

Ocala Eleven Defeats Celery Feds By 26 To 0 Score

Strong Conference Foes Outclass Local Gridmen

Seminole Eleven Is Held Scoreless For First Time In 23 Games As Wildcats Smash Weak Defense

ORLANDO, Oct. 29.—The Seminole High school Celery Feds, who were whitewashed by the Orlando Wildcats last night 26 to 0, are to end the year 23 games strong, the place where they had not been starting.

The Feds have had 100 points scored against them throughout the year, but made only 100 themselves. The powers of the grid team which made up 100 points, 100 in every direction.

The Wildcats and the Feds played an even tempo in the first quarter but the second was all decided in favor of the Feds, who won which concluded under the fire of Ocala attack.

Wildcats scored first for Orlando and an edition was good for the conversion point. Webster and Peacock on a series of 100-yard dashes took the wind out of the two-yard marker where Webster went over center but another marker. The attempt for the extra point failed.

In the third period, Webster again scored for the last edition being cut from the two-yard line and came in over the center and an edition out by Peacock was good for the point.

In the fourth period, Orlando had their second and third stringers in the game and the Feds showed up a little better. The little Wildcats continued to out rush and outcharge the locals.

The final tally was made in States.

Hatters Run Wild To Down Erskine Unit By Score Of 33-14

ORLANDO, Oct. 29.—The Stetson Hatters, who had their first iron win last night when they went to the air and beat the King University 33 to 14 in a regular S. I. A. conference game, are on the stumps again this evening to do their best each time.

Happy Jack and his crew of drivers and stuntmen spend many hours planning their stunts, thinking them out from every angle. The fact that he is a fast driver attracts to the minute a precision and checking and re-checking to guarantee perfect safety.

Deanna Durbin's Amazing Career Climaxed In "That Certain Age"

The most lucky, that all. Durbin, the only child, Deanna Durbin, gives herself for the opening night of dramatic stage.

A family recovered at the home on the Stetson, who paved the way for the actress and Chairman of the Board used his amazing ability to get an early lead. However, the Hatters came back strong and Warren got to McLelland for 70 yards and then on two consecutive plays for Stetson.

Following the next 40 yards, Erskine punted and on the next play, Warren bucked through the yards for the second touchdown.

Sherrill managed to intercept a pass from the second touchdown, which she supported with wild excitement. "Mad About Music," she announced, was the highest state of culture with her freshness and charm of it was with its wonderful voice. Her part was stretched, additional money was spent on the production, and Deanna emerged a star.

Deanna was born on Winnipeg, Ontario, Canada, December 22, of English parents supposed to go into a future with Madame Schumann, Henry the great diva, portraying the role of the singer at 19. But

Deanna, who is now 21, has starred in four original musical pictures in a row. "The Smart Set," which she costarred in the picture, was cancelled. The picture was cancelled. Deanna

Sherrill managed to interest University in the Erskine student and she was named a small role in this "Smart Set."

Herring Wants Law To Control Abuses

Morton To Seek FCC Investigation To Prevent Recurrence

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Demands for an investigation and a correction came apace today with belated reports of an almost-fantastic pause resulting from a radio program last night describing a fictitious war waged on the United States by fearsome-space conquering men from Mars.

In the double-quick tempo of news broadcasters, the fiction of the Columbia program became so realistic that hysteria prevailed among listeners throughout United States and Canada.

At Washington, Chairman Frank P. McNinch of the Federal Communications Commission asked the Columbia Broadcasting System to furnish the Commission with an electrical transcription of the broadcast.

Senator Clyde L. Herring (D-La.) said he planned to introduce in Congress a bill "controlling just such abuses as was heard over the radio last night."

City Manager Paul L. Morton of Trenton, N. J., near the locale of the fictional invasion, said he would demand an investigation by the Federal Commis-

Explanation Of Amendments Given Rotary

E. F. Housholder Believes Proposed Changes Are For Good Of The People

An explanation of the ten proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State of Florida was given Rotarians today at their regular weekly luncheon by County Attorney E. F. Housholder who said that he personally favored all of them because he believed they were for the good of the people.

In emphasizing the importance of the Constitution, Mr. Housholder said that it is the one document that protects the individual rights of every citizen and pointed out that it can be changed only by means of a two-thirds vote of the Legislature and a majority vote of the people themselves in a general election.

He called attention to the fact that in the South public anxiety is at its peak during the November elections because people take it for granted that the nominees of the Democratic party will be elected and do not take the trouble to vote. He urged particularly that a good vote be cast on the proposed amendments as well as on the bonds for the hospital project.

The first amendment explained by Mr. Housholder deals with the requirements for local advertising of local bills applying to cities and towns. Hitherto such bills, he said, had been passed almost exclusively by the local representative, the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate with the majority of the members of the House and Senate either asleep or attending some night club, and often with many persons at home knowing anything about it.

If this proposed amendment carries, Mr. Housholder explained, it will be necessary to advertise such local bills in the affected area at least 30 days before the bill is introduced.

Resolution No. 21, referring to the Homestead Exempting Amendment, adopted by the people in 1931, corrects an omission in the original amendment whereby the benefits of the amendment were limited to the owner of a homestead who is the head of a family. The Supreme Court has held, Mr. Housholder said, that the head of a family is necessarily a person with dependents, and that therefore a widow who was without dependents was excluded from the benefits of the amendment even though she owned her own home.

The Titusville suit was brought by T. L. Lingo, of the Florida Citrus Welfare Industry, and others and asked an injunction restraining Mayo from enforcing the law.

Commission members said they felt it necessary to act as a Commission co-defendant because the plaintiff had alleged they follow the Commission recommendations in using arsenicals on their citrus. John W. Dupree of Tampa, attorney for the Commission, asked the members to appear personally at the Titusville hearing Monday at 10:00 A. M. The Supreme Court test was brought by John Snively of Winter Haven and the arguments are scheduled for Friday.

The new amendment would extend the benefits to any owner (continued on page four).

Arsenic Spray Law Supported By Citrus Group

Commission Votes To Become Party De- fendant In Suit

LAKELAND, Oct. 31.—(UPI)—The Florida Citrus Commission voted today to support Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo's enforcement of the 1937 State law prohibiting the use of arsenic on citrus by becoming a party defendant with him in an injunction suit at Titusville and a State Supreme Court test at Tallahassee Friday.

Barnard Kilgore of Clearwater dissented, decrying the arsenic regulations allowed too much latitude in enforcement and since they were made up by Mayo the Commission should assume no responsibility for their enforcement.

The Titusville suit was brought by T. L. Lingo, of the Florida Citrus Welfare Industry, and others and asked an injunction restraining Mayo from enforcing the law.

Adoption Of Proposed National Guard Amendment Is Urged By Capt. Loucks

Caption Earle T. Loucks, for many years an officer in the Regular Army, now on the retired list, who since his retirement has taken a keen interest in National Guard affairs, in an interview today said, "I sincerely hope the electorate of the State of Florida will vote for the adoption of the proposed amendment to Article XIV of the Constitution of Florida."

"The adoption of this amendment will free the National Guard from all political influence."

"Under the Constitution of Florida an officer of the National Guard now holds his commission at the pleasure of the Governor of the State of Florida. The adoption of this amendment will change the Governor's status in any respect as Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces of this State."

"It has been erroneously stated that the adoption of this amendment might create a military oligarchy similar to Hitler and Mussolini." This could not be possibly true. To the contrary, the adoption of the proposed amendment will actually prevent such a condition to exist.

"Under the proposed amendment the Governor will still have the right to initially appoint officers in the National Guard, but once an officer receives a commission his commission may not be arbitrarily and without cause revoked by the Governor or the personnel of the National Guard of Florida."

Facts Are Given On Project For County Hospital

Proposed New Institution Would Be Operated Economically

URGING support of the County bond issue of $1,000,000 to be voted not to exceed five million in a period of 20 years after the election on Nov. 8, the county hospital committee today announced that the proposed time limit for the hospital, which is to be a fireproof, one-million-dollar Duke Foundation institution and pointed out that the bonds have to be issued annually.

He called attention to the fact that in the South public anxiety is at its peak during the November elections because people take it for granted that the nominees of the Democratic party will be elected and do not take the trouble to vote. He urged particularly that a good vote be cast on the proposed amendments as well as on the bonds for the hospital project.

The Titusville suit was brought by T. L. Lingo, of the Florida Citrus Welfare Industry, and others and asked an injunction restraining Mayo from enforcing the law.

Commission members said they felt it necessary to act as a Commission co-defendant because the plaintiff had alleged they follow the Commission recommendations in using arsenicals on their citrus.

John W. Dupree of Tampa, attorney for the Commission, asked the members to appear personally at the Titusville hearing Monday at 10:00 A. M. The Supreme Court test was brought by John Snively of Winter Haven and the arguments are scheduled for Friday.

Welburn Retires As Candidate For City Commissioner

In a letter to City Clerk Frank S. Lamson, D. D. Welburn, who had previously qualified as a candidate for City Commissioner in Group No. 1 announced his withdrawal from this race and requested the City Clerk to leave his name off the ballot for the City election which will be held on Nov. 8.

Mr. Lamson pointed out, however, that it will be impossible to omit his name from the list of candidates for the seat held by Commissioner W. R. Dupree whose term of office expires on Jan. 1, and reduces to six the number of candidates for the two commission post since C. H. Eckerson previously withdrew as a candidate in this group.

Remaining in Group No. 1 are James Gut and James G. Sharon, Jr.

Petition Asks Probe Of Local WPA Operations

Appointment Of Al- leged Incompetent Persons Is Charged

A petition calling for an investigation of conditions existing in operation of the Works Progress Administration in Seminole County was presented to a meeting convened by residents who were organized at a large hall in unoccupied persons, some of whom are said to be in need of work, as being important.

Opposing the petition were members of Seminole WPA Administration, Harry F. Hopkins, state administrator; R. E. Dill, Supervisor of Peppermint and Andrew C. Hendricks.

The petition charges that no consideration has been given to qualifications, merit and general ability in making appointments to the positions of manager and supervisor. The petition further charged that no consideration has been given to the fact that men have been placed in these positions who do not know as much about their work as the laborers working under them, thereby making it necessary for a man working under him to see that the work is properly done.

Managerial men who have had many years experience in other kinds of work are given no recognition, the petition charged, adding that there are men on the WPA receiving salaries as high as $125 per month while having no specific qualifications and others with much less skill, who, while members of that immediate organization also have positions with considerable duties.

The petition further points out that heads of families who have no other source of income than the WPA will be introduced to the public, Edward Higgins, who said today that the Senator's proposal to grant an additional $100,000 to the WPA will be considered at the weekly meeting of the board on the 10th. Higgins said that the new WPA legislation will be referred following the regular business meeting.

Walter E. Collier, chairman of the Finance Committee, will be tried before Judge Frank J. Miller, chairman of the Municipal Court of the Pasco Station, Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

W. D. Martin, manager of the two-day Fair, was present at the opening of the Titusville Fair yesterday morning. He said he expects a great attendance at the fair.

James S. Richards, secretary of the Florida Education Association, was a visitor at the office of Superintendent of Schools T. W. Watson Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Richards came here to work out with Mr. Watson a program for the regular meeting of the East Central Florida District of the Florida Education Association of which Mr. Watson is president. The meeting will be held in Orlando on Nov. 21.

Mr. Watson stated that Dr. John Sexton, superintendent of schools in Pasadena, Calif., will speak on the "Status of the Learner in Modern Schools."

This district of the association embraces the counties of Orange, Osceola, and Lake in addition to Seminole. An invitation to attend the meeting has been extended school officials in Volusia and Brevard counties, it was pointed out.

LOCAL WEATHER

Fair to partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday, except possibly light showers on the southeast coast; slightly warmer in extreme south portion tonight.

Plans Are Completed For Farewell Dinner

Officials of the Seminole County and Junior Chambers of Commerce announced today that plans have been completed for the farewell dinner in honor of T. R. Simpson, retiring president of the Seminole Chamber who is leaving Wednesday to take over new duties for the Texas Company in Newburgh, N. Y.

County Attorney E. F. Housholder will act as master of ceremonies for the occasion, which will be held in conjunction with the regular luncheon of the Governor of the State of Florida.

"At present there is no security in the status of the commission of an officer of the National Guard,"

"Under the proposed amendment the Governor will still have the right to initially appoint officers in the National Guard, but once an officer receives a commission his commission may not be arbitrarily and without cause revoked by the Governor or the personnel of the National Guard of Florida."

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, the happiness of the citizens of Sanford is greatly affected by the beauty of their surroundings; and

WHEREAS, the artists and craftsmen of the nation can do much to improve the appearance of our personal, homes, cities, and country sides by the application of their specialized training to every walk of life; and

WHEREAS, further improvement can be brought about by our common effort uniting the interest of business and professional men and women, legislators, artists and craftsmen, museums, libraries, schools, churches, newspapers, stores, radio stations, and the theaters by presenting our artists and their work for a fuller appreciation by the people of our city;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Edward Higgins, Mayor of the City of Sanford, do hereby proclaim and designate the week beginning November 1, 1934 as AMERICAN ART WEEK, and I invite the co-operation of all our citizens to bring about a greater understanding, use, and appreciation of the fine arts and the allied crafts through art week and the coming year.

By The Mayor,
EDWARD HIGGINS.

THE AUTUMN FIRE
(From The Catholic World)

Bright though the garden was and Eden sweet,

We turn with even bolder desire

To the first lighting of our autumn fire;

And its gold penitons laughing defeat

Flitter and murmur in our joint retreat

Of richer lands which quiet shall acquire—

Of the heart's country, shire on snowy shire,

Riveted with memories, knit for shine or sleet,

Here shall those vestal virgins called the Hours,

Twining our flames in our white temple of peace,

Shed songs more exquisite than sighs from flowers,

And gaze unsleeping, as the winds increase,

On Faith, more rapturous for the tempest's feud,

Or sleeping on the breast of Fortitude.

—GEOPFFREY JOHNSON.

Tonight is Halloween. May the children have a good time and keep destruction to a minimum.

Fortune magazine denies that the South is the Nation's Number One Economic Problem, saying instead that it is the Nation's Number One economic opportunity. Undoubtedly there are problems in the South, but certainly no more than there are in other parts of the country. Furthermore, the people who live in the South are the ones best able to solve their own problems.

Seminole County citizens extend a cordial welcome to Senator Pepper, who is a guest here tonight. Let there be no Halloween jokes played on him for he is Florida's highest ranking official, unless it be the senior Senator Andrews of Orlando, whose term of office expires in 1940, whereas Senator Pepper is in for at least a six year term and, with good behavior, a lifetime if he wants it.

State Road No. 44 is again in the news. Indications are that an allotment of funds may be expected in next year's budget for the completion of this important highway between Sanford and Titusville. This is Seminole County's Road Project No. 1 and no efforts should be spared in assuring its construction. Senator Parish, Representatives Lehman and Leonardy, and our County Commissioners are all working to that end.

The panic which a presumably harmless radio program caused in some parts of the United States merely because of a fantastic story of a fictitious attack on this country by mythical men from the planet Mars, gives some idea of what might happen in this country if the attack were real and the force landing by airplanes were in reality Japs or Germans instead of imaginary monsters. There may be a lesson to be learned from Orson Welles' last night's Theater of the Air after all.

Whereas a few months ago one frequently heard public protests against the comparatively small sums which were being spent on healthful, today, now that the "Spook" of Our Times" Munich Accord is a matter of history, almost every public speaker, every newspaper, and every other indicator of public opinion, declaring that rearmament is not something half-hearted, but something for this country to indulge in which should be pushed to the utmost. Everyone believes that the United States should be as strong as the sea on land, and in the air, that no foreign power can stand up to us.

An Unwise Broadcast

Last night the Columbia Broadcasting System put on another of its regular Sunday night broadcasts of Orson Welles' Mercury Theater of the Air. It was a radio adaptation of H. G. Wells' "The War of the Worlds" in which a highly imaginative attack on the United States by purely fictitious people from the planet Mars takes place.

This army from Mars was supposed to have landed in New Jersey from strange meteor-like airplanes where they immediately set about the task of destroying everything in sight. Whole armies were swept before it. Towns and villages were immediately wiped out. Very quickly New York City was reached and just as quickly destroyed. Radio announcers died at their posts. It was impossible to get accurate information from the chicken areas.

So realistic was this utterly unrealistic performance that thousands of people all over the United States who happened to be listening in thought that it was actually happening. They could not have been sicked in any more completely if H. V. Kaltenborn himself had been at the mike describing the latest report from Europe. Only this was happening in New Jersey, in New York City.

Radio stations and newspaper offices throughout the country were besieged with telephone calls trying to verify the reports, seeking additional information. Some had taken the play so seriously that they had packed their families and their household belongings into their automobiles ready to flee for safety and had waited only to call the police station to try to learn the safest direction in which to run.

This terrifying dramatization might have had serious consequences. Men have been known to die from the excitement of merely listening to a prize fight over the radio. How much greater strain on a weak heart was this ringside seat at the destruction of one of the most populous sections of the United States? That it was not real makes not the slightest difference if you believe it is real.

Something which the broadcasting systems have got to learn, and something which the newspapers to a large extent have already learned, is that the public which uses them is made up of all kinds of people. There are old and tender people who listen to the radio just as there are little children of tender years. There are people who are highly emotional, imaginative, superstitious, and neurotic, just as there are people who are skeptical, blasé, and unexcitable.

There are people who would have been completely uninterested if an actual attack had been made on New Jersey by strange monsters from another planet. And there are people who are always ready to believe that the world is about to come to an end anyway and who would believe the worst no matter how absurd the story and how many times it was denied in later radio announcements or newspaper reports.

The radios should consider the credulous nervous type of personality as well as the type which can take it. They must restrict their programs to forms of entertainment which do no harm among the sick and feeble as well as among the robust and strong.

Getting A Job

"Get yourself a wedge job!" That's the advice Walter Pitkin gives young people eager to get a running start in life. Lumberjacks use wedges to split mighty trees, says the psychologist and author in the current Rotarian Magazine, and youth can use the same device to crack open the doors of opportunity.

"To get a wedge job, develop an accessory skill," Pitkin counsels young men and women, explaining that high competence in a low field is necessary first of all. "You seek work that brings you into close contact with some man at or near the top. The work must be humble. But your skill at it must be, as the movie advertisements say, supercolossal, if not positively mastodonic."

Many of today's "big shots" started as aides to private secretaries, then became private secretaries, then executive secretaries, and so on up, he says. For that reason mastery of stenography, bookkeeping, or a similar skill gives a young person with ability and ambition an unparalleled opportunity to learn about company trends and conditions. As he makes himself useful in small jobs, bigger jobs will come to him.

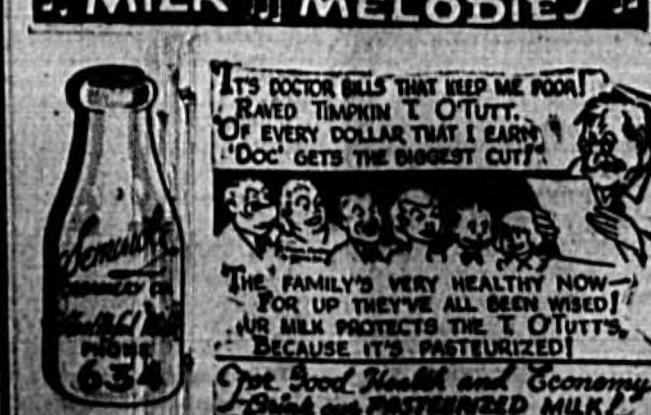

Law may be a wedge skill, Pitkin informs impoverished young attorneys looking for clients. By studying new and proposed laws as they affect a specific business, an able lawyer may create a job for himself. Facility in writing may enable a young man to make technical reports and scientific abstracts readable to the public and thus make himself useful to an industry. Door-to-door selling, mechanics, photography, and many another skill may be used to serve a similar purpose.

"No skill, well mastered, is too slim or inconsequential to be laughed off, if you think hard enough about how to use it as a wedge," concludes Pitkin. "Use it ingeniously, not to begin at the bottom and work up, but to crack into the 'big stuff' with a very small tool."

HALLOWEENWEEKLY NEWS COLUMN

by JOE HENDRICKS

1. MIEN KAMPF ... There was a sigh of relief and rightfully so when the Munich account was completed. War has been averted. Perhaps a more accurate statement would be that "war had been POSTPONED." That in my opinion is all that was accomplished. Anyone familiar with the contents of Mien Kampf, written by Chancellor Hitler some years ago will realize that his ambition for conquest is not yet satisfied. He has not accomplished his first two objectives, Austria and Czechoslovakia, but this is only a minor part of the imperial dream written in Mien Kampf. Hitler dreams of an ultimate conquest of Russia and then a reckoning with her traditional enemy, France. I am quite aware of the fact that the Chancellor said that this was the last territory that he wanted. In the light of past events and present trends I could well say, I don't believe him. On the other hand assume that he was telling the truth, he didn't say that this is the last conquest I EVER hoped to make. It may be true that this is the last territory that he actually intends to annex as a part of Germany but I still believe that Mr. Hitler has his eyes on the ultimate objectives of his program. War has only been postponed. Will England be prepared when danger threatens again?

2. SMART ... The man who said this was smart. "I know better than to argue with a newspaper man - he goes to press too often."

3. FISHING ... More people enjoy fishing as a sport than any other athletic activity. So it would seem from figures recently released by Charles E. Jackson, Assistant Commissioner of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries. Anglers in the United States bought 6,901,587 licenses during 1936-37 for which they paid $9,309,949. Considering the tackle, clothing, boots, shoes, gasoline to say nothing of refreshments, the total figure is astounding. To indicate just how the sport is progressing, the total has jumped almost 8% per cent in the past five years. Southern states have begun to spend considerable sums for the development of their fishing. From non-resident license holders in one state, it was estimated that a million and a half dollars worth of gasoline alone was sold to the anglers. Fishing indeed seems to be the most greatly enjoyed of sports. The figures prove it. I hope I will have the time to and the pleasure of enjoying some of this popular sport before I return to Washington.

4. FARM LIGHTS ... It is my sincere desire that every farm family in my District have electricity in their home. I would much prefer to see this done by the power industry but where this is not feasible or practical then I hope it can be done by the Rural Electrification Administration. The Administration has one project in operation in my District which is being rapidly developed. This project covers four counties. Just recently $260,000 was set aside for the further expansion of this project. A very simple appearing amendment to the last relief appropriation bill and one which many Members of Congress have no doubt forgotten, makes it possible for the WPA to operate with the REA in building these needed power lines with labor relief funds. I have already taken advantage of the amendment and in discussing the matter with the Administration they have promised me their cooperation and I would like to advise those interested in these projects that they discuss the matter with me and we can work out a scheme to get much more for our money.

5. CIVIL SERVICE ... Announcements of the following examinations have been received. Agricultural Extension Agent, $2,900 a year; Assistant Agricultural Extension Agent, $2,600; Deputy United States Game Management Agent, $1,600; Mail Order Operator, $1,440. Teacher in Indian Community and Boarding Schools, $2,000 to $1,620; Dairyman-Farmer, $1,800; Junior Engineer, $2,000 a year. Locals Prepare For Game With Orlando Tigers

Feds Were Defeated 14-12 By Big Ten Eleven Last Year

The Seminole High School Cemetery Feds will begin preparation today for their annual battle with the Orlando Tigers Friday night when the Feds travel to Orlando for the contest to be played at Tinker Field.

The Orlando delegation, which is coached by Harry Greene and his assistants, Zollie Maynard, Walker Hovater and Carlisle Hughes, lost their first Big Ten Conference game last Friday night when Robert E. Lee High School of Jacksonville white-washed them 19 to 0.

That was the second Orlando defeat of the year as the Daytona Beach Buccaneers of the Northeast Florida Conference had first defeated them.

The Feds have won three out of five games this season, losing to Ocala and Daytona Beach. They have whipped Eustis, Lake City and DeLand.

The Feds are in fairly good condition for the contest but a hard week's preparation is facing them as hopes are none too high for a victory over the Orlando aggregation.

However, the Feds are remembering how close they came last season when the Tigers defeated them 14 to 12.

Resolution No. 41, Mr. Housholder confirmed, would place the schools on a parity with other departments of the state government in the matter of the distribution of state funds. In times past, Mr. Housholder said, special taxes earmarked by the Legislature for the schools, had failed to produce sufficient revenue to meet necessary appropriations, and school teachers had been left unpaid, while school terms in some cases had been cut to six or seven months. Under the so-called parity amendment, deficits in the school funds could be made up by allotments from the general funds in the same proportion as allotments were made to other departments of government.

The Fourth Amendment, Mr. Housholder explained, pertained to the National Guard, and was designed to remove the National Guard from politics and to improve it as an effective and efficient military force. Appointments of officers in the National Guard, under the amendment would still be made by the Governor, but they would have to be made from among qualified men who have passed regular Army tests.

No officer, once appointed, Mr. Housholder added, could be removed from office except through the regular channels as provided for under the U. S. Army rules and regulations.

Warning Against Hallowe'en Mishaps Is Given By Frank

Goblins, witches and ghosts will be prancing about the streets. Hallowe'en will bring all sorts of terrifying creatures from their graveyard haunts. They however, come forth only once a year.

On the other hand, there is one grisly demon who is with us all the year, and he'll be on hand for Hallowe'en. It's old Man Accident. He'll lurk at parties where there is merriment and laughter, and hell-skulls through the street where youngsters are playing with their jack-o-lanterns, and hell play-hands-and-hounds with the pranksters.

Asher Frank, Director of the Florida Safety Council, told us to "Beware of practical jokes at parties. Horseplay often results in injuries. Enjoy your hobgoblins and ghosts of the friendly kind, but give Old Man Accident a cold shoulder."

The Old Man Accident is about the only Hallowe'en spook that can harm you. So watch out! Don't let your children engage in dangerous mischief. Be particularly careful in driving. The town will be filled with playful children on Hallowe'en night so be unusually cautious when you approach a group of youngsters.

Thinking drivers do not drink, and drinking drivers do not think!

Senator Pepper To Address Demos At City Auditorium

American citizenship, "even if the children are born in this country."

Senator Pepper, who has but recently returned from a European tour, told us during the recent crisis, told of his observations while in Paris and London with people practicing the use of gas masks and digging up public parks for emplacement of bomb shelters.

Senator Pepper said America had three primary objectives to insure peace of the country:

1. Armed preparation for the entire nation to protect it on all fronts which includes cooperation with nations of Central and South America to prevent aggression from that quarter.

2. The right kind of purifying spirit to make true Americans out of our citizens and to outlaw the ills that would bore from within our government and its people.

Pump-Priming Is Defended In Talk By Claude Pepper

Government Is Determined To Relieve Condition Of Farmers, Senator Says

Mayor Introduces Senate Nominee

Continuation Of Federal Spending Program Is Foreseen

Dwelling largely on the economic development of the South and the government's determination to relieve farmers, Senator Claude Pepper in an address to several hundred persons in the City Hall last night, defended the Administration's pump-priming program as "building a greater America" while increasing the income of one-seventh of families whose annual income is not in excess of $500 an year.

Senator Pepper was introduced as the Democratic Party's nominee for re-election to the United States Senate by Mayor Edward Higgins who urged Democrats to join in support of the party's nominee at the polls on Nov. 8.

As a member of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Senator Pepper stated that he was in contact with Army engineers and declared that he would work to ward securing the approval of the proposed St. Johns Indian River Canal.

Pointing to the optimistic over-the-business outlook for the coming year which has been expressed by leading financiers, the speaker declared that the recovery is the result of the government's pump-priming program. He indicated that a new appropriation for federal spending would likely be made at the next session of Congress, after he stated that a recent survey showed business has trebled since Congress approved the last huge amount for relief.

In beginning his address Senator Pepper told of his work on the joint Senate and House committee investigating the phosphate resources in the United States and stated that members of the committee are attempting to work out a plan whereby farmers can secure this essential fertilizer material at a reduced cost.

The speaker invited suggestions from local farmers on means of reducing fertilizer costs also extended to them an invitation to attend the hearing of the committee in Lakeland Nov. 21 when an investigation of Florida's phosphate problems will be made.

Senator Pepper mentioned briefly his trip to Europe and told of attending the conference at the League. At this conference, he said, representatives were present from the legislative branches of almost all the nations of the world. Senator Pepper attended as a legislative representative from the United States.

The results of the survey made by the League of Nations which showed that the unemployment in the democracies was much higher than any of the other nations; considerably higher than in the countries ruled by dictators.

This survey has raised the question of whether democracies are incompetent, incapable of facing today's problems, the Senator said, and added that this is being used as a strong argument in favor of dictatorship.

He stated that for the past five years the government has tried to put into effect the story of the Good Samaritan while seeking a solution of the unemployment problem. But, he continued, "We cannot allow a breakdown in our economy or allow any part of our people to suffer." Senator Pepper stated that the relief program in the United States not only benefited the direct recipient but all industry.

Hitting at the nation's protective tariff as cutting off an outlet for the nation's agricultural surpluses, Senator Pepper stated that the industries for the benefit of which the tariff was passed

Celery Packers Likely To Come Under Wages Law

Definition Of "Area Of Production" Extended To Industry

Although no definite statement or decision has been made by Administration officials on the application of the wage and hours statute to the packers of vegetables, Senator Claude Pepper in his speech last night, stated that he believed the celery packers will come under the provisions of the law unless the products are packed on the farm where grown.

The statute provides that regulations will not apply if agriculture crops are packed within the area of production, however, Administrator Andrews' interpretation of "area of production" is the farm on which the crops are grown, the Senator pointed out. With the intent in industry he has ruled that only packing plants employing seven or less persons and located on the grove where the citrus is produced will be exempted from the provisions of the law.

Since the celery industry here is recognized as handling a perishable, seasonal commodity Senator Pepper stated that he believed it would therefore be exempt from the maximum hours provisions for a period of 11 weeks in each calendar year as is the citrus industry.

Although most celery packers in this area are more or less familiar with the basic principle of the law which went into effect on Oct. 21, opinions have differed widely as to its ramifications causing widely divergent opinions on the application of the statute.

The legislation will result in definite benefits for the South Senator Pepper declared, adding that the wages and hours law is not another NRA and that Administrator Andrews is not another Hugh Johnson.

Senator Pepper declared that the law would be administered justly and added that he will gladly assist in any way possible any person who has any complaints to make to the administrator.

W. M. Scott, local manager of the American Fruit Growers, stated that the bean packing houses in the Lake Okeechobee section are tentatively going to comply with the minimum wage regulation but are not going to consider the maximum hour feature.

Mrs. Elvira Garner Is Honored While Visiting Atlanta

Mr. Scott further pointed out that these bean packing houses had appointed a representative to attend a conference with Administrator Andrews in Washington, which was arranged by Senator Pepper. Furthermore, they have prepared a brief to be presented at the conference and will request an immediate change in the interpretation of the law as applied to agricultural crops.

It was intimated that the potato and tomato growers on the East Coast might also join in asking that the meaning of the term "area of production" be extended to cover the producing areas of a state rather than a single farm.

Senator Pepper said last night that the citrus packing house operators were also seeking revision or modification of the definition which would exempt the industry. It was ruled that all grave labor, including the picking of fruit, will be exempt and that the hauling of the fruit to the packing house is exempt if done by the grower.

TRULUCK OMITTED

The name of J. H. Truluck, candidate for City Commissioner in Group No. 2, was unintentionally omitted in the list of candidates appearing in Monday's issue of The Sanford Herald. Mr. Truluck is one of five candidates seeking election to the seat now held by Commissioner A. W. Lee whose term of office expires on Jan. 1. Others in this race are George Rollins, Andrew Carraway, Henry Melaulin, Jr. and R. J. Holly, Jr.

Attorney Dix Says Spy Trial Is "Frame-Up"

Government Accused Of Corruption In Bringing Fraulein Hofmann To Trial

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(UPI)—An accusation that the German espionage trial now proceeding in federal court was a "frame-up" was made today by George Cross, counsel for Francis Johnson Hofmann, one of three persons on trial.

"I charge that there was a frame-up and corruption on the part of the government in this case," said Dix, when government counsel objected to his cross-examination Reed Vetter, a former special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in New York.

The prosecution contended Vetter's testimony, which dealt with a statement signed by Otto Hermann Voos, another defendant, did not affect Dix's client.

Dix was permitted to cross-examine Vetter but his questions were limited.

A statement quoting Otto Hermann Voos, tall, thin, aviator mechanic, as saying he gave construction secrets of United States army and navy planes to German agents for Germany and, in turn, was paid into the record at the spy trial.

Voss, one of the three persons on trial, stood steadily erect in German military fashion during the reading. His countenance reflected submission of the confession on the ground that it was induced by bribery.

In the statement given to the Federal Bureau of Investigation agent Voos, a naturalized American citizen, told of exposing construction secrets of planes to both Karl Eitel and Herbert Jaenichen, accused as Nazi agents who are fugitives from the indictment.

The statement, old he reported to Dr. Erich Pfeiffer, chief of German naval intelligence, in Germany, naval intelligence, informed another agent defendant, and was thanked profusely on the good he had done him in his native land.

Voss was employed at the Goodyear aircraft factory in Long Island.

The statement said, "The only money I ever received was $100 which was for expense on my trips to a hotel to report to our German agents."

"I never expected to receive any money. I had nothing to do with Jaenichen, and made it clearly clear that I didn't want any money but was doing it solely for the fatherland."

Agents were told to immediately to determine types of farming now existing by areas in their county. An acre of land resource such as certain tree types, or some better suited to different areas, and then and farmers to adopt adaptations to fit the kind of land, adding manure and irrigation will be involved, and the work will be conducted on an area wide scale in some areas and a general scale in others.

The conference, directed by the Star Association Extension Service, and attended by the state's entire corps of extension agents and home demonstration agents, concluded yesterday afternoon at the University of Florida.

"I never expected to receive any money. I had nothing to do with Jaenichen, and made it clearly clear that I didn't want any money but was doing it solely for the fatherland."

Agents were told that the purpose of land use and program planning work is to correlate all agricultural and related programs by all interested agencies to stimulate thought, and to encourage farm people to use their available resources to develop and county programs looking to more effective land use.

Agents were told that the purpose of land use and program planning work is to correlate all agricultural and related programs by all interested agencies to stimulate thought, and to encourage farm people to use their available resources to develop and county programs looking to more effective land use.

Annual meeting of the Florida Extension Agents' Association was a feature of the week.

Heading its activities for next year will be Miss Ruby Brown of Jefferson, president; C. H. Steffani of Lake Wales, first vice-president; and L. T. Dyer of Union, secretary.

Agents were told that the purpose of land use and program planning work is to correlate all agricultural and related programs by all interested agencies to stimulate thought, and to encourage farm people to use their available resources to develop and county programs looking to more effective land use.
