Pizza Plans Stalled

A Pizza Inn planned for Sanford has been indefinitely delayed by a dispute over a proposed public street. The restaurant, planned for a site on Sanford's southeast between ABC Liquors and Wav's on U.S. 17-92, has been caught in an apparent impasse between city commissioners and the owner of the property, George McCammon of Longwood.

Ford Strategists Huddling Reagan For Veep Possible

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — President Ford's campaign strategists, trying to counter a surprise vice presidential pick by Ronald Reagan, are huddling in a strategy session today to decide whether to support a presidential candidate who failed to name his vice presidential choice by 9 a.m. on the day of the presidential nomination, Aug. 18.

Hurricane's Fury Spent On Long Island Suburbs

NEW YORK (AP) — Hurricane Belle spent her fury on the Long Island suburbs east of New York City early today, causing millions of dollars in damage, and then moved into southern Connecticut as a downgraded tropical storm, lashing hundreds of miles of coastline with torrential rains.

Florida Delegates To Sport Panama Hats At Convention

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — If Ronald Reagan's 22 Florida delegates arrive at the Republican National Convention looking like Yankee tourists fresh off the plane from a banana republic vacation, there's a good reason. L. E. "Tommy" Thomas of Panama City, chairman of the Florida Reagan delegates, said Monday the group plans to wear Panama hats to the convention in Kansas City to support Reagan's call for continued American ownership of the Panama Canal Zone.

$7,500 OK'd After Debate

The two Sanford city commissioners squared off Monday night on the question of funding the Industrial 25 committee in its efforts to attract industry to the city.

'25' Committee Wins Budget Hike

The ground-breaking 5:30 a.m. Thursday. The Industrial 25 committee budget is actually reimbursable expenses. The city is billed monthly, City Manager Warren Knowles said, and actual bills must be submitted. The deciding vote on the funding question was cast by Mayor Lee Moore. "I agree in principle with everything McCannahan has said, but I agree it's not the time," Moore said.

Harris Found Guilty, But Trial Continues

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William and Emily Harris, avowed revolutionaries who shared Patricia Hearst's underground life, stand convicted of kidnapping and robbery in a trial which is not yet over.

In a verdict with grave implications for the Hearst case, the Harris' were acquitted Monday of six counts of assault but were convicted of two kidnappings, one robbery and two car thefts — all involving Miss Hearst.

The jury apparently believed the Harris' contention that Miss Hearst, a codefendant, willingly took part in the shooting that led to the assault charges.

Negotiators Get BI Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate negotiators will take the next step toward a final decision on whether to begin production of the controversial B1 bomber.

The Senate gave 82 to 6 approval Monday to a $104-billion defense-spending bill that would prohibit the outlay of $1 billion for the B1 until after next Feb. 1.

But the vote on the B1 put the Senate bill in conflict with a defense bill passed by the House. On June 17 the House voted down an amendment that would have delayed orders for the first three B1 bombers until after the next presidential inauguration.

That leaves it up to a House and Senate conference committee to negotiate the differences.

Gas Explosion Kills 6

CALHOUN, La. (AP) — Sheriff's officers say a natural gas explosion which killed six persons at their trailer home apparently was triggered when a road grader hit an underground pipeline.

The explosion Monday near this north Louisiana town sent a blizzard of flame 200 feet into the sky, dug a 30-foot crater and scorched trees and fields up to several hundred yards away.

Deputy Sheriff Bennie Kennedy said the fire generated so much heat that rescue crews could not enter the area. The fire burned for almost an hour before the gas supply was cut off.

Ford Anniversary Quiet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford let his second anniversary in office pass quietly. There was no special ceremony in the White House on Monday to mark the occasion, spokesman Ron Nessen announced.

Ford became the nation's chief executive on August 9, 1974, after President Richard M. Nixon resigned.

Investigators Find Stolen Merchandise

Investigators have recovered $2,800 in property stolen in burglaries at 14 apartment complexes off in Seminole and Orange Counties in June and July, Seminoles Sheriff's Detective John I. Poole said today.

Poole said a probe of the burglaries is continuing by Seminoles and Orange County authorities.

Items recovered and identified, he said, include office machines, an electric typewriter, television, calculators, a radio, stereo equipment and tapes.

School Bargaining Units To Call In Special Master

By BILL CURRIE, Managing Editor

A special master will be called to help settle contract disputes between the Seminole County School Board and the Seminole Education Association (SEA).

When Ernest Cowley, chief negotiator for the school board, announced his "final offer" of an $8,300 base starting salary for instructional personnel in the county school system at Monday's bargaining session, he told members of the SEA:

"I'll guarantee you, this is our final offer."

After caucusing, SEA's team came back with a proposal of $8,000 for starting salaries and $1,000 for cost of living. SEA's chief negotiator for the school board, said "This is as low as we can go."

Cowley quickly said, "Very well. We are tabling all these articles until we can write to PERC (the Florida Public Employees Relations Commission) for the names of a special master."

"We're way past the point of impasse on these issues and we're just spinning our wheels," he said.

Rosenthal said he'd prefer to use a mediator, but Cowley's team said "going to mediation will not solve the problems. Therefore we feel it's mandatory that we get a special master in here."

(A special master makes non-binding recommendations to the school board after hearing from both bargaining units. A public hearing must be held before the board can act and either side can challenge the recommendations. A mediator merely tries to get the two groups together through compromise.)

In tabling the articles that would be agreed upon (salary schedule; class sizes; teaching loads; and assignments; recognition; compensation and expenses; medical and health protection), Cowley said, "There is just no additional money in the budget to deal with."

"It's like a spider web," he said. "Touch one part of it and you disturb the entire thing. We don't feel we can resist an offer again because there is just no more money and we're not much closer than when we started these negotiations back in May."

Rosenthal wanted Cowley to sign a document dealing with "contract status" during impasse. Cowley refused.

"Your contract ran out on June 30," Cowley said, "and until these issues are settled, the school board will set the contract status during impasse."

"I'm concerned with harmonious relationship," he said. "Touch one part of it and you disturb the entire thing. We don't feel we can resist an offer again because there is just no more money and we're not much closer than when we started these negotiations back in May."

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Utilities Group Charges FP&L Practices Coercion

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A group of municipal utilities claim that Florida Power & Light Co. is trying to eliminate competition by coercion, and they have asked the Justice Department to investigate for possible antitrust violations.

The Florida Municipal Utilities Association sent a letter last month to U.S. Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi making the charges and asking for a probe of the Miami-based private utility, the state's largest.

The 31 members of the association, joined by several non-member utilities, said that FP&L is coercing some communities in an attempt "to acquire competing electric utilities, thereby eliminating competition in electric power markets."

Executive Vice President Mac Cunningham of Lakeland said Monday that the July 15 letter to Levi was made public at this time "because we have received no damn acknowledgment of it from the Justice Department."

ORLANDO (AP) — This may come as a surprise to some, but Disney World was not Central Florida's leading paycheck maker last year.

The U.S. Navy announced Monday that it paid out more than $77 million to personnel of the Naval Training Center in Orlando — the largest payroll in this area in 1973.

Furthermore, the Navy said in a report that it added a total of $132 million to the area's economy over the past year — including salaries, federal aid to county schools for children of servicemen, purchases of services and materials, and travel and moving expenses for cadets and other personnel.

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — A key issue in a possible struggle for control of the billion dollar Alfred I. duPont estate is in the hands of Circuit Judge Marion Gooding.

After hearing arguments Monday on whether duPont will limit the number of trustees, the judge said he will study the case at least several days before ruling.

At odds are trustees Edward Ball, 88-year-old financier whose sister was duPont's third wife, and William B. Mills, attorney and former bank president.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House and Senate are preparing to take action on a bill that would clear the way for a government-sponsored inoculation program to protect nearly every American against a deadly strain of swine flu.

The House and Senate have passed the bill, which would require the manufacture of the swine flu vaccine from federal action by those who are inoculated.

If Congress doesn't pass the bill today, it will have to wait until members return after the Republican National Convention. The Ford administration and backers of the inoculation plan say that would mean more delay before the vaccine could be distributed.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger talks with French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues today about the sale of a French nuclear reprocessing plant to Pakistan. But there appeared to be no likelihood that the French would support the American demand for international supervision of the plant.

The United States wants the plant under international surveillance to prevent the plutonium it will produce from being used for nuclear weapons. Pakistani Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto refused to agree in talks with Kissinger in Lahore Monday despite Kissinger's threat to cut off American economic aid and arms sales to Pakistan.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — An agreement is near to form an interim multi-racial government to prepare South West Africa for independence by next June 30, sources at a constitutional conference in Windhoek report.

South Africa rules the territory, also called Namibia, under a League of Nations mandate rejected by the United Nations. The U.N. Security Council has ordered South Africa to submit plans for U.N.-supervised free elections by Aug. 31 or face economic sanctions.

Tarantulas Can Be Friendly Pets

MIAMI (AP) — Tarantulas, once dreaded by man, are taking their place alongside dogs, cats, fish and canaries as lovable pets, animal experts say.

"It's nothing you can cuddle," says Ben Simonetti, curator of reptiles at Grand Park Zoo. "But you can let them walk on your hand — they're just interesting to watch. There are definitely more tarantulas than you can own and tarantula can develop a friendly relationship."

"After both parties start to know each other, they begin to reach a real understanding," says Bush, whose shop is one of several in South Florida selling the hairy spiders. "They have a very high intelligence. They get to know their owner and even feed out of your hand."

Pet shop operator Carmen Costa said the spiders, about the size of a hand palm, solve apartment residents' problems of lirted space and bans on larger pets. "They are very personable like dogs, but they're very educational to watch them feed and breed," Costa says.

There are no federal restrictions on importing tarantulas into the country, Costa says he imports them wholesale from South and Central America for $3 to $7.50 apiece. The retail cost is generally over $10.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Health investigators are checking for a possible connection between the recent outbreak of "legionnaires disease" and an illness that killed three to 10 people shortly after they attended a meeting at the American Legion last month.

Doctors have used a similar description for the unknown disease that has killed 27 and affected 128 others among the more than 10,000 who were at an American Legion convention July 21-24 in Philadelphia.

Dr. David Frazer, an investigator for the Federal Center for Disease Control, said Monday that reports from the Old Fellows indicated there were 17 cases and three deaths from the illness.

"There were probably 12 to 18 cases," said Samuel Patterson of Philadelphia, who was chairman of the committee that set up the 1974 convention of the men's fraternal organization. "We lost in the neighborhood of 10."

Frazer said the CDC had started phoning persons who took part in the 1974 convention to get further details.

The possible connection between the two outbreaks was called to the attention of state and federal health investigators by officials of the Old Fellows. Medical investigators, meanwhile, continued interviewing legionnaires throughout Pennsylvania and examining hotels and other areas in Philadelphia where the legionnaires gathered.

After one week of intensive investigation, the source of the legion outbreak remains a mystery. The medical researchers have all ruled out viruses, bacteria or a fungus. They are focusing on a toxin, or poison. Among those being considered are heavy metals, insecticides and herbicides.

A Ford Winters, sovereign grand secretary of the Old Fellows, said he still does not know what caused the deaths of his colleagues.

"They never did pinpoint it," Winters said in a telephone interview Monday from his Baltimore home. "They wanted to call it a sort of virus or Asian flu."

"It was something that acted like a virus and seemed like pneumonia but didn't respond to treatment for any of those things," said Patterson.

Disease Evokes Old Memories

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The "Legion Fever" that has killed 27 persons in Pennsylvania has stirred memories of a time 22 years ago when Tallahassee residents were in the grips of a mystery epidemic.

While the epidemic known as "Tallahassee Polio" claimed no lives, longtime residents remember the town was paralyzed with fear when 65 persons wound up in the hospital in a 3½-month period.

Each complained of Polio symptoms which doctors could not explain. Of the 65, only six actually had polio, but fear motivated many of the others.

"It was mass hysteria," Dr. Francis Holland, chief medical spokesman during the outbreak, remembers now. "The hospital was filled to overflowing."

Doctors never did explain the mysterious polio-like symptoms in the outbreak between Sept. 28 and Dec. 21, 1954, although some theorized that it was a form of encephalitis. There were reports of a similar epidemic in Boston.

Other doctors, including Holland, said they felt hysteria caused some of the symptoms.

Favors 2d Court To Ease Burden

By ED PRICKETT, Herald Staff Writer

Joseph W. Hatchett is a self-described non-politician who has been forced into running for public office. Appointed by Gov. Reubin Askew as a member of the Supreme Court of Florida in July 4, 1973, the 45-year-old jurist is campaigning to retain his seat in the Sept. 7 election.

Hatchett is running what he calls "a voter-man's campaign," financed by "citizens and little people." He is criticizing the state alone in opposition and expansion of the County Judge Harvie DuPont in the non-partisan election.

In a Sanford visit Monday, Hatchett offered his opinion on some of the issues of the day.

"The backlog of cases before Florida's Supreme Court could be reduced by creation of a second court — a Criminal Court of Appeals. When Hatchett took office last September, there was a backlog of 1,200 cases, a number which was estimated at 600-700. Hatchett would like to see that number reduced to 200 to 250."

On press and people's rights. "The courts are moving toward broadening first amendments, but I believe courts should be open-up and court cases explained to the public as long as possible."

LONGWOOD — The city council Monday night ordered the developers of Highland Hills subdivision to complete within 10 days erection of a chain-link fence around a water-holding pond within the development.

Instituting the fence is necessary to protect wandering children from drowning, council ignored pleas from developer Lettich, a partner in the 80-lot subdivision. Lettich, who is also president of Lettich & Sons, Inc., to delay the order for five to six months.

Lettich said his firm has already spent considerable money updating drainage in the development since it purchased the 47 undeveloped lots in the 80-lot subdivision. He said contracts for sale of 44 of the 47 lots are in hand, but wouldn't be official for several months.

The board did not indicate what action it would take if the fencing is not built within 10 days, but it could withhold either building permits or certificates of occupancy.

Lettich, answering complaints from residents and a request from the council, refused to promise that a new drainage system would be installed. A preliminary hearing for Hargis has been set for Friday in County Court at 2 p.m.

County Insurers Cancel Coverage

By ED PRICKETT, Herald Staff Writer

Two major insurers of Seminole County government have canceled more than $200,000 worth of coverage of general liability and workman's compensation.

Director of Administrative Services Bob Ellis informed county commissioners today that Fidelity and Guaranty Insurance Underwriters Inc., which handles the county's coverage but self-insurance in the county 30 days ago.

In addition, Ellis said an Indiana firm canceled estimated $150,000 in liability insurance 30 days ago.

Ellis said self-insurance has proven to be less expensive in other counties. He doubted that an insurance firm will be able to handle all large claims. The county would handle smaller claims.

Under present laws, any claim in excess of $100,000 must be approved by the Florida legislature. County Commissioner Sid Whiten Jr. said Seminole should "move toward self-insurance."

Whiten said he had studied the industry and that self-insurance was the only way to go. Commission Chairman Mike Hattaway appeared concerned that the county will be without liability insurance for the next 30 days. However, Stepler assured commissioners he would do everything in his power to ensure that the county would have a liability policy.

The consultant said the current market indicates insurance firms are not interested in insuring government bodies.

Stepler said the bid policies used by governmental entities act as a deterrent. Under the bid policy, said a government body is required to select the lowest bid, which affects company profits.

Utilities Group Charges FP&L Practices Coercion

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A group of municipal utilities claim that Florida Power & Light Co. is trying to eliminate competition by coercion, and they have asked the Justice Department to investigate for possible antitrust violations.

The Florida Municipal Utilities Association sent a letter last month to U.S. Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi making the charges and asking for a probe of the Miami-based private utility, the state's largest.

The 31 members of the association, joined by several non-member utilities, said that FP&L is coercing some communities in an attempt "to acquire competing electric utilities, thereby eliminating competition in electric power markets."

Executive Vice President Mac Cunningham of Lakeland said Monday that the July 15 letter to Levi was made public at this time "because we have received no damn acknowledgment of it from the Justice Department."

War Offers Peace Gambit

The war in Lebanon has diverted attention from the Arab-Israeli confrontation which has dominated the Middle East for a generation. It also has given the impression — and probably a false one — that Israel can breathe easier about its future because of disunity and strife within the Arab world.

The longer the war goes on, the more likely it seems that Christian and Moslem interests will accept a partition of the country as the only means of satisfying their political aspirations. While this might provide a basis for a cease-fire that gains more support than any formulas tried so far, it would be no means guarantee a stable relationship among Arabs in that part of the Middle East.

For one thing there is no assurance that two states carved out of the present Lebanon would be economically self-supporting. Moreover, a Moslem state would remain a sanctuary for Palestinians bent on retrieving lands occupied by Israel or doing away with Israel altogether, without the restraints imposed by the old Lebanese government. This could trigger an attempt by Israel to occupy some Lebanese territory to establish a more "defensible" northern border, as in 1967.

The Arab-Israeli confrontation, then, is still the predominant issue in the Middle East. While the Lebanese war has pitted Arab vs. Arab, it has not changed any of the facts behind the Palestinian question, nor has it affected the issue of Israeli occupation of Arab territories.

What the Lebanese war may have accomplished is to demonstrate to the Arabs how dangerous it is to let the Palestinian issue fester within the Arab world or to move toward negotiations with Israel that might resolve it. It is the extreme position of the Palestine Liberation Organization toward Israel that has blocked such negotiations. It is the militancy of the PLO that finally broke down the Christian-Moslem formula for power-sharing in Lebanon. It is the disharmony of Palestinian forces in Lebanon that has prolonged the civil war.

There is reason to hope that a commitment to more responsible leadership may emerge from the clash of Arab interests over Lebanon. Egypt has made an alliance with Sudan in an obvious effort to contain the fanatic Muammar Al Khadafi of Libya, a main source of support for the PLO. Syria's President Hafez Assad has risked his standing with his Arab friends to try to prevent a PLO-dictated solution in Lebanon.

It's not out of the question that a Geneva conference on the Middle East can be reconvened with the Arab delegations willing to compromise on the issue of representation of the Palestinians. No longer is it a foregone conclusion that the PLO, with its all-or-nothing demand to absorb Israel into a Palestinian state, must be heeded at Geneva.

President Ford and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger regard a new Geneva conference as the next logical step in his Middle East diplomacy. Since Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter subscribes to the same approach, there is no reason for a U.S. initiative in this direction to remain in limbo pending our November election.

The United States has been considered the only "honest broker" in the Middle East. The Lebanese war itself has remained outside the bounds of our diplomacy, but it may have hastened the time when Arabs and Israelis are ready to call on the services of that trusted broker.

BERRY'S WORLD

We've got to counter Carter's 'Too good to be true' image. Is there any chance of getting Donny and Marie Osmond's support?

Win, lose or draw in tonight's action, Sanford American Legion Post 53 baseball team members are to be congratulated for their fine efforts throughout the entire season.

Coach Bobby Landquist has taken a bunch of wins and molded them into a very competitive team, one which at times was playing against much more experienced players.

Those Legionnaires of Post 53 have every right to be proud of their team and it's hoped they'll be feuded upon their return from the State Tournament at Fort Lauderdale.

Couldn't help but chuckle over that little squib this weekend which told of a group of journalists defeating Jimmy Carter's softball team 17-4.

One has to wonder if you'd ever see the likes of the Haidemanns and Ehrlichmanns vying with the Richard Nixons in such an athletic endeavor.

WASHINGTON — There is no reason in this Presidential election to be confused about the man to vote for.

Never mind Jimmy Carter's expertise in standing foursquare on all sides of most issues, Ronald Reagan's talking tall in the middle while shuffling softly, or President Ford's monotonous platitudes.

We have the record of what these three men did in office — which each of us can interpret for himself.

We have Carter's four years as governor of Georgia in print. We know what bills he pushed and which he fought and vetoed. We are able to evaluate the honesty or lack of it in his operations or how open his administration was.

We can evaluate the degree of his success or failure in bringing the state bureaucracy to heel. We also have the evidence on how he managed his finances.

We have Carter's revealing book about himself, his record both as a Navy officer and peanut farmer.

Most importantly, we know the relative ability of the men he drew around him as the state's chief executives — the stature of men he appointed to judgeships, vacant offices and commissions. We have the same in-depth information on Ronald Reagan. Never mind what Reagan says now or what he said as governor.

We have the information available as to what he did — the kind of appointments he made, the measures he fought and those he sponsored, the efficiency of his administration or lack of it, the degree of honesty, openness or secrecy of his operations.

We also have available the Reagan in the years he was in office — the active role he played as a union leader in the motion picture world — what he fought for and against.

Mr. Ford's record, too, is an open book. His successes and failures as President or during his quarter century in the House of Representatives, where he was no wallflower, are there for all to read.

The Congressional Record, with its indexes spanning the years, give the full picture of each man.

In the Congressional Record we have a considerable history of the two vice presidential candidates offered thus far, their votes on most issues of importance. Elsewhere, we have vote summaries carefully catalogued by organizations of the left, right and middle.

We also have detailed records of those who have donated to the current campaigns of the three Presidential candidates.

Are you a former Navyman who served aboard a destroyer escort?

If so, you're invited to attend the first convention of the "Destroyer-Escort Sailors Association" in Winter Park Aug. 28-29.

The association was founded last September by Senior Technician Senior Chief Frank R. Crawford, USN (Ret.), of San Diego and it attempts to preserve the remembrance of these ships and their crews.

The destroyer-escorts were introduced during World War II, but are now practically obsolete. Their original mission was to conduct anti-submarine warfare while performing a variety of other tasks.

Out of the more than 400 ships constructed, only a few are left on active service, including the U. S. Navy.

Crawford, president of the association, will be the reviewing official for the Recruit Brigade Review (production) at the Orlando Naval Training Center on Aug. 27.

All other officers and members of the association attending the convention will also attend the review.

Convention headquarters will be at the Mt. Vernon Motor Lodge.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Public Affairs Office at the Naval Training Center, 466-4474.

A case of a rabid rat, captured on SR-47 south of Sanford, has been confirmed by the State Virology Laboratory.

Rabies infection can be easily transmitted to domestic animals that might have come in contact with an infected bat.

Therefore, the Seminole County Health Dept., is urging all pet owners to be certain that their animals have a current inoculation against rabies for the protection of the animal and the general public.

WASHINGTON — Poor Larry Silberman — the Ambassador Laurence H. Silberman, our man in Yugoslavia.

Not being a Foreign Service officer, I guess he just didn't know our State Dept. has a leg to stand on. President Kennedy didn't call Foggy Bottom a "hole of jelly" for no reason.

And when Undersecretary of State George Ball labelled his department a "jungle factory," he wasn't just beating his gums.

But all this is water over the dam. The milk has been spilled. And the strip-teasers are running the Eastern European Dusk may never fully recover.

The whole flap began in July of last year, when Laszlo Toth, a naturalized American citizen who lives in Thornton, Colo. traveled to Yugoslavia where he was born.

While visiting a sugar refinery in the city of Pitvar, Toth had a series of photos taken of him by the plant for him by its manager, Ernest Katschbach. When he called State a "fatly pulp," it was not a phrase chosen lightly.

But all this is water over the dam. The milk has been spilled. And the strip-teasers are running the Eastern European Dusk may never fully recover.

Reach For Recovery Program Needs Volunteers

A plea from the Seminole County Chapter, American Cancer Society (ACS) is being directed to those men and women who have successfully undergone breast surgery and fears which so often accompany such surgery, according to chapter president, Irene Brown.

At present mastectomy patients have the ACS program, "Reach For Recovery" available to them through the Orange County ACS office. The Seminole County office needs volunteers to help form its own Reach For Recovery program.

Reach For Recovery is a rehabilitation program for women who have had breast surgery. It is designed to help them meet their emotional and cosmetic needs.

The program works through volunteer visitors, former breast surgery patients who have successfully adjusted to their own surgery. The help of such volunteers is invaluable, as they have "been down the same road" as the patient. The fears, doubts and worries of a new mastectomy patient can be best handled by a former patient who has overcome them, is the belief of the ACS.

White volunteers of the program are required to have had a mastectomy, their surgery does not qualify them as volunteers. All applicants must be given a recommendation from their surgeon before they can be accepted into the required training program.

Volunteers answer questions about brasieres and clothes and emotional adjustments — all medical queries are directed to the physician.

For further information about this volunteer service, contact the local ACS office at 224-6640, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., Monday through Friday.

SHS Yearbook Is All-American Winner

This latter honor is being reviewed, however, at the yearbook by Columbia, it will become a triple crown winner — top yearbook among the top one per cent in the nation.

Salmagundi '78 also won top honors from the National School Yearbook-News Association, and first place from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. This latter honor is being reviewed, however, at the yearbook by Columbia, it will become a triple crown winner — top yearbook among the top one per cent in the nation.

Marks of distinction were given for the copy, display, coverage and content of the yearbook, which followed the theme, "The Spirit is You, Because You are Unique."

In a separate competition, yearbook, photography by Deane Wood and Jim Covington were awarded first and second prizes respectively, by the Florida Scholastic Press Association.

McLean Has Sand In Shoes-And Songs

By JEAN PATTESON Herald Staff Writer

Will McLean has Florida sand in his shoes — and in his pen and his guitar — and he's now living near Orange City, McLean grew up in the Florida Panhandle near Chipley. At the age of four, he could play every song in the country church hymn book. At six, he wrote his first song, inspired by the plaintive cries of a flock of geese flying high over head.

Since then McLean has set to music some 1,500 of his songs. And always, the theme is Florida — her wildlife, her swamps, her history and legends, Florida's Black Hat Troubadour. McLean is often called, a reference as much to the big black territorial hat he likes to wear, as to the ballad style of his singing.

He's been many things in his lifetime, including fisherman and radio announcer, but the main drift of his life has always been his music. "My love affair with Florida," he calls his relationship to the land of his birth. His whole life has been dedicated to singing her praises.

McLean has recorded an album of his songs, and has published a book, "Florida Sand," which draws on his experiences as a boy exploring the Florida forests and swamps with his granddaddy. He has another ready for publication. Both album and book are available by writing to McLean at P.O. Box 252, Orange City, Florida, 32758.

His music is not bluegrass, but more a folk classic style explains McLean. One needs to sit quietly and really listen, to appreciate the mellow sounds and vivid word pictures inherent in all his songs.

McLean draws from his own knowledge of Florida nature when writing his songs, as well as his extensive research into the state's history. He writes of the hurricane at Lake Okechobee, of Indian Chief Ocochee, and of Tate's Hill, a dismal swamp in the Panhandle. Also in his songs are the birds, wild hogs, panthers and other Florida "critters" he knows and loves as well.

Back in the "strugglin' times," says McLean, when things would kind of close in on him, he would escape into the swamps for weeks on end, until he had found peace again. He still regards the wilds of Florida as a refuge — and an inspiration.

The songwriter has performed in concert at Carnegie Hall, and in colleges and schools around the state. His songs are taught in school history, music and literature classes. And he has taped shows for national television.

Fame and fortune have never been his goal, however. Nor is he interested in protests or crusades. "Just going along where the wind blows me," is McLean's style. His wife, Alice, helps with typing, editing and illustrating beautiful songs, "Crying Bird," his work. One of his most was written especially for her.

WOMEN

Disturbed Stepmom After Son-In-Law

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I just celebrated our 30th wedding anniversary. Three years ago my father died. He was very wealthy and left everything to my stepmother. Last June, my stepmother (who is 11 years older than I am) was visiting my husband and me, and I found them in bed together. My world came crashing down, and I ordered her out of the house.

After conferring with my two sons and their wives, I wrote a letter to this woman and told her I never wanted to see her again. She responded with a letter stating that she has been in an effort to make my husband as long as I have, and she could never say no to him.

My husband has asked me to forgive him, and he has promised to make my husband again. I forgave him, but this woman won't give up. She calls me here and there, she calls on his office, but I assume she does.

My sons and their wives tell me that she has called them, and they have slammed the phone down on her. Just when I think I'm getting over this terrible hurt, she calls and upsets me. Please tell me how to handle it.

DEAR HURTY: She sounds disturbed. Ask your lawyer what steps should be taken to put an end to this harassment. You don't have to tolerate it.

DEAR ABBY: I am the only female in an office of 10 men. Although the restrooms are clearly marked "MEN" and "WOMEN," the men use the women's restroom in addition to their own. I strongly resent that practice!

I do want privacy in the restroom, but if I mention it, I will be labeled a prude. My job is well paying and I would hate to change for that reason, especially at age 50. May I have your suggestions?

DEAR DESIRES: I notice that you sometimes let people air their beefs in your column. Will, here's mine: I've been a waitress for many years in two of Seattle's finest restaurants, and it positively infuriates me when a lady speaks to me through her escort as though I am not good enough for her to speak directly to.

DEAR ABBY: How is my baby? I'm getting over this terrible hurt, she calls and upsets me. Please tell me how to handle it.

Example: Me to her: "Ma'am, how would you like your steak?" She ignores me, she won't eat and she says "Fuzzy, tell her I like my steak rare."

Abby, what is wrong with these "snobbish" women, anyway? This probably won't make your column, but I feel a lot better just telling somebody.

DEAR CHARLENE: These snobbish ladies are going by some very archaic rules of etiquette. At one time (and don't ask me why) if a lady is considered proper for a lady to speak to a waiter or waitress, so she communicated through her escort.

Have to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 123 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. For Abby's weekly Friday Write Letters to the Editor column, please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20 cent) envelope.

DeLand Trounces Sanford In Pivotal Tester, 16-3

FORT LAUDERDALE—The question today for Sanford's American Legion Post 43 baseball team was whether lightning could strike twice in the same place.

The winner comes back at 8 in a championship bracket game against DeLand. If DeLand loses, a winner-take-all game will be staged Wednesday night at 8.

DeLand racked Sanford starter Terry Smith for six hits before he could get out of the second inning. Kenny Brown fared little better over the next six and one-third innings, although he yielded but one earned run.

"Wow, 14 unearned runs... you can't expect to be in the ball game doing that," moaned Lundquist. "I seemed that every ball he hit took a bad hop and had eyes for a hole. We just never got going."

Sanford had first clinician peaky St. Petersburg, a 9-3 winner Monday over host

Roward. The game is at 5 p.m. and will be broadcast over Radio Station WTRR (140).

Candelaria's No-Hitter Treat For 'Candy' Crowd

PITTSBURGH (AP)—It was "Candy Night" at Three Rivers Stadium and Pittsburgh Pirate left-hander John Candelaria gave everyone a treat.

The first 10,000 fans entering the stadium Monday night received a free candy bar in honor of the occasion and Candelaria followed that up by pitching a 9-0, no-hitter over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I've been dreaming about this since I was five years old," said the 22-year-old pitcher known as "The Candy Man" to Pirate fans. "I don't know if I'll come down. It's going to take a while to realize what's happened."

Only in his second major league season, Candelaria, 11-4, became the first Pirate pitcher to throw a no-hitter in Pittsburgh since Nick Maddox accomplished the feat at old Exposition Park in 1907.

He extended Los Angeles' losing streak to six games as he walked one batter and struck out seven. With the exception of the third inning, Candelaria retired the Dodgers in order.

A walk to Steve Yeager and two Pirate errors loaded the bases before Candelaria got Bill Russell to ground out to end the inning.

In the first inning, Al Oliver made a running game of Dave Lopes' fly ball and Dave Parker made a shouting catch of Candelaria's sinking liner to snuff out possible hits.

The last out in the ninth was also the last throw to the pitcher. Russell hooped a fly to center that Oliver gloved after making a diving catch for the clubhouse door to Candelaria's locker and extending a few candy bars along the way to keep up the spirit of "Candy Night."

When Oliver made the catch, Candelaria jumped into the air and the celebration began.

His teammates made a path of white towels extending from the clubhouse door to Candelaria's locker and added a few candy bars along the way to keep up the spirit of "Candy Night."

In other National League games, the Houston Astros routed the St. Louis Cardinals 13-4 and the Montreal Expos nipped the San Francisco Giants 2-1. In the American League, the Kansas City Royals beat the New York Yankees 8-2; the Texas Rangers crushed the Detroit Tigers 5-1 and the Cleveland Indians trounced the Chicago White Sox 6-2.

Astris 15, Cardinals 6, Yankees 2, Rangers 8, Indians 5, Tigers 1.

Steelers Slog To 14-7 Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—It was the kind of night a guy wouldn't even send his mother-in-law out to: torrential rain and wind gusts up to 41 miles per hour from Hurricane Belle. But the elements didn't stop 16,223 fans from watching the action at Veterans Stadium Monday night as the Pittsburgh Steelers slogged their way to a 14-7 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

The National Football League preseason game proved nothing, since both coach Dick Vermeil of the Eagles and Chuck Noll of the Steelers were unable to evaluate the young talent striving to make both teams.

The artificial surface was soaked, puddles dotting the field. Winds and sheets of rain swept through the stadium.

I thought the winner tonight (Monday) was Hurricane Belle," said a disgusted Noll after his team drove 72 yards on the winning touchdown scored early in the fourth quarter.

"It was a very difficult game because the circumstances that look at people were less than favorable," said Noll. "You really didn't even get a chance to work on a rainy day offense, because usually it rains only a little bit. The ball got heavier and heavier as the game went on, and it certainly was difficult to evaluate anybody."

Noll's view must have been a disappointment to rookie runner Earl Johnson, who carried a 61-yard touchdown pass from Tommy Reamon from Mississippi State to the end zone. Delapaine carried the ball 14-7 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

The former Ithaca College professor said he was the one who started counting pitches thrown by his pitchers. "Robbie Bell," said a disgusted Noll after his team drove 72 yards on the winning touchdown scored early in the fourth quarter.

Ali Will Buy McTear A Home

MIAMI (AP)—Muhammad Ali says he'll buy a house for the family of sprinter Houston McTear with no expectations of being paid back because, "when you give from your heart, you don't need no return."

All said he made the decision recently after learning that the McTear family of 10 lived in a small rural home, called by some persons a shack, in the Florida Panhandle town of Milligan.

"God blessed me and made me the most famous person on earth and I've made $1 million boxing," All told the Miami News in a telephone interview. "So I hate to see a boy in that condition."

"I'd go broke if I helped everybody. But I want to help white, why didn't shopping store owners and lawyers Florida get together and donate $1,000 each to build this man a house? Why didn't they have a day for Houston McTear in Florida?"

"I always think about myself and the other boys who have been in the ghetto with great talent. And I want to help them. So I'll get McTear a house."

"Even if he can't pay me back, I'll get him a house. Something nice, no shack. My lawyers won't like this because they always want me to get something in return. But when you give from your heart, you don't need no return. I'll get it back from God."

Wynn Passes Up PGA Title Spot

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP)—So did Wynn, who putted it "straight in."

Both found the rough at the 18th, Gilder to the right behind trees and Wynn to the left.

Gilder's second shot landed in tall grass to the left of the green; Wynn hit the green 30 feet from the pin.

From there, Wynn putted within a foot and tapped in for a par. Gilder, ever cautiously, took his turn. The ball broke from left to right as planned, but he missed the cup and Wynn had won his first PGA event since he joined the tour in 1971.

He had a 99, as did Gilder. The victory qualified Wynn for the PGA, which opens Thursday at the Congressional Country Club in Bethesda, Md. But he already had decided to pass it up.

"I hadn't planned on the PGA," Wynn said, "and that's why I wanted to keep it for a while. I guess we'll fly to California and then fly back for the Greater Hartford Open."

Gilder's 273 scored him $2,600 and raised his season earnings to $91,769, against $74,419 for Wynn.

Terry Diehl, George Knudson, Jerry McGee and Ed Sneed combined for 67,370 each in their third-place tie at 273.

Larry Lee was next at 275, and Wally Armstrong and Dave Hill were tied at 276.

At the time, Wynn and rookie Bob Gilder were leading the 64 survivors of the cut, tied at 12 under par. They had two holes to play.

With the sky filled with leaden clouds Monday, the pair went to the 17th tee. Gilder's six-iron shot on the par-three, 175-yard hole put him two feet from the pin. Wynn, also using a six iron, dropped his ball 20 feet out.

"I thought I got him there," said Gilder, winner of the Phoenix Open this year in his second pro heat. He made his birdie.

Rams, Steelers Reno Picks

RENO, Nev. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers and Los Angeles Rams are the favorites quoted by the Reno Turf Club in season odds to win their divisions in the American and National football conferences.

The Steelers were quoted as 9 to 5 choices in their conference with the Rams as 2 to 1 in theirs. Second choices were the Dallas Cowboys in the National, each as 13 to 5 choices.

Connors Gains Victory

MANCHESTER, N.H.—Topsseeded Jimmy Connors remained his title in a $100,000 international tennis tournament with a 7-6, 4-6, 6-3 triumph over Paul Ramirez of Mexico.

"I'd go broke if I helped everybody. But I want to help white, why didn't shopping store owners and lawyers Florida get together and donate $1,000 each to build this man a house? Why didn't they have a day for Houston McTear in Florida?"

Anderson Prods Stars To Union

By MICHAEL OLDERMAN
MIAMI — It did not seem that Dick Anderson's mind that he might not be doing himself a bit of good when he agreed to become president of the National Football League Players Association.

The track record for his predecessors wasn't encouraging, says Anderson. "You come to an Association meeting and blast us! See what the liament want. You see what the defensive liament want. You see what the marginal player want."

"We can't help you any, Anderson," said a representative of the NFLPA. "We're not going to help a quarterback who makes a lot of money. But we want you to support our offensive line."

A serious deficiency of the Players Association has been the paucity of dues-paying members. Anderson is 30 years old; the lack of hair on his scalp makes him look older. He has been an all-pro safety several times. But he is missing the lack of a collective bargaining agreement for the NFL players, and no money contributed by his pension plan since 1974.

"I can't say I feel positive," he says. "But we are committed. And if we don't get a collective bargaining agreement, at least the players have freedom of movement since the federal judges have now said the Rozelle rule is illegal."

On a personal level, one might wonder why Anderson, a successful businessman as well as a football player, would want to play the game.

"It's like asking a person why they climb a mountain," he says. "The inequalities of the system are that you're at your best physically for five, six or seven years. But your salary gets to the point where it makes it attractive to play eight, nine, ten and 11 years."

"The money I make playing football for six months a year is today as the players really don't know what they're fighting for. Team leaders who blast us in the press really don't know what's going on. They haven't taken the time to come to team meetings."

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — "I hate to see the Russian team beat us when we have enough talent right here," said Curtis, a retired movie star and sports commentator. "I don't know what they're fighting for. Team leaders who blast us in the press really don't know what's going on. They haven't taken the time to come to team meetings."
