to get bitten.

With Mallow's new history Junior again wishes he'd had that pumpkin, carved into a jack o'lantern, cut up into a pie instead.

For the third consecutive month the cost of living in Norway has dropped two-thirds of a per cent. Before rushing off to settle there, remember at this time of year Norwegian temperatures drop a whole lot faster!

Electronic Life, Home Of Tomorrow

NEW YORK (AP)—Step into your electronic life and home of tomorrow:

Entire walls of your house glow with light, bright or dim, even in colors to suit your mood. You sleep in a bed without covers, but stay as warm or cool as you like.

Youngsters' muddy shoes are magically cleaned at the front door before their feet touch a rug. You live in a dust-free house, with the inside climate best adjusted for your health. Your dishes, automatically washed, can be automatically put away.

At a football game in an open stadium you stay warm despite icy winds because of radiant heat. You drive there and back by car without traffic tie-ups.

Some of these new things and methods are far off, dream children as yet. Others are already near at hand. They are coming from basic research, from improved transistors and tubes, discoveries in solid-state physics, new materials, methods, imagination, and hard work.

From their look ahead, the scientists see these potential changes from harnessing electrons to the service of humans.

Your indoor climate is controlled electronically for the desired temperature and humidity despite outdoor changes. Or windows can be opened and closed automatically.

In the kitchen are a silent electronic refrigerator with no moving parts, electronic ranges speedily cooking enticing foods, quick-thaw devices for frozen foods; ultrasonic and sterilizing dishwashers and clothes washers, even conveyor belts to put clean dishes where they belong; in the cupboard, electronically controlled dehumidifying compartments, or crisping compartments for foods such as cookies.

At night you sleep encircled by warming rays from a radio-frequency canopy, needing no covers, in a bed that doesn't need making in the morning. The radiant canopy folds away above the headboard. Similar devices or special blankets could keep you cool in summer.

You may clean house with an electrostatic wand waved over furniture, to seize dust. Or have electronic precipitators which prevent dust from circulating in the first place. At the door is a special chamber which quickly cleans muddy shoes.

In a special little room sits your own electronic "brain." You give it instructions the night before, putting a day's program on tape. Each family member can be awakened at the proper hour, to his favorite music; dinner can be started automatically at a set hour; a facsimile newspaper delivered to the breakfast table, the car warmed up in winter. . . and the "brain" could take care of unexpected things, like melting snowfall off the driveway.

This "brain" or another calculator could help figure the budget, pay bills, give you answers in calculating income tax.

Your TV screen is like a picture frame on the wall, bringing you programs in full color from anywhere in the world. By your own TV system, you can watch the children playing in the yard, see who's at the front door. You can tape and play back favorite TV programs, put your own home movies on your own TV set. You have a personal pocket radio about the size of a pocket watch. You may add controlled amounts of negative ions, or charged atoms, to the air in your home, for research indicates this could help combat airborne allergies.

More research will show whether ionization could help you feel better, or help children learn faster. Your doctor may use an automatic clinician device which makes simultaneous readings of temperature, heart rate, blood pressure, and correlates them—and compare them with findings of past check-ups—to help him in his diagnosis. Doctors and scientists will have electronic devices for quick, accurate blood

GIOVANNA (VONNIE) GIAMBRA, 25, died in a hospital after being savagely beaten by a purse-snatcher near her home in Paterson, N. J. Miss Giambra, a secretary to a magazine advertising director, was struck down half a block from her home as she hurried to a Catholic Youth Organization meeting at her church. When found, her skull fractured, arms and legs bruised, she cried, "He hit me with a big club!"

One of the club's 400,000 members will be chosen to serve as cabin boy on the life-size replica that Villiers will sail to the United States from England next Spring, recreating the famous Pilgrim voyage. Probable Line-Up Revealed For First Basketball Game

By Marian Jones

OVIEDO—Coach Paul Mikler is today announcing his probable line-up for the first basketball game of the 1956-57 season that the Oviedo Lions will play. They will tackle Pierson on the Oviedo Court Friday evening, Nov. 30, following the girls' game.

Captain Luther Duda, 6 feet, will play in the forward position together with Wallace Kelsey, 5 feet 11 inches, Carl Fabry 6 feet 4 inches will be on hand at the center position, while alternate captain, Ferdinand Duda, 5 feet 10 inches, and Mike Duda, 5 feet 10 inches, will take on the guarding roles.

To the disappointment of many, veteran Jim Hill, 5 feet 11 inches, will probably not be in the line-up. Andy Duda, 5 feet 11 inch forward, also will be on hand; but Coach says he has a knee injury which has handicapped him in practice recently. Tom Brown, 6 feet; Marvin Wrye, 5 feet 10 inches; Mike Tyre 5 feet 6 inches, all forwards, will be in reserve. Guards in reserve will be Joseph Duda, 5 feet 10 inches; and Raymond Mikler, 4 feet 11 inches. William Hart, 6 feet 1 inch, will be on hand to substitute at center.

Mrs. James Partin's girls will play the preliminary game with the Pierson quintet. Captain Kay Estes, about 6 feet 2 inches, will probably be at her center position; while alternate captain, Peggy Fleming, stalwart little forward, will be in her usual role as well as Melanie Jackson, who showed remarkable progress last year. Mrs. Partin will pick out starting guards from Betty Stevenson, Ann Dehazo, Georgia Dishman and Karen Boatwright.
Other forwards in reserve will be Ann Slayton, who is taller than Kay Estes; Josephine and Katherine Mikler; Mariene Bellhorn and Virginia Wrye. Guards in reserve will be Nellie Ruth Beasley, Pat Jackson, Junie Fleming, Susan Slanko, and Ann Lundy.
Good luck to both boys and girls.

2 Planes Collide, Crash In Texas

RAYMONDVILLE, Tex.—First reports from the scene indicated that two airplanes collided, and crashed about 10 miles north of here about 9:30 a. m. CST today.
Unconfirmed reports said that the planes were a military aircraft and a passenger plane.
The Air Force said a military plane was circling the crash area. A crash convoy was sent to the scene from Harlingen Air Force Base.
State highway patrolmen and ambulances also were en route to the scene.
Raymondville is in the lower Rio Grande Valley, about 30 miles from the Rio Grande, which separates Texas and Mexico.

Airliner Crashes; 25 Persons Killed
CARACAS, Venezuela—A Venezuelan airliner on a nonstop flight from New York crashed into a cloud-shrouded mountain less than two miles from the Caracas Airport today and all 25 persons aboard were killed.

the auxiliary, who under the chairmanship of Mrs. Chris Butler will present a program of dessert and cards, with the special project of getting newcomers to DeBary acquainted with their neighbors. All monies collected from the admission fee will be utilized for the comfort of veterans of foreign wars, many of whom are hospitalized at Lake City.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Marland entertained last night at a dinner party for their house guests, Miss Margaret Johnson and Mrs. Hugh Van Seiber of Lawrenceville, N. J. At the dinner were: Mrs. Fern Tiehner of Miami, Miss Clarissa McPette-ridge, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin H. Pines, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Wesp, Miss Margaret Mason, Mr. and Mrs. George Wagner and Arlington Willahan.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cavallon of Hartdale, N. Y., are visiting Mrs. Cavallon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Gabler. They intend taking side trips through the state, with their home base DeBary.
Harry F. and Laura Platt Brown will soon be welcoming their talented son, Charles, who arrives today on the Rynedam from Holland. He is to take his Master's degree this year at Columbia University. He will visit through the holidays with his parents in DeBary.

Miss Eda Casini of New York is visiting her brother, Roger Casini. On Thanksgiving day she listened, with 200 others, to the beautiful and inspired music of the quartette who played so beautifully at the community Thanksgiving morning service, at which the Rev. Wilfred Aldridge spoke on thankfulness and its opposites. The quartette comprised: Ruth Surt, first violin; Cornelia Shaw, second violin; Roger Casini, viola; and Frank Surt, cello.

This is the month in which to study Puerto Rico, according to the Cub Scouts who are making contour maps of this island possession. They will submit their projects to William Blakemore, scoutmaster at the meeting tomorrow. Mrs. Joseph Jackson will show a film of the swimming exhibition at the mansion pool this fall.

Each Saturday the cubs meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Reierick who were featured some time ago in the Sanford Herald, the story showing their fine ceramic work. They are now giving valuable time to the younger set, teaching them the essentials of moulding, decorating, glazing and painting pottery. The cubs are most enthusiastic about the bonbon dishes they are now making and show much promise in their improvisation of new materials. The Reiericks express themselves well pleased with the young peoples' progress.

Disapproval Of Tax Elimination Again Voiced By Mayor

Mayor F. D. Scott last night again voiced his disapproval of the elimination of the 10c admission tax on tickets to the Sanford Memorial stadium's high school athletic contests.
An ordinance officially exempting educational institutions and non-profit organizations from the tax was passed at last night's meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners.

However, on a motion to waive rules which would allow the final passage of the bill, Mayor Scott voted "No." He again said "We're adding double taxes on the people of Sanford."
In order to waive the rules a unanimous approval must be given by the Board of Commissioners.
The ordinance will come up for final reading and passage at the next meeting of the Board in approximately two weeks.

If you use fruit in the first part of a meal, do not use a dessert featuring fruit.

Sign On French Ave. To Lead Motorists To Downtown Area

A 15 1/2 foot neon lighted sign will soon be placed at the intersection of First St. and French Ave. directing motorists to "Downtown Sanford."

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners approved the purchase of the sign, in the form of a huge arrow 5 1/2 feet deep on one end and 7 1/2 feet deep on the other. Cost of the sign will be $1185.

Letters in the non-flashing illuminated sign will be 15 inches tall and constructed of double neon.

The sign will be erected on a 10-inch steel pole 10 feet above ground level. Weight of the sign has been estimated at from 500 to 600 pounds.

A small replica of the sign was displayed at last night's meeting. Commissioners saw the brilliant red letters and the glowing green border to the huge arrow.
It will be erected on the northeast corner of the intersection to attract southbound traffic on French Ave.

Cost of the sign, City Manager Warren E. Knowles told the Board of City Commissioners, will include installation.

which is drafting recommendations for the 1957 Legislature on an expanded community college program made a report on its activities.

The counties are embraced in 14 areas which the council has selected on the basis of economic, education and population studies as most likely locations for junior colleges.

The council is expected to choose five from the 14 areas as the locations in which it will ask the State Board of Education to seek funds from the legislature. Council Chairman Allen C. Grazier of St. Petersburg said the communities which provide the greatest amount of local self help toward providing a site and new buildings would be the ones most likely to get the new schools.

Bailey forecast the 1957 Legislature would be receptive to "some expansion" of the junior college program, but he didn't mention any figures.

States funds appropriated would be used to supplement local funds to build the new schools.

Florida now has five state supported junior colleges. Two are in Pensacola for whites and Negroes. Others are in West Palm Beach, St. Petersburg and Marianna.

The community colleges are expected to provide technical and vocational training and adult education program as well as two years of academic training for those students who propose to go on to a four-year school.

The 14 areas from which five will be recommended:

Dade County; Broward County; Hillsborough County; Polk County; and the combined areas these groups of counties—Osceola and Manatee; Orange, Seacoala and Seminole; Volusia and Flagler; Lake and Sumpter; Marion, Levy and Citrus; St. Johns, Clay and Putnam; Duval and Nassau; Suwannee, Hamilton, Madison, Taylor and Lafayette; and Bay and Gulf.

COUPLE AWARDED MONEY FOR INJURIES

SAN FRANCISCO—A Federal Court jury has awarded $69,974 to a Fort Lauderdale, Fla., couple as the result of injuries suffered on the liner Lurline returning from Honolulu.

The award was against Matson Navigation Co. for Mrs. Elsie B. Allen, 70, in a hip injury when the Lurline docked in San Francisco on Oct. 1, 1953. Her husband George, a retired jeweler, received part of the amount for her medical expenses.

Roads you can ride on into the next century
You expect such public improvements as schools, hospitals, court houses, water works and sewers to serve 50 years or more with minimum maintenance. Highways need be no exception. Roads can be built that need not be rebuilt or resurfaced every few years and maintained at high annual cost. Engineers can build concrete roads to last 50 years and more!
Moreover, concrete usually costs less to build than other pavements designed for the same traffic. It costs less to maintain, too, as average cost records of state highway departments prove. Moderate first cost + low maintenance cost = long life = low annual cost.
Concrete is safest, too. Its gritty surface is highly skid-resistant, wet or dry. Its light color reflects more light than other pavements, giving you better visibility at night.
You pay for roads Mr. Motorist with your license fees, gas and other taxes. These funds go farther when invested in safe, durable low-annual-cost concrete pavement.

Passport to Happiness

CHAPTER 28

VAL FELT happy from the moment she'd gone through the front door of the hospital and had seen Dirk standing by the open door of the car, waiting for her. She felt she was not only walking into the warmth of the sunshine, but she was walking into a warm feeling of friendship and understanding. She gave Dirk both her hands and said simply, "I'm glad to see you, Dirk."

He squeezed her hands, but his eyes were on her still-pale face. "Are you? Are you really glad to see me, darling?"

She caught her breath sharply. "You don't know how glad."

Dirk talked easily as he drove the car down the hillside away from the hospital. Val laughed and momentarily forgot that a short while before she had almost cried.

Jane suggested we lunch at Sunset Lodge. She says it's a good hotel and afterwards we can swim from there."

It was when they were pushing through the narrow, crowded streets of the shopping center of Montego Bay that she asked abruptly, "And how is friend Harridan?"

She hesitated. "I was talking to him a short while ago. I think he's sorry about the trouble he made for you on the boat. I'm sure he didn't mean to be spiteful, Dirk, but I do think," she hesitated again, "that emotional, by he's badly involved."

He nodded his head slowly. "That's why I wouldn't want you to marry him, Val. No woman should live with a man's tortured mind, nor with the ghost of the past."

"But if you thought you could help him?"

He shook his head again. "I'm not saying this from any selfish motive, but no one can ever really help anyone else. We all have to face our own problems, whether emotional or practical, and decide ourselves just what we're going to do about them. But I haven't brought you out today to read you a lecture." He hesitated. "You were very cagey last night over the phone—"

Feast On Holiday Mushroom Muffins

MARVELOUS are muffins made with condensed cream of mushroom soup. Their subtle flavor and extra special texture bring magical mouthwatering moments . . . especially when served on the days of feasting along with that holiday bird.

HOLIDAY MUFFINS

2 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt

1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/4 cup melted shortening
2 eggs, beaten

Mix dry ingredients into a bowl. Mix soup, walnuts, shortening and egg; add to flour mixture. Stir until well blended. Fill greased muffin tins 3/4 full. Bake in a hot oven (350° F.) about 30 minutes. Makes 12 muffins.

They'd make a special breakfast surprise some morning, too. You might like to vary this recipe by substituting condensed cream of chicken or cream of celery soups in place of the condensed cream of mushroom soup.

Appropriation Increase Sought By Officials

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The State treasurer and insurance commissioner's office has asked an increase of $687,669 in appropriations for the next two years to handle bigger work load.

Treasurer J. Edwin Larson said the big part of the increase is due to expansion of the insurance business in Florida.

"Hardly a day passes that some development of consequence does not transpire in this basic phase which undergirds the entire economy of the state," he said.

"The state is steadily licensing more and more companies as they meet the qualifications."

Of the increase sought, $1,262,055 would go for salary raises and new employes.

Biggest expansion was proposed in the financial responsibility section where 36 new positions at a total cost of $91,500 was proposed.

Larson said an increased number of traffic accidents extended the case load far beyond estimates and had made it necessary for the department to get $39,940 in emergency funds in September to keep going.

In addition, salary raises averaging 12-14 per cent were sought for existing employes of the section.

In his budget request, Larson said there is a tremendous encroachment upon the rights of the states by the Federal Trade Commission.

"This body recently seems to be following a policy of invasion of the field of regulation of insurance through ignoring Congress' mandate to the state in Public Law 15," he said.

"Should this trend continue and the states lose their prerogative of local regulation the loss of tax revenues would total more than a million dollars last year and would amount to an estimated total of more than 23 million dollars during the coming biennium."

The state parole commission asked for an increase of $427,338 during the 1957-58 biennium.

The department asked $1,185,085. Much of the increase would continue the expanded parole and

Origination Of Tourist Club

By MRS. RUTH LAYO

On December 17, 1951, a group of tourists living in Longwood and nearby decided to form a club, whereby they could get together and swap home-state data and get acquainted. They called the meeting together on a beautiful location, located in the middle of the town and owned by Mrs. Neimeyer. Some clean-up work was first on the agenda and then the meeting got fully underway with Mrs. Neimeyer donating the use of her property for the meeting place. A name was then chosen which still remains today, "SUN-BYSHADE PARK". Mr. P. Beebe immediately set forth to erect a sign with the name of the park imprinted on it.

The first president of the club was Mrs. Abbie Morrison Morgan, a long time Longwood resident having come from Maine. A dinner was then planned and they invited the New England Tourist Club to attend. Eighty-five of their members attended and a Mr. Greene presented a flag to the park. At this time, the club's name was made official, Longwood Tourist Club.

Through the years that followed dinners were held on each Wednesday at noon and upwards of a hundred people were served.

D. E. Lighthouse was president of the club for the next four years followed by Sherman Lusader and Allen Fuller then Carl Wittmore. During this time the park ground was purchased by the city and many needed improvements made. The pavilion that we all now enjoy on many occasions was built in 1953.

During the war years that followed there was little activity in the club with only the members who had become permanent residents and the few who could come each winter. Although the club still tried to maintain and do what they could.

Since the war the club has again become very active. They now hold a dinner on the first Wednesday of each month at noon, followed by their business meeting. The afternoon is then spent shuffling, or in tournament play. The club supports the Red Cross each year as well as many other organizations. They assist with the annual Christmas Party held for Longwood's children each year. They have been most generous in loaning their equipment to the other clubs and organizations to use in the many events held each year in the park.

Officers of this year are, president, Ira Wilson and secretary, treasurer, Mrs. Ward Warren.

RAINY DAY FUN FOR KIDS
Here's one nursery-tested occupation for a rainy day: let the children gather up the doll clothes, wash them, and tint them pretty colors. Little girls — and some boys, too — adore doing this sort of thing. The idea is to tint the clothes in gay doll laundry, of course. But the idea of tinting new colors is even more fun.

Safe vegetable colorings can be had in grocery stores. While the recipe on the bottles may call for hot water to color Easter eggs, cold water will suffice for this wardrobe renovating. The doll clothes can be dipped into the coloring after being scrubbed in warm water or detergent suds, and then rinsed.

Provide several bowls of water, and let the children mix their own colors. Naturally, you can't expect this sort of tinting to endure, but it's great fun for the moment. And any spills can be washed up

Shopping for Christmas gift toys has come a long way from the simple and traditional selection of a doll for a girl, or a sled for a boy.

Today there are thousands of toys, games, costumes, play equipment and educational toys to choose from for children of all ages.

The bewildered adult shopper should keep in mind the age of the child. Most toys today are slanted for a particular age group.

You may become fascinated with an electric train, or mechanical toy, which you look forward to operating, but think first of the age of the recipient. Your local toy department will help you select the correct toy and here are some helpful gift ideas!

GIFTS FOR INFANTS

Soft, cuddly, washable animals are wonderful crib-mates for the diaper crowd. A gayly colored mobile to hang in the nursery makes an unusual gift.

For toddlers, rubber and non-breakable plastic toys for the crib are fun. New foam rubber building blocks are safe and washable. Animated musical pull toys are loved by boys and girls. Rock 'n' roll has invaded the young crowd with pliable toys on rollers or wheels.

PRE-KINDERGARTEN TOYS

From two to four, youngsters go for blocks, simple puzzles, wheel toys, coloring sets, tricycles, dolls, inflatable toys and play equipment.

When children are four to six, they like simple games, doll houses and furniture (new this year is patio furniture for a doll house), toy telephones, paint sets, scooters, wagons and roller skates.

Boys especially like scale model toys of all types: trucks, airplanes and latest model cars.

Little girls begin to take an interest in "keeping house" and there is a wide selection of appliances, styled just like mother's. Cooking and baking sets, complete with utensils and samplers, ingredients are fun for little misses.

MUSICAL TOYS

Children of all ages like musical toys. Now you can buy almost any musical instrument from a banjo, drums or trumpet to a toy piano. They are very realistic looking and usually made of non-breakable plastic or metal.

FAVORITE COSTUMES

Both boys and girls like to dress up in the costumes of their favorite TV or story-book heroes. There are many colorful and practical costumes to choose from for all ages.

A cowboy or cowgirl outfit complete with boots, hat and guns is a sure favorite. You can choose from Robin Hood, engineer, space cadet, Indian, fireman and policeman suits for boys. Girls will like a nurse's uniform, Indian or Maid Marian costume.

EDUCATIONAL TOYS
To stimulate learning at an early age, there are simple puzzles, take-apart toys, building toys and blocks, finger-painting sets and games.

At six to eight, children enjoy sporting equipment, electric trains, hobby crafts, parlor games, model building, dolls with varied wardrobes and building toys. Outdoor gym equipment and junior bikes are appropriate, too.

Children eight to ten, will love to receive advanced craft sets, simple chemistry sets, electrical toys, magic sets, painting sets, games and puzzles.

with a sudsy sponge and no harm done. No matter how horrifying little hands look after this activity, they can be restored to natural pinkness with soap and water!

The Yuletide season brings with it some of the most choice picture situations of the year. The trick is to have on hand plenty of film, flashbulbs, batteries and necessary photographic equipment. Christmas is, of course, at its best. And it's a ripe opportunity for the camera to catch it all with emphasis on close-ups — and such highlights as the brightly-decorated tree, the new toys, and the expressions of wonder and delight.

DAR Is Women's Patriotic Society

The Daughters of the American Revolution does not consist of scattered groups of little chapters, each self-centered in its own activities, but the power of the society rests in the great state organizations, each a dominant force, strongly united, into one of the greatest women's patriotic organizations of the whole world.

The National Society was organized on Oct. 11, 1890, with Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, wife of the president of the U. S., as the first President General. The founders and charter members looked into the future, working with education not only for our own people, but for the foreign born, the marking of historical spots, honoring historical dates in history, preserving documents and above all perpetuating the memory of those men and women who gave their lives to achieve independence.

Sallie Harrison Chapter of the United States and was organized by the late Mrs. Elizabeth Harrison Sterling 38 years ago and named for her sister, the late Mrs. Sallie Harrison, of Jacksonville. During the years since its founding the Chapter has placed at least seven markers, usually during the month of February, since Feb. 8 was established as Sanford Founder's Day, to commemorate important events in the early history of the city. For the past few years the chapter has been working with the Library and Museum Association, The County Commissioners, The City Commissioners and interested friends to promote the construction of a fire-resistant building to house the Gen. Sanford Library and art collection to be donated by his daughter, Mrs. Carola Sanford Dow, of Derby, Conn. The Ground Breaking Ceremony was held in Fort Mellon Park on Tuesday, April 13, 1954 and the Library is now a reality.

Officers of Sallie Harrison Chapter, N. S. D. A. R. elected last May to serve for two years include: Mrs. A. Raymond Key, Regent; Mrs. C. R. Dawson, vice-regent; Mrs. Edmund Meisch, Chaplain; Mrs. F. E. Bolt, Recording secretary; Mrs. R. E. True, Treasurer; Mrs. A. W. Lee, Registrar; Mrs. George Morgan, Historian; and Mrs. H. W. Rucker, Librarian.

Washing the skin with soap is recommended by doctors as a reliable first aid treatment for poison ivy. At the first indication you've been exposed to poison ivy, work up a thick soapy lather and scrub the affected skin areas thoroughly. You may spare yourself some agonized moments later.

Gay Paper Adds Sparkle To Gift

One of the prettiest, and most exciting sights of Christmas is the better-shelter mound of beautifully wrapped gifts piled under the Christmas tree! There is the promise of happy surprises in store...there is the thoughtfulness that went into the selection of each gift...and there is the love and imagination that went into each gala wrapping.

Decking each gift in a joyous wrapping is half the fun of gift giving! But just as important as doing your gift shopping early — is allowing plenty of time for your gift wrapping. The fun is spoiled if this part of Christmas is allowed to become a hurried, last-minute chore.

Each year there are more and more novel ideas incorporated into gift wrapping. This is due partly to the greater selection of gift wrappings available in the stores and also to the imaginative use of simple and inexpensive materials found around the house.

The ingenuity that is evident in any display of Christmas gifts goes beyond the use of novel wrappings. More and more clever cut-outs and trims are being added to gift packages.

It's wise to adapt these package motifs to the gift itself. Children are doubly thrilled when their gift box boasts a perky Santa, a red Christmas stocking or a tree. These can be made from red or green construction paper with printed or crayon trim or can be cut-outs from last year's cards.

A very dainty gift for a woman is even lovelier when the gift wrapping is glamorized with a trim of gold lace dollies, glued on sequins or a sweet little angel cut-out.

A man will get an extra lift of spirits when his package is personalized with a clever motif that ties in with his hobby. For example: if he's a gardening enthusiast, tie his package with raffia that can be used later for tying plants and use gay packets of seeds for decoration.

Start early to collect the materials you'll need to add novel touches to your gift packages. Let your imagination have full sway and you'll find a clever idea to highlight each gift wrapping.

For pretty Christmas gift packages, just as important as the handsome or jolly decoration is to start with an attractive package. Here are a few simple rules that can make anyone an expert gift wrapper:

First: always use a box to be sure of having a neat package.

Second: Place wax on the gift paper and cut paper, allowing just enough margin at each end for folding.

Third: Center box on paper and make a neat overlay. Tape.

Fourth: Fold edges of paper in at the corners, bring under edge up over top edge and tape.

It's also easy to master the art of making pretty ribbon bows. A flat bow is made from a length of ribbon looped back and under in graduated sizes and tied in the center.

To make a perky stand-up bow, fold the ribbon in several loops, fold in half and cut two V's with narrow ribbon. Fluff out the loops.

So plan now to make your gift packages the gayest, prettiest ever! Wrap them in red and white checked, shelf paper and put a candy cane in the bow of each. Try your hand at decorating with one of the glitter kits...sparkle your packages with multi-colored sequins...tie each one with a sprig of holly and a tiny bell in the bow!

Whatever you do to make your gift boxes distinctive, they're sure to show that your warmest wishes are tucked inside!

Favor her with gracious gold costume jewelry accents — here golden petals swirl into a massive pin; the chunky bracelets have gold flecked stones — worn by the armload this season.

Sport shirts at Christmas will please any man — especially when they're of lightweight, wool fabrics in the season's newest designs and colors. These shirts are in featherweight wool challis; one with a smart geometric pattern and the other in gay polka dots. Both are long sleeved.

Lutheran Ladies Help Many Through Projects

The Ladies Aid Society of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer was organized on August 20, 1953 with ten ladies present, officers were elected and committees appointed.

Cooperation and hard work by all has made the aid a success both spiritually and financially and membership has grown to twenty-eight at present.

Various projects have been carried on by the Ladies Aid—clothes collected and shipped for World Relief, monies sent to Bethesda Home and the Deaf Mission at Miami, help with the purchase of hymnals and chairs for the church.

The ladies worked to raise the money for these worthwhile projects by bake sales, a fashion show, bazaars, concert and parties. All profits and materials from the bazaars and bake sales were donated.

Materials were donated and altar clothes made by members; also a robe for the acolyte and linen cover for communion service.

The Sunshine Committee as well as others assist the pastor in contacting as many people as possible. They visit all new members and visitors of the church, make sick calls and assist with the Sunday School efforts. Also arrange socials for the church members, so the families may become acquainted.

Regular meetings are held monthly at the home of members. In August 1955 the Ladies Aid joined with the Lutheran Women's Missionary League. These meetings are held quarterly at the regular aid meeting and the topic lesson from the mission book is studied, the mission work of the church discussed and mite boxes collected for mission work.

The Aid has a book committee and selections are made and purchased from Concordia Book Club. These will become a part of the church library for use of all members.

Committee members set up the altar furnishings and arrange flowers each Sunday, and attempt to greet all visitors and friends in the church.

The crowning achievement at present is the furnishing of the kitchen at the new church. Dishes and silverware to serve more than one hundred have been purchased, also an electric range. With a donation of a refrigerator and coffee maker and a kitchen shower held in July for miscellaneous items the ladies are ready to serve any social function of the church.

Altar clothes are being made by members in brocade silk in the seasonal colors for the new church.

After washing any water repellent garment, make extra sure you rinse out all the soap or detergent suds. The job of suds is to enable fabric to get wetter, the better to flush away soil — but you won't want them to stay around afterwards to accentuate rain's wetting action!

Television for Christmas—two of the latest models in carry-around sets. The "Personal" model (shown on the table) provides thirty-three square inches of viewable picture and the "Sportster" which offers 109 square inches of televiewing.

Daughters Of 1812 Promote Patriotism

The Francis L. Dade Chapter, U. S. Daughters of 1812 is one of four in the state and derives its membership from the Central Florida Area, which includes Sanford, Orlando, DeLand, Daytona, Eustis, Mt. Dora, Sorrento, Tangerine, Clermont, Titusville and Winter Haven. Sanford members are Mrs. F. E. Roumillat, Mrs. R. W. Ruprecht, Mrs. L. M. Leland and Mrs. A. Raymond Key. The National Society was organized on January 8, 1892, and to be eligible one must offer satisfactory proof of lineal descent from an ancestor who rendered civil, military or naval service to this country during the years 1784-1815, inclusive. The purposes of the Society are threefold: First, to promote patriotism; second, to preserve and increase knowledge of the history of the American people; and third, to assist in the care and maintenance of "Real Daughters."

Three mountain schools are endorsed by the Society, and to qualify a school or college must be for underprivileged boys and girls who otherwise would not have the opportunity of an education. The Daughters of 1812 also have special committees which give much support to the American Merchant Marine Library and to become college for American Indians.

The state officers include the following: president, Mrs. Robert W. Perdue, Jacksonville; first vice president, Mrs. Clarence H. Estes, Tangerine; second vice president, Mrs. Samuel Bolton, Mt. Dora; chaplain, Mrs. August C. Churchill, Miami; recording secretary, Mrs. A. Raymond Key, Sanford; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Raymond E. Gormley, Jacksonville; treasurer, Mrs. Robert O. Angle, Ft. Lauderdale; Registrar, Mrs. G. F. Treshler, Jacksonville; Historian, Mrs. Leland R. Staffebach, Miami; Librarian, Mrs. Henry O. Shaw, Miami; Curator, Mrs. Henry Boggs, DeLand; Parliamentarian, Mrs. Roy O. Edwards, Jacksonville.

A warm, washable flannel robe takes its inspiration from India in a gay pink, green and metallic gold border print on white! Squared collar, slim-fitted lines gives elegance to this robe. This same styling and print graces a slim sleepcoat and rajah collared pajamas in the line.

Star Of Bethlehem Topic Of Research

The Star of Bethlehem has been the subject of research and discussion for many years. Modern astronomers have considered many theories dealing with natural phenomena, without reaching any conclusion. But the faithful accept the star as a supernatural phenomenon, proclaiming for all history the birth of the Divine Child. And no one has yet come up with conclusive proof to the contrary.

Every woman thrills to the gift of fragrance! A thrilling selection awaits your choosing at your favorite shop — in purse-size perfume flacons and dispensers; boxed sets of perfumed toiletry essentials and top-of-the-dresser "show-off" bottles — in all the beloved essences.

Picture-Taking Season Nearing

The greatest picture-taking season of the year is close at hand. And it begins well before December 25th. Those early shopping stints, the visit to the neighborhood store Santa, the first notes to the North Pole, are all choice camera material — the start of a story that builds to an exciting climax on Christmas Day.

Now is the time to check on film, flash equipment, batteries, and the working order of that camera. And now is the time, too, to think of those photographic gifts that will mean so much this Christmas, and the holiday seasons to come.

There's no denying that Christmas is the best movie-making time ever. And movies can be taken with snapshot case and economy. Lower film costs and the excellent projection results on moderate-sized screens, make 8mm movies highly popular for those family movie records.

New, wonderfully inexpensive 8mm movie cameras are easy and economical to use; no focusing is necessary in most cases, with just one simple setting all that is required. Other 8mm models — with faster lenses — may be had at slightly higher cost.

Not to be overlooked is the wide assortment of still cameras and still-camera sets. Cameras, such as these, may also be purchased as separate gifts, independently of sets. Christmas is the time for color — and most cameras take color film for either snapshots or slides. For the color-slide fan, there's a new economical do-it-yourself color processing outfit, containing all the equipment and supplies needed to process 35mm color film without the need of a darkroom.

Stockingstuffers vary from film to filter kits. A series of really handy new filter kits, available for almost any still or movie camera, comes complete with basic filters for use the year round. These new kits keep all special-purpose filters visible and instantly available, in a sturdy, compact case small enough to tuck in pocket, pocketbook or gadget bag.

And, happy holiday hints all, are movie screens and splicers, projectors and viewers, flashholders and light bars, photoguides and photography books.

Photography means fun, not only for the season just ahead—but for the years to follow.

Holiday Greeting In Other Language

Wherever you go, however it's said... the heartfelt meaning is the same the world over... "Merry Christmas."

Check this list of holiday greetings in other languages and surprise your friends this Christmas! Greet your Swedish friends with "Glad Jul"; Norwegians with "Gledelig Jul" or Danish friends with "Glaedelig Jul."

A Spanish-speaking friend will be pleased to hear "Feliz Navidad" and Portuguese, "Boas Festas."

Italians say "Buone Feste Natalizie." French, "Joyeux Noel," and the Irish "Nollaig Mhath Chugnat."

To a Welshman, "Nadolig Hlawn," to a Ukrainian say, "Srozhdestvom Krisovym."

Polish people will happily respond to your "Weselych Swiat" and Germans to "Froeliche Winaechten."

Your accent may not be perfect, but they'll know from your cheerful voice and friendly smile that you mean "Merry Christmas, everybody!"

FINGER PAINTING

Finger painting is fun for preschool children and develops their interest in art. Mothers will find that it is a favorite occupation for older children, too, for after school hours.

Varied speeds, automatic record changer and fine reproduction and tone quality distinguish this set. Its handsome case, easy portability and streamlined design make it a truly handsome gift item for anyone on your list.

Spread it beside the bed and it'll feel wonderfully soft for bare feet of a morning, or put it in the playroom for the delight of all the young guests, too. The cunning bear head contains a soft pillow that can be removed for washing. Most children prefer to sit on the floor when they're watching television or playing games—so this rug provides lounging comfort as well as a decorative note.

And mothers will cherish it because it can be put into the washing machine! You'll never have to say, "Now keep your dirty feet off that rug!" This one was made to take it.

Credit Union Now Has 152 Members

By MRS. RAYMOND MORRIS CASSLEBERRY—Although the tax-free Town of Casselberry boasts no bank as yet, the story would be incomplete without mention of the Casselberry Citizen's Credit Union.

Operated under the direction of five Casselberry residents, and with the approval of the Comptroller General's office at Tallahassee which makes regular inspections, the Credit Union made 104 loans during 1955 involving a total of $26,128.51. It currently has $26,332.90 in total assets.

Particularly noteworthy, in the eyes of Eleanor Storr, the Secretary-Treasurer, is that never in its operation has it suffered a capital loss. Mrs. Storr, who keeps the books and maintains offices in the Casselberry Industries Bldg., can tell you that the Credit Union is flourishing and is attracting new members from week to week.

Chartered October 23, 1949 by the State of Florida, it receives deposits from and makes loans to its members, who live in Casselberry or within a five-mile radius of the city. Loans range from $25 to $500 and the interest is one per cent per month on the unpaid balance. Deposits earn three per cent interest annually.

Membership is maintained in the Florida Credit Union League as well as in the Credit Union National Association. The Casselberry Credit Union carries straight Life and Loan Protection insurance so that the borrower's family, as well as the Union, will be fully protected in case of death.

At the present time the Credit Union has a membership of 152, in comparison to 100 members just a year ago. Many fraternal organizations, private businesses and industries have credit unions, but the Casselberry institution is the only one in Florida specifically chartered to serve a community.

Fabric that is vat dired or vat printed is good insurance against fading — and the most suds-able type for decorative purposes.

Christian Church Has Friendly Congregation

Gaily Decorated Home Makes It Merrier Christmas

The First Christian Church, 1807 Sanford Ave., is a small, friendly, energetic young congregation. It believes in cooperating with the other churches of the community and in supporting the organized missions and benevolent work of the brotherhood of Disciples of which it is a part. It observes weekly, open Communion, and practices baptism by immersion. It was organized Sept. 20, 1923, and will celebrate its 31st anniversary next Sept. 23. At present it has 156 resident members and 41 non-resident. Forty-eight members have been added since the incumbent pastor Perry L. Stone took up the work here last Aug. 21. The current budget is $150.00 a week. The per capita giving for missions is about $8.00. The church property consists of six lots 133' deep in the San Lanta subdivision. On one lot the church edifice and an annex stand. On another is the Wm. Perry Yasley Memorial parsonage. Two lots south of the sanctuary and north of the parsonage, are used for parking; and the two between the sanctuary and parsonage are the future site of an educational building. Various improvements made in 1932 included new pews and chancel furniture. In 1934 a communion organ was acquired. Mrs. N. V. Farmer has been the organist ever since. An excellent choir of a dozen voices is directed by Jay M. Walter.

The church's form of government is congregational. A rotating board of elders, deacons and deaconesses, O. D. Landress, chairman, gives oversight to the program of the church. The work is divided among functional committees whose chairmen are as follows: worship, Earl Evans; education and missions, Lester Tharp; evangelism and membership development, Harry Falk; finance, Wm. H. Young; education building, Geo. W. Morgan; and property, Belt E. Purvis. Other posts include: Mr. Falk, vice-chairman of the board; Mr. Morgan, secretary; Mr. Young, church treasurer; Ira C. Metzger, financial secretary; Mrs. J. L. Horton Sr., church clerk and historian; and Ida Conyers, janitor and nursery attendant.

The Sunday school enrollment is 124; and Lester Tharp is superintendent. Miss Lois Ann Dobson is secretary. The teaching staff includes: Jay M. Walter, Mrs. Jno. Bair (who is also editor of the monthly church paper), Mrs. G. W. Morgan, Mrs. C. O. Johnson, Clyde E. Feathers, Mrs. Chandler Vail, Shirley Morgan, Mrs. B. S. Hinson Jr., and Mrs. W. H. Young. Miss Nancy Hicks, Mrs. Hino, and Mrs. Frank Baty are sponsors of youth. The pastor's wife directed a Vacation Bible School with 31 pupils enrolled in July. Mrs. Harry Falk is president of the Christian Women's Fellowship which is divided into three circles with Mesdames E. W. Pattie, Ira C. Metzger and J. W. Knight as leaders.

The First Christian Church of Sanford is striving to live up to its slogan: "Where You Are Never a Stranger But Once." Tourists newcomers, weekend guests, Navy families, and anyone else without a regular place of worship in the community are extended a cordial invitation to attend.

Or, frame the mantel with a garland of evergreens and center a wreath over it. At each side, place a grouping of pine cones, greens and candles.

If you prefer your mantel decor to reflect the true meaning of Christmas, place a figurine of the Madonna and Child on a raised wooden block with sweeping pine branches as a background. Set candles at each side of the figure.

A Nativity scene, a Madonna figurine, a grouping of candle angels or choir boys is also a lovely decoration for an occasional table or the top of a bookshelf.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TABLES

To carry the cheery spirit of Christmas throughout your home, direct your attention next to your dining room table. The possibilities for festive decorations are unlimited!

Flowers, fruit, Christmas greens and candles, Santa in a tiny, gift-filled sleigh, a group of clever little Christmas candles are just a few of the ideas you can work out for your table.

Try making your table look like a huge gift package! Run lengths of wide red ribbon lengthwise and across your white table cloth and place a huge bow in the center. Add candles and sprigs of holly to complete the effect.

If your holiday decor is modern, use heated blue and silver balls on whitened boughs in a long arrangement down the center of the table.

For extra Christmas fun, make decorating your home for the holidays a family project. Children will take great pride in their part of the pre-Christmas activities and your home will truly glow with the lovely warmth of this wonderful season.

Everyone In Family Will Enjoy Furniture Gifts

Give new beauty and comfort to your home with long-lasting furniture gifts that the entire family will enjoy!

PERSONAL CHAIRS

Dad can really relax in comfort in his own adjustable lounge chair with a built-in footrest. Choose from leathers or textured upholstery in his favorite color. Mother will like a lounge chair too, or a handsome upholstered chaise lounge for her bedroom. A gay print slipper chair will brighten a young girl's room. Even the youngsters can sit in style in rockers or TV chairs, scaled to their size.

BRIGHTEN THE HOME

Smart wall, table or floor lamps will brighten and add a smart touch to every room. Small or large, slender or bulky; in china or metal, you'll find a large selection of new lamps to suit every decor and every budget.

OCCASIONAL TABLES

You'll find that almost every room in the home can use an extra table. Why not give a handy metal utility table for the kitchen; cocktail, step or lamp tables for the living room; convenient bedside tables for all the bedrooms; or a large size card table for the den.

PERSONAL GIFTS

High on the list of favorite gifts for women of all ages are cedar chests. The new upright chests are attractively styled like a chest of drawers and make a handsome addition to any room. You can choose from a wide variety of styles and colors.

Leather, simulated leather, and upholstered hassocks come in all sizes and decorator colors. A gift that gives added comfort to everyone.

Every member of the family will appreciate a desk of his own! Mother will like a small desk in the kitchen or in the bedroom for her budgets and personal use. Dad will certainly like a spacious, man-sized desk in the den. A smart new desk will make homework more fun for school-age boys and girls.

PATIO FURNITURE

Patio furniture gifts are something everyone will use and enjoy the year round. Outdoor furniture is now so smartly styled, that it can also be used in the den or rumpus room during cold weather. Choose from lightweight aluminum, bamboo, redwood or wrought iron pieces with colorful, washable upholstery.

Give the home presents with a long and happy future... smart and useful furniture!

A vital facet of good grooming is to keep your grooming accessories clean. Always wash your comb and brush in soap or detergent suds at least once a week—even more often if you use hair lacquer regularly.

The sudsy brush bristles can be used to "scrub" soil from between the teeth of the comb. After rinsing, wipe the comb dry; shake the brush and let it dry with the bristles pointed down.

Many Christmas Gift Tips Given Homemaker

A truly ideal Christmas gift is one that keeps on giving pleasure long after the holidays has passed. Electrical appliances gifts not only provide the answer, but also have several features which make them unique.

They are gifts that the family can share and put to good use. Besides being practical, today's appliances add a note of beauty to the home.

Most major appliances can now be had in soft, porcelain colors that will harmonize with any kitchen color scheme. Some come with copper, stainless steel or metal trim in addition to the standard chrome.

The size of the family or of the home presents no problem to the new refrigerators, which now appear to be less bulky, while offering more storage space than ever before. Many standard models feature door storage for small items; others offer easily accessible shelves. Most feature sizeable compartments for frozen food packages.

As attractive as the refrigerators are and available in matching colors are this seasons models of ranges, deep freezers, washers, dryers and ironers. And, to give her new automatic dishwasher, which will save her the task of washing close to 3000 dishes per week for a family of four.

These appliances, of course, rank in the "major" class and require a major outlay, which may not fit within the bounds of your budget. Your real gold mine of gifts material is to be found in the small housewares department. Less expensive, these make excellent gifts for one family to give another.

Frequently overlooked is the blender-blender, a fairly recent adjunct to housekeeping. Chances are good that the housewife or family you're buying for doesn't already have one.

The following roll call of gifts for the kitchen and dinette should offer at least one good suggestion:

Toaster, mixer, automatic coffee maker, coffee grinder, rotisserie-broiler, roaster-oven, juicer, deep fat fryer, automatic skillet, egg cooker, ice cream freezer, hotplate, waffle iron, sandwich grill, knife sharpener.

Many appliances formerly belonging strictly to the kitchen now make attractive accessories to even the most elaborate dinner. Electric trivets and hot trays keep food and beverages at serving temperature, and automatic casseroles and sectioned ceramic servers, electrically heated, are beautiful and practical accessories for buffet suppers.

If the family you're buying for enjoys dining on the patio, a good gift would be a portable refrigerator, an electric charcoal starter, or a set of garden lamps. You'll find lamps and electric clocks to suit every room in the house and harmonize with any decor.

Other suggestions for adding to the pleasure and comfort of your friends and family are: an electric blanket or electric sheet, a heating pad or a vaporizer.

Even the bathroom is not overlooked as the setting for small appliances gifts. Your thoughtfulness will be appreciated for such things as a massager, foot vibrator, electric shaver, hair dryer, or sun lamp.

Plan your gift list early and let your shopping tour include a stop at your appliance dealers.

You'll turn up other suggestions and get a head start on a Merry Christmas!

Leisure clothes for Christmas takes on additional importance in modern family living. Relaxing by the fire, Dad wears a full-sleeve red and gray checked sportshirt in soft, lightweight wool jersey and gray worsted slacks. The oldest boy wears a striped gray, red and black worsted jersey sportshirt and durable gray wool flannel slacks, and his young brother shorts. Mom wears a white wool sweater set and black and gray checked flannel shirt. Daughter's quarter-sleeved sweater is worn with a light weight gray worsted skirt.

Giving Important Part Of Holiday

Every Christmas children, and grown-ups alike, look forward to giving and receiving gifts. . . for gift giving has been an important part of the holiday season ever since the Wise Men and shepherds brought gifts to the Christ Child in Bethlehem.

The thought is the same today . . . but the bearer of these gifts differs from country to country. American children look forward to Santa Claus, plump and jolly, dressed in traditional red and white, with a snowy white beard. He carries his gifts in a pack on his back and is drawn in a sleigh by eight reindeer.

Glamorously Set Table Way To Add Festive Atmosphere

A glamorously set table is one of the most effective ways of adding to the festive atmosphere in holiday entertaining.

It doesn't matter whether the gathering is a small dinner party for family and close friends or a holiday open house for a large number of guests, the table setting allows a woman to indulge her flair for elegance. And most women enjoy a sense of pride and satisfaction from this chance to display their best table cloth, gleaming glassware and polished silver.

Don't be afraid to try new ideas in table decorating. A change of pace in color or a daringly new background material for your centerpiece can be an inspiration for your party.

For buffet entertaining, let your chafing dish, plates and glasses tell the story. A too fancy centerpiece on a buffet table will distract from the convenience and informality of your buffet supper.

Advance planning of every detail is the secret of a smoothly successful Yuletide party.

Rurus, Montana, high in the Rockies, with a population of about 1,000, is said to be the Christmas tree capital of the world.

More than 150 freight carloads of trees go out of this community each year to brighten homes everywhere.

Be a wise cook! Assemble all the ingredients listed in a recipe before you start preparing the dish. Get out the utensils needed, too.

Santa Claus is supposed to come down the chimney and fill the stockings, hung by the fireplace, with little gifts and heap presents under the Christmas tree. Children in many Latin American countries are in for a double treat. There are two dates for giving gifts to children. January 6 is called Kings' Day. Children leave their shoes outside and the Three Wise Men fill them with presents. The other gift-giving date is Christmas Eve or morn.

United States customs have been creeping into the Latin American's holiday season, particularly in countries close to the states.

Costa Ricans, Cubans and Guatemalans are among those who now have Christmas trees.

In Norway, the birds are remembered with gifts of suet and choice sheaves of grain tied to trees; extra fodder is provided for the cattle.

Father Star listens to the children's prayers and catechism in Poland. If they have been good, Father Star who is dressed like an angel in a white robe, and veil distributes the gifts.

Swiss children also await a radiant angel who rides in a sleigh drawn by six reindeer. English children also wait for Santa Claus, who looks very much like our American Santa Claus. They find their gifts tied to, and under a Christmas tree.

Dutch children wait for St. Nicholas who is dressed in traditional bishop's robes of black and carries a crozier and wears a mitre. He brings gifts for the children and places them in their wooden shoes.

When the Dutch settled in the American colonies, they brought with them the tradition of St. Nicholas or "santeklas" as he was called. From that lean, rather stern St. Nicholas came our jolly Santa Claus.

Italian children receive their gifts from "La Befana", a good fairy, who carries a broom.

"Baboushka" goes from house to house in search of the Christ Child in old Russia.

In Scandinavian countries, gifts are given to the children by a Santa who rides on a goat instead of a reindeer. He is accompanied by elves who distribute the gifts. Bowls of porridge are left on the doorway for the elves.

The Christmas tree has its origin in the 8th century when St. Boniface, English missionary to Germany, replaced the sacrificial tree to Odin's sacred oak by a fir tree decorated in tribute to the Christ Child.

Give your pint-sized hero a real "he man" sweater with the smart, turtle-neck styling; give him also this rubber rabbit toy—available with sweater.

Look, Mouseketeers — here's Mickey! And — he's a wonderful stuffed clown toy who laughs hilariously when the little handle on the back of his body is turned. He wears a white polka-dotted satin clown outfit, orange shoes and white gloves — and, is 18" high.

He walks, talks and his eyes light up—for he's Robert the Robot; the amazing remote-controlled mechanical man. Made of high-impact plastic, he can pick-up objects, light up the antenna on his head, as well as move about. A recording in his body recites "I am Robert Robot, the mechanical man. Drive me and steer me, wherever you can."

"There is strength in numbers," and the constantly increasing membership of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs now stands at 168,000 women in 3,300 clubs throughout this country, Alaska and Hawaii.

The purposes of this federation are: to elevate the standards for women in business and the professions; to promote the interests of business and professional women; to bring about a spirit of cooperation among the business and professional women of the United States; to extend opportunities to business and professional women through education along lines of industrial, scientific and vocational activities. To this end the Federation is now building toward new levels in leadership: the encouragement and training of working women to develop executive ability and to assume more responsibility in business and local affairs. The Federation is non-partisan, non-sectarian and non-political.

The Sanford Club was organized in 1918, the first president being Mrs. Sallie Mero Williams. At present the club has 30 members who meet twice monthly; the first Tuesday of the month for board and business meeting, and the third Wednesday for dinner and program.

Through the medium of this club, members become more aware of national, state and local issues; are educated along lines of personal and community health and safety; study international relations with particular emphasis on the Pan-American countries and the United Nations; and keep abreast of legislation in state and nation. The National Federation actively supports the proposed Equal Rights Amendment and legislation for equal pay for equal work, both of vital importance to working women.

The Sanford Club maintains a Dental Clinic through which, with the cooperation of some of the local dentists, underprivileged children are given dental care. Last year twenty-three cases were given dental attention which was paid for by the BPW Dental Clinic, and which would not otherwise have been available to these children.

President of the Sanford BPW Club is Mrs. Myrtle (J. E.) Gradick, secretary to R. L. Cor-

Jewelry Will Please Everyone In Family

A glance at the showcase in your jewelry store will show you that each age group in your family has been studied by designers with an eye to fashion and appropriateness. It is never too early for a child to be exposed to good taste in his personal possessions and it's never too late to become acquainted with it in the form of the best things made by modern craftsmanship. Thus the infants' bent-handle spoons, silver rattles or beething rings with silver bells, brush and comb sets, pearls for starting a necklace, cups, bib holders, porringers, tiny gift rings—all are in the forefront of fashion.

For older boys—and men, for that matter—the right tie clip, cuff links, key chain or penknife are to be found at the jeweler's. A wide variety of gift suggestions for young girls includes a piece of sterling in her chosen pattern, her first piece of precious jewelry in the form of a pin, bracelet, barrette, locket or sterling picture frame.

The odds are extremely high that when a man chooses a Christmas gift for a woman, he will select jewelry.

When he goes to the jewelry store this year, he's due for a pleasant surprise. Leading designers of jewelry have created a glittering array of necklaces, pins, earrings, bracelets and rings—enough to turn "her" head without overturning "his" budget.

A wise man will remember that—as in all things feminine—jewelry fashions change from year to year.

This year for instance, bib necklaces are making fashion news, to fill widely scooped necklines. And another type of necklace has a long backdrop to be worn with low back dresses.

Scatter pins are larger than in previous years, and pairs may be similar, but not necessarily perfectly matched.

Glittering jewels also fit the chignon of a lady's hair. Created to insure your popularity with her are a jeweled "chockstick" or a clinging circlet to help hold her hair in place.

Bracelets run the gamut from tailored chainf with a gold "coin" drop to high fashion "cuffs" of sparkling stones.

Don't forget the little girls of the family when selecting jewelry gifts. A birthstone ring or a bright string of beads is frequently the most treasured gift a youngster could receive.

Before shopping for a jewelry gift make a note of the favorite colors of the woman who is to receive it, and decide whether

Ancient Holiday Traditions

Oh, if you want to know what your future husband will be like, follow the clues in some of these ancient Christmas traditions.

How accurate they are, no one can say—but they are delightfully amusing.

Will that all-important "he" be young or old? If you heed the old prescription, you will go to the nearest sty on Christmas Eve and knock loudly on the door. If a knock-hog grunts first in reply, your future man will be old. If, instead, a little pig squeals, a young man will meet you at the altar.

Now off to the fowl-house to learn how soon the great event will take place. Tap on the door and wait for the secret. If the crowing of a cock answers your knock, you will be married before the end of the year. But the outlook would not be promising should a hen be the first to reply.

Go into the garden late on Christmas Eve, and at the stroke of midnight, pluck twelve sage leaves. Then, as you look up, you will see "the shadowy outline of your future mate emerging from the darkness. Take care not to break the stems of the sage leaves, or the spell will be broken.

If you're not an "outdoor" girl and prefer to stay by the fire on Christmas Eve, you may bake a dough cake, mark it with your initials and leave it by the fire. At twelve o'clock your future husband will walk in and mark his initials beside your own.

Should these magic formulas fail, a girl can always deck her home with plenty of mistletoe!

A real Christmas thrill for any little girl is this life-size Sweet Sue Her vinyl arms are soft like a real child's and she has jointed elbows and knees so she can sit, walk and stand. The doll's hair can be washed and set. Sweet Sue is available in a choice of adorable outfits.

Savings Account Is Wise Present For All Children

You'll be giving the children on your list a good habit if you give them a savings account for a Christmas present.

Once the account is opened youngsters take delight in adding to it and watching the totals mount in their passbooks.

Children seldom save money simply for the sake of saving. There is usually some much wanted item that serves as a goal.

When a sufficient sum has been accumulated the great occasion arrives when the money may be withdrawn and the gift bought.

In this way youngsters learn something of the value of money as well as of banking procedures and take pride in their savings.

A toilet and wash basin with running hot water in the basement add up to an excellent idea.

That way, the children can go straight down the cellar steps from the back door instead of tracking play-grime all over the house.

Food Ideal Gift

Say "Merry Christmas" with truly different and impressive food gifts. Ideal for friends, business associates and relatives. You'll find that all food gifts are elegantly boxed and wrapped. Here are some food gift suggestions that will be sure to please.

A luxurious gift basket of assorted fruits, nuts and candies; cellophane and ribbon wrapped. A gift box of assorted stuffed or glazed fruit. A box of unusual jams and jellies.

Give a delicious fruit cake; gift packaged in a handsome useful metal container.

For lovers of fine cheese, an intriguing box of assorted, imported cheese will be appreciated.

For good holiday eating, the family will really enjoy a tender, juicy smoked ham or turkey.

The perfect gift for the holiday hostess is a box of fancy cakes or cookies... each one a taste thrill!

A real treat is a deluxe boxed assortment of cocktail tidbits: fish, spreads, crackers, olives and cocktail onions.

A must for wild game dinners, and an ideal gift, is a package of wild rice.

The perfect gift for the cook is a wooden spice rack with jars of assorted spices.

For a pre-Christmas gift that will really come in handy... give your friends and family a large box of assorted gift wrapping paper, ribbons and seals.

A memorable gift is this plastic dinnerware that combines the modern trend in simplicity with traditional elegance. Shown is the Tulip pattern which would grace any table. The pattern can't fade, peel or chip off.

Golf Gifts Popular

"Air-Flite" golf balls in a handsome Desk Caddy set (1-doz balls) or Penell Caddy (1; doz balls) make ideal Christmas gifts. Made from maroon leather-tone, these containers can be imprinted with name.

Among the increasingly popular Christmas gifts are those in the golf line.

Golf has grown tremendously in popular interest. It is estimated that $100,000 will play golf next year and that fully one-quarter of them will be women. Not only that, but children are taking up golf at an increased rate.

With the game so highly popularized by President Eisenhower's gaining continuously in appeal, a present of gift-boxed golf balls is outstanding.

Golf accessories should also be considered among the more thoughtful gifts.

16 County Schools Serve Type A Lunches

There's no time like Christmas to give or receive a smart, dependable watch. For him — the "Buddy"; a slim square-faced timepiece with an easy-to-read dial. For her — the dainty "Belle" with a handsome leather bracelet.

True coffee lovers will thrill to the gift of an electric coffee mill. Just flip the switch and you grind your coffee the way you want it, when you want it. Color matched to blend with any kitchen decor.

A thoughtful gift in this fiber-glass planter bowl. Unbreakable, this bowl comes in an array of colors to complement the decor of traditional or modern homes. It can be used for flowers or snacks.

A "Paris-inspired holiday" will be hers if you gift your favorite lady with either of these two cosmetic-travel cases. Made of plastic in a gay Parisian print, there's a "hang-up" and overnight kit.

A pair of streaming hurricane lamps executed in shimmering glass crystal trimmed in either 22-K gold or platinum will complement table settings or buffets, and make most welcome gifts.

A happy holiday season indeed to the woman who finds an electric Dutch Oven under the tree. Turquoise porcelain, the 4 1/2 quart cooker is skillet, fryer, steamer, and can be washed as easily as a dish.

By CHARLOTTE WHITMORE
Do you agree that a healthy child needs three adequate meals every day?

Most of us recognize the fact that a strong healthy body is essential for a good performance, be it an adult at work or a child at school.

Research has shown that good nutrition is closely related to emotional stability, resistance to disease, ability to think and reason, good vision, and capacity to work.

Can you pack a lunch for your child for twenty-five or thirty cents?

Can you serve him lunch at home—one that supplies one-third of his daily nutritional needs—for that amount of money?

The first objective of the school lunch program is to give the child a hot, well balanced meal at noon.

The Type A lunch meets approximately one-third of the child's daily nutritional needs. It includes:

1. Meat, fish, poultry or a protein such as cheese, egg, dry beans peas, or peanut butter.
2. Fruit or vegetable or both.
3. Whole wheat or enriched bread; butter.
4. One-half pint milk.

If a child has had a good breakfast, this adequate lunch will give his growing body the necessary fuel to carry on his afternoon activities.

However, a shocking number of children come to school with an inadequate breakfast or no breakfast at all. These children have started their school day with one strike against them. They have lost the initial third of their day's food requirement. Surely there can be no question as to the importance of lunch for these children.

Since a child who is developing and growing needs three adequate meals every day, school lunch is a bargain in good health.

In addition to providing a well balanced meal for the child at noon, the school lunch program is a part of the total educational program. In the classroom the child learns the basic facts of nutrition and sound health practices. At lunch time he puts these facts into his growing body. He is developing good food and eating habits. For example, children are taught that they need one quart of milk every day to build strong bones, teeth and body tissue. At lunch he is served 1/2 pint of milk as part of his lunch. Additional milk may be bought for three or four cents. Milk gives high return in food value for money spent. It is not only a beverage but a food which contains more of the building and regulating materials needed for strength and efficiency than any other single food.

Sixteen schools in Seminole County serve a Type A lunch. The average daily attendance in these schools last year was approximately 3540. An average of 3015 of these children ate lunch at school at a cost to the child of 25 or 30c. Additional milk was available at 3 or four cents per half pint.

Two schools which do not have a lunch program served milk to the children at 4 cents per half pint.

The average daily attendance in these schools was 502 for the year.

The average daily attendance in drinking milk each day was 251.

Many children in Seminole County are not taking advantage of the School Lunch and Special School Milk Program.

Christmas Trees Probably Came From Germany

The Christmas tree, now almost a universal symbol, probably came to America from Germany, although tradition has it that Christmas trees originated in Egypt. The palm tree is supposed to put forth a branch of every month, and a spray of this tree, with 12 shoots on it, was used in Egypt.

German writers mention the tree as early as 1605. The German prince Albert, consort of Queen Victoria, introduced the tree in England when he had a tree for his daughter.

We are all familiar with the Christmas story, but how many remember the names of the three Wise Men? — Melchior, Gaspar and Balthasar!

A foot bath is mighty refreshing, say about mid-afternoon. Just sit on the side of the tub and let your feet soak in soapsuds as warm as you find comfortable. As little as ten minutes of this will prove a joy to tired feet, and even your face will look more relaxed — because the way your feet feel has a lot to do with how your face looks.

After the foot bath, put on clean stockings and a different pair of shoes to further that refreshed feeling.

Hawaiian People Paint Trees White

Although many Hawaiians have never seen ice except in the form of a cube, they paint their Christmas trees white to simulate snow.

Christmas dinner is an elaborate affair — but one reserved for the intimate family group, behind locked doors and drawn blinds.

Hawaiian hospitality is such that were the doors not locked and the blinds not drawn, strangers would wander in, expecting the host and hostess to offer open-house hospitality of food and drinks. However, inexpensive gifts are exchanged by everyone.

Interest In Home Demonstration Work Is Increasing In County

Home Demonstration Work was started in Seminole County in August 1934, and interest in club work and membership have increased each year.

There are seven Home Demonstration clubs in the county, with a total enrollment of 285. The clubs are located in Chuluota, Elder Springs, Geneva, Lake Mary, Lake Monroe, Longwood and Sanford.

Each club has its own officers, including delegate and alternate delegates to the County Council Center for their meetings.

The County Council is a federation of all the home demonstration clubs in the county, and members of the clubs are members of the Council, which meets four times each year. The various clubs serve in turn as hostesses.

This year the Council secured a building, located at 601 E. 23rd Street, Sanford, as a permanent meeting place. 4-H Clubs also use this Home Demonstration Council Center for their meetings.

The County Council has purchased place settings for use at its all-day meetings. The Council sponsors a chorus, which sang with other groups at the state meeting on Tuesday, July 24. Mr. James Harris, Florida State University Music Director, will direct the entire group. Seminole County members include Mrs. Barney Guthaus, Chuluota; Mrs. Carl Moss, Lake Mary; Mrs. George Tupper and Mrs. George Otto, Longwood; Mrs. J. M. Thompson, Lake Mary, has been the very efficient pianist for the local group.

Officers of the Seminole County Council are: President, Mrs. J. M. Dingman, Lake Mary; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Barney Guthaus, Chuluota; 2nd Vice-president, Mrs. J. E. Andrews, Lake Monroe; Secretary, Mrs. Fred Myers, Sanford; Treasurer, Mrs. E. L. Fulford, Geneva; Delegate, Mrs. Margaret Tindel, Elder Springs; alternate delegate, Mrs. Vincent Matecki, Longwood.

During their regular monthly meetings, all the county clubs participate in the same demonstration. Landscaping, slip covers, styles suitable for individuals, "Goodbye Mr. Roach", candied citrus peel are among the demonstrations for the current year. In the fall meetings, the clubs will hear reports from members attending the Home Demonstration Short Course at Gainesville, and will work with ideas for freezing fruits and vegetables, followed by Christmas suggestions. Two annual events of importance are the Christmas parties and the family picnics in June which all clubs enjoy. In June each year, the county dress revue is held at the Council meeting, with each club having an entry. The winner models her dress at the fashion show during State Short Course.

Some of the clubs had regular meetings during this summer, and this year Lake Monroe and Longwood clubs met. The

TB Christmas Seals Used World Over

For over fifty years, gayly-colored Christmas Seals have been used the world over to decorate cards and gift packages. The design is new each year, but the message is the same — "Fight TB."

And the fight is not yet over! Even though the death rate is declining, due to early discovery, new drugs and new treatments, the number of new cases is still great.

The purpose of the Christmas Seals campaign is education about tuberculosis prevention and control of the disease... through case-finding (x-rays, tuberculin testing), research, rehabilitation and educational projects.

Einar Holboell, a Danish postal clerk, originated the first Christmas Seal in 1904. In 1907, Emily Bissell was the first to adopt his idea in the United States.

From these early beginnings the Sale of Seals has grown into a vital force in protecting your health.

Remember to buy your Seals this year and use them!

It isn't true that oftentimes one makes a big mistake by judging folks by the first impression. Haven't you met folks who—at first—sort of make you feel you wouldn't like them? Then after you knew them better you found that your first impression was a decidedly erroneous one?

It's well, during Get Acquainted Week, and each week of the year, to remember the words of Lincoln. He said, "I don't like that man, I must get to know him better."

Coach John Kundla of the Minneapolis Lakers figures Clyde Lovellette will be a better basketball scorer this season due to his loss of excess weight.

Grasping hands appears in antiquity as a legal act symbolic of the parties joining in compact, peace or friendship. In marriage, the hand of the ancient Hindu ceremony was the "dextrarum junctio" in Rome which passed on into the Christian rite and became a mere salutation.

League Undertakes Three Projects Year

LONGWOOD CIVIC LEAGUE
By MRS. RUTH LAYO

The Longwood Improvement Society was organized Dec. 28, 1911, by a small group of women. There were nine charter members and an all male advisory board of four. Of these only one charter member remains, Mrs. J. A. Bistline.

Meetings were held Tuesday and a small monthly fee of 25 cents was collected from each member.

The object of the society was to build up, beautify and improve the town. The first step was the organization of a library, and on Feb. 10, 1913, a name of the society was changed to Longwood Civic League.

The present building was originally a chapel which was moved on to the lots purchased at that time, July 20, 1914.

In order to finance the library, plays, bazaars, suppers, picnics and rummage sales were held.

In June 1927 a piano was purchased after which needed improvements were made from time to time, such as painting, decorating and repairing.

On Jan. 6, 1942, a check for $4,191.88 was received from the estate of Miss Elsie Dunbar for whom the library is named. Government bonds in the amount of $4,000 were purchased at that time.

Each year donations have been made to the Red Cross, Children's Home Society, Salvation Army and other worth-while causes. This year a scholarship fund has been set up for a Lyman School student. Many new books have been added to the library from time to time and Dues were raised to $1.50 per year in 1950. The group has had many interesting speakers and enjoyable programs throughout the years.

In 1953 the building was improved by the addition of a kitchen, storage room and enlarged rest rooms. Both the interior and exterior were painted and new drapes were purchased for the Hall.

The League now meets the first Tuesday of each month from October through May and membership now exceeds 80 members. Usually three major projects are undertaken each year to raise the necessary funds for the Clubs functions. Meetings are planned so as to be most enjoyable to the members and guests.

Officers for the year 1956-57 are president Mrs. B.R. Gray; vice president Mrs. Garland Shaw; secretary, Mrs. Earl Duncan; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. F. Bistline; treasurer, Mrs. Maurice Rudolph; house and grounds, Mrs. N. A. Bunnell; historian, Mrs. S. L. Tupper; trustees, Mrs. J. A. Bistline, Mrs. Hallie LaVigne and Mrs. Maude Tupper.

Every Little Girl Wants New Doll From Santa Claus

Christmas just isn't Christmas to a little girl unless Santa brings her a new doll!

And this year, looking at the selection of dolls and choosing one is going to be as much fun for the shopper as for the little girl on Christmas morning!

There are dolls as glamorous as fashion models, life-like baby dolls that cry real tears and need a diaper change, a debutante doll all dressed for her first Co-tillion and a bride doll complete with her trousseau!

Some of the dolls that Santa will bring to happy little girls this Christmas will be almost like playmates to them! These new dolls are as large as a 3-year old with jointed arms and legs so they can sit at tea parties, walk, and stand. The little girl can wash and set her doll's hair and dress her in the most adorable fashions ever to be shown in the doll world!

For the "little mother", this year's baby dolls are the cutest ever! Some of them come with a complete layette, can be bathed, fed a bottle, then sung to sleep.

Truly this promises to be an exciting Christmas morning for the little girl who's been dreaming of a new doll!

Girl Scouts Active Here

Girl Scouting goes forward in Seminole County as an active part of the Citrus Council of Girl Scouts of United States of America!

This fall, as activities begin again, we will be functioning as a part of a Girl Scout Council which should mean strong growth for our Girl Scout program. Sanford and Lake Mary combine to make a Neighborhood Association as well as the Seminole (county) District. Soon we hope to have other areas in our county represented.

A Neighborhood Association is made up of all Girl Scout Adults (Leaders), Troop Committees Members and Sponsors within the neighborhood area. Since Seminole District has so few troops we will operate as a Neighborhood Association. Bi-monthly meetings will be held, beginning in September, through these our activities will be planned and recommendations made to the Executive Board which the Neighborhood Chairman presents to the Board.

Mrs. Randall Chase, who will serve as District and Neighborhood Chairman, and the Rev. David Carnell, who is a Member-At-Large, are to serve on the Citrus/Council Executive Board with other persons from our area serving on Board Committees. Three delegates will be elected in November to represent our District at the Annual Meeting in January and at other Council meetings.

We have 13 active troops at present. All troops have been re-numbered through the Citrus Council and they are as follows: In Lake Mary, which Mrs. Lucius Scott, assistant Neighborhood Chairman, will supervise:

Troop 214, leader, Mrs. Laurette Williams, Intermediate; Miss Dorothy Taylor (Asst.); Troop 230, Mrs. Marie Watson, Brownie; Mrs. Catherine Dunlap (Asst.); Mrs. Mildred Taylor (Asst.); In Sanford Troop 241, Miss Frances Cobb, Intermediate; Troop 242, Mrs. I. J. Butler Jr., Brownie; Troop 233, Mrs. James Grant, Brownie; Troop 204, Miss Frances Cobb, Brownie; Troop 203, Mrs. Mrs. Norris, Brownie; Troop 198, To be filled, Brownie; Troop 148, Mrs. Fred Robb, Intermediate; Troop 210, Mrs. F. D. Scott, Intermediate; Troop 211, Mrs. C. O. Jones, Intermediate; Mrs. Robert Speng (Asst.); Troop 212 Mrs. R. E. Spencer, Intermediate; Troop 196, Mrs. Doland Rowe.

A Fly-Up Troop will be organized under the leadership of Mrs. James Buckler and, we hope that a troop will be started at All Saints Parochial School under Mrs. Howard Hanson.

Plans for a Basic Group Leadership Course (for training new leaders) are underway and all persons interested in participating should call Mrs. L. M. Millspaugh (1172-M), or Mrs. L. B. Libbey (2288-W), or Mrs. Edwin Epstein (1523) in charge of membership. Any girl desiring to become a Girl Scout should contact her.

Two Day Camps at Silver Lake Camp will be held in August. The Brownie Day Camp is to be from August 6 through 10. Mrs. I. J. Butler, Jr., and Mrs. Ralph Wright will direct this camp with the following helpers: Mrs. D. W. Linker, Mrs. James Buckler, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. C. Francesco, Miss Nancy Robb (Senior Scout), Miss Nancy Cushing (Life Guard) and Mrs. B. B. Crumley, assisted by Mrs. Harry Lee Jr., will be Camp Nurse. The Intermediate Day Camp will run from August 13 to 18 with Mrs. Fred Robb as Director and Mrs. C. O. Jones, Mrs. R. McKnight, Mrs. F. D. Scott, Mrs. Bill Perry and Miss Nancy Robb assisting in the program. The theme of this camp is to be Nature. Girls will complete work on Outdoor Cooking Merit Badge and a small group will work on the Curved Bar starting their Conservation Badge Work. Besides this they will have active games, songs, handicraft and swimming during which they will work on a Water Ballet. They plan too, to spend two or three nights at camp. It is a wonderful opportunity for Intermediate Scouts.

There is an acute need for volunteers to be Leaders so that more troops can be organized to take care of the long list of girls waiting to become Girl Scouts. Anyone interested in being a leader is asked to call Mrs. Randall Chase (123), Mrs. Lucius Scott (1613-R) or Mrs. L. B. Libbey (2288-W).

We hope to find sponsors for each troop. Any church or civic organization interested in sponsoring a Girl Scout Troop should contact Mrs. Randall Chase.

Girl Scouting has much to offer in the character development of our girls and much can be achieved with your interest and support.

Lions Are Active In Welfare Work

By MRS. RAYMOND MORRIS CASSELBERRY — The fourth anniversary of the Lions Club chartered in Feb. 1952, was celebrated with a Ladies Night party last Feb., with 11 charter members present among the ninety-two Lions, ladies and guests attending.

Since its founding Casselberry Lions have been active in all kinds of welfare work, civic projects and, in its special field of aid to the blind.

The club's activities in welfare aid to the blind cover a good portion of the Southern part of the county and, the records reveal that only on one occasion has it been called upon to assist a resident of the town.

Of the thirty-four pairs of glasses supplied to children, most of them have gone to pupils of Lyman School. An average of eighteen bushel baskets of food, including a chicken or a ham have been distributed annually at Christmas time and, blood from the joint Lions-Woman's Club blood bank has been supplied to many area residents.

Paul McClure is the newly installed president and past presidents are William Diggle, Raymond Morris, Wilson Alexander and Allen Viekars.

Charter members include Diggle, Morris, Alexander, Julius Allen, Hibbard Casselberry, Leonard Casselberry, Ben Evans, Miller Evans, C. K. (Bud) Fisher, William Otto and Fred Yeager. Joe Weimer, one of the oldest non-charter members is last year's Lion of The Year, being honored because of his work as program chairman.

The Lions made substantial cash contributions toward the Woman's Club building and donated many hours of labor in its construction, under direction of Ben Evans, local builder.

The club also has the only Lions trailer in the area. The chassis was presented the club by Llew Fisher and Lion Otto did the construction work. The trailer is equipped with twin loud-speakers and will carry ten occupants.

President McClure has outlined a broad program of activities for his administration and has been assured of 100 per cent cooperation by the members. The club has a closed membership of thirty.

WRITE WHERE YOU PLEASE

Handwriting on the wall needs to be a disaster, thanks to a paint that transforms any surface into a chairboard writing slate — providing Junior with plenty of wall space to write on safely.

This write-on paint, available in black or dark green, can also be used to create a writing area near the kitchen telephone for family messages or grocery lists. Best of all, the blackboard-like finish can be "erased" with soap or detergent suds on a damp sponge.

Here are some tips on wrapping gifts of "cash": Fine purses and pocket accessories solve many a gift problem from the family teenagers to the friendly postman. From the top, round the circle: A slim pocket secretary for the business man; a combination wallet clutch bag for the teenager; an alligator dress wallet for your favorite "he"; a French purse for the lady of fashion; a billfold with lots of picture space and a miniature French purse for "mad money" — for any gal.

Gifts with hand-come and useful travel with your good wishes when the gifts are travel accessories. Left: a trim, waterproof lined toiletries kit; front: a leather writing kit; a set of bottles for the traveler who carries his medicines with him; right: a slim case to keep files in fine shape, and a handy little manicure kit with fine imported implements.

Homemakers furnishing homes from scratch have a wonderful opportunity to buy and live with gifts that can be kept in beautiful condition for them with soap and water!

Gift Shopping For Men's Clothing Is Lot More Interesting This Year

This year gift shopping for men's clothing gifts is more interesting than ever before! Styles are different! There's a rich variety of colors and patterns, and wonderful new fabrics to choose from.

Perhaps the men on your gift list aren't very style-conscious, but these good-looking, practical gifts will certainly inspire them! The man who knows clothes, will appreciate these handsome additions to his wardrobe.

PRaise WORTHY SHIRTS

All men will appreciate a new addition to their shirt stock. Choose a sparkling white (or popular pastel) dress shirt for him in his favorite collar and cuff style.

For formal wear, there are new pleated-front dress shirts. A rich cummerbund would be a perfect companion gift with a formal shirt.

In sportshirts, the choice is unlimited as to fabric, style and color. He'll be sure to like one of the new orlon jersey pullover shirts, a soft wool plaid shirt, or a blazer striped shirt.

NEW BULKY KNITS

New this year are the bulky knit sweaters in wool, orlon, dacron or nylon. Therefore styles for every age and every type of male: striped sweaters, new "Italian-look" pullovers, V-neck sweaters and popular Scandinavian ski sweaters, in a wide range of colorful patterns.

JACKETS AND SURCOATS

Wonderful for weekends, driving and leisure wear are the new carcoats, or surcoats. Choose from rich-looking suedes, tolen cloth, corduroy, covert or tweed coats. Most favored is the single breasted style, often with leather buttons, or toggle fastenings.

An all-wool Glen plaid, tweed, or Ivy league striped, sport jacket, styled in the new slim lines, will be sure to please.

LEISURE WEAR

Comfort is the prime requisite for men's leisure wear, but style is important too! You'll find smart, new pajamas with slack-styled bottoms and T-shirt tops, or ski style knit pajamas. Ideal for lounging or sleeping. The popular coat-style pajamas are shown in warm flannel or broadcloth, in a great variety of colors and patterns.

A colorful woolen-orkon and wool plaid robe, or wool flannel with a pocket monogram, would be an appreciated gift. If he travels, a matching robe and pajama set in a great variety of colors and patterns.

Other "little" gift ideas are: matching wool scarf and glove sets, leather gloves, ties, stretch socks, a plaid or checked vest and a gift certificate for a new hat or shoes.

A gift box of shaving needs: lather, blades, razor and lotion... is a gift to please him for months.

A large size shower bath soap on a nylon cord will save tempers and slips.

A waterproof lined leather, or plastic traveling kit, fitted with all his everyday toiletry needs, makes a wonderful gift.

Ever toss cubes of corned beef into a cabbage salad? Good!

The pint-sized Christmas shopper gifts his Dad with a long-sleeved sport sweater of 100% lambs wool and 25% orlon with smart V-neck, trimmed in a contrasting color. Dad's shirt is a gay, horizontally striped cotton shirt—another grand gift item.

Let Man Pick Own Hat

Toiletry, Good Grooming Aids Please Every Man

Toiletry and good grooming aids will please every man on your gift list! He'll really be delighted with a new electric razor in a handsome case.

His favorite refreshing after-shave lotion and cologne, in an attractive gift package will make a hit. If he'd like to try something new, there are many famous name lotions and colognes to choose from.

Popular club style or military brushes with plastic, wood or metal backs are always useful.

A manicure set, complete for good grooming with scissors, file and tweezers, in a leather case, makes a handsome gift.

Advice to ladies: You can suit most men's taste with clothing gifts, but DON'T try to buy him a hat!

The matter of style, color and width of the brim is a highly individual matter. Your best idea is to buy him a Hat Gift Certificate and let him choose his own.

Many stores have attractive gift containers in the shape of a miniature hat box, with certificates ranging from $3.00 up.

Most of the town hats feature narrower brims and more tapered crowns. The Tyrolean is the popular hat for sports and leisure wear.

The color range this year is more extensive than ever before. The happy man with a gift certificate will be able to find just the hat to suit his personality and his wardrobe!

New on the market is a moderate priced dry skin cream and lotion, made especially for men. It will be really appreciated during the cold, chapping winter weather.

Ever toss cubes of corned beef into a cabbage salad? Good!

Roasting a duck? Try a stuffing of Saurkraut, apples and raisins.

Church Is Expanding

By MRS. RAYMOND MORRIS CASSELBERRY — The Community Methodist Church, which had its origin in the old Community House as a non-denominational assembly in 1941, is soon to reach the extent and proportion of its initial architectural design.

The church as it now stands was started May 11, 1947, when ground-breaking ceremonies were conducted on a site donated by Hibbard Casselberry. The church then was under the leadership of the Rev. Nath Thompson.

The Rev. Dr. Howard Taylor, retired, of Winter Park, held the pulpit from 1950 until the fall of 1952. After Dr. Taylor's retirement the present minister, Rev. Darwin A. Shea was installed and has carried forward the dreams and hopes of those whose inspiration is almost a reality.

The addition, one that will nearly triple the present capacity, is expected to cost upward of $30,000, and is today fast nearing completion. It comprises graded classrooms for all ages, with an assembly hall for each unit. There is a large fellowship hall and a modern kitchen. The present building has a choir room, electric organ, minister's study, a sound-proof "cry-room" and a cooling system.

When it became known that the present site was inadequate for the original completed architectural design, Casselberry donated another plot of ground, sufficient not only for the new addition, but large enough to provide ample parking space as well.

Mrs. M. C. Duggins is president of the WSCB and Howard Buell is president of the Men's Club. George Kelter is chairman of the Board and Harold Wood is Sunday School superintendent.

The large cross dominating the front gable of the chapel was a donation by Martin Andersen, publisher of the Orlando Sentinel-Star.

The Casselberry church maintains a regular schedule of services, starting with Sunday School at 9:45 and morning worship at 11. The young people, ages 12 to 23, gather Sunday evening at 6:30 for the Methodist Youth Fellowship under the leadership of Miss Donna Lou Barnes, president. Wednesday evening at 7:30, is the prayer and Bible study service and Thursday evening completes the program of the week with choir practice.

Frequent shampooing after you've changed the styling of your hair helps in training it successfully to stay the way you want it arranged.

Everyone on your gift list has a special kind of luggage which makes travel more fun. The fitted vanity case for a teen-ager's cosmetics will go to many a party and weekend. The ever-ready duffin bag is perfect for a rooming friend; the center club bag with a built-in brief case is the bottom in a gift idea for executives and the train case ideal for any girl.

Pet Is Good For Almost Anyone

A pet is a Christmas gift that can be presented to almost anyone—provided the one who receives it has a place to care for it.

A few leading questions at list-making time will reveal exactly the kind of pet most wanted.

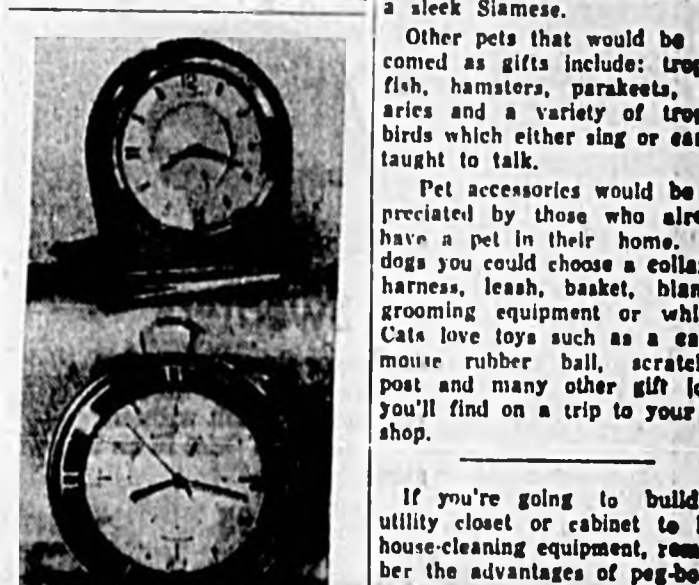

Children invariably want a puppy, and it matters little whether it is destined to be a large or small dog, or one with short hair or long. However it is wise to select a pedigreed dog from a reliable breeder, if possible, because then you are assured of a healthy pet.

Kittens also make favorite gifts, and your pet shop is sure to be able to find the kind you want — from a fluffy Persian to a sleek Siamese.

Other pets that would be welcomed as gifts include: tropical fish, hamsters, parakeets, canaries, and a variety of tropical birds which either sing or can be taught to talk.

Pet accessories would be appreciated by those who already have a pet in their home. For dogs you could choose a collar or harness, leash, basket, blanket, grooming equipment or whistle. Cats love toys such as a catnip mouse rubber ball, scratching post and many other gift ideas you'll find on a trip to your pet shop.

If you're going to build a utility closet or cabinet to hold house-cleaning equipment, remember the advantages of peg-board. Walls constructed of peg-board have a mass of little holes for building hooks or pegs. These make it possible to hang many things on limited wall space — mops, brushes, cloths, sponges, dustpans, brooms, and so forth. This assures a neater, more efficient closet — and the peg-board itself is sudsable.

Smart and small; hardly larger than a fifty-cent piece and almost as thin — are these pocket alarm watches. It slips into pocket or purse without bulk or weight; and has a gentle, insistent alarm to serve as a faithful reminder. In hunting case models.

Oviedo Clubs Active

By MARIAN JONES
There are several organizations active in the town of Oviedo. The Oviedo Women's Club, which has been very active for many years. Mrs. M. M. King gave the property for this building site, and the present building cannot be used for anything but a community organization such as this. Mrs. Theodore L. Meade, wife of the famous orchid culturist, served as the first president.

This club was begun as a magazine club. Many of its charter members are living, including the first secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Ruby U. Jones; Mrs. T. W. Lawton, Mrs. B. F. Wheeler, Mrs. Annie Carter, Mrs. W. J. Lawton and many others.

Mrs. Donn Ulrey was installed at the May meeting as the new president of this club. She will be ably assisted by a good staff of officers.

They meet the second Friday of each month, beginning with a luncheon. The membership is divided into equal members to put on their luncheons each month, and the club is famous for its good food and good cooks.

They have had many celebrated visitors as guest speakers for the club, including the Hon. Syd Herlong, Miss Jean Yothers, Lynn Bruden, and many others.

W. Rex Clonts is president of the American Legion Post No. 243. The Post for many years sponsored the barbecues Oviedo was noted for miles around. They have also sponsored many plays, etc. for the town.

The American Legion Auxiliary ceased as an organization this past year. Mrs. Henry Wolcott was the first president when this organization was activated a few years ago. Mrs. Phil Packard was the last president.

These two organizations sponsored the girls and boys to Girls State and Boys State. This year due to no Auxiliary, there was no girl representative to Girls State. Among the boys and girls sent by these organizations and picked by the teachers from the Junior Class of the Oviedo High School, were Miss Ann Leinhardt, Bobby Shaffer, Johnny Jones, Miss Rebekah Tuhy, and Myron Willis. All were delegates but Myron, Myron was the alternate but went due to the fact that Lorne Mathers did not go.

Don Ulrey served for many years as Boy Scout Leader of this community, the Oviedo Troop also being Troop 243. The P-T-A sponsors the Boy Scouts. Mr. Ulrey has done a fine job, and deserves a great deal of credit for this. Millie, his wife, deserves a lot, too, for she has certainly been a wonderful helper to Don. Al Dawson replaces Don. Al is an Eagle Scout and has had much experience in scouting work. We know that he will carry on the good work of his predecessor with the assistance from his wife, Maxine.

Oviedo has had two Eagle Scouts thus far, Don Ulrey Jr., and Jimmy Brookshire, and is proud of both.

The Cub Scouts, with John Evans as Cub Master, is quite active—also being Troop 243. Many good den mothers have helped with this work throughout the past few years.

P. J. Allen is worshipful master of the Oviedo Masonic Lodge, also Lodge No. 243. It has been active for many years.

A few years ago they built a new building across from the new City Hall Memorial building. There are many past masters of the Lodge still living in Oviedo, including Theodore Aulin, T. W. Lawton, C. L. West Jr., Tommy Melain, Emmett Kelsey, etc. C. L. West is the present treasurer, replacing J. B. Jones, who served for many years but had to resign this past year. Floyd Land is secretary, replacing Ben H. Jones.

The Oviedo Garden Club, re-activated after several years, had as its president this past year Mrs. Lynn Mosier. Miss Ruth Davidson is secretary-treasurer of the club.

Many Oviedoians are members of the Seminole Chapter Order of Eastern Star, their being no

Exchanging Cards At Christmas Is Very Old Custom

It would be difficult to imagine the Yuletide season without a deluge of gay and colorful Christmas cards. Yet the custom of exchanging these cheery greetings is just a hundred years old.

It began in 1842, when a 16-year old apprentice engraver, William Maw Egley of London, England, designed a card to send to his friends. Only one hundred copies were made of his quaintly-cluttered design, which depicted a formal banquet, a dancing party and a group of skaters.

Beneath the illustration young Egley wrote, "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to You"—a Yuletide greeting which still remains the most popular ever written.

The first Christmas card to win complete acceptance was sent in 1862 by a London publisher, Charles Goodall & Sons.

In the twenty years that intervened the idea had spread to the United States, and in 1874 a Boston lithographer, Louis Prang, issued his first Christmas card, thus launching an industry.

Prang's cards were world famous for their beauty and craftsmanship and sold for several dollars each.

They used few of the traditional Christmas scenes, so familiar today, but instead depicted spring flowers, harvest scenes and children at play.

Many of Prang's designs were borrowed from the paintings of Elihu Vedder, whose murals grace the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C.

There are many interesting versions as to how the custom of gift giving at Christmas time started.

One legend states that gift giving at Yule time originated in ancient England, where it was once custom to hang kissing rings in the great halls. These rings were decorated with mistletoe and were the key for a pleasant holiday pastime. It is said that the young knights and ladies would cometh to be kissing rings with Christmas roses for their secret sweetheart.

This started it all. Now gift giving is traditional.

organization in Oviedo. Frank W. Talbot and J. B. Jones are past patrons of this organization. Other members include: Mrs. P. Ragsdale, Mrs. Theodore Aulin, Mrs. L. B. Hart, Mrs. Joe I. Beasley, Mrs. S. E. Parker, Mrs. Ruby U. Jones, Mrs. Irving Malcolm, Mrs. Joseph Leinhardt, Mrs. G. W. Alford, Mrs. P. H. Brown, Mrs. Daisy Farnell, Mrs. Lynn Mosier is a past matron of her chapter in Vermontville, Mich. and attends the chapter regularly but has not joined as yet. Mrs. Paul Slavik is also an Eastern Star member but of an Orlando chapter.

community improvement, but none with activities so varied that they embrace all facets of community betterment.

Because the Chamber's first interest is the steady and healthy growth of this area, it follows that this organization cooperates with and often spearheads movements which make Seminole County a more satisfactory place in which to live. The Chamber's job is to "sell" Seminole County, and it knows that article must be in every way attractive to prospective residents and investors.

This selling takes on a number of different aspects. Perhaps one of the most important is that of personal contact. The Chamber is Seminole County's official host... a host who answers hundreds of letters every year from all over the United States and some foreign countries, and endeavors to inject an individual warmth in each reply. Annually upon request thousands of 4-color brochures are mailed to travel and automobile clubs, welcome stations, and persons from every state. The Sanford Herald Mail-Away Edition and a comprehensive booklet financed by the advertisements of Seminole County business-men are also distributed by the Chamber of Commerce.

The movie of the area made several years ago continues to tell the story of Sanford and Seminole County through TV stations and other outlets.

The selling of the county and its communities to industry requires an entirely different approach. Most concerns which contemplate expansion employ one of the firms which specializes in evaluation of possible locations. To these the Chamber supplies facts and figures from its statistical file, as well as general information because industry now takes a very keen interest in the living conditions offered by the community in which workers may have their homes.

One of the most important advantages of any section and absolutely essential are good roads. The Seminole County Chamber of Commerce has worked prodigiously to promote a program which would not only modernize existing roads in the county but would preclude the by-passing of the area by arterial highways. Some of the results of its efforts in cooperation with other agencies are the six-laning of French Ave. through Sanford, the four-laning of the highway between Sanford and Orlando, and the studies now being made on the proposed causeway across Lake Monroe.

The development of Seminole County along all lines is no accident... nor has it come for free. The Chamber of Commerce continues to work to maintain an atmosphere that will attract investors to the area and one that will keep the County dominant in a highly competitive southern market.

Merchants Help Put On Christmas Parade

The highlight of community celebration of the Christmas season in Seminole County is the annual Sanford Christmas parade. Yet it is very doubtful if one out of 100 of the spectators who line the parade route give any thought to those who plan and finance this holiday season treat.

The Christmas parade is sponsored jointly by the Sanford Merchants Association and the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce... the Jaycees. And upon the merchants falls the burden of arranging for financing of not only the parade, but of Christmas lighting and decorations.

This is but one of the many activities of Sanford's merchant-organization, an affiliate of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. Its 87 members, a proportionately small number from the total Sanford area business firms, endeavor to keep trade at home by various promotion efforts.

Recently the Association cooperated with the Jaycees and the Chamber of Commerce in the erection of a series of highway signs calling attention to the Sanford Zoo and Business District. The Association also sponsors sales events on a city-wide basis, and works to maintain high standards in merchandising. As a protection to local business against itinerant solicitors, the Association annually appoints a screening committee from which those who plan to raise funds by door-to-door canvass are required to receive a letter of recommendation. The groups keep in close touch with local legislators in regard to any proposed legislation which might be helpful or detrimental to the retail merchant.

The officers of the Merchants Association are: B. L. Perkins Jr., of B. L. Perkins & Son, president; (he is also chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Commercial Affairs Committee); Clifford McKibbin Jr., of the firm of Carraway and McKibbin, secretary; and R. N. Blackwelder, manager of J. C. Penney, Inc., treasurer.

Silver, Blue Balls Will Make Striking Table Centerpiece

A striking centerpiece for your Christmas table can be easily made. Heap blue and silver balls on an oblong platter. Soften the base of 2 white candles and stick them at each end of the platter. Dip sprays of evergreen in white paint, dust with artificial snow, and arrange around the base of the balls, being sure to hide the dish completely. Let the pointed sprays extend several inches at each end of the arrangement for a graceful effect.

Create a beautiful effect in the spirit of the season with ceramic Christmas figurines. Choose a lovely Madonna or angels and highlight the grouping with white candles.

The ideal gift for men and boys at Christmas time is an all-wool sweater. The man's sweater is a cable-knit model with continental slit neckline. The boy's sweater is in a Scandinavian design in gay color combinations.

Travel Fan Will Appreciate Gift That Spells 'Go'

The travel bug can provide a cue to Christmas gift giving. A gift which says "Go" will be most appreciated by the traveler.

Among the gadgets sure to please are map cases and trip books. There are items for organizing glasses, tissues etc. which clip to the sun visor of a car.

Luggage tags and covers are good for those who own a set of suitcases, while a matching, or color-coordinated case, such as a fitted cosmetic bag makes a really special gift.

Passport cases are a must for those who will travel out of the country. A pair of travel slippers, a toiletry case, or one of the many good-grooming sets will be welcome.

For those who have everything, why not give a fitted picnic kit. There's also a "travel bag" for the auto traveler who likes an early start before restaurants are open. This kit contains an electric coffee-maker and toaster plus needed table-ware and boxes for staples.

The choice of travel gifts is as wide as the number of places one might visit... you'll find something for every person on your gift list.

Methodist WSCS Important Part Of Church Life

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church is a very important part of the church life.

There are ten circles in the Society, and also the Wesleyan Service Guild, which is composed of business women of the church. Members of the society meet in McKinley Hall for their monthly business and program meeting, the first Tuesday of each month at 9:45 a. m.

The purpose of the Women's Society of Christian Service shall be to unite all women of the church in Christian living and service, to develop and support Christian work among women and children around the world. To take part in activities as will strengthen the church, improve civic, community and world conditions. To this end, this organization shall enlist women young people and children in the Christian fellowship, to secure funds for activities in the local church, and support the work undertaken at home and abroad, for the establishment of a World Christian Community. The Society will conduct several Study Courses during the year at the church under the direction of Mrs. Bob Cole. "Paul's Letters to Local Churches," by Francis Gerald Ensley will be taught in the circles this year.

Each circle adopts one or more shut-ins to visit each month. Members of the circles also serve as hostesses at the U.S.O. each month.

The Women's Society is always cooperative in helping with various activities of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, which is composed of the young folks of the church. Supper is served twice a month to the M.Y.F. by the circles; they also serve supper each night during Christian Adventure Week which is conducted by the M.Y.F. every year.

It is the duty of the circles to provide hostesses to help serve Vacation Bible School, and they are also responsible for preparing Communion each month.

Last year a bazaar and supper was sponsored by the Society to secure money to renovate the church kitchen. Plans are already being made for another bazaar to be held in November, which will enable them to complete the remodeling of the kitchen.

Each year before Christmas all of the circles of the Society meet in McKinley Hall for a Christmas Fellowship Dinner, which is followed by a program of Christmas worship, prayer, and meditation in the Sanctuary.

A zippered travel bag in waterproof plastic with assorted plastic jars and bottles will make a wonderful gift.

Wrap Cash Gift In Billfold

No doubt about it, there are some people on everyone's gift list to whom a cash gift would be more welcome than anything else. The solution is to "wrap" cash gifts in billfolds and wallets which are useful long after the Christmas present has been spent.

Teenagers will appreciate their cash gift more in a wallet with lots of picture room. The mother, or grandmother, who prefers a coin purse rather than the new French purses which combine bill of the features of a billfold with a coin purse.

A fashionable young lady might like an evening or "mad money" wallet for formal use. A slim, dressy clip for a man would be in good taste. These take up little space and keep his pocket from bulging.

Inexpensive billfolds can be used to "wrap" cash gifts for the newspaper carrier boy and the people who serve a family well during the year.

Smart-looking wallets and pocket pieces can be had at a reasonable price and in a large selection of colors and styles.

People Are Using Christmas Cards In Holiday Decor

Every Christmas more and more people are using the shower of colorful Christmas cards they receive as an attractive feature in their holiday decor.

There are a multitude of clever ways these friendly greetings can be displayed to give your cards extra significance during the Yuletide season.

Frame a Doorway by attaching your cards all around the archway or door with cellophane tape.

Make a Wreath of gay cards to hang over your mantel or on the wall above a table. Make a background wreath of evergreen boughs and attach your cards all around.

Use a Clever Cut-Out of a sleigh or Christmas tree, hang on the wall and mount the cards on it.

Cover a Screen with bright gift wrapping paper in a solid color and mount the cards for a gay holiday screen.

Make a Swag of evergreens for over the mantel and fasten the cards to this graceful decoration.

These are just a few of the ways you can display and share your cards with your guests.

Buy Evergreen That Can Be Planted After Christmas

Perhaps you've toyed with the idea of buying a live Christmas tree for several years, then at the last minute dashed to the nearest lot selling cut Christmas trees.

If you have a garden, by all means consider buying an evergreen that you can plant after Christmas.

You will be "livered" with a burlap-wrapped ball of earth around the roots and will be in a wooden tub about 14 inches high.

After Christmas, the tree should be planted in a hole approximately 20 inches deep and 12 inches in diameter. Be sure to plant your tree in an unobstructed area to allow plenty of room for future growth.

In planting, do not remove the burlap from the roots. Plant the tree in an upright position and fill the hole with watered peat moss and dirt, packing it down firmly for a permanent base.

Frank Sr., Mrs. W. Frank, Miss Madeline Mallem, Mrs. H. Mallem, Mrs. D. Brubaker, Mrs. H. Richter, Mrs. Sonny Powell, Mrs. Wally Dietrichs, Mrs. J. Derrenbacher, Mrs. Dorothy Corrodi and Mrs. R. LeFils.

New carpets and altar linens were purchased for the sanctuary last year by the club.

A free circulating library of 200 books, in the vestibule of the church, is a credit to the club, under the direction of Mrs. Rose Hart and her helpers, Mrs. D. Mathers, Miss S. Eastery, Mrs. M. Ballweg, Mrs. C. Milliken, Miss Mary Scrivena, Mrs. D. Peralto, and Miss Mary McMahon.

Other projects of the club include financial donation to the Camp of Good Counsel, to the "Feed-a-Family" plan in Europe and a complete layette, donated to Catholic Charities each year. Baskets are distributed to needy families at Christmas. Four annual affairs are held for the school children during the year: a Christmas party, Easter egg hunt, a school picnic, and a graduation reception.

In civic affairs members participate in Red Cross, Cancer and Heart drives, March of Dimes and American Legion poppy day. At the U.S.O. Mrs. Milliken had help two nights a month from: Mrs. F. Lang, Miss M. Scrivena, Mrs. E. Witt, Mrs. A. Lewis, Mrs. G. Rau, J. Kolaric, Mrs. Kinsella, Mrs. William Thomas, Mrs. H. Richter, Miss Mary McMahon, Mrs. W. Hilton, Mrs. C. Macke, Mrs. W. Livingston, Mrs. P. Pezold, Mrs. R. Bauman, Mrs. A. Constantine, Mrs. F. Roumillat Sr., Mrs. Marie Pezold, Mrs. P. Bredka, Mrs. R. Hurt, Mrs. H. Kastner, Mrs. M. Ballweg, Miss S. Eastery, Mrs. D. Peralto.

Many hours are donated to the hospital auxiliary. Several social get-togethers are held for the members during the year. One that is open to the public is the annual card party held at the Mayfair Inn before Lent.

The club under the direction of Father Richard Lyons, is open to all Catholic women of the parish, though they may not expect to reside here permanently. It is a chance to get acquainted with fellow parishioners, and join in the many worthwhile projects sponsored by the club.

The germ that causes tuberculosis, the tubercle bacillus, was first identified in 1882 by a German scientist, Robert Koch.

The X-ray, now a major weapon, was discovered by Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen, a German physicist, in 1895.

Volunteer Firemen Active In Community

By MRS. RUTH LAYO
During the years of 1925 - 26 a well was drilled and water system installed in the town of Longwood. This was the first attempt to give the town some fire protection.

Jess Cottingham, the first fire chief, together with five other leading citizens formed the first Volunteer Fire Department. At that time the equipment consisted of two, two wheel hose carts with metal rimmed tires. The carts were drawn by a Model T Ford, furnished by the chief. A large old bell formerly used in the old school house was mounted on a small tower near the railroad crossing and thereby furnished the alarm.

During the late thirties a four wheel rubber tired cart was secured from Sanford. This cart carried a few lengths of hose, a ladder and 150 gallon tank for water. This cart, which is still on exhibition today, was drawn by a more up to date Model A Ford Truck.

Some of the original firemen can relate to you many amusing incidents, as well as some obstacles overcome during the early years, due to crude and inefficient equipment.

Longwood, like most of the towns in Florida, has seen many changes in the past ten years, due to building, expansion and various improvements.

In the year 1948 our community, sensing the need for better fire protection, purchased a new Chevrolet Truck with modern equipment consisting of ladder, extra hose, booster hose with fog nozzle, a 500 gallon tank, a wood pump capable of producing adequate pressure and connections to provide for drawing water from lakes within the city limits.

The present Fire Department consists of about 20 active volunteer men, serving under the direction of Chief Farris. Fire extinguishers, first aid kits, boots, a portable resuscitator and other modern equipment have been added. Recently the Department has secured another truck with hose, excellent pump and water tank of approximately 1000 gallons and the council has installed an automatic fire siren.

The firemen have attended fire school in order to get proper instruction and now the Department is a member of the County wide organization to work in cooperation with nearby communities and surrounding territory and to give more adequate protection to our county.

Recently the Longwood Council has extended the water system considerably in the town, adding more hydrants and are drilling a larger well and purchasing a new pump, all of which not only makes our town more secure but has materially reduced the rates on insurance policies to home and business owners.

The Volunteer Firemen not only serve in their organization but as such take an active part in all phases of community activities.

Streptomycin, the first drug used successfully to treat tuberculosis, was discovered by Selman Waksman in 1944.

The National Tuberculosis Association founded in 1904 was the first organization in which doctors and laymen banded together to fight a specific disease.

Home Demo Club's Membership Growing

By MRS. RUTH LAYO
The records of the Longwood Home Demonstration Club date back to 1938. Since that time the membership has steadily increased. We now have fifty active members.

Meetings are held in the Longwood Library Hall Building the first Thursday of each month at 10:45 a. m. After the business meeting a covered dish luncheon is enjoyed by all present.

In the afternoon various projects, usually under the supervision of Miss Myrtle Wilson, are carried out. Among these projects you will receive instruction on sewing, marketing, gardening, food preservation, home improvement and various other activities so helpful to the home-maker.

For several years delegates have been sent to Gainesville to attend the Home Demonstration Short Course of five days duration, usually held in July.

Longwood has been very proud to have one of their own daughters, Mrs. George Otto Sr., as president of the State Home Demonstration Club for the past two years. Delegates representing the Club this year are: Mrs. S. L. Tupper and Mrs. Vincent Matecki. Club members have sponsored the Cancer Drive and at present are making bandages, setting aside one day each month for this work.

Officers of the local club for the current year are, president, Mrs. B. R. Gray; first vice president, Mrs. Violet Frait; second vice president, Mrs. Floyd Anderson; secretary, Mrs. Earl Duncan; treasurer, Mrs. John Murry.

Tuberculosis strikes people of all ages, but half of the new cases reported are among people under 43 years of age.

A new case of tuberculosis is reported in the United States every five minutes.

All Women Admire,
Like To Receive Gifts Of Lingerie

Nothing is so definitely feminine and nothing is so sure to be appreciated as a gift of lovely lingerie!

From little misses, to glamour girls, to grandmother... they all admire and love to receive fine lingerie.

Silk, usually thought of as the height of luxury, returns to lingerie fashions in wonderful soft crepe and chiffon slips and gowns.

Dacron and cotton sheers are dressed up with touches of ribbon and lace. But the long-time favorite in lingerie is nylon.

Since the new fashion trend is to the straight and narrow, slips and sheers, petticoats are styled to insure the smooth look. Lingerie colors are more varied than ever before and you can choose from pastels to deep metallic shades.

For party times, she'll love a crisp bouffant petticoat in nylon taffeta, tulle or net.

LOUNGE WEAR
A distinctive and dramatic gift for holiday entertaining and long after, is a hostess gown. Choose from many beautiful styles in rich taffeta, velvet, satin or nylon.

Young girls of all ages will like a plaid flannel duster and matching pajamas or a colorful Tyrolean print cotton quilted jacket and slim trousers.

SLEEP WEAR
Waltz length and full length gowns in silk, satin and nylon... lavishly trimmed with lace, beauteous and embroidered trim are wonderful gifts.

Popular and new are the knee-length sleepcoats, tailored or brightly embroidered full styles. Cotton knit pajamas take on a Scandinavian look in brightly colored ski-styles. Flannel pajamas in dainty Provincial prints are dressed up with eyelot and ribbon trims. Enchanting nylon pajamas are styled with lace and smoked bodices in pretty pastels and tone-on-tone combinations.

A truly appreciated gift for weekending and traveling is a robe, pajamas and slippers in a compact travel case. You can choose from rayon, silk, cotton and nylon tricot in a wide variety of patterns.

This year, give every woman on your gift list a personal, delightful lingerie gift and you'll be sure to please.

Oviedo Folks Proud Of School, Faculty

By MARIAN JONES
We Oviedo believe that the school is one of the best and managed by a good teaching staff.

Walter Teague, former principal, left us for a promotion to assistant superintendent of public instruction but still maintains his home here. His wife, Katherine, teaches the third grade. Then Stewart Gatchel, Mr. Teague's successor, has carried on a wonderful job and is well liked. We were so disappointed to hear of his leaving us but we cannot stand in the way of his promotion as supervising principal of the entire county. He and his pretty wife, Dorothy, and two lovely children, Bobby and Gail, have been a wonderful asset to Oviedo. W. H. DeShazo, who hails from Tennessee, has assumed Mr. Gatchel's former duties as principal.

Mrs. J. R. (Annis C.) Thompson, one of the best English teachers ever to teach English, or most any other subject, and so well loved by those who taught here for a period of 40 odd years, has retired but is still the helper of those who are in trouble with their lessons.

Mrs. James Partin, who began her teaching career in Oviedo many years ago with the first grade but who has not been teaching except for substitution, returned to the teaching staff this year.

Mrs. Kader Hart is another teacher who did not return in the fall. Miss Ernestine French, the teacher of the latter grade, was married. Both teachers will be missed, as well as Mrs. Virginia Holtzclaw, who was teacher of the fifth grade this past year. The school boasts a nice lunch room, managed by Mrs. Blanche Partin, Mrs. A. T. Cartledge and Mrs. W. C. Weltman. Mrs. Douglas Arie has certainly been wonderful since she has been appointed as secretary to the principal.

Speaking of the school brings in mind the P-TA. We have a fine P-TA and this year Mrs. James Partin will be president with a fine group of officers to help her. Mrs. T. W. Lawton, wife of the former superintendent of Public Instruction, was the first P-TA president in Oviedo. Mr. Lawton served for about 40 years as superintendent of public instruction of Seminole County. They live in a large home on Broadway.

Romaine lettuce is sometimes called Cos. By any name, it's a green that has crisp attractive green leaves with more flavor than the ubiquitous iceberg lettuce.

Cut Bologna into cubes and sauté; broil, basting with a barbecue sauce.

Oviedo Has 3 Churches

By MARIAN JONES
Oviedo has three churches, the First Baptist Church of Oviedo. The Rev. Louis L. Day, of Kentucky, came here about three years ago as pastor of this church, replacing the Rev. Frank C. Morgan, who is now pastor of the Riverside Baptist Church at Miami.

The Rev. Day has a charming wife, Jean, who is an accomplished musician. She directs the choir substitutes at the organ for W. H. Martha, or the piano for Mrs. George C. Means; in addition to her many other church duties. They have two children, Douglas, in the eighth grade, and Brenda, in the sixth grade.

The Baptist Church, built of brick, was erected when I came here but had not been done so very long. A $40,000 annex was added during Mr. Morgan's term as pastor of the church. It is a proposed $10,000 annex is in the making to be erected on the other side of the church, but not connected to the church as the present one is.

The new brick parsonage was also erected during Mr. and Mrs. Morgan's stay in Oviedo. The old parsonage was moved back and sold to J. G. Beasley, who remodelled it for his family.

E. F. Wheeler Jr. is chairman of the building committee; Fred Pierson, superintendent of the Sunday School; and T. W. Lawson, chairman of the board of deacons.

There are many active organizations of the church. Mrs. E. Danell is president of the W.M.U. Mrs. Theodore Aulin Sr. is superintendent of the primary department; Joe S. Beasley the Junior Department; and Frank Wheeler Jr. superintendent of the Intermediate department.

Young People's Leader is Mrs. Joe I. Beasley and Training Union leader, A. B. Tedford.

The Foster Memorial Methodist Church, the new unit just completed at a cost of $135,000. It has the Rev. George Carlton as pastor. The Rev. Carlton replaced the former pastor, the Rev. E. T. Standifer, now at Ellenton.

During the Rev. and Mrs. Standifer's stay in Oviedo a new parsonage was built. Another $30,000 unit to the present new building is yet to be erected and the steeple of the church.

T. L. Lingo is superintendent of the Sunday School, assisted by J. M. Staley, who is also chairman of the Commission Education Board. Mrs. James Partin is head of all departments of the Sunday School, and also in charge of the Primary department. Mrs. John Evans is head of the Junior and Intermediate departments. Miss Kay Estes is president of the U.W.A., while Youth Director is Leon Olliff. Mrs. Clara Mariner is president of the W.S.C.

The Rev. Carlton is assisted in his work by his pretty wife, Mary Jean.

The Church of God has had as its preacher Ralph Phillips, but Mr. Phillips has moved and we do not know who has replaced him as yet. Robert Adams has served as Sunday School Superintendent for a long time.

Don't throw away your Christmas poinsettia. Simply give the plant a resting period about the middle of February in a cool place. Water it occasionally, just enough to keep the wood from wilting. In June cut it back severely, place in a sunny location and watch it bring forth new growth and bright blooms in time for next Christmas.

An unusual and useful gift for homeowners is a king-size mailbox of heavy steel with brass trim. With their nameplate attached, it makes a decorative and informative gift as well.

Christmas Wreath Makes Holiday Season Merrier

Part of the tremendous fun of Christmas is making it merrier by making your own decorations. One of the traditional decorations, and one that is easy to make yourself, is a Christmas wreath.

If your preference is the wreath of Christmas greens, simply bend a wire coat hanger into a circle. Using small boughs of evergreen, fasten each one securely to the circle with wire until it is completely and evenly covered.

Finish the wreath by wiring bits of holly, clusters of ornaments, or tiny pine cones into the greenery and top it with a big bow of red ribbon.

For a more modern-minded decoration, a Christmas wreath can be fashioned of other materials to lighten your holiday decor.

A gala wreath can be made of fluffy angel hair. First, wrap the coat hanger base with crumpled tissue paper tied securely with string. Then wrap the angel hair loosely over this foundation and wire colorful little ornaments or tiny candy canes at intervals around the wreath.

Shower curtain material in bright red or green is particularly good for outdoor wreaths. A wreath fashioned of the flax, sparkling ornaments used as a background for tree lights makes a jewel-like decoration.

Let your imagination have full rein and you'll come up with new ideas of your own for attractive Christmas wreaths!

Longwood Folk Proud Of Little League Players

By MRS. RUTH LAYO
We, of Longwood, certainly are proud of the good sportsmanship and ball playing ability shown by our youngsters through the Little League.

The Longwood Little League team has completed its third season of competitive play, under the very able management of Vester Elgin. Ours is one of the four teams in the franchised Seminole-Orange County Little League loop.

It was through the generosity of the Longwood Chamber of Commerce, our sponsor and numerous local businessmen that we received our initial financial aid. We have asked for help from the Town of Longwood through its most reliable councilmen in beautifying and bettering our ball park, and with each year, one can see the improvement in it. There are the cement block dug-outs for the players and a new water fountain and next year we hope to have some bleacher seats. But it's to the many loyal fans, especially, that we say, "THANKS". Without their moral support, it would be just a sport to the boys, whereas, with the many cheers and witty remarks they hear, it brings them closer to the grown-ups. In turn, you get the due respect from every boy, and have the feeling that something is being accomplished.

Last season closed with Longwood tied with Maitland for first place and a play-off series was held, with games being held on each of the teams home diamonds. The series went the full five games with Longwood losing the final game by one run.

Ten years ago tuberculosis meningitis, TB which attacks the covering of the brain and spinal cord, was almost 100 per cent fatal. Today it can be cured.

Potted Plant Nice Gift

If you want your Christmas gifts to keep echoing their merry greeting for months to come, give a potted plant.

Your choice may be a colorful blooming plant in a brightly wrapped pot, or a bit of greenery, interesting because of its decorative outline or the shape of its leaves.

Plants come from the nursery or florist in baked red clay pots that may be wrapped in bright foil; or you may prefer to tie the clay into a glazed ceramic jardiniere or brass planter.

Among the most popular plants for Christmas giving are the brilliant, velvety poinsettia, in full scarlet plumage at this season. The price is usually gauged by the number of blooms on the plant.

Often called America's favorite house plant, African violets make popular gifts. The single or double blooms come in a range of shades, including white, pink, purple and blue.

For Christmas red, select a cyclamen. Blossoms last three to four months and increase if they are picked.

Azaleas, in an array of tints from pink to rich red, may be kept inside during the winter, and then, if you live in a warm

Many Christmas Gifts Are Offered In Musical Line

Set the joy of Christmas to music by choosing musical instruments for gifts.

Every popular variety of musical instrument is available — whether the musician who will receive it is a very young beginner or a trained expert; or whether the gift is meant to provide relaxation and enjoyment for the whole family.

Sizes range from pocket size harmonicas to concert, grand pianos, and prices vary from a few cents to several hundred dollars.

You will find instruments that can be played with little or no instruction, while others require years of training and practice.

Pianos, most popular instrument in American homes, usually start at around $500. Home organs are slightly higher.

Other instruments that can be enjoyed solo are accordions and concertinas of all sizes and many of the stringed instruments.

Among these are the guitar, banjo and ukulele, at prices that range from around a dollar to $35 and up.

If the youngsters have wanted to join the school band, a gift of their own instruments may give them a good start. Among the brass instruments, trumpets and trombones start at approximately $150. Saxophones are somewhat higher, while flutes are offered at an average of $125.

A practice violin may be obtained for under $50, with violas and brass violas priced correspondingly higher.

In the percussion group a set of drums can be acquired for around $100.

For the small-fry musician, toy instruments, precision-made replicas of the professional size, are sure to bring joy on Christmas morning.

Among these a novelty electric organ has small size keys to make it easier for little hands to play. Toy-size cottage pianos have a range of almost three octaves, and small wind instruments are precision-tuned to help youngsters master playing techniques.

One-third of the nation — 85,000,000 Americans, are believed to be infected with the germs that cause tuberculosis. Five per cent of these — 2,100,000 Americans will develop TB sometime during their lives.

Locket Will Please Gals Of All Ages

Whether she's a sweet "six" or a gracious "sixty" — a gift that's sure to please her — is a lovely locket.

The locket — often worn on charm bracelets — still maintains a place of its own as the age-old symbol of remembrance and depth of sentiment.

Heart-shaped lockets are unmistakably the most sentimental — but these interesting and ornamental cases (some lockets are actually designed to act as little boxes) come in all types and designs.

Widely popular is the locket with matching lid that snaps shut, making of sentiment a secret and personal thing.

But some lockets are open — in which case they are known as "photo-pendants" — and the wearing derives an additional satisfaction in sharing his memento.

Get Glamorous Gift For 'Her' This Christmas

Every woman will feel like a glamor girl, if she receives an exciting, luxurious gift for Christmas!

Pick something sparkling, unusual, useful, but not "practical." How glamorous the gift will be, depends on course on your budget. Even an inexpensive gift can create an aura of glamour, if it is decidedly feminine!

There's nothing like a luxurious gift of fur to lend excitement to a girl's Christmas. "Big" gifts can range from a full-length coat, or the new fur jackets, to a smart cape or stole. "Little" touches of fur: a collar and cuff set, a fur muff, hat, bag or belt are well in range of most budgets.

No woman has too many pairs of nylons. But let her buy the "everyday" kind. You can give her whisper-sheer nylons for evening wear... sparkled with rhinestones or pearl trim... really flattering and fancy.

For a glamorous air wherever she goes, give perfume. Many are beautifully gift-bottled for Christmas, or in jeweled perfume-cases. Choose a delicate scent for daytime wear and a dramatic essence for evening wear.

The little "extras" that add so much to a special occasion: evening gloves (stunning in gold kid), a velvet, jeweled evening bag, a handsome combination cigarette case and lighter, or a glitter-knit stole... all will be sure to please.

Add sparkle to your holiday giving with a dazzling rhinestone bib necklace or a wide flexible rhinestone bracelet. There's a great wealth of smart new jewelry fashions to choose from this year; styles to suit her every costume.

Every woman loves to be flattered with lavishly trimmed lingerie. Slips, gowns and bouffant petticoats will be appreciated. For a truly distinctive gift, give her a red velvet hostess gown for Christmas Eve.

She'll love to receive a cashmere sweater, especially if it's trimmed with pearls, jewels or metallic braid for evening wear. You'll find all these gift suggestions, and many more, in your local stores... all destined for a warm welcome come Christmas morn!

Many Projects Are Undertaken By 24 Local 4-H Clubs

By BETTE JEANNE ROBINSON

There are twenty-four 4-H clubs throughout Seminole County. There are about three hundred eighty-five members. During the school months, the clubs hold their meetings at school. During the summer the meetings are held at the homes of the girls or regular meeting places.

Each club has its own officers. The County Council usually meets once a month during school. These officers are: President; Betty Jeanne Robinson, Lyman school; Vice-President; Dorothy McAlexander, Sanford school; Secretary; Sally Williams, Sanford School; Reporter; Pat Smith, Sanford School; Song Leader; Eleena Tuby, Oviedo School; Devotional Leader; Virginia Warfel, Paola School and Game Leader; Marie Goldman, Lyman School.

There are several projects available to 4-H girls. Here are the names of them: Home Improvement, Dairy, Foods, Food Preparation, Electricity, Food and Nutrition, Frozen Foods, Canning, Gardening, Clothing, Health, Poultry, Recreation Leadership, Safety and Child Care.

Each girl must complete at least one project to be eligible to go to 4-H camp, Camp McQuarrie in the Ocala National Forest.

The different classes that were held there this year were: Swimming, Foods, Handicrafts and Recreation.

This year two girls went to Tallahassee to attend the forty-first annual 4-H State Short Course. They were Mary Ann Tesinsky and Bette Jeanne Robinson.

Each week there is a radio program on WRRH, Sanford radio station. We invite every one to listen in and find out what 4-H offers you.

The perfect Christmas gift for him. A full sleeved sport shirt of absorbent wool jersey has cut away button down collar, decorative cuff stitching.

Auxiliary's Purpose To Promote, Advance Welfare Of Hospital

By LOURINE MESSINGER
Publicity Chairman

In November, 1955, when a tentative date had been set for the long awaited beautiful and modern Seminole Memorial Hospital opening, a group of interested Seminole County women got together and formed the Auxiliary to the Seminole Hospital and elected Mrs. A. W. Epps Sr. as its first president.

The auxiliary now boasts approximately 200 active members, a number of associate members and a few life members. Active membership is $3 per year with an obligation of 80 hours of service during the year. Associate membership, costing $10 does not carry an obligation, but members may serve at any time they wish to.

Purpose of the organization is to promote and advance the welfare of the Seminole Memorial Hospital through ways approved by the governing board of the hospital. This purpose shall be accomplished by interpretation of the hospital to the public, through service to the hospital and its patients, and through fund raising in a manner satisfactory to the hospital governing board and in harmony with the planning of the community.

One of the major accomplishments of the auxiliary was the decoration of the "family room", where people may go to have a quiet talk with their pastor, their doctor and to gather with other members of the family in time of sorrow. The room is beautifully furnished in a light modern type of furnishings with a beautiful painting of Christ on one wall. The Protestant, Catholic and Jewish Bibles have been placed there for use by all faiths; also an Episcopal Prayer Book. Mrs. R. N. Blackwelder, who serves as chairman of the reception committee, was chairman on selecting the furnishings. She was assisted by Mrs. Warren Adams and Mrs. Dallas Loop.

Mrs. M. L. Raborn Sr. serves as chairman of the Hospitality shop which is reported as showing a nice profit since its opening. She is assisted by Mrs. Theo Pate as co-chairman.

Mrs. H. C. Oakes and her committee have cataloged the medical books and journals in the library for use by the doctors, nurses and patients. Mrs. Warren Adams is chairman of the sewing committee which has done a tremendous job of getting all the many towels, gowns, curtains, bandages, etc. needed in a hospital, in readiness for the opening of the hospital and for constant use since that time.

The various committees have members on duty at their stations during each day from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., seven days a week. There are two people stationed at the reception desk during those hours as well as the hospitality shop.

One of the accomplishments of the auxiliary was the securing of a station wagon for use of the hospital. Hearing of the efforts of the auxiliary to purchase a station wagon, Heller Motors very generously gave the wagon to the organization, thus allowing the group to put the money it had saved toward such a gift, to some other worthy cause.

A Hi-Fi system has been installed in the hospital by the auxiliary and now plans are underway to hold a "Follies Frolic" in the early part of 1957 in order to raise funds with which to purchase much needed equipment for the hospital as well as to furnish some of the rooms in a more "home-like" atmosphere by the addition of draperies and slipcovers.

The energetic finance chairman, Mrs. F. E. Robinson, a publicist, Sr., with her committee, has successfully planned and carried to completion a number of money raising projects with others soon to get underway. One of the most successful projects was the "Pancake Day" sponsored by The Sanford Herald with The Herald staff furnishing all the food and cooking it.

Mrs. Robert S. Stone is cooperating in handling publicity for the Navy personnel from which talent will be drawn for the Follies to be presented in 1957.

A hospital cart, to be used in transporting magazines, candy, gum, etc. to the patients' rooms, was recently purchased at a cost of over $200. The group also purchased one dozen individual tables to be used in the rooms to hold flowers.

Mrs. Epps is assisted in her office as president by Mrs. T. E. Tucker, treasurer; Mrs. W. Gordon Dean, recording secretary; Mrs. C. R. Bowes, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles Cole, vice president; and Mrs. Verne C. Messenger, publicity chairman.

Mrs. B. B. Crumley heads the sunshine committee while Mrs. George C. Harden serves as membership chairman and Mrs. W. R. Dyson is in charge of securing uniforms which are bright cherry red pinafores worn over white blouses. Each member can be easily identified by her white badge which has her full name on it in black lettering.

Mrs. Epps has extended an invitation to all those who are interested in serving to become members. She especially extends an invitation to those in the county towns to become active in the auxiliary work.

For hunting, fishing and other forms of outdoor living, you can't beat the protection of a sturdy coat of wool mackinac cloth which Dad will appreciate this Christmas.

Many Gifts Available For Young-At-Heart

What do little girls want for Christmas? Dolls, of course, but perhaps you've been giving this traditional gift for several years. This Christmas, why not give her something different!

Young sub-debs of the grammar school set are surprisingly fashion-minded. Delight her with a pretty party dress with matching slippers, a crisp petticoat for her full skirts, a quilted robe and slippers for watching TV, or a bunny-fur hat and muff set. All are really glamorous, almost "grown-up" gifts.

Stocking-filling gifts for the young-at-heart could include: a dainty locket or a little leather purse.

Playing house is even more fun with miniatures—a real vacuum cleaner, a cooking set with sample foods, a sewing machine, milk-shake blender (operates on batteries), an ironing board and iron and cooking utensils. Your local toy store will have these gift ideas and many more.

You'll be remembered always if you give a teen-ager her own telephone (perhaps in a pretty pastel).

Also for the high school crowd, you can't go wrong if you give them a record album of their favorites.

She'll love to receive an atomizer and bottle of perfume, or a three-piece dresser set (really distinctive with her initials), or an unusual boudoir clock. With so many things happening in these growing years, she'll appreciate a leather-bound diary.

For her holiday parties and dances later on, give her a velvet evening jacket, a glitter evening bag or a slim compact.

Frivolous bedroom slippers with roses or pompons on the toes, or in gold mesh elastic and a smart pair of lounging pajamas will brighten her "slumber parties."

No teen-ager seems to have too many sweaters, or jewelry! A new bulky-knit cardigan and a gold dangle bracelet will be welcome in any wardrobe.

Almost all girls, of all ages, will love to receive a pet for Christmas. Give her a fluffy kitten, a roly-poly puppy, or a colorful parakeet.

Check your gift list now and visit your local shops for the displays.

Skeletons of prehistoric man give evidence that tuberculosis is found its way into cave homes just as it invades modern ranch houses and apartments.

Evidence of the antiquity of tuberculosis—the White Plague—has been found in mummies and hieroglyphs of Egypt.

Longwood CofC Dream Comes True

By MRS. RUTH LAYO

The Longwood Chamber of Commerce was started three years ago, with Larry Jones president. The primary object was to have a Doctor in Longwood. The project did not fully get underway until last year with Linton Cox as president.

With the help of the different organizations, private donations from the people of Longwood and surrounding area, and all the proceeds of the different projects of the Chamber of Commerce, the dream came true. The site was donated by the town and the building will belong to the Town of Longwood, after it is completed. The project has had full cooperation from the Town Council.

The Medical Building is a community project for all the people, who wish to make use of it. The building is completed to the extent of all exterior work, including windows and doors. Several projects are being planned to raise the funds, to complete the interior.

All the doctor's equipment and furnishings were donated by the former Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital of Sanford, for which we are very grateful. There are also beds, wheel chairs and other equipment to loan to people, who may need them to care for invalids in their homes.

The Medical Building was open to the public for their inspection on Thursday evening, July 12, 1956.

Another project of the Chamber of Commerce for the betterment of Longwood and surrounding area was the purchase and installation of a large "LONGWOOD" neon sign at Mobley's Corners and Highway 17-92 in the fall of 1954. This sign is also maintained by the Chamber.

The Chamber of Commerce has also purchased a Pullmotor to be used as part of the Longwood's Volunteer Fire Department's equipment and is for the public's use.

The Chamber has had a few dinners, which have added to the social life in Longwood and the surrounding area. We have had several good speakers, a political rally, Travel Films presented at our meetings, which added to the educational life of the people in Longwood and surrounding communities.

The Chamber of Commerce with financial assistance from the Town, Churches, local organizations, merchants and individuals puts on a Christmas Party each year for all local children up to twelve years of age. In recent years this party has been held in Sunnyshade Park with the traditional Christmas tree, Santa Claus, gifts, candy, fruit and entertainment for all the children, also refreshments for the adults attending.

The meeting of the Chamber held July 12, election of officers for 1956-1957 were elected. They are, Richard Zartman, President; Maurice E. Rudolph, Vice-President; and Gerard Hanson, Treasurer. The newly appointed directors are, Mrs. John Carhart, Richard Zartman, Russell Grant and Maurice Rudolph.

The Longwood Area Chamber of Commerce, while still in its infancy, is endeavoring to assist to completion projects that are uppermost needed for Longwood and community residents.

Ancient Greek physicians called it "phthisis." Modern doctors call it tuberculosis. It's the same chronic, debilitating disease that strikes 100,000 Americans a year.

CWF's Program Is Interesting

The Christian Women's Fellowship of the Sanford Christian Church began a new year with a very interesting program. There are three active circles—1. A morning group of young mothers, which meets the first Thursday of each month at the church at 10 a. m. under the leadership of Mrs. J. W. Knight; 2. An afternoon circle meets the first Tuesday of each month at 2 p. m. in the various homes of its members, with Mrs. Ira Metzger as leader; 3. The Business Women's circle meets the second Monday night in various homes of members at 7:30. Mrs. Eugene W. Patis is leader. These three groups are studying "Frontiers of Challenge and Change" a study in our home mission field of today. These groups comprise the C.W.F. which meets in general session on the third Monday night of each month at the church at 7:30.

The present officers of C.W.F. are: Mrs. Harry Falk, president; Mrs. Oscar T. Pearson, vice president; Mrs. George W. Morgan, secretary; Mrs. Lester Sharp, treasurer; Mrs. Perry L. Stone, worship director; Mrs. W. H. Young, service director; and Mrs. Chandler Vail, study director.

The local C.W.F. was hostesses to the C.W.F. presidents of the 6th District, at an all day president's conference in early September. We plan to have a part in the program of United Church Women in our city in observance of World Community Day, World Day of Prayer and May Fellowship Day.

Frankincense, Myrrh Are Rare, Costly Offerings

The mystic symbolism of the ancients was represented in the gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh that the Magi brought to the infant Jesus.

Frankincense had for centuries been used by both the Egyptians and the Jews in religious rituals, and curative powers were attributed to it for the treatment of an astonishing variety of ailments.

Myrrh held a similar role of importance and was highly esteemed as an ointment and perfume, a ceremonial incense and an ingredient of embalming ointments.

So highly treasured were these fragrant resins that pots and vases of ivory and alabaster were fashioned to preserve them.

Historians tell us that frankincense was burned to purify the air, and that to breathe the fragrance would "comfort and refresh the spirit"—much as smelling salts are used today.

A portion of frankincense was believed to be an antidote for hemlock poisoning, as well as a cure for leprosy.

Myrrh was the main ingredient of the anointing oil of the Tabernacle. Kings and queens used it to perfume and beautify themselves.

Mixed with water or wine and taken internally, it was believed to be at once a stimulant and sedative, a tonic and an anodyne.

Today many resins are referred to as myrrh, but "true" myrrh is a gum resin, product of the Commiphora myrrh, a small tree that grows in East Africa and Arabia.

Frankincense is a product of a tree of the Boswellia family, native of the same areas.

Long months were spent in harvesting these precious resins, which had to be brought to Palestine by caravan over long and hazardous journeys.

Thus it is little wonder that such rare and costly offerings were chosen as gifts befitting a king, for frankincense and myrrh carried the blessings of good health and religious favor.

Lyman Is County's Largest Educational Institution In '55

By MRS. RUTH LAYO
Seminole County's largest educational institution last year was Lyman School, located midway between Longwood and Altamonte Springs on the Old Dixie Highway.

The school has been growing at the rate of 100 students per year for the past four years. In 1953-54 there were about 400 enrolled. In February last year there were 600. This trend will continue next year because close to 90 first graders are expected and 15 students were graduated from high school last June. In addition to this, there will probably be an increase in the other classes of the school.

This phenomenal growth is due to the rapid increase in the population of the large district served by the school which includes Longwood, Altamonte Springs, Casselberry, Fern Park, Forest City, Bear Lake, and Sanlando.

The school was established on its present site in 1934, to replace a number of one and two room buildings scattered over this area.

At first there were only six rooms and eight teachers. Next year the faculty will number 22, including E. S. Douglas, principal, and W. W. Wharton Jr., assistant principal. In addition to these, a band instructor and a music teacher will spend three days each week at the school.

To take care of the increasing enrollment, Superintendent R. T. Milwee requested a special survey of the situation by the State Department of Education. They have recommended the following: New Construction: The plant should be expanded by the construction of the following new facilities immediately: (a) eight elementary class rooms; (b) a cafeteria; and (c) an administrative suite including clinic and storage. The estimated cost: $200,000.

Due to the current steel strike, construction of these badly needed buildings will undoubtedly be delayed. Classes will then have to be held in temporary quarters.

"This will be the most difficult year we have had to face," Principal Douglas stated. "Fortunately, our people realize this and I am sure that they will give us their loyal support."

What makes nice Christmas gift for the young man in your family.

A suit any man would be happy to receive Christmas morning.

Episcopal Church Organized In 1879

By MRS. RUTH LAYO
Christ Episcopal Church, Longwood, was organized in 1879. The services of the church from the Book of Common Prayer were read by an appointed Layreader, Frederick H. Rand. The congregation met at that time in a small school house on the property of E. W. Henk, founder of Longwood.

Meanwhile Mr. Rand drew plans for the church building and with the help of the Rev. F. R. Holman, John Seary and his brother, James Seary, erected Christ Church as it now stands. Thus it is the first organized church in the Town of Longwood.

Today it is an active mission of the Episcopal Diocese of South Florida, with a full schedule of activities throughout the year. There is a Church School, Woman's Auxiliary, Altar Guild and Analytes Guild.

Soon it is hoped that an active teenage youth group will be organized. In order to meet this expanding program it is the aim of the congregation to erect an educational building on the present church property.

Plans submitted by Welborn Phillips Jr., grandson of the late Frederick H. Rand, have been accepted by the building committee and members of the congregation. A fund raising campaign has been started under the chairmanship of John C. Reams and members of the Vestry Committee, namely Charles R. Nichols, Robert Hammond, Carlton Peters and Charles Waters. Their goal is to raise $10,000 within an eight month's period of time.

The Rev. George L. Granger became priest in charge of Christ Church in 1954. He resides in Winter Park, but serves the church as a full time incumbent.

Tuberculosis can be prevented, yet about 100,000 new cases of TB are reported in the United States every year.

Cutting Evergreens Helpful To Forests

The practice of cutting young evergreens to use as Christmas trees is not harmful to the forests, but extremely helpful.

Nearly half of the 21 million evergreens that make up America's Christmas tree harvest are grown on private lands. Nearly nine tenths of the entire crop was cut on privately-owned timberland. Also, about five million trees are imported yearly, most of them from Canada.

There are definite favorites when it comes to selecting a Christmas tree. The best seller is the balsam fir, a product of New England and northeastern United States. The second most popular is the Douglas fir of the Pacific coast. Black spruce, red cedar and white spruce follow as America's favorites.

These five varieties account for 83 per cent of all the Christmas trees used.

Kay Schmidt, 4 & 5 Sunbeam leader; Mrs. Leland Rudd, Assistant leader; Mrs. Ruby Carter, Sunbeam Baby Visitor; Mr. Vance Duke, R. A. Counselor.

Christmas Seal contributions support tuberculosis prevention and case-finding activities of 3,000 local and state associations affiliated with the National Tuberculosis Association.

A truly superlative gift is this thrilling two speaker, automatic clock radio. With top tonal quality and accurate timekeeping, this versatile set also performs such services as turning off the lights or starting the morning coffee. In handsome ivory and gold case.

Trim Yourself at Christmas!

A festive egg nog bowl is as traditionally Christmas as enjoying the tree. You'll be even sayer knowing that you can bring both — and without the high-calorie penalty you've paid in the past for egg nog nips — by following the low-calorie recipe below for your Christmas bowl. Non-fat milk and saccharin's tartly sweetness without calories will help you trim your figure while you trim your tree!

They are economical, too. Saccharin, you know, is 400 times sweeter than sugar — goes much farther so it costs much less in giving you sweetness without a single calorie.

Let stand in a bowl or blender until dissolved

- 12 saccharin tablets (1/4 grain) in 6 cups water
- 6 eggs
- 18 tsp. non-fat dr. skim milk
- 8 tsp. vanilla

Cover and chill. Serves 6.

There are 161 calories in each 5-oz. serving. Whiskey or rum may be added to taste. However, each flinger (1 1/4 oz.) of domestic whiskey or rum contains 120-150 additional calories.

Local UDC Group Started In 1921

Norman de Vere Howard Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, was organized in Sanford in 1921 by a group of local ladies, with the assistance of Doctor Norman de Vere Howard, a Confederate veteran, for whom the chapter was named. Mrs. J. N. Tolar served as its first president.

The history of the United Daughters of the Confederacy is the chronicle of the patriotic work of Southern women the marking of graves of Confederate soldiers and an education, historical and benevolent program.

The two earliest groups of women working in these fields were in 1890 in Missouri and Tennessee.

As time went on other Southern states formed their organizations doing this work, with each state using a different name until in 1900, they banded together under the present name of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The organization has 800 chapters in 34 states with 35,319 members, including the General de Polignac chapter in Paris, France.

The officers of the local chapter are: president, Mrs. F. E. Rounhill; vice-president, Mrs. B. L. Perkins; and vice-president, Mrs. W. O. Brinson; secretary, Mrs. J. H. Nicholson; treasurer, Mrs. D. D. Caldwell; Historian, Mrs. M. R. Strickland; Registrar, Mrs. Z. B. Ruffitt; Recorder of Crosses, Mrs. Philip Mars; and Chaplain, Mrs. W. B. Kirby.

Oviedo Has Many Businesses

Longwood Small But Growing

By MRS. RUTH LAYO
"LONGWOOD" — a small but growing city, just one mile west of highway 17-82 and half-way between Sanford and Orlando, WELCOMES YOU!

The 1920 acres of the city offers one all the natural beauty of the tropics. Your home may be located on any of the 23 miles of paved or clay streets. Surrounded by orange trees, stately pines or palm trees. The business district can amply supply your many needs. There being several very fine groceries and markets, hardware stores, variety and dry goods stores. And should you choose to dine out, there is the Longwood Hotel and several eating establishments where the food is always delicious.

LONGWOOD, like all other towns in the process of growing. Here, the Town Clerk, Charles Morrison, informs us that since January 1, 1934, building permits for new homes have been issued at the rate of three per week. At present a building contractor is contemplating the construction of 21 homes on the tract formerly known as Manana Farms.

President of the Town Council, R. C. Carlson and Water Commissioner, Samuel Johnson, announced just this week, that the new well drilling has just been completed. The well will pump over 500 gallons a minute without the water level of the well lowering. Also, a new Jet-pump is being installed which will give Longwood unlimited water supply and equipment being of the latest design and most modern.

LONGWOOD also maintains a Fire Department which is manned by Chief John Farina and a group of volunteer firemen. Also a Police Department which is being brought up to date to meet today's requirements under the supervision of Chief Claude Layo.

We have our own United States Government Post Office and Railroad Station on the main line of the Atlantic Coast Line R. R.

There are two churches, Baptist and Episcopal, where everyone is welcome to worship. Also many clubs and organizations to help fill your leisure time.

LONGWOOD, just a nice drive from the hustle and bustle of the city is surrounded by many of Central Florida's attractions. Namely, Sanlando Springs, The Big Tree, Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club and the newly rejuvenated Seminole Park Raceway Horse Track. Here you may see many of the nation's finest harness models for dress occasions and spacious pocket secretary types for the business man. A matching eyeglass case, or a slim cigarette case which has a pocket for his lighter, will be welcome.

By MARIAN JONES

Flowers seem to grow in profusion in the Oviedo locality from fusion in Oviedo judging by the number of nurseries, etc. Joseph Linnhart probably has one of the oldest business establishments of this nature. Joe Battle moved to Oviedo from Orlando and conducts such a business, also J. W. Bedenbaugh, G. A. Bacon, L. A. Woolfolk—and there is Kathryn's Flower and Gift Shop, and Littleton Nurseries.

We also have two honey establishments. Tim's Florida Honey, owned and operated for many years by Mr. and Mrs. Tim Tietsema, is now owned and operated under same name by G. L. Bear.

Phil Packard, who married Olive Tietsema, now operates, with the assistance of Mrs. Packard, Phil's Appliance.

Over 20 years ago the old Oviedo Bank failed during the depression days and during the huddle time was blown up by person or persons never identified.

Ten years ago the new Citizens Bank of Oviedo was activated and a brand new building built for same. New this bank has millions on deposit. C. R. Clonts is president of the bank. Charles G. Shaffer was brought here from Melbourne as cashier but he is now vice-president as well as Harold Ward. Mrs. Leon Olliff started as a teller and was promoted as cashier. She has resigned an education. Mrs. Henry Wolcott is teller bookkeeper, while Wiley Able is assistant cashier. Mrs. Marie Burch has replaced Mr. Olliff, but not in title.

Celery citrus and vegetables are the principal means of livelihood in this area although recently cattle is taking its place with these.

B. F. Wheeler is another prominent citizen in celery, citrus and many other enterprises. Nelson and Company, Wheeler Furniture Company, Nelson Hardware Store are among his interests.

C. R. Clonts Associated Growers takes in another group of prominent celery growers, such as M. L. Gary, C. R. Clonts, W. R. Clonts, J. M. and J. H. Stoley and many others.

C. T. Niblack is prominent in celery, vegetables, citrus and cattle industries; Don Ulrey, with the Estes Coop; Milton and Gene Gots, also associated with Estes; T. H. Daniell, also with Estes; George W. Morgan, associated with B. F. Wheeler, as well as Lawson A. Hardy; James Partle, with C. T. Niblack; and many others in the celery and citrus industry.

Among the large grove owners in this section, in addition to some previously named, are Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Parker; Mrs. Nan Parker; Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Jones; C. D. Lee; Mrs. C. L. West; George and Minnie Means; Mrs. R. L. Wheeler; Mrs. B. F. Wheeler Sr.; and many others.

The Acorn Cattle Company was formed by R. P. Lamont a few years back and is a large and thriving place now. D. D. Daniell is also another in the cattle business. The largest cattle man in this territory is A. Duda and Sons. We had not mentioned them before in connection with celery, as we were going to include them in a note about Slavia, but we just had to mention slightly here.

Nelson and Company, begun many years ago by Eben Nelson, had been owned and operated for many years by the late B. faithful workers.

Doubled breasted suit, gaining rapidly in popularity is perfect gift for the man in your life at Christmas.

There's many a happy evening wrapped up in this handsome package! It contains two long-wearing Bicycle Packs and an instruction book on how to play Solitaire 150 ways.

F. Wheeler. Mrs. Wheeler lives in the lovely Wheeler home yet, and two sons-in-law, William H. Martin and John Evans, are prominently runners of the business now. They also run Wheeler's Fertilizer Plant and Hardware Store.

W. C. Schumacher, Frank W. Talbot, A. B. Telford, George C. Means, A. A. Myers are numbered among the employes of the B. F. Wheeler interest.

Lake Charns Fruit Company, owned and operated by H. A. Ward and Sons, is now operated by Harold and Ernest Ward. They own much celery and citrus land, in addition to the Fruit Packing Plant. Let me add that Nelson and Company also a Fruit Packing House. Lake Charns also operates an ice plant which, during the war when ice was short, furnished Orlando and some other surrounding places with additional ice. J. Y. Harris and E. C. Wise are connected with Lake Charns Fruit Co. Joe W. Beasley, Joe L. Beasley and Ray Beasley are among their faithful workers.

Businesses In Oviedo Are Growing Rapidly

By MARIAN JONES

The business establishments in Oviedo are growing so rapidly it is almost impossible not to leave out some. The grocery stores in town are owned and operated by H. B. Spencer, J. C. Faircloth, G. W. and Roy Alford, D. B. Gammage, D. K. Kerney, Tommy Mitchell, Mrs. Bajema, J. W. McKinnon has a meat market.

Spencer and Alford handle merchandise, too, in addition to the Grocery Business.

I believe that the father of Theodore Aulin and Mrs. R. L. Wheeler and Andrew Aulin was the first Postmaster in Oviedo. Oviedo was originally known as Solares Wharf, an article on this was written several years ago for the Sanford Bulletin.

My father-in-law, the late Batts Jones, was Postmaster when I came here after which Mrs. Clara E. Mariner served for four years. E. B. Jones Jr. has been Postmaster for 20 years. It has grown from a fourth to a second class office; and we hope, with the 45 acre sub division being opened and more following, that it will grow even larger.

The rural route was added a good many years ago. Jack Kasell was the first carrier, and remained in that position until his death about three years ago. Theodore Aulin Jr. is the present carrier.

Past Noble Grands Is Special Group

The Past Noble Grand's organization of Seminole Rebekah Lodge was started in 1948 by Mrs. Max Myers, who was then the District Deputy President. This is a social group who assist the Lodge in many ways to an aim to promote friendship and good fellowship. Each year they have charge of the banquet given the president of the Rebekah Assembly on her official visit.

They have furnished the restaurant and bought tables for the dining room and kitchen; also some venetian blinds.

The meetings are the fourth Tuesday night of each month and are held either in homes of the members or the Lodge room. The present officers are president, Mrs. D. C. Howard; vice-president, Mrs. Virginia Anderson; secretary, Mrs. May Ruborn; and treasurer, Mrs. Grace Cordell.

Gifts Of Jewelry Make Woman Seem Younger, Prettier

Young women's gift choices are sure to include compact, jeweled earrings and pins, clips and rings. For gifts of jewelry make any woman seem prettier—and younger. It is all a matter of accent. The jeweler can be helpful, for he makes it his business to know the fashion trends, whether it emphasizes longer waist-lines, shorter sleeves, short turtlene necklines, or whether the jewel accent is to be near the face, lapel, waist or elsewhere.

Sterling identification bracelets are worn early today by young men in their teens; their pen and pencil sets, leather wallets and desk accessories will tend to reflect professions or occupations. Smoking accessories take on importance, including lighters, cigarette cases, holders. Rings may assume the importance of fraternal insignia, the dignity of initial or signet designs. Perhaps the birthstone ring has become significant in the young man's life as a gift ring worth giving and wearing for its symbolic meaning and proof of someone's lasting affection and regard.

Oviedo Clinic New Addition To Town

By MARIAN JONES

We have already written an article on the new Oviedo Drug Store. It is indeed a lovely new addition to Oviedo. The old Oviedo Drug Store was owned and operated by Charles T. Niblack and his wife, Lucille, when we arrived in this town. It later changed hands, the Hunt Brothers, saw at Kissimmee, running it until they had to go into the service.

Ben H. Jones then purchased it and operated it until a little over two years ago.

We cannot help but be proud of our City Hall Memorial Building, built in memory of those boys who gave their lives for us who remain to enjoy all its splendor.

Another addition to the town, well worth mentioning, is the Oviedo Clinic. Dr. Edward W. Stoner and his wife, Glenny, assisted by Miss Ruth Kimball, run the place smoothly. They are now assisted by our new Oviedo graduated Nurse, Miss JoAnn Fleming, who graduated from Orange Memorial Nursing School in September.

A liking for modern furniture and an enthusiasm for antique accessories is combined in this room. The unifying element is the carpet in an unusual design that reflects the flavor of flagstones (but is so much softer underfoot) and subtly suggests Egyptian motifs. (Bigelow)

Decorate Home For Holidays

It's Christmas — the happiest season of them all — so let your home sing out this message to all who pass by.

Decorating the outside of the house can provide real family fun and will say to the world that here is a family filled with Christmas spirit.

Even the simplest decorating theme can convey your holiday greeting. Particularly effective is a doorway decoration for this says "Merry Christmas and Welcome" to all who enter.

There are limitless possibilities in holiday-mood doorway decor. Adapt the theme to the style of your entrance-way. For the traditional type home, a formal swag of evergreen boughs hung over the doorway is very effective.

This swag can be sparkled with colored Christmas lights or ornaments. Finish this decoration by creating a large Christmas wreath of glistening holly on the door.

Bright in their traditional Christmas colors of red and green the 1956 Christmas Seals will decorate your Christmas gifts and cards and show that you are helping in the fight against tuberculosis.

A luxurious sectional sofa is a welcome addition to the living room. Think of all the guests this one could seat during the holiday season. Upholstered in a textured material, it has clean simple lines and an interesting arm treatment. (National Furniture Manufacturing Co.)

Nick May Have Trouble This Year, Reindeer Shortage

Believe it or not, there's a shortage of reindeers, so if Santa Claus misses some youngsters this year, it could be offered plausibly that he was not able to round up enough reindeer for his yearly trip around the globe.

The reindeer shortage has become, in recent years, much too acute. It has been estimated that wolves have destroyed 500,000 of Santa's helpers within the last decade or so, leaving an approximate 50,000.

The difficulty of keeping the animals alive in a temperate climate makes it unlikely that any of the few remaining will be transported from their native regions to other lands for the holiday season, as has been done in the past.

American boys and girls will have to be satisfied with stand-ins. The few department stores featuring Santa's complete outfit this year will be using native deer as substitute for Dasher, Prancer, and company.

Can you guess how many yards of cotton—made up into garments for children and adults—we purchased last year? Well, it comes out to about nine billion! Just imagine: over nine billion yards of new washable cotton went into our washing machines, wash basins, and laundry tubs last year. Who says American women don't know a good washable thing when we see it?

Christmas Gift Buying For New Home Owners Extra Fun This Year

With the number of new guests drop in for coffee or cocktails.

At Christmas time, you can add greatly to the charm of a new home by choosing a decorative gift. The decor of the home should guide the choice and there is an unlimited gift selection for every style home.

Lamps, planters, vases, mirrors—the list is endless—are offered in modern and traditional inspired gifts for the Early American home.

Most new home owners are faced with a bare yard that is still in the dream-garden stage. Gifts to make this planting easier and more fun, come Spring, will rate a warm welcome when the Christmas packages are opened!

Helpful books, all kinds of gardening tools, potted plants to be planted outdoors later or colorful pots to add a decorative note to the patio or garden are just a few of the ideas you can gather from a gift-browsing shop.

This year, your Christmas gift can add greatly to the joy of family or friends who are already thrilled with their new home!

Holloware Is Nice Gift For Any Home

A Christmas gift of silver holloware can be a two-fold gift—or perhaps even three-fold—for the lucky person who receives it. The Jewelry Industry Council tells us that this is so because many pieces of holloware have a second and third use, making them as versatile as they are beautiful.

Many of them, too, can be put to use in handsome holiday decorations as soon as they're received.

The simple gravy boat, for one thing, can lead a more than double life by looking pretty as a holder for fruit centerpieces, or perhaps at this time of year, it will look festive when filled with a mixture of tiny pine cones, Christmas tree balls and fresh holly.

Plank the graceful lines of the gravy boat with silver candlesticks to which you have tied a be-ribboned pine cone and nobody will care whether you ever use this pretty silver piece for gravy again.

A vegetable dish is a vegetable dish truly enough, but when it is a silver one it makes a gracious addition to the living room coffee table when you float a couple of colorful posies in it.

The same is true of the silver compote whose life you may have been limiting to such duties as serving after-dinner mints. A small bunch of grapes trailing over the side of the compote and decorated with brightly colored leaves will add a dramatic touch to a small dinner table set for two, or to a side table in the living or dining room.

So, don't hide your silver when it is not in use for the single purpose for which it was named. Give it double or even triple use—by letting it have

Gifts This Year Try Making Own

The gift you make yourself is doubly appreciated. A clever and unusual gift for the girl who wears glasses, or sunglasses, is a colorful felt "specs" holder.

Cut a pattern from an old case, or measure around a pair of glasses, allowing about an inch on either side. Cut with pinkish shears and then stitch. If regular shears are used a blanket stitch or running stitch can be used.

There are unlimited possibilities for decorating the case: sequins, beads, embroidery, felt cut-outs or metallic braid.

These easy-to-make "specs" cases will be a real conversation piece wherever they go.

An easy-to-make gift and one that will be appreciated by your holiday hostess is a bright red, or green felt tablecloth with appliqued contrasting designs.

A gay group of Happiness Rugs is now available for the children's room. Made of all cotton plush pile, each rug depicts a different scene. They are 36 by 45 inches. Just right to place along side of a bed. Woven in cheery colors, they will be a bright note in a room. (Karasian)

A perfect gift for the teen-age girl is a cedar chest such as this one. No teen-ager ever seems to have enough storage space and a chest will take care of the overflow from dresser drawers. In natural finish crab orchard cherry, it can also double as a seating unit. (Cavaller)

Take your choice of accompaniments for smoked tongue; serve a raisin, cherry, mustard, horseradish or tomato sauce with the meat.

Bell-Ringing Still Part Of Christmas

Many years ago, in the little town of Lochem, Holland, two fine bells hung in the church tower. Their clear tones gave comfort to all who heard them. However, these bells had never been baptized, and one night so the story goes, they disappeared from the church tower. The sorrowing townspeople searched everywhere, but the bells could not be found.

On Christmas Eve, the people longed for the joyous sound of the bells — proclaiming the Christmas Spirit. Then, exactly at midnight, bell-like tones were heard through the snowy night. They seemed to be coming from a nearby pond.

The bells were never found, but each Christmas Eve, just at midnight, their chimes rang out over the town and the legend of the bells spread far and wide.

Other towns and countries continued the custom of bell-ringing. Till today it has become a beautiful part of the traditional holiday celebration.

For hearthside glitter or dancing dates, these vinyl and gold kid mules go places with equal ease and smart good looks. . . sure to thrill the most discriminating

Pinecrest Has 21 Instructional Units

The faculty and staff of Pine Crest School are looking forward to a good school year. For the 1956-57 term, the school has 21 instructional units in grades one through eight. John Angel has been added to the staff as Assistant principal and Junior High teacher. Other members of the faculty are Mrs. Ethel O'Dea, Mrs. Georgia Booth, Mrs. Chloris Davis, Mrs. Mary Walker, Mrs. Jean Lindquist, Mrs. Polly Daniel, Mrs. Marguerite Paul, Mrs. Inez Manos, Mrs. Mildred Lind, Mrs. Beverly Allison, Mrs. Catherine Pearce, Mrs. Virginia Burney, Mrs. Belle Rumbley, Mrs. Ola Cochran, Mrs. Mary Alice Hatfield, Miss Gretchen Kirchhoff, Miss Gene Nunnelly, Miss Ann Whitaker, Miss Lucile Campbell, Miss Georgena Hart and Mrs. Ruth Long.

Because of the generosity and kindness of the Hospital Board the school will have an efficient clinic room. This addition will mean much to the health and safety program. Mrs. Hulda Kibber of the Seminole County Health Department will supervise the activities in this area.

Mrs. Fred Ganas as head of the P.T.A. Beautification Committee has done an excellent job of securing plants for the school grounds. Some shrubs have been donated, others have been purchased at wholesale prices from nurseries. The planter boxes are especially attractive because of their artistic arrangement.

According to plans, several fields have been added to the school campus. A jungle gym and merry-go-round have been purchased for groups of Primary children.

At the present time the attendance area for Pine Crest School is the same as last year. Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, principal; Mrs. Betty Glenn, secretary; Mrs. Lucille Fester, school lunch manager and Mrs. Johnnie Elam, P.T.A. president are extending a cordial welcome to all parents and pupils in the Pine Crest area.

Flowers Associated With Christmas Story

Everyone Should Flameproof Tree

Before decorating your Christmas tree, be sure to treat it with a flameproofing material.

This may be done in two ways — by spraying a flame retardant on the branches and needles, or by setting the trunk in a chemical mixture, which the tree absorbs.

Flameproofing compounds can be purchased at most paint stores — or you may be able to get the formula from your local fire department.

Just to be on the safe side, keep a fire extinguisher within easy reach near the Christmas tree.

Nativity Scene

We do not know when the first creche was set up as a tableau to illustrate the nativity, but church records indicate that St. Francis of Assisi received special permission from the Pope to reconstruct the scene in the Bethlehem stable.

Today the crib, surrounded by figurines of the Holy Family, the Three Wise Men, shepherds, angels and farm animals, is to southern Europe and Catholic countries what the brightly decorated Christmas tree is to America and other northern lands.

For over half a century the red Double-Barrel Cross has been the official emblem of the voluntary tuberculosis associations in the United States. Since 1920 it has been the registered trademark of the National Tuberculosis Association.

Christmas Seals are a winning combination against tuberculosis. Buy and use them generously.

Christmas Seals help hold the line against TB. Use them on all your holiday mail.

Legend has associated many plants and flowers with the story of Christmas. Among these are the rosemary plant and bay tree.

The story goes that during a pause in the flight into Egypt, the Virgin Mother placed the garments of her tiny Son on the branches of a rosemary plant.

Originally its flowers were supposed to have been white, but the plant changed the color of its blossoms to lavender so that they might bear the hue of Mary's cloak.

At another point in the journey to Egypt the Holy Family sought refuge from a thunderstorm beneath the branches of a bay tree.

From that time on, according to the legend, lightning would never strike a bay tree, and for centuries the devout of many lands would plant a bay tree before their home as a protection against storms.

Greenery Checklist

Here's a checklist of the most popular greeneries used at Christmas time for home trimmings: Check with your florist and see how inexpensively you can make gay wreaths and garlands to brighten your home, inside and out.

Pine and spruce cones, large waxed leaves, holly berries, and berries from many of the rose species, all help to add grace notes of color.

For large wreaths, use white pine, fir, Douglas fir, blue spruce, boxwood, privet and English ivy. Use fruits, berries and even the garden-variety vegetables to give your greenery, bright touches of color. Use red and tiny oranges; even radishes, onions, red and green peppers can take their place in your scheme of decor for bright color interest.

The red Double-Barrel Cross carried by the children on this year's Christmas Seals is the registered trademark of the National Tuberculosis Association.

Two-Tone Fudge—Holiday Treat

Pure heaven for the youngsters is this unusual Two-Tone Fudge — creamy rich chocolate, teamed with the pleasant sweetness of peanut butter. It's all from one simple basic recipe combination of smooth evaporated milk, caramels and sugar. To one-half add peanut butter, and to the other half, add semi-sweet chocolate morsels. Evaporated milk lends smoothness and rich flavor to this versatile fudge. The high milk solid content of evaporated milk helps prevent formation of "sugary" crystals, resulting in velvety texture without heating. Make this wholesome candy in squares, swirls dropped from a spoon on waxed paper or foil, peanut clusters, or rolls made by shaping cooled fudge into logs and rolling them in salted peanuts.

TWO-TONE FUDGE
1 cup evaporated milk
2 cups sugar
1 1/2 pound (14) caramels
1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1/2 cup peanut butter

Combine evaporated milk and sugar in 2 quart saucepan. Add caramels. Place over low heat and cook, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved and mixture comes to a boil. Increase heat and boil 4 minutes, stirring constantly. To 1 1/2 cups of the mixture add the semi-sweet chocolate morsels and stir until smooth; turn into greased 7 or 8-inch square pan. To remaining mixture add peanut butter and stir until smooth; turn into pan over chocolate mixture. Chill until firm; cut into squares.

YIELD: Approximately 2 pounds.
*Use remaining chocolate morsels to decorate fudge.

Life Size Plastic Toys Delight The Toddler

All's ducky with this toddler and her new, stronger styrene plastic pull toy. This is one of a series of life-size playthings to coax seasoned Christmas shoppers to "string along." Besides this saucy duck which flops its wings and quacks, the series includes Mary's little lamb which bleats as it moves its head and tail, and a dancing "circus" elephant.

Dolls, too, have grown up. A little girl can choose her favorite television or storybook character in life-like vinyl plastic and "authentic" costume. Boys prefer the super size aircraft carriers, auto transports and Navy planes. They are authentic in scale and made of unbreakable polyethylene plastic. The playpen set will delight in squeezing and cuddling toys made of durable polyethylene or soft vinyl plastic. Both types take countless tumbles without complaint.

Books Good Gift Idea For Children

Children love books. For the very young you will find picture stories printed on coated cloth that will withstand rough handling by young hands.

"Pop-up" books are available to delight child with illustrations that fold outward like little stage settings when the pages are opened.

A trip to your book store will reveal books that children can read themselves — once they've learned — as well as those that should be read to them by an adult.

Picture books, nursery rhymes and children's classics are available in all price ranges, depending on the quality of the binding. For the student on your list you may wish to select a com-

Latin Origin Of Carol Means To Dance In Ring

According to the Bible story of Christmas, the first carol was sung by a chorus of angels from Heaven—the "Gloria in Excelsis"—"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

There is no fact as to why the Christmas songs are called "carols." The Latin origin of the word means "to dance in a ring," and the earliest songs were usually accompanied by some sort of dance movements. Others seem to think the word stems from the same derivation as "chorus."

St. Francis of Assisi is reputed to have conducted a Christmas service singing the Gospel and giving the sermon, and is credited for the first significant carol.

The ballad type of carol, now considered by musical writers as the true carol, is the old song type, named down from generation to generation.

SHS Band Assn. Honors Former Members At Meal

The first homecoming dinner was given by the Seminole High School Band Association in honor of the association's former members.

Past members attending were ex-president Peter Bukur, Martin Stinecoper, and Mrs. J. W. Dugan. Other members were Mrs. Wade Garner, Mrs. S. A. B. Wilkerson, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Morris, Mrs. Martin Stinecoper and Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Engobret.

Following the covered dish supper, plans for the barbecue to be held Saturday at 6:30 p. m. at the Elks grounds were discussed.

A welcome was extended to the former band parents by Andrew Bracken, SHS principal.

'Universal Credit Card' Is Caught In Use Last Night

The "universal credit card" was caught in use on Highway 17-92 last night the Sheriff's office reported this morning.

And because of it, Paul Harding, 22-year-old white youth of 12 Elm St., West Lebanon, N. H., is in the Seminole County Jail charged with petty larceny and no drivers license.

Deputy Sheriff Ed Cowan caught Harding taking gas from heavy equipment used in the 17-92 highway construction last night. The five-gallon can and piece of hose were practically new, seemingly bought for the purpose, reported the sheriff's office.

"Had the Deputy been a minute later the gasoline taker would have gotten away," Deputy Sheriff James Singletary said this morning.

Harding was taken into custody as he attempted to get away in his Ford automobile about six miles south of Sanford.

2 Teams Clinch Berth In Peanut Bowl Game

Two teams have clinched a berth in the Peanut Bowl game slated to be played in Sanford on Dec. 7 in the Sanford Memorial Baseball Park.

The team of Mrs. Sybil Ruth-room at Sanford Grammar School won the first berth in the Peanut Bowl lineup.

This morning, shortly after 11 o'clock, the Seminoles of Mrs. Robert Richards room at Sanford Grammar School defeated the Black Hawks of Mrs. Alice Grants room to clinch a spot in the bowl lineup next week.

The score in this morning's game between the two sixth grade teams was 7-0.

Each team at Sanford Grammar School, said Herold Heckenbach, principal at the school, has played 18 games against their opponents.

Red Cross To Plan Fund-Raising Drive At Session Friday

The Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross begins its fund-raising plans this week in Sanford.

A Red Cross campaign fund organizational meeting of Seminole County Board of Directors was held at 3 p. m. in the commissioners room of the city hall.

Donald Doyle, Red Cross Field Representative for Central Florida, together with Gen. Eugene V. Elder, volunteer worker assigned to fund campaign work in this area will attend the meeting.

Doyle will brief the group in fund campaign techniques and procedures.

All workers already assigned, and all of those interested in Red Cross work throughout Seminole County are urged to be present for the meeting.

Groundwork for the February and March fund campaign will be laid at Friday's meeting with important information to complete a successful campaign passed on to all of those who attend, according to local officials.

Friday's meeting is the first get-together since last week's meeting at which campaign workers were named for the 1957 drive.

Social Security Service Offered

A representative of the Social Security Administration District Office in Orlando will be at the recreation bldg., Fort Mellon Park in Sanford on Friday, Dec. 7, Friday, Dec. 14, and Friday Dec. 21, between the hours of 9:30 a. m. and noon.

This service is made available to those who wish to apply for Old-Age and Survivors Insurance benefits, social security account numbers, or obtain information about the Social Security program.

Mental Health Assn. Lauds CBS

The National Association for Mental Health has announced that it will present an award to the Columbia Broadcasting System for "outstanding service in the fight against mental illness" and particularly for its production of "OUT OF DARKNESS," the television program dealing with mental illness.

The film was shown to a local audience at the Episcopal Parish house on Nov. 6 by the program chairman, Mrs. A. R. Key, of the Seminole County Assn. for Mental Health.

So great was the popular response to the first TV showing of "OUT OF DARKNESS" on Mar. 18 that CBS presented it twice again—on Apr. 29 and Nov. 25.

"The past few years have seen a tremendous increase in public awareness of its No. 1 health problem—mental illness," Mr. F. Barry Ryan, president of NAMH, said. "Much of the credit for this should go to CBS and to Dr. Frank Stanton, its president."

Heavy Frost Falls

Estimates of damage from the cold wave which struck the Sanford vegetable growing area vary with temperatures reported from 22 to 34 and a heavy frost blanketing all of Central Florida.

Sandy Anderson, manager of the Sanford State Farmers Market said that "in my opinion the frost and 34 degree temperature in Sanford will clean out beans, cucumbers, eggplant, as a matter of fact all of our tender crop."

"The hardy crops," said Sandy Anderson, "won't be hurt." He explained these would include cabbage, celery, green onions and others.

Randall Chase at Chase and Company said "Beans and tender crops including eggplant and peppers will be hurt pretty bad."

Chase said, however, that cabbage, celery and hardy crops "are in good shape—the cold will even do them a little good."

Roby Laing with the J. C. Hutchinson & Co. said "The cold was pretty bad."

"We've had reports from the Zellwood area," Laing said, "but the temperatures weren't too uniform. Temperatures were from 22-27," he said.

"It's hard to say what the damage will be, it's a little too early to estimate. We had ice over there (Zellwood) last Friday and frost Saturday with very little damage."

Laing said, "The cold weather this morning didn't do any good."

It was also reported, said Laing, that temperatures dropped to 27-32 in the southern part of the state with a pretty heavy frost in all areas. Most tender things were hurt, he said.

H. C. Hetzel with the American Fruit Growers said that "beans were pretty well picked over but what was left was damaged by this morning's low temperatures and frost."

The temperature around the American Fruit Growers office on the West side registered 23 1/2 to 30 this morning, Hetzel reported.

"Over in this muck area of Zellwood," said Hetzel, "the temperatures dropped to a low of 22 1/2-23 and remained below 32 for a period of over 12 hours."

"The leaf crops are pretty well burned up from the cold," said Hetzel.

In most reporting areas it was too early this morning to estimate the damage suffered from the frost and low temperatures. Most growers were waiting on the sun to determine what damage might have been done.

On both the east and west sides of Sanford a heavy white frost fell and remained for long periods during calm.

Leafy plants near from the highways at 10 o'clock this morning were showing signs of wilt and damage.

Sanford Churches Are Making United Appeal For Blood

A West Coast man's leg and hip were shattered last fall by an accidental shotgun blast while hunting with his friends. Before he could leave the hospital, this man was given 34 pints of blood and three pints of blood plasma.

There was no way he could have obtained this quantity of blood except through a large-scale blood procurement program.

At the last meeting of the Seminole County Ministerial Association it was decided that a cooperative effort should be made toward establishing blood bank accounts for the churches of Sanford. While some few churches have established blood bank accounts most of these need replenishing.

After the need for a large-scale blood procurement program was graphically presented by the Rev. A. G. McElmra, a committee was appointed by the association president, the Rev. Milton A. Wyatt, to plan, publicize, and promote the United Church Blood Appeal. The Rev. David Caroffitz and the Rev. Robert Spear were appointed with the Rev. McElmra who serves as chairman.

The first "Blood Donor Day" has been set for Tuesday Dec. 11 at the First Presbyterian Church in Sanford.

Storms Continue To Sween Western Pacific China Sea

MANILA (AP)—Hundreds of 3-man seamen were missing and the crew of an American freighter was reported abandoning ship today as storms continued to sweep the South China Sea and the Western Pacific.

A Globe Wireless intercepted a message from the 8221-ton freighter Charles E. Dant, saying the captain had ordered his 44 crewmen off in Linsayen gulf, on the west coast of Luzon Island.

The U. S. Navy ship Mackinac had been standing by and presumably took the men aboard.

The Dant took a bad list when the cargo of copper concentrates it was hauling from the Philippines to Tacoma, Wash., shifted in heavy seas.

Hope dwindled for hundreds of Malay and Chinese fishermen missing off the east coast of Malaya as more bad weather grounded British Air Force planes and kept royal navy ships out of the area.

A gale early Monday smashed 80 fish traps off Johore State. Built of poles driven in deep water and fitted with nets, the traps each had up to a half dozen men living in small huts on them.

Johore police said between 200 and 300 men—"maybe more or less"—were believed missing.

New Post Office Area Landscaped By Garden Club

By Mary Fowler

DeBary—"This is a happy moment," described Mrs. Theodore B. Broome, president of the De Bary Garden club as with Mrs. John M. Byrn, chairman of the beautification group and Mrs. Talman Van Arsdale of her committee, she directed the planting of two huge cocos plumosa in front of the new post office.

"Since the day that we placed a notice in the old post office building stating that those interested in forming a Garden club in DeBary would please meet with us in the civic building - and 94 women accepted - there has been most intelligent cooperation with all committees in studying how to make DeBary more beautiful."

"This year we decided on an ambitious project; that of landscaping the new post office grounds. With the help of the Florida Lake Nursery and A. D. Rountree supervising the planting, we feel our investment of $145 is going to pay off in beauty and contentment, plus the attention that it will get from Northern visitors approaching our village."

The ladies posed with shovels and other implements but gratefully handed over the heavy tools to Rountree and his assistants and watched the planting of viburnum, pyracantha, sevarinia cuphea, pittosporum, holly cannaea, podocarpus and Sursum cheries in attractive clusters around the new edifice.

Malenkov Is Said To Be In Budapest

BUDAPEST (AP)—Former Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov was reliably reported today to be in Budapest to bolster the government of Russian-installed Premier Janos Kadar.

An excellent source, who asked not to be quoted by name, said Malenkov now a deputy Soviet premier, arrived in the Hungarian capital, Nov. 23.

This source said it was Malenkov who advised Kadar to change his lenient attitude and resort to harsh measures against still striking Hungarian workers.

This was the explanation given for Kadar's two sharp speeches broadcast Sunday and Monday in which he reversed his former conciliatory attitude in conference with leaders of the workers' council of Greater Budapest.

Although Kadar has stated explicitly that he will add only "non-partisans" to his presently 100 per cent Communist government, he conferred yesterday for three hours with Bela Kovacs, secretary general of the Smallholders party.

Kovacs, who spent more than seven years in Russian prisons and is probably the only person the Hungarian peasantry would accept as their leader had been a minister of state in Imre Nagy's short-lived government at which the Russians overthrew.

What Kadar discussed with Kovacs could not be learned.

Although the Smallholders functioned for only a few days during Nagy's brief regime after being inactive during the long Communist tenure in Hungary, the party undoubtedly would be the most powerful in the country if free elections were held.

Smallholder politicians believe that Malenkov advised Kadar not to tolerate the existence of other political parties until the "Hungarian Socialist Workers party," Kadar's new Communist party is much stronger.

'Porky' Oliver Is In Sanford Today

"Porky" Oliver, playing pro for the Mayfair Inn around the golfing circles of the nation since last December was in Sanford today for a brief one-hour stay.

Oliver, at the Mayfair Inn Country Club and Golf Course this morning, was on his way to West Palm Beach to take part in the tournament there.

Apparently pleased with the excellent condition of the Mayfair Inn Golf Course, Porky Oliver posed for The Sanford Herald pictures just before leaving for the West Palm Beach tournament.

He will be back in Sanford for the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Open in December.

Over 25,000 Hear 'Prayer For Day'

More than 25,000 calls were recorded on the "Prayer For the Day" service here in Sanford, according to the Rev. Phillip Schlessmann, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer who revealed the figures this morning.

The estimate that more than 25,000 Sanford people have heard the "Prayer For the Day" is a "minimum one" said the Rev. Schlessmann and "we believe that the figure will run into thousands more had an accurate count of the number of calls made to the service since Aug. 18 been available."

The "Prayer For the Day" is a public service made available to those who feel the need for a moment away from the cares of the world.

A caller merely asks the telephone operator for 1926 and a 30-second prayer is heard without interference from outside influences.

The service is available 24 hours a day with the prayer changed on the automatic answer service once each day.

No mention of church affiliation is made on the tape recorded prayer which is voiced by the Rev. Phillip Schlessmann. "It is a public service that we are rendering," said Pastor Schlessmann, "and we hope that more and more of our friends throughout the Sanford area will take advantage of the opportunity to use it."

The automatic answering service on which the "Prayer For the Day" is recorded, is made possible through a lease with the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Man Kills Bobcat Tuesday In Swamp

A 20-pound bobcat was killed late yesterday afternoon in the Lake Monroe Swamp just off West First Street.

C. E. Lee who lives in the area said that he has been "seeing tracks" of the hefty animal and decided yesterday to follow them.

"I saw both the male and the female playing in an open field," Lee said as he displayed the bobcat tied to his bicycle handlebars.

The female was killed with one 22 rifle shot through the head at a distance of about 50 yards, Lee said.

"More than likely the male is around," said Lee, "and I'll get him before long."

Lee explained that he was using a bolt action rifle which wasn't quite quick enough to get both of the animals as they played in the openway.

"I've seen only three bobcats in my life," he said, "and this is one of them."
