

Mother Charged In Tub Drowning Of Two Children

An 18-year-old mother who told Sanford police she was in the kitchen preparing dinner on March 6 when her two sons drowned in six inches of bathtub water has been arrested and charged with two counts of manslaughter and two counts of child abuse in connection with their deaths.

Police said a two-month investigation of the drownings produced evidence suggesting criminal acts may have been committed by Blissett Keitt, whose sons were found face down in a bathtub at 100 Lake Monroe Terrace, Mrs. Keitt was arrested Tuesday on an information prepared by the state attorney's office.

Telly Keitt, age 2, and 8-month-old Terry Keitt, had been dead for up to an hour when the mother said she discovered the pair, a medical examiner's report concluded. Medical examiner Dr. G. W. Garay said Telly had a bump on the head.

Miss Keitt told police she put the children in the tub and returned to the kitchen to finish dinner preparations at about 5 p.m. on the evening of March 6. About 30 minutes later she returned to the bathroom and found both the children dead, police said.

But the police report indicates that Miss Keitt did not take the children out of the tub immediately. Instead, she left them in the water and ran into the bedroom, police said.

The children's grandmother, Rosa Keitt, returned home and found her daughter "in hysterics," according to police.

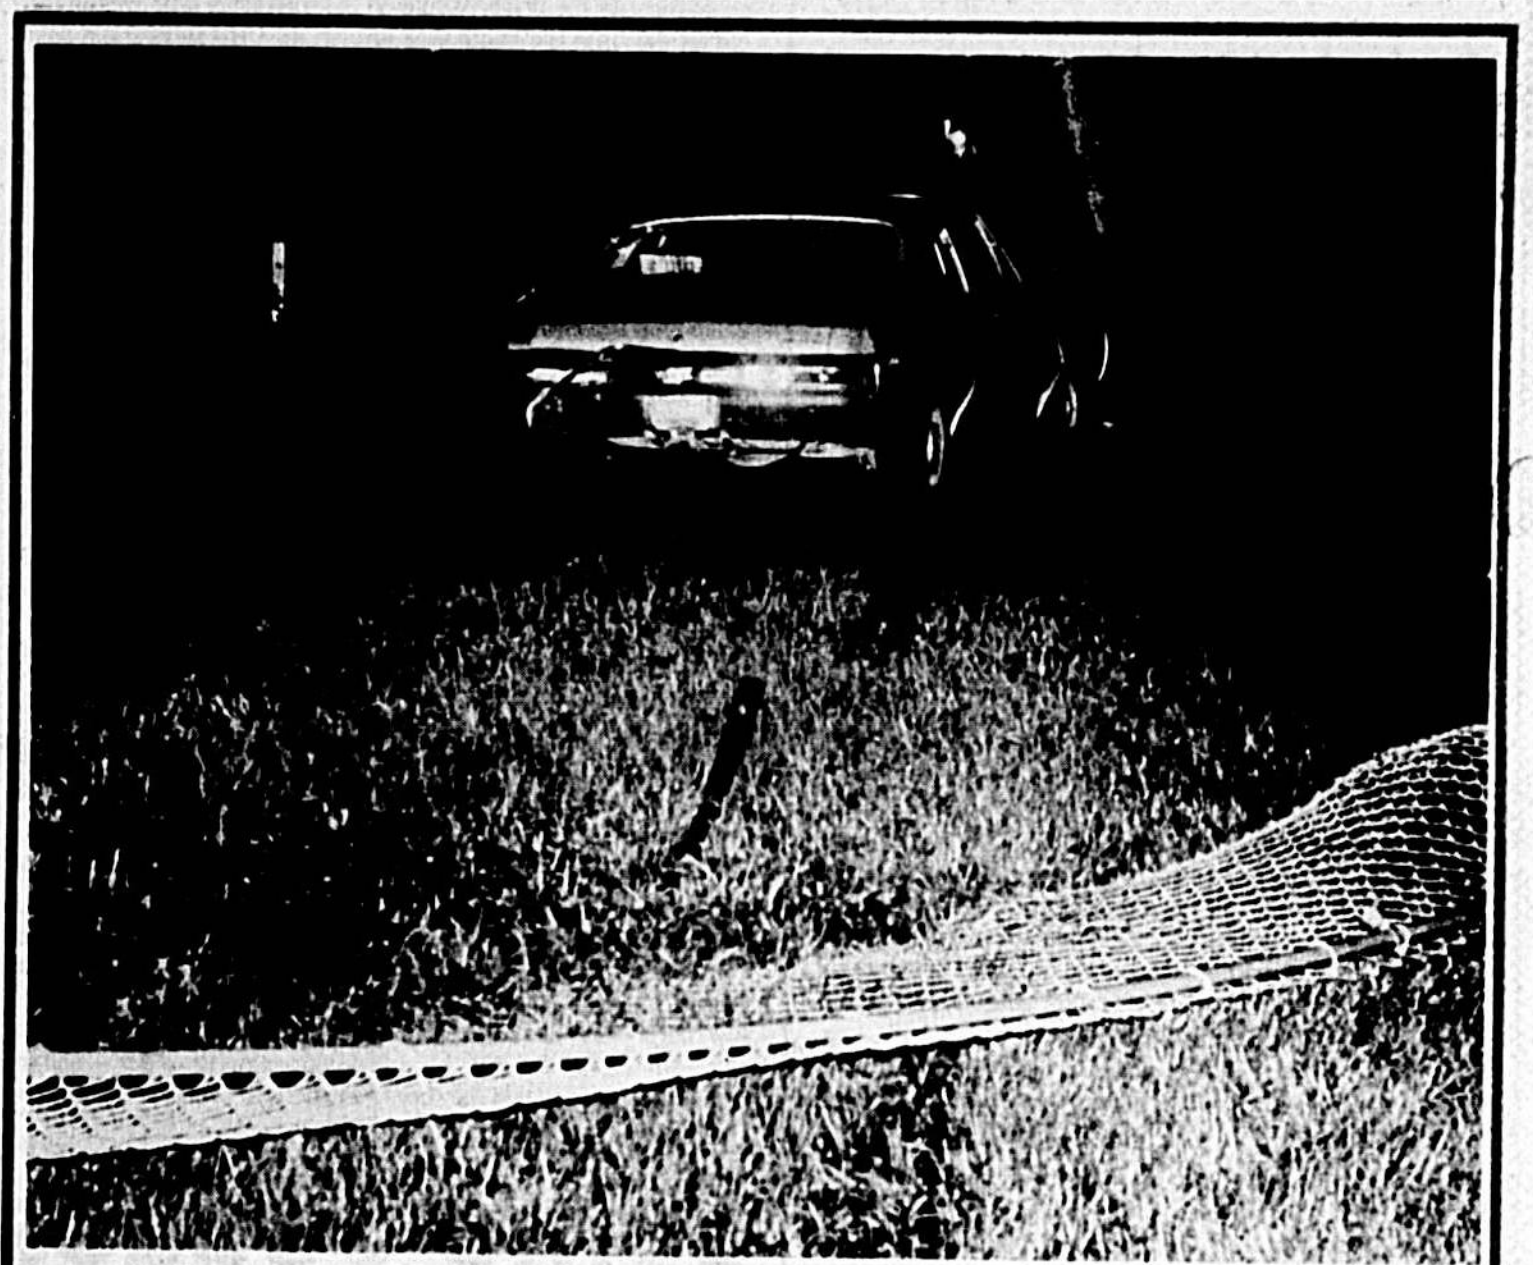

Today, the children's grandmother said she "had no idea" why the police arrested her daughter. She said her daughter was a "very loving mother who never abused her children."

"She loved those kids and was so particular about them. She kept her eye on them like a hawk when they were playing outside," Rosa Keitt said.

Miss Keitt's mother said she still doesn't know the exact events which transpired on the evening of March 6. She said she was out shopping while the children were bathing. When she got home she found her daughter in the bedroom screaming, she said.

Attempts to revive the children by police and rescue units were unsuccessful at the scene, police said.

'OH, NO... NOT AGAIN'

Robert Gordon, 55, said he will put up a fence of railroad iron if he has to in order to prevent motorists from crashing off the road and into his front lawn at 3007 S. Park Ave., Sanford. Since 1958, Gordon said there have been five instances of cars missing the curve as they travel south on Park Avenue just before reaching Airport Boulevard. When they miss the curve, they land in his lawn. The fifth such instance occurred Tuesday night when two men missed the curve and struck a pole near Gordon's home. "My wife won't even sleep in the front bedroom anymore," said Gordon. "She wants me to sell the home. I've gone to a lot of expense," he said. "I've put in a fence all along the front and I've stuck red reflectors on the trees out front. If I have to, I'll reinforce the fence with railroad iron," he said.

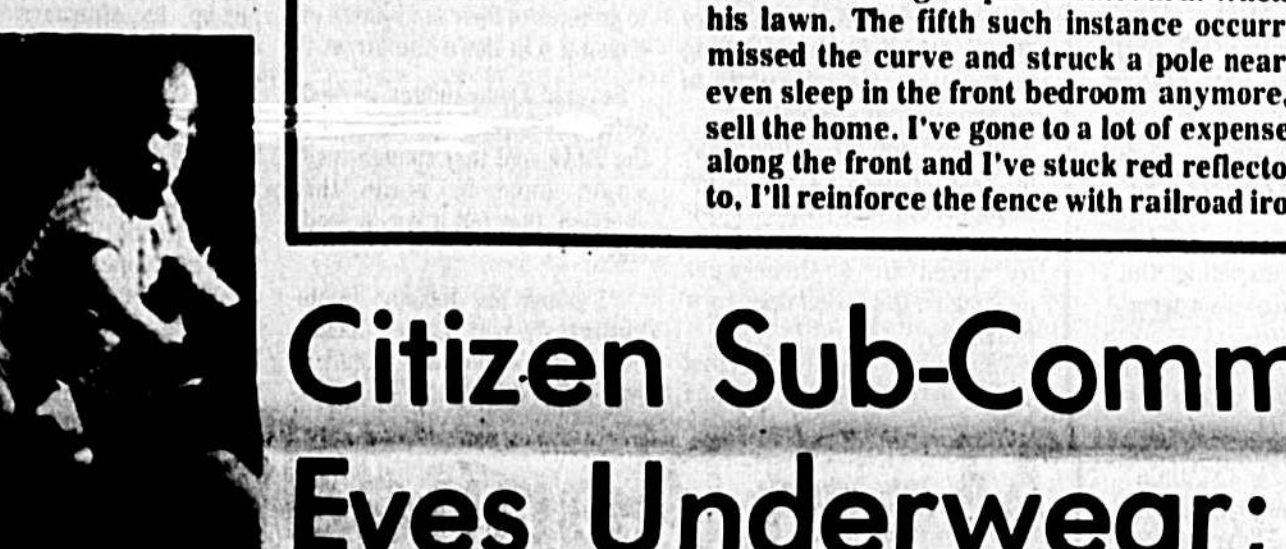

12-Year-Old Boy Faces Hearing In Child's Death

A 12-year-old Sanford boy has been charged by the state attorney's office with delinquency alleging he committed an act of manslaughter in the Feb. 15 shooting death of an infant.

The Seminole County state attorney's office charged the youth Friday but he was not arrested and taken into custody, said Steve Plonick, assistant state attorney. He was served a summons indicating his arraignment date to appear in the juvenile division of the circuit court, he said.

Plonick said he didn't know what the arraignment date is but speculated it would be held sometime next week. "If the boy is found to have committed the crime, the maximum penalty he faces is being placed in the residential treatment program under the Rehabilitative Health Services (RHS) until the age of 19," Plonick said. The 12-year-old juvenile, whose name could not be released, shot and killed a 3 1/2-year-old Laine Mary boy on Feb. 15 in a rural Sanford trailer. The infant was being cared for by the juvenile's parents on the day of the shooting.

Eric, the infant son of Mrs. Steven Beaver, 447 Crystal Lake Drive in Lake Mary, was killed by a single shot in the neck from a .30 caliber rifle. The boy had been sent to wake up the toddler in the master bedroom when the shooting occurred at 12:35 p.m.

However, there was some discrepancy on where the youth was killed. "It was reported he was shot in the bathroom. "But the boy was charged, the state attorney's office conducted a "very thorough investigation," said Chris Ray, chief assistant state attorney. The state attorney's office decided to charge the boy with manslaughter because it could prove "culpable negligence" in the case, Ray said. We could not prove pre-meditated murder as in the case of first degree murder, he said.

Marathon Swimmer 'Olympics' Host

Marathon swimmer Stella Taylor, who last year established a new world record swimming from Bimini to Florida, has been chosen as honorary chairman for the 1979 Golden Age Olympics, according to Jim Jernigan, chairman of the event.

She swam the distance of 160 miles in the Nile River and she is the oldest woman of her other feats including swimming 30 miles in 64 degree water at the Awasan Dam in Egypt, 26 with the live wires all around her," said Lawrence Mobile Home Park manager Nan Blomberg. "The woman was in a state of shock."

"Her whole face was bleeding and full of cuts," said resident Chuck Davis. "She was living, I don't know how."

About 200 mobile homes were damaged at Sun Acres near Daytona Beach, between 20 and 40 were damaged at Lighthouse mobile home park and between 20 and 300 were damaged near Daytona Beach.

A national guard unit from Winter Haven was mobilized Tuesday night and patrolled the streets of the Sun Acres community.

Accident In Geneva Brings Weather Death Toll To 8

Heavy rains and high winds buffeted Central Florida Tuesday led to the death of at least eight persons, including one Merritt Island man whose car spun out of control and struck a palm tree at state Route 48 and Route 68 in Geneva.

Timothy L. DeVynck, 26, of 288 N. Bonann River Road in Merritt Island was pronounced dead on arrival at Seminole Memorial Hospital shortly before 10 p.m. Tuesday, the Florida Highway Patrol reported.

DeVynck said they believe the driver lost control of his car as a result of the slippery conditions caused by the heavy rain. The driver was alone in his car at the time of the crash, he said.

The Port Authority of Sanford reported today that 1.51 inches of rain fell in the area Tuesday. The heaviest rain was reported at 11 p.m. when 0.58 inch fell at 11 p.m. at 11 p.m. at 11 p.m.

ing during heavy rains had water in them and some areas north of Tampa and in the Shore Area, South Lake, Coghlan Key and Pinellas Point areas of St. Petersburg, were virtually isolated.

"As the heavy rain fell, a Gulf Coast flooding water flooding across low-lying highways and cutting off access to some beach communities.

Winds were checked as high as 40 miles at Tampa International Airport and the control tower there was evacuated for 10 minutes Tuesday morning when a tornado was spotted nearby. But there were no scheduled takeoffs or landings and service was not interrupted.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Absentee Ballots Decide Dade Anti-Smoking Vote

MIAMI (UPI) — Smokers puffed away nervously today, hoping absentee ballots would hold up their small lead on a question they consider an issue of personal freedom. Non-smokers hoped for "miracles" and some clean air.

With all of 462 Dade County precincts reported Tuesday, the vote was 95,074 against a proposed anti-smoking ordinance and 93,871 for it — a difference of only 1,203 votes. Some 3,287 absentee ballots were to be counted today.

If the ordinance passes, it will go into effect Thursday. But if the final margin of victory is less than a half-percentage point, there will be an automatic recount of votes cast.

Pitts-Lee Pay Delayed

TALLAHASSEE Fla. (UPI) — Ex-Gov. Reubin Askew came under attack Tuesday for failing to testify before a House committee considering $100,000 in compensation for former death row inmate Freddie Pitts and Wilber Lee.

Rep. John Ryals, D-Brandon, said the former governor's backtracking leaves the committee with few choices but to delve deeply into the record of the case.

"It's going to be a long, hot summer," he said, indicating the probe will not end next week as originally planned, and the question of compensation won't be decided until a special session next fall.

Fugitive Surrenders

OCALA, Fla. (UPI) — A construction worker who eluded capture for four years says he surrendered to Ocala police voluntarily because he was tired of looking over his shoulder.

Leonard Fozell said he has been arrested many times for barroom brawls since he jumped bond in 1973 and fled Illinois, where he was charged with intimidation, unlawful restraint and criminal damage to property in a liquor lounge. He said he was worked 25 jobs in 10 states since then without being detected.

"I'm easy to avoid the law if you keep on the move. For people in fights and drunk, they only check to see if you have a record in that state," Fozell said.

Offender Program Curtailed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The House is set to give final approval to legislation severely restricting the highly criticized state program for mentally disordered sex offenders.

On Tuesday the House voted to tighten the legislation and abolish the program completely in 1981 unless the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services proves it can run an effective program.

Rep. Bob Crawford, chairman of the House Criminal Justice Committee, asked for the sunset provision because he said the program is a disgrace. Some 280 inmates are treated at centers in Penitentiary, Pines, Gainesville and Chatahoocnee.

State Energy Head Quits

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Embattled State Energy Director Carlos Warren is quitting July 1 — at a time when Florida could be facing an energy crisis far worse than the 1973 energy crunch.

But Warren, who told Graham administration officials Tuesday of his intention to leave the $30,000-a-year post, said now is as good a time as ever since the department is being reorganized.

"Frankly, I can't think of a better time," said Warren, who becomes the third high energy official to leave state government in the last few months.

Nursing Home Act Passes

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — A House committee has passed what backers are calling "The Nursing Home Patient Protection Act of 1979."

The three-part legislation, designed to help the state clamp down on shoddy nursing homes, sailed through the House Health and Rehabilitative Services Committee Tuesday.

"I think this whole piece of legislation is the beginning of giving nursing home patients some rights," said Rep. Hal Spaet, D-Miami. "What we are trying to do is put some workability in the nursing home laws."

4,200 Won't Get Diplomas

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The results are in from the final round of functional literacy tests affecting this year's high school seniors indicating that about 4,200 will not receive regular diplomas when they graduate in June.

Estimates, based on sample scores, also indicate that a majority of black students taking the tests are still failing because they cannot master the mathematics portions. The test is under challenge in federal court by a group of black parents contending the questions are culturally biased against blacks.

Death Decisions Pondered

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The stack of death penalty cases on Gov. Bob Graham's desk grew to six today, with no hint from Graham on when or how he will act on the cases.

Graham alone holds the power to sign the death warrant that will schedule Florida's first execution since 1964.

He said after Tuesday's Clemency Board hearing for four death row inmates that he has no deadline for deciding whether to sign the death warrant or recommend commutation.

FHP Seeks Passenger In Hit And Run

The Florida Highway Patrol reported today they are looking for the passenger who rode in the 1974 Blue Pontiac said to have been the vehicle involved in the hit and run accident April 26 that claimed the life of 16-year-old Scott Chaplin of 289 Magnolia, Sanford.

The Highway Patrol reports it now has a car impounded, but that it has been unable to establish at this point who was driving the vehicle. Unless the driver confesses, the only person who could identify the driver would be the passenger who was in the car at the time the vehicle was struck, an FHP spokesman said today.

The brother of Scott, Edward Chaplin, was struck by a truck and thrown to the pavement on Monday. He suffered a mild concussion, but today his condition was reported as good and the youth returned to school, his sister said.

A burglar entered the home of Ernest Woodward at 413 Sanford Ave., Sanford, sometime Tuesday and made off with a 13-inch color television valued at $460, Sanford police said.

Police said there was no immediate indication as to how the thief gained entry to the home.

Charges of attempted murder and attempted armed robbery filed against Rodney Lewis Woods, 21, of 25 Castle Brewer Court, Sanford, have been dismissed in circuit court.

Woods was charged with the shooting of a junkyard owner, Louis Dritz, on Jan. 11. Dritz was shot three times during a robbery attempt. The third shot would have been fatal, police said, had the bullet not been stopped by a wad of money carried by Maple Grove, Minn. (UPI) — Every Mother's Day for the last 20 years, Joan Persons Grabe thought of Kathy Sue, the daughter she saw only once as a sleeping newborn.

But this year could be her last. Mrs. Grabe, now 37, is suffering from Crohn's Disease, an ailment of the digestive tract. She does not know how long she has to live.

She wants to tell her long-lost daughter she loves her — and to warn her. Crohn's Disease is hereditary.

Mrs. Grabe said she wants to warn her daughter the disease is best treated in its early stages.

Kathy Sue is the name Mrs. Grabe gave to the infant she saw only once.

Last December, Mrs. Grabe went to the social agency which helped with the adoption and asked if her daughter, now 19, could be told of the disease and asked to contact her mother, if she wanted to do so.

Mrs. Grabe said a social worker finally told her she had talked with the adoptive mother, who refused to permit any contact. The daughter is healthy, the adoptive mother said, and would only be told of her mother's medical history if she develops the disease.

She also told the social agency always deals with the adoptive parents, not with the child.

"She (Kathy Sue) is an adult," protested Mrs. Grabe. "What are her rights? At what age is she old enough to be dealt with?" So far, her questions have not been answered.

Mrs. Grabe, since married, became pregnant at the age of 16.

She was reared in northern Minnesota, she said, and her parents, pastor and social worker all agreed adoption was the only solution. She went to a home for unwed mothers in the Twin Cities. At first, she said, she thought adoption was a good idea.

But, she said, "when I started to feel movement, and realized that there was a real baby inside of me, it became more difficult to believe that they knew what they were talking about."

"I started to take long walks every day by myself, and I fantasized about how I would meet some wonderful man who would marry me and take me away and the three of us would live happily ever after."

On Oct. 25, 1959, Mrs. Grabe gave birth. She was allowed to see her infant daughter only once, being told she must not wake the child.

She has been ill for most of the past two decades, and at least one psychologist has suggested the illness may have been caused by suppressed grief.

"We're going to work with local law enforcement to develop guidelines to ensure the proper use of radar," she said.

The Florida Highway Patrol will continue to use radar, said Deputy Director Roger Collier. "When troopers make traffic cases, they have no way of knowing what judge is going to handle it," Lt. Col. Collier said.

The Dade County Public Safety Department's radar guns are in the shop for repair and an accuracy check, and a Metro spokesman said he didn't know if they would be put back on the road when they are returned.

Dritz in his shirt pocket.

Woods was arrested Feb 2 in connection with the theft of a pair of pants from the Super Dollar Store at 205 E. First St., Sanford. Woods allegedly fired a shot at a man who chased him after the theft, police said.

A ballistics test indicated the gun used in the Super Dollar Store theft matched the gun used to shoot Dritz, police said. However, no positive identification of Woods could be made, authorities said.

On March 12, Woods was convicted in circuit court on charges of aggravated assault and carrying a concealed firearm in connection with the theft of pants from the Super Dollar Store. A presentencing investigation has been ordered.

VANDALS HIT
Vandals are being blamed for the pouring of paint on top of a roof to a shed at the Phillips 66 Service Station, 801 Celery Ave., Sanford, police said.

Police said the incident occurred sometime Sunday or Monday. Damage to the building was about $300.

CAR STOLEN, RECOVERED
A 1971 Ford station wagon was stolen from near a Sanford bar Monday night and found shortly thereafter behind an elementary school, according to Seminole County deputies.

The station wagon was valued at $1,495.

Walter Ross Jr., 49, of 1012 E. 9th St., Sanford, told deputies he pulled in front of the DeLuzar Bar on Southwest Road and left the car running while he went inside.

Approximately two minutes later, he returned and discovered his car missing, deputies say. Deputies later found the car parked at the rear of the Goldsboro Elementary School.

Some Judges Join Nesbitt

MIAMI (UPI) — Some Florida traffic judges dealt radar a few more blows Tuesday, siding with Dade County Chief Administrative Judge Alfred Nesbitt's ruling that radar is too inaccurate to be admitted as evidence.

Several Dade judges agreed with Nesbitt, and others around the state said that though they would have to study the decision, they felt it was a good one.

"I adopt his decision in its entirety," said Dade County Judge Howard Gross. "I think it was an excellent, excellent decision."

Dade County State Attorney Janet Reno said she will not accept Nesbitt's ruling, but will form guidelines with police for radar evidence.

NATION IN BRIEF

SALT Treaty Ready For Signing At Summit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — All major issues have been resolved and the long-awaited SALT II arms limitation agreement is ready for signing next month at a summit meeting of President Carter and Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev.

A formal announcement will be made today at the White House by Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, who has been the principal American negotiator for the windup of talks that began in 1972 under the Nixon administration.

The 109-page treaty package will cut the nuclear arsenals of both superpowers to the same number of launchers and bombers — 2,250 by the end of 1981. It will be the first arms treaty actually to require scrapping of nuclear weapons — 270 on the Soviet side, to get under the limit.

Money will be allocated in this session of the Florida Legislature to begin work on a state Route 436 overpass at Interstate 4 if the four-member Seminole County Legislative delegation has its way.

State Rep. Bobby Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, chairman of the delegation, reported from Tallahassee the delegation in both the Senate and the House are working together to get $1 million appropriated for the project.

The overpass concept known as the Center Street project includes an overpass of the state road and an alternate route whereby motorists can avoid the most congested portion of 436.

Hattaway said the "most realistic" place to look for the $1 million is from a project approved by a House transportation subcommittee last week for Orange County.

He noted, as he had last week, that $17 million was designated by the sub-committee for the Orlando International Airport interchange after Orange County Commissioners said $16 million is sufficient for that project. It is from this project Hattaway expects to get the $1 million necessary for the Center Street project.

The idea of a 436 overpass has been discussed in Altamonte Springs for the past 15 years. The area of 436 from Palm Springs Road, west to I-4 has a traffic count of 45,000 cars per day and has been designated the most heavily traveled stretch of road in Seminole County by the State Department of Transportation. Hattaway noted.

The Center Street project calls for an overpass of 436 to Crane's Roost and the opening of Center Street for which most of the right-of-way has already been acquired by the city of Altamonte Springs, to Montgomery Road. From Montgomery Road motorists could either go south to 436 and west to state Route 434 and then, east or west, thus bypassing the most congested portion of 436.

Hattaway, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, said he will work in this session of the Legislature to get the funds allocated for the Seminole County project while Sen. John Vogt, D-Cocoa Beach, also a member of the delegation will be working toward the same end in the Senate Appropriations Committee.

It's Time To Come Forward

Getting through the day and night must be tough going these days for the driver (and passenger if there was one) of the car that killed 16-year-old Mark Scott Chaplin.

But the days are getting even tougher for the Seminole High School 10th grader's mother, Mrs. Paul Chaplin. First she had to endure the grief of burying her 16-year-old son, then on Monday she got the horrifying news another son, 8-year-old Edward, had been struck by a small truck. Edward suffered a slight concussion, but at last reports he was at home and expected to recover.

When she was told of the latest accident, Mrs. Chaplin said she walked to the scene and described it as "The longest block I ever walked."

Edward's brother Scott, as everyone called him, was not so fortunate. He was struck by a car April 26 as he rode his bicycle on Old Lake Mary Road. The driver never stopped the vehicle. Scott died four days later. The driver still is unidentified. And, there may have been a passenger in the car when the accident happened, Florida Highway Patrolmen say. From where we sit, the driver of the car which killed Scott needs to do some soul-searching. He, or she, needs to come forward and put everyone at rest, including himself, or herself. And the passenger — again, if there was one — needs to do the same.

Mark Scott Chaplin was a fine boy. Well-liked by everyone who knew him.

"He was something that is rare these days," said Rev. Keith Crocker, who officiated at the funeral services. "He was a 16-year-old gentleman."

That says much more than one might think at first glance.

We'd like to see another gentleman, or lady as the case may be, in the driver displaying a similar quality by contacting authorities.

No one can bear a grudge against those who, for whatever reason, find it difficult to cope with a wrong committed against another. But how they finally resolve those acts will be the criterion for assessing them.

That no deep grudges are carried in this case is evident in Mrs. Chaplin's comments when she was asked if anyone had been arrested or identified in connection with her son's death. She said she didn't know, but "I prayed for the driver again this morning."

Choice On The Tube

The Federal Communications Commission has taken steps to give the cable television viewer a greater diversity of programs to watch on the tube.

That's good. Television has become so great a part of our lives that anything that will increase its responsiveness to the viewer's diverse interests is good. The electronic media are uniquely modern means of communication. They are in the primitive stages of their development. They have begun as mass media but are likely to become highly diversified and selective, appealing to small audiences as well as large ones.

The FCC moved to eliminate two rules that have hamstrung cable TV systems and protected local television stations from competition. One rule limits the number of out-of-town TV station signals which can be carried on a single cable. The other rule allows local stations in the 50 largest TV markets to force a cable operator to black out any show carried on these imported channels if the show appears on the local station.

Satellite telecasting creates the possibility of opening up hundreds of channels to every set, including those in the most remote areas of this country.

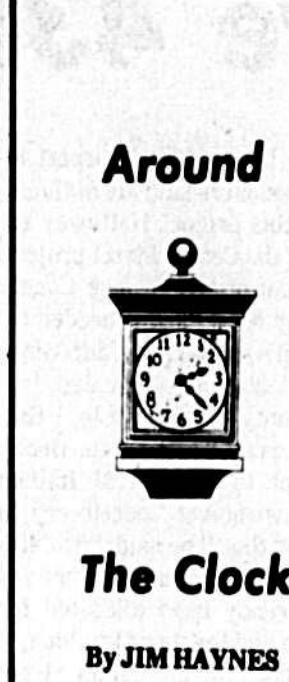

Government regulations should not stand in the way of such progress.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If military loves company, American consumers should be delighted to learn that they're not the only objects of the multinational oil companies' rapacious efforts to increase already hoisted profits.

In an audacious move reminiscent of the burning days of the "Standard Oil Trust" during the late 1800s, the Exxon Corp. is seeking to dissuade the World Bank from providing financial assistance needed by developing nations to harness their own petroleum resources.

Instead, Exxon is promoting an arrangement under which oil and gas exploration and production in the lesser developed countries (LDCs) around the globe would be the private domain of the world's major petroleum corporations.

The World Bank, which offers low-interest loans and technical assistance to encourage economic development in LDCs, is convinced that successful new petroleum ventures will both enhance those nations' economic stability and ameliorate the harsh effects of the global energy crisis.

Both Exxon and the World Bank have identified a number of developing countries with better-than-average prospects for successful petroleum ventures. The list includes:

Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Egypt, Indonesia, Iraq, Iran, Jordan, Kuwait, Malaysia and Pakistan.

Petroleum production can be extremely lucrative, as indicated by Exxon's 1978 net profits of $2.76 billion and the company's recent announcement that net profits for the first quarter of 1979 were $660 million, up 37.4 percent over the comparable period last year.

But exploration is an expensive, highly risky activity. One exploratory well in an accessible area with known reserves costs less than $100,000, Exxon notes, while a single similar well in the remote interior of Africa and Latin America can cost $5 million to $8 million.

The World Bank estimates that in the decade between 1978 and 1985, the LDCs will have to invest $4.85 billion annually to develop their petroleum resources. Earlier this year, the bank announced its commitment to assist in that financing through a massive $1.23 billion loan program.

But a previously confidential exchange of letters between Exxon's board chairman, C. C. Garvin Jr., is hardly enthusiastic about the economic self-determination and energy independence that might result from such a program.

Earlier this year, Garvin wrote to Treasury Secretary Michael W. Blumenthal, the United States representative to the World Bank, claiming that "such projects seem ill-suited for bank lending" because "exploration for oil and gas is inherently risky."

WASHINGTON — Let others rely on George Gallup, Elmo Roper and Lou Harris for guidance in next year's presidential sweepstakes. We prefer "Jimmy the Greek" Snyder, who calculates the political odds exclusively for us.

While Jimmy's rap as an oddsmaker is based on sporting events, he applies the same skills in his evaluation of political prospects. He talks to the insiders who know the game best — the bank party leaders and other seasoned political pros.

At this point, 10 months before the first presidential primary in New Hampshire, Jimmy rates President Carter as the odds-on favorite to win the Democratic nomination, and gives Ronald Reagan an almost even chance to be the Republicans' standard bearer.

Here is Jimmy's "early morning line" on the race for the White House: Carter: 4 to 1. Though his popularity among party leaders is low — Snyder failed to name key state chairmen and not one wanted Carter as their candidate — the president has the enormous advantage of incumbency. Hardly have political parties learned a thing about Carter, so he would be a constant of voters that would limit the party's image with the voters.

It's nice at the top, says Trinity Prep track coach George Austin. He should know after another fantastic performance by the girls track team last weekend. They claimed their second straight state championship. Sandwiched in between was a girls cross country state crown.

"Success breeds success," is his explanation of the rise of the small school to great heights in track. It wasn't always that way at Trinity. In the beginning, at least when Austin started a girls program eight years ago, there were five uncertain faces staring at him on the first day of practice.

With some hard work, they managed to finish third in the cross country meet their second year.

This year some 22 girls turned out for the track team, no huge number, but outstanding considering there are only about 40 girls in the upper three grades.

There were three definite keys to last weekend's victory — performers RCEs by Mary Barnett, Cindy McDonald and Ann Kurth. They each participated in three events and garnered more than their share of points for the team.

Austin is from St. Paul, Alberta, Canada. He comes to Goldenrod by way of Arizona and West Texas State at Orlando High.

In fact, he teaches physical education at Lawton Elementary in Orlando. He heads for Trinity's practice track over classes.

Over the years, Austin's most famous family of runners has been the McNulty's.

Laurie is the oldest, and she's now on the Alabama tennis team. Thad runs for Harvard and recently received All-Around honors as a Freshman.

Paul is still at Trinity and all he did Friday night was win first place in the half-mile, mile and two-mile events in the Class A state meet. Shannon is a ninth grader and was Class A cross country state champ last fall, but missed the track meet because of an injury.

The Howard McNulty family lives in Lake Mary. Over the years, they have been a number of Sanford products with many also playing big roles in the success of Trinity athletic endeavors. Jay Johnson is one, and he is now on the baseball team at Florida State.

Matt McDonald, who Herald readers may recall as the youngster who shaved his head before last year's state swimming meet, came back with a fifth place in this year's state finals. He's Cindy's brother, and both are also from Sanford.

Allison Lanier, another Sanford product, set a state record in the high jump last weekend.

In short, it's hats off to the Saints, who seem to keep marching in.

Permit Vote Allows Firm To Relocate

A Sanford company which has produced much of the street tile used at DisneyWorld has been granted a change of use permit by the Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission. The permit will enable the company to move its operations from West First Street to 909 W. Third St.

Permit Vote Allows Firm To Relocate

The panel voted without opposition to grant the change of use permit to Flor-A-Crete Industries, Inc. for limited manufacturing and processing of concrete tile. John Webb represented the company at the hearing.

Pause For Humor In Politics

Americans are in no mood for fooling around when it comes to meeting the challenges of the urgent problems we face — inflation, energy and our position in the world.

But a little fooling around can provide an enlightening change of pace from the seriousness of our current public policy debates. Taking this to heart, the well-known authors of two recent books have taken a look at our problems and they prescribe humor.

They also demonstrate that if you are in the mood to poke fun, politicians and government are prime targets.

"Public Nuisance," by R. Emmett Tyrrell Jr., is a collection of devastating satirical essays on a range of public figures of the 1960s and 1970s. Bob Tyrrell is well-known among conservatives for his editorship of the "American Spectator," a journal which has emerged as an oracle of the so-called "neo-conservative."

Winter Book For 1980

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Someone who thought four years ago that Scoop Jackson was the class of the 1970 Democratic field ought to know better, but he's gone on attempt to make a "winter book" on the 1980 presidential hopefuls.

There may be more entries as the year progresses, and almost surely there will be scratches before the primaries begin, but here is a look at the declared and likely starters along with a few exceedingly dark horses almost nine months before the first tests.

Democrat: Jimmy Carter — A proven horse, but still lightly regarded by many of the railbirds. The condition of the track is his most important consideration: if he is up to his fetlocks in rising prices, he could be overtaken.

Democrat: Jerry Brown — Very flashy in the paddock and very fast out of the starting gate. A good showing on his last start but in some feeling he may have strained something with his 1978 demonstration of changing directions while at a full gallop.

Democrat: Teddy Kennedy — He looks awesome in training, but there still is no assurance that he will run. He would be odds-on favorite for the nomination if he did, but the final heat would be a very muddy contest indeed.

Democrat: Adlai Stevenson — Good stock, but previous races have been run on closed circuit courses. Has a lot to show before attracting out of town attention.

Democrat: Ronald Reagan — A confirmed right rail runner, he has always finished in the money

Democrat: George Bush — Impeccable breeding and training, but another wholly untried runner. Did not do well on home tracks, but made an impression working in harness. May show cold weather form in New Hampshire.

Democrat: Howard Baker — Good notices from his home turf, but has yet to show he can travel and win. Some think he tripped over the Panama water hazard in the Senate steppechase. He's hoping to preempt the middle of the track.

Democrat: Bob Dole — An experienced runner, but some believe he is too heavy in the foot and sharp in the tooth for the fast track. He may not win, but he'll have fun trying.

Democrat: Lowell Weicker — A high bucking maverick expected to head the left line. May get some tips at the front-running favorites, but not seen as a likely winner.

Democrat: Harold Stassen — Too many starts, too few finishes. Benjamin Fernandez, John Anderson — Who?

Democrat: The lengths at 99 to 1 include Illinois Gov. Jim Thompson, Sen. Robert Dole, Lowell Weicker and Paul Laxalt, and Reps. John Anderson and Jack Kemp. Lightning isn't likely to strike them.

Democrat: MARRAKECH KERRIS: Despite President Carter's well-orchestrated press of praise for irregularly in government press releases, Administration are still sticking the taxpayers for global junkies. Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps, for example, recently jettied off to Tunisia, Morocco and Romania, accompanied by a large retinue. The trip cost $100,000. So he was the party that the hotel in the resort town of Marrakech didn't have enough room; the Moroccan government obligingly kicked out enough guests to make room for the Kreps entourage. A Commerce Department spokesman explained that Kreps performed numerous official functions on the trip.

Democrat: JERRY'S JIBE: Aside from his African safari with singer Linda Ronstadt, California Gov. Jerry Brown's credentials on foreign policy are spotty. He has been criticized for a presidential aspirant. So he has now delivered himself of a private opinion on the signing of a mutual defense pact with Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos that will allow the United States to make military bases in the islands. "It's ridiculous to pay billions to foreign dictators," snarled Brown.

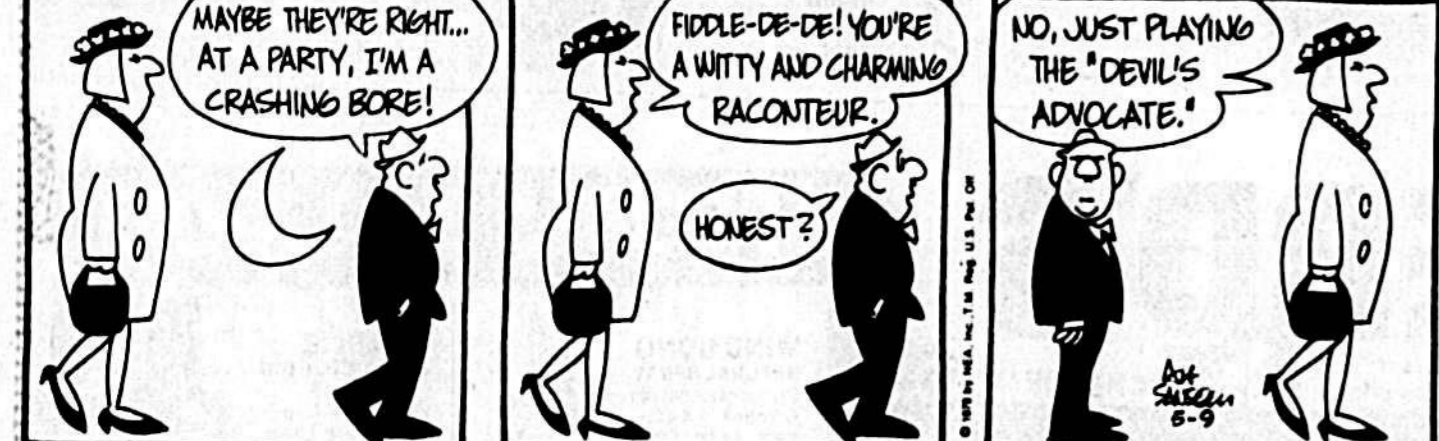

Democrat: Phil Crane: 16 to 1. The Illinois congressman is reworked under by fellow conservatives Reagan and Connally. But he has youth and somewhat charisma, and if he manages to spot Reagan in New Hampshire, he might make it.

DEAR DR. LAMB— I read an article in the paper about the IUD and wanted to know what inflammatory disease really is... In the case of most IUDs there may be a very low grade infection of the lining of the womb... DEAR READER— Inflammation is a term used to describe tissue responses to irritations... The inflammation you're interested in involves the female organs and is commonly called pelvic inflammatory disease... The symptoms are those of an infection and how much trouble a woman has depends on how extensive the infection really is... Again it is an individual matter.

He Has Gehrig's Glove

NEW YORK (UPI) — Babe Dahlgren, the fellow who took over for Lou Gehrig, has held on to Gehrig's old glove for nearly 40 years and now he's finally ready to let it go.

"At my age, I figure what the heck?" says the 68-year-old former Yankee first baseman.

"I was listening to one of those talk shows the other day and one of the callers talked about the value of mementos, saying how a bubble gum card of Hank Aaron issued in the 1950's is sold for only a penny then it is now worth $70.

"That started me thinking that I must be sitting on a small fortune because I have the gloves worn by the right side of the Yankees' 1927 infield, and many claim that it was the greatest baseball team ever. I not only have Lou Gehrig's glove, but also Tony Lazzeri's."

Dahlgren operates a batting cage for kids as well as pros for Bradbury, Calif., and if you're interested in those gloves as you can reach him there at 17 Woodlyn Lane.

Hespeke with me about that memorable day, May 2, 1939, when he replaced Gehrig at first base for the Yankees.

"It's hard to believe that 40 years have passed since that day when Lou Gehrig walked up to home plate in Detroit, as captain of the New York Yankees, with a lineup that did not include his name for the first time after 130 consecutive games," Dahlgren says.

"During that time, he had pitched in 19 consecutive seasons, won the MVP Award four times and hit .361 in seven World Series. Now here he was walking up to home plate with a lineup that had my name on it instead of his at first base.

"When Lou returned to our bench, he headed for the water fountain for a drink. It was a very long drink. Tears began streaming down his face and he put one hand up to his eyes.

"The Yankees took the Tigers apart that afternoon, 22-2, and Dahlgren almost had four home runs. He hit one over the leftfield fence, doubled high off the fence and had two long drives coming in on his only inches from the top of the fence.

"When the Yankees bought Dahlgren from the Red Sox in 1937, he was only 24, and with Gehrig still going great, Manager Joe McCarthy didn't want him resting on the bench. So McCarthy sent Dahlgren to the Newark Bears of the International League to learn to play third base.

"Upon arriving in Newark, Dahlgren called and asked Lazzeri, whom he had roomed with that spring, to send him one of his finger gloves, one already 'broken in' and 'Punch 'Em Up' Tony Lipp, which is how come Dahlgren still has the glove today.

"Although Gehrig never played again after missing his first game, he showed up the following February at the Yankees' spring training site in St. Petersburg, Fla., and sat in front of his locker for a while.

"Reaching into it, he pulled out his well-worn first baseman's mitt and tossed it to clubhouse man Pete Sheehy, who still has that same job with the Yankees.

"Pete, I won't need this anymore," Gehrig said. "I'll trade you, Pete," he said. Sheehy gave Dahlgren the old glove and Dahlgren has had it since.

Dahlgren spent 12 years in the big leagues, playing for the Braves, Cubs, Browns, Dodgers, Phillies and Pirates besides the Yankees and Red Sox, and after retiring at the end of 1966, he served as batting coach with the Kansas City A's in 1964 and as director of multi-picture films with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1965.

manner always seemed incompatible with the dashing Tarleton. "A lot of players retire from the game going downhill, but Francis had a good year in 1978 as he has had in professional football."

Tarleton completed 60 percent of his passes last season for a league-high 3,468 yards, and he threw 23 interceptions and guided the Vikings to their seventh season in the NFL last season and Tarleton has said he doesn't think the team will contend for the Super Bowl in the near future.

The former Georgia All-America holds NFL records for most career passing yards and completed, passing yards and TD passes.

Veteran center Mick Tingelhoff, who was Tarleton's roommate, said, "I know he was going to retire. At least I thought he was. I don't know," said Tarleton who said he would not return to the team.

Seminole: Baseball, Softball On! Rangers Nab The Big One

With rain out of the picture, Seminole High is hoping for twin wins on the diamonds today. The baseball team takes on Merritt Island in a regional baseball test tonight at 7:30 p.m. on the Sanford Memorial Stadium Field.

The girls softball team is hopeful of a regional victory against Eau Gallie in a 4 p.m. encounter at Fort Mellon Park.

Both games were postponed from Tuesday because of heavy rains and wet fields.

"The extra day of rest helps our pitcher," said Bobby Lundquist, SHS coach, in talking about ace hurler Darren Whitehead.

"Darren is 12-6, but he has lost a lot of tough ones. He could very easily be 16-2. But those games are behind us. We need to win this one."

Seminole is 21-10. Merritt Island stands 21-12. John Staples (9-5) is scheduled to pitch for the Mustangs, who to avenge a 2-1 regional defeat handed them two years ago when David Higgins pitched Seminole into the sectional game.

By United Press International... Ron Greschner, defenseman remembered the great upset of 1975, and got his revenge.

"I was there for that series," Greschner said Tuesday night, recalling the New York Islanders' three-game upset victory over the Rangers.

Greschner, who scored a goal to help the New York Islanders win the Stanley Cup, said he was a fan of the Rangers.

"I gave them a little of the emotion and I guess it worked," Jonathan scored the team's first, fourth and fifth goals and former outcast Gills Gilbert turned in another sparkling performance in goal.

"The end result is that Montreal is facing a seventh game for the first time since 1971. I expected this series to be tough," said Montreal star Guy Lafleur.

"I'm not surprised at all." Boston winger Terry O'Reilly said he felt the Bruins were ready for their first — and their first playoff victory in the Forum since 1971.

"They have to be nervous, they're the favorites," he said. In the WHA, Rookie Wayne Gembry scored twice in the second period to spearhead Edmonton to a 6-3 victory over the New England Whalers, sending the Oilers into the finals of the playoffs.

Edmonton, which won the semifinal series four games to three, meets Winnipeg in the best-of-seven series for the last time in the WHA. The Cup begins Friday night.

Dennis Sobchuk, Blair Macdonald and Ron Chipchfield also were prominent in a victory, each contributing a goal and two assists. Bill Flett had the other Edmonton goal.

Mike Antonovich, Elaine Stoughton and Andre Lacroix tallied for New England.

Bowman Doubles As Rangers G.M.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Almost completely lost in the exciting resurgence of the New York Rangers is the clear-cut evidence the Montreal Canadiens are moving closer to their fifth straight Stanley Cup title — and the appointment of their new general manager as well.

The formal announcement will come in the next two or three weeks, by which time the Canadiens may or may not be the Stanley Cup champs again. Either way, Bowman finally will get the general manager job he has wanted so long for so long, according to a trusted source closely involved with the Canadiens' upper echelon.

Whether Bowman also keeps the coaching job will be entirely up to him, and from all indications, he'll more than likely hold on to it and handle both assignments just as he did for four seasons with the St. Louis Blues before returning to the Montreal organization in June of 1971.

In the 12 seasons he has been coaching in the NHL, Bowman has compiled the highest winning percentage of any coach in regular-season competition as well as in the playoffs. The Canadiens will lead the Bruins three games to two and will be looking to wrap up their semifinal series in Boston Tuesday night, now must be considered Bowman's babies.

For years, they were Sam Pollock's. He was the architect of the Canadiens' success as general manager of the Canadiens for 13 years before he left to go into private business last fall, and when he did, everyone thought Bowman would get the job.

Pollock gave the Canadiens' general manager when Pollock burned him up. He felt he had paid his dues, and only in leading the Blues to the Stanley Cup final in his first three years in St. Louis, he was holding down both jobs, but also in guiding the Canadiens to four Stanley Cup titles. Montreal's first cup victory under him came during the 1972-73 season.

If Sam Pollock was the one who furnished the material for the team's success, then Scotty Bowman certainly was the one who should have been in the job to replace Pollock.

But for reasons they never really explained, the Canadiens' board of directors decided not to move Bowman up when Pollock left. They would go without a general manager, making them the only club in the league not to have one on staff.

Macaroni Salad Is Meal-In-One Dish

Pasta dishes are economical. But most people who eat them regularly do so because they love them.

What's a family gathering or picnic without macaroni salad, for example?

Here is a one-dish meal that stretches the macaroni with shrimp, tuna, carrots, peas and pickles. You may substitute canned shrimp or any ingredients you wish.

Add zip to the salad with a dressing that includes the sweet-pickle liquid — a touch learned years ago from a good beach-house chef. Serve with tomatoes, crisp salad greens and bread.

PICKLE-PLUS MACARONI MEAL

1½ tablespoons salt
4½ quarts boiling water
12 ounces (about 5 cups) macaroni shells
4 hard-cooked eggs
½ pound cooked, peeled and cleaned shrimp
2 (7 ounce) cans tuna, drained
½ cup chopped onion
1½ cups diced cooked carrots
1 (10 ounce) package

frozen green peas, cooked
1½ cups chopped sweet gherkins
Salad dressing
salt and pepper
crisp romaine leaves
2 tomatoes, cut in small wedges

Add 1½ tablespoons salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni shells so that water continues to boil. Cook, uncovered, until tender, stirring occasionally. Drain, rinse and drain again.

In a large bowl, combine 3 hard-cooked eggs (chopped), cooled macaroni shells, shrimp, tuna, onion, carrots, peas, chopped gherkins and salad dressing. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Chill several hours.

At serving time, lightly toss salad. Turn into chilled salad bowl lined with romaine leaves. Garnish with tomato, sweet gherkin slices and remaining egg, cut in slices. Makes 8 to 8 servings.

SALAD DRESSING
Beat 2-3 cup salad oil, 1-3 cup sweet pickle liquid, ¼ cup vinegar and ¼ cup prepared spicy brown mustard.

In this Italian dish, Patate e Piselli con Vongole, potatoes and peas are topped with canned red clam sauce from your supermarket.

Clam Sauces Add 'Meaty' Food Flavor

Canned clam sauces — both red and white versions — which are so delicious on pasta, add "meaty" flavor to other foods as well. They're also fitting partners with rice (Risotto con Vongole) and delicious served as a sauce over vegetables.

The red and white clam sauces, available canned in your supermarket, are true to the Italian tradition of sauces. According to experts, an authentic white clam sauce is a thin, brothy mixture which emphasizes the natural clam and garlic flavors. Red clam sauce has more of the body expected in a tomato-type sauce, but it is not overly thick.

Patate e Piselli con Vongole (Potatoes and Peas with Clams) is one of the vegetable preparations which are easy to make with canned clam sauce. First, cook quartered potatoes. Then combine red clam sauce, peas and basil and let simmer briefly. Spoon the clam mixture over the potatoes and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. A nice change from pasta.

A switch-off from Eggplant Parmigiana is Melanzane con Salsa di Vongole (Eggplant with Clam Sauce). The eggplant is cut into slices, then placed in Italian style bread crumbs.

PATATE E PISELLI CON VONGOLE
(POTATOES AND PEAS WITH CLAMS)
2 pounds potatoes, pared and quartered (about 3 cups)
1 cup fresh peas or 1 can (8½ oz.) peas, drained
1 can (10½ oz.) red clam spaghetti sauce
½ teaspoon basil leaves, crushed
Grated Parmesan cheese

Simmer potatoes and fresh peas in boiling salted water until tender, about 10 minutes. Drain; place in a serving bowl; cover to keep warm. In a small saucepan combine clam sauce, basil and canned peas, if used.

Simmer, covered, for 3 minutes. Spoon clam mixture over reserved potatoes. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese.

MELANZANE CON SALSA DI VONGOLE
(EGGPLANT WITH CLAM SAUCE)
3 cans (16½ oz.) white clam spaghetti sauce
1 cup olive oil, divided
½ teaspoon salt
1 medium eggplant (1½ lbs.) peeled and divided
½ cup olive oil, divided
Drain clam sauce, reserving clams and sauce separately; set aside. In a shallow dish or pie pan mix bread crumbs and salt. Cut

To turn an everyday favorite into a gourmet dish, try "Chef's Chicken Deluxe"

Add Glamour To Everyday Favorite

Build A Meal Around Chicken...

In this age of fast foods and eating-on-the-run, there's no more welcome treat than a well-planned meal, lovingly cooked and leisurely served.

Chicken, that any-day favorite in most households, adapts well to gourmet cookery. The National Broiler Council suggests that when you have extra time to spend in the kitchen, prepare a special chicken dish and serve it grandly with candlelight and silver.

Actually it often takes very little more time and effort to give chicken an epicurean touch than it does to prepare one of the quick and easy standbys every cook has at her fingertips. The light, delicate flavor of chicken is compatible with most fruits and vegetables and often the slightest change of seasonings produces an exotic new taste.

Chicken is also a thrifty way to elegant dining. Some of the world's best-known gourmet dishes are made with chicken, that same economical source of complete protein that homemakers turn to to keep their food budgets in line — especially when prices of red meats soar.

The low-calories, low-fat content of chicken is also appreciated by those who recognize the importance of wholesome, nutritious meals in maintaining good health.

Chicken breasts, usually boned, are most often associated with gourmet chicken dishes. However, in two recipes below developed by the National Broiler Council, quarters and selected chicken parts are used.

"Chef's Chicken Deluxe" is flavored with wine and cheese, so subtly blended that those who taste it will only be aware that the well-browned chicken is tantalizingly different.

CHEF'S CHICKEN DELUXE
4-6 broiler-chicken quarters
2 tablespoons clarified

butter
2 small onions, sliced thin
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup white pepper
¼ cup crushed thyme leaves
1 bay leaf
¼ cup grated medium cheddar cheese, divided

Sauce: Recipe follows
In large fry pan, over medium high heat, brown chicken quarters in clarified butter (recipe follows) for about 10 minutes. (Pan drippings should be dark brown.)
Reduce heat to medium low and add sliced onions.
Sauté about 2 minutes. Sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper; pour in wine and add thyme and bay leaf. Reduce heat to low, cover and simmer about 30 minutes, turning chicken once during cooking.

Prepare sauce (recipe follows). When fork can be inserted in chicken with ease remove chicken quarters to oven-to-table serving dish, leaving drippings in pan. Stir sauce over chicken. Sprinkle with remaining ¼ cup cheese and broil for 2 minutes or until cheese is melted and bubbly. Serve immediately. Makes 4-6 servings.

CLARIFIED BUTTER
Over low heat, melt butter. Remove from heat and let stand several minutes until milk solids settle to bottom of pan. Skim butter fat from top (this is the clarified butter, ready for use).

SAUCE: In small fry pan, melt 2 tablespoons butter over medium heat. Add 3 tablespoons flour and brown for 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Slowly stir in 1½ cups milk and continue stirring until thickened. Season with ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg. Simmer over low heat for about 10 minutes.

...Chicken Salad

Pineapple-chicken sandwiches are sure to please snackers and light eaters.

Both brown-baggers and home lunchers enjoy their chicken salad sandwiches, but...

You can vary ingredients or seasonings to pep up this good, healthful sandwich filling.

At the cabin or on a one-day outing, whip up a pineapple-chicken filling using canned chunk-white chicken and canned pineapple. This is an excellent recipe for vacations as well as for after golf, tennis or school. Serve with milk, relishes and fresh fruit or ice cream.

PINEAPPLE-CHICKEN SANDWICHES
1 can (5 oz.) chunk-white chicken
1 tsp. imitation mayonnaise

1 tsp. ground ginger
¼ cup drained, crushed pineapple in pure pineapple juice
3 tbsp. chopped celery
Lettuce leaves
2 slices pumpernickel bread
Pineapple slices (optional)
Green-pepper rings (optional)

Drain chicken, reserving broth.
In bowl, blend mayonnaise as well as after golf, tennis or school. Serve with milk, relishes and fresh fruit or ice cream.

Arrange lettuce on bread.
Top with chicken mixture. If desired, garnish with pineapple slices cut in half and green pepper rings. Makes 2 open-face sandwiches.

...Roast Chicken

How many votes do we hear for getting rid of the oft-maligned term "gourmet" food? Many believe it means food that is outrageously expensive, difficult to prepare and elaborately adorned in rich, creamy sauces.

To the world's leading chefs, however, gourmet foods mean something quite different — for example, simple beef stew, poached or broiled fish, roast chicken or an omelet prepared simply from fresh, top-quality ingredients.

Here is a roast chicken with vegetables that makes a "gourmet" meal for family or friends that costs much less than beef roast.

Serve with a chilled white wine such as fume blanc, Riesling or even your favorite pink chablis. For dessert, offer chocolate custard cup-cakes with ice cream.

If chicken is frozen, thaw and remove giblets from cavity. Season cavity with salt and pepper. Rub skin with 1 tablespoon of the margarine. Sprinkle lightly with paprika. Place in a roasting pan with potatoes, carrots and onion.

Roast in a preheated 250-degree oven for 1 to 1½ hours, basting every 30 minutes with special basting sauce made by melting remaining margarine with remaining ingredients.

When vegetables are tender, arrange with chicken and juices on warmed platter. Makes 4 servings.

Child's School Records: Open To Divorcees

By SHARON CARRASCO Herald Staff Writer

A divorced parent now has the legal right to view the educational records of his child in Seminole County public schools even though he or she doesn't have legal custody of that child.

The Seminole County School Board approved that right in an amendment to school policy Wednesday in order to comply with the state board rules and recent legislation on family rights and privacy, said Ralph Ray, administrative assistant.

The Family Rights and Privacy Act gave divorced parents without custody the right to view their child's records, Ray said. The Florida legislature passed legislation in 1978 to bring itself into compliance with the federal act.

The Family Rights and Privacy Act gave divorced parents without custody the right to view their child's records, Ray said. The Florida legislature passed legislation in 1978 to bring itself into compliance with the federal act.

Wednesday night's action was done to bring Seminole County public schools in compliance with both the state and federal standards for the viewing of education records by divorced parents, Ray said.

The Seminole County Public Schools maintains educational records on each student for use in planning instructional programs, guidance, preparation of state and federal reports and for research, Ray said.

These records contain information as basic as birthdate and sex to standardized test results, attendance records and health data. They may also note family background information, verified reports of serious or recurrent behavior patterns and records of extra-curricular participation.

"As part of the amendment, the school board will notify parents annually of their rights to view their student's educational records and to obtain copies if desired," Ray said.

The policy also notifies the parents their child's records will not be seen by others except school officials "with a legitimate educational interest," Ray said.

"The policy outlines procedures for parents who disagree with the content of the records, to challenge these contents," Ray said. "The policy places the responsibility for school educational records on the school principal and guards not in the school on the superintendent."

Parents, guardians or adult students will also be informed they must give written consent to the school district for disclosure of personally identifiable information to other persons, Ray said. This consent must be signed and dated and must specify which records are to be disclosed, the purpose of the disclosure and the parties to whom the disclosure will be made.

Written consent, however, may not always be the key to releasing student educational records. The amendment states:

"The school will presume that either parent, the guardian, or the adult student has the right to sign the written consent for disclosure unless the school has been provided with evidence that there is a legally binding instrument or consent order governing such matters as divorce, separation, or custody which prohibits the consentary."

Student records, however, may be released without written consent to school officials, government personnel such as through the U.S. Commissioner of Education, school officials connected with financial aid, accrediting organizations and health and safety officials, Ray said.

Sanford Event Off To A Running Start

By GEOFFREY POUNDS Herald Staff Writer

About 100 runners have signed up for this Saturday's two-mile and 10,000 meter runs through the streets of Sanford, James R. Jernigan, recreation department director said today.

Registration for the first of what is hoped will become an annual event will continue through the remainder of this week, Jernigan said. The race is co-sponsored by the Sanford Recreation Department and the Kiwanis Sunrise Club.

The two-mile "fun race" is scheduled to begin at 7:30 a.m. and contestants are requested to be at the starting line by 7:15 a.m. The 10,000 meter run will start at 8 a.m. and runners are asked to be in place by 7:50.

Runners for the two-mile event will begin at the corner of Sanford Avenue and Seminole Boulevard. The route will take them south to Second Street, east to Mellenville and north to Seminole and back to the starting point.

The route for the 10,000 meter run will use the same starting point.

From there runners will travel on Sanford Avenue to Commercial Street, west to Palmolis Avenue, and south to 24th Street. From 24th Street they will swing east via Grandview, 20th Street, Grace Manor Drive and Forest Drive to DeCottles Avenue. From DeCottles they will proceed north to 24th Street and west to Summerlin. On Summerlin they will travel north to Celery Avenue, east on Celery to Scott Avenue and north on Scott to Second Street. From Second Street they will head west to Mellenville and north to Seminole. The finish line will be on Seminole, east of Sanford.

Entry blanks received thus far indicate contestants from as far away as Jacksonville will be competing.

Chuck Holt, 2888 French Ave., Sanford, and Alice Arnall of Jacksonville are the youngest participants thus far entered in the two-mile race. Both are seven years old.

In the 10,000 meter event, Craig Dobson of DeLand is the youngest participant at age 10. An Auburndale man, Rick Zeis, 65, is the oldest runner to enter the race.

Nestor DeArmas, 33, of Casselberry has entered both races. He plans to run the two-mile event, return to the starting line and run six more miles.

Runners will be grouped into eight age groups from 14 and under to over 50, Jernigan said. Awards will be given to the top four men and the top four women in each category, he said.

Awards in the two-mile run will be given to the top 10 male and the top 10 female competitors, regardless of age.

Routine Traffic Stop Reveals Swindle

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

What started out as a routine stop of a motorist by an Altamonte Springs motorcycle police officer last November may have been the key to halting an inter-state swindle in which investors were bilked of at least $600,000 during a nine-month period last year.

Florida Attorney General Jim Smith has begun the administrative process to file a lawsuit seeking restitution from the Ventron Corp., 161 Whoooping Loop, Altamonte Springs, or from Michael Lawrence Smith, its corporate head for the $600,000.

The alleged swindle began, said Assistant Attorney General Jim Peters, in March 1978 and ended in November, 1978 right after Altamonte Police Officer Danny Savola stopped Smith on Nov. 14, 1978 on Crane's Road, Boulevard because the temporary license tag displayed on Smith's vehicle had expired. Savola arrested Smith after the stop, charging the man with failure to carry a Florida driver's license although he was employed in the state. What Smith showed Savola was an expired Rhode Island temporary driver's license. It had expired in March, 1978. The Florida temporary tag on the vehicle Smith was driving had also expired.

Smith disappeared within days after the arrest, Peters said.

Tallahassee M.D. Chosen For Dual Role

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County will have a combined health department-human services director by early June if the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS) approves the county commission's preferred candidate for the post.

County Commissioners have selected Dr. Jorge DeJua of Tallahassee for the joint position. The appointment is being withheld pending HRS approval. A letter from the county to Lucy Hady, HRS district administrator, was mailed late Wednesday seeking the approval.

HRS approval is required because that agency administers health department programs and sets requirements for and pays the major portion of the salary of the health department director.

The county has been seeking a new health department director since September, 1978, when Dr. Hamida Butts resigned, citing interference in the medical operation of the department by Troy Todd, director of human services, as one of her reasons for leaving. Todd asked for resignation to another position in county government in March, noting health reasons. He has since been assigned to duties in the county's Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) office.

Dr. Butts's salary was $36,000 annually while Todd was receiving $19,400 annually for a total of $55,400. The combined position will pay $45,000 annually, said County Budget Director Jeff Eitchberger.

Eitchberger said HRS received a "stack" of applications for the health department director position and Dr. DeJua was the last qualified applicant. At the same time of the 102 persons who applied for the human services director post, 84 were disqualified, 38 were considered qualified and seven were interviewed.

He said it was finally agreed that to meet Dr. DeJua's salary requirements, the combined position concept would be considered. "The Orange County health director is also the Orange County director of social services, so there was a precedent," Eitchberger said.

Dr. DeJua will formally accept or reject the job after HRS approval is obtained. Eitchberger said DeJua told county commissioners this week however, that while he is currently in private practice, he likes the public health field better.

There are a number of positive benefits to the county hiring Dr. DeJua, Eitchberger said. "He is a strong administrator type as well as a clinician. He can regain strong ties with the local medical community for the health department and eliminate some of the criticism directed toward the health department in the past."

A native of Cuba, Dr. DeJua has been an American citizen for the past 15 years. He received his BS degree from Vitoria Institute in Cuba, his MD from Havana Medical School and a master's of public health administration from the University of Berkeley in Calif. He served his residency in his specialty of obstetrics and gynecology at Deaconess Hospital, Buffalo, N.Y.

Dr. DeJua's past experience includes: medical administrator of personal health programs for state of Florida; bureau chief of maternal and child health planning program for the Florida Division of Public Health; director of internal and child health division for the Kentucky Bureau of Health Services; consultant to the American Public Health Association; U.S. State Department's assistant for international development for family planning medical programs for Peru and Columbia and health officer for four different counties in Kentucky. He has also written numerous papers and articles published in medical journals and speaks Spanish and English fluently and understands Portuguese and Italian. Eitchberger said Dr. DeJua is married and has two children.
