Charlie Morrison Umpires Matches

Fred Perry, internationally famous tennis professional who appeared in exhibition matches on the courts of Rollins College in Winter Park yesterday afternoon, was greeted by a personal friend of long standing from Sanford when Charlie Morrison, member of the advertising staff of The Herald umpired the matches.

Perry, former U. S. National Singles Champion in 1933-34 and 35; Wimbledon Champion in 1934, 35 and 36 and holder of the Australian Singles Championship in 1934, teamed up with two members of the Rollins tennis squad and showed that he was still the suave, accomplished exponent of tennis as it should be played in winning his service four times at love.

In a two set exhibition, teamed with Guy Piliard, who defeated the number one and two men of Rollins by scores of 6-4; 6-4. He then engaged in a short exchange of shots with little 6-year old Hugh Curry of Orlando, announced as the worlds youngest tennis player. The large gallery of over 150 fans were amazed at the ability of the youngster, who really put on a great show.

The final match of the day found Perry teamed with Vincent Antonelli of San Juan, Puerto Rico against the brothers, Nano and Memo Garcia from Santiago, Chile. Perry and Antonelli took the first set 6-2 and the Garcia were the victors in the final set by a score of 8-4.

Following a series of exhibition matches in Central Florida, Mr. Perry leaves for Europe Saturday.

Sam Snead Wins Greensboro Title

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Sam Snead, an infrequent tournament player in view of his approaching 40th birthday, is still the old master as far as the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament is concerned. The slumping man from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., who won the inaugural tournament here in 1935, came through with a last-hole birdie Sunday to take his fifth Greensboro tournament.

Snead needed a lucky bounce in the fringe of the green after apparently missing his second shot, but he got it and chipped up to about 18 inches for the hole. The hole was to edge Art Ball Jr. of Pine Manor, Pa., and the Green of Greensboro, N.C., by one stroke with a 71 total.

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press
Ted Williams was still some 2,000 miles away from Fenway park today but could it be that the Boston Red Sox have been using the power-laden bats he left behind?

The end of the first week of the infant baseball season finds the Red Sox not only leading the American left field, has done the most toward League with five victories in six games but they also are on top with an astonishing .330 team batting average and 11 home runs.

Faye Throesberry, 23-year-old ex-GI filling in for Williams in easing the big guy's absence. The Memphis, Tenn., sophomore, clubbing at a torrid .400, is tied for the league lead with 12 runs batted in. His 30 hits include four doubles and three home runs. Tigers Triumph Over Cubs, 2-0 In Action-Packed Rotary Game

Although the Cubs outthrew the Tigers in their Rotary game at Municipal ball park Friday afternoon, they couldn't push over a run and went down fighting in a thrilling tussle, 2-0.

Both Tiger tallies came in the second inning. Getman led off with a liner to left field. Smith was hit in the arm by Nash. Bramlett laid down a nifty bunt to move the runners around but Nash delayed his decision as to which base to make the throw and all hands were safe.

Ed Furgol, winner of the Phoenix Open in 1954, finished 16th this year. Gene Little won the title this time.

Both Tiger tallies came in the second inning. Getman led off with a liner to left field. Smith was hit in the arm by Nash. Bramlett laid down a nifty bunt to move the runners around but Nash delayed his decision as to which base to make the throw and all hands were safe.

Upset by this turn of events the Cub pitcher hit Stafford the next batter, and Getman scored. Smith ratted across the plate a little later on a passed ball.

Cason struck out but McCarty walked to lead the sacks again. Scott luffed to Cherry back of the plate and the fire died out as Brooks fouled out to Moyer.

The Cubs threatened in two frames. In the second McMurry and Cherry were out on infield knocks. Nash took life on Cordel's bobble and Thomas lined to left. Stafford drew a pass and the stage was set for some scoring, but Hudson's hopper along the first base line was scooped up by Getman who made the out unassisted.

In the sixth inning Baker and Hudson, leading off, walked. Smith relayed Brooks here. Koke filled the bases with his short left field hit. Moyer slapped a grounder to Cordell who nipped Baker at the plate but Scott's throw to first for the doubleplay was too late. Tyre took a called third strike. The rally ended as did the other one of the Cubs when Getman fielded Howard's pinch-hitting for McMurry's roller and beat him to the sack.

Lineup:
CUBS: Hudson, 3b; Harlett, cf; Erickson, cf; Koke, cf; Moyer, 3b; Tyre, 1b; McMurry, ss; p; Howard, (pinch batter for McMurry in 5th); Cherry, c; Nash, p; as; Thomas, lf; Folds, lf; Stafford, rf; Moe, rf; Baker, rf.

TIGERS: Scott, c; Brooks, p; lf; Cordell, 3b; Getman, 1b; Smith, lf; Bramlett, cf; Stafford, rf; Brown, cf.

Cocoa Has Only Perfect Record Left In League

Cocoa's Indians had the only perfect record left in the Florida State League today after the first five nights of play, thanks to an 8-3 victory over Orlando.

Previously unbeaten Orlando fell before the two-hit pitching of Gaspar del Monte last night. The Cocoa ace would have had a shutout but for errors by his mates who supported him with a 10-hit attack. Leo Rodriguez led the barrage with four hits in as many trips.

Other action saw defending champion Lakeland blank Sanford 2-0; Gainesville drub West Palm Beach 11-1; and Daytona Beach take St. Petersburg 7-1.

Kernit Turner, a former Lakeland high school player, pitched Lakeland to victory in his first appearance in professional baseball. He struck out five, walked two, but gave up nine hits. The Florida ace was pitched by Howard Kaplan for only two hits, both of which however led to scores.

Rolando Ortega allowed West Palm Beach only two hits while doubling twice himself and driving in four runs. West Palm Beach, which hasn't won yet, used three pitchers trying to stem Gainesville's 11-hit attack.

Daytona Beach defeated the St. Petersburg Saints 7-1, getting all scores in the third and fourth innings. Rightshander Bob Arnett scattered eight hits while remaining on the mound throughout the Daytona Beach.

While the visitors scored their seven runs, St. Petersburg committed five of their seven errors.

Civil Defense Talk Delivered To Group By Bart Peterson

Bart Peterson, who for 15 years has held the position of director with the Seminole County Civil Defense Program, spoke to Gamma Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Monday evening at the home of Mrs. L. Hawkins Connelly.

In his informal talk, Peterson outlined the two defense phases of the Sanford Area, the first, and foremost in everyone's thought, was that of the possible defense in the event of enemy attack. In an interesting manner Peterson reminded his listeners that civil defense is no new problem. With each new destructive power requiring a protective measure down through the ages, power, strategy and methods of military minds provoking defense find ways and means in a community or country.

In his discussion concerning the modern age defense program Peterson talked over the possibilities and results of bombing, the protection from radioactive fallout, and the refuge facilities in Sanford. The value of obtaining a working knowledge of First Aid to eliminate human suffering was stressed to be prepared in the event of enemy attack or the emergency nature might offer with hurricanes, floods or tornadoes at which time the Civil Defense Program works with the other emergency associations.

Following his talk members were asked to contact Donald Bates for any information required concerning the "Door To Door Cancer Drive" for distribution of health education literature, and solicitation.

Detention Home Need Discussed

The need for a juvenile detention center was cited at today's meeting of the County Commission, and Judge Ernest Housholder said the plan is "something very worthy of consideration" before the next county budget is prepared.

Proposing that a center be established was William A. Leffler, chairman of the board of Chase & Co., who said the jailing of youngsters with adult criminals is "not good practice."

Leffler emphasized that the center could be started on a small scale in "some dwelling" with a good fence around it. He said the city might join with the county in such a project.

Judge Housholder told Leffler and the Commission that he was preparing a bill for presentation to the Legislature which would give the Commission authority to appropriate money for "that very thing."

"I have instructed the Sheriff's department not to place juveniles in cells with adults," he said, adding that "it is almost impossible to place juveniles in cells not adjacent to those occupied by adults."

Judge Housholder said he had in mind some property near the County Home for the detention center.

Referring to the growing load of juvenile cases, Judge Housholder said "juvenile court requires about half of my actual time."

Leffler said he was acting as a public-spirited citizen in proposing the detention home. He said recent newspaper stories had focused his attention on the need for it.

The Commission authorized Judge Housholder to inspect detention centers in Orange, Volusia and Duval counties and report to the Commission in the near future.

Judge Housholder is serving in the capacity of County Attorney at the Commission meetings in the absence of Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr., who is in Tallahassee for the legislative session.

Southern Heads Try To End Strikes Crippling Industry

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A reliable source said today Southern governors in conference here probably would urge an immediate return to work in both the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and Southern Bell Telephone Co. strikes.

The source, who declined to be quoted by name, said the conference probably would make three recommendations:

1. Urge arbitration in both labor disputes.
2. Request an immediate return to work, with guarantees that arbitration would be adhered to, and that any agreement would be retroactive to the date work is resumed.
3. An appeal to President Eisenhower to intervene personally.

The source did not detail exactly what presidential intervention would entail.

Governors of their representatives from 14 states met here at the call of Kentucky Gov. Lawrence Wetherby to discuss the two strikes, now five weeks old.

No official announcement was expected until after the meeting.

Innocent Man Held In Minnesota Jail For 19 Years To Get Reward

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A man who went through 19 years of hard and humiliating life in Minnesota prisons will within a few weeks earn the final reward of a plodding justice.

Blender Leonard Hankins of Dawson Springs, Ky., will accept the first of $300 monthly pension checks, Minnesota's payment for the years of suffering it inflicted on an innocent man.

Hankins will accept it with gratitude, some disappointment and no bitterness.

"It's enough to live on," the 30-year-old Southerner said in a restaurant draw that carried no anger. "But I'm kind of disappointed that they couldn't have done more for me."

A bill providing Hankins with $300 a month for the rest of his life has been passed by both houses of the Minnesota Legislature. When a number of other unrelated claims are settled by a conference committee, the bill goes to the governor. Hankins' payments would be retroactive to Jan. 1.

"I thank God that the legislature did as much for me as it did," Hankins said. "The only thing for me to do now is to put all of those terrible years behind me. I don't want to think of them."

"But I don't blame the people who sent me to prison. You forget all about that because it's so good to be a free man."

Sanford Residents Are Cautioned Not To Be Alarmed By Test Alert

Residents of Sanford are cautioned not to be alarmed when they receive a test alert from the National Guard unit, mobilized for a test alert soon.

The warning was issued by Capt. Joseph D. Bryant, commanding Co. I, which will participate in the alert sometime this spring with every other Army and Air National Guard in Florida and the Nation.

"One day soon the residents of this community will see their National Guardsmen mobilized quickly," Capt. Bryant said, "and carry out duties assigned to them in case of an emergency."

"We ask our fellow citizens not to be disturbed in the slightest by this Guard activity, which is simply exercise to test the speed and efficiency with which local Guardsmen can be mobilized in case of a disaster, or other emergency calling for our services."

"Please remember that this is only a test alert. However, another purpose is to give our fellow citizens an opportunity to see Co. I in training and to learn more about the important mission assigned to our Guardsmen in peace and war."

Exact time and date of the test alert, to be known as "Operation Minuteman," will be secret until just a few hours before it is sounded, Capt. Bryant explained. The "go ahead" order will be issued by the Adjutant General and transmitted to all Florida Army and Air National Guard units.

Meanwhile, Capt. Bryant added, nearly 400,000 Guardsmen in more than 2,200 other communities in the remaining states and in the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and Alaska will be alerted by their own Governors and Adjutants General. The greenlight for "Operation Minuteman" will be given by Major General Edgar C. Erickson, Chief of the National Guard Bureau, from his office at the Pentagon in Washington, D. C. General Erickson and his staff are coordinating the test alert.

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—Twenty-six grants totaling a million dollars were made yesterday by the Wolfson Family Foundation of Jacksonville to charitable, educational, health and religious institutions.

Jacksonville's Baptist Memorial Hospital and Miami's Mt. Sinai Hospital received the largest amounts, $4 million dollars each.

The grants were voted by trustees of the philanthropic foundation—Louis E. Wolfson, Sam W. Wolfson, Saul Wolfson and Cecil Wolfson; Dr. Sidney M. Leikowitz, rabbi of Congregation Ahaveth Chesed; and Joseph M. Glickstein, the Wolfsons' attorney.

Assistant Secretary Is Named

Statement Read At Closed Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today that Asst. Secretary Carl W. McCordle was the man who gave out the Yalta papers a day ahead of their general release.

Dulles told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that McCordle "gave a galley proof" to the New York Times the evening of March 13.

"This involved an exercise by Mr. McCordle of a discretion that was his," Dulles said. "It involved no breach of security."

Dulles said he had concluded by the time the one copy was given out that the British government had withdrawn its objections to publication and that the publication would not hurt U.S. relations with Allies.

Release of the single copy came just a day after the State Department had said disclosure of the record of the wartime conference between British Prime Minister Churchill, Soviet Premier Stalin and the late President Roosevelt would not be in the national interest.

Dulles was summoned to a closed-door session of the committee headed by Sen. George (D-Ga.) and read a prepared statement. In it he said James H. Doolittle of the New York Times told Dulles and McCordle the morning of March 15 that it was Boston's "impression" of a conversation he said he had with George "that the Senator wished to see the Yalta record made public by the State Department."

Vietnamese Army Headquarters Hit In New Outbreak

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The Binh Xuyen private army shelled the headquarters of the Vietnamese national army this afternoon in a new outbreak of violence in free South Viet Nam.

Eight nationalist soldiers and two Binh Xuyen commandos were wounded in a 30-minute battle which raged around the three-story building in the heart of Saigon.

The attack followed a break yesterday in the two-week-old truce between the army and the troops of the Binh Xuyen Society, a group of former river pirates and vice operators who oppose American-backed Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

In yesterday's outbreak the army charged the Binh Xuyen with kidnaping a national soldier and later firing on two army vehicles, killing the driver of one.

Three Officers Receive Letters Of Selection For Advancement

Three officers of Photographic Squadron 62 received letters of selection for advancement in rank to Lieutenant (junior grade) from Washington, D. C. last week. Two of the selected trio, Ensigns Arthur Glowka and James S. Bush, are at present overseas on a VJ-62 photographic mission. Their letters have been mailed to Detachment "King", the detachment with which they are serving, to inform them of their selection. The third Photolon 62 officer to receive his letter was Ensign John K. Cammell who is attending a three week course in instrument flight training at the Naval Air Station, Jacksonville. All three Ensigns will be promoted and receive the silver bar of

Associated Press Is Now Receiving Instantaneous News

NEW YORK (U)—The Associated Press news report now is received at almost the same moment in all parts of the inhabited world, AP General Manager Frank J. Starzel has said. He said this "simultaneous and virtually instantaneous reception" of news became a reality the past year by completion of the AP's globe-girdling system of radioteletype circuits. "As the operator in New York punches a story, our letter is printed in Tokyo, Manila, London and other points, almost before the next letter enters the transmitter," Starzel said in his annual report. The report, covering all phases of the news cooperative's operations, was sent to AP members in advance of their annual meeting here April 18. President Eisenhower will address their luncheon in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Noting that the news moves at once through 24 different time zones, Starzel said: "The system makes available almost anywhere in the world a basic news report averaging 25,000 words daily."

Process Of Getting Coveted Gold Oscar Is War Of Nerves

HOLLYWOOD (U)—The process of winning an Academy Award is a war of nerves, says E. J. Connelley, who managed to win the war this year. O'Brien was handed an Oscar a fortnight ago for his performance as the scheming press agent in "The Barefoot Contessa." It's lucky that he's an easy-going Irishman or he might not have made the grade. In an interview he told me how it all happened. When he arrived in Rome a year ago to play the "Contessa," producer-director writer Joe Mankiewicz warned him that the role was Oscar bait. Mankiewicz told him the part had a telephone scene that was a bit. And he reminded him that it was a telephone scene that won Oscar for Lillian Gish in "The Sign of the Cross."

Connelley said he was nervous, but he did the scene in one take. The scene of him shouting into a telephone was shot in one take. Connelley was so nervous that he had to be held back from the set. He was so nervous that he had to be held back from the set. He was so nervous that he had to be held back from the set.

the Academy suggesting that if he should win, would he continue from acting the Oscar for several years. A formal invitation. A letter asking him to be one of the members of the academy. Connelley told me that he was so nervous that he had to be held back from the set. He was so nervous that he had to be held back from the set.

Tourist Agencies Highly In Favor Of PAR Project Improvement Of Pastures Is Prominent

Florida's major tourist promotion agencies have almost unanimously endorsed the Project Adequate Roads (PAR) committee plan for "more roads without more taxes." Sidney O. Chase Jr. of Sanford, chairman, said yesterday after receiving copies of a Sarasota County Chamber of Commerce letter to State Senator Joe Bill Rood and Representatives Henry Bartholomew and George Youngberg, Sr.

"It is the sincere belief of the board of directors of the Sarasota County chamber that these measures would help develop a progressive program of highway construction which is essential to all facets of Florida's economy, industry, agriculture and tourism," read the letters sent Sarasota legislators by Chamber Manager Tod Swalm.

Commenting the recommendation of the Florida Legislative Council's road committee, the Sarasota chamber directors "specifically endorsed" the two recommendations which have the sanction of the PAR committee of the Florida Highway Users Conference:

1. Allocate to the State Road Fund for urgently needed road improvement the unpledged surplus of motor vehicle license relaxation or to prevent over-grazing or damage to portions of the pasture land not ready for grazing. Still another way in which soil and water conservation loan funds may be used in connection with pasture improvement is through development of irrigation systems. Funds may be used, when recommended, for land leveling, well drilling, and the purchase of pumps, sprinkler system, and other irrigation equipment.

The loan funds are being used to establish new pastures or to improve those already established. Some of the practices to develop good pastures, and for which soil and water conservation loan funds are being used, include seeding with recommended grasses and legumes, proper fertilizing, and liming.

In some areas, sodding and subsoiling are necessary, Mr. Green said. Brush removal is also a practice that may be necessary on some farms.

Another use of the funds may be for cross-fencing, for pasture tag revenue now going to the general fund; and fit organization or association primarily engaged in extending to its members services directly related to soil conservation, or water development, conservation, or use, or drainage of farm land. The practice for which soil and water conservation loans are made must be in line with Soil Conservation Service and Extension Service recommendations.

2. Re-organize the State Road Department for more efficiency and stagger the terms of State Road Board members to enable a continuing improvement program.

RENO, Nev. (U)—Harold's Club of Reno, Nevada's biggest gambling enterprise, put an estimated 2 1/2 million dollars worth of its property up for sale yesterday. Club officials would not explain why, publicly. But some said privately that a sharp increase in state taxes and the cost of an expansion program prompted the move.

Tell Her It's MURDER

SYNOPSIS
 Jim Andrus had blushed the night before he was to wed lovely Regina Pelham in her suburban New York home. He had awakened to find himself accused of the rehearsal stage of Regina's small son, Roger. And though he knew he had been framed, evidence pointed to his guilt, so he had been convicted of homicide and had served a year in prison. But free now in New York, Andrus had been invited by Regina's father, Dr. Parr, to be the best man at her wedding. Andrus is bent upon clearing his name.

CHAPTER SEVEN
 THE NIGHT clerk was asleep in a chair in the dim lobby. Andrus eyed quietly past him and up to his room. He looked at himself in a mirror on the wall. His best friend wouldn't have recognized him. His face was covered with blood and dirt, there was a grain on his forehead, his lips were swollen and his left eye looked awfully bad from pads of swollen flesh. He took his hand to his eye, but he found it was more dried blood. A color vision strip, he forced himself to show in the rapid water in the washbasin. At least the smell of the whisky was gone. He lowered himself carefully to the bed and pulled up the covers.

Early the next morning the body was found by two boys, Officers Baker and Dupasse were on the scene at shortly before 8 a. m. They examined the dead man. There was a head on the floor, a couple and his head had been pretty well cracked. Fugor was well advanced. The rocky ground around him was strewn with bits of a broken whisky bottle. There was blood on a couple of carpet borders. The diagonal pain in the chair was narrow, a mere foothold. Near the tip a chunk of it had broken off.

Baker said, "He took a bad fall. Drunk, I guess." Dupasse said it looked like he had a nooding acquaintance with Midnight Mike, knew who he was. "Poor guy. He has a cabin up there in the hills. Keeps goats. Drank a lot, although he didn't show it. Guess it caught up with him in the end."

A collection of curious people had begun to gather on the edge of the woods below. The medical examiner, Dr. Parr, pushed his way through them and came up the hill. "I wish you fellows would and your heads on the road," he grumbled and snort. His fingers moved over the dead man's skull. The skull moved with them, loosely.

Parr agreed with the two officers. "Well, all that dirt last night and smothered his head on one of these rocks." He waved at the jagged ridge of a boulder with blood on it. "Never knew what struck him." He wiped his hands on gauze, took out a pad of formula. "What's his name?"

"Midnight Mike," Dupasse said. "Midnight Mike what?"
 "Broodsky, I think, doctor. Yes, that's right, Michael Broodsky."
 Dr. Parr's pen stopped. He stared down at the dead man. "So that's Broodsky."

Dupasse looked at him. "Yes. You seem kind of surprised, doctor. I've heard his name just yesterday from someone."

The someone was that attractive sister of Regina Pelham's, Miss Dwight had been rather urgent about it.

Susan lit a cigarette. No, it couldn't have been Jim Andrus she had seen out there on the corner last night. The phone rang. She went into the pantry and answered it. It was Edith and Edith's voice was sharp with excitement. The man who had been found dead in the woods to the north that they called Midnight Mike was Michael Broodsky, the man Susan had been talking about yesterday. The one who had pawned Andrus' gun. Edith had just heard it from Grace Totten, who heard it from her cook. "Isn't that queer, darling, that you should have been asking about him just yesterday? Isn't it a coincidence?"

"Is it?" Susan said lazily. "Oh, sorry, sure course the milk man and was a good cream."
 Mrs. Caserly was standing on the doorstep, and Susan said abruptly, "Michael Broodsky is dead," and Mrs. Caserly said, "I just heard about it as I was coming in." She had gone over to her own house in Edinboro the night before to get some clothes; she was going to stay another week with Regina. She didn't look well. Her color was bad and her fine nose was pinched. "Seems like he fell off a cliff on his way home to that shack of his."

"I thought you didn't know any Michael Broodsky," Susan said, eyeing her.
 Lulu Caserly said, "I didn't. No one ever called him anything but Midnight Mike. He used to work for my husband years ago, when he wasn't too drunk."
 She began getting a tray ready for Regina. "Sunday's the only day you can get her to sleep late. When I'm here I always make her have her breakfast in bed."
 After she went upstairs, Susan rang Dr. Redgate's number. Amy Redgate came on, and got him. Dave had heard about Midnight Mike. "Your Michael Broodsky, you just didn't ask for him by the right name. He's worked in houses around the Hill for years. Everybody knows him, short, stocky man, about 50, who wouldn't work for you unless he liked you. Quite a character. I believe he sold goats' milk."
 Susan said, "Was Broodsky's death an accident, Dave?"
 "Looks like it."
 "What time—when did he die?"
 "Sure, why are you so interested? What do you—oh, I get it—the bank belonging to Andrus, the one Regina gave him, that Broodsky pawned. Well, that's explained now. Andrus threw it away somewhere between the inn and your place, and Broodsky found it."
 Meanwhile, in New York, Inspector McKee had received the laboratory report on the shoes and clothing Andrus had worn the night he was alleged to have killed Roger Pelham. At shortly after 3 o'clock that afternoon he was in his apartment on East 31st street, discussing the report with Fernandez. The Scotsman said that whatever else Andrus had done on that May night a year and a half ago, whether he had driven his car or not, he had done a lot of walking, country walking. He had gone through long grass and briars, over rocks with silicon in them, over red earth containing a considerable percentage of iron, and among goats. There was no proof, McKee said, that Andrus hadn't begun his perambulations after he ran down the child. It was the sort of thing a man might well do. Get some away from the scene of his crime, pull the car up and tramp for hours under the lash of heat and remorse.
 Fernandez was stubborn. "No proof, but—"
 "Wait a minute, doctor, I said no proof and I mean no proof. Personally, I don't believe Andrus drove his car through the Pelham grounds that night. What I think happened was this. Whoever drove the car, returned it to the inn grounds before Andrus arrived back from his perambulations.
 "Andrus saw it sitting there under the trees, climbed into it and fell asleep behind the wheel. But if he's to be cleared—"
 The phone rang. McKee picked it up. It was the Yonkers police calling. He listened for a moment and turned his head. "Do you know any place besides Jude Carmody's or his own apartment that Andrus might be, Fernandez?" Fernandez said no, and McKee turned back to the phone and went on listening. He replaced the instrument slowly and thoughtfully a couple of minutes later and told Fernandez.
 Up in Yonkers a man named Michael Broodsky had died the night before, apparently by accident. It wasn't an accident. An autopsy had been performed. Michael Broodsky's death was murder—and there was a warrant out for Andrus' arrest.

Dogwood Blooms At Warm Springs

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (AP)—The wild flowers and dogwood trees are in bloom again just as they were when President Franklin D. Roosevelt died at his hilltop retreat here April 12, 1945.

The Little White House, built in 1932, and the 1,900-acre farm where Roosevelt raised cattle were opened as a shrine Oct. 28, 1948. Since then they have been visited by 650,000 persons from every state and 81 foreign countries.

The visitors looked over the specially-equipped 1938 Ford convertible in which FDR used to drive around the narrow country roads visiting neighbors. They saw his "five-and-dime" eating utensils.

They gazed at the uncompleted portrait which Elizabeth Shumata was painting at the time Roosevelt was stricken. And they saw the bedroom with the tufted coverlet which covered his death bed.

The only changes have been to erect plate glass and iron guards that permit a full view of the rooms but prevent handling of the objects on view.

At the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation the past 10 years have brought much greater changes. The 80-bed east wing, for which Roosevelt broke ground during his last visit, has been completed. A new rehabilitation center and auditorium known as Roosevelt Hall was dedicated a year ago. Now a new children's ward is being built.

The little village of Warm Springs—Bullochville when Roosevelt first came to the resort inn at the springs—has also seen changes in the past 10 years.

The ramshackle old railroad station where the president always arrived in his private car and where the coffin bearing his body was loaded for the final trip to Washington, has been torn down. The land was secured for a memorial park.

At Hyde Park, N.Y., the family homestead where Roosevelt was born and spent most of his 63 years little has been touched by time since his death.

The estate, the home, the library that houses FDR's papers and mementoes have been made into a national historical site.

Nearly 35 million people have visited the spot where the president was buried beneath a plain marble monument in a hemlock bordered rose garden.

Vandalism is rare. Only a picture, a candlestick and a bedroom slipper have been taken since the estate was opened.

Every fall when the lowering, century old hedge is trimmed, there is no need for raking up clippings. Visitors eagerly carry them away.

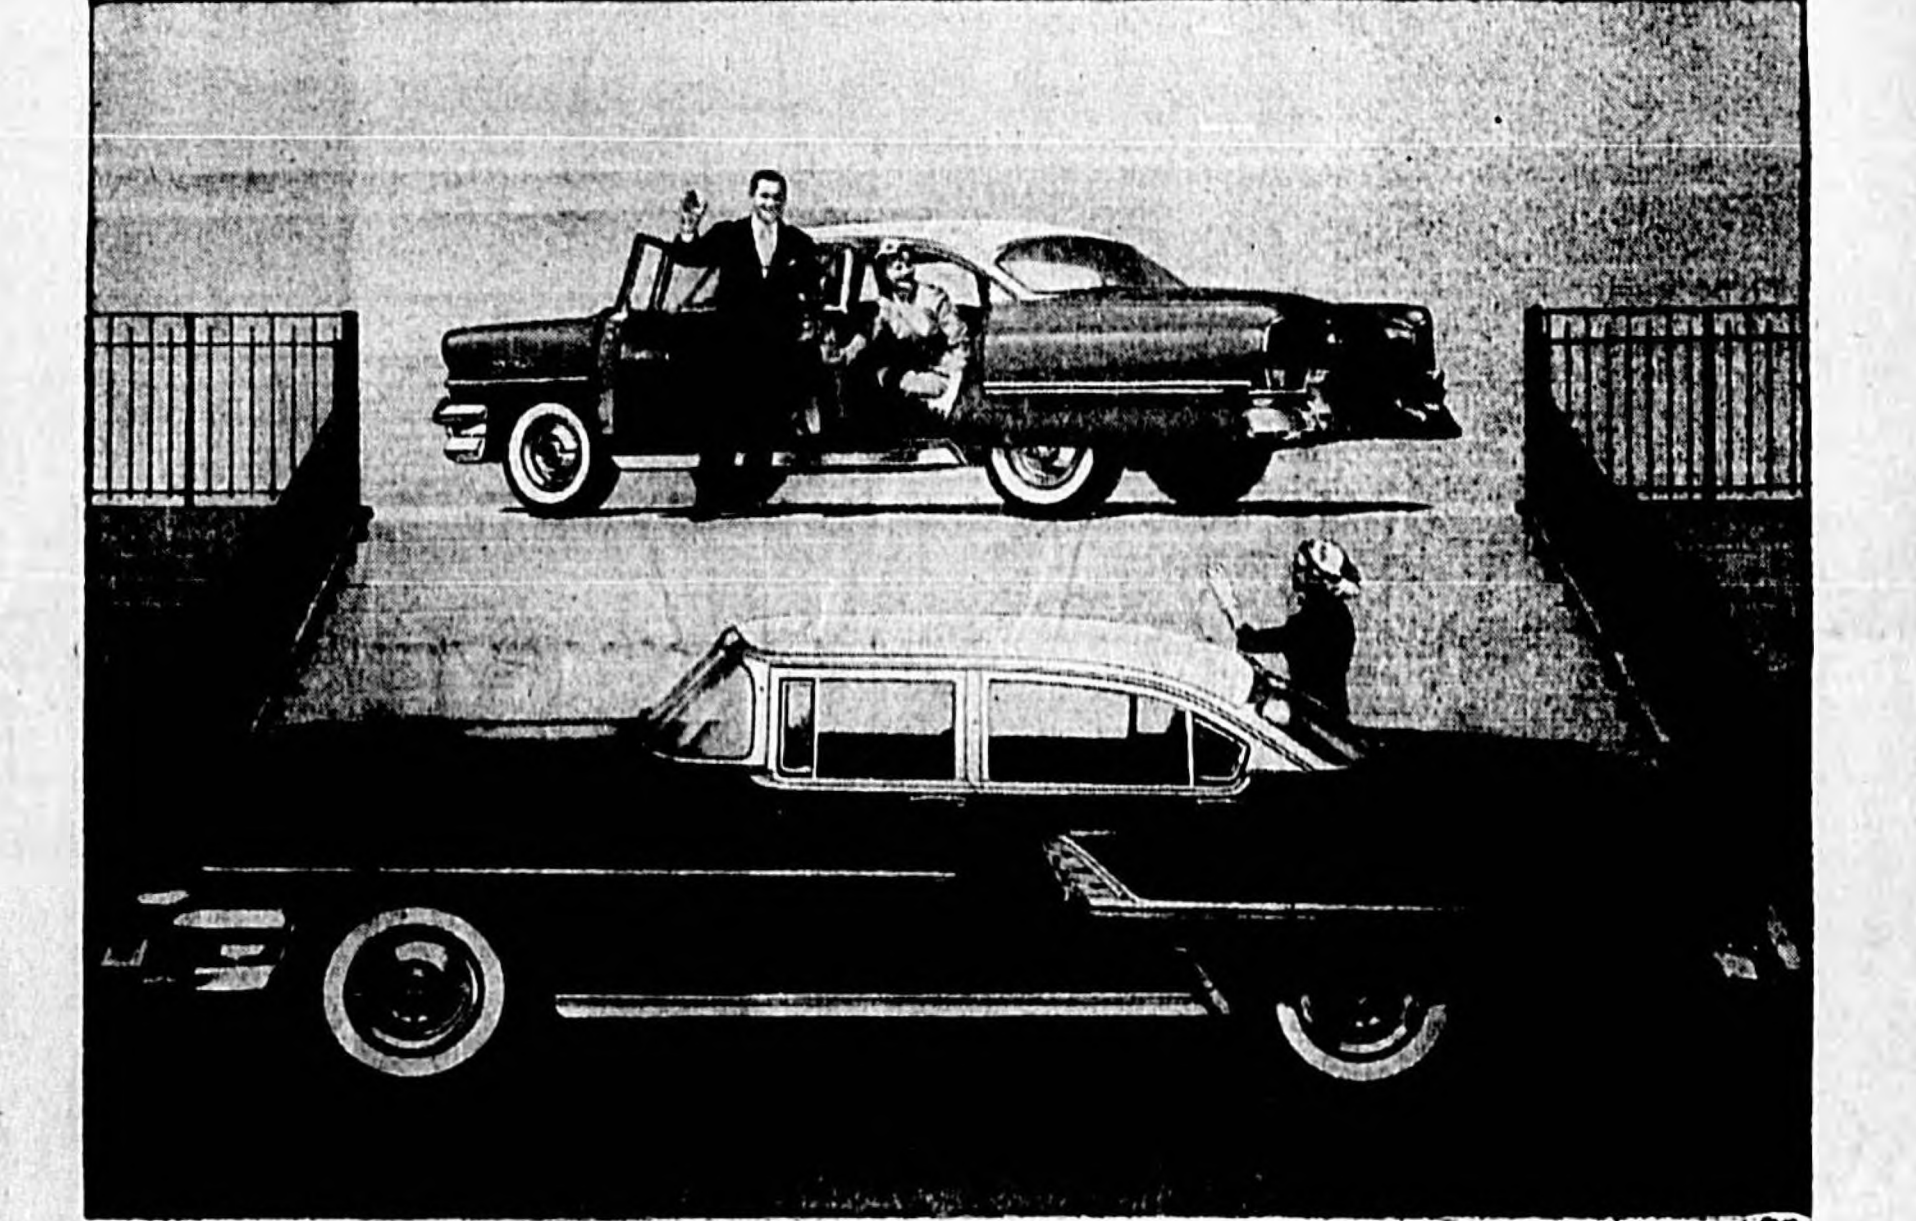

The once drowsy village where as a boy Roosevelt ran after the volunteer fire department is now bright eyed and busy. Restaurants, movies, motels, filling stations and souvenir shops have mushroomed along the Albany Post Road near the family estate.

Moonshine Capital Wants To Become Tourist Center

COBLY, Tenn. (AP)—This moonshine capital of Tennessee wants to grow up to be a tourist center. So it figured out a pretty smelly way to do it.

The weekend of April 23 the Festival of the Ramps will get underway.

A ramp is a first cousin to the lily of the valley. It smells roughly like a cross between an onion and a garlic plant, liberally seasoned with vinegar.

Some folks in these parts regard it a delicacy; the rest eat it in self defense.

You might think the ramp would drive away tourists, but the first ramp feast last year drew 20,000. With Harry S. Truman as an added attraction, 50,000 are expected this year. Quite a throng for a community that is nothing more than a country store and a post office, run by one of the few Democrats around, Mrs. Glennie Kate Harrison.

Cosby is a bastion of old guard Republicanism and gave Truman only 30 out of 400 votes cast for President in 1948. But there are no grudges and the former President will be the festival's main speaker and receive a 21-gun salute.

Wonders Of Science

Modern science is wonderful. When it can't see, it listens. And all the time it earns.

Astronomers at Harvard University are exploring the invisible universe with radio. Radio noise, coming from invisible cosmic gases and stars, are being analyzed to gain new knowledge.

This research is being carried on by a 60-foot radio telescope being built by Harvard under a National Science Foundation grant. The radio telescope has added a large new dimension to astronomy. It can be kept in operation day and night in good weather or in bad.

Science never rests in its quest for knowledge. It is constantly creating new instruments which can be used to push back the limits of the unknown. Today it is a radio telescope. Soon it may be possible to apply the principles of television to astronomy; or even to fly, via rockets, to distant planets for first-hand observation; or, at the very least, to locate telescopes and camera apparatus on man-made satellites whirling through space.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Jehovah gave and Jehovah has taken away; blessed be the name of Jehovah.—Job 1:21—Normally we notice only the things taken away from us. We show little gratitude for what we have, but resentment we have for our disappointments and failures.

Profits Running Ahead Of 1954

NEW YORK (AP)—Profits this year are running ahead of last year by a margin wider than for any other year since the most optimistic forecast.

The first 65 corporations to report on earnings after taxes in the first three months of operations show three out of four doing better this year than last.

Combined, their net profits are 21 per cent higher than in the first quarter of 1954.

Partly this is because business is good this year. Partly it's because business this time last year was mediocre to poor for many companies.

Then many companies were running on reduced production schedules. Sales were down and gross profits with them. A stable number, however, maintained their equilibrium because reduced taxes kept net income from sliding.

This year's tax rates are at about the same level as last. The gains this year, therefore, reflect increased sales or trimmed operating costs, or both.

The gain in earnings brings joy to the stockholders, since it holds promise of generous dividend payments ahead.

The big bull market in stocks was built in part on expectations that earnings would be up this year and that dividends, too, might rise.

Professional traders look ahead and are more interested in what is to come than what has happened. The flood of earnings statements now pouring from the accounting books is ancient history in the stock market—but a reassuring and gratifying story.

The profit gains aren't uniform

International Ogres

Americans have been reared with the idea that it is not what you do, it's the way that you do it that matters. The emphasis Americans have always placed upon motives and upon how a thing is done has stood them in good stead. It has given the poorest man dignity and has knocked the steam off many a would-be commissar.

Recently Americans have been criticized for cynicism and charged with under-rating and misinterpreting motives of friendly but less powerful nations. Nations receiving economic aid have claimed that Americans are interested only in their own motives. They say the United States decides the reasons for aid and the how of the programs to be carried out, while nations receiving aid are expected to do without question what America has decided they shall do. In this sort of climate other nations are bitterly denouncing what they call American authoritarianism and American opportunism.

In the United States a man could not get far grandiosely dictating procedure and insisting on an exclusive right to make policy. What happens to American Democracy when it leaves home? Does it become less American? Less democratic? The same fine fellows we are domestically are ogres abroad.

Perhaps too much has been made of the American figure encased with bulging pockets. But it is a pretty sorry commentary if the only place we can get along in at home where everyone knows that the bulge is not money but last month's bills.

White House Space

President Eisenhower is having a study made of what must be done to meet the problem of lack of office space in the White House. It is possible that when the study is completed he will have to recommend alterations.

There are always a great many people who rise in wrath whenever the idea of changing anything about the White House is proposed. Congress balked at a suggestion by President Truman that something be done about getting more office space. Perhaps President Eisenhower will fare better.

It is right that we should be concerned about preserving the White House, as nearly as practical, in the way it was when it was first occupied. But the President and his advisors are busy people and they need whatever help they can get to improve the efficiency of the place in which they work. Sentimentality must not be permitted to bar needed improvements.

Bandung Conference Has Troubles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The West thinks it has troubles. But the 29 Asian and African nations which opened a conference yesterday at Bandung, Indonesia, have troubles, too.

They sent more than 600 delegates there, representing over one billion people who include Christians, Buddhists, Moslems, Hindus, Communists, anti-Communists and nations such as India called neutralists.

What they have in common is that they are from Asia, Africa, and the Middle East and that most of them are colored. Russia and the other big white powers — the United States and the West Europeans — were not invited.

While the United States and its Western Allies have differences, they are at least united in common defense against communism. The delegates at Bandung do not have even that kind of unity.

India's Prime Minister Nehru may have to struggle for Red China's Premier Chou Enlai, if not for leadership of the conference then at least to chart its direction or to prevent it from following Chou out the window.

Nehru, soft-talker about China, is a tough anti-Communist at home. Chou will probably be asked by some delegates to promise not to start war by attacking Formosa or the Main and Quemoy islands.

That will put him on the spot since Red China poses a peace lover but has vowed to take the islands. At the same time Nehru and Chou have blasted the anti-Communist Southeast Asia defense organization.

That group's members — the United States, Britain, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines, Thailand and Australia — banded together for mutual defense against attack by the Communists of China or North Vietnam.

At the conference Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser would like support for the Arabs' dispute with Israel, which isn't there. But the Arab nations at Bandung — Egypt, Syria, Saudi Arabia, Iraq — don't see eye-to-eye on everything, either.

The first three have criticized Iraq for signing a defense treaty with Turkey which, although present at Bandung, is allied with the West and is not a member of the Arab League.

Some of the Africans and Asians at Bandung — with plenty of reason to remember the long history of West European colonialism, imperialism, exploitation and practice of white supremacy at their expense — will probably see off the West.

But at the same time the non-Communists among them, if they make any pretense at reality, must regard Red China as a new threat to their independence.

Red China will try to spread the gospel of goodwill to its neighbors although those neighbors, at the moment they are critical of the West, know the West is the biggest deterrent to Communist China's

Suit Of Armor Best For Bullfight

MADRID (AP)—The safest costume to wear to a bullfight is a suit of armor.

It comes in handy to protect you from the wrath of the fans, or aficionados, if things go wrong.

Your typical Spanish bullfight aficionado is a rabid individualist who makes even the most leather-lunged American baseball fan seem like a wax statue of Casper Milquetoast.

He is a perfectionist. The deadly ballet of a bullfight is more of an art form than a sport. Everything must go strictly according to Hoyle; or the aficionado takes it as a personal affront, and his howls can be heard from here to Seville.

If he thinks the performance is too lousy, he may even go down into the ring himself to show the matador how a bull really should be fought.

This actually happened last Easter Sunday at a bull-stabbing I attended out of curiosity along with some 24,000 regular patrons of this cultural medium.

A bullfight follows a classic pattern. Ideally it is held on a hot bright windless day.

The bull comes loping in, fierce and surging with power, and is dragged out dead and bleeding by mules less than half an hour later.

In those few moments he is run until he is partly winded, methodically weakened by a man on horseback who lances his shoulder muscles until he can hardly lift his head. Three daring men on foot then run up and stick brightly colored darts in his wound to goad him to the limit.

The bloody pageant reaches its climax when the matador, after flagging the beast back and forth with a cape like a maddened railroad locomotive, leans forward on tiptoe and drives his sword over the lowered horns into the confused bull's eary heart.

Each part of the ceremony is a ritual. Every graceful movement of body and cape by the matador is as meaningful to the true aficionado as a fiftieth step to a teen-ager in America. The matador must be blindly brave, the matador skillfully courageous in toying with the horned death.

But on this Easter Sunday everything went wrong. The sky was gray. A sharp breeze made it hard for the matadors to handle their capes.

In the first event a gay caballero fought from horseback, dismounting only to be handed a sword for the actual kill. The bull promptly butted him sprawling. The whistling began at once. A whistle in Spain is the equivalent of a Bronx cheer, only more insulting.

Humiliated, the gay caballero regained his feet and after a couple of muffed stabs, at last dispatched his bull. His eyes streaming tears, he held out his hands pleading to the stands. But all he heard were jeers and whistles.

Nothing went right from then on. The aficionados jered the picadores for punishing the bulls too much. They jered a bull every time he paused to try to figure what kind of a strange pasture fate had landed him in. They jered the president of the bull ring. They jered the matadors for being too cautious. Some of them even began to jeer each other.

As the seventh and last bull of the day was being worn down, a young aficionado leaped into the ring. He took off his coat, and waving it like a cape, fancy-stepped three times out of the way of the charging bull before attendants butted him out.

It took the disconcerted matador three swords to finish off the bull. Then hot aficionados erupted. They howled, hollered, whistled and stomped their feet in disdain. Pop bottles and hundreds of seat cushions began to rain down into the arena. A hard Spanish seat cushion is enough to snap your neck if it catches you from the right angle. I ducked out the nearest exit.

Later I heard that 30 fans had been arrested during the rioting. When I expressed surprise at the outbreak to an acquaintance who lives here, he explained:

"You don't understand. Some of these fans save up half a year to go to a bullfight. They're like a baseball fan back home who expects to see a no-hit, no-run game every time he buys a ticket."

When I asked what would happen in the young fan who had danced his brief impromptu fandango with the bull, my acquaintance said:

"He'll probably get 15 days in the hoosegow. But if he showed enough talent, some manager may take him over and turn him into a real matador. Every once in a while a bull-crazy kid gets his start that way."

If I ever go to another bullfight I'm going to show up wearing a helmet and a catcher's mask. The brave bulls don't seem nearly as dangerous as the angry aficionados.

Abbe Pierre Leaves For Lecture Tour

PARIS (AP)—Abbe Pierre, who became a national figure through his stirring battle against poverty in France, is leaving today for the United States and a lecture tour.

The Abbe, a frail Catholic priest, says he is going "not as a Frenchman to talk about France; not as a priest to talk about religion; not as a beggar to ask money; but as a man wanting to speak to other men about human problems."

Garden Nook

BY SADIE B. GUT
The Sanford Garden Club of F.F.G.C.

The April showers we are having should serve as a warning to watch out for a variety of pests that will descend on us. Roses develop black spot in damp weather and should be dusted with a good rose dust every week and especially after a rain. This dust will also kill the aphids on tender new growth of roses and other shrubs as well.

Five per cent Chlorodane dust should be sprinkled on ant hills and also on the swarms of baby grasshoppers you'll probably discover in the vicinity of amaryllis and other succulent growth.

Isotox, or whatever spray your dealer advises, should be used as needed to control thrip on glads and geraras, lacebug on azaleas and pyracantha, for leaf miners, aphids and night-feeding beetles.

Spray citrus with volck when fruit is size of marbles. Isotox may be added for control of aphids. A second spraying of volck or other oil emulsion should now be applied to camellias, gardenias and other scale infested shrubs, before weather gets too hot. Spray after sun has left the plant for the day.

Chrysanthemums should be set out in new beds if not already done. Take up the whole clump, break up using only the new rooted divisions that can be pulled from the stock. Plant these in rich soil in full or half sun and water well for a few days until established, shading if necessary. Pinch out tip growth as branches reach six inches or so in length, to induce a bushy and sturdy plant. Fertilize and water regularly until buds form in fall, removing any buds that may appear in mid-summer.

Some gardeners prefer to make six inch cuttings from the new growth of the old chrysanthemum plant rather than using the rooted divisions, thus eliminating any chance of disease that might be in the old root system. Such cuttings should be placed in moist sand or porous soil in shade until rooted and then placed in permanent beds to be cared for as above.

Annuals that may be planted now include cosmos, cockscomb, dahlias, galliardias, margolds, ornamental glories, moon flowers, morning glories, petunias, portulacas, salvia, sunflowers, scarlet runner beans, verbena and zinnias.

Morning glories and moon flowers like poor sandy soil but it must be warm for good germination. Seeds may be soaked overnight in warm water.

Accusers' Secrecy Poses Big Problem

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court takes up today the question of whether the government can legally fire an employe on loyalty grounds while keeping secret his accusers.

Central figure in the case is Dr. John Punnett Peters, professor of medicine at Yale University. He contends his constitutional rights were violated by not being allowed to confront and cross-examine his accusers.

Dr. Peters was fired in May 1953 as an occasional consultant to the U. S. Public Health Service after a three-member hearing panel found a "reasonable doubt" as to his loyalty. He denied he had ever been a Communist and declared his loyalty to the United States.

London Polity Cuts Income Taxes

LONDON (AP)—The government announced today a cut in income taxes.

The basic rate will be 42 1/2 per cent of taxable income instead of 45 per cent. This is a cut of six pence (seven cents) in the standard rate, making it eight shillings six-pence ($1.12) to the pound ($2.80).

R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, also announced increased allowances in tax-free income. The tax-free allowance was increased $36 to $392 for a single person and from $568 to $672 for a married couple. Allowances for children also were increased.

Roads Committee Ok's Turnpike Bill

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The bill to authorize a state-long inland turnpike reached the House calendar today with 16-4 approval from the Committee on Public Roads and Highways.

The measure, which authorizes a spur to the Tampa-St. Petersburg area, was amended to provide that its northern terminus will be near the Jacksonville metropolitan area. A similar bill is pending before a Senate committee which will hold a hearing on it Thursday.

The House committee held three sometimes stormy hearings before final action. Vigorous opposition came from representatives of East Coast cities and motel operators who said tourist industries along U. S. Highway 1 would be ruined by having traffic diverted to the turnpike.

Indian Government Lifts Monkey Ban

ATLANTA (AP)—The Indian government has lifted an embargo on monkeys that might have curtailed production of the Salk polio vaccine.

Raymond Barrows, executive director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said last night.

He told the Atlanta Constitution, in a telephone interview from foundation headquarters in New York, that the ban had caused the supply of monkeys to dwindle.

The embargo was imposed March 10 after reports of malaria-infested monkeys brought to the United States from India, who venerate them.

Ruling Withheld In Perjury Trial

BARTOW (AP)—Judge Roy H. Amidon has withheld a ruling on a motion to postpone the perjury trial of J. Willard Durden for physical reasons.

Judge Amidon said he wanted to hear personally from Dr. F. D. Stanford who stated in an affidavit that Durden is suffering a back ailment, and to ease the pain has to take drugs which would handicap his ability to testify coherently and to help in his defense.

Durden, an Orlando contractor, is scheduled to go on trial in Criminal Court here Thursday.

Reports Indicate McCarthy Cleared By Revenue Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service was understood today to have cleared Sen. McCarthy's income tax record after a detailed investigation of his finances.

Various informed sources reported last night the Wisconsin Republican had been granted an income tax refund for the years 1946-1952. One report said the refund was $1,056. Another version placed it at $1,046.75.

In Des Moines, Iowa, State Department Security Chief R. W. Scott McLeod, a friend of McCarthy's, said he had been informed that T. Coleman Andrews, Internal Revenue commissioner, had notified McCarthy last Friday that he had a refund due him. McLeod said he understood it is over $1,000.

The revenue service refused to comment on the McCarthy case.

Godfrey Comments On Latest Action

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey says the nine people he fired last Friday had lost their sense of being on a "team."

He says they no longer "had their hearts" in his television and radio shows, and spent too much time looking for greener pastures.

Godfrey gave his version of the sacking of six singers and three writers in an interview yesterday at his office at CBS.

Up popped the angle that some of the dismissed performers were complaining they were let go without notice and that Godfrey had been too brusque.

Sections Of Utah Are Bathed In Mud

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Parts of Utah were bathed in mud and salt during a weird weather sequence yesterday.

The ski resorts of Alta and Brighton, high in the Wasatch Mountains, were covered by a chocolate-colored snow.

A heavy south wind, with velocities topping 45 miles an hour, preceded the grimy rain and snowfall. It tumbled several wooden buildings into heaps of wreckage on the shore of the Great Salt Lake.

Smooths the Road... Levels the Load... Automatically

Here's comfort you've dreamed of... and a ride to set you dreaming! It's the new Packard Torsion-Level Ride—a new system of suspension eliminating conventional coil and leaf springs to give you comfort unequalled by any car, on any road.

In other cars, twisting forces due to wheel shocks are transmitted to the frame and bounce the car in subject to twisting of frame and body. But with Packard Torsion-Level Suspension, these same twisting forces are transmitted along the new torsion bar system, and absorbed before they can reach either frame or passenger. And an ingenious power-controlled leveler automatically compensates for changes in passenger and luggage load.

All this is yours plus the tremendous power of the new "true-breathing" V-8 engine developing 275 horsepower in the Caribbean and 260 in all other models. Plus, too, the smooth response of the new Packard Twin Ultra-Steer—actually two transmissions in one. All this in a setting of magnificent luxury and beauty. See and drive this one new car in the fine car field. "Ask the Man Who Owns One."
