25 suspected dealers jailed

By LACY DOMEN

SANFORD — Law enforcement agents swept 25 crack cocaine dealers from Sanford streets yesterday. Six persons attempting to purchase cocaine were also arrested later.

The roundup by Sanford police and City County Investigative Bureau officers is expected to include an additional eight arrests as soon as suspects are located and served warrants.

The arrests followed a six week investigation in which all suspects were videotaped selling drugs to undercover law enforcement agents, police spokesman Lt. Mike Rotundo said. Sanford police conduct roundups about five times a year, he said.

"We're just doing our job," Police Chief Steve Harlett said.

The entourage of patrol vehicles, unmarked cars and K-9 Units began by snaking through streets in the Georgetown area of Old Sanford, targeted in recent weeks by citizens and law enforcement as a hotbed of heightened crime. See Pushers Page 5A

Lots of scuffles, weapons in class

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — In what Seminole High School officials are calling an "unfortunate accident with tragic results," student Michael White, 17, was airlifted from the school to Orlando Regional Medical Center yesterday for surgery to repair his right arm.

A scuffle between White and another young man turned bloody when White fell into a recessed glass trophy case, causing a deep gash on the upper part of his arm, according to police and school officials. It is unclear what caused the argument, they said.

Gretchen Schapker, principal at Seminole High School, said scuffles between students are not uncommon, though most of the time they involve little more than a push or a slap. She said that there have been four incidents this school year that have turned more serious.

In addition to yesterday's fight, two have involved knives and in another a student used a vase as a weapon.

The students involved in the Tuesday fight were taking part in the PASS (Positive Alternatives to School Suspension) class, though Schapker won't say why the two were serving in school suspensions.

The class is set up to help students learn more positive attitudes, to do their work and to stay in school while being disciplined.

Schapker said.

Schapker added that the school keeps statistics regarding disciplinary action taken when students are involved in altercations, but the information is general and offers little information about the severity of the fight.

"But I can tell you that the four fights I told about are the only ones that involved weapons," Schapker

Lake Mary OKs park plan

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Plans to improve the first of Lake Mary's state-step parks have been approved. The revitalization is set for Nov. 23.

Director of Parks and Recreation John Holland received City Commission approval last night to launch into the rebuilding of what is known as Donald Duck Park. Although the park has limited playground equipment at the present time, it is to be repaired and repainted.

The overall state-step rebuilding program has been named "Neighbors for Neighbors" by Mayor Randy Morris. The Mayor has suggested that a number of small parks around the city, used basically for citizens and their children in various residential areas, be cleaned up, repainted, repaired and put into better service. Morris had proposed to accomplish the program through help from citizen volunteers.

Holland has estimated the costs of the project at $5,150, with the physical work to be split between city crews and neighbors of the area. He reported Lake Mary Mayor Randy Morris has scheduled a meeting with residents who live near the park to finalize plans.

The city crews will provide the site work, irrigation, installation and a sidewalk. Volunteer workers including neighbors and other interested persons will help with the distribution of trash, landscaping, painting and painting.

Holland said "we'll have about 100 volunteers help out much of the work in advance. They will

"We hope to be able to get the citizens working on it the weekend of Nov. 23 and finish the project in one day."

hope to be able to get the citizens working on it the weekend of Nov. 23 and hopefully finish the entire project in one day.

The cost to the city for the revitalization would include $1,200 for muck, $1,600 for soil, $1,100 for a sidewalk, $650 for an irrigation system and $500 for landscaping. $100 has been designated for painting and repair of the equipment, but Holland hopes there may be some point of other equipment donations that may help defray the cost.

The funding is to come from monies in the Public Improvement Reserve Fund of 1991.

Although it is small in size, the park will eventually have a picnic area, swings, slides and several other play areas.

The only concern about the project was voiced by a neighborhood resident, David Moore, who expressed fear of an increase in drug use and other problems through the park. He said he would like to see the park improved with more equipment.

Unions back man at Lake Mary high as superintendent

By VICKI DeSORMIER

LAKE MARY — Seminole UniServe, the governing body of the four unions which represent teachers, bus drivers, clerical and maintenance workers, will ask the governor to appoint Bill Moore as interim superintendent for Seminole County.

A temporary superintendent is needed while the school board seeks to replace Supt. Bob Hughes, who will take the top job in Alachua County after he is able to negotiate a contract with that district.

Moore, an assistant principal at Lake Mary High School, won the support of the unions due to his innovative ideas on education. His involvement of parents and teachers in school decisions was also praised.

"We want someone who will move forward with aggressive programs for a year," Helen Goodson, president of S.E.V. the Seminole Education Association, the teachers' union, said. "We don't believe in

Spiritual healing case appealed

TALLAHASSEE — A Sarasota couple whose young daughter died of juvenile diabetes after a week of spiritual healing turned to the state Supreme Court to appeal their third-degree murder conviction.

William and Christine Hermanson, Christian Scientists, were sentenced to 15 years probation following the death of their 7-year-old daughter Amy in August 1986.

Florida and 42 other states have laws that let parents try to cure their children with spiritual healing, laws promoted by Christian Scientists in many cases.

The Hermansons turned to people listed in their church as "practitioners" to heal Amy about a week before she died.

During Thursday's oral arguments, West Palm Beach attorney Larry Klein said that probably the most important issue for Florida's high court to address was the question of due process, which he said his clients were denied.

Teens earn points for car theft

PLANT CITY — Four teen-agers have been indicted on grand theft, gang activity and racketeering charges under a new state law aimed at prosecuting youth gang members as adults.

They are accused of gang activity in the group "GTA BOYZ," whose members sport tattoos standing for Grand Theft Auto and score points based on how fast they steal cars.

GTA BOYZ has about 29 members who earn added points if a car is taken from a church parking lot or if a pursuit by police follows the theft, police Chief Troy Surrency said.

Bonus points would be given if the gang member forced police to wreck during the chase, he said.

The boys' past records accounted for a total of 31 felony convictions, misdemeanor convictions and cases still pending, which were factors in deciding Wednesday to prosecute them as adults, said Assistant State Attorney Chris Hoyer.

If convicted of all charges, the boys could face anywhere from probation to 17 years in prison.

Jurors may have to work holiday

GAINESVILLE — The slow pace of the grand jury investigating the grisly slayings of five students here last August may force it to work on Veterans Day, a prosecutor said.

"Things are moving slower than expected," State Attorney Len Register said Thursday. Only three witnesses testified Thursday and Register had said earlier in the day that he hoped to call six to seven witnesses.

The 17-member grand jury was expecting to get a three-day weekend because of Veterans Day Monday, but Register said Thursday it may be necessary to work Monday if the panel is to conclude by the end of next week.

Three Florida Department of Law Enforcement agents testified Thursday.

J.O. Jackson, the FDLE's commander in the multi-agency murder task force, testified, along with Steve Platt, a FDLE lab technician from Jacksonville. Mariane Hildreth, a FDLE hair analyst in Orlando, appeared before the panel as well.

Also testifying was Dan Nippes, an DNA analyst at Fort Pierce Regional Crime Laboratory.

The 17-member panel also has viewed photographs and videotapes of the gruesome crime scenes.

Lottery results released

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Lottery Department on Thursday released the following information on payouts in its "Fantasy 5" game.

The game produced three first-prize winners on Wednesday night and each can collect $247,686.05.

In addition to the first-place winners, 436 people won $489.50 for picking 4-of-5, and 18,519 people won $6 for picking 3-of-5.

The winning numbers for Wednesday night were 03-04-10-14-37.

Medicaid programs safe for now

TALLAHASSEE — More than 1 million Floridians who receive Medicaid benefits can expect new notices to inform them their programs are safe — for now, a state official said.

"It is important that Medicaid recipients know these cuts will not be going into effect as previously anticipated," said Gary Clarke, who oversees Medicaid at the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

Last week, HRS sent notices and new Medicaid identification cards to adult recipients to let them know that chiropractic services would be eliminated and hospital stays shortened because of the tax shortfall facing the state.

The reductions were scheduled to go into effect next month, but the state Supreme Court last week called the budget-cutting process to a halt by ruling that only the Legislature could make the decisions — not Gov. Lawton Chiles and the Cabinet.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Health coverage costs jump

Associated Press

TAMPA — Florida employers have paid an additional 13 percent for health care coverage so far this year, according to a statewide survey of more than 400 companies.

The employers surveyed said it cost an average of $3,425 an employee for health care coverage this year, compared with $3,040 in 1990, according to the survey conducted by William M. Mercer Inc., an employee benefits consulting firm based in New York.

"We are hoping that people see how serious the rate of increase is now and that it is time for some sort of national concerted effort to control health care costs," said Jan Chorvat, principal for the consulting firm's Florida office in Tampa.

The figure is somewhat brighter than that of 1990, when the average employer health care costs jumped 24 percent.

This year's increases, however, have prompted employers to pass on to their workers more of the costs of providing health care as they were hit with the rising costs of indemnity plans, health maintenance organizations and preferred provider organizations.

"The costs for individual contributors is going up, too, because their premiums are going up," said Marilyn Bell, executive director of the Central Florida Health Care Coalition.

In the survey, more than half of the employers said they had passed on costs to consumers by increasing deductibles and co-payments. Thirty-seven percent of the respondents said they limited mental and substance abuse benefits.

Employers raised deductibles by 73 percent over the past two years to an average of $260 in 1991, the survey showed. An employee's annual out-of-pocket costs have jumped 69 percent during the same period to a ceiling of $1,685.

"I think you can always make adjustments to the costs going up. I think it is important to be able to offer these plans to employees," said John Holloway, president of ABC Liquors Inc., a chain of liquor stores based in Orlando that has about 2,200 employees statewide.

South Florida was the state's most expensive region for the health care coverage, the survey said. The average monthly cost of providing health care for an employee was $170 in that region, up from $150 in 1990. In central-southwest Florida, the monthly average was $147; in North Florida, the monthly average was $148.

Open records voided for government

By GURT ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Government-in-the-sunshine may have been dealt a blow by a Supreme Court ruling that open records law does not apply to the courts, the Legislature, the governor and his six Cabinet officers, public interest advocates say.

"The preservation of the public's right to know demands the opportunity for constant knowledge of what representatives are doing and why they are doing it," said Bill Jones of Common Cause following Thursday's ruling.

Spokespersons for Gov. Lawton Chiles, the House and Senate and the Cabinet officials said, however, that they didn't foresee any changes that would keep people from finding out what their government is doing.

"Given the way people feel about incumbents, if I were a politician, I wouldn't want to appear to be hiding anything," said Carol LoCicero, a media attorney whose firm represents The Tampa Tribune.

Chiles: All government reforms needed

By GURT ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Lawton Chiles said he will keep urging government reforms but does not necessarily expect a balky Legislature to accomplish them all during a December special session.

Chiles, during a speech Thursday to the annual legislative meeting of the Florida League of Cities, repeated that his reform proposals must come before any tax increase to deal with the state's chronic budget woes.

But he acknowledged that may not occur in the Dec. 10 session, particularly since legislative leaders don't believe there is enough time in one week to make all the changes.

"They're marching to the same place that we want to march. Our cadence is sometimes a little different, and sometimes we get out in front at times," Chiles said. "We can start to lay the base. We've got a little ways to go."

House Speaker T.K. Wetherell, D-Daytona Beach, and Senate President Gwen Margolis, D-North Miami Beach, both told the 200 League of Cities delegates that they want to concentrate during the special session on balancing the $29 billion budget, which is short $622 million in tax money.

"The members feel they have not had time to study the (reform) proposals," said Margolis, adding that Chiles has delivered little concrete legislation on government reform.

"A lot of them are going to be saved for the regular session" that begins Jan. 14, Margolis said.

The governor added the reform plans to the agenda of a special session he was forced to call when the Supreme Court ruled that he and the Cabinet had no authority to adjust the state's budget.

Among the governor's proposals were abolishment of the state highway safety agency, consolidation of several police agencies and combination of two administrative departments into one. He also wants basic changes in the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, the budget process and the state workers' career service system.

Revenue source may include tourism tax

By BILL BERGSTROM
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Rather than imposing an income tax on Floridians, one legislator urged raising revenue from out-of-staters through tourism taxes.

Tourism interests said they were already a major state revenue source, and added taxation would hurt business already slowed by the recession.

Rep. Al Gutman, R-Miami, made the suggestion Thursday as a House sales tax subcommittee looked at tax-reform options.

House Speaker T.K. Wetherell asked the panel to review the possibilities. "We are not at this point advocating anything," said the subcommittee chairman, Rep. Steve Press, D-Delray Beach.

POLICE BRIEFS

Drug charges filed

An Orlando woman was arrested in Sanford Wednesday for drunken driving and marijuana possession.

A Sanford policeman reported Shannon Leigh Brady, 27, of Orlando, was driving on the wrong side of U.S. Highway 17-92 near Park Drive at about 6 p.m. Tests proved positive for marijuana, reports state. Brady was also charged with resisting arrest.

Charges filed in domestic disturbance

Charles Benjamin Moore, 29, 703 W. First St., Apt. 2, Sanford, was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest by Sanford police Wednesday.

Police report responding to Moore's apartment at about 7 p.m. to investigate a domestic disturbance. Reports state Moore refused to respond to a policeman's order to stop and struggled with them when he was taken into custody.

DUI charge

Randall Jay Cranmer, 33, 303 St. Lawrence, Sanford, was charged with drunken driving by Altamonte Springs police Wednesday.

A policeman reported seeing Cranmer's car weaving from side to side while driving on State Road 436.

Warrant arrests

The following wanted persons have been taken into custody:

• Joseph M. Crist, 29, 109 Hill Top Dr., Longwood, was taken into custody by a bail bondsman for failure to appear at an Oct. 30 sentencing for cocaine possession charges.

• Charles Thomas Irwin, 35, 224 Second St., Geneva, turned himself in to deputies at the Seminole County county jail. Irwin was wanted for probation violations for a drug possession conviction.

• Bobby Lee Cotton, 18, 418 San Marcos Ave., Sanford, was arrested at the state probation office for violating probation terms for a vehicle trespassing sentence.

• James M. Martinez, 30, 3506 S. Park Ave., Sanford, was charged with failure to appear at a hearing to answer to driving with a suspended license charge after he was transported to the Seminole County jail by Ocoola County deputies.

• Rodney Patrick Lisle, 28, 153 Mill Run, Lake Mary, was given three probation violation charges Wednesday at the Seminole County jail, where he was already being held on other charges. He was charged with violating probation terms for two burglary to a structure convictions and one burglary to a dwelling conviction.

NASA announces Nov. 19 launch date

By MARGIA DUNN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL — NASA has set Nov. 19 as the launch date for the sixth and final space shuttle flight of 1991, a military mission by Atlantis.

Mission managers announced the date after meeting Thursday at Kennedy Space Center.

Atlantis is scheduled to lift off at 8:51 p.m. EST with six astronauts and a Defense Department satellite to be dispatched thousands of miles above Earth. The satellite is designed to warn of nuclear detonations and enemy missile launches.

After the satellite is released six hours into the flight, the astronauts will devote their time to military observations, radiation monitoring and medical experiments. The 10-day mission is supposed to end, if all goes well, on Nov. 29 at Kennedy.

Everything about the flight, except for some military observation targets, will be unclassified. The crew will use special optics and communication equipment to evaluate the effectiveness of observing seaports, airports and other U.S. military installations from space.

"We have never really quantified per se the amount of detail we can see from 180 miles, 195 miles or 300 miles, wherever the shuttle might happen to be," said astronaut Mario Ruffolo Jr.

Atlantis' voyage 224 miles above Earth will be the ninth shuttle mission dedicated to Pentagon work and only the second not cloaked in secrecy. The military conducted its first unclassified shuttle mission last spring.

The Pentagon dropped total classification of shuttle flights to save money. Military officials put the savings at $80 million a year.

It will be the 10th trip into space for Atlantis and the 44th shuttle flight overall.

Church fires in St. Augustine investigated

From Staff and Wire Reports

ST. AUGUSTINE — Arson investigators were trying to determine if two church fires in the nation's oldest city have any links with 25 other blazes in houses of worship in the past year, including one in Sanford.

Fires did minor damage to the First Church of Christ Scientist in the historic section of St. Augustine and to the McDowell Baptist Church, about two miles away, early Thursday morning. The two St. Augustine church fires brought to 27 the number listed by the Florida Fire Marshal's Office as being of suspicious or undetermined origin since the summer of 1990.

Eleven have been reported since Oct. 18, most of them in Gainesville, Ocala and Lake City, straddling Interstate 75 in north-central Florida. The Sanford fire was on Feb. 10 at All Saints Deliverance Church at Ninth and Holly.

Rewards for information leading to arrests in the blazes now total $46,000.

Veterans parade set

By BOB PFEIFFER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Veterans of all wars and those who served in the armed forces, will be honored Monday with a parade and ceremony in downtown Sanford. The parade may not be as long as past years, but organizers expect the spirit of the veterans will be high as usual.

According to Bill Hill, commander of American Legion Post 83, in Sanford, "The parade will form Monday morning at the Chamber of Commerce parking lot, at East First Street and Sanford Avenue. At 10:45, we'll march west on First Street, then north on Park to the memorial statue on the lakefront near the Sanford City Hall."

This year's parade will be led by Sam Levy of Sanford, who has been selected to be the grand marshal. Levy, 84 years of age, is a veteran of World War I.

The parade will include units from the Air Force Junior ROTC #872, National Guard Co. B 2nd Battalion, Seminole County Sheriff's Explorer Post 517, the Seminole County Fire/Rescue Division, Canine Companions for Independence, and others.

At the veterans memorial, on the shore of Lake Monroe, Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith will issue the city's official proclamation for Veterans Day, followed by a retired U.S. Marine Corps Major, who will give a brief address.

Following the parade and ceremonies, the annual Veterans Day luncheon will be served. Held on a rotational basis among the various veterans organizations in the area, this year's luncheon is at the American Legion Post, 2874 Sanford Ave., beginning at noon. All veterans and their families are invited to attend the function.

The location for each year's luncheon rotates among the American Legion, DAV, and Fleet Reserve Association, with additional assistance from other groups. The host organization also supplies the meat, while others provide side dishes.

"We'll have the Dixieland Rascals on a float in the parade," Hill said. "They'll be supplying the marching music for this year's parade. Several of the organizations will also have marching groups from their ladies' auxiliaries."

Two familiar parts of past parades will not be attending this year. Hill reported, "We usually have a Boy Scout Group, but they'll all be in school this year. And the 50 Flags normally presented by the U.S. Navy, are temporarily at Universal Studios, and can't make it."

The parade is sponsored by the Seminole County Area Veterans Advisory Council.

Veterans from throughout the area are invited to take part in Monday's parade, with all citizens urged to be on hand for the dedication ceremonies at the Sanford lakefront, at approximately 11 a.m.

Here's what's closed and open

Although Veterans Day, Monday Nov. 11 is a public holiday, not all public and governmental operations will be closed.

• Area wide — All State offices, and federal government agencies will close for the holiday on Monday. Most banks will also close. Post Office service counters will all be closed in Seminole County, and there will be no home or business mail delivery except for express mail.

• Seminole County — All Seminole County offices will be closed for the entire day on Monday. The Central Florida Zoological Park will be open during regular hours of operation.

• Schools — All public schools in Seminole County will be open as normal. Seminole Community College however, will suspend all operations for the holiday, and offices will be closed.

• Sanford — The City Hall and all city operated facilities will be open for business as usual. The Sanford City Commission meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Monday evening, and any refuse or trash collections normally scheduled for Mondays will be handled as usual. The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce will be closed for the holiday. The Sanford Museum and Library as well as the First Street Gallery are normally closed on Mondays.

• Lake Mary — The Lake Mary City Hall will close all city operations for the holiday on Monday. Western Waste, which handles garbage collection, will continue to operate on its usual schedule.

• Longwood — The city government is not suspending operations. The City Hall and all city related functions will go on as normally scheduled.

Call it what you will, it's for the vets

Veterans Day has been a much changed holiday over the past years. It has changed not only in name, but date.

The holiday started as Armistice Day in 1919, in honor of the end of World War I. The date was determined by the armistice signed on Nov. 11, at 11 a.m., in a railway car in France that ended the war.

During the 1960s and 1970s, the observance became more and more known as Veterans Day, covering not only WW I, but WW 2, the Korean and Vietnamese wars. Some names states and observances have given the holiday are Remembrance Day, Victory Day, and World War I Memorial Day.

In 1970, Congress enacted the "Monday Holiday Law" which moved a number of holidays to a specific Monday, and allowed for an extended weekend period for workers. Veterans Day was declared to be "the fourth Monday in October."

The change however, proved unpopular and state after state began enacting their own laws moving it back to Nov. 11, regardless of the day of the week.

Gambling

By pressing ahead aggressively with sweeping economic reforms, Russian President Boris Yeltsin is taking a huge but necessary gamble.

Yeltsin intends to make a clean break with the central economic planning of the past and implement free-market reforms as swiftly as possible. During the next three months, the Russian government will sell off 10,000 state-owned properties and thousands of unfinished construction projects. It will dismantle collectivized farms and distribute them among the people. It will scrap price controls, permitting the cost of consumer goods to increase by as much as 300 percent. It will remove government controls on Russian imports and exports. And it will overhaul the republic's banking system to make the ruble convertible and thereby attract foreign investment.

To help stabilize the foundering economy, Russia will end all foreign aid, pare defense spending and halt funding for all but a tiny remnant of the government bureaucracy.

And in a move that could prompt a clash with the Kremlin, Yeltsin has proposed legislation that would give him and the Russian parliament legal authority to suspend national laws that "hamper economic reforms." Thus it is unclear whether he will have the independent authority he needs to carry out his economic plan.

In taking this dramatic plunge, Yeltsin is putting all of his power and prestige on the line. The Russian parliament is expected to give him additional authority to implement the economic reforms, which he concedes will cause great suffering for at least the next 12 months. But he believes that if the Russian people will persevere, their standard of living will improve by the fall of 1992.

Wary Moscovites have heard that refrain before from Mikhail Gorbachev, who has been predicting for five years that better economic times are just around the corner. But in light of Yeltsin's courageous stands for political and economic restructuring, the people have reason to place more trust in him.

But the Russian president is overreaching in some important respects. In his zeal to assume complete control of the economy, he has appointed personal envoys to run local governments that formerly were controlled by communist apparatchiks. And, declaring that regional elections are a luxury at a time of economic crisis, he has proposed that they be postponed until December 1992. These actions only magnify concerns that the Russian leader has dictatorial ambitions.

Yeltsin is risking a great deal by trying to overhaul the Russian economy completely in 12 months. His chances of success would be greatly improved if he acted only with the democratic consent of the Russian people.

The politics behind the Duke vote

The achievement of David Duke, in coming in a close second in the Louisiana gubernatorial primary and thereby qualifying for the run-off with former Gov. Edwin Edwards on Nov. 18, seems to strike the Democrats and their troupe of journalistic trained seals as merely hilarious. Maureen Dowd, for example, assured readers of The New York Times that Duke's showing, given the fact that he had run as a Republican, was "a source of deep embarrassment" to the GOP.

Just why this should be so is unclear. Since nobody has suggested that official Republican opposition to him was anything less than wholehearted, the GOP may well feel annoyed at his showing, but has no cause whatever to be "embarrassed" by it.

The Democrats, though, in addition to their pointless snickering at the Republicans, show signs of imagining that all anyone needs to do, or for that matter can do, to undermine Duke is point to his record of Nazi sympathies, the fact that he was once the grand wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, and the further fact that he founded and headed something called the National Association for the Advancement of White People. Sometimes they add, darkly, that he has undergone plastic surgery to improve his looks. Such attacks underestimate the meaning of Duke's showing, and his future implications for American politics, disastrously.

Duke himself cheerfully acknowledges the charges, and attributes his political extremism to youthful foolishness. He is now, he declares, somewhat older and a great deal wiser, with views that are strongly conservative but just that much closer to the American mainstream. He professes to speak for the great mass of Americans who, he charges, are being taxed and otherwise abused for the benefit of a large and growing underclass that is wholly dependent on our welfare system. Many argue that these are "code words" for white and black Americans respectively — a charge that Duke denies, and which (speaking of embarrassments) is made harder to establish by the fact that James Meredith, the first black ever admitted to the University of Mississippi, has endorsed him.

The fact, in any case, is that Duke's message resonates powerfully in the hearts and minds of a great many Americans, Republican and Democrat alike, and will propel him ever higher in our politics until one or both major parties co-opt his point by convincing the voters that they are addressing effectively the issue he has raised. Ironically, this means that Duke's best course would be to lose the run-off as narrowly as possible (he has, after all, no serious interest in, or solution for, the severe and special problems of Louisiana), and then run for president in selected Republican primaries in 1992, and thereafter as an independent in the November election.

The party can ill afford to lose them to Duke, or anybody else. The meaning of David Duke, therefore, is that the Republicans must avoid taking those votes for granted, if he runs in 1992. Most Americans will be satisfied with evidence that the Bush administration is trying hard to reduce the welfare burden on taxpayers; the odor that blows off Duke, after all, is still pretty rancid. But the issue isn't rancid — it's real.

Democrats good, GOP better

WASHINGTON — With congressional redistricting about one-third complete, it seems clear that the GOP is ahead. But Democrats say they are not doing nearly as badly as they had expected.

Only a relative handful of states are gaining or losing seats in Congress as a result of the 1990 census. However, all states must redraw their congressional district boundaries to reflect internal population shifts.

If any trend has emerged thus far, it is the continued shift of political power from the central cities to suburban, and now far-suburban areas.

In California, this has meant a shift of political power from San Francisco to the areas south of Los Angeles and north of San Diego. In Illinois, it has meant the continued shift of power from Chicago to western and northwestern suburbs, some quite distant. In Maryland, the city of Baltimore is losing power to the Washington, D.C., suburbs.

These shifts should mean that traditional Democratic strength in the central cities will give way to newly emerging Republican power in the suburbs. But Democrats remain upbeat about what they have seen so far.

"We have more than held our own," says Rep. Vic Fazio, D-Calif., chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee. "Actually, in the first dozen states to finalize their redistricting, we have done amazingly well, and I don't see any reason to think this trend will change."

In many states what is driving the remapping is the 1982 Voting Rights Act, and subsequent court decisions, which mandate that minority populations may not be broken up among districts in order to dilute their voting strength. This means that where sizable numbers of voters from one racial group exist, a minority district must be created.

Currently, there are 22 blacks and 11 Hispanics in Congress. Democratic National Committee redistricting consultant Mark Gersh predicts that, "Perhaps 20 new minority districts will be created by the time redistricting ends."

Democrats, he says, are pushing this process "because it is the law." But Democrats also admit it is good politics since, except in the Cuban areas of South Florida, minorities tend to vote Democratic.

Here is how redistricting is developing in three key states:

Texas is a good example of the pressure to create new minority districts. Texas gained three new House seats from the 1990 Census, and based on its newly approved remapping, all three will likely go to minorities — one Hispanic district in Houston, one in San Antonio and a new black district in Dallas.

Actually, the GOP is crying foul in Texas. In the name of creating minority districts and protecting incumbents, the Democratically controlled process created a number of strangely shaped, obviously gerrymandered districts.

The GOP hopes that the federal courts will throw out the redistricting. Texas is one of 16 states under the Voting Rights Act, and, because of past practices, must submit its redistricting first to the Justice Department and then to the federal courts.

California's plan is already headed for the courts. Be fitting the nation's largest state, the process of reapportioning the state to accommodate eight new congressional districts is also the nation's most chaotic.

In California, the process is not just pitting Democrat against Republican — politicians wish it were that simple. The California process has pitted Democrats against Republicans, congressional Republicans against legislative Republicans, northern California against Southern California and numerous ethnic groups against each other in a fight to carve out specialty districts (black majority, Hispanic majority, Asian majority, gay majority).

The strangest California battle has been between members of the GOP. Republicans in the legislature were pushing a redistricting they believed would maximize GOP strength. But in doing so some districts were redrawn in such a way that incumbent Republicans would be pitted against each other in 1992. So these Republicans backed a Democratic plan designed to protect incumbents — both Democratic and Republican — even though it would not maximize GOP gains.

In the end, California's Republican governor Pete Wilson vetoed three different remapping plans, and the whole matter is now heading for the state Supreme Court. Since the court is solidly Republican (6-1), their decision should favor the GOP.

Illinois' redistricting plan is also in the courts. A three-judge federal panel must now draw Illinois new congressional district lines, because the legislature became deadlocked. Both parties have submitted their versions to the panel, which heard two days of arguments. Now it will decide.

What seems clear in Illinois is that the GOP will gain strength no matter what the panel decides.

I don't see any reason to think this trend will change.

Capitol cops need check equipment

WASHINGTON — It was a malfunctioning X-ray machine that apparently allowed a Maryland man to sneak a loaded .357 Magnum into a Senate office building last spring, and our sources say that machine still has not been replaced.

An internal investigation by the Capitol Police, the private squad that protects the Capitol, exposed the problem, with the X-ray machine, according to documents we have obtained. The machine had repeatedly malfunctioned in the two weeks prior to May 22 when, police say, Mark Alan Weissberger walked into the Dirksen Senate Office Building with a dark blue Smith and Wesson in his briefcase.

Weissberger was arrested after a woman told Capitol Police that she saw a gun in his briefcase as he sat in a Senate hearing. The briefcase also held letters Weissberger had sent to the White House demanding the arrest of several politicians, including Sen. Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., who chaired the hearing Weissberger chose to attend.

Weissberger is in jail in Washington sitting out a debate over whether he should have a mental exam.

The Capitol Police are reluctant to admit they can do a better job of protecting the 535 members of Congress. But from where we sit, there is plenty they could do. There are two police for every member of Congress, and their annual budget is $65 million. Keeping weapons out of the Capitol should be their first priority.

Two years ago we exposed security problems at the Capitol by carrying a plastic gun into the building. The police beefed up their security by watching journalists more closely.

After the Weissberger incident, the police said there was little they could do to prevent these things from happening. But the record shows otherwise.

Police determined that the Dirksen auditorium entrance was Weissberger's most likely point of entry, based on his own admission. Problems with that X-ray machine were well-documented before Weissberger came in the door. The internal report of the investigation, obtained by our associate Jim Lynch, notes that there were at least six complaints about equipment failure on the machine in the three months before Weissberger's briefcase went through it. In fact, the day before Weissberger went through, a Capitol Police officer reported that the "X-ray machine lost power." And that it had been doing the "same for the last two weeks."

On the day of the Weissberger incident, Officer Gary Baker reported a malfunction of the machine at 6:45 a.m. He said the screen would go blank and would be blurred at times.

The investigation says that Baker's supervisor was "apparently" aware of the problem and that he reported it up the chain of command. But one Capitol Police officer told us that complaints about the X-ray machines were greeted with yawns, and officers were told to "do the best they could." The investigation also revealed that there were fewer than the recommended number of officers at the post when Weissberger came through.

Since the Weissberger incident, an X-ray machine technician has examined the equipment and recommended that it "probably should be replaced with a new and more efficient model." That has not happened, according to our sources.

The Capitol Police refused to discuss the Weissberger incident with us. A spokesman called it a matter of "congressional security

City, county exploring options in Midway water line situation

By J. BARRY SANDFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

MIDWAY - Now we wait and see what happens.

That's the point Sanford and county officials have reached in the Midway water line situation which has led to the halt of a barely-begun $1 million road project.

Seminole County Commissioner Jennifer Kelley said commissioners will be asked this month to pay to either move the water line or connect the community's water system to a Sanford water line running along the south side of State Road 46.

Kelley said the Sanford engineering firm Conklin, Porter & Holmes is reviewing the cost of the options. Planning director Tony VanDerworp said commissioners will be asked Nov. 26 to approve the shifting of community development block grants for Midway drainage systems and sidewalks to resolve the water line situation and repair any leaks. Sanford officials have expressed a willingness to take over the system if it is in good repair.

The work-stoppage was ordered on the State Road 46 widening, and resurfacing Thursday morning by officials with the Florida Department of Transportation. The order came after FDOT's road contractor, APAC-Florida Inc., turned off the water supply to the entire community for about four hours Wednesday to perform work.

However, APAC did not notify officials with the Midway-Canawha Water Users Association, the company that operates the community's water system. Nor did they notify officials at Midway Elementary which was in session when the water was cut off at about 11:30 a.m. An APAC official said water association officials could not be reached so Sanford utility officials were notified.

The water was turned on at about 3 p.m., although some residents in east Midway still complained of no water after 4 p.m.

FDOT spokesman Steve Hanson said work was stopped Thursday because construction crews discovered the association's main line, which runs north of SR 46, was made of brittle asbestos concrete, not strong galvanized steel. The association can't afford the $300,000 tab to move the main line, so FDOT officials decided to build the paved shoulders over the line.

Don Carter, APAC project manager for the job, said roads can be built over asbestos concrete pipes, but not without risk.

"Just by the nature of the material, it can be risky," Carter said. "It can be done but you always run the risk of damaging the pipe."

Fights

Assistant principal Bobby Lundquist noted, however, that "many, many" knives and other weapons are confiscated from students.

Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said the police have "rarely" been called to Seminole High School to deal with problems of violent fights.

"It's just like any other high school, I guess," he said. "They've got some problems, but this is unusual."

White was transported by air ambulance to ORMC's trauma center where a team of surgeons operated on the wound.

Cindy Baker, a spokesman for the hospital, said he was in serious but stable condition.

The following were arrested in a pair of sting operations targeting the cocaine trade in Sanford by the Sanford Police Department and OCSB agents.

& Keith Ray McGriff, 25, of 809 E. 6th St. in Sanford was charged with the sale and delivery of crack cocaine.

& Peter Walter Marchese, 15, of 880 Springbank Dr. in Orange City, was arrested in the area of Third St. and Mangouline in Sanford and charged with the purchase of cocaine.

custody from earlier roundups. The six were charged with a second degree felony of purchasing a controlled substance from an undercover officer. One was a juvenile.

Suspects were transported to the Seminole County jail.

Pushers

"I want to stress that this operation began long before concerned citizens and retailers voiced concerns about crime. This is ongoing. Law enforcement has to keep doing its part," Harriett said.

"These are small time players. What is unusual in this operation is the number of suspects marked for pickup," Harriett added.

Patrol cars first converged on the area bordered by Seventh Street and Pine Avenue, blocking escape routes from the area. Hooded CCIB agents and Sanford police officers, assisted also by dogs trained to sniff out drugs and apprehend suspects, immediately arrested four alleged dealers. The suspects, who were handcuffed and transported to the Sanford Police Station prior to being transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Curious residents and business owners in areas targeted gathered to watch the arrests. "All this stuff is happening but they're right back out," Felicia Young shook her head and said. "I don't care. Things are too quiet when they're not here. It don't bother me," she said.

"I think it's good they do this. Kids got to grow up here and be around it," a man who did not want to be identified said. "I don't want to give my name. I got to stay around here. I got five kids to take care of and I don't want no trouble. They's trouble. Kids shouldn't have to be around it. I'm glad someone's doin' something about it. I'll give you my name. Call me 'Drug Free,'" he said.

Other areas targeted included Olive Avenue and Third Street, Holly Avenue and 10th Street, West 13th Street and Pecan and Ninth Street.

Tots and adult residents of Lake Monroe Terrace, a public housing project, gathered to watch the arrest of the only woman sought by the CCIB. Venita Frison holly denied she had participated in any illegal activity.

"I ain't sold no drugs to nobody. Them ... is lying. I ain't," she emphatically said as she was led away.

George Frison was surprised in his home when arrested. "He was watching TV, eating fruit cocktail, getting ready for work. Yeah, he works. Selling crack is his part-time job," one officer explained.

Harriett gathered with his men after each roundup. "Drugs are destroying the fiber of our community. I would like to think that this operation would decrease the level of drug sales, but our experience tell us this is only a temporary measure. Someone always takes their place and they invariably get out and do it again. The crux is getting rid of these repeat offenders. This is no big deal. It's just all in a day's work," Harriett said.

Later last night, undercover Sanford police officers posing as drug dealers arrested six persons who were attempting to purchase cocaine.

In the reverse sting operation, officers replaced dealers in appointed to the superintendent permanently.

"I think it will be exciting for the year or whatever, but I would like to meet the challenge of being the interim superintendent," Moore said.

Seminole UniServe hopes to enlist the assistance of the FTP-NEA, the state teaching union, in helping to have Moore appointed by Gov. Chiles

Golden agers swing golf clubs

By MARK SPERANZ
 Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Golfers often hope they can continue playing enough years to have their score match their age. Many were trying to do just that in the Golden Age Games this week.

A total of 258 persons signed up for the three separate golfing events scheduled this week. The first two events, for the Calloway and Handicap scoring system, took place at the Mayfair Golf Course Tuesday morning and afternoon. Additional Handicap play and Low Gross events were held yesterday afternoon.

With both Calloway and Handicap scoring, golfers actual scores are altered depending on averages over a period of golf scores. In yesterday's Low Gross events, it was the actual score that counted.

The golf events were sponsored by the Rotary Club of Sanford. Rotarian Ernie Horrell and his wife Chal acted as co-chairpersons for the events.

Participating yesterday were 68 golfers, including 20 women. Play got underway with a shotgun start at 1 p.m.

"Nine people were entered in the Low Gross competition," Ernie reported, "and they are all scratch golfers, some of whom could possibly shoot their age and maybe even better." Par for the 18 hole Mayfair course is 72.

Among the participants were 96 year old Jim Dieco of Rockledge, who completed the full 18 holes earlier in the week. Yesterday afternoon's golfers included 86 year old Edna Sidell of Sanford.

Ernie Horrell said the Rotary Club was very appreciative to the Mayfair Golf Course. "They gave us free use of the entire course for all three of the events," he said. "The only charge in addition to the Golden Age sign up cost was for cart rental."

Seniors exhibit a variety of talent

By J. MARK BARFIELD
 Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Thursday night's Golden Age Games left the 100 or so audience members with smiles on their faces.

"That was good talent there," said one man to his wife. "The fellow that played the piano..."
 "He was good," his wife added.

Fifteen acts ranging from the impressive to the strange had the appreciative Golden Agers laughing and singing along.

The showstopper was 86-year-old James Deiso of Rockledge, Fla. His strong voice and solemn style on two numbers had many singing along with "Somewhere, My Love." Deiso left the audience with a wave and a message. "I wish all my friends that they will be as happy as I am when they get to be 100," he said.

Deiso was also well-liked by the panel of judges who awarded him the gold medal for singing. It was his second first-place showing for singing at the games in as many years.

Deiso said he has been singing for about 30 years, but added "I've always been happy. I've always sung out of a good attitude." Deiso said he currently sings with a band in Rockledge that performs in nursing homes and is planning a trip to California to visit his 56-year-old daughter.

"We're going up to Tahoe so she can ski," he said. "I'm not going to ski but I may hold her up so she can," he added with a laugh.

The Deltona Show Stoppers was another crowd favorite. The group of 20 dancers, aged 62 to 76 performed a synchronized tap routine dressed in white slacks and blouses and red, white and blue vests with red sequined bow ties and white campaign hats. The audience "ahhed" appreciatively when the curtains opened. They were awarded the gold medal for dance group category.

The Howell Place Lily Pad Singers was also a sweet favorite. Dressed in red, white and blue outfits, the ladies and gentlemen Lily Pad Singers entertained with a gentle melody of "This is my Country, Home on the Range, I've Been Working on the Railroad, My Country 'Tis of Thee and the Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The audience enjoyed the comedic ventriloquism recital of Frank Skvarek, 66, of Mt. Dora. Skvarek and his pal Calhoun the Crow entertained with a irreverent rendition of "'Twas the Night Before Christmas" that won him the gold medal for comedy.

"He filled all the stockings and turned with a jerk..." Skvarek began.
 "Were you there?" quipped Calhoun.

Perhaps the most curious performance was put on by Lake Mary's Harriett Boyd, 68. Listed as comedy, Boyd's act consisted of a trained black and white calico cat and a small black dog. The little dog ran around the stage while Boyd held the cat draped over her shoulder, made it sit and stay on a stand while she walked away and vacuumed it.

Yes, she vacuumed the cat to it's obvious pleasure. She rubbed the roaring attachment over the cat's back while it stretched in luxurious appreciation. Boyd even popped the end of the hose over the cat's tail, plunging it all the way down to its back before pulling it off.

Many flip for popular pancake contest

Gold medalist Rudy Eckhardt

By VICKI DeSORMIER
 Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — You'd think that pancake flipping was a pretty innocuous sport.

On Thursday afternoon, a small group of Golden Age Games participants gathered near third base of the softball field at Ft. Mellon Park and listened as recreation department staffers explained the rules of the popular contest. One employee took a frying pan in hand and walked through the course to show where the required flips should take place.

"Hey, she didn't flip it..." shouted one woman.

"It's just a demonstration," called another. "Leave her alone."

When the dust had settled the gentlemen in the 75 to 78 year-old range took the field.

Russell Stone, 76, of Youngstown, Ohio and Rudy Eckhardt, 76, of Orlando finished simultaneously.

They ran the race again, flipping a dirty, overcooked pancake five times as required. Again, they finished nearly at the same time.

"Geez, I don't care who wins," Stone said. "This is just a novelty for me."

Still several spectators crowded around the timers to put in their two cents worth.

"He didn't flip it at the end," one man said, pointing an accusing finger at Stone.

"He flipped his one in the middle past the line," said a woman waving her hand at Eckhardt.

Eckhardt shook his head. "Who cares? I just wanted to do this because I thought it'd be fun. It's something I can compete in without any training so I can give more of my time to getting ready for the other sports."

Eckhardt took third place last year and first place two years ago in the pancake race, but he has also won numerous medals in walking, billiards, tennis and basketball.

Stone, who holds the Golden Age Games record of 1:00:03 in the one mile leisure walk, also participates in race walking, basketball, table tennis, horse-shoes, shotput, discus and bowling.

"The pancake race is something my wife has done in the past," he said. "I thought it'd be fun."

After a third run off, Eckhardt took the gold with a time of 15:22 to Stone's 27:11.

AIDS awareness jumps by Quantum Level

By DEBORAH HASTINGS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES — Rock Hudson proved movie stars could get AIDS. Magic Johnson showed that a hero to young, old, black and white also is susceptible to the deadly virus.

Johnson's revelation that he is HIV-positive raises awareness of the deadly disease by a "quantum level" — especially among blacks, doctors and AIDS activists agreed.

Within hours of Earvin Johnson's news conference Thursday, calls flooded the National AIDS Hotline switchboard outside Raleigh, N.C., and reporters scrambled to cover a conference in Atlanta on AIDS in the black community.

"He is one of the first prominent black persons in our society who has been willing to say, 'I have HIV,'" said Fred Kroger, director of the National AIDS Information and Education program at the Federal Centers for Disease Control.

"He has said he wants to do something about it — and that will really be a step forward. That has been a missing piece."

Johnson, 32, who helped the Los Angeles Lakers win five NBA championships in 12 seasons, retired from professional basketball Thursday. He vowed to become a spokesman for the cause, especially by telling young people about the importance of safe sex.

AIDS is most often spread through sexual contact or contaminated needles shared by drug abusers.

Johnson did not say how he was infected. He stressed that he does not have full-blown AIDS.

An estimated 1 million to 1.5 million Americans are HIV positive. As of Sept. 30, the CDC reported 195,718 cases of AIDS in the United States and 126,159 AIDS deaths since the epidemic began in 1981. About 88,000 of the AIDS patients are minorities.

"This will make my community take its head out of the sand and realize that this is not a white, gay, male thing," said the Rev. Carl Bean, director of the Minority AIDS Project.

Sidmel Estes-Sumter, president of the National Association of Black Journalists, said reporters scrambled to cover the National Minority Health Association's conference on AIDS in the black community on Thursday, after ignoring it the day before.

"I really do think it'll galvanize another quantum level of awareness by the public," said Roy Schwarz, chairman of the American Medical Association's AIDS task force.

"This brings that disease home, everybody knows the Magic man," he said from Chicago. In San Francisco, Dr. Mervyn Silverman, president of the American Foundation for AIDS Research, said Johnson's announcement would encourage others to seek diagnosis and treatment.

"This tragic news is going to hopefully have an unprecedented impact on the invincibility and sense of denial felt by most Americans," Silverman said. AMFAR was co-founded by Elizabeth Taylor, who became an AIDS activist after Hudson, her friend, died of AIDS in 1985.

Gay journalist Randy Shilts, whose groundbreaking book "And The Band Played On" documents the history of the AIDS epidemic, said Johnson came forward at a time of "complete and utter apathy" about the disease.

The San Francisco Chronicle reporter said, "This is a period in which Congress has done nothing, the president has done nothing and the media has forgotten about it."

IN BRIEF

CROSS COUNTRY

District meets on Saturday

SANFORD — Seminole High School will host the 3A-District 4 cross country meet this Saturday morning at Seminole Community College while Lake Brantley High School will be the site for the 4A-District 5 meet.

At SCC, the girls' race will start at 8 a.m. with the boys' race to follow at 8:30 a.m.

Joining the host Seminoles will be Auburndale, Barlow, Cocoa, Haines City, Kissimmee-Gateway, Melbourne-Eau Gallie, Merritt Island, Edgewater, Jones, St. Cloud, Satellite Beach-Satellite, Titusville and Titusville-Astronaut.

According to Lake Brantley coach Charley Harris, the 4A-District 5 meet will begin with the coaches meeting at 8:30 a.m. The girls race is set for 9 a.m. and the boys for 9:30 a.m. There will be a TAC development race at 10 a.m.

Among the 20 schools that make up 4A-District 5 are Lake Mary, Lake Howell, Lyman, Oviedo, Lake Brantley, Apopka, Mainland, DeLand, Deltona, Kissimmee-Osceola, Lake Weir, Boone, Colonial Dr. Phillips, Evans, Oak Ridge, University, Spruce Creek, West Orange and Winter Park.

BASKETBALL

Magic's first loss a big one

NEW YORK — Reserve John Starks scored a career-high 30 points, including eight in a two-minute span in the second quarter when New York took control of the game as the Knicks beat previously unbeaten Orlando 128-100 Thursday night.

New York, who opened the season with a loss at Orlando six days ago, handed the Magic its first defeat in four games. Golden State is now the lone team with a perfect record.

Patrick Ewing had 24 points for New York while Xavier McDaniel scored 14, all in the first half.

Devin Scott led Orlando with 20 points while Terry Catledge added 15.

Burton leads Heat over Nets

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Wilhe Burton scored 24 points on 12-for-12 shooting and the Miami Heat limited New Jersey to 34 percent shooting in a 114-89 victory over the Nets on Thursday night.

Miami never trailed in sending the Nets to their second loss in as many nights. A big reason was the play of its front line as Burton teamed with forward Grant Long, who scored 22 points, and center Rony Seikaly with 16.

The starting frontcourt combined to make 22 of 38 from the field. It also limited the Nets front line of Chris Morris, Derrick Coleman and Sam Bowie to 47 points on 16-for-45 shooting.

Bowie led New Jersey with 20 points, while Drazen Petrovic added 16 in the team's home opener.

Magic Johnson retires

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — Magic Johnson, one of the greatest players ever, shocked the sports world Thursday with the announcement that he has the AIDS virus and is retiring from basketball immediately.

It can happen to anybody — even me, Magic Johnson said, making the announcement himself at a news conference televised nationally and attended by old teammates, doctors and NBA commissioner David Stern.

Johnson got the news Wednesday that the HIV virus had turned up in routine tests for a life insurance policy.

COLLEGE HOOPS

USF shoots over Stars

TAMPA — Detrick Sharp scored six of his total 15 points in the closing minutes to secure the Bulls' 100-89 victory over the Florida Stars Thursday during an exhibition game.

Gary Alexander scored 20 points for South Florida and Ralniko Dobras added 17.

The Stars, a collection of former college players from across the state, were led by center Oliver Lee and guard Maurice Cowen with 16 points each.

Seminole, Lake Mary control own destinies

By DEAN SMITH

SANFORD — Now the ball is in their court. Seminole and Lake Mary no longer have to rely on others to win district titles this year. As long as they win their remaining district games, no one can catch them.

For the Tribe to win their third straight 4A-District 7 title, they must beat Leesburg in their homecoming game on Nov. 15 then win a three-way playoff with Leesburg and Edgewater. And for the Rams to claim the 5A-District 4 honors they must defeat DeLand in their homecoming game tonight and Lyman next week.

Lake Mary head coach Doug Peters relishes the challenge.

"I like it that way," said Peters about his team controlling its own destiny. "I told the team earlier this week that the cream rises to the top at the end of the season. We started 2-3 and Lake Howell was 1-3. Now we're both back in the title hunt."

"We opened the season with such a tough schedule, but we won the games we needed to stay in contention. I'm proud of my kids. They could have quit after the slow start but they hung in there."

Peters expects a tough game with the Bulldogs, which will start at 7:30 p.m. at Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

"You don't look at the record when you play a team like DeLand," said Peters. "We're aware that they can play with anyone. I think they are one of the top three or four teams on our schedule."

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — While rules are a necessity for all games, the problem with having rules is deciding which one applies to which situation and just what the rules mean.

It's those two fundamental differences of opinion that has led to the dispute between Lake Brantley High School and the Florida High School Activities Association, which has resulted in the Patriot varsity football team forfeiting a pair of games, into the legal arena.

"We are asking for a declaratory judgement," said attorney Jim Grodin, whose daughter plays in the Lake Brantley band. "The judge is being asked to interpret Lake Brantley's rights under the bylaws of the FHSAA. And

Lake Mary claims first volleyball district title

OVIDO — For a tournament that held such promise for emotional extremes, the culmination of the 4A-District 9 girls' volleyball tourney was largely anticlimactic. Lake Mary, riding to a 15-13, 15-1 win over Lake Howell at Oviedo High School.

In the semifinals, Lake Mary ousted Deltona 15-3, 15-1 and Lake Howell ended Oviedo's 10-year run as a district champion with a 15-8, 15-9 decision that was Coach Jo Luciano's 200th career victory.

"I was really surprised by the Oviedo-Lake Howell match," said Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry, whose team ended a three-year streak of finishing second in the district. "I expected them to go three games. In fact, we told our fans not to be here until 7:30 p.m."

Lake Howell built big leads in both games against Oviedo and glided to the two-game sweep.

"I thought we were ready to play," said Oviedo coach Anita Carlson. "But we couldn't get anything going. We were very spotty."

In the first game of the finals, Lake Howell built a 9-3 lead. But the Rams outscored the Silver Hawks 27-5 the rest of the way.

Afterwards, Luciano said she had gambled on the potential emotional impact of her 200th win.

"I milked it for all it was worth."

said Luciano. "When we came out tonight, I knew we were going to beat Oviedo. But I didn't know if the girls could maintain that emotional peak through the championship match. Who knows? If we had won the first game, they might have."

The Rams, 32-1, will host the 4A-Region V championship on Tuesday evening.

Seminole eliminated

BUNNELL — Despite leading 11-7 in the first game, Seminole suffered a season-ending 15-11, 15-3 loss to New Smyrna Beach in the semifinals of the 3A-District 5 tournament at Bunnell-Flagler Palm Coast High School.

"We just couldn't do anything right in the second game," said Seminole coach Beth Corso. "I knew that if we could have gotten into the finals, we had a good shot at winning the championship. But we just couldn't get anything going."

OCS Rams in finals

MATLAND — Top-seeded Trinity Prep and second-seed Orangewood Christian School both won their semifinal matches Thursday and will meet in the finals of the 1A-District 8 tournament tonight at Orangewood Christian.

Trinity Prep (20-6) scored a 15-9, 15-5 win over Master's Academy (14-8) while the OCS Rams (21-8) were 15-11, 15-6 winners over Pine Castle Christian Academy (17-12).

After finishing second three years in a row, the Lake Mary High School girls' volleyball team finally broke through Thursday night, sweeping Deltona and Lake Howell to claim the 4A-District 9 championship.

Raiders host own tournament

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — The Seminole Community College men's basketball team will see its first home action tonight when it hosts the Raider Tournament at the Health and Physical Education Center.

The opening game will pit defending champion Bryant Community College against Webber College at 6 p.m. before the Raiders take on Patrick Air Force Base at 8 p.m.

There will be a tripleheader Saturday with the SCC women opening their season against St. Petersburg Community College at 4 p.m., the Raiders Tournament consolation game at 6 p.m. and the tournament championship game at 8 p.m.

SCC placed five players in double figures as it opened its season with a big 87-80 crowd-appealing contest. Pasco-Hernando Community College led at Tuesday night.

Guard Brian Nason led scoring with 16 points. Also in double figures were Troy Brantley (12), Darrell Robinson (10), Deon Carter (10) and Cole Mayes (10).

Also contributing were Lee Miller, Mike Morales, Tony Koster and Freeman, most of whom are sophomores.

SCC women hoping to rebound

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — Rebound is the important word in basketball.

In basketball, it's a statistic. The more rebounds a player secures, the more the good 20th-century Seminole Community College women basketball players can do.

"We expect to be better this season," said head coach Beana Gallagher, who will be starting her 12th season at the helm of the Raiders. "Our goal is to finish in the top five."

With four stars returning from last year, the Raiders had been almost consistently winning in a season when rebounding is well within the realm of possibility. But as good as the Malibu Raiders have become and the tough schedule Gallagher expects, rebounding will be a challenge.

The Raiders start their 26-game schedule Saturday by hosting St. Petersburg Community College in a 4 p.m. game at the Health and Physical Education Center before the consolation and championship games of the men's Raider Tournament. Admission to all SCC games is free.

Gallagher and assistant Val Roessler will have more height and depth to call on six girls going 7-foot-10 inches or better with four going over 6-foot-10 inches.

"Everybody seems to fit together," said Gallagher. "This group seems to be more of a team than in the past. It will be nice to be able to look down the bench and substitute someone and not worry about a drop off in play. I have someone to back up at every position."

It's made for good competition in practice. It seems like whoever plays on the second team

Lee's Cabinets stretches advantage

From Staff Reports
SANFORD — Lee's Cabinets added to its lead in the Sanford Recreation Department Men's Thursday Slowpitch Softball League with a 17-12 win over Holy Cross Lutheran.
 In other games, the Raiders beat Shruberry Pub 15-6 and Grace Apostolic throttled Texaco Star Lube 15-4. First Baptist had the bye this week.
 Lee's Cabinets (6-1) now leads both Grace Apostolic (5-3) and Shruberry Pub (4-2) by 1/2 games. They are followed by the Raiders (4-3), First Baptist (3-3), Holy Cross Lutheran (2-5) and Texaco Star Lube (0-7).
 Next Thursday, Shruberry Pub and Texaco Star Lube are scheduled to play at 8:30 p.m. with Holy Cross Lutheran taking on First Baptist at 7:30 p.m. and Grace Apostolic tackling Lee's Cabinets at 8:30 p.m. The Raiders have the bye.
 Doing the hitting for the Raiders were Kenny Davis (triple, four singles), Jim Palmer (triple, three singles), Steve Dean and rebounder.

 One of the main newcomers is freshman guard Elizabeth Mills from Lake Howell, a 5-foot, 6-inch All-Seminole Athletic Conference performer.
 "She's going to help a lot," said Gallagher. "She has played shooting guard in the past, but we are asking her to learn the point guard position. I expect her to take a lot of pressure off the other guards this year."
 The other incoming freshmen are guard Kerri Wilson (who played at Lake Howell before moving to El Paso, Texas); forward Monique Hayes from St. Petersburg; and centers Juanita Summary (Neptune, N.J.) and Kerri Archer (Cantonment).
 The five transfers, who came from South Florida Community College after it dropped its program, are guards Crystal Trouille (Hamilton) and Felicia Collins (Orlando); forwards Angela James (Orlando) and Brandy Friedemann (St. Petersburg); and center Yashika Woods (Brooklyn, N.Y.).

Raiders
 outplays whoever is on the first team. That kind of competition every day in practice will make us better in the games, I hope. But you never know with girls. We'll just have to wait and see."
 After getting off to a horrible start last year, the Raiders started to turn things around late in the season, thanks largely to the play of the four returners.
 Michelle Kumpf (5-foot, 5-inches from Vermilion, Ohio) and Brandie Groves (5-foot, 5-inches from Ocala) were the starting guards in every game for SCC last year and that experience should prove invaluable to the Raiders this year.
 Forward Pamela Williams, who prepped in Germany but now lives in Sanford, is a 5-foot, 9-inch forward who was the second-leading scorer last year.
 The other returnee is center Carla Letbetter, a 6-footer who missed the first part of last season with an injury but proved to be an effective scorer

 The Rams received some good news this week when they learned that quarterback Jason Rasmussen, who suffered a concussion in the Mainland game, will start tonight and that 6-foot, 2-inch, 200-pound fullback Terrell White has gained eligibility, allowing Lake Mary to play Titus Francis at tailback in some situations, alleviating some of the pressure of losing Al Holt.
 Even though Seminole's "must win" game doesn't come until next week, tonight's game with Lake Brantley (7:30 p.m. at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium) is still a big one according to head coach Eandy Blake.
 "All of our games are important for us," said Blake. "We want to win our conference (Seminole Athletic Conference) games so we can be with the leaders. Being the only 4A team in there with all Kurtis Tabor (double).

 Holy Cross Lutheran was paced by Church Henghold (triple, two singles), Paul Mickelson (double, three singles), Tim Pitman (double, two singles), Joe White (three singles), Larry Luce, Ray Meyers (two singles), Sam Ralnes (triple, single), Ronald Wise and Allen Peterson (two singles apiece), Alvin Campbell (double), and Dean Daniels, Michael Bacon and Tom Watson (one single each).
 Facing the Grace Apostolic Temple attack were Arthur Jackson (home run, single), Evan Bacon (triple, double, single), Thad Brooks (double, three singles), Sam Ralnes (triple, single), Ronald Wise and Allen Peterson (two singles apiece), Alvin Campbell (double), and Dean Daniels, Michael Bacon and Tom Watson (one single each).
 Contributing on offense for Texaco Star Lube were Lynn Loomis (three singles), Andy Whitfill and Ed Bloom (two singles each), Mike Cristello (double) and John Sanporito, Bobby Dodge, Jack Eastman and Bob Irwin (a single each).

Suit

 "We're asking for a permanent injunction to stop the forfeits," Grodin, who is on the board of directors of the Patriot booster club, said that the hearing for a temporary injunction against the FHSAA next Friday, Nov. 15.
 The dispute centers over the eligibility of a student who attends Lake Brantley but moved into the Lyman High School district during the summer.
 Because the student participates in the Emotionally Handicapped Resource program, which is offered at Lake Brantley and not at Lyman, the Seminole County School Board has made arrangements, including creating a special bus route, to allow the student to continue to attend Lake Brantley.
 This year, the student came out for the Patriot varsity football team. Because the student had attended Lake Brantley since his sophomore year, there didn't seem to be any reason to question his eligibility. But when Principal Darvin Boothe raised the question with FHSAA Commissioner Ron Davis, Davis replied that the student was ineligible and that the Patriots would have to forfeit the two games in which the student participated.
 On Saturday, the FHSAA's executive committee rejected Lake Brantley's appeal and upheld Davis' ruling that Lake Brantley would have to forfeit its wins over University and Lake Mary.

 The forfeits would have a profound impact on the 5A-District 4 race. Before the forfeits, Lake Brantley was 5-1 in the district, a half-game ahead of Mainland. With the forfeits, Lake Brantley drops to 4-2 in the district (5-3 overall) and Lake Mary improves to 4-1 in the district.
 Thursday night, Jim Sprinkle, president of the Lake Brantley High School Booster Club told a special assembly of the Patriot boosters that he was filing the lawsuit on behalf of his son David, who leads Seminole County in rushing.
 "We felt we had to do it this way," said Jim Sprinkle. "We didn't feel we could bring a class action suit. We've discussed taking legal action and we decided this would give us the best case."
 "We feel that the ruling was improper and that Mr. Davis ignored the FHSAA's bylaws."
 The point of contention is not so much whether Lake Brantley should forfeit the games or not, but whether or not the student was eligible.
 According to Article 19-11.7 of the FHSAA By-Laws, "The assignment or re-assignment of a student by the District School Board to a school other than that which normally serves the community in which the student lives shall not bestow upon the student athletic eligibility in the new school unless benefit of eligibility is requested upon a form to be furnished by the Commissioner."

 But according to Article 19-12.1, "If the Board of Public Instruction changes the route of the bus on which a student has been riding so that the students on it are carried to a different high school, or establishes a new bus route which the student is required to patronize, the student shall be declared eligible by the principal of the school to which he has transferred."
 Grodin, Sprinkle and other Lake Brantley supporters believe that because the Seminole County School Board did create the special bus route for the student to go to Lake Brantley, he should be eligible. The FHSAA's reasoning seems to be that while it may be the student's benefit to participate in the EHR program at Lake Brantley, it is not "required" and, according to 19-11.7, he would be ineligible.
 If the student is ruled ineligible, then the Patriots will have to forfeit the games because, while he did not actually play in either game, he was in full uniform and on the sidelines. A note attached to Article 19-18-1 states, "A student athlete in athletic uniform during an interscholastic contest is defined as having participated."

Gala tennis benefit set Saturday

By LAGY BOWEN
Herald People Editor

HEATHROW — If one of the tennis players at the Second Annual Tennis Jai Alai Benefit looks familiar from another sport, he is. Baseball great Tim Lincecum will join the ranks of 12 tennis pros from around the state to entertain patrons of the game at the Heathrow Racquet Club Saturday night from 6 to 9 p.m. Admission is free.

Coordinators Larry Lucas and Kevin Ford, tennis pro at Heathrow, said the event was rained out in October, but they expect beautiful, cool weather on the court Saturday.

"The whole thing should be wonderful, just wonderful," Lucas said.

Spectators purchase "tennis bucks" and bet on players in the progressive round robin tournament. Betting is similar to jai alai.

At the end of the evening, patrons can use accumulated "tennis bucks" to bid in an auction of varied items donated by local retailers. Proceeds benefit talented junior tennis players who will attend a state-of-the-art tennis clinic to further their training at no charge.

"We have many fantastic items to be auctioned," Lucas excitedly said.

Some auction items include jewelry, airline tickets anywhere in the United States, a weekend in the Presidential Suite at the Daytona Beach Marriott, valued at $1,500 and sports equipment.

"We'll also be giving away free sunglasses to the first 200 people," Lucas added.

One unique item available this year is a prize-filled helium balloon. Patrons may purchase a colorful balloon of their choice for a set price. When the balloon is popped, a prize guaranteed to be valued at more than the price paid is revealed.

Lucas noted that a happy hour with half-priced drinks will be available for nervous bettors from 5 to 6 p.m. prior to the benefit event.

Teen's self-worth lowered by beau

DEAR ABBY: Our 17-year-old daughter, "Marcie," is going steady with "Brad." They are both seniors in high school.

During Marcie's junior year, she ran with the wrong crowd, made some bad decisions about smoking and drinking and, yes, even sex. She was very honest with Brad, and now he is being verbally abusive — throwing her past in her face and making her feel like dirt. She quit smoking and drinking, but there's nothing she can do about her virginity. After being with Brad, she comes home and cries because he makes her feel so cheap and dirty. They fight all the time about it. He acts like her judge and jury.

What can I do? She says she's in love with him. He's the second boy she's gone with who's been verbally abusive. It took Marcie a year to get over the first one.

How can I help her? She doesn't want me or her dad to talk to Brad or his parents about this. I'm so worried about her. Please help.

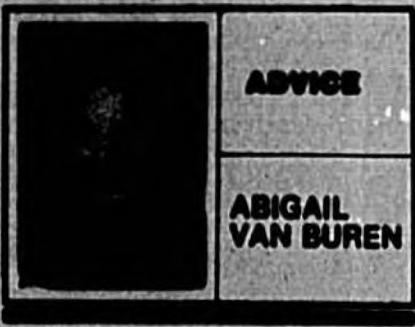

OHIO MOM

DEAR MOM: I know you love your daughter and would do anything to help her, but this is one job Marcie has to do herself. She needs to forgive herself and rebuild her self-esteem. She should not permit anyone to degrade her, or make her feel cheap.

Marcie has made some mistakes (who hasn't); now she needs to respect herself enough to say goodbye to anyone who tries to degrade her. No family member can help Marcie. Get her into counseling. If her school has no counselors, try your local department of family services or United Way.

DEAR ABBY: A mother wrote to you in agitation over her gay daughter's "lifestyle." I am writing in agitation over the use of that word — as if it is used to describe continually and bizarre and abnormal behavior.

Abby, like all the rest, we are born, we live our lives, and then we die. Along the way we go to school, to work, to church, we are sick and we are well, we are happy and we are sad, we pay taxes and give to charity, we enjoy family and friends, we buy cars and houses and books, we watch TV and go to the movies, we play golf and football and bridge, we go to offices and factories and farms, we vote and we volunteer, we worry about money and politics, and we are tired at the end of the day. Some of us love another of the same sex. It would seem so small a thing, like the color of the skin, in such a wide, wide world.

Will you gently chide your readers, Abby, that we are all far more alike than we are different?

NORTE CHATHAM, N.Y.
DEAR NORTH CHATHAM: Your chiding is identical to my philosophy.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J.N. IN BALTIMORE: Go for it! "Fortune is a prize to be won. Adventure is the road to it. Chance is what lurks in the shadows at the roadside." Those are the words of one William Sydney Porter, whose pen name was O. Henry. (Surprise!)

DEAR ABBY: You were right about one thing — the honeybee stings only once and dies. Proving that the bee came from the neighbor's beehive is another thing. There are more wild bees in tree hollows and people's backyards than there are in all the commercial or controlled hives put together.

CARL E. LOWMAN, COLUMBIA, S.C.

"GOD, BLESS THE U.S.A.!"

Not in twenty years has Vietnam Day been more real to the people of our country, as countless men and women made the mass exodus to the waters of the Persian Gulf and to the desert sands of the Middle East...each of them with a combined strength of purpose...the combination of tyranny and the mighty defense of democracy.

World War I, World War II, the Korean and Vietnam conflicts...and now, "Desert Storm"...let us recognize and honor all of our troops who have fought for our honor throughout this century.

As flags wave and yellow ribbons fly, may we pray that peace shall prevail in our nation and around the world.

Is blood pressure drug causing taste disorder?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been experiencing taste abnormalities and wonder if my blood pressure medicine (Catapra) is causing the condition.

DEAR READER: Known by the medical term "dysgeusia," distortion of taste can appear with no warning and with no apparent cause. However, it more commonly occurs as a side effect of drug therapy; many medicines have been implicated as causes of dysgeusia. Catapra (clonidine) is not among them.

Nonetheless, Catapra has been reported to cause dry mouth, loss of appetite and inflammation of the salivary glands. Therefore, I suppose it could, in theory, cause dysgeusia even though this complication has not been reported by the manufacturer. I suggest you discuss this with your doctor. Taste disorders are not harmful but can be annoying; your doctor can advise you. Perhaps a change of medication is in order.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a licensed massage therapist and acupuncture physician candidate with a master's in holistic health sciences. Is it possible that the preventive perspective is too close to the fringe of Western medical consciousness to broach? Even though medical means of remedies may be your potpourri to present, preventive suggestions could be given in addition.

DEAR READER: First of all, your flowery language indicates a hankering for professional respectability. Such high-falutin' talk (that is meant to impress) doesn't communicate. Go to the blackboard and write 25 times: "I will not talk fancy, I'll talk English."

Now to your questions, which I'll paraphrase: Western medicine seems preoccupied with treatment of disease; why so little emphasis on prevention?

I see the trap you are setting, and I'm not going to walk into it. Alternative health care — such as the holistic approach.

pyramid imaging, crystal power and naturopathy — is said by its proponents to emphasize preventive medicine, rather than the conventional treatment of disease. This makes it equal or superior to traditional medicine, the argument goes, which relies exclusively on drugs, etc.

As anyone with an IQ above room temperature knows, such a view is completely incorrect.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder
New Zealand Bridge magazine aims squarely at the club member, but there are some articles for the better player. It is a bimonthly, costing $22 a year (212-866-5860).

Today's hand comes from the June 1991 issue. Conceal the East-West cards and plan the play in four hearts. West leads the spade queen; you win with the ace and lead the heart king, which holds. East discarding a diamond.

The two-heart opening was an Acol two-bid, strong and forcing but not necessarily forcing to game if the responder has a misfitting near-Yarborough. The play looks too easy. After the spade ace and heart king, cash the top diamonds, ruff the diamond jack in the dummy, and discard a club on the spade king. Then concede tricks to the heart ace and club ace, coming home with an overtrick.

Against the given distribution, this line doesn't work so well. West ruffs the diamond jack at trick five and exits with the ace and another heart, leaving declarer with two club losers.

There is a guaranteed line of play. At trick three, continue trumps. West wins with the ace and returns a heart. Draw West's last trump and then lead the club nine, playing low from the dummy unless West covers with the jack.

This line either leaves declarer with only one club loser or ensures a dummy entry, allowing the diamond jack to be discarded on the spade king. (C)1991. NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Nov. 9, 1991

You are in a favorable financial growth pattern for the year ahead. Your gains might not come in large doses, but they should be consistent and impressive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If there is something you've been wanting to buy, but feel is overpriced, go back and renegotiate today. You should be able to get better terms. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Personal freedom and mobility will be of paramount importance to you today. Avoid individuals and situations that could impede your independence.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you want to feel fulfilled and worthwhile today, do things for others rather than for yourself. You'll get from giving.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you have some time to devote to a pleasurable pursuit today, try something different where you can meet and make new friends. The change should be to your liking.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Popularity with your peers is at a high point at this time. Even those individuals you felt were a bit standoffish will gather around your flame.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In order to be successful today, it's imperative you don't restrict your thinking. Keep an open mind, and don't prejudice your judgment regarding the source.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Changes could be made today in an endeavor in which you're presently involved. Go along with the trend of developments, even though it may be authored by another.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your cooperative spirit will be a major asset today in your relationships with others. What you are willing to do for them, they, in turn, will be willing to do for you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If your assignments have been slightly demanding lately, try to find time today for your favorite avocation. For true gratification, though, you must do something constructive.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Social contacts you've recently made can be of enormous help to you at this time in furthering a priority interest. Don't be afraid to express your needs.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Keep uppermost in your mind today the end results you desire in a matter you're trying to finalize. They could be very pleasing once you fix upon a target.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is a good day to clear up old correspondence or make phone calls you've been putting off to individuals you need to contact. Something fortuitous may result.
