County Budget Gets First Study Today

Holland-Pepper Swing At One Another Today

By United Press International
If personal barbs are any barometer, the Holland-Pepper senatorial campaign is at last warming up to pre-campaign expectations.

Both Sen. Spessard L. Holland and Claude D. Pepper let loose a flurry of charges and counter-charges against each other Monday.

Pepper denounced Holland as a "pussy-footing politician" who might as well be speaking from a rostrum in the Everglades for all the good he is doing in Washington.

More personal sniping was expected today as both candidates carried their campaign to north Florida.

Holland spent his second straight day stumping in valedictorian Jacksonville. He was scheduled to speak before a Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting before flying to Miami tonight.

Pepper, meanwhile, flew to Gainesville to begin a hand-shaking tour through Alachua, Suwannee, and Columbia counties.

Pepper, speaking in Miami and Key West Monday, accused Holland of being a fence-straddler on the major political issues.

"He's never taken a stand on any controversial issue for fear of losing votes," Pepper said.

Colored Citizens Asked To Register For Election

The Progressive Voters League, headed by J. N. Gray as its president, called on all of the colored citizens of the area to "take advantage of their franchise."

Gray said that "all colored citizens 21 years of age and over should register to vote in the coming election."

He asked that colored citizens go to the local USO Building, corner of Sanford Ave. and First St. to register.

Gray pointed out that hours for the registration office to be open are 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and that the closing date for registration is Aug. 8.

The Board of Seminole County Commissioners ran into a stone wall today at the first hearing on the 1958-59 budget.

The Zoning Commission submitted a budget calling for expenditures, based on income, of $1,000,000. However, income for the year was set at $3,000 per month.

Commissioner David Gatchel said "I think we have made a mountain out of a molehill" and charged that "There has been some bad publicity which was unwarranted."

Gatchel stated that he had received reports from reliable colored citizens which led him to believe that "we can drop the situation."

However, he said "I think it advisable to continue a budget study for a possible outdoor dance patio at some location."

Gatchel stated "This is nothing but growing pains since the recreation program has been accepted so wholeheartedly it has made our facilities inadequate."

Commissioner Earl Higginbotham commented "I don't think the citizens realize the impact of the situation."

He charged "It has been played up and amplified to the detriment of our city."

Raymond M. Ball, chairman of the Seminole County Zoning Commission, after presenting the budget, told commissioners "We want comprehensive zoning and that's what we're leading up to."

Commissioner Homer Little insisted that the budget of the zoning department be held to $27,000 rather than the higher figure submitted.

Ball pointed out that the Zoning Director's office is a hard working one. "Seminole County is a lot better off for having had such an efficient office," he said.

Commissioner Fred Dyan refused to go ahead with an approval of the Zoning Commission budget and said "Before we commit ourselves on any amount we should go over the entire budget."

Commissioner B. C. Dodd agreed. Also speaking before the commissioners on behalf of the budget, said Commissioner Richard McCanna and John Burton, members of the county's zoning board.

Commissioners refused to approve the motion submitted to the board by Commissioner Little and the board was adjourned.

Chairman John Krider said "It's beyond comprehension."

The members of the board began discussing the budget of another department.

Prior to changing the subject of discussion, Commissioner Lawrence Swafford cracked down on the Zoning Board and the activities of inspectors employed. Swafford said "I've seen these men and know them. And there was a time when the same inspector traveled the same road four times in one day. And I saw one sitting by the side of the road for a full hour."

He said "We've gone overboard on fees and leaned not enough toward a land use map."

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners last night authorized City Manager Warren E. Knowles to study the possibilities of a Negro Youth Wing in its budget for the forthcoming year.

Decision to consider the additional facilities came at the conclusion of a discussion of a Friday night incident when teenage Negro youths visited the Sanford Civic Center and the Youth Wing to ask "what nights the facilities would be available for us."

Higginbotham stated "I couldn't find any adult colored people who knew anything of the incident."

Herbert Cherry, Negro civic leader, told the Board of Sanford City Commissioners that "We've had wonderful relationships. We know we need a youth center but we are very much against what happened Friday night. We think the approach was wrong—very wrong and we want to go on record as not endorsing such an incident."

J. N. Gray, president of the Progressive Voters League, told the Board of Commissioners that "maybe they had a right to go down there."

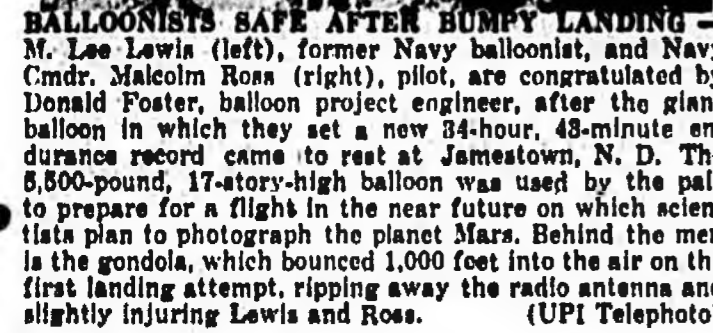

Gray stated that news reports said the city would build a Youth Center, but they didn't say whether it was for colored or white.

"If the tax money of the City of Sanford was used the colored children have a right to go in there," he said, and added later "I see no trouble in the colored youth using the Youth Center."

James C. Hagan, another Negro civic leader, admitted that because of the incident he became very much disturbed. "It isn't anything new," he said "it is happening everywhere."

"The youth acted on their own impulse," Hagan told the commission. However, he suggested that a committee be formed to keep the youth advised "as to what is being done for them."

Commissioner A. L. Wilson told the commission and the Negroes who spoke to them that "This whole situation has brought it to our attention that there is a need for further facilities for our youth."

U. S. To Launch Four Moon Rockets Aug. 17

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—The United States is planning to launch the first of four moon rockets Aug. 17 with the hope it will circle the moon in a "boom-rang" shot, United Press International learned today.

Sources close to the project said scientists are still working furiously to verify their computations for the venture, which will require a second timing.

But the present schedule is followed, a three-stage Air Force rocket will be fired soon after dawn on the morning of the 17th—a Sunday. The moon will then be about 220,000 miles from the earth, the closest it ever gets.

If the shot is successful, the rocket's last stage will be caught in the moon's gravitational pull and will circle it at least once, and possibly several times. It will then head back toward earth and burn up when it reaches the atmosphere.

The rocket—packed with instrumentation including television-like "ground scanning" devices—would thus explore for the first time the "dark side" of the moon, that portion of the sphere which never faces the earth.

The sources stressed that the venture will not be considered completely successful unless the rocket completes a figure-8 and returns to the earth's atmosphere. It will then burn up, but where and how are considered important.

The rocket is expected to take two days or more to arrive at the moon, a quarter of which will be visible from the earth up to midnight Aug. 18.

Agriculture Dept. Has Good News For Housewives

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department today forecast lower food prices during the coming months.

Retail food prices for the remainder of the year are likely to average below the record high prices of the January-June period, the department said in its publication "The National Food Situation."

However, prices for the last half of 1958 still will be "slightly above" those in the last half of 1957.

"Supplies of some foods—particularly meats and fresh fruits and vegetables—will be somewhat larger than in the first half of 1958," the department said. It added consumer demand for food is expected to continue high this summer and fall.

Meat supplies now are on the seasonal upswing, the department said. Compared with a year earlier, consumers are expected to have more pork and top grades of beef per person but less veal and lower grades of beef.

More chicken and about as many eggs are in prospect but less turkey. Per capita supplies of dairy products this summer and fall are expected to be about at the year-earlier level.

Supplies of food from crops will be as large this summer and fall as last, the department said.

Seminole County Tax Assessor Makes 1958 Work Report

The Seminole County Tax Assessor made a brief report yesterday of the activities of her office during the current year.

Mrs. Mary Earle Walker stated in the written summary "I would like to give you a brief resume of the work being carried on by the Seminole County Tax Assessor's office during 1958."

"It was necessary to make a recheck of all groves again this year," she said, "due to the freeze of December 1957."

Mrs. Walker reported that "A check has been made of lot valuations in subdivisions in areas where growth is greatest in order to bring assessments in line with those on comparable properties under similar circumstances."

In further activities of her office, Mrs. Walker stated that "During 1957 a permanent record system for appraisal of buildings was installed, and information on all buildings which have been inspected by the appraisers, since that is recorded there."

Concluding her report, the Seminole County Tax Assessor said "A continued program of equalization has been carried on by the office since I have been assessor, and I intend to continue with this program in the future."

Jaycees Announce Rodeo For Children

The Sanford Seminole Junior Chamber of Commerce has set August 13 as the date for the 9th Annual Junior Fishing Rodeo.

The rodeo, for children 14 years old and under, will take place at Lake Carolina in the Municipal Park and will begin at 2 p. m.

Everett Harper, chairman of the rodeo, announced that the Jaycees will furnish fishing poles and bait. Refreshments of ice cream and cold drinks will be served to the participants.

The Jaycees are planning to furnish free bus transportation but urge parents to bring their children in private cars if possible. The buses will run according to a schedule which will be announced later.

Prizes will be awarded for the first fish caught, the largest fish, and the smallest fish in each of the various age classifications.

"Don't forget August 13, put a ring around that date on your calendar so you'll be sure not to miss the Sanford Seminole Junior Chamber 9th Annual Fishing Rodeo," said Harper today as announcement of the event was made.

County Postmasters Well Represented At Recent Meeting

Seminole County was better represented in Tavara Sunday at the quarterly gathering of the Postmasters of the Fifth District for their business meeting, preceded by a picnic dinner, than it has been since the meeting was held in Oviedo several years ago.

Postmaster and Mrs. Joel Field, of Sanford; Postmaster and Mrs. J. B. Jones, Mrs. Hettie P. Hagdale and Theodore Aulin, Jr., of Oviedo; Mrs. B. H. Walter postmaster at Chuluota; and Postmaster Nelson, of Longwood (acting Postmaster) were present for the occasion.

Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Ragadale are both clerks in the Oviedo Post Office, and Theodore Aulin Jr. is the rural carrier.

This meeting was important in that officials were present to explain and answer questions on the new rates that go into effect on Friday, Aug. 1. R. K. Harward, of Tampa; and Inspector Moo, of Orlando, were not able to be present. However, Field Service Officer, Saley, of Jacksonville; and Post Office Inspector, Dolph, Hackney, of Daytona Beach, were present.

As a State Officers' meeting was called for this day, too, many were present despite the hot day and vacation.

The Tavara Postmaster was host postmaster for the occasion and did a swell job with his assistants—especially his wife.

Postmaster Joel Field invited the Postmasters to meet in Sanford for the November meeting. The Postmasters of Seminole County and any of their helpers will be there to give Joel a helping hand—gladly.

Two Injured In Monday Accident On Highway 17-92

A DuBary man and his wife were injured yesterday, shortly after 3 o'clock, when their car was caught in oncoming traffic, spun off the highway and then backed off over the seawall into Lake Monroe.

The accident occurred just inside the city limits on Highway 17-92. A car was parked in the south-bound lane of traffic, apparently either out of gas or with mechanical trouble. Traffic coming up behind the car was forced to slow down. However, a Winn-Dixie truck, driven by Danny Lannon of Jacksonville was forced to apply all of his emergency brakes when a car swerved around him and then in front of him and applied brakes.

Lannon stated that the force of his brake swept him to the left and his truck caught the left rear fender of the Phillips 1957 Cadillac, spinning them off the highway. Damage to the Cadillac was extensive but apparently no damage was found on the truck. Investigating the accident were Police Chief Roy Williams, L...

Island Dedicated To Audubon Group For Sanctuary

Egret Island, a ten acre tract in Lake Butler, Orange County, has become a wildlife sanctuary of the Florida Audubon Society, under a dedication, to the Society executed by Chase Grove, Inc., of Sanford, and by the Trustees of the Internal Improvement Fund of the State of Florida. Under this transaction, the Florida Audubon Society is pledged to manage the property for wildlife sanctuary purposes only and to avoid the erection of any buildings on the premises.

In accepting the responsibility for Egret Island, C. Russell Mason, Executive Director of the Society, indicated that his dedication of the step in the restoration of the spectacular wading birds of Florida, many of which have declined drastically in recent years from drought, drainage and development. The campaign to preserve and restore these birds is being carried out by a wildlife conservation committee headed by John H. Storer, of Winter Park, commissioned to do the job by conservation-minded Governor LeRoy Collins, and aided by many cooperating state and federal agencies.

As a part of this program, the Society has been taking inventory of wading bird resources, especially the present breeding rookeries of American Egret and Wood Ibis, the two species which seem to have shown the greatest decrease. In the course of their investigations, members of the committee explored the Lake Butler area both by canoe and from the air to check reports that egrets were nesting there. It was discovered that the interior of this island harbored one of the finest breeding colonies of American Egret in Florida, as well as a scattering of other wading birds, including White Ibis. Approach was then made to the Chase and to the State.

In commenting on this action, Randall Chase said: "We are indeed glad to have this island placed under the supervision of the Society. We are interested in maintaining the beauty of Florida as represented by its unique wading birds and we want to see this fine egret rookery protected and studied. We should know more of the feeding habits and distribution of both the egret and the Ibis, for they may be an important and beneficial factor in the agriculture and the fisheries of the region. Certainly these birds are part of a natural balance which should be given consideration in all of our development programs."

Van H. Ferguson, Director of the Internal Improvement Fund, in speaking of the commitment made to the Society added "It is a genuine satisfaction to know that this fine colony of egrets is being given the best protection which can be had. The island will be posted to prevent any disturbance of the nesting birds by trespassers during the breeding season. A sanitary advisory committee will also be selected to aid in supervision and to make management recommendations. It is planned early to study the flight lines of the birds as they move in and out of the rookery to determine the location of feeding and roosting areas which may be in the vicinity of many miles away. Some of these birds have evidently been nesting in this locality for many years but their numbers have been augmented in recent seasons by birds driven from other areas more affected by drought or drainage. It is hoped that once the relationship is established between the nesting and feeding and roosting locations of this egret and this colony, experiments may be started to answer the question raised by Mr. Chase, the influence of these birds on agricultural practices of the section, especially relative to land and water fertility and the control of crop diseases and insects.

Curved Streets, T Intersections Are Safe, Says Engineer

By EDWARD COWAN United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) - Curved streets and "T" intersections are making new communities safer for motorists and pedestrians.

Statistics show that this style, already a characteristic of countless post-war residential developments, leads to a sharp reduction in traffic accidents as compared to the conventional gridiron street design. For example, a study in California found that communities laid out in the newer fashion had one-eighth as many accidents at intersections as did older style communities.

The study was made by the road department. It checked on accident statistics in 86 subdivisions with 100 miles of residential streets and 800 intersections.

The subdivisions were classified as "gridiron" or "limited access." The former were areas with a conventional pattern - two sets of parallel streets forming numerous right-angle intersections with four legs. The "limited access" areas were dominated by three-legged "T" intersections, with curved streets and short, dead-end soups off main arteries. The study covered accidents during a five-year period.

The findings were published by the Urban Land Institute, a private organization with headquarters here, in an article by Harold Marks, an engineer with the county department.

"An accident pattern appears to develop wherever two continuous streets meet at an intersection," Marks wrote. "The T-type intersections generally have no accident history. 'The total accident rate for all gridiron subdivisions has 77.2 percent per year as compared to 10.2 accidents for an equivalent area of limited-access subdivisions - an accident ratio of almost eight to one."

"In terms of accident frequency, 50 per cent of all intersections in gridiron subdivisions had at least one accident during the period. In contrast only 8.8 per cent of the intersections in the limited-access subdivisions experienced accidents; a frequency ratio of almost six to one."

A major reason "T" intersections are safer, Marks said, is that they have three potential collision points whereas a four-way intersection has 16. Marks' figure of 16 was arrived at by assuming no traffic controls of any kind - neither signal lights nor stop signs.

Defense Bureau Reorganization Is Approved By House

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The House unanimously approved a compromise bill granting President Eisenhower powers to reorganize the Defense Department for the nuclear-missile age.

By voice vote, the House approved the measure as drafted by House-Senate conferees. There was no debate. The compromise legislation now goes to the Senate.

It gives the President most of what he asked for but ignores several powers he requested.

Chairman Carl Vinson D-Ga. of the House Armed Services Committee read the House a letter from Eisenhower which said that "except in relatively minor respects, the bill adequately meets every recommendation to the Congress on this subject."

Meanwhile, Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy reported that the Middle East crisis has demonstrated that U. S. defense forces "are ready, and that they can move rapidly to those parts of the world where they are needed."

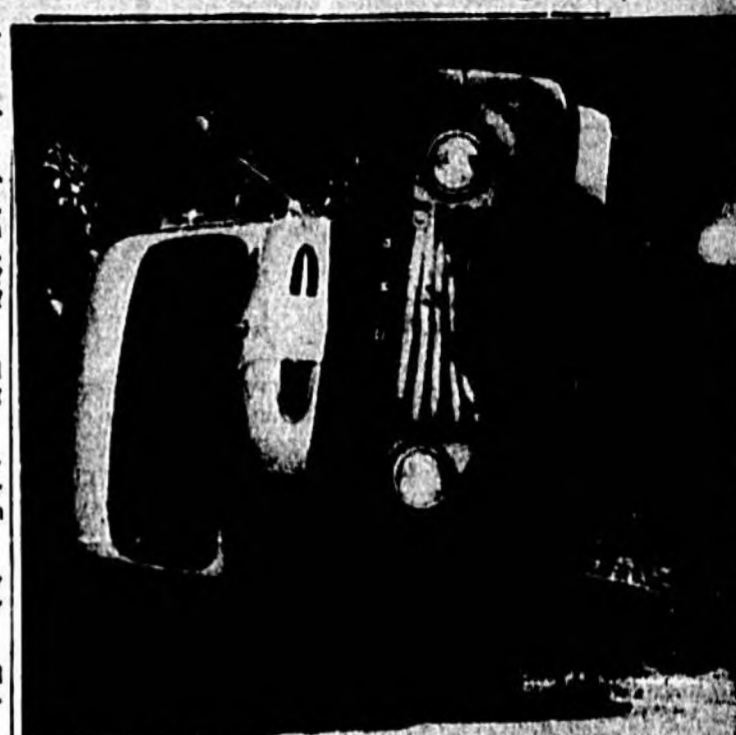

The compromise bill made changes in two of the three House sections criticized by the President. It used new language to say that the secretary of defense is the boss at the Pentagon with Army, Navy and Air Force secretaries responsible to him for the operations of their departments.

The conferees stuck close to Senate language in granting the President wartime authority he requested to change or abolish military functions or shift them from one service to another.

But the bill also provided that the Senate or the House could veto any peacetime move of the secretary of defense to change legally assigned functions of the three services.

Unchanged was the provision attacked by the President as "legalized intervention." It would let service secretaries, or individual members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, take dissenting views to Congress on their own initiative.

Business Of The County Must Be Administered For All Citizens

We doubt Seminole County citizens are coming around to realize that the business of their county government is big business.

Certainly, with such realization, there must be no contention that to administer such a business requires young, energetic, courageous men who are dedicated to fulfilling the wishes of all citizens of the county and not the wishes of the very few.

For instance — in the building of county roads. Where has most of the money gone? The bulk of it has gone to the fast growing population areas or to benefit just one or two men in a certain area?

There have been some changes, we admit. Changes brought about by an active and forward-looking group to get most of the dollars when it is spent out of the taxpayers' pocketbook.

The human element of county government must be taken into consideration, too. For instance, during a discussion of the building of a courthouse on the other day one of the bulwarks of much discussion said "Why, we can tack a little piece right onto this building and it'll last a little longer."

We never got around to finding out just what was meant by the "tack on a little piece" — but it goes to show some of the thinking that has been going on in various political sections of county government.

Have you had an opportunity to stick your head in the window of the Seminole County Tax Assessor's office? Such a condition is a downright disgrace! Another example of good, sound thinking!

Schools Creating More Interest

We notice that more and more people are beginning to take an interest in the schools of Seminole County.

Organization after organization turn to the need for schools and school improvements and are supporting the coming bond election which are freholders will either approve or turn down on Sept. 9.

Even the ladies are organizing — particularly the Officers Wives Club of the Sanford Naval Air Station — to go from door to door to be sure that every citizen eligible is registered to vote. Then on election day they're going to furnish transportation for those citizens to get to the polls to cast their ballot.

There are others we can mention — in Langwood, in Sanford, throughout the county, parents are beginning to realize that schoolrooms must be furnished if children are to be sent to school this coming year.

Conservation News

By CECIL A. TUCKER, II

Recently I came across an article on Farm Safety, which began something like this: "A hot stove burned or a log — handled hot, near the edge of the driveway, a child's clothes caught in old paint cans, paper and rubbish — all these are 'accident traps' in your home just inviting you or someone else to get into trouble." I am afraid that after we take a look at some of the facts and figures concerning accidents on the farm, we'll have to agree that this writer is a keen observer. Farm accidents caused the loss of almost 4,000 lives last year in the United States. In addition to this, a million or more suffered less severe accidental injuries causing disability, and financial problems.

Let's take a look at the picture of accidents on the farm. In the United States, the largest cause of accidents is machinery. This accounts for some 21.6 per cent of farm accidents in Florida. In 1950, 153 per cent, lighting, 12.3 per cent, firearms — 8.1 per cent, electricity — 8.1 per cent, animals — 4.8 per cent, all other causes — 4.3 per cent.

The most frequent question when somebody is hurt is "What happened, what caused it?" In the majority of cases, the answer

Another remark came in a discussion about the county jail. It was mentioned that "We've got to add on to it somehow—something must give." And folks—the only thing that will give will be the taxpayer. For to add on to the jail building now will be a complete waste of money that will have to be repeated in less years than it would take to complete the addition.

That is what we mean by sound thinking, good management, no waste, a dollar's worth of merchandise for the taxpayers dollar. The taxpayers public property has worn completely out—no reserves have been set aside to replace this property through the years—and now the time has come when a replacement is needed.

Young, energetic, forward-thinking men will manage our government's property in a businesslike fashion, aimed at getting service for the citizens of the community and not aimed at teasing the most votes out of the people.

It behooves every taxpayer to look about him and take inventory of all that has gone on through the years and weigh such evidence in the balance during these next few weeks.

Are we going to allow our general government to eat up dollars while services to the community go unattended. Will the citizens continue to beg and plead for those things that are needed for the health and welfare of the county. Or will our government be placed on a businesslike, sound footing.

It's going to take that kind of work. Hard work, constant work, and day-by-day interest in informing neighbors and friends about the school bond issue and what it means to Sanford and Seminole County.

We've been through one school bond election—the one where people just didn't turn out to vote. Sure! The biggest percentage of those who cast their ballots were in favor of the school bonds—they wanted to see the schools we need under construction. But those who said "I just don't have time to vote today—I know the others will vote for so I'll just stay at home."

Well—everybody's got to turn out on Sept. 9. For or against, every citizen must express an opinion. That's the democratic way in the United States of America.

Did You Ever Wonder?

Some news items make the reader wonder how politically mature Americans are, after all. Consider what happened when all three television stations in a large city cancelled their regular programs over a period of several hours to cover United Nations Security Council deliberations on the Lebanon problem.

Did the public congratulate the stations for this costly public service? On the contrary, the stations' switchboards were clogged with hundreds of calls from viewers protesting the absence of their regular entertainment programs.

Soviet Premier N. Khrushchev's Safety Assured In This Country

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Security experts here believe it would be difficult but entirely possible to maintain the safety of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev if he comes to this country for a meeting at the United Nations Security Council.

Should such a meeting take place, President Eisenhower is expected to attend as well as British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The Russian leader announced he also wants Arab leaders and Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to join the council discussion on the Middle East crisis.

If all this happens it would result in the biggest police headache since the invention of the billy club. The burden would fall principally on the New York city police force. But so many other domestic and foreign agents would be involved that a special system would have to be worked out to permit speedy recognition between plainclothesmen.

Security Agents of the President, the Federal Bureau of Investigation had men quietly behind the scenes at the Big Four meeting in Geneva, security agents of the State Department, and possibly some help from the U. S. armed services.

In darkest Africa, Explorer Henry Morgan uncovered an ebony-skinned gentleman who did everything backward. At the annual festival where his tribe would gather on the left bank of a river and exchange wives—a quaint local custom—the contrary man invariably turned up on the right bank. Why? Because he didn't know which side his bride was hatched on.

Henry also accepted the challenge that he couldn't invent a pun on the word "hippopotamus." He rifled through the pages of Shakespeare, came up with "Oh what a rogue and hippopotamus!" That Morgan is still alive is a testimonial to the arduous craftsmanship of his associates.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES H. MCCANN

UPI Foreign News Analyst

The Lebanon situation is entering a new phase. The 65-member, single-chamber Lebanese Parliament had been due to meet Thursday to elect a new president for a six-year term.

The big question had been whether, if the meeting had been held as scheduled, opposition members would boycott it. There was almost no chance they would have attended.

It is now announced that the meeting has been postponed, probably until next week. There are indications that the postponement may have been decided upon in hopes that agreement could be reached on a candidate to succeed President Camille Chamoun.

The election of a president is the issue that lies behind the entire Lebanese crisis. Under the Lebanese constitution, a president is ineligible for re-election. Chamoun, however, decided in mid-April to ask Parliament to amend the constitution so that he could run again.

He did so because he believed his re-election was necessary to keep his little country out of the clutches of president Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and to continue its present pro-Allied policy.

Opposition Protest

Chamoun's decision caused an explosion of protests by opposition elements.

From it stemmed the Lebanese rebellion that started on May 10 and now, with the pro-Nasser rebellion in Iraq and the landing of American and British troops in Lebanon and Jordan, has caused a grave international crisis.

Lebanon's political situation is singular.

Its population consists of about 675,000 Christians and 57,000 Moslems.

Because of this religious balance, it was decided when Lebanon attained its independence from France in 1944 that the country should have, traditionally, a Christian president and a Moslem prime minister.

The rebels are Moslems. They are disorganized. They have four principal leaders, who are united on only one thing: They want to throw Chamoun out now.

Oppose Nasser

Chamoun and Moslem premier, Riad el-Solh, are firmly pro-Westerners and firmly against Nasser's attempt to make himself master of the Arab world.

When the rebellion started, Chamoun appealed to the United States for support. He did so because the rebels were getting aid in weapons and men from Syria, now merged with Egypt in Nasser's U. A. R.

At first, Chamoun and Solh wanted support through the United Nations, to seal the frontier. But when the situation got critical, they asked for direct American help.

Shocked by the sudden, murderous revolt in Iraq, the United States started landing Marines in Lebanon July 15.

Before that, Chamoun had decided he could not be re-elected. Premier Solh had announced the government would not change the constitution for him. On July 9, Chamoun announced definitely he would not run. But he said he was determined to serve out his term.

Marines Strengthen Chamoun

The Marine landings had the effect both of strengthening Chamoun against the rebels and of alienating some of his own supporters.

In hope that some compromise could be reached to end the rebellion and insure the peaceful election of a successor to Chamoun, the United States sent Deputy Under Secretary Robert Murphy, a noted diplomatic trouble-shooter in Lebanon.

Murphy was called out of a Senate committee hearing the day after the Marine landings and told to leave at once. He did not even have time to pack his bags. His valet packed them and sent them to the State Department, where he was being briefed.

Murphy has been consulting Lebanese leaders of all political leanings.

If Parliament meets Thursday, and especially if the opposition attends, it will be a victory for him.

Travel Problems

One of the worst security problems would be getting Khrushchev back and forth between U. N. headquarters and the building on Park Avenue where the Russian U. N. delegation maintains its headquarters and where Khrushchev probably would live. Police probably would select a route and seal it off with wooden barriers, except at the more critical traffic intersections.

There seemed no fear for Eisenhower's safety. Presidential trips to New York are relatively routine for the Secret Service. Eisenhower usually stays at either the Waldorf Astoria or Astor Hotel. With little difficulty he could fly back to Washington nightly.

The Secret Service would not be responsible in any way for Khrushchev's security, although its top agents undoubtedly would be invited by New York police and U. N. security men to consult on arrangements. The Russian leader would be accompanied by his own secret agents.

What to Do for Victims Of Shock From Injury

By HERMAN H. BURROUGHS, M. D.

RELDOM does a person feel so completely helpless as when he is unable to aid an injured person, especially when the victim is a member of his family.

Now treating injuries is a job for a trained physician, not for a layman. But, in an emergency, you should know what to do.

I'm not going to conduct a first aid course for you here in this newspaper, although if I had my way just about everyone would be thoroughly indoctrinated in what to do in cases of emergencies.

Treating Shock

I do think all of you should know something about treating shock. Shock, you see, is present in all serious injuries due to accidents. While it is severe in some cases, it is barely noticeable in others, but it is there just the same.

This is a condition in which the normal body activities are in a depressed state. As with most injuries and illnesses, shock is easier to remedy at the beginning than after it has been allowed to get worse.

You can recognize shock by these symptoms:

The skin will be pale, cold and clammy; the eyes will be vacant, the pupils are likely to be rapid and weak; all sensibilities will be listless and dull; breathing probably will be shallow and irregular; and there may be nausea and vomiting.

Generally these symptoms are an indication that the brain and heart are not getting enough blood. So encourage the blood flow by keeping the victim lying flat and by covering him to keep him warm. Do not, however, overheat him. And don't use hot water bags or heated stones.

In case he is lying on a cold, wet surface, try to work some newspapers or a blanket under him. But, remember, disturb him as little as possible.

What to Give

Never try to give an unconscious person anything to drink. Even if he is conscious, it's best not to give him anything if medical help is expected within a short time. If it is not you can give him coffee or tea, as hot as can be taken, if he desires it. Give it by the spoonful and don't give him more than a cupful at a time.

Keep reassuring the patient that he is going to be all right and that medical help is on the way. Since fear may make shock worse, I suggest that you don't permit the victim to look at his own injury.

MRS. B. MAHARREY

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Witte Jr., formerly of Sanford, announce the marriage of their daughter Miss Pauline Witte to Byron Edward Bert Maharrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Maharrey of Ft. Myers.

The Rev. John J. Brooks officiated at the ceremony held at the First Methodist Church of Ft. Myers on March 8.

The bride, a 1938 graduate of Seminole High School, is employed in the bookkeeping department of the Lee County Bank. While in high school she was active in many clubs and organizations including the Spanish Club, the Century Club, the Home Economics Club, the Glee Club, the Student Council and the Tri-Hi-Y. The gifts were placed in a plastic laundry basket decorated with kitchen equipment and the basket was presented to the honoree by the hostess.

Refreshments which also carried out the pink and white color scheme were served.

William H. Bryant In South America To Study One Year

It was recently revealed by Mrs. Norvel Bryant of Newport News, Va., that her son, William H. (Bill) Bryant, has been awarded one of the highly competitive Fulbright Scholarships.

Bill enlisted in the U. S. Army following graduation from Seminole High School in 1948. After serving in Korea he entered the University of Hawaii in Honolulu to major in languages. This June he graduated from the university with honors and has been teaching Latin and Spanish in St. Frances High School in Honolulu since that time.

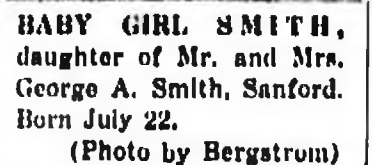

Under the Fulbright Scholarship plan he will spend one year in Bogota, Columbia studying and doing research on the subject of Spanish literature.

After this year of absence from St. Frances High School he plans to return and resume his teaching career.

Martin-Zittrower July 5 Marriage Announced By Couple

This Week Will Answer Fashion World's Question
By GAY FAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

PARIS (UPI) — French designers yesterday started answering the fashion world's biggest question—after the sack, what?

Or, to put it another way, will women's clothes get sexy again? The designer—members of the Chamber Syndicale opened their week-long showings of fall and winter collections, details of which have created as much guesswork as General de Gaulle's decision on attending a summit conference.

First designer to brave the critical eyes of buyers and the international press was the house of Jean Patou, which has been a fashion leader since the early 1930's. He was followed today by Lanvin — Castillo, Carvan, Pierre Cardin, who is billed as a young man to watch; Claude Riviere, Charles Montaigne, Geo Bilman, and Vera Loren.

Yves Saint Laurent, successor to the late Christian Dior and investigator of last year's unfitted trapeze, will show on Thursday.

As the openings began, predictions circulated like a hot tip at a racetrack, despite all the O. S. S. type secrecy to prevent spies from stealing a designer's ideas. Some old-time observers said the new silhouette would stress

Margaret G. Martin, of Orlando, and Robert S. Zittrower, of Sanford, announced their recent marriage.

The daughter of Mrs. W. T. Roberts of Lynchburg, Va. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar M. Zittrower were married in Kingsland, Ga. on July 4.

At the present time the groom is a co-owner of Zittrower Garage, 140 Elm Ave. The bride was formerly employed by Radiation Inc. at Pinecastle.

The couple have made their home at 2008 Holly Ave. since their marriage.

the high-waisted look, but hardly as high as the empire which first came into being after the French revolution. Already the empire, which hugs the body, has taken over in most New York collections.

Other forecasters said there would have to be some natural waistline of some body shape, if the new hats shown last week were any indication. The hats were tall, almost trimless, one expert explained. "There just has to be some curve below to go with the hats."

There was some feeling that shoulders would be widened. And on hemlines, pay your money and take your choice of guesses. Some predicted longer skirts, about midcalf; others, to just below the knee.

Low Price No Rule For Towel Buying
URBANA, Ill. (UPI) — University of Illinois textile and clothing specialist Jane Warden warned housewives against buying towels just because the price is low.

Miss Warden said towels should be checked for weight, weave, selvedge, hems, border, design and color.

She also said towels are designed for special purposes and should be purchased for special purposes. For example, children have trouble with large, heavy towels. Special weight towels are made for youngsters.

Another buying tip—hold the towel up to the light. If the light comes through in regularly spaced pinpoints, the weave is good.

The return of the Empire waistline for fall also means the revival of fob jewelry—to be pinned, like the old-fashioned stomach, just under the bosom.

When loose powder catches in eyebrows or hairline, a cotton swab moistened with skin freshener will remove it easily.

Improved Quality Seen In Furniture

CHICAGO (UPI) — Low priced furniture today far exceeds the best available to low income families 15 years ago, says the director of the Home Furnishings Industry Committee.

Director Virginia Pegram said that "in 1933 much low priced upholstered furniture was still being stuffed with excelsior — they called it wood wool but it still was excelsior."

In an interview, she said, "this same grade gradually began to be puffed out with Spanish moss. Then moss dipped in liquid rubber. Then short curled cattle hair, dipped in rubber or not."

Furniture for low and middle income families today has most of the fine features in the highest priced furniture of 10 years ago, said Miss Pegram.

A veteran of 30 years in the furniture field, Miss Pegram insisted that "sheer 100 per cent ugliness is much more difficult to buy today."

She pictured the furniture industry's best customer of the present as a middle-aged suburban householder with an income of more than $4,500 and children between 10 and 19 years old.

Families with incomes between $5,000 and $10,000 spend an average of $95 a year on furniture. "People on the West Coast spend more than their relatives in the rest of the United States," she said. "The annual average furniture expenditure of a Westerner in a metropolitan area is $99. In the Middle West, the city household spent only $84."

Silver Springs' Players To Present "Tobacco Road" Until August

Reviews from the Silver Springs Players' production of "Tobacco Road" hail the play as a "memorable performance." Thus reads the review by Johnny Walker in the Ocala Star-Banner.

"Tobacco Road," played at the Silver Springs Playhouse by an all-pro, professional cast opened last week and continues each evening, except Sunday, through August 2.

Johnny Walker, in the Ocala paper, went on to say: "I don't recall ever having seen a play so impressive, so moving as Erskine Caldwell's 'Tobacco Road'... good material, coupled with a powerful performance and superb staging add up to one thing: a memorable performance... When the curtain fell, no applause followed for several minutes, so awed and moved was the audience."

"Tobacco Road" as presented at Silver Springs Playhouse, just east of Ocala on Silver Springs Boulevard, stars Will Sandy as the moth-eaten old back country farmer, Jester Lester. Featured with him is Edna Hurd as Ada, his wife; Barbara Farrar as the amorous sister, Bessie; Sam Flores as the no good son, Dude; and Tom G. Evans as Lav Hensley.

Curtain time is 8 p. m. The theatre is air-cooled and casual dress is stressed. Reservations can be made by calling MA 8-4147 or writing P. O. Box 576, Ocala.

Work Progressing On Daytona Speedway

Today's Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
Special From International News Service

NEW YORK (UPI)—You can see today when it comes to racing in Daytona Beach, Fla., that the work is progressing on the new Daytona International Speedway.

Work brings this to mind is the recently completed section which will house the grandstands, three miles from the National Museum of Racing at Saratoga Springs.

The hotel brought to light that the Atlanta already is in—while a couple of years named Eddie Arcaro and Johnny Longden won't.

But the "The Slasher" doesn't seem to be as you might say in coming over undergarments, first class train and horses gallop into the National Museum of Racing at Saratoga Springs.

But the "The Slasher" doesn't seem to be as you might say in coming over undergarments, first class train and horses gallop into the National Museum of Racing at Saratoga Springs.

The 24-hour daily grind of machinery, the clatter of trucks and the appearance of workers is just about every corner of a 440-acre tract of land just west of Daytona Beach, near the city's airport marks the steady and rapid progress being made on the construction of the new Daytona International Speedway.

The accompanying picture shows an aerial view of the track with the vast size in comparison to the Daytona Kennel Club's dog track, which can be seen at the bottom right side.

Two massive tunnels are now being installed at the track to make it possible for fast movement of cars to and from the infield area at all times. The course is rapidly being formed with the moving of tons and tons of dirt to form the high banks for the two-and-a-half-mile course, which will be the fastest track in the country when completed.

Bill France, president of NASCAR and also president of the new speedway corporation, is spending much of his time supervising the actual construction of his dream track, and all indications point to completion of the course in time for the annual NASCAR Winter races next February.

Race fans who desire information on the 1959 track activities and schedule of events with further details about seating arrangements, etc., should write Daytona International Speedway Corp., 800 Main St., Daytona Beach, Fla. Information will then be mailed just as soon as details are completed and brochures are prepared.

the ballot. For they have listed a great number of the great ones and you can make a case for all of them.

If you're a racing fan you'll remember most of them: the tragic Phar Lap, the hard-luck Seabiscuit, Bold Venture, Cavalade, Equipole, Gallant Fox, Johnstown, Omaha, Twenty Grand, War Admiral, Chaledon, Dark Secret, Discovery, Fairness, Grandville, Jamestown, Ladysman, Pompoon, Questionaire and Sun Beau.

Even Clem McCarthy would have had trouble calling three winners there—but if they bypass riders like Arcaro and Longden and trainers such as Mr. Fitz and "White Hat Ben" Jones, then this whole business has to be a complete joke.

J. Arness Heads NASCAR Pre-Race Labor Day Show

DARLINGTON, S. C.—James Arness, TV's number one ranked star as the United States Marshall Matt Dillon of Dodge City, will head the pre-race festivities and serve as honorary chief steward of the Labor Day Southern 500-mile stock car race at Darlington Raceway.

Bob Colvin, president of Darlington Raceway made the announcement today, following month-long conferences with Liggett and Myers tobacco Company officials, sponsor of the top-ranked TV show Gunsmoke.

Arness will be the guest of the Darlington Police Department during his stay, and will probably partake in many of the race activities sponsored by the police for their youth activity fund. "The details of his arrival and availability have not been worked out yet," Colvin said, "but he has agreed to lead the two-hour show before the race and serve as our chief steward."

The Labor Day race attracts more than 75,000 people each year and entertainment before the race is one of the attractions. The show this year will be named "A parade of hands and beauty" and feature floats, beauty queens and over 800 musicians.

Arness, a six-foot-six, tumbled-haired wounded veteran of Anzio Beachhead, is credited with bringing the adult western to TV popularity. After a successful movie career, Arness accepted the lead role in L.A.M. Gunsmoke and within six months saw the show become the first western to move into the first ten in popularity. July, 1956, the ratings showed Gunsmoke supplanting "I Love Lucy" in the top spot, a position it still holds. The popular Marshall Dillon, the sidekick of grumpy Doc Holliday and dancehall girl Kitty now hold a 20% rating edge over the number two show.

Three More Drivers Enter Aug. Race

DARLINGTON, S. C.—Cotton Owens, Spartanburg, Roy Tyner, Red Springs, N. C., and Reds Kagle, Greenbelt, Md., are the latest stock car drivers to enter the Labor Day Southern 500-mile classic at Darlington Raceway.

Owens will drive a 1958 Pontiac, Tyner a Plymouth and Kagle a Ford.

For Owens it will be his sixth start in the world series of auto racing. The mid-mannered driver has an excellent record at Darlington, three times finishing within the first ten. Last year, after winning pole position for the race, Owens led until mechanical trouble forced a lengthy pit stop. Returning to the race, Owens worked into second place, behind winner Speedy Thompson, as the checkered flag fell.

Tyner placed 3rd last year, his first start in the 500. Kagle will be making his first start and faces a driver's test before trying for a starting position.

Today's entries bring the Darlington field to 22 already signed. The fifty fastest late-model cars in time trials, starting August 27, will be allowed to start.

Whatever Happened To FRANKIE PARKER

Frankie Parker, a schoolboy wonder in tennis in the early 1930's, was one of the best defensive players the game ever has known. They called him the "mechanical man" and then "the wall," because he usually knocked everything back. Frank ranked in the nation's top 10 for 17 consecutive years, twice winning U. S. titles as an Army sergeant during World War II. Four times he was ranked No. 2 in the nation. Parker turned pro about the same time as Pancho Gonzalez and played a secondary role on some of Jack Kramer's pro barnstorming tours.

Whatever happened to Frankie Parker? Now 42, Parker lives in Evanston, Ill., is a salesman for a paper container corporation in Chicago and plays "weekend tennis" at a private club with a bunch of his cronies.

GOALS AHEAD—Mrs. Sarah Stewart of Cobleskill, N.Y., became the first golfer in four years to win the Albany, N.Y. Times-Union hole-in-one competition in seven on one. It took place on the 11,100th shot of the Albany gold tournament.

Walter O'Malley Is Ready To Make Charge

NEW YORK (UPI)—Walter O'Malley is "ready to make a charge" and manager Walt Alston is "it" — unless the last-place Los Angeles Dodgers do a complete turnaround in the next 10 days — the United Press International learned on excellent authority today.

Should the Dodgers show no marked improvement during that time, a new manager probably will be named to coincide with the club's return home to Los Angeles on Aug. 8, according to the source.

O'Malley's likely choice as Alston's successor will be Los Angeles Coach Charley Dressen, whom Alston replaced as Dodger manager in 1954. Two other men — Bobby Bragan and Leo Durocher — also are in the managerial picture.

"That recent vote of confidence the Dodgers gave Alston was tantamount to handing him his hat," said the UPI source. "O'Malley already has decided to make a change and he's debating among three choices — Dressen, Bragan and Durocher."

O'Malley, who is operating on one of those famous one-year-contract O'Malley hands out, will be offered a place in the Dodgers' organization from which he emerged to lead the team to its only world championship in 1955.

Since taking over as Dodger manager, Alston has made a good showing every year except this one.

He finished second in 1954; won the pennant and the World Series against the Yankees in 1955; won the pennant again in 1956 but lost the World Series, and wound up third last year.

The team really fell apart on him this season through no fault of his own.

Roy Campanella's tragic accident during the winter was the major blow. Then Don Newcombe, the baseball's outstanding pitcher only two years ago, failed to win and was traded to Cincinnati.

Right now, Duke Snider and Carl Furillo are nursing injuries that keep them from playing.

Art Wall Takes Eastern Open Golf Championship

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—When it comes to playoffs in golf tournaments, put your money on Art Wall.

That appears to be the lesson taught by the Eastern Open golf championship which ended here Sunday with Wall beating Jackie Burke and Bob Rosburg in a "sudden death" playoff for the title. It was Wall's sixth major golf victory—and his fourth win in a playoff.

The touring veteran from Pocomoke Manor, Pa., tied Burke and Rosburg at 278 for 72 holes by sinking a 30-foot putt for a birdie on the last hole, and then he beat them on the first extra hole by sinking an eight-footer for another birdie.

Wall picked up $2,500 for his victory and must now be reckoned the hottest golfer on the pro tour. In his last four starts, he won at Akron, was second at Hartford, 11th in the PGA, and now first here.

Burke and Rosburg matched Wall at five-under-par 67 for the final round. Only one stroke out of the three-way tie was young Gary Player of South Africa, who had a last-round 69 for a 277 total.

U.S. Gets Good Start Against USSR Team

MOSCOW (UPI)—The United States track team got off to a flying start against Russia in the concluding events of their two-day meet when Ed Collymore of Cambridge, Mass., won the 200-meter dash in 21.3 seconds.

Olympic champion Tom Courney of Livingston, N.J., then gave the United States its ninth victory in 12 men's events by romping home first in 800-meter run. The former Fordham University star was timed in 1:48.8.

Collymore, a surprise starter in the event, finished a yard ahead of Russia's Yuri Konovlov. Leonid Bartenev finished third and Jim Segrest of Abilene, Tex., was last.

Collymore's winning time was considered good over a rain-drenched track at the huge Lenin stadium. Konovlov was clocked in 21.4 seconds.

The U. S. women's team produced another shocker when Lucinda Williams of Bloomington, Ga., won the 200-meters dash in a photo finish with Maria Ikinav, the Russian women's champion. Both girls were timed in 24.4 seconds. Isabel Daniels of Jakin, Ga., finished third and Vera Zabolina was fourth.

In the decathlon, Rafer Johnson of Kingsburg, Calif., opened a 200-point lead over Russia's Vassili Kuznetsov by winning the discus and finished second behind compatriot Dave Edstrom of the University of Oregon in the 110-meter high hurdles.

Johnson won Discus with a toss of 160 feet, 11 inches. Kuznetsov finished second with a toss of 154 feet, 8.5 inches. In the 110-meter high hurdles, Edstrom flashed home in 14.8 seconds. Johnson was clocked in 14.9 and Kuznetsov in 15.1.

The concluding events went on as scheduled despite an all-night rain that drenched the stadium and surrounding areas.

THE CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is a grateful expression of gratitude to those who have been of assistance but also a significant acknowledgment of the service of those of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as suitable evidence. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find our sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIUM" NOTICE

It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memoriam" notice in newspapers. These notices are a fitting and beautiful way of remembering a life well lived. An Elsie Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:

"How cruelly sweet are the orbons that start
What memory plays an old tune on the heart."
Most frequently an In Memoriam is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, when it is appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are times when a fitting remembrance is desired.

If you are hesitant to express your tribute thoughts in public form, you may avail yourself of the Herald's collection of original verses. These express in poetic beauty the emotions of the bereaved. Among them are appropriate to any circumstance.

THE RATE

Cards of Thanks and In Memoriam notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column line.

"THE MIGHTY MIGHTY"
THE WAY WE LIVE

Forest fires not only damage and destroy big trees—they burn off the seedlings which are the timber of tomorrow.

9 out of 10 of these destructive fires are caused by human carelessness with camp fires, cigarettes, matches and burning rubbish.

Help protect today's trees and the trees of tomorrow. Be extra careful with every fire.

Oviedo News

By Marion Jones
OVIEDO—Tommy Wagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wagner of Orlando, was the over-night guest of his grandmother, Mrs. Frank Talbot, Thursday evening.

Miss Margaret Talbot and family will give Frank a big welcome home. Frank, who has been vacationing for about a month now, including a family reunion in California, arrived home by plane Friday evening. Welcome home, Frank.

Who Alford tells us that when her son, James, came by Jimmy and Sandra, who have been with their grandparents here for a week, to return to Jacksonville, he took home Jimmy, who he begged to stay until Sunday. He went home Sunday, accompanied by Freddie Alford, on the bus.

Mrs. W. T. Chance and mother, Mrs. Claudia Mitchem, arrived home Sunday from a two weeks' visit in New York with Mrs. Chance's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Al Thomas. We are interested to hear of their visit, including their stop-over in Washington, and all about their experiences when attending "Do It", "Beat the Clock", "The Big Pay Off", and "Play Your Hunch".

In turn "Long Ago" school chums of Lona's, Madeline Bazzard Augsblick, and Wanda Lee Anderson Jones, were reunited, and entertainment in Oviedo and in Orlando, the home of Madeline and Wanda Lee, was plentiful. All three girls attended Oviedo High School together.

Lona and girls also enjoyed visits with Betty Reagan and family in Orlando during their visit. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Billy Best, who celebrated their 11th wedding anniversary Thursday, the 24th.

Due to a typographical error the names of the MVP's who enjoyed the New Smyrna Beach party last week were omitted. These were: Benne Walright, Jerry Urey, Ann Lunday and Suzanne Parlin.

The First Baptist Church of Oviedo was represented at the Seminole Association meeting of Sunday School workers held at the Stetson Baptist Church, DeLand, Monday night by the Reverend and Mrs. Jack T. Brant, A. B. Telford, Arthur Metcalf and W. A. Ward, Jr.

Vacationers are still in vogue in this small community. It would seem that most of the comers and goers would have been exhausted by now—but not here.

Grace and Lawson Hardy are among those taking off this week.

Grace tells us that they plan on leaving the city in their newly air conditioned car on Friday, July 25. They plan to stop at Bob Jones College in Greenville to pick up their daughter, Martha Jean, who is a student there and has also been attending summer school, and from there going on to Ft. Wayne, Indiana to see their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Darnell—and, of course, the children, Gary and Mark. Grandma Hardy has some Mark, but Grandma Hardy was there when he was born. Aunt Martha Jean will see him for her first time, too, so they are all anxious. Of course, Grace isn't. En route home, they plan on stopping to visit with friends and relatives in Atlanta, Georgia. They will probably be back home about August 10th.

Leaving on Sunday will be Ruby and Kay Estes. Ruby tells us that they plan on going first to Atlanta, Georgia to visit with friends and to get in some shopping. On the sixth of August they will be in Anderson, S. C., where Kay will be a bridesmaid in the wedding of Miss Judy Camp. After that they will go on to Asheville and Waynesville, N. C. to get in some sightseeing before picking up Tommy at Chimney Rock Camp for Boys to return home. Tommy has been there most of the summer and will have been there 8 weeks when he leaves on August 13. Ruby and Kay said they would enjoy their stay at Chimney Rock Camp on the 13th, as we too, will be there that day to pick up our youngest, Jimmy.

T. W. Lawton was in to tell us that Mrs. Lawton sent me word that their son, James, who has been visiting them, has returned to Pennington School at Pennington, N. J., where he is officially Dean Lawton. They say that James is quite enthusiastic about his work there. Pennington School, founded in 1832, is located near Princeton and Trenton. There are about 27 instructors for the 200 boys. James and Pennington can be doing a wonderful job to prepare his boys for further education as they have excellent instructors, small classes, Methodist support and a large endowment.

James is following in the footsteps of his father, Dr. T. W. Lawton, who served Seminole County as Superintendent of Public Instruction for so many years prior to his 1952 retirement.

We know James, as a next door neighbor, and know that he will succeed in whatever undertaking he chooses. He is a talented musician as well as instructor.

AFTER 20 YEARS OF ACTIVE SERVICE—Alfred E. Grell, Chief Aviation Mechanic, was promoted to the Fleet Reserve during ceremonies conducted by CDR. R. C. Knight, Commanding Officer of Heavy Attack Squadron Seven. Following a brief presentation by CDR. Knight, Chief Grell was presented with an engraved pen and pencil set by the Chiefs of the squadron. Longwood News

By Sibyl Grant
Mrs. Kitty Peacock is confined to the Seminole Memorial Hospital for observation and taking of X-rays. While she is ill, her niece, Miss Charlotte Newman, is caring for her, and staying with the family. Mrs. Peacock came to Longwood 11 years ago from Jacksonville. Mr. Peacock is associated with the Sun Oil Company.

Mr. and Mrs. George Holder Jr. returned to their home in Houston, Tex. Friday, after spending a three week vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Holder, and brother Richard.

The senior Holders drove out to Houston in April to bring grandchildren George III and Phil to spend the summer with them. When George Jr. and Martha came, they brought their boat along to enjoy boating and water skiing in Lake Irene.

George and Mel say it is too quiet since the youngsters are gone, but it won't be too long till it is summer again.

Florida Slated To Gain Up To Three Seats In 1960

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Census Bureau forecast today that as a result of the 1960 census 16 states will lose and nine states will gain seats in the House of Representatives.

The size of the House remains constant under the constitution—435 members—but shifts in the population as recorded in the census every ten years, require the reapportionment of the seats.

The prospective 1960 reapportionment will be greater than in 1950 when nine states lost seats and six gained.

The 1960 population, according to current estimates, will be about 130 million people, compared with the 1950 figure of 151,132,000.

Under the projected reshuffle for 1960, the largest gain in House seats will go to rapidly growing California. The state will pick up seven new House seats, the same gain recorded for the state after 1950. The heaviest losers in 1960 were expected to be New York and Pennsylvania with each dropping three seats. Arkansas and Massachusetts were expected to lose two seats each.

Ten states would lose a single seat according to the prediction. They are Maine, Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, West Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi.

Other states gaining in representation in 1960, according to the census bureau, would be Florida, three seats; Michigan, and Texas, two seats each.

Arizona, Indiana, Maryland, Ohio and Oregon would gain a single representative in addition to one seat for Alaska as the new 49th state.

The people did the talking yesterday at an Equalization Board meeting held in the Seminole County Court House.

There was no comparison between this year's meeting and the one held a year ago. Yesterday there were more than 100 people assembled to complain about and protest the inequalities in taxes while last year no one appeared to be heard.

The long line of protests was ignited into action when Brailley Odham touched off a series of questions to which he received no answer. The questions asked were: "Would the purpose of this meeting be to equalize the tax rolls for the year?" "If there is a change as recent as yesterday how are we to know what our taxes will be?" and "Are the rolls certified?"

Odham emphatically told the Equalization Board, composed of the five county commissioners, that "I intend to stand here and attack the tax system of Seminole County."

He compared home after home with that of his own and cited the equal sizes, the more expensive construction or comparable costs, and added "I'm looking to see if the taxes are equal."

Odham quoted square feet areas, actual costs, locations, type of property and the tax bill paid in each instance last year.

"I could talk to you until this time tomorrow about taxes," Odham told the Equalization Board as he pointed to the $1.67 an acre paid by one commissioner, 25c an acre tax paid by a county official, and the 37c an acre paid by another. "It's the rightful business of every citizen to compare his neighbor's taxes," he said.

"We can't build schools, and roads, and old folks homes until we pay our fair share of taxes."

and ready for citizens to examine. However, Mrs. Walker told the board that "even if I found out tomorrow that taxes are unequal I have the right to change them," and said "I have until the Equalization Board meeting to check values."

Dr. D. E. Mather, appearing before the board to protest his taxes in comparison to other homes he cited, said "That to me is inequality and I protest my taxes. I feel that Seminole County will be held back unless someone does something."
