

HAS A REMARKABLE RECORD

W. E. Martin is Very Popular As a Public Official

In these days of haste and political schemes it is very refreshing to note a record of a public official that is absolutely clean and satisfactory to all of his constituent. Such a man is W. E. Martin, the present efficient tax collector who by his close application to the duties of the office, by his clean methods and the desire to fill the office requirements at all times has precluded the desire upon the part of any one to take the field against him. You just can't help liking Billy Martin because he is the same yesterday, today and tomorrow. He is on his good behavior all the time and is just as anxious to please the public the day after the election as the day before. Billy Martin will get up at night and go down to the court house to do you a favor and there is not a man in Orange county who can say that W. E. Martin was not on the job when wanted. Not only is he affable at all times and ready to do your bidding but his business methods are above reproach. There is not an official position that entails so many unpleasant features as that of collector and yet Martin always comes up smiling and ready to grant a favor is possible.

A remarkable record certainly and a remarkable man and as usual he has no opposition to the office for which he will again be a candidate to succeed himself.

Latest War News

A special edition of the Rome Tribune published the statement that the Italian cruisers entered the harbor of Tripoli Tuesday afternoon, bombarded the forts and the governor's castle, made a landing and hoisted the Italian flag.

The most important naval capture of the war so far is that of the Turkish transport Sabah, with a Turkish general, a large consignment of troops and much ammunition aboard.

Corfu reports that the Duke of Abruzzi, in command of a flotilla fleet off Prevesa, threatens a bombardment of that place.

The Porte's appeal to the powers has been answered by them to the effect that they cannot offer mediation until a basis of settlement is suggested in the lines of the Italian demands.

Late reports from Constantinople say a new cabinet has been nominated and that it will continue the policy looking to mediation.

Two Turkish battleships and a cruiser have been sent to reinforce the squadron in the Dardanelles. Turkey, it is stated, has troops aboard two Russian steamers now held up at Suez.

Marriage Announcement

The following announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Gelsie Butt to Mr. Brian Higgins was received this week:

"Mrs. Cecil G. Butt requests the pleasure of your company at the marriage of her daughter, Gelsie, to Mr. Brian Francis Higgins on Thursday evening, October 19, at six o'clock at her residence.

Both young people are among the most popular in Sanford society and have been residents of this city since early childhood. The wedding, while quiet, will be one of the pre-autumn events of the younger social set of Sanford.

Herald Sold the Furniture

W. W. Abernathy believes in advertising in bona fide advertising medium. He has been taking a half page advertisement in The Herald telling the people of this and adjoining counties about his large stock of furnishing and household goods and that he paid the freight on out of town orders. This week two customers from another county bought bills of furniture amounting to over $300 because they had seen his "ad" in The Herald. The small per cent paid for advertising in a newspaper returned to him one hundred fold and he is satisfied The Herald will bring the customers and the twice-a-week will double your business. Try it!

F. A. Shumpert, Inventor

F. A. Shumpert of this city, this morning in three hours, studied out an invention that will beat the "Barker King of all Weeders" two in the game, besides his machine will cost but $2.50, whereas the Barker costs $5. Then, too, with Pa Shumpert's invention, the grower has two implements in one either of which may be used separately. The new machine is for use in cultivating any and all kinds of garden or trucking crops.

When you beat Pa Shumpert in anything in the hardware or implement line, you surely will have to get up before breakfast.

N. P. YOWELL & COMPANY

ONE MILLION DOLLARS FOR A GOOD STOMACH.

This Offer Should Be a Warning to Every Man and Woman.

The newspapers and medical journals recently have had much to say relative to a famous millionaire's offer of a million dollars for a new stomach.

This great multi-millionaire was too busy to worry about the condition of his stomach. He allowed his dyspepsia to run from bad to worse until in the end it became incurable.

His "mistake" served as a warning to others.

Every one who suffers with dyspepsia for a few years will give everything he owns for a new stomach.

Dyspepsia is commonly caused by an abnormal state of the gastric juices, or by lack of tone in the walls of the stomach. The result is that the stomach loses its power to digest food.

We are now able to supply certain missing elements—to help to restore to the gastric juices their digestive power, and to aid in making the stomach strong and well.

We know that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are a most dependable remedy for disordered stomachs, indigestion, and dyspepsia.

We want you to try them and will return your money if you are not more than satisfied with the result.

Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store.

CULLED FROM THE STATE PRESS

An Epitome of the Week's Most Important Happenings in the State's Domain.

As a result of a shooting duel last Saturday afternoon at Leesburg, about 8 o'clock, both W. W. Ward and C. N. Edwards are painfully if not seriously wounded. Edwards is a son-in-law of Ward, and it is alleged that there has been some family troubles at the home of Ward, when Edwards, who was drinking, went to his home and returned with his gun. He was warned to stay outside of the house, and when he did not do so shooting began.

The wet or dry election in Taylor county passed off quietly yesterday. Six out of ten precincts give a dry majority of 137. Dry majority in the precinct was fifty-eight. Returns from other precincts will not materially change the majority.

George Norris, a tug boat engineer, was arrested in Tampa when he landed from Cuba on a charge of having in his possession relics from the wreck of the battleship Maine, in Havana harbor. The tug on which Norris was at work, was used by the government engineers in connection with the raising of the Maine, giving Norris, it is alleged, opportunities to get hold of a quantity of bayonets, bolts and other articles.

Citizens of Fort Myers contend that 80-foot locks in the state canals are insufficient for boats that desire to engage in transporting freight and passengers from Fort Myers to Fort Laderdale and an effort is being made to induce the drainage board to increase the length of the locks to 120 feet.

An effort is being made to organize a stock company at Kissimmee to put in a canning factory. Two thousand dollars of stock has been sold and it is believed the plant will soon be in operation.

Contract has been let by the Commercial Building Company of Tampa to the Fair City Construction Company, of Louisville, for erection of a temporary building at the corner of Florida avenue and Twigg street. Actual construction work will begin about November 1.

One of the largest transactions in real estate in the recent history of Mérose was made this week when P. M. Yearwood and son, under the firm name of the Mérose Manufacturing Company, sold their timber land and turpentine holdings in the Mérose section for the sum of $92,000.

Arrangements are completed for the annual road-up in Alachua county's boys' and girls' corn contest at the experiment station building on October 20. This promises to be the greatest event of its kind that has ever taken place south of the Mason and Dixon line.

THE GRAPEFRUIT

Its Medical Value—When Ripe Explained by a Sanford Writer

Research proved that the Spaniards brought the grapefruit or pomelo to Florida with the Seville orange and the lime when they sought here the Fountain of Youth. But its popularity was nearly four hundred years in getting established. Americans are too fond of sweets to impetuously embrace even such delightfully toned tartness and suggestion of bitterness as are combined in the pomelo. Even when the old English sea-captain, named Shaddock, (or Chaddock, Shaddoc and Chadee) brought from the Orient to the West Indies a first cousin of the grapefruit to reinforce its reputation, it took time and fashion's decree to give them the assured position they now occupy in high society.

While Shaddock was weighted with many and diverse spellings, the pomelo has suffered in a like strain. It was pomelmoes, pumelmoes, pumeloes, pummello, and then simplified to pomelo. To the French the fruit is known as pompelmousse a grappe. And, as the world knows, it is the immense grape-like clusters in which the pomelo grows which gave the name grapefruit, commonly accepted as correct throughout the English-speaking races.

In the October issue of Table Talk, Mrs. Riley M. Fletcher Berry of Sanford author of Fruit Recipes, and recognized authority on the subject, says:

"The grapefruit must be perfectly ripe. Then its juice is indeed a stimulant to the liver and a protector to the system in general in its effect upon the blood, since it is "anti-scorbutic." The membrane and rind are considered of value in possessing a bitter principle partaking of the character of chincina, which principle is contained in the marmalades made from it when not soaked out and poured away. In the uncooked fruit its best value and most delicious flavor are secured when it has hung upon the trees until at least March. And Floridians think it improved with each day which April adds. Northerners often fail to appreciate this fact and thus do not demand it at its proper season. Giving high prices for the early ones, by this mistaken judgment, they get it green instead of fully matured in the spring just when it would do the most good to winter-clogged systems.

Robert E. Davis of Gainesville has been honored by election to membership in the National Academy of Political Sciences.

The Titusville Fruit and Farm Lands Co. will start work on digging a ditch from Bird lake to Indian river next week.

Caught by the undertow while he and a party of friends were in bathing at Fort George, James Damon, manager of Dr. Charles Terry's country estate, was drowned last Sunday before any of his companions could render him assistance.

NEWS IS SUPPRESSED

Government Report on Everglade Drainage Hidden

SEN. FLETCHER IS RESPONSIBLE

Frank Clark Wanted the Truth About the Everglades Made Known To The Public

Washington, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The Washington Times this afternoon prints a story to the effect that because of the strong influence which was brought to bear in the matter, a report on land drainage in Florida, which has been in print for more than a year, and which would have saved investors more than a million dollars had it been circulated, has been suppressed. It is stated that the division of drainage investigations sent engineering parties into the Everglades two winters ago, and that a document was prepared. It showed that these lands could be drained, but it also showed that the work must be done on a gigantic scale and that it was not generally favorable to small projects.

"Senator Fletcher and Gov. Broward," the Times says, "became excited about the bulletin, and, claiming it might injure the state, objected to its publication. On the other hand, Representative Clark, claiming that people were being swindled and that Florida was getting a bad name all over the country, wanted it published at once. The authorities at the department of agriculture finally ordered, after the bulletin was in type, that it should be withheld. But the department people had cooperated in preparing the bulletin and doing the engineering, with the Florida state authorities and the state officials had secured an abstract of the bulletin. So when the publication of the complete document was prohibited, some of the Florida people got hold of the abstract which had been turned over to the state authorities, and in due time the parts of that abstract, which were favorable to the promoters received much publicity, unfavorable sections, which would have warned the investing public did not.

It is freely charged that the suppression of the complete document was prevented, after it was in type, by the influence that Florida political and promoting interests were able to exert.

Last session Senator Fletcher, who had begun to realize that there was good reason for letting the public have the benefit of that careful investigation, finally undertook to get publication. He was unable to accomplish this, and then introduced a senate resolution calling for the publication of this and other matter as a senate document. This carried, and thereupon the materials got together and it was expected the bulletin would be out before this time. But more complications arose, a disagreement somewhere about what matters should be printed and what should not and in the end the entire batch of manuscripts, proofs, etc., was bundled up and sent off to Florida several weeks ago.

It is still there, and nobody in Washington knows when Senator Fletcher and the state people concerned about it will lose their grip and permit the publication, which a short time ago they were anxious to secure. The whole affair has caused much criticism of both the Florida authorities and the Washington administration, among people who have been concerned to know the truth about Florida (investments). It is understood that the Moss committee on expenditures in the department of agriculture will look into the whole subject after it resumes sittings.—Times-Union.

Presbytery Tonight

The Presbytery of St. Johns convenes tonight at 7:30 in the Presbyterian church, the opening sermon to be preached by Rev. S. L. Wilson of Oakland.

The Presbytery will be in session several days and some fine sermons are promised, Thursday night being especially interesting to the members of all churches.

The public is cordially invited to attend all the meetings.

The team and six hundred sailors and a goat were on hand at the college for the game Saturday afternoon. Score 30-0.

CONGRESSMAN AT LARGE

Several in the Race and One is From Our Own City

Pursuant to an act of congress providing for a reapportionment of the representation in congress and as a result of the failure of the legislature to re-district the state, Florida will elect one congressman at large in the elections of next year.

A congressman at large isn't such a novelty. There are lots of congressmen at large in this country who no doubt should be in jail. About the only difference in a congressman at large and an ordinary everyday congressman is that the "at large" fellow has a larger field to cover in his campaign and a larger territory over which to distribute his proportionate share of garden seed. It is also a prerequisite of a successful campaign for congressmen at large that the man who would seek this honor should be provided with a larger roll of the stuff that gets votes.

In the face of all the disadvantages enumerated above, there are several gentlemen of a more or less degree of distinction who are willing to serve the state as congressmen at large. Among the names of those who are mentioned we find that of General Bill Ellis. Let us say in passing, that the prefix "General" to Bill Ellis' name has no military significance whatever and is carried with just as much authority as a general manager of a woodyard would have to carry the title of General. But then Mr. Ellis is not entirely to blame for the empty title with which people choose to adorn his name and, if we really thought that there was any possibility of Ellis really becoming a formidable candidate, we would insist that there should be some better reason than that he sports an empty title for voting against him. Ellis is not a bad looking man and since his hair has turned gray he might, especially at a little distance, be considered somewhat distinguished-looking. It will possibly be remembered by a few that Ellis served the state of Florida as Attorney General during Broward's administration, but so far as the records show he never did anything that would entitle him to any especial consideration at the hands of the people of the state.

Another entry into the "at large" race is Claude L'Engle, editor of Dixie. Claude is brainy, fearless, aggressive and from Jacksonville, all of which are valuable assets, but whether they are sufficiently formidable to land the intrepid Claudius or not is somewhat problematical. There are some who would be interested to know what will become of Dixie, and incidentally of the state and of Jacksonville, if Claude should be sent to Washington.

We also see the name of Hon. Forrest Lake of Sanford mentioned. If the gentleman from Orange is serious, and we feel sure that if he has authorized the mention, that he is serious, for he had the reputation of being the most serious man in the last Florida legislature. He was so serious that it is said that when he stood up to make a motion to adjourn that the members of the house reached for their pocket handkerchiefs.

As regards Mr. Lake we will say that if he were elected to congress Florida would have a man there who would attract attention, fact is, Mr. Lake would demand attention. It has been said that if Mr. Lake would give up politics and go on the stage that he could demand his own figure from the moving picture people as an impersonator of Mutt. Be it understood, however, that Mr. Lake is not a bad looking man.

There has been some mention made of a fellow from Tallahassee who thinks he ought to go to congress. We don't blame him for wanting to go. If we lived in Tallahassee we would want to go somewhere too. We haven't yet found anybody who knows the Tallahassee candidate, but then this may be an advantage in his favor.

There are a number of other gentlemen who have been mentioned for this honor. It doesn't cost a cent to merely be mentioned for an office and it furnishes a nice newspaper clipping for a fellow to send to his wife's people.—Plant City Courier.

Ross French, twenty-one, a Cherokee Indian, living on the Birdtown, Swain county reservation, was safely locked in the county jail at Asheville, N. C., charged with the murder of Ethel Shuler, the fourteen year old daughter of a Birdtown farmer after having attempted to assault her. His arrival was effected after an exciting escape from a mob of one hundred men bent on lynching the prisoner.

Two negroes, Charles Gaines and Raymond Craigwell, were put in jail at Murphysboro, Illinois, Sunday in connection with attempted assault of Miss Mildred Stewman last week. While the sheriff decries that one of the negroes has been identified as the man who grabbed the girl, it is currently reported that he is the man.

Complying with the request of the Business Men's Club of Memphis and the Merchants Exchange of Jackson, Governor Ben W. Hooper today appointed a committee of three to act with a like committee appointed by Governor Noel of Mississippi, for the purpose of rendering any possible assistance in the adjustment of the Illinois Central strike.

A thousand men, one-third of the regular force employed in the shops of the Illinois Central railroad at Chicago, showed up for work Monday morning. This, the railroad men say amounts to a practical ending of the strike so far as this point is concerned. Most of the men at work are members of the old forces.

There was a little news from Tripoli today. What has come simply states that the city, and the entire province, so far as is known, is quiet. The marines landed from the Italian fleet have full possession of the defenses of the city and are guarding the foreign consulates to prevent any surprises. If there is any gathering of Turkish troops at points near the city there is as yet no evidence of warlike movements.

CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

A Budget of Opinion "Just Between You and Me"

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A Chief Is Among Ye Taking Notes and Faith, He'll Prent 'Em'— So Says Saunterer.

A few days ago I bought a bunch of Colorado celery, I ate it, and I also ate some Maryland lettuce. While those two delicacies were exploring my interior, I yearned for Sanford products to put a good taste back in my mouth. However, as the foreign stuff was permeating my system that night, I had a queer dream, and following is what I saw and heard:

The Old Coal Chute
A whirr, a clang and a shriek too-too.
And the engine crawled up the old coal-chute.
A celery stalk stood on the track
And gave the engine a broadside whack.
The monster laughed at the pitiful blow,
And the celery hit the ground below.
With a whirr, a clang and a shriek too-too,
The engine crawled up the old coal-chute.

Next there came a lettuce head
And thumped the old coal-chute instead.
The chute just swayed with rollicking mirth
As the lettuce head kerplumped the earth.
The chute looked up as the engine came,
And said: "Aint this a jolly old game."
With a whirr, a clang and a shriek too-too,
The engine crawled up the old coal-chute.

Wise Bean, King Corn and Asparagus,
All called the Engine a dirty old cuss.
Then Cabbage and beet and the lowly Spud,
All hit the Engine and fell with a thud.
"It tickles my ribs," the Engine said
And then the rest of the Vegetables fled.
With a whirr, a clang and a shriek too-too,
The engine crawled up the old coal-chute.

Then the golden Orange could be seen,
With the grape fruit and the Tangerine;
The Peach and Pear, the Scuppernon,
While the other fruits then came along.
They eyed the Engine and then they fled,
With a whirr, a clang and a shriek too-too,
The engine crawled up the old coal-chute.

The Herring and Perch and the rest of the fish,
Leaped to uphold the People's wish:
From their home in the waters they all took wing,
And cast themselves at the shrieking thing.
But the Engine tumbled them down below,
Back into the waters of Lake Monroe;
With a whirr, a clang and a shriek too-too,
The engine crawled up the old coal-chute.

Then did the products of Goshen and Lake,
Enter the fray for the People's sake:
Bar singly and in groups they came,
And that is why the lot they came.
But the lesson, that they learned so well,
The following verse will gladly tell:
With a whirr, a clang and a shriek too-too,
The engine crawled up the old coal-chute.

Together we'll tackle the ferry boat,
Come the chow from the West and the East;
So united, they all heaved ho!
And the People watched them from below.
The chute fell down with a crash, ker-whack,
While the Engine fled down the railroad track.
With a whirr, a clang and a shriek too-too,
She'll no more crawl up the old coal-chute.

J. W. GOSMAN, H. D.
Birmingham, Alabama, September 30th, 1911.

I am deeply interested in the home-seekers who come to Florida ignorant of lands and are taken in by inauspicious land factors and while there are none in this immediate vicinity there are several fake land schemes that have detracted from our land values and have served to put a blot upon all Florida lands. Our own people should organize a Bureau of Information. The following from the Ft. Myers Press indicates that they are alive to the situation:

"The suggestion by William Gomm, chairman of the board of county commissioners, that a bureau of information for the benefit of land seekers be established in Fort Myers is an excellent one, and is receiving general support. A committee made up, as Mr. Gomm proposes, of members from the board of trade, the town council and the board of county commissioners, is as nearly representative of the interests of the county as it would be possible to get, and the important public bodies would give it weight with inquiring settlers.

This idea is not a new one with the county commissioners for it has been discussed frequently at their various meetings. In fact the board has been trying for some time to devise a method by which truthful information regarding the resources of Lee county might be disseminated. Nothing definite has been accomplished and the idea merely has been lying dormant waiting for the proper psychological moment to arrive for it to spring into activity.

The present agitation over misleading land advertising seems to present such an occasion, and it is to be hoped that the bureau will be established and placed in operation in time for the coming season.

Mr. Gomm is pre-eminently a man of action, and when the board decided that no feasible plan for the establishment of the Bureau presented itself at that time he undertook to do what he could individually toward keeping the unsuspecting settler from being fleeced. He prepared a statement offering his services to any prospective land buyer, with a view of assisting him to settle on good land in Lee county. This statement, under the heading, "To All To Whom This May Be Interesting," he placed in various magazines and other periodicals in the north.

As is well known, Mr. Gomm's interests require his personal attention, and the charge he makes the land seekers for his services is necessary to compensate him for his absence from his duties, which, owing to scarcity of help devolves so largely upon him. There are good land companies and bad land companies. But even some very good operators can fall into some very bad habits. We think the "star chamber" methods which prevail locally in the manner of handling prospective purchasers work harm not only to the county but also in the long run to the companies.

The first thing a prospective settler is told by his land agent is that he must pay no attention to what the residents of Fort Myers and Lee county say about the lands he has under contemplation for the reason that they are "knockers" and would spoil company sales in order to make sales of their own lands. When a party of colonists is coming into the county it is held in Jacksonville for a train which will reach Fort Myers late at night. Arriving here the colonists are hustled off to a bed and then hustled up the river the next morning by the early boat. If by any chance colonists get here in the day time they are met by the company automobile and watched like hawks until they are safely on the boats up river. The return to Fort Myers and subsequent departure for the north are timed with the same motive of secrecy.

This is no fancy sketch. That these methods are practiced here is a matter of common knowledge. A representative of this paper, in the daily routine of duty not long ago went to a hotel to secure the names of some of the colonists who had arrived and whose arrival the paper wished to chronicle as a matter of news. The representative was told that the company had adopted the plan of giving out no news regarding its colonists as it wished "to protect them from the citizens of Fort Myers."

We are not saying that a land company is not entitled to at least a first chance at its colonists after it has gone to some expense to get them here, and we are not upholding the methods of "curbstone brokers" who seek to take the fruits of another man's toil. We feel that Fort Myers and Lee county ought to treat the companies fairly but we also feel that these settlers ought to be given the widest possible opportunity to know what they were doing before they make permanent investments. While the giving of this opportunity might lose a company a few sales, the benefits arising from having satisfied settlers here ultimately would redound to their interest quite as much as to the interests of the county. A dissatisfied settler is just as bad an advertisement for a company as it is for a county and certainly land companies can see in the present agitation that "some chickens are flying home to roost."

Land operators who have a good proposition should have no fear of comparison.

The establishment of a landseekers' information bureau would do as much toward securing legitimate development for Lee county as anything we can think of.

It seems that I have been asleep on the job and was awakened by the war cry of the Boy Scouts on the streets Saturday. Rev. Waldron had anticipated my whim by about two weeks and I understand he has been drilling the boys for some time. Now I think it is reasonable for Rev. Waldron to keep his boys hid under a bushel so long but it is all right this time and no doubt he wanted to surprise me with his big army of little men. He took the boys on their first outing last week and they returned home in the steamboat and said it was the best time of their lives.

I hope and pray that all the boys in Sanford will join this movement. Get closer to Mother Nature and take the best there is in the fields and woods. While the boys are afield with their teachers their parents can be assured they are learning only the good things and growing into strong manly boys.

Another Unlucky Idea

In the matter of bulkheading the lake front at Sanford many plans have been advanced for the project, the latest and most feasible being the idea of pumping an embankment from the channel of the river along the line to which land shall be extended and when it has reached a sufficient height, then begin building on behind this embankment. The current in the lake is slow and sluggish, and would have little or no effect in washing the new-made ground back into the river. The prevailing winds, especially those of any considerable velocity usually come from the north and would have a tendency to uphold the water line rather than to eat it away by erosion. This last advanced idea would obviate the necessity of concrete work, piling, riprap or other method believed to be necessary to retain the filling removed to the banks from the depths of the lake. There seems to be a well defined idea taking root here that the lake front should be so improved that it would become available for residential purposes for at least a mile along in front of the city. The only obstacle in the way of the money to pay for the work and as Sanford has some very acute financiers it is barely probable they will devise ways and means to properly prosecute the work.—T. K. Bates, in T. U.

Opening Exercises at Rollins
Rollins College opened its doors for the twenty-seventh year of its work on Wednesday, October 4th. The exercises were led by President W. F. Blackburn, and a large number of teachers, students, parents and friends assembled in the large auditorium of the new Knowledge Hall, to assist in launching another year of service of Florida's oldest college.

The registration has been unusually large and students are still arriving at every train. The faculty is the strongest in many years, and every indication is for the best and happiest year the college has ever experienced. The new building, with its ample and fully equipped laboratories, lecture rooms, class room and auditorium, will greatly strengthen and facilitate the work of teachers and pupils.

DAIRY FARMING IN THE SOUTH

From Florida Agricultural College, Gainesville

In a recent publication by the U. S. Department of Agriculture on "Dairy Conditions in the South" they summed up their conclusions in the following manner: The dairy industry of the south holds an unimportant position for the following three reasons:

- 1st. Inferior cattle.
 - 2nd. They buy all their feed.
 - 3rd. An inferior product.
- These three reasons are just as applicable to the state of Florida as they are to the south as a whole. But the fortunate thing is that Florida can very easily correct every condition; I say easily because Floridians have at their finger ends all that is necessary to bring about the desired results. We must admit that the milk cattle of Florida are inferior, particularly when compared with the cattle of the dairy sections of the United States. We have inferior cattle in Florida for the same reasons that Wisconsin, Illinois or New York had inferior stock previous to the invasion of the doctrine of more milk. That Florida can have better cattle I am sure, but the change will necessarily have to come through the improvement of the material we have already on hand and by the introduction of better sires and the selection of the offspring. If every dairyman in the state of Florida would sign a pledge to use only accredited sires it would be but a very short time before we would have a quality of stock of which we would be proud.

There is a tendency among the dairyman of the state, with which I am acquainted, to either buy all their feed or pasture their cattle on the native grasses of the pine woods. With the array of leguminous crops that are common to our state, as well as the non-leguminous grasses and with the introduction of better dairy farming, this method of feeding will be a thing of the past. I do not believe that a dairyman can afford to keep his cattle crowded in a small paddock and buy alfalfa hay at $22.00 per ton to feed them. I have seen this done so it is not an imaginary condition. Soiling crops, planted so as to mature when pasture is weak or for conditional feeding is an excellent plan. Try to give the cows a feed of some succulent diet every day and we will soon see marked improvement. However, we can buy the best cattle in America and feed them on the most approved foods and if we allow these cattle to be tick ridden we cannot expect a liberal flow of milk. The time is coming, I believe when we will be tick free but until it does come each dairyman must take special precaution to hold them in check.

Dairy farming, if carried on under careful management should pay rich returns. At the present time the farmers of Leon County are about the only ones that are supplying the trade with sufficient milk and dairy products. There is a vast amount of cream, butter and even milk being shipped into Florida every day. This trade is greatly increased during the winter season. Florida is the resort of the Eastern part of the United States and Florida towns are being filled with permanent residents from the North and these people want milk. They want milk because they are accustomed to it. Statistics show that where the Northern person consumes from one-half to one pint of milk per day the average Southerner drinks less than one-half of that amount. This means that as the state of Florida increases in population the demand for milk per capita will be increased provided they can secure the quality.

While in the North this summer I heard several complaints on the quality of the milk retained in the South and one man even referred to Florida as the state of Condensed Milk. While all of the criticisms are of course not just, still we must admit that there is a foundation for some of them, and wise awake farmers should grasp the situation and profit thereby. Farmers should begin looking toward that end immediately and be ready to meet the demand as it comes. The commencing of a dairy herd, getting the land in condition to raise the feed, and the building of fences are a few of the things that can be started immediately.

More milk and better milk should be the cry of the dairyman. The first to be obtained by better cattle, better feeding and better care of our animals, the second through better cows and more care in the handling of the product.

house address beyond doubt.

Yours sincerely,
(Unsigned.)

Mr. Powell holds the envelope which sealed this letter to pass it through the mails and is considering seriously of proceeding against Barber through the government. The above letter is clearly one of blackmail. Mr. Powell holds a score of other letters written by Barber all of which contain threats of "writing up Florida," bragging about the damage he is doing the State, and that he will continue to "write up" Florida.

This is printed so that the Northern prospector can form an idea of the animus back of ninety per cent of the slanderous letters written to Northern papers and published by them.—Tampa Tribune.

Value of Our Garden Crops

To any one unfamiliar with our crops, the following government report will prove interesting. This report gives all the crops raised in the state in 1910, and another important feature is the fact that every one of these crops is raised on the sub-irrigated fields of Sanford to better advantages than any other section:

South Land of Opportunity

A gentleman returning from the North is quoted by the Times-Union as saying that the South is the real land of opportunity and that the North is suffering from what he termed a "silent panic."

"That is not as good as a country as this. The people are complaining of a 'silent panic' which is the result of much money being lost. The people in the North, instead of putting their money in the banks, where it would be safe, are using it for speculation and many of them have been hit hard, as stocks and bonds have been steadily going down."

"You can hear them talking of the South as the land of resources and opportunity. It used to be the West that claimed their attention and about which they told glowing stories. Now it is the South that is doing the business and getting the money."

The Editor

Most any one can be an editor. All the editor has to do is to sit at a desk six days in the week, four weeks in a month, and twelve months in a year and "edit" such stuff as this:

Mrs. Jones of Cactus Creek let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pants.

A mischievous lad of Picketown threw a stone and cut Mr. Pike in the alley last Tuesday. Joe Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell striking himself on the back porch. While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from the church social last Saturday night a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green on the public square. Isaiah Trimmer of Running Creek was playing with a cat Friday when it scratched him on the veranda. Mr. Frong, while harnessing a bronco last Saturday, was kicked just south of his corn crib.—Florida Chief.

Upholding the Game Laws

Orange county has organized a game protective association one hundred and twenty members strong, with the sheriff at the head of the association. The object of the organization is the enforcement of the game laws of Florida. The county commissioners have offered a reward of $25 to any one giving information against game law breakers which results in conviction. It is to be hoped that anyone killing game out of season will be caught, and suffer the full penalty of the law.—Tall Messenger.

SLANDERED STATE FOR GAIN

F. L. Barber Lied About Florida for Poultry $10

The press of the State of Florida has had much to say concerning an illustrated article on Florida which appeared in the Farm and Fireside of Aug. 10, 1911. This is a reputable farm paper of wide circulation, and the publication of the article has done incalculable damage to the State of Florida as a whole. The article was written by Frank L. Barber, of Watertown, N. Y., who has had accepted similar articles by papers in Syracuse and Utica, and who, for the past two years, has written volumes to land companies, newspapers and business men of Tampa. His latest is a letter where he brags about receiving the magnificent sum of $10 from Farm and Fireside for an article which has cost the State many thousands of dollars.

The following letter shows that Barber is a scoundrel of the most malignant type and the pity of it that there are newspapers so anxious to do Florida an injury that they accept his writings.

Watertown, N. Y., Sept. 14, 1910.
Mr. W. B. Powell, Secretary Board of Trade, Tampa, Fla.

Since my writings in regard to the drawbacks of Florida were published in Northern papers, I have wished to explain matters to you, as it may be of interest to both. I am expecting to return to Florida soon, but not for the purpose of blowing up the bad side of that State, and if you or the land companies can make it an object for me, I will write up the bright side of Florida for Northern papers and do all in my power to undo the harm caused by my previous writings.

I also wish to explain that I was hired to write about the drawbacks of that State, but will not divulge the name of the person that engaged my services. But I will tell you this much, it was a person who purchased some land in Florida and bought a "pig in a bag," according to an old saying, and knowing that I was a newspaper correspondent he engaged me to even up matters for him. I have been all over your State and know conditions there pretty well, consequently I was sought out by the above mentioned party to square things for him. I do not mean that by this that I did not tell the truth in describing Florida's drawbacks, as I believe I did, still it must be admitted that a person can tell a very bad story about conditions in any State and yet be telling the truth. I don't deny that I have done your State some harm, although you may claim otherwise, and I can forward you letters from prospective settlers in Florida who failed to locate there after reading my letters published in the Utica Saturday Globe, Syracuse Herald, and other papers, and thanking me for my efforts in showing up the dark side of Florida. Still I readily see that I was not fully paid for my services as my name has been sent out broadcast over your State by the Florida press as an enemy to your State, which I did not reckon with in the start. I have nothing against Florida in particular, but made the great mistake in selling out, but then money will buy most anything in this age, and I was no exception to the rule. It has learned me a lesson I will also admit, and hereafter I will boost instead of knocking, no matter where I turn up, as I believe it is the best policy. Now I propose to return to Florida soon (if the coast is clear, and if you or the land companies have any use for my services in any way to pay my expenses, etc., I will write from Tampa, Fla., to the Utica Saturday Globe and other papers, exposing the reasons for knocking Florida and picture the bright side of that State in glowing terms. I can make just as good a "hit" in eyes of the public in describing the beauties of your State, but it is worth something to do it. I desire to locate permanently in Florida and hope you will regard me some day as one of the greatest boosters of the age and well worthy of notice. Furthermore, I wish to state that under no condition would I have shown up Florida's drawbacks unless as a paid correspondent, as it required hours of my time in writing to the papers and in answering letters from people interested in Florida. What sort of inducements can you offer me to make good, as I mean business, and this is strictly a business proposition. Would like to hear from you soon. At present I will not sign my name for fear you may give this letter to the newspapers, but you will remember the handwriting and

IDEAL FERTILIZERS BEST
To gain a place on our regular list a formula must not only produce results, but results with a PROFIT. The user of fertilizer considers the effect on his pocket-book the REAL result.
IDEAL FERTILIZERS produces the right effect, for it works with Nature. The preference of each class of vegetation for its source of plant food is carefully studied as well as the proper proportions to give perfect balance—no lack, no waste.
With proper application of proper food vegetation outgrows diseases and insects to a great extent, and being strong and vigorous, produces fruit that is pleasing to the eye and palate, and brings financial returns pleasing to the grower.
Do not lose the maximum profit due you by using poorly balanced plant food from improper sources. IDEAL stands for PROFIT.

Will the A class please stand up and tell us why sugar jumped to ten cents per pound!

We do not favor an equinoctial gale but anything that will break the present hot spell would be a relief.

If you like the twice-a-week Herald take it. If you already subscribe take another one and send it to a friend. Every copy is a boost.

If there is any one who doubts that Sanford is the garden spot of the world let them come to the city now and take a trip through the celery delta.

When the Florida Vegetable Growers Association joins the Florida Citrus Association, Florida farmers and growers will then discard patched trousers and wear automobile clothes like the commission men do.

The problem of the idle negro has become so serious in Jacksonville that the board of trade has instructed a special committee to take up a campaign to insure the rigid enforcement of Florida's vagrancy law. The same condition confronts the smaller towns in a limited ratio.

The Hague peace tribunal had little influence on Italy in its declaration of war on Turkey but this should not have a detrimental effect on peace loving people from continuing their efforts for mitigation of international disputes. But it may be noticed, in the meantime, that all nations continue building greater battleships and increasing the size of their armies.

The Sanford Herald has been made a semi-weekly, and it comes out now bright and newsy every Tuesday and Friday. A few years ago Sanford was one of the worst served towns in the newspaper line in the state. Now, few towns anywhere have better newspaper representation. That's because a newspaper man lives there. Every town hasn't got one. Not every man who murders the King's English or does the blacksmith act with a shirt full of type is entitled to be called a newspaper man, though some of the misfits will never realize this.—Lakeland News.

The editor of the Crystal River News apologizes for his failure to get out his paper a week or so ago, explaining that he required two weeks for him to raise the $6.75 necessary to get the blank sheets out of the express office. And the Gainesville Elevator, after a six years' struggle, has driven the ghost and McCreary's from another neat headstone in his city graveyard. But there are plenty of fools to rush in where these experienced (mean the word) newspaper men have ceased to tread. Mr. Horace Greeley made a little remark apropos: "Man's a verger full of woes; starts a paper—up she goes!" However, when the Elevator was last heard from she was "going down".—Lakeland News.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION
The county commissioners of Osceola county have renewed their contract with the Valley Gazette and the Journal to send out eight hundred copies of the paper to subscribers in the north. While The Herald does not expect such a stunt to be pulled off by the Orange county commissioners it would certainly be well for the Commercial Club or for the city of Sanford to consider a like proposition here. The Herald has accomplished as much for this section as a newspaper could possibly do, and this proposition for advertising is made for the benefit of the city and not as a request for charity. If The Herald is not a good advertising medium and the offer is not good from a business standpoint, don't do it. Only in passing it would be well to remember that hundreds of good farmers are locating in Osceola county this season because they received the Osceola county papers free.

NEED OF FACTORIES
While in Palatka last week although under adverse circumstances the editor of The Herald took a hasty glance over the city and was struck with the remarkable growth of the city and the air of thrift and enterprise shown reveals the fact that Palatka has secured new factories, added them to those already established and the weekly pay roll now is quite a factor in the commercial activity of the city.

The Herald has always contended that Sanford needed more factories and plenty of them. We are asleep at the switch in the manufacturing game. We sit down calmly and pat ourselves on the back and read the crop reports on celery and lettuce—and wake up and the market report reads so different and we drag along through another summer waiting for another winter and so on ad finitum.

Whenever the people of Sanford awaken to the fact that the factory is the main squeeze and throw everything else into the discard we will have a city. Of course we would not have a city depending upon the factories absolutely for the tourist crop and the vegetable crops would prove valuable adjuncts.

Sanford needs factories because we need a weekly pay roll fifty two weeks in the year.

How do they get factories? Not by holding a meeting of the Commercial Club and making a few speeches but by a concerted effort of every business man in the city who will put his hand in his pocket for a fund for factory purposes. There is no better location in the south for factories than Sanford, Florida and it is up to the business men of Sanford to go out and get them but you will have to first get together long enough on the subject to talk the matter over and arrive at a conclusion.

Can you cut out politics long enough to do this?

Funeral of Admiral Schley
Funeral services for the late Rear Admiral W. S. Schley were held in St. John's church at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, interment in Arlington cemetery. Four companies of marines and two companies of bluejackets from Philadelphia and cadets from Annapolis and Washington, and a naval band formed the military escort to accompany the body from Schley's home to the church, thence to Arlington. The army was not represented in the parade. Delay in advising the navy department of the wishes of the family in regard to a military funeral operated to curtail the funeral cortege below the numerical strength provided for in the regulations as proper honors to be paid a rear-admiral.

Former Associate Justice Hagner of the District of Columbia supreme court, Lieut-Gen. Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., Rear Admirals Remey, McLean, Barker, Cromwell, N. Nicholson and Green were the pallbearers.

A Miami trucker has sued the East Coast Ry., for damages for the slow shipment of his crop last year.

Frank Woodruff and family, and B. A. Howard and family, motored to Daytona Beach Sunday.

Eugene Roomillat and Billie Hill, went to Daytona Beach Sunday on a motor-cycle.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Langley, have returned home after a summer spent in travel, and as usual they will make Sanford their home during the winter.

T. J. Miller, arrived home last Friday afternoon after a vacation spent at Buffalo, Niagara Falls, and points in Canada. Mrs. Miller will remain a few weeks longer ere returning home.

Mrs. A. P. Connelly's many friends are glad to welcome her return from Connelly Springs, where she and the boys have been staying for the past five weeks.

Mrs. Mary E. Stirling of St. Louis, Mo., is visiting her son J. B. Stirling and family.

The members of the Land a Hand society, will meet at the residence of Mrs. Henry Wight, Friday afternoon, at three o'clock. A full attendance is earnestly desired as the Constitution and By Laws are to be voted on at this meeting.

Mr. Arthur Foster of Tallahassee, Ala., a former resident of Sanford, arrived in the city last night. Mr. Foster was preceded by a handsome Buick touring car, which will doubtlessly contribute to his pleasure this winter and also that of his many friends.

W. J. Hill returned to his Florida home last Friday night after several months vacation spent in England visiting the scenes of his boyhood. It will be up to him now to explain about those cabbages that grow ten feet high and other interesting stories that he sent to us by mail.

October's Heat With fifty-six degrees excess heat for the first eight days of October and with no cold weather in sight, it appears to the local weather bureau that winter is "some ways off." There has not been enough cold to make persimmons taste well, nor enough to bring the oyster season in on time. Summer has worn out its welcome by its long stay.

The local bureau said yesterday that the weather had "turned off" colder in Western and Southwest Texas, but that there was little chance for the low temperature to drift over to Florida. Yesterday at Galveston the thermometer registered sixty-six degrees, while at Corpus Christi it registered sixty-six degrees. But at Tampa it remained at seventy-five. —Tampa Tribune.

Moose Exchange Visits Last Friday night about 25 members of the local lodge of Moose went down to Orlando to attend the installation of a new Moose lodge at that place, returning on the midnight train. It is said that such a large herd of Moose on the streets of a town where moose are seldom seen caused quite a stir. However the boys report that a fine class was installed at Orlando and the citizens there will soon be accustomed to such sights.

Last evening some of the members from Orlando returned the call visiting the regular meeting at this place. Among those in attendance were Messrs. Dann, Armstrong, Gotha, Fields and several others.

HIGH-GRADE GOAT BREEDING AN ILLUSTRATION OF THE RESOURCES OF VOLUSIA FARMS

We have just been reading a book on the "Mohair Industry of America," by Percy P. Vyle, of Jacksonville, Florida, and in conjunction with a recent article we read in the New York Herald relative to goats, it is possible that out of these comments some of our farmer correspondents and prospective settlers on Volusia Farms may be given a new line of thought relative to the hitherto unmentioned resources of the fine tract of general farming land across the river from Sanford.

The book deals with the finer breed of goat called the Angora from which mohair is clipped—mohair being the technical name for the fiber of the Angora goat used in the manufacture of a variety of fabrics, either pure, or in connection with wool, silk, linen, etc., the shorter hair of the Angora is used in the manufacture of automobile tops, lap robes, etc. The odor noticeable in the common goat is entirely absent in the Angora; the odor in a fleece of mohair is milder than that in a wool fleece and is not at all offensive.

THESE GOATS THRIVE ON BRUSH AND SHRUBBERY. They could not live on fine pasture lands like cattle and sheep—their feed must be of a browsing nature.

With the opening of large acreages of wild land for farming and agricultural purposes, there is an enormous demand for Angoras in the middle west for clearing these lands of the brush and shrubbery.

In localities where the land is completely subdued by brush the goat is considered of more value for the purpose of clearing it than for its mohair, its meat or skin combined. Goats will convert a wilderness into a pasture without expense to the farmer. Goats are even leased for this purpose in the west.

In Missouri, breeders are paying special attention to the production of Angora goats as live stock for the markets. Owing to the tremendous shortage of live stock in this country, there is a good profit, they assert, in the breeding of any kind of meat product.

As far back as Abraham's day, we read of goats being used for meat, and this, too, when there were many cattle and sheep. The reports that goats are sold to meat packers is true, but it refers to the Angora goat only.

The flesh of the Angora goat is exceedingly nutritious and palatable. The meat of the Angora competes with lamb from the fact of its exceptionally fine wholesome flavor.

Were this fact, says Mr. Vyle, more generally known, Angora goat flesh would be the world's favorite and popular meat. The only reason why these superior goats are not more often seen in the market reports of receipts and shipments is that they pass as sheep. Angora flesh commands the same price as the best mutton.

It is stated that Angora goats thrive best in high and dry altitudes as these altitudes have a beneficial effect on the mohair. Angoras require a great amount of exercise. They are exceptionally sensitive of restraint—the greater the exercise the better the mohair.

The point that occurs to us is this:

Leaving mohair out of the question, why not introduce the Angora goat on Volusia Farms, first, for cleaning up the land, and second, for raising as live stock?

It is not likely that the Angora goat would do well on our lands if considered purely for its mohair, as all authorities seem agreed that to grow in full maturity, the Angora must have the rugged hillsides on which to climb.

In cleaning up land, however, we anticipate that they would prove of inestimable value. Pictures in the "Mohair Industry of America" show some wonderful effects of before and after—of lands covered with bushes and of those same lands cleaned up like a park solely through the medium of the Angora goat.

Homesteaders are making their herds do the work of clearing the land of brush for later farming operations, in other parts of the country, why not on Volusia Farms?

A subscriber, writing to the "Southern Agriculturist," desired to know how to exterminate wild onions, and a correspondent replied:

I wish to say to your subscriber that a small flock of Angora goats will do the work better and much cheaper than the method of the Department of Agriculture, and while the goats are exterminating the onions, they will also exterminate all other noxious weeds as well and at the same time spread a coat of rich fertilizer over the land. The Angora goat is the cheapest exterminator I have ever found for wild onions and other troublesome weeds.

On Pine Key, near Tampa, Florida, Mr. H. H. Moloche has a herd of 100 head of goats. On this Key there is a very heavy growth of grass and other vegetation, and it is to get rid of this that the goats were placed there. We do not know whether Mr. Moloche's goats are Angoras or not, but we believe the Angora better suited to Volusia Farms than the ordinary common goat, because of the stock raising possibilities.

Angora goat raisers have been put into circumstances of comparative affluence by the scarcity of sheep and lambs, which has created a demand for their output at very remunerative prices. Lamb and mutton is a luxury in Florida only to be thought of—never eaten on account of its scarcity and its high price. Lamb chops sold for 80c a pound in Jacksonville last winter, while 20c was asked for the toughest mutton.

No Disease is Known to the Angora Goat.

Farmers' Bulletin, No. 137, U. S. Department of Agriculture, 1901, page 23, says:

There is a deep-seated prejudice against the use of goat for meat. This is founded upon ignorance rather than experience. The most ill-smelling "billy" of the worst possible type is by many made the standard of goat meat for the whole of the goat family.

Shropshire lambs, which are considered among the best kinds of meat, are said not to be superior to a well-fed well-cooked Angora kid. In the Southwest, these animals are as readily sold for meat as sheep and the market has never been overstocked. In nearly every locality where they have been killed for mutton, there has never been a derogatory statement concerning its quality.

In Cape Colony it is said that the old does are slaughtered to furnish meat for farm hands and young wethers are sold to butchers. In California many miners purchase Angora wethers in preference to sheep wethers for salting down for winter use, because, as they state, the Angora contains less fat, is more easily kept and is just as palatable.

So many inquiries have come to the Bureau of Animal Industry concerning the meat phase of Angora goat raising that the Department ascertained the facts of marketing from the actual producers. Answers to the question, "Do you have any difficulty in disposing of your surplus Angoras for meat?" were invariably in the negative.

IS VOLUSIA FARMS CLIMATE SUITABLE?

So far as temperature is concerned, no place has been found that is too hot or too cold for Angoras. Though not partial to heat, they will stand it quite as easily as sheep. Shade is essential where the sunshine is very warm. The climate in Angora, where the breed originated and is still supposed to flourish in its most perfect state, is extreme. A temperature as high as 80 degrees is registered there in summer. In the Cape of Good hope, where Angoras are thriving well, the temperature goes higher in summer.

Almost any kind of soil, except wet and marshy land, is suitable for these goats.

Crossing the Angora bucks upon the common goats of the United States have been very satisfactory in many respects. Many of the large flocks of Texas and New Mexico have had Mexican does for their foundation. Why not success with the Florida goat?

According to the latest available statistics, Volusia county has only 124 goats, presumably of the common breed. Florida has only 40,210, so the opportunities there are in this State for high-grade goat breeding have not been extensively developed.

According to the New York Herald, some of the government's reasons for undertaking to develop the American goat are these—and this opens another phase of the question we have not touched:

"It is the unanimous opinion of milk experts that goat's milk is much better than cow's milk for invalids, children, cookery and nearly other purpose.

"It is of more nutritive value and more easily digested than cow's milk. Is absolutely free at all times from the germs of tuberculosis bearing out what we said above that disease was unknown to the goat.

"Cheese made from goat's milk is of the choicest varieties and commands the highest prices.

Ask your grocer the price of Schweitzer, Roquefort, and other goat milk cheese.

Indeed, the possibilities opened up by this subject are so many that this Bulletin can only briefly dwell on a few. We firmly believe that with care in the selecting a farmer can find as good land, absolutely dry and without marsh, on Volusia Farms as anywhere, and in addition, given attention and study, we believe Angora goat raising and by-products will prove very profitable.

Will YOU make use of this, only ONE of the many resources of Volusia Farms?

I AM A CANDIDATE FOR THE OFFICE OF

MAYOR

OF THE CITY OF SANFORD

Subject to the Action of the White
Primary to be Held on

NOVEMBER 21st NEXT

Generally in political campaigns a candidate's friends who can't say anything in his favor find something to say against the other man. Sometimes it's funny, often it's merely silly and rarely if ever true.

My ardent enemies are circulating one of these stories in the present campaign--- funny, because silly and untrue.

They say I want to be Mayor so I can buy Lake's Water Works property for the city.

I do not favor and will oppose this proposition.

Let us consider: Lake would want money wouldn't he? Yes, sure. The council and not the Mayor handles the city's finance. Yes, that's true. How does the city or its council raise money for such purpose? By a bond issue, of course. How are bonds issued? Only by a vote of the freeholders of the city at an election called for that purpose. The call must state the purpose for which the money is to be spent. That is the law, only you voters can determine a question of this kind.

Then how am I to buy the Water Works for the city?

Does not this story insult your intelligence?

Can you believe that anyone but a fool or a malicious liar would circulate a story like this?

New Calery City Vanity Fair While Away the Golden Hours— Social Gossip

Mrs. H. P. Driver, entertained the every Thursday Bridge Club in the popular and cozy tea room of Miss Charlotte Keeler, Thursday afternoon. Two tables of Bridge were played. Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin made the top score and won the first prize, a handsome sofa pillow. Mrs. R. S. Keeler received the booby prize, a very pretty leather bridge score. After the conclusion of the games, delicious guava cream and cake were served.

Mrs. Driver's guests were Mrs. R. S. Keeler, Mrs. W. D. Holden, Mrs. O. W. Brady, Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin, Mrs. Paul Keely, Mrs. O. W. King, and Mrs. A. W. Brown.

Under the auspices of the Ladies Union a sociable was given at the parsonage of the Congregational church. Besides the social mingling of friends the evening was made very enjoyable by musical and literary entertainment. A male quartette, composed of Messrs. E. T. Woodruff, Dr. C. E. Walker, Roland Wildman and Frank Polk contributed very largely toward the pleasure and success of the evening. A very amusing and unique guessing contest furnished the literary features of the program. The names of a number of the prominent citizens of Sanford, were represented by articles and pictures; the company were to guess from these articles and pictures the correct names they were intended to suggest. A prize was offered to the person guessing correctly the largest number of names thus represented.

Miss Mabel Cowan of Sanford Heights, guessed the largest number correctly, and literally took the cake; as the prize was a generous slice of delicious cake daintily wrapped in white tissue paper tied with white ribbon.

Miss Albina Frank, also of Sanford Heights, guessed the next largest number correctly. A Silver offering was made for the benefit of the church.

The Sanford Music Club, held their first meeting of the season Saturday afternoon, at 8 o'clock, in the studio, of Mrs. Fannie Stenbridge-Munson. The subject considered was early English Music.

Music in the days of Queen Elizabeth was very interestingly treated in a paper by Mrs. George Fox, Jr.

Shakespeare in music was given in a most interesting and instructive talk by Mrs. Munson, who also, played several original air, introduced by Shakespeare in his plays, the words of which were sung by Miss Mabel Bowler. "Under The Greenwood Tree" from "As You Like It." Several of the songs of Ophelia, in the mad scene from Hamlet. The old song of "Willow", sung by Desdemona, in "Othello"; also the old English Lyric, "Drink To Me With Thine Eyes", words by Ben Jonsson, melody unknown. The club discussed, Elizabeth patron of music, how the love of music may be developed in a community or town. Short selections were given by Mrs. M. Martin, from Byrd, Tallia, Bull, Gibbons and Marley. The program was much enjoyed. The names of several possible members were suggested.

Miss Mabel Bowler will sing at the Cecilia Music Club, which will meet at Mrs. Munson's studio Oct. 14th.

Mrs. R. S. Keeler and Mrs. Paul Keely dined with Mrs. W. D. Holden at the Sanford House Friday. Mrs. Holden's present home. In the afternoon several more friends were invited to play bridge with them. Two tables were played. The ladies composing the afternoon party were Mrs. O. W. King, Mrs. O. W. Brady, Mrs. W. W. Prather, Mrs. C. W. McLaughlin and Mrs. H. P. Driver. The first prize, a pretty automobile veil, was won by Mrs. H. P. Driver. The booby prize, a box of Huyler's candy, was received by Mrs. W. W. Prather. The pleasure of the afternoon was enhanced by the delicious refreshments of ice cream and coconut cake which were served at the conclusion of the game.

A few friends met very informally with Mrs. U. W. Brady Saturday afternoon and enjoyed one table of bridge. Light refreshments were served.

A very pleasant dance was enjoyed by the younger set of young people in the dance hall Friday evening. The chaperones for the occasion were Mrs. H. B. Cotinelly and Mrs. T. S. Davis. The young people contemplate giving these dances on every Friday evening. The young people who enjoyed the dance were the Misses Lillian Higgins, Estelle Purdon, Margaret Davis, Lucca Chappell, Linda Connolly, Charlene Scaring, Flora Price, Irene Thurston, Martha Miller, Kate Underwood, Adelaide Higgins, Anna McLaughlin, Douglas Abernathy, Ralph Wight, Karl Roumillat, Forest Gatchel, Pope Wicker, Ernest Betts, Osborne Williams, Paul Jones, Willie Shepherd, Frank Shelley, Beth Woodruff, McDowell Butt, Harold Long, George McLaughlin.

The boys of the Sanford High School met Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 4th, and organized the athletic association. The officers for the ensuing year are Karl Roumillat, president; Ray Maxwell, vice president; Clarence Mahoney, secretary and treasurer. Football plans for the season were discussed. It was decided that the Sanford High School would be represented on the gridiron by a strong eleven, with Prof. Wildman as manager and Phil Allen, captain.

Says Scouts Organized

Last Saturday afternoon, through the courtesy of Mr. C. R. Walker fourteen Sanford boys had the time of their life. It was the first outing of Sanford Troop, No. 1 of the Boy Scouts of America. They were taken in a launch across Lake Monroe to Enterprise. The launch anchored near the shore on the north side of the lake. The boys already in their bathing suits dashed through the water to the shore, on through the woods to Blue Sulphur Springs and spent a delightful hour in the water. After the refreshing pleasure of the water they were lined up and put through their military tactics. That completed they waded back through the water to the boat. When the boat reached the wharf at Sanford the boys announced their arrival at home by a whoop and yell. After disembarking, they lined up and gave three cheers for C. R. Walker. Marching through the streets they gave their Scout yell, repeating it in front of the First National Bank, the Peoples Bank and the Herald office, where they disbanded.

The first meeting of this organization in Sanford took place Sept. 18th in the parish room of the Peoples Church and under the direction of the pastor. There were only three boys present at this first meeting, but these became so enthusiastic that boys by twos and threes have been coming in at each subsequent meeting. There are now twelve boys who have either passed the tender foot test or are preparing for that ordeal. A boy scout tender foot must be prepared to the four standard knots, must know the history of the American flag and be able to give the twelve scout laws. He then takes the following oath: On my honor I will do my best, 1. To do my duty to God and my country and to obey the scout law. 2. To help other people at all times. 3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.

- The scout law: 1. A scout is trustworthy. 2. A scout is loyal. 3. A scout is helpful. 4. A scout is friendly. 5. A scout is courteous. 6. A scout is kind. 7. A scout is obedient. 8. A scout is cheerful. 9. A scout is thrifty. 10. A scout is brave. 11. A scout is clean. 12. A scout is reverent.

The Alligator patrol of the first troop has been organized for the Congregational church with Fred C. Wight as patrol leader and Douglas Glayde as corporal. Patrols will be organized for the other churches as rapidly as boys enough for the patrols join the scouts.

The scouts will have uniforms and badges. They have signs which they make to each other and their leader, using the first three fingers of the left hand, with changes in using the fingers to signify different meanings.

To Rev. Geo. B. Waldron belongs the credit of having organized a movement of which the power and possibilities of good, not only to the boys of our town, but to every citizen within its borders, that is as far reaching and limitless as time itself.

Drowned at Palatka

Last Tuesday evening about 4 o'clock Wm. J. Holly, a contractor at work on the innkeeper of the home of William A. Hill, laid down his work and started for home. Holly lives at Rolleston on the east side of the river just above Browning's mill and in a house which he rented, about six weeks ago from S. J. Hillborn. About five o'clock in the evening Frank Browning saw and heard a launch churning away in the hyacinth massed in the river opposite the mill. No one seemed to be in the launch, and Mr. Browning investigated. There was no one in the boat. The engine was running. No one was in sight. Mr. Browning took charge of the boat and reported the find Thursday morning about 9:30 Capt. F. E. Rosignol while passing up the river saw a body floating. He secured the body and went to Browning's mill from where he telephoned the sheriff's office. Justice Marshall went to the mill and held an inquest. The body was that of Mr. Holly.

Wm. J. Holly was a man in the 30's. He is married, but has no children. For several years the family lived in Palatka, only six weeks ago moving to Rolleston from Emmett street near the ice factory. He went to and from his new home and this city in a gasoline launch. It was on the Tuesday evening trip home and nearly in sight of it that he was drowned. The jury's verdict was accidental drowning. Mr. Holly was an industrious young man who lived happily with his wife, and has stood highly in the estimation of all who knew him.

His brother is R. J. Holly, the well-known editor of the Sanford Herald, who was informed of the drowning and who arrived here last evening to arrange for the funeral.—Palatka News.

About Charley Lefler

The Miami Herald is printing a series of articles on Who's Who and Why in Miami and last week's issue contained a good one on Chas. D. Lefler. Lack of space forbids the entire publication but we reproduce the Sanford part because all of us know Charley Lefler and he deserves all the good things said about him:

"But before going into the life history of Mr. Lefler it is best to begin at the beginning and work up to now. When four years old Mr. Lefler moved to Alabama; and in 1877 the family moved to Florida to a little town called Melonville, now Sanford. There was no school in Melonville but there was one three miles distant, at Fort Reed. Three miles to school and the same three miles home gave young Lefler great opportunities to think. What his thoughts were then cannot be recalled, but he never gave up thinking. It is a habit with him today, was yesterday and always will be. Some men never acquire that habit, but as stated above, Lefler is something different.

Young Lefler learned all he could at the little Fort Reed school and then his parents sent him to Homer Academy. He used all they could give him there and went to the University of the South at Swannee, Tenn., and took three years treatment there, and wound up his education at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., taking a commercial course in a well-known college. He came home to Sanford alias Melonville, equipped with theory, which he began to convert into practice.

His first mingle with work was with the South Florida Railroad, a corporation, now a part of the Atlantic Coast Line, a corporation. He was a cashier, until transferred to the auditing department of the Plant Steamship Line, a corporation, where he remained between Sanford and Port Tampa until he decided to go into partnership of the kind that robe a man of the follow of being a Benedict. After marrying Miss May Martin, of Sanford, Mr. Lefler took up the mercantile business. That was in 1891. He operated a grocery store there until 1899, when he decided to come to Miami."

Ode to the Auto

Over the hills to the poorhouse, I'm setting a picnic place. I've mortgaged the home for an auto, and I am playing her straight. There are others well up in the realm; but I'm holding my own, you bet. I can see the top of the country farm, and I'm going to get there yet. Of course I couldn't afford it (there are very few who can). But the family whined about it and insisted that I wasn't a man. If I didn't get six cylinders, a tonneau, some tires and plugs. And go out and speed the highway with the auto—million best. So we plastered the home with a lien, the second I'd have you know. The first is for part of the purchase price and a few other things I owe. Wife said it would be saving, and we would soon pay for the machine. With the difference between the car fare bill and the cost of gasoline. Once I was known for my wisdom, my business foresight it was here. But that was before I invested in an aid-to-bankruptcy machine. Now others are getting the rhino, their assets with no safety shins. While I'm on the road to the poor house—the road for the indigent mind. Whoopee! Clear the way for I'm coming—just passed a bunch of my friends. All bent in the same direction, where the road of it's the place of a drunken sailor at the helm of a rudderless ship. Over the hills to the poorhouse, I'm hitting a hell-u-a-clip. —Vermillion, S. D., Republican.

Make The Vagrants Work

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 10.—Aroused to action by reports of shortage of labor throughout the state, the Jacksonville Board of Trade has instructed a special committee to take up a campaign for a rigid enforcement of the vagrancy law in Jacksonville, where there are said to be several thousand idle negro men and grown boys.

The committee, of which John G. Griffin a prominent shipping man, is chairman, will hold a meeting within the next few days and consider means of co-operating with the municipal authorities in driving out the vagrants. Jacksonville, like all Florida towns and communities, has been feeling the acute shortage of labor very keenly. Many of its industries have been hampered.

Citizens believe that if a rigid campaign is made for the enforcement of the law, idle negroes will be compelled to seek permanent employment. Many want the officers to go so far as to make those accused of being idlers show that they are employed for six days a week. It is a common dodge for chronic idlers to work a day or two at some insignificant employment merely to evade the designation as a vagrant.

Death of Mrs. B. J. Williams

The community was shocked at the intelligence of the death of Mrs. B. J. Williams which occurred at the Daytona Sanitarium last Sunday night. Mrs. Williams was taken seriously ill about one month ago, and hoping the change to the coast would benefit her health she joined her husband at New Smyrna where he is engaged in business. Becoming worse Mrs. Williams was removed to the Sanitarium at Daytona where all that medical skill and the gentle nursing of sisters and relatives was done but to no avail and this young life was given almost before she had commenced to live.

Reba Stringfellow Williams grew up in Sanford from her earliest childhood and the sudden death is a blow to every one. A few months ago she was married to Brodie J. Williams a childhood friend and the death is saddest because it occurred almost in the honeymoon when the young couple were planning their new home at New Smyrna.

Mrs. Williams was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Stringfellow and the sympathy of every one goes out to the parents and sisters and to the young husband.

The funeral will occur this morning at nine o'clock from the residence of her sister, Mrs. May Dickins.

Rally Day At Peoples Church

Sunday was Rally Day at the Peoples Church. In the morning Mr. Waldron emphasized the necessity of co-operation among the members, using for an illustration various parts and activities of the human body. At night the services were charge of the Sunday School and consisted chiefly of songs and recitations by the school. The principal object of this Rally Day was to fix attention on the Sunday School work, and to prepare for a contest that is being carried on among the Congregational schools of the during the next seven months. Reference was also made to the Men and Religion Forward movement, a campaign of national proportions and of inter-denominational sweep that has just been inaugurated in Jacksonville and is to be extended through the state. There was a good attendance of parents and friends. As usual the young children were the favorites of the congregation, but all made a creditable showing both for themselves and for those who drilled them for the occasion.

Card of Thanks

To the Editor of The Herald: Please allow us through the Herald to sincerely thank Mr. Parson's friends and ours in Sanford for their kindness to us in our deep sorrow.

MRS. P. J. PARAMORE AND FAMILY, Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 9th.

Growth of I. O. O. F.

One of the greatest orders in the world today is that of the Odd Fellows, who in a quiet and unobtrusive way have scattered seeds of kindness along the pathway of life.

The following facts and figures are taken from the report of the 87th annual session of the I. O. O. F. which convened in the City of Indianapolis on September 18th, 1911:

Membership of the Order:
Dec. 31, 1910.....	2,033,731
For the relief of sick.....	$ 5,711,049.41
Total receipts for 1910.....	17,804,771.24

Odd Fellows Home, not including it in course of construction..... 4,200,411.92
During the last 40 years 3,856,431 members and 318,294 destitute families have received in relief $126,698,396.00
Who will undertake to estimate the amount of good that this and similar institutions are doing for the cause of humanity?

New Bank Will Open

The Bank of Winter Park will open its new building for inspection by the public and for the receiving of deposits and the transaction of other business on Monday, October 16, at 10 a. m., and at three thirty p. m. brief addresses will be made in the South Park by officers of the bank and visiting friends, after which refreshments will be served. The exercises will be enlivened by music by the Winter Park Band and the Rollins College Glee Club. The public is cordially invited to be present. The banking house which is nearing completion, is built of Lake Helen sand-lime brick, after plans prepared by Mr. Percival Rutton an architect of New York, and is a beautiful and commodious structure, and is believed that the institution will be a great convenience to the people of Winter Park and surrounding country.

Kitchen Convenience

A half dozen thumb-tacks, such as are used by artists and architects, will prevent the oilcloth on kitchen tables from slipping. Three along the front edge of a table and the same number in back keeps it secure and smooth.

CALLS FROM THE STATE PRESS

An Epitome of the Week's Most Important Happenings in the State's Domain.

Judge Geo. W. Walker, State Attorney for the Tallahassee circuit, has been adjudged insane. The case will be fought out in the courts, however, before he is taken to the asylum, some people contending that it is a scheme to get him removed from office.

The contract has been let for the remodeling and enlargement of the Magnolia Hotel in Leesburg. The entire building is to be fitted with electric lights and all modern conveniences, and about twelve more rooms will be added.

A Miami firm has accepted the contract with a land company operating in the region around Fort Lauderdale to set out 7,000 tropical trees on its property.

Gadsden county is to have a handsome court house. For this purpose the county commissioners have decided to issue $50,000 worth of bonds.

The Florida Educational Association will meet in Jacksonville on the 27th of December, and will be in session for three days.

Sheriff E. L. Smith, of Volusia county being tried this week in Palatka, Putnam county, on the charge of murder in the first degree. Since indictment by the Putnam County Grand Jury, Smith has been at liberty and on $10,000 bond, furnished by W. C. Jackson and Z. T. Bielby, of DeLand. The case, which has attracted widespread attention throughout Florida, bringing forth many editorials from the State press, is a queer one from beginning to end and the trial will be watched with the greatest interest.

Hotel at Worthington was destroyed by fire Monday night, together with the furniture and effects of guests. The fire was discovered at 12 o'clock and was then burning fiercely in the kitchen and dining room, but how it originated is a mystery. Every occupant of the hotel was asleep, and they were fortunate in escaping with their lives, so rapidly did the flames pursue their devastating course. Three commercial travelers were stopping there for the night and two of them had very narrow escapes, being almost suffocated by the smoke before gaining access to the street. There was no time to save anything, with the result that the furniture and the effects of the guests were all destroyed.

The architect is now busy with the plans for the agricultural building and dining hall at the state university at Gainesville, the construction of which has been authorized by the board of control. It is thought that contracts for the buildings will be let at the December meeting of the board of control.

PUTTING DOWN SEWERS

Street Committee Doing Good Work Along This Line

The city council has decided at last to the necessity of putting down a better sewer at the Sanford House where one has been needed for several years. The street committee decided upon the Elmira wooden sewer which is made of white pine, strongly reinforced by steel hoops and the outer surface protected by a coating of tar. The units can be firmly joined together and the joints tarred over and while this is an experiment for Sanford there is no reason why the wooden sewer should not last for many years. It is certainly a great improvement over the boxed arrangement used on this main sewer for the past few years, and until it is given a thorough trial and proved wanting The Herald is inclined to give it the benefit of the doubt. We have harped upon this main sewer for years and urged the council to try another plan, and the new sewer is such a great improvement over the old that no fair minded man can condemn it until it has proved to be deficient. It is absolutely air tight and will keep down the nauseous odors that have prevailed at this point so long. These wooden sewers have been in use in northern cities for years and have been the best material obtainable for cheap cost and durable quality.

Pioneers' Association

The members of this association held a picnic in the fair building in Orlando, Oct. 11th, 1911.

About seventy-five persons were in attendance, principally the older settlers of the county. The entertainment of the morning hours consisted mainly in reminiscence addresses. B. M. Sims of Apopka, president of the association made the opening address. He was followed by several other representative men of the county. This retrospective feast of reason and flow of soul was greatly enhanced by the magnificent spread which followed, characteristic of Orange county's well known and abundant hospitality and which was thoroughly enjoyed by the entire company.

A business session was called immediately after dinner to perfect and make the organization a permanent institution.

The constitution which had been prepared was adopted with only a few alterations.

The secretary of the association will be paid $50.00 per year for his services.

Mrs. J. N. Whitner of Sanford was chosen historian, which action was a most fitting and graceful tribute to the lady's ability and future usefulness in keeping up the annals of so creditable an institution as it is hoped the Pioneer's Association will prove to be to the entire county.

Southwestern Montana is in the grip of a terrific snow storm that has cut off Butte from communication with the outside world today. Every telephone and telegraph wire into Butte has been leveled, communication ceasing at Helena and Deer Lodge, on the north and Dillon to the south.

ST. JOHNS PRESBYTERY

South Florida Well Represented At Presbytery Here

MANY ELOQUENT ADDRESSES

Prominent Divines From Other States Who Have Become Members of Florida Presbytery

The annual convention of the St. Johns Presbytery at Sanford this week was one of the most successful meetings ever held by the Presbyterians of Florida. The St. Johns Presbytery extends from DeLand to Key West and from DeLand to Tampa on the west embracing a populous territory within the domain. About forty delegates, ministers and elders were here and were shown every courtesy by the hospitable citizens of Sanford who irrespective of creed assisted in entertaining the visitors.

The opening sermon of the convention was preached on Tuesday evening by Rev. S. L. Wilson of Oakland, after which new officers were chosen to conduct the session of the Presbytery. Rev. W. T. Waller of Bartow was elected moderator and Rev. J. T. Wilds of Plant City clerk.

Wednesday morning an early morning business session was held at 8:30 o'clock. The 10:30 service was conducted by the Rev. T. J. Allison, concluding with the administration of the Lord's Supper.

An early business session was held Wednesday afternoon, at the conclusion of which the Presbytery was given an excursion to Enterprise.

At the evening service, at 7:30, popular missionary reports were made by several ministers.

Thursday morning the usual early business session opened and ended with devotional exercises, which indeed characterized each and every meeting of the Presbytery. The sermon at the 10:30 service was preached by Rev. J. W. Stagg, D. D. pastor of the Orlando Presbyterian church.

Thursday afternoon an early business session was held at 2 o'clock, in order that the visitors might enjoy an automobile ride, tendered them by the citizens of Sanford, who were waiting at the church for the conclusion of the business meeting.

Thursday evening, the closing business of the session was the feature of the service after which the Rev. P. H. Hensley Jr., in charge of the Cuban mission at Ybor City spoke of the three hundredth anniversary celebration of the translation of King James Version of the Bible. He was followed by the Rev. G. W. Hardaway, representing the American Bible Society.

Uncle Bill Makes Good

We will have to hand it to Uncle Bill Hill. He sent us post cards and letters about the cabbages growing ten feet high in England and we winked the other eye and let it go at that. But today he came in and presented the editor with a fine silver headed cane made from a cabbage stalk. The editor appreciates this little token of regard more than words can express and it more firmly cements our warm friendship for Uncle Bill Hill, the best fellow in the world.

A Modern Paul Revere

A popular young dry goods clerk took an early morning ride yesterday with two young ladies. Stopping to fix one of the saddles on Park avenue the young man's horse dashed away and down the street towards the stable. The young man jumped on one of the other horses and did the Paul Revere stunt "all the length of Park avenue after the fleeing steed, which was finally captured. Now his friends are joking him about the episode.

Another Big Furniture Sale

Sanford furniture stores must have the goods and the prices and judicious advertising in The Herald does the rest. On Tuesday of this week Williams & Mitchell sold an out of town customer a bill of furniture amounting to $1350. The customer was gained through The Herald and this enterprising firm expects to reciprocate by taking more space in the paper that always get results. No fake advertising them.

CHARITIES AND CORRECTION

First Meeting in Florida Will Be Held in Jacksonville

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 13.—All committees on arrangements for the First Florida Conference on Charities and Correction have just been organized, and will make a whirl-wind campaign to have preparations completed well before November 16, when the meeting begins.

The tentative program for the conference, which has just been announced, includes some of the foremost charity workers of the United States and some of the most prominent philanthropists and community workers of this state. Indications are that there will be more than a thousand delegates present, and that they will represent every county and practically every one of the smaller towns of Florida.

The conference represents the first effort toward state-wide organization of all Charity forces. The problem of the "hobo" in Florida during the winter months and the undeserving mendicants and professional beggars who over-run the state during the same period, will be a foremost topic of discussion. The conference will also undertake to arouse the state of Florida to the danger of ignoring its responsibility for suffering and helpless children. A whole section of the conference will be devoted to children—dependents, delinquents and defectives.

The first session of the conference, Thursday evening, will be held with the State Federation of Women's clubs which will be concluding a three-days session here. The federation has been one of the prime movers for the conference, and its state president, Mrs. A. E. Frederick, of Miami, pledged the federation to contribute the first one hundred dollars toward its expense. The federation is paying the expense of bringing Edward T. Devine, perhaps the most noted charity worker of the world, to Florida for the conference.

The tentative program announced is as follows:

THURSDAY EVENING, NOV. 16.
The Purpose of the Conference. W. A. Lloyd.

Address of welcome, Mayor Jordan.
Address, Gov. Gilchrist.
A Program of Social Work for Florida, Edward T. Devine, editor of the Survey and secretary of New York Charity Organization Society.

FRIDAY 9:30 A. M., NOV. 17.
Subject: Organized Charity.

What Organized Charity Can Do for Florida, V. R. Manning, secretary of Jacksonville Association of Charities.
The Rehabilitation of Families, Mrs. Margaret Thoroman, assistant secretary of Jacksonville Association of Charities.
Friendly Visiting, Mrs. W. P. Corbett, chairman of the friendly visiting committee of the Associated Charities.
The Passing On Evil, Ray G. Harper, secretary Associated Charities, Tampa, Fla.

FRIDAY 2 P. M., NOV. 17.
Subject: State Institutions.
Report of the wants of the state asylum, Chattahoochee State Reform school, Marianna State School for Blind, St. Augustine.

FRIDAY 8 P. M., NOV. 17.
Subject: Children's Work.
The Child Society's Most Valuable Asset, Homer Folks, secretary State Board of Charities of New York.
Defective Children, Marcus C. Fagg, Supt., C. H. S. of Florida.

SATURDAY 9:30 A. M., NOV. 18.
Social Service and the Church, Rev. E. A. Waldo, West Palm Beach, Fla.
Social and the Y. M. C. A., J. A. Sherrill, Secretary Y. M. C. A., Pensacola, Fla.

Social Service and Y. W. C. A., Miss Elizabeth Thomas, Secretary Y. W. C. A., Jacksonville.

Social Service and the Woman's Club, Mrs. Susie Wight, Sanford, Fla.
Medical Inspection of School Children, Dr. Charles Terry, city health commissioner, Jacksonville.

Public Health, Dr. Hiram Byrd, of the state board of health.

SATURDAY 2 P. M., NOV. 18.
Out of town delegates will be entertained by auto ride or river trip.

Moved into New Home
Mr. and Mrs. Karnatz moved into their new home in Markham Heights yesterday. There are a number of new homes being erected on the hill and in a few years the piney woods will give way to beautiful homes and lawns.

HAPPENINGS DURING THE WEEK

Here the Readers Will Find a Brief Historical Spring Flowing For Hurried Readers

With telephone and telegraph service crippled and more than 300 miles of railroad out of commission, only meager reports are being received from the flood-swept district of southwestern Colorado and northern New Mexico, comprising an area approximately 80 by 25 miles. There are rumors of heavy loss of life, but the verified death list so far is comparatively small.

That the railways of the country take over the express companies' business was virtually recommended to the twenty-third annual convention of the National Association of Railroad Commissioners in session at Washington this week, by the committee on express service. There was a prolonged discussion of the committee's report.

Not since the trial of the officials of the Western Federation of Miners for the alleged assassination of ex-Governor Steunenberg of Idaho, has a trial in this country excited the intense interest in labor circles and among the public generally as is manifested in the case of the McNamara brothers, who are about to be brought to the bar to answer for alleged complicity in the dynamiting outrage that resulted in the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building and the death of twenty-one men working there, on October 1, 1910.

Governors of five Southern states have endorsed the proposal of Gov. Colquitt, of Texas, for a conference on higher prices for cotton. The states are Virginia, South Carolina, Alabama, Florida and Arkansas.

Resolutions commending the work of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, praising President Taft for his exonerating of Dr. Wiley "from the foolish and unfounded charges made against him" and urging the removal from office of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, Solicitor McCabe and Associate Chemist Dunlap of the department, were adopted by the food committee of the Consumers' League at its meeting in New York yesterday.

The revolutionists are in full possession of the town of Wuchang, China, and they are putting the inhabitants to death and burning the city. Twenty-five American missionaries are known to have been at Wuchang the past week. Whether they escaped during the fighting or were sacrificed to the vengeance of the revolutionists is not known.

The tariff board at Washington has completed its investigation of wool, cotton, sugar, paper and chemicals, and its reports are ready for the president. The wool and cotton investigations were very thorough. Every detail of the two industries here and abroad was studied.

An appeal is to be made from Orange, N. J., to Gov. Woodrow Wilson asking him to send a message to the legislature on the subject of the New Jersey mosquito. He will be asked to recommend that a commission be created with powers to wage a war to the death against the pest.

After pleading guilty to two federal indictments charging violation of the "white slave" laws growing out of sending a girl from Louisville to a resort in Tampa, Fla., Edna Shelley, formerly cashier in a motion picture theater was fined $200. It was the first case of the sort to be tried here and the government sent a special representative to aid in the prosecution. The woman pleaded guilty to furnishing transportation to Tampa to Pearl Snyder, living in a small town near Louisville.

Automobile New York is agog with interest over the approaching 1911 Glidden tour, which starts from here Saturday at 9 a. m., for the long run over 1,400 miles to Jacksonville, Fla. The Florida entrants, of which there are thirteen, are all on the ground with one or two exceptions, and telegrams received at the Florida headquarters, which have been opened in the Martinique hotel by Claude Nolan, the Cadillac dealer, state that the absent ones will be here in time to make the start tomorrow.
