Cheshire Says Internal Probe Clears His Office of Financial Mismanagement

By Diane Petryk
Herald Staff Writer

A three-month internal probe of financial practices within the Seminole-Brevard State Attorney's office has ended with State Attorney Douglas Cheshire announcing the probe has cleared the office of all allegations of financial mismanagement or impropriety.

Cheshire sent a report on the investigation to state comptroller Gerald Lewis last month and said Tuesday the comptroller, who originally asked Cheshire to explain some of his spending practices, made an "unqualified acceptance" of his explanations.

In a letter to Cheshire dated June 22, Lewis said he appreciates the "professional spirit and cooperation exhibited by your office in addressing the issues in such a positive manner."

"I am gratified that our report was helpful to you as a tool to improve management practices. Please let me know if we may be of further assistance."

Cheshire said his report confirms his original statements concerning the areas of criticism: "very expenditure... all statutory requirements and existing regulations as was borne out by the Comptroller's Office's unqualified acceptance of my response."

In March, Auditor General Ernest Ellison released a report criticizing Cheshire's office for not maintaining proper records in fiscal 1981 and 1982 on travel and personnel practices.

It also said office furniture and vehicles purchased could have been of a more conservative variety.

At a press conference in Sanford on Tuesday, Cheshire said his staff is now making a greater effort to document travel expenditures by keeping better logs. Also, time records for personnel will be stricter.

He also specifically pointed out that his office has "never possessed" a custom mahogany desk as was mentioned by Lewis' staff as an illustration of an analogous sense.

Following the Auditor General's criticisms, Lewis slapped Cheshire with a demand that he explain his practice of spending more than half his annual budget during the last three months of the fiscal year.

Lewis said Cheshire spent 63.8 percent of his 1981 budget during the last three months, 28 percent in the last month alone. In 1982, he said, Cheshire spent 43.5 percent of his budget in the last month.

Cheshire defended that practice Tuesday, saying it is not unusual because state departments "live on a year-to-year hand-to-mouth basis."

"There is no provision (for state government departments) for a rainy day fund or investing dollars," Cheshire explained.

That's why a state agency "rushes to spend money at the end of the fourth quarter," he said.

"They realize if they don't buy now they may be prohibited from buying in the future."

Money not utilized at the end of a budget year goes back to Tallahassee, he said.

"There's no provision for saving or carry over money."

Cheshire said he expects to return $40,000 to $70,000 to the state this year in funds confiscated in drug busts.

Patient Transfer May Bring Suit For Doc, CFRH

Sanford's for-profit hospital and a taxpayer-supported hospital in west Volusia County appear to be engaged in a game of patient ping-pong with those who need hospital care and cannot pay.

At stake in the game are tens of thousands of dollars in hospital care fees that sometimes prompt the facilities to toss a patient between them like a hot potato.

The game intensified a few days ago when Sanford surgeon Dr. Kenneth Wing, affiliated with Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, was served with legal papers preliminary to a lawsuit being considered by West Volusia Memorial Hospital in DeLand.

West Volusia Memorial Hospital attorney Bill Sherman filed a petition in Seminole County Circuit Court asking for legal permission to obtain the testimony of Dr. Wing in reference to a patient transfer from CFRH to WVMH three months ago.

The patient arrived, unannounced, at the West Volusia facility March 23. After a 49-day stay for skin grafts he left behind an $11,321 bill.

West Volusia hospital officials are seeking to recover that money from Central Florida Regional.

Dr. Wing was the 42-year-old patient's physician during his two-day stay in the Sanford facility.

Dr. Wing, who said he cannot comment on the case at this time because of the pending litigation, did talk about it about a month ago when reports of the controversial transfer were first made public. He said he was asked by the emergency room physician on duty at the time if he would accept the patient.

Since it is not his practice to ask patients if they have money as a criteria for accepting them for patients, he said, he agreed.

The man needed skin grafting on his leg. Dr. Wing said during the man's first day in the hospital he took care of an infection on the leg so that the skin grafting surgery could proceed.

Meanwhile, according to CFRH Administrator Jim Tesar, hospital officials were trying to qualify the man for financial aid under a number of programs.

Dr. Wing said the operating room charges are between $300 and $500 per hour.

Tesar said the patient didn't qualify as an indigent under Seminole County rules because he was not a Seminole County resident. He gave a DeLand address to hospital admitting officers, Tesar said.

Tesar said the man did not qualify under Medicaid or Medicare, either.

Since he was a DeLand resident, "and West Volusia Memorial Hospital is a taxing district which taxes residents to pay for care of indigents," it was determined the patient belonged there, Tesar said.

West Volusia hospital officials have contended all along, however, that the man is a resident of Roanoke, Va., and was improperly transferred to West Volusia Memorial.

WVMH Administrator Larry Welch reportedly said Central Florida officials should have kept the patient.

But when they discovered they were "stuck" with a non-paying patient, Welch is reported as saying, they decided upon the transfer.

West Volusia hospital administrators, according to their attorney, have vowed to change what they see as a "pattern" of CFRH's transferral of patients to them.

"We have a responsibility to both physician and patient to make them aware of the finances of health care," Tesar said.

But, he said, the man would not have been transferred if he and his physician had not agreed to the transfer.

In addition, West Volusia Memorial should have been informed that the man was on his way before he got there, Tesar admitted.

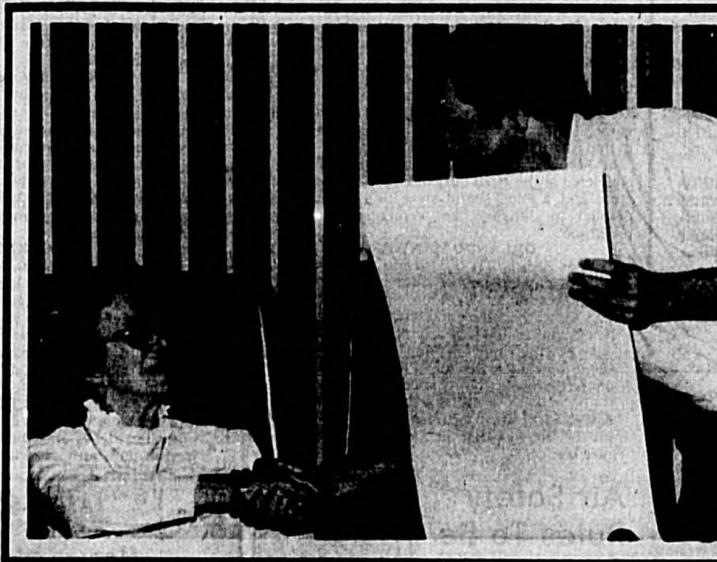

"That was apparently a breach of protocol,"

But, Tesar said: "Since I have been hospital administrator we have never knowingly dumped a patient and we never will."

As for the breach of protocol, Dr. Wing said he attempted to call an attending physician at the west Volusia facility but the physician was in surgery. Later when the man was transported Wing was in surgery.

According to a surgeon at CFRH,

Civil Service Board Upholds Firing

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford Civil Service Board on a 4-1 vote at the conclusion of a lengthy meeting Tuesday night upheld the city's firing of a utility plants division employee on April 6.

The action overturned a previous decision in early May of the board and ended the stormy 39-month employment by Sanford of Bernard Mitchell.

Mitchell's entire work record, including various disciplinary actions by superiors in three different city utility departments, were reviewed in detail before the board voted to concur with his termination.

Even Gordon Frederick, who cast the one negative vote in Tuesday night's proceeding, said Mitchell "leaves a lot to be desired" as a city employee.

At issue was an early May hearing on Mitchell's firing for insubordination and "disgraceful conduct," a term given as an acceptable reason for dismissal in the city's civil service board rules, when the board decided to exclude the additional charge of Mitchell's troubled work record.

Four members of the board — Dr. John Darby, chairman, William McQuatters, Donald Jones and Dr. Luis Perez — agreed Tuesday night to consider Mitchell's overall work record. Frederick, however, held fast to his position that the overall work record should not be an issue.

He insisted that Mitchell had been reprimanded or disciplined for each infraction of city policy during his city career, including a

30-day suspension without pay handed down by the Civil Service Board and that "in our system, once tried, convicted and punished we don't (use that record to) do it again."

The board members reversed their decision on Mitchell's termination when they considered his entire work record.

Newspaper settles suit with Civil Service Board. See Page 3A

Of Mitchell's indication that he still wants to work for the city, Frederick said it is obvious the city doesn't want him and indicated he was puzzled "why in the hell he (Mitchell) does."

McQuatters made the motion finding "Mitchell guilty of insubordination" and finding that Mitchell's work record is sufficient to sustain the city's dismissal. An earlier motion by Frederick that the board determine that Mitchell was fired without cause died for lack of a second. Frederick filed his separate detailed opinion in the case.

City Attorney Bill Colbert introduced 19 exhibits against Mitchell detailing his infractions of city policy. Those infractions included collecting cash payments from some city water customers whose service he was to shut off; personally granting additional time to utility customers who were delinquent in paying utility bills but whom he knew; his battles with supervisors that included calling one supervisor a "village idiot" in the presence of citizens and other employees while on the job; speeding in a city vehicle; and refusing to obey orders of supervisors.

Three different supervisors testified that while Mitchell was a hard worker, he has difficulty communicating with supervisors and others.

All the supervisors said they counseled Mitchell and tried to help him correct his communications problems to improve himself.

Mitchell, meanwhile, said he was not guilty of "disgraceful conduct" nor of being insubordinate. "I'm a hard worker but everytime I opened my mouth to question, I got slapped with disciplinary action," he said. "I don't know what to say; I'm beyond words."

Mitchell said that he didn't feel he had been in trouble with the city, but believed he was misunderstood. Asked if he felt "anyone had been out to get you," Mitchell said, "No."

Dr. Perez asked Mitchell, if he got his city job back, "Do you think you could keep your mouth shut, rather than get disciplinary action?" Mitchell responded that he asked questions so he could understand.

In his closing statement, Mitchell said he felt like a child who was continually beaten without being told why.

He also told the board that he relied on his early May decision overturning his city firing and had quit a job he held at that time in preparation for returning to the city. "If you had found me guilty before, I would still have my job," he said.

Fearing for its own future, Sanford plans to limit the amount of water it sells to communities outside the city, forcing these areas to come up with their own solutions to ongoing water needs brought on by continued development. Story on page 6A.

SEEDCO Projects Opposed

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole Employment and Economic Development Corporation got more bad news Tuesday, this time from Seminole County commissioners.

Commissioners voted unanimously Tuesday not to recommend federal funding for three projects sponsored by SEEDCO. The commissioners' action will be forwarded to officials from the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council who are reviewing the requests for a total of $2.7 million in federal funds.

ECFRPC officials said negative reviews at any stage of the review process make it much more difficult for a grant to receive funding. Commissioners said they would not recommend the grant applications for funding because the applications are no different than ones that were submitted for funding last year. County officials said much of the information in the applications is incomplete.

SEEDCO officials refused to comment on the commission action.

Although the commission action does not eliminate the SEEDCO applications from consideration for funds, their failure to recommend the projects must come as a blow to SEEDCO officials who were harshly criticized by federal officials in an audit released last week.

The federal report issued last week said SEEDCO has been unable to develop profitable businesses due to recurring internal management problems. Federal agencies are trying to recover $300,000 from SEEDCO ventures to restore a SEEDCO grant made for small business development and are trying to recover $125,000 of an unspent grant for support of a local credit union. The audit report also claims that SEEDCO recently defaulted on a $2.6 million Rural Development Loan, about $600,000 of which was used to fund an unsuccessful amphibious aircraft business venture.

SEEDCO is asking for an additional $1 million in federal funds for continued development of the amphibious airplane. International Aeromarine Corp., has received a $600,000 grant from the federal Community Services Administration in addition to the funding from the Rural Development Loan.

SEEDCO's application for the funds says that $250,000 in private investments has also been raised for the project which if successful, would employ about 70 people initially and eventually increase to 100 jobs when the planes entered full-scale production.

Joseph Gurnow, president of International Aeromarine, said this week his company has been dormant for the past 18 months because it has been unable to attract additional funds. The company's plant on Silver Lake Drive in Sanford has remained open despite the failure to further develop the amphibious planes, Gurnow said.

The company would need to sell 63 planes per year to break even, the application said. SEEDCO officials said the marketing emphasis of the plane will be in foreign countries.

County commissioners have said previously that the

Illegal Worker-Inmate Trades Investigated

CRESTVIEW (UPI) — An investigation has indicated at least a dozen Okaloosa County workers took part in an alleged scheme to trade drugs and stolen tools with prison inmates for food and clothing, officials say.

Authorities planned to issue arrest warrants on dealing in stolen property charges against 12 to 15 employees later this week, Okaloosa County Sheriff Larry Gilbert said.

The employees included four supervisors, officials said.

Inmates allegedly exchanged cheese, rice, canned goods and clothing taken from the prison for marijuana, county-owned hand tools and money, Gilbert said.

Big Mac On Campus

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Students with Big Mac attacks will be able to satisfy their cravings at the school cafeteria if district officials meeting Friday decide to let the chain open a franchise at Fort Lauderdale High School.

The advantage to the proposed inclusion of Big Macs and Quarter Pounders, officials say, is that it would keep kids on the campus during lunch hour.

According to Tom Larkin, associate superintendent for business services, McDonald's would buy the gear, reimburse the school for utilities, and give the school an as-yet-undetermined percentage of the profits.

In addition, students who take food service and production courses would receive guest lectures from McDonald's management and be supplied with company instructional material.

Pet Got A Problem?

MIAMI (UPI) — The nation's first telephone hot line created to solve pressing pet problems is helping anxious animal owners get answers without having to go to — and pay for — a vet.

With the new Tel-Pet line, relief is just a phone call away for those who need quick advice on how to establish a friendly relationship with a shy bird or find the proper way to care for a reluctantly domesticated animal.

Operators will handle the calls and play one of about 50 pre-recorded tapes that explain how to handle household animals such as cats, dogs, snakes, horses, lizards, gerbils and birds.

Lytle Will Not Seek Lake Mary Re-election

By Donna Bates
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary's loss will be Sanford's gain.

Lake Mary City Commission Charlie Lytle won't be running for re-election in September because he is moving out of Lake Mary to fulfill a childhood dream. He and his family have bought the William Leffler homestead, an early 1920s vintage house at 1825 Hibiscus Court, Sanford, and plan to restore it to its original splendor.

As a youngster, Lytle said he used to walk from Five Points to Sanford to look at the Leffler home and to dream of what it would be like to live there. "I love Lake Mary and if it weren't for fulfilling my dream, I wouldn't move," he said.

Lytle said he will be completing his one year term in office which expires Oct. 3 and will not run for re-election in September.

Qualifying for the three City Commission seats, held by Lytle, Ray Fox and Bert Perinich, up for election will open at noon, next Tuesday.

Under the city's new charter, approved by the voters last year, city elections will be held in September, rather than December.

SEEDCO Opposed

SEEDCO projections are overly optimistic because of poor economic conditions in the field. At a work session last summer they refused to recommend the project for funding.

In all, according to the grant applications, the project will cost $3,338,000.

SEEDCO has also asked for $1,585,000 to finance development of its 80-acre Evergreen Industrial Park. The grant application states that half of the park will be developed initially with profits from the sale of that property being used to develop the remainder of the park.

In addition to the federal funds, SEEDCO's application states that $2.4 million in private funds will be used to develop the property.

The third SEEDCO funding application is for $175,000 to finance a rural youth housing rehabilitation program.

The project calls for 30 youths to be involved in the program which would bring 75 substandard houses up to minimum standards.

The application states that participants in the program would receive eight weeks of training at Seminole Community College prior to beginning the program and then would be assigned to rehabilitate homes in Bookertown, East Ocoke, Midway, Warwick, Jamestown and Goldboro.

But county officials reviewing the application Tuesday morning said officials at Seminole Community College knew nothing about their participation in the plan.

Each of the three grant applications has previously been rejected for federal funds. The federal government awards funds for projects on a priority basis. Projects not accepted in one year may be re-submitted and funded in another year.

Board Meetings To Be Public

By Donna Bates
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford Civil Service Board will not hold any closed-door, executive sessions in the future and, according to an agreement approved by the board's five members, an injunction will be issued by the circuit court to make sure.

A lawsuit filed against the Sanford Civil Service Board and its five members individually by Sentinel Communications, publishers of the Orlando Sentinel newspaper, charging violation of the state's "government in the sunshine law" on May 31 will be settled as a result of the agreement.

The board, composed of John Darby, chairman, Dr. Luis Perez, Gordon Frederick, Donald Jones and William McQuatters, voted unanimously Tuesday night agreeing to the settlement recommended by special attorney Mack N. Cleveland Jr.

Under the agreement initiated by Cleveland and worked out by him and Sentinel attorney David Evans, the board and its members will not be charged attorney fees and court costs for the Sentinel suit. And a permanent injunction is to be issued by the circuit court barring future closed meetings.

The Orlando newspaper charged the board with violating the state's "government in the sunshine law" by holding a closed door meeting on May 31 to decide the fate of a Sanford city employee who had been dismissed.

The Sentinel charged that the closed door meeting violated state law and the civil service board's own rules and regulations requiring its meetings, hearings and deliberations to be open to the public.

In addition, the Sentinel said that its reporter, Leslie Kemp-Poole, was barred from attending the May 31 closed door meeting. The suit asked that the Civil Service Board and its members be required to pay attorney fees and costs of the lawsuit. The Sentinel also asked the court to issue a temporary restraining order and a permanent injunction to stop the board from holding closed meetings in the future.

Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffer two weeks ago granted a temporary injunction, but limited it to the problem of one employee discussed at the May 31 meeting.

EPA Cleanup Begins At 6 Florida Sites

By Richard Posen International

Six hazardous chemical dumps in Florida are included in a nationwide cleanup sweep by the Environmental Protection Agency, which is tackling superficial contamination problems at toxic waste sites across the country.

New EPA head William Ruckelshaus ordered the start of the massive cleanup operations.

Critics have charged EPA with dragging its feet in recent months, but Florida environmental officials praise the latest action.

"The idea here, and we firmly support it, is to remove contamination ... carting away barrels or contaminated sludge or wastewater," said Victoria Tuckfield, secretary of Florida's Department of Environmental Regulation.

"EPA's position before was that we had to have the complete, exhaustive study before anything was done. Now they seem to realize that the law allows a sensible middle ground where some relatively inexpensive remedial action can begin."

Work began last week at the six north and central Florida sites — Warrington, Pensacola, Live Oak, Whitehouse, Zellwood and Clermont.

The short-term cleanup will be funded from the federal Superfund, the special budget created by Congress in 1980 to pay for decontaminating the nation's most dangerous toxic waste sites.

Florida, which ranks fifth among states with the most number of hazardous chemical dumps, has 25 toxic waste sites.

Ruckelshaus, who was EPA's first leader when the agency was formed in 1972, replaced Anne Burford in May.

He ordered his staff to single out waste sites such as the six in Florida which could be easy targets for quick cleanup — the removal of leaking chemical drums, contaminated soil, sludge and surface water.

EPA officials admit the long-term cleanup and restoration of land, water and air quality will take years and millions of dollars.

...Patient Transfer

patients have arrived here from West Volusia Memorial unannounced.

"They go back and forth with this type of thing," he said.

Toner said the hospital administration is not responsible for the transfer of the skin graft patient.

"Neither I nor anyone in this administration can make a doctor discharge a patient from the hospital," Toner said.

"The only person that can discharge a patient is a physician. I can't tell a physician how to practice medicine."

At least one doctor at Central Florida Regional won't do it.

"The business office ordered that patient transferred," he said.

But Toner said: "The business office can't do that."

Source at Central Florida said it was patient accounts manager John White who ordered the transfer. White said today a patient transfer is up to the doctor. His office "can only enlighten a doctor as to the situation."

"Sure, a doctor can legally refuse to discharge the patient," the source said. "But look, if the rules of your employer are you start work at 8 a.m. each morning, how long do you think you are going to be employed there if you continually come in at 107 A doctor can be kicked out of the hospital."

White said all his office does is determine if the patient is a resident of Seminole County or not and if they are indigent.

Toner said financial considerations based on the 1980 statute are not the reason who is considered indigent.

He said he does not have the exact figures at this time, but "recently" patients treated at CFRH who are west Volusia residents have cost the hospital about $80,000.

He said many times doctors who have treated patients from west Volusia for years will refuse to have their patients transferred back to that county. It's perfectly within the doctor's rights to insist they stay and in that event the hospital picks up the tab, Toner said.

One doctor affiliated with CFRH who did not wish to be identified, said Dr. Wing did not have to accept the indigent patient, but because he did he is now "being played for a sucker."

Court documents indicated Dr. Wing, personally, may be sued for the patient's $11,321 bill.

Wing said he cannot comment on the case since he has been served legal papers, but said he has been given 30 days to respond and his attorney will do so.

Another Medical Slowdown Possible

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Another work slowdown by doctors engaged over the question of medical malpractice insurance is a possibility this summer, an attorney for a group of south Florida physicians said Monday.

"Clearly, Physicians United, which organized the work slowdown last June is not going to be advocating similar action this July," Miami attorney Roscoe Beck said. "But it would not shock me if a number of doctors stop working July 1."

Faced with the prospects of a backlog of malpractice insurance rates, 3,500

UCF Will Offer Five Real Estate Courses

Five courses will be offered in July through the University of Central Florida Real Estate Institute.

Included in a development course for real estate professionals to be conducted at the Orlando Chamber of Commerce.

Cash Payments Not The Answer

There has been a predictable reaction to the proposal that the U.S. government pay $20,000 to each of the surviving Japanese-Americans who were relocated from the West Coast during World War II.

The amount is too much. It is not enough. It should not be paid at all. It should be paid not only to the living but to the heirs of those relocation victims who have died. If Japanese-Americans are to receive such an indemnity for an injustice done by their government, there are other groups just as deserving.

The Commission on Wartime Relocation and Internment of Civilians could have spared the nation this kind of agonizing debate by recognizing that there are mistakes which cannot be put right by writing a check.

Last February the commission issued a finding that "race prejudice, war hysteria, and a failure of political leadership" prompted the forced relocation of Japanese-Americans to inland internment camps after the attack on Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941. That verdict stands. The relocation was a gross violation of the civil rights of American citizens, a shameful episode in our history and a personal affront to those whose lives it disrupted.

It was also the result of shock and fear, a measure taken when most of the Pacific Fleet had been destroyed or crippled and when the West Coast was presumed to be vulnerable to invasion by Japanese armies. To be unequivocal in condemning the relocation is to ignore the context in which it occurred.

War is never fair in the way its burdens and sacrifices fall on individuals and families. Who would dare to calculate the debits and credits flowing from the turmoil of World War II? Who pays for military and political mistakes? What was the real price of victory? War has its imponderable costs — and the wrong done to a Japanese-American minority by a panicky majority is one of them.

The commission established in 1980 to study the relocation and internment episode has set the record straight. Its findings are the basis for a profound apology owed to Japanese-American citizens.

To go further and attempt to express that apology in dollars and cents raises questions of fairness and justice which could never be resolved in a satisfactory way. We believe Congress should reject the commission's recommendation to make cash payments to the relocation survivors.

Be Patient, Sally

The hopes of women and men to live in a society free of sexual prejudice soared with astronaut Sally Ride, the first American woman to journey into space. The unsavory comments and jokes about a female astronaut fell back like discarded rockets and burned up in the atmosphere of sexual fear and resentment.

Ride's journey shows not only that a woman can perform like a man in the pressurized environment of space, it shows that a woman often has to work harder than a man in order to be treated equally, let alone get a chance to do the extraordinary.

Ride worked her way up into the space program by high academic achievement in physics at Stanford. She had promise as a tennis star, being ranked 18th in the nation in high school, but preferred the intellectual challenge of science.

Ride only got a chance to show she had the right stuff as a pilot after succeeding as a physicist and an athlete. Her career contrasts with that of the first generation of astronauts, who were test pilots first and scientists second.

Ride's struggle is not different from other young women now entering professions and jobs once reserved for "men only." Her success is an encouragement to women to try whatever field they want. Her marriage to astronaut Steve Hawley, scheduled to fly aboard a future shuttle flight, is emblematic of a marriage where husband and wife both work and strive for excellence and recognition, without threatening each other.

When faced with the constant questions about her first-woman role, Ride said: "It's too bad this is such a big deal. It's too bad our society isn't further along."

It's moved a little further with Ride's journey.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I guess the compelling force driving me to grow up is different than the one you had, huh, Grumpy?"

You can blame the strange happenings at last Wednesday's Seminole County School Board meeting on the full moon. At least Board member Pat Tolson did.

First there was a reception for retiring school district employees. Assistant Superintendent Roger Harris greeted one retiring worker who was completing 34 years of service. The woman remembered Harris as her high school teacher.

Another retiree said he had worked for about 30 years in the same office. Hughes greeted that information enthusiastically saying there are always people looking for new offices.

Later in the evening as Hughes was introducing Administrative Assistant Ralph Ray to conduct expulsion hearings, Hughes caused some alarm when he inadvertently paused.

"I think Mr. Ray has passed out," he said, "your folks."

The faux pas got a chuckle from board members but was nothing compared to the reaction to a comment from Ray. "I'll have a breakdown for you," he said, as the board erupted in laughter.

Ray later caught his mistake and promised to submit a report on expulsions.

Hughes has issued a report showing that Seminole County students are above the national average in test scores designed to show their academic progress.

Hughes said students in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades are performing at an average of one year above their grade level on the state's comprehensive test of basic skills.

Sixth graders in the district began the year at the level of seventh grade, second month. By the end of the year, the students were up to the eighth grade fifth month.

Seventh graders began the year at the eighth grade level. By the end of the year, the students were averaging work at the ninth grade fifth month.

Eighth graders also exceeded the national average at the beginning of the year with a ninth grade seventh month mark. That score had climbed to 10th grade sixth month by the end of the year.

"Obviously we are delighted with the outstanding academic progress made by our students this year as indicated by the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills," Hughes said.

ROBERT WAGMAN From The Campaign Trail...

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There have been two new developments in the Reagan camp: The president has changed the timing of his expected candidacy announcement, and White House chief of staff Jim Baker seems to have won his first campaign-related battle with conservatives.

Earlier, all White House and GOP insiders had said that President Reagan would make a formal statement of candidacy by Labor Day. Now they say it will come later — perhaps as late as Thanksgiving.

Meanwhile, it's clear that a campaign has to be organized, so the White House is starting to plan what it calls a "provisional campaign." But who should direct this pre-campaign? Conservatives suggested Clifton White and Ken Klinge, both of whom held high posts in prior Reagan campaigns. There were other suggestions as well — but Baker wanted White House political chief Ed Rollins.

Baker won, and it has been announced that Rollins and his deputy, Lee Atwater, will oversee the early campaign planning.

PRESIDENT REAGAN'S recent trip to Minneapolis to participate in a regional educational panel highlighted one problem facing his campaign planners: Reagan has a poor memory for detail.

While taking part in the panel discussion, the president constantly forgot exactly what his own education program was, what his administration had done and the specifics of what it was proposing.

On several occasions he had to turn to Secretary Terrell H. Bell, who was seated next to him. Probably the most embarrassing of these promptings occurred when Bell reminded Reagan that, in his State of the Union address, Reagan had proposed a new block-grant program to aid students in math and the sciences.

This isn't a new problem for Reagan. It happened often while he was governor of California, but reporters had become used to it and called little attention to it. Now, however, Reagan's every word is weighed and such lapses are noted.

The problem wasn't so great during Reagan's candidacy in 1980, since he was attacking Jimmy Carter and could do so via generalities or set speeches. As president, however, he must defend the specifics of his programs — and this is definitely his weak suit.

THE DEMOCRATS are still wrestling with the seemingly endless problem of whose primary will be first. In an attempt to bring some order to the 1984 primary season, the party ruled that the 1984 convention would only recognize delegates chosen between March 13 and June 12. For historical reasons, however, the New Hampshire primary and Iowa caucuses were exempted from the rule: New Hampshire will be allowed to hold its primary on March 6, and Iowa will hold its caucuses on Feb. 27.

But now all bets are off. First, Vermont Democrats announced that they would hold a non-binding "beauty contest" poll on March 6. New Hampshire — not wanting to share the publicity or the candidates' time with Vermont — announced that if Vermont conducted the March 6 poll, New Hampshire would move its primary up to Feb. 28.

Rastafarians Worry Law Officers

WASHINGTON — A little-known, Marxist-oriented, black-supremacy group is emerging as potentially one of the most dangerous terrorist organizations in the United States, and may eventually rival even the Puerto Rican and Cuban extremist gangs, according to law enforcement officials.

The ominous new group is made up of criminal elements of the Rastafarian religious cult from Jamaica. There are at least 30,000 Rastafarians in this country, and many are peaceful citizens. They believe in the divinity of the late Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia. Many wear their hair in the Medusa-like "dreadlocks." Most Americans who have heard of the sect connect it to the Reggae music of groups like the late Bob Marley and the Wailers.

But a less socially acceptable feature of the Rastafarians' religious doctrine involves heavy use of what they call "ganja," or "the sacred herb" — that is, marijuana. Partly as a result of this widespread illegal practice, certain elements of the Rastafarians became heavily involved in the marijuana traffic and its associated violence.

In fact, over the last decade Rastafarians have seized control of much of the marijuana market in New York City and Washington, D.C. For a time, their violence was confined to shoot-outs among rival drug-dealing groups.

But terrorism experts believe that the racist, Marxist-tinged criminal elements of the cult, already armed to the teeth, will begin striking at American political targets in the next few years.

The experts' concerns are laid out in more than 100 pages of confidential police and U.S. Customs Service intelligence files obtained by my associate Dale Van Atta.

As one report points out, the true Rastafarian is a peace-loving, pot-smoking, religious individual who "WILL NOT engage in any criminal acts." When criminals began emerging among the members in the 1970s, the true believers dubbed them "Rude Boys."

In the mid-1970s, U.S. intelligence agencies developed information indicating that some Rastafarians "were being sent to Havana, Cuba, for extensive training in guerrilla warfare," the report adds.

One such group was the "Junglistes," no more than 20 Rastafarians who were given military training in Cuba and picked up Marxist dogma that they then channeled into a distorted version of the Rastafarian beliefs.

The Junglistes doctrine views the white race as Babylon, which must be destroyed by the true Rastafarians, as they regard themselves. For some reason, Russia is not included in Babylon, and is believed by some to be a "test with three ribs" that will stamp out Babylon, according to their interpretation of a verse in Revelation.

One reason for official alarm is that the criminal Rastafarians have succeeded in getting brand-new small arms, possibly by intimidating Jamaicans who work at U.S. arms factories.

DON GRAFF History Versus Reagan

The judgment of history on Ronald Reagan's presidency will probably be based on what happens in Central America.

I didn't say that — at least not this time around.

Faith Ryan Whittlesey did. She is director of the White House Office of Public Liaison which is going to considerable efforts to convince the American public that the president's policy in Central America is the right one.

A special Central American Policy Outreach Group has been set up to coordinate policy development within the administration and to carry the message to the public. Administration representatives, the Washington Post reports, "are urged to sell Reagan's Central American policy in all speeches and public appearances, regardless of the audience or primary subject matter."

They are not the big guns in the campaign, however.

You know who is. He is firing off warnings to right and left — especially to the right — that all of Central America will surely be lost to communism unless the United States increases military assistance to its friends down there.

He could not be making it clearer that he has opted for a military solution. And he is throwing himself into the effort to convince a deeply skeptical American public as if his place in history may indeed depend upon it.

He would do well, however, to pay more attention to history. It teaches lessons as well as delivers judgments.

And one of its lessons is that, in the long run, weapons are not the solutions to Latin America's problems. They only aggravate them. Suppression is not stability. Force does not eliminate opposition, it transforms it into revolution.

For examples, see Nicaragua — "stabilized" for 40 years. And look what we have today as our reward.

And Guatemala. Thirty years ago, a communist threat was countered in that country. It has not known peace since. It simmers with violence, potentially an even greater threat to the entire region and to American interests than the open civil war in El Salvador.

And, far to the south, Chile. Only 10 years ago rescued from Marxist rule and today in what more and more resembles a pre-revolutionary state.

History now shows the American policy of the '30s that installed the Somozas in Nicaragua to have been a costly mistake.

It shows the policy of the '50s that produced a CIA-designed coup in Guatemala to have created a far greater problem than it removed.

It shows the policy of the '70s that contributed to the overthrow of the Allende government in Chile to have been futile at best, potentially disastrous at worst.

Ronald Reagan may very well have his way, with American opinion and in Central America. And Faith Ryan Whittlesey may very well be correct about history and his presidency.

He ought to be concerned about that. And so should we.

JEFFREY HART

'Caring Constituency'

There is a peculiar political constituency in the advanced Western democracies, and though it constitutes a small minority of the total electorate, it is nevertheless expanding in numbers and power.

In the recent British elections, for example, it provided an important component of the Labour Party vote, and it has been called the "caring constituency."

Those who belong to it work in jobs outside the marketplace. They are teachers, social workers, national and local bureaucrats, nurses and day-care tenders, technicians in the soft sciences, and other such positions that are outside the market or only marginally related to profits and losses.

In the United States, as in England, the temper of this constituency is pacifist and socialist, and it will be powerfully represented at the 1984 Democratic convention.

There comes at hand via Public Opinion magazine a fascinating bit of documentation regarding part of this "caring constituency," the so-called public-interest organizations that have been established in Washington and elsewhere to promote various ostensibly virtuous causes.

S. Robert Lichter and Stanley Rothman, social scientists, interviewed the leaders and chief staff members of 74 organizations, including the American Civil Liberties Union, Common Cause, Congress Watch, the Children's Defense Fund, Women's Legal Defense and Consumer's Union; and, on the basis of these interviews, produced a profile of the sort of person who leads these organizations.

Almost invariably, the leaders are well educated and often have graduated from prestigious colleges and universities, and they earn salaries in the upper income brackets. Though most have been raised in a religious environment, they are now agnostic or atheistic, and they appear to have a special hostility toward Jerry Falwell's Moral Majority. Ninety percent of those interviewed are strongly opposed to K, which may explain the otherwise puzzling viri-of the attack upon Moral Majority last year by Yale's president, A. Bartlett Giamatti. This public interest "caring constituency" is instinctively opposed to signs of a religious revival in America.

This constituency is also inclined toward socialism. Fifty-one percent favor socialism, and by a top-sided 18-1 they think that the federal government should redistribute the national income.

In recent presidential elections, no Republican candidate received more than four percent of their vote, and George McGovern — perhaps the most left-wing candidate ever nominated by a major party — was favored by 98 percent. Not surprisingly, the public figures they most admire are, in order, Ralph Nader, Edward M. Kennedy, John Kenneth Galbraith, Gloria Steinem and Andrew Young. (It must be Young's Third worldism as our U.N. ambassador that attracts them; as mayor of Atlanta, Young has done a creditable job in stimulating commerce and is a favorite of the business community. When that news reaches the "caring constituency" Young's ratings will no doubt plummet.)

On foreign affairs, things are, if anything, worse. Fifty percent of the people interviewed by Lichter and Rothman admire the pro-Soviet Sandinista regime in Nicaragua, and 34 percent admire Fidel Castro — who wins in a landslide over Ronald Reagan, who is admired by a mere five percent.

Lichter and Rothman did not go into the nuclear freeze or the Pershing missile with this group, but of course they did not have to, since anyone could predict the response.

On the so-called social issues: those interviewed, by a margin of eight to one, approved of active homosexuality, and only one out of 20 had any moral problems concerning abortion.

The "caring constituency" is an identifiable political interest group here and abroad, and it would be incorrect to identify it even with traditional liberals. It is pacifist and socialist. It lives off the public sector and desires to expand it at the expense of the marketplace.

WORLD IN BRIEF

PLO Fighters Routed; Habib Will Try Again

United Press International

Palestinian guerrillas loyal to Yasser Arafat regrouped in Lebanon's Bekaa Valley today after being routed by rebel forces in the fiercest artillery and mortar battle of the six-week dissident rebellion.

In Beirut, Lebanese officials said U.S. Middle East envoy Philip Habib would arrive today in a new effort to break the deadlock on getting foreign troops out of Lebanon.

Lebanese police reported the Bekaa Valley quiet after a day of heavy fighting in which Palestinian rebels captured six bases and a number of villages from Arafat loyalists.

The news agency of the Palestine Liberation Organization, Wafa, said Tuesday at least 15 Arafat loyalists were killed and another 20 had been wounded in the fighting, but the actual death toll was believed to be higher because dissident and rebel casualties had not been reported.

Florida Man Held Hostage

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Relief workers and diplomats hoped today to reach a compromise with secessionist guerrillas in Sudan threatening to kill five Western hostages, including two Americans, if their demands are not met by July 6.

The guerrillas of the Southern Sudan Liberation Front — a black secessionist group struggling for independence for southern Sudan from the predominantly Arab and Moslem north — have demanded $189,000 in cash, 150 sets of clothing and shoes and air time on the Voice of America and British Broadcasting Corp. radio networks.

The hostages were identified as John Haspels, 36, of Lyons, Kan., an employee of the Across relief agency; Ron Pontier, 29, of Clermont, Fla., a missionary with the African Inland Mission; Martin Overdulp, 31, from Komoka, Ontario; Willem Noort, a missionary from Holland; and Alois Tscheldt, a West German working on a project to save Boma National Park.

U.S. Fishing Boats Seized

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The Mexican navy seized nine American fishing boats carrying a total of 3 1/2 tons of frozen shrimp during the past week, the U.S. Embassy said.

Five of the seizures came a day after Mexico's minister of fisheries, Pedro Ojeda Paullada, Sunday called for an end to the U.S. ban on Mexican tuna the Carter administration imposed in 1980. The ban, which prohibits the sale of Mexican tuna in the United States, was imposed to protest Mexico's seizure of U.S. fishing boats.

Mexico claims a 200-mile territorial sea limit, which it accuses the American boats of violating. The United States recognizes only a 12-mile limit.

By Warsaw Pact Leaders

Nuclear Freeze Urged

MOSCOW (UPI) — Leaders of the seven Warsaw Pact nations called for a U.S.-Soviet nuclear weapons freeze and urged European countries to block the deployment of American medium-range missiles in western Europe.

Soviet Defense Minister Dmitri Ustinov, who also attended the one-day summit Tuesday, left Moscow to take part in Soviet military maneuvers beginning today near the Polish border.

The Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania and East Germany "will in no case allow military superiority to be achieved over them," said a statement issued at the conclusion of the Warsaw Pact summit.

Issued less than a week before the July 4 arrival in Moscow of West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl, the summit, which said the conflict between socialism and capitalism could not be resolved through military force.

"They call on European countries to do everything possible to divert the nuclear menace from Europe, to turn Europe into a continent of peace free from nuclear weapons, both medium-range and tactical," the statement said.

One Western diplomat said its relatively moderate language was designed to appeal to anti-missile sentiment in the West.

"Kohl has a battle on his hands and the Soviets do not intend to ease up," the diplomat said.

With Soviet leader Yuri Andropov

heading the meeting, the Warsaw Pact leaders called for a nuclear freeze, beginning with the United States and the Soviet Union.

The statement from the meeting criticized the Reagan administration for "whipping up the arms race" while claiming to be "striving for flexibility."

It also: —Called for hastening the pace of talks on prohibiting the militarization of space;

—Urged NATO to become a partner in a mutual non-aggression treaty;

—Proposed the creation of nuclear-free zones in northern Europe, the Balkans and elsewhere.

The summit leaders, including Polish Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski, also emphasized — without mentioning Poland — that "territorial-political realities on today's Europe are inviolable."

The closed-door meeting also was attended by Gustav Husak of Czechoslovakia, Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania, Erich Honecker of East Germany, Todor Zhivkov of Bulgaria and Janos Kadar of Hungary.

They were accompanied by their prime ministers, defense ministers and foreign ministers.

The United States has insisted that if the Western alliance does not go through with plans to modernize its nuclear forces in Europe later this year with 572 new U.S. cruise and Pershing-2 missiles, the Soviet Union will have nuclear superiority in Europe.

Japan's Nakasone Wants Trade Friction With U.S. Removed

TOKYO (UPI) — Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone, strengthened by a sweeping election victory, has called for a program to remove trade friction with the United States and Japan's other trading partners, officials said.

"We have to show to the world we are doing our best to expand imports," the officials quoted Nakasone as saying.

Nakasone made the remark at a high-level trade conference at his official residence attended by cabinet ministers and business leaders, they said.

Hosting the meeting was Nakasone's first official act since his conservative, pro-American Liberal-Democratic Party scored a decisive victory in Sunday's election for upper house seats.

The party, in power continuously since its founding in 1955, won 68 of the 126 seats up for grabs for an absolute majority of 137 in the 252-seat watchdog body.

Nakasone's call came as Japanese officials expressed growing concern with the nation's rising trade surplus, expected to hit a record high of $28 billion this year, topping the $20 billion recorded last year.

Japan came under widespread criticism last year for its export-oriented policies which the United States and West European countries claimed hurt their economies.

Japanese officials predicted U.S. calls for voluntary export controls by Japan would intensify as next year's American presidential election neared.

Government sources said Nakasone wants measures that promote imports to be implemented before President Reagan's first visit to Japan in early November.

Church-Run $ For Communist Poland

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Poland and the Roman Catholic Church agreed to set up a church-run foundation providing millions of Western dollars in grants and loans to revive the economy of the Soviet bloc country.

The accord appeared to be part of a larger deal struck by the church and state, including a Vatican pledge to urge Lech Walesa, founder of the banned trade union Solidarity, to step aside in return for a pledge by the communist government to lift martial law and enact reforms.

The money likely would come from some major Western foundations, Polish ethnic communities in the West, European Common Market countries and wealthy Roman Catholic dioceses in the West.

Lake Mary Hardest Hit

Sanford To Limit Sale Of Water Outside City

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford must come first. That was the consensus of the Sanford City Commission Monday night as it adopted a new policy limiting the amount of water it will allow three water districts to buy from the city to serve new development.

While the policy refers to three districts — Lake Mary, Indian Mound Village and Midway-Canaan — the impact will be on the city of Lake Mary.

The position taken by all five commissioners is to limit the number of new customers those districts will be permitted to connect to Sanford's water system to 10 percent of the number served as of July 1.

With about 1,000 new homes on the drawing boards, Lake Mary will be permitted to add about 95 new customers to the 951 it already serves. Midway-Canaan will be allowed to add about 60 and Indian Mound 5.

About 10 days ago, two developers planning to construct more than 160 new homes promised to spend some $165,000 to extend a water line to one in Sanford and to pay Lake Mary and Sanford connection and impact fees respectively.

Their offer came despite the Sanford commission's urging the three water districts, and Lake Mary in particular, to start planning their own water systems, saying they were fearful that Sanford water reserves would be depleted by new development outside Sanford.

Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles Monday recommended that the commission slap a moratorium on all new connections in the three districts. But Mayor Lee P. Moore said he didn't want the city to be put in the position of appearing to threaten Lake Mary.

Knowles insisted, however, that something needed to be done to "put a spur under (Lake Mary's) saddle," saying Lake Mary officials have done an "awful lot of talking with little direction to planning a program and bringing it to an end."

"If they would drop everything else, it would take 2 to 2½ years to get a water system," he said. "They need to stop pussy-footing around and playing games and undertake dialogue."

When City Commissioner David Farr said he liked the idea of Lake Mary developers paying an impact fee to Sanford, Moore reminded him that only minutes earlier Farr had said he does not favor increasing utility impact fees to Sanford developers.

"You are saying it's all right to soak developers in Lake Mary, but I'm not sure Sanford has the right to collect tribute from Lake Mary," Moore said.

Knowles pointed out that Lake Mary has 1,000 new homes on the drawing boards. Currently, he said, Sanford has a 9-million-gallon-a-day water capacity and is using an average of 7.2 million to 7.4 million gallons daily.

"Generally, one-fourth to one-third of the capacity should be in reserve for fire fighting," Knowles said.

Senate Kills Anti-Abortion Amendment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the Senate's resounding defeat of an anti-abortion constitutional amendment, opponents of such measures say the anti-abortion movement has hit its peak and is now on the way down.

The Senate voted 50-49 — a solid 18 votes short of the necessary two-thirds majority — against an amendment Tuesday that would have reversed the 1973 Supreme Court decision legalizing abortion and turned the matter back to the states.

After the vote, Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., told reporters: "The right to life forces have created and are on the decline. The Senate said 'Enough. You've been at it for 10 years. You've had your day in court twice. You've had your day in the Senate and several other times. And that's it.'"

"What's important is that in essence, it was a 50-50 vote," he said. Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., a staunch foe of abortion, declined to vote on the amendment, saying it was too weak. But Hatch added, "I would say, it sends a message to the courts and the country that this is an issue that has to be resolved."

Nanette Falkenberg, National Abortion Rights Action League executive director, said her group would continue in the next election to try to build strength in Congress.

"With 30 more pro-choice members, we can carry out our strategy to reinstate full federal Medicaid funding for abortion," Ms. Falkenberg said.

Congress has passed each year since 1977 riders sponsored by Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill., prohibiting the federal funding of abortions. The provision affects mostly the poor.

Judy Goldsmith, president of the National Organization for Women, said the Senate vote was "the strongest message yet that this nation will stand behind a woman's right to make her own decisions about childbearing."

She said NOW's next priority will be to "assure that reproductive freedom is assured for all women ... to re-establish Medicaid funding so that abortion will once again be considered a valid health care need."

But the opponents were not yielding quickly. Jude Brown, president of the American Life Lobby, called for unison behind a bill sponsored by Hyde and Sen. Roger Jepsen, R-Iowa, to provoke the Supreme Court to review its 1973 decision.

This bill, also sponsored by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., includes "findings" that the human life begins at conception and the Supreme Court erred in its 1973 ruling, permanently bans the federal funding of federal insurance coverage of abortion, and gives the states the right of direct appeal to the Supreme Court in abortion cases.

County Commission Votes To 'Buy Local'

Seminole County Commissioners have voted unanimously to reject a low bid from a Matland car dealership in favor of a slightly higher bid from a Sanford dealership.

Commissioners Tuesday rejected the $18,815.39 bid of Don Reid Ford of Matland in favor of a bid from Seminole Ford of Sanford that was $8.10 higher.

Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff offered to pay the county $8.11 to make up the difference in the two bids. He said commissioners should award bids to Seminole County vendors whenever they are close to the low bid because of the better service available from a local firm.

Kirchhoff said the Seminole Ford bid could be considered the best bid because delivery time of the vehicles is 30 to 45 days compared to 60 days from Don Reid Ford.

Board members also voted unanimously to accept a $57,000 bid from Florida Wrecking Inc. of Hialeah for demolition work inside the County Services Building.

The building, formerly Seminole Memorial Hospital, is being renovated to be used as county offices.

Board members also approved spending $200,000 for acquisition of land for drainage in various areas of the county. Most of the parcels are in Midway, Lockhart, Rolling Hills and Winwood Park and are considered instrumental in development of a county drainage plan.

The land acquisition program replaces about $290,000 worth of construction projects planned for this year by Drainage Engineer Paul Magnant who told commissioners that escalating land costs make the purchase of land vital.

The board also approved issuing $750,000 in industrial revenue bonds through the Seminole County Industrial Development Authority for construction of a 24-hour non-trauma emergency health care clinic on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Longwood.

All-Care Medical General Partnership and Centra Care Medical partnership are sponsoring construction of the 40,000-square-foot facility with the backing of Adventist Health Care Systems, operators of Florida Hospital North in Altamonte Springs.

The commission will not have any liability from the bond issue, according to County Attorney Nikki Clayton.

Knights Fight Off Rotary In Slugfest; Key Game Tonight

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

1983 — A baseball oddity.

That is the new title for the Sanford Junior League City Championship series. The battle between first-half winner Rotary and second-half champion Knights of Columbus has had just about every situation imaginable in the game of baseball, and maybe even a few new ones. But wait — there's still more to come...

...After two games of intense play, Rotary and the Knights are knotted at one game apiece. Rotary took the first game in a heartstopper, 4-3, and, after two rain outs, the Knights came back on Tuesday night and survived a late scare to hold on for a 15-13 victory.

That sets up tonight's tie-breaker which gets under way at 7 at Chase Park. Knights of Columbus will go with Leonard Lucas on the mound while Rotary goes with its ace, Craig Dixon.

In the early going Tuesday night, it appeared to be a replay of the first game with Rotary taking advantage of KOC mistakes while the Knights had problems on the basepaths. In the top of the first inning for KOC, Curtis Rudolph drew a one-out walk and stole second. Rotary second baseman Bobby Bew was holding Rudolph on so first baseman Ron Blake was playing almost halfway between first and second. The next hitter, Lucas, ripped a shot that Blake snagged and threw on to Mike Edwards to double up Rudolph and end the inning. Had Blake been playing in his regular spot, Lucas would have a single and KOC would have had a 1-0 lead.

Rotary came back in the bottom of the second to score an unearned run and take a 1-0 lead. With two outs, Eddie Korgan drilled a single to right and the ball got by right fielder Ardiene Daniels and Korgan wound up at third. On the second pitch to Dixon, the ball got by KOC catcher Stewart Gordon. Korgan hesitated, then tried for home. Gordon's throw to pitcher David Rape was high and Korgan slid in safely.

A Rotary miscue allowed KOC to score two runs in the second and take a 3-1 lead. With one out, Stewart and Edward Gordon drew back-to-back walks. J.D. Paul then ripped a line drive to left that left fielder Perez Perry misjudged. The ball sailed over Perry's head and rolled all the way to the fence. Meanwhile, both Gordons scored and Paul rambled into third with a standup triple. One out later, Daniels drew a walk to put runners on the corners with Alonzo Gainey at the plate. On the second pitch, Daniels broke for second, but was thrown out by Korgan to end the inning.

Jason Heffington cracked a two-out triple in the bottom of the second but was stranded at third as Rape fanned Darris Littles.

KOC added a single run in the third to take a 3-1 lead, but two fine defensive plays by Rotary saved at least one more run. Gainey walked to lead off the frame and stole second. Rudolph followed by blasting a shot that had hit written all over it. Heffington, Rotary's starting pitcher, made a diving stop and threw

City Series

Rudolph out at first as Gainey took third. Gainey attempted to score on a wild pitch, but Korgan quickly got to the ball and made a lunging tag on Gainey to save a run. Lucas ended up walking, stole second and scored on a wild pitch.

Rotary responded with a four-run rally in the bottom of the third to take back the lead, 5-3. With one out, Mike Edwards and Johnny Wright both walked. Korgan followed with a single up the middle to drive in Edwards. Wright went to third on an error on the same play and scored on an interference call when third baseman Edward Gordon ran in front of Wright who was trying to score. Korgan took third when Dixon fled to right. Ron Blake then drew a walk and stole second to put runners on second and third. Perry followed with an infield single to chase home Korgan and Blake scored on a wild pitch.

The Knights were not to be out-rallied though. KOC came up with seven runs on four hits in the top of the fourth to break the game open and take a 10-5 lead. Stewart Gordon walked to lead off and took second when Heffington was called for a balk on a pick off attempt at first. Edward Gordon then reached on an infield single and Rotary manager Ed Korgan took out Heffington and went with Edwards in relief.

The first batter to face Edwards, Paul, rapped a single to left to drive in Stewart Gordon and cut Rotary's lead to 5-4. Edwards then walked Shelton Slater to load the bases and Daniels coaxed a walk to force in Edward Gordon and tie the score at 4-4. Gainey stepped up next and crunched a 1-1 pitch to deep right center for a three-run triple and a 8-5 KOC lead. With one out in the inning, Gainey scored on a sacrifice fly by Lucas and Rape drew a walk. Rape went to second on a passed ball and scored on an RBI single by Stewart Gordon as KOC forged ahead, 10-5.

Rotary came up empty in the bottom of the fourth and Korgan came on in relief of Edwards in the top of the fifth. The Knights greeted Korgan with a five-run outburst and took a commanding 15-5 lead. Korgan walked the first three men he faced to load the bases. Gainey and Rudolph both came up with RBI groundouts and Lucas drew a walk. Lucas then stole second to put runners on second and third and Rape singled to right to drive in both Lucas and Daniels. Rape took third on the same play as the throw to the plate got by Rotary's catcher, Edwards, and Rape scored on the same play as Korgan threw wildly in an attempt to get Rape at third.

Even though it was down by 10 runs, Rotary still didn't give in and came back with three runs in the bottom of the fifth to cut KOC's lead to 15-8. Korgan reached on an error, took second on an errant pick off attempt and went to third on a wild pitch. Dixon followed with a

Mike Edwards takes a look up to find his pop fly during Junior League City Series action at Chase Park Tuesday night. Edwards, the Rotary shortstop, popped out. Knights of

1. Sampson, Of Course; Bulls Wheel-And-Deal

NBA Draft

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ralph Sampson was the prime cut in the NBA's annual meat market Tuesday ... until Chicago began throwing the Bull.

The Houston Rockets, refurbishing their frontline after the 14-68 debacle of last season, took less than 30 seconds to open the NBA draft by selecting Sampson with the No. 1 pick. Two choices later, the Rockets gave the 7-foot-4 franchise player a power forward to share the dirty work by taking Louisville's Rodney McCray.

"I'm not going down to Houston to set records," said Sampson, clad in a blue pin-stripe suit. "Scouts can give me all the compliments in the world but they mean nothing if I don't play up to my capabilities."

Praise for Sampson came from all quarters. President Reagan telephoned his congratulations and, according to an aide, commended him for setting a "good example" by staying at Virginia four years.

Following the Rockets' selection of the three-time Player of the Year, Indiana picked Missouri's Steve Stipanovich, a 6-11 center with a deft touch and a self-effacing manner.

"I'm no All-Star right now, but in two years I hope to become the kind of player (Seattle's) Jack Sikma is," said Stipanovich, who joins forwards Clark Kellogg and Herb Williams on an impressive young frontline.

The Bulls, whose 28-54 mark last year was the second-worst record in their history, ended up with three of the top 23 picks following a rapid succession of deals. After tabbing Nevada-Las Vegas forward Sidney Green with the No. 5 choice, the Bull market remained past the third round. They didn't stick around long enough to hear five players selected from such schools as Catawba and Panhandle State. The San Diego Clippers even reached across another continent in the fifth round to draft 7-6 Manute Bol of the Sudan.

"I know nothing about him and my contract, which I just re-read, doesn't include a clause about scouting the Sudan," said a stunned Blake.

Following McCray, San Diego picked guard Byron Scott of Arizona State and Chicago went for the 6-9 Green, a former Brooklyn high school star who was accompanied to the draft by at least 18 family members. Golden State took forward Russell Cross of Purdue, Utah named forward Thurl Bailey of North Carolina State, Detroit got forward Antoine Carr of Wichita State, Dallas chose forward Dale Ellis of Tennessee, Washington picked guard Jeff Malone of Mississippi State and Dallas selected guard Derek Harper of Illinois.

New York chose guard Darrell Walker of Arkansas. Kansas City took Whatley, Portland selected forward Clyde Drexler of Houston, Denver got guard Howard Carter of Louisiana State, Seattle named Missouri guard Jon Sundvold, Philadelphia chose guard Leo Rautins of Syracuse and Milwaukee took center Randy Breuer of Minnesota.

San Antonio picked guard John Paxson of Notre Dame, Cleveland named forward Roy Hinson of Rutgers, Boston grabbed center Greg Kite of Brigham Young, Washington chose swingman Randy Wittman of Indiana.

"I would have to say we are very satisfied with the draft we had. We get a quality forward in Green, the top point guard in the draft in Whatley and a guy in Wiggins who can put the ball in the hole for you," said new Chicago coach Kevin Loughery.

General Manager Rod Thorn, who said most of the dealing had taken place earlier this week, lauded the selection of Whatley, the only sophomore in the draft.

"We didn't know whether he'd (Whatley) be available when Kansas City took its turn," said Thorn. "We needed a guy who can get the ball to our players. He clearly is that man." Although NBA director of scouting Marty Blake heralded the field as a draft of "unusual depth," few of the approximately 3,500 fans attending at the Felt Forum

Charles, Merthie Each Toss 1-Hitters; Americans, Nationals Collide Thursday

Sub-District 2 Little Major Tournament at Leesburg

TONIGHT'S GAMES

6 p.m. Orlando vs. Leesburg Nationals
8 p.m. Clermont vs. Tavares

TUESDAY'S RESULTS

Sanford Americans 7, Tavares 1
Sanford Nationals 13, Leesburg Nationals 4

By Sam Cook

Herald Sports Editor

LEESBURG — One-hitters were the name of the game Tuesday night in the second round of the Sub-District 2 Little Major Tournament here as the Sanford Nationals and the Sanford Americans each received superb pitching performances to post easy victories.

"Steady Eddie" Charles served up a leadoff home run to Tim Caruthers in the second inning, but was untouchable after that, setting down 11 batters in a row at one juncture as the Sanford Americans dropped Tavares, 7-1. Charles, a 12-year-old lefthander, struck out six and walked two.

Just as impressive in game two was the one-hit outing of Sanford Nationals' hurler Mike Merthie. The fireballing 11-year-old righthander whiffed 15 batters and allowed a soft, third-inning single by Dale Delesalin as the Nationals cruised to a 13-4 victory over the Leesburg Nationals. Merthie's only problem was finding the plate on occasion as he walked 13, which led to Leesburg's four runs.

The twin victories set up the game both teams have been yearning for — the Americans vs. the Nationals — Thursday night. The winner will advance to Saturday's championship game while the loser will play the survivor of the loser's bracket, then take another shot at the undefeated entry in the double-elimination tournament.

"We got (American's pitching ace) Ronald Cox Thursday night," declared Nationals' manager Sylvester "Slick" Franklin Jr. after the win. "They (the Americans) want to see Cox against (Willie McCloud) 'Sugar Tex.'"

"Well, they got it."

Sub-District Baseball

McCloud, who was the most valuable player of the City Series won by his Poppa Jay's team, and Cox, who was the top player in the American circuit while performing for Flagship Bank, both throw extremely hard, although McCloud is given the edge for his better control.

Although the Nationals scored 13 runs and Merthie fanned 15, Franklin still feels they can do better. "We're still not hitting the ball," he said. "All we're going to do Wednesday is take batting practice. We're a fastball-hitting team and I think we'll hit better against Cox."

On Merthie the "Slick One" said, "He was not on tonight. He was too wild (13 walks), but he was still fast enough they couldn't hit him."

The Nationals, however, had no trouble hitting Leesburg starter Delesalin. Tim Graham singled to lead off the second, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Two outs later, Harry Chibberton chased him home with another single to tie the game at 1-1.

The Nationals took the lead for good with three runs in the third. Dwight Brinson, who had three hits for the night, singled and went all the way to third when a pitch bounced off the umpire's mask. McCloud walked and stole second. George Gordon then reached on an error by the first baseman which scored both runners. Gordon was later tossed out at home when Graham grounded to first. Graham, though, scored from second base when Anthony Merthie hit into a 5-3-5 double play.

The outburst gave the Nationals a 4-3 lead which they added to in the fifth. McCloud doubled and moved to third on a wild pitch. Pinch-hitter Steve Johnson walked and stole second. Graham then reached on an errant throw by the shortstop and both runners came around to score. Three pitches later, Graham scored on a passed ball for a 7-3 lead.

The Nationals put the game away in the sixth as James Clayton singled, but was forced at second by Jeff Blake. Brinson followed with a screamer off the right-center field fence which resulted in a double double down the left-field line to chase home Korgan. Dixon was awarded third when Rape balked and scored when Blake stroked a single to left. Blake stole second and scored on another KOC error. The Knights made four errors in the fifth inning after making only two in the first four frames.

Korgan came back to shut the Knights down in the sixth and Rotary tacked on two more runs in the bottom to pull withing five runs, 15-10.

Once again in the seventh, Korgan shut down KOC and Rotary rallied in the bottom of the inning. Perry led off with a single up the middle and stole second.

Heffington followed with a booming double to left and he took third on a wild pitch. Pinch hitter Clay Hickmon drew a walk and stole second. With one out and runners on second and third, Edwards hit into a force play to knock in Heffington. Not satisfied with just the forceout, Lucas (the shortstop) tried for the double play but threw the ball over the fence to allow Hickmon to score and cut KOC's lead to 15-13.

With two outs, Wright reached on an error. Korgan then bounced a grounder up the middle that Lucas gloved and apparently tagged out Wright for the third out. Wright, however, knocked the ball out of Lucas' glove and then scampered to third. Wright forgot to do one thing though — step on second base. The Knights appealed to second and

Wright was called out for missing the base as the odd game ended on the oddest play.

Galney and Paul were the hitting stars for KOC. Galney had only one hit but it was a three-run triple and he also had an RBI groundout. Paul was 3 for 3 on the night with a triple, two RBI, two runs scored and, yes, three stolen bases.

Rotary outhit KOC, 10-7, as Heffington let the way with a double and a triple. Korgan added a pair of hits and two RBI and Perry also had two hits.

Rape picked up the pitching victory while Edwards was tagged with the loss.

"We have to continue getting the big hits and not make any mistakes," KOC manager Al Whitted said. "I still think we've got the best hitting team in the league."

Savages Win 1, Lose 1, And 1 Gets Away, 8-7

The Seminole Savages won one, lost one, and nobody knows what to say about the one that got away.

In a softball tournament at Merritt Island, the Savages 15 and under girls team apparently scored the winning runs after the one hour and 15-minute time limit had expired giving them a 7-6 victory over a tough Tampa ballclub. The assistant tournament director ruled, however, that the Tampa coach did not know about the time limit and allowed Tampa to bat in the seventh inning. It scored two runs and held on for an 8-7 victory, according to Seminole coach Roger Richardson.

When the tournament director heard of the decision, he reversed it and awarded Seminole the victory. By this time, though, Tampa had already left the complex and could not be notified that it was the loser. So, Seminole took its loss and had to play in the loser's bracket. "It was a shaky deal," said Richardson.

Game 1 — Tampa 8, Seminole 7
Whatever the outcome was, Seminole had 15 hits in the game as Kim Wain, Ava Gardner, Kristic Kaiser, Kelly Neary, Jennifer Jonas, Beth Watkins and Laura Davis had two hits each.

Game 2 — Seminole 7, Titusville 1
Seminole came back to win its next game, 7-1, over Titusville as Watkins twirled a one-hitter for the pitching victory. Ava Gardner had two hits including a triple while Karen DeShetter added a pair of hits, one a double. Neary also added a double to the 13-hit Savages attack.

Game 3 — Merritt Island 3, Seminole 2
Merritt Island scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh to snap a 2-2 tie. Wain, Kaiser and Neary had two hits each and Chris Tibbitts pitched a fine game, but took the loss. Neary led the Savages at the plate for the tourney as she collected five hits in 10 trips to the plate.

sending Blake to third. McCloud then socked his second homer in two nights over the center-field fence for three runs and a 10-3 lead.

After Delealin nailed pinch-hitter Mitchell Wright with a wild one, he got the hook in favor of Derrick Smith. Courtesy-runner Brian Howard preceded to steal second and then raced home on a single by Graham. One out later, Hubert Williams singled home Graham. Williams scored on a groundout by Leo Ford for a 13-3 bulge.

The Americans, meanwhile, had a tougher time with Tavares' starter Lance Reaves. They took a 1-0 lead in the first when Patrick Dougherty walked, went to second and third on a passed ball, and then scored when he and Cox engineered a double steal.

Caruthers' homer tied the game in the second, but Sanford added single runs in the third and fourth before erupting for four in the fifth inning to put the game out of reach.

In the third, Von Eric Small walked and moved to second when Dougherty reached on an error. Small then took third on a passed ball, and alertly scored when Cox lined out to second base as the second baseman tried to beat Dougherty back to the bag.

In the fourth, Gerald Morris slugged a double for the Americans' first hit, moved up on a wild pitch and came home on Kyle Faulkner's single for a 3-1 lead.

Small again started the fireworks in the fifth with a single. He moved to third on two wild pitches while Dougherty walked. After Cox popped out, Bernard Mitchell ripped a double to right center to score both runners. Catcher Anthony Harris followed with a single and when Reaves balked, Mitchell trotted home. Harris later scored on a passed ball for a 7-1 lead.

Charles had an easy time with Tavares, retiring 14 of the final 16 batters he faced. "I figured Eddie would be the man for tonight," said manager Lawrence Hawkins. The Americans received a break when Orlando forfeited Monday, which allowed Hawkins to save ace Cox.

"Eddie's curve ball was working pretty good," said catcher Harris. "We were throwing it mostly to lefthanded hitters."

Cox turned in a strong game defensively, throwing out five runners and nabbing a line drive. It was just the third time he'd played second base.

Fit King Trips Jordan In 2 Sets

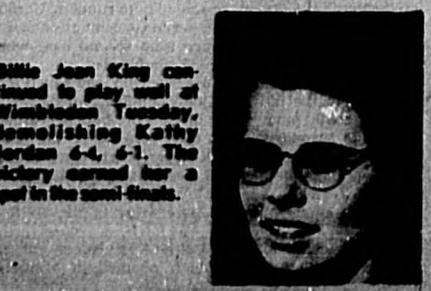

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Second-seeded John McEnroe, bidding for a semifinal berth against third-seeded Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia, today met 31-year-old unseeded veteran Sandy Mayer in the $1.4 million Wimbledon tennis Championships.

Twelfth-seeded South African Kevin Curren, who upset defending champion Jimmy Connors in the fourth round, faces 16th-seeded Tim Mayotte of the U.S. in the other men's quarterfinal, the only other feature match being played.

In women's play, King said Tuesday she was feeling "fantastically" fit and healthy. The veteran has only played Jaeger once before, winning in three sets in New York earlier this year.

The two women's semifinals, pitting top-seeded and defending champion Martina Navratilova against South African teenager Yvonne Vermaak, and third seed Andrea Jaeger against 10th-seeded veteran Billie Jean King, who is chasing her seventh singles title, are scheduled for Thursday.

King, playing in her 21st Wimbledon, took one hour and 47 minutes to reach the semifinals for the 11th time with a 7-6, 6-4 victory over Kathy Jordan, while Jaeger was too strong for 11th-seed Barbara Potter, defeating her 6-4, 6-1.

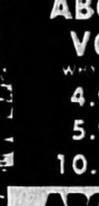

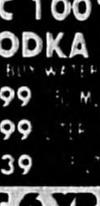

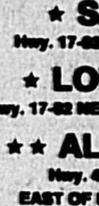

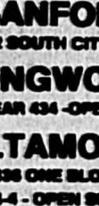

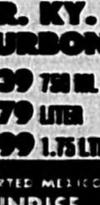

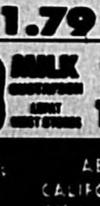

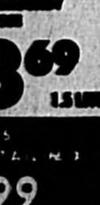

Billie Jean King continued to play well at Wimbledon Tuesday, demolishing Kathy Jordan 6-4, 6-1. The victory earned her a spot in the semi-finals.

Pope Inspires A Nation

By Walter Wisniewski

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Pope John Paul II's visit home set the clock ticking for another explosion of Polish worker unrest, but the alarm bell may not be heard for awhile.

Closer on the agenda of national business is lifting martial law.

It technically remains in effect even though there are no more nightly curfews or any other trappings of the military takeover that snuffed out the above-ground life of the Solidarity union.

The pope wanted martial law to be lifted before he arrived in Poland on his second homecoming tour, which he called a pilgrimage of hope. The regime refused, saying it would monitor the extent of social calm more closely during the papal visit and decide later.

There are signs the political pressure the pope brought to bear against Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski's regime will force that decision to be an affirmative one, and soon.

John Paul came to Poland announcing he would defend all Poles "who have been deprived of their liberties, been wringed and had their dignity trampled upon."

At the Jasna Gora monastery, whose 600th anniversary was the focus of his visit, he declared: "I am a son of this nation and that's why I feel deeply all of its yearnings, its wish to live in truth, in freedom, in justice and social solidarity."

He preached of solidarity with a lower-case "s" repeatedly during the trip. In Wroclaw, the union's underground hotbed, he proclaimed, "To all of you I bring my solidarity and that of the church." Later in the trip, he actually did mention the outlawed free trade union.

There were no riots during the pope's eight days in Poland, but his appearance generated the biggest and most vocal pro-Solidarity demonstrations ever seen.

He also spoke before audiences thought to have totaled 12 million people, and in an unrehearsed gesture, at the end of each of his masses almost every soul present raised an arm in a tribute to Solidarity.

In Warsaw and Poznan, Czestochowa, Katowice and Wroclaw, and finally in Krakow, the pope set down his program for rebuilding faith in Poland. He told the Communist regime it must meet the demands of human rights and worker rights if it is to keep the country on a socialist course.

Not everyone who came to the outdoor church services was a flag-waving Solidarity supporter ready to go on strike or throw a brick to bring down the Communist regime. Far from it.

But the pope's audiences were made up of people who were fiercely loyal to their country and their religion, and overwhelmingly sympathetic to Solidarity.

The regime, which has a history of underestimating the size of any public display that is not organized and sponsored by the government, said 6,850,000 people took part in the public parts of the pope's tour.

Whichever figure is correct, the turnout contrasts sharply with the membership of the Polish Communist Party — slightly more than 2 million — which the authorities insist will forever play "the leading role" in the country's affairs.

The pope's first face-to-face meeting with Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski, at Belvedere Palace in Warsaw at the beginning of his trip, included a call to the government to restore the reforms won by Solidarity in August 1980.

Jaruzelski literally was trembling as he read his own speech, which defended the decision to impose martial law 18 months ago and said Poland would remain firmly in the Soviet orbit.

Jaruzelski's chief spokesman said later the government would not budge in its refusal to talk to anyone who formerly played a leading role in Solidarity.

The day before the pope praised the dramatic events of August 1980 that gave birth to Solidarity. The spirit of the workers of Gdansk, he said, "touched hearts and consciences" everywhere and "amazed the world."

Court Laughter—The End's In Sight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A rare moment of laughter echoed through the Supreme Court's hearing room Monday when Chief Justice Warren Burger mispronounced a colleague's name and blamed it on "end-of-the-term syndrome."

The high court had opened its session just moments before Burger called on Justice John Paul Stevens to announce a decision.

But the introduction came out "Justice Stevenson," evoking a few chuckles in the huge marble courtroom.

Burger attributed the slip to "the end-of-the-term syndrome," which prompted considerable laughter from the audience.

The chief justice was referring to the crush of rulings the court hands down as it wraps up its work each June.

The 1982-83 court term, which opened the first Monday in October, may end this Friday.

Trainer Robot A Hit

You Can Have Your Own E.T.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (UPI) — The long waiting list of buyers for an electronic E.T. — for Educational Trainer — is reminiscent of the lines of people who queued up to see the movie by that name.

Standing barely 2 feet tall, the Hero I robot does not have the swan-like neck and furrowed brow of the Extra-Terrestrial. But it can pick up objects, alert police to burglars, and with an electronic voice, warn you when his batteries are low.

The diminutive robot is not yet practical for home use. It can barely lift one pound with its single, extended arm. But educators have made it a success because Hero I's real value lies in its teaching ability.

Ray Ludwig, manager of the Heathkit Electronics store in San Antonio, explained that Hero I is equipped with sonar, radar and light sensitive devices for movement and object identification. It can respond to voice commands and speak with 64 basic phonetic sounds.

With extra programming, Hero I could be taught any language. It can be programmed from a desk computer or from computer controls on its head.

"He's limited only by what we can think of for him to do," Ludwig said.

Since Hero I has all the components that more complex robots of the future will have and is so easy to program, "it can teach every aspect of robotics," Ludwig said. "And there's been a tremendous void in robotic education."

Since Hero (Heathkit Educational Robot) hit the market about four months ago, sales have exceeded by two or three times the number originally estimated by the Benton Harbor, Mich.-based company, Ludwig said.

Twelve units were sold in San Antonio and nine people are on the waiting list. He estimated that nationally, thousands of Hero I units have been sold.

"It's on an allocation basis now," Ludwig said. "Stores have waiting lists and were selling them as they come off the line."

Hero I is so popular, in fact, that a Tulsa, Okla., salesman had one stolen from his car. Mark Robinson said the robot was taken when someone smashed the windows of his car, which was parked at a vocational-technical school in Bartlesville April 21.

Hero I's success will probably encourage a second generation, practical use robot from Heathkit, and Ludwig said other electronics companies are getting in on the act.

"We've forced some people into the market that weren't ready to come in," he said. "It's something that's going to happen and happen fast. Robotics has been looked on as futuristic. The future is here now."

Ludwig said Heathkit has always been on the "leading edge of technology" and that the company "saw several years ago that it would have to get into robotics."

Ironically, the letters ET, which are imprinted on the robot's side, predate the movie E.T. by several years.

Although Ludwig would not release the total developmental and engineering investment costs of Hero I, he said the first two prototypes cost about $250,000, and that the robot could be sold for more than its $1,500 price tag.

Cook Of The Week

Favorite Dessert Iced With Pineapple Glaze

By Lou Childers
Herald Correspondent

Even though Rhonda Hollingsworth has been cooking since she was 5 years old, she's convinced that the secret to her being a good cook is that she is "still learning."

Rhonda's cooking as a 5-year-old consisted of preparing batter and frying pancakes. "I had a mom that didn't say 'watch me,' but 'help me.' We did the cooking together."

Her mother, Ramona Carter, lives in Sanford near the home of Rhonda and husband, Sam, who make their home in DeBary with their 2-year-old daughter, Rachel.

Rhonda credits her mother with the recipe for her favorite dessert that "is better than pineapple upside-down cake" — Mom's Pineapple Bundt Cake. This extra pineapple feature is iced with a pineapple glaze that is poured over the cake while both are still hot.

Rhonda has a lot of good cooks in her family, she says, including her grandmother, Emma Emmons and her uncle, Charlie Chance, both of Sanford. Rhonda gets together with her sister, Beth McCue, once in awhile to trade recipes, too. "We are just a food-loving group, and a close knit family," says Rhonda.

Rhonda's husband, Sam, is the hard working owner of a local contracting business, Quality Roofing, and Rhonda says when he hits the door of home in the evenings he is ready for one of his favorite meals, Chicken Parmesan.

Another poultry dish that Rhonda likes to prepare is Chicken Tortilla Bake which can be baked in two separate casserole dishes with one being frozen for later use.

The Hollingsworths are also fond of Broccoli Casserole which utilizes wild rice and cheese as well as onions, and Rhonda says all the ingredients combine to make the perfect accompaniment for Cornish game hens or other poultry dishes.

Rhonda says one of the best sources for obtaining new ideas and recipes is her friends, and her mother-in-law, Lois (Mrs. Paul) Hollingsworth.

When Rhonda isn't perfecting her culinary talents, she is apt to be practicing the guitar. She has been playing the guitar for eight years and five years ago she began singing, too, mainly in church and at nursing homes and youth group meetings. "Music is definitely the love of my life," she says, "outside of my husband, Sam, that is."

BROCCOLI CASSEROLE

- 1 box wild rice
- 1 package frozen broccoli
- 1 medium onion, finely chopped

- 2 oz. jar mushrooms, drained
- 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 4 oz. package processed cheese, cut lengthwise in slices
- Cook rice according to box directions. Cook broccoli and drain. Meanwhile, saute onions in butter until tender. Add mushrooms, stirring until hot.
- Combine rice, broccoli and onion mixture in a 2 quart casserole. Cover top with cheese slices. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

MOM'S PINEAPPLE BUNDT CAKE

- 1 yellow cake mix
- 1 package (4 serving size) pineapple gelatin
- 1/2 cup oil
- 4 eggs
- 1 8-oz. can crushed pineapple in heavy syrup (do not drain)
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup sugar
- Prepare cake mix according to directions except use 1/2 cup oil and 4 eggs. Use amount of water specified. Stir in gelatin. Continue as directed, baking in a bundt pan.
- Fifteen minutes before cake is done, combine pineapple, water and sugar in saucepan. Bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer until cake is done. Remove cake from oven. DO NOT remove cake from pan. Spoon one-third of the pineapple mixture over hot cake. Using a knife, loosen cake from sides of an and from inner tube area. Pour remaining pineapple mixture between cake and sides of inner tube area and between cake and sides of pan. Let cake sit in pan 5 minutes to absorb liquid. Invert on cake plate. Garnish with cherries and walnuts if desired.

CHICKEN PARMESAN

- 2 1/2 to 3 pound chicken, cooked and boned
- 16 oz. jar spaghetti sauce
- 8 oz. can tomato puree
- 1/2 teaspoon Italian seasoning
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 3 tablespoons Parmesan cheese
- 1/2 medium green pepper, chopped
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 2 oz. jar sliced mushrooms, drained
- 8 oz. package mozzarella cheese, shredded
- Combine all ingredients, except mozzarella cheese in a 2-quart casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes until bubbly. Remove from oven. Sprinkle on mozzarella. Broil for 5 minutes until slightly golden. Delicious served with rice or your favorite pasta. Serves 4 to 6.

CHICKEN TORTILLA BAKE

- 3 1/2 to 4 pound chicken, cooked, boned and cubed

Claiming to be from a food-loving family, Rhonda Hollingsworth has been cooking since she was 5 years old and admits she is still learning

Steak On The Grill

For a gourmet approach to marinated blade steak on the grill, try Peppery Beef Steak. Inspired by the French classic Steak au Poivre, the economical steaks are marinated in a brandy-laced mixture, then crushed black peppercorns are pressed into both sides before the steaks are broiled to perfection.

PEPPERY BEEF STEAK

- 2 beef blade steaks, cut 3/4 inch thick
- 1/2 cup brandy
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1/4 cup salad oil
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon onion salt
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons crushed black peppercorns
- Combine brandy, water, lemon juice, oil, sugar, onion salt and salt. Place steaks in utility dish or plastic bag; add marinade, turning to coat. Cover dish and marinate in refrigerator 6 to 8 hours (or overnight), turning at least once. Remove steaks from marinade and press crushed peppercorns into surface of both sides. Place steaks on grill over ash-covered coals (or on rack in broiler pan) so surface of meat is 4 inches from heat. Broil at moderate temperature 7 to 10 minutes on each side, depending on degree of doneness desired.

Husband's Joy No Joy To His Wife

DEAR ABBY: I am 52 and George is 54. We've been happily married for 32 years, and until recently I have never had any reason to question his fidelity.

Dear Abby

Three months ago we went to visit our daughter, "Marie" — a 31-year-old divorcee who lives 50 miles away. Shortly after we arrived, a friend of Marie's dropped in. (I'll call her "Joy.") Joy is a 38-year-old divorcee, pretty, vivacious and friendly. When Joy was introduced, George jumped up, embraced her and said, "Any friend of Marie's is a friend of mine!"

After a while, Joy started to leave, so George said, "We're all going out for dinner, won't you join us?" Joy eagerly accepted. During dinner George directed all his conversation to Joy, who seemed quite fascinated with him. (Marie and I kept each other company.) After dinner we drove back to Marie's and George offered to walk Joy to her car. Their "goodbyes" took them 15 minutes!

The next weekend George wanted to visit Marie again, so we went. The minute we arrived he asked her to call Joy and invite her to join us for dinner again. To make a long story short, Abby, this has been going on every weekend since, and I am tired of it.

I finally confronted George about his attentions to Joy, and he said, "Don't be ridiculous, she's just a kid!"

Is a 38-year-old divorcee "just a kid," Abby? What are your thoughts on this? And what should I do?

HUMILIATED

DEAR HUMILIATED: George is obviously infatuated with Joy, and it's anybody's guess as to what's going on in Joy's head. Since she's Marie's friend, tell Marie that you're humiliated over her father's interest in Joy. Beyond that, there is little you can do except put an end to these weekly get-togethers.

DEAR ABBY: When you read this you will probably say, "A typical mother-in-law complaining about her daughter-in-law," but, Abby, every word of this is true.

My daughter-in-law does absolutely nothing for my son — her husband. If he wants a clean shirt, he has to iron it himself before he goes to work in the morning. He also bathes and feeds the baby, does the dishes, vacuums and whatever else she can find for him to do.

Her excuse: She works.

If I heard that my son was getting a divorce tomorrow, it wouldn't surprise me one bit. Sign me...

DISGUSTED IN NEBRASKA

DEAR DISGUSTED: Today, in many households, when both husband and wife work outside the home, they share the household duties and child care as well.

It's to your son's credit (and possibly yours) that he's capable of ironing his own shirts. If he doesn't complain, it's safe to assume that he has no complaints.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend my age (14) who is so conceited she is constantly looking in a mirror. Should I tell her that people notice this and are beginning to talk about her and her conceitness?

BEST FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: As her best friend, show your friendship by giving her reassurance. Most people who are constantly looking in a mirror are not conceited. They are insecure and lacking in self-confidence.

Enrollment Limited In CPR Class At SCC

The Office of Community Instructional Services at Seminole Community College is offering a class in a revolutionary life-saving technique, "Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR)." The course teaches combined techniques of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and external cardiac massage.

Recognized as "the single most effective emergency rescue technique available to the public to date," CPR has been credited with reducing death rates in several metropolitan areas by as much as 50 percent.

Class will meet from 8:30-10:30 p.m. on Thursday, July 7 and July 14. Enrollment is limited to 18 people with a $6 registration fee.

For information, call the Office of Community Instructional Services at Seminole Community College, 523-1450, Ext. 304. From Orlando 843-7001, Ext. 304.

Heritage Cookbook Contest Underway

The Herald's Third Annual Heritage Cookbook Contest is underway. The cookbook will be compiled from favorite recipes submitted by readers. Date of publication is Sunday, Aug. 21. Prizes will be awarded to first place winners in the eight categories and a grand prize will be awarded to the overall winner.

Last year's winner was Evelyn T. West of DeBary. Her winning recipe for Baked Yams and Apples won her a silver tray. Mrs. West said this was her first recipe contest to enter and the recipe she submitted was a family favorite handed down to her by her mother.

The grand prize winner will be announced by a panel of judges at a cook-off on Saturday, Aug. 6, at the Seminole County Agricultural Center on U.S. Highway 17-92 south of Sanford. The judges will select the winner in each category prior to the cook-off.

This year's judges are Barbara Hughes, Shelda Wilkins and Batty Jack.

The eight recipe categories and deadlines are as follows: Appetizers, Salads and Vegetables, July 3-9; Poultry and Seafood, July 10-16; Meat and Casseroles, July 17-23; and Breads-Rolls and Desserts, July 24-30.

The contest is open to anyone except Evening Herald employees and their immediate families. Each contestant is limited to two recipes in each category. Contestants are asked to type or print the recipe with complete instructions for preparation including cooking temperature and the amount of time to cook the recipe. The number of servings is helpful.

Mail recipes to: Cookbook, C/O Evening Herald, P.O. Box 1657, Sanford, 32771.

Golden wedding anniversary celebrants Bob and Laura Clarke have lived in the Sanford community since 1951. 'We have been very happy here,' he says.

Clarkes Honored On Golden Anniversary

By Doris Dietrich
PEOPLE Editor

Mr. and Mrs. William (Bob) J. Clarke, 2410 S. Orange Ave., Sanford, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on June 21.

And Mr. Clark has his own philosophy of a happy 50-year marriage. Be forceful, he good-naturedly suggests, talk things over with your wife and then do exactly as she wants.

In commemoration of the 50th anniversary celebration, the Clarkes were guests of honor at a dinner dance at Mayfair Country Club, beginning at 5 p.m., on the anniversary date. Hosts for the gala event were the couple's children, Judy Clarke of Sanford, and John Clarke and his wife, Joanne, of Westlake Village, Calif. Assisting the hosts was a close friend of the honored couple, Pat Locey.

Mrs. Clarke (Laura) received the guests wearing a pink dress, fashioned with a ruffled neckline, complemented by a white orchid corsage. Mr. Clarke wore a gold-tinted boutonniere in the lapel of his navy blue jacket.

Guests were served hors d'oeuvres before the steak dinner following the cutting of the anniversary cake and a toast by Mr. Clarke to his lovely wife.

Rounding off the perfect evening was dancing to the music of Bob Pingatore and his Little Big Band until 11 p.m.

The couple were married on June 21, 1933, in Saskatchewan, Saskatchewan, Canada. Mr. Clarke had retired from the S.S. Kresge Co. when the family moved from Canada to Lake Worth in 1944. They moved to Sanford in 1951 and became active in the Sanford community.

Mr. Clarke was employed by three Sanford drug stores, Touchton's, Faust's and McReynolds. Mrs. Clarke was employed as bookkeeper for Sanford Boat Works until her retirement.

The couple are members of the First Presbyterian Church, Sanford. They bowl on two teams, the Washday Dropouts and the Pinbusters and are active members of the Over 50 Club of which Mr. Clarke is president. He is a life member of the Elk's Club and is a relief bus driver for the Federation of Senior Citizens of Seminole County. They have three grandchildren.

Family members and friends attending from out-of-town included: Deed Bishop, his sister, Boca Raton; Susan Houston, niece, Grand Blanc, Mich.; Bill and Olga Robinson, sister and brother-in-law of Mrs. Clarke, Saskatoon; Dr. and Mrs. Carl Lozier, Lake Worth; Marie Schoonmaker, Cleveland, Ohio; and Maxine and Dolph Deisch, Lake Worth.

Many Southern Firms Go Public

By Candee Wilds
United Press International
 Southeastern companies are going public in record-breaking numbers, to take advantage of heightened interest in stock investment sparked by the bull market that began last summer.

Formerly private companies, realizing "it's a good time to get their stock out," generally have seen their value skyrocket as the Dow Jones continued reaching record highs, analysts say.

Some experts predict the number of public offerings will continue to increase in the third and fourth quarters, possibly matching record increases earlier this year. But others fear the new firms are becoming over-valued and prices could collapse if performances don't meet expectations.

In the first four months of 1983, 13 Southeastern companies began trading publicly, compared to just three new offerings in the same period last year. Since last July, at least 22 privately-held companies have gone public.

"People, because of the new highs that the market has been reaching, are very interested in being involved in the stock market," said Laura Ledford, a stock analyst for E.F.

Hutton in Atlanta. "People are always interested in new companies, new faces."

E.F. Hutton has been the lead underwriter of four of the 23 new offerings, and has found the risk worthwhile. The four firms, three of which are savings and loan associations, have increased an average of more than 50 percent. The fourth, Quality Micro Systems Inc., a computer firm based in Mobile, Ala., has increased in value 18 percent.

The kind of businesses going public parallels to a large extent the kind of businesses that are proven winners on Wall Street. Seven of the 23 new firms are related to high technology, four are S&L's (all in Florida) and three are fast food franchises.

Savings and loans, which are finding public ownership increasingly attractive, have done well on the market as interest rates dropped and more people assumed new home mortgages. Stock prices of the four new S&L's that have come on the market since January have increased from 56 to 70 percent.

Firms specializing in computer-related equipment or other high technology concerns have been "very hot" investment prospects.

Correction

Seminole County's Retired Senior Volunteer Program has been asked to increase its volunteers from 375 to 450 and to increase the number of hours served by volunteers to 88,000.

It was incorrectly reported last week that the agency had been asked to increase the number of hours its employees work. The agency has only two employees to work with the 375 volunteers.

RSVP volunteers work with schools, health care facilities, government agencies and non-profit organizations.

Private Citizens May Be Shuttle Passengers Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The space shuttle is making space flight so routine that a NASA committee says it is time for the agency to start planning to carry reporters and educators into orbit to tell the public what it's really like.

The task force said individuals with only minimal training — about 100 hours over two months — can be flown as shuttle passengers starting in the mid-1980s "without undue risk to either crew safety or accomplishment of a specific mission."

"The flight experience is not particularly stressful if the person is trained as to what to expect," the task force report said Tuesday. "If trained, he/she could adapt easily to the habitability requirements and the mission activities."

The panel, which included shuttle astronaut Richard Truly and author James Michener, said the medical requirements need not be as rigorous as those for astronauts and should focus on preventing hazardous medical or psychological situations in space.

"Our fact finding also indicates that it is desirable for NASA to fly observers on the shuttle for the purpose of adding to the public's understanding of space flight," the committee said.

The task force report went to NASA administrator James Beggs on June 21 — when Sally Ride was flying aboard the shuttle Challenger as America's first woman in space.

"NASA should take the next step in opening space flight to all people by flying observers consistent with the purposes in the Space Act," the report said.

The report suggested three possible categories and functions for the non-astronauts:

- An observer-communicator could provide a comprehensive visual mission history, as well as real time reports.
- An observer-communicator could provide a written and interpretive history that also covers the scientific, technical and institutional achievements that make the program possible.
- An educator-communicator could teach on the science, engineering and biological principles integral to manned space flight and illustrated by shuttle missions. These ground and inflight segments could be a part of a course for high school students.

The Meal That Has Everything

It's a bigger challenge every day to serve meals that are imaginative, flavorful and right for your family's needs. Here's one that has everything! Golden herbed chicken in a garden of fresh vegetables, followed by a colorful Fruited Spanish Cream.

Beautiful? Definitely. Flavorful? Unquestionably. Nutritious? It's a meal filled with the fine protein of chicken, eggs and milk, and the vitamins and minerals of fresh fruits and vegetables.

The tender fresh asparagus, new potatoes and crisp celery combine with chicken quarters in a meal-in-one dish, Chicken in the Garden, succulent with fresh flavor — low in fat and high in all important nutrients for your family.

Chicken is indispensable to those watching their weight or on other special diets, according to the National Broiler Council. The broiler-fryer has high quality protein that no other meat exceeds and few equal, yet is significantly lower in calories than red meats.

CHICKEN IN THE GARDEN

- 1 broiler-fryer chicken, quartered
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, divided
 - 1 teaspoon dried leaf tarragon, divided
 - 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 - 1 pound small new potatoes, pared
 - 2 tablespoons snipped fresh chives
 - 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
 - 2 cups diagonally cut celery pieces
 - 1 pound asparagus (break off ends of stems where they snap easily)
 - 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
- Sprinkle chicken on both sides with 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon tarragon. Heat butter in large skillet; add chicken, skin side down, and brown slowly on both sides. Transfer to shallow 3- or 4-quart casserole. Add potatoes to butter in skillet, cook slowly over low heat for about 5 minutes and add to casserole. Sprinkle chicken and potatoes with chives, parsley and drippings from skillet. Cover tightly with casserole lid or aluminum foil. Bake in 375° F. oven 30 minutes. Remove from oven and remove cover. Add celery pieces and asparagus. Sprinkle vegetables with remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon tarragon; spoon juices in casserole over asparagus and celery. Drizzle with lemon juice. Cover tightly and bake 30 minutes longer or until chicken and vegetables are tender, basting occasionally with juices in casserole. Yield: 4 servings.

MEDITERRANEAN CHICKEN

- 1 broiler-fryer chicken, quartered
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, divided
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
 - 1 medium onion, chopped
 - 1/2 cup chicken broth
 - 1 medium eggplant, pared and cubed
 - 2 medium tomatoes, peeled and chopped
 - 1/4 teaspoon each, dried leaf basil, thyme and oregano
 - 1/4 cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
- Sprinkle chicken with 1 teaspoon salt and pepper. Heat butter in a large skillet; add chicken and brown on both sides. Remove from skillet. Add onion and cook until tender. Add broth, scraping brown particles from bottom of skillet. Add eggplant and tomatoes; sprinkle with herbs and remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt. Add chicken; spoon some of the vegetable mixture over chicken. Cover; simmer 30 minutes, until chicken is tender. Serve sprinkled with grated Parmesan cheese. Yield: 4 servings.

FRUITED SPANISH CREAM

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
 - 3/4 cup sugar, divided
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 4 eggs, separated
 - 4 cups milk
 - 2 teaspoons vanilla
 - Strawberries, washed, hulled and halved
 - Fresh orange sections
 - Banana slices
- Mix together gelatine, 1/4 cup sugar and salt in saucepan. Beat together egg yolks and milk; stir into gelatine mixture. Place over low heat and cook, stirring constantly, until gelatine dissolves and mixture thickens slightly, 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture thickens enough to mound slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually add remaining 1/4 cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into gelatine mixture. Turn into 2-quart bowl and chill until set. Garnish with fruit and serve with additional fruit. Yield: 8 servings.

STRAWBERRY-RHUBARB MOUSSE

- 1 pound rhubarb, cut in 1-inch pieces (3 cups)
 - 3/4 cup cold water, divided
 - 1 1/2 cups sugar, divided
 - 2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
 - 1 pint strawberries, washed and hulled
 - 2 egg whites
 - 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
 - Red food coloring
- Put rhubarb with 1/4 cup of the water and 1/4 cups sugar in a saucepan. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 10 minutes, until rhubarb pieces come apart into "strings." Soften gelatine in remaining 1/4 cup water. Add to hot rhubarb mixture; stir until gelatine dissolves. Mash strawberries or puree in electric blender; add to gelatine mixture. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add remaining 1/4 cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into gelatine mixture; fold in whipped cream. Add a few drops red food coloring to tint mixture a delicate pink. Turn into a 2-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. If desired, garnish with additional strawberries and whipped cream. Yield: 10 to 12 servings.

YOGURT VEGETABLE MOLD

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
 - 1 cup cold water
 - 1 1/2 cups plain yogurt
 - 1 1/2 cups creamed cottage cheese
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 2 tablespoons chopped scallions or fresh chives
 - 1 tablespoon snipped fresh dill or 1 teaspoon dried dill weed
 - 2 teaspoons lemon juice
 - 1/4 cup pared, seeded, diced cucumber
 - 1/2 cup chopped celery
 - 1/2 cup chopped radishes
 - 1/4 cup shredded carrot
 - 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- Sprinkle gelatine over cold water in saucepan. Place over low heat; stir constantly until gelatine dissolves, 4 or 5 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in yogurt, cottage cheese, salt, scallions, dill and lemon juice. Chill, stirring occasionally, until slightly thickened. Fold in vegetables. Turn into a 5-cup mold; chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens. Yield: 8 to 8 servings.

Wake up to luscious Fruit-Filled Omelets

Breakfasts For A Good Morning

All those rumors about breakfast are true. It is, indeed, the most important meal of the day, for research shows that it directly affects performance levels.

A study published by the Pennsylvania State University Nutrition Education Center notes that breakfast eaters had a significantly better work rate and output.

Whether it's a quick breakfast drink or the luxurious omelet, breakfast will bolster the rest of your day.

PEACHY BLENDER BREAKFAST DRINK

- 2 medium-size, ripe peaches, peeled, pitted, sliced
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 1 egg
 - 1 teaspoon dark brown sugar
- Combine all ingredients in container of electric blender; cover; process until smooth. Makes: 1 serving.

BANANA-BERRY THICK SHAKE

- 1 cup fresh strawberries
- 1 medium-size, ripe banana
- 1 egg
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1 to 2 teaspoons sugar (depending on sweetness of fruit)

In container of electric blender combine all ingredients; cover; process until smooth. Makes: 2 servings.

FRUIT-FILLED OMELETS

- Filling:
- 1 pint fresh strawberries, hulled and sliced
 - 2 medium nectarines, sliced (2 cups)
 - 2 teaspoons sugar
 - 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- In medium bowl combine strawberries, nectarines, sugar and cinnamon; mix well. Let stand at room temperature 30 minutes.

- Omelets:
- 8 eggs
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 3 tablespoons sugar
 - 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, divided
 - 1 cup vanilla yogurt

In small bowl beat eggs, milk and sugar with an egg beater or wire whisk until light and frothy. In small skillet melt 1 tablespoon butter; pour in 1/2 cup of the egg mixture. With spatula, carefully push cooked portions at edges toward center so uncooked portion flows underneath. Slide pan rapidly back and forth over heat to keep eggs from sticking. While top is still moist spread 1/2 cup fruit filling over half the omelet. With pancake turner fold omelet in half and turn out onto heated plate with quick flip of the wrist. Top with yogurt and a fresh strawberry, if desired. Repeat with remaining butter, egg and fruit mixture. Makes: 4 servings.

Portable Picnic Fare Is Far From Ordinary

From campgrounds to beaches, backpacking to fishing, it's hard to resist the fascination of foods sizzling over hot coals. The new variety of portable grills lets you barbecue almost anything a bigger backyard grill could. Choose from smaller versions of the kettle cooker, covered rectangular cookers and small open braziers, in either charcoal or gas models.

Many portable grills, for durability and easy cleaning, have the same heavy-duty porcelain finish as the bigger grills. Stainless steel cooking grids are height-adjustable. There are vents for better temperature control than is possible with hibachis, and cooking areas are also larger. Portables with lids help control flare-ups, keep smoke to a minimum, protect food from the elements and reduce the need for turning foods. Sturdy legs, windshields and lock-tops for easy carrying are other important features for more expert grilling away from home.

Tender marinated London broil, apricot-orange barbecued chicken and spicy barbecued ribs are only a few of the recipes developed in the Karo corn syrup test kitchens especially for barbecuing on a portable grill. To add flavor to poultry and to improve less tender cuts of meat, the recipes call for marinating several hours or overnight. Marinades, which contain oil, herbs and spices, vinegar or lemon juice and corn syrup, penetrate meat fibers to help tenderize. In some cases the marinade is used as a basting sauce. The corn syrup in the sauce or marinade, balances and blends the flavors and helps the sauce cling to foods, locking in important juices. It also provides the right consistency for barbecue sauces — not too thick or thin. To prevent burning, wait until the last 15 minutes of cooking to baste with the sauce.

To ensure successful outdoor feasts every time, the Barbecue Industry Association also recommends:

- setting up the grill on a flat surface, away from trees, dry leaves or brush.
- lining the bottom of the grill with foil so ashes can be wrapped in neat packages and disposed of when cool.
- using a good charcoal starter when cooking on a charcoal grill — the new chimney charcoal starters are quick and reliable and, like the grills, are light and portable. Or, tote small bags of the convenient instant lighting briquets.
- using long wooden-handled utensils designed for the grill. Gloves and mitts come in handy, too.

MARINATED LONDON BROIL

- 1/2 cup light or dark corn syrup
 - 1/2 cup lemon juice
 - 1/2 cup soy sauce
 - 1/4 cup corn oil
 - 2 tablespoons prepared spicy mustard
 - 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 2 cloves, garlic, minced or pressed
 - 2 pounds beef top round for London Broil
- In shallow baking dish stir together corn syrup, lemon juice, soy sauce, corn oil, mustard, ginger, pepper and garlic. Add beef; turn to coat well. Cover; refrigerate several hours or overnight. Remove from marinade. Grill 6 inches from source of heat, turning and basting frequently with marinade, 20 to 30 minutes or until cooked to desired doneness. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

APRICOT-ORANGE BARBECUED CHICKEN

- 1 can (5 1/2 oz) apricot nectar (about 1/2 cup)
 - 1/2 cup light or dark corn syrup
 - 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 2 teaspoons corn starch
 - 2 tablespoons orange juice
 - 1 broiler-type chicken, cut in parts
- In 1-quart saucepan stir together apricot nectar, corn syrup, orange rind and salt. Stirring frequently, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 5 minutes. In small bowl stir together corn starch and orange juice until smooth. Stir into saucepan. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Grill chicken 6 inches from source of heat, turning frequently, 30 minutes. Brush with sauce. Grill, brushing with sauce and turning frequently, about 15 minutes longer or until fork-tender. Makes 4 servings.

SPICY BARBECUED RIBS

- 2 sides (4 lb) spareribs
 - Water
 - 1/2 cup light or dark corn syrup
 - 1/2 cup prepared mustard
 - 3 tablespoons vinegar
 - 3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
 - 1/2 to 1 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- Place spareribs in large saucepot; add water to cover. Bring to boil over high heat. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 45 minutes or until tender. In small bowl stir together corn syrup, mustard, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce and hot pepper sauce until well blended. Drain ribs well. Brush with sauce. Grill ribs 6 inches from source of heat, brushing with sauce and turning frequently, 15 to 20 minutes or until browned. Cut into serving-size pieces. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

SWEET AND SOUR PORK CHOPS

- 1 tablespoon corn starch
 - 1/2 cup light or dark corn syrup
 - 1/2 cup red wine vinegar
 - 1/4 cup catsup
 - 3 tablespoons soy sauce
 - 4 center-cut pork chops (about 1-inch thick)
- In 1-quart saucepan stir together corn starch, corn syrup, vinegar, catsup and soy sauce until smooth. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 1 minute. Grill pork chops 6 inches from source of heat, turning frequently, 30 minutes. Brush with sauce. Grill, brushing with sauce and turning frequently, 15 to 30 minutes longer or until pork is tender. Reheat remaining sauce and serve with pork chops. Makes 4 servings.

INSIDE-OUT CHEESEBURGERS

- 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
 - 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 1/4 cup light or dark corn syrup
 - 1/4 cup red wine vinegar
 - 1 clove garlic, minced or pressed
 - 1 teaspoon dried basil leaves
 - 1/2 teaspoon dried oregano leaves
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon crushed dried red pepper
 - 1 pound ground beef
 - 6 thin slices mozzarella cheese
 - 4 tomato slices
- In 1-quart saucepan stir together tomato sauce, onion, corn syrup, vinegar, garlic, basil, oregano, salt and crushed dried red pepper. Stirring frequently, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 15 minutes. On waxed paper form ground beef into 8 patties about 1/4-inch thick. Leaving 1-inch edge, place on each of the 4 patties 1 slice cheese, 1 slice tomato, 1 slice cheese. Top with remaining patties. Press edges together. Reshape by pushing edges toward center. Grill, brushing with sauce occasionally and turning once, 8 to 10 minutes or until cooked to desired doneness. Reheat remaining sauce and serve with burgers. Makes 4.

PORK AND BEANS

- 1 pound dried navy (pea) beans
 - 2 quarts water, divided
 - 1/2 pound salt pork
 - 1 green pepper, coarsely chopped (about 1 cup)
 - 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 1/2 cup dark corn syrup
 - 1/2 cup chili sauce
 - 1 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- Rinse beans. In 4-quart saucepan place rinsed beans and 1 quart of the water. Bring to boil. Cover and boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat; let stand 1 hour. Drain. In 4-quart saucepan place beans, remaining 1 quart water and salt pork. Cover; boil 30 minutes. Drain. Return beans and salt pork to saucepan. Stir in 1 cup water, green pepper, onion, corn syrup, chili sauce, mustard and pepper. Cover; bring to boil, reduce heat and cook gently 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Uncover and continue cooking 30 minutes or until beans are tender. Makes 8 (1/2 cup) servings.

Fourth Of July Picnic Fare Can Be Prepared The Day Before

Preparation for a Fourth of July picnic can be done the day before, chilled and ready for packing in coolers to be transported to the beach or another favorite picnic spot.

All of the foods for this picnic are served cold. Be sure to keep all the foods well chilled right up to the serving time. Any foods that contain dairy products, eggs, meat, or fish are subject to spoiling quickly. A food such as Potato Salad should be kept well chilled by ice en route.

Cold fried chicken, potato salad, baked beans, fresh vegetables with dips, deviled eggs, fresh fruits and chocolate cake complete the menu that will please all the picnickers and can be prepared the day before.

POTATO SALAD (SERVES 12)

- 1 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup hot water
- 12 medium potatoes, peeled and quartered

- 1/2 cup Italian salad dressing
- 1/4 cup water

Midge Mycoff

Home Economist
Seminole Community College

- 1/2 cup vinegar
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon white pepper
- 3 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1/4 cup whipping cream
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/4 cup chopped green onion
- 2 tablespoons snipped fresh parsley

4 hard cooked eggs, sliced

In a 3-quart casserole combine 1 teaspoon salt, hot water and potatoes. Cover. Microwave at 100% for 20-25 minutes, or until fork tender. Stir at least once during cooking time. Drain and cut into slices or cubes. Toss with Italian dressing and 1/4 cup water. Refrigerate until cool.

In a 2-quart batterbowl mix sugar, vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, mustard and pepper. Microwave at 100% for 2-4 minutes, or until boiling. Stir a small amount of hot mixture into beaten eggs, return to hot mixture and stir constantly.

Reduce power to 50% and microwave 2-3 minutes or until thickened. Stirring with wire whip every 30 seconds. Stir in butter until melted. Refrigerate until chilled.

Mix cream into chilled dressing. Drain potatoes, add celery, green onion, and parsley to the potatoes. Pour dressing over potatoes, tossing to coat. Garnish with sliced eggs. Chill.

Either or both of these dips would be a good addition to the picnic basket.

FRESH ZUCCHINI

- 1 1/2 cups shredded zucchini (1 medium)
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup dairy sour cream
- 1 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- Dash of cayenne

Place shredded zucchini between layers of paper towel. Press down to remove excess moisture. In a 1-quart casserole combine onion, green pepper and butter. Microwave at 100% for 1-3 minutes or until onion is tender. Stir in zucchini and remaining ingredients. Chill at least 2 hours.

CHIPPED BEEF DIP

- 1/4 cup chopped green onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese
- 1/4 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/4 cup half and half or milk
- 1 package (2 1/2 oz.) dried beef, chopped
- 2 tablespoons snipped fresh parsley
- 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

In a 1-quart casserole combine green onion, garlic, and butter. Microwave at 100% for 30-60 seconds or until butter melts. Add cream cheese and microwave at 100% for 45 seconds to 1 1/2 minutes, or until cream cheese is softened. Mix in remaining ingredients. Chill 2 hours or overnight.

When The Clan Gathers For 'Fourth' Celebration

For Independence Day, a trip back to our culinary beginnings results in a perfect menu. Most colonial wives aroused appetites with a big pot of baked beans. The dish would wait on the back of the stove, simmering gently, while the Minute Men tended to their patriotic duties. Baked beans are perhaps the most universally popular of the great dishes that New England cooks contrived for rib-sticking, nutritious meals to nourish the earliest Americans.

For the Glorious Fourth then, Revolutionary Baked Beans should be in first place on the menu. White beans, soaked overnight and simmered for thirty minutes, are transferred to a casserole. They are combined with molasses, tomato sauce, salt pork and onions, a mixture made pungent with hot pepper sauce and fragrant with orange juice from Florida. The citrus zest of Florida orange juice accentuates the aromatic flavors and adds a piquance that adds pizzazz to this classic dish.

Summer House Slaw is the perfect accompaniment to the rich baked beans. Shredded cabbage and carrots are bathed in a delightful dressing, which perks mayonnaise with a touch of vinegar, grapefruit juice from Florida and fennel. The crisp texture of the vegetables lends a crunchy contrast to the succulent grapefruit sections.

Firecracker Ice Pops are festive thirst quenchers that will also light up the holiday spread. Frozen orange juice surrounds the rich banana center while a gay maraschino cherry acts as the fuse. Children will adore them and grown ups, too, will appreciate the tart sweet taste. It's the perfect refreshment for a glorious Fourth of July.

REVOLUTIONARY BAKED BEANS

- 1 pound dry white beans
- 2 cups orange juice from Florida
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup molasses
- 2 tablespoons hot pepper sauce
- 1/4 pound salt pork, cut in 1/4-inch cubes

Soak beans overnight or according to package directions. Bring beans to boiling; simmer 30 minutes. Drain; reserve liquid, adding water if necessary to measure 2 cups. Transfer beans to a 3-quart casserole or bean pot. Add 2 cups bean liquid, orange juice, tomato sauce, onion, molasses, hot pepper sauce and salt pork; mix well. Cover. Bake in a 300°F. oven 4 to 5 hours; stir at least once every hour. Bake uncovered during last hour to thicken sauce. Yield 8 to 10 servings.

SUMMER HOUSE SLAW

- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup grapefruit juice from Florida
- 1 tablespoon cider vinegar
- 2 teaspoons grated onion
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon crushed fennel seeds
- 1 small head cabbage, shredded (8 cups)
- 3 medium carrots, shredded (1 cup)
- 1 cup Florida grapefruit sections

In large bowl blend mayonnaise, grapefruit juice, vinegar, onion, sugar, salt and fennel seeds. Add cabbage, carrots and grapefruit sections; mix well. Cover. Chill until serving. Yield, 6 servings.

FIRECRACKER ICE POPS

- 2 large bananas, each cut into 6 chunks
- 6 maraschino cherries with stems
- 6 wood skewers
- 1 quart orange juice from Florida

Arrange 2 banana chunks and 1 cherry on a round wooden skewer, with the cherry at the tip of the skewer. Repeat with remaining fruit and skewers. Place skewers in six empty 6-ounce frozen orange juice cans, with cherry stems resting on the bottom of the cans. Fill can with orange juice; place in freezer. When almost frozen, stand sticks in upright position. Freeze until firm. Remove cans from freezer 5 minutes before serving. Pull pops out of can. Pull cherry stems out of ice to resemble the fuse of a firecracker. Yield 6 popsicles.

Video Cookies Are The Latest

America's latest craze has the family lined up in front of the television screen waiting for their chance to repel the ghostly Blinksies, Pinkies and Clydes from chomping up the lovable hero. Outwitting them has become a passion for millions of youngsters and nearly as many adults.

In the heat of battle, it's wise to have emergency rations available and a supply of Video Cookies should do the trick. The delicious, light and crisp cookies which perfectly replicate the characters in you-know-what, will stay the pangs of hunger and delight the hungry warriors. Made from a butter cookie base, the cookie dough is rolled out 1/8-inch. Pure frozen orange juice concentrate from Florida, undiluted, gives the cookies their zesty flavor and an old-fashioned goodness that satisfies. It's easy to make other characters from the same basic dough and children will find it fun to out-do each other in rendering all the modern monsters.

VIDEO COOKIES

- 3 1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/4 cups butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup plus 3 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate from Florida, thawed, undiluted, divided
- 6 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
- Colored sugar
- Candy coated chocolates

In large bowl mix flour, sugar and salt. Using a pastry blender cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse meal. Stir in 1/2 cup concentrated orange juice and mix to form a dough; press into a ball. Wrap; chill 30 minutes. On a lightly floured board, use a floured rolling pin to roll dough: 1/8-inch thick. Cut into shapes that resemble video game characters. Place on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in a 400°F. oven 8 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool thoroughly on wire racks. In small bowl combine confectioners' sugar and remaining 3 tablespoons orange juice concentrate. Spread glaze on cookies. Sprinkle the female character's bow with colored sugar. Sprinkle ghostly creatures with colored sugar. Use candy coated chocolates for eyes. Yield: About 3 dozen cookies (3 1/2-inches in diameter.)

ORANGE BERRY FREEZE

- 1 1/2 cups orange juice from Florida
 - 1/2 cup sliced fresh strawberries
 - 1 cup vanilla ice cream
- Combine all ingredients in container of electric blender; cover. Process 40 seconds until smooth. Serve immediately. Yield: 2 servings.

The following recipes are from the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) cookbook. The book is available at the RSVP office.

CHICKEN STUFFED EGGS

- 12 hard cooked eggs
 - 1/4 cup flaked cooked chicken
 - 1/2 cup chopped celery
 - 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 cup mayonnaise
 - Paprika
- Cut eggs in half lengthwise. Remove yolks and mash.

Combine chicken, egg yolks, celery, mustard, salt, and mayonnaise; mix well. Stuff whites with mixture. Sprinkle with paprika. Serves 12.

Mynette Sandhaus JEZEBEL SAUCE

- 16 oz. pineapple preserves
 - 16 oz. apple jelly
 - 1/2 small can dry mustard
 - 4 oz. fresh horseradish
 - 1 tablespoon cracked pepper
- Blend on slow speed and serve over Philadelphia cream cheese with wheat thins or other crackers.

Joan Madison SHRIMP SPREAD

- 8 oz. pkg. softened cream cheese
- 1 can cream of mushroom soup
- 1/4 cup ketchup
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- Dash Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 lb. cooked shrimp

Blend all ingredients except shrimp with electric hand mixer or by hand. Blend until well mixed. Cut shrimp into pieces then stir into cream cheese mixture. Serve on party bread or crackers.

Gwen L. Howell CORNED BEEF SALAD

- 1 can corned beef
- 2 small pkg. or 1 large pkg. lemon Jell-O
- 2 cup mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons grated onion
- 2 green peppers
- 2 cup chopped celery
- Pinch of salt

Mix Jell-O as per pkg. directions; cool. Crush up beef; mix other ingredients and stir in. Chill until congealed. Serve on lettuce leaf with crackers.

Beverly Wells SHRIMP SALAD

- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1-4/8 oz. can small shrimp, drained
- 1/2 cup chopped green peppers
- 1/2 cup grated carrots
- 1/2 cup grated onions
- 1 stalk finely chopped celery

Dissolve lemon Jell-O in hot water. Let stand until syrupy. Mix all the rest of the ingredients together and add to syrupy Jell-O. Chill for several hours before serving on lettuce.

Maxine Marsh BAKED TOMATO AND CHEESE

- 1-#303 can GA red tomatoes
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons chopped onion
- 6 tablespoons bread crumbs
- 1/4 cup grated cheese
- 2 teaspoons butter

Mix first three ingredients together. Place 1/2 of tomatoes in baking dish; cover with bread crumbs and 1/2 of cheese. Dot with butter. Add remaining tomatoes and top with cheese formed in a circle. Bake in a moderate 350 degree oven 30 minutes. Serves 4 or 5.

Trapped Gas Result Of Spastic Colon

DEAR DR. LAMB - I have been experiencing what I think is a colon problem for about 10 years. My symptoms include pain in the abdominal area that moves around from my left side to the navel area, and tremendous gas pressure. Could it be that my colon is irritated, clamps down at times and won't allow food to pass, causing tremendous gas and pressure? In my case it is relieved only by a continual stream of belching - sometimes for hours.

then have a disturbed contraction rhythm that causes pain in other areas, too - sometimes quite severe pain.

There are many things a person can do to minimize the pain and discomfort from spastic colon problems. These include bulk, proper diet and good habits. I have discussed these in The Health Letter 16-4, Spastic Colon, Irregularity and Constipation, which I am sending you.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I had a goller in my neck when I was 16 and my doctor at that time had me take drops of iodine in a glass of water. He also painted the growth on the outside of my neck with iodine. Well, it left. Now I'm 73 years old and it's starting to grow back and feels heavy at times.

What do you suggest doing? This doctor passed away years ago.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I must see a doctor and let him examine your neck. What you have now may not be at all what you had as a young girl. While I don't want to frighten you, there is always the possibility that you could have a cancer or even an enlargement of something besides your thyroid.

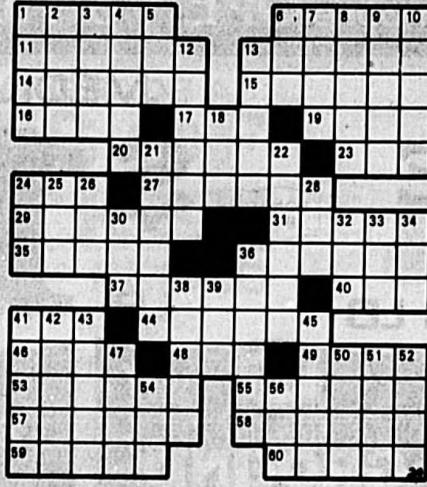

Otherwise, it is interesting that you write from an area that had salt mines in the state when you were young and the salt contained no iodine. Areas where iodine deficiency existed did indeed cause large numbers of thyroid goiters and they responded to iodine. We don't see that problem in the United States or Canada anymore.

When you have a spastic colon the lower colon, before it enters the rectum, goes into spasm, shutting off passage of gases and undigested food residue. The gas in the colon is trapped and the trapped gas causes a lot of the symptoms people complain about. When the spasm or cramp relaxes and the distended colon can evacuate gas and waste material, the discomfort ceases.

You can't belch it out because the colon does not connect to the small intestine or stomach. You can have pain from spasms and the colon can

DEAR READER - Your theory is partially correct in terms of what happens when you have a spastic colon. And incidentally, surveys show that a very high percentage of the general public does have some feature of a spastic colon part of the time.

There is a valve where the colon joins the small intestine. When it is shut, it blocks the passage between the large intestine and the small intestine. That prevents gas from the colon or food material from backing into your small intestine.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY JUNE 30, 1963 This coming year you may be drawn back into a situation which was never resolved to your advantage. Fresh approaches will be used to give you the results you desire.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Sometimes your hunches are right on target, but today they may be unreliable. Put your trust in your logic and common sense. Order now: The NEW Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $1 for your Cancer Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead. Be sure to give your zodiac sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The setting will have an influence on the outcome of events today. Don't discuss serious matters in a frivolous atmosphere.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Choose friendship over furthering personal ambitions if you have to make a choice today. A pal is worth more than a temporary gain.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You will be successful in your endeavors today, but you might be a little slow getting out of the starting gate because you may doubt your abilities.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If your heart isn't in pursuing material ventures today, shelve them temporarily. Involve yourself in activities which bring you enjoyment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Do not permit small distractions to get you off-course today if there's something important you wish to finalize. It can be done if you concentrate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Even though you can now adjust things more to your advantage, honor agreements as they stand. It'll win you the respect of your associates.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your financial prospects look very good today if you're prepared to work for what you get. Don't seek something for nothing.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You can be in for a pleasant surprise today when you discover someone you're interested in favors you over your competition.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Thoughtless early actions might produce negative effects. However, you'll right your wrongs because you'll desire to please those you love.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you and a friend have not been on the best of terms lately, steps can be taken today to correct the situation. Make the first move.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't be wishy-washy today about speaking up for things to which you're justly entitled. Conditions favor you for collecting what's yours.

WIN AT BRIDGE

and had nothing to do with metal.

This time Portia gave him the opening lead and told him to study very carefully. She retired to an alcove and started to sing quietly. Bassanio was intent on the problem, but couldn't help hearing Portia singing. "The king of hearts, he made some tart."

Even Bassanio knew that the proper rhyme was "The queen of hearts." "Could there be any reason why she had said 'king'?" Bassanio wasn't too good a bridge player, but he did see the king of hearts in dummy. Did Portia want him to play that card?

That nine of clubs lead looked like a singleton. What had the king of hearts to do with that? Now Bassanio let dummy win that club lead and led his heart majesty. East played low. Bassanio chucked his five of spades. The successful loser-on-loser play had made it impossible for East to gain the lead. Bassanio had won both the rubber and the fair Portia.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby Bassanio, the only suitor left, could have chosen the gold or silver problem. But if you recall your Shakespeare, Bassanio was good looking but not too smart. He thought that "lead" meant a problem involving the opening lead
