Montevideo April 22 (By Associated Press) The formation of the America League as the basis of equality between all American nations for common action against aggression threatening from any outside nations was proposed today by President Bruin of Uruguay.

NEGRO HAS CONFESSED TO KILLING

AT INDIANAPOLIS VICTIM BEING FOURTEEN YEAR OLD GIRL

Indianapolis April 22 (By Associated Press) William Ray, a nineteen year old negro has confessed the murder of fourteen year old Martha Huff, a white girl according to the police. The girl's body was found in a creek stripped of all the clothing.

STATE BONDS FOR ROADS TO BE VOTED

GAINESVILLE SUN ABSOLUTELY OPPOSES AMENDMENT FOR THIS PURPOSE.

"Everybody in favor of good roads and people are willing to build and pay for them," say the Sun. "Many counties have already built and bonded for them. The last legislature provided for raising $1,000,000 to be set against another $1,000,000 to be donated us by the government."

"But the legislature, at its last session proposed an amendment to our constitution which, if adopted at the election in November, would fix an intolerable burden on the already over burdened tax payers."

"All the thought and much of the language we employ in this editorial is taken from a manifold letter of our friend, Co. Peter O. Knight of Tampa, than whom there is no profounder thinker in this state. It relates to a proposed amendment to Sec. 6 Article 19, which amendment would be simply monstrous. Sec. 6, if amended, would read:

"Section 6. The legislature shall have power to provide for issuing state bonds only for the purpose of repelling invasion or suppressing insurrection or for the purpose of redeeming or refunding bonds already issued, at a lower rate of interest or for the purpose of acquiring, building and maintaining a system of good roads and bridges throughout the state under such regulations as may be prescribed by an act of the legislature, provided that any bond issues authorized in pursuance hereof for a system of good roads and bridges shall not exceed in amount five per cent of the total tax assessment of the state at the time of issue."

"In other words, the purpose of the amendment is to permit the state to issue bonds to the extent of five per cent of the total valuation of all our property for road and bridge purposes alone. The thought is staggering.

"The property of the state will be valued this year at an amount in excess of $400,000,000. This will permit a bond issue of $20,000,000. We had until a few years ago a state debt of $500,000. We thought this was large, but by the payment to the state of Florida Indian war claim, we were enabled to wipe out this debt. And we have been able, and others who are interested in this state, to tell prospective investors and people in the north generally that this state did not have a dollar of bonded indebtedness. It is now proposed to bond it for $20,000,000 for one purpose alone.

"The state tax used to be two and one-half mills. Now it is in excess of 12 mills. Twenty millions of dollars of bonds could not be sold, in our opinion, in the future, to a better advantage than about a six per cent basis; but if we sell them on a five per cent basis, which we seriously doubt, we would have an interest charge alone of $1,000,000 a year. And this in addition to the sinking fund, and to the repair and up-keep of the roads, etc. Up until a few years ago the total cost of the state administration did not exceed $1,000,000 annually. And now, we will be compelled if this goes through, to pay an annual interest charge alone of twice as much every year as the total debt of this state used to be.

"If the purposes of this amendment and the consequences we are likely to have from its adoption were known to the people of this state, it would receive the most complete defeat at the hands of the people at the next election of any amendment that ever has been proposed. That the expenditure of these funds by the state will bring in a like amount of money from the federal government does not alter the situation, because whether the public funds are spent by the federal government or by the state government they come from the tax payers' pocket just the same. And this time has come to call a halt. The Gainesville Sun intends to do its best to defeat this amendment."

Mine Sweeper No. 38.

This little boat was one of the fleet of 50 which cleared the North Sea of 55,000 mines.

The fleet has just returned to this country and was given a big reception in New York City.

These boats would sometimes be out for as long as twenty-five days in the storms and seas for which the North Sea is noted. The work was declared impossible by other navies, but the United States went ahead and completed this work before the scheduled time.

The U. S. Navy once again did the impossible.

Barber Shop.

Some hotel! Everything at cost, and done with the very finest equipment. Join the Navy, and forget the tips.

Can you imagine a first class shave for a nickel, a hair cut for a dime and a massage, shampoo, and all the trimmings in proportion?

It's almost luxurious, and now that the electric potato peelers have come in, Jack finds himself with a lot more time to improve himself. He doesn't need to wash his own clothes any more either, an electric laundry will take care of them at a price which is almost ridiculous.

This view of the busy barber shop on board one of the U. S. dreadnaughts will give us all some idea of the way the men in the Navy live. Only the best is good enough for our sailors.

Power off Again

Southern Utilities Company Back on the Job of Ruining the Business of the Herald Printing Co. and that of Other Firms

We wish to go on notice that on account of the irregular current that has been furnished by the Southern Utilities Co., for the past five months that the Daily Herald will be suspended Saturday until such time as the Southern Utilities Co., or some other company can guarantee a regular service in gas, electric lights and power. We have tried for five months to print a daily paper against the worst odds that were ever stacked up against a printing office. The power for the past month has been better than formerly, but it comes and goes and nothing definite can be promised for some time to come and for several days it has been off for several hours at a time. We are in a rush of work aside from the daily paper and are compelled to drop the Daily at once and unless better service is forthcoming will be compelled to close up the shop altogether. We make this statement because we have been unable to print many of the articles that have been given to us, many good news stories and much of the Associated wires yesterday and today. We are not kickers, knockers or pessimists but there is a limit to all things and we have reached the limit.

U. S. NAVY

Jack's Reading Room.

The men's quarters on our new battleships are more luxurious than the Admiral's quarters of fifty years ago. This is a corner in the reading room of the U. S. S. New Mexico. A big library and complete set of current magazines, as well as newspapers from all the large cities, help to take care of any stormy hours when Jack may not prefer to be on deck. A good title for this picture would be, "Why boys leave home," and the best part of it is that they come back real men.

Pioneers in Pencil Industry.
The first lead pencil manufacturer in the United States was William Monroe of Concord, Mass., who, in 1812, invented a process by which he pulverized and mixed the material and incased it in cedar holders. He was very successful in selling his product and continued the business for a year and a half, when he was obliged to give it up on account of the difficulty in obtaining raw materials. Another pioneer in the industry was Joseph Dixon, who commenced business in 1827.

SAVANNAH RIVER GIVES UP THE DEAD

Anderson S. C. April 22 (By Associated Press) The bodies of Mrs. Lester Waters, Miss Alice Meschine and Robert Manning have been recovered from the Savannah river. The bodies with three others were seen floating down the river. Five bodies are yet unrecovered of the party of ten who drowned in the river on April 4th when the ferry boat capsized.

It does the child no harm to make the acquaintance of books which were not written for children. In a home where great books that have inspired or amused successive generations are accessible, an active-minded child is likely at some time or other to get at them. A PHILIPPINE TRAVELOGUE

THE ROMANTIC ISLANDS OF THE FAR EAST. PICTURES OF THEIR NATURAL BEAUTY AND HISTORIC SPOTS—BE- COMING A MECCA FOR TOURISTS AND A POPULAR WINTER RESORT.

The Zigzag on the Way to Bagulo, Summer Capital of the Philippines.

All aboard! Let's go! We're starting from Manila, the great picturesque, Americanized Oriental city, and will travel by automobile 200 miles to the north to Bagulo, the summer capital of the Philippines. The trip can also be made by train.

We have ahead of us one of the most scenic, spectacular and thrilling automobile trips in the world. We will have excellent roads all the way. The Philippines are, in fact, a paradise for autoists, possessing 3,500 miles of fine macadamized roads.

The first part of the trip is through typical small towns and then across the central plain of Luzon and through several rich and fertile provinces, where tropical vegetation is seen at its best. Here one is impressed with the great agricultural wealth of the Philippines, which represents one of the East's greatest producing areas, with the advantage of immense natural resources for the development of further production. It is regrettably true that even in the United States there is far from any real understanding of the potentialities of the islands.

At some points rice fields, looking in the distance like the greenest of green lawns, stretch away as far as the eye can see. If you want color, if you want to feel the romance and mystery of an Oriental twilight, pass this way as the red eyed sun at the end of the dying day is slowly sinking behind the unending expanse of green fields. At first you cry out in ecstasy at the gorgeous scene. But as you ride along, your eyes fastened on the panorama of tints and colors, and with the impenetrably black Oriental night coming on fast, you become enthralled. You no longer try to express your feelings. You cannot. You realize that those now fast changing, colorful masterpieces in the heavens and on the landscape are pictures that no man can adequately describe nor human hands duplicate. So what's the use of trying!

True, these are but impressions, but the travelogue considers himself justified in mentioning them, for they are a part of the trip to Bagulo and return. Indeed, the gorgeous sunsets in all parts of the Philippines leave an impression on the mind of the tourist that is everlasting.

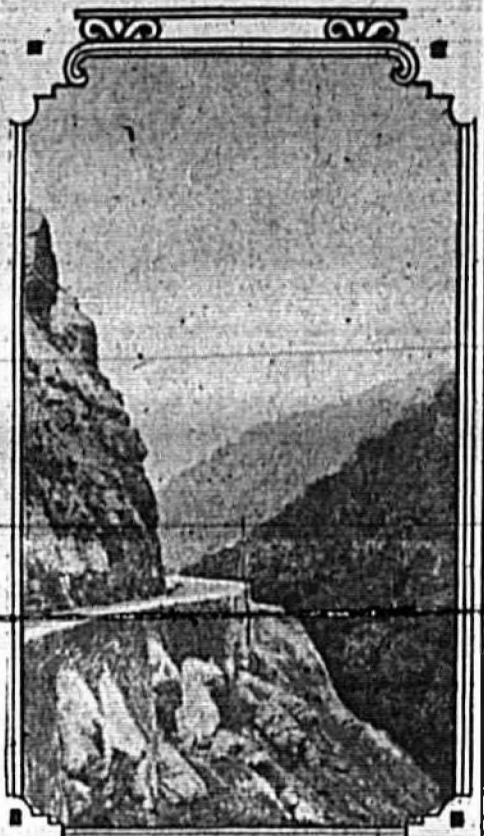

We leave the palms and tropical foliage and enter the zone of rugged pine. We pass from the soft, incense laden air of the warm lowlands to the crisp, invigorating ozone of the temperate zone, all within a few hours time.

For mile after mile the road now follows the tortuous course of a river, the road lying in the bottom or on the rocky sides of a granite canyon.

The Philippines are rich in hydro-electric possibilities. This power is the cheapest power on earth. And it is everlasting. Your travelogue is neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet, but he predicts that one day there will be innumerable Philippine government owned hydro-electric plants in this canyon we are now passing through. Think of the possibilities of such a project! Today the trip from Manila to Bagulo is too expensive for the average Manila worker and his family, many of whom, may live and die without beholding the wondrous beauties of their own island of Luzon. Think of what a blessing it would be to Filipino mothers and children to feel upon their fevered brows the cool, invigorating breezes of the mountain tops, now so near and yet so far! With the Philippine government owning its own electric railways and hydro-electric plants it would be possible to bring the trip to Bagulo within the means of hundreds of thousands of Filipinos. Not only is there sufficient power in this river to electrify a line from Manila to Bagulo, but to operate the street railways of Manila, light the city and furnish power for manufacturing concerns.

But we have now arrived at Camp One. From this point the scenery rapidly changes as the elevation increases. We are travelling over the famous Benguet road, the construction of which through the mountains is a most remarkable engineering triumph. At places the road is blasted out of the solid granite. Riding on the edge of a 100 foot precipice makes one feel like he is on the rim of the world. Some of the turns are so sharp it is impossible to see 20 feet ahead, and we seem to be perilously near the jumping off place. We wonder if it is safe to lean out and peer into the canyon far below, and when we do we are perfectly satisfied we are flirting with death. Yet the trip is a safe one, providing our driver has better nerves than our own.

All too soon we reach the outskirts of Bagulo, a city among the clouds, and are rather surprised at the modern city we find it to be. In ten years Bagulo has grown from a village of huts to the now justly famed mountain resort of the Philippines, sometimes called the Philippine Simla. It is undoubtedly destined some day to become a large city.

Bagulo ranges in elevation from 4,500 to 5,500 feet and is surrounded practically on all sides by high mountain ridges and "hogbacks" towering into the skies at a height of almost 8,000 feet.

Aside from the scenery, which is noteworthy, the great blessing of Bagulo is its temperate climate, which is indeed a godsend to those impoverished by the tropical temperatures of the lowlands. Not only is the mountain air rich in ozone, but it has been demonstrated to be extraordinarily free from germs of all kinds.

Each year during the hot season the school teachers of the entire archipelago are enabled by the government to spend a month at the teachers' camp in Bagulo for recreation and conference on school work. American army officers and their families also go to Bagulo for the hot months.

And now that your travelogue has you in Bagulo, he believes he will leave you there, for there are many interesting side trips to take, and, besides, Bagulo is the most delightful place for a vacation in the entire Orient.

The Mascot of the Pacific Fleet.

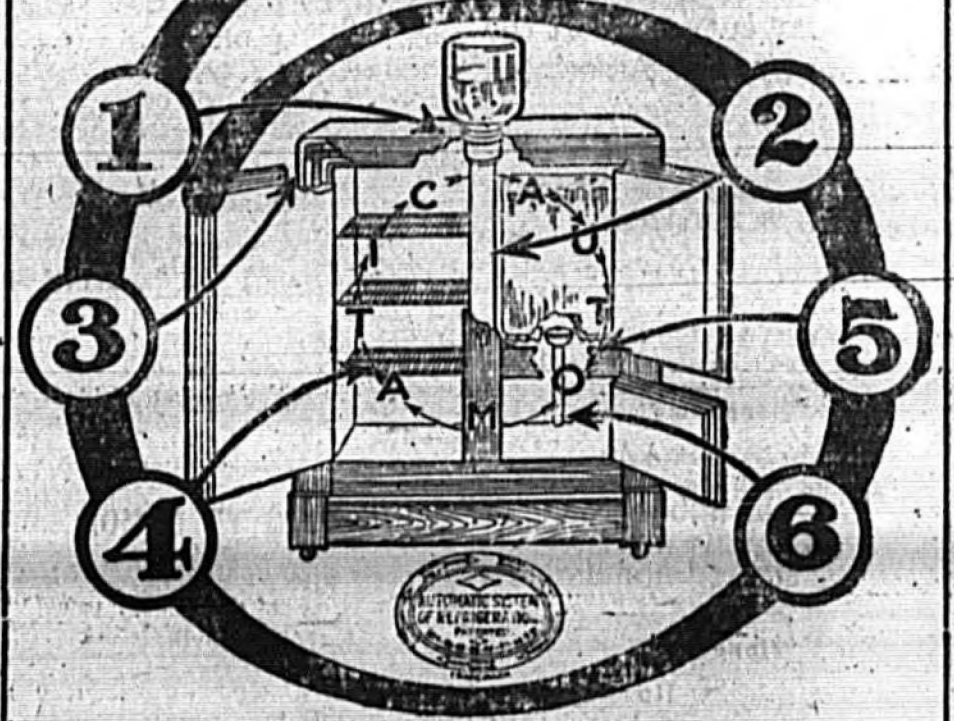

The proudest member of the Navy with the Pacific Fleet is "Mick," Admiral Rodman's spaniel. From the tip of his tail to the tip of his nose "Mick" is a real sniffer. The rougher the seas come the better he likes it. "Mick" stuck his head through a life ring, at the photographer's suggestion, and is giving an imitation of a true patriot looking for an argument. Every man on the New Mexico is "Mick's" pal.

OLD SHAKESPEARE IS FOUND

Fragment of "Passionate Pilgrim" Believed Earlier Than Any Other Issue.

London.—Sotherby's will sell at auction a volume which rivals in rarity the tiny book which G. D. Smith of New York bought for $15,100 from the Britwell Court library last December. That sold from the Britwell library comprised Shakespeare's "Venus and Adonis," fourth edition, 1599, of which only one copy is known; Shakespeare's "Passionate Pilgrim" and "Sonnets," first edition, 1599, of which only one other copy was then known, and "Epigrammes and Elegies," by Sir John Davis and Christopher Marlowe.

The contents of the newly discovered volume are Shakespeare's "Passionate Pilgrim" and "Sonnets," first edition, 1599; Shakespeare's "Lucrece," third edition, 1600, of which only one other copy is known; Thomas Middleton's "Ghost of Lucrece," 1600, a unique and hitherto unknown work; "Emaraldine," by E. C., an author never identified, 1595, and Shakespeare's "Venus and Adonis," fifth edition, issued in 1600, the same year as the fourth edition.

The "Passionate Pilgrim" and "Sonnets" is a fragment containing a large portion of the work. Its twenty-seven leaves out of thirty-four are, moreover, made up of two issues, one of which is the issue offered at the Britwell Court sale, but the other issue from which the piece is made up is one hitherto unknown. It contains misprints which in the Britwell Court example are corrected. Consequently the claim of the latter to be the first edition is, in the words of the catalogue of the new find, rendered doubtful.

The new volume was discovered by Richard Francis Burton at his home, Longner Hall, near Shrewsbury.

Device Shoots Words as Gun Shoots Shells

London.—In a small room at the Imperial College of Technology, South Kensington, Prof. A. O. Rankine is perfecting an instrument which shoots messages as a gun shoots shells.

A person talking into a trumpet attached to a minute mirror reflecting a strong light can send a message to any distance reached by the light without fear of the words being intercepted, it is said.

The words spoken can be heard distinctly half a mile away and are transmitted through projectors to an electric battery attached to a piece of selenium fitted to an ordinary telephone receiver. The larger the receiving battery the greater distance can the message be sent.

Patriotic Imagination.

Every one who knows anything at all about real English country people knows how vivid and unexpected their talk often is. Imagination kindles in them quite startling smiles; as it that Dorsetshire man who, to a British officer's remark that the guns in Flanders could be heard very plainly from the cliffs that day, replied: "They ain't the guns; they be the tapping of Drake's drum."

Household Budget System Is an Instrument of Home Economy and Aids Thrift

Every well regulated private business has some manner of a budget. Income can not make prosperity unless outgo is kept under control. The budget is a system for the allotment of expenditures. In common sense it can not aggregate a total above total revenue, and it enables the executive to make sure at least that both ends shall meet. The going business house that does not have an item for surplus, or saving, in its budget, is on a mad-house basis.

As an instrument of home economy the budget is most useful. Any level-headed housekeeper can transform a small deficit into a steady saving by employing a budget. It puts a brake on expenditure, discloses leaks and excesses, and in general furnishes the opportunity to keep the business of home-running always in hand. What did you spend last month for this? Too much! Cut it down. What did you spend for that? A little more might be worth while. Something new tries to get into the budget. If you need it, perhaps you can shelve elsewhere. If you merely want it, use common sense. You know whether or not you can afford it. The budget tells you.

If you have never worked out a household budget, do it now. One year hence you will wonder how you ever got on without it.

Favorite Sites for "Paper Towns" Along Great Lakes Were at Mouths of Rivers

Sites of lake cities "located" in the days of wild speculation, before the panic of 1837, were scattered here and there along the shore of Lake Michigan and Lake Huron. Promoters, encouraged by the sale of lots, would spend a little money in making a small clearing, often many miles from the nearest actual settler, would mark out some streets and put up, in the midst of burned stumps, a hotel and a bank.

Port of Havre was another such "paper town" on Lake Erie, near the mouth of Maumee Bay. But the site chosen was low and marshy, and a score of abandoned cabins were all that marked its streets. Another was "White Rock City," believed to be on the shore of Lake Huron, at the mouth of a fine river. The maps represented a flourishing city on a wide river, with piers running out into a harbor, but one, coasting on a trip along Lake Huron who stopped to see this city, found none.

OF INTEREST TO POULTRY GROWERS

The greatest food and medicine on earth for baby chicks is sour milk, according to poultry growers. More chicks die during infancy of white diarrhea than perhaps all other disorders combined. The acid in sour milk is a poison to the germs of this dreaded bowel trouble, while the sour milk itself is relished by the young birds, and it is one of the most nourishing of all feeds.

Under apparently the most sanitary conditions chicks from the incubator or from hatchlings by hens will contract serious bowel troubles. Clean conditions and careful disinfecting will often check this trouble and lessen danger, but they will not always act as a cure preventively.

Many careful scientific and practical tests have proved beyond doubt that sour milk fed to baby chicks is one of the very best preventives, and even cures, for bowel troubles. It is important to begin feeding the sour milk to the chicks as soon as they will drink anything. It is even recommended to pour a few drops of the sour milk down the throat of each chick as soon as it is placed in the brooder and before it is old enough to drink or eat. The sour milk acts immediately as a bowel disinfectant, thoroughly cleansing the digestive tract and starting the young bird out in life free from bowel disease and vigorous in every way. Chicks in the brooder or with the hen may have sour milk before them all the time to their benefit, the milk serving both as a medicine and a food.

Not only should baby chicks be given all the sour milk they will drink daily, but it is well to use it in mixing their mash feeds. It is as valuable as sweet milk as a food, and much safer to use with chicks. And there is no better food and medicine for growing chicks and laying hens.

BLIND MAN WINS

His Love Poem Gets a Bride for Him.

Louis Gardner of Chicago and Miss Genevieve Jamieson of Pershing, Ind., were married the other afternoon. Both the bride and bridegroom are blind.

Both were subscribers to a magazine published for the blind and Mr. Gardner was a frequent contributor of verse to the publication. One of his poems, "What Is Love," appeared some time ago and brought him many congratulatory letters from his blind readers. Among those who wrote to Mr. Gardner was Miss Jamieson.

ROMANCE BECKONS TO ALL

According to Theatrical Star, Men and Women Never Really Forego Their Childhood Dreams.

"We are all more or less only grown up boys or girls," Mr. Dietrichstein said in an interview given recently to a New York Evening Sun reporter. "The less grown up we are the more we enjoy life and the thrill of living. It is this joy of human experience which makes the stage possible and which particularly aids the actor of melodrama."

"The life of the roving buccaneer of adventure or the suave cavalier with his romantic conquests is denied to most of us," Mr. Dietrichstein said almost sadly, "but there lives in us all the desire to do the rash, impossible and delightful things of our great heroes of fiction. The wisened, colorless little man you see on the commuters' train, who toils by day over his prosaic books and figures, possibly may be a d'Artagnan or a Don Quixote within the infinite realm of his nocturnal imagination. The shop girl during the daylight hours may be the reincarnation of Cleopatra or Helen of Troy over a library book during the evening. She may practice before her mirror the walk and manner of a European queen and, in extreme cases, where the imagination broods hope to the highest point, even go so far as to think of herself as a queen of the movies."

"It is not too much to say," Mr. Dietrichstein said, with a sly twinkle of his buccaneering eye, "that even the famous 'tired business man' is occasionally subject to hope that there is something in life more romantic and exciting than the cutting of coupons and worry over the high cost of stenographers and other business commodities."

Disciples of "the good old days" when men and wine ran free; when dashing cavaliers plunged through the guarded moat to the castle walls and carried the lady of their hearts' desire away through the moonlit lanes of the whispering forests and matched their lances against the bravest men of the enemy forces simply for the joy of a gallant fight or to avenge a lady's honor—of such, according to the melodramatic star, is the kingdom of the orchestra and the gallery wherever melodrama is produced.

Spread of Copra Industry.

Prior to the late eighties, the vast groves of the coconut palm in the Philippines were not utilized in a commercial sense, but about that time a British firm in Manila brought over samples of dried copra from Singapore and the people of Manila and Cebu were shown the process of converting the fresh coconuts into copra. From that time the making of copra spread rapidly in the islands, but due to a lack of proper organization and supervision, the product did not measure up to the standard of other districts and the Philippine goods were not considered as good as that produced in other districts. By 1905 the Philippines produced 17 per cent of the copra in the world's market, and by 1911 the islands yielded approximately one-third of the world's supply. Since that time the industry has grown by leaps and bounds, and from one mill in 1913 there developed in 1918 over thirty of them, with a daily capacity of 1,300 tons of coconut oil, or an annual consumption of over 800,000 tons of copra, if run to full capacity. The exports of coconut products from the Philippines are in the form of oil pressed from the fresh coconuts and shipped in barrels or tank steamers, or "copra" or the dried coconut meat, from which the oil can subsequently be extracted.

Negroes Dislike of the Hound.

The southern negroes hate the hound. They say it used to be a nice sleek watchdog which Adam left to guard the gate of Paradise, but it went snuffing around to find a hare or rabbit and let the old devil sneak in. Then the Lord said it should be a dog no longer, but a hound, always hunting and always starving, so to bear a hound is a bad sign.

Costly Orchids. Nearly all the orchids found in Burma can be grown with a little care and attention in private gardens. Tracing Origin of "Gob." A side-light was thrown upon the word "gob" by the Scotsman of August 4, 1890, which said that when the men indulge in protracted yams, a draw of the pipe, and a friendly chew. Such a session is invariably productive of a considerable amount of good-natured banter, as well as free conversation all around, which from our friends come to be known as "gobbles" (from "gob," the mouth). In the process of time gob and gobble came to be applied to the ships manned by the gobs.

Sanford folks enjoying Tuesday at Daytona Beach were Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Thrasher, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Galloway and Miss May Thrasher.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Hagan were Sanford visitors in Tampa on Tuesday stopping at the Hillsboro.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Moses are leaving to-day for New York en route to their summer home at Abernethy, Fair Rockaway Lug Island. Mrs. Moses' many friends here regret her departure so early in the season.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Thigpen, Mrs. C. C. Chamberlain, Miss Katherine Willits and little Katherine Thigpen are expected home today from a motor trip to Miami and the East Coast.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Cameron Mann will administer confirmation next Sunday, April 25th at Holy Cross Episcopal church.

Mr. and Mrs. Camp have arrived recently from Ocala to make their home in Sanford and will reside on the West Side.

Mrs. Emmet Hunt is expected Friday from Charleston for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Harrold.

Miss Versa Woodcock who has been for several weeks in Savannah taking a special course in the Southern Bell Telephone office, is expected home the latter part of the week. Miss Woodcock is the popular and efficient chief operator of the local office.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lee and Mr. Crowder were a congenial party of Sanford folks motoring to Daytona Beach on Sunday.

Mrs. Fannie Tucker returned to Orlando on Saturday after enjoying the Spring Festival as the guest of Mrs. Raymond Key.

Kingsley Bowden was a visitor in town yesterday en route to Okeechobee City. He was a guest of Fred Daizer.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Key with a party of friends spent Sunday at Daytona Beach.

Mrs. R. Z. Jonsen and children have returned from a ten days visit to Allendale, N. C.

Mr. H. M. Griffin of St. Augustine is the guest of his brother, R. L. Griffin.

Among the Sanford folks at the Beach on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herndon.

Ed Meisch has returned to College Park to resume his studies at the G. M. C. while here Ed received his commission as First Lieutenant of the band a well deserved promotion.

Another Sanford boy who is making good at the G. M. C. is Alfred Robson whose monthly records show an earnestness and zeal that is rapidly bringing him into the front ranks. Alfred has received his appointment as clerk at the Summer Camp at Hendersonville, S. C. where he will continue his studies and receive a salary at the same time.

Junior Chapter B. S. A. 1254 Entertained

For the older Junior Chapter of the Brotherhood of Saint Andrew, Robert Denton as Seely sent an invitation to Mr. Theo. L. Meade and his Boy Scouts of Oviedo to come and spend the evening at the Brotherhood Rooms of Holy Cross Parish, on Saturday, Mr. Meade and his boys came where they were entertained in the Brotherhood Room in the Bowling Alleys and in the armish House by many varied games. Our Brotherhood boys served prange crush during the afternoon and also ice-cream on the Church lawn. At 6 p. m. there was found spread a bountiful picnic supper in the Parish House. The Oviedo Scouts went away with the idea that the Brotherhood of Saint Andrew is well equipped in Sanford with its moving-picture machine, its games in its Brotherhood room, its Bowling alleys and its gymnasium outfit. We want Oviedo back again soon.

Informal Afternoon Musicals

Among the pleasant informal events of the week was the charming little musical with which Mrs. J. B. Ray entertained a few friends at her home on the Heights, Tuesday afternoon. A simple charm prevailed in the decorations of spring flowers and an elaborate refreshment course was served. Among the guests were Mrs. Arthur Huzzard who leaves next week for her new home in Augusta, Ga. Mrs. T. L. Dumas and Miss Agnes Dumas who will leave for Charleston at the same time and Mrs. J. N. Robson.

Daughters of Wesley Entertained

The Daughters of Wesley were pleasantly entertained last evening at their social meeting with Mrs. George Fox hostess at her pretty new home on Park avenue.

There was a goodly gathering of "Daughters" with their popular teacher, Mrs. J. D. Roberts, to enjoy Mrs. Fox's charming hospitality. Games and music featuring the evening's entertainment. A strawberry ice course was served at the refreshment hour.

Graduating Class. Guests of Miss Spencer

One of the most charmingly informal and delightful affairs in young people's circle given in some time in Sanford was the bungalow apron and overall party given by Miss Carolyn Spencer Tuesday evening at her home on Sanford Heights, her guests being the Senior Class of '20 and the High School faculty. The home was prettily decorated with cut flowers and ferns and a delicious refreshment course was served. Games and humorous contests whiled away the happy hours, and the guests dispensed at a late hour ready for the next party for the commencement season is one of joy and frolic for the Seniors and Juniors of Sanford High.

Valuable Coconut By-Product.

A number of oil-extracting plants have been established in the United States and Europe to handle copra, because it has been discovered that the pulp left after the coconut oil has been extracted is a very valuable stock food and can also be used as a fertilizer, and this by-product commands a good price.

As a stock food it compares favorably with gluten feed, though it contains less carbohydrates and more fat, ash and fibre. The oil is used for many purposes, including cooking or for soaps, the making of fine soaps, etc.

There are at the present time in the Philippines approximately 40,000,000 bearing coconut trees, producing nearly 1,000,000,000 nuts per annum, of which 900,000,000 are made into copra. A coconut palm will yield from 25 to 30 nuts each year, and they are taken from the tree, when fully mature, about once every three or four months. The nuts are collected in piles near the drying or smoking sheds and the outer shell or fibre is torn away from the hard shell of the nut by means of a tool similar to the plover. The nut is then split open with a large knife or bolo, and the halves, with the meat exposed, are placed over fires on racks constructed of wood, and are allowed to remain there until the meat drops from the shell. Where sun drying is practiced, the halved nuts are allowed to remain subjected to the sun's rays for a period of about six days, or until the meat loosens from the shell.

In some parts of Jamaica it is not unusual to see green roses.

PREY ON IGNORANT KOREANS

Mutangs, Claiming to Have Supernatural Powers, Make Good Living From Those They Victimize.

The Korean mutang, or mudang, is a sofercess who is considered the lowest of the low in the social system. Though generally married, she is always an abandoned character pretending to be a sort of spiritual medium, able by her friendship with the spirits to influence them as she may wish. The ceremony performed by a mutang, without which her services are of no avail, is called a "kut," there being ten different forms of services that can be performed by means of a kut. The service most in demand is that of driving away the "hungry" spirits of disease. These spirits come around the door when people are eating, and if they are not thrown a morsel of food they will hold a grievance against the diners. When a man, by some such mischance, contracts a disease, he sends for a mutang, describes his symptoms and asks what spirit it is that is causing it. The mutang usually names some spirit, says that he must see the patient, and names a day on which to hold the kut.

During the ceremony the mutang dances about near the patient un-

"THE STORE THAT IS DIFFERENT"

she has worked herself up to a perfect frenzy, her auditors believing that the spirit has taken possession of her body. She screams out the name of the spirit that has come, tells what must be done to cure the patient, until at last the spirit promises to take away the disease. The food provided for the spirit is then eaten with great gusto by the mutang and the friends of the sick man.

The mutang has a lot of influence. Some years ago when a drought was making life uncomfortable in Seoul the citizens went to a mutang and implored for relief. She explained that the street car lines were pinching the tail of the dragon that guarded the town, and that the dragon was angry. He couldn't sleep and he wouldn't send the needed rain. The cars were destroyed that very night.

TWO BLADES OF GRASS

To make two blades of grass grow where only one grew before has always been considered a laudable action.

The farmer who succeeds in doing this, must possess business training along with his knowledge of farming.
