

FIRST TEST OF STRENGTH OF COAL MINERS STRIKE ---600,000 MINERS OUT

Claim 22,000 Men Are at Work in Central Pennsylvania

HIT RAILROAD MEN

THOUSANDS ARE LAID OFF WITH MOVEMENT OF LAST LOADED COAL CARS

(By The Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, April 3.—The first real test of the strength in the coal strike came today, the beginning of suspension of work Saturday was an annual holiday among the miners, having failed to determine the exact effectiveness of the walkout. At union headquarters here confidence was expressed that developments would confirm the union estimate that six hundred thousand men, among them one hundred thousand non-union workers, had quit work.

WILKES BARRE, Pa., April 3.—Reports yesterday from board members and presidents of local unions show that the tie-up in the anthracite mines on the Wyoming valley was one hundred per cent Saturday from Pittston to Moccasin. The only activity around the colliers were confined to the pumpmen, stablesmen, engineers, firemen and other exempt classes.

Railroad coal crews yesterday removed the few loaded cars remaining on the loading tracks at the several breakers and shifted empty coal cars to storage yards and sidings. More than 2,000 members of railroad coal crews in this city and valley will be idle today.

So far the suspension has been entirely peaceful and leaders of the miners declare there will be no breach of law.

Lewis Asks Public's Aid
WASHINGTON, April 3.—The national coal strike is 100 per cent in the unionized bituminous and anthracite fields of the country and is getting support in non-union territory, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers declared yesterday on his arrival here to attend congressional hearings today.

"There are 600,000 miners ready to stay out of the mines 'indefinitely' until the operators are ready to discuss with us the question of new wage agreements in the central competitive field," Mr. Lewis declared, adding that while the union "courted investigation for itself and the bituminous industry, it seeks no government intervention but does ask for the support of public opinion, in forcing the operators to continue collective bargaining with miners over wages and working conditions."

Discussing coal reserves and the effect of the strike on the interest of consumers, Mr. Lewis strongly advanced his opinion that "pinch would come earlier than expected."

He declared non-union production had been greatly "exaggerated" and that operators had been more or less openly following tactics that "forced a strike so they could get higher prices and scarcity which means greater profits."

"There won't be a single man return to work this week," President Lewis said. "from the 600,000 men who went out. It takes a little longer in the non-union fields for us to get the reports. In West Virginia, for instance, right along the Ohio line, there are about 5,000 or 6,000 men in non-union mines for whom meetings are being held today. They'll probably be out today. There are meetings here and there in non-union territory all over the United States today. We'll get their quotations later. In the union territory we know what happened. The operators aren't even going to try to run mines."

Taking notice of the suggestion by Chairman Borah of the senate labor committee that the government ought to intervene in the situation Mr. Lewis remarked, "I'm afraid nothing much could be done with the operators."

"Every attempt has been made to meet their obligation to continue collective bargaining with us," he continued, "and I assume they will main-

UNION MINERS DESIRE END OF THE COAL STRIKE

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 3.—Union coal miners who suspended work Saturday are declared today by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, as being desirous of ending the suspension of mining operations at the earliest possible date, but the resumption of coal production depends upon the future attitude of the coal operators. Lewis made this declaration before the house labor committee which is holding hearings on the Bland resolution to direct the appointment by President Harding of a commission to investigate the coal industry.

FREE STATE TROOPS REFUSED ADMISSION

(By The Associated Press)
MULLINGER, Ireland, April 3.—An incident from which sensational developments are expected to occur today when one hundred free state troops marched to the gates of the barracks occupied by the Irish Republican army adherents of Eamon De Valera and were refused admission.

FATTY TO TAKE STAND FOR THE SECOND TIME

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Roscoe C. Arbuckle is to take the stand "in the next few days" to tell his own story of the happenings at the Hotel St. Francis at a party in which he is alleged to have fatally attacked Miss Virginia Rappe, a motion picture actress, counsel for Arbuckle announced yesterday. The Arbuckle trial which is on a manslaughter charge in connection with the actress' death is expected to consume two more weeks.

It will be Arbuckle's second appearance on the stand in the three trials of the case. He did not testify at the second trial, the prosecution reading his testimony in the first trial into the record and the defense considering that this was sufficient as far as his personal story was concerned.

It was announced Saturday that documentary evidence tending to contradict the testimony of Jesse Norgaard a prosecution witness, will be introduced. Norgaard testified that Arbuckle attempted to bribe him to obtain a key to Miss Rappe's room in a Culver City studio where Norgaard was night watchman.

SOVIET MAKE MORE DEMANDS.

LONDON, April 3.—According to a dispatch to the London Times from Riga, dated Saturday, messages have been received in the Latvian capital to the effect that the Moscow soviet will make the following demands at the Genoa conference:

Recognition of the Soviet merchant flag; unrestricted use of foreign ports, and the handing over of all Russian ships. It will be claimed that sixty per cent of Russia's pre-war shipping was in foreign ports, and if any of it has been lost it shall be replaced.

In the event of the Dardanelles becoming neutral the Soviet government will seek participation in the international counsel of waterways.

tain their refusal no matter who tries to get them to confer. We stand ready now as ever, to enter any conference with them to discuss terms of a new wage contract which will allow us to resume work.

"If the miners today were occupying the position of refusing to discuss a wage contract, as the operators are they'd be morally disgraced by all the citizenship of this land."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NOTES

LARGE CITY VS. SMALL CITY PROBLEMS

It has often been questioned whether a commercial organization in a small town is expected to meet problems as the one in a large town and whether their aims and ambitions are identical.

The answer to this question is that the problems of the small community are practically the same as those of the larger community—as far as concerns the problems themselves—the distinguishing difference between the two being the sizes of issues involved. In a larger city the problems are larger but not more numerous.

The Chamber of Commerce in a smaller city is perhaps confronted with greater difficulties in its attempt to find a solution for local problems an account of many reasons, a few of which are herewith enumerated. In small cities men know one another so well that they often fail to harmonize.

More direct service is required of the Chamber of Commerce in a smaller city.

Large cities have large problems unknown to small cities; small cities have many problems which large cities have already solved. The work of a secretary is easier in a large city. The large city must employ heroic measures to correct evils resulting from lack of city planning when they were small; small cities must give citizens vision enabling them to prepare for the big city of the future. Finance is also a great difference; the little city usually lacks the big fellow who will invest and await results.

The lethargic attitude of the membership to the organization is unfortunately a failing found too often in the small city. The machinery for working out the solution of a problem is obviously more limited in the small city. The knoek's knock is not so keenly felt in large cities as in small. Large cities place emphasis on the word BETTER—small cities on the word BIGGER. In large cities the duties required of a commercial organization are specific and definite, while in the small city they are variable and general. The small city problems are more personal.

In larger cities the man of large affairs takes an active interest in the work of the cities commercial organization. Practically all his business affairs are in the city in which he lives, and he is, therefore, interested in its commercial problems.

In the smaller cities, the same type of men do not give the same attention to local affairs, and as a result, the work of the commercial organizations in such cities is left very largely to men who cannot be properly classed as commercial leaders. This is due to some extent to the fact that the men of big affairs in these smaller cities are more deeply concerned in the affairs of larger communities near at hand and they consider the civic and commercial problems of their own community too unimportant to be worthy of their attention. This statement, of course, not true with respect to every big man in small cities, but it is true with respect to many.

As a natural result the large city organization has the advantage of the advice of the most successful business men of the city; men of ripe experience and sound judgment; men who have the means to properly finance the projects which are determined to be for the best interest of their organization or community. The small city organization on the other hand is often obliged to be content with the advice of men of limited ability, experience, and means. These men may have large ideas, but they often lack the influence and means through which to translate their words and plans into deeds. It is a pretty well established fact, however, that the efforts, aims, and ambitions of commercial organizations in small cities cover the whole field of Chamber of Commerce work.

$500,000 FIRE AT HOPE, ARK.
(By The Associated Press)
TEXARKANA, April 3.—Hope, Arkansas, was visited by a half million dollar fire today. The Alice theatre, said to be the most magnificent in the southwest and valued at $400,000, was destroyed. Other buildings valued at $100,000 were also consumed.

CHAUTAUGUA PROGRESSING IN GREAT SHAPE

ALL ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETE FOR OPENING TOMORROW.

With the carload of Redpath Chautauqua equipment already in the city, to be unloaded and set up tonight, and enthusiasm increasing with the approval of the five-days event, starting Tuesday, season tickets are selling today as never before in the Chautauqua history of Sanford. Efficient organization, with the cooperation of the High School students under the leadership of Miss Nell Whitner, president of the Business and Professional Woman's Club, is getting the Chautauqua before the people of Sanford in the true light of its existence—a bigger and better program than ever before for a very small sum of money and an undeniably good thing for the community.

Only tonight and Tuesday until 3 p. m. remain in which season tickets may be secured and the people of Sanford are urged to buy their season tickets before the close of the sale for the enjoyment and benefit they will receive from the extremely unusual program, for the civic interests of Sanford, and for the support of the Business and Professional Woman's Club against a personal loss. Unless the city does support the ladies in the season ticket sale it will be to their personal loss.

Teams of high school students, under the supervision of the leaders of the ladies club, are making a thorough campaign of solicitation which reaches every person in the city and it remains to the townspeople to show their appreciation of the efforts of the ladies in bringing to Sanford a series of high class events for such a nominal sum.

Each of the ten attractions is an individual success within itself. There is a strong appeal in the variety of the program and every number is as strong and attractive in its particular manner as every other number. Starting with the New England Male Quartet on Tuesday afternoon and Lewis A. Convis on Tuesday night the entire program is one which everyone in Sanford will want to see.

GIRL IS ASSAULTED, AND NOSE BROKEN, THROWN IN RIVER

NORFOLK, Va., April 3.—The body of a young woman was found on the beach at Ocean View yesterday. There were bruises on her face and the nose was broken. The county coroner upon examining the body pronounced death due to drowning. The body, however, according to the coroner, had not been in the water more than an hour. He said he believed that the young woman, who has not been identified, was assaulted and thrown into the bay. One of her shoes and a stocking were found on the beach about fifty yards from the spot where the body washed ashore.

The young woman was dressed in a blue flannel coat and skirt. Near her body was found a green velvet Tam-o'-shanter cap. She was about 20 years old.

FATAL SHOOTING ACCIDENT AT NEW SMYRNA SUNDAY

(By The Associated Press)
NEW SMYRNA, April 3.—Clyde Hall, the 15-year-old son of T. J. Hall, general yard master here for the Florida East Coast railroad, was accidentally shot and killed yesterday while hunting near here. Hall and a small boy named Bates had just entered the underbrush, Bates following. Bates gun was discharged when it brushed against a branch of a tree, killing Hall instantly.

COL. NUTT SAYS THE LIQUOR LAWS ARE STRINGENT

(By The Associated Press)
MIAMI, April 3.—Colonel Nutt in a statement today declared that Sheriff Allen and Solicitor Pine, of Dade county, had offered their fullest co-operation against bootleggers and that arrangements had been made to prosecute all cases hereafter under the state code in the county court. Nutt declared the Florida liquor law was "one of the most stringent in the country."

MORE BREAKS IN THE LEVEE AT OLDTOWN

(By The Associated Press)
HELENA, Ark., April 3.—Further caving in of the levee at Oldtown is reported today, developing another serious situation. Seventy-five feet of the levee adjacent to the hundred and seventy-five feet previously reported, fell into the river last night. Workmen from here are being rushed to the scene.

TWELVE YEAR OLD GIRL WAS SOME DETECTIVE

(By The Associated Press)
JACKSONVILLE, April 3.—A 12-year-old girl here is thoroughly prepared to cope with the crime wave if it must spread to the ranks of the juveniles.

She and her five year old brother attended a movie matinee recently, and the little Miss piled her feminine accessories, including a vanity case, card case and the powder puff, in her hat laying beside her. When the screen finally brought the hero and his love to a safe haven she collared her little brother and reached for her valuables.

They had disappeared. She quickly appraised the situation and recalled that two other little girls had been seated next to the hat and its contents, but that they had removed to another part of the theatre. She singled them out and approaching them politely inquired if they had taken her belongings by mistake.

A sterner attitude greeted their negative reply, however, and she said: "Well, if you didn't get them by mistake, you took them."

She dispatched little brother post haste to the ticket seller, but the little fibers broke down and returned the valuables.

THE LIFE OF A HEALTH OFFICER IS ONE DARN THING AFTER ANOTHER—FINE LIFE

TAMPA, April 3.—The lot of a city health officer is not a pleasant one, according to Dr. J. R. Harris, who holds that position in Tampa. Dr. Harris has related a few of his experiences the last few days.

2,000 Men Take New Oath of Allegiance FOUR MEN KILLED

(By The Associated Press)
DUBLIN, April 3.—The serious extent of the split in the ranks of the Irish Republican army was revealed yesterday afternoon when from five Dublin battalions which had been ordered out to take a "new oath of allegiance, an oath with new implications," not less than 2,000 men obeyed the republican appeal and marched to Smithfield. There in the presence of Liam Mellows, Roderick O'Connor and other noted heads of the republican movement, they took the oath of allegiance to free themselves from any other further responsibility to the Dail Eireann.

The extremists last night expressed entire satisfaction at the response to their appeal. A large crowd, including contingents from the woman's organization, witnessed the parade of the battalions, but gave no demonstration of sympathy beyond their presence.

BELFAST, April 3.—Four men were shot and killed and three children were wounded last night in the Sinn Fein area near the Old Lodge road district. The ages of the men ranged from forty to sixty-three. The children are two, seven and thirteen years of age. It was another grim week end for Belfast. The shooting of the men is believed to have been in reprisal for the killing Saturday of Constable George Turner. The assassin fired at Turner from a vacant house and made his escape. The news of the shooting of the policeman spread rapidly, and despite the curfew hour last night there were scenes of excitement in the streets.

Later heavy rifle fire and revolver firing, punctuated with the shrieks of women and children, was heard and shortly afterward the bodies of the four men were taken to a hospital, where the three wounded children also were conveyed. The father of the children, Joseph Walsh, was one of the men who was killed. All the killings took place in the homes of the victims. Walsh was lying in bed with the two younger children, and the bullet which killed him wounded them. Two-year-old Bridget was shot through the head.

Frank Walsh, a son of Joseph Walsh, was stopping with his grandmother, a few doors distant from the Walsh home. The grandmother's house also was raided. The intruders rushed upstairs, seized Frank, who was trying to make his escape through a window, and pitched him downstairs. His injuries are not serious. The grandmother said after the raid that Joseph Walsh had served five years in the war on the western front. She had thirteen sons and nephews in the war, only two of whom returned.

"And this is my reward on their return," the old lady sobbed. In the home of a relative of the Walsh family this morning a bullet passed through the arm of a neighbor holding a baby and pierced its stomach, wounding it fatally.

The body of a young man named Garvey was found lying in the road at midnight last night three miles from Newry. There were two bullet wounds in his head.

"Why not?" asked Dr. Harris. "Doctor who attended the case won't sign the death certificate," was the reply. "Says the family hasn't paid his bill."

The doctor arranged to examine the body and issue a burial permit. The night previous, Dr. Harris said, he had been called out of bed to inform an inquirer whether it was true the body of a negro had been found in the city water reservoir.

ROAD DEPARTMENT CANCELS TAMPA MEET—GIVES NO REASON

Chairman C. T. Friend of the board of county commissioners announced yesterday that he had received notice from W. W. Clark, Wall Springs, a member of the state road department, that the scheduled state road meeting would not be held here. The session was scheduled for March.

Mr. Friend stated last night that he was informed that the meeting would be held in Tallahassee this month. At the last session, Mr. Friend invited the state road department to hold the March meeting in Tampa, and the department accepted the invitation. No reason was given for the postponement.—Tampa Tribune.

FAREWELL DINNER TO DONNELLY FAMILY

Mr. William T. Donnelly and family were given a farewell dinner last Wednesday evening at the home of Secretary Pearman. The floral decorations of sweet peas and roses were tastefully arranged, and the three-course dinner, which was informal, made the Donnellys feel that they were being entertained, not by acquaintances, but by real old friends. Place cards bore original verses which were apropos to the individual. Those acquainted with Mr. Donnelly's son, Norman, will appreciate the following limerick which appeared on his place card: There was a young fellow named Norman. Of a pair of fine yachts he was foreman. When vamped by the chix He said to them—nix I can't marry you all, I'm no Mormon.

Those who enjoyed the Epicurean farewell were Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Donnelly, Norman Donnelly, Miss Helen Donnelly, Miss Alice Simmonds, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Holly, Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Williams.

DAYTONA, Fla., April 1.—George Elliott Denniston, 54, and his wife were drowned while surf bathing at Daytona Beach yesterday. Both bodies were recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. Denniston were in the surf alone and their drowning was not known until the bodies floated ashore. They were natives of Janesville, Wis., and Denniston was employed for 25 years in the railway mail service out of Chicago.

THE LAWRENCE STOCK CO. WILL CLOSE MONDAY NIGHT

The John Lawrence Stock Company which has been pleasing large crowds here during the past week, will close their engagement here Monday night. They had expected to remain another week, but decided to cut their stay short, so as not to conflict with the Redpath Chautauqua, which opens an engagement here Tuesday. This is one of the best stock companies that has ever played Sanford and every member has made many lasting friends. The play last night, "A Turkish Bath" pleased the large crowd present and a real treat is promised those who attend tonight, when "The Warning" will be presented with high class vodville between acts. "The Yale Cowboy" will be the closing attraction Monday night. Mr. Lawrence states he will return to Sanford next season and he expressed himself as well pleased with the welcome accorded the company here.

POPHAM THREATENS SUE NEWS AGENCIES AND NEWSPAPERS

TALLAHASSEE, April 1.—William Lee Popham of Apalachicola, president of the Oyster Growers' Co-operative Association, was in Tallahassee Tuesday and Wednesday, and while here employed counsel who, it is understood, will in a short time enter suit for him against The Associated Press, the United Press and about one hundred newspapers in the United States. The suit grows out of Mr. Popham's contention that these papers carried erroneous and false reports concerning the Oyster Growers' Co-operative Association. It will be recalled that Mr. Popham was recently indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of fraudulent use of the mails. He declares that the only charges against him and his associates is that they violated a statute prohibiting non-residents of the state to own oyster beds in the state. It is understood that Mr. Popham states that this law was violated for the purpose and with the intention of testing its constitutionality before the court.

1,000 SHRINERS TO BE GUESTS OF THE LOCAL SHRINE ON MAY 27TH

There were some doin's at the meeting of the local Shriners at their hall last evening, when W. L. Smart, of Jacksonville, recorder of the Morocco Temple of that city, met with the lodge and arranged for a ceremonial here on Saturday, May 27, at which time it is confidently expected that at least 1,000 Shriners from every part of the state will be in attendance. It was also decided to take the preliminary steps to organize a club here to be known as the Sanford Shrine Club. It is expected that the Jacksonville Shriners will charter a river steamer for the occasion, and that they will be joined by many members of the order from the northern part of the state. The party will be accompanied by a band and patrol of seventy members. It is proposed to have a series of entertainments for the ladies of the party and their time while here will be filled with receptions, auto rides, etc., and a grand ball in the evening.

The Sanford Shriners never do things on a small scale and they expect to pull off a stunt really worth while on this occasion. The Daily Herald will publish a complete program as soon as it is prepared and will keep its readers fully informed as to developments.

LEVEE CAVING IN NEAR HELENA, ARK.

HELENA, April 1.—Workmen returning from Oldtown, 17 miles south of this city, where caving in continued after midnight, declare that the waters of the Mississippi river have gone through a gap in the front levee made by last night's cave-in. The water is being held by sub-levees of sandbags.

Sanford at last has a thoroughly equipped, up-to-date restaurant that makes a specialty of Sunday dinners at a moderate price. The Seminole Cafe gives you a choice of dinners. Try the Sunday dinner tomorrow.

Quite a crowd of people were at the depot to welcome President Harding Saturday evening, but for some reason he failed to arrive. It finally dawned on our people that it was April 1, and after a hearty laugh the good natured crowd beat it for home.

We still have with us the movie pest who insists on reading aloud the sub-titles, as though no one else at the show could read.—Orlando Reporter Star.

Also the woman who did not comb her hair and persists in wearing a big hat.

The Bank of Okeechobee purchased the entire issue of $55,000 worth of city improvement bonds of the City of Okeechobee at 55 cents and accrued interest. This money will complete the paving of the streets, finish the work of installing the balance of the machinery and equipment for the municipal water works and install sewers throughout the city. There is a live bunch of people in Okeechobee and the town is growing and progressing as never before.

FLORIDA, THE PARADISE OF HEALTHFUL FRUITS.

There is a saying that has all the dignity and authority that can be obtained from age and frequent repetition, expressed in these words: "An apple a day keeps the doctor away." We have no desire to criticize the truth of that expression, but the apple tree does not flourish in Florida, although our faith in the possibilities of the state is so strong that we believe a type will be solved by some future Burbank, that will vie in pleasurable and healthful qualities with the best products of the western and northern states. But let that pass. It is immaterial, irrelevant and incompetent as the lawyers say. We, in Florida, are not obliged to rely upon the humble apple as a means of defense against the healing physician, for we have the whole gamut of the most aristocratic products of the fruit world upon which to draw. First, of course, comes the delicious orange, packed to repletion with healthful, vitalizing juice, ideal tonic for babes, and a vitalizer for strong, healthy men. There is little demand for the doctor's services in those homes where the orange is a part of the daily diet. And the Florida orange is the king of its kind. Another member of the citrus family that is coming into the measure of appreciation which it fully deserves, is the grapefruit. The man who begins the day with a grapefruit on his breakfast menu will be clear-headed, vigorous and unafraid to face the problems of life as they come up.

There are numerous other fruits which Florida can furnish the world to add to the joy of living, and soften our regret that the apple of a more northern clime has not yet been acclimated in our state. There is the avocado, just coming into its own, a fruit whose excellence and price, have so far, confined it to the tables of the wealthy; the Japanese persimmon, which is worth a trip to Florida to enjoy in its supreme perfection, and even the fragrant guava, sometimes rejected by the newcomer for its too pervasive odor, but which forms the basis for the most delicious jellies. There are strawberries in mid-winter, for which the north is glad to pay long prices; blueberries, blackberries and grapes in many varieties, which every Floridan can have at the expense of a little care and trouble. No other state in the Union is blessed with such an abundance and variety of healthful and delicious fruits as our own Florida. We ought to be the greatest vegetarians in the world, instead of sending millions of dollars to the north for meats and canned goods. We eat too much meat as it is, and we allow the by-products of our groves and gardens to go to waste in the fields while we import canned goods by the hundreds of carloads.

We are sending our products to the north by the thousands of carloads—something like 50,000 the past year—and we are told that the Clyde Steamship line alone will take 75,000,000 oranges to the north this present season, a vast freight that would fill a solid train of refrigerator cars, more than nine miles long. That freight was lost to the railroads, because of their insistence on too high rates. Water transportation will yet solve the rate question, and bring the stubborn rail magnates to their senses. A single Clyde line steamer can carry 25,000 boxes of oranges without interfering with its regular cargo. The time from the grove to New York is about 96 hours, and the cargo can be unloaded and delivered in 12 hours additional. These facts should awaken our growers to a realization that we are no longer dependent on the railroads for transportation of our products. Rates have been so high that it no longer pays to ship anything but the very choicest of our growing. The result is that the culls and unmerchantable stuff is left on our hands to waste and rot. The rates should be low enough to permit such stuff to be sent to market and sold at a low price, but still high enough to leave a moderate margin of profit to the grower. It that cannot be brought about, the only recourse is the establishment of home canneries to take care for the good, but unshippable stuff. The waste that occurs every season in Florida is a wicked thing to see, when one reflects that there are thousands of hungry people in northern cities to whom it would be a life-saving boon.—Tampa Times.

TIMES HAVE MIGHTILY CHANGED.

Time once was when going into a drug store to buy some trifling article the buyer would say: "I need two or three corks at home. Give me a couple." And the druggist would hand out several—for which there was no charge. But not now.

It used to be that one could go into any shoeshop where he had ever done business and say: "Wish you would give me a pair of shoe laces." And the dealer would gladly hand out the best in the house. But not now. The price will be from a nickel to two bits.

One upon a time one could enter a meat market, buy a pound of steak and have a couple slices of liver and a soupbone thrown in for good measure. But not now. Between the bone and the liver there'll be a charge of from thirty to fifty cents.

Yet there are people now living who will enter a newspaper office and ask—and expect to receive—publicity for some affair free of all charge—forgetting that it costs considerable to set the article, something to edit it, and that it occupies space which is the owner's only stock in trade.

Every newspaper gives away thousands of dollars' worth annually, of its space and labor. Yet it must give at discretion. Every line in a paper is an "advertisement" of some sort. It is an advertisement to say that "Lawyer Boggens was called to Hayseed Crossing upon legal business"—but there is no charge for it. It is an advertisement to say that "Mrs. J. M. Jimpson has just returned from some of the great northern markets, where she ordered her fall goods"—yet no bill is sent for publicity. Hundreds of bits of advertising are inserted as news which are really advertising—but the newspaper man renders no bills.

No self-respecting paper in these days can give away its advertising and expect to meet its payroll. What is to be given free and what is to be paid for rests entirely upon the editor; and he would be silly to boast for something which is no local affair but which merely concerns firms, people, or corporations at distant points which have no interest away from home except to gather in money from distant points and fatten their bank-accounts.

The reputable local paper has ever good things to say along the line of anything which may add to the excellence of its own locality; which will aid some individual who is anxious to benefit the city or the county; which will bring into prominence special features which if developed, will magnify the possibilities of the community to a great extent. All this, and hundreds of things besides, the newspaper gives freely. In return for all this the newspaper is entitled to everything that bears the tinge of real publicity; the support of those living in the community upon which the publication is continually devoting so much space in eulogizing; the encouragement of every individual who is a resident—no matter whether he be rich or poor.—Kissimmee Gazette.

A FEW COMPARISONS FOR FLORIDIANS TO STUDY

Here is something for you to think about:

TRAMMELL

Mayor of Lakeland, 1899-1901. Legislature, 1902-1904. State Senator, 1904-1908. President State Senate, 1905. Attorney-General, 1909-1913. Governor of Florida, 1913-1917. U. S. Senator, 1917-1923. Forty-six years old. Has voted in Florida.

BRYAN

Congressman, 1891 to 1895. Defeated for Senator, 1894. Defeated for President, 1896. Defeated for President, 1900. Defeated for President, 1908. Resigned from President Wilson's cabinet July 9, 1915. Sixty-two years old. Has never voted in Florida.

Senator Trammell has had a successful public career. Mr. Bryan has been thrice defeated for the presidency and once for the United States senate. In the midst of the world war he resigned from President Wilson's cabinet. Senator Trammell is a youthful giant of Florida, while Mr. Bryan is sixteen years his senior and, like former Governor Catts, has only resided in Florida a short time. Senator Trammell has risen with his state. Mr. Bryan has been defeated with his state and by his countrymen. Surely Mr. Bryan is not going to try, for the fourth time, to be president of the United States, but in order to have his senatorial defeats balance his presidential defeats it appears that he will offer himself as a candidate at the June primary. After his coming defeat he can then run against Senator Fletcher and complete his slate of defeats and resignations.—Orlando Sentinel.

USE OF NEWSPAPERS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

John T. Boifeuillet, who contributes a daily article to the Macon (Ga.) News on some timely subject, in discussing the use of newspapers in the schools, says:

Years ago, the late Bishop Atticus G. Haygood, while he was president of Emory College, was asked by a student of that institution what he should read for sound, reliable, instructive, entertaining, and general information.

The learned man promptly replied: "Some first class newspaper."

I am reminded of this reply of the distinguished divine and educator by the following mention which I have just read in one of the journals published at the state capital of Georgia:

"Atlanta newspapers are being used in Atlanta public schools in connection with text books in the study of geography and history, Miss Mary Postell, elementary supervisor in the schools, said Thursday:

"The children are watching eagerly the newspapers for developments in the Muscle Shoals project. It has been found that the study of geography and history is incomplete without information from the newspaper."

No man, woman or child is educated in the real sense of the word unless he or she is a constant reader of the newspapers, or at least the reader of one good newspaper. Familiarity with the literature of the ages is not education, only one feature of it; nor a knowledge of history, which is a single consideration. Even the individual who has developed the ability to think cannot be classed as educated unless he is able to think intelligently about current events. The really educated person is in touch with the world in its present stages and is informed enough to connect events as they occur.

This is the reason more progressive schools are including the study of daily newspapers in their curriculums. There is at least one school in Florida where the newspaper is a text-book, maybe others—the one we have in mind is the Cocoa High School. The Metropolis considers it an honor to be one of the newspapers studied by the students of this school.

The newspaper is history in the writing. It is a running story of contemporary life, and this serial should have a strong appeal to every normal-minded person.

However, the impression that newspapers are printed for the sole information of adults is still held in some quarters, and until it is obliterated children are going to strive for education under a handicap. There is sensational news, of course, which does not have an uplifting influence on the youthful mind; but there is also much more important news, and more of it, and stimulation of youthful interest in this is bound to reflect itself in the quality of modern-day education.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

SPRING, A FACT IN FLORIDA. A FICTION UP NORTH

Spring, gentle spring, which poets of all times and all climes have rhapsodized over as an "etherial mildness" is but a fickle jade after all. Not in Florida of course, for in this blessed land, winter glides into spring so gently and imperceptibly, that we are obliged to consult the almanac to know when the much lauded season has really arrived. But all lands are not blest with the Florida climate, and while it is balmy spring here it may be cruel winter a few hundred miles to the northward, whence most of our tourists come, and to which many of them return before they should. They are deceived by the budding and blossoming trees, the greening grass, and all the evidences of a new life which surrounded them, and forget that it cannot be so in their northern home. They forget that March and April are about the most disagreeable months in the whole year up north, and the real spring is still far away, and so they go "back home" to face conditions which are all the more disagreeable because of the inevitable comparison with the delights of a Florida winter. If those conditions do not prove disastrous to health they are fortunate. Our tourist friends must not think we are conjuring up a bugbear to keep them here longer than they feel they ought to stay. Nothing of the kind. We speak in all seriousness, and in the real interest of those who have been here through the winter.

A dispatch from Lansing in early March told of snow 47 inches deep at the straits of Mackinaw, and 30 inches deep at Alpena, with great Mogul engines plowing the snow to clear the roads, and make traffic possible.

Here is additional evidence, if any is needed, taken from a recent editorial in the Indianapolis News:

"Backfiring and reawakening of winter, occurring in the shape of sleet, snow squall and keen winds, fall harshly on ensensibilities, attuned to spring-like notes and airs, and are likely, though by no means certain, to continue so to fall, at intervals, for the next month. The number of Hoosiers who have seen snow in May would make a large company. The coming of gentle days, perhaps, four or five of them together, is to be enjoyed for all it is worth what time it remains, but it does not mean the arrival of spring. A mind braced to expect fitful weather in March and April will suffer less, and enjoy quite as much, as one that believes that the first few robin notes and the earliest swelling of buds mean settled warm weather. Probably no time of year exposes people to such vicissitudes of temperature. The coldest of midwinter days are more healthful. The lesson to be drawn from the facts is plain. Whoever goes forth in March or April or the most of May needs to look well to his trappings; to see that he is sensibly clad."

The moral is obvious, and hardly needs stating. Do not be in too great haste to return to your northern homes. You will leave behind you the most charming season of the entire Florida year, and if your memory is allowed to work you must know what you are going back to. It will be unpleasant for everyone, and for many it will be unsafe from the standpoint of health. Stay in Florida as long as you possibly can.—Tampa Times.

ADVERTISING IS THE KEY TO SUCCESS

There lives up in Devil's Lake, N. D., a man named Fred P. Mann, who conducts a department store in that town of 5,100 persons and his business last year was over $500,000. He recently said that "Advertising is the solution of the business depression."

Mr. Mann started business several years ago at Devil's Lake on $1,600 worth of groceries that he secured on credit and then borrowed $125 to pay the freight and cartage on the goods. He said it took nerve and nerve won.

He started to advertise in the local papers in his town and kept it up and enlarged from time to time. Last year he paid the local paper $7,000 for advertising and this year expects to increase it to $10,000. In other words he spent over a dollar last year per person in the town for advertising and in turn did a business of over half a million and people forty miles distant came to his store to trade, because he used printers' ink.

Mr. Mann said: "A good newspaper in any town is an asset. I reach 2,200 families through my local newspaper and in two days disposed of $5,000 worth of silk. Think of what I could do if my paper had a circulation of 25,000. Advertising does not cost a dollar if you do it right. Advertising brings in additional business and it is all profit."

He said further: "Page advertisements offset the mail order house catalogs. The business is here, and men that holler they cannot afford to advertise cannot afford to be in business."

Mr. Mann also said that the man who declared that advertising does not pay should not be in business. "For if you advertise right, advertising will pay," he said.

Ninety-nine merchants out of 100 who today have large stores and stocks started in a small way and advertised from the start. They stuck to it and were fortunate. Those that get in line and are out after business through the medium of the newspaper, are the ones that will prosper.

Mr. Mann started on borrowed capital. He even borrowed the money to pay the freight on the groceries that he first bought. Afterwards he added other lines and today has proven to the world that advertising does pay.—Florida Post.

CO-OPERATION

We cannot understand why business men will sometimes let a difference of opinion so continue to widen until it becomes an almost unbridgeable chasm when it is so easy to come together, discuss the difference frankly, reason it out, and work to a common good.

Such a difference of opinion has come between Willis B. Powell and Gilbert D. Leach, both powerful assets to Lake county. It would be extremely regretful for Lake county to lose either of these men. Mr. Powell is one of the best publicity men in the state and in his capacity as secretary of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce, has been worth thousands of dollars to Lake county. Gilbert D. Leach, on the other hand, as editor of the Leesburg Commercial, has also been worth thousands of dollars to the county. Yet these two men have allowed a difference of opinion which could easily have been reasoned out by interchange of ideas on a give and take basis, to cause the resignation of one.

This same thing happens in towns, between towns, and yet is so unnecessary. We know of a road question right now which will bring up an impassable barrier between them that will affect generations yet unborn. We have seen the same misunderstanding disrupt friendships that was absolutely unnecessary. There is no question or difference of opinions but what can be worked out. Too frequently, ill-advised counsel accepted from our neighbors is listened to without a frank discussion with the other party, first breeding suspicion and then open disruption. Co-operate; if you do not think as the other man does, discuss it with him frankly, and be ready to give and take. You may have to give something, but if you do, the chances are ten to one that the other man will give something, too.—The Groveland Graphic.

ON BEING YOUR OWN BOSS.

"You and your job" has long been one of the topics the successful have dilated upon in their talks—and its unflinching interest to the worker, who seeks to improve himself, has been paramount. The worker, who from a humble beginning has been able to win both fame and fortune, and who has held to the finer things in life in the battle, is worthy of a hearing. Such a man is James Couzens, now mayor of Detroit. He began his industrial career as the checker for one of the railroads running into Detroit and has steadily climbed the ladder of success. He was associated with Henry Ford and from a small investment secured returns that amounted to millions.

"Whatever I have been able to accomplish, I attribute primarily to concentration on my immediate task," says Mr. Couzens in Success Magazine. "I have been loyal to those who paid me for April, 'to thoroughness, to my salary, and willingness to toil long hours at small pay in order to get a start."

"I have been my own boss from the time I was a lad of sixteen, because I have driven myself harder than any superintendent or foreman ever drove me.

"If I knew that a thing had to be done, and the responsibility was mine, I did it regardless of heat or cold, light or darkness, or whether the boss was watching me or not. That is what I mean by being my own boss. Often while others were sitting about a warm fire, enjoying themselves on a cold winter night, I was trudging through the snow for miles and facing a biting wind.

"I learned later that I had been doing the very thing that commands a high premium in industry and business, and is indispensable to the young man or young woman who is striving for success. The thing I have in mind is self-discipline—the disposition and power to do what you know you should do without being prodded by somebody.

"A man can never become a leader in anything, or even moderately independent, without this quality. Go through any concern in any city, and you will find that the fellows that are steadily advancing are the ones who have learned to boss themselves, and those who are lagging back are the ones who must be watched constantly so they will perform the tasks for which they are being paid."—Tampa Times.

A LITTLE LESS BRAYING; A LITTLE MORE SPRAYING

His beans all died, and his cukes went bad, And stem-end rot was all his water-melons had.

The army worm came one summer's day, And ate his field crops clear away.

Then the root-knot followed to make it good And wallowed in the ground where his truck patch stood.

Then the white flies, the blamed old thieves, Squatted on all the citrus leaves.

The shock was so great that he up and cried And would leave the darn state, dead or alive.

But he changed his mind, ere he started away, Bought a power pump, and started to spray.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR BLADDER IOTHERS YOU, DRINK LOTS OF WATER

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, and we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

FIRST BASE BALL GAMES THIS SEASON START TODAY

ORLANDO, April 3.—The Florida State League, the first organized base ball circuit to pry the lid off this season, got under way today with Daytona scheduled to play at Jacksonville, Tampa at Lakeland, Orlando at St. Petersburg. A split season is provided with sixty games scheduled in each half, the last half closing August 19th.

CONVICTS IN BIRD GANG WANTED BIBLES

TAMPA, April 3.—The Salvation Army here has received a request for a Bible from a source which for Tampa is unusual. Army officials said various persons and organizations had requested copies from time to time but on this occasion prisoners in the county jail want one.

The request was made in the following note to Capt. Braezeale: "Dear Captain: We, the undersigned victims of Satan, whose corral is located at 1308 Jefferson street, respectfully request that our comrades of war send up a Bible. We will readily admit that had we given more time to the Lord's teaching when we had more of an opportunity we could never be here today. Do not know of anything so uplifting or as inspiring as are the Sunday services which you render. Trusting you will grant our request and thanking you, we beg to remain, respectfully yours,

POTATO PRICES HIGHER AT HASTINGS NOW

Potato prices f.o.b. Hastings today showed a slight increase for No. 1s, $7.50 per barrel being paid. Second grades were quoted at $5 per barrel. Up to last night fifty cars had been shipped from Hastings proper. Figures on other shipments have not yet been assembled.

Some of the growers are clamoring for rain while others say that any increase in production now will mean a corresponding decrease in price, so that sentiment is divided as to whether or not a good rain is really desired, some assuming that it would hold up harvesting.

TAMPA WOMAN SEEKS OFFICE

TAMPA, April 3.—Mrs. J. W. Baker of this city has shied her hat into the political ring and will seek the democratic nomination for county supervisor of registration at the primary in June, she has told friends. Mrs. Baker has not formally announced her candidacy. H. L. Blackburn, who has held the job some years, declared he was glad to see women taking interest in politics and added, "the more the merrier"

ST. JOHNS COUNTY WILL ISSUE BONDS

(By The Associated Press) ST. AUGUSTINE, April 3.—St. Johns county has purchased the Anastasia Island bridge and causeway from the St. Johns Electric Company for $20,000 and a good roads bond issue of $500,000 has been decided upon, part of which will be expended in the construction of highways on Anastasia Island and South Beach. The bridge will be operated as a toll bridge and the tolls, it is expected, will be sufficient for upkeep of the structure.

COUNTY CLERK IS FOUND GUILTY OF EMBEZZLEMENT

BRISTOL, April 3.—S. I. Revels, former clerk of the circuit court of Liberty county, was sentenced to three years imprisonment by Judge Love of the second judicial circuit as a result of conviction of the embezzlement of county funds. A considerable shortage was discovered in 1920 by State Auditor J. Willyon. The jury was out all night before the verdict was reached. Revels was clerk for many years, being first elected in 1902.

GOVERNMENT WANTS TO RENIG.

MIAMI, April 3.—The federal government has exploded a bombshell here with its request that $17,000 paid to farmers in this vicinity and the local Chamber of Commerce, to compensate them for losses during the war in producing castor oil, be returned. The beans were produced in order that castor oil for use in lubricating airplane motors might be manufactured from them.

The request, received by the Chamber of Commerce, gave no reason for the government's action in asking that the money be returned other than that an adverse decision had been made concerning payment for losses. The Chamber of Commerce, which is withholding action until more details can be obtained from Washington, has no plan for collecting the money from the farmers. They were paid some time ago.

PURCHASES LOCAL TELEPHONE EXCHANGE

LIVE OAK, April 3.—Otto Wettstein of this city has increased his telephone holdings in the state through the purchase of the local exchange and lines in Kissimmee. Mr. Wettstein now is said to own the telephone systems of nineteen Florida towns.

FORT PIERCE, April 1.—M. E. Fidler of Miami is contemplating construction of a fish curing and packing plant here and is gathering data on the Indian river fishing industry in this vicinity. His investigations so far have convinced him that enough fish are available to keep the proposed plant running at capacity.

SAW MILL BURNED, HALF MILLION LOSS

PINE BLUFF, April 3.—Fire today destroyed the main sawmill of Company here. The loss was half a million dollars.

BUSINESS REVIVING BUT REHABILITATION WILL PROVE GRADUAL

Commerce Department Warns Against Overexpansion.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Although business continues to make progress in its recovery from the depression of 1921, as indicated by figures received by the department of commerce since March 20, the department warned in a review of conditions made public yesterday, that rehabilitation "needs to be cautious that it may be built upon a firm foundation."

Some backsets, the statement declared, "may be expected for all of the lesions caused by postwar overexpansion have not healed."

While in most lines, the review added, "prices have been relatively stable for the past six months, distributors still remember the disaster caused by overstocked shelves in 1920."

"Although the recent marked increase in the price of farm products has been a big effect upon the morale of the agricultural districts, not much of this has so far been translated into increased business," says the review. "Most of last year's crops had left the farmers' hands before the rise came; the increase is, therefore, chiefly a promise of better things to come."

Activity of woolen and worsted machinery, showed a "significant improvement" the first of this month, the review said, while that of cotton spindles decreased, the latter due somewhat to the New England strikes. Knit underwear production increased although shipments and orders fell off. Imports of raw silk in February decreased to the lowest figure since March a year ago.

Exports of iron and steel last month fell off from January, in part due to the shorter month, according to the review, and copper exports likewise decreased, but imports of tin and zinc increased as did sales of structural steel. Petroleum production decreased 2,000,000 barrels below January, but was greater than any month in 1920, and was exceeded by only two months in 1921. As against this, however, consumption of crude oil fell to 40,611,000 barrels, while stocks on hand passed 200,000,000 barrels, a new high record.

SENATE COMMITTEE DUMPS "FREE SEEDS"

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The ring was built Thursday for the annual fight over "Free Seeds" between the senate and house.

By a vote of 4 to 3 the senate appropriations sub-committee struck from the annual agricultural appropriation bill the house item of $60 for free distribution of seeds by members of congress. Four republicans of the sub-committee, Senators McNary of Oregon, Capper of Kansas, Lenroot of Wisconsin and Jones of Washington voted to eliminate the appropriation while three democrats, Senator Harris of Georgia, Harrison of Mississippi and Overman of North Carolina, voted to continue distribution.

The republican members of the committee expressed confidence that the senate would sustain their action and it was expected that a fight in conference would result. Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture was said to have recommended abandonment of seed distribution and the sub-committee had evidence that the congressional seed packages were being used improperly as premiums by private individuals.

GOVERNMENT ASKS FOR RETURN OF MONEY PAID FARMERS FOR LOSSES

MIAMI, April 3.—The federal government has exploded a bombshell here with its request that $17,000 paid to farmers in this vicinity and the local chamber of commerce, to compensate them for losses during the war in producing castor oil, be returned. The beans were produced in order that castor oil for use in lubricating airplane motors might be manufactured from them.

The request received by the chamber of commerce gave no reason for the government's action in asking that the money be returned other than that an adverse decision had been made concerning payment for losses. The chamber of commerce, which is withholding action until more details can be obtained from Washington, has no plan for collecting the money from the farmers. They were paid some time ago.

Quite a crowd of people were at the depot to welcome President Harding Saturday evening, but for some reason he failed to arrive. It finally dawned on our people that it was April 1, and after a hearty laugh the good natured crowd beat it for home.

FLORIDA, THE PARADISE OF HEALTHFUL FRUITS.

There is a saying that has all the dignity and authority that can be obtained from age and frequent repetition, expressed in these words: "An apple a day keeps the doctor away." We have no desire to criticize the truth of that expression, but the apple tree does not flourish in Florida, although our faith in the possibilities of the state is so strong that we believe a type will be solved by some future Burbank, that will vie in pleasurable and healthful qualities with the best products of the western and northern states.

Time once was when going into a drug store to buy some trifling article the buyer would say: "I need two or three corks at home. Give me a couple." And the druggist would hand out several—for which there was no charge. But not now.

There are numerous other fruits which Florida can furnish the world to add to the joy of living, and soften our regret that the apple of a more northern clime has not yet been acclimated in our state. There is the avocado, just coming into its own, a fruit whose excellence and price, have so far, confined it to the tables of the wealthy; the Japanese persimmon, which is worth a trip to Florida to enjoy in its supreme perfection, and even the fragrant guava, sometimes rejected by the newcomer for its too pervasive odor, but which forms the basis for the most delicious jellies. There are strawberries in mid-winter, for which the north is glad to pay long prices; blueberries, blackberries and grapes in many varieties, which every Floridan can have at the expense of a little care and trouble. No other state in the Union is blessed with such an abundance and variety of healthful and delicious fruits as our own Florida. We ought to be the greatest vegetarians in the world, instead of sending millions of dollars to the north for meats and canned goods. We eat too much meat as it is, and we allow the by-products of our groves and gardens to go to waste in the fields while we import canned goods by the hundreds of carloads.

We are sending our products to the north by the thousands of carloads—something like 50,000 the past year—and we are told that the Clyde Steamship line alone will take 75,000,000 oranges to the north this present season, a vast freight that would fill a solid train of refrigerator cars, more than nine miles long. That freight was lost to the railroads, because of their insistence on too high rates. Water transportation will yet solve the rate question, and bring the stubborn rail magnates to their senses. A single Clyde line steamer can carry 25,000 boxes of oranges without interfering with its regular cargo. The time from the grove to New York is about 96 hours, and the cargo can be unloaded and delivered in 12 hours additional. These facts should awaken our growers to a realization that we are no longer dependent on the railroads for transportation of our products.

Here is something for you to think about: TRAMMELL, Mayor of Lakeland, 1899-1901. Legislature, 1902-1904. State Senator, 1904-1908, President State Senate, 1905. Attorney-General, 1909-1913. Governor of Florida, 1913-1917. U. S. Senator, 1917-1923. Forty-six years old. Has voted in Florida. BRYAN, Congressman, 1891 to 1895. Defeated for Senator, 1894. Defeated for President, 1896. Defeated for President, 1900. Defeated for President, 1908. Resigned from President Wilson's cabinet July 9, 1915. Sixty-two years old. Has never voted in Florida. Senator Trammell has had a successful public career. Mr. Bryan has been thrice defeated for the presidency and once for the United States senate.

Time once was when going into a drug store to buy some trifling article the buyer would say: "I need two or three corks at home. Give me a couple." And the druggist would hand out several—for which there was no charge. But not now. It used to be that one could go into any shoeshop where he had ever done business and say: "Wish you would give me a pair of shoe laces." And the dealer would gladly hand out the best in the house. But not now. The price will be from a nickel to two bits.

One upon a time one could enter a meat market, buy a pound of steak and have a couple slices of liver and a soupbone thrown in for good measure. But not now. Between the bone and the liver there'll be a charge of from thirty to fifty cents.

Yet there are people now living who will enter a newspaper office and ask—and expect to receive—publicity for some affair free of all charge—forgetting that it costs considerable to set the article, something to edit it, and that it occupies space which is the owner's only stock in trade.

Every newspaper gives away thousands of dollars' worth annually, of its space and labor. Yet it must give at discretion. Every line in a paper is an "advertisement" of some sort. It is an advertisement to say that "Lawyer Boggs was called to Hayseed Crossing upon legal business"—but there is no charge for it. It is an advertisement to say that "Mrs. J. M. Jimpson has just returned from some of the great northern markets, where she ordered her fall goods"—yet no bill is sent for publicity. Hundreds of bits of advertising are inserted as news which are really advertising—but the newspaper man renders no bills.

No self-respecting paper in these days can give away its advertising and expect to meet its payroll. What is to be given free and what is to be paid for rests entirely upon the editor; and he would be silly to boost for something which is no local affair but which merely concerns firms, people, or corporations at distant points which have no interest away from home except to gather in money from distant points and fatten their bank-accounts.

The reputable local paper has ever good things to say along the line of anything which may add to the excellence of its own locality; which will aid some individual who is anxious to benefit the city or the county; which will bring into prominence special features which if developed, will magnify the possibilities of the community to a great extent. All this, and hundreds of things besides,

UNCLE HANK

Two kin live as cheaply as one, but it's purty hard on th' family tooth-brush.

The newspaper gives freely. In return for all this the newspaper is entitled to everything that bears the tinge of real publicity; the support of those living in the community upon which the publication is continually devoting so much space in eulogizing; the encouragement of every individual who is a resident—no matter whether he be rich or poor.—Kissimmee Gazette.

A FEW COMPARISONS FOR FLORIDANS TO STUDY

Here is something for you to think about: TRAMMELL, Mayor of Lakeland, 1899-1901. Legislature, 1902-1904. State Senator, 1904-1908, President State Senate, 1905. Attorney-General, 1909-1913. Governor of Florida, 1913-1917. U. S. Senator, 1917-1923. Forty-six years old. Has voted in Florida. BRYAN, Congressman, 1891 to 1895. Defeated for Senator, 1894. Defeated for President, 1896. Defeated for President, 1900. Defeated for President, 1908. Resigned from President Wilson's cabinet July 9, 1915. Sixty-two years old. Has never voted in Florida.

Senator Trammell has had a successful public career. Mr. Bryan has been thrice defeated for the presidency and once for the United States senate. In the midst of the world war he resigned from President Wilson's cabinet. Senator Trammell is a youthful giant of Florida, while Mr. Bryan is sixteen years his senior and, like former Governor Catts, has only resided in Florida a short time. Senator Trammell has risen with his state. Mr. Bryan has been defeated with his state and by his countrymen. Surely Mr. Bryan is not going to try, for the fourth time, to be president of the United States, but in order to have his senatorial defeats balance his presidential defeats it appears that he will offer himself as a candidate at the June primary. After his coming defeat he can then run against Senator Fletcher and complete his slate of defeats and resignations.—Orlando Sentinel.

USE OF NEWSPAPERS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

John T. Boifeuillet, who contributes a daily article to the Macon (Ga.) News on some timely subject, in discussing the use of newspapers in the schools, says:

Years ago, the late Bishop Atticus G. Haygood, while he was president of Emory College, was asked by a student of that institution what he should read for sound, reliable, instructive, entertaining, and general information.

The learned man promptly replied: "Some first class newspaper."

I am reminded of this reply of the distinguished divine and educator by the following mention which I have just read in one of the journals published at the state capital of Georgia:

"Atlanta newspapers are being used in Atlanta public schools in connection with text books in the study of geography and history. Miss Mary Postell, elementary supervisor in the schools, said Thursday:

"The children are watching eagerly the newspapers for developments in the Muscle Shoals project. It has been found that the study of geography and history is incomplete without information from the newspaper."

No man, woman or child is educated in the real sense of the word unless he or she is a constant reader of the newspapers, or at least the reader of one good newspaper. Familiarity with the literature of the ages is not education, only one feature of it; nor a knowledge of history, which is a single consideration. Even the individual who has developed the ability to think cannot be classed as educated unless he is able to think intelligently about current events. The really educated person is in touch with the world in its present stages and is informed enough to connect events as they occur.

This is the reason more progressive schools are including the study of daily newspapers in their curriculums. There is at least one school in Florida where the newspaper is a textbook, maybe others—the one we have in mind is the Cocon High School. The Metropolis considers it an honor to be one of the newspapers studied by the students of this high school.

The newspaper is history in the writing. It is a running story of contemporary life, and this serial should have a strong appeal to every normal-minded person.

However, the impression that newspapers are printed for the sole information of adults is still held in some quarters, and until it is obliterated children are going to strive for education under a handicap. There is sensational news, of course, which does not have an uplifting influence on the youthful mind; but there is also much more important news, and more of it, and stimulation of youthful interest in this is bound to reflect itself in the quality of modern-day education.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

SPRING, A FACT IN FLORIDA. A FICTION UP NORTH

Spring, gentle spring, which poets of all times and all climes have rhapsodized over as an "etherial mildness" is but a fickle jade after all. Not in Florida of course, for in this blessed land, winter glides into spring so gently and imperceptibly, that we are obliged to consult the almanac to know when the much lauded season has really arrived. But all lands are not blest with the Florida climate, and while it is balmy spring here it may be cruel winter a few hundred miles to the northward, whence most of our tourists come, and to which many of them return before they should. They are deceived by the budding and blossoming trees, the greening grass, and all the evidences of a new life which surrounded them, and forget that it cannot be so in their northern home. They forget that March and April are about the most disagreeable months in the whole year up north, and the real spring is still far away, and so they go "back home" to face conditions which are all the more disagreeable because of the inevitable comparison with the delights of a Florida winter. If these conditions do not prove disastrous to health they are fortunate. Our tourist friends must not think we are conjuring up a bugbear to keep them here longer than they feel they ought to stay. Nothing of the kind. We speak in all seriousness, and in the real interest of those who have been here through the winter.

A dispatch from Lansing in early March told of snow 47 inches deep at the straits of Mackinaw, and 30 inches deep at Alpena, with great Mogul engines plowing the snow to clear the roads, and make traffic possible.

Here is additional evidence, if any is needed, taken from a recent editorial in the Indianapolis News:

"Backfiring and re-occurrence of winter, occurring in the shape of sleet, snow squalls and keen winds, fall harshly on ensensibilities, attuned to spring-like notes and airs, and are likely, though by no means certain, to continue so to fall, at intervals, for the next month. The number of Boosters who have seen snow in May would make a large company. The coming of gentle days, perhaps, four or five of them together, is to be enjoyed for all it is worth what time it remains, but it does not mean the arrival of spring. A mind braced to expect fitful weather in March and April will suffer less, and enjoy quite as much, as one that believes that the first few robin notes and the earliest swelling of buds mean settled warm weather. Probably no time of year exposes people to such vicissitudes of temperature. The coldest of mid-winter days are more healthful. The lesson to be drawn from the facts is plain. Whoever goes forth in March or April or the most of May needs to look well to his trappings; to see that he is sensibly clad."

The moral is obvious, and hardly needs stating. Do not be in too great haste to return to your northern homes. You will leave behind you the most charming season of the entire Florida year, and if your memory is allowed to work you must know what you are going back to. It will be unpleasant for everyone, and for many it will be unsafe from the standpoint of health. Stay in Florida as long as you possibly can.—Tampa Times.

ADVERTISING IS THE KEY TO SUCCESS

There lives up in Devil's Lake, N. D., a man named Fred P. Mann, who conducts a department store in that town of 5,100 persons and his business last year was over $500,000. He recently said that "Advertising is the solution of the business depression."

Mr. Mann started business several years ago at Devil's Lake on $2,500 worth of groceries that he secured on credit and then borrowed $125 to pay the freight and cartage on the goods. He said it took nerve and nerve won.

He started to advertise in the local papers in his town and kept it up and enlarged from time to time. Last year he paid the local paper $7,000 for advertising and this year expects to increase it to $10,000. In other words he spent over a dollar last year per person in the town for advertising and in turn did a business of over half a million and people forty miles distant came to his store to trade, because he used printers' ink.

Mr. Mann said: "A good newspaper in any town is an asset. I reach 2,200 families through my local newspaper and in two days disposed of $5,000 worth of silk. Think of what I could do if my paper had a circulation of 25,000. Advertising does not cost a dollar if you do it right. Advertising brings in additional business and it is all profit."

He said further: "Page advertisements offset the mail order house catalogs. The business is here, and men that holler they cannot afford to advertise cannot afford to be in business."

Mr. Mann also said that the man who declared that advertising does not pay should not be in business. "For if you advertise right, advertising will pay," he said.

Ninety-nine merchants out of 100 who today have large stores and stocks started in a small way and advertised from the start. They stuck to it and were fortunate. Those that get in line and are out after business through the medium of the newspaper, are the ones that will prosper.

Mr. Mann started on borrowed capital. He even borrowed the money to pay the freight on the groceries that he first bought. Afterwards he added other lines and today has proven to the world that advertising does pay.—Florida Post.

CO-OPERATION

We cannot understand why business men will sometimes let a difference of opinion so continue to widen until it becomes an almost unbridgeable chasm when it is so easy to come together, discuss the difference frankly, reason it out, and work to a common good.

Such a difference of opinion has come between Willis B. Powell and Gilbert D. Leach, both powerful assets to Lake county. It would be extremely regretful for Lake county to lose either of these men. Mr. Powell is one of the best publicity men in the state and in his capacity as secretary of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce, has been worth thousands of dollars to Lake county. Gilbert D. Leach, on the other hand, as editor of the Leesburg Commercial, has also been worth thousands of dollars to the county. Yet these two men have allowed a difference of opinion which could easily have been reasoned out by interchange of ideas on a give and take basis, to cause the resignation of one.

This same thing happens in towns, between towns, and yet is so unnecessary. We know of a road question right now which will bring up an impassable barrier between them that will affect generations yet unborn. We have seen the same misunderstanding disrupt friendships that was absolutely unnecessary. There is no question or difference of opinions but what can be worked out. Too frequently, ill-advised counsel accepted from our neighbors is listened to without a frank discussion with the other party, first breeding suspicion and then open disruption. Co-operate; if you do not think as the other man does, discuss it with him frankly, and be ready to give and take. You may have to give something, but if you do, the chances are ten to one that the other man will give something, too.—The Groveland Graphic.

ON BEING YOUR OWN BOSS.

"You and your job" has long been one of the topics the successful have debated upon in their talks and its unflinching interest to the worker, who seeks to improve himself, has been paramount. The worker, who from a humble beginning has been able to win both fame and fortune, and who has held to the finer things in life in the battle, is worthy of a hearing. Such a man is James Couzens, now mayor of Detroit. He began his industrial career as the checker for one of the railroads running into Detroit and has steadily climbed the ladder of success. He was associated with Henry Ford and from a small investment secured returns that amounted to millions.

"Whatever I have been able to accomplish, I attribute primarily to concentration on my immediate task," says Mr. Couzens in Success Magazine, answering loyalty to those who paid him for April, "to thoroughness, to my salary, and willingness to toil long hours at small pay in order to get a start.

"I have been my own boss from the time I was a lad of sixteen, because I have driven myself harder than a superintendent or foreman ever drove me.

"If I knew that a thing had to be done, and the responsibility was mine, I did it regardless of heat or light or darkness, or whether the thing was watching me or not. The what I mean by being my own boss. Often while others were sitting around a warm fire, enjoying themselves, a cold winter night, I was tramping through the snow for miles against a biting wind.

"I learned later that I had been doing the very thing that commands a high premium in industry and business, and is indispensable to the young man or young woman who is striving for success. The thing I have in mind is self-discipline—the disposition and power to do what you know you should do without being prodded by somebody.

"A man can never become a leader in anything, or even moderately independent, without this quality. Go through any concern in any city, and you will find that the fellows that are steadily advancing are the ones who have learned to boss themselves, and those who are lagging back are the ones who must be watched constantly, so they will perform the tasks for which they are being paid."—Tampa Times.

His beans all died, and his cukes went bad, And stem-end rot was all his water-melons had. The army worm came one summer's day, And ate his field crops clear away.

Then the root-knot followed to make it good And wallowed in the ground where his truck patch stood. Then the white flies, the blamed old thieves, Squatted on all the citrus leaves.

The shock was so great that he up and cried That he would leave the darn state, dead or alive. But he changed his mind, ere he started away, Bought a power pump, and started to spray. —Yellow Sheet.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR BLADDER BOTHERS YOU, DRINK LOTS OF WATER

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and back-ache.—Adv.

FIRST BASE BALL GAMES THIS SEASON START TODAY

ORLANDO, April 3.—The Florida State League, the first organized base ball circuit to pry the lid off this season, got under way today with Daytona scheduled to play at Jacksonville, Tampa at Lakeland, Orlando at St. Petersburg. A split season is provided with sixty games scheduled in each half, the last half closing August 19th.

CONVICTS IN BIRD GANG WANTED BIBLES

TAMPA, April 3.—The Salvation Army here has received a request for a Bible from a source which for Tampa is unusual. Army officials said various persons and organizations had requested copies from time to time but on this occasion prisoners in the county jail want one.

The request was made in the following note to Capt. Braezeale:

"Dear Captain: We, the undersigned victims of Satan, whose corral is located at 1308 Jefferson street, respectfully request that our comrades of war send up a Bible. We will readily admit that had we given more time to the Lord's teaching when we had more of an opportunity we could never be here today. Do not know of anything so uplifting or as inspiring as are the Sunday services which you render. Trusting you will grant our request and thanking you, we beg to remain, respectfully yours,

POTATO PRICES HIGHER AT HASTINGS NOW

Potato prices f.o.b. Hastings today showed a slight increase for No. 1s, $7.50 per barrel being paid. Second grades were quoted at $5 per barrel. Up to last night fifty cars had been shipped from Hastings proper. Figures on other shipments have not yet been assembled.

Some of the growers are clamoring for rain while others say that any increase in production now will mean a corresponding decrease in price, so that sentiment is divided as to whether or not a good rain is really desired, some assuming that it would hold up harvesting.

TAMPA WOMAN SEEKS OFFICE

TAMPA, April 3.—Mrs. J. W. Mrs. Baker has not formally announced her candidacy. B. L. Blackburn, who has held the job some years, declared he was glad to see women taking interest in politics and added, "the more the merrier."

ST. JOHNS COUNTY WILL ISSUE BONDS

(By The Associated Press) ST. AUGUSTINE, April 3.—St. Johns county has purchased the Anastasia Island bridge and causeway from the St. Johns Electric Company for $20,000 and a good roads bond issue of $500,000 has been decided upon, part of which will be expended in the construction of highways on Anastasia Island and South Beach. The bridge will be operated as a toll bridge and the tolls, it is expected, will be sufficient for upkeep of the structure.

The girls are making every effort to make their first Easter dance a real success and you are assured of a delightful evening if you attend.

COUNTY CLERK IS FOUND GUILTY OF EMBEZZLEMENT

BRISTOL, April 3.—S. I. Revels, former clerk of the circuit court of Liberty county, was sentenced to three years imprisonment by Judge Love of the second judicial circuit as a result of conviction of the embezzlement of county funds. A considerable shortage was discovered in 1920 by State Auditor J. Willyon. The jury was out all night before the verdict was reached. Revels was clerk for many years, being first elected in 1902.

GOVERNMENT WANTS TO RENIG.

MIAMI, April 3.—The federal government has exploded a bombshell here with its request that $17,000 paid to farmers in this vicinity and the local Chamber of Commerce, to compensate them for losses during the war in producing castor oils, be returned. The beans were produced in order that castor oil for use in lubricating airplane motors might be manufactured from them.

The request, received by the Chamber of Commerce, gave no reason for the government's action in asking that the money be returned other than that an adverse decision had been made concerning payment for losses. The Chamber of Commerce, which is withholding action until more details can be obtained from Washington, has no plan for collecting the money from the farmers. They were paid some time ago.

PURCHASES LOCAL TELEPHONE EXCHANGE

LIVE OAK, April 3.—Otto Wettstein of this city has increased his telephone holdings in the state through the purchase of the local exchange and lines in Kissimmee. Mr. Wettstein now is said to own the telephone systems of nineteen Florida towns.

FORT PIERCE, April 1.—M. E. Fidler of Miami is contemplating construction of a fish curing and packing plant here and is gathering data on the Indian river fishing industry in this vicinity. His investigations so far have convinced him that enough fish are available to keep the proposed plant running at capacity.

SAW MILL BURNED, HALF MILLION LOSS

PINE BLUFF, April 3.—Fire today destroyed the main sawmill of Company here. The loss was half a million dollars.

BUSINESS REVIVING BUT REHABILITATION WILL PROVE GRADUAL

Commerce Department Warns Against Overexpansion.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Although business continues to make progress in its recovery from the depression of 1921, as indicated by figures received by the department of commerce since March 20, the department warned in a review of conditions made public yesterday, that rehabilitation "needs to be cautious that it may be built upon a firm foundation."

Some backsets, the statement declared, "may be expected for all of the lesions caused by postwar overexpansion have not healed."

While in most lines, the review added, "prices have been relatively stable for the past six months, distributors still remember the disaster caused by overstocked shelves in 1920."

"Although the recent marked increase in the price of farm products has been a big effect upon the morale of the agricultural districts, not much of this has so far been translated into increased business," says the review. "Most of last year's crops had left the farmers' hands before the rise came; the increase is, therefore, chiefly a promise of better things to come."

Activity of woolen and worsted machinery showed a "significant improvement" the first of this month, the review said, while that of cotton spindles decreased, the latter due somewhat to the New England strikes. Knit underwear production increased although shipments and orders fell off. Imports of raw silk in February decreased to the lowest figure since March a year ago.

Exports of iron and steel last month fell off from January, in part due to the shorter month, according to the review, and copper exports likewise decreased, but imports of tin and zinc increased as did sales of structural steel. Petroleum production decreased 2,000,000 barrels below January, but was greater than any month in 1920, and was exceeded by only two months in 1921. As against this, however, consumption of crude oil fell to 40,611,000 barrels, while stocks on hand passed 200,000,000 barrels, a new high record.

SENATE COMMITTEE DUMPS "FREE SEEDS"

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The ring was built Thursday for the annual fight over "Free Seeds" between the senate and house.

By a vote of 4 to 3 the senate appropriations sub-committee struck from the annual agricultural appropriation bill the house item of $60 for free distribution of seeds by members of congress. Four republicans of the sub-committee, Senators McNary of Oregon, Capper of Kansas, Lenroot of Wisconsin and Jones of Washington voted to eliminate the appropriation while three democrats, Senator Harris of Georgia, Harrison of Mississippi and Overman of North Carolina, voted to continue distribution.

The republican members of the committee expressed confidence that the senate would sustain their action and it was expected that a fight in conference would result. Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture was said to have recommended abandonment of seed distribution and the sub-committee had evidence that the congressional seed packages were being used improperly as premiums by private individuals.

GOVERNMENT ASKS FOR RETURN OF MONEY PAID FARMERS FOR LOSSES

MIAMI, April 3.—The federal government has exploded a bombshell here with its request that $17,000 paid to farmers in this vicinity and the local chamber of commerce, to compensate them for losses during the war in producing castor oils, be returned. The beans were produced in order that castor oil for use in lubricating airplane motors might be manufactured from them.

The request received by the chamber of commerce gave no reason for the government's action in asking that the money be returned other than that an adverse decision had been made concerning payment for losses. The chamber of commerce, which is withholding action until more details can be obtained from Washington, has no plan for collecting the money from the farmers. They were paid some time ago.

MARION COUNTY IS BIG SHIPPER OF CITRUS FRUITS

(By The Associated Press) Ocala, April 3.—Marion county has shipped more than 410,000 boxes of citrus fruit this season up to March 15, and the returns f.o.b. shipping points are estimated to have been approximately $1,450,000. These figures do not include less than car-load shipments by express. It is estimated the county's total crop for the season will be somewhere between 425,000 and 450,000 boxes, with the returns f.o.b. shipping points between $1,500,000 and $1,600,000. Prices have been good, hundreds of cars bringing an average of $4 to $7 a box. The county ships mostly Parson Brown and Pineapple oranges. The citrus groves are in the northern part of the county on Orange Lake, around Citra especially, in the section around Lowell, Fairfield and Irvine in northwest Marion, near Sparr, Ocala, Belleview, Candler, Summerfield and don and around Lake Weis. There are a number of groves in the lake region on the eastern side of the Ocklawaha river, and along the river, including a new development of several hundred acres on Lake Bryant.

FELL 1,000 FEET; SLIGHT INJURIES

(By The Associated Press) PENSACOLA, April 3.—Lieutenant J. P. Adams of the United States Marine Corps fell 1,000 feet in a seaplane here several days ago and received only minor injuries to his face. His escape is regarded by officials at the naval air station as miraculous. Adams was making a solo flight and just off the station the machine went into a tail spin and fell into the bay. It was demolished.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

TRY GRANDMOTHER'S OLD FAVORITE RECIPE OF SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost. Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this thru your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.—Adv.

STILL SCRAPPING AND FUSSING IN COUNTY MAYO

DUBLIN, April 3.—A meeting addressed by Michael Collins at Castlebar, County Mayo, last night was stopped by members of the fourth western division of the Irish Republican army after numerous stormy scenes in which one woman was wounded by a bullet, according to accounts reaching Dublin. The chief of the provisional government and an official who had proclaimed the meeting at an end followed, declaring that none would be allowed to leave until Mr. Collins and his friends had surrendered their arms. Accounts received here do not state whether the Collins party was disarmed, merely saying "some people who left the hotel were searched."

INTERESTS OF THIS SECTION FLORIDA TO BE GUARDED

Immediately following the good roads conference in this city yesterday, representatives from the East Coast and South Florida sections organized the East Coast and South Florida Good Roads Association, with S. M. Tatum of Miami as president and R. W. Pearman of Sanford as secretary.

It was decided that the organization should hold its first meeting in Daytona on April 8th, during the State Dress Association meeting in that city and the State Roads Department will be invited to send representatives. The purpose of the organization is to gain recognition for the southern and eastern section of the state, which has not been getting its share of attention, it is generally conceded.—St. Augustine Record.

WORK ON DIXIE HIGHWAY.

(By The Associated Press) Ocala, April 3.—The Marion county commissioners will open bids April 11 for the surfacing of State Road No. 2 from the Lake county line to Belleville, a distance of approximately fifteen miles. This road is the Dixie Highway and the clearing and grading of the right of way is progressing rapidly. The gang of convicts doing the work is now operating between Lake Weir and North Lake.

Bids for the surfacing will be received on bituminous macadam, bituminous concrete, sheet asphalt and plain concrete, the surfacing to be laid on a concrete or crushed stone base.

RABBIES IN TAMPA.

(By The Associated Press) TAMPA, April 3.—Dr. J. R. Harris, city health officer, is preparing data on the prevalence of rabies in Tampa and is including in this work an investigation of the reports in the office of Dr. W. P. Link, veterinarian. Dr. Link's records show that 120 range and dairy cows had died of the disease in the last two years. Dr. Harris declares that an unmistakable sign of rabies in cows and goats is that these animals when affected will chase chickens, a thing they never do when in normal health. Many owners of dogs in Tampa are vaccinating the canines to immunize them against the disease.

FLORIDA TRACTOR DISTRIBUTORS ANNOUNCE IMPORTANT PRICE REDUCTION.

$200 Cut in Cletrac Model "F"

A second and drastic reduction in the price of the Model "F" Cletrac this year was made public today by McDonald & Burgman, Daytona, Florida distributors for the popular crawler line made by The Cleveland Tractor Co.

The slash from $795 to $595 f.o.b. Cleveland for the standard Model "F" is claimed to put this machine in a class by itself for it is not only the lowest priced crawler tractor built but it is also the only two plow tractor of any type which will do the general run of farm work and cultivating as well, thereby displacing animal power completely.

McDonald & Burgman state that this price cut is in no way an attempt to enter the tractor price fight which has so confused the farmer of late but is based upon the increasing volume of Model "F" business that has been enjoyed here and in all parts of the country since the introduction of this new tractor in September last year.

Commenting upon the many unique features of Cletrac "F" Mr. Leo Burgman of the head office at Daytona stated that the extensive use of pressed steel in place of castings had done much to keep the price low for it saves material and construction costs and appeals to the farmer by giving him an 1860 pound tractor with all the power and working capacity of an ordinary machine weighing 3000 pounds. The saving in operating expense is very apparent.

Mr. Burgman is confident that farmers will welcome Cletrac "F" as the solution of their power needs and is planning an extensive demonstration tour this spring to show local agriculturists how it can be made to produce profits for them.

TAMPA MAN KILLS NEGRESS ON THE STREET

TAMPA, April 3.—Chester E. Logan, Jr., son of Dr. E. Logan, for many years a practicing physician of Sutherland, was arrested about one o'clock this morning by Patrolman Thompson at No. 1108 Ashley street on the charge of killing an unidentified negress in an alley near by a few moments previous. A .38 caliber revolver with three cartridges discharged was found in his possession, according to the police.

Quizzed at the police station by Lieut. Nipper and Detectives Stancell and Jones, Logan, as he staggered about the room, freely admitted shooting the negress. He did it, he said, when the woman, accompanied by another negress, grasped his arm and attempted to lead him up the alley. He was unable to state how many times he had fired at the woman, he said.

Patrolman Thompson, who was but a block and a half away from the scene of the shooting at the time it occurred, hurried there at the shots and found the negress lying in a pool of blood in a vacant lot next to No. 1108 Ashley street. Logan was loitering on the corner, according to the patrolman, and Thompson placed him under arrest after searching him and finding the revolver in his possession. Three unfired cartridges were found in the yard, apparently ejected from revolver.

At the station, Logan, who was slightly under the influence of liquor, seemed chiefly concerned about "having done a good job of it," repeatedly stating that "no 'shine' could take him by the arm and get away with it." According to his story, consistently repeated to the officers he had returned from West Tampa and was walking down Ashley street when the woman accosted him at the alley and requested him to accompany her. The negress was accompanied by another woman, Logan stated, who he claims also grasped him by the arm, endeavoring to draw him up the alley. The second woman disappeared promptly at the shooting, according to the police investigation.

"Just tell me this one thing, chief," Logan asked repeatedly: "Did I do a good job of it or not? There isn't any chance of me waking up tomorrow and finding that she's still living, is there? No 'shine' can hold me up and get away with it."

Logan also contends that the woman attempted to search him for money.

"She says, 'Honey, ain't you got any money?' and runs her hand down my pocket," he stated to the officers. "The she and the other woman tries to draw me up the alley. No honest white man would stand for that, so I shot her. If I was in the same fix I'd do it again," he stated.

According to Logan's story he had never seen the negress before. He is being held in the city jail pending an investigation of the killing.

BRICK BUILDING FOR LAKE WALES

LAKE WALES, April 3.—Bain Brothers of Marion, Ohio, have awarded the contract for construction of a brick business building on their lot on Park avenue here and it is stated that the structure will be ready for occupancy by July 1. The lot is 30 feet wide and 90 feet deep and the building will be so constructed that additional floors may be added later if it is desired. The front of the structure will be of terra cotta and marble.

10 PER CENT CUT ON WATERMELONS FROM THIS STATE

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Senator Park Trammell has been advised by the Interstate Commerce Commission that a reduction of 10 per cent in the freight rate on watermelons and canteloupes has been authorized by the railroads.

Senator Trammell some time ago took up the question of obtaining this reduction for the growers of his state and is gratified that favorable results have been accomplished, especially in time for the 1922 crop of melons.

No member of the senate or house has been more active in behalf of freight rate reductions than Senator Trammell. He was among the first to attack in the senate the high rates and has not relented in his efforts to get a reduction of transportation charges for the people of Florida. By his fight and agitation he had a large part in bringing about the 10 per cent reduction in freight rates on citrus fruits and farm products which went into effect last January. Now the reduction applies to watermelons and canteloupes.

PREFERRED HANGING.

FAYETVILLE, Ga., April 3.—On Monday Junius Cofield, negro, said

CLAYTON PRESIDENT OF NEW BANK, TO BE LOCATED AT MIAMI

MIAMI, April 3.—Application for the incorporation of the Commercial Trust Company, to be located here, with C. M. Clayton, until recently vice president of the Miami National Bank, as president, has been granted at Tallahassee.

The concern is chartered to do a banking and trust business and is capitalized at $100,000. Other members are A. H. Ramsey, T. E. Donovan, T. B. Cox and W. L. Harris.

Clayton resigned from the Miami National Bank this week, following a hearing last week in which he was charged with conspiracy to violate the Volstead law, the case revolving around the sale of 100 cases of liquor to a prohibition agent. Clayton, it was charged, wrote the agreement and held in escrow the $4,050 for the purchase of "commodities." The court held that there was not sufficient evidence to show that Clayton was aware of the nature of the transaction and discharged him.

ATLANTA WOMAN KILLS PHYSICIAN HUSBAND; HAD BEEN SEPARATED

ATLANTA, April 3.—Mrs. Corn Lou Vinson, 44, whom a lunacy commission found sane Tuesday, when her daughter tried to place her in an asylum, shot and killed her husband, Dr. W. D. Vinson, 65, in his office Thursday.

The shooting, according to the police, was the climax to a series of lawsuits over property between the two who had been separated for several years. Dr. Vinson had recently filed suit for divorce, claiming his wife had threatened his life and she had charged inhuman treatment in a counter-petition.

"I did not intend to kill him, but when I thought about how he had treated me, I just shot him," policemen said Mrs. Vinson told them when they took her into custody and later they said she declared Dr. Vinson had chided her with being sickly and threatened to kill her unless she deduced some property over to him.

WHAT IS A ONE-CENT SALE? It is a sale where you buy an item at the regular price—then another item of the same kind for 1c. As an illustration: The standard price of Rexall Tooth Paste is 25c. You buy a tube at this price, and by paying 1c more, or 26c, you get two tubes. Every article in this sale is a high-class standard piece of merchandise, just the same as we sell you every day at regular prices and have sold you for years. A NEW WAY OF ADVERTISING—This sale was developed by the United Drug Co. as an advertising plan. Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full-size package of high standard merchandise for 1c. It costs money to get new customers, the loss taken on this sale will be well spent if the goods please you.
