

Sanford Man To Be One Of Oldest Alumni At March 19 Gator Reunion

Sanford's Jay H. Beck will be one of the oldest alumni at the University of Florida reunion Mar. 19. Beck is one of about three surviving members of the U. of F. class of 1904.

The only other living class member Beck recalls is Gen. A. H. Blanding of Bartow who gave his name to the former Camp Blanding near Starke.

When Beck was in college, the University of Florida was made up of five branches at Gainesville, Bartow, DeFuniak Springs, St. Petersburg and Lake City. The branches merged in 1900. Beck's studies at the Gainesville state military institute branch included bookkeeping, geography and history, arithmetic and spelling. College was a lot different in those days, Beck said Monday.

The 82-year-old Sanford resident has a sheepskin signed by the faculty, naming him as a cadet first lieutenant at the institute. Beck recalls that he was more interested in the military aspects than in the academic side of college life.

The veteran alumnus is a member of the U. of F. "Grand Old Guard," made up of alumni who graduated from the school at least 50 years ago. Members of the class of 1910 will be initiated at the March 19 reunion.

Beck, who still rides the horse he rode as a colt in the 1930's, recalls how a duck hunting adventure put him through a siege of pneumonia at college.

He went duck hunting in Lake Jessup over Christmas vacation and waded waist deep in water to get at the birds. After Beck returned to the campus, his mother had to follow him and nurse him through pneumonia and a 10-degree fever.

Beck was not often the man to hang back.

Once when he had a shoe store on First St., a man walked in whose face Beck recognized although he had never met him.

"The honorable William Jennings Bryan," Beck said as he stepped forward with hand extended.

"In person. Sell me a pair of shoes," the famed political orator replied.

Beck's father and mother were in Sanford before General Henry Sanford arrived. Charles H. Beck and Nancy Beck were here when Indians were all about.

His father left Sanford in 1898 to follow the lure of the Alaskan gold fields. Shortly after his arrival in Alaska he was buried in a snow slide at Dyea, along with more than 75 other persons.

Beck is a lifelong Sanford resident and has lived at the same 419 Magnolia Ave. address since 1915. His old house burned down in 1924 and he put up a new one on the same site. The two story frame house in which Beck was born in 1878 is still standing near the corner of French Ave. and 25th

Ike May Find Nikita's View Changed As Result Of US Tour

WASHINGTON (UPI)—When he goes to the summit and to Moscow in the next few months President Eisenhower may find a changed Nikita Khrushchev, softened in some ways and hardened in others toward the United States.

The Soviet premier was reported to be greatly impressed with the American standard of living, cars, drive-ins, ice boxes and housing during his trip here last September.

Though he has boasted Russia will pass the United States economically in a few years, Khrushchev was said to feel privately that this will be a tremendously difficult task.

He was believed to have high respect for U. S. military strength and to concede that this country could devastate Russia in any war. It is said that one man who does not attach great weight to the "missile gap" is Nikita Khrushchev.

But Khrushchev is firmly convinced that U. S. officials are amateurs at "the art of revolution," a phrase which refers to the struggle between East and West to win the peoples of the world to their side.

Kremlin officials boast that Russia recently invited several thousand Africans to Moscow to study medicine and other subjects while the U. S. Senate was busy having a filibuster over a civil rights bill.

Western circles feel Khrushchev has no doubt that in the long run Russia will take over the world by cold war means. Thus, he sees no need for a catastrophic war and views his military establishment mainly as a deterrent against any Western hostility.

It was this philosophy which recently allowed him to ask the Soviet ambassador to Sweden to nominate him for a Nobel Peace Prize.

U.S. Eats Too Much, NRA Prexy Says

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The head of the National Restaurant Association says Americans eat too fast and too much.

Raymond C. Matson of Omaha, Neb., said Monday Americans have a tendency to bolt their meals and stuff themselves when they should leave the table a little hungry to be completely satisfied.

"This only indicates a lack of food appreciation in a country where 18 billion dollars a year is spent on just eating out," said Matson, who is here for the Southern California Restaurant Association meeting.

But Khrushchev is firmly convinced that U. S. officials are amateurs at "the art of revolution," a phrase which refers to the struggle between East and West to win the peoples of the world to their side.

Kremlin officials boast that Russia recently invited several thousand Africans to Moscow to study medicine and other subjects while the U. S. Senate was busy having a filibuster over a civil rights bill.

Western circles feel Khrushchev has no doubt that in the long run Russia will take over the world by cold war means. Thus, he sees no need for a catastrophic war and views his military establishment mainly as a deterrent against any Western hostility.

Jurors To Resume Deliberating Today In Finch Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Jurors will resume deliberating the fate of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his red-haired mistress today when final parts of the surgeon's testimony in the three-month trial are read.

The reading of the last few pages of the 43-year-old surgeon's testimony about the night his wife was killed was expected to take about an hour.

Then the seven women and five men would return to the jury room to pick up deliberations where they left off Saturday when they asked to hear again Finch's description of the events leading up to the death of Mrs. Barbara Jean Finch last July 18.

Finch and Carol Tregoff, 22, are charged with murdering Mrs. Finch after trying to buy her death. Defense attorneys deny the couple planned to kill her.

If could take the jurors a week or more to reach a verdict—if then.

Excellent Acting, Direction Sparks Sunday Showcase

NEW YORK (UPI)—A touching teleplay about intriguing people was turned into a memorable production on Sunday night's "Sunday Showcase" by excellent acting and direction.

"Turn the Key Deftly," NBC-TV's psychological mystery by Alfred Bester, starred Julie Harris and Maximilian Schell as sweethearts in a traveling circus. Francis Lederer was the impresario.

By pushing and turning a few keys of his own rather deftly, the author built up a sympathy-evoking story that insinuated itself into the marrow.

First, he used as a setting the magic, illusion-filled world of the circus, functioning in a non-illusory world. To this dichotomy he added another: Miss Harris as a schizoid who ranged from a good, fantasy-oriented girl to a "twin sister" who was world-based and evil.

Max Schell's intrusion into her life, or lives, led to Miss Harris' murder. He started out as a non-sensense architect. Once he was diverted into the circus life by his father's demise, he learned to love the people and their circus fakery even though he lacked the fullest appreciation of their instincts. The murder occurred after Schell married Miss Harris and discovered he would be going through life, not with her sweet girl he courted, but with her evil "twin."

That is where Bester's story failed. The author apparently wanted to show the havoc that occurs when literal-minded people intrude upon the world of fantasy. But the havoc in this case was murder and Schell's subsequent insanity. So it was essential that the damage be convincing. Schell's act of murder did not seem to be a natural development. It came as a sudden, jarring climax and smacked of expediency.

The actors performed the quiet, superb authority and understanding. Director George Schaefer's contributions were unflatteringly effective. His use of closeups, bands and mirrors (both shattered mirrors and whole ones) added dimension and much of the impact to this quietly told story.

more debits than conviction.

Saturday Night's CBS-TV production of "Treasure Island" was a smashing success, if I judge my 7-year-old son's reaction at all accurately. He's now asking about a repeat and demanding that I read the book to him. He had only two complaints: "They didn't show the pirate flag," and "they never showed the writing on the treasure map." Those items just can't be ignored in such productions.

I'm inclined to agree with my boy's enthusiasm over this latest "Du Pont Show of the Month," although I felt it moved a bit too quickly to allow for the fullest savoring of the suspense, the meanings of those scurrious pirates and the heroism of the good guys. Especially rousing performances by Hugh Griffith, Boris Karloff, Barry Morse and George Rose.

The Channel Swim: The hour-long mystery series "Thriller," with Boris Karloff as the host, will replace NBC-TV's Friday night night series next fall... Part of Leonard Bernstein's next CBS-TV special, on Sunday, March 13, will find him and the New York Philharmonic comparing the use of rhythm in music with Shakespeare's poetry... Thelonious Monk, a "way" out jazz pianist, will be seen on ABC-TV's "Music for a Summer Night" Wednesday, March 16... Jeff Chandler will play the title role in "David," the two-hour long Biblical drama being produced for ABC-TV by William Goetz. Filming starts in Israel early in May.

Sleet, Snow Pelt South, Other Areas

By United Press International
A new late winter storm pelted the South with sleet, snow and cold rain today.

It spread a new blanket of snow and ice atop the remnants of a record ice storm that struck Dixie a week ago. Highways were icy and hazardous and ice coating the streets turned to slush as the temperature rose slowly.

But there was deep snow and a hard freeze in the Appalachians—measuring up to 15 inches in southwest Virginia and half a foot in the Johnson City, Tenn., area. Heavy snow occurred across the top of Tennessee and through the Carolinas.

Lighter snowfalls reached as far south as Macon, Ga., and the southwest quarter of South Carolina. Hundreds of schools were forced to close by the snow that reached across the mountains and Piedmont area of North Carolina.

Most of Tennessee had sleet and freezing rain and similar weather struck northern Alabama, slowly recovering from the worst ice storm on record in that area.

Much of the Corn Belt turned into a snow belt and travelers, school children, factory workers and even coal miners were forced to stay home.

Shortly after dawn, a foot of snow was piled on usually busy, industrial Evansville, Ind. Bowling Green, Ky., reported an incredible 18 inches of snow in the latest storm; London, Ky., had 14 inches.

Counters Wanted

Examinations for positions as Sanford census enumerators will be given Thursday from 2 to 4 p. m. at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce building on First St.

Only persons living within the Sanford city limits are eligible for the positions. Sanford census crew worker Mrs. Ralph Smith said today. Persons who want to be enumerators, but are unable to be at the exams Thursday should call Mrs. Smith at FA 2-4368. Efforts are being made to have the districts small enough that census takers can make their count without transportation.

Adjustment Board Grants Appeal

Sanford's Board of Adjustment decided Tuesday to classify real estate and insurance offices as professional offices.

The board made the decision after an appeal from Cullen and Harkey Real Estate that they be allowed to build a real estate and insurance office at the northeast corner of 22nd St. and Park Ave. This land is zoned R 2 for professional offices.

Sanford Building Inspector M. A. Wellington told board members that they were determining whether a real estate and insurance business was allowed in a professional zone. Mrs. Mable A. Cullen and Mrs. Dorothy V. Harkey were not applying for a permit to build in the R-2 zone.

Though the board's decision is a matter of professional standards, it doesn't define what a professional person is. It does say that professional buildings should be similar to residential dwellings and may have only one non-lighted sign with the name of the occupant on it.

Mrs. Cullen and Mrs. Harkey plan to have their real estate operation in one part of the building and to have insurance offices in another part. There will be an 18 by 80 foot off-street parking area.

Ex-Deputy Enters Constable Contest

O. G. Owen of Sanford said he will qualify today or tomorrow for District 4 constable.

Owen, who ran for sheriff in 1954, was chief deputy sheriff in Seminole County from 1953-55. He is now a conductor for the ACL Railroad.

The 44-year-old native of Ponce de Leon, Minn., is a member of the Central Florida Chapter of the National Sheriffs' Assn. and has been a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen for 21 years. He is a member of the National Sheriffs' Assn. and is a past member of the Sanford Lions Club. Owen lives at 2205 Palmolive Ave. and has been a Sanford resident for 18 years. He is married and has a 16-year-old son, Glenn Owen Jr.

Owen said Tuesday that he is a staunch believer in segregation and believes that schools and public recreation areas should be kept segregated.

"I will promise the people of the Fourth District of Seminole County that if elected I will do everything within the powers of that office to open that district," Owen said.

"I also believe that equal facilities should be made available to both races.

"I promise the people of this district to administer the duties and responsibilities of this office as set forth in the Florida statutes by the state legislature and this I promise to do in a prompt, friendly and courteous manner," Owen said.

Gatchel, McCanna To Seek Posts

Tax Assessor Richard McCanna and Circuit Court Clerk David Gatchel told a large crowd at the Sanford Shrine Club Tuesday night they will qualify for their respective posts within the next few days.

Both men, along with nine other candidates, answered questions from the floor in a meeting called by the Seminole County Citizens for Progress group.

All candidates polled on a controversial tax equalization issue said they favored full cash valuations.

Candidates who appeared before the group were T. V. Brown, and J. C. Hutchison, both running for the District 1 county commission post; Ted Williams, running for the vacant District 2 commission post; Ois Fouracre and James Avery, opponents for the District 3 post; Homer Little and John Fitzpatrick, running for the District 4 post; and Robert J. L. Hobbs.

All gave a brief run-down on what they hope to accomplish if elected.

McCanna spoke on the job his office is doing, and the increase in valuations in 1959.

Gatchel told the group he plans to announce his platform within the next few days.

County Commission chairman and present commissioner for District 1 John Krider spoke to the group briefly on progress in the county citing industrial gains.

Krider, this morning, said he still is undecided on whether he will seek another term.

No one qualified as of noon today.

Carroll Candidate In Constable Race

R. E. Carroll qualified Monday as a candidate for constable from Seminole County's District 4.

Carroll, seeking his first term as constable, has been a county resident for the past 15 years and now lives in Pella. A native of Ohio, Carroll has been a deputy sheriff under J. L. Hobby and Denver Cordell. He has been a bookkeeper for the H. C. Kastner Co. for 11 years.

Carroll is a member of the Sanford Lions Club, the Florida Peace Officers Assn. and the National Sheriffs Assn. A member of the Methodist Church, Carroll is the father of two daughters, Carol Ann and Darlene, who are students at Christian Home and Bible School, Mt. Dora.

Carroll said he is seeking the constable post on the basis of his past experience. He believes in "honest, efficient law enforcement and bringing to Seminole County the best protection the county can get."

"We owe this to ourselves and our children," Carroll said.

Rescuers Reach Navy Plane Wreck

JERES DE MARQUESADO, Spain (UPI)—American and Spanish rescue teams today reached the wreckage of a U. S. Navy transport plane that crashed-landed on a mountain peak in a raging snowstorm Tuesday with 24 persons aboard.

The rescue teams radioed that all aboard survived but that 13 were in "critical condition." The plane was carrying 18 passengers and a crew of six.

Elementary School For North Orlando Studied

BY JACK PHILLIPS
The County School Board is definitely interested in putting an elementary school within the North Orlando Council Tuesday night.

Jackson said Mayor Ray Liddick showed the school board four possible school sites within the village, but a report from the board had not been received.

School Supt. R. T. Milwee said today that a survey team will be here in October to see what kind of school should be put in the village.

Jackson, presiding over the meeting in the absence of Mayor Liddick, said that North Orlando is assured of house-to-house mail delivery by June. This will be mail delivery to a box in front of each house.

Donald Ford of 181 Cortez Dr. asked the council what the prospects were for organizing a North Orlando volunteer fire department.

Councilman Frank Fasula said the department would need a fire engine and he didn't think village residents could be assessed for this.

Ford said he thought residents would contribute money if they knew it was for a fire engine.

Fasula, Jackson and Ford agreed that a volunteer fire department would lower village insurance rates and would be an inducement to surrounding homes to come into the village limits.

"I agree with Mr. Ford that the fire department is our next step," Jackson said. Fasula will find the cost of different types of firefighting equipment by the next meeting.

G. W. Pettit of 80 S. Cortez Dr. complained to the council about dogs running loose in North Orlando. He asked for an ordinance to compel residents to leash their dogs.

Robert E. Johnson of the Sanford Humane Society was present and said that the society, though just getting started, would be able to help by picking up stray dogs.

Jackson said that plans for the 24-home addition to North Orlando are progressing and that houses should start going up there within the next few weeks.

Jackson said that the developer, Perry Willett, has left room for a church and school area in the development on the Longwood-Orlando Rd. between Wade St. and Sherry Ave.

The FHA is expected to approve more than 100 lots in the south section of North Orlando. This will be the next site of village expansion, Jackson said. He said the council that drainage of the proposed recreation area in the northwest section of the village will probably be accomplished by digging a small lake and using the fill to build up the surrounding land. The site is more than four acres.

Raises Granted

The legislative reference bureau authorized a 5 per cent increase for state employees but granted the Cabinet Budget Commission authority to give higher increases where justified.

18 Miners Trapped By Gas, Fire

LOGAN, W. Va. (UPI)—A rescue team struggled desperately today to reach 18 miners trapped deep underground since Tuesday morning.

West Virginia Mines Director Crawford L. Wilson said that an eight-man rescue team equipped with oxygen masks may reach the trapped men "in a few hours."

The team moved past the area where fire had blacked the tunnel until early today.

Wilson said the men could have survived if they built a barrier of coal to protect themselves from gas and fire caused by a slate fall.

The rescue team entered the mine along with 40 other men and began groping through the gas and smoke-filled tunnel. The others, carrying tools and timber, began shoring up the roof and walls of the tunnel to prevent further cave-ins and attempted to extinguish the blaze.

Wilson said the rescue team moved past the fire by "clearing a passway around it."

The miners were entombed 485 feet below the surface—about two miles from the pithead.

Officials first expressed optimism that the trapped men would be reached alive, then said deadly carbon monoxide gas may have filtered through to the spot where the miners were located.

Two survivors who climbed their way around the maze of flames and fallen timber for 2,500 feet to reach safely also feared for the lives of the trapped men.

Willis Carter, 46, Verdunville, W. Va., who had designed the mine's ventilating system, led one other man out of the pit and pleaded with the others to follow him.

"I kept talking to the men to get them to come with me just they all looked like they were in shock."

Carter gave the remainder of his party little hope to survive unless they joined six others 1,200 feet farther back and built a wall of coal to prevent the fire-caused gases from suffocating them.

Complete Democratic returns gave Kennedy 42,969 votes as compared with Kefauver's 1956 total of 21,701. Chicago pen manufacturer Paul C. Fisher had 6,674 votes and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) polled 375 write-ins.

Complete returns on the Republican side gave Nixon 65,077 votes to 56,464 for President Eisenhower in 1956. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York had 2,800 write-in votes and Fisher piled up an impressive 1,087 in the GOP poll.

Interpretation of the big Fisher vote as compared with Rockefeller's was clouded by the fact that Rockefeller withdrew from the primary contest early in the game while Fisher campaigned actively, although as a Democrat.

The balloting was heavy, with 500,000 voters apparently lured to the polling booths by a campaign brawl involving Kennedy, Nixon and Nixon's state campaign manager, Gov. Wesley Powell.

Latin American Relations At All Time High, Ike Says

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower told the nation Tuesday night that U.S. relations with Latin America are at an "all-time high" but conceded there are some "serious misunderstandings."

In a 15-minute radio-TV report on his 10-day trip to Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Uruguay, Eisenhower declared that "no other area of the world is of more vital significance to our future" than Latin America.

He said "an even firmer partnership" with the nations south of the border must be the U. S. goal.

Eisenhower reported that he had found Latin America "a vast reservoir of respect, admiration and affection for the United States of America."

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said the United States eventually might have to consider breaking relations with Cuba, but that he hopes things would never come to that stage.

Herter told a news conference that no consideration is being given at this time to such drastic action despite Premier Fidel Castro's apparent determination to keep trouble stirred up between the two countries.

Sen. Neuberger's Death Halts Civil Rights Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate called a halt in its bitter civil rights fight today because of the death of Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) but arranged for a showdown vote Thursday on a gag rule.

Neuberger, the first Democrat elected from Oregon to the United States Senate in 40 years, died early today after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage.

The 47-year-old author and politician had been resting at home for several weeks, convalescing from a series of virus attacks and a bout with the shingles when he was stricken suddenly at 6 p. m. Tuesday.

Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson told the Senate he would like to recess early today out of respect to Neuberger, but the vote Thursday afternoon on the bipartisan Senate limitation motion.

Orlando Men Face Intimidation Probe

ORLANDO (UPI)—The Justice Department official in charge of a federal grand jury probe of Teamster Union activities in Florida revealed Tuesday he had reported two Orlando men for attempted intimidation of witnesses.

James T. Dowd said the men he named were Orange County Deputy George W. McEachran and former Deputy Donald W. Elms.

Dowd said Elms took pictures of both jurors and witnesses with a miniature camera outside the jury room last week. He said Elms was also taking the names of those photographed and McEachran was checking the work.

Dowd said both were employed by a Miami firm of private investigators believed to be working for Ben Cohen, Cohen of Miami, has described himself as personal attorney for Teamsters President James R. Hoffa.

Driver Escapes As Car Hits Train

A car hit a moving train on the SR 406 Westborough railroad crossing early today but the car's Winter Park driver escaped injury.

A car driven by James Okey Bragg of Winter Park came around a curve too fast as Bragg was approaching the tracks. Highway Patrolman William Stringfield reported. Bragg's car hit the freight train broadside and was dragged 80 feet. Damage to the car amounted to $700.

The accident happened shortly after midnight between Westborough and Forest City. Bragg was charged with reckless driving.

Kennedy Cuts New Hampshire Margin Of GOP

MANCHESTER, N. H. (UPI)—Both Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon polled record votes in New Hampshire's bell-weather presidential primary but the Republicans appeared today to be losing their grip on the state.

Nixon easily topped President Eisenhower's 1956 vote. Kennedy doubled the 1956 total piled up by Sen. Estes Kefauver and loosened the GOP's traditional 2-1 hold on the electorate.

On the basis of virtually complete returns, Kennedy polled two votes for every three Nixon ballots in the preference polls. There was no direct contest, the party primaries being separate, but the comparative vote was significant.

Complete Democratic returns gave Kennedy 42,969 votes as compared with Kefauver's 1956 total of 21,701. Chicago pen manufacturer Paul C. Fisher had 6,674 votes and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) polled 375 write-ins.

Complete returns on the Republican side gave Nixon 65,077 votes to 56,464 for President Eisenhower in 1956. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York had 2,800 write-in votes and Fisher piled up an impressive 1,087 in the GOP poll.

Interpretation of the big Fisher vote as compared with Rockefeller's was clouded by the fact that Rockefeller withdrew from the primary contest early in the game while Fisher campaigned actively, although as a Democrat.

The balloting was heavy, with 500,000 voters apparently lured to the polling booths by a campaign brawl involving Kennedy, Nixon and Nixon's state campaign manager, Gov. Wesley Powell.

Bryant Cites Necessity For New University

By United Press International
Gubernatorial candidate C. Farria Bryant of Ocala, said today a four-year university should be built in Florida for students from North, Central and South America "as a step forward in hemisphere relations."

He said there would be "certain geographic advantages in locating the school in South Florida."

Titan Failure Mars Test Success

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—A Titan missile failure to trigger its second stage marred America's attempt Tuesday to score a "one-two" test success with its two mightiest war rockets.

Missilemen were left with a "success and a half" to show for their efforts with the Atlas and Titan, both intercontinental ballistic missiles. The 82-foot tall Atlas rumbled 6,300 miles across the Atlantic to tack another success to its record—now 21 in a row.

Five hours later, the 98-foot tall Titan left its pad in what appeared to be a normal launch. Two minutes and four seconds later, the booster stage dropped away.

But the second stage, biggest ever to operate in flight, failed to ignite. The Titan fell far short of the intended range of about 3,000 miles.

Tangerines For Dessert

MODERN PEOPLE ENTERTAIN as lavishly as their ancestors did but the style is quite different. Table settings and menus are streamlined but the quality is there. A favorite dessert used to be fruit and cheese. Our festive meals do not consist of as many courses as the privileged used to enjoy but they are still rich and satisfying. Juicy fruit and mellow cheese are still the favored dessert. Tangerines were once regarded as a luxury. Because of the attractive prices this year, they should be found in fruit bowls, lunch bowls and on the tables. They are a good source of vitamin C. Hostesses may serve them as dessert in their living rooms. Tangerines can be piled high in a bowl and each guest peels his own easily, no fuss and bother. They didn't earn the name "zipper-skinned" for nothing. They are refreshing after dinner and compatible with a variety of cheese flavors.

Growth And Care Of Belgian Begonias

According to the Belgian Begonia Growers Association, this is the method by which Tuberous Begonias are grown successfully. These plants were determined after many years of research and experimentation.

BEFORE PLANTING

Before planting, open the bags as soon as possible to admit air and place in a cool but not cold place. Tuberous Begonias will not endure outdoor conditions until all danger of frost is past. However, in order to advance the flowering season, tubers can be planted in pots or flats and brought into a warm room. The started plants can then be transferred to the open garden when weather conditions are favorable.

SPROUTING AND PLANTING

Tubers should not be planted before a sprout begins to show. The planting medium can vary but usually it should be a mixture of leafmold and sand, or peat moss and sand. The tubers should be spaced evenly in shallow boxes such as nursery flats, allowing sufficient space for heavy root development. They should be completely covered, no more than one half inch deep with only the sprout tips showing, for the roots develop from the top and sides of tubers.

Water well after planting and do not water again until they show dryness. The flat is then placed in strong light but shielded from direct rays. 60-65 degrees is satisfactory; 66-70 degrees temperature will hasten growth. Foliage will be avoided if there is no excess moisture or too low temperature. Either can cause the tubers to decay. Moisture is important for if the growing medium is too dry, the tubers will not grow. Starting of begonia is very slow and can be hastened, but once the shoots are out, development becomes more rapid, especially if the temperature is right. Direct sunlight should be carefully avoided.

TRANSPLANTING

When plants attain a height of about four inches, they are ready to be moved. They can be transplanted either into pots, window boxes or to the outdoor garden. For pot or box culture, the recommended soil mixture is equal parts of good loam, sand, leafmold or peat moss and whatever possible, rotted manure. If this is not available, use a balanced fertilizer such as 5-5-5 as directed by the manufacturer.

POSTING

Begonias do not root deeply so that shallow saucer pots are preferable. Allow one tuber to a pot measuring on a side between four and seven inches depending upon the size of the tuber. A piece of broken pot or flat stone over the drainage hole in the pot will

Girl Scout Diary

BROWNIE SCOUT 104 bid a sad farewell to Carolyn Robertson at their last meeting. Carolyn, along with her sister, Sally, and her mother, Mrs. Gordon Robertson, left last week for Olathe, Kan., where Sally and Carolyn will reside while Mrs. Robertson joins Cdr. Robertson, who is in Europe.

The brownies gathered in gypsy costumes at the home of their leader, Mrs. Olin Boutwell in Loel Arbor. At a cook-out. After hearing stories about gypsies the girls gathered under an archway. They formed the traditional Scout friendship ring and made secret wishes for Carolyn. As she left the group, she stopped on stepping stones that had farewell good wishes written on them.

Saying goodbye to Carolyn were: Dorie Bach, Ella Boutwell, Sally Carman, Jeanne Fletcher, Patty Fletcher, Deborah Goers, Candy Hartwig, Leslie Hartwig, Susan Hartwig, Kay Kimmons, Nancy Moore, Pamela Pigott, Elizabeth Rodgers, Diane Sorokowski, Bonny Van Pelt, Lucia Wallace, and Mary Beth Williams. Assisting Mrs. Boutwell was her co-leader, Mrs. Milton Sorokowski.

TROOP 378
BROWNIE TROOP 378 made invitations to the Girl Scout Fair out of construction paper to send to their parents. On the outside they decorated the invitations effectively with the Girl Scout emblem and outlined it with a white waxy material. Girls in the troop are Terry Chevalier, Constance DeJong, Valeria Hamilton, Starr Harrison, Sherry Hastings, Mary Ellen Hoffman, Diana Huskin, Joyce Jones, Janet Lewis, Mary Margaret Reynolds, Pamela Reynolds, Kathy Todd, Judy Washburn, and Susan White.

The previous week the girls met at the home of their leader, Mrs. R. A. Smith and practiced their skills in home-making by making candied apples. They not only fixed the apples but helped clean up the kitchen afterwards. Mrs. C. D. Schoonover, assistant leader, worked with the girls, also.

TROOP 14
 Brownies from Troop 14, Sunland Estates, enjoyed a cook-out on the beach, Saturday. The girls cooked their own lunch over an open fire.

Everyone had seconds, much to the delight of the three cooks, Sharon Parant, Dixie Holmes and Janet Lewis. They made a refreshing drink, and served carrot sticks and buttered French bread.

The troop is composed of two patrols and as a special event one patrol laid a trail and the other had to try and follow it.

The cook-out was held at the Scout Camp on Silver Lake. Other girls present were Linda Pigott, Karen Williams, Debbie Clark, Janice Clark, Karen deYarman, Donna Merritt, Neola Montfort, Maria McArthur, Patricia Jones and Margaret Wilson.

Each girl was assigned a special job. More cook-outs are planned in the very near future.

Boat And Ski Club To Meet March 17

Both the date and meeting place of the Sanford Boat and Ski Club has been changed. They will now meet the first and third Thursdays of each month at the city recreation office on East First St.

The next meeting will be March 17 at 8 p. m. All members are urged to attend.

SPRING SUIT CARE
 Spring suits, skirts and slacks are easy to care for if you have a clothes dryer. Place them in the dryer drum with two damp bath towels and tumble for 3 minutes. Hang carefully on wood or plastic hangers until dry. Finger press seams and brush lightly.

For cookouts comin' up, there's a portable lantern that stands alone on a table or can be mounted on a pole or bracket. The lamp burns for 30 hours on one can of fuel. It resists 100-mile winds and is smokeless and sootless.

Belgian-Sweet Potato Bake
 The time-tested trio of sausage, sweet potatoes and apples appears in new form — a one-dish meal with special appeal for the sweet tooth crowd. Serve this delectable, spicy casserole the next time your youngsters' friends come for dinner, with mugs of milk and crisp lettuce-and-tomato salads.

Recovery From Heart Ailment Can Include Some Activity

In the past some doctors have subscribed to the theory, "The longer you rest after a heart attack, the better." A patient was told by his doctor to go home and stay in bed for six months. Fortunately he sought other advice and spared himself the consequences of quite a complete breakdown.

Many are now about and outside within six weeks, and if they are fortunate enough to have office or relatively light jobs, they can be back to work within eight weeks. By the end of ten to twelve weeks the average patient is able to return to moderately strenuous work. Patients after a heart attack may be compared to athletes out of training. General strength does not return through rest alone but through a guided balance between rest and increasing activity. All too often we have seen patients three to four months after a coronary attack who wish to discuss returning to their old jobs involuntarily.

who require reassurance regarding ability to go back to their old jobs or who need guidance in finding new or more suitable employment. Between two-thirds and three-quarters of patients after coronary attacks have been able to return to gainful employment.

An outline for them is a month of progressive walking, light work around home and getting out into the world before they are in trim for their jobs. Often unwarranted fears must be overcome in getting these people going, but with development of confidence and increased muscular and circulatory tone, they will soon be ready to resume self support and employment.

THE HONOR of having the "Garden of the Month" goes to Mrs. Harry Lee, Sr., who lives in a grey French farm house located on the corner of E. Second and Shirley St. Her neatly kept green lawn is bright with ixora, geraniums, white alyssum, nasturtiums, snapdragons — and very lovely gerbera daisies. However, Mrs. Lee said that recent winds have been playing havoc with her garden. She does her own yard work, with some help, and next to playing with her grandchildren it gives her the most pleasure.

MRS. LEE

The Lees built their charming home only three years ago and have done a lot of yard planning since that time.

This weekend Mr. and Mrs. Lee had as their guests, his sister, Mrs. R. F. Curry and her daughter, Mrs. Joe Waters and children, Jimmy and Leslie of Savannah, Ga. And, of course, they all visited back and forth with Mrs. Lee's and Mrs. Curry's mother, Mrs. W. P. Brooks of 417 West 2nd street.

COMBINING BUSINESS AND PLEASURE, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Morris recently stayed at the Ponce De Leon hotel in St. Augustine. They were there when the Gay Ninety Ball was held in the Gold Ballroom of that colorful hotel—and they joined other tourists in doing a lot of sight-seeing of the many historic places.

STILL BUBBLING WITH EXCITEMENT—but oh, so sleepy, were the five young girls who arrived home Sunday after a five-day whirl about Washington, D. C. with their host, J. Bralley Odham. Betty Odham, Barbara Smith, Michele Jones, Linda Robson and Faye Kams had name-engraved autograph books (given to them by Mr. Odham) filled with signatures of many VIP's that they met while away—They observed a session of Congress, visited the Senate, toured the White House and from early morning 'till late at night were busy seeing all the many places of interest. One day they were luncheon guests of Congressman Syd Herlong—also never to be forgotten was the Italian restaurant where they were serenaded by strolling singers—and the rollicking good time they had tossing snowballs in front of the Mayflower Hotel where they had a suite of rooms.

BEFORE MOVING, Virginia (Mrs. Hal) Lang was guest of honor at a bridge-luncheon given by Millie (Mrs. Irving) Feinberg and Mrs. Amy Rust at the Feinberg home. Guests were Creola Higginbotham, Lorraine Langford, Ty Ramage, Hazel Towell, Pat Murphy, Betty McCracken, Lassie Smith, Lucy Yates and Mary McCumber.

MISS NANCY FOSTER, chairman of the DOES dance last Saturday night, told me they had a successful evening—Ed Russell's orchestra from Orlando furnished music and the Elk's Club was attractively decorated with a profusion of spring flowers for the occasion.

FOUR SANFORD COUPLES had complimentary things to say about the smorgasbord served at Ryman's restaurant in Deland—dining there one night recently were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Gramkow, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crumley, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Silvers and Judge and Mrs. Vella Williams, Jr. After dinner they spent the remainder of the evening playing bridge at the Crumley's home.

ANN (Mrs. William) MEYERS is the woman who stays busy at the "Little Red School House" (as it is called in Sanford) and her seven pupils, exceptional children, range in ages from three to around 11 years old. A native of Iowa, Ann is a Navy wife who has lived here for two years with her husband and seven year old son, Steven, on Bradshaw Dr. in Country Club. She is a Sunday School teacher at the United Lutheran Church and also is active in public school work.

MRS. MEYERS

This young woman says of her work, "It is an inspiration—learn something new every day!" She stresses good health habits and learning to share and play together.

Betsy (Mrs. David) Laude, president of the Seminole Association for Retarded Children, said that the school has the facilities to handle more children.

MEMBERS OF a Canasta Club that have been meeting monthly for several years had another enjoyable evening together Saturday night when they met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Wells on Magnolia Ave. The hostess served what sounds like a "real glamour" dessert—meringue, tinted green, topped with fresh strawberries and peaches and lime sherbert. Other club members present were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Redding, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Harper, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Monforten, Mr. and Mrs. George Sime and Colonel and Mrs. Paul Chesterton.

Mrs. Pennington Hostess To Dorcas S. S. Class

Mrs. Eugene Pennington was hostess at the March meeting of the Dorcas Sunday School Class of First Baptist Church.

Good Eating From Idaho

REALLY GOOD STUFFED POTATOES — Bake the desired number of "Idahos," scrubbed but not oiled, in a 400 to 450 degree F. (hot) oven to make a crisp skin. Test for doneness with a thin skewer so as not to mar the skin. When tender, roll each in mittened hands; add top off lengthwise. Scoop out potato; whip or rice. Add enough hot milk or cream to make fluffy, some butter, salt, pepper. Or use thick, dairy-soured cream and snipped chives, adding shredded Cheddar or Swiss cheese if you like. Refill potato shells, piling high. Top with butter, cheese if desired. Return to hot oven to heat and brown, 10 to 15 minutes. May be cooled, wrapped individually in heavy foil, and quick frozen for later use.

Try New Recipes For Lenten Season

If you are interested in a satisfying little luncheon dish during the Lenten Season try the following recipe.

EASY BAKED TUNA AND MACARONI

1 can creole style macaroni with mushrooms
1 7-oz. can tuna
1 tablespoon margarine
1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

METHOD: Empty macaroni into mixing bowl. Drain oil from tuna, add to macaroni, break up tuna meat but leave in fairly large pieces and mix lightly. Pile macaroni mixture into 4 individual shell-shaped baking dishes. Melt margarine in small skillet, stir in crumbs, remove from heat and mix in cheese.

Sprinkle crumb mixture over macaroni. Place on cookie sheet and bake in hot (400 degrees) oven until hot through and bubbly—about 15 minutes. Shells may be put under broiler for a few seconds, if desired, to brown topping a bit more. Makes 4 servings. Serve with salad, hot bread and beverage.

Republicans Say Like To Veto Bill Aiding Builders

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republicans predicted today that President Eisenhower would veto a billion-dollar Democratic bill designed to encourage homebuilding if it ever reached his desk.

Opponents expressed confidence they could push the measure through the House. But they were less optimistic about the bill's chances in the Senate.

The legislation is modeled after the 1958 anti-recession housing bill. It would funnel federal funds into the purchase of government-backed mortgages on new homes in the moderate and low-priced field.

The House Banking Committee approved the measure Tuesday by a 247-vote party line vote.

Rep. Albert Rains (D-Ala.), sponsor of the bill and chairman of a housing subcommittee, said emergency action was needed to reverse a slump in homebuilding and forestall any new economic recession.

Republicans contended that "irresponsible spending proposals of this type must be stopped."

Other congressional news:
Military Construction: The House was expected to approve and send to the Senate a $1,184,000,000 military construction authorization bill. The measure is $200,000,000 smaller than President Eisenhower requested.

Atomic Power: Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) urged Congress to authorize immediate construction of nuclear power plants at the three U. S. bases in Antarctica. Jackson said the plants, priced at less than $10 million apiece, would cut the cost of power, light and heat at the South Pole installations by 75 per cent over 20 years.

Cycling Safety Suggestions Made

CHICAGO (UPI)—With spring heating and many youngsters taking to the road on bicycles, the Chicago Motor Club offers these suggestions:

1. Yield right-of-way to pedestrians.
2. Keep two hands on the handlebars except when signaling a turn or stop.
3. Ride single file close to the sidewalk side of the highway.
4. Obey all traffic signals.
5. Keep bell, brakes and lights in especially good condition.

Cry Of Politics Erupts In Feud Over Princess

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two corn state peaches are involved today in a tart rhubarb. A congressman says the apple of his eye is the victim of a political plum.

Democratic Rep. Mervin Coad of Iowa charged that 19-year-old Marilyn Canby was picked to be the state's princess at the annual cherry blossom festival here by a "phantom organization" working in cahoots with Republicans.

Miss Canby, a student at American University, told United Press International she wanted no part in the bitter cherry scrap. But she said she was "thrilled" at her selection and was "looking forward" to the April 5-10 festival.

Coad wrote the Washington Board of Trade, festival sponsor, that Iowa's princess crown should go to Sandi Ann Lovelace, 19-year-old daughter of the state's Democratic Gov. Herschel C. Lovelace.

Miss Canby was selected by the Iowa State Society run by its secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Ralph S. Gromann.

"Insofar as all but a very few Iowans in Washington are concerned," Coad wrote, "selection of the state's cherry blossom princess in recent years has been a process shrouded in mystery."

He said the only knowledge he had of Mrs. Gromann's group was that she held a brunch once a year, and that a president, always an Iowa GOP congressman, was named each year who selected the princess.

Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa) is this year's president.

On the other hand, Coad said Miss Lovelace (who hasn't been heard from yet) was picked "at an open meeting of a properly organized Iowa state society," a newly formed group to which Coad belongs.

Coad conceded that the Conference of State Societies had recognized Miss Canby as Iowa's princess. But he said he wanted his protest brought to the attention of the Board of Trade anyway.

Expert Says Bomb Report 'Fairy Tale'

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Soviet atomic expert V. S. Emeloyanov said Tuesday night a report that Communist China will explode its first atomic bomb this month is a "fairy tale."

Experts on Communist Chinese affairs in London and Tokyo agreed that there was little possibility the report was true.

Member of parliament Dr. Raghuvira made his claim to the legislature Monday and repeated it in a UPI interview Tuesday. He said the bomb would be exploded at 9 a. m. March 26 in Shikang Province.

Emeloyanov, chairman of the Soviet Atomic Energy Utilization Board, commented on the claim at a news conference. Asked if China has produced an atomic bomb, he said: "God knows." But he indicated he himself did not believe it.

He is touring India in connection with possible Soviet plans to cooperate on peaceful atomic energy projects.

U. S. Icebreaker Aids Danish Ship

ABOARD U.S.S. GLACIER NEAR ANTARCTICA (Delayed) — (UPI)—The U. S. Navy's most powerful icebreaker led the Danish icebreaker Kista Dan to the safety of open waters today.

The husky Glacier tore through the last of a 64-mile pack of ice at 3:20 Tuesday afternoon with the red-hulled Scandinavian ship close astern.

The Kista Dan, carrying Sir Vivian Fuchs' expedition, had been trapped for 16 days at the eastern end of the Bellingshausen Sea at the entrance to Marguerite Bay.

Before the Glacier freed it, dangerous pressure ice had tipped the Kista Dan 12 degrees.

Fuchs, in a message to the Glacier's Capt. Philip Porter, expressed thanks on behalf of his expedition and the Kista Dan crew members.

Covington Covers Sports

By JERRY COVINGTON
To an old Greyhound fan, last Sunday was a delightful day.

As soon as I learned that my buddy, Joe Bonikowski, was scheduled to start on the mound in the Senators intra-squad game, I immediately made my way to Tinker field just as fast as I could go. When I got there, Bonko was already on the mound and who else would he be facing then Harmon Killbrew, last year's home-run champ. He gave him a blazing fast ball and then a curve. With the third pitch he came in with a beautiful change-up and "Killer" topped it timidly to third and this ended the inning. They got one run earlier in the inning and from here on out Joe was very sharp and effective.

In the second inning there came a time when I had mixed emotions. Joe had retired the first two men without any difficulty and the next man he had to face was last year's Sanford teammate, Jake Jacobs. Of course, I was pulling for both Joe and Jake throughout the game and it was hard to choose whether I should pull for a strike out or a base knock. Joe got two by Jake and then he gave him the fat one right down the middle and Jake lined it sharply to center for a single.

Joe went three innings and his final time out he had to face big Harmon again. This time he used his same effective change-up and got Harmon on a ground-er to third.

For a 19 year old kid, I would say that

Joe was outstanding. The Nata are loaded with power and he came through with all the poise and confidence when he faced these seasoned veterans.

After the game we had a nice chat and Joe was very calm about the fine job he had done. He said, "you know, Jer, I have found that it's a lot easier to throw against these guys because you know that you really have to bear down on every pitch and you usually get it across the plate."

Joe is very confident about his chances to make the majors and, although he will probably be sent somewhere for seasoning, he feels that if he gets his curve working that he will be in the big time.

While Joe was busy on the mound, our friend Jake also was making his bid to stick with the big club. Besides the single off Joe in the second inning, he hit a booming triple down the right field line in the 12th inning. It would have been a double for most players but, with Jake's speed, he stretched it into a triple and later raced home on a long fly. He didn't get any defensive tries in the outfield but when they see him work in the "pasture" I am sure that the Nat brass will be impressed.

These two youngsters will be in the lineup a great deal during the Grapefruit League season, so plan to go down and see them in action. The Nata open up in Orlando Sunday when they face the Detroit Tigers.

Defending Champs Look Impressive

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Defending champion Tennessee A&I and high-scoring West Virginia Wesleyan clash tonight in the feature contest of the 23rd annual NAIA basketball tournament.

Each team was impressive in Tuesday's first-round action. West Virginia Wesleyan routing Valley City (N.D.) 79-54 and Tennessee A&I trouncing Midwestern (Tex.) 82-62.

Tennessee A&I, the top-seeded team in the week-long tournament sponsored by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, has won the title here the past three years. The Tigers displayed the same type of hard handling and fine shooting in Tuesday's game which carried them to an unprecedented three consecutive championships.

Your Tennessee A&I players scored 20 points or better against the Texans, with guard Porter Moriwether's 26 points leading the attack.

West Virginia Wesleyan was paced by James McDonald and Bill Smith. McDonald was high scorer with 24 points, while Smith hit 11 of 11 from the floor and one of one from the free throw line for 23 points.

The two century-plus scoring clubs are scheduled to meet at 7 p.m. first-round action concluded Tuesday with third-seeded Southern Illinois, seventh-ranked Stetson, ninth-seeded Pittsburg (Kan.) State, and 10th-seeded Christian Brothers (Tenn.) among the early fatalities.

Ohio Bowlers Squeezing Out Field In Tourney

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI)—Ohio, playing host to 30,000 bowlers in the American Bowling Congress tournament here, isn't leaving much room for the rest of the nation to squeeze into the standings.

As the fifth day of the 79-day tournament opened here today, Ohio entries held four of the top five scores in open team competition. Yesterday Robert Wheeler and Frank Iannarelli of Ashland, Ohio, rolled into first place in doubles with a 1,287. Charley Grossman of Wooster, Ohio, grabbed second place in the all-events standings with an 1,825.

The scores are not expected to stand up when the biggest names swing into action. Cincinnati's Western Bowl No. 1 team, leading open teams with 2,333, should give way at least by next Monday night, when the defending champion Detroit Pfeiffers appear.

The Pfeiffers, led by singles and all-events champ Ed Lubanski, rolled 2,342 in St. Louis last winter.

In doubles yesterday, Wheeler, a bowling business owner throwing from the port side, rolled games of 225, 204 and 216 for a 635 series. Iannarelli chipped in 211, 243 and 178 for the 1,047 total.

In singles, Gene Westlock of Saginaw, Mich., rolled an eighth place 633, but the rest of the standings remained intact.

Murray's Bake Shop of Ashland, Ohio, took over fourth place in open teams with a 2,292, led by Al Compass with 616.

Yogi Berra May Wind Up Third Sacker This Season

United Press International
Yogi Berra is on third base, Sammy Esposito is hitting .750 and Cookie Lavagetto is talking like the Washington Senators are pennant contenders.

It's spring, all right, and if you still don't think the whispering palms tell managers strange things, then how about Paul Richards saying big league pitchers should take a tip from "Iron Mike," the Baltimore Orioles' mechanical pitching moniker.

The little birds have told Casey Stengel that one of his problems with the New York Yankees this year is to get Berra and Elston Howard into the lineup at the same time — despite the fact there is room on the field for only one catcher. So Casey announced that he's going to experiment with the ever-agreeable Yogi and see what the 35-year-old slugger can do at third.

Esposito, a .167 hitter in 60 games for the White Sox last season, went 3-for-4 for the second straight intra-squad game Tuesday and has made three extra-base hits in two days compared to two all last season. He had a double and two singles Tuesday to lead a brisk assault against 18-game winner Bob Shaw.

Lavagetto was emphatic about the Senators' improvement this year but insisted on keeping the bad news from the fellows he thinks will finish below Washington this year.

"I'm not saying who we'll beat out, but it'll be somebody," he said.

The Senators have finished eighth the last three years but Lavagetto is encouraged by a bumper crop of Washington rookies who he feels can win behind power generated by Harmon Kilbrew, Roy Sievers, Jim Lemon, etc.

Richards' sermon to his pitchers came after the Orioles had managed just 43 hits and 10 earned runs in 54 innings of batting against the Baltimore pitching machine. The machine throws nothing but straight fast balls — but almost all of them go over the plate.

"I guess this upsets a lot of theories on pitching," said Richards in a sarcastic vein. "It just goes to show that after all, if you can get the ball over the plate, you'll get a lot of guys out."

The Orioles, of course, didn't do too well against "live pitchers" last season with a .228 team batting average.

Two more key holdouts agreed to terms Tuesday when shortstop Johnny Logan signed with the Milwaukee Braves and all-around man Tony Kubek signed with the Yankees. Logan is believed to have signed for $30,000 while Kubek, probably signed for $18,000. Outfielder Gene Woodling ended a week-long holdout when he signed with the Baltimore Orioles for an estimated $33,500. Woodling led the club with a .300 average and drove in 77 runs last season. His signing completes the Orioles' 40-man roster.

American Loop Adopts Suspended Game Rule For '60

ORLANDO (UPI)—The American League today adopted a suspended game rule that conforms closely to the National League rule.

President Joe Cronin announced that games terminated at any time after 4 1/2 innings by curfew, time limits, light failures and darkness during second games of double headers no longer will be replayed from the start. Instead they will be resumed from the point at which they were terminated.

"Such games will be known as suspended games," said Cronin. "However, extra-inning games which are completed and still tied will be legally tied games just as before."

Weather will take precedence in determining whether a called game will be a suspended game. A game halted by weather, and then a subsequent light failure, thus would be a completed game.

Moore's Defense Of Title Stated

NEW YORK (UPI)—Now that the Archie Moore-Erich Schoepner light heavyweight title match has been made, Andy Niederreiter plans to fly to Berlin, Germany Thursday to get the signatures of challenger Schoepner and manager Walter Englert on the contract.

Niederreiter is the American representative of Schoepner and Englert. Unbeaten Schoepner is champion of Europe.

Jack (Doc) Kearns, manager of champion Moore, likewise plans to fly to San Diego, Calif., Thursday to have 45-year-old Archie co-sign the contract for his ninth defense of the 175-pound crown.

Kearns signed for the match Tuesday at headquarters of Feature Sports, Inc., which will promote the bout, probably in July at Jersey City, N. J.; the Los Angeles Coliseum or the New York Polo Grounds.

Big Ten College Students Blast Rose Bowl Ban

United Press International
Student newspapers at Big Ten schools attacked a proposed ban on post-season sports on general grounds it would turn their conference into a "little ten," or a replica of the Ivy League.

Newspapers at three of the schools commented on varying days and in varying ways in editorials decrying a conference decision to end the Rose Bowl pact and a proposal to eliminate all post-season contests.

Conference athletic directors and faculty representatives will vote on the final ban at a May 18 meeting at East Lansing, Mich. It was at East Lansing, home of Michigan State University, that the student daily newspaper, "The State News," suggested naming the conference the "Little Ten to avoid desecrating the name of the Big Ten of yore."

"The State News commends the Big Ten in its traditional form but until conference academic representatives kill the strategy proposal of the athletic directors that all post season sports competition by member schools be barred, our conference will no longer have its aura of bigness," the editorial said in a paper published Monday.

At Illinois, Urbana, Ill., the student newspaper, "Daily Illini," said in an editorial Tuesday that athletics "creates solidarity and university pride" on the national scale as well as at conference level.

"To withdraw from the rest of the country athletically," the editorial said, "we believe would ultimately lead to loss of student pride and the destruction of the conference itself."

"Should the Big Ten continue to be one of the finest names in collegiate sports, or should the conference be relegated to the position of a 'once athletically powerful but now Ivy League' type of conference of Midwestern universities?" the Illini said.

The Ohio State "Lantern" ran an editorial Monday regretting the death of the Rose Bowl pact and entitled it "the end of an era."

The "Minnesota Daily" termed the post-season ban as "ridiculous" and said "it may hurt recruiting and make the Big Ten just a step behind the Ivy League."

The Iowa student daily was officially mum on the matter but carried comments from athletes who were "disappointed" and who predicted that top-notch high school athletes would not go to Big Ten schools.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, college basketball's highest all-time scorer, today was voted the nation's No. 1 player for the second straight year in the All-America selections of the National Basketball Coaches Association.

Jerry West of West Virginia, Darrall Imhoff of California, sophomore Jerry Lucas of Ohio State and Tom Siliu of St. Bonaventure also were named to the All-America first team chosen in a poll of 443 members of the coaches' association.

Robertson, the 6-foot-8 phenom who owns 13 collegiate scoring records, received a total of 2,465 points in the voting system used by the coaches. West had 2,361 points, Imhoff 2,058, Lucas 2,016 and Siliu 574. Robertson and West are repeaters from last year's team.

The team was chosen by the nation's coaches for the Wheaties Sports Federation and distributed exclusively by United Press International.

The coaches' first team was identical to the UPI All-America picked in a poll of 238 newspaper writers and radio-TV broadcasters.

National Labor Force To Increase, Hahn Tells Lions

By 1970 there will be five workers in the national labor force for every four there are now, D. B. Hahn told the Sanford Lions Tuesday.

But the smallest increase in the number of workers will be in the 25-44 age group where employers are most wanted, the manager of Sanford's branch of the Florida State Employment Service said.

Workers 45 and over will account for more than 40 percent of the expected labor force growth, Hahn said. The great number of workers under 25 will present a problem since these ranks are expected to grow 37 percent more than they have in the past 10 years, Hahn said.

The employment service manager said the small number of men expected to be available in the 25-44 group in the 60's is due to low birth rates during the depression ridden 1930's.

Employers will have to use all qualified workers available if employment ranks needs are to be filled, Hahn said. More women will also enter the labor force, he predicted.

Princess, Commoner Schedule Date Of Wedding For May 6

LONDON (UPI)—Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones will be married in Westminster Abbey May 6, it was announced officially today.

Prince Philip will give the princess away and the Archbishop of Canterbury will conduct the service.

Announcement of the date was made after a London newspaper, the Daily Mail, came out with it in a headline this morning.

If reports in royal circles are confirmed, the doll-like princess will wear a wedding dress designed by her fiancé, who created fashions in the days when he was snapping pictures for society and royalty.

There was no indication yet who would be best man for Armstrong-Jones but one name mentioned was that of his uncle, Oliver Messel, the famous designer.

Queen Elizabeth now will direct the Archbishop of Canterbury to issue a special royal wedding license. It will be written by hand on vellum by Henry J. Fisher, a skilled artist, in a form of script dating back to 1600 when the first Elizabeth ruled the land.

The British Broadcasting Corp. already has applied for permission to televise the wedding and it is certain that at least part of the service inside the church will be televised.

First Primary Shows Nixon In 'Top' Form

WASHINGTON (UPI)—New Hampshire's presidential primary returns strengthened Vice President Richard M. Nixon's grip on the GOP nomination today and gave an expected lift to Sen. John F. Kennedy in the Democratic race.

An unimpressive write-in vote for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York gave little encouragement to his admirers who had hoped he might still be a sleeper candidate to challenge Nixon at the Republican National Convention.

Incomplete returns from the nation's lead-off presidential primaries in New Hampshire Tuesday showed that Nixon and Kennedy were runaway winners. Anything else would have been an upset.

Nixon was opposed in the presidential preference vote and Kennedy had only nominal competition. In the separate election of national convention delegates, there were candidates who favored other presidential aspirants but they trailed the pro-Kennedy and pro-Nixon slates.

From the national standpoint, Republicans were particularly interested in the write-in vote for Rockefeller as evidence of the strength of GOP opposition to Nixon. Rockefeller decided in December against trying for the nomination.

Results from more than two-thirds of the precincts gave Rockefeller about 2,000 write-in votes against 40,000 for Nixon, whose name was on the ballot. In 1952, when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Sen. Robert A. Taft and Harold E. Stassen were on the GOP ballot, Gen. Douglas MacArthur received 3,337 write-in votes and ran fourth.

Kennedy partisans cheered the New Hampshire results because their candidate ran stronger than any previous Democrat in a congressional or uncommitted presidential primary in the normally Republican state. In 1952 and 1954, the Republican vote exceeded that cast in the Democratic primary by more than 2 to 1.

Trailing Nixon by a margin of less than 2 to 1, Kennedy could be showing greater appeal to the voters in his neighboring state or he could be demonstrating that he had a stronger organization than earlier candidates.

Whatever the reason, Kennedy's New Hampshire vote was not calculated to damage his position as the current peacemaker among candidates for the Democratic nomination.

Kennedy viewed his showing as a "vote of confidence" which would mean much in his bid at the Democratic convention in Los Angeles next July.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky.), chairman of the GOP National Committee, and Sen. Norbert Cotton (R-N.H.) both hailed the Nixon vote. They were cheered by early returns indicating that Nixon might poll a larger vote than the 30,464 given to President Eisenhower in 1956.

Kennedy was taking no breath or after New Hampshire. He was scheduled to start another swing today through Wisconsin, where he faces a more severe test April 6 in his head-on presidential primary contest with Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.).

Killer Of Seven Sobs On Seeing Sister

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI)—The 17-year-old Californian who coolly told police he killed seven people sobbed uncontrollably Tuesday night when he saw his sister.

Dennis Whitney, held here for grand jury action Friday, was visited by Mrs. Darlene Cleary who flew here from California with her husband.

Mrs. Cleary, 28, barely holding back her own tears, said "it's all so horrible. It's hurt so many people. I can't understand why he did it."

The lean, red-haired youth spent Tuesday in his cell, smoking and writing letters, making the most of a "day off" from intensive grilling by police.

Two hearings for Whitney will be held in Miami Monday to consider charges in connection with the killings of two filling station attendants there.

Miami attorney Louis M. Jeppway has been named to represent Whitney.

The young killer's sister appeared in court Tuesday. Before then he had maintained a quiet, cold attitude as he answered questions. But when he saw his sister he broke down and sobbed heavily, clasped in his sister's arms.

Mrs. Cleary said "all he could do was cry. He's so sorry, so sorry."

The youth admitted shooting eight persons with a .22 caliber pistol during a murder-dotted, 19-day trip from California to Miami. Seven of his victims died in Miami.

Mrs. Cleary said she would testify at the Palm Beach County grand jury will consider one of the killings, that of Mrs. Virginia Selby, 62, of Hialeah last Friday night.

He told police he killed two service station attendants in Miami, one each in Victorville, Calif., and Tucson, Ariz., and a Negro man and a middle-aged vagrant in Phoenix. He also wounded a third service station attendant in Miami.

Deputy John Kirk, Jr. said Whitney is a "model prisoner. He sleeps most of the time and is quiet when he's awake."

Kirk said the six-foot Whitney is in a cell with 10 or 12 other prisoners and there has been no trouble. He said "he hasn't asked for anything except some writing materials and we've given him some. We've kept him supplied with cigarettes."

Mrs. Cleary said her husband took a two-week vacation to make the trip. "We can't stay long," she said. "I wish they would try him as a juvenile. I can't understand why he did it."

In Miami, the truck driver who picked up Whitney in Arizona and gave him a lift to Miami said "he seemed like a clean-cut young fellow."

Howard T. Farleigh, Jr. of Miami said "I thought he was 22 or 23, probably a college boy. He never even once used profanity."

Farleigh said "I had a roll of bills on me worth more than he got from all those holdups put together, and he knew it. We spent three days together on the road."

MRS. EDITH GRIMSLEY, 26, of Los Angeles, holds her newly-born son, Jack, and the part of an airline ticket she didn't get to use. She was on a non-stop flight (St. Louis to Los Angeles) when she realized that she was going to have her baby before the plane reached Los Angeles. Mrs. Grimsley had the pilot radio ahead to Denver to have an ambulance ready. The baby was born an hour after landing.

School Board District More Equalized Now

There will be more equitable voting for county school board members now that school districts have been made to conform to county commission districts, county school superintendent R. T. Milwice said today.

Milwice said that the creation of a new school District 2 in the heart of Sanford and movement of old district lines will put more equal numbers of people in the five school districts.

Under the old system, District 1 included Sanford proper and East Sanford. District 5 included West Sanford, Lake Monroe and Paola. District 4 included Altamonte Springs, Casselberry, Fern Park, Forest City, Longwood, Lake Mary and Bear Lake.

District 3 included the Oviedo area, and District 2 took in land around Geneva.

Under the new system, a district has been taken away from the less heavily populated area in the southeast part of the county and given to the more populous Sanford area.

Districts 1 and 5 which formerly included from Paola to East Sanford have been broken into Districts One, Five and Two, with District 2 occupying Sanford proper and Districts 4 and 5 retaining east and west on either side of the new area.

Where southeast Seminole county had two districts, much of that area is now included in District 4, which covers everything in southeast Seminole, east of Hwy. 17-92. The line between districts 4 and 3 has been moved west so that District 3 now only takes in everything west of 17-92 and south of Lake Mary.

District 1 grew eastward and now includes East Sanford and Geneva.

California leads all other states in both car and truck registrations, with 6,150,000 automobiles and 1,136,000 trucks.

Broadcasters' President Dies On Eve Of 'Important' Meeting

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Harold E. Fellows, 60, president of the National Assn. of Broadcasters and chairman of its board of directors, died Tuesday on the eve of what officials described as an "important" board meeting.

Fellows collapsed at the NAB offices and was taken to George Washington University Hospital.

The NAB represents about half the nation's radio and television broadcasters. During the recent TV quiz show and payola disclosures it revised its code of ethics in an effort to combat abuses.

Fellows also was a director of the Advertising Council and a member of the executive committee of the United States Committee for the United Nations.

where he died about five hours later of an apparent heart attack. Before becoming president of the NAB in June 1951, he had been associated with radio station WEEI in Boston and had managed the New England operations of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Fellows also was a director of the Advertising Council and a member of the executive committee of the United States Committee for the United Nations.

County Agent Stresses Importance Of Reading Tags On Fertilizer Bags

By CECIL A. TUCKER, II
County Agent

You don't have to buy fertilizer or bladedoloid. Each fertilizer bag is required by law to carry a tag stating the contents of the bag. A knowledge of the materials and amounts of chemicals that make up a balanced mineral plant food mixture is essential if real success is to be achieved in growing plants.

Let's see what is carried on the fertilizer tag. First of all, the tag states that the manufacturer has registered his fertilizer with the State of Florida and has stamped his name, address, and data thereon. The manufacturer indicates that this mixed fertilizer is an 8-8-8 or similar grade, and has followed the same of the fertilizer with a guaranteed analysis. The guaranteed analysis is put there for your protection. You should study this analysis thoroughly before purchasing fertilizer.

In the first place, the figures 8-8-8 indicate the total available primary plant food in the bag of fertilizer. Each figure is a percentage. Thus, the total amount of plant food represented by this formula is 84 per cent or 24 pounds in a 100 pound bag of fertilizer.

These figures may run as high as 60 to 80 percent of primary plant food for high analysis fertilizers. You should buy all fertilizers on the basis of total pounds of plant food, and not per pound of fertilizer.

The first figure in the 8-8-8 grade of fertilizer represents eight percent or eight pounds of total nitrogen; the second figure is 8-84 percent of eight pounds of phosphoric acid; the third figure represents eight percent or eight pounds of potash. Each of these figures will vary widely as manufacturers formulate according to the recommendations published by your State Experiment Station. A more detailed breakdown of the fertilizer follows under the heading of "guaranteed analysis" on the fertilizer tag.

The manufacturer has a reason for using several forms of nitrogen. For instance, soluble nitrogen is quickly used by growing plants and readily leached from the soil. If only the water soluble nitrogen were added to the fertilizer and no crops were growing in the field, nearly all of this form would be lost with one good shower of rain on sandy soils. Organic forms of nitrogen are slowly converted to more soluble form by microbial activity in the soil.

The fertilizer tag may indicate that tobacco stems or some other filler was included in the fertilizer. Since it is in excess of other ingredients shown, it can be assumed that this material was used as a filler.

So by reading the fertilizer tag, you can be absolutely sure of what you're buying, and you can determine the sources from which the plant food elements came. Remember, buy fertilizers on the basis of the total pounds of plant food, and not the cost per pound of fertilizer.

How Well People See In Dark Depends On Seasons

NEW YORK (UPI)—The season of the year has a great deal to do with how well people see in the dark, according to results from a new scientific approach to an unsolved and increasingly important question.

Fast transportation, bright lights, and other modern innovations have made nocturnal creatures out of human beings who in the scheme of nature had been dependent on daylight. The high rate of accidents which befall them in the night shows they're not as well suited for it as owls and cats.

In their new approach three scientists of the Naval Research Laboratory, New London, Conn., produced evidence which indicated the less daylight the human being sees, the better he sees at night. Owls, cats, and other naturally nocturnal animals stay in the deep shade by day. Most people don't.

By the calculations of these scientists, Edward J. Sweeney, Jo Ann S. Kinney, and Alma Ryan, people should have their best night vision right now, toward the end of winter and the beginning of spring. Their worst night vision comes in August and September, at the end of summer.

Many existing ideas about human night vision are based upon one or a few measurements in large numbers of persons under special circumstances. The new view comes from extensive tests of only three persons for more than one year under ordinary circumstances.

These three were neither outdoor workers nor vault people—winter or summer they had about as much exposure to the sun as most people. In the fall they were exposed to less and less as the days grew shorter; in winter they were exposed to more and more as the days lengthened.

At each end of the scale there was a seasonal lag between maximum and minimum day-length and minimum and maximum sharpness of night vision. In late winter and early spring, their night vision was at its best. Then it started falling off gradually and reached its low in late summer and early fall.

There were differences in the vision of the three, of course. But the scientists noted in their report to the Optical Society of America that those differences were not greater than the differences between the night seeing ability of all three in the winter and the summer.

Naval Attache Calls Castro Red; Resigns Post

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Capt. Felipe Vidal Santiago said today he resigned as Cuban naval attache in Venezuela because he regards Premier Fidel Castro as a Communist dictator who betrayed the men and women who shed their blood to put him in power. Vidal dismissed as "ridiculous" Castro's charge that the United States was to blame for the explosion of the French munitions ship La Coubre in Havana last week. He said the blast was almost certainly caused by overheated water in the dock where the ship was unloading. "The cooling system of the Havana electric plant empties hot water alongside the Tallapiedra pier (to which the La Coubre was moored)," the 34-year-old naval officer said. "When I was chief of maritime police in Havana, I would allow no ship carrying ammunition to unload at the Tallapiedra pier." Vidal said he believes the present maritime police chief is one of Castro's rebels who has no technical qualifications for the job and who accordingly may not have recognized the danger.

Hubby Kills Wife 'Talking' Divorce

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — A husband killed his pregnant wife Sunday in the office of an attorney she was consulting about a divorce. The husband, Robert Radke, 28, then shot himself in the chest. He was in critical condition. Mrs. Patricia Louise Radke, 25, a physical education instructor at the University of Florida, died of a single .22 caliber bullet in the breast. The shootings were in the office of County Prosecutor A. Z. Adkins Jr., whom Mrs. Radke was consulting as a private attorney. Adkins said the couple went into an inner room. He was following them when he heard Mrs. Radke scream. Then he heard two shots. Adkins said he grappled with Radke for the gun. Radke wrestled free and shot himself. Police said the Radkes were married last August. They were separated and Radke lived in Jacksonville.

Reds Hail Pope

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII said today that his visit to a Communist section of Rome brought such an enthusiastic reception that "police had quite some trouble protecting my physical safety." The pontiff left the 108-acre Vatican City Sunday to go into the poor Grottecole quarter of Rome. He attended Lenten services in the Church of San Felice di Cantalice and then joined the procession that walked in penitence around the church. Two hundred thousand faithful turned out to cheer. About 80 per cent of the rye produced comes from Russia and other European countries.

Paar Returns To Show With Kittenish Smile, Acts As If He's Crusader

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI) — It was difficult to determine merely by watching Jack Paar's kittenish smile whether it came from swallowing the canary or eating the crow. But one thing was clear: Jack's back. While listening to Paar renew old acquaintances with his NBC-TV late-night audience, it seemed that he was casting himself as a crusader against what he takes to be journalistic injustices. He's free to do this, of course, although thus far, his thrusts have been limited chiefly to those who have attacked him. In his references to newsmen who covered his stormy February days, and nights, Paar made it sound as though they were all a bunch of noisy, vulgar barbarians. This is odd because the newsmen he invited into his home a few hours after the Feb. 11 walkout spoke sympathetically of his agitation and noted his graciousness under fire. Paar was most eager to tell the press his story and they promised to print it fully. In fact, Paar's Feb. 13 press conference found newsmen offering him sound advice which he appears to have heeded to some extent. Finally, no matter how Paar appears to make the press seem at fault in all of his problems, it's hard to believe that the press publicity has harmed him or his show. He has thrived on it. Now, let's hope he learns to live with his press clippings.

lation of Faulkner's short story starred Kim Stanley and Richard Boone. Miss Stanley, whose TV appearances usually find her portraying young Southern belles, added a few years for Monday night's CBS-TV production as she played the part of Sarah Eubanks a married, pregnant Southern girl whose husband had deserted her. Her performance was a magnificent one. She has the knack of bringing out the small joys and tortures with a tired breath, a sigh, a wistful wish for sunshine and warmth. She captured the full despair and loneliness and bleakness of Faulkner's Eubanks woman. Boone, as the stoic, hermit-like sawmill hand who befriends Miss Stanley and marries her after she gives birth to a son, only to watch her die, also was a powerful figure Monday night. In a slow, quiet, open-faced and understated fashion, he made the role of Jackson Fentry a superb portrait. Robert Mulligan's uncluttered direction also helped ease the emotionally unrelenting story to its natural conclusion. The bare bones of the story, which dealt with a man's devotion to those he loved, made for a simple statement. But the dialogue, the acting and the direction added immense amounts of flesh, blood and feeling to that statement. It was carried out in the best "Playhouse 90" tradition.

Ranch Snaky

SAN SABA, Tex. (UPI) — C. E. Tisdale is a man who really has to watch his step. In a 10-day period recently he and two employees killed 31 rattlesnakes they came across at his Barnett Springs Ranch east of San Saba.

Waiting Showing On Finch, Carole

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The tense hours of waiting while a murder trial jury deliberates the fate of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff are beginning to show on the accused couple. The tennis-playing surgeon and his red-haired mistress appear glum and withdrawn in contrast to the near-gaiety they displayed much of the time before the case was turned over to the jury Friday. The jury returns to its deliberations today to decide whether Finch, 42, and Carole, 23, are guilty of murdering his estranged wife last July 18. Superior Judge Walter R. Evans indicated night sessions may be necessary if the jury fails to reach a verdict soon.

Design Congress Set

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — The nation's first annual Drafting and Design Congress has been scheduled for June 9-13 at the Rice Hotel in Houston, according to John E. Sedan, executive vice president of the Association of Professional Draftsmen.

Girl Scouts Have Their Week

The troops of the Sanford area are in the middle of observing Girl Scout Week and the girls, including their little sisters, the Brownies, are engaged in a variety of activities. Their programs this week include homemaking, citizenship, health and safety, international friendship, arts and crafts and outdoor activities.

The interest of these girls in beginning useful training at this stage is important to the future generations, since they'll be rocking the cradles in the super space age.

Also deserving the highest commendation from the community are the Girl Scout leaders, who put in many long hours of work and supervision with the girls, teaching and advising them.

Programs such as that of the Girl Scouts must be encouraged and supported here and throughout the world. Nothing is more vital in these times than adult interest in the youngsters and provision of useful training and moral advice for them.

He Is No Ordinary Tourist — He Didn't Bring Back Any Bongos

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — If President Eisenhower were an ordinary tourist, it would be easy to imagine a scene that would take place soon at the White House.

The president would be upstairs in his bedroom unpacking the souvenirs he brought back from his Latin American trip.

Suddenly, the corridors would reverberate with what would sound like a load of buckshot ricocheting off the bottom of a galvanized bucket.

Guards and secret servicemen would spring up in alarm and rushing into the bedroom, would find the president perched on the side of the bed, trying out his new set of bongo drums.

Since the chief executive is not an ordinary tourist, he probably avoided becoming a bongo owner during his travels south of the border. If so, he is luckier than most of his countrymen.

Nowadays, a U. S. citizen who visits the Caribbean area brings home a bongo drum as surely as one who visits Switzerland brings back a watch.

Not only that, for the past two or three years we have been importing bongos in large numbers. Not only that, several U. S. firms are mass-producing domesticated bongos.

I was blissfully unaware of the bongo boom until last Christmas when the yuletide peace was shattered by what I thought was one of the children emptying a sack of marbles into the bathtub.

I regret to say I was mistaken. The disturbance came from a set of bongo drums which some misguided Santa Claus had deposited down the chimney.

In the following weeks I was to learn that bongo "playing" is not restricted to children. Some of my adult friends have taken it up, with uniformly disastrous results.

ASSIGNMENT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON — In some distant year, an obscure government accountant will be casually scanning the 1960 expenditures for construction work at the United States Capitol. His eyes will pop at the entry:

"Fish nets — $2,075."

He'll do a double-take. He'll read further: "Mackerel-type netting, one-inch mesh, 16,800 square feet."

Fish nets for the U. S. Capitol? What kind of mackerel fishing, he will wonder, did those 1960 politicians do around Washington?

Then the man's eye will move on to the column listing "Justification."

It will read: "For the birds."

The clerk's most likely comment will be, "Yeah, strictly," as he launches an investigation of the strange spending practices of the Eisenhower Administration.

But, as things are around the Capitol, truth is oftentimes odd. The fish nets really are for birds.

The past several years, the city of Washington has been overrun — overflooded? — with starlings. Evenings they come to roost down town, and recently their target has been the Capitol.

Architect of the Capitol George Stewart and his men are in the midst of a once-in-a-lifetime project of painting the Capitol dome in its entirety.

For months, the men have been slapping first one coat, then another over the metal exterior. First came a muddy raspberry-hue for anti-rust, then red lead, and now comes the start of a bright mustard intermediate coat. Last will be a fine, neat pearlescent white paint.

But every day the painters spent half the morning just cleaning up after the starlings — and I don't mean mud tracks. Over week ends, the evidences were knee-deep.

What was worse, the bombing runs of the birds caused acid holes in the paint which had to be touched up morning after morning.

In exasperation, Stewart called in the country's greatest bird detectives — men from the Fish and Wildlife Service. Their deposition, in effect, read: "There are 35,000 starlings roosting in and around the Capitol. When in such great numbers, starlings flock together."

"Significant!" cried the architect. If he could scatter some, maybe they'd all go. He recalled that a few weeks earlier the birds shied from a roosting place above a tall board fence he had built around an excavation.

Naturally he couldn't build a board fence around the dome, so he hit upon a substitute: fish netting. His dome man Friday, Ken Wolfkill, located four hunks, 40 by 105 feet, at a marine supply house in Boston.

These, Stewart dangled from the base of the dome, around its entire circumference.

No bird has since come within 16 inches of that net. They've scattered to the trees.

I'm curious to see whether those clever starlings — which Stewart once reckoned must have Ph. D. degrees — will ever catch on to his trickery.

If they do, there's one thing sure: It'll be somebody else who's up a tree.

Long Still Has 'Long' Way To Go To Break Dad's Filibuster Mark

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) outdistanced his colleagues in the Senate civil rights debate, but he didn't touch the record of his daddy, a former filibuster champ.

The 41-year-old Long, youngest of the 18 southern senators trying to talk civil rights legislation to death, began speaking at 1:32 p. m. Wednesday. He sat down 11 hours and six minutes later at 12:38 a. m.

His speech was the longest so far in the around-the-clock session that started at noon Monday.

His southern colleagues generally have kept their addresses to about three or four hours.

But Russell's father, the late Kingfish Long talked for 15 hours and 25 minutes in a 1935 speech against the New Deal's National Recovery Act.

He was the champ until Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) lifted his crown in 1953 with a 22-hour and 26 minute speech on the tidelands oil controversy.

Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.) is the current champion. He talked for 24 hours and 18 minutes.

Happiness Through Health

This - We Believe!
(By DR. F. LEO KERWIN)

Chiropractic teaches that life health comes from within you. The life force necessary for perfect health is expressed through the nervous system with the brain receiving and sending nerve impulses for the coordination of body functions. Normal health is a state wherein the nerve trunks are free and clear of interference. Organs, muscles and glands function normally when there is a free flow of nerve impulses between brain and tissue cells.

All main nerve trunks originate in the brain and pass out through the spinal cord, branching out between the vertebrae of the spinal column.

One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. F. Leo Kerwin whose office is located at 201 S. French Ave. and his telephone number is FAirfax 2-7442.

THE WORRY CLINIC By Dr. George Crane

Marilyn's problem is faced thousands of times by good wives who encounter jealous hostility from their husbands. Use the advice below to banish the caustic remarks of such egotistical mates. Save this case and use the non-profit booklet below to help other wives in our church or PTA, for your newspaper tries to promote happy homes.

CASE D-493: Marilyn D., aged 29, has been married 6 years.

"But, Dr. Crane," she protested unhappily, "the doctors said I could never bear a baby of my own."

"So I have made application to various places, hoping to find a baby for adoption," she said. "And now I can get a little boy. But my husband objects. He says if it were a baby girl, that might be different."

"But he vows he will never become the father of any other man's 'brat!'"

"Oh, Dr. Crane, I'll die of heartbreak if I can't adopt this cute little boy."

"So how can I persuade my husband to change his mind?"

"Adopt a person of the opposite sex and of no blood kinship whatever."

"So have no hesitation in likewise adopting a boy or girl, whether of infant age or even 10 or 12. Egotistical young husbands often act and speak like Marilyn's mate, but they should wake up to the medical facts."

First of all, no husband ever creates the sperm cell that unites with his wife's ovum to produce a baby.

Those germ cells were planted in the first man and first woman on this earth by God Almighty. So flesh-and-blood parents should quit being so egotistical. They are simply "carriers" of those primitive germ cells, much as relay runners in a college track meet just carry the baton.

You readers have probably observed the mate relay race where four winners take a quarter mile lap apiece.

The first runner is handed a baton to carry. Mark you, he didn't carve that baton out of wood or paint it or have anything whatever to do with it until it was placed in his grasp.

Moreover, he doesn't re-paint it or re-carve it or do anything to it while he carries it round his quarter-mile lap of the race.

No, he simply holds it in his hand and carries it until he then passes it on to the second runner.

The second man likewise carries it till he hands it over to the third, who finally thrusts it into the hand of the anchor man who completes the race.

Well, human procreation is just like the mile relay race, for husband and wife just pass along the genes and chromosomes in their germinal cells which their parents handed on to them.

And their children, in turn, will likewise pass them on to all later generations if they mature and marry and have children of their own.

Inform your foster children early as to the facts. A father can tell them he "adopted" their mother, too, from strangers who were not of any blood kinship to him at all.

Yet he feels closer to his wife than to his blood brothers and sisters with whom he grew up as a child.

And his wife adopted him. Then they both adopted the new boy or girl. And as long as mutual respect and love are present, they are closer knit than real blood kin.

Remember how Cain slew Abel and Absalom tried to kill his own blood father, King David? There's no magic in blood kinship!

Send for my booklet, "How to Inform a Foster Child," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20¢ (non-profit). Use it in your church or PTA.

Why Does Civil Rights Bill Excuse Labor Goons?

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A fair question about the Eisenhower administration's civil rights bill now before the Senate would be this:

Why were labor goons excused of penalties for arson and dynamiting such as are proposed in the bill for racist goons?

Section Two of the civil rights bill deals with such violence. As proposed by the administration, penalties would be imposed on persons who fled across state lines to avoid prosecution or confinement or the giving of testimony relating to certain willful acts.

These are defined as flight after willfully damaging by fire or explosive any building, structure, facility or vehicle used primarily for religious or educational purposes. The federal penalties would apply only if there were local laws against such violence and the arsonist or dynamiter fled to escape local authorities.

Federal jurisdiction would be established only if the offender crossed a state line or, in the language of the bill, moved in interstate or foreign commerce.

The FBI would move in at that point, making the situation very hazardous for racist goons. Labor goons using fire or explosives for their special purposes are excused of federal penalties and relieved of the FBI by the language of the administration bill limiting it to the religious and educational field.

Federal penalties would be fines up to $5,000 or imprisonment up to five years or both. Several bills were introduced last year to penalize hate bombings. None of them was enacted.

A seven-bill package cracking down on hate bombers was introduced in House and Senate in January, 1959. It was patterned after the Lindbergh kidnap law to permit the FBI to move quickly to assist local enforcement agencies against bomb throwers and arsonists.

The intent to crack down on labor goons equally with racist hoodlums was boldly spelled out. It extended to any building or other real or personal property damaged for the purpose of interfering with its use for educational, religious, charitable, residential, business or civic objectives and to the intimidation of any person pursuing such objectives.

This pattern was available when the Eisenhower civil rights bill was drafted. Some senator may find talkathon time to ask a fair question:

Why did the administration choose to excuse the labor goons?

Gina Becomes Canadian Citizen

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Italian actress Gina Lollobrigida and her Yugoslav husband plan to become Canadian citizens so their 2-year-old son Milko will have a nationality.

"My husband is stateless," the 32-year-old beauty Monday night said, "but I was very surprised and hurt when my own country's officials would not give my son my nationality."

"This way, he will at least have a country."

Tourist Dollars Rise

NEW YORK (UPI) — More than a million foreign tourists in the United States will spend $750 million during 1960, the Gray Line Sight-Seeing Companies, Associated, reports.

Chief reason for the increase, twice the number for 1959, is the relaxing of money limitations by many European countries.

Crippling Snow Storm Smacks Dixie

By United Press International
The second severe storm in a week crippled the South today with staggering burdens of snow and ice.
Governors in at least five states declared states of emergency. The storm closed schools and businesses, knocked out communications and isolated whole communities and scores of farmers.
Up to 20 inches of snow fell on parts of Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina. Another four to six inches was predicted from North Carolina up the Atlantic seaboard into Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

As the storm moved up the East Coast, it merged with another wintry blast which scoured the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys with record-breaking snows and heavy drizzle.
The Weather Bureau said another snow storm was building up in the Rockies and "possibly could become very rough" as it moves into the Plain states.
Dozens of highways and most rural roads were closed throughout the South and East and weather officials posted hazardous driving warnings for the area.

Trapped Miners Escape Route Reported Blocked

LOGAN, W. Va. (UPI)—Rescue workers trying to reach 18 miners entombed more than two days deep inside a smoldering coal pit reported today that the only "avenues of approach" were blocked by roof falls.
Paul Lingo, deputy state mines director, said the rescue teams could get to within only 2,000 feet from the spot where the trapped men are believed to have barricaded themselves.
"It looks as though it's going to be another long day," Lingo said. "The only two possible avenues of approach to where we believe the miners to be are blocked by roof falls."
Lingo said the intense heat from the fire was preventing the rescuers from shoring up the tunnel to prevent the roof falls.
The roof falls actually occurred Wednesday, but were not revealed by officials until today.
A federal official said in all his 21 years of experience, this was the worst mine fire he has ever seen in West Virginia involving trapped men.
Workers leaving the mine after 11 hours inside the shaft reported that conditions underground were terrible.
"There is a lot of smoke and steam and the heat is terrific," said Clifford Bowen, 40. "They are trying to cool off the area with water but it looks like it will take quite a while before they can get past the hot area."
"The main question is whether carbon monoxide, sulfur dioxide and other gases seeped through a barricade and suffocated the miners, trapped since 8:30 a. m. Tuesday."

REBUILDING HOME and business in Chuluota are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Moraki, whose house burned to the ground Feb. 20, destroying their household goods and the doughnut making equipment which was their livelihood. Residents of Chuluota and Oviedo joined in a voluntary contribution effort to aid the Moraki family, raising funds for purchase of a new doughnut machine. Moraki is shown working on a new "fireproof" shop and he said he'll be delivering doughnuts every Tuesday again soon. (Herald Photo)

Regular Election To Fill Vacancy

There won't be any special election involved in filling the vacant District 2 county commission post, State Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr. said today.
Cleveland said he spoke to Attorney General Richard Ehrlich in the week and the Attorney General's office handed down a decision that there is no need for the special election.
Cleveland said if there is a vacant post during a regular election year candidates for it can run on a regular ballot. This applies this year.
Cleveland said that the candidate who has the majority vote on the regular ballot probably will be appointed by Gov. Collins to the job until Jan. 31, 1961, the primary, the legislative delegation will ask Collins to appoint the person who has the most votes.
The general election will put a man in the position until Jan. 31, 1962, as two years remain in the term.
Cleveland, also attorney for the County Commission was authorized by the board to ask for the special election. The attorney general's office earlier had ruled that a special election should be called.

Teague told the board that this year's federal government allotment to help pay for schooling of military family children here will be $117,832. Word of this allotment came from Sen. Spessard Holland recently. The money had been budgeted by the school board.

Bombs Destroyed Giant Sugar Crop, Havana Says

HAVANA (UPI)—Incendiary bombs dropped by a light plane burned nearly 6,000 tons of sugar cane on a plantation near the west Cuban town of Consolacion del Sur, it was reported today.
Dispatches from Pinar del Rio estimated the amount of the burned cane at 6,000 tons. It was impossible immediately to determine where the crop-burning plane came from.
In similar instances in the past, Premier Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime has charged that the planes came from bases in the United States. The State Department apologized for one such incident, involving a private plane which flew out of Florida.

Studebaker Plant Workers Strike

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—The United Auto Workers Union went on strike against the Studebaker-Packard Co. today in a production standards dispute.
Members of UAW Local 5 set up picket lines at the plant here when a midnight strike deadline expired without a settlement.
The walkout shut down the company's production lines and idled between 4,000 and 5,000 workers. Office employees and some maintenance workers were not affected.
Federal Mediator Chester Ralston met with union and company officials Wednesday in an unsuccessful effort to reach an accord.
The UAW charged the company with a production speedup. But the firm said the production standards must be maintained if Studebaker-Packard is to remain competitive with the rest of the auto industry.

Finch-Tregoff Murder Trial Jury Still Out

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Finch-Tregoff murder trial jury remained out for the sixth day today to deliberate the life or death fate of the accused couple.
It was obvious the panel of seven women and five men was finding it difficult to agree on the guilt or innocence of Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, and his red-haired paramour Carole Tregoff, 23.
The conflicting stories told by the defense and the prosecution about the gunshot slaying of the handsome physician's wife, Barbara Jean, 33, last July 18 were being given time-consuming consideration by the jurors.
The tense hours of waiting while the jury deliberates have given rise to scores of rumors around the court newswoman concerning progress of the jurors' discussions.
One New York newspaperwoman said the jury was divided with 10 voting for second degree murder and 2 for first degree murder against Finch. But a defense attorney said it was his opinion the vote was just the opposite—10 for conviction of first degree murder and 2 for second.
A Los Angeles newspaper reported 11 of the jurors were for convicting Finch and Tregoff, blocked by a lone juror. The one dissenting juror was responsible for causing the court to spend two days in reading Finch's testimony shortly after getting the case last Friday, reported the paper.
In short, there is considerable speculation about what was happening in the jury room and the consensus was that no one knows for sure.

JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—Top-ranking Navy officers will meet with scientific and industrial leaders at the Jacksonville Naval Air Station March 16 to study the Navy's shipbuilding needs in coming years.

Single School Sessions By Fall Despite Growth

The school board expects to eliminate double class sessions throughout the county, even though it faces an estimated increase in south Seminole school population of 43 percent during the next fall year.
"Figures indicate that we will School Administrative Assistant throughout the county unless there is some unexpected increase in the south end of the county. School Administrative Assistant Walter Teague told the board today.
Supporting Teague's view of the schools getting back to single sessions, County Superintendent Milwe said "With what we have we feel that none of them will be in double session."
Milwe said that there will be no double sessions in Sanford and that the schools will be able to handle students from Navy families.
Teague predicted a 43 percent increase in student population in south Seminole County for the 1960-61 school year. He predicted a 19 percent increase in the Oviedo area, an eight percent rise in the southern Seminole school pupil population, a 14 percent rise in Sanford secondary school ranks and an overall increase of nine percent in the number of students in Negro schools.
Teague predicted 2,691 children in the Sanford area elementary schools, (Sanford Grammar School, West Side Elementary, Pinecrest and Lake Mary elementary). He estimated there will be 800 children in Sanford Junior High and 1,050 in the new Seminole High's grades 9-12.
Emphasizing the great increase in south county students, Teague predicted 3,690 in Lyman school, Altamonte Elementary, and the new Langwood and South Seminole elementary schools. There were 2,315 Lyman elementary school students this year and 805 Lyman students four years ago.
If county population keeps growing at its present rate, 66 additional classrooms or three big new schools will be needed each year, Teague said.
"There has been a 21:26:100 percent increase in average daily attendance in 1958-60 over 1956-58. For 1957-58 there was only an 8.47/100 percent increase. In 1958-57 the rise was 4.81/100 percent."
"The buildings we will have completed this fall will almost double the size of the present school system," Milwe said.
Teague predicted that five new elementary schools will be needed in the county in the next five years. A junior high site near the Lyman school will also be needed, he said.
Teague said a school will be needed for the Sunland and Eastbrook developments in Gainesboro; a 20-acre school site will be opened to the school board on the east side of the Lake of the Woods, near the Orange County line, for a subdivision there; and that developer Hubbard Caselberry has offered two possible sites for a school in Casselberry.
The school board voted to approve a state and University of Florida survey of county school needs for the next three years. This will take place in October.
Supt. Milwe suggested renovation of part of the old Lyman school to make a home economics suite and a science suite.

Funds Okayed For Hospital

Architects are discussing plans for the 40-bed addition to Seminole Memorial Hospital today after the federal government announced Wednesday that it has given final approval to a grant of $225,000 for the $500,000 project.
Plans for the addition will be presented to the hospital's board of trustees this fall, Administrator Harry Weir said today. Construction will not start before December or early 1961, he said.
The Florida congressional delegation sent out a wire Wednesday reporting the formal approval by the Health, Education and Welfare Dept. of the $225,000 in Hill-Burton matching funds for the Sanford hospital enlargement.
A. B. Peterson Sr., chairman of the hospital board of trustees, said the hospital is ready to match funds and begin work as soon as final plans for construction are approved.
Architect John Burton, appointed to draw up preliminary plans, meeting today with Dr. Herman Smith, Chicago hospital consultant. Plans must be approved by the hospital board and the Florida Development Commission before work can start.
The addition will be made on the east side of the hospital and extended to the south. Expansion of the laboratory department and x-ray facilities will be included along with the increase in bed space.

Apopka Man Hurt In Auto Mishap

An Apopka man was treated in Orange Memorial Hospital today after he received a broken leg in a one-car accident on SR 434 this morning.
Listed in fair condition at the hospital is Marion Miller.
The Sheriff's office said the Miller car, traveling at a high rate of speed, apparently ran off the road and slammed into an orange tree.

Gasoline Operators Threaten Strike

MIAMI (UPI)—Service station operators, worried over the robbery-murder of two of their number here, have threatened a strike unless all gasoline stations close during "unprofitable hours."
Two night station attendants were killed and a third wounded critically recently by a 17-year-old multiple player Dennis Whitney.
Perry E. Gary, president of the 600-member Allied Gasoline Retailers Assn. of Dade County, said his group had passed a resolution to send to all major oil companies supplying the Miami area.
"If the companies do not heed our resolution," Gary said, "then we will recommend that association stations close indefinitely until an equitable situation is worked out."

Train Crash Kills Five In Alabama

ANNISTON, Ala. (UPI)—Five persons were killed today when the Kansas City-Florida Special passenger train of the Southern Railway struck a stalled automobile at a crossing near here.
The highway patrol tentatively identified the victims as those of the Marvin Bentley family.
Four persons were killed instantly at the scene of the accident at the Kulation crossing on State Highway 100 about four miles west of Anniston.
A baby died at Anniston Memorial Hospital shortly after the accident, which occurred at 9:33 a. m.
Persons in a car behind the one involved in the accident said a woman was driving and started across the tracks. They said she apparently became excited and stalled the vehicle in front of the train.

Convicts Captured

TAMPA (UPI)—Bloodhounds tracked down two of three escaped North Carolina convicts early today who shot it out with a state trooper near here and escaped after slightly wounding him. A force of about 30 highway patrolmen and deputies from Polk and Hillsborough counties, operating with bloodhounds, captured Cecil Holland, 35, and Fred Bowman, 45, in a swamp near the Hillsborough River about 12 miles north of here.

Tax Exemption Deadline Nears For Homesteaders

County residents have only a few more weeks to file for homestead exemption, Tax Assessor Richard McCanna said today.
Tax laws provide that in order to receive the benefits of homestead exemption, residents must file each and every year between Jan. 1 and April 1.
Applicants were urged by McCanna to file as soon as possible to avoid the last minute rush.
If an initial application is filed, it will be necessary to appear in person at the assessor's office bringing the deed to property on which the homestead is filed, McCanna added.
The tax assessor's office is open daily Monday through Friday between the hours of 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Senate Headed For Rights Showdown

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate headed toward a showdown on civil rights today and the House prepared to come to grips with the same thorny problem.
The Senate met at 9 a. m. for final debate for and against a closure move to cut off a civil rights talkathon that has bogged down the chamber since Feb. 15.
By agreement, a vote was scheduled at 2 p. m. Senate leaders, southern opponents and backers of tougher civil rights bills were in agreement that the gag move would fail.
Sen. Herman E. Talmadge (D-Ga.), arguing for the South, contended that adoption of the closure gag would render the South "practically and diplomatically against a tyrannical ruler."
Sen. John O. Pastore (D-R.I.), a leader of the closure move, said the liberals were lining up their speakers for the next phase of the civil rights battle while "trying to get out maximum support" for the gag rule vote.
The showdown comes near the end of the fourth week of Senate debate on civil rights. The chamber remained in session around-the-clock, except for two brief breaks and Sunday, Feb. 7, from Feb. 20 to Tuesday night.
After a long struggle, the House finally was calling up a four-point bill its Judiciary Committee approved last August. But rights advocates and southern opponents both agreed the main fight would be over attempts to limit the administration's voting reform plan.
