Americans Making Headway Against German Attacks

MacArthur's Bombers Scatter Jap Ship Concentration Sinking Four Warships

(By Associated Press) Americans in North Africa were hearing the brunt of the action today, with the Germans counter-attacking to prevent a union between General Patton and General Montgomery, and latest reports say that despite strong German counter-thrusts, the Americans have made headway.

In Russia, the Reds claimed more than 1,000 Germans were killed as they counter-attacked in the Donets basin, and that despite their heavy losses, the Nazis continued to try to make headway.

Flying fortresses in the South Pacific, continuing moonlight raids against Japanese shipping, have either dispersed or destroyed another concentration of Japanese ships in the area of New Ireland.

Eight of the ships were warships, and at least two destroyers and two cruisers were sunk. The other concentration of Japanese ships in the area of New Ireland, kept up a heavy pounding of the enemy's position on the southern front, where the U. S. objective was the rocky Djebel el Akra, the last enemy-held high ground in that sector west of the coastal plain.

Front dispatches said the Americans were attacking along both the Gabes and Graliba roads, between which the Djebel el Akra, and military spokesmen said it would be the rocky Djebel el Akra, the last enemy-held high ground in that sector west of the coastal plain.

German forces struggling to prevent the glowing Allied trap launched two strong attacks in the Djebel el Akra area, but were stopped with losses. The British 8th Army, holding that position, the French then used the initiative themselves, front reports said.

Patrol activity was reported from the British 8th Army from above Gabes as Gen. Sir B. L. Montgomery gathered strength for a new push, perhaps to be launched with British and American forces after the union of the two Allied armies is completed.

Service Men Are Permitted To Fish Without Licenses

Service men in Florida have been given the same privileges as civilians in fishing for bluegill, bass and bunt are concerned, according to a letter recently received by Mayor Edward Higgins from Lt. Kennedy, director of the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

"According to Mr. Kennedy," said Mayor Higgins, "service men may fish with a single pole and reel in the county in which they are stationed, without being required to purchase a license.

"If they wish to fish with rod and reel in the county in which they are stationed, or to fish with pole and line or rod and reel in any other county, they may purchase a resident state license costing $1.25.

"Mr. Kennedy stated that a great many of the commissioned officers of the armed forces stationed in this state have expressed their appreciation of this courtesy extended to the men in service," Mayor Higgins added.

All Roads Lead To Tallahassee For Law Session

$10,000,000 A Year Problem Greeted Legislature On Eve

TALLAHASSEE, April 5. (AP)—Gasoline rationing, used as a global device to produce the big problem for the 1943 Florida legislature which will convene at noon tomorrow.

The $10,000,000 a year problem, but the state may squeeze through by getting about $3,500,000 of replacement equipment for the 1943-44 fiscal year, the legislature will have to make up the balance of $6,500,000 a year off the annual collections from the state's seven cents a gallon tax on oil.

The governor, who served eight years in the Senate himself, spent most of this week putting into shape the 25,000-word message to the legislature, which will convene at noon tomorrow.

The governor's word message would fill 25 newspaper columns or (for full pages).

Opening recently in Pensacola, Governor Holt said $3,500,000 of the state's gasoline tax will be replaced by some kind of new tax or taxes. Two million of the $1,500,000 to counties. Suspension of horse racing caused the problem.

Legislators probably will move early in the session to extend the dog racing season into the summer, thereby adding to the $1,500,000 of the regular season in wagering taxes for distribution among the counties. Counties share $1,500,000 of the state's income tax, except a special five percent tax on horse race wagering.

V. G. Phillips of Tallahassee, president of the Florida Association of County Commissioners, reported 11 counties said replacement of their lost race track taxes was necessary for their operations.

He has received 18 replies to a fact-finding questionnaire he sent to the county commissioners in some counties, the money goes to schools. Phillips said he expected other replies when the commission on the school boards hold their monthly meetings next week.

Phillips told the commission, in making their comments, that some sources had suggested to replace the race taxes—a cigarette tax, a one-cent a gallon tax on oil, and a millage tax, and a combination of cigarette and amusement taxes.

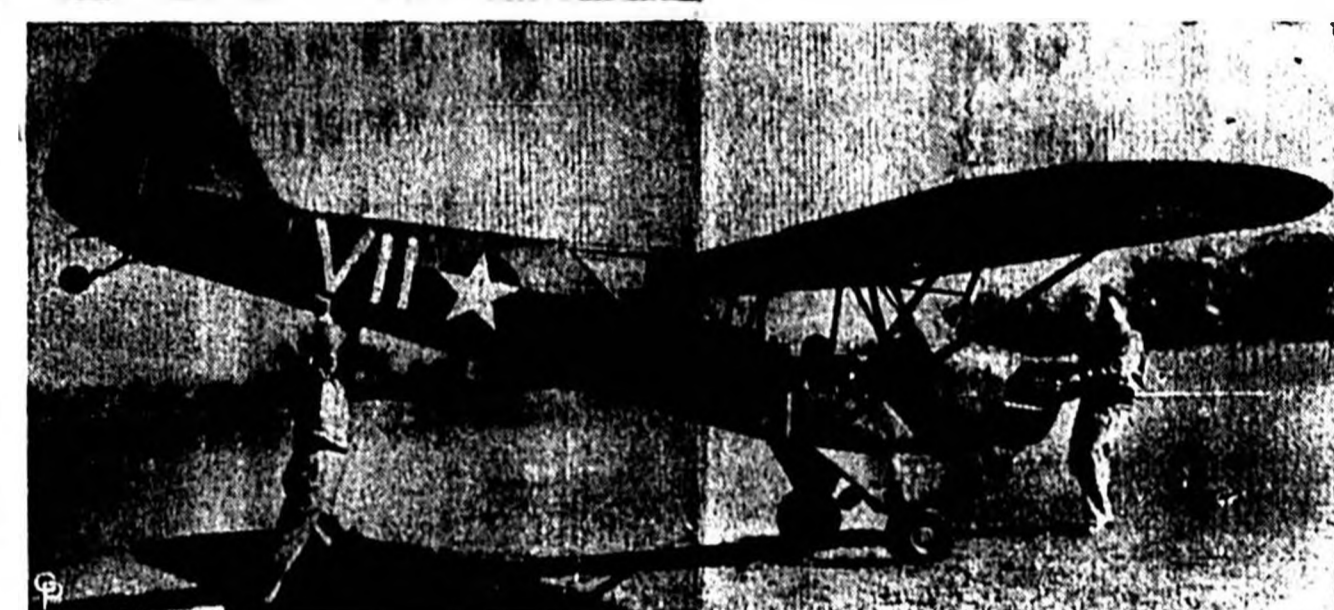

He said 12 counties endorsed a cigarette tax, and he listed them: Alachua, Duval, Gilchrist, Glades, Gulf, Jefferson, Martin, Orange, Pasco, Polk, Putnam and Sumner. The Bradford County commission favored a millage tax, which would include cigarettes.

'Flying Jeep' Replaces Observation Balloon

Army Is Accused Of Hoarding Food It Doesn't Need

Second Set Of Meat Rationing Coupons Becomes Good Today

WASHINGTON, Apr. 5. (AP)—The OPA's specific cents-per-pound ceiling prices today on retail sales of beef, veal, lamb and mutton effective Apr. 15 will be found by housewives to be "no more cases less than the prices which consumers have been paying recently."

An inquiry into what Chairman Truman (D-Mo) described as "hoarding" of foodstuffs and supplies was projected today by the Senate War Investigating Committee.

Senator Truman told reporters his committee had received information indicating the Army had hoarded heavily in canned goods and other commodities.

The second set of meat ration coupons are now eligible for conversion into staples, making possible for many small families their first rationed purchases of large quantities of staples.

The 10 points per person allotted in the first week would stretch for these small families on roasts and hams at 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 points per pound. A half of a common smoked ham will run around 40 points, and a sizeable roast in the vicinity of 20 points, while the family's coupons also must be used for other cuts of meat, cheese, butter, lard, shortening and canned fish.

But this week, and leftover coupons from last week plus the new tickets may be combined for such purchases as desired. The same combination is expected to speed up the sale of popular steaks and other high-point items.

May Help Butchers. If this develops, it may ease the anguish of many retail butchers who complained last week about selling plenty of hamburger but relatively few big items.

Last week, the only meat coupons that could be used were the red A stamps in the No. 2 ration book (in which blue stamps are for canned goods). This week unused stamps are still good.

Legislators probably will move early in the session to extend the dog racing season into the summer, thereby adding to the $1,500,000 of the regular season in wagering taxes for distribution among the counties. Counties share $1,500,000 of the state's income tax, except a special five percent tax on horse race wagering.

Frieda Hempel Gets Heckscher Estate Annuity

Executors Reveal $15,000 Payments Are Still Being Made

NEW YORK CITY, Apr. 5 (AP)—Miss Frieda Hempel, former Metropolitan Opera soprano, is receiving from the estate of August Heckscher an annuity of $15,000 a year, he had paid her from 1928 until his death on April 26, 1947, it was disclosed last week.

The executors of the estate of Mr. Heckscher, financier and real estate operator, reported in filing an intermediary accounting in Surrogate Court that they are continuing payments made by Mr. Heckscher to Miss Hempel during his lifetime.

Almost 20 years ago Miss Hempel brought suit against Mr. Heckscher for $1,000,000, charging that he had agreed to pay her $45,000 annually for life. The suit followed reports that Miss Hempel and Mr. Heckscher were to be married and later reports of a broken troth, but Miss Hempel denied that such reports were in any way connected with her suit.

Miss Hempel contended that Mr. Heckscher had made the agreement to pay her an annuity in return for her promise to give up her concert and stage career and sing only at charitable functions as were designated by Mr. Heckscher. After a bitter contest the suit was settled in May, 1928, with an agreement by Mr. Heckscher to pay her $15,000 a year for life.

Mr. Heckscher reportedly set up a trust fund of $250,000 from which the annuity was to have been paid, and payments were made regularly until 1936, when Miss Hempel brought suit for nonpayment and won a court order requiring Mr. Heckscher to pay in full.

James Joseph McNamara and Arthur Smadbeck, executors of Mr. Heckscher's estate, reported to the accounting yesterday that the agreement of May 11, 1928, provided that if, after Mr. Heckscher's death, the trust fund failed to realize $15,000 a year, the sum must be made up from the estate. The executors are currently paying Miss Hempel from the estate, they reported.

The executors reported that Mr. Heckscher's estate was valued at $1,251,145 at the time of his death. A son, G. Maurice Heckscher, "threatened to contest the will," the executors reported, because he had received a trust fund of $200,000, which would pay him a maximum of $500 a month. The executors reported that G. Maurice Heckscher withdrew his objections after he had received $30,000 in cash from the trust fund with which to pay off certain obligations, and he agreed to accept the income of the remaining $174,000 for life.

Plan To Abolish H. O. L. C. Called Treasury Raid

Fahey Tells Byrd Committee Liquidation Would Be Costly

WASHINGTON, Apr. 5 (AP)—John H. Fahey, commissioner of the Federal Home Loan Bank Administration, described pending legislation to abolish the Home Owners Loan Corporation as "nothing but a raid on the Treasury in the midst of war."

The forced liquidation of the H.O.L.C. within one year, as proposed by an amendment to the pending independent offices appropriations bill, "would cost the government at least $440,000,000—some $375,000,000 more than the corporation's present net deficit—and put wholly unnecessary burdens on the United States Treasury and taxpayers."

Senator Kenneth McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee, suggested to Mr. Fahey that the H.O.L.C. consider liquidation in two years rather than one. Mr. Fahey said the loss could be held to $351,000,000 if liquidation were in 1948 and $180,000,000 if the corporation continued in business throughout 1948.

Mr. Fahey made his statement before the Joint Congressional committee on reduction of non-essential expenditures headed by Senator Harry F. Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia, in opposition to the House-approved amendment to the independent offices appropriations bill pending in the Senate.

An operation being carried out far better than Congress ever anticipated, despite the fact it was created to meet a social as well as economic need, he testified, would be turned into an auction and scramble for mortgages on 780,000 American homes."

Spring Vegetable Deal In Florida Gets Under Way

Auction Sales Begin At Wauchula With Cucumbers Leading

JACKSONVILLE, Apr. 5. (Special)—The Spring vegetable deal is rounding into action at numerous State Farmers' Markets with every indication pointing to a very successful season.

William L. Wilson, State Markets director, announced in his crop and market review this week.

The Spring movement started in a small way at Wauchula last week and will be large enough to warrant the opening of auction sales today," he said and described conditions at other markets as follows:

"The vegetable deal at Bushnell will get under way today with platform sales of all types of commodities. Cucumbers are expected to lead the offerings."

Palmetto will hold its first auction sales of tomatoes today, but first lots are expected to be small. First tomatoes offered last week, consisting of three crates, brought $12 per crate. Weather continues favorable.

"Plant City sold 6,961 crates of strawberries last week for a total of $14,972. Average daily price range was from 20 cents to 25-5-8 cents per pint. About the same amount is expected this week. A light movement of yellow squash and white corn is now on, and beans are expected in small quantities within two weeks.

Sanford continues to exceed supply. However, offerings are expected to be more liberal within a week or ten days. Demand for citrus fruit is also good but the packing houses are having difficulty getting crates. Growing conditions continue good.

"Florida City is receiving a few tomatoes but little of other commodities. Tomato movement is expected to hold for the next two or three weeks. Hot, dry weather is retarding production; and if this condition should be relieved by a rain, some late vegetables will be marketed."

"The egg and poultry market at Dade City reports considerable activity. Pahokee reports beans will start moving in fair volume next week with yellow crook-neck and cabbages increasing in volume. A good supply of celery is moving the supply of cabbage conditions are good and crops are looking fine. Bahama labor is expected from Nassau next week and the Army is building tents to house them at three different locations in the Glades. The outlook from a labor standpoint, for a satisfactory Spring deal, is considerably enhanced by the prospects of acquiring this labor."

Department of Agriculture said that every egg wasted is a loss to the war effort. The loss of food for the armies of the Allies and for civilians in the United States.

It was stressed also that sales and purchases of baby chicks and ducklings at Easter time should be discontinued, as few live to maturity and many are lost to the war effort.

Million Pounds Of Kosher Beef Held In Plant

Newark Parley Hears Firm Won't Sell At 7c-A-Pound Loss

NEWARK, N. J., April 5.—One of the largest kosher meat wholesalers from here is withholding from the market more than a million pounds of beef, about two pounds for each man, woman and child in Newark. The firm is refusing to sell according to information last week given a conference called by Mayor Vincent Murphy.

Charles Russell, 321, 12th Street, Newark, N. J., who is the owner of the firm, said that the firm had 1,200,000 pounds of beef in its possession. He said that the firm had 1,200,000 pounds of beef in its possession. He said that the firm had 1,200,000 pounds of beef in its possession.

The Mayor called the meeting in Newark after receiving information from kosher retailers that their suppliers had plenty of meat in their ice boxes but refused to sell it. Delegates to the Commission, the Office of Price Administration were represented at the meeting.

They heard Mr. Russell declare that this firm was using its supply to make up past deficiencies and to order that wholesalers must buy more than 40 percent of their supplies to the government. The remainder he added would be processed and sold to hotels, steamship companies and other wholesale processors.

Grover Declares Manpower Problem Is Womanpower

Baltimore was picked as a typical war production site for recent surveys. Labor needs there were estimated at 50,000 workers. They found 371,000 women of working age without home responsibilities, not working, who could have filled the great bulk of those jobs.

Reading surveys among women in the 18-50 age group showed appalling indifference to and incredible ignorance of the critical situation. Many women frankly said they thought factory work would lower their social prestige. Others said their husbands were making idle promises to get them into the draft status. It was also found that federal agencies did a poor job of selling war work to women.

Exaggerated "chivalry" An exaggerated national chivalry, frequently remarked by visiting foreigners, has also hampered recruitment of women. It makes politicians chary of any draft of womanpower. The "woman's place is in the home" idea still carries a lot of weight around the country.

The fact remains that the bulk of those 8,000,000 women must be drawn into employment this year. Right now, the War Manpower Commission is betting its blue chips on local campaigns to recruit women.

The only thing that can stop an eventual draft, however, is some other plan that successfully brings home-makers into the labor force. It's simply a question of cold mathematics. There is no other labor reserve.

Don't forget, either, that Mrs. Roosevelt has advocated a national service plan for women. She usually knows which way the wind blows.

Department indicated that very few would be on the market as Easter pets, since commercial hatcheries are working to capacity to provide enough to meet the demands from farmers and poultry men who are expected to produce 4,000,000 pounds of meat chickens and nearly 60,000,000,000 eggs in 1943 for war-time requirements.

VALIANTLY PURSUING Marshal Rommel's battered Afrika Korps, the Eighth Army presses on for the kill. Their present position is a far cry from the dismal days of El Alamein, early November, 1942, when British politicians deplored the imminent danger of Suez seizure, and clamored for a change in leadership. St. Louis Pastor Shepherds Flock Of Basement Hens

ST. LOUIS, Apr. 5.—Some persons go for victory gardens, but George T. Andrews, pastor of St. Elizabeth's Catholic church, raises chickens in the church basement for distribution to the parish poor.

Right now the basement is a gastronomic Utopia with 4,700 chickens on the hoof—and more in prospect.

Father Andrews figuratively jumped from the fire into the frying pan in mid-January, after serving as a director of the Consumers' Coal Co-operative, which sprang up as a source of cheap fuel for the needy.

Aided by an experienced parishioner, the pastor bought 400 chicks, raised them to maturity and sold them to the needy at 20 cents a pound when the market price was 60 cents. Then he sold 200 shares of stock in the chicken co-operative to his parish, reserved some for his church's charitable institutions, and used the money to outfit his basement business.

One-day-old chickens of pedigree, blood-tested stock—are placed in brooders arranged in tiers. The tiers have a 2,000 chick capacity and 1,400 fluffy fowl live there now. They are soiled in flat moss pens with wire bases for sanitary outdoor runs as they grow larger, and about 1,700 are in this type of enclosure. Still bigger pens care for older chickens in what formerly was an auditorium and gymnasium.

The co-operative's 100 members recently voted to increase capitalization from $5 to $10 a share. The additional money is to be used to construct large cages in a garage behind a nearby convent to house grown chickens pending their final distribution. Once the system is completed, it'll be just eight weeks from shell to skillet.

Hard Mining Men Slice Into High Of Rocky Mountains

AP Features

INTERNATIONAL FOREST, Mont., Apr. 5.—Hard rock mining men are slicing into the high, snow-capped levels of the Rocky Mountain wilderness, biting out large chunks of black ore to help satisfy the nation's need for a critical war mineral—chrome.

Chrome helps make hard, tough steel. Before the war, Russia, Rhodesia, Turkey, New Caledonia and the Philippines provided the chrome we needed as the world's biggest consumer.

Today the miners of the Bear Tooth range are sending out concentrated chromite ore. It is hauled from holes in the mountainside a mile and a half above sea level, sent down to crushing plants on a aerial railway. Sometimes the men work in snow waist deep. Sometimes the new ore drops 10 miles.

The Bear Tooth deposits are being operated for the government by American Chrome Mining Company, which explored the deposit, devised means of recovery and concentration.

When crushed and concentrated the chromite resembles fine black sand and is ready of shipment to steel furnaces or chemical plants.

In production of some steels, it can be used as is. In the making of ferrochromium, used for higher grades of steel, it is further concentrated.

Two mines are now in operation, the Mount and Benbow. Helping the U. S. bring the output from that of 1941 when we produced less than 1 percent of our chrome needs.

Sugar Problems After War Will Become Difficult

NEW YORK, Apr. 5.—The world faces a difficult postwar problem of balancing sugar production with demand and some way must be devised to either increase production or to permit levels or to develop an elastic program automatically restraining production to consumption, according to the Index, quarterly publication of the New York Trust Company.

"Steps to increase present consuming markets and develop new outlets also would be helpful and the prospects for sugar conversion to forms making it available for industrial use likewise have potential value as a contributing solution," the publication declares.

Most of these matters are being considered now both by the industry itself and by the various governments.

"It has been claimed in some quarters that the United States may not be regarded as a likely possibility for increased consumption, since it is already the world's largest consumer of sugar. However, it should be noted that, while this country leads in aggregate consumption, it is fifth among nations in per capita consumption, being appreciably below such countries as Sweden and Australia in that respect."

The Index foresees the possibility of a sharp rise in sugar production after the war and holds that unless the sugar-growing nations formulate and follow through with some sound program of stabilization both in production and distribution, or science provides other uses for sugar and its by-products, they face the danger of a glutted market which would jeopardize the entire structure of world sugar economy.

"It has been estimated that the annual world production of sugar after the war could reach 40,000,000 tons," it continues. "Present prices do not permit expansion of demand to absorb this amount, and the only alternative would be extension of the subsidy policies already followed in some countries to other sugar-producing areas."

Sugar consumption is being largely determined by war developments. The Index reports, adding, however, that the war has not reduced sugar production in continental Europe as much as might have been expected, due to the swiftness of Axis occupation of the various sugar-growing countries which, except possibly France and Russia, allowed no time for destruction of crops.

France and Russia were the only countries in which production was grossly affected and already largely regained some recovery, the publication stresses.

"The loss of sugar-producing areas in the Western Pacific to the Japanese probably removes an annual production of from 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 tons from the calculations of the United Nations until the end of the war," the Index estimates.

"Nothing is known of the fate of Philippine sugar and mills since the Japanese invasion, but Java is said to have lost nearly a century of mills and some 403,000 tons of her 1911-12 production of 1,512,000 tons. This additional supply of sugar which the Japanese gained by territorial seizures is believed to be important to Japan for normal consumption, since she is self-supporting in sugar, but it may have war value through conversion into alcohol."

The Index stresses that while more sugar is being produced than is being required to meet the needs of all nations, such shortages as exist are due primarily to transportation difficulties created by the war. It estimates that Germany, the far-most producer of beet sugar before the war, today controls about 75 percent of Europe's beet sugar production.

Although the American stock at the first of this year amounted to about 3,000,000 tons, only 2,000,000 tons were in storage in the continental United States, the rest

Easter Frocks Are U. S. Is Dumb In Fresh, Plentiful And Attractive Mathematics Even With Its Progress

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Fashion Editor

Calamity Jones who have been storming the shops recently shrieking "Gimme this, gimme that, gimme them, gimme those!" should feel a little sheepish about now, when they see the ships bulging with Easter wearables as fresh, exciting and varied as ever.

If you have a friend who has been raiding the shops with a "now or never" air you might tell her that there is NO clothing shortage apparent as the 1943 Easter parade gets set for its starting lineup.

You might add that Uncle Sam has no intention of snatching the best shirt off her back—or the best suit of sports jacket, or dinner gown. Uncle Sam likes to see his nieces looking swell, baby, in things that Axis nations never sell, baby.

Despite all the cries of "Waff! Wolf!" That have been making the rounds among some of our more hysterical citizens, you'll find when you start out with your Easter shopping list in hand that you'll be able to buy just about anything your little heart desires, whether it be a suit of the finest quality sarah, tussah, crepe or tulle. Of course you won't find many pure-silk things, but the new rayons are so handsome you'll never miss the products of the little Japanese silkworms.

The late Spring American collections prove once and for all that you can't ration fashion, and that the genius of good design triumphs over restrictions. So flatter, smart and right for the times are the new slim silhouettes that you wouldn't be caught dead in a pre-war model with a three-yard skirt.

New and important are the trim flatterer coat-dresses of Spring, that button down the front or down the side, are easy to get into, and look like a million bucks.

Tied for first place in the big parade are the wearable, practical soft suits of the season, done in practically every fabric from sheer wools to soft crepes and rich tussahs.

You'll find color rampant on the fashion front, with vivid wool top coats cut on loose boxy lines the favorites for wear day or night, over anything from slacks to evening gowns. Some of them come with interchangeable stud buttons—done or pearl for daytime, jeweled connections for evening. These coats are god in fingertip, three-quarter or full length.

As for fabrics—if you're a stickler for quality you'll be amazed and delighted at the miracles and rayon manufacturers have wrought. Top of the heap is a distinguishable pure-silk beetle twill. They tailor beautifully, and are to be found in the smartest Spring suits that have come down the pike in 10, these many moons.

So, take a morale on Calamity Jones—take her by the hand and show her that American women are and will continue to be the world's best-dressed.

NEW YORK, Apr. 5.—We have more machinery, more phones, more gadgets than any other country in the world. Denning Miller points out, but we are dumb in mathematics. Our officer training program is being held up two to six months on the average, he says, because more than half the candidates have had no mathematical training, worth mentioning.

In a sense, Mr. Miller is grinding an axe with all this. He can train people in math, and painlessly. He does it with a book called "Popular Mathematics"—clean, far from gaudy. So far more than 100,000 people have bought the book and the pace is gaining.

Mr. Miller is a slender man with sharp eyes and no more hair than he needs. He majored in math in college, then went into the building business and stayed there until building was forgotten for the duration. His mother was the late Alice Duer Miller, whose "White Cliffs of Dover" is one of the majority literary aids in this war.

All the time Mr. Miller was having fun with math. At last he decided to share, and from his book one may learn a lot that seems at first only remotely connected with subject—why for example, you can lay a bathroom floor with hexagonal square tiles, but not with 8-sided ones.

Actually, says Mr. Miller, "mathematics has little or nothing to do with long division or extracting the square root. It deals with only one thing—the simple reasoning by which man has learned to handle all the things that can be measured and counted. One can say with truth that our whole civilization is based on the triangle, and I don't mean the domestic triangle, either."

Math will teach you to reason if given a chance. But it isn't "Children have a great aptitude for mathematics," says Mr. Miller. "But once they enter school they begin to hate mathematics all over."

"In our hurry we are learning math as if it were a trade or a technique. This is a serious error. Learn math by reasoning, which is the natural way, and a hundred facts can be acquired to one for the learn-by-rote method."

Governor Holland Advocates 3 Cent Tax On Cigarettes

Revenue Needed To Replace Gasoline, Racetrack Losses Due To War Rules

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 7. (AP)—A three cents a package tax on cigarettes for the next two years was recommended to the legislature today by Governor Holland to help cure the state's war-born financial ills.

He estimated it would replace the $3,500,000 of revenue lost when gasoline rationing caused suspension of horse racing last winter. The money would go to old age pensions and to help counties which shared in the racing taxes.

He virtually stated the replacement program on the cigarette tax proposed that there should be no tax on cigars or pouch tobacco, but he said he would be "more than glad" to hear of any better source the legislature could recommend. He did not outline any other suggested tax, and he said existing tax levies should not be increased.

"The war," he said, "has broken down or destroyed sources of public revenue which were regarded as most dependable, and we are now confronted with the necessity of finding new revenue or else permitting vital public functions to suffer and aged citizens and dependent children go without help which the state alone can give them."

Although he specifically opposed a cigarette tax in 1940 when he was elected, Governor Holland said war's results had changed conditions so much that "I know that many of you will believe that a three-cent tax is a fair one."

Two Year Course
Florida's first two-year college course in business administration was announced today by the state board of education. The course will be offered at the University of Florida and at the University of South Florida.

Large Truck Turns Over And Driver Held Under Bond

A Flamingo truck turned over on its side early Tuesday morning at the corner of Lake Shore Boulevard, in attempting to make a left turn.

Spotlight shining from a skidder truck and driver was arrested for reckless driving, according to Police Chief W. O. Williams, and taken to the nearby police station where he was given first aid. He was released on $500 bond.

According to reports, the driver was driving a 1942 Buick sedan and was carrying a load of lumber. The truck overturned on its side and the driver was thrown from the vehicle.

The driver was taken to the hospital where he is recovering from his injuries. The truck was towed away and the driver was held under bond.

The driver was released on bond and is expected to return home soon. The truck was damaged beyond repair.

Local Opinions Divided On How To Raise Funds

New Taxes Are Not Popular With Average Man In Street

With Florida legislators wrestling with the problem of raising revenue amounting to $10,000,000, and Governor Holland suggesting a three-cent cigarette tax, citizens of this section are questioning how to make up this deficit offered widely varying opinions.

"Cut down State expenses and reduce the number of bureaus, is my suggestion," said Dr. L. T. Doss.

Bruce Anderson also advocated cutting state expenses, but added that schools and old age pensions should be kept up.

John Leonard, former State representative, was even more outspoken in the matter of cutting down State expenses. "Too many bureaus are draining needed revenues from the state. No additional tax burden need be necessary if the legislature would repeal all laws creating these unnecessary and useless boards and bureaus."

Among the boards singled out for elimination by Mr. Leonard were: milk control board, and other boards related to barbers, beauticians, restaurants, etc., which, he said, should all come under the control of the State Board of Health. "The gasoline inspection board should be eliminated, as we have no gas in this section," he said.

He also pointed out that his proposed cigarette tax in the same rate now levied in Georgia and Mississippi.

Army Day Is Observed At Kiwanis Meet

Grandson Of "Buffalo Bill" Tells Of Famous Adventures Of Great Scout

Commemorating "Army Day," which was celebrated throughout the country, the Kiwanis Club of Sanford, Fla., observed the day with a luncheon at the Hotel Mayfair.

"Yesterday was the 26th anniversary of our entry into World War I," he said, adding that "it was, however, not a holiday in the United States, but just another work day at the Orlando Air Base, with men training for the ultimate war of peace."

"I have outlined the various forms of specialized training necessary to the men taking up the combat team. All the latest information gained at the front, was incorporated in this training," he said.

"It takes a lot of men to keep that man up in the Flying Fortress," he said, adding that "it took 10 men behind the lines to keep one at the front."

"The air corps can't do this job alone," he added, "and it took tanks to back them up, and infantry and cavalry to take ground and hold it."

"In the past, for example, the Japanese fought a hand-to-hand war with Chief Yellow Hat during the battle of Wounded Knee in South Dakota," he said.

"The Kiwanis Club, approved a resolution, presented by E. C. Hays, of the Kiwanis Club, in the St. Johns River.

On the central front (C) Allied forces approached Kairouan, repelling enemy counter attack (D). Inset map shows Tunisia territory remaining to the Axis. C of C Plans To Hold Drive For Members Soon

The Chamber of Commerce will inaugurate its annual membership drive during the latter part of this month, it was revealed today in a letter from Ed Higgins, secretary, addressed to the membership of the organization in which he called for 100 volunteers to assist in the work.

"We wish to put ourselves in position to take every advantage of the situation after the war," Mr. Higgins wrote, "and consequently we are making extensive war plans. To carry out this work, it will be necessary to obtain additional subscriptions."

"It is our hope that everyone is busy and for that reason I am trying to get as close to a hundred workers as possible so that I can reduce the work of each team to the smallest possible number and the smallest possible territory."

Included with the letter was a report of activities throughout the past year and an outline of future plans including the improvement of county roads and the development of agriculture about which it was said, "This organization has considered its first duty to help solve our farmers' problems. We will continue to invite farmers and farm organizations to submit their problems to us. I believe we have the proper contact to help materially."

Red Cross Drive In Seminole County Reaches $6,800.00

Red Cross drive in Seminole County, stated yesterday that nearly $6,800 had been collected. The county goal of $4,000 to date and that it was expected would be reached by next Saturday night.

Mrs. J. G. Patterson and Mrs. J. H. Ray, said Mr. Smith had collected more than $1,000 among the business and professional people in the downtown area. Recent donations which have helped to swell the total were $150 gift of the County Board of Commissioners, $125 from the employees of the Watt-Sinclair Company, $115.75 from Lake Mary, and a $50 donation from a mother whose son is a prisoner of war.

Mrs. James Houghton he, stated, conducted a tag day last Saturday with members of the Junior Commandos, and a total of $78.16 was brought in. This was so successful that it will be repeated again Saturday, and will be placed in front of the Pledge Wiggle store and the Post Office for collection workers.

Most of the residential workers he pointed out, have completed the canvass in their respective areas, and brought in substantial amounts. It was expected that the epidemic collection drive, made by Manager Charles Morrison at the Ritz Theater, will total more than $360.

Americans Gain New Positions In Rush To Join Hands With British 8th Army

The British Eighth Army has broken through the Axis hill and Wadi defenses north of Gabs and American troops have mopped up the Germans on the Djebel Malzouk, north of Maknassy, and advanced east of El Guettar in a coordinated squeeze of Marshal Rommel in Tunisia, latest reports from the front said.

Setting two high hills which dominated the new defenses, the British held through violent counter attacks after a breakthrough behind a heavy artillery barrage and an Allied communiqué said they captured 6,000 prisoners, mostly Italians.

Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that prisoners number 8,000 and said the British had reached the open country after taking key positions with Rommel's body pinned in retreat.

The Americans, attacking 40 miles to the west in an effort to link hands with the British, launched heavy new attacks. The Allied communiqué announcing the resumption of the big effort to drive the Axis out of Africa said.

The Eighth Army attacked the Akret position at 4:30 A.M. The first objectives have been captured and the attack is proceeding according to plan.

Excellent flying weather prevailed in Tunisia today. The official communiqué failed to mention air action in connection with the Eighth Army's new attack, but it was every reason to suppose coordinated Allied fighters, fighter bombers, from bases both in the south and west of the battle area, pitched in to hammer Rommel's exposed position.

In growing pride were Heamell's 8th Infantry and paratroopers, which have been selected the next few days in the El Guettar area, including the angular angle of territory which separated the American Second Corps of General George S. Patton Jr. from the British Eighth Army on the coast.

Each day that the British pushed forward through the Akret defenses outflanked that much more their forward position along the American sector to the south.

Montgomery's battle array of 11 divisions was not announced. It was entirely methodical in his preparations. Montgomery nevertheless achieved an amazingly speedy build up for his new thrust.

Fish Hawk Drops Big Cat Fish In Taxi Driver's Lap

A certain mixed family in Sanford missed Sunday on fish, a three and a half pound cat fish, to be exact.

At the same time an angry fish hawk was probably scouring the nearby lakes for another large cat fish, similar to the one it had lost at the corner of Greenwood and Park Avenue, very early that morning.

"That was when Mrs. Blanch Jackson, driving her two slowly toward the intersection, along the early morning route, was startled to see a dark object dropping through the air, and just at the same time, a huge bird swooping down to get it before it hit the ground.

The bird, however, dropped the object again, and I stopped the car as the bird approached it carefully, as it was still somewhat dark, and I wasn't sure but what it might be a snake that the bird had dropped in the grass. I discovered it was a fish, so I went back to the car and waited to see if the bird would try to recover it. It, however, circled a few times and then went away, so I got the fish and gave it to a colored woman.

Several weeks ago, a large fish was dropped by a fish hawk on the front lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Alex R. Johnson at 2011 Holly Avenue, startling their daughter Patricia Ann Johnson and her playmate, Florence Lyons. That time, however, a huge Ruddy dog, and the neighbors cat who enjoyed the fish.

A contingent of WAACS invaded Sanford today morning. Sixty of 26 Army trucks from Daytona Beach. The auxiliaries are entering their last few days of training and will graduate tomorrow. The epidemic collection drive, made by Manager Charles Morrison at the Ritz Theater, will total more than $360.
