Cape Canaveral To Charleston On Watch For Isabel

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical Storm Isabel, born from a disturbance that dumped enough rain on Puerto Rico to trigger mudslides burying an estimated 200 people, whirled toward the southeast coast today with 65 mph winds.

Isabel, the ninth tropical storm of the season, failed to strengthen overnight, but the Bahamian government issued a storm watch for the Abaco Islands in the northern Bahamas.

The storm crept northwest at 15 mph, a direction and speed that could bring it over the southeastern United States Thursday, the National Hurricane Center in Miami said.

At 6 a.m. EDT today, Isabel was centered about 375 miles east southeast of Daytona Beach, near latitude 28.2 north, longitude 75.0 west.

Forecaster Bob Case said it was "very difficult" to pinpoint where the storm would hit land — if it does at all — but advised coastal residents in Florida, Georgia and South Carolina to stay alert to Isabel's progress.

"It's in the process of turning," he said. "We don't know how much it's going to turn. Anywhere from Cape Canaveral to Charleston (S.C.), any place in that area is a prime target."

"The best thing people on the coastline can do is stay alert and be prepared to take quick action."

The system raged from an unnamed tropical disturbance into a powerful storm. But Case said Tuesday night it appeared Isabel was settling down a bit because of wind shears preventing it from building.

"The upper part of the storm is being destroyed by changing air directions and speeds at mid and upper levels, which is interfering with the oneness, or unity, of the tropical storm itself," he said.

"Earlier today, things looked very promising, but just looking and watching and seeing the air reconnaissance reports, I don't have nearly the degree of confidence I did eight hours ago" about Isabel becoming a hurricane.

The Bahamas government issued a storm watch for the Abaco Islands at the northeast corner of the island chain. Small craft warnings were flying in the northern Bahamas and all along the Florida east coast.

As a tropical wave Sunday and Monday, the storm system drove heavy thunderstorms and gusts over the islands of Hispaniola, Puerto Rico and adjacent waters, forecasters said.

Longwood, County Clash, Cooperate

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Except for a couple of sticky issues, a joint meeting between Longwood officials, the Seminole County Commission and their staffs, turned out to be pretty much of a love-in.

County Commissioner Bob Sturm and Longwood Mayor Harvey Smerilson stood firm on opposite sides of the controversial issue of street barricades in Shadow Hill subdivision. Sturm asked the city to rescind its action in closing the two streets and Smerilson responded by saying the residents had asked for them and he wasn't taking them down until they wanted them down.

Barricades on Lamont Avenue and Shadow Trail were installed to prevent traffic from going to and from the county's Myrtle Lake Hills Road by way of the subdivision streets. When the roads were first blocked it was because residents said through traffic was using Lamont and Shadow Trail because Myrtle Lake Hills Road was unpaved and impassable during rainy season. They said that was causing a safety hazard.

Later the county paved Myrtle Lake Hills Road, but the city extended the temporary road closing again at the request of residents because they complained hotrodders and trucks were cutting through their neighborhood and knocking down mailboxes.

"The original condition no longer exists and I don't see the need for the barricades," Sturm said.

He added that although he doesn't think county residents are going to use the streets for a shortcut when they can use Myrtle Lake Hills Road, the roads are public and should be open to be used by the county residents.

Smerilson said the Shadow Hills residents had signed the petition asking for the streets to be closed and he had met with the majority of the residents who said that "under no circumstances did they want the barriers down."

County Commissioner Fred Streetman suggested the city and county commissioners from that district get together with appropriate staff members to see if they can come up with a solution.

One issue on the agenda was resolved before the Monday meeting was even held. That was the parking problem for the county's Longwood Health Clinic next to the city hall. There have been complaints that clinic staff and clients were parking in city employee areas, but County Administrator Ken Hooper said additional parking spaces are being provided across the street next to the community building.

Longwood City Administrator Greg Manning said the area, formerly used for shuffleboard courts, is being mulched because money for paving is not available.

Manning said the senior citizens who meet there said the shuffleboard courts are not used anyway and they would be happy to have additional parking space available.

To Egyptian Authorities

Pirates Agree To Surrender

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Palestinian pirates who hijacked an Italian luxury liner agreed to free their 420 hostages today and surrender to Egyptian authorities, a spokesman for the Palestine Liberation Organization said.

"You can say that everything is over," a PLO spokesman said in Tunis, Tunisia. "It has been settled peacefully."

The message followed word from the hijackers that they had not, as they said earlier, killed any of the hostages and that everyone aboard the cruise ship Achille Lauro was alive and well.

Egypt's charge d'affaires in Israel said earlier his country has called on Palestinians holding the Italian cruise ship off Egypt "to surrender."

Israel radio reported, based on monitored radio transmissions from the ship, that attempts to persuade them to free 21 people and said "no hostages will be released."

But, in Tunis, a spokesman for Abu Iyad, second-in-command to PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat, said the hijackers surrendered off the Egyptian coast during the morning after talks with a delegation from the PLO, Egypt and Italy.

The 23,629-ton Achille Lauro, which was hijacked Monday, pulled into Port Said this afternoon and shipping sources said the hijackers told harbor authorities they were ready to leave the vessel, according to radio transmissions monitored in Israel.

The sources said some agreement may have been reached involving Palestinian representatives. There was no immediate official confirmation of the report.

The PLO spokesman said the successful conclusion to negotiations resulted from "close cooperation between the PLO delegation, Italy and Egypt."

"The PLO delegation went aboard the ship side by side with the Italians and Egyptians," he said. "The hijackers have now surrendered to Egyptian authorities. No one has been hurt. All is in order."

He said Palestinian officials at their Tunis headquarters were maintaining constant radio contact with the ship.

The spokesman said the ship returned to Egyptian waters overnight from a position off the Syrian coast at the urging of PLO leaders, including Abu Iyad.

The hijackers had threatened to kill the 420 hostages one by one, beginning with the Americans, unless Israel freed 50 Palestinian prisoners.

They reported Tuesday that they had killed two American

Panel Hands Reagan Tax Reform Defeat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan's vision of tax reform, starting to run into tough times in the House Ways and Means Committee, suffered its first major defeat, on his desire to raise the personal exemption to $2,000.

The Democrat-dominated committee, voting in closed session, tentatively defeated 24-12 Tuesday a proposal from Rep. Henson Moore, R-La., to implement Reagan's suggested $2,000 personal exemption.

A similar GOP attempt later was defeated on a voice vote.

Committee aides said the rollcall vote — the first significant test of Reagan's plan — was generally along party lines, although two Republicans voted against the president and one Democrat voted with him.

The panel also tentatively voted to change the standard deduction levels proposed by Chairman Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., agreeing to provide more relief to heads of households — usually single parents.

Committee aides said other amendments to the two areas were expected and the votes did not reflect the panel's final action. Under committee rules, the Rostenkowski proposals stand unless a substitute is approved.

Despite its lengthy sessions, the committee has not yet handled the most sensitive provisions of tax reform, such as the deduction for state and local taxes.

The panel today planned to deal with the charitable contribution deduction taken by taxpayers who do not itemize their returns.

Reagan wants to raise the personal exemption from $1,080 to $2,000 — a move some Republicans contend is essential to provide tax relief to poorer people.

Suspended Officer Says Evidence Withheld

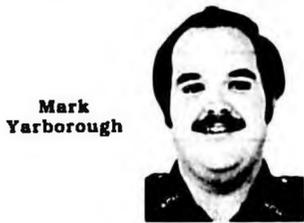

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford officer suspended after accusations of sloppy police work charged today the city is withholding evidence that would clear him.

Police Chief Steve Harriett denied the charge and said the evidence — tape recordings — are available if the suspended officer wants to listen to them.

Officer Mark Yarborough, 33, of 3006 Pinellas Lane, Deltona, made the accusation during a Police Complaint Review Board held at the Sanford Police Department.

Yarborough said the city is withholding tapes of phone calls and radio transmissions to and from the police department. He said the tapes would prove that he did investigate at find the tapes. Usually the tapes, which record telephone and radio communications to the police department, are reused every 30 days but the tapes in question were not reused, Harriett said.

Prior to today's hearing Yarborough selected sheriff's deputy John F. Negri to represent him on the review board. Harriett picked Sanford Lt. Ralph Russell to represent the department. The board's third member, agreed upon by Yarborough and Harriett, is Sgt. William Cornez of the Longwood Police Department. Yarborough's lawyer, Vincent Howard of Sanford, was present at the hearing but following usual procedure was not allowed to speak on Yarborough's behalf.

It is not known when the board will make a decision. The board has about a dozen witnesses to interview.

Yarborough and Harriett are not bound by the review board's decision and afterwards can take the case before the city Civil Service Board. From there the case could go to court.

Yarborough is accused of poor police work in not filing a missing juvenile report; not investigating a break-in and a separate burglary; failure to report an attempted burglary; not following the order of a superior officer and of misleading a superior officer in regards to a back injury.

He was reprimanded in writing Aug. 13 for his investigation into a

Perez Sees Crisis In Medicare Cuts

By Fred Cooper
Herald Staff Writer

President Reagan's cost-cutting plans for Medicare will force some physicians out of the practice of medicine, according to Sanford doctor Luis M. Perez, president of the Florida Medical Association (FMA).

Perez recently spoke against the freeze at a meeting with Congressmen in Washington.

An administration-backed bill (S1550) to continue the current fee freeze on physician's charges for patients will pare Medicare funding $19.5 billion, he said.

"The President is pushing very hard to keep the fee freeze as part of his program to save $20 billion in the next fiscal year," Perez said, but legislation enacted by the Congress in 1983 froze Medicare fees at the 1982 fee schedule which was based on 1976 costs.

"Costs have increased dramatically in recent years, especially in insurance premiums, rent and equipment," he said. "Skyrocketing premiums in some areas of medicine have driven physicians into early retirement or changes in specialties. If they can't increase fees to cover the increased costs, what can they do? It's a real crisis."

Perez joined other state medical association presidents, congressmen and senators in a September meeting in Washington, sponsored by the American Medical Association (AMA) to discuss the proposed extension of the fee freeze. The group, totaling 30, included the association presidents of states with the largest numbers of Medicare patients such as

Altamonte Water: No Need To Boil

Boil Altamonte water if you want to, but it's safe as is, according to city officials.

"Our water is fine. It has been tested and there is no contamination, there was never any contamination," Barbara Novello, an employee of the Altamonte Springs Utility Department, said today.

Altamonte Springs water customers were advised by the city Monday afternoon to boil their water for the next 48 hours as a precautionary measure after their water was shut off for two hours.

When the water pressure is down for an extended period of time the state Department of Environmental Regulations suggest that people boil their water for one minute for a 48-hour period as a precaution.

Ms. Novello explained that a contractor cut a power line to the city's Keller Road Wastewater Treatment Plant, which shut down its operation. The city water was turned off in order to control the amount of water going into the sewer system while repairs to the power line were made so that sewage would not be backing up at manholes.

She emphasized there was no way for the sewage to get into the water lines.

Genius Still Gets Spanked

HOUSTON (UPI) — A woman who sent her 9-year-old son to college this fall says she still treats him like a child despite his IQ of 159, including an occasional spanking when warranted.

"He's a 9-year-old and I have to treat him like a 9-year-old," Rita Haung said of her son David, a student at Houston's University of St. Thomas.

David is enrolled in 16 hours of courses including organic chemistry, calculus and microcomputer graphics.

He said he considers himself just another kid at home.

"I have friends of all ages, but the ones I ride bikes with are 5 or 6," he said.

Haung, 41, said she started David's education while she was pregnant.

"I read to him and played Beethoven before he was even born," she said.

NATION IN BRIEF

Senate Moves To Avoid Crisis; Will Vote On Credit Line

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate agreed early today to break the logjam over the politically charged balanced budget issue and allow a vote on a temporary increase in the federal credit line to avert a fiscal crisis.

Senate Republican leader Robert Dole forged the agreement at 3 a.m. EDT with weary senators, worn out from an entire day of jockeying by Democrats and Republicans for top billing on the balanced budget issue.

Under the agreement, the Senate planned votes later today on both Democratic and Republican plans to balance the budget by early next decade, which were attached to an increase in the federal debt ceiling from $1.8 trillion to $2 trillion — enough to last for another year.

The Senate also planned to vote later today on a small hike in the debt ceiling — enough to cover checks through Oct. 17 — giving Congress time to take its four-day Columbus Day vacation this weekend and still have time left over to do more work on balancing budgets.

The short-term bill also must be approved by the House.

Young Wins Easy Re-Election

ATLANTA (UPI) — Andrew Young, who likes to boast he is now mayor of the city where a previous mayor had him thrown in jail, has won a second term by an overwhelming margin.

Young captured 84 percent of the vote against four competitors — a socialist, a comedian, a shop owner and a private detective. Victory had been virtually assured, but Young played it tongue-in-cheek in his acceptance late Tuesday night.

Also Tuesday, incumbent Mayor Palmer DePaulis of Salt Lake City, captured more than 50 percent of the votes in an eight-person nonpartisan election.

With more than 90 percent of the vote counted, incumbent Mayor Harry Kinney of Albuquerque, N.M. was running third in the crowded mayoral race behind challengers Ken Schultz, a city councilor, and state Land Commissioner Jim Baca.

U.S.: Soviet Arms Offer Flawed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chances of a superpower arms control accord at the November summit have faded with a detailed U.S. analysis that says a new Soviet proposal would leave the United States at a drastic disadvantage.

Arms reductions proposals that Moscow offered Sept. 27 are seriously flawed, a senior administration official said Tuesday, because they would give the Soviet Union a larger relative lead in strategic missiles and would thus be destabilizing.

The official, who spoke on the condition he not be identified, said the Kremlin's proposal would leave the Soviets with 6,000 strategic warheads and the United States with only about 1,680.

The United States now has 7,500 and the Soviets 8,900 strategic warheads.

Despite U.S. objections, the official said, "It is a proposal and we are negotiating."

WORLD IN BRIEF

Rescuers Search For Hundreds Feared Trapped By Mudslide

MAMEYES, Puerto Rico (UPI) — Rescuers used chain saws, pickaxes, and their bare hands to search for as many as 200 people buried and feared dead in a landslide that crushed some 275 homes.

"There are hundreds (of bodies) here. I can assure you of that," police Col. Enrique Torres Madera said Tuesday at the site of the disaster in the Mameyes neighborhood of Ponce, 45 miles southwest of San Juan.

The mudslide Monday was triggered by heavy rains that have fallen on the island since Saturday, causing severe flooding. Another 36 people were killed in the storm elsewhere on the island late Sunday and Monday.

National Guard and Civil Defense members — many wearing surgical masks to block the stench of decaying flesh — worked into the night, despite dwindling hopes of finding survivors of the mudslide that buried 275 homes and tin houses at 3 a.m. Monday.

Search For Boy Continues

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — One of the "miracle" babies pulled alive from the wreckage of a hospital eight days after it was crushed by an earthquake was buried as rescue workers searched for the body of a 9-year-old boy given up for dead after a long search.

Rescuers using picks, shovels and heavy machinery found no trace of the boy, Luis Ramon Nafarrate, 9, who once was reported to have been alive beneath the rubble two weeks after the massive earthquake that leveled much of Mexico City Sept. 19. A second, powerful quake struck the following day.

Workers found the badly decomposed and burned body of Nafarrate's grandfather, Luis Maldonado, 55. Authorities said he died the day of the first quake, when a neighboring building fell on his colonial structure and a broken gas tank ignited a raging fire.

Although workers persisted in the search for Nafarrate, officials have given up hope he is alive.

Strangle Hold Put On Palestinians

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Moslem militiamen kept close guard on Palestinian refugee camps and Syrian troops patrolled Tripoli in the latest attempt to prevent the Palestine Liberation Organization from re-establishing a power base in Lebanon.

In mainly Moslem west Beirut Tuesday, two British women abducted by gunmen last month were released unharmed.

Shiite Moslem gunmen Tuesday surrounded Lebanon's three Palestinian refugee camps after a day of heavy fighting and a night of minor skirmishes with Palestinian forces.

The Shiites, backed by Soviet-made T-54 tanks supplied by Syria, clashed with the Palestinians at the south Beirut refugee camps of Sabra, Shatila and Bourj Barajneh for more than four hours Monday.

Amnesty Report:

State Executions, Political Killings Rampant Worldwide

LONDON (UPI) — Thousands of people worldwide were killed last year as a result of government policies allowing the execution, torture or assassination of criminals and political opponents, Amnesty International said Wednesday.

In a report reviewing the human rights records of 123 countries in 1984, the London-based group said it was impossible to provide an exact figure because "secrecy concealed many deaths and governments denied responsibility for killings carried out on their orders or with their complicity."

Amnesty — basing part of its report on information from 40 countries — said it counted 1,513 official executions in 1984, including 21 in the United States, 16 in the Soviet Union and 114 in South Africa.

Thousands more people were "the victims of deliberate political killings in various countries," the organization said in the 359-page report.

"Unarmed civilians were killed in large numbers by the army and police, by other security forces or by 'death squads' sanctioned by the authorities," said Amnesty, winner of the 1977 Nobel Peace Prize.

It said opposition groups, including guerrilla forces, also tortured prisoners and killed civilians.

"In jails throughout the world, prisoners were tortured to death or allowed to die in prison through deliberate ill-treatment and neglect," it said.

"In 1984 ... nearly half the countries of the world held prisoners of conscience in their jails, thousands of political prisoners were incarcerated without charge or trial, and torture was used as an instrument of state policy in many nations," the report said.

Amnesty said its report did not seek to make "moral or political comparisons" between countries, but was intended to rally international opinion against government policies permitting execution, torture and assassination.

"Prisoners were hanged or shot after trials by military or revolutionary courts that fell short of internationally recognized standards for a fair trial in Afghanistan, Angola, Cameroon, Iran and Libya," Amnesty said.

"Some prisoners died in prison through lack of adequate care or neglect," the report said, citing cases in the Soviet Union, Cameroon and Sierra Leone.

"Deaths under torture were reported from Chile, Turkey and Uruguay," Amnesty said.

"Outright political killings, often of unarmed civilians during counterinsurgency operations, took place in Chad, El Salvador, Guatemala, Indonesia, East Timor and Peru," it said, adding that in some cases officially sanctioned "death squads" were responsible.

First Returns

Lou Gutshall, left, United Way Information, and Dailia Isern of the United Way staff, agree: first returns in the United Way fundraising drive in Seminole County total $33,343.42. The amount was announced Monday at a United Way breakfast at Bill Knapps restaurant, Longwood.

Qualifying Open In Longwood

The two-week qualifying period opened Friday in Longwood and three incumbent city commissioners have already filed to run for re-election in the Longwood city election to be held Dec. 3.

June Lormann, district 2, is seeking her seventh two-year term on the commission. Mayor Harvey Smerlison, district 1, is running for his second term on the commission. Harold "Ed" Myers, district 4, is making his third bid for a commission seat — he ran in 1983 and prior to that in the late 60s.

Dr. Fred Pearl has picked up filing papers to run against Mrs. Lormann for the district 2 seat.

Other candidates have until the Oct. 18 deadline to file. Papers may be picked up from City Clerk Don Terry at the city hall at 175 W. Warren Ave.

Due To Stricter Federal Aid Requirements

Survey: More Going Hungry In U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Failure of federal programs to feed an increasing number of hungry Americans has placed an "unbearable burden" on private and voluntary agencies, an anti-hunger organization charged Tuesday.

Bread for the World held a Capitol Hill news conference in which the Christian group placed much of the blame for increasing hunger in America on stricter eligibility requirements for federal assistance to the poor.

It said voluntary agencies are "staggering under the burden of caseloads totally inappropriate to their resources and administrative capacities."

The group's report, "Unfed America '85," is part of the organization's Hunger Watch project, which surveyed problems in 36 localities in 1984 and 1985.

"Fifteen of the 24 sites reporting said that inadequacies of the food stamp program were putting unbearable pressure on the private providers," the report said.

It said the main reasons for non-participation in federal programs are stricter eligibility guidelines and elimination of the hardship clause, which allowed families to subtract extraordinary expenses from income to qualify for free or reduced-cost meals.

"A nation that can spend $300 billion on defense and let millions of its citizens go hungry is gravely troubled," said Arthur

Simon, executive director of Bread for the World.

"This study shows that more and more people are turning to food pantries and community soup kitchens for food because the federal food assistance programs aren't meeting their needs," Simon said.

Among the report's recommendations were more federal funding to expand emergency food programs.

"We probably have better statistics on racehorses and hogs," Simon said.

Rep. Mickey Leland, D-Texas, praised the report and said, "For the price of one Trident submarine, food stamp benefits could be provided to 1,200,000 families for a year."

Rock Star-Turned Minister Seriously Injured In Car Wreck

WEST HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Little Richard, the flamboyant rock star who became a minister, was seriously injured Tuesday when his speeding sports car slammed into a telephone pole, trapping him for an hour, authorities said.

Richard, 49, whose real name is Richard Penniman, was taken to Cedars-Sinai Medical Center with a fractured right leg, broken ribs and possible head injuries, authorities said. He was in serious but stable condition.

"Penniman was traveling on Santa Monica Boulevard at a high rate of speed, lost control of his car and struck a telephone pole at Curson Avenue," Deputy Police said.

The sports car was destroyed in the accident, authorities said.

Penniman was eastbound in the business district on Santa Monica Boulevard when he lost control of the car and hit the poles on the south side of the street, Bureclaga said.

Paramedics placed his neck in a cervical collar and strapped him to a backboard as a precaution against spinal injuries. They also placed a traction splint on his right leg before he was loaded in an ambulance.

Sheriff's deputies were called to the scene to control a crowd of about 50 passersby who gathered to watch the rescue.

Richard, a singer, pianist, songwriter and bandleader, gained fame in the 1950s from songs, usually his own compositions, with nonsense lyrics and a wild, driving rhythm.

The flamboyant performer was thrust into the national limelight in 1955 with the record "Tutti Frutti," which was on the charts until the spring of 1956.

He held on to the national spotlight through 1958 with a steady string of hit singles, including "Long Tall Sally," "Slippin' and Slidin'," "Rip It Up," "Ready Teddy," "Lucille" and "Good Golly Miss Molly."

While at the top of the music field, Richard stopped performing after he survived a near-accident on a flight to an overseas engagement. An engine on the plane carrying Richard caught fire, and he reportedly vowed if the aircraft landed safely that he would enter the ministry.

The plane landed safely and he later returned to Alabama, where he earned a bachelor's degree and was ordained as a minister in the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

He returned to music in 1963, making tours in Europe with such groups as the Beatles.

Thursday — cloudy and windy with a good chance of showers or thunderstorms. High in the mid 80s. Wind northeast 15 to 25 mph and gusty. Rain chance 50 percent.

NATIONAL REPORT: A wintry storm that unloaded more than 2 feet of snow on the Rockies and northern Plains appeared to be diminishing today after plunging parts of the Northwest into a record-breaking deep freeze. Five people were reported missing in Montana as Tuesday's storm died down. Some snow was still falling early today from northern Minnesota across the Dakotas, Montana and northern Colorado, the National Weather Service reported. Snow was also scattered across northern Utah and northern Nevada. In Montana, which along with North Dakota caught the brunt of Tuesday's storm, Shonkin was hit with a total 31 inches of snow and still had 25 to 28 inches on the ground Tuesday afternoon. Jordan, Mont., had more than a foot on the ground. Montana also had the coldest temperature in the nation Tuesday, 8 degrees at Cut Bank. "It's cold tonight, clear and cold. When it clears off it's when it really gets cold," said Karen DenBoer, dispatcher for the sheriff's office in Glacier County, Mont., which includes Cut Bank.

Couple, Aided By Neighbor, Subdue Robber

An Orlando man reportedly followed an Altamonte Springs couple from an Orlando grocery store parking lot and allegedly tried to rob them at knifepoint outside their apartment. He has been charged with armed robbery and aggravated battery.

Altamonte Springs police arrived at 515 San Sebastian Court East at about 10:20 p.m. Monday and reported seeing two men and a woman struggling on the ground with another man.

Patrick and Heather Wilkes told police that the man they were subduing, with assistance from David Smith, a neighbor, had tried to take Wilkes' wallet and Mrs. Wilkes' purse after he followed them up the steps to their second floor apartment, a police report said.

The suspect allegedly demanded the wallet and purse after Mrs. Wilkes asked if they could do anything for him. She and her husband told police they didn't know the man, but they had reportedly had a confrontation with him in the parking lot of Table Supply, in Orlando, the report said.

There the man had reportedly accused Wilkes of possibly damaging his car with a shopping cart. He apparently followed them home, the report said.

When Wilkes refused to hand over his wallet the suspect allegedly pulled a butcher knife from the back pocket of his pants. The two men struggled and the suspect fell down the stairs and tried to flee in a car. Wilkes pulled him from the car. Mrs. Wilkes' screams attracted neighbors and Smith joined the fight, the report said.

Police recovered a knife at the scene and reported Wilkes had cuts on the abdomen and hand, but refused treatment.

Bruce Henry Joiner, 26, has been charged in the case and was being held in lieu of $10,000 bond.

CAR RAMMING

A 24-year-old Casselberry woman who allegedly drove her van into the car of Donald D. Winchell, 24, of South Carolina, during a fight in the parking lot of the ABC Lounge, U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry, has been charged with aggravated battery.

Action Reports

- ★ Fires
- ★ Courts
- ★ Police

The woman reportedly drove her vehicle into Winchell's car several times and then she and another woman fled, police reported.

A policeman spotted the van near the intersection of State Road 436 and U.S. Highway 17-92 and asked the driver to follow him back to the lounge, a police report said.

The woman was reportedly identified by the victim and witnesses. Police estimated damage to Winchell's car at $2,000.

Deborah Ann Mahoney of 830 Reflections Circle, was arrested at 3:43 a.m. Monday and has been released on $5,000 bond. She is scheduled to appear in court Oct. 28.

SPRINKLER STABBING

A 25-year-old Sanford man

stabbed in the head Sunday with a sprinkler stake remained in serious condition Tuesday, Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said.

Mark Sanders of 2007 Adams Ave., was fighting with another man when he was stabbed in the head with the metal stake. The fight occurred at Lake Gem Park on 24th Street, Harriett said. No arrest has been made and police continue to investigate the incident, while Sanders remained in Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Bonnie L. Williams, 26, of 401 B. Georgetown Drive, Casselberry, reported to sheriff's deputies her 1971 MGB was stolen on Monday or Tuesday.

A shotgun, a gold ring and a video recorder with a combined value of $2,120 were stolen from the home of George Cambridge, 57, of 2156 Sipes Ave., Sanford, on Monday, a sheriff's report said.

Ronald G. Haupt, 47, of 2040 U.S. Highway 17-92, Maitland, reported to sheriff's deputies tools worth $280 were stolen from his vehicle on Sunday or Monday.

A 375-magnum handgun worth $260 and a $150 shotgun were stolen from the home of Fabio G. Espinosa, 37, of 1121 Arden Road, Altamonte Springs, between Oct. 4 and Monday, deputies reported.

Two television sets, with a combined value of $550, and a $200 typewriter were stolen from John C. Deal, 40, of 481 Howard St., Altamonte Springs, between Oct. 1 and Monday, a sheriff's report said.

Three necklaces and a pair of earrings were stolen from the home of Sylvia Zarou, 29, of 1931 North St., Longwood, on Monday, a sheriff's report said.

Kay Sirilo, 39, of Semoran North Apartments #705, Winter Park, told sheriff's deputies her purse containing $113 was stolen from her home between Saturday and Monday.

A supervisor for Williams Co. of Orlando, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies a company shed at 1211 State Road 436 was burglarized between Oct. 4 and Monday and a $15 sledge hammer, a $150 miter saw and a $650 concrete vibrator were stolen.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Ernest Roman, 38, of 210 E. Morse Blvd., Winter Park, was arrested at 12:07 a.m. Monday on State Road 436, Casselberry after his car ran off the roadway and then backed up onto the roadway.

—Kenneth Earl Williams, 29, of Orlando, at 10:40 p.m. Sunday on Interstate 4, Lake Mary, after police saw him cut in front of another driver.

—Donavan Keith Rose, 28, of 225 Lochmond Drive, Fern Park, at 2:46 a.m. Sunday after his vehicle almost hit with a car being driven in front of his on State Road 434, Oviedo.

Man Gets Life Sentence For Sexual Assault On Child

By Deane Jordan

Herald Staff Writer

A Casselberry man found guilty of sexually assaulting an 8-year-old girl has been sentenced to life. His case was one of four heard recently.

Jeffrey Scott Caulder, 29, of 508 Elm Drive, was also sentenced by Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salli to a concurrent 15-year sentence for lewd and lascivious assault on the girl.

The jury deliberated for 35 minutes before reaching its verdict following the two day trial.

Caulder admitted fondling the girl and encouraging the child to fondle him but denied committing sexual battery.

Caulder was charged with assaulting the girl on Dec. 27, 1983, and Jan. 21, 1984, and forcing her to perform various sex acts. During trial, the courtroom grew silent as the girl gave uncharacteristically explicit testimony for a child her age. She was able to remember the general dates of the assaults by what presents she received year to year at Christmas.

The jury was apparently convinced the girl's knowledge was learned from the alleged encounters as was a co-prosecutor on the case.

"An 8-year-old child does not make up these things," said Assistant State Attorney Angela Blakely during closing argument before a six-member jury. She prosecuted the case with assistant state attorney Kurt Erlenbach.

Ms. Blakely also said Caulder's attempt to have the girl and her mother leave the state so he could not be prosecuted — as the jury heard from conversations recorded on a tapped phone — also pointed to his guilt.

Caulder's attorney, Gerald Rutberg, disagreed.

"The state is trying to overkill Mr. Caulder. When you separate facts from overkill, the facts mitigate in favor of Mr. Caulder," said Rutberg who called his client courageous for taking the witness stand and admitting to lewd acts with the girl.

Salli gave Caulder the maximum sentence under Florida law.

In other court action: —Evon James Todd, 25, of Kissimmee, arrested Sept. 10, 1984, after he used phony identification and a bogus bank account to buy about $1,200 worth of items in Altamonte Springs. He was reported to police by a partner who turned informant and was not charged. Salli sentenced Todd to one year in the county jail with credit for 15 days already served.

—David Jay Englander, 20, no address listed, arrested May 31 after a bike and laundry room key were taken without permission at 315 Seminola Blvd., Casselberry. Englander, who previously had been given permission to ride the bike, pleaded guilty to grand theft and was sentenced by Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Lefler to 77 days in the county jail. Englander was given credit for 77 days already served and then ordered to reappear in court Oct. 30 for sentencing for failure to appear July 17 for arraignment on the theft charge. He could receive up to six months on that charge.

—Anthony Gene Biddle, 18, of 2407 S. Orange Ave., Sanford, arrested July 28 after Sanford police found a .25-caliber automatic pistol in his pocket. Police stopped him after receiving a tip from his mother that he had a gun and was headed to see his girlfriend's brother. He pleaded guilty to carry a concealed weapon and could receive up to a year in the county jail by Lefler when sentenced Oct. 30.

Scientists Says Evidence Shows Water On Mars

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — Scientists report evidence now seems conclusive that water exists on Mars, the planet that holds out the best opportunities for human exploration.

In the past, astronomers and other researchers have speculated about the possibility of water on Mars, 50 million miles away, but doubts persisted.

Some 80 specialists participating in a "Water on Mars Workshop" sponsored by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Tuesday presented reports on their studies of data gathered by orbiters.

Mars is regarded by scientists as the solar system's best candidate for human exploration or colonization. Venus, for example, is too hot, and the waterless moon lacks sufficient gravity.

The scientists at the workshop depicted Mars as so cold that water would remain frozen, except perhaps briefly on summer days at the equator. Although the Martian atmosphere of 95 percent carbon dioxide absorbs infrared rays, the atmosphere is too thin to effectively retain heat.

It is under the polar caps of solid carbon dioxide, or dry ice, that water ice is revealed when some of the carbon dioxide vaporizes each summer.

Workshop participants were told that "terrain softening" — the rounding off of certain geological features — indicates water activity beneath the surface. That water is believed to lie a half-mile deep, where it would be kept liquid by the planet's internal heat.

But this has not always been the situation. The climate of Mars, like Earth's, is cyclical because of variations in its tilt toward the sun.

Long ago, scientists say, Mars had a much thicker atmosphere better able to hold the sun's heat. A thick layer of snow would have covered the equator, and beneath the snow there would have been liquid water that carved the extensive winding channels, or dry riverbeds, photographed in 1972 by Mariner 9.

As the planet slowly cooled, less lava came up to the surface and more carbon dioxide changed into carbonate rock, depleting the atmosphere. As a result the atmosphere steadily lost ability to hold heat.

Peter Schulz of Brown University, Bruce Janofsky of the University of Colorado, Gary Clow and Michael Carr of the U.S. Geological Survey, and Steven Squyres, Robert Haberle and James Pollack, all of NASA, gave major reports to the workshop.

The scientists said understanding climate changes on Mars will help researchers better understand changes in the weather on Earth.

Flagpole Focus Of Lawsuit At American Legion Post

TREASURE ISLAND, Fla. (UPI) — A landlord and members of an American Legion post are headed to court in a controversy over flying Old Glory from a pole atop the one-story building housing the post.

Leo M. Young Sr., former vice mayor of Redington Beach, seeks to force the removal of the flagpole from the rooftop. Young said he isn't opposed to the flying of the flag, but fears one of the legionnaires may get hurt climbing atop the building to raise and lower the flag daily, and then sue him.

He also said the flag was "the most tattered, hideous thing up there. It was a filthy, dirty rag." Post Commander George W. Garbutt, who is vice mayor of Treasure Island, said the post will defend to the end of the lease the right to fly the flag. Young said the lease is up for renegotiation in March.

Monday, Young filed suit in circuit court seeking the right to remove the flagpole from the building.

The controversy dates back to last November when Young purchased the building and began asking the legionnaires to remove the flagpole.

The legionnaires declined and continued to raise and lower the flag on the pole. On Aug. 7, Young hired a contractor to remove the pole, but Garbutt called police and the contractor left.

"I told him if he took my property off the roof I would have him arrested," Garbutt said.

Three weeks later Hurricane Elena and its winds intervened on Young's side, toppling the pole. But the legionnaires reinstalled the pole and Young decided to sue.

He asked the court for an injunction to prevent the legionnaires from interfering the next time he tries to remove the pole, asked for the costs of removing the pole and not less than $25,000 in punitive damages for the legionnaires' "maliciously" inducing the contractor to leave the work site.

Garbutt has called Young "Mr. Un-American," to which Young replied that he is a disabled veteran of the Vietnam War and "That's why I have a Purple Heart and Bronze Star."

Garbutt said Young wants to evict the legionnaires and get more money for the building, calling him "Mr. Greedy," to which Young replied, "That's a crock."

ANTONIO WILLIAMS
Marine Lance Cpl. Antonio Williams, son of Ann Williams of 10 Cowan Moughton, Sanford, recently reported for duty with the 3rd Marine Division on Okinawa.

A 1982 graduate of Seminole High School, he joined the Marine Corps in September 1982.

CLYDE P. WETTELAND
Navy Ensign Clyde P. Wetzeland, son of Theodore C. and May P. Wetzeland of Casselberry, has been commissioned in his present rank upon graduation from Officer Candidate School (OCS).

OCS, located at the Naval Education and Training Center, Newport, R.I., is designed to prepare students to assume the duties and responsibilities of commissioned officers.

During the 16-week course, Wetzeland studied the principles of leadership, man power management techniques, navigation and communications. He also studied Naval history, traditions, and missions, the structure and organization of Naval commands, military courtesy, uniform regulations, seamanship, and the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

A 1972 graduate of Edgewater High School, Orlando, and a 1982 graduate of the University of Central Florida with a Bachelor of Arts degree, he joined the Navy in June 1984.

ALAN BALDWIN
Marine Capt. Alan Baldwin, son of Charles M. and Pat Baldwin of 207 Marc 51, Sanford, recently reported for duty with the 1st Marine Division Camp Pendleton, CA.

A 1971 graduate of Bay County High School, Panama City, and a 1973 graduate of Florida State University, Tallahassee, with a Bachelor of Arts degree, he joined the Marine Corps in December 1972.

Streamline Student Aid

Federal financial assistance to needy college students is a sound concept, but subsidizing loans for most students is a seriously flawed practice in several respects.

To begin with, such loans are too easily available. Six years ago, some 1.5 million students borrowed $3 billion for their college educations. This year, more than 3.3 million students will borrow $9 billion. The average college graduate will leave school owing a bank more than $10,000. Little wonder that most graduates avoid lower-paying occupations such as teaching or public service.

Even so, the student default rate is alarming. At present, 10.7 percent of the students have reneged on their loan repayments, and the Education Department estimates that the default rate will increase another 1 percent this fiscal year. Government payments on these defaulted loans is expected to approach $2 billion by 1990 with total federal exposure to all student loans amounting to almost $12 billion.

Worse still, these easily obtained loans tend to undermine the traditional value of working one's way through college. These are the sensible conclusions of a recent study by the Carnegie Foundation on the Advancement of Teaching, which proposes some overdue reforms in student aid.

The study recommends that the federal government scale back its subsidized loan programs by requiring students to perform community service work in exchange for financial aid. This would encourage students to become more productive members of society, and it could save the federal government billions of dollars in defaulted loans. Some of the savings could then be used to replenish the pool of funds available for grants, scholarships, and other financial assistance for the truly needy.

Congress ought to lose no time in incorporating the Carnegie Foundation's recommendations into the federal college-level program.

Another Lousy Day

The guru, Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh, has 93 Rolls-Royces at his disposal, but, by the gods, that's not enough.

He has thrown temper tantrums and has threatened suicide if his followers don't come up with a 94th Rolls — perhaps one in British racing green with gold wheels and chrome hubcaps.

That's the latest dope on Rajneeshpuram, the 64,000-acre ranch in Oregon, where dwell the Bhagwan and thousands of his followers.

Rajneeshpuram obviously isn't the heaven it used to be. Ever since the Bhagwan's chief disciple, the almond-eyed Ma Anand Sheela, took off in the night, things have been going to the jackals.

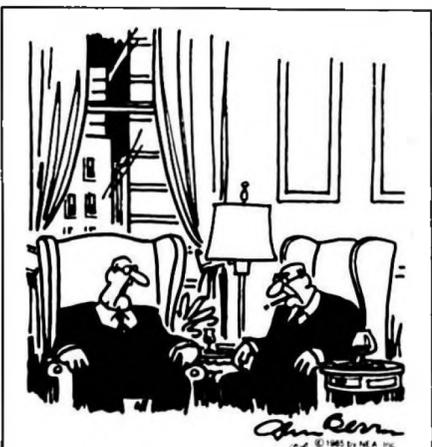

The Bhagwan recently broke a three-year silence to accuse Ma Sheela of fleeing the commune with $55 million, leaving him, it would seem, with practically nothing but a fine-tooth comb for his flowing beard.

Now, Ma Sheela has reappeared, on an island in the North Sea. She accuses the Bhagwan of being an embezzler and stringing his disciples out on the drug, Ecstasy. She says, furthermore, that the guru went through the $55 million himself, spending it on fancy cars and jewelry.

Meanwhile, the people of Antelope, Ore., aren't a bit sorry for the Bhagwan, or even for Sheela. They watched their little community become saturated with thousands of believers clad in saris and dhotis, taking over the town and sprinkling curry powder on everything.

They consider the Bhagwan nothing but a bagman and would like to see him go back to Poona, India, from whence he came. It looks as though he might oblige — especially if the faithful don't come up with that 94th Rolls-Royce.

Levers Of Power, AKA Political Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When last seen (by me), James Boren, founder and still spiritual leader of the International Association of Professional Bureaucrats (INATAPROBU), was running for U.S. president.

That was in 1984, and Boren, figureheading the bureaucratic ticket, even ran behind Walter Mondale. Which was no mean feat considering that the Democratic nominee captured only one state.

However, the 140,000 votes Boren received nationwide encourages him to try again next year.

Point out that 1986 is an off-year and Boren will reply, logically enough, that his chances might improve with no other presidential candidates on the ballot.

Meanwhile, he fills in the idle hours by sculpting, using such abundant native materials as red tape and paperclips.

When Boren's wife, Alice, complained recently that there was no space left in the attic, he began contacting local art museums. To no avail. INATAPROBU, however, is nothing if not resourceful. It hired a hall and the upshot was a one-man show of 35 of Boren's so-called "marginal works of art."

I attended the opening and it was easy to see why Mrs. Boren would object to "bureaucratic sculptures" cluttering up the attic. At the same time, however, I could sympathize with his pricing dilemma.

Wearing, among other things, an orange beret, long scarf and velvet smoking jacket, Boren said fellow artists had advised that if he set the prices too low, his art work might be regarded merely as crafty.

So he established a pricing policy accordingly. For example, the asking price for a motorized mobile called "The Congress" was either $1,500 or $15,000, I forget which. Either way it would be cheap at half the price.

The sculpture comes complete with waving flags, clowns, yoyos, loopholes, back scratchers, open palms and "the clanging sounds of the ever-present dingalings." In short, as Boren himself admits, "Too much chassis for the motor."

If he will forgive a slight intrusion into art criticism, I detected another flaw in the design.

Each branch of the bicameral structure, representing the House and Senate, has a finger that only points at the other. Realistically, the finger-pointing should have been directed at the White House, which was across the room.

Also known in Boren's rendition as "The Tilted Tower of Babel," the executive mansion had several "layers of bureaucracy" that protect the president from "intelligent recommendations."

The top layer, incidentally, waffles. The White House was one of 24 pieces that operated manually. Six were motorized and the other five stationary.

Their names speak for themselves. Among the titles were "The Pentagon" (a rathole), "The Whistleblowers" (it's only safe to pucker), "Tax Reform" (for those with the most political clout), and "The Air Force" (featuring a coffee pot).

A Look At Things To Come

NIAMEN, China (NEA) — Jimmen is just offshore, clearly visible from this port city on China's southeast coast even on a not so clear day.

The name doesn't ring a bell? How about an earlier one for the island Quemoy.

That ought to stir a few memories. It made headlines back in the '50s, even stirring talk of war.

That was during the final spasms of China's civil war, when the victorious Communists were attempting to oust Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists from their last holdings on the fringe of the mainland, Quemoy and similarly situated Matsu, off Fuzhou some 200 miles to the northeast, were under constant bombardment. Washington feared it might be the prelude to an assault on Taiwan itself.

To block that, U.S. warships prowled the straits and John Foster Dulles, the then secretary of state and dedicated communist-basher, repeatedly warned the Red Chinese that if they tried it, they just might make his day.

All that is long since history. The bombardments sputtered to a halt, followed for a time by a shouting war in which loudspeakers mounted on the mainland and islands squared off against each other.

That too ended and all is now very quiet. Gun emplacements can still be seen at strategic points around the harbor. But they are unmanned, and the only public reminder that the China question is still unsettled is a prominently positioned sign in a harborside park depicting two women in joyous embrace. The message, in the big characters of Mandarin Chinese, is that the wandering daughter, Taiwan, should return to the motherland. Someday.

Xiamen has other interests these days. This is one of the historic treaty ports through which the West carried on its lucrative trade with the old China. It was known then as Amoy.

Today, it is the site of one of the new China's experiments in trying to catch up economically with the West. A Special Economic Zone, one of four such in the country, is going up on the northern outskirts. Here, a limited form of capitalism will be permitted in the expectation of a ripple effect that will stimulate the creaking Chinese economy.

The major enterprise will be the Overseas Chinese Electronics Co., financed, as the name indicates, by money from abroad and geared to produce televisions and similar equipment.

India Developing Hydrogen Bomb

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — India, which exploded a nuclear bomb 11 years ago, can set off a second one within two months of a decision to do so, and is already storing enough material to build an entire nuclear arsenal.

In addition, the Indians appear to be mastering the more sophisticated technique of building a hydrogen bomb.

This is the latest information we've gathered from CIA sources and a recent trip to India. It adds fresh cause for concern to our recent report that Pakistan could also produce a nuclear bomb within a matter of weeks. Our sources say there's no question that India is far ahead of its neighbor and potential adversary.

India's 1974 device, which had about the power of the bomb dropped on Hiroshima, was essentially a plutonium-fission device.

Ignorance Of Bishops

Dinesh D'Souza, a young writer at Policy Review magazine, has hit a journalistic home run. He has noticed that the American Catholic bishops have been getting increasingly specific on public policy questions, and he asked himself just what the bishops know. Instead of writing a thumb-sucker, he interviewed some bishops and the shocking results appear in the fall issue of his magazine. The details are delicious. I offer a few choice quotes.

"I recently contacted several rank-and-file bishops to find out how much they know about defense and economic policy matters. These bishops were selected randomly to represent the mainstream of American hierarchy ... interviews with these bishops suggest that they know little or nothing about the ideas and proposals to which they are putting their signature and lending their religious authority. The bishops are unfamiliar with existing defense and economic programs, unable to identify even in general terms the Soviet military capability, ignorant of how much of the budget currently goes to defense, unclear about how much should be reallocated to social programs, and innocent of the most basic concepts underlying the intelligent layman's discussion of these questions."

After you read a few paragraphs of D'Souza's article, you begin to feel sorry for the bishops, whose intellectual nakedness is so thoroughly exposed. The material is absolutely devastating.

"Bishop Edward O'Donnell of St. Louis is perplexed about such terms as 'frictional unemployment' and 'hard target kill capability' which appear in the pastoral letters bearing his name. He has no idea what percent of our budget is spent on defense: 'I have to look it up.' He wants an 'adequate non-nuclear defense' to protect Europe against a possible Soviet invasion, but is alarmed at the information that conventional weapons cost more than nuclear weapons. Immediately he says that a conventional buildup 'doesn't call for more spending on our part' — let the Europeans pay their own way. How many troops does the United States have in Europe? Bishop O'Donnell 'just can't say.' He does feel that 'our whole strategy of fighting World War II was unjustified' because innocent civilians were targeted and killed. How else to defeat Hitler? 'You know,' says Bishop O'Donnell, 'I don't have the answer.'"

Mr. D'Souza, a former student of mine at Dartmouth, is a Catholic, born in India. He does not editorialize in this major article, but his contempt is visible.

AIDS Hysteria Feared

By Chris Chrystal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Delay in recognizing the seriousness of AIDS in the early days of the epidemic will cost thousands of lives, but now there's a danger of "hysterical overreaction," says Rep. Henry Waxman.

Waxman, Democratic chairman of the House energy subcommittee on health and the environment that deals with acquired immune deficiency syndrome legislation and funding, said the Reagan administration and the public underreacted to AIDS for a long time "because people thought it was affecting only the gay community."

But, now, he said, "I worry about hysterical overreaction that would force us to take action that would curb the spread of the disease, but may add even greater misery to those people who are going to suffer."

He said in an interview now that everyone has heard of AIDS, irrational fear could inflict needless pain, punishment and discrimination on victims.

"I would hate to see an AIDS patient or one tested positive for antibodies lose their jobs and insurance coverage, be considered a pariah by the community and be isolated and cast aside ... for fear they may be transmitting the disease, when in fact that's not possible," he said.

Nervous employers may want to subject employees to screening tests for antibodies, but 90 percent of those exposed to the virus will never get AIDS, though they "may well be screened out of a job and screened out of insurance," Waxman said.

Public health authorities have repeatedly emphasized that AIDS is spread only by blood or intimate sexual contact, and that the screening test, which detects exposure to the AIDS virus, was designed only to test donated blood.

By the end of the Reagan administration in 1988, AIDS will have cost the nation $8 billion in medical care alone, Waxman said. More than 13,000 cases already have been reported in the United States. Half of those with AIDS have died and the prognosis is poor for the others.

Waxman, whose district includes Hollywood, said if AIDS in the United States had gotten its start in another group besides homosexual men, there would have been more pressure to finance research.

County School Parents Get "VIP" Treatment

Parents of Seminole County school children were treated to a taste of school life Monday night during an open house at Lake Mary High School. The treats included free samples of their children's lunchtime cuisine. The "Very Important Parents Workshop" was hosted by the Seminole County School Advisory Council and the Seminole County PTA and featured guest speakers from the school board.

The night's theme was keyed to the proposed $100 million bond issue the county will vote on Oct. 22. After the reception two 40-minute work sessions were held on dozens of different topics of interest to parents throughout the county.

Keynote speaker for the evening was School Superintendent Robert Hughes and also featured were Seminole Education Association President Debby Whitmire, who delivered the invocation, and PTA President Diane Thornton. In attendance at the event were school board members William Kroll and Nancy Warren, Publicity Director Karen Coleman and School Advisory Chairman Neil Hansen.

"We have the ability to shape our own destinies if we pass this school bond issue. In two to five years we can have the best facilities in the state," Hughes said.

Hughes went on to say recent changes in state laws concerning minimum requirements for public school facilities, the RAISE Bill that was passed in the legislature last year, has left 40 of the 41 district's schools shy of state requirements. That means the system's 41,000 students face an even harder task preparing for college or careers in the workplace.

That coupled with an estimated increase of 1,500 children this year and 5,000 more over the next few years has left the school district with overcrowded facilities and a challenge to keep up with growth. Hughes said the school system had their highest testing scores ever for all levels of college preparatory tests and he was particularly pleased with gains in minority scores and that of underachievers at all levels of the system.

"We are one of the first and only school systems in the state, if not the country, to provide such a wide-range of educational opportunities for all levels of students while we deal with rampant growth at all levels and deal with it well. Approval of this issue will be a tremendous step forward for this school system. Our schools can be an example for education in this state," Hughes said.

Before the reception parents had the opportunity to browse through a "supermarket" of information about their children's educational tools. The most popular display was the food services area where parents and other interested onlookers got the chance to eat the same food 21,000 children eat daily and drink fresh Florida juice. The most popular food samplers were the pizza squares, both pepperoni and cheese, and the chocolate chip cookies. "Delicious," was the frequent reply of guests and some asked about catering services after the open house.

Also on hand were representatives of various companies that supply text books and other related material to the school system.

Woody Price, Assistant County Administrator for Seminole County, explained Central Florida growth projections and how the myriad of statistics is compiled and deciphered. He compared Seminole County's growth with its neighbors to an analogy of Governor Bob Graham and Senator Paula Hawkins on a camping trip confronted by an angry bear in the woods. "As Graham put on his track shoes," explained Price, "Hawkins was led to

TYPICAL STUDENT PROGRESS IN THE BUSINESS CAREER AND OFFICE PROGRAMS

Monday night's Very Important Parents open house at Lake Mary High brought out "everybody who is anybody" in Seminole County education. exclaim, "Bob you can't outrun that bear." Graham then explained, "Maybe I can't outrun him but I can outrun you." Price said Seminole County may have made failures in adequately dealing with growth but they are doing a better job than their neighboring counties.

Price, with the county five years and with the East Central Florida Planning Council for eight years before that, said demographics are the key concept for future planning and growth.

"Population has more than doubled in Seminole County in each of the last three decades and we see no change in that for the future. We must look at statistics very carefully and be prepared for the worst in population projections. What myself and other planners are doing now is trying to plan growth and construction for the 21st century, we can't do that too soon," Price said.

"Growth determines the need for facilities and the state determines the standards for those facilities," according to Benny Arnold, school board assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation. Arnold said the proposed bond issue may only be prepared to build one elementary school, including land for a new high school and improvements to 40 of the 41 schools, but enough classrooms were scheduled to build six new elementary schools. He said the school board will ultimately save money by not building new schools but remodeling the present ones because the abandoned buildings won't be left all over the county and the money saved can go to pay old debts.

The school board has planned long and hard for the bond issue, according to Arnold, and every cost saving measure and source of input was used in deriving the plans. Arnold said the board was very pleased with their construction plans but stressed the need to pass the bond issue, and pass it Oct. 22.

Peggy Lee Doing Well After Double Bypass

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Singer-actress Peggy Lee, hospitalized with chest pains during the weekend, underwent a double bypass operation Tuesday and was doing "exceptionally well," officials said.

Lee, 65, who had been performing at the Fairmont Hotel in New Orleans, canceled plans to sing Tuesday night at the White House and to perform Saturday in Tulsa, Okla.

"She's doing exceptionally well and we expect no complications," said Dr. Tom Oelsner, the internist who assisted during the five-hour surgery.

The singer is expected to remain in intensive care for two days. She will then transfer to a post-operative room for another 10 days before she is discharged from the hospital.

Oelsner said she probably will be able to resume normal activity in two to three months.

U. S. Proposes World Economic Reform...

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — The United States proposed an unprecedented mobilization of money and global economic reform Tuesday to solve the Third World debt crisis but met with skepticism from its allies, major banks and developing nations.

Treasury Secretary James Baker offered a three-pronged initiative to the world financial community at the opening of the 40th annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund and World Bank.

The initiative called for a new cooperative strategy and $20 billion in fresh private bank loans during the next three years.

Behind the plan is the growing conviction among finance experts that the poor nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America must stress long-term growth over quick-fix remedies as the key to overcoming the $865 billion foreign debt that is crippling their economies and diminishing their standards of living.

Under the program, which senior U.S. officials acknowledged was still vague, debtor countries would toughen measures to control deficits and inflation. Industrial nations would contribute more to World Bank lending, and commercial banks would make a "public commitment" to come up with the $20 billion to finance Third World development.

"If we are to solve this problem, all parties have to sit around the table," Baker said. "Everybody has to make some contributions."

But bankers and government officials, while welcoming the plan in principle, said Baker has a tough selling job ahead.

Central to his success, they said, will be reassuring American banks — which hold $230 billion of the $360 billion owed by Latin America alone — that the U.S. government will support them if they make new loans only to find the debtor countries still cannot repay.

"They want to know that Congress will stand behind them if the banks get in trouble," a U.S. banker said, noting banks are taking comfort in Baker's suggestion that the World Bank guarantee part of any new loans.

Major U.S. allies were also cautious, with European officials indicating they want developing countries to demonstrate new resolve to continue austerity programs and other sacrifices so new lending would not be squandered to make up budget deficits.

Japanese Finance Minister Noboru Takeshita said Japan — now the world's leading capital exporter — would participate, but only "if some agreement can be reached."

Latin American officials, who have expressed increasing resentment at sacrifices demanded by institutions like the IMF as conditions for further lending, also voiced skepticism, saying their most pressing need was a reduction in crippling interest payments.

"This is a nice proposal, but what we really need is more money and more flexibility," a representative of a Latin American delegation said.

U.S. officials said the plan was largely targeted for Latin America, where economies have been hurt by a slowdown in industrial nation recovery that has decreased their exports and depressed commodity prices.

Baker said the plan foresaw an expanded role for the World Bank, which grants low-interest loans for long-term development, and called for World Bank lending to be increased by $9 billion in the next three years.

The IMF is designed to help countries when they temporarily cannot pay their debts, but U.S. officials have felt many debtor nations are using the fund to overcome long-term problems.

...The Plan Is Well Received, But With 'Ifs'

By MARY TOBIN
UPI Business Writer

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — Treasury Secretary James Baker's grand plan to solve the Third World debt problem outlined a solid strategy that was welcomed — with some big "ifs."

"This initiative is based on some very important assumptions," Thomas G. Labrecque, president of Chase Manhattan Bank, said after Baker presented his proposals in an address highlighting the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund and World Bank.

Labrecque said the success of Baker's plan assumes that the U.S. government and other major industrial countries will support a much larger role for the World Bank that would equal any new lending by commercial banks and that the large debtor countries can commit to meaningful structural adjustments.

Baker's plan calls for commercial banks to lend $20 billion in new money over the next three years.

The World Bank is being asked to increase its lending by 50 percent to $9 billion, which together with the enhanced International Finance Corp. and the Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency, should up the ante to more than $20 billion.

Third World countries have been asked to implement structural changes that foster growth instead of austerity — such as shifting government-controlled business to the private sector and opening markets to foreign investment.

Baker said countries that "attempt to isolate themselves" will not get new loans, a statement that could have been a warning against adopting the militant stance taken by Peru, which has declared it will limit debt payments to 5 percent of export earnings.

Brazil, the world's largest debtor, agrees that growth is needed. Finance Minister Dilson Funaro said Brazil is preparing an economic plan to present to the IMF in November that calls for the economy to grow at least 5 percent a year.

He also said Brazil's aim is to restore credibility in the international financial arena so it can draw investment from abroad. Brazil's interest tab of $12 billion a year eats up a projected $12 billion trade surplus this year and it needs this inflow to grow.

In conversations following Baker's presentation, each of the parties worried about others keeping their part of the bargain if the plan is implemented.

But all, including debtor country officials, focused on the commercial banks' ability to lend new money without strong approval from Congress and substantial changes in the current regulatory stance, which has discouraged new lending, on write-downs, reserve requirements and accounting procedures.

County Considers Rebate For Neutered Pets

County commissioners have asked their staff and the Animal Control Board to draw up a final draft of a rebate proposal that would give $25 to pet owners who have their dogs or cats neutered.

Under that program any Seminole County resident who has a dog or cat sterilized, whether or not they bought the pet from a county shelter, has 30 days to apply for the $25 rebate. The pet owner must also provide written verification of the operation from the veterinarian performing the operation, according to the proposal. If the pet owner does not apply within the 30-day period he waives his right to any rebate.

At a work session Tuesday commissioners had a few problems with the original proposal and asked for additions to be made.

One confusing point of the proposal about which commissioners asked for clarification concerned transporting animals in open vehicles. "No animal shall be transported...in an open vehicle unless housed in a container designed for that purpose...The container must be open at one end..."

McIntosh explained that the container should have "open grill" allowing for ventilation at one end and Commissioner Fred Streetman asked that such wording be added.

The original proposal stipulates that the program would commence "six months after the adoption of this program or when $3,000 has been reached, whichever comes first." Funds would be generated from a $2 allocation from all licensing fees, the proposal said. Commission Chairman Bob Sturm said the wording should read "$3,000 or an amount sufficient to cover the rebate program."

If the fund drops to $500 the program is suspended until the funds regenerate, according to the proposal.

Commissioners instructed their staff to work on a final draft and then request a public hearing on the final proposal.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Guard Shoots Self Dead In Shopping Center Parking Lot

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — A former security guard accidentally shot himself dead in a supermarket parking lot as an armored truck rolled up, prompting passers-by to believe a robbery was in progress, police said.

Samuel Cohen Tanner, 40, was apparently returning his guard uniform to his ex-employer, adjacent to a Publix store, and pulled into the Collins Avenue lot Tuesday morning. Police said he tried sliding the gun from his waistband, and a round fired, striking him in the chest. He died at the scene.

"He was tugging at it, pulling it from his waistband when it discharged," police spokesman Howard Zeifman said. "He kind of had a large stomach and was having trouble getting the gun out."

Police have ruled the shooting accidental, Zeifman said. Investigators do not know why he had the weapon. The uniform was hanging in his car.

A bag boy at the supermarket witnessed the shooting and realized what happened, but several other people in the shopping center heard the shot, saw the armored truck and called police to report a hold-up.

Man Ruled Insane In Beheading

MIAMI (UPI) — A man who said the "only thing I'm guilty of is loving God" was declared insane by a judge and acquitted of beheading his girlfriend, who the former pawnshop employee claimed was the devil.

Alberto Mesa, 24, was ordered to a state hospital for treatment after Circuit Judge Michael Salmon cleared him by reason of insanity in the March 2 death of Dina Tormos, 18.

"I know the only thing I'm guilty of is loving God," Mesa had told court appointed psychiatrists. "Something got in me. I felt possessed. Something was telling me to do these things."

Police said Mesa cut off Tormos's head and stabbed her 111 times at his apartment. They said he then removed his own clothes and roamed naked through nearby streets, carrying the woman's head.

He hurled the head at a policeman who tried to arrest him and shouted: "Arrest her. I killed her. She's the devil. She tried to kill me. Do you believe in Jesus?"

Court Will Settle AIDS-School Issue

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A key House member predicts her colleagues will keep hands off and let the courts settle the emotional issue of what to do about public school students and teachers with AIDS.

Rep. Elaine Gordon, D-North Miami, said lawsuits by parents and teachers are inevitable absent a state policy overruling the four Florida counties that have banned AIDS patients from their classrooms.

"I think they would rather see a court case make that decision," Gordon said following a meeting Tuesday of a House subcommittee that will lay the groundwork for revamping state policy on AIDS.

A former state government epidemiologist decried the counties' policies as symptoms of hysteria and ignorance concerning the disease. Jeffrey Sacks, now employed by the state of Georgia, said everything researchers know about AIDS indicates it is safe for children with the disease to attend school under most circumstances.

Soviet Space Cooperation Sought

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — A delegation of congressmen, aerospace officials and NASA engineers takes off Thursday for the Soviet Union and talks that may lead to renewed U.S.-Soviet cooperation in space.

One possibility that will be explored is a joint mission involving an American shuttle and the Soviet Salyut-7 space station to simulate space rescue techniques.

"I want to open the door, that's the important thing," said Rep. Bill Nelson, D-Fla., who is leading the delegation and is chairman of the House subcommittee on space science and applications.

Nelson, whose district includes the Kennedy Space Center, is scheduled to join a space mission aboard the shuttle Columbia in December.

"I want to open the door on communication for possible cooperation in space because space is the unique environment in which two adversaries can cooperate," he said. "The fact is, they've invited us."

...Meeting

Longwood City Commissioner June Lormann, who along with some other city commissioners have said they would like to see the county move out of the clinic and turn the building over to the city, asked, "Why don't you talk about moving the clinic up to your own pretty complex (the new health department complex in Sanford)?"

County Commissioner Sandra Glenn responded that "some years ago, I remember residents of Longwood wanting the clinic kept open because they felt there was a need for an office in the south end of the county."

She said the Longwood unit is getting a lot of use and the county does not plan to close it.

Joann Blackmon, the county's purchasing director, explained to the city officials how they could save money through joint purchasing with the county. The cities in the county are eligible to enter into a contract with the county as well as with the state according to Ms. Blackmon, but the county can usually get them a better price. Altamonte Springs is now the only city taking advantage of this, she said.

City officials also expressed interest in obtaining a copy of the county's award-winning bid contract for the city's use.

Included in the county's 5-year road plan is the reconstruction and signalization of the E.E. Williamson Road and Range Line Road intersection.

Smerilson questioned the need for the traffic signal at what he called a "poorly designed intersection." He said if the intersection was properly designed there may not be a need for the traffic lights.

Larry Sellers, county director of public works, said an engineering study would be done and "we won't recommend a signal if it won't solve the problem."

Included in the 1985-86 budget is $20,000 for the preliminary work and, in the next year's budget, $26,500 for completing the project.

Plans for four-lane County Road 427 one mile from State Road 434 to Charlotte Street were also discussed. The project, including in the 5-year program, will cost $3.9 million for right-of-way acquisition, engineering design and widening. Engineering plans are scheduled for completion in 120 days.

Another traffic light is scheduled for County Road 427 with Commissioner Glenn favoring Marvin Avenue. The signal will have state of the art controls and phases that can change patterns hourly if necessary. The traffic flow in that section fluctuates sharply because of the proximity to the dog track and two schools. The project will include the drainage system from CR 427 to Columbus Harbour.

Guidelines are being prepared on county-city drainage systems and County Engineer Jerry McCollum said it would be ready in about a month at which time city and county staffs will be getting together to discuss it.

...Ship

women but the captain of the ship radioed late Tuesday that everyone aboard was safe. One of the hijackers, on a radio transmission to Port Said today, again said everyone was safe.

The State Department said today at least 10 Americans — and possibly as many as 17 — were aboard the hijacked ship.

"There are 10 Americans confirmed as still aboard the ship. Four other Americans who boarded the ship in Genoa are unaccounted for," said State Department spokesman Don Kauffman.

He said there were three other people aboard whose nationalities were unknown and could be Americans.

Kauffman said he had no confirmation that any Americans had been killed but said he also had been unable to confirm today's report that everyone was well.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes declined comment on the developments "since it is obviously a sensitive time there."

An Egyptian diplomatic source, who asked not to be identified, said a delegation of Palestinian, Italian and Egyptian officials was formed to negotiate with the hijackers.

He said Hani Al-Hassan, political adviser to Arafat, probably was a member of the delegation. Al-Hassan has been in the Egyptian capital since last week.

The Achilles Lauro — with nearly 1,100 passengers and crew — left the Italian port of Genoa Oct. 3 on an 11-day Mediterranean cruise to Naples and Syracuse in Italy, Alexandria and Port Said in Egypt, Limassol in Cyprus and the Greek island of Rhodes.

Most of the passengers got off in Alexandria Monday for an overland trip to Cairo and Port

Said. It was after the ship left Alexandria that the pirates seized the vessel. Authorities said seven to 12 Palestinian heavily armed gunmen, equipped with explosives, were involved.

Egyptian officials said the guerrillas claimed to belong to the Front for the Liberation of Palestine. The PLO and its pro-Syrian rival group, the Palestine Liberation Front, denied any involvement.

But officials in Jerusalem said today that, according to their sources, the hijackers belonged to a faction of the Palestine Liberation Front headed by Abu Abbas and loyal to Arafat. They said another faction of the PLF is loyal to Syria.

The officials said the hijackers had planned to leave the ship Tuesday morning to carry out a terrorist operation in Israel. But, one official said, "something happened on the boat" that prevented them from going ahead with the plan so they decide, instead, to hijack the Achilles Lauro.

"Therefore, it was easier for Arafat and Abu Abbas to disassociate themselves from the operation," the official said.

The Jerusalem Post newspaper reported today that the Achilles Lauro may have been the victim of mistaken identity — that the pirates' real target may have been a Norwegian cruise ship carrying President Ronald Reagan's daughter Maureen.

Maureen Reagan is on a Mediterranean cruise aboard the Norwegian Royal Viking Sky. The ship docked in Haifa Sunday for a two-day stop and sailed on to Piraeus Monday night.

Quoting a maritime source, the Post said the Palestinians may have intended to commandeer the Royal Viking Sky. The Norwegian vessel docked in Alexandria, Egypt, Friday. Three days later, the Italian liner was hijacked off the coast of Egypt after a stop in Alexandria.

Latest Proposal

Teachers' chief negotiator Ogletree, center, gives his Seminole school board counterpart Ernest Cowley the teachers' latest contract proposal at Tuesday night's bargaining session at the Lake Mary High School. The two sides did not reach an agreement and will now submit letters to a state hearings officer. The officer's decision will be a non-binding recommendation. If both sides' bargaining agents agree to it, teachers and the board will vote on the plan. If the parties disagree with the recommendation, the School Board's has the final say, Cowley said.

Florida, California and New York. The meeting was called as a result of resolutions passed by the AMA and state association conventions opposing the fee freeze.

"Delegates from Seminole County voted unanimously at the May meeting of the Florida Medical Association to oppose continuation of the fee freeze. The resolution passed by the state association was unanimous, as was the resolution passed by the AMA in June," Perez said.

A compromise bill being studied in the Congress provides increases in fees up to 6 percent for doctors currently participating in the program and who sign to continue through the next fiscal year. About 80 percent of all physicians in Florida participate in the program, Perez estimates.

The savings in the federal budget will come from the refusal to allow fee increases and is a theoretical number, Perez said. "It is not money saved but money that is not spent."

On the other hand, he said, the federal government wants to cut down on services provided under Medicare. "That's a real saving for them," he said, "but a loss to patients."

"There seems to be no question but what the freeze will be continued for at least one more year," he said. "But it is not fair. We are the only profession singled out in this manner by the government. If the medical association tried to fix fees, the Federal Trade Commission would jump all over us. But the government can do it and get away with it."

Perez said the fee schedule goes beyond Medicare "because you can't have two different (fee) schedules."

He said he can't have a patient come into the office and charge him a different price for the same procedure than a Medicare patient.

"That's not fair," he said. "The young people shouldn't have to pay for the old people. They pay enough in taxes already."

Perez contends physicians should set their own fees as in all other areas in a free-enterprise system.

"Doctors will always be fair with their patients and if one got out of hand, the patients would go to someone else," he said.

Perez, a specialist in internal medicine, has practiced in Sanford since 1962. He assumed office as president of the Florida Medical Association in May and will serve during the 1985-86 term.

Rostenkowski's plan would increase the exemption to $1,500 but put more money into the standard deduction — a move committee aides said was aimed at helping non-itemizing taxpayers.

Some conservative Republicans, led by Reps. Jack Kemp of New York and Trent Lott of Mississippi, recently wrote Reagan demanding that he make the $2,000 personal exemption a non-negotiable item.

Contending that Rostenkowski's plan did not go far enough, they asked Reagan to insist publicly that the committee not differ with his suggested personal exemption level.

Following the Tuesday vote,

Kemp, a leading proponent of revising the tax code, said the committee had "dealt a serious blow to tax reform." He promised to try to restore the $2,000 level on the House floor.

The committee agreed on a voice vote to slightly lower Rostenkowski's suggested levels for the standard deduction for unmarried individuals and people filing joint returns.

Under Rostenkowski's proposal, the standard deduction levels in 1987 would be $6,000 for joint returns, $4,275 for heads of households and $3,550 for unmarried individuals.

The approved amendment from Rep. Barbara Kennelly, D-Conn., would drop the joint deduction by $50 to $5,950 and decrease the unmarried level by $25 to $3,525. However, it would increase the heads of household level by $500 to $4,775.

$48,000 Raised For Central Florida Zoo

The Sixth Annual Wild West Auction and Musical Jamboree to benefit the Central Florida Zoo Saturday evening, September 28, raised more than $48,000 as the Sheraton-Maitland resounded to the countrywestern beat of the Dick Cory Band, a staged shoot-out brought some anxious moments to the more than 500 patrons of the auction.

The highlight of the evenings' bidding came when a 7-day, 6-night trip for two to Hong Kong and Mainland China, including an excursion to the Peking Zoo, went on the auction block. After several minutes of heated bidding, the trip finally went for $4,000.

The city asked the county to clean out a clogged ditch to relieve flooding in the Longwood Hills area. Smerilson said the culvert under Longwood Hills Road is the key for drainage from East Lake toward Soldier's Creek.

McCollum said the county does not have the money or manpower to correct the situation right away, but he agreed to send a supervisor out next week to see about it.

He said the Longwood Hills Road project scheduled for this year will also include the drainage, but will take until October of 1986 or longer to complete. The county will be meeting with city residents to determine how the project will affect the people who live there, he said.

As for heavily congested State

Road 434, Longwood was offered little relief until the year 2000. So the SR 434 Corridor Study has only produced a computer model. They are now looking at management development for impact to give long term benefits.

Timothy Clabaugh, county environmental control manager and hazardous waste coordinator, told the city officials that the county has been designated for two hazardous waste storage sites or transfer stations and Longwood has been chosen for one-half a site. A regional environmental agency with the power to select areas for the sites chose the area between State Road 434 and Pearl Lake and west to Island Lake and east to the railroad.

Mrs. Glenn said the state says the site must be industrially zoned and the locality can't change the designation to avoid having the hazardous waste stored there.

City Administrator Manning's statement that "We would like to extend city limits to square off the boundaries" brought a quick rejoinder from Mrs. Glenn, who said, "The state law requires election or voluntary annexation to take property into the city and in my opinion we should follow the state law."

The county would like to see the cities standardize impact fees imposed on developers and Ken Hooper, county administrator, said the county will make a presentation to the Council of Local Governments in the next 3-4 months and see who wants to join in.

Manning said he would rather developers pay the county up front (instead of paying through the city at the time permits are issued) for such things as curb cuts because he doesn't want the city to be a collection agency for the county.

The county commissioners have already held similar joint meetings with Altamonte Springs and Sanford and are scheduled to meet with Oviedo City Council. Dates are yet to be set for joint meetings at Casselberry and Winter Springs, Sturm said.

Later Sturm said joint meetings at least once a year with the city would "remove barriers — and not just the physical kind." Hooper said he wants to hold quarterly meetings between the city and county staffs.

Stieb's 3-Hitter Gives K.C. A Royal Show

TORONTO (UPI) — So much for the questions about Dave Stieb. Now, about those Kansas City Royals...

Stieb allowed three hits over eight innings Tuesday night to answer the question of how a pitcher could be 14-13 and still lead the league with a 2.48 ERA.

Now there are snickers about Kansas City, which has won the AL West two years running, but hasn't won a playoff game since sweeping the New York Yankees in 1980.

Stieb's masterful performance — he retired 12 in a row at one point — plus two RBI each by original Blue Jay Ernie Whitt and teammate Tony Fernandez helped Toronto score a 6-1 victory over Kansas City in the opening game of the 1985 American League playoffs.

It was a convincing triumph for the Blue Jays, who won 99 games in the regular season, and mirrored so many of their victories. The opposition opened the door just an inch, and the Blue Jays stormed the house.

"It's always good to win the first one," Toronto manager Bob Cox said, "but it's not as important in a seven-game series as in a five-game series. I was a lot more nervous as a coach in a five-game series in 1977."

That brings up a question of which the the Royals are trying: when will Manager Dick Howser win a playoff game?

Howser is 0-10 in playoffs with Kansas City and the New York Yankees before that. He will send left-hander Bud Black, 10-15, against Toronto left-hander Jimmy Key, 14-6, in the second game this afternoon.

"It's not as bad as a three-out-of-five," said George Brett, the only Royal to sparkle with a double and two singles. "Four-out-of-seven is better to bounce back from. We still feel we can win. If we lose tomorrow (Wednesday), we have a long road ahead of us."

Stieb's most anxious moment came in the top of the second, when a young woman came out of the stands to the mound and kissed him.

"There's not much to say," Stieb said. "I heard the crowd, turned around and there she was. She didn't say anything to me."

Stieb didn't have much to say, either. He let his powerful right arm do his talking.

He struck out eight, matching his regular season high, in eight innings.

Tom Henke finished up, and allowed the Royals' only run, which broke a string of 20 scoreless playoff innings for Kansas City.

Singles by Willie Wilson and Brett plus a one-out forceout of Brett by Pat Sheridan got the run home, but Frank White fled out deep to center to end the game and continue the frustration.

Charlie Leibrandt, with two regular season wins over Toronto including a shutout, didn't get a man out in the third as the Blue Jays pecked away at the myth they can't hit lefties.

"The record shows that we haven't fared as well against

L.A. Power Challenges Card Speed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Power versus speed.

It's been the classic matchup since the beginning of time when the cave man had to outrun the dinosaur to survive.

Once again it is capturing people's interest as the focal point of the best-of-seven National League playoffs, which begins tonight at Dodger Stadium.

The St. Louis Cardinals, champions of the East, have the speed. The Los Angeles Dodgers, champions of the West, have the power.

Let the games begin.

Indeed this does have all the earmarks of an exciting series. The Cardinals won more games (40) than any team in baseball this year, led the NL in batting average (.264) and runs scored (747), and stole more bases (314) than any team in 73 years.

Yet they lost the season series to the Dodgers, 7-5, mainly because they had trouble getting on base.

"We can't seem to score a lot of runs off them," said Cardinals manager Whitey Herzog. "After the All-Star break we scored, I think, four runs in three games (actually, it was only three runs) against them, and lost those three. We came back and won the Sunday game on Braunte's (Steve Braun's) pinch-hit homer, and that was probably the most important victory we had all year."

The Dodgers held the Cardinals to only 35 runs and a team batting average of .230. In Fernando Valenzuela, Orel Hersher, Bob Welch and Jerry Reuss, the Dodgers boast four starters with ERAs under 3.00.

Hersher was the club's best pitcher (11-3, 2.03), but Valenzuela gets the starting assignment tonight opposite the Cardinals ace, John Tudor.

Valenzuela had a 17-10 record with a 2.45 ERA during the season, but has not pitched well the last month. He is winless in his last five starts, and has just one victory in his last eight, dating back to Aug. 26.

"He hasn't had a problem the way a lot of people think he has," Lasorda said. "There were times when he had leads, and a poor play in the field cost him some runs. His control has been a little off, but by that I mean he has been just missing."

"He's made a lot of pitches this year. He may have gotten a little tired at the end of the season. I think he's going to be all right."

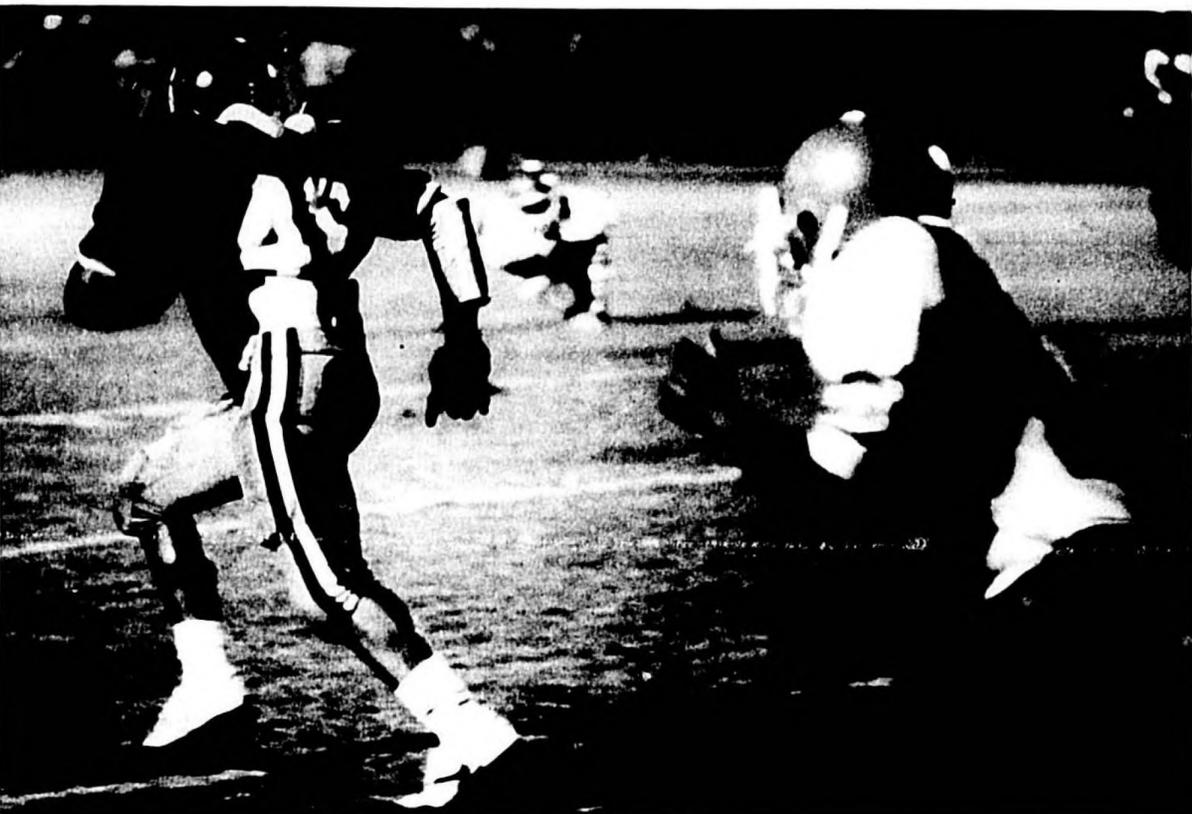

"He's the kind of guy you want out there in that first ballgame. He's a winner, he's been through big ballgames, he's got that great idea of pitching and poise. You want to start off with a guy like Fernando."

Valenzuela has been superb in previous playoff series. In three previous playoff games, he has a 2-1 record with a 1.96 ERA.

There wasn't a better pitcher in baseball than Tudor over the last four months of the season, however. The left-hander won 20 of his last 21 decisions and posted a major league-leading 10 shutouts.

Playoffs

Today's American League Playoff game between Toronto (1-0) and Kansas City (0-1) will be televised by Orlando's WESH-Channel 2 at 3 p.m. Tonight's National League Playoff opener between Los Angeles and St. Louis will be televised by WESH-Channel 2 at 8:15 p.m.

Delfiaco Finds Range; Smith Runs Wild

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Dave Delfiaco has found the range and Andrew Smith ran out of range. Which should make Lake Brantley coach Fred Almon and Oviedo coach Jack Blanton pretty happy despite losses last week.

Brantley's Delfiaco, struggling to regain the form which made him the county's best quarterback last year, hurled a pair of touchdown passes as the Patriots came up a TD short against Winter Park.

Oviedo's Smith ran wild against New Smyrna Beach for 235 yards and three touchdowns but the Lions fell behind early and couldn't catch the Barraeudas, who snapped a 22-game losing streak.

"That's Delfiaco's best effort of the year," Almon said about the senior's 88 yards passing and 32 running. Delfiaco found Sam Sears for a 21-yard scoring strike and Brooke Christian for a 16-yard TD loss.

Blanton, whose Lions host Cocoa Friday, was just as pleased with Smith although he was disappointed with the team's overall showing. "Andrew is our offense," Blanton said. "He was awesome."

Smith's 235 yards pushed his yearly total to 511. His yardage has come in just three games, putting him ahead of the pace for a 1,000-yard season, every runner's dream. He leads the county in scoring with six TDs for 24 points.

Brantley, meanwhile, was aided by Delfiaco's return to form, which was helped immensely by wideout Sears' six grabs for 100 yards, but the Patriots fell to 0-4 for the season. They take on Seminole, also 0-4, Friday in Sanford.

And the Seminoles are just as desperate although coach Dave Mosure said the attitude has been superb. "I've spent 360 of the last 365 days with these kids," Mosure said. "They're a great bunch. But we still need something meaningful to happen Friday to make three weeks of improvement worthwhile."

Mosure said he was happy with his offensive and defensive backfield after Friday's heartbreaking 13-12 loss to Lake Mary but he was very disappointed in the play of his offensive and defensive lines.

Quarterback Jeff Blake (10 of 19 for 172 yards and 2 interceptions) and senior defensive back Dexter Franklin (8 tackles, seven assists and an interception return for a touchdown) received most of Mosure's praise.

They were chosen as the Optimist Club Players of the Week and lunched Tuesday afternoon with the Optimists.

"We just don't get any breaks," Franklin reiterated for the Optimists.

"We don't know what a good break is," Blake said. The rifle-armed sophomore upped his passing yardage to 485, tops in the county.

Blake made good use of the return of wide receiver Dave Rape who snagged four passes for 98 yards. Friday's encounter matches Sears' 12 county-leading catches against Rape's runnerup 10.

Overshadowed by Smith's awesome evening were two good running performances by Lake Mary's John Curry and Lyman's Robert Thomas. Curry rumbled for 144 yards including the game-winning score. Thomas rolled for 175 yards and also had the game-winning score.

Lake Mary entertains Lake Howell in a big Seminole Athletic Conference battle Friday. The Silver Hawks, 3-1, were dealt their first loss of the year by No. 3 Apopka.

Sanford Can't Compete Without Facility

By Chuck Burgess
Special to the Herald

The 1985 swim season has been underway for approximately five weeks for prep swimmers. That is, for most prep swimmers.

While most county high school swimmers were enjoying the summer, competitive swimming was still taking place around the nation. The main reason for the lack of county participation was not the shortage of talent or support — but the deficiency of an adequate swimming facility.

Sanford, once known as the home of the Sanford Swim Association, doesn't have a competitive team at this point in time. However, the interest for an AAU team is increasing and many people involved in swimming feel the time is right for Sanford to build a program.

The main reason for the interest is the lack of a proper facility for county high schools. While perennial powerhouses like Winter Park and West Orange both have their own pools and weightrooms, the smaller community teams don't have a fighting chance of competing on the same level.

Without the use of facilities for teams such as Seminole and Oviedo, the county can kiss the thought of receiving state recognition in swimming goodbye. Similarly, the high school programs at Seminole and Oviedo will be "all wet" competitively when swimming against rival schools.

Chuck Burgess

Seminole High head coach Donalyn Knight, in her fourth year of coaching swimming, has been feeling the effect of not having her own use of a facility to produce the potential that Seminole has in its grasp.

Seminole practices every day at 5 a.m. and can't use the pool again until the next day. Knight said she lost between 15 and 20 swimmers this year because parents thought the training time was too early. Knight said she can't prepare her swimmers for the bigger meets because the pool can only be used once a day.

Most competitive swim teams practice twice a day with weight training twice a week.

Although Seminole doesn't have a pool of its own, it has been able to use privately owned pools because of the support of swimming. Seminole used the Sanford Bath And Tennis Club for three years and has used the Sanora pool for the past two years.

"I really thankful that people let us use their pools," Knight said. "But it's hard to work a program around someone else's schedule."

Knight feels that Sanford is in desperate need of an all-year round team which will not only represent the city of Sanford in statewide competition, but will also serve as a feeder program for Seminole High School.

"Sanford used to have a great program about 10 years ago," Knight said. "But it just fizzled out when the pools were closed to the public."

"When the AAU team was in Sanford, the Seminole (High School) team was at its best. It's just too bad we don't have a YMCA or something so we can train all year."

Scott Nolan, the new Oviedo High swim coach, feels that the lack of facilities hurts programs such as his and Seminole's because it draws the kids away. "Kids aren't going to come out for the team if they don't have a place to practice every day," Nolan said.

Not only do the seasonal swimmers, swimmers who just swim during the high school season, but it also affects the swimmers who swim all year round. "A yearly swimmer comes in the first day of high school practice in great shape," Nolan said. "But a seasonal swimmer has only two to three weeks to get into shape before the season gets under way."

"The year-round swimmer has disadvantages too. They have to swim in mediocre facilities which sometimes aren't suitable for the level he or she is at."

Nolan also agrees with Knight that a program in Sanford would bring recognition and prestige to the Sanford community. "It would definitely be a boom for

Seminole Serve Past Lady Rams

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

If it continues to riddle opposing defenses with its serving like it has the past three matches, Seminole High may soon come to be known as "Serve City USA."

After destroying Trinity Prep with its hard-serving style on Monday, serving as the key again Tuesday as Seminole won its first Seminole Athletic Conference match, 15-10, 15-6 over Lake Mary's Lady Rams at Seminole High.

With the deliveries of Liz Long, Cindy Hogan and Sheri Peterson leading the way, the Lady Seminoles improved to 4-3 overall and 1-3 in the SAC. The Tribe takes on Lake Brantley Thursday night at Lake Brantley.

Lake Mary, which stayed in the first game with some good defensive play but broke down early in the second, fell to 1-7 overall and 0-4 in the conference. The Lady Rams have a non-conference match Thursday at DeLand.

Out of the 30 points scored in the two games by Seminole, 23 of them came on serves that were not returned by Lake Mary.

"We've always had the good, hard serves, but now the girls are being more consistent with them," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "The experience is starting to show with the team's overall performance, too. I liked the way the girls stayed fluid even when we were substituting."

Long got the Lady Seminoles rolling as she served four straight points for a 4-0 lead in the opening game. The first two serves by the 6-1 freshman were aces and the fourth point came on a spike by senior Jackie Farr.

After the teams traded points to make it 5-1, Lake Mary reeled off five straight for a 6-5 lead, its only lead of the match. Two of the points came on good serves by Kathy Hodak and Betsy Perry served two more.

Long then came back with four more vicious serves as Seminole took a 9-6 lead. The first two of Long's bullets were aces and Hogan's spike accounted for the ninth point.

Lake Mary got the serve back when Angie Capps dug out Long's next serve and returned it over the net, which caught Seminole by surprise. The Rams closed within 9-7 as Anquetette Whack served a point.

Hogan then came on with three serves that weren't returned, one an ace, as the Lady Tribe built a 12-7 lead.

The Lady Rams hung tough though with Capps and Whack playing well on defense. Hodak served two points to make it 12-9 but a nice spike by Aretha Riggins off a set by Farr kept Lake Mary from pulling any closer.

The teams then traded points to make it 13-10 and Peterson and Diana Mitchell each served a point as Seminole won the first game, 15-10.

Peterson came back to serve six straight points in game two and, with Hogan and Farr serving three points each (both had one ace), Seminole amassed a 12-2 lead. Yolanda Robinson's block highlighted the rally on Farr's serve.

Lake Mary came back within 13-6 before Catherine "Kitty" Anderson served the final two points, neither of which was returned.

Anderson played her first match for the Lady Seminoles after being sidelined by a sprained ankle. Along with her two hard serves, Anderson also played well at the net.

"Kitty" is a really good athlete," Corso said. "She's

Hollie's TD Propels Wildcats; Moore, Steelers Overcome Bucs

Tony Hollie raced 45 yards for the only score as the Wildcats blanked the Rams, 6-0, in Sanford Recreation Department Junior League Flag Football action Tuesday night at Chase Park.

Hollie's first-half score stood up as coach Arthur Brooks' Wildcats turned in a stellar defensive game.

In Junior League action Thursday, the Cowboys play the Bulldogs at 5 p.m. at Chase Park.

In Sanford Recreation Department Midget League play Saturday, Bryant Moore accounted for all 13 points as the Steelers downed the Bucs, 13-6, at Chase Park.

The Bucs built a 6-0 lead in the first half when Melton Williams scored from 45 yards out. The conversion failed.

Moore tied the score at 6-6 later in the half on an eight-yard run. In the second half, Moore broke the tie when he rambled 45 yards for a TD. The Steelers got the conversion when Charlie Farmer passed to Moore to make it 13-6.

The Bucs and the Steelers meet again Tuesday, Oct. 14.

Softball Cats Relocate In Oviedo

The Cats softball team, formerly the Casselberry Cats and then the Duda Stray Cats are now known as the Oviedo Cats with local sponsorship a strong possibility, according to coach Mickey Norton. They will be playing at Red Bug in a Thursday night Men's C League.

The Cat veterans are Eddie Norton, Kelly Klukis and Jim Webster — all Oviedo High graduates and Bob Bliss and Ronnie Gardner from Lake Howell High.

Newcomers include the Bolton boys — father Ed who adds a veteran's knowhow on the mound and son Garth, an Oviedo High basketball and cross-country ace, according to Norton.

Oviedo coaches Louie Tulp, Rob Williams, Howard Isner and John Thomas will also play. Others include Darrell Duda, Drew Miller, Mike McCray, and Ron Gardner Sr., player-coach.

Carter: Knights Will Be Exciting

ORLANDO — Phil Carter doesn't know what to expect from his first Central Florida basketball team but he does promise one thing — the Fighting Knights will be exciting.

UCF's schedule includes 28 games, 12 of which will be played at the UCF Gymnasium. In addition, the Knights will participate in the Red Lobster Classic, to be held at the Orange County Civic Center Dec. 22 and 23.

"Overall, it's an outstanding schedule for us," Carter said. "We hope to provide our fans with an exciting style to play against some quality Division I opponents."

Auburn, Boston College and Valdosta State will also participate in the Red Lobster Classic.

Carter's Knights will begin the '85-86 season Nov. 23 against George Mason in the UCF Gymnasium.

Banditball Is Back In Tampa

TAMPA (UPI) — The new owners of the Tampa Bay Bandits pledged Tuesday to field a competitive USFL team next fall despite the loss of several top players.

Tampa residents Lee Scarfone and Tony Cunningham purchased an option to buy the franchise from Football Partners Ltd., headed by John Bassett, 10 weeks ago. The new owners held a news conference with Coach Steve Spurrier to assure skeptics the Bandits will be part of the USFL's fourth season, slated to begin in the fall of 1986. The Bandits, charter members of the USFL, have a combined record of 35-19 and lead the league in all-time attendance.

Duper, McNeal Sprint Back

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami Dolphins wide receiver Mark Duper and cornerback Don McNeal, both on injured reserve with leg injuries and eligible to be activated next week, ran sprints in practice Tuesday.

Duper, who suffered a hairline fracture of his left leg, and McNeal, who suffered a knee injury in pre-season, both looked "pretty good" running, Coach Don Shula said.

In other injury news, Shula announced defensive back and punt returner Mike Kozlowski will be out a minimum of three games with torn ankle ligaments. Kozlowski injured his ankle returning a punt against Pittsburgh Sunday.

Soccer Jamboree Kicks Off Fall

The Seminole Soccer Club is finalizing the plans for its 6th annual Jamboree on Saturday at Lyman High School in Longwood. A day of soccer and other activities is planned.

The Jamboree will commence at 8:30 a.m. with a parade of teams comprised of more than 1,500 boys and girls. The day will wrap up with mini-games.

A league spokesperson said this is an especially exciting fall season for Seminole Soccer since it marks the opening of its own soccer complex, located off Markham Woods Road, north of Lake Mary Boulevard.

Bowser's Wife Killed In Crash

MIRAMAR (UPI) — Camilla Bowser, wife of Miami Dolphins outside linebacker Charles Bowser, was killed Tuesday in a head-on collision when her car veered into the path of an oncoming pickup truck, police said.

Camilla Bowser, 25, was pronounced dead at Pembroke Pines General Hospital shortly after the 9:30 a.m. accident in Broward County. The Bowser's daughter, Charelle, 4 months, was not hurt in the accident. She was in a child-restraint seat, police said.

Poll: Bears Are Best In NFL

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Chicago Bears, heading into a showdown with the Super Bowl champion San Francisco 49ers, were a unanimous pick as the top NFL team for the second straight week in a poll conducted weekly by the Professional Football Writers of America.

The Bears, 5-0, received all seven first-place votes for 70 points from the writers. A victory Sunday will give Chicago its best start since 1942 when the Bears finished 11-0 and won the NFL Championship.

Last Call For C-Berry Softball

It's Last Call for softball in Casselberry.

An organizational meeting for individual players and team managers wanting to form the Casselberry Women's Softball League will be held tonight at 6:30 at the Casselberry Secret Lake Recreation Center at 200 Ivey Road east of U.S. Highway 17-92 off Seminola Boulevard.

Sharon Ellis, director of Parks and Recreation, said the league hopes to begin playing Wednesday evenings in late October. Call 831-3551, Ext. 260 for further information.

Turner Wants Cox And Gillick

TORONTO (UPI) — You've probably heard how Ted Turner would like to hire back Bobby Cox, the manager he once fired, and you heard right as far as it goes, but that's only half the story.

The other half is that Turner would also like to hire Pat Gillick away from Toronto if he could so Gillick and Cox could work together and do for the Atlanta Braves the same thing they've done for the Blue Jays. Namely, produce a winner.

Gillick is the man in charge of the Blue Jays baseball operations. His official title is Vice-President, Baseball and he works out of the front office but isn't afraid to get off his duff and personally check out ballplayers in the boondocks.

Between them, Gillick and Cox are the two men primarily responsible for leading the Blue Jays out of the basement into their present position where they've got a good chance to participate in their first World Series.

They strengthened their chances by knocking over the Kansas City Royals, 6-1, in Tuesday night's American League playoff opener.

Gillick has secured the necessary ballplayers for the Blue Jays, either through deals or out of the farm system, and Cox has handled them almost perfectly on the field.

Turner has been watching all this happen with more than just passing interest. How do you think he feels knowing he once had Cox working for him with the Braves and wasn't really that anxious to let him go? How do you think he feels also knowing he recognized Gillick's ability sufficiently enough before this so that he tried to hire him from the Blue Jays six years ago?

Turner isn't a man who does anything by half measures. That goes whether he's running a ball club in the National League, skipping a yacht in the America's Cup races or trying to take over one of the nation's major television networks. He thinks today CBS; tomorrow the world.

His immediate objective is restoring the Braves to a degree of baseball respectability where people wouldn't break up laughing whenever they heard the Braves referred to as "America's Team." On Turner's cable network or anywhere else.

Milton Richman
UPI EDITOR/Sports

It's a little difficult creating that kind of impression with a team that loses 96 games and finishes in fifth place, 29 games out. That's what happened to the Braves this year.

Turner is a master when it comes to marketing. In common with so many other eminently successful men, he isn't afraid to admit when he makes a mistake and he realizes he made one in letting Cox go as manager of the Braves at the end of 1981.

Ironically, the day he dismissed Cox, Turner said, "If he was a candidate for a job, he'd be the guy I'd go after."

OK, now he'd like him back. Cox says he's very happy with the Blue Jays and has no desire to go anywhere else.

But he lives in Marietta, Ga., only 10 miles from Atlanta and sometimes when the Blue Jays have an off day he'll jump on the first plane and go there to be with his wife and three kids.

If money talks, Turner's screams. He generally gets the man he goes after and for documentation of that all you need to do is check men like Gary Matthews, Al Hrabosky and Bruce Sutter.

Cox made less than $100,000 managing the Braves. He's up near $200,000, but Turner, anxious as he is to have a winner for everyone to watch on his network, wouldn't blink an eye if he had to pay $500,000 to get Cox back.

I'm not trying to spend Turner's money for him, but I'm sure it wouldn't bother him very much to make it one million dollar package for both Cox and Gillick. He spends more than that for his relief pitchers.

Of course, he could offer Cox the Braves' general managership and field managership, but I think Turner is too smart for that.

No one can do both those jobs. Not effectively. It's a widow-maker and it's like trying to eat rocks. It can't be done.

To get along with today's players, a manager has to disassociate himself with the general manager at least in the eyes and minds of his players. He needs to be "the good cop."

Cox is a "players' manager" and it was Gillick who hired him to manage the Blue Jays. Gillick has heard roundabout that Turner would like to have Cox back although he says the Braves' owner has made "no official overtures."

Should Turner do so, Gillick tells me the Blue Jays would not refuse him permission to speak with Cox, whose contract with the Blue Jays expires at the end of this season.

"We always let our people talk," he says. "We would like him to stay, but it's our club policy that we never stand in anybody's way."

The same obviously would apply if Turner came after Gillick. Neither board chairman Howard Webster nor chief executive officer Peter Hardy would try to prevent Gillick from going to the Braves if that was what he wanted.

The last time Turner sought to hire Gillick in 1979 he did it by going through the proper channels.

"I want him to be my general manager," he told the Blue Jays.

"He's the general manager here," was the answer he got.

"I don't care about any titles. He can be President or whatever else he likes. I just want the guy."

Turner received permission to talk with Gillick and offered him the moon, money, position, everything. Gillick turned him down.

You know Ted Turner, though. He doesn't give up easily. He didn't get the name Captain Courageous for nothing.

lefties." Whitt said. "The key to the series is Cliff Johnson. We need him in the lineup and we need him swinging a hot bat."

Kansas City's three main southpaws were 5-0 in 10 regular season games with a 1.97 ERA.

Leibrandt, who lost a heart-breaking 1-0 game to the Detroit Tigers in last year's playoffs, gave up two doubles and five singles plus a walk and a hit batsman.

"I thought his stuff wasn't that bad," Howser said. "I thought he broke some bats and they found some holes."

"I don't know what it was," Liebrandt said. "I don't know if it was bad location or what, but I didn't make enough good pitches."

A single, hit batsman and forceout at third put two runners on for Toronto in the second.

The unusual forceout came when left fielder Lonnie Smith dropped Garth Iorg's fly ball then picked it up and threw to third to force Barfield.

through the right side for the first run, and Fernandez eased a grounder past Brett for an RBI single.

One more hit loaded the bases, but Leibrandt held off his fate for one inning by working out of the jam.

Johnson doubled to start the third, Barfield walked, and Willie Upshaw singled to center to load the bases and chase Leibrandt. Howser brought in Steve Farr, but he proved little more effective than Leibrandt.

Cox switched from Garth Iorg to Rance Mulliniks, who pinch-hit an RBI single to center to trigger a three-run outburst. Whitt walked to force in a run and make it 4-0 and Fernandez hit a long sacrifice fly to right for a 5-0 lead.

Jays Knock Off 1 Lefty, Face The Other Today

A.L. Playoffs

TORONTO (UPI) — The Toronto Blue Jays knocked off one of Kansas City's left-handers Tuesday night. Today they must go against another.

They disposed of Charlie Leibrandt easily Tuesday night, chasing him in the third inning en route to a 6-1 victory over the Royals of Game 1 of the American League playoffs.

Leibrandt relies on slow stuff. Now the Blue Jays must adjust for the hard-throwing Bud Black.

"Bud is more of a power pitcher," Toronto first baseman Willie Upshaw said in the quiet happiness of the Blue Jays clubhouse.

"He can come at you more," said Upshaw. "We don't want him to settle in. If he goes four or five innings, he can be tough."

The Blue Jays jumped on Leibrandt for five runs in two-plus innings. Although they did not hit him hard, they did what manager Bobby Cox wanted: meet the ball and hit it up the middle.

"Against certain pitchers we do certain things differently," Toronto right fielder Jesse Barfield said. "We change our style of hitting, not so much mechanically, but mentally. We did what we had to do by laying off his bad pitches. We put pressure on him to throw strikes. He's the type of pitcher who won't give in. He's confident in his off-speed stuff."

Dunkel Says Seminoles, Lake Howell

The Florida Sports Writers Association Poll is compiled by Tom Brew of the St. Petersburg Times. The Dunkel Index is compiled by Dick Dunkel of Port Orange. Brew polls sports writers and coaches while Dunkel has a rating system based on margin of victory and loss.

County wise, here's Dunkel's order of rank: Lake Howell (No. 122, 51.7), Lake Mary (No. 132, 50.1), Seminole (No. 140, 48.7), Lyman (No. 200, 42.2), Oviedo (No. 217, 40.6) and Lake Brantley (No. 230, 38.1).

Based on the Dunkel Index, Seminole is an 11 1/2 point favorite over Lake Brantley and Lake Howell is a 1 1/2 point favorite over Lake Mary Friday night. Oviedo is a 1 1/2 point choice over Cocoa (No. 229, 39.1).

Miami Southridge is ranked as the top team in both SA polls this week. Southridge, a 0, moved ahead of Bradenton Manatee, which lost for the first time.

Apopka, 4-0, moved up a notch in the writers' poll to No. 3 but remained the same in the Dunkel Index at No. 6 with a 71.1 ranking. Orlando Evans, 4-0, took over the No. 10 spot in the writers' poll. Here's a look at both football polls.

Cook Of The Week

Lake Mary Native Cooks Dinner For 35 Or 40 Each Sunday

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

A little bit of local history surrounds our Cook of the Week, Ernestine "Ernie" Green of Sanford, whose family tree spans six generations of life in Seminole County.

Speaking affectionately of her 82 year old father, Ernie says that he has related many stories of the old days in Seminole County when he owned about 3,000 acres of land in Lake Mary which have since been swallowed up by progress.

"The house I was born in is still standing on Lake Mary Boulevard and is occupied," says Ernie. "Dad raised cattle on that land and I can remember during World War II, when there was a shortage of manpower and everybody was gone to war, my sister Betty and I used to have to take turns missing school one day a week so we could help Daddy 'ride pasture' and count the cattle. Dad's property ran all up and down the Wekiva River and clear out to where Interstate 4 is now. Humphrey Road in Lake Mary is named after Dad." An interesting bit of history that Ernie's dad relates is that prior to 1913 all of what is now Orange, Seminole, Lake, Volusia and Brevard, was once all one county named "Skeeter" County, or, more appropriately, "Mosquito" County. Ernie's dad can remember when there were only two automobiles in the whole county!

"I was never home much when I was young," says Ernie. "I was always out working, so I didn't learn how to cook at home. When I was 11 years old, I worked in a dime store downtown on Saturdays for $3 a day. I had to stand on a Coca-Cola crate to reach the cash register. Then, when I was 13, I worked in a confectionary store after school putting revenue stamps on cigarette packages. I made 50 cents a case, and I got so good that I could make $3 an hour. That was big money back in those days — I was the richest kid in school!"

Ernie, who is an expert at cooking on a grand scale, says her life has always been exciting. Married to Jackson "Jack" Lee Green since 1956, Ernie says,

"Jack was an over-the-road trucker and was gone the greatest portion of our first 25 years of marriage, so I raised eight children, six of them born while he was away." Ernie has six boys and two girls, two of which are still at home. Dull moments are scarce at the Green's when Robin, 17, and Brian, 15, have friends over to visit and the welcome mat is always out.

"We're a close-knit family and everybody comes to Mama's house on Sunday," says Ernie. "I really don't know how to cook for 2 or 3 people. Between the seven children and 13 grandchildren and the two that are home always bring their school friends, I end up with 35 or 40 people every Sunday." All of Ernie's children live in this vicinity except for one daughter who lives in Indiana. Her grandchildren affectionately call her "Grandma Honey" and, Ernie says, "They have me wrapped around their little fingers."

When Ernie makes potato salad, she uses 10 pounds of potatoes at a time. "I cook in large restaurant ware," she says, "because there's always somebody coming to the house." And when Ernie visits the supermarket, she easily fills two shopping carts!

Cooking is what Ernie likes to do best, and her experience has made her an expert in her field. After her marriage to Jack, Ernie says, "He was transferred to Charlotte, N.C., and I applied for a job at the Elks Club. They asked, 'Can you cook?' and I said, 'No, but I'm willing to learn.' So they sent me to cooking school and that's really where I learned to cook. The Elks had a country club with a restaurant that was open every night, and I worked there six nights a week for about seven years until we were transferred to Jeffersonville, Ind."

In Indiana, Ernie's husband opened a new terminal for the company he was working for, and soon after that they leased a truck stop restaurant which Ernie ran for eight years. With six large trucking companies home-based in that terminal, Ernie says, "They had bunk houses for the drivers to sleep in when they had to lay over, and they all ate in our restaurant. We stayed there so long that after a while we were all one big, happy family."

Ernie's most recent culinary creations were served to the patrons of the Gypsy Cab Co. in Sanford, a 50's and 60's era restaurant and lounge, where she prepared the daily buffets. At the Cab Co. Ernie was manager of the kitchen. "I was the only person in the kitchen and did everything that had to be done. I washed my own dishes, did all of the short-order cooking, catered all of the birthday and anniversary parties that were held there, and all of the buffets. I love setting up buffets and decorating foods," says Ernie. "I even make Easter baskets that are entirely edible!"

Ernie enjoys cooking in large quantities and even does some catering for friends and family, including all her children's weddings. "I'm never satisfied with just making a big bowl of potato salad," she says. "I've got to make flowers out of tomatoes, the stem out of green peppers, and use celery for the leaves. I make a real cute macaroni salad using grated cheese for the hair, stuffed olives for eyes, and pimiento for the mouth. I do not like just plain, simple cooking. I have to decorate everything I make. It's more pleasing to the eye. My sister often says, 'Let Ernie decorate grass and we'd eat it.' With a little twinkle in her eye she says, 'I've even thought of opening a restaurant of my own and calling it The Big Buns Cafe!'"

An additional credit to Ernie's cooking career includes 2½ years as head of the kitchen in a nursing home in DeBary. She was also secretary to the captain of the Salvation Army for several years and did lots of volunteer work.

Spare time is at a premium for Ernie, so hobbies are limited to pleasurable pastimes such as swimming, dancing, and singing. Recalling a childhood wish, Ernie says, "I always wanted a piano when I was growing up, but Daddy couldn't buy me one, so I used to play the windowsill." With a laugh, she goes on to explain, "I would pull a chair up to the windowsill and pretend to play the 'piano' while my sister Betty sang. Betty used to tell everybody that she had a sister who played the windowsill and I think they all thought she was crazy!"

Family oriented, Ernie says, "We don't really have to do much for entertainment. There isn't a day that goes by but one of the kids comes over to visit, and, of course, I do a lot of babysitting with the grand-children. We've had a good marriage; it would have to be with eight children. Jack is a good man with a great sense of humor, and he's a workaholic. He does everything there is to do around the house, and he's a good cook, too."

Ernie confesses, "My girls don't care about cooking that much, but my boys are excellent cooks. Nowadays, girls don't know a whole lot about cooking when they get married, so I taught every one of my boys how to cook."

There's always a horn-of- plenty of culinary delights at Ernie's house for all to enjoy containing one special ingredient — her jolly personality.

Below are some sealed-down recipes that are sure to please your appetite:

POTATO PANCAKES
3 cups raw, grated white potatoes
2 eggs, well beaten
1 tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
Peel large potatoes and cover with cold water. Let stand for several hours before using. Pour off the water and grate the potatoes. Drain thoroughly. Add well beaten egg to the grated potatoes and mix lightly. Stir in remaining ingredients. Drop pancake size spoonfuls onto hot griddle or skillet and fry on both sides until golden brown. Serves 6.

RING OF PLENTY
1½ cups cooked macaroni
1 cup diced cheese (cheddar is best)
1 cup soft bread crumbs (packed down)
1 tablespoon minced parsley, green pepper, or celery

3 tablespoons minced pimiento
3 tablespoons melted Crisco
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 cup scalded milk
1 egg, well beaten
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Combine ingredients in order given. Put in ring mold. Place mold in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven, 375°, until firm, about 35 minutes. Unmold. Serve hot. Ring can be filled with meat or fish. Be sure egg is added after the scalded milk. Serves 6.

SWEET 'N' SOUR CHICKEN
2-3 pounds frying chicken, cut up

1 cup apricot, peach or orange preserves
1 bottle (8 oz.) sweet and spicy French salad dressing
1 package dry onion soup mix
Place chicken in ungreased 13x9x2 inch baking dish. Combine remaining ingredients and spoon over chicken. Cover and bake at 350° for 15 minutes. Uncover and bake 45 minutes, basting once or twice during last 15 minutes. Serve with sauce spooned over chicken with rice, potatoes, or noodles. Serves 6.

FRESH FRUIT DRESSING
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup marshmallow creme
½ teaspoon nutmeg
Dash of grated lemon rind
Combine all ingredients and whip until creamy. Use as dressing for fresh fruit salads or as a dip for chunks of fresh fruit.

EASY COBBLER
1 stick margarine, melted
1 cup sugar
1 cup self-rising flour
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
1 cup milk
1 large can peaches
Melt margarine in baking dish. Let cool. Stir in remaining ingredients except peaches. Mix well. Pour peaches and juice on top of batter, spreading peaches evenly. Bake at 350° until browned. Sprinkle top with a mixture of sugar and cinnamon. Serves 6.

BUFFALO WINGS AND DRUMETTES
(For great parties and get-togethers)
5 pounds chicken wings (packed down)
Flour for dredging

Local Jazz Quartet Chosen For Tour

Secretary of State George Firestone today announced the Nathan Page Quartet, Altamonte Springs is one of the nine Florida performing arts groups chosen for the State of Florida's performing arts touring program for 1986-87.

"The groups selected the largest number of organizations ever selected for the tour and also the most diverse — ranging from a full orchestra to a modern dance company to a vaudeville theatrical troupe," said Firestone.

The Nathan Page Quartet, committed to increasing awareness of jazz as an American art form, will present a formal evening of pure jazz on the 1986-87 touring program. The Quartet has toured internationally and recorded five albums. Pianist Nathan Page will be touring with guitarist John Hicks, Michael Ross on bass, and Jimmy Cobb on percussion.

It is one of four groups making their first appearance on the touring program. Others are Fantasy Theatre Factory, Miami; the South Florida Shakespeare Festival, Miami; and the Tampa Concert Ballet.

Other groups to be part of the tour are The Florida Orchestra, Tampa-St. Petersburg-Clearwater; Dance Alive!, Gainesville; Hippodrome State Theatre, Gainesville; Mastrogiacomo Duo, Tallahassee; and the New College String Quartet, Sarasota.

The State Touring Program was established by in 1979 and is administered by the Department of State's Division of Cultural Affairs. The program enables non-profit organizations throughout Florida to host some of the State's leading performing arts groups at costs well below normal booking fees.

The 1985-86 State Touring Program features seven groups presenting more than 100 performances/workshops in 40 Florida counties.

Descriptions of the other groups making up the 1986-87 tour are below:

Fantasy Theatre Factory, an innovative theatre rooted in old vaudeville forms, combines mime, clowns, masks, juggling, comedy and improvisation.

The Mastrogiacomo Duo, Norma and Leonard Mastrogiacomo, are duo-pianists in-residence at Florida State University. Fulbright scholars, they have traveled to Vienna to do music research.

The South Florida Shakespeare Festival, produced by the South Florida Theatre Company, is composed of multi-talented professionals who perform in educational productions of classical theatre. For three consecutive years, SFTC has produced the South Florida Shakespeare Festival in Miami.

Tampa Concert Ballet, in its 32nd year, performs full-length classical ballets. Martin Fredmann, the troupe's artistic director, is one of the few Americans to have studied dance at the famed Kirov School in Leningrad. He has taught and choreographed in five countries in addition to the United States.

Poem Is G-Rated Reply To X-Rated Invitation

DEAR ABBY: Recently a father wrote to you regarding a dilemma faced by himself and countless other fathers at the time of their sons' wedding. What to do when invited to the bachelor party, complete with X-rated films?

Thankfully, many young men have already outgrown this adolescent phenomenon, but for those still stuck in puberty, perhaps their fathers could offer this response:

"Dear son, you've invited me to your party tonight.

"And while it's not exactly a matter of wrong or right.

"I think I'll take a raincheck on your invite.

"And spend the night at home with my own delight.

"You see, I've learned a few things along the way.

"And, if you would, accept this merely as a relay.

"It's the woman you marry that's worth viewing.

"Not the ones you pay.

"And I've also learned that old pornos never die.

FATHER GUY GURATH, PASTOR, ST. MARY'S RECTORY, CASCADE, WIS.

DEAR ABBY: This letter isn't really to you — it's to my in-laws. I want to answer some of the questions they've been asking me, but I don't have the courage to do it to their faces:

Dear Abby

You ask me why your son rarely comes to family gatherings, and why he isn't a better father to our children. You keep asking me why he avoids you, and wonder if he's mad at you for some reason.

Well, I can give you an answer that will sum up everything. He's an alcoholic. Although all he drinks is beer, he's been a heavy drinker since his teens. So far, he hasn't tried to overcome his drinking habit. I hate to tell you this, but I can't bear it alone anymore. I've been going to Alanon for six years. It has helped me to live with your son's drinking problem, but nothing will help him until he admits that he has a problem and wants to do something about it.

Abby, please tell your readers that if someone's drinking is a problem in their life, they should seek help through the Alanon program. It's been a lifesaver to me.

NO EASY WAY OUT
DEAR NO EASY WAY: I hope your in-laws see this, but in case they don't, I urge you to gather the courage to tell them that if they have questions concerning their son, they should ask him — not you. And since his drinking is a problem to his parents, they should also join Alanon.

DEAR ABBY: I had to write after reading the letter from "Speechless in Santa Ana," whose dinner guests canceled at the last minute because another couple couldn't make it.

The same thing happened to me an hour before this couple was to arrive. She phoned and said, "Can we have a rain check?"

I replied, "Sure. Call me the next time it rains for 40 days and 40 nights!" Then I hung up.

I lost a friend, but retained my sanity. You're right, Abby. Who needs friends like that?

Jazz Dancer Damien Stevens

School Of Dance Arts Hosts To Jazz Teacher

Well-known Jazz Teacher and Artist, Damien Stevens will be at the School of Dance Arts, Oct. 11-12 to teach three guest classes.

While attending a national meeting of Dance Masters of America this summer, Miriam Wright and Valerie Weld, co-owners of the School of Dance Arts in Sanford, met and studied with Damien Stevens.

Now Stevens has included the local studio into his tour of Florida, with Sanford as his last stop before heading back to New York to work with his own dancer company "Effect."

Classes will be Oct. 11 from 6:15-7:15 p.m. and on Oct. 12 from 12:15-1:30 p.m. with the last class on Saturday from 1:30-2:30 p.m.

According to Miriam and Valerie, local dancers will try to get in as many classes with this energetic and conscientious teacher as possible. Dance studios in the area who are interested in having their students study with "Damien" are more than welcome to send their students to the studio at 2560 Elm Avenue for the guest classes.

Each class is $7 at the door and dancers may wish to come early in order to warm themselves up.

Briefly

Nursing Assistants Class Begins Oct. 22 At Seminole

Seminole Community College is forming a new class to train nursing assistants, leading to state certification. The program consists of 240 hours in training individuals to perform selected tasks under direct supervision of a registered nurse. The tasks are primarily related to the personal hygiene and comfort of patients in hospitals and nursing homes. The course also will acquaint the student with the practices, procedures, responsibilities and rewards of a nursing assistant by actual experience of patient care in the hospital.

Classes will begin Oct. 22, 1985 and will run Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. each day for 8 weeks. Cost of registration is $80. Students interested in taking the class should apply at the Admissions Office in the Administration Building. For more information call 323-1450, Ext. 320, from Orlando call 843-7001.

Diaper Derby Deadline

Deadline for entering the Diaper Derby to be held on Oct. 19 in the infants and toddlers department of the Sanford Plaza J.C. Penny store is Saturday, Oct. 12 and there are still some openings. To register their child, parents should come as soon as possible to the infants and toddlers department because entries.

The event, which is open to babies and toddlers, 8 to 24 months, will begin at 11 a.m. There will be four heats — two for crawlers in the 8-10 month and 11-12 month categories and toddlers 12-16 months and 17-24 months. There will be first, second and third prizes awarded in each category. First prize is a $39.95 portrait package; second, a $29.95 portrait package; and third, a $19.95 portrait package. All other participants will receive an 8 by 10 portrait.

Class Of '66 Reunion Set

Seminole High School Reunion Class of 1966 will hold another organizational meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Room 411, Seminole High School. At the last meeting the reunion date was set for August 8-10, 1986.

Addresses are needed for class members. Anyone who knows the address of 1966 graduates is asked to call Sarah Lyon at 323-0767 or Venisha Lyon at 574-1547.

Georgetown Crime Program

The Georgetown Community Improvement Association will meet at 6 p.m. today at St. James African Methodist Episcopal Church Annex, 819 Cypress Ave., Sanford.

The meeting is open to all residents of the Georgetown area to discuss crime prevention and protection because of the increased crime activity in the vicinity.

On Their Toes

Dance Alive!, the popular Southern Arts Federation touring company, will be performing Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Concert Hall of Seminole Community College, Sanford. The exciting repertoire will include classical pas de deux, jazz and contemporary dance. Featuring petite, sparkling Kathryn Dandois, Dance Alive! combines artistry with energy. Seating is limited to the first 350 persons. There is no admission charge and it is open to the public, first come, first served.

Microwave Magic:

Bake Cakes That Are More Moist, Tender & Light

When I'm asked "Can you really bake a cake in the microwave that is moist and tender like a cake that is baked in the "regular" oven?" My answer is "Yes, you can and you will find it easier to have a success." Microwave cakes are moister, more tender and lighter than cakes baked with dry heat (conventionally).

Round baking dishes give better results for cake baking than square or rectangular ones. Ring and bundt pans give good results also. If square dishes must be used, use aluminum foil over each corner to "shield" from overcooking.

Lightly grease the bottom of the baking container with butter, oil, margarine, shortening, or a spray coating and coat with granulated sugar or crumbs (graham or vanilla wafers). Do not use flour as a coating agent, as it becomes tacky.

As in conventional baking, cakes are done when a toothpick inserted in center comes out clean, or when top springs back when lightly pressed with finger tip. Cake top may appear moist but will dry upon standing. Allow to stand directly on countertop. DO NOT PLACE ON RACK.

You may open the door of the microwave oven during the time a cake is baking in the microwave without fear of the cake falling, as the structure is not set by dry heat, therefore, it will not fall.

Cakes that have a great deal of air incorporated do not microwave well — angel food and sponge cakes, for example.

This recipe makes one 9-inch round layer. If you double the amount it is sufficient for a 12-cup bundt pan.

HUMMINGBIRD CAKE

1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon soda
½ cup cooking oil
1 banana, chopped
½ cup pecans, chopped
½ cup crushed canned pineapple with juice

Place all ingredients in mixing bowl. Blend at low speed then at medium speed two minutes. Spread batter in a 9-inch round dish. Microwave on 50% power, six minutes and 100% power 2-6 minutes or until done. Cover with wax paper and let stand on counter-top 5-10 minutes. Cool and frost with Cream Cheese Frosting.

CREAM CHEESE FROSTING
4 oz. softened cream cheese
3 tablespoons butter
½ pound powdered sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Blend ingredients and beat until light and fluffy. Thin with a little cream if needed. Makes enough for one 9-inch layer.

The richer the cake the better it bakes in the microwave oven. Microwaves are attracted to sugar and fats so this recipe does well.

FRESH APPLE POUND CAKE
¼ cups cooking oil
2 cups sugar
3 eggs
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
3 large apples, peeled and grated

1 cup finely chopped pecans
Combine oil, sugar, and eggs. Beat at medium speed for 3

SHRIMP CREOLE EGGS
(6 servings)
1 cup chopped cooked shrimp
¼ cup each: chopped green pepper, sliced green onion
1 tablespoon butter
8 eggs, slightly beaten
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
Small tomato, cut into 6 wedges

Saute shrimp, green pepper and onion in butter in large skillet 3 minutes, stirring frequently. Combine eggs, Worcestershire and salt; pour over shrimp mixture. Cook to desired doneness, stirring occasionally. Top with cheese. Let stand until cheese begins to melt. Garnish with tomato wedges, if desired.

minutes. Add combined flour, salt, soda and vanilla. Fold in apples and pecans. Bake in prepared 12 cup ring cake dish. Microwave on 50% 12 minutes and 100% 1-8 minutes. Let stand, covered with wax paper, on counter-top 10 minutes. Invert and glaze.

Glaze: Combine ¾ cup butter and 1½ cups light brown sugar in a deep bowl. Microwave on 70% power until mixture begins to boil. Add ½ cup evaporated milk and continue to microwave on 70% power until mixture boils again. Cook until thickened. Add two teaspoons vanilla. Cool and spread on cake.

A one egg cake sometimes goes by the name of a Depression cake. Your favorite fruit or frosting goes well on this "quick as a wink" to prepare cake.

EMERGENCY CAKE

½ cup butter

Midge Mycoff

Home Economist
Seminole Community College

1 cup sugar
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Beat all ingredients together and pour into an 8-inch dish. Microwave on 50% power six minutes and 100% power 2-5 minutes. Let stand directly on counter-top to cool.

The cake mixes that have pudding included in the mix make an extra good microwave cake. This bundt cake has the glaze put in the pan before the cake is baked.

RASPBERRY CAKE RING
¼ cup margarine (or butter)
¼ cup red raspberry preserves
½ cup flaked coconut
1 package (18½ ounces) lemon cake mix with pudding
3 eggs
1 cup water

Grease and sugar a 12-cup fluted plastic or ceramic tube pan. In a 2-cup glass measure microwave butter 30-60 seconds, or until melted. Add preserves and coconut, mix well. Spread evenly over bottom of pan. In a large bowl, blend cake mix, eggs, oil and water until moistened. Beat two minutes at highest speed. Pour batter over preserve mixture in pan. Microwave on 100% power (high), uncovered, 12 minutes; or microwave on 30% power (low) 11 minutes, then 100% power (high) 5½ minutes. Cool cake upright in pan for 10 minutes, then invert onto serving plate. Spoon any remaining topping in pan onto cake. Cool completely.

Orange Parfait

Perfect Parfait Dessert Adds Panache To Dinner

Even the neophyte chef can make perfect parfaits and meringues to end a meal with panache. The following recipes are foolproof, and the results are irresistible. Pretty to look at and delicious to taste, parfaits are a dessert for every member of the family. They have a satisfying flavor that belies their light, airy texture and ease of preparation. Only five ingredients are needed for this parfait. Chances are, you have them on hand — orange juice from Florida, unflavored gelatin, sugar, water and heavy cream. A few minutes of assembly, three hours to chill, and voila! A heavenly dessert with the fresh flavor of Florida oranges is ready to perk up the tastebuds. There are a variety of ways to serve the elegant result of your labor. Pile it into a large glass bowl and spoon helpings into individual dishes as desired. Present it in parfait glasses and decorate it with whatever is handy. Or, for an extra special touch, mound the creamy mixture in crisp meringue shells.

ORANGE PARFAIT
 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
 2 cups Florida orange juice, divided
 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
 In medium saucepan combine sugar and gelatine. Add 1 cup orange juice; stir over medium heat until sugar and gelatine are dissolved, about 4 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in remaining 1 cup orange juice. Chill until mixture is consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in heavy cream. Spoon into Meringue Shells* or individual dessert dishes. Yield: 6 servings.

Cheese Dishes High In Calcium

SHRIMP AND CHEESE TOPPED SPAGHETTI

(6 servings)
 1 jar (2½ ounces) sliced mushrooms
 1 package (1½ ounces) spaghetti sauce mix*
 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
 1 tablespoon butter
 9 ounces uncooked spaghetti
 1 package (6 ounces) frozen cooked shrimp, thawed, rinsed and drained
 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Provolone cheese
 Drain mushrooms, reserving liquid. Add enough water to reserved liquid from mushrooms to make 1 cup. Combine spaghetti sauce mix and tomato sauce. Stir in mushroom liquid and butter. Cook according to package directions. Meanwhile, cook spaghetti according to package directions; rinse and drain. Add mushrooms and shrimp to sauce; stir in cheese just until melted. Serve over hot spaghetti.
 *NOTE: Lawry's Spaghetti Sauce Mix was used to develop this recipe.
 Per serving: 181 mg. calcium, 310 calories

CHEESE-VEGETABLE ROLL UPS

(Yield: 6 servings)
 2 cups (8 ounces) shredded Swiss cheese
 ¾ cup shredded carrot (about 2 medium carrots)
 ½ cup dairy sour half and half
 ¼ cup each: chopped celery, sliced green onion
 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
 ½ teaspoon salt
 ½ teaspoon pepper
 12 large leaves of leaf lettuce, chilled
 3 large tomatoes
 Combine cheese, carrot, sour half and half, celery, onion, mustard, salt and pepper; mix well. Chill, covered, 1 to 2 hours to allow flavors to blend. Spread approximately 2 tablespoons cheese mixture on each lettuce leaf. Roll up. Cut each tomato into 6 wedges. Serve 2 roll ups and 3 tomato wedges per person.
 Per serving: 424 mg. calcium, 200 calories

CRUSTLESS TUNA QUICHE

(6 servings)
 1 tablespoon butter
 ½ cup sliced green onion
 ¼ cup chopped red and/or green pepper
 4 eggs
 3 tablespoons flour
 ¼ teaspoon each: salt, dry mustard
 ½ teaspoon pepper
 1½ cups skim milk
 1½ cups (6 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
 1 can (6½ ounces) tuna in water, drained and flaked
 Tomato, cut into 6 wedges
 Preheat oven to 350°F. Melt butter in small skillet. Sauté onion and pepper until tender, about 3 minutes. Combine eggs, flour and seasoning in medium-sized mixing bowl; beat until well blended. Stir in milk; add cheese, tuna and sautéed vegetables; mix well. Pour into well-buttered 9-inch pie plate. Bake 45 to 50 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Let cool 10 minutes before serving. Garnish each serving with a tomato wedge.

Stress Can Take A Toll On Health

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — Does stress lead to such sicknesses as stomach trouble, ulcer, low blood sugar and high blood pressure? I've just been divorced, but my ex-husband still phones me. I keep returning to him and problems occur. What can I do, other than to try to refuse to see him for my health's sake?

DEAR READER — Although we are all under stress, you seem to be under more stress than most people. If your harassment keeps up, you may find yourself having to deal with some of the other problems you mention, many of which are stress-induced.

I think a family counselor or therapist might be able to help you put your life back into perspective. Failing that, an attorney should be able to prevent your ex-spouse from contacting you in unreasonable ways. By taking the burden of the disintegrated marriage on your own shoulders, you are opening yourself to an unhealthy level of stress. You would fare better, I think, to engage the services of a professional. He or she can help you to see where your responsibilities end.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I've had trichomonas for six months, and both my husband and I have been treated with Flagyl in three different doses. I douche daily, alternating a solution of Betadine and saline. I'm past menopause and take Premarin 0.625. What else can I do?

DEAR READER — Trichomonas can be an extremely resistant infection. Ask your gynecologist if he or she would endorse a program during which you and your husband take long-term Flagyl treatment. Remember that Flagyl's effects can be reduced in the presence of other medicines.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I get a cramp — one that hurts and stops me dead in my tracks — in the abdomen, under my breast, especially if I twist or turn suddenly. I have a rather weak back, but don't see how my back would affect the front of me. I must admit I'm a meat-and-potatoes person and am 35 pounds overweight. Could it be a vitamin deficiency?

DEAR READER — You seem to be describing a form of muscle spasm that may be due to inadequate oxygen supply. I don't believe extra vitamins would help you, but a weight-reduction program might, especially in conjunction with exercise. While you are in the process of losing 15 or 20 pounds, see a diagnostician, because the pain may be originating in an internal organ, like the gallbladder, intestine or heart.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
At a 1984 tournament in Austria, Joseph Pelikan, sitting East, made a remarkable defensive play which seems to violate a principle bridge players hold dear.

South's jump overall was of course pre-emptive, and West's double was negative, asking opener to bid again. With length in hearts and a sound opening, East decided to sit out the double and try to collect a penalty. A good objective, but look how tough it was for the defense to beat the contract.

After the club king opening lead, West switched to the jack of diamonds. Declarer won the king, and played ace and jack of hearts. East took the queen and returned a club. South ruffed and played the 10 of hearts, won by East's king. Note the variations now available. East could get out with his last heart, but now declarer would duck a spade into East, who would have to lead into dummy's A-10 of diamonds. The same result would occur if East played a diamond back: By playing a low spade from dummy, declarer would force the A-Q to beat the air.

Violating a basic defensive principle was the answer. East played the ace and queen of spades. When declarer took the king, he eventually had to go set a trick. Perhaps the most interesting point is that the defense would do best if West led a low diamond at trick two. Now the nine from East would force the king, and diamonds could safely be continued by the defenders at any time.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY OCTOBER 9, 1985

Luck and chance will play favorable roles in your affairs in the year ahead. When opportunity knocks, you'll be in the right place at the right time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In arrangements with friends today, it's going to be up to you to get everything properly organized. No one will object to your running the show. Major changes are ahead for Libras in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do not procrastinate today in going after an important objective. Conditions are now favorable and all should go rather smoothly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today you might have an opportunity to rectify getting off on the wrong foot with a friend. Act now while he's in a forgiving mood.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your best bet today for getting what you want is not to deal with subordinates or underlings. Discuss your case with the head honcho.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your judgment is good today, provided you take time to weigh and balance every aspect before making a decision. Don't be hasty.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you use your imagination today, you will do things in a manner that will gain the admiration of anyone you want to impress.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're adept today at figuring out ways to advantageously link up situations that appear to be unrelated. You'll know how to tie them together.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you are performing work or service for another today, take pride in what you do and put forth your best effort.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A number of bright ideas could come to you in rapid succession today. Each will have merit, so put them all to good use.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You will be much more confident in business matters today than you were yesterday. If you've made any errors, take measures to correct them.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Something productive could come out of your social involvements today. Make it a point to have a big smile and a kind word for everyone you encounter.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In commercial dealings today, you're likely to attain better results if you use an indirect approach. Don't expose your hand too early.

Olivia On Mountaintop

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Olivia Newton-John will be heard from but rarely seen during the next five months as she awaits the arrival of her first child.

Newton-John was perched prettily on a divan in the temporary living room of her Malibu aerie high atop a bluff overlooking the Pacific. She is remodeling her rambling home across the road to accommodate a nursery, among other things.

Her wide blue eyes were filled with excitement at the thought of motherhood, but the 4-minute video tape she played of her new album, "Soul Kiss," was anything but maternal.

There was a new Olivia up there on the screen, a sexy, sultry beauty showing off her legs and vamping a handsome young dude with some passionate kisses in parody of classic movie love scenes from "Gone With The Wind," "Casablanca" and "Wuthering Heights."

The handsome young dude, incidentally, is the singer's husband, actor Matt Lattanz, garbed in a male bikini. Newton-John explained she didn't want to kiss another actor.

Her video borders on down and dirty with her blonde hair falling across her face. Her bare feet are adorned with toe rings. In one scene Olivia is almost unrecognizable in a black wig.

The topper is Newton-John in a Marilyn Monroe wig in a bubble bath complete with champagne. Lattanz kisses Olivia, after which she pulls the fully-clothed Lattanz into the tub with her.

What happened to the pony-tailed cutie of "Grease," the innocent high schooler who fell in love with John Travolta?

"I'm not a little girl anymore. My God, I'm 37 and all grown up," Newton-John said. "I can't do cutesy-cutesy stuff anymore."

"I gather from my mail that my fans are growing up with me and are happy that I'm. I don't want to do the same music I did 10 years ago. It would be very boring."

Progressive Pumpkin Party

It's A Double Treat For Youngsters At Halloween

Keep the thrills and chills of Halloween, complete with costumes, games and special party foods for you goblin' goblins, but make the holiday a safe one. A Progressive Pumpkin Party gives the youngsters a double treat and divides the party preparation between two families. Grown ups can escort the kids — in costume parade from the early evening supper party to treats pictured in prepared with canned pumpkin. Smooth and natural, with no artificial ingredients, solid pack pumpkin adds a bonus of nutrients to delectable party recipes.

PUMPKIN FACE SLOPPY JOES

1 pound ground beef
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 cup solid pack pumpkin
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
2 tablespoons firmly packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
8 hamburger buns, split
American cheese slices
 In large saucepan or skillet, brown meat; drain. Add onion and garlic; cook until tender. Stir in pumpkin, tomato sauce, sugar, mustard, chili powder and salt. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer 10 minutes. For each sandwich, cover bottom half of bun with meat mixture. Top with cheese cut-outs to make pumpkin face. Broil until cheese begins to melt. Top with top half of bun. Yields 8 servings.

PUMPKIN PARTY PUNCH
46 ounces apple juice or cider
1 can (30 oz.) pumpkin pie mix
1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 quart lemon lime soda, chilled
 Combine apple juice and pumpkin pie mix; mix well. Chill. Just before serving, combine pumpkin mixture and ice cream in punch bowl; stir until smooth. Gently stir in soda. Yields 4-4 quarts.

PARTY PUMPKIN POPCORN
2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup solid pack pumpkin
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
2 cups dry roasted peanuts
4 quarts popped popcorn
 Preheat oven to 250°F. Combine sugar, pumpkin, butter and corn syrup in medium saucepan; bring to boil, stirring constantly. Continue boiling 15 minutes over medium-low heat, stirring frequently. Remove from heat; add salt, soda and cream of tartar, stirring until well-blended and foamy. Stir in peanuts. Pour over popcorn; toss until well-coated. Spread on two greased cookie sheets. Bake 50 to 60 minutes or until golden brown, stirring every 15 minutes. Remove immediately from cookie sheets. Spread on foil, breaking popcorn into pieces. Cool. Coating will harden on cooling. Yields 3 quarts.

JACK O' LANTERN CAKE
Cake:
1/2 cup shortening
1 1/4 cups sugar
2 eggs
2 1/4 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1 cup solid pack pumpkin
1/2 cup milk
1 ice cream cone
 Preheat oven to 350°F. Beat shortening and sugar until fluffy; blend in eggs. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, baking soda and spices. Add dry ingredients alternately with combined pumpkin and milk, mixing well after each addition. Spoon into two greased and floured 6-cup fluted tube pans. Bake 30 to 35 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pans. Cool completely on wire racks. Trim, if desired. Invert one cake on serving plate; frost with orange frosting. Place second cake bottom end down, on top; frost. Make pumpkin face decoration on cake with green frosting. Top with ice cream cone for stem.

Frosting:
9 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
1 1/2 tablespoons vanilla extract
1 1/2 teaspoons grated orange peel
Dash of salt
6 3/4 cups sifted powdered sugar
1/2 cup orange juice
Red, yellow and green food coloring
 Cream butter; blend in vanilla, orange peel and salt. Add sugar alternately with juice, beating until fluffy. To 1/2 cup frosting, add green food coloring to desired shade of green. To remaining frosting, add red and yellow food coloring to desired shade of orange.

Variation: Prepare cake as directed except spoon into two greased and floured 9-inch layer pans. Bake 30 minutes or until cake tests done. Fill and frost with orange frosting. Decorate with green frosting.

GREAT PUMPKIN COOKIES
2 cups flour
1 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup solid pack pumpkin
1 cup semi-sweet real chocolate morsels
Assorted icings or peanut butter
Assorted candies, raisins or nuts
 Preheat oven to 350°F. Combine flour, oats, baking soda, cinnamon and salt; set aside.

1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup solid pack pumpkin

Assorted icings or peanut butter
Assorted candies, raisins or nuts
 Preheat oven to 350°F. Combine flour, oats, baking soda, cinnamon and salt; set aside.

Cream butter: gradually add sugars, beating until light and fluffy. Add egg and vanilla; mix. Alternate additions of dry ingredients and pumpkin, mixing well after each addition. Stir in morsels. For each cookie, drop 1/4 cup doughy onto lightly greased cookie sheet; spread into pumpkin shape, using a thin metal spatula. Add a bit more dough to form stem. Bake 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from cookie sheets; cool on racks. Decorate, using icing, peanut butter, assorted candies, raisins and nuts. Yields 19 to 20 large cookies.

Vive La Fondue!

A French Favorite For American Tastes

Fondue is a centuries' old favorite that is revived each time new groups discover its simplicity and appetite appeal.

Fondue comes from the French word, "fondre," meaning "to melt," because cheese fondue is essentially melted cheese. Variations may use two or three kinds of cheese, a soup or white sauce base.

The Swiss claim the origin for fondue, their national dish, but it was the great French gourmet, Brillat-Savarin, born on the Swiss border, who popularized it by serving and telling friends about it. These early fondues were made with cheese from southern France and Switzerland. As fondue has traveled, many others cheeses have been used with good results.

American Dairy Association has developed two double-cheese fondue recipes and suggests serving them from a "bowl" made from rye bread. A round loaf of bread is hollowed out and toasted. As the level of fondue lowers, pieces of the bread can be broken off and enjoyed along with the vegetable and fruit dippers.

FONDUE IN THE ROUND

- (Yield: 2 1/2 cups)
 2 tablespoons butter
 3 tablespoons flour
 1 teaspoon dry mustard
 1 1/2 cups milk
 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 2 cups (8 ounces) shredded Muenster cheese
 3/4 cup (3 ounces) shredded Provolone cheese
 1-1/2 pound round rye bread
 Melt butter in heavy 1 1/2-quart saucepan; blend in flour and dry mustard. Remove from heat; stir in milk and Worcestershire sauce. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat; stir in cheeses. If necessary, return to low heat to finish melting cheeses. (Do not boil.) Transfer to fondue pot. Serve with rye bread chunks; raw vegetables such as cherry tomatoes, celery and carrot sticks, cauliflower flowerettes; apple and pear slices.

Something New For Venerable Sloppy Joe

As the nostalgia craze continues to spread, the prerequisite for a splashy meal is no longer a French name. Instead of nouvelle cuisine, people are heading back to Mom's kitchen or the local diner to enjoy the foods they've eaten since they were kids.

Heading the list of deja vu favorites is the venerable Sloppy Joe, a delightful blend of ground beef in a rich tomato sauce piled high on a fluffy bun.

Today's cooks carry on the tradition... even when time is too tight for chopping, simmering and seasoning. In its place are convenient kitchen helps like Manwich Sloppy Joe sauce, a zesty blend of eight different herbs and seasonings, sweet onions and crisp red and green bell peppers, together in a delicious, thick tomato base.

The path to perfect Sloppy Joes is easy to follow. Simply brown some ground beef, add Manwich Sauce and pile high on a fresh bun. But even Sloppy Joe devotees know that a Manwich Sloppy Joe is only one chapter in a popular family tradition.

As the recipe below clearly shows, it is the ideal basis for family favorites that are both quick to prepare and delicious.

BEEF CRUST BEAN PIE

- 1 1/2 pounds lean ground beef
 1 cup fresh bread crumbs
 1 egg
 1/2 cup minced onion
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/8 teaspoon pepper
 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 1 can Manwich Sauce
 1 (15 1/2 oz.) can baked beans, drained
 1 tablespoon molasses
 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 1/4 pound process American cheese, sliced

Combine first seven ingredients with 1/2 cup Hunt's Manwich; mix well. Pat into bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie pan to form shell, building up top edge and fluting. Bake at 350° 15 minutes. Meanwhile, combine beans, molasses and mustard with 1/2 cup Manwich in sauce pan. Heat; pour into partially baked meat shell, spreading to edges. Pour remaining Manwich over top of beans; arrange cheese slices to within 1 inch of outer edge. Bake 15-20 minutes longer. Cut in pie shaped pieces to serve. Makes 6-8 servings.

To serve in Rye Bread Bowl: Remove top from round rye bread loaf. Hollow out inside of bread to make a bowl, leaving at least 1/2 inch all around side and bottom. Tear bread from inside into bite-size pieces. Place bread bowl and pieces on cookie sheet. Bake in preheated 400°F. oven 5-10 minutes or until fairly dry and crisp. (Outer edges should be lightly toasted.) Cool on rack. Place bread bowl on serving tray; surround with toasted pieces. Pour hot fondue mixture into bread bowl. Use fondue forks or wooden picks.

TOMATO CHEESE FONDUE

- 1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed

- tomato soup
 3/4 cup milk
 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
 3 cups (12 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
 1 cup (4 ounces) crumbled Blue cheese
 1 tablespoon fresh chives
 Combine condensed soup, milk and mustard in a 3-quart saucepan. Heat, stirring constantly, over medium heat until very hot but not boiling. Combine cheeses. Sprinkle cheese mixture 1/4 cup at a time over hot soup. Stir until melted after each addition. Stir in chives. Serve with French bread cubes and assorted fresh vegetables.

Florida Shrimp and grapefruit combine for elegant dish.

Dishes Won't Hurt Budget But Add Something Special

The experienced hostess has a lot of tricks up her sleeve. Her shopping is organized and efficient. When unexpected guests arrive, she can whip up a supper that's good and nourishing. And when the occasion calls for it, she can deliver a spectacular meal without bankrupting the food budget. A combination of planning and making the best possible buys in the market is the basis for success in keeping standards high but costs reasonable.

In the market now from the Florida citrus groves are plump, succulent grapefruit to add sunshine flavor to winter meals.

Use this good winter fruit buy in Shrimp and Grapefruit Mousse, an exceptional party luncheon or supper dish. Served in trimmed grapefruit shells, its elegant looks belie the fact that it's easily prepared. The no-cook recipe means the dish can be made ahead and chilled to leave the hostess free to mingle with her guests.

Another entree with eye appeal is a Florida Caesar Salad. It takes that classic combination of crisp romaine, croutons, chopped anchovies and Parmesan cheese in a garlic-scented dressing and adds juicy grapefruit sections for a wallop of flavor and a vitamin C bonus.

Along with your staples, keep fresh Florida grapefruit on hand for low-calorie, nutritious snacking. But also try it with your hearty soups and stews and see what a difference a little sunshine can make.

GRAPEFRUIT AND SHRIMP MOUSSE

4 medium grapefruit from Florida

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup chili sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon prepared horseradish
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
- 1 cup cooked, diced shrimp
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- Lettuce

Slice tops off grapefruit. Using a sharp knife, cut a scalloped edge around each grapefruit. Loosen sections from membrane and reserve. Scoop out membrane from shells and discard. Set grapefruit aside. Combine gelatin and water in medium saucepan. Stir over low heat until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat. Add mayonnaise, chili sauce, horseradish and salt. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in whipped cream. Fold in 1 cup reserved grapefruit sections, shrimp and celery. Turn into prepared grapefruit shells. Chill until firm. Garnish with grapefruit sections and additional whole shrimp, if desired. Serve on lettuce lined plates.

YIELD: 4 servings.
FLORIDA CAESAR SALAD
6 tablespoons salad oil
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
2 cloves garlic, halved
1/4 teaspoon salt
Coarsely ground pepper
6 cups bite-size romaine
1 cup croutons
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
4 anchovy fillets, chopped
3 grapefruit from Florida, sectioned
1 egg

In large salad bowl (preferably glass) combine salad oil, vinegar, garlic, salt and pepper. Cover with plastic wrap; let stand about one hour. Remove garlic. To serve: Into dressing, place romaine, add croutons, cheese, anchovies and grapefruit sections. Toss well. Add raw egg and toss again. Serve immediately.
YIELD: 6-8 servings.

Chinese Dish Winning Combo

This winning combination of tender beef, bok choy and onion, delightfully seasoned with brewed soy sauce, fresh ginger and garlic, clearly illustrate why Chinese stir-frying is becoming an American favorite.

STIR-FRIED GINGER BEEF AND BOK CHOY

- 3/4 pound boneless tender beef steak
- 3 tablespoons soy sauce, divided
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon dry sherry
- 1 teaspoon minced fresh ginger root
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1/2 pound bok choy cabbage or romaine lettuce
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil, divided
- 1 medium-size onion, cut into 1/2-inch strips
- 1 tablespoon slivered fresh ginger root

Cut beef across grain into thin slices. Combine 1 tablespoon soy sauce and next 4 ingredients; stir in beef. Marinate 30 minutes. Meanwhile, combine 2 teaspoons cornstarch, remaining soy sauce and 3/4 cup water; set aside. Rinse bok choy and pat dry. Cut leaves crosswise into 1-inch strips; separate stems from leaves. Heat 1 tablespoon oil in wok or large skillet over high heat. Add beef and stir-fry 1 minute; remove. Heat remaining oil in same wok. Add onion and slivered ginger; stir-fry 2 minutes. Add bok choy stems; stir-fry 1 minute. Add leaves; stir-fry 1 minute longer. Stir in beef and soy sauce mixture; cook and stir until sauce boils and thickens. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Beverage Industry Serving Yuppies Mocktails For Two

By KEN FRANCKLING
UPI Feature Writer

BOSTON (UPI) — Shots and beers, double doses of scotch-on-the-rocks, powerful cocktails that sneak up on you and beer by the pitcher are finding light company these days at bars and restaurants across America.

Concerns about drunken driving, lawsuits against bars which serve tipsy customers who get involved in accidents and the fitness craze have combined to bring a new wave of popularity to light beers, non-alcoholic beer and wine, wine coolers and an array of non-alcoholic concoctions nicknamed "mocktails." Alcoholic beverage purchases dropped in 1984 for the fifth straight year, and per capita consumption is down by more than 11 percent over the past decade. Beverage industry statistics show drinking is dropping off at a faster pace than any time since Prohibition began in 1920.

Market Watch, an industry publication, proclaimed: "A new social attitude toward alcohol is changing the way Americans drink." And a bottle of sparkling water could well replace the martini as a cocktail hour symbol.

"Because of all the adverse publicity about drunken driving, people are watching what they are drinking, and they are definitely drinking less," said Norman Kravetz, vice president and general manager of Jason's, a restaurant and bar that has become a yuppie haven in Boston's Back Bay section.

"We have taken on the California coolers, light beer, and more wine by the glass, which is lower in alcohol content," Kravetz said. "We also make frozen and ice cream drinks that come with little or no liquor."

They include Oreo Delight, Strawberry Fields, the Drinksi-cle, and Almond Joy, which Kravetz says tastes just like the candy bar. In each case, the alcohol is optional.

"They're good, but they're a little too sweet to have with a meal," said Susan Schwartz, a Jason's customer. "At night, you're more into frosty drinks."

Bartender Kevin Chase says the frosty low-alcohol drinks are most popular during happy hours, but they sell all day and all evening. "A couple of years ago, we'd see orders galore for double scotches," he said. "Now, doubles are gone. Nobody's ordering them."

Chase said the Virgin Mary, a non-alcoholic version of the Bloody Mary, has become a big seller for business lunches.

Locon Inc. of Norwood, Mass., is a beverage company specializing in low- and nonalcoholic drinks. Owners David Lowman and Paul Connors believe women, not men, hold the greatest potential for new drink products. The firm hit the market this summer with four wine coolers. The fruit juice diluted wine coolers are competing with about 50 others now in the U.S.

"Our research shows that 70 percent of the wine cooler sold in America is bought by women and that more than 20 percent of the remainder is bought with a woman in mind," Connors said.

Recognizing the same trend away from heavy alcoholic content, the Texas-based T.G.I. Friday's restaurant chain offers a special nonalcoholic drink menu, including things called the "Perfect 10" and "Summer Cyclist."

popular items, too.

Breweries have added a number of nonalcoholic brands, like G. Gelleman's Kingsbury, Schmidt Select, Zing, and Black Label Non-Alcoholic Malt Beverage; Guinness Import Co.'s Kalliber; Binding Breweries' German Clausthaler brand from Frankfurt; and Swiss Imports Mousse, Warbeck and Birell Light Brew.

Moussy is credited with starting the no-buzz beer trend when it hit the shelves in 1983. It is the largest-selling non-alcoholic beer in the country.

The U.S. Brewers Association shows shipments of domestic nonalcoholic beer grew 34 percent from 1980 to 1984, rising from 359,836 barrels to 484,032. In 1984, that amounted to three-tenths of one percent of the domestic beer market.

Light beer is still the fastest growing segment in the American beer industry and imported brands, such as Molson Light, are muscling into the market as well.

According to Peter Feron, president of Marlet Importing Co. Inc., importers of Molson beer and ale: "Light beers have experienced the most dramatic growth, a nearly 7 percent increase last year as compared to 1983. Today, light beer accounts for 20 percent of all beer sales."

Adela Tancayo-Sannella, chairman of the mixology department at Johnson & Wales College in Providence, R.I., is an instructor in TIPS (Training for Intervention Procedures by Servers of Alcohol) in which waitresses and bartenders are trained to spot potential problems and deal with intoxicated customers without creating a scene. She came up with recipes for frosty, alcohol-free drinks she calls mocktails, including a mock Pina Colada.

OREO DELIGHT
1 1/2 ounces light creme de cacao (optional)
3 crushed Oreo cookies
1/2 ounce Hershey's chocolate syrup
1 large scoop French vanilla ice cream

Blend the ingredients, top off with whipped cream, a pinch of shredded chocolate and an Oreo cookie. (From Jason's of Boston)

PERFECT PINA COLADA
3/4 cup pineapple juice
1/4 cup Coco Lopez (coconut cream)
1/4 cup mashed ripe banana
Shake or whirl in blender with ice. Garnish with cherry and orange. Makes two servings.

Catfish Is Catching On In Restaurants

ATLANTA (UPI) — With its big mouth and thick whiskers, the catfish has a face only a mother could love.

But catfish farmers throughout the South are mighty attached to the nasty-looking critters whose snow-white meat is becoming a tasty treat — and big money-maker — nationwide.

"Consumer acceptance is at an all-time high right now," said Hugh Purnell, president of the Catfish Farmers of America in Jackson, Miss. "Demand is up in every area you can think of."

This new breed of catfish is raised in environmentally controlled ponds — usually man-made — and fed scientifically balanced rations.

Catfish farming is relatively new, tracing its origins to the late 1960s, but has been making great strides in the past decade. Its greatest leap came earlier this year, when Church's Chicken, a national fast-food restaurant chain, added Southern-friend catfish to its menu.

With more than 1,200 restaurants nationwide, Church's now accounts for 25 percent of U.S. catfish production. Officials say the reception of catfish — on the heels of a $6 million Church's advertising campaign — has exceeded expectations.

"The sales have been very good, more than we expected," said Marie Horvath, a spokeswoman at Church's headquarters in San Antonio, Texas. "We're looking for catfish to stabilize at 10 percent of all our sales. It's been as high as 20 percent in some areas."

"The northern part of the country is doing better than we thought it would. In some cases, it's doing better than the South. There's little competition for catfish in the North, so it's new for them."
