

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS REFUSE 10 PER CENT TAX RAISE OF EQUALIZER

No Reason for Seminole Standing Raise When Others Refuse

WE STAND PAT

ON THE PROPOSITION THAT OUR COUNTY WAS RAISED LAST YEAR AND IS PAYING SHARE

The Board of County Commissioners for Seminole county met at the call of the chairman at 10 a. m. Saturday, April 22nd. Present: Chairman L. A. Brumley, and Commissioners S. W. Entzinger, and E. Curlett, with V. E. Douglass, Deputy Clerk and C. M. Hand, sheriff, in attendance.

Absent: Commissioners: L. P. Hagan and O. P. Swope.

Chairman L. A. Brumley announced that the purpose of this meeting was to take up the matter of the raise of taxes in Seminole county, as ordered by Hon. M. L. Dawson, state tax equalizer.

Clerk of the Board here read a letter from Mr. Dawson, wherein he agrees to accept a 5% raise instead of a 10% raise as at first ordered.

Comr. C. W. Entzinger offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, which was duly seconded by Comr. E. Curlett, and adopted.

Whereas, The County of Seminole is now assessed at a higher per cent of actual value, than most of the counties of the State, and,

Whereas, The Board of County Commissioners in and for Seminole County, instructed the Tax Assessor of said county, to make a flat raise of 10% on the 1921 Tax Roll, which he did, and,

Whereas, The Tax Assessor of Seminole county has informed this board that the Tax Roll for 1922, will show an increase of approximately 3% over the 1921 assessment, and,

Whereas, at the time this Board accepted the raise of 10% as ordered by the State Tax Equalizer, they were under the impression that all other counties in the state would be raised in proportion, and thereby cause an equalization of taxes, and that this general raise over the state would allow the state millage to be lowered, and,

Whereas, the citizens and tax payers of Seminole county have raised considerable protest against this raise of 10 per cent, and have requested this Board of County Commissioners to use their efforts to get the order of the State Tax Equalizer, ordering a 10% raise, rescinded, and,

Whereas, this Board of County Commissioners do believe that in fairness and justice to Seminole county, the state tax equalizer should rescind his order in reference to a raise in Seminole county,

Therefore, Be It Resolved, by the Board of County Commissioners of Seminole county, that inasmuch as the Hon. M. L. Dawson, State Equalizer of Taxes has seen fit to rescind his order in several of the counties of the state, this Board of County Commissioners do hereby urgently request the Hon. M. L. Dawson, to rescind his order in reference to a raise in Seminole County.

Adopted this the 22nd day of April, A. D. 1922.

L. A. BRUMLEY, Cbm.
C. W. ENTZINGER,
E. CURLETT,
Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County, Fla.

Attest:
E. A. DOUGLASS, Clerk,
By V. E. DOUGLASS, D. C.
The application for radium treatment of Clara Galloway was approved by this Board.

There being no further business this board adjourned to meet again at their next regular meeting held Tuesday, May 2nd, A. D. 1922.

(By The Associated Press)
TAMPA, April 25.—Over long distance telephone former governor Albert W. Gilchrist, at Jacksonville, last night informed the Tampa Morning Tribune that he had decided to be a candidate for the United States senate in the democratic primary of June 8, against Senator Park Trammell, who seeks re-election. The former governor has been meeting with friends at Jacksonville the last few days and his decision is a result of these meetings.

General Gilchrist was governor of Florida from 1908 to 1912, being succeeded to the office by Mr. Trammell who went from the gubernatorial mansion into the senate. Six years ago, when Mr. Trammell sought and won the senatorship against N. P. Bryan, then senator, General Gilchrist and Perry G. Wall also were candidates.

WHY SANFORD SHOULD HAVE A GOOD LIBRARY

THE FOLLOWING ESSAYS WERE WRITTEN BY STUDENTS OF THE SANFORD HIGH SCHOOL

Why Sanford Should Have Adequate Library

A good library is one of the greatest drawing cards a community can have. When people are thinking of moving into a community they always ask about the schools and churches and they never fail to ask about the public library, for there is no one who does not want good books for himself and for his children to read.

A good library is also necessary for the advancement of the people already in a community. For "Good books are food for the mind," and they are necessary food. Without good books to read we become narrow minded, and never know what the outside world thinks and is doing nor what it has thought and done. Good books afford a liberal education for those in a community who have not been fortunate enough to finish their course in school. Only the wealthy in a community can afford to buy the best books and have a variety of them, while if there is a good library the poor will also have a chance to broaden their minds.

A good library also makes better citizens for the people have a chance to learn how other communities that have worked and pulled together have grown and prospered more than one that is always working against the other fellow all the time.

Since Sanford is trying to become one of the best cities in Florida, and wants to grow and have the best citizens here that can be found anywhere an adequate library should be provided by the city.

—Ollie Vera Glisson, Class of '23.

A New Library for Sanford

As far back as the history of man goes, books and parchments, and the collecting of these, have marked the progress of civilization. Even today the size and progress of a town may be estimated from the size and quality of the libraries. In the large and flourishing cities may be found large public libraries. Every broad-minded man realizes the necessity of a good library in a good town.

The public library of Sanford has been large and complete enough for this place, but in the last few years, Sanford has progressed rapidly and has outgrown the library like other things. Sanford should lead this section of Florida in all things, but even Orlando, who does not have Sanford's chance and advantages for becoming one of the first cities in Florida, has voted and passed a bond for the erection of a large public library.

What an advantage a good library would be to the people of Sanford! Many hard working men and women would find relaxation and forgetfulness from the hard reality of life, in a well-supplied fiction section. There are times in school work when it is imperative that other text-books should be used for reference. School libraries are often limited and there are always other students who want the same book at the same time.

What Sanford student would not rejoice in the use of a well supplied history section? Of course there are many other sections that would be used. Sometime or other, everyone comes to the public library for enlightenment. The lawyer, the architect, and even a hostess in search of new amusements and games for her guests.

Some people are not in the position to buy books frequently to read, while it is the wish and right of everyone to read good inspiring books. Brooks Fletcher says: "Tell me what you read, and I'll tell you what you are." At a public library one may find plenty of good, helpful books and the cost of a card is a trifle.

A neat, well kept, nice-looking building is always an asset to a city, and what true citizen would not have a feeling of pride, when showing a stranger through the city, to be able to point to an imposing building and say, "Oh, yes, and that is SANFORD'S PUBLIC LIBRARY."

—Alice Runyon, Class of '23.

The Good of a Good Library

Robert Louis Stevenson, one of the greatest lovers of literature the world has ever known, once said: "Books are good in their own way, but they are a mighty bloodless substitute for life. However, we must read books to un-

BORAH GIVES HIS VIEW ON SOLDIER BONUS QUESTION

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 25.—Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, states in a letter to the Pocatello, Idaho, Post, American Legion that if he voted for the soldiers' bonus bill "it would be a simple matter of barter in which I use the people's money to buy somebody's vote." The letter was in response to a telegram received by the senator from the Pocatello post and was made public tonight by him.

"I observe in your telegram," it said, "the threat which you impliedly make a sto future political punishment. It was wholly unnecessary for you to make this threat. It reflected no credit upon you and it has had no effect whatever upon me. When you come to that fight in which you propose to inflict punishment, you will doubtless be able to say many things in the way of censure upon my public record."

"But one thing neither you nor any one else will be able to say, and that is that I ever sought to purchase political power by drafts upon the public treasury, or that I chose to buy a continuation in office by putting four billion of dollars upon the bended backs of American tax payers."

"I haven't much respect for the man who buys office, even though he pays for it with his own money. But the most slimy creature which disgraces American politics is the man who buys office by paying for it with appropriations out of the public treasury and charges his venal political obligations to the tax payers."

"If I thought this measure a proper one, I could and would vote for it. But believing with thousands of former service men who have written me that it is not a proper one, if I should vote for it, it would be a simple matter of barter in which I use the people's money to buy somebody's vote; in which the account of my political expenses would be charged to the tax payers."

SELF-RISING AND BLEACHED FLOURS

There is no American family, doubtless, that does not use flour for food. Yet, there are flours being sold which food specialists hesitate to recommend.

Among these are bleached—artificially whitened—and self-rising flours. All self-rising flour it not necessarily bleached, but as a general thing it is. Therefore, it behooves the housewife to use much caution in purchasing flour for food.

At a recent meeting of the American Chemical Society in Birmingham Alabama, this matter was discussed by Miss Juanita E. Darrah, nutrition specialist of the Florida State College for Women. She summarized her remarks as follows:

"It has been indicated by the difference in the rate of growth of rats that bleached flour is inferior to unbleached. Inasmuch as all self-rising flours common to this section are bleached, they should be used with caution. Self-rising flours are not necessarily harmful, IF NOT BLEACHED and if made of a grade of wheat equal to that used in 'straight' flour."

Miss Darrah has received many congratulations on her work along this line from well known food authorities throuth the country.

TWO BANKERS ASSOCIATIONS ARE MERGED

EACH BODY TO RETAIN ITS INDIVIDUALITY—STATE AND NATIONAL

(By The Associated Press)

GAINESVILLE, April 22.—Amalgamation of the Florida Bankers' Association and the State Bankers' Association of Florida was effected here yesterday at the first session of the associations' annual meeting. The terms of the resolutions adopted by both associations to ratify the merger provide that each shall retain its individuality a one of two groups of the Florida Bankers' Association. One group is to be composed of national banks and the other of state institutions.

A message by President Bize, of the State Bankers, which was read in his absence because of sickness by George A. DeSausure of Jacksonville, and addresses by President Archie Livingston of the National Bankers, Governor Hardee, and T. R. McAdams, president of the American Bankers' Association, featured the meeting.

Members of the State Bankers' Association were the first to meet, and after transacting business and hearing the message of their president, readily adopted a committee report recommending a merger with the Florida Bankers' Association. With routine work disposed of the State Bankers' organization as a distinct body came to an end.

The joint session of the members of both organizations convened immediately afterwards, adopted resolutions affecting the merger, and henceforth the bankers of this state sailed under one flag. Both Presidents Bize and Livingston dealt with the comparative ease with which Florida has escaped the nation-wide depression, and they were optimistic of the future.

President Bize in his message urged the bankers to use their influence in bringing about an improvement in educational conditions in this state. He also urged that the bankers work for legislation to protect live stock interests.

Spurious stock salesmen came in for terms of denunciation in Mr. Bize's message, and he expressed the hope that remedial legislation

Seminole county has voted another $100,000 for roads. That county is fast becoming one of the richest in the state, thanks to Sanford celery and everything.—Tampa Tribune.

THE NIGHT ROAD BUILDING IDEA.

The Orlando Reporter-Star of recent date quotes Mr. M. M. Smith as saying:

"It is not cheap road construction, but good road construction that we need in Florida."

Mr. Smith is right, incidentally he is in line with the arguments used by this paper that Florida road building, from now on, should be of such material and in such manner as will at least last as long as the bonds run which furnished the money for their building.

The Reporter-Star declaring that it is the poorest kind of economy to build cheaply, says, relative to the class of roads that will be needed for the future:

"Under the heavy automobile and truck traffic to which roads are subjected now, they must be built very heavy; must be constructed on well drained beds and must be protected at the edges. Clay and crushed stone will not serve where the traffic is very heavy. These materials serve a useful purpose on some roads but not on roads of frequent heavy traffic."

Not only is it true as the Reporter-Star says, that our roads must be built heavier, but that paper might well have gone further and said that harder and more permanent material must be used on certain roads where the traffic is heavy, and the weight to be carried grown and growing to a degree that is far beyond present construction and material.

With the extension of the "ship by truck" idea, the time is not far remote when roads of practically the lastingness and solidity, of the modern railroad track will be needed. Reinforced concrete is even now being used in many sections of the country, especially about the great commerce distributing centers such as Chicago, New York, Pittsburgh, and even Baltimore.

Building permanently is building for posterity, and as posterity is going to have to take care of the rest of many billions of dollars of those road bonds, it is but fair to posterity that we build for permanency.

Nor is it wise to attempt to build in a year all the mileage that a state or a county will need for the next score, or even decade of years. True, "progress" demands a good road to travel on to its goal, but "progress" has been enroute for many years, and only until the almost immediate now has it had any good roads to advance over. It will not do to substitute the jazz of quickness for the steady rhythmic step of progress; and the county, state, or the nation, that attempts to do in a year what might well be extended over a decade is going to find that presently its people will revolt against the excessive burden placed on them all at once.—Tampa Tribune.

MEMORIAL DAY TOMORROW

Tomorrow is southern Memorial Day and is a holiday in the south-land for this is our springtime and the time for flowers and the time to decorate the graves of those heroes who have fallen in battle or in the camps before the battle or those who having served in the various wars came home to live out their allotted span before being gathered to their fathers. It was primarily set aside to decorate the graves of the southern soldiers but those good ladies of Mississippi who went forth to decorate the graves of the southern soldiers on that first memorial day could not bear to think of the graves of the northern soldiers being neglected and they started the union memorial day when they in turn decorated the graves of all the soldiers, their example being followed by their sisters in the north at their decoration day in May. This gave rise to that beautiful poem entitled the "Blue and the Gray" and the lines that read:

"No more shall the war cry sever Or the winding rivers be red; They buried our anger forever When they honored the graves of our dead."

And thus it happens that tomorrow (Wednesday) the southern memorial day will be observed by the Daughters of the Confederacy and we owe it to the N. de V. Howard Chapter, U. D. C., for the first southern memorial day observance in Sanford in many years. Heretofore they only observance of this day was the banks closing. There was no exercises, no music, no flowers. Now all will be different and the Herald hopes that the Daughters will observe each memorial day in April and keep alive the traditions of the men of the south who fought and died in the "lost cause." The observance of southern Memorial Day should be well attended as the services will occur in Central Park within easy distance of the homes of the citizens and the business houses. Let our first memorial day in many years be one long to be remembered not only in the program but in the attendance.

TALKING ABOUT INVESTMENTS

Now that the growers of the Sanford section are making some money the investment sharks will come swarming in like so many locusts and they will be looking for easy money and they will get it unless the people here are cautious about where they place their money. There is really no reason for the people of Sanford investing their money anywhere except Sanford. The instance of a corner in this city selling for $12,000 three years ago and selling last week for $30,000 is enough to cause the home people to forever chew the gold mine, oil well and other wildcat routes to throw away their money. You can search the city over and if you will find one man in this section that has ever made anything on his stock certificates in outside investments we will give him the nickel plated shoe horn. On the other hand those men who having faith in their own community have invested their money right here in Sanford are on Easy Street today. The investments in this city are better now than ever because the city is over the hill and going good. There is no place in this country where your dollars will grow quite as fast as in the city of Sanford and the man with money who fails to buy Sanford real estate now but puts the money in some fly by night scheme (the other fellow's game) will regret just as those who have gone before have regretted it. The following from the Florida Metropolitan is timely:

"Speaking before the Florida Bankers' Association at Gainesville Saturday, D. R. Crissinger Comptroller of currency, stated a truth in these emphatic words:

"The present is a most appropriate time for bankers to admonish their clients against over-confidence in speculative investments. The world needs a restoration of opportunity to produce and consume things needed for human progress and bankers should keep in mind that the first call for liquid capital must be made in behalf of the farmer, the manufacturer, the exporter, and in general, the industrial and commercial community. It is equally important that banks be kept from over-extending themselves by too liberal accommodations to speculative clients." Those familiar with present business conditions and the history of trade agree in the conclusion that the country is passing through a revolutionary stage; that what are considered established axioms of busness are not holding up, and that the outcome depends almost entirely upon the remedies applied to the various phases of the general conditions as they become acute.

Also, the experts and others in touch with the trend of economic events are firm in the conviction basic economic factors are entitled to consideration and relief before potential factors are given liberal encouragement. Mr. Crissinger speaks for those who hold this opinion, and occupying the position that he does, he should know what he is talking about.

What the country needs today, and the world as for that matter, is a more secure foundation for the things that are all-important in the great effort to live, not an indiscriminate program of developing would-be necessities; and while progress is an obligation that cannot be avoided protection of our present assets is an even more binding obligation, which doubtless is the thought that prompted Mr. Crissinger to warn the bankers of the state against investments that smack too strongly of the speculative."

THE IMPORTANCE OF A "NO FENCE" LAW

If the good people of Florida really desire the enactment of a just law, which will compel every man to take care of his own, whether it be cattle or hogs, or growing crops, a law that will enable every trucker and fruit grower in the state to enjoy in peace and safety the products of his own toil; a law that will do more than any other thing that could be done, to promote the agricultural and horticultural development of Florida, upon which the future prosperity of the state must be based; if they desire these things, then now is the time to begin work for their accomplishment. The next few weeks will be filled with the announcements of candidates for the legislature. There will be all sorts of men among them; men who are openly in favor of the continuance of the special favors which the cattlemen have enjoyed for so long; men who will secretly favor them but dare not openly tell what they will do, but will return evasive and quibbling answers to any questions that are asked them regardless of this issue of such prime importance to the state of Florida. Such men will evade the issue by the assertion that they "will work for the best interests of the people of Florida," but they will be careful not to say what they consider the "best interests" to be. Beware of them. They are either hypocrites, whose minds are already made up to work for their masters, or they are spineless men who place their success at the polls above principle, and think it can be attained best by a non-committal policy and injustice of the present antiquated policy of granting special favors to the owners of a few half-wild, tick-eaten cattle for which there is no market outside of the state. They will do their best to remove this handicap to the growth and development of the state, but unless they have a majority in the legislature they can do nothing, and the incubus will remain for future legislatures to fight over. It is for the people to say whether there shall be this absolutely indispensable reform or not. Before a ballot is put in the box for any man it should be known exactly where he stands on this most important issue; no evasion nor side-stepping should be accepted. A fair and square and honest meeting of the issue must be insisted on. There will be candidates coming up for reelection who have betrayed their constituents in the past. See that they do not have the opportunity again.

We consider this matter of paramount importance in the coming election. It takes precedence of capital removal, for we can reach the present capital, even though it involves great inconvenience and expense to the fastest growing part of the state. It takes precedence of reapportionment, important as that is to south Florida. It retards development of every part of the state. We cannot honestly ask settlers to come here until we can assure them protection of their lives and property, and we cannot do that so long as this antiquated law is in force. We need these settlers to assist in the development of the whole state, but we must assure them of wholesome living conditions if we expect to get them.

It is of prime importance to the cattle industry itself. That industry is in a desperate condition right now, simply because of its persistent opposition to tick eradication. And tick eradication can only be done successfully in fenced ranges. On the open range it will prove a long tedious and uncertain process. On fenced ranges will come the improvement of the stock, which is impossible on the open range. We have every opportunity to make Florida the greatest cattle state in the entire union, but as long as we persist in our devotion to the wild steer and the open range, we shall continue to be a laughing stock to real cattlemen the nation over.—Tampa Times.

THIRTY-THREE YEARS AGO FRANK MILLER PLAYED AT STAR IN OPERA PINAFORE

The old building that has housed the Star Theatre for some time and that will soon be torn down has many associations of the old days when shows were shown and when Sanford was the largest jump between Tampa and Jacksonville and also when Sanford was the largest city and the only city of any size in this part of the state and there were no railroads south of here. In the old theatre building are many old programs pasted on the walls and on old scenery boards and among them one of a production of Pinafore by home talent in which Frank Miller of this city took part as one of the sailors. The date on the program is 1887 which would make it thirty three years ago. Emma Abbott the famous prima donna also played in this old opera house being assured of the ticket sale in advance by the taking of enough tickets by Home people to make the concert a success. There were many famous stars played here in the early days in this old building and when it is torn down the old traditions of the early times will go with it to make room for the new picture house, the moving pictures and many other innovations taking the place of the old plays and players.

CHILDREN'S STORY HOUR

Every Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at Central Park, there is a story hour under the auspices of the Mother's Club. These hours are free, and every child under the age of fifteen years is most cordially invited to come and hear these delightful stories.

LOVELY BRIDGE PARTY

A very pretty party of Saturday, was that given by Mrs. Percy Mero, when she entertained at bridge at her attractive home on Park avenue, there being four tables of players.

Quantities of vari-colored larkspur and other spring flowers were effectively used in the rooms where the card tables were placed.

In the interesting game of bridge played, the top score was made by Mrs. Robert Hines, who was awarded a glass basket filled with flowers, while the cut prize, a hand painted candle stick was won by Miss Lettie Caldwell.

At the conclusion of the card game, the hostess served ice cream and angel food cake. The favors were attractive paper vauiltes.

BOX SOCIAL

The members of the Catholic Ladies' League entertained with a box social last evening at the K. C. Hall on Oak avenue, with Mrs. Clarence V. Mahoney as hostess.

Bridge and 500 were played during the evening, there being twelve tables of players. In the game of bridge, the prize, a pair of candlesticks, was won by Mrs. F. E. Roumillat, while the prize, for 500, a box of Azecura face powder was won by Mrs. Wood.

After the card game, the boxes which had been prepared by the ladies were auctioned off and the names of the ladies being placed in the box, and she was the supper partner of the one who bought her box.

The occasion was one of much enjoyment and a great success both financially and socially.

HIGH SCHOOL ANNUAL WILL SOON BE OFF THE PRESS

Salmagundi Will Be Out Early Part Of Next Week.

The Sanford High School annual properly known as the "Salmagundi" but more often designated as "the Sally" will be completed the first of next week, and according to all prophecies will be the best annual ever published by Sanford High School and certainly one of the finest in the state.

Both the students and the printers have worked hard to make the book the success that it undoubtedly is, and if the copies sell as well as they ought to, with the extra number of pages, and the many live departments in the magazine the students will come out all right financially, too.

Among the particularly attractive features are the complete set of alumni notes, the many good school jokes, a greater number of pictures than ever before, an interesting new department devoted to Sanford High School's prize winners, and the department of cartoons on Who's who in S. H. S. This last named section answers such questions as "Who is the most popular boy in Sanford High School?" "Who is the most studious?" etc., and is the result of voting in which the student body took part.

"Salmagundi" will be on sale early next week at the High School and in the drug stores—the price is still one dollar.

INTER-CITY MEET OF KIWANIS CLUB AT LAKELAND MAY 2

LAKELAND, April 25.—(Special)—Lakeland Kiwanis club members are enthusiastic over their charter, which they received last Friday night at the hands of District Governor Edward G. Branch, and they are showing their enthusiasm by staging an Inter-City meet of Kiwanis Clubs at Lakeland May 2, at 8 o'clock in the evening, at which time Edmund F. Arras of Columbus, Ohio, will deliver the principal address. Mr. Arras is not only a splendid speaker, but is a member of the Board of International Trustees of Kiwanis International and one of the shining lights of International.

In view of the fact that Lakeland is the baby club and the "thirteenth" club in the state, it is a decided forward step for the club to hold such a meeting, and representatives from all of the clubs in the state are expected to attend the meeting. Jacksonville, Tampa, Pensacola, Daytona, Palatka, Sanford, Miami, West Palm Beach, Plant City, Bartow, Orlando, Lakeland and St. Petersburg compose the thirteen clubs in Florida, and all have been invited to participate in the meeting of May 2.

District Secretary T. Jeff Bailey of Birmingham, Ala., will attend the meeting, he now being in Florida looking into the cities making application for new clubs.

GOOD WATERS WIN BATTLE LEVEES BREAK

OF STOPPING FLOOD WATER ABANDONED, WATER SWEEPS IN

NEW ORLEANS, April 24.—Hope of stopping the break in the Mississippi which occurred at Myrtle Grove, thirty miles south of this city, abandoned yesterday after it had failed to approximately 125 feet in the efforts of levee engineers to close the gap and confine the river to its regular channel.

Engineers hope to be able to "tie" the levee with tarpaulins at the water run through over newly mounded land.

It is impossible to estimate damage done by the break at Myrtle Grove, plantation men yesterday expressed the opinion that at least $1,000,000 damage had already been done. The Leverage Plantation is the heaviest loser. This property owns about 6,000 acres of land in the inundated area, planted in sugar cane. Owners of the plantation say it will require at least two years of hard work before it can be returned to proceed with the conduct of the plantation on a scale maintained before the flood. Other and shrimp fields and traps in other industries which will be largely a result of the break. A protection to plantation settlements back levees were cut in several places but the flood waters continued to cover large areas of land with appreciable let up.

Mississippi river at New Orleans remained stationary yesterday for the second time since the question of the present rise, the gauge registered 24 feet, the same as 24 hours and four-tenths of a foot over the water record here. All points and Vicksburg reported rises of 1 foot of a foot.

L. M. Chas, director of the local weather bureau, stated last night he was of the opinion that the 125-foot gap in the west bank levee at Myrtle Grove, 35 miles down the river from New Orleans, which tore loose Saturday would have no perceptible effect on the stage of the river here unless the crevasse widened considerably.

After the games and contests, refreshments carrying out the color motif of pink and white, and consisting of ice cream in pink rose cups, and cake, with cunning favors of lolly pop dolls in fancy crepe paper dresses for the girls, and Dutch boys in crepe paper suits for the boys.

derstand life." No truer words have ever been spoken. One might as well try to live without the companionship of friends as to attempt a life without books. It would be a mighty drab existence! Brooks Fletcher, says: "Show me what you read and I'll tell you what you are." So greatly do books influence our lives.

To use a slang-term, books are "brain-food," and the more "brain-food" you feed your brains the larger and better developed it will become; but a large variety of books must be read, in order that the mind may expand in all directions. If you were to try to live on proteins or fats your body would be undeveloped in every way, because it is not possible for one to live on proteins alone. Therefore, you must read biographies, nature studies and histories along with your fiction, or your brain will be undeveloped in these directions.

Good fiction is not good for one if read exclusively; then, what shall be said of the exclusive reading of poor fiction? The person that does this will be harming his mind instead of developing it. In other words he will be feeding his mind poison instead of good, wholesome food.

But, unfortunately, a good portion of the people cannot afford to buy the books that everyone should read, nor do they have access to the libraries of others.

The public library brings the best books before all the people shrdlu in this way gives them the best "brain-food." In a really good library fiction that is only of the highest, most wholesome quality is kept, and so called "dime-novels" are never seen. Architects consult the books on architecture; teachers come to use the reference books and books that they need in their class work; lawyers come to look up points in law; the stenographers come to look up matters of English which they use every day; and scholars come to read the books that are to be found in a good library.

A good library is an asset to any town. Tourists are attracted by a good library. It is of use to every one; it harms no one. Surely, then, this worthy institution deserves the praise and support of every citizen of every up-and-doing town.

The Sanford library has been, for a number of years, inadequate for the number of needs of all the people of Sanford. It is true, a few of our most public-spirited men and women have given it their support, but they cannot do everything even though they have accomplished much and spent a lot of time and money. But when you come face to face with the facts, our library has been sadly neglected. There is no reason on earth why Sanford should not have as good a library as there is in any town of its size in the state of Florida, and we will have it, if our people will wake up to the fact that we need one, and need it badly.

The present library building is very small and the books are not sufficient in number. The present system of filing is not efficient. But funds are not on hand to make any changes. What will the good people of Sanford do? The students of the schools and the High School in particular need this library to help them in their work, and especially they need more reference books than it now affords.

This question has not been heretofore agitated very much, but we feel confident that you will all help us to secure that new library, and we are going after it. It is bound to come. Why not now?

—Florence Edna Lord, Class of '23.

Why Sanford Should Have an Adequate Public Library

We are all proud of our hotels, schools, banks, stores, churches, etc., and we have a right to be. Sanford has been given the name "The City Substantial," but there is one thing missing to make it substantial. Many of us think we have a good library, but it is not adequate and without an adequate public library, a city cannot be substantial.

Many say, "We have newspapers, and what do we need with books?" They are the very people who need them most. Of course, we need newspapers. Through them we are able to learn what is going on at the present time, but we ought not to go through life without books, either. Books influence a person, whether for good or bad; so, in choosing them, we should be careful to select those books which will influence us for the better.

Through books we are enabled to learn of the past, and profit by the examples of the great countries and the noble characters of heroic men. We are able to know what interested people in the past, and what kind of people they were. In fact, books are nothing less than a diary of the human race.

The great Scotchman, Carlyle, said, "The true university of these days is a collection of books," or, as we might say, the library is "The People's College," for if a person reads wisely and intelligently, he can learn about as much from studying the right books for himself, as from going to college, and everyone hasn't a chance to go to college. In this university, old, young, and middle-aged men and women may all learn. It is a university for doctors, scientists, teachers, farmers, lawyers, carpenters and men of all professions.

Voltaire said, "All the known world, except only savage nations, is governed by books." We know this is true. All the nations which have been powerful in the past, have had their literatures. Greece, Italy, Germany, England and France, all have theirs, and the United States also, although it is new, has one of which we can indeed be proud. For have its contributors not been, almost without exception, great and worthy men whose works reflect their lives?

If Sanford is to be truly a "City Substantial," and if we are to be proud of her, we must work for an adequate public library, for after all, "Books are medicine for the soul."
—Margaret Berner, Class of '23.

Libraries

Libraries! The very thought of such institutions bring to one the desire for knowledge and the love of the higher and better things which life holds for us. Within us constantly is a yearning for something bigger and greater than we have already attained, and so in the companionship of books this thirst of the soul is partially quenched. Books are our true friends.

What would a nation be without books? It could not be a nation but merely a country overrun with wandering folks. Real history could not begin until records were made. Even in the old days of Egypt men had to express their emotions and thoughts and so with their hieroglyphic writings they have left us a story of their lives and deeds.

In the days of Caesar, Plato and Socrates, Greece and Rome flourished. These men were men of intellect and understanding. They gave the world the best literature. Libraries were established and never before did two such nations of culture and refinement exist. And when these libraries with their vast stores of knowledge were destroyed there ensued the "dark ages" for the very stimulant of the nation was gone.

What is a town without a good library? One may rest assured that there is little else in a town where a library is lacking. The school children must have instructive and entertaining books, the business men must have books and books are a necessity to the refined woman. Indeed "A library is a university within itself." Every good book that one reads helps to mold that person's life into a stronger character.

Let us not think of Sanford, our "City Substantial" continuing with a very diminutive, obscure library. Surely something must be wrong with the people of Sanford who will not aid and boost for a library which is worthy of the town and is a necessity to the welfare of the community.
—Margaret L. Cox, Class of '23.
