Sanford Commissioners, Reporter Subpoenaed In Yankee Lake Saga

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Accusations of State Government in the Sunshine Law violations may be leveled against the four Sanford City Commissioners who traveled together to and from Monday's condemnation hearing. The Sanford representatives, as well as a commissioner's wife, another commissioner's neighbor and the Evening Herald reporter who accompanied them in a motor home to the hearing at a Melbourne court, were subpoenaed Wednesday by attorneys representing Jeno Paulucci.

Their depositions "will tell us if conversations on the bus constitute violations of the Sunshine Law," Paulucci attorney James Spoonhour said today.

Spoonhour said if his "suspicions" are substantiated through the testimony, allegations of Sunshine Law violations may be filed against the commissioners by Paulucci as amended pleadings to the Sanford condemnation suit.

Although the suit's condemnation motion was dismissed Monday, the proceeding still contains the city's allegations that county representatives violated the Sunshine Law when negotiating last fall for purchase of Paulucci's Yankee Lake property.

"I suspect the city was dealing with the lawsuit in the motor home," Spoonhour said. "And I don't know how the public could possibly have access to those discussions."

That Herald reporter Deane Jordan was in the motor home as a member of the press "doesn't constitute enough public or media involvement," Spoonhour said. "I would think the meeting would have to be completely open and accessible if city commissioners were discussing public business."

While returning to Sanford, commissioners discussed the condemnation suit's dismissal by Seminole Brevard Circuit Judge Thomas Waddell Jr., Jordan reported.

Waddell ruled that Sanford, in initiating its condemnation suit against Paulucci agent Nicholas Pope, had violated the city charter by failing to provide written notice of the special meeting to all commissioners.

During discussion of the decision, Mercer's wife, Juanny, told Jordan not to take notes or

Sanford Man Sought In Double Homicide

By Paul Schaefer
And

A Sanford man, who "would get violent for no reason," a neighbor said, is wanted in connection with the killing Sunday of his ex-wife and her new husband in Ridgeway, Pa.

Wanted is Charles Reinsel, 55, of Apt. 5, 213 E. 1st St., Sanford.

According to neighbors in the Sanford apartment building,

Reinsel moved out Saturday.

Sanford police are working with Pennsylvania officials, according to Ridgeway police spokesman Jeffrey Krieg.

Ridgeway is a community of 6,000 in north central Pennsylvania.

According to Ridgeway police, Reinsel is accused of gunning down Barbara Motter, 50, and her husband Herman A. Motter, 52. The couple married in June.

The Reinsels split up in 1972 in Forest County, Pa., after a 19-year marriage. According to a newspaper report, police theorize it was the wife's new marriage that brought about the shooting 14 years after the divorce.

Both victims were shot three times with a .32-caliber pistol.

According to the Ridgeway Borough Police, the bodies were discovered moments after the 1:48 p.m. incident by the woman's daughter who was upstairs at the time and did not see a suspect. A eyewitness outside provided police with a description of the suspect.

A Sanford neighbor in Reinsel's second floor apartment building said he had given Reinsel a dozen meals in the seven months he lived there. Reinsel would imply that he

Wilson Wasn't Fired For Mismanaging Funds

Former Sanford Housing Authority Executive Director Thomas Wilson was not fired from that position in 1980 for mismanaging funds the housing authority received from the state Department of Housing and Urban Development as incorrectly reported in the Evening Herald on Jan. 24.

The Herald incorrectly reported in the article that the housing authority board fired Wilson in 1980 after charging him with mismanagement of funds the authority received from the state HUD.

Housing Authority Board members never gave an exact reason for Wilson's termination. Then-Authority Chairman Edward Blacksheare said that Wilson was not helping the board meet its "goals and objectives."

Wilson said that he had become disenchanted with the administration of the authority and with his job in the months before his termination as executive director, a post he held for more than eight years.

"At the time I was fired, the board did not make any reason for the action made known to me or the public," Wilson said in a letter to the Herald this week.

Wilson stated that his being fired was due to personal disagreements with the chairman at that time.

"I certainly was not fired for mismanagement of public funds and there is no evidence that can substantiate such a claim," he said.

The Herald regrets the error.

Challenger Panel Holds First Meeting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Challenger commission named by President Reagan to investigate America's worst space disaster called its first meeting today to receive a report on NASA's own probe into last week's shuttle explosion.

The 12-member commission headed by former Secretary of State William P. Rogers and former moon astronaut Neil Armstrong has 120 days to determine the probable cause of the accident and recommend ways to assure it does not happen again.

The space agency, which had planned 15 shuttle flights this year, has suspended flight operations until the investigation is complete.

The loss of Challenger and its crew has had a devastating impact on the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and has forced it to overhaul its proposed budget for the coming year.

The fiscal 1987 spending plan submitted by Reagan to Congress Wednesday was prepared before the Jan. 28 accident.

"As a result, we have to look across the complete range of our programs and across the range of our budget to decide what to do," said acting NASA administrator William Graham.

"We are considering every option that we can imagine."

"It will not be easy but the program will go on."

Police Not Affiliated With Fundraisers

Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett reminds area residents that the Sanford Police Department has no connection with the Central Florida Police Benevolent Association.

Due to the number of calls Sanford residents have been receiving from those soliciting money on behalf of the association, Harriett said today he wants to inform Sanford residents his department is not affiliated with the organization and derives no benefits from it.

Harriett said callers from the association "may possibly indicate Sanford officers receive benefits from the group."

"They do not," he said.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, pressing for a more "efficient health care system," is asking Congress to streamline federal costs for medical assistance and shift some of the burden to the poor, the elderly and the states.

In his annual budget message to Congress Wednesday, Reagan sought a $346 billion budget next year for the Health and Human Services Department, which administers most of the nation's major social programs, and called for cutting or capping health care expenditures.

The massive HHS budget for fiscal 1987 represents a 4-percent increase over 1986 spending levels — the smallest in a decade for the world's third largest budget after the entire federal government and the Soviet Union.

True to his word, Reagan's

HHS Budget Slashes Health Care Expenditures

HHS budget spares Social Security from cuts and includes a 3.7 percent cost-of-living increase for millions of recipients. It also asks Congress to require that welfare recipients seek jobs in return for benefits.

The Reagan budget would cut $4 billion from Medicare, the federal health insurance program for the elderly, and $1.3 billion from Medicaid, the joint federal-state health program for the poor.

While the budget leaves welfare intact for the moment, Reagan called for a sweeping reform of the nation's system of public assistance and asked the White House Domestic Council to come up with a strategy to "escape the spider's web of dependency."

Airport To Self-Insure Tower

Rather than insure its control tower at a cost of $70,000, the Sanford Airport Authority will shoulder financial responsibility for possible negligence claims by utilizing a state statute that limits awards against government agencies to $200,000.

The authority will continue to depend on its state mandated "sovereign immunity" to fend off the possibility of multi-million dollar claims unless the Federal Aviation Association assumes partial responsibility for the tower's operation, or a lower insurance rate can be obtained, Aviation Director J.S. "Red" Cleveland said today.

Formal approval for the self-insurance measure came during a special session Tuesday, 19 days after the tower's liability coverage expired. Although adopted by a six vote majority, the authority's two remaining board members contend the decision was less than prudent.

They also acknowledge, however, that spiraling insurance rates left very few options to the self-insurance proposal that Cleveland made early last month. With less than a week remaining before the tower policy expired, Cleveland told the authority that insurance rate increases would necessitate $70,400 for tower insurance and $41,067 for property and premises coverage. Last year, the authority paid $17,500 for total coverage.

Although the property and premises coverage was renewed late last month, the authority held off its determination on tower insurance in hopes that Cleveland could secure a liability policy for less than $70,000.

Cleveland said his efforts were unsuccessful.

By seeking self-protection through the sovereign immunity statute, negligence claims for more than $200,000 per incident would have to be approved by the state legislature, according to authority attorney Bill Hutchinson.

He said such a possibility is "very, very unlikely" because plaintiffs "would have a very difficult time proving to the state that our controllers acted with willful and wanton misconduct."

Two authority members, however, are less than appeased by Hutchinson's assurance. Commissioner Henry Schumacher, who abstained from Tuesday's vote, said the potentially vulnerable position he is now in has taken the "fun" out of serving on the

State VFW To Sue Local Post

The state VFW is expected to file a law suit within 60 days to obtain the property and contents of a former Casselberry VFW post that changed its name in 1985 and admitted veterans who did not serve in foreign wars.

A similar suit the state organization filed last month was dismissed Wednesday by Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. after attorney's for the state organization and the Casselberry group agreed to resolve all issues between them except the ownership of the property and building at 200 Concord Drive.

The hearing was attended by about three dozen people.

The state VFW also sued the former Casselberry post because money from the operation of the local organization was not delivered to the state organization, according to the suit's complaint. This prompted the state VFW to revoke the local post's charter in December.

Richard Robison, attorney for the state VFW, said the Casselberry VFW was formed by charter in 1962. He said one of the by-laws stipulations that when the post ceases to exist, it belongs to the state VFW.

At Wednesday's hearing, the Casselberry group agreed to give the state VFW its flag and charter back and to "safe keep" the property and contents until the legal issue is resolved.

Seminole, Casselberry May Vie For Utility

By Sarah Nunn
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County and Casselberry may end up vying for ownership of Central V Utilities.

The county has indicated it will actively pursue the purchase and the city has also shown an interest in acquiring the private utility company located in south Seminole County.

However, if Casselberry is successful in obtaining the utility, the county says it will no longer provide sewer service to Central V customers in the unincorporated areas.

The county commission has proposed that a joint meeting be held with the city to discuss the matter, but it has also decided to notify Casselberry and the Department of Environmental Regulation of its intentions.

The county has a wholesale agreement with Central V to provide sewage treatment at its Iron Bridge plant, County Director of Environmental Services Jim Bible said. Central V provides water service to residents in the unincorporated areas along the southern border of Seminole County, he said.

The county's efforts to purchase the utility company have been in the works for over a year, with a feasibility study regarding the acquisition underway by an engineering firm, Bible said.

"Because Casselberry has wastewater treatment facilities, it is the county's position that should Casselberry prevail in their purchase of the utility, they must also assume the sewer treatment and disposal requirements for the Central V customers," he said.

Bible said the county's position is based in part on the "overwhelming need" for sewer capacity in the south central section of the county.

He cited the fact that Central V's sewage collection system is interconnected with the county's sewer system as the reason for the county's desiring to purchase the utility.

Casselberry Mayor Owen Sheppard said the city has considered buying Central V. "But that's all," he said. "We know it is available and have looked to see what would be involved in the purchase."

If Casselberry were to buy the company, Sheppard said it would provide sewer service for those customers who are now serviced by the county. He said the city is interested in purchasing Central V because it falls within Casselberry's service area.

Proposed Budget Highlights

By United Press International

Here are the highlights of President Reagan's proposed budget for fiscal year 1987 sent to Congress Wednesday:

Defense
Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger asked Congress for a $311.6 billion budget for next year. The budget includes $4.8 billion for research on the "Star Wars" missile defense shield, 75 percent more than the $2.75 billion the Pentagon received for the program for the financial year beginning Oct. 1. The figure also includes a 4 percent pay raise, or $2.6 billion, for the 2.1 million men and women in uniform. The budget envisions military spending of $1.8 trillion over the next five years — about $7,800 for every man, woman and child in the United States. Of the total, the Pentagon plans to spend $274.3 billion in one year, $15.9 billion more than was allocated for fiscal year 1986. Inflation is figured at 3.6 percent.

Welfare
The administration wants to keep the current benefit levels for Supplemental Security Income, veterans pensions and Aid to Families with Dependent Children, the major welfare program. It is proposing reforms to simplify the administration of food stamps and AFDC, encourage states to serve the highest risk participants in the special supplemental food program for women, infants and children and to increase state liabilities for food stamps given to people who are not eligible for them.

Food Stamps
Reagan proposed to trim administrative costs — but not benefits — for the food stamp program, by $313 million in next fiscal year and by $400 million and $510 million in subsequent years. Proportionately much larger cuts in child nutrition programs were proposed, suggesting a cut of $775 million in fiscal 1987 to $5.8 billion. Cuts would increase so that a $934 million cut of a bigger pie of $7.3 billion would be proposed for fiscal 1989.

Space
In a spending plan prepared before last week's explosion of the space shuttle Challenger, Reagan asked for $410 million in the next fiscal year to step up development of NASA's planned permanent orbiting space station to start operations in the mid-1990s. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said its budget totals do not reflect the loss of Challenger. However, the narrative portion of the budget sent to Congress makes several references to "restoring progress" to the shuttle program. The spending plan includes funds to operate the shuttles this year, upgrade the fleet and provide logistical support. The president requested a total of $7 billion for NASA in fiscal 1987, up $247 million from the 1986 level.

Transportation
Reagan asked Congress to eliminate federal subsidies for Amtrak and asked for $5.5 billion for air transportation, an increase of $100 million from current levels. Most of the money — $4.8 billion, or about the same as last year — would go to the Federal Aviation Administration. The budget also seeks $13.6 billion for highways, and proposed limiting funding for mass transit to the level of receipts provided by 1 cent of the gasoline tax dedicated to mass transit activities. The administration also proposes to terminate mass transit funding on new projects for Los Angeles, Miami, Jacksonville, Fla., Seattle, Houston, Buffalo, N.Y., Atlanta, San Diego, Calif., and St. Louis.

Housing and Urban Development
Reagan proposes an end to all government subsidies for new construction of housing for low-income people to be replaced with a voucher system that would provide cash benefits for people in the private market. The budget also proposes to eliminate the popular Urban Development Action Grant program and rescind the $200 million in the 1986 budget and to reduce outlays for Community Development Block Grants by 18 percent, to $6.5 billion. General Revenue Sharing is slated for elimination in the 1987 budget.

Muscles For The Firemen

Before working out with the weights it will house, Sanford firemen are getting plenty of exercise by building their 600-square-foot physical fitness center behind the South French Avenue fire station. The $20,000 project, which will also contain a sauna, is being built entirely by the men who will utilize it. The facility was budgeted for this year, as far up to discussions between the fire department and the city commission regarding on-site physical training center for firemen. The men expect to complete their effort and move their workout indoors, by the end of the month.

Sanford Home SWATed Woman Faces Charges

DRUGS AT HOME

Sanford police assisted by the Seminole County SWAT (Special Weapons and Tactics) team served a warrant at a Sanford home early Tuesday and charged a woman in connection with possession of illegal drugs.

The home at 810 W. Second St. was entered at about 8:45 a.m. and eight small plastic bags of cocaine, about $1,500 cash and a small quantity of marijuana were reportedly found, a police report said.

Juanita Holden, 40, has been charged with possession of cocaine and less than 20 grams of marijuana and possession of cocaine with intent to sell. She has been released on $2,000 bond to appear in court Feb. 24.

The man was arrested at about 11:12 p.m. Tuesday at the Handy Way on Red Bug Lake Road at Tuskawilla Road, Casselberry, where he alleged assaulted his wife.

The couple's two children ages two and five were at the scene, a sheriff's report said.

RSVP Director Joan S. Madison said the agency will use the funds to purchase a van to transport senior citizens who participate in the program.

Givens Taketh Away

Daytona Rallies Past Foul-Plagued Raiders

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

DAYTONA BEACH — Givens Taketh Away. That passage won't be found anywhere in the Bible. When coach Bill Payne and his Seminole Community College Raiders try to put Wednesday night's traumatic 59-56 loss to Daytona Beach Community College into perspective, however, one name will loom in their minds.

Terry "Kool-Aid" Givens.

The Scurryin' Scots' elusive 6-4 center took advantage of a pair of foul-plagued SCC big men — 6-8 Vance Hall and 6-7 Greg "Slim" Johnson — to score 22 points and lead the Daytona to a very important Mid-Florida Conference victory before a school-record 1,160 fans.

The victory pulled the Scots into a second-place tie with the Raiders. Both have 8-3 records with three games to play. Seminole, 22-6, hosts Lake City Saturday. Daytona, 23-6, goes to St. John's River Saturday. Florida Junior walloped Valencia, 107-83, Wednesday to retain first place with a 9-2 mark. FJC host Santa Fe Saturday before journeying to Daytona Wednesday.

The Raiders were ranked first in the state poll Monday. Similar to the last time they were picked for the top spot, they lost the next game. "It's amazing," Daytona Beach coach Ray Ridenour said. "We beat two No. 1 teams (Seminole and Santa Fe) and we're still second in our league."

Givens, meanwhile, was too quick for 6-8 Vance Hall and 6-7 Greg "Slim" Johnson underneath. He continually flashed to the high post and then one-stepped down the lane to score or draw fouls from the two frustrated big men.

"I was just sneaking into the middle with my flashes," Givens said. "I don't think they were looking for that. They thought we'd shoot the ball outside all night."

Ironically, it was Givens who was in foul trouble in the first meeting between the two teams, which Seminole won at home behind a superb inside game from Hall.

This time, however, Givens made the difference, much to the delight of Scots' coach Ray Ridenour. "What can you saw about Givens?" Ridenour asked about the sophomore's 7 of 11 shooting and eight free throws. "He made the difference tonight."

The foul call was Seminole 18 and Daytona 9, which didn't make Payne too happy. He picked up a technical in the first half and chased after the officials following the congratulatory handshake with Ridenour.

"It was the worst officiated game we've had this season," Payne said about the duo of Mitch Kinney and Donald Walker. "Consistency is what you look for in officiating and we didn't get it tonight."

Payne was impressed with Givens but thought he had help inside. "His daddy, both of them, did a helluva job refereeing the game," he said. "They go to the line 23 times and we go six."

The "Sanford Connection" of Willie Mitchell, Fred Miller and Darryl Merthie supplied just 13 points and 14 rebounds. From the field, Miller was 2 of 6, Merthie 3 of 9 and Mitchell 1 of 6.

Mitchell had six boards and did a good job of helping out on Hall in the first half. "We stopped Hall in the first half," he said about Hall's six points. "He got back on track for awhile in the second half but then fouls hurt him."

"We studied his moves on film and knew he was the key to the game. We got back on the boards, too. Last time, they ruled the rebounds."

Seminole, uncharacteristically, jumped out to a 13-8 lead as Hall, who finished with 18 points, Mike Landell and Tony Roberts combined for the points. After two conversions on Payne's technical pulled Daytona even, Roberts stuck in a rebound and scored on a nice fed from Darris Gallagher. Efreem Brooks popped in a jumper for a 21-15 edge with 6:13 to play.

The Raiders, who turned the ball over 30 times, let Daytona back in the game in the last six minutes, though, as Givens dropped three free throws and Leveris Williams added a couple jumpers.

Twice, the Scots beat SCC for easy layups. On the first occasion, Merthie came down with a rebound, took two dribbles and then hurled an incredible underhanded, 50-foot pass to Miller for a layup. Then, with just three seconds left, Williams got behind the defense for a layin and a 26-25 halftime edge.

Hall didn't get his first foul until seven minutes were left in the half but he picked up his second with 2:31 to go and exited. The big freshman got his game together in the early going of the second half, hitting two free throws and three jumpers in a three-minute span as SCC took a 35-32 lead.

He was nailed with his third foul at 16:50 but his fourth — on a controversial charge-block decision with 14:12 left — again caused Payne to pull him from the game. And when Johnson was nailed with his third and fourth just a minute apart, he, too, was removed with 12:01 to go.

The Raiders led by two at the time, but Givens then scored five points. Williams added four and guard Kevin Morris a bucket as Daytona took its first lead — 50-49 — with 8:14 to play.

Hall and Johnson returned at the 6:12 mark and SCC down by one. Hall immediately hit consecutive buckets for a 53-50 edge but Givens came back with three successive moves down the paint for a 56-53 lead with 2:04 to go.

Johnson then cut it to 56-54 with a free throw with 1:53 to go. After Daytona ran down the clock twice and missed, Johnson pulled down a big rebound with 34 seconds left.

SCC then ran it down to 18 seconds but Roberts forced a drive down the lane and during the ensuing entanglement his shot went over the backboard and out of bounds.

SCC was forced to foul as Morris hit two free throws and Givens one to offset a Landell bucket at the buzzer.

Jotwani Makes McCorkle Wish Come True, Rams Top Hornets

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Going into Wednesday night's game, Oviedo's Tim Geltz had scored 29 goals for Bishop Moore's Hornets. But, with Lake Mary's Vinay Jotwani applying the defensive shackles, Geltz was practically a no-show.

Jotwani marked Geltz to perfection as the Bishop Moore scoring leader got off just two shots in the game. Meanwhile, Lake Mary finally cashed in on one of its offensive opportunities with three minutes left in the game for a 1-0 victory over the Hornets at Lake Mary High.

The victory was especially sweet for Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle. McCorkle built the Bishop Moore program and guided it to three state championships in just four years at the school.

Since his move to Lake Mary four years ago, however, the Rams have never beaten the Hornets, losing all five contests.

"I guess the guys just got tired of hearing Bishop Moore this and Bishop Moore that," McCorkle, who also coached four years at Seminole High, said. "They finally went out and beat them."

It was the regular season finale for the seventh-ranked (4A) Rams who now stand at 17-4-2. Bishop Moore, ranked sixth in the 3A poll, now stands at 13-3-4.

"Vinay (Jotwani) did a great job on Geltz and that was one of the keys to the game," McCorkle said. "Geltz got off just two harmless shots the entire game."

Lake Mary had a big edge on offense as it took 25 shots to Bishop Moore's nine but the Rams couldn't put one through the pipes until Jerry Meyers scored on a rebound with three minutes left.

Scott Schmitt took a shot from 25 yards out that rebounded off the keeper and Meyers was in position to stuff in the deflected ball.

"We try to teach the kids in practice to get in position for the rebound when someone takes a shot," McCorkle said. "Jerry (Meyers) saw that Scott (Schmitt) was going to shoot and he ran up and got in position."

Although Meyers' goal gave Lake Mary the victory, McCorkle said the Rams are going to have to do a better job finishing in the upcoming district tournament.

Vinay Jotwani Larry McCorkle

"We moved the ball and attacked well but didn't finish very well," McCorkle said. "That's something we have to correct before the playoffs. When you take 25 shots you should be able to make more than one."

Mary Nears Crown

By Chris Fister

Lake Mary's Lady Rams will look to strengthen their opportunity to secure the top seed in the district tournament tonight when they host Spruce Creek's Lady Hawks in a 4A-9 district matchup.

The Lady Rams, 15-4 overall, stand at 8-1 in district play. The district seeding is being done according to 4A-9 district records which puts the Lady Rams in the driver's seat.

Meanwhile, Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots will try to keep from slipping to the Seminole Athletic Conference back seat tonight when they take on Seminole High's Lady Seminoles at Seminole High.

The Lady Patriots must win tonight to keep their hopes of an SAC title alive. Brantley, 10-6 overall, is 4-2 in the conference and trails Lake Mary (6-0) by two games with four SAC games

Lady Rams, Brantley To Clash In District

With a shot at top-ranked Lyman looming in the near future, Lake Mary's Lady Rams and Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots go to battle tonight at 7 at Lake Brantley High in a semifinal game of the District 3 Tournament.

The championship game will be Saturday night at the home of the higher seeded remaining team.

Lake Brantley has beaten the Lady Rams twice this season but Lake Mary coach Bill Eissele said his team came on strong the last week of play.

"The girls moved the ball well and put the ball in the goal," Eissele said.

"I hope they can continue to do that in the tournament. We've had somewhat of a jinx against Lake Brantley this year but we're going to see if we can break it."

Defensively, senior goalkeeper Laura Hellegaard is the anchor, Senior sweeperback Marjan Stonerock is one of the top defenders in the county.

Lake Brantley got a big boost from Michelle Schroth in Tuesday's 5-0 win over Oviedo as the junior midfielder scored a pair of goals. The Lady Patriots also rely on Colleen Lieveritz and Cara Marlen on the offensive side with Reenie Deaver and Pam Anderson the defensive stalwarts.

In tonight's other semifinal, Lyman's Lady Greyhounds will be overwhelming favorites against Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks. Lyman, which has won 41 consecutive games, will host the match beginning at 7.

"We just want to give them (Lyman) a ballgame," Lake Howell coach Art Raynor said. "Our girls have improved tremendously but they're still not at the caliber of Lyman."

Hannon: Record Bass Will Come From Florida Waters

Doug Hannon, who lives in Tampa, may be considered a professional big bass expert. He devotes his life to the study of giant largemouth bass. Hannon is also a naturalist, guide, under water photographer, and the inventor of fishing lures and weedless electric trolling motor props.

He has a giant aquarium at his home, and he spends a great deal of time studying the huge bass that live in those confines.

Hannon has probably caught more bass over 10 pounds than anyone alive — over 400! His largest bass is a 17-pound monster.

Hannon never goes bass fishing as most anglers perceive bass fishing. Whenever he hooks up his boat, it's to go giant bass fishing. He is only fishing for the largest bass living in that particular lake or river.

Hannon has reached some startling conclusions after many years of catching and observing lunker largemouths.

Unlike Glenn Lau, Hannon believes that the next world record bass will come from Florida waters. He points out that the enormous bass in California do not usually get long enough to achieve world record proportions.

Perry's world record bass from

Jim Shupe
GOING FISHING?

Georgia was 32½ inches long. Dave Zimmerli's 20-pound, 15-ounce California bass was only 26½ inches long. Hannon believes that few California bass have the skeletal growth potential to reach world record size.

Hannon also indicated that California bass have adapted to a deepwater existence due to heavy angling pressure and the fact that these bass feed heavily upon rainbow trout, a deepwater species. Locating and catching big bass in such deep water is a difficult task, and the chance of catching a world record under these circumstances is slim.

Unlike many bass experts, Hannon believes that the next world record bass will come from shallow water, three feet or less in depth. His 17-pounder came from shallow water and so did the world record bass. Hannon compiled statistics of documented bass catches over 16 pounds and reports that 90 percent of these huge bass were caught in water depths of three feet or less.

He also believes that the next world record bass will not be caught in the winter or the spring, but in the summer. He states that bass perform at their highest metabolic rates in the summer and get larger as a result.

For proof, he points out that the current world record largemouth bass was caught in June, and the current world record smallmouth bass was caught in July.

Hannon is quite precise in stating where he believes the next world record bass will be caught. After many years of fishing and diving, he has reached the conclusion that this giant bass will be caught in a river between Tampa and Gainesville. He further states that a river such as the Rainbow, with unpolluted water and a constant temperature of 74 degrees, would provide the ideal habitat for the growth of such a fish.

He would look where a short. See SHUPE, Page 6A

Hallucinating May Be Caused By Medicine

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — What causes rectal itch? Are psychological factors a cause?

DEAR READER — The skin at the rectal opening, the anus, is extremely sensitive. Unlike the rectal lining, it can be affected by prolonged exposure to intestinal contents. Anal pruritis (itching) is commonly caused by minute leakage of intestinal waste. Certain factors, such as hemorrhoids and a weak anal sphincter, can permit a small amount of fecal material to moisten the anal area. This leakage often produces unbearable chronic irritation.

Of course, other conditions play a role, too. Intestinal infections (particularly yeast), excessive perspiration between the buttocks, persistent diarrhea, certain sexual practices and parasites such as pinworms can result in annoying anal irritation.

Psychological characteristics, by themselves, do not cause anal pruritis. To the extent that emotional factors are associated with secondary problems — like diarrhea and bizarre diets — anal itching can be related to psychological orientation. Patients can often relieve the itching by avoiding certain foods (such as acids and roughage), cleaning the anus with soap and water (or Tucks witch-hazel-impregnated pads) after bowel movements and discontinuing laxatives. If the itching persists, medical evaluation may be necessary.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have had a bacterial ear infection for two months. I've gone to two ear specialists and have been treated with antibiotics and antihistamines. Now I'm being treated with sulfa drugs, but the infection is not clearing up. There is fluid behind the eardrum. What can be done to get rid of the infection?

DEAR READER — Many ear specialists (otolaryngologists) would choose, at this point in your illness, to remove the fluid and infection. This can be accomplished quite simply by in-roducing a small tube through the eardrum and vacuuming out the middle-ear chamber. If you have had repeated ear infections, the specialist might — at the time of surgery — place tiny plastic vents through the drum to permit continued drainage of infected material. The pressure-equalizing (PE) tubes also prevent painful pressure buildup behind the eardrum, thereby making you more comfortable and protecting the hearing mechanism from further damage.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
South did not have to worry that North would pass two no-trump. When the opening bidder makes a reverse bid (two hearts), he promises to bid one more time. When South discovered that North's strong bidding was based on spade support, he asked for aces and kings, and bid six spades. Today's theme, however, is not bidding. Rather, I invite you to look at each player's spade holding and think how you might defend with East's hand.

South won the opening lead with the club queen. He played a spade to dummy's jack, and East was ready with a deceptive play that you should remember. Instead of winning the king, he played the seven. Now what was declarer to think? If that seven were a singleton, playing the spade ace would let West eventually take two tricks and set the slam. So declarer played a heart back to his ace and decided to go for all the marbles. He led the spade queen, hoping that East's original holding was 10-7 doubleton. When West showed out, the curtain fell.

It was right for declarer to protect against the possibility of East's holding the seven alone, but the right way to do it was to return to his hand and lead a small spade toward dummy's ace. If West followed small, he could duck, and whatever happened he could not lose more than one spade trick. If West showed out, South would rise with the ace and lead from dummy toward his queen, limiting clever East to only one trump trick.
