

FLORIDA IS IMPROVING MANY WAYS

GREAT FRUIT COUNTRY, VEGETABLES AND STOCK RAISING.

How Florida is forging ahead is graphically told in the October number of the Real Estate Bulletin published by the Real Estate Board of New York City, by James R. Murphy of Palatka, president of Florida Farms and Homes, Inc. The Bulletin is perhaps the most influential publication of its character in the country, and anything which appears in its columns has great weight with the leading real estate men of the country. In part, Mr. Murphy's article was as follows:—

Florida is the greatest land of opportunity in the United States today for the man of industry and initiative. 35,000,000 acres of land, only about 2 per cent of which is cultivated, and with a population of about 500,000. It offers a great field of cheap land for the farmer and homeseeker.

The average man looks upon Florida as a vast wilderness of low lands and swamps, with no other industries than lumber, turpentine and orange groves. Yet this year it is estimated that the corn crop of Florida will exceed by more than a million dollars the value of the orange and grapefruit yield.

In the next few years Florida will be recognized as one of the greatest live stock states in the Union. Any one who has kept up with the trend of events and knows the tremendous demand that the necessities of the European war have made upon the live stock industry of the world knows that the production of beef and pork offers a most inviting field for profitable investment.

Florida, with its mild winters, its natural pasturages all the year round, its abundance of good water, and its growing season of from 300 to 365 days a year, possesses advantages for live stock raising that no other state can equal.

The lumber and turpentine interests and other large land owning concerns recognize this fact and are preparing to fence their land and raise live stock or lease their pastures. These interests that for so long looked upon land as merely a by-product have been awakened according to the uses to which they put it.

Near Palatka a local lumber company, combined with western capital has fenced in 800,000 acres of land on which they have 5,000 head of cattle. They have 3,000 acres in corn and velvet beans on which they will fatten their cattle for market. Aside from this they depend entirely upon natural pasture for about nine months out of the year to keep the cattle. No shelter is needed, owing to the mild winters.

The Armour Company of Chicago recognize the trend of events in Florida and are now building at Jacksonville a big packing plant with capacity of 15,000 hogs a week and from 300 to 500 head of cattle and a like number of sheep.

The tourist business is a splendid tonic in promoting the growth of the state, but it is the army of newcomers that settle on the farms every year that supply the bone and sinew for this growth. This army of homeseekers is increasing every year and will show a remarkable increase in the next few years because of the widespread cooperative movement in Florida to advertise the state's advantages and to develop its resources.

A notable movement along these lines is the Florida First advertising campaign, in which many of the cities are participating through their boards of trade and other local organizations. Funds are raised by assessing a levy of ten cents per capita of each community contributing and the little towns get the same benefit from the advertising as the large cities.

Last but not least I want to say a word about the newspapers of Florida. I doubt if any state in the Union has such a progressive, public spirited body of newspaper men. They give their columns freely to any movement for the good of their state. Their splendid talents and energies are contributed largely to build up the state's resources on broad, constructive lines. No body of men in the country do so much for their state as the press of Florida. Broad minded liberal men that they are, they never hesitate to sacrifice their own interests when it is for the good of the community. With such forces at work, Florida is bound to forge rapidly ahead.

Victor Chapman, a young American aviator who was killed last week while flying for France left an estate of a half million. With that much money it was pure love of the sport that tempted young Chapman to risk his life in the air fighting for France.

BASKETBALL FAST GAME LOCALS LOSE

SEABREEZE WAS VICTORIOUS OVER SANFORD BOYS

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew basketball team, living up to the high compliments bestowed upon them in the past played their first game of the season last Friday night, their opponents being the first Seabreeze team from Volusia county. Although defeated by a score of 17 to 16 it must be said with all fairness to the losers that a game set of boys, whether they be baseball, football or any other kind of sport would you have as scappy a bunch of youngsters as the boys who were laboring under the initials of B. S. A.

Last Friday night at the Parish House the locals as well as the Seabreeze team were laboring harder than the hardest kind of laborers would no salary attached to their evening's work, merely playing for the love of the sport and also for the honor that goes with victory, but defeated by the narrow margin of one point, to each and every player the highest tribute that can be paid they are worthy of. But no individual praise will be given for if we praise one and not all the story would be falsely written. Each and every one that attended the exhibition last Friday night will never forget this game. They can also say for twenty-five cents the best basketball I ever saw was this particular game. The B. S. A. with no hired coach to instruct them on the finer points of the game they put their confidence in their ever popular Coach, Ned Chittenden and left it up to him and on his shoulders rested the job of delivering a winner for Sanford.

And now we say after seeing the first game and the hard battle put up that we are not afraid to tackle anything in the state. The star player for Seabreeze was a young fellow who is known all over Florida as the terror of the basketball world, namely Quinn Branch. This boy delivered the same brand of ball that has made him known all over Florida, as if not the best. Another tough youngster the locals found on the Seabreeze team was Odum playing Right Guard, and the little blonde from Volusia county playing a corking good game. The baskets thrown by the locals and who threw them were Kanner, Hawkins and Laing, the two missing links, Jones and Chittenden entertaining their men in what is known in this sport as Guards and about the hardest position to fill on the team. Manager Washburn was unable to play on account of a badly cut finger. Robie Laing, the local's star center received an injury to his foot and was forced to retire in favor of Douglass Griffin who fulfilled his shoes to the best of his ability. The following players participated B. S. A.: Laing Center, Hawkins Right Forward, Kanner Left Forward, Jones Left Guard and Chittenden Captain and Right Guard; Seabreeze Branch Center, and Captain Strother Right Forward, Greene Left Forward, Odum Right Guard, and Langworthy Left Guard. Referees Washburn for Sanford and Coach Ramsey of Daytona. Time keeper, Joe Chittenden. Scorer, Phillips.

SHOLTZ AND ASSOCIATES WOULD BRIDGE AT OSTEEN FERRY

Brick roads always bring other improvements and are the forerunners of prosperity. Brick roads mean better bridges, more travel, better farm houses along the way and a general improvement throughout the length of the roads.

As soon as the brick roads of Seminole were built to the Volusia county line the ancient ferry operating at Monroe was discarded and a modern steel bridge was put across the St. Johns river connecting Volusia and Seminole counties. Michael Sholtz and his associates, recognized the fact that the stream of travel across the state would come by the brick road and the bridge would pay a dividend. Although there was some opposition at the time to the bridge the people would not now go back to the ferry service and all the attendant dangers and difficulties.

Volusia county recently had a bonding election that gave a hard surface road from the Osteen ferry to New Smyrna and now that his road will soon be in the process of building the same company that built the bridge at Monroe is desirous of building a steel drawbridge at the Osteen ferry, as they will be considerable travel at the Osteen ferry that cuts the distance to the beach considerably. In this issue of The Herald application is made by Michael Sholtz for the permit to construct a drawbridge across the upper St. Johns river.

It would be much better for the two counties to build this bridge and operate it free, but if neither of them feel like going to this expense they should grant the permit to a man who will build the bridge and thus have two good bridges across the St. Johns river and Seminole and Volusia will not only have a system of good roads but good bridges as well.

Death of Mrs. George Lovell Mrs. George Lovell died at the hospital in Jacksonville on Sunday after an operation for appendicitis. This news was received in this city Sunday and saddened the hearts of the many friends of the young couple both of whom had spent many years of their young lives here.

Mrs. Lovell was the daughter of M. D. Gatchel of this city and Gladys Gatchel had a large circle of friends, being an earnest worker in the church and popular in the younger society circles. She married George Lovell here several years ago, and they moved to Leesburg from here where Mr. Lovell had a position with the railroad. Mrs. Lovell was taken ill several weeks ago and the case being one of serious aspect she was rushed to the hospital at Jacksonville, where the operation for appendicitis was performed, but complications seemed to have set in and her death was expected for several days. She leaves a young daughter to mourn the loss of mother when she is needed most and the sympathy of a legion of friends goes out to the husband and father in his hour of affliction.

The funeral services occurred from the Baptist Temple today at ten o'clock, Rev. George Hyman officiating, interment being made in Lakeview cemetery.

KISSIMMEE COW BOYS TOO MUCH FOR CELERY FARMERS

By "Red" Davis

Sanford High and the Kissimmee High Schools met last Friday in what was known as a football game. And to tell the score is very pleasing for the writer to do, for the score was 23 to 0 in favor of Kissimmee and teams may come and teams may go but for a swell football team, and if you want to see a swell football game just take a little journey over to Kissimmee and there you will see as good a High School team as you will find in Sunny Florida. The main trouble was the Sanford boys tried to find out some weakness in the Kissimmee line up but no such weakness was in this well combined machine. The backfield of the Kissimmee club is what we call genuine "STUFF." In this backfield there happened to be a player by the name of Charles Regero who is by far the classiest thing seen on this gridiron in many seasons and when his term expires at school you can remember this same name. And in a larger school wherever he may go his work will continue to feature as has his work in bygone years. Regero made two of the touchdowns for his club and his all around work will never be forgotten. As we say again, he is about the best that has ever stepped in this "man's" town. Captain Johnson also had something to say in regards to this backfield. His work was also very noticeable from the side lines and is nearly the equal of Regero, at least his playing in this game looms him up as a worthy foe to his school mate, "Dick" Bullock, left half, also played a sterling good game, but for space we could not go down the line. But in the early part of the story is The Herald's opinion of the Kissimmee football team. Sanford displayed her usual game as in the past, the fighting spirit was there and all that. But the backfield in which so much confidence had been put, fell by the wayside, and no time during the game did they let it be known that they were there. The line played exceptionally good. The work of Robinson, Holly and Murrell featured each one of these boys displayed a high article of ball. Murrell and Holly both made some splendid tackles and their work could not be overlooked. The left side of the field was decorated with smiling faces of beautiful women or rather girls, as that sounds better, singing "Sanford Will Shine Tonight" their popular song. But some one said they will have to "Shine Tonight" for they failed to shine in this game. But the soprano voices sounded good just the same, especially the young lady that possesses the deep bass voice. The following players were in the lineup: Sanford—Packard C, Meisch L G, Meredith R G, Smith L G, Allan R T, Murrell J E, Hill R E, Cobb R E, Lipford R H, Green Captain and F B, Robinson L H, Spencer Q B, Holly R F, Kissimmee—E. Bronson, C. C. Bronson L G, Wilson R G, Singletary R T, Arnold L T, Eates R F, Bryan L E, Keffer Q B, Bullock L H, Johnson Captain and R. H. Regero F. B.

Whitner Elected Again Sanford Man is Made Member of Board on Trustees of Drainage District The following from the Jacksonville Metropolis is a well deserved compliment to Hon. J. N. Whitner of this city: "Landowners of the upper St. Johns Drainage District, the largest in the state, and upon which actual work has recently been started have re-elected J. N. Whitner of Sanford as a member of the board of trustees. The meeting was held at Titusville and was attended by a representative number of landowners of the district. In addition to the reelection of Mr. Whitner whose work has always been consistent with the best interests of the district, the landowners adopted resolutions thanking the Florida Metropolis in particular and the Florida press in general for its cooperation in drainage matters. The Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce and the East Coast Chamber of Commerce also were commended by resolution for their aid in the promotion of drainage.

Mr. Whitner was re-elected to serve a three year term. His term recently expired and there was no opposing candidate, his worth to the interests of drainage being clearly realized."

DeLand Parties Here Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hon, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Hord, Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Collins, Rev. C. H. Ferran and Carl M. Brokaw, all of DeLand were here on Sunday night coming over to hear Dr. Owens preach at the Baptist Temple. Dr. Owens was at one time pastor of the DeLand Baptist church and has a host of friends in that city.

GOVERNOR TRAMMELL AS SENATOR

WILL HAVE A CHANCE TO LAND IMPORTANT COMMITTEES

Washington, Nov. 5.—Considerable interest is being manifested here concerning the committee assignments which Governor Park Trammell will receive when he comes to Washington a little later on as the junior Senator from Florida, and takes his place with Senator D. U. Fletcher in the Upper House of Congress.

The term of Senator N. P. Bryan will expire March 4, and if there is an extra session, called soon thereafter Mr. Trammell will at once be sworn in and take his place as a member of that body. If there is no extra session, he will assume his duties at the same time but will not be sworn in until next December.

More talk is heard of the new assignments around the Navy Department, where the proposed navy yard or navy station at Tampa is discussed than anywhere else, though in a few days, with the elections out of the way and the various congressmen returning to Washington for the winter, the matter will also take form at the Capitol.

It is said that with the aptitude which Mr. Trammell has for making friends he will be especially valuable to Tampa just at this time, when that city is endeavoring to secure a navy yard, if he can land the position now held by Senator Bryan as a member on the committee on naval affairs.

When the present junior senator from Florida leaves congress there will be a vacancy on this committee. It is also noticed that Senator Johnson of Maine, already defeated for re-election, leaves this committee, as well as O'Gorman of New York, who will retire in March. This makes three opportunities that the new Florida senator has to get on this committee and work for Tampa in her efforts to secure the navy yard. Of course there are other places to which Mr. Trammell will be assigned, but it is apparent that just at this time he can be of most value not only to Tampa but to the entire state of Florida by getting on this committee and working for the location of the navy yard at Tampa.

The strong position which the Florida members of congress have taken here is shown by the fact that Senator Fletcher, who has always commanded good committee places will go to the head of the important commerce committee with the beginning of next session in December. Added to the influence which he already has, Senator Fletcher will undoubtedly be able to exercise even more of it for Florida hereafter, as the commerce committee is the river and harbor committee of the house.

Naval officers are deeply interested in securing for their committees of both the house and senate the best men to be had and frequently inquiries are made of the Tribune correspondent as to the abilities of Mr. Trammell.

These officers have been told there is not the least doubt that Mr. Trammell would fill this assignment with entire satisfaction, therefore it is not improbable that he will succeed Senator Bryan in this capacity.

ALLIES GAIN IN SMASH OF GERMANS

FIGHTING ON SUNDAY SHOWS A BIG ADVANTAGE.

London, Nov. 6.—The French troops in the Somme region of France and northeast of Verdun have again smashed the German lines hard. North of the Somme, between Les Boeufs and Sully Saillisset, to the east of the latter place and on the St. Pierre, Vaast wood sector, important gains were made in violent fighting which proceeded throughout Sunday, according to the French official communication. The attack on the St. Pierre Vaast wood, which was made from three sides simultaneously, netted the French three trenches on the northern side and the entire German positions on the southern outskirts of the wood.

To the north, despite the stormy weather, the British over a front of a thousand yards captured the hills in the neighborhood of the Butte de Warlencourt.

Keeping up their offensive in the Verdun region the French have occupied the entire village of Vaux and also the town of Damloup, which is situated a mile to the east of Fort Vaux.

Violent fighting continues to mark the operations in the regions south of Gorizia, where the Italians are endeavoring to break the Austrian lines and advance on Trieste. Fresh gains have been made by King Victor Emanuel's men on the Carso plateau, south of the Oppachiella-Castagnevizza road, and to the south of this region they are alternately bombarding the Austrian positions at Jamiano and throwing heavy infantry effectives against the town. The Vienna War Office says all the attacks at Jamiano, thus far, have broken down in front of the Austrian line, the Italians suffering heavy casualties.

In the Transylvanian Alps the Austro-Germans and Roumanians still are at deadly grips, with both sides claiming successes at various points. Berlin records the capture by the Teutonic allies of the positions in the Prahova Valley, while Bucharest asserts that the pursuit of the Teutons in the Jiu Valley continues.

There still is no news coming from the Dobrudja region of Roumania, shedding light on the situation there. Both Constanta and Mangalia, ports on the Black Sea held by the forces of the Central Powers, have again been shelled by Russian warships.

In Macedonia fighting continues along the Cerna River but no important changes in Terrain have taken place.

Small gains for the Germans on the Russian front south of Dvinsk and in Galicia and the Carpathian Mountains for the Russians are recorded in the Berlin and Petrograd official communications.

A hereditary monarchy and a constitutional government is to be established in Poland, according to a manifesto issued at Warsaw and Lublin Sunday.

Another Packing Plant Jacksonville is to add another big packing house to its industries in the immediate establishment here of a branch house of Wilson & Company of Chicago, one of the biggest concerns of its kind in the country. The site of the building, occupied for years by Sabel Brothers on West Bay street, between Broad and Clay has been secured through negotiations made by J. J. Ahern, real estate dealer.

The work of razing the old building will begin at once, and when this is completed the construction of a modern building to cost $125,000 will be commenced. The new structure will be built of stone and brick, of attractive design, adding much to the section of the city in which it is to be located. Four months will be required to complete the plant with the employment of both day and night forces. The building will have a frontage of 100 feet on Bay street and will extend from the street to the railroad yards, a distance of about 250 feet.

Chit-Chat of the Play Houses in Sanford

Dual Personality Photoplay at the Star Saturday

One of David Belasco's biggest stage successes was called "The Case of Becky." Sometimes the heroine was good, then suddenly she would become a fiend. Probably the most famous story of dual personality is "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." One of the most widely read stories in English literature is "Tribby." In it, a beautiful girl struggles under the evil, hypnotic influence of a wicked man.

With dual personality and hypnotism as his theme, and after a careful study of Dr. Morton Prince's "The Dissociation of a Personality," and other famous books by Prof. Hugh Munsterberg of Harvard University and Boris Sidis, Philip Lonergan, the scenario writer, has developed a powerful story under the title of "Saint, Devil and Woman." It has been produced by the Thanhauser Company and released as Pathe Gold Rooster play. At the Star Saturday.

Fresh from her life at convent school, the strange heroine of this powerful drama serves as plastic material for a Spaniard who, through her father's death has become executor of the estate and moulds her to his hypnotic will. Gradually the saint becomes a devil, and aided by her great wealth is a menace to humanity. Then begins a conflict—a match of minds—between a young doctor, engaged in bettering the conditions in tenement districts owned by the girl, and the man, whose evil influence has changed her habits of thought. Who will win? This is the question you will ask breathlessly up to the last few moments.

Viola Dana in New Metro Wonder-play

Viola Dana, the popular little Metro star, whose bewitching beauty and marvelous dramatic gifts have won her legions of admirers will be seen on the screen here at Star on Tuesday in "The Light of Happiness," a five part feature produced by the Columbia Pictures Corporation by the Metro program. The story was written especially for Miss Dana by John H. Collins, who also directed the screen production. Most of the scenes are laid in a small town where the action centers around a little girl left an orphan by a derelict father, and a young minister who comes to her aid against the wishes and in the face of censure from his congregation. Miss Dana is surrounded by an unusually strong supporting cast.

Clara Kimball Young

"The Dark Silence," a picture of unusual interest and timely action, featuring Clara Kimball Young, will be the attraction at the Star soon. This picture was directed by Albert Capellani and is released on the World Film Program. Its scenes are laid in France and the Anglo-French battlefields and unwind a deep romance between a man and a woman strangely separated, who, after years of mental torture come face to face with each other after a series of most trying circumstances. It is a typical Clara Kimball Young picture, and all who love this popular star will see her at her best.

"The Eye of the Night"

William H. Thompson, the veteran player who already has made three distinct appearances in Triangle plays soon will be here again when he is presented by Thomas H. Ince as the star of a heart interest drama from the pen of C. Gardner Sullivan, entitled "The Eye of the Night." In this production Thompson plays the part of an aged keeper of a lighthouse in a small village on the coast of England, and his characterization is said to be one of the most impressive of its kind ever seen on the screen.

"The Eye of the Night" narrates the simple story of a slave's mis-doing, of her struggle for existence among the narrow minded bigots in the town and of her ultimatum, is a story that the old keeper of the light—the only mortal who forgives her sin and receives her into his care—is her father. It is made powerful by the pathos of its situations and is agreeably relieved by the intermittent touches of quaint comedy.

One of the valuable assets of the play is the surpassing beauty of its scenes. Each was selected with extreme care to depict the homely picturesqueness of the coastal hamlet in which the action of the story takes place and each left itself readily to beautiful photography. Among the more vivid scenes of the piece are those which show a fierce aerial attack on the village, the war being an important incident in the plot.

Thompson is supported by Marjory Wilson, who was William S. Hart's leading woman in "The Primal Lure." Miss Wilson, it is declared has rendered a sympathetic performance of the role of the slavey and will earn new laurels by her work. Others in the cast are Thornton Edwards, J. P. Lockney and Agnes Herring. The production was directed by Walter Edwards. Lyric Friday.

Lyric Tonight

William H. Thompson, the veteran character actor, has Marjory Wilson for his leading woman in his newest Triangle play, "The Eye of the Night." She lately was seen in "The Primal Lure" with W. S. Hart. Triangle issues a timely release in "The Eye of the Night," the new play in which William H. Thompson is presented as star. It shows the mobilization of soldiers in a small English town for the present European war, and even shows the first air raid made on the east coast by German aeroplanes. Lyric Tonight.

Why Women Write Good Stories.

The average woman possesses a greater variety of character, as of wardrobe, than does the man; she can more readily lay aside or suppress some important part of her, and bring some contrasting feature into view. She carries in herself a ready wealth that is more applicable to the story than to painting or to music. Thus it is that in painting and in music she is to be passed by man with ease, but in the story, if at all, with greatest effort. —George M. Stratton in the Atlantic.

Gardening Has Many Joys.

You who have no garden are missing one of the keenest and most legitimate of the pleasures of life. If you are a happy garden enthusiast, you have, of course, made a careful study of the seed catalogues, whose name is legion, and have pictured in your mind's eye the glorious effect of a massed planting of this new flower in that little nook which has always looked a trifle bare; you have perhaps tasted in your mind as vividly as a physical taste of a moment ago, a delicious new cantaloupe or sweeter sweet corn, buttery green limas or more delicately toothsome brussels sprouts, the very thought of which arouses an anticipatory keenness of palatal delight that opens wide the flood gates of the digestive fluids. —B. Vernon Ashley in "Good Health."

Assistant to Editors.

"So you are literary?" asked the editor.
"Oh, yes," replied the applicant for work. "I inherit it; my father was assistant to a number of editors in his day."
"Indeed! What particular work did he do as assistant?"
"He was a scissors grinder."—Yonkers Statesman.

People in Books.

There is no possession people are so unwilling to let one have as an imagination. In private friends will tear a book to shreds to discover some portrait they can recognize; and in the case of authors famous enough to be dead, critics rake the ground wherever they have trod in an effort to prove that the folk of their fancy were drawn from the earth rather than the air. There seems no means of convincing a reader that in a writer's head are constantly a thousand faces he has never seen or heard of, all subtle with story, and all so real that they often make his daily waking seem a dream. —Winifred Kirkland in the Atlantic Monthly.

A DOG AND A CAT

By LOUISE OLIVER.

Madeline dipped the hot sirupy strawberries out of the big kettle on to four large platters on the table, and turned out the burners of the gasoline stove. She surveyed her mopping's work proudly.

Lifting one platter at a time in her strong, white arms, she carried them to a bench on the back deck of the houseboat on which the Cardwells spent four months every summer.

On an island a short distance below, was Greenglade, a fashionable summer resort, with an immense hotel in its center.

Madeline, leaning over the water, heard a whistle, and listened intently. "There's the steamer with the new arrivals at the dock. I wonder if Austin Maycourt, the much-expected, is among them. Here I am up to my ears preserving berries for Mother to give as Christmas gifts to our relatives next winter, and every other girl within a radius of ten miles is primping for the dance tonight."

In a few minutes, a figure in a blue silk swimming suit and rubber cap climbed to the top of the rail, gave a little spring and disappeared like a knife blade under the smooth surface of the water.

"Dray!" cried a young man in flannels, who had just appeared on the island shore unseen by the water nymph. "That was a bully dive, by George! Here Krist, come back, str!" to his dog. But Krist, a big wolf hound, was in the water headed for the boat and refused to turn.

Madeline, swimming under water, came up on the opposite bank, then turned and to her horror saw a dog swimming for dear life toward the boat. "My berries!" she cried in dismay and plunged instantly into the water again. "If he gets there first he'll ruin them!"

But the dog won the race! Just at first, he didn't see the berries, but kept sniffing around for Taj, the Persian cat, that Madeline had locked in the dining room. But giving it up as a bad job, he returned to the porch, and, lo, the berries! A long, red tongue shot out and he tasted, he lapped awhile, essayed another search for the cat, and then returned to sample another platter.

Madeline pulled herself up the steps and saw the devastation of her morning's work. She gave a little scream of dismay. "You nasty, horrid beast, get out of here! I'd like to kill you!"

"Krist, here, Krist!" And this time, being satisfied, Krist went.

Madeline went to the dance that night in a belligerent mood. "Now, dear," admonished her mother, who had returned, "be careful what you do and say."

"Oh, mother, dear, pigeonhole that particular lecture, please. That man had no business to let his dog get away. I'm sure it was Austin Maycourt, and that only makes it worse. He's spoiled and petted wherever he goes, and he thinks the king can do no wrong."

That evening Austin Maycourt asked for a dance after he had been presented, and Madeline refused, saying she was tired.

"Well, I'd rather sit it out with you anyway, if I may," he suggested. Madeline did not answer.

"I take it that silence gives consent," as he sat down. "You see, I'm anxious to find out what my dog did today."

She told him briefly and forcibly; also what she thought of the whole matter.

"But you'll let me pay for the berries, surely!" he cried in consternation. "You can settle with mother if you like, but I gave you a good game of tennis for those berries, and I can't see that you can help that much." And, do what he could, Austin could not make Madeline unbend.

The next day Madeline, armed with her racquet, turned her boat for the mainland. In the stern sat Taj, the cat. "You must be very good today, puss. Remember, you owe this vacation to the cut on your paw that I want the doctor to see. And while I'm playing tennis you must take a nap and be very quiet."

So Madeline played in a double set and Taj, with a bandaged foot, slept near by. But by and by he woke up and, feeling like exploring, slipped away unnoticed by his mistress. A row of cottages stood across the street from the court and several windows were open. Taj leaped through one of these. Then Madeline missed him.

"Puss, here, puss! Kitty, kitty, kitty! Oh, I must find him," she cried.

She left the court and gave chase to her pet. In the middle of the road she met Austin Maycourt and bowed. But before they passed Taj appeared with something green in his mouth. Austin leaped for the cat and caught him, taking a dead bird from his mouth.

"It's Peter! My pet parakeet," he cried. "We let him run over the house because he was so tame. Poor little Peter!" stroking the lifeless little bunch of feathers.

Madeline wept softly as she touched the bird. "I'm so sorry! It's all my fault. I let my cat get away. Oh, what can I do to make up for it?" "Be a little kind to me," suggested Austin promptly.

"I will," she promised. "Come over to the boat and I will give you a cup of tea."

HOBBO'S VEST HELD FORTUNE

Discarded Garment Snatched From Furnace in a Pennsylvania Hotel Just in Time.

Belford, Pa.—Twelve thousand three hundred and six dollars, the savings of a lifetime, which Tony Colombo of the East side, New York, had sewed in his vest, was saved from a blazing furnace in a local hotel by a narrow margin.

George Regovert, cellist in the orchestra at the hotel, while motoring noticed a hobo pick a piece of bread from the ground where a picnic had been held several days ago.

He had been gone only a short time when he returned hastily, crying that his savings of a lifetime were sewed in the old vest which he had discarded, and which the management of the hotel had ordered consigned to the furnace.

THEY HIT RAVENNA

ENEMY AIRMEN DROP EXPLOSIVES ON HISTORIC CITY.

Old Italian Town is Treasure-Trove for Lovers of Art—Holds Fine Examples of Byzantine Architecture.

Forty miles east of Bologna, 70 miles south of Venice, and 100 miles southwest of the Austrian naval base of Pola, says the National Geographic society, lies the ancient Italian city of Ravenna, recently bombarded by Austrian aircraft.

The importance of the port, which strongly resembled Venice in its early days, but which is now six miles from the Adriatic, dates from the time when Augustus Caesar designated it as the naval base of "the upper sea," its harbor being able to accommodate 250 ships at a time.

Ravenna's golden age came not with the Augustan era, however, but while the great Roman empire's doom was being sealed. Honorius and his remarkable sister, Galla Placidia, becoming alarmed at the steady advance of the barbarian forces from the north, transferred their court from the Eternal city to the Adriatic port, which remained the seat of government for Italy, not only during the few remaining years of the Western empire, but throughout the ascendancy of the Greek emperors.

Many of the most fascinating episodes of history are associated with the name of Ravenna, such, for example, as the tragic story of Odoacer, who wrested the realm of Italy from Orestes, in 478, and then waged bitter war against Theodoric the Ostrogoth, for many years, finally being shut up in Ravenna, where he withstood a siege of three years.

During the famous battle of Ravenna, in 1512, the picturesque Gaston de Foix completely routed the Spaniards under Cardona, but throw away his own life in the excitement of victory.

Two names which shine in the garland of Ravenna's renown are those of Italy's greatest poet and one of the four great epic writers of civilization, Dante and Lord Byron. It was in Ravenna that the founder of the modern Italian language died in 1321, and here his body is treasured in an urn, beneath a square-domed tomb.

NOTES of the DIAMOND

Oscar Stange's latest injury is a broken thumb.

The Cleveland club denies it is after Pitcher Joe Bush of the Athletics.

Because of the war in Europe the price of umpire's indicators has advanced.

Pacific Coast league batting averages show Bunny Brief leading home-run hitter of the league.

Dave Hickman will return to the Brooklyn Dodgers at the close of the North Carolina league season.

Harry Wolter was one of the best hitters on the New York Yankees when Chance was manager of that team.

Washington has a Judge playing first base. Every time he falls down there is always a place on the bench for him.

The Cleveland club seems to have made a mistake in letting go of Elmer Smith, the youngster who hits the ball so hard.

Lena Blackburne, former White Sox favorite, has been named as successor to Joe Birmingham as head of the Toronto team.

President Johnson's orders against remarks from players from the bench is even more drastic than that of President Taft.

Hank Robinson having demonstrated that he can pitch good ball, the St. Louis Cardinals decided to recall him from Little Rock.

The Detroit club will give a trial to Artie Kohler, who has been making his mark as a catcher with the Gettysburg team of the Blue Ridge league.

Certain Western league club owners have been feeling out Frank Isbell of Des Moines to see if he would accept the office of president of the league.

Baseballs being just as round in the National as they were in the Federal league, it is hard to understand Kauff's inability to hit in the parent organization.

There is this difference between playing third base for the Athletics and guarding a front position on the Somme—the man on the Somme will get a pension.

The Detroit club has purchased outfielder Jacinto Calvo from Vancouver of the Northwestern league and turned him over to San Francisco for the Coast league season.

Pitcher Bill Harrington, formerly a big card in the New England league, has joined Lynn, that club satisfying the Denver claim to him.

The Boston Braves have another outfielder. He is Fred Bailey. Mike Kahoe dug him up for Stallings out of Washington and Zoo university.

of the Democratic Executive Committee:

I have had no part in the recent Democratic primary or in the contests which followed it. It is my firm conviction, however that, that it is the duty of Democrats to support the nominees of the party as determined by the supreme court of Florida; the final action of the state canvassing board and endorsed by the state Democratic executive committee. The supreme court and the state committee are the final and only tribunals to determine disputes as to the results of primary elections, and their conclusions are binding upon the party. The life of the Democratic party depends upon the ready acceptance by every Democratic candidate and voter of the results of the primary election as determined by the existing law and the highest authorities of the party. Not only the success, but the continued existence of the present system of white Democratic primaries depends upon the loyalty of the members of the organization. Therefore, it is my purpose to vote for every candidate of the Democratic party nominated at the June primaries as determined by the decisions of the supreme court, the final action of the state canvassing board, and the endorsement of the state Democratic executive committee.

THE COURT OF CRITICISM

Why censure, condemn, or even criticize

The faults you may find in another? Just take out the beam found in your own eye.

Then the mote will leave that of your brother.

You talk of his weakness, follies and sins;

He has them—this is doubtless true.

But here is a question I'd like to propound—

What sort of a fellow are you?

The court of criticism is presided over by Judge Censure, its prosecuting attorney is Lawyer Malice, its testimony is rumor and its chief witness is "They Say."

It holds its session in Evil Hall and its business is to traduce and malign. Envy and pride are the detectives who work up the cases, and the verdict is always "Guilty," for anything desired can be proved by the star witnesses. Within its jurisdiction there is not such a thing as innocence. What "They Say" cannot testify to as an eye witness he can prove by circumstantial evidence.

"They Say" would rather drag forth from its closet a "family skeleton" than to point to monuments erected in honor of virtue and valor. He is a feature which feasts on scandal and stupefied with the poison of jealousy and hate.—Galveston, Texas, News.

THE GLARING HEADLIGHTS

In spite of columns after columns which have been written both by the state press and by national organs, there seems to be but little abatement of the strong headlight nuisance. Especially on the country road the danger of blinding headlights continues to manifest itself. Automobile owners who ride behind these glaring rays of light evidently do not realize the full dangers which they are contributing to. In the city and in the country the danger is equally great. Automobile drivers who are more considerate are constantly confronted with the possibility of serious injury or death from their less considerate roadusers. Dimmers cost but a small sum and it is reasonable to expect that every man who can afford an automobile with a powerful light can certainly afford to buy dimmers. No powerful light should ever pass another car undimmed. It is unfair to the other fellow. He is unable to see. He is almost totally blinded by the on-coming light and unless he brings his car to a complete stop he is in danger. Even when he brings his car to a stop he is in danger.

The next legislature should give early attention to a statute covering the operation of cars whose owners are unconscientious of their fellowman. It should be a violation of a state law to run cars without proper dimmers when the headlights are powerful. Cities should pass ordinances regulating the operation of cars within the corporate limits.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

THE BANK MAN

In practically every bank there is a man whose face is as familiar to the public as the village doctor, the minister or the postmaster. He has been with the bank, it may be, since he was a boy, grew up with it, and will probably die in its service. He is usually so regular in his habits that you can set your watch by him. He waits on the window, interviews the borrowers, makes out reports, hears the tale of distress, offers advice and straightens out tangled family and financial affairs. He has well been termed the bank's "department of mercy."

You may sometimes call him by his first name, and he will probably call you by yours. He is often the bank, and you know the bank as "Mr. So and So's bank. You have every confidence in him because you have known him so long. He is worthy of that confidence.

This man is a conservative. It is his business to keep the bank safe. In a great many cases he passes on the loans, buys the securities, and has the general management of the bank, reporting to the board to whom he is responsible. You can well afford to take your problems to him; for he can help you. He has handled millions for the bank, it may be without losing a dollar. He can give you good advice.

Whenever you contemplate buying a piece of real estate, ask his opinion—he knows values in your town. If you are thinking of buying a bond, or some stock, ask him to guide you, for it may be he is a bond expert—some bank men are. If you have a proposition that looks rosy to you, seek him out and ask him if he would take it for the bank. He will probably say no and you can afford to do likewise. When troubles come, consult him.

He is the executive and clerical head of the bank. Every detail passes under his eye. He is jealous of his bank and its reputation. It is his life work. He is fairly well paid, sure of his job, gives it his best attention and stands in the role of servant to whomsoever would use his good offices without pay and hope of reward. He is a gentleman of honor, of fine distinctions, high ethical standards, clean life and helpful inclinations. You do well to know him, and cultivate his friendship. He can help you in many ways.—American Bankers' Association.

the club by the presence of these distinguished guests.

Mrs. Stevens was first introduced and gave a splendid report of the ten days' meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, held in New York last May. Touching upon the work of the various departments and states she introduced a vividness of description, a touch of humor and interesting phases from arrival of the delegates in New York to departure that held her audience entranced. The state work along educational lines as given by Mrs. Stevens shows some of the most remarkable developments in woman's influence for education. "Sanitation, vocational training, household economics, good roads and prison reforms," said Mrs. Stevens, were discussed by some of the greatest celebrities in America before those 20,000 women at that great convention.

The charming personality of Mrs. Stevens and her pleasing conversational manner in giving her report, made a delightful impression upon her auditors.

Mrs. Browne was next introduced and gave an interesting and pleasing account of the pleasure side of the Convention dwelling upon the courtesy shown the Florida delegation and briefly telling of the social affairs given in honor of the delegates.

Miss Brotherson was introduced as the baby of the convention, being the youngest member in that vast number of delegates, young, old and middle aged that assembled in New York. The little lady, however courteously declined making a report having come unprepared and not understanding that she would be called upon.

Mrs. Deane Turner then took the chair while Mrs. Galloway, the representative of the Sanford Club at the Biennial meeting gave a brief and charming resume of her impressions of the wonderful meeting upon that first night, when thousands of brilliant cultured women gathered in the beautifully decorated armory to begin the serious work of the ten days ahead of them. Mrs. Galloway emphasized the betterment of conditions, especially the betterment of conditions for the child at the home.

Preceding these interesting reports Mrs. Lucille Asplnwall Takach rendered with her usual brilliancy two charming vocal selections, playing her own accompaniment. These included "War" (James Rogers) and "Ecstasy" by Walter Rummel.

At the conclusion a rising vote of thanks was tendered the ladies from DeLand, after which an informal social period was enjoyed.

Business Meeting

Promptly the business of the club was dispatched, preceding the Biennial reports on Wednesday afternoon, the various reports from officers, chairmen of committees showing an encouraging activity through out the club, with suggestions offered for the increase of club membership by the membership chairman; the donations of magazines for the rest room and distribution by the Welfare Department. The president again called attention to the enforcement of the rule for non attendance, stating that names will be posted beginning at the December business meeting.

Snapshots From the Report of Mrs. Stephens
The watchword of the General Federation is "Unity."

There are over two million women in the Woman's Clubs of America.

Illinois has more women enrolled in the Women's Clubs of the state than there are soldiers in the United States Army.

Kentucky club women maintain one thousand moonlight schools in the mountain districts for the education of the people who cannot attend day school.

Georgia, Louisiana and Alabama are concentrating on the compulsory education law.

It is the ambition of the club women of the south to wipe out illiteracy in the southern states by 1920.

Nebraska women maintain portable schools, while Dakota concentrates her efforts to lighten the drudgery of farmers' wives.

Club women of the north and east maintain vocational training schools for everything, teachers, nurses, departments of business except cooks, laundresses and housewives.

Florida delegates in an effort to dodge literature that almost submerged them, escaped through side doors of convention halls but on one occasion found a man dispensing literature from a huge box who thrust it upon them. It proved to be literature advertising Miami.

Moral—Advertise and boost for your home town.

Local Club Notes

Members who were absent from the business meeting are requested to send in their dues, as the club treasury is depleted and funds are needed to meet obligations and expenses for a big year's work.

The rest room is now open and in charge of Madame Harriet.

Seek Aid From Books.
There is a growing tendency in modern business to make the utmost use of reference books and authoritative publications. This attitude is not only reflected by the management of large organizations, but even among the men themselves, who look to books and periodicals to aid them in their work. Many of the more progressive manufacturing firms have installed reference libraries in charge of skilled librarians for the use of their staff.

Affection a Heavenly Gift.
How sacred, how beautiful, is the feeling of affection in pure and selfless bosoms! The proud may sneer at it, the fashionable may call it futile, the selfish and dissipated may affect to despise it; but the holy passion is surely of heaven, and is made evil by the corruptions of those whom it was sent to bless and preserve.—Mordaunt.

Uncle Eben.

"People is gittin' so suspicious," said Uncle Eben, "dat you can't be polite to a stranger wifout his takin' alarm dat you's gineter try to sell him somethin'."

Boys' Athletics

Last Friday we had our first foot ball game. The game itself was written up by "Red" Davis, but we refer to it because it was a scrappy, hard fought game. Although Sanford was greatly outclassed by St. Augustine in weight and experience, she made up for it in fighting ability.

After the game the St. Augustine boys retired to the Empire Hotel, and there between the hours of eight and ten-thirty several of the girls and football players of Sanford met and had a good time.

St. Augustine's quarterback, who was injured in the last play was well enough to return home Saturday morning.

Our next game will be this afternoon at three o'clock, between Sanford and Kissimmee High. As near as we can gather from reports Kissimmee has a moderately light team, but it is full of fight, just as we are, so we predict that this will be the fastest game of the season at Sanford.

Robert Greene.

Locals

Although we did not carry off the laurels at Friday's game yet the St. Augustine Giants did not need an adding machine to add up their score. We have a team which any team might be proud of and we are sure they will win the return game. Let's support our boys!

Rosamond Radford received a box of Nunnally's for selling the most tickets for the St. Augustine game. All agree that Nunnally's are fine.

The whole school has the charge of the selling of tickets for the game with Kissimmee on November 3.

We think it would be wise for the school board to install iron cages in which to keep the wild animals necessary for use in science classes. Wednesday afternoon, in chemistry got loose out of its paper bag, thereby causing a panic among the Senior girls. Climbing was the feature of the day. Most of the girls occupied grand stand seats on the backs of chairs. Ruth Hand especially shows much agility in acrobatic stunts with two chairs. It was only through the heroic efforts of the wounded William Runge that the dangerous reptile was captured. Soop after it drowned its troubles in alcohol.

This marks the end of the first month of school. A large number of course were entered on the honor roll. Watch the paper.

Eat Fruit.

Disease germs are ever present in the mouth, throat, stomach, and bowels. If these germs can be destroyed by such agreeable medicine as fresh apples, peaches, pears, grapes, strawberries and raspberries, blackberries, currants and other similar fruits, why should we not partake of them freely, thus avoiding doctors' bills?

Reclining Good for Digestion.

According to a French scientist, digestion proceeds more swiftly when persons are recumbent than when erect because in the process of evolution the stomach has not advanced as rapidly as other organs.

honored place of his own among the various interesting features of the evening's entertainment. The success of the affair is due largely to the committees in charge who were, for entertainment, Mrs. Hurt, Mrs. Peters, Mrs. O'Connor and Alma and Lillian Goertz; decorating committee, Mrs. O'Connor, Mrs. Peters, Miss Eugenia Muller and Mrs. Hurt; while the delicious refreshments were in the hands of Miss Auranka Takach, Mrs. Berner and Mrs. Schell.

The witch was cleverly portrayed by Mrs. T. L. O'Connor and Mrs. Mrs. W. H. Peters was the gruesome ghost.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gwynn Fox are rejoicing in the birth of a little son who arrived Wednesday, Nov. 1st. He will be called Walter Gwynn, Jr.

Silver Teas

The first of the silver teas to be given for the benefit of the piano fund, by members of the Music Department was held at the home of Mrs. Mobley on Monday afternoon and was a delightful success socially and financially.

Personal Mention

Mr. A. B. Hayes of Portland, Me., who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. R. L. Griffin left on Wednesday for home.

Mrs. Henry McLaulin left yesterday to visit friends in Macon, Ga.

Mrs. S. C. Holland, Miss Helen Holland and Mrs. M. L. Nichols of Springville, N. Y., arrived on Monday to spend the winter and will be the guests of Mrs. J. N. Whitner.

Mrs. Wm. Stevens, Mrs. D. E. Browne and Miss Martha Brotherson motored over from DeLand on Wednesday and were the guests of the Woman's Club.

Delegates to the C. E. convention at St. Cloud this week, who will represent the Presbyterian society from this city will be Miss Bessie Long, Miss Virginia Smith and Mr. R. H. Muirhead. There will be several cars that will be filled with members that will go for the day on Saturday.

Miss Mell Whitner returned Monday from Washington, D. C.

Mr. A. L. Wilcox has arrived from Akron, Ohio and will assist Mr. Henry McLaulin, the jeweler. Mrs. Wilcox is expected to arrive within a few weeks.

Mrs. M. L. Goodhue returned Tuesday from Cincinnati, Ohio, where she has been visiting for several months.

These informal small affairs are very enjoyable, serving to bring the club members together socially and at the same time being the means of raising funds for an excellent purpose.

Mrs. M. C. Tolar is expected home today after a visit of several weeks with her sons in Live Oak and also to relatives in Valdosta, Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Brady and family expect to leave shortly for Waco, Texas, where they will make their future home.

BASKET BALL TONIGHT

Sanford and Seabreeze Will Play Fast Game

The B. S. A. Basketball team will play the fast Seabreeze team tonight at the Parish house, the game will be called promptly at 8:00 o'clock sharp and the nominal fee of 25 cents will be charged. It has been said before it is doubtful in the minds of the "wise ones" if Sanford has ever had such a collective array of talent as the team which is representing the Brotherhood for the season of 1916 and '17.

Under the capable leadership of Ned Chittenden and Harold Washburn the boys have been thoroughly coached and from the workouts both leaders are satisfied with the outcome. The boys are determined to deliver the goods, for they all realize that the Sanford people are few in this world that want the best or nothing and with such as it is each player will be in the game from start to finish, barring accident.

The Seabreeze team which will be their opponents we know nothing of, except by reports and hearsays and they must have a corking good team or the locals will sure put a crimp in their reputation which they now hold.

The New York Times of last Sunday, commenting on basketball says that basketball is fast gripping the fans of the larger eastern cities and that the coming season has found the south adopting this sport as the winter sport. So every one come out and encourage the home boys. No paid men and all locals so you can rest assured that if any errors are made you will live to see the boys to tell them what you think of them. Being the first game you can expect just as good a game as if the boys were in midseason form, for each and every player has been at practice. So all come, and remember the boys are all locals and as you know, the fan makes the game and without the fans at the games the sport cannot go on. The following players will be selected from for the first game: Jones, Chittenden, Washburn, Hawkins, Spencer, Laing, Griffin, Murphy and Kanner.

"Red" Davis.

Up-to-Date Business System.

No longer is it regarded as good management to count uniform pieces one by one in manufacturing plants. Scales especially constructed for the purpose are now being employed for counting material of like units. Not only is the weighing machine more accurate because it substitutes simple manual operation and the highest degree of mechanical precision for the complicated mental figuring and inaccuracies of other systems, but it counts from 100 to 1,000 per cent faster than the timeworn methods.

North and South. In 1861 the real estate value of the southern states was under $2,000,000,000, while that of the northern states exceeded $5,000,000,000. The banking capital of the South was $47,000,000, that of the North $330,000,000. The imports of the South in 1860 were $31,000,000, of the North for the same year $331,000,000. The white population of the seceding states was 6,000,000, of the North 21,000,000.

Awaiting Its Time.

One age cannot comprehend another; there, too, it takes time to disengage, subordinate, eliminate. Truth of this sort is not the elaboration of one keen or strong mind, but of the secret experience of many; nihil sine aetate est, omnia tempus expectant. "Nothing is without its age and date; all things wait for their time."—Dean Church.

Hon. Daniel T. Gerow
JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS, 4TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT OF FLORIDA

A vote for Daniel T. Gerow for Congress is a vote for the best business interest of the State of Florida.

Mr. Gerow believes in a tariff that will afford protection to all Florida grown and manufactured products, whenever the price on same is affected by foreign competition.

He believes that the place for children, until they are at least fourteen years of age, is in the public schools, and that laws prohibiting their employment in manufacturing plants should be made effective, especially when such employment has a tendency to reduce the wages of adults employed in like interests.

He believes in liberal appropriations for Government buildings, in the improvement of harbors, deepening of rivers, the opening and maintenance of inland waterways, including drainage canals, and will work earnestly for same.

He believes that the general government should take over the drainage projects of the State and complete the same as they have done with irrigating projects in Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico, and other western states.

He is against the indiscriminate admittance of foreigners as citizens of the United States, and will support legislation preventing same.

If elected he will serve the people of the Fourth Congressional District and State of Florida in every way possible.

Auction Bridge
An interesting program of auction was played on Monday afternoon with Mrs. B. W. Herndon at her charming home on Park avenue. There was a suggestion of Hallowe'en in the attractive decorations, the favors and tally cards. The membership of the club has been increased to thirteen, which will include three tables of players and the hostess hereafter. Much regret has been expressed at the resignation of Mrs. Norma King McLaulin from this and other clubs. Mrs. R. A. Newman won the prize and was presented with a very lovely centerpiece of Madeira embroidery. The new members are Mrs. R. R. Deas, Mrs. F. J. Gonzales, Mrs. E. P. Morse, Mrs. R. C. Bower, Mrs. Geo. D. Bishop and Mrs. F. E. Roumillat. Other members are Mrs. Newman, Mrs. E. M. Galloway, Mrs. A. P. Connelly, Mrs. C. M. Vorce, Mrs. S. Puleston, Mrs. Frank Miller and Mrs. Herndon. Substituting for Mrs. Deas and Mrs. Miller on Monday were Mrs. Forrest Lake and Mrs. W. J. Thigpen. A salad course was served at the conclusion of the game.

In Honor of Mrs. Hurley
A pretty farewell party was given last Friday afternoon by Mrs. W. T. Braddy and Mrs. A. M. Phillips at the home of the former in honor of Mrs. J. G. Hurley who is leaving the neighborhood to make her home in another part of the city. The porch was transformed into a bower of green and gold with ferns and golden rod while the living room was lovely with quantities of pink Love's Wreath and asparagus plumosa. The ladies were invited to bring their sewing and the hours were spent in delightful informality. Invited to meet Mrs. Lurley were Mrs. A. E. Hill, Mrs. R. L. Griffin, Mrs. T. W. Williams, Mrs. H. H. Hill, Mrs. Jack Adams, Mrs. Edward Lane, Mrs. Ed. Higgins, Mrs. Fred Williams, Mrs. Henry McLaulin, Mrs. R. Pattin, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. A. L. Myers, Mrs. Wm. Gillen, Mrs. Alice Holt and Mrs. A. E. Phillips.

Birthday Party
Mrs. G. W. Venable entertained on Wednesday evening, Oct. 25th in honor of her niece, Miss Nell O'Carne of Orangeburg, S. C. The house was decorated in yellow autumn flowers. Four tables of cards were arranged, and after playing for an hour, the hostess served delicious ice cream and cake. A beautiful white birthday cake with candles was in the center of the dining table. The candles were blown out by the honoree and the cake was cut by each guest. Mr. Harry Walker cut the dime, Mr. Harry Eckels the thimble and Mr. Geo. Venable the ring.

The guests all enjoyed a "Rose Garden Contest," the prize, a box of candy being won by Miss Katherine Aycocke and Mr. Hugh Tillis. The booby prize, a hickory nut, was won by Miss Annie Anderson.

Another contest where they tried to make as many words as possible out of the word "peanut" was won by Mr. Harry Walker, who was awarded a blue ribbon peanut.

Those invited were Misses Katherine Aycocke, Annie Anderson, Lucille Denton, Helen and Mabel Anderson, Alma, Clara and Lily Goertz, Edna Williamson, Gussie Tillis and Annie Weeks; Messrs. O. and H. Weeks, Ray Maxwell, Hugh Tillis, Harry Walker, Luther Williamson, Ben Taylor, Oscar Speer, Roby Laing, Z. Eckels and Percy Packard. Miss O'Carne received many beautiful birthday remembrances. Mrs. Venable was assisted by Mrs. Bell and Mrs. E. E. Hogan.

Hallowe'en Party
Mr. and Mrs. F. Campbell gave a beautiful Hallowe'en party on Tuesday evening at their home on the west side. The driveway and screened front porch were hung with Jack 'o lanterns, and the interior of the charming bungalow was hung with the regulation Hallowe'en symbols—bats, witches and cats, the color scheme being black and yellow. When the guests assembled they were conducted in couples to a dim, curtained alcove, where a witch in a gay colored robe and high hat told their fortunes from their palms.

A series of progressive games followed. There were five tables and the winning couples progressed when the time was called. At the first table was an apple race, on the order of an old fashioned potato race. At the second table was a peanut race, similar to the first. At the third was a peanut jab; at the fourth each contestant raced to pick up 24 beans each with toothpicks. The last table was the funniest of all, where each couple chewed a string with a raisin tied in the middle.

When the contest was over it was found that Mrs. R. C. Maxwell and Mrs. John Hunter had received the most punches and they were awarded a lovely box of candy.

Delicious refreshments consisting of pumpkin pie, cheese sandwiches and apples were then served.

Mrs. Campbell was assisted in entertaining and serving by Mrs. F. S. Greene. At intervals, while refreshments were being enjoyed ghosts appeared at the windows and as suddenly disappeared. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Campbell and little daughter, Bettina, Mrs. R. C. Maxwell, Mrs. Joe Meisch, Mrs. F. L. Greene; Miss Virginia Smith, Frances Leavitt, Esther Woodburn, Ruth, Gertrude and Ercel Little, Isabel Raynor, Booth; Messrs. Joe Meisch, C. F. Brannon, F. L. Greene, John Huber, E. Hunter, Victor Greene, Robert Greene, E. J. Wilson, J. W. Booth and Rev. E. D. Brownlee.

Catholic Hallowe'en Party
All the traditions of Hallowe'en were suggested at the party given on Monday night by the Altar Society at the Parochial Hall where the guests enjoyed Hallowe'en games and fun of a wholesome sort. The hall was crossed from corner to corner and side to side with festoons of black and yellow, while Jack-o' lanterns shed their ghostly glow upon the scene. Particularly noticeable among these was the large yellow half moon-face which attracted much attention. Fetching black cat, grotesque little Brownies and pumpkin faces added much to the decorations. Cosmos were banked on the piano and windows and doors outlined with cedar 'and golden rod. Albeit many of the grotesque features of Hallowe'en were much in evidence, the decorations were really beautiful and artistic. In one far corner the witches den was most popular for here was the fortune teller, a descendant of the witch of Endor, where the curious crowd could learn of their future.

Just before entering the door one was met by a spook in ghostly apparel, that heralded the fun and frolic behind the closed doors. There were all sorts of amusing Hallowe'en games, such as "spiking pe-nuts," "bobbing for apples," "biting for marshmallows" and last but not least the exciting fun of biting apples strung across the hall. This was a game for two that brought forth gales of merry laughter. The "Little Cobbler of Leprecon" was a unique character, cleverly drawn by Mrs. T. L. O'Connor that held an
