Shoplift Charge Won't Disqualify Miss Ohio

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Miss America officials said Miss Ohio, Melissa Bradley, will be permitted to compete in the pageant this week despite her no contest plea to shoplifting charges two years ago.

"There is just no way in the world that we will stop her competition," pageant Chairman Albert Marks Jr. said Tuesday. "I, for one, refuse to go on a witch hunt when there are no witches."

UPI learned Miss Bradley, 23, of Mansfield, Ohio, was charged with two counts of petty theft for stealing clothes from the F&R Lazarus Co. department store in Ontario, Ohio, on Nov. 6, 1982.

She first pleaded not guilty, but later changed her plea to no contest, and was sentenced to 90 days' probation on Dec. 15, 1982, by Mansfield Municipal Judge Ralph Johns.

The no contest plea meant she did not present a defense in court, but did not admit guilt. The charges were dismissed in March 1983 because there was no repeat offense during the probation.

Miss Bradley maintains she never shoplifted.

"I would never have been involved in the Miss America Pageant initially if there were guilt involved," Miss Bradley nervously told reporters.

"Do you think I would subject myself to all of this if I was convicted of a crime?"

The incident Tuesday was the second time in three months that Miss America Pageant officials had come forward to speak about a contestant's background.

In July, pageant officials publicly asked Vanessa Williams to give up her

Miss America 1984 title after it was learned that Penthouse magazine planned to publish photographs showing Williams and another woman in nude love scenes. Williams complied and first runnerup Suzette Charles of New Jersey assumed the crown.

The photographs of Williams violated a pageant "morals" code, officials said.

Marks and contest lawyer Leonard Horn said Miss Ohio had not broken any rules and could compete in the

85% 'Exorbitant'

County Ups Landfill Rate

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

An 85 percent increase in rates for use of the county's garbage transfer stations and sanitary landfill was approved by the county commission Tuesday.

But after hearing appeals from Sanford Assistant County Manager Steve Harriett and Casselberry City Clerk Linda Garavano, the commission decided to make the effective date of the increase Dec. 1 to give both cities additional time to adopt ordinances raising their own collection rates.

Rates for individuals using the transfer stations at Sanlando and off Upsala Road were kept at $2 for four cans or plastic bags of garbage and trash and $1 for the same amount at the county landfill at Oaccola near Oviedo.

But the rates for commercial haulers using compact trucks was raised from $9.75 per ton to $18 at transfer stations and from $7.75 per ton to $15 at the landfill.

Harriett told the commissioners the rate increase "is exorbitant." He urged the commission to make the rate hike "more tolerable" by phasing in the increase over a period of time.

He reminded Sanford has already advertised its budget and cannot now increase it.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Garavano asked the commission to table the matter for further study or to phase in the increase over a period of time.

Tony Figueroa of the Altamonte Springs refuse department said it is difficult for a city in October, the first month of a new fiscal year, to be required to pay an unexpected increase in fees.

Ken Hooper, the county's environmental services director, said the increase in fees will probably mean a $2 to $3 monthly increase in garbage and trash collection rates to households by commercial collectors.

Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles told the Sanford commission earlier Sanford's rates would go up from $8.50 per month to $9.66 because of the increased disposal costs at Seminole County's facilities.

Hooper said the volume of garbage and trash generated in the county has increased by 79 percent since 1982.

"The volume exceeds the ability of the county to handle it with the personnel on hand," he said, adding the funds received in fees are not sufficient to buy new equipment.

A major reason for raising the rates, he said, is a new state Department of Environmental Regulation requirement that the county "cap and cover" garbage and trash before it is buried to stop pollution from the solid waste of ground water. Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn has described the process as something like putting the garbage in a "giant baggie."

He indicated some of the revenue from the increased rates will be used not only to buy new equipment, but also to purchase property for a new transfer station in the Oviedo area. He estimated the cost of the land for the transfer station at $1 million to $1.2 million.

He said with the funds from the rate increase a sinking fund will be established for whatever debt the county may incur or a bond issue if necessary.

Asked what the rates are in Orange County, Hooper said $7.80 per ton, but he predicted Orange will also be raising its rates. Volusia County is charging about $2 per ton, he said.

Hooper said perhaps 10 percent of the county's customers will go to Orange County to dump garbage because of Seminole's new rates.

Downtown Work Welcome, Despite Delay

'It will bring a touch of beauty to the downtown and should be pleasing to shoppers... People coming into the area will enjoy the plantings, new lighting and all that's going to take place.'

First Street is to be repaved from Palmetto to Magnolia with the intersections accented by paving bricks held fast with a concrete mixture. Paving bricks will also be placed along the outer edge of the sidewalks. The bricks were recovered on Magnolia when the asphalt cover was scraped away.

Portions of the sidewalks on both sides of the street will be widened while others will be narrowed slightly to permit the construction of planters for flower decorations.

Modern street lights in the section will be removed and antique style streetlights will be installed in their place. Hardy trees are to be planted at various points.

The one block of Magnolia, south of 1st Street, is already closed to vehicular traffic and the planned pedestrian mall is being created by an imperceptible sloping of the sidewalks at the building lines to connect them with the same level of the street.

overcome. We have lost some customers, but I hope they will come back when the beautification project is finished."

McCall said he has a copy of the beautification plan in the front window of his store so all can see how the improved downtown will look once the project is completed.

Boyd Coleman of "Gifts By Nan" said the beautification will be a definite asset to downtown Sanford. "It should make the town more attractive and a nicer place for people to trade. There are no serious problems. Traffic can flow through 1st Street and there is a big city parking lot on the lakefront, so there are no parking problems," he said.

The work delay was also caused by slow delivery of new antique-style outdoor lighting and a problem with scheduling work by the telephone and power companies.

The Magnolia Avenue pedestrian mall portion of the project should be completed in a couple weeks, Harriett said.

In mid-July, city crews began work in the downtown, the city's number one priority.

Psychiatrists Ask Help For Homeless Mentally Ill

By Al Rossiter Jr.
UPI Science Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Calling the problem a major tragedy of society, the American Psychiatric Association today urged the nation to develop a comprehensive system to treat and shelter the homeless mentally ill.

An association task force report said studies have estimated as many as 3 million people may be wandering the streets, with perhaps a quarter to half of them with serious mental illnesses and unable to care for themselves.

"Hardly a section of the country, urban or rural, has escaped the ubiquitous presence of ragged, ill and hallucinating human beings, wandering through our city streets, huddled in alleyways or sleeping over vents," the report said.

Sanford Operation Won't Change

Rush-Hampton Merging With Pompano Firm

Rush-Hampton Industries of Sanford is merging a subsidiary of National Business Communications Corp. of Pompano Beach and final documents sealing the merger should be signed by the end of the year, said J. Ruahnton Bailey, president of Rush-Hampton.

"The merger will require no change in the operations of the Sanford plant nor its 125 employees," Bailey said today. "None of the employees will be losing their jobs."

Bailey and Vince Mulhall on behalf of a wholly owned subsidiary of National Business Communications Corp. have signed letters of intent to merge, Bailey said, adding National has its sales offices in Pompano Beach and national distributorships.

National being a publicly held company, must get permission from the Securities Exchange Commission before the merger is final. Bailey said. "As it stands now I will continue in charge of the Sanford operation."

Bailey said the merger gives the combined company stability and good growth potential and "we can drastically reduce overhead and become more profitable."

The merger must also be approved by the stockholders of the two companies. When the merger is completed, the stockholders of Rush-Hampton Industries will receive 1.2 million shares of National Business Communications Corp. common stock in exchange for their Rush-Hampton stock.

Bailey and Vince Mulhall, president of NBCC, said the board of directors and management of the combined entity will reflect a consolidation of the present boards of directors and managements of both firms. NBCC, organized in 1975, designs, markets, installs and services private telephone systems for business and institutional customers, primarily in the Southeastern United States and markets, installs and services cellular mobile telephone systems under a distribution agreement with AT&T Information Systems Inc.

At the end of its last fiscal year, Feb. 29, 1984, NBCC had total assets of $5.6 million and net sales of $6.8.

Bailey said today through a "friendly agreement" with the Metropolitan Insurance Co. which held a mortgage on the Rush-Hampton facility on Silver Lake Road, the insurance company has taken back ownership of the property and

How Much Of Its Wealth Is GM Willing To Share?

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. is set to tell the United Auto Workers union how much of its record billion-dollar profits it is willing to share with 350,000 hourly employees.

GM was expected to make its contract proposal on economic issues such as wages and benefits sometime today.

The automaker posted a record $3.7 billion profit in 1983, and has made $3.2 billion so far this year.

The union says it wants "substantial" wage hikes plus reinstatement of the traditional 3 percent annual raise for workers, who agreed to wage and benefit freezes in 1982.

That concessions contract expires Friday.

Sect Members Claim Persecution

ALBION, Ind. (UPI) — The second Indiana couple convicted in the last two weeks of withholding medical care from a dying infant say they are being persecuted for their religion and vow to cling to their faith-healing beliefs.

The pregnant Kathleen Bergmann, 27, and her husband, David, 28, were accused of allowing their 9-month-old daughter Allyson, to die of bacterial meningitis.

The Bergmanns are members of the controversial Faith Assembly Christian sect. They prayed, fasted and quoted Scripture over the dying infant, but never called a doctor, never gave the child medicine and never took her temperature during her 11-day illness.

The sect, linked to dozens of preventable deaths in northeast Indiana and elsewhere, preaches a Scripture-based reliance on prayer and faith in God for healing. Members reject medicine and do not consult doctors.

Hungry Children Steal Food

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Community groups have promised help for an immigrant jewelry worker whose hungry children were stealing food because he could not afford to feed them on his earnings of $110 a week.

"We've been getting a number of calls from community organizations and police departments" who want to help, said Patricia Matthews, a spokeswoman for the state Department for Children and Their Families. "We expect a community effort will be organized."

Police said four of Manuel Cabral's six children crawled through the basement window of a home in nearby Cranston Sunday and emerged shortly afterward with five partially eaten frozen TV dinners.

Neighbors reported they also had seen the children poking through garbage cans.

Judge Says He's 'Sick' About Mistaken $9 Fine

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — A judge who mistakenly fined a woman only $9 for running a stop sign — killing a teenager — blamed the foulup on a computer operator's error, a busy schedule and the missing word "fatal" in a court file.

Palm Beach County Circuit Judge David C. Clark did not know anyone died in the accident in which Jean Feldman Brase, 87, was charged with violating the right of way by running a stop sign, Clark said.

"I'm so embarrassed, I'm just sick. It couldn't happen again in a million years," Clark said. "I got up Saturday morning... read the headline and thought 'Wow, some dumb judge really blew it.'"

"Then I saw the judge was me and nearly threw up in my breakfast... It's like a bad dream. I couldn't sleep all weekend," he said.

Huge Space Cloud Monitored

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — A huge cloud of lithium gas was released by a West German satellite and sent speeding toward Earth in a unique international mission to study the interaction of the streaming solar wind and the planet's magnetic field.

About 26 pounds of lithium was released into the solar wind, made up of particles blasted away from the sun, at 3:25 a.m. Tuesday when two canisters exploded 10 minutes after they were kicked away from the West German satellite.

The resulting cloud was quickly swept toward Earth. Scientists want to find out what happened when the cloud hit Earth's magnetic field sometime Tuesday night and if any of its particles, and thus those of the solar wind, made it into the Van Allen radiation belt.

Olympic Games Struck Gold

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Olympic organizers had promised to make a profit on the 1984 Games, but even they did not expect to wind up with a staggering $150 million surplus, most of which will benefit amateur athletes.

The summer Games, the first ever run by a private committee rather than the host city or nation, generated $619 million in revenues — well over expectations — and came in below budget in almost every category.

Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee officials said Tuesday that $75 million of the money will be sent to the U.S. Olympic Committee to endow future American Olympic teams. Another $50 million will go to a foundation supporting youth sports in Southern California, and the remaining $25 million will be held in a reserve account that could go toward supporting development of athletics in Third World countries.

Organizers said the enthusiasm was sparked by the cross-country torch relay, which attracted millions as it snaked from New York to Los Angeles. Interest grew with the Games' spectacular July 29 opening ceremonies.

The result, officials said, were the "biggest ticket sales... in the history of mankind" and television ratings "that were unbelievably good."

"Why were the ratings so good?" Harry Usher, LAOOC general manager, asked. "Quite simply because the people of the United States were tremendously excited and supportive of the Games."

He said 97 percent of all tickets were sold, resulting in revenues of $151 million, or $50 million more than budgeted. The surplus was helped by ABC's decision to not seek a rebate for TV rights because of the Russian-led boycott, which officials said did not have a negative economic impact on the Games.

The Games, planned with austerity in mind, utilized existing facilities for most sports, found corporate sponsors to build other new venues and cut back on the frills that put previous Games in the red.

Only the 1932 Los Angeles Olympics and the 1948 London Olympics are credited with either breaking even or showing a small surplus. The Soviet Union spent an estimated $9 billion on the 1980 Moscow Games and Montreal is still paying off debts from the 1976 Games.

Fallen Robe Leads To Suit Against City

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A woman is suing the city of Winter Springs, claiming four of its police officers entered her apartment without a warrant, and falsely handcuffed her, causing her robe to fall and exposing her nude body to those present.

Susan Osborne, of 121 Moswood Circle, is suing the city for an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000 and asks for a trial by jury.

She states in the complaint that just before 11 p.m. Aug. 4, 1983, she was talking to a male friend in the parking lot of her apartment complex. She and the friend then went to her apartment.

At 11 p.m., she said, the apartment manager and a Winter Springs officer, Michael Taylor, who lived in a nearby apartment, came to her front door. She states that she told them no problem existed and closed the door.

In the complaint, Ms. Osborne says that Taylor returned with three officers and entered her apartment without an arrest or search warrant and asked her for her name and birth date.

She said the police had no "reasonable justification or grounds for belief" that she had committed a crime yet she was handcuffed by Taylor.

She states that she was wearing a robe and the manner in which Taylor handcuffed her, holding her hands high, caused her robe to fall exposing her naked body to those present. She said she was threatened with a trip to jail if she did not tell them her name and birth date.

According to the complaint, the handcuffs restricted circulation to her hands and she was bruised and scraped.

Winter Springs police would not discuss the case as to why an officer went to her door or whether an arrest was actually made. The city's legal representative was unavailable for comment.

Ms. Osborne is suing for false imprisonment, humiliation, shame, embarrassment, disgrace, extreme mental anguish, and the inability to lead a normal life. She states she was injured and has lost her capacity to enjoy life.

SCC Partially Funds New Center; Enrollment Steady

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole Community College's Board of Trustees has decided to put up $130,000 toward the construction of a proposed $5.5 million adult education center.

Dr. E.A. Johnson, director of the Adult Continuing Education program, Tuesday said even though the $130,000 comes nowhere near the building's pricing, it does signify to state legislators that the school is committed to seeing the structure become a reality.

SCC officials are hopeful that the state legislature will approve the rest of the funding for the building, which Johnson said has been identified by Tallahassee as "the number one new building need of the state's 28 community colleges."

Currently, the 8,000 adults enrolled in the program meet in 30 "old, worn-out" portable buildings, Johnson said. He said the portables have been used since the college opened in 1966.

"They're not unsafe inside; on the other hand, they are unsightly," Johnson said.

He said jokingly that after teaching 10 years in the portables, "Our goal in life is to have a building that has an indoor bathroom."

In other board action, enrollment figures for the fall term were announced by Dr. Jim Sawyer, dean of student development.

About 5,500 students, roughly 65 percent of them part-time, enrolled for the fall semester. Sawyer said this figure is the same as last year, adding that a five percent growth projection did not materialize.

"It was not a big growth year for us," Sawyer said. "It has been a non-growth year around the state."

Sawyer blamed this on the economy, saying that when times are good people elect to stay in the job market and take fewer classes.

However, because state funding is based on the number of full-time equivalent (FTE) students, the non-growth could present SCC with a problem. But Sawyer says he is not "overly concerned" because the college has plenty of FTEs to qualify for all of its funding.

Soviet Spy Planes May Be Entering Mexican Air Space

HARLINGEN, Texas (UPI) — High-altitude Soviet spy planes regularly fly out of bases in Cuba on Central American missions and recently have been reported to be violating Mexico's air space.

A Texas Air National Guard commander based at Houston says the Soviet planes fly west and north out of Cuba to Central America and retired Adm. Kimmo Zumwalt believes the Soviets have flown over southern Mexico.

In addition, an Air Force pilot has complained privately the Mexican government does not provide adequate surveillance of its air space, allowing the Soviets to occasionally fly close to the U.S. border.

Pentagon and Congressional officials would not confirm reports of flights over Mexican air space.

A source with the Senate Armed Service's committee said Caribbean reconnaissance flights out of Cuba are well known, but any penetration of Mexican air space "doesn't ring a bell."

Zumwalt wrote in the April issue of Air Force Times that "Soviet long-range reconnaissance planes, believed to be originating from Cuban bases, are making an increased number of flights over Mexico's Tuxtla and San Cristobal de las Casas regions" near the Guatemalan border.

In what military officials called "a coincidence," a group of U.S. Phantom jet interceptors is scheduled to arrive in Harlingen Sept. 24 to begin a week of operations from Rio Grande Valley International Airport.

The warplanes are from a Texas Air National Guard unit based at Ellington AFB in Houston.

Col. Maurice Udell, commander of the 147th Fighter Interceptor Group, said his jets have yet to intercept a Soviet spy plane, but Soviet-made aircraft fly between Cuba and Central America regularly, usually staying over international waters.

Navy Report Says Crewmen Saw Chopper Crash

ORLANDO (UPI) — The Navy admits dozens of crewmen aboard the USS Frank Cable witnessed the fatal April crash of an Air Force helicopter off the Florida coast but were unable to persuade their superiors to launch a search for more than half an hour.

However, the lengthy internal report released Tuesday said the five men who died in the April 7 crash could not have been saved even if the search had started immediately.

The Jolly 18 chopper was providing support for a Trident missile test launch from a submarine when it crashed into the Atlantic about 50 miles east of Cape Canaveral.

Five of the chopper's crew of eight were lost at sea in the early morning crash.

The crash occurred about 15 minutes before the missile launch, and the crew accounts support earlier statements by civilians aboard the ship that many people saw the crash but could not get anyone to delay the launch or speed up the rescue.

According to the civilians and the Navy report, the ship did not begin its search for about 40 minutes.

John Moss, a repairman in the sub tender's hydraulic shop, said in the report that he saw the chopper "crash into the sea with a large splash."

Moss said he immediately reported the crash to one of the ship's lookouts.

"The lookout... reported to the pilot house," said Moss. "The lookout told me that it had already been reported and not to bother them. Then I saw three red flares (from the chopper), the international distress signal, and again told the... lookout to report it to the pilot house and to stress that a helicopter had crashed and needed help.

"He again told me the pilot house could not be bothered, to stay off the lines... I am a trained lookout... and do not understand why an incident is reported, is to be ignored or at the very least delayed. The time lost with communication could have been used to find the rest of the missing crew."

Navy officials said the ship did not order the launch halted or begin an immediate search because of conflicting reports that a helicopter had crashed, misunderstanding over whether radios on the ship would interfere with missile-tracking equipment and the requirement that the Frank Cable stay with the submarine until after the launch.

However, the Navy report said that no matter how quickly the ship responded it would not have been fast enough to save the five men.

Tanker Hit By Iraqi Missile Heads For Port For Repairs

ABU DHABI, United Arab Emirates (UPI) — A Liberian-registered oil tanker struck by an Iraqi missile in a flareup of the Iran-Iraq "tanker war" is steaming through the Persian Gulf today for the United Arab Emirates.

The 254,520-ton supertanker Saint Tobias, carrying more than 1.7 million barrels of Iranian crude oil, was attacked Tuesday by Iraqi warplanes about 50 miles south of the Iranian oil terminal at Kharg Island.

Shipping sources said the Saint Tobias, which had been destined for Japan, was apparently struck by a French-made Exocet, a sea-skimming missile. No casualties were reported.

The supertanker was heading "full steam" for the United Arab Emirates port of Dubai for minor repairs and was expected to dock today, shippers said.

The strike was the 33rd confirmed attack on neutral shipping this year in the so-called tanker war, an offshoot of the Iran-Iraq conflict that began Sept. 22, 1980 over territorial disputes and has cost about 500,000 lives.

Before Tuesday's attack, the last confirmed hit was Aug. 27.

Firm Sued For $1 Million-Plus For Mismanaging Man's Life Savings

A Longwood firm has filed a lawsuit in excess of $1 million against an Altamonte Springs stock brokerage firm allegedly mismanaging his life's savings.

According to a complaint by Gerald C. Koning, of 123 Lake Rena Drive, two employees, Jerry Young and L. James Crozier of Prudential-Bache, 850 E. Altamonte Drive, invested all of Koning's savings in a high-risk venture when Koning specifically asked for a safe investment. Koning said he agreed only to put 10 percent of his cash assets into speculation.

Koning is asking for actual damages of $61,039, punitive damages of $1 million, plus court costs and attorney fees.

According to the 12-page, six-count complaint, Koning talked with Crozier and Young in the summer of 1981 and wanted to put his savings into a safe money market account because it was yielding a higher interest rate than traditional savings accounts.

Koning claims that Young suggested he put 10 percent of the money into "naked options," a highly speculative venture which could produce large profits. Koning agreed, according to the complaint.

Between July 1981 and June 1982, Koning made "considerable sums of money as a result of Bache's trading," according to the complaint. Koning said the trading increased his worth to $68,000. The complaint did not state how much Koning initially invested.

Economic tides then shifted, according to Koning, who said he was not too knowledgeable about the stock market, yet the brokers did not change their investment strategy. Koning said by Oct. 1982, his $68,000 had dwindled to $6,000.

Koning said he then learned that all of his money, not just 10 percent, was used in the speculative venture. He alleges that the brokers intentionally traded his stock 217 times in 17 months strictly to earn $27,000 worth of commissions.

Koning states that he was the victim of common law fraud, that the brokers engaged in excess trading, and that the speculative nature of the investment was not in keeping with his stated request for a safe investment.

He is asking for a jury trial. No trial date has been set.

Altamonte Broker Loses License, Fined For 'Dishonest Dealing'

Following a grand theft conviction in Seminole County, an Altamonte Springs real estate broker has had his license revoked and been fined $1,000 by the Florida Real Estate Commission.

The commission action against Gene W. Lay, 59, of 123 Rock Lake Road, Longwood, who is serving two years in prison, was effective June 2, according to the Department of Professional Regulation which accused Lay of dishonest dealing.

Lay pleaded guilty to two counts of grand theft March 30, 1983 in connection with his selling of $30,700 worth of promised business opportunities to seven people. He has since appealed his sentence.

According to court records, Lay, doing business as Diversified Business Brokers, 499 Crane's Roost Blvd., sold several individuals dry cleaning routes for a company that was planning to market a new dry cleaning technique in the Orlando area.

Three of the buyers lived in Seminole County and a fourth is represented by a Sanford attorney. The other three buyers were from Orlando.

After collecting payment from the individuals, either $1,500 or $3,500 and in one case, $12,700, Lay did not put all of the money into trust pending route establishments as required by law.

Instead, he said, he used some of the money to promote the forthcoming business.

Lay was arrested June 24, 1982 and charged with three counts of unlawful sale of a business opportunity and three counts of grand theft. In exchange for a guilty plea to two of the theft charges, the state did not prosecute the other charges.

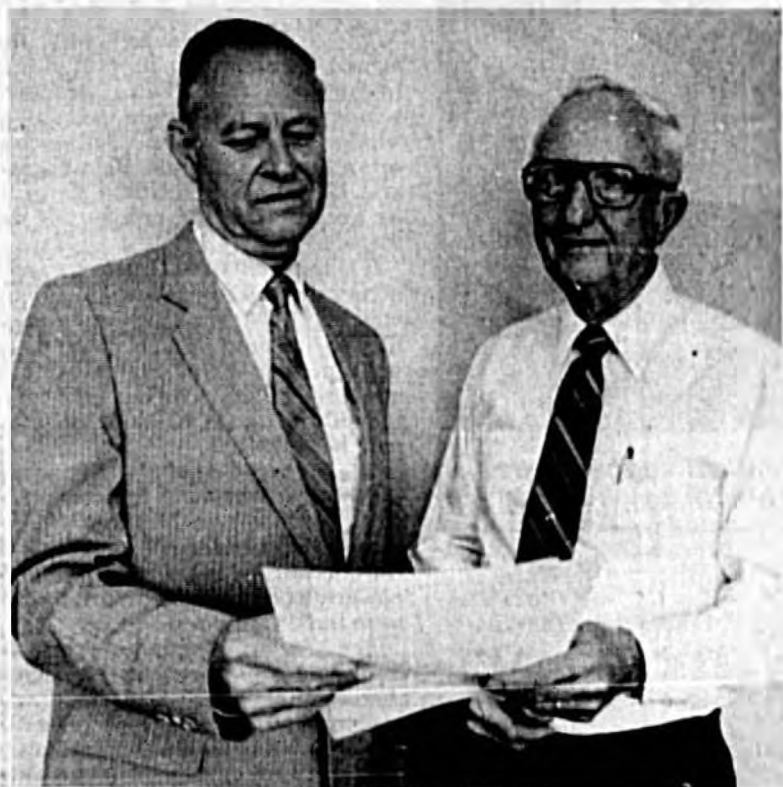

Lay was sentenced Sept. 8, 1983 to 40 months by Seminole Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi on one count of grand theft. Because a restitution plan was not presented to the court, a second sentencing date for the second count was set for Dec. 1.

At that hearing, Salfi sentenced Lay to two years on the second count of grand theft.

Lay has appealed his second sentence to the 5th District Court of Appeal, stating that under state sentencing guidelines, which became effective in October 1983, he should have received one year or less.

Salfi said the December sentencing was not a separate sentencing but a continuation of the September hearing. Therefore, Lay did not have the option of being sentenced to one year under the guidelines, he said.

But Not On Governor's Staff

Blacks Increase At Top Of State Payroll

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The number of black state employees making more than $16,000 annually has risen dramatically since Gov. Bob Graham took office in 1979, despite a decline in highly paid blacks on his staff.

Ten of the 12 government agencies directly under Graham's control reported increases in the number of blacks in the higher pay range, according to a report prepared for Graham's chief of staff, Dick Burroughs.

In 1978, 127 out of 4,000 jobs paying more than $16,000 were held by blacks, while in 1984, blacks held 2,135 of the 18,000 state jobs above the $16,000 mark, the report showed.

Meanwhile, state Rep. Al Lawson, D-Tallahassee, and Roosevelt Harris, director of the state chapter of the NAACP, criticized Graham for allowing the percentage of top paid blacks on his staff to drop.

Graham aides attributed the decline — from 12.5 percent in 1978 to 10.3 percent in 1984 — to a reorganization that brought the heavily white budget planning unit into the governor's office.

The aides said they had encountered trouble in finding qualified black budget analysts to correct the problem.

"If Dick Burroughs says it's difficult to find qualified blacks, you tell him to give me a call. I'll find him a truck load of them," Harris said.

Lawson said he was "disturbed."

"I think in this day and time, we really have a lot of qualified people out there. I just think that the governor's office doesn't think that it is of extra high importance," Lawson said.

Marvin Davies, a black who makes $40,000 as a special assistant to Graham, said the governor is committed to affirmative action. "Anybody who's in his administration has to feel strongly about it," he said.

Davies said the problem arose in 1979 when the Division of State Planning and the Division of Budgets merged to become Graham's Office of Planning and Budgeting.

Davies said the state's budget operation had been "illy-white" during the administration of Gov. Reubin Askew, Graham's predecessor. As a result, the move brought four blacks and 118 whites into the governor's office.

Davies and Burroughs said they have been working to improve the imbalance ever since.

Burroughs said he would like to see the percentage of blacks in top-paying staff jobs at about 14 percent. Blacks make up about 13.7 percent of Florida's population.

New Cigarette...Wheeze... Said To Cure Smoker's Cough

PEKING (UPI) — Chinese researchers say they have found a new cure for smoker's cough — cigarettes.

Peking's China Daily newspaper said doctors testing a new herbal cigarette found it eased coughing and breathing difficulties suffered by heavy smokers without causing coronary problems.

The newspaper said the Peking Cigarette Factory's new Change medicinal cigarettes were tested on about 200 patients in the capital's Chaoyang Hospital over three years.

Change's cigarettes contain an anti-nicotine substance used by ancient herbalists to cure coughs and bronchitis, China Daily reported.

"At first we tried to combine the herb with tobacco," said research chief Dr. Li Xikang. "But smoking patients could not accept it because of the heavy medicine smell."

Later, researchers developed a brand which had no medicine flavor and tested it on three groups of patients. Some puffed on ordinary cigarettes, others Change's, and others did not smoke at all.

While non-smokers fared the best, those who puffed Change's suffered less lung pain than those who used regular cigarettes, China Daily said.

"Another experiment on heart disease has been conducted at the hospital for about six months," the paper said. "Results indicate that Change cigarettes do little damage to coronary patients."

The newspaper said Changes are available in drug stores in China and in Hong Kong and Macao, where they are sold under the Jinlian brand name.

China, the world's largest cigarette market, has an estimated 250 million smokers.

An estimated 140,000 Chinese die annually from lung cancer caused by smoking, government health officials said recently.

Sister Killer Sent To Mental Hospital

A Winter Park man has been placed in a state mental hospital indefinitely in connection with the strangulation death of his psychiatrist sister.

John Ernest Ansley, 40, of 8484 Miles Ave., was not prosecuted because four psychiatrists testified that he was insane at the time of the murder of Dr. Mary Catherine Ansley, 51, of 121 Primrose Drive, Longwood. Dr. Ansley sometimes treated her brother.

Seminole Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi Monday ordered Ansley to the Florida State Hospital at Chattahoochee and directed that Ansley be held indefinitely because he is "manifestly dangerous to the peace and safety of the people."

The court is to retain jurisdiction over Ansley so he cannot be released without permission of the court. Salfi also ruled that he is to receive a report on Ansley's condition in six months and then a yearly report thereafter.

Ansley was arrested April 29 after he told police he had killed his sister. He made the statement while he was in custody of Bushnell police following a traffic accident there.

PURSE BATTERED OFFICER

A Longwood woman who allegedly beat a Longwood policeman with her purse as he was ordering her to leave a bar has been charged with battery on an officer and was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

According to a police report, three officers arrived at Woogles Pub, state Road 434, Longwood, at about 12 a.m. Tuesday, to enforce the bar manager's order that an apparently intoxicated woman leave. The woman allegedly became abusive, refused the lawmen's commands and hit one of them with her purse, the report said.

Patricia Kelly Cable, 41, of 495 U.S. Highway 17-92, #1, was arrested at 12:14 a.m. Tuesday.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

When James L. Smith talked up the total in the cash register at Pet Con. Inc.'s service station at 2510 S. state Road 436, Caseberry, and compared the cash to the pump readout the station was short $782.

The loss was reported to deputies Friday and Smith said that three employees were the only ones at the station between 6 a.m. and 5 p.m. Friday who had access to the cash.

Jim Clavin Lee, 47, of Route 1, Box 690, Osceola Road, Geneva, lost an $800 outboard motor to a thief between Sept. 4 and Saturday, according to a sheriff's report.

A 1984 Honda motorcycle was stolen from the van of Michael T. Madison, 25, of 2530 Sandlake Road, Longwood. Deputies report the $1,500 cycle disappeared while the van was parked at Madison's home between Sept. 2 and Saturday.

Five wooden rocking chairs were stolen from the front porch of Dave Jones' Wrecker Service, 507 U.S. Highway 17-92, Fern Park, but deputies report one rocker was left behind. The theft of the $175 worth of chairs occurred Friday or Saturday.

Eighty-year-old Frank Smitherman, of Maitland, reported to sheriff's deputies that a thief stole his $5,000 moped while it was parked in front of the New Salem Missionary Baptist Church, on west 12th Street, Sanford. The bike was stolen Monday while Smitherman was inside the church, deputies report.

Wood valued at $200 was stolen from a construction site at 280 Langford Road, Chuluota, Friday or Saturday. The wood belongs to Shubert Construction Co., state Road 436, Altamonte Springs, deputies report.

An air compressor, hose and regulator with a total value of $575 was stolen from a shed at 1130 New Jersey Ave., Altamonte Springs, Friday. The equipment belongs to John George Parry, 44, and were stolen from his yard, according to a sheriff's report.

Almost $2,500 worth of construction materials, including 170 sheets of plywood and 25 rolls of felt paper, were stolen from a building site at lots 81 to 86 Albany Place, Longwood.

The items belong to Florida Residential Communities, 101 Wymore Road, Altamonte Springs, and supervisor Lou Scaglin reported to deputies the theft occurred Thursday or Friday.

A $1,500 motor was stolen from the boat of Thomas Mehl, 40, of Longwood, while the boat was stored at Boat World, 3201 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford. Boat World service manager Edward A. Hummel reported to deputies that a boat cover and a radio were also taken from that boat Sunday or Monday.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Paaschal Coble Moore, 58, of P.O. Box 1095, Sanford, was arrested at 3:09 p.m. Monday after he drove 32 mph in a 20 mph school zone on Airport Boulevard, Sanford.

—Stephen Taylor Yarbrough, 28, of 268 Wymore Road, Altamonte Springs, at 3:45 a.m. Monday at his home, after fleeing from a highway patrolman who tried to stop him for speeding on Interstate 4. The trooper reported chasing the suspect from the freeway to west state Road 436 and then to Wymore Road, Altamonte Springs. Yarbrough was also charged with willful and wanton reckless driving, fleeing police, speeding and resisting arrest without violence.

FIRE CALLS

The Sanford Fire Department responded to the following calls:

Saturday

—12:51 a.m., Airport Boulevard and Sanford Avenue, fire. A fire in a dumpster was put out.

—2:12 a.m., rescue. A fight was reported but no injuries occurred.

—5:13 a.m., 414 1/2 Palmetto Ave., rescue. A 25-year-old man reported having difficulty breathing after he took drugs and alcohol. He was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

—9:59 a.m., Eighth Street and Pine Avenue, rescue. A 13-year-old boy hit by a car was treated for head injuries and taken to the hospital by ambulance.

—10:20 p.m., 1516 Mangouatine Ave., rescue. An 82-year-old man suffering from terminal cancer was found dead on arrival.

Sunday

—7:27 a.m., Apt. 84, William Clark Court, fire. Firefighters put out a fire caused by tree limbs hitting power lines. No loss was reported.

—12:34 p.m., 2555 Marshall St., rescue. A 57-year-old man reportedly having cardiac problems was transported to the hospital by ambulance. The rescue unit was involved in a minor traffic accident while on the call.

—2:44 p.m., 431 Lakeview Drive, rescue. The unit was dispatched to a wrong address out of the city.

—8:02 p.m., 2845 E. Empire Place, false alarm.

Monday

—6:47 a.m., 3700 Orlando Drive, emergency-related. A 55-year-old man had cuts and scrapes. He was transported by ambulance to the hospital.

—1:20 p.m., 3101 Orlando Drive, rescue. A 76-year-old woman complaining of chest pains and dizziness was treated and transported by ambulance to Central Florida Regional Hospital.

—3:49 p.m., 301 W. First St., rescue. A 50-year-old woman, suspected of having a stroke or seizure, fell on a sidewalk. She also had a bloody nose due to the fall. She was treated and transported to the hospital.

—5:55 p.m., 128 Mayfair Court, rescue. An 84-year-old woman complaining of chest pains was treated and transported to the hospital.

—10:28 p.m., 111 Wild Elm Court, fire. A fire probably caused by a heating pad on a bed was put out. No injuries or amount of damage were reported.

Uganda's Agony ...

Uganda's 13 million citizens must have imagined that their decade-long national hell was ending four years ago when rebels, aided by an invading army from neighboring Tanzania, overthrew Idi Amin, the deranged killer who had presided over the torture and murder of so many thousands of his countrymen. Alas, hell is once again in season in Uganda.

By some estimates, between 100,000 and 200,000 Ugandans have died during the last year; victims either of the government's brutal, ill-disciplined soldiery or of a spreading famine. The rabble that passes for an army in Uganda is trying to suppress a tribal-based guerrilla war being waged against President Milton Obote. Many more civilians than guerrillas are dying as Obote's soldiers find it easier to shoot up villages than to catch armed insurgents.

The famine is being caused mostly by drought. But the consequences of drought are being exacerbated by the random violence that drives many farmers off their land. Some of this violence is attributable to the guerrillas. Most, however, appears to be the responsibility of an army often out of control.

Obote's government could ease Uganda's current horror by reining in the army and otherwise restoring minimal standards of law and order. The chaos in the countryside is bad enough at times to seriously disrupt the distribution of emergency food aid to starving persons. And soldiers sometimes loot and rob right in the capital city of Kampala.

Obote, an avowed socialist who gained office via a rigged election after Amin's ouster, has nonetheless taken some of the most crucial steps to resurrect the Ugandan economy, once among the more promising in East Africa. But these gains will evaporate if Obote cannot discipline his own army and impose order in the country. If he does not even try, donors of Western aid — Britain and America especially — should try threatening a total cutoff.

Insurance Option

The cost of health care being what it is today, who can afford not to have insurance? We mean, what if surgery is needed or if a serious illness crops up, not to mention ordinary checkups and rabies shots?

Yes, you read that sentence correctly. The latest in insurance offerings is health plans for Fido and Princess. Some 38,000 dogs and cats in — where else? — California are insured by Veterinary Pet Insurance. But the California firm is not the only pet insurer. Indeed, Animal Health Insurance Agency of New York State has applied to sell its policies in 22 states. And one group of veterinarians in Minneapolis has formed a health maintenance organization for pets. As with humans it pays for animals to see the doctor regularly, before anything serious develops.

No doubt there is some value in the peace of mind that may go with knowing, as one of the insurers said, that you're "able to tell the veterinarian to do all he can to save the animal." Be that as it may, there's something unsettling about pet health insurance. If these plans gain widespread usage, can the time be too far distant when the veterinarian refuses to treat the faithful pet dog that has just been hit by a car until Rover's insurance card is produced? And what about cost controls for veterinarians once they get used to third-party payments without a lot of questions? Ah, progress.

BERRY'S WORLD

AROUND THE CLOCK

By Jane Casselberry

A winter vacation in July and August? It may sound strange, but that's what happens when you visit Papua New Guinea, a lot of things seem the opposite of what we are accustomed to.

Our Sanford travel agent, Ruth Moore (a former missionary in PNG), had warned us things would be "different" and things moved on "New Guinea time." She was right.

Located north of Australia, Papua New Guinea is struggling to emerge from the stone age to the computer age. It is endowed with natural beauty — tropical beaches, mountains, rivers, waterfalls, and jungles that defy superlatives.

But it wasn't the scenic beauty that lured my husband and I half-way around the world. It was a chance to visit our daughter, Melenda Edmiston, and her husband Pat and their children, Danny, 10, and Carol, 7, whom we had not seen for 2½ years.

Serving as Wycliffe Bible Translators, they live in Chimbut, a small village on the Karawari River in the dense jungles of the East Sepik Province. We were flown into a postage stamp landing strip by a JAARS (Jungle Aviation and Radio Service) pilot. There we loaded ourselves and all our "cargo" in a dugout canoe for the rest of the trip to the village.

Canoeing on the Karawari and its tributaries isn't that different from the Wekiva, except there are mountains in the background, crocodiles instead of alligators, and whirlpools. The level of the water fluctuates several feet up and down in a matter of hours. Luckily the houses are built on stilts.

In addition to the luscious papayas, bananas, pineapples, and coconuts there were some other items on the village menu that took some developing a taste for. But as for the grubworms, which my son-in-law and grandson ate with such gusto, we didn't even try!

There are more than 700 different languages spoken in Papua New Guinea, which accounts for the number of missionaries from Wycliffe and other groups (such as New Tribes Mission headquartered here in Sanford) who are working on translating the scriptures into the vernacular.

While in Wewak we paid a call on New Tribe's compound there and met Richard and Patti Boyd and their children. They serve as a support team obtaining supplies for other New Tribes living back in the bush. Richard and his parents are former Sanford residents. Roedean and Alice Boyd now live in Houston.

VIEWPOINT Youth Work Target

By John P. Crogan
As the figures roll in on the U.S. economy, it seems that more news is good news. Productivity continues to rise while inflation remains under control. The double-digit unemployment of 18 months ago could drop below 7 percent at year's end.

There is one disturbing indicator, however, that remains outside of the rosy economic portrait. Despite the sustained economic recovery, youth unemployment remains extremely high. The unemployment rate for youth is currently 19 percent and nearly 50 percent among minorities.

The liberals' solution to the youth unemployment problem is easily predictable. Ignoring the realities of the U.S. labor market, they want to beef up the number of failed federal jobs programs presently in effect. These programs, like their predecessors, will prove to be too restrictive to benefit a significant proportion of the targeted group. Of course, they will also require giant federal expenditures.

The Reagan administration has proposed a quite different approach to this long standing problem. The President's proposal could produce summer employment for as many as one-half million youth — without the spending of a single tax dollar. The "Youth Employment Opportunity Wage Act" (YEOW) allows employers to hire youth age 19 and under at $2.50 per hour or 75 percent of the minimum wage from May 1 to Sept. 30 of each year. The bill provides strict sanctions against employers who discharge current workers for the purpose of hiring eligible youth.

There has to be something positive about a bill like the YEOW which is strongly endorsed by groups with as disparate interests as the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Conference of Black Mayors. There is, and it lies smack in the middle of the bill's title — "opportunity." The need to provide real job opportunities for our youth is a critical problem which Congress has not addressed adequately to date. Job opportunities bring other opportunities as well: self reliance, skills, good work habits and the self-dignity that is made possible without the need for public assistance.

At the same time, the "youth opportunity" bill is being stubbornly opposed by Big Labor with its stale stable of objections. The AFL-CIO calls the YEOW a "sub-minimum wage bill" which will take jobs away from union workers and "give them" to younger, non-union ones. At least the union bosses are being candid. Their arguments betray their discriminatory attitudes.

FCA Has 'palaces'; Farmers Go Broke

WASHINGTON — In July, I reported that the Farm Credit Administration had gone on a multi-million-dollar spending spree for office construction at a time when thousands of American farms are being foreclosed.

I expected cries of outrage from bureaucrats; that's par for the course. What I wasn't prepared for was a vicious personal attack on the reporter who had investigated the Farm Credit Administration's extravagance, Joel Bernstein.

A flack named Jeffrey D. Oates falsely charged Bernstein with being a deadbeat. In a memo circulated to other "communications specialists" throughout the farmer-financed Farm Credit System, Oates wrote:

"Joel Bernstein, an investigative reporter for Anderson (and a delinquent Farm Credit borrower), recently contacted banks that have recently moved or are planning to

JEFFREY HART

Elegy To A Summer

As a sort of celebration of the passing summer of 1984, which has been a very good summer, I pause to recall the summer of 1940 on the New Jersey shore. That was a good summer too, and soon everything would change. It was the ending of an older era, of the British empire and indeed of the world dominance by Europe. For America, a kind of innocence was also about to end.

What follows is the thematic prologue to the book I am writing on the year 1940. PROLOGUE BY THE SEA

That summer, black men pushed the chairs along the boardwalk. The chairs were made of wicker and had large wheels and red-white-and-blue canopies. The men riding in them often wore white trousers and hard straw hats. The sun danced in small triangles on the ocean.

All the hotels along the beach had been built during the '80s and '90s. They were white or yellow or gray and had turrets, verandas, dormer windows, gingerbread and striped awnings, and Grandmother stayed at one called Ocean Vista. You could cross the boardwalk in your bathing suit to get to the beach, but if you wanted to go into town for an ice cream soda, you had to put on real clothes. In front of all the hotels on the beach, there were American flags, either on a pole on the front lawn or on a pole sticking out from the second story veranda, and the flags had 48 stars. Evenings, there would be band concerts on a bandstand on the boardwalk, and rides in the swan boats you pedaled on John Wesley Lake, or on the giant Ferris wheel from which you could look out over the darkening Atlantic and see the lights winking on the fishing boats along the horizon.

Grandfather came down weekends from New York City. Sometimes he came on the excursion boat that docked at Asbury Park, up the beach, and sometimes in his large blue Hupmobile with its white-walled-tires and spare tire in a metal case. He never drove faster than 30 miles an hour down Route One. Grandfather never went down on the sand, but he liked to sit on the hotel veranda, or, dressed in white shoes, white trousers, white shirt and Panama hat, stroll along the boardwalk in the dusk. Grandfather had been a leading bicycle racer back in the 1890s.

Up in New York, he and Grandmother lived in a three-story town house.

All day long, as the bright-striped children played by the sea, ships crept by on the horizon, sometimes great ocean liners with their two or three smokestacks, sometimes the sleek low profile of a destroyer. The woman wore one-piece bathing suits, some of them still made of wool, and women hung on the bathing ropes and screamed as the breakers crashed over them.

One night, three years earlier, there had been a false sunset to the west when the Hindenburg blew up over Lakehurst, the glow lighting up the night sky as the hydrogen burned with a heat so intense that it melted the metal mooring tower and burning passengers jumped to their deaths ... People remembered the enormous red tail fins with the swastika inside the white circle as the Hindenburg circled the Empire State Building on its regular runs from Germany.

The Hindenburg had burned three years ago, but this was the summer of 1940. Paris had fallen and Hitler was at the English Channel.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Human Tidal Wave?

The Simpson-Mazzoli bill, designed to stem the flow of illegal immigrants from Latin America, seems an almost certain casualty of this election season. Both conservatives and liberals, Republicans and Democrats, find fatal flaws in its approach to the problem of the illegals.

It is indeed flawed legislation, and most probably shouldn't be enacted. However, the problem of illegal immigration is bound to worsen. The United States has lost control of its southern border. Something must be done soon to hold back the tide.

The United States is not the only northern hemisphere nation with a grave problem of illegal immigration. The countries of Western Europe are feeling the effects of a powerful tide of illegal immigration from the Third World.

The Times of London recently discussed this problem. It noted that Tamils from Sri Lanka are pouring into Switzerland, illegally crossing the Swiss border after flying to Western Europe via Moscow and East Berlin. "This influx to Switzerland," said the Times, "is dwarfed, however, by the waves of illegals elsewhere in Europe."

In addition to the Sri Lankan Tamils, migrants are coming from India and from Egypt, Tunisia, Morocco, Senegal and Guinea. Already, this tide of migration is causing profound economic dislocation and social stress in several European countries. The politics of France are changing dramatically because of stiffening public resistance to what many French people view as an invasion.

While the United States has more living room than Europe and is more accustomed to waves of migrants, the dislocations and stresses are occurring here. The second wave of Cuban migration, which took place when Fidel Castro emptied his jails and asylums, created immense problems in Florida. And, but for a firm attitude on the part of the federal government, the U.S. would have had a huge influx of boat people from Haiti. Without such firmness, the U.S. would become the promised land of all the poor people in the Caribbean.

While Americans are sympathetic to the plight of the Caribbean peoples, they could not afford to absorb millions of newcomers from the region.

One wonders what will happen if the Nicaraguan-style communism triumphs in Central America and the economies of major South African countries collapse in a debt crisis. The tides of illegal migration across the southern border of the United States may turn into a human tidal wave.

retraction, but it has yet to arrive.

What did Bernstein dig up that so embarrassed the Farm Credit System spendthrifts, whose lavish paper-processing palaces are financed by the loans they make to farmers? Here are some of the system's nearly $220 million office building ventures:

— The Central Bank for Cooperatives last year spent $21 million on a new Denver headquarters. Possibly hoping to reflect the bank's mission of providing short-term loans to farmers for improvements, such as irrigation systems and wells, the building's designers included a spectacular indoor waterfall.

— An expansion of the St. Louis headquarters building, which includes two levels of underground parking and a central atrium, cost $18.7 million, or about $75 a square foot.

— In Austin, Texas, farmers and ranchers are fighting a plan to build a $32 million office on what one disgraced cattleman called "the most prime piece of real estate in Austin."

— Other completed buildings include a $28.8 million, 18-story regional headquarters in Spokane, Wash., and a $10.5 million Baltimore office that resembles the ultramodern East Wing of the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C. Soon to be completed: a $17 million building in New Orleans and one costing $25 million in Wichita, Kan.

In short, Farm Credit bureaucrats are building elaborate pleasure domes in which to determine credit rates and loan policies — while the farmers who borrow from the system are going broke at a faster rate than at any time since the Great Depression.

Lawsuits Scare Off Vaccine-Producing Drug Firms

ATLANTA (UPI) — The nation's drug companies, frightened by costly lawsuits, are cutting production of vaccines that protect millions against an array of infectious diseases, federal health officials say.

"This poses a real threat to a major program," Dr. Donald Henderson of Baltimore told the national Centers for Disease Control's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices.

"We find that we have in many areas one producer only," Henderson said Monday. "I'm concerned that further down the road, the United States might wind up with no producer of vaccine."

Dr. Kenneth Bart of the CDC's immunization division said the drug manufacturers are giving up vaccine production because of costly lawsuits or the threat of lawsuits by people claiming to have been injured by a vaccination.

The suits and out-of-court settlements are costing the firms thousands of dollars, causing some to quit vaccine manufacturing and prompting steep price increases.

This situation "impinges on supply issues and our ability to purchase vaccine," Bart said.

The latest firm to pull out of vaccine production was Wyeth Laboratories of Radnor, Pa., which notified the CDC last June it would stop making the highly controversial pertussis (whooping cough) vaccine. That decision, said the CDC's Dr. Mark Lane, meant two other drug firms, Squibb-Connought and Lederle, were called on to make up Wyeth's 50 percent share.

Lane said this posed the threat of a pertussis vaccine shortage during the last half of 1984 and triggered price increases ranging up to 2,000 percent.

About 18 million doses of pertussis vaccine are administered annually to children in this country. The vaccine in rare instances can cause severe side effects, including brain damage.

Only one drug company continues to produce polio vaccine, another agent that sometimes has severe adverse effects, including causing the disease it is supposed to prevent.

Henderson said drug firms "don't give a lot of advance notice" when they decide to quit making a vaccine and suggested the government may have to follow the lead of the European countries and make the necessary vaccines itself.

Lane said legislation has been proposed to set up a system of insurance to protect firms making vaccine and compensate people injured by a vaccination.

Meanwhile the CDC has set up telephone "hotline" between vaccine producers and state health departments to improve the allocation of vaccines and prevent shortages.

Lane said he was "pretty confident" no shortage of pertussis vaccine would develop this year or in the first quarter of 1985.

"We are trying to avoid what would amount to a run on the bank in case there is a shortage," he said.

Poll: Women Still Feel Their Families Are Most Important

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two decades after the women's movement prompted an unprecedented flow of females into the workplace, women still feel their families are the most important part of their lives.

A Los Angeles Times poll found that women are also more inclined than men to quit their jobs if they could afford it.

The poll found many people have adopted "liberated" views about men and women but are reluctant to abandon traditional notions of women's work when it comes to childrearing and housekeeping.

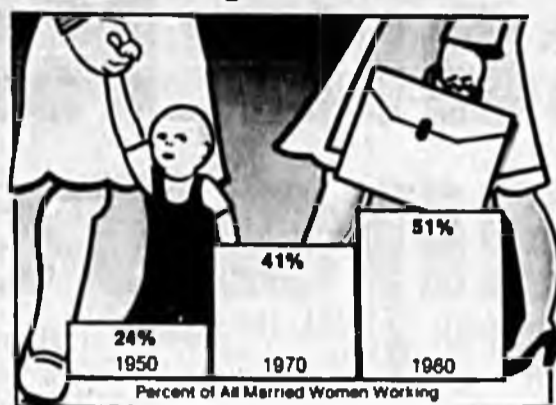

Most men and women believe child care and housekeeping should be shared by working couples, but one of every five women still feels she should bear most of the burden alone in addition to her outside job. Neither men nor women believe a husband alone should be responsible for those chores.

More than half of the 2,058 people polled agreed with the statement, "It is much better for everyone involved if the man is the achiever outside the home and the woman takes care of the home and the family."

The poll found that although men feel they can pursue their career goals single-mindedly, women believe they must achieve a balance between their responsibilities at work and those at home.

Many women, when asked about the disadvantages of the women's movement, said their home lives and children suffered and their lives became more stressful and complicated, the Times said.

Like men, women say they work more for money than for a sense of accomplishment, but they are more likely than men to regard their earnings as extra money and not as the basis of the family support.

Not only are women increasing in the American work force, but more married women are steadily entering the job market. The 1980 census showed a rise to just over half of all married women from 41 percent 10 years before. Even so, most women say their families are more important than their jobs.

Although the poll indicated that overall women were generally satisfied with their lives, they perceived discrimination that results in lower wages and difficulty in advancing. And women discriminate themselves, saying overwhelmingly they would rather work for a man than for a woman.

Strong differences showed up in the attitudes of the 1,182 women and 874 men polled about the nature of the sexes. Half of those surveyed agreed with a statement that men are logical and women emotional. Nearly 70 percent agree that women are more sensitive.

Now, If They Would Only Hold A Sale ...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department, which is well known for storing mountains of dairy products or elevators full of grain, has put its storage expertise to work on excess furniture discarded by bureaucrats.

On Tuesday, the department formally opened a warehouse for storage and distribution of refurbished office furniture.

Centralizing used furniture supplies is expected to save the agency nearly $1 million a year that would have been spent for new furniture.

The warehouse, with 32,000 square feet, is located in southeast Washington. The move to that location will save the agency $57,000 a year because the furniture operation had been located in the South Building, one of two main Agriculture Department buildings, where space is more valuable.

Used and excess furniture brought to the warehouse is entered into a computer system, developed by the agency's National Finance Center in New Orleans. The computer then is used to notify department employees when furniture they need is available.

The warehouse will serve about 13,000 employees who have offices in about 3 million square feet of office space in the Washington area.

Assistant agriculture secretary John Franke said that for the first 19 months of existence, the facility received 9,050 pieces of furniture and equipment, rehabilitated 3,738 pieces and provided bureaucrats with 6,689 pieces of furniture and equipment.

The department has long experience storing commodities under price support programs that permit government take-over if commodities are not sold commercially.

Archaeologist Says He Found Legendary Ruins Of The Incas

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — A Brazilian archaeologist says he has discovered the ancient ruins of a legendary city of stone — found on a secluded mountain mesa once inhabited by the Incas.

Aurelio Abreu, vice president of the Sao Paulo Archaeology Institute, said he and two researchers found "ruins of a structure of stone giving the impression of a fortress and dating from remote times" in the mountains of Bahia state 700 miles north of the capital.

Legends of stone cities in Brazil's rugged interior have circulated for centuries, Abreu said, but his find was the first public mention of the ruins outside the towns in the remote region. The nearest town is Brumado, 25 miles away.

"We believe there must be other structures like Ingrejil in Brazil's interior, much of which is still fearful and unexplored," said Abreu, who inspected the site for the first time Aug. 31-Sept. 2 upon request by state authorities.

The Incas, who began ruling Peru in the 12th century and expanded into Bolivia, Ecuador and much of Chile by the 15th century, were conquered by the Spanish in 1532.

Known for their sophisticated architecture, irrigation, mining and road construction, the Incas worshiped the sun and practiced human sacrifice. The Inca, or king, was their god and ruler.

The ruins — called Ingrejil by nearby residents — were constructed with "precision-cut stones fitted without mortar in the style of the Inca architecture of Peru," Abreu said. Ingrejil is the name of the mountain region where the ruins were found.

Abreu described Ingrejil as "a 2-mile-by-1/2-mile plateau accessible only by mountain paths. There are piles of well-hewn stones and dolmens (crude stone arches) visible."

Legendary stone cities have been sought for centuries by explorers in Bahia, with Portuguese explorer Francisco Raposo reported finding "a monumental city surrounded by gateways of great height" in 1753. Raposo began his search based on an earlier report dated 1591.

Raposo's search was followed in 1914 by Austrian explorer George von Luenne, who also reported finding stone cities in western Bahia state.

UCF, Rollins Get In Early Swings Toward Banner Seasons

Even though it's only the second week in September, college tennis teams in the area and around the state are already getting ready for the spring season.

Norm Copeland at Rollins College in Winter Park and new coaches Mick Andrews and David Carter at UCF are hard at work getting their teams ready for what looks like really good years for both.

Rollins has, without a doubt, one of the finest tennis traditions in college tennis. Even though the Tars are officially ranked as NCAA Division II, they play more than half of their schedule against NCAA Division I teams and win about 80 percent of the time.

Throughout the past 25 years or so years Rollins has consistently turned out some of the finest collegiate tennis teams in the nation. Each year it has been at or near the top in Division II and this year should be no exception.

In fact, on paper at least, this year's group seems to be the strongest Rollins team in several years. Returning players include All-Americans Brian Taigo and Rob Bates, Lyman graduate Brian Morrissey, Jonas Mortinnson, Peter Allport, Mark Gaberial, Rich Sherman, Steve Nicholson, Chris Conroy, and Rolf Bennell.

Add to this group newcomers Kevin Copeland, Pat Emmett, Todd Long, Jeff Wolf and Pat Johnson and Rollins has the makings of a national powerhouse. The schedule is again loaded with touring teams from all over the U.S.

The matches are free and most of them are played on the Rollins campus. If you want to see some really top-flight tennis this winter and spring, go by the Rollins courts almost any afternoon and you'll be treated to a very high level of play. Good luck to Norm and his boys in the coming season.

For years now, the University of Central Florida has been a sleeping giant in college tennis. Not since the day of coach Lex Wood have the folks out at UCF had much to brag about in the way of their varsity program.

Wood has not coached out there for about eight years now so you can see it's been a long dry spell. There have been a series of part-time coaches, student coaches, player coaches, and whatever.

There has been no cohesion to the program, no solid foundation upon which to grow. The team has struggled through one mediocre season after another. It seems strange that the powers that be at UCF would have let this happen.

After all, being located in Central Florida is enough in itself to insure them of being good. Add to that a beautiful campus, nice facilities and a very large and growing student body and you have an ideal set up for a first class tennis program.

What has been lacking is some solid leadership from a coaching aspect. UCF has that now. When the Knights hired Mick Andrews and David Carter, they took a giant step forward in becoming a nationally recognized tennis school. Andrews and Carter have a great deal of experience and have the right stuff to make great coaches.

This year's UCF team will be its best in many years. Back from last year's team are seniors Mike DeFranco and Len Engle — both are outstanding players and seasoned veterans. Also back are 1984 regulars Jeff Davis, Tony Snoney Bose and Paul Marshall. Add to this group newcomers Joey Perry, a transfer from Texas A & M and Jeff Cohen, from Lyman High School, and you have a very solid group. Perry, incidentally, attended Lake Howell High School before moving to the east coast. UCF is now Division I in tennis. This will, of course, make the going a lot tougher for them but if everyone stays healthy and makes his grades UCF will be very tough this coming season.

UCF and Rollins are two college tennis powers right here in Central Florida. Go out and see them play — it's great tennis.

Lyman Splits, Lady Rams Tumble Twice In Net Opener

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The Lyman and DeLand volleyball teams showed they will be among the best in the Five Star Conference this season while Lake Mary's Lady Rams displayed inexperience but promise as the three teams opened the 1984 season in a tri-match Tuesday night at Lake Mary High.

DeLand's Lady Bulldogs, the defending district champions, came away with two victories. Lyman won one and lost one and the Lady Rams dropped a pair of matches.

Lake Mary and Lyman squared off in the first match of the night and the Lady Rams breezed to a 15-0 victory in the first game as senior standout Lisa Simkins served 15 straight points. Lyman mistakes led to the Lake Mary shutout as the Lady Greyhounds failed to return a number of Simkins' sizzling serves.

"We had a real slow start, we couldn't do anything right in that first game," Lyman coach Annette Griffin said. "Simkins' serve had a lot to do with it, but our passing was terrible. I wasn't too worried though, I knew we'd get going in the second game."

After getting the butterflies out, the Lady Greyhounds came back strong in game two. Lyman built a 3-0 lead on the serve of Dawn Boyesen and, after a side out, Regan Stump served three straight points, the third an ace, as Lyman took a 6-0 lead.

Lake Mary got one point on the serve of Kathy Hodak, but a missed serve gave it back to Lyman and it tumbled off four more points on the serve of Lori Helms to take a 10-1 lead.

The Lady Rams fought back to within four points, 12-8, on the serve of Sloan Stewart, but another missed serve gave Lyman a side out and Boyesen came back to serve the last three points as the Lady Greyhounds took the second game, 15-8, to force a third and deciding game.

Simkins opened the third game for the Lady Rams, but Lyman didn't let any serves get by this time and a spike by Kim Forsyth gave the serve to the Lady Greyhounds. With Boyesen serving, Lyman took a 3-0 lead, one point coming on a spike by Helms and another on a hit by Forsyth. Annette Whack's spike gave Lake Mary a side out, but the Lady Rams failed to score any points.

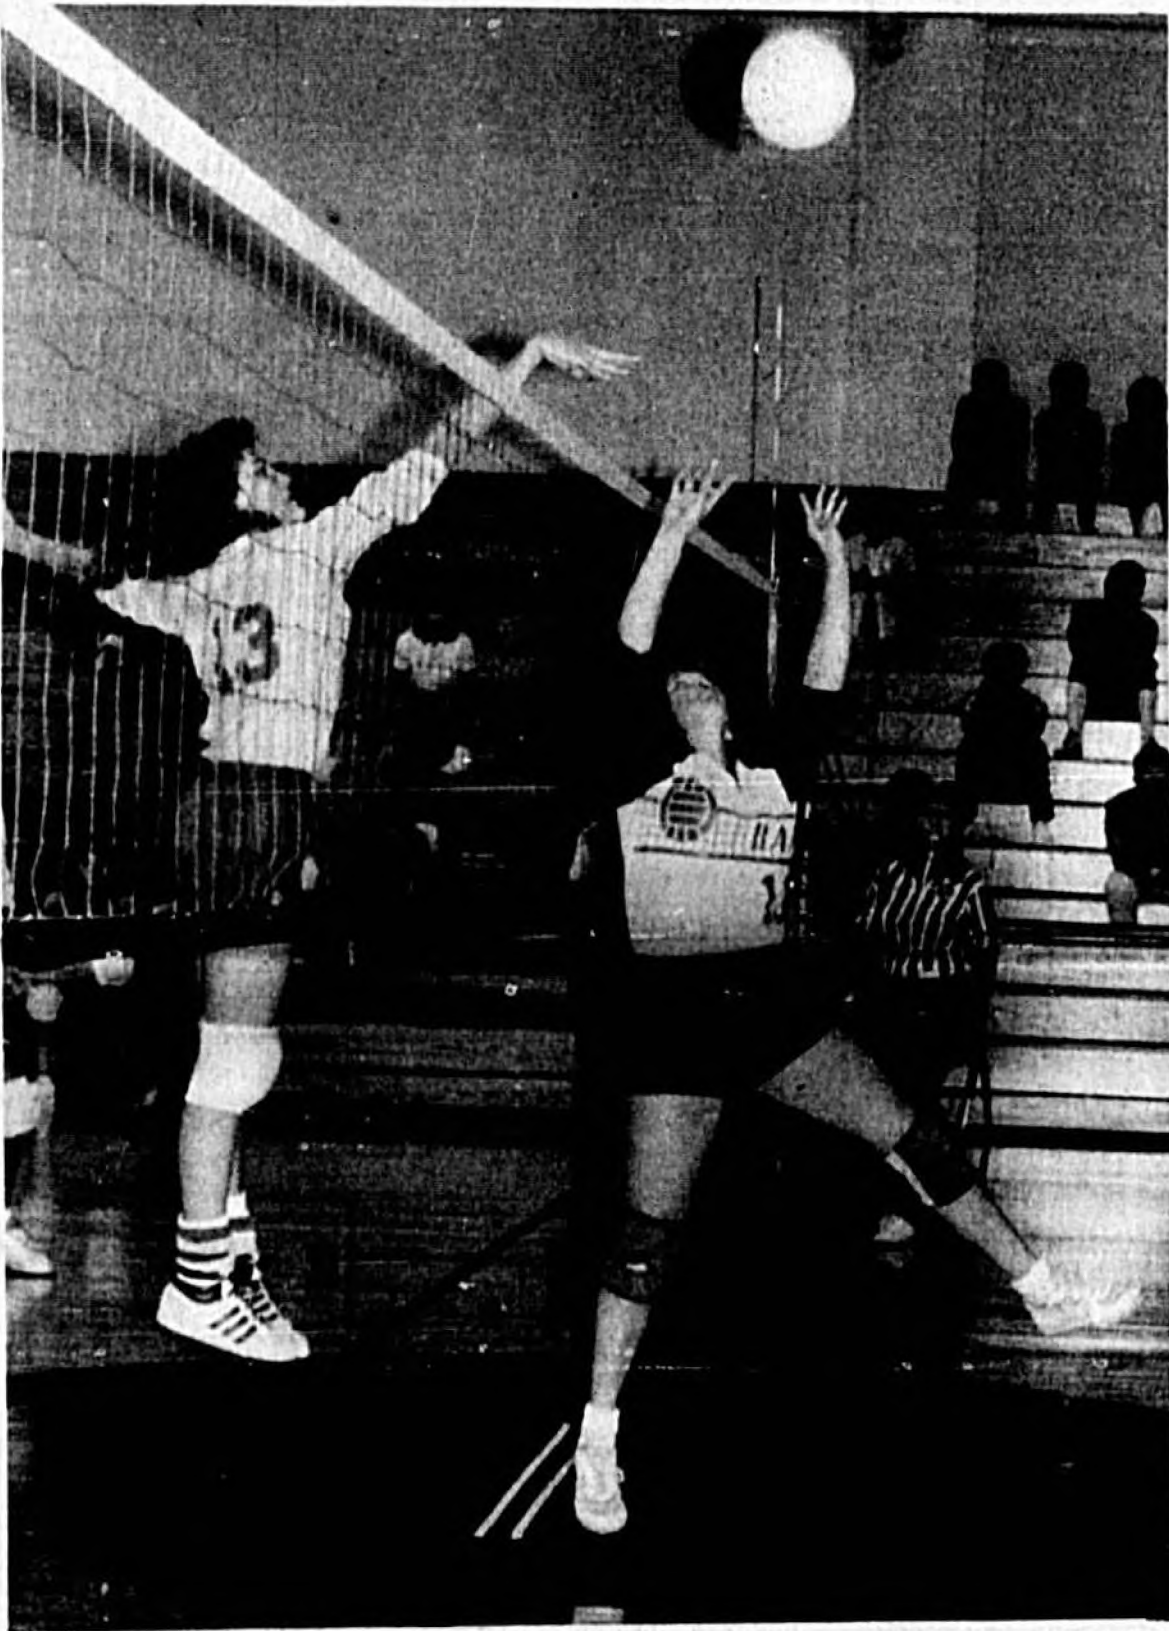

Helms then came on to serve for Lyman and the Lady Greyhounds rallied for seven straight points to take a 10-0 lead. Aileen Patterson's hit served Lake Mary the serve and Misty Duncan served five straight points to cut Lyman's lead in two, 10-5.

After trading off for a few points, Lyman regained the serve with a 13-7 lead. Stump made 16-7 on her serve, but a dink by Patterson gave the Rams a side out. But, Hodak couldn't get her in and Forsyth came on to serve the final point giving Lyman a 15-7 victory and the match, 15-8, 15-7.

"We just needed a little time to settle down for the first game," Griffin said. "The offense was running smoothly the last two games."

Lyman went up against DeLand in Tuesday night's second match and, even though the Lady Rams won the match in two straight games, Lyman had its chances.

In the first game, DeLand took a 1-0 lead on Tammy Corr's ace, but Lyman got a side out and Lake Mary's Lisa Simkins, right, sets the ball just out of the reach of Lyman's Kim Forsyth during volleyball action Tuesday at Lake Mary High. Lyman bounced back from a 15-0 first-set beating to take the Lady Rams in three sets.

Stump served four straight points for a 4-1 Lyman lead.

DeLand came back to tie it at 4-4 and neither team had more than a one-point lead until the Lady Bulldogs went up, 9-7, on Debbie Underwood's serve. Underwood missed her next serve though and the Lady Greyhounds scored six straight points on the serve of Sheila Mandy to take a 13-9 lead. The big play of the Lyman rally was Forsyth's block of a Bridgette Gordon spike.

A missed spike gave DeLand a side out and Tammy Martin came on to serve three points, cutting Lyman's lead to 13-12. Lyman got the serve back three more times with a 13-12 lead but was unable to score.

DeLand then took a 14-13 lead on Kathy Corr's serve but a missed serve gave it back to Lyman and Michelle Binkiewicz' ace tied it at 14-14. A Gordon dink gave the serve back to DeLand and Gordon served the final two points as DeLand pulled out a 16-14 win in the first game.

Lyman continued to have problems with its serves in the second game and DeLand took advantage and built a 9-0 lead. Patti Corr came on with the score 4-0 and reeled off five straight points for the 9-0 lead.

DeBose Takes 2

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Sanford's Bryan DeBose would just as soon forget Friday night, but he will remember Tuesday afternoon for a while.

DeBose, Seminole's mitey-mite linebacker, picked up two awards for his play in Seminole's 28-0 loss to Titusville Astronaut. DeBose had a splendid all-around performance which included 11 tackles, three assists and a fumble recovery against the War Eagles.

The showing earned him the Sanford Optimist Club Defensive Player of the Week and the Burger King Defensive Player of the Week. Bryant, a 5-6, 178-pound go-getter, was honored at a luncheon by the Sanford Optimists and president Clay Simmons. Bryant and offensive award winner Cliff Campbell were the Optimists guests at Western Sizzlin' in Sanford.

Posey, Campbell and DeBose each gave short talks on Friday's game. DeBose, who isn't shy, was the funniest.

"I'll tell one thing," he said. "This won't ever happen again."

"What won't happen again?" asked Optimist Dale Coppock. "You won't win this award again."

"No, no," laughed DeBose. "We won't get beat like that again."

The Optimists, whose generosity and public-support reaches from Sanford's football teams to Cheryl Morley's golfing exploits in Oviedo, meet every Tuesday at Western Sizzlin'. The Optimist Club has been honoring area athletes since the mid-1970's.

Posey and his coaching staff get together on Sunday and decide on the two award winners who will attend Tuesday's luncheon. Others drawing consideration, according to Posey, were defensive end Fred Brinson (seven tackles, two assists, two fumble recoveries and one sack), linebacker Jerry Little (nine tackles and four assists), safety Deron Thompson (six tackles and four assists) and Anthony Hall (five tackles, four assists and one fumble recovery).

Of course, it didn't hurt that defensive statistics any that Astronaut ran 65 offensive plays. Posey said center Strickland Smith won the offensive lineman award and Thompson won the defensive back award.

Later in the afternoon Tuesday, the Burger King Selection Committee honored DeBose for the second time as its defensive player of

Rams Crush Tribe

John Curry and Sheldon Richards each scored two touchdowns Tuesday night as Lake Mary pounded Seminole, 32-8, in freshman football action at Seminole High School. It was the season opener for both teams.

Curry, a fullback, bulldozed for his two scores while Richards snagged a pass for one TD and intercepted a pass and returned it 25 yards for another score.

Coach Jim Hughes' Rams travel to Lake Brantley next Tuesday. The Seminoles take on Ocoola next Tuesday at Kissimmee.

Gators Hit With 107 Charges — Criser: No Comment On Pell

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — The other shoe has fallen on the University of Florida's football program with disclosure that the NCAA has brought 107 charges against the Gators and its rambunctious boosters, including New York Yankees owner George Steinbrenner.

Strict sanctions are sure to follow, observers said today.

University President Marshall M. Criser reported Tuesday the NCAA has charged Florida's coaches, officials and "representatives of the university's athletic interests" illegally provided players and recruits with money, junkets, automobiles and meals.

The allegations, contained in a 74-page "letter of inquiry" Criser received Tuesday, cover a period from 1976 into the current season. They result from a 21-month-long investigation of Florida's football program that gave rise to numerous leaks of information. The NCAA asked the school for explanations by Sept. 18.

News of the charges caused football coach Charley Pell to tender his resignation Aug. 26 with a request to remain in his job through this season, ending Dec. 1.

Criser refused at his news conference to comment whether he is considering dismissal of Pell before the current season ends.

Pell, who was hired by Florida in 1979, was charged with arranging for students to get $935 for work not performed. He also was accused of arranging for two people to purchase complimentary season football tickets from numerous players for amounts "substantially in excess of face value of the tickets," the NCAA said.

The NCAA alleged the players sold the complimentary tickets for amounts ranging up to $800.

Pell also was charged with

College Football

authorizing assistant coaches to file false expense vouchers for funds to provide prospective athletes with university caps, T-shirts and other paraphernalia. He was accused of establishing a $4,000 fund for activities prohibited by the NCAA, including scouting and salary supplements for assistant coaches.

From 1976 through 1980, the NCAA said, Steinbrenner gave players trips to a Tampa race track, up to $500 cash for the players' complimentary football tickets, board and lodging for a player employed at Tampa Downs race track and a junket to the race track.

Names of the players involved were blacked out in copies of the letter furnished reporters.

The letter asks the university to clarify the reasons Steinbrenner acted the way he did.

Criser told the news conference a former assistant academic adviser, Michael Brown, had admitted to university lawyers he spied illegally on a number of Florida opponents before games. Criser said he has apologized to the presidents of six universities that had been scouted illegally by Brown and offered to forfeit six games involved.

Those games were played against the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Mississippi, Mississippi State, the University of Louisville and Auburn in 1980, and Florida State in 1981.

"The existence of this illegal scouting has been previously denied by our coaching staff to the NCAA investigators and to our attorneys,"

Criser said. "Lying to me or to my predecessor is a very serious offense. I understand coaches have been fired for that in the past, but I will not pre-judge any situation."

In other charges, university assistant coaches, representatives and academic advisers allegedly provided prospective players and their families with meals and transportation to the campus and began contacting players for recruitment beginning in their junior year of high school.

Assistant football coaches were charged with lending cars to players for as long as a semester, and boosters with providing low-rate loans for cars and selling cars below wholesale.

One case listed a former football administrative assistant who tried to recruit a player by offering to arrange employment of the youth's sister in the athletic department.

the week. Oviedo's hard-charging fullback Charles "Pop" Bowers was cited as the offensive player of the week.

The Burger King group is beginning its fourth year. It honors football and basketball players each Tuesday of their season. The county coaches recommend their outstanding players of the week to Seminole Sentinel sports editor Herky Cosh, who compiled the stats for Tuesday's meeting.

In addition to Cosh, members include Bill James, Altamonte Springs recreation director, Gerald Rutberg, prominent Altamonte Springs attorney, Frank Tibbitts, Amoco Oil mogul and Sam Cook, Evening Herald sports editor. Bob Santulli, Burger King community relations coordinator, oversees the proceedings and votes in case of a deadlock.

DeBose was chosen over Brinson, Lake Howell's Harold Crowley (four tackles, one assist and two sacks), Lyman's Avery Merweather (seven tackles, six assists) and Lake Brantley's Chris Derden (three tackles, one assist and five breakups). Two of those breakups came in the end zone.

"Chris had a great game for us," said Tullis about his junior defensive back. Derden won the Pats defensive award for the game while senior running back Steve Emmons took offensive honors.

No one had a game quite like Bowers, though. Hobbled by food poisoning and a sprained ankle all week, the 6-1, 195-pound blockbuster came off the bench to give Oviedo its only touchdown in a 7-0 win over Melbourne.

Bowers ran for 151 yards on just 13 carries. His TD jaunt of 83 yards in the second quarter provided the margin of difference. Bowers later broke loose for runs of 35 and 30 to ignite another drive, but a fumble at the Melbourne 5 killed the march.

Along with Bowers, Lake Howell sophomore Dennis Heafner had a superb varsity debut. Heafner rushed for 103 yards on six carries as the Silver Hawks whipped Bishop Moore, 17-0. "Dennis came in and did the job. He's going to have to for us to be successful," said coach Mike Biaccegla. Heafner had a 79-yard TD run to his credit.

Other nominees included Lyman's Mike Henley (13 carries for 58 and one TD), Lake Howell's Jeron Evans (four receptions for 62 yards) and Emmons (14 carries for 68 yards).

NFC East: N.Y. On Top, Washington On Bottom?

Pro Football

DALLAS (UPI) — The NFC East standings have something of an unexpected look these days, what with the New York Giants on top and the Washington Redskins on the bottom.

But it is the belief of two of the division coaches — Dallas' Tom Landry and Philadelphia's Marion Campbell — that the Redskins will soon do something about that.

"Philadelphia, New York, St. Louis and us are all in there together and it will be interesting to see who emerges," said Landry. "But Washington is much more solid than any of the rest of us."

"They have got everything in place. It is just a matter of putting it together again."

Washington, two-time defending NFC champion, was run down by the Miami Dolphins in their season opener and then got so far behind the San Francisco 49ers Monday night that they couldn't catch up.

What does Landry make of the Redskins start?

"They played two of the best teams in the league, that's what," Landry said. "The league set them up. Of all the teams I've seen so far, I'd say Miami, Seattle and the 49ers are playing best right now. They are the best executing teams."

Philadelphia and Dallas have been the Giants' two victims thus far and New York will face Washington next weekend in one of the league's highlight attractions.

"Anything can happen in the NFL," said Campbell. "They (the Giants) had a good game against us and they got started off on the right foot against Dallas."

"Washington is giving up a few points right now and that's not normal for them. But I think they will get it back on track."

"You never know what might happen, though. Look at our team. I always feel we can compete. I just hope we can stay healthy. If the right breaks come our way, who knows what could happen."

Philadelphia and Dallas face each other Sunday in the Cowboys' home opener and there had been expectations that Harold Carmichael, the leading receiver in Eagles' history, might see action against his old team.

Landry said, however, he did not expect that would be the case. Carmichael was picked up by the Cowboys last week to add some depth to the team's depleted receiving corps.

"Harold is still trying to learn the system," said Landry. "He is not going to be a factor for awhile. He probably won't be ready this week."

MUNOZ IS DISAPPOINTED
CINCINNATI (UPI) — Cincinnati Bengals offensive tackle Anthony Munoz, a three-time Pro Bowl player, said he is disappointed with his performance so far this season.

The Bengals have been disappointing as well, dropping their opener with the Denver Broncos and last Sunday's matchup with the Kansas City Chiefs.

"I'm not at all satisfied with the way I've played this season," said the 6-foot-6, 278-pound Munoz. "I don't have a very good game at Denver, and I didn't play well against Kansas City, either."

"It's personally very frustrating, because I felt like I was doing well in the pre-season. After all the work we did in training camp, all the time we spent working on technique, it doesn't feel good at all to get out there in a game and feel like you've got everything messed up."

Munoz allowed only two quarterback sacks all last season, but Chiefs defensive end Mike Lall got past Munoz for 2 1/2 sacks of Ken Anderson on Sunday.

Munoz said the sack count doesn't tell the whole story of an offensive lineman's game.

The Lady Greyhounds regained their composure and fought back to within three points, 11-8. DeLand then got a side out and built a 13-8 lead on the serve of Robin Swartz. A spike by Forsythe gave it back to Lyman, but DeLand got a side out on Gordon's dink.

Kathy Corr came on to serve the final two points, the first a dink by Gordon and the second a spike by Gordon, as DeLand won the match, 18-14, 15-8.

"We could have played better against DeLand," Griffin said. "Overall, I was pleased with the team's performance. We tried to give everyone a chance to play and see what they could do. Our setting and hitting will get better as soon as we get our passing down."

DeLand came back in the final match of the evening to claim a 15-8, 15-8 victory over Lake Mary.

In the first game, the Lady Rams had trouble with their serve as four missed serves enabled DeLand to hand on to a close lead and the Lady Bulldogs eventually built a 11-6 lead. Lake Mary pulled to within 11-8 but a missed spike gave DeLand the serve and Swartz served four straight points, including one ace, to give DeLand the first game.

DeLand then built an early 6-0 lead in the second game on the serve of Patti Corr. A missed spike gave the Rams a side out and Simkins came on to serve seven straight points to give Lake Mary a 7-6 lead. Key plays in Simkins' string included a spike by Christensen and a block of a Gordon spike by Whack.

With the Lady Rams holding an 8-7 lead, DeLand got a side out and Gordon served four straight points to give the Lady Bulldogs a 11-8 lead.

Lake Mary had the serve three more times but didn't score and DeLand went on to reel off four points to win the match.

"We have a lot of inexperience," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said. "A lot of the girls don't know competitive volleyball. I'm disappointed that we lost, but I'm not disappointed in the way the girls played. Some of the girls that were making the goofy mistakes will be good players by midseason, they just need some game experience."

Simkins, Christensen and Stewart were the leaders for the Rams Tuesday. Simkins and Christensen both started on last year's team and Stewart is a transfer student from Michigan. "She's a good leader and a good consistent player," Henry said of Stewart. "It was a blessing to get her."

Lake Mary is back in action today as it hosts Osceola Kalamazoo with junior varsity starting at 4:30 p.m. and varsity at 5:30. Lyman returns to action today against Oviedo at Lyman High. Junior varsity begins at 3:30 and varsity at 4:30.

LAKE HOWELL HAMMERS MAINLAND

Beth Saunders and Eileen Theibauth led the way as Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks opened the season with a 15-1, 15-6 trouncing of Daytona Beach Mainland Tuesday night at Lake Howell High.

"Beth and Eileen both played excellent matches," first-year Lake Howell coach Teresa Tinsley said. "Mainland didn't really play that well."

Lake Howell rolled to a 15-1 win in the opening game with Saunders serving six straight points and senior Sandy Gillies serving five including three aces. In the second game, junior Anita Cechowski served seven straight points and Christy Tibbitts served five.

Tinsley said the starting six for Lake Howell all played well Tuesday night. The starters for the Lady Hawks include seniors Saunders, Theibauth, Gillies and Gracey Ley and junior twins Kellee and Jolee Johnson.

Lake Howell is back in action Thursday as it hosts Oviedo's Lady Lions. The junior varsity match starts at 3:30 p.m. with the varsity getting underway at 4:30.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Flag Football Tryouts Saturday; Co-Ed Volleyball Meets Sept. 17

Tryouts for the Sanford Recreation Department's Flag Football Leagues will be held Saturday at 9 a.m. at Chase Park. Tryouts are for the Midget League (ages 8-9) and Junior League (ages 10-12).

League play begins Sept. 29. There is a $3 material fee plus a $10 non-resident fee for those living out of the Sanford City Limits. There will be four teams in the Junior League and two in the Midget League. All games will be played at Chase Park.

In other Recreation Department news, the Adult Co-Ed Volleyball League will hold its organizational meeting Monday, Sept. 17 at 8:30 p.m. in the Youth Wing of the Sanford Civic Center.

The entry fee is $25 per team and fees must be paid to the Recreation Office in City Hall by Oct. 3. There is also a $10 non-resident fee for players living outside Sanford City Limits. Rosters will be in the Recreation Office by the same date.

Men and women must be 18-years-old on or before Oct. 3 to be eligible to play. No more than 10 players are allowed on a team.

League play will begin Oct. 8. All games will be played on Monday nights at the Salvation Army gym (one block west of Highway 17-92 on 24th Street) at 7 p.m. The season will last eight weeks.

Winter Park Sets Bicycle Classic

The Winter Park Bicycle Classic will be held Sunday, Oct. 7 in downtown Winter Park. This event, sponsored by Merrill Lynch Realty and First State Savings & Loan, will benefit Meals on Wheels. Registration will begin at 12 noon with the first race starting at 1 p.m.

Everyone with a bicycle may participate in the Open Class Races. All that is required is a bicycle that passes a safety inspection and a hard helmet. The Open Class registration fee is $7 and includes a Winter Park Bicycle Classic t-shirt.

Some of the top cyclists in the country will be on hand for the United States Cycling Federation (U.S.C.F.) races. Members of the 7-Eleven Racing Team, the Schwinn Racing Team, the U.S. Olympic Team and the U.S.C.F. National Team are just some of the cyclists who are expected to participate.

For additional information, contact Karen Anderson at Merrill Lynch Realty, 828-4890.

IRS: Trevino Owes Us $82,000

DALLAS (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service claims professional golfer Lee Trevino failed to pay more than $82,000 in back taxes and penalties, but a spokesman for Trevino said the IRS action was a fairly routine investigation.

"Lee and his wife purchased a limited partnership in 1980," Joe Salinas, Trevino's business manager, said Tuesday. "This is something that is normally done. The IRS happened to pick on this one and challenged the deductions in it. There were 260 other people in this one limited partnership."

Bucs To Recognize Altamonte Champs

The Tampa Bay Buccaneers will recognize Altamonte Springs' two successful Little League teams Altamonte Little League president Jim Hovis said Wednesday.

The Altamonte Seniors, who won the World Series, and the Altamonte Majors, who placed second in the World Series, will be honored during halftime ceremonies of the Sept. 30 game against the Green Bay Packers. Game time is 4 p.m.

Pete Picks His Spots, 4 Hits Top Giants

United Press International
Pete Rose picks his spots better than a car thief.

Since taking over as manager-player of the Cincinnati Reds, the 43-year-old Rose has used himself sparingly, mostly choosing to play against those pitchers he feels he can best handle.

So far, it has proved to be a regular steal for the National League's all-time hitting.

Rose had four hits for the fourth straight game that he's started and sparked the Reds to a 7-3 triumph Tuesday night over the San Francisco Giants.

Rose singled home the Reds' first run in the first inning off Bill Laakey and doubled home their second run in the fifth, again off Laakey. He also doubled in the eighth for the 723rd double of his career, leaving him two behind Stan Musial's all-time record. Rose, who has hit .414 since returning to the Reds Aug. 26, now has 4,086 hits, 105 behind Ty Cobb's all-time mark.

But rather than dwell on his achievements, Rose talked about rookie center fielder Eric Davis, who rocketed a three-run homer for Cincinnati.

"That ball was a bolt," Rose said in describing Davis' sixth homer in his last eight games, a drive that ricocheted off the cement facing below the red seats in left field well over 400 feet from home plate. "I've never hit a ball that far, and they'd have an investigation of it if I did."

"He's going to be a real player. That's why I'll never get tired of shaking his hand."

Mario Soto tossed a six-hitter in going the distance for the victory. Soto, 15-7, struck out 10 and walked one in pitching his 12th complete game of the season and beating the Giants for the sixth straight time. Soto, who became a father last Saturday, also singled home the go-ahead run in the sixth inning.

"I don't remember when I had that many strikeouts but maybe that was because of having that extra rest between starts," he said. "But I got the baseball and I'm going to sign it for my new daughter."

Phillies 6, Cubs 3
At Chicago, the Phillies took

Pete Rose led by example Tuesday night, rapping four hits as the Cincinnati Reds whipped the Giants, 7-3.

advantage of an error by Cubs shortstop Tom Verzer and scored four runs in the ninth for the triumph. Despite the loss, Chicago's magic number for clinching the NL East title was reduced to 11 as the second-place Mets lost. Greg Gross delivered a pinch-hit two-run double to power the Phillies' ninth.

Cardinals 9, Mets 5
At New York, Tom Herr highlighted a five-run eighth inning with a three-run double to lift the Cardinals. The loss left the Mets seven games behind the Cubs with only 17 games remaining for each club. George Foster and Keith Hernandez homered for New York.

Pirates 5, Expos 1
At Pittsburgh, Rick Rhoden tossed a three-hitter and Johnny Ray hit a three-run homer in leading the Pirates. Rhoden, 13-9, struck out three and walked none in posting his fifth complete game. Gary Barger, 0-1, took the loss.

Tim Raines singled and doubled for the Expos to raise his batting average to .310. Raines didn't have any steals, though, and stayed three behind Philadelphia's Juan Samuel, 67-64, in the race for the N.L. stolen base title.

Braves 8, Astros 4
At Houston, Dale Murphy drove in four runs with a triple and his 32nd homer to lead the Braves. Murphy has now hit 10 homers this season against the Astros, including four off starter Bob Knepper. Rick Mahler, 10-9, went the first six innings for the victory, with Gene Garber finishing for his eighth save.

Dodgers 5, Padres 2
At San Diego, Fernando Valenzuela pitched a six-hitter and hit a two-run homer to lead the Dodgers. The Padres, despite the loss, remained 9 1/2 games ahead of second-place Houston and dropped their magic number for clinching the NL West to nine. Pedro Guerrero also homered for Los Angeles.

Viola Twirls 6-Hitter As Twins Go Up By 1

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Minnesota Twins manager Billy Gardner kept Frank Viola hidden from the Kansas City Royals in their series last week, saving the left-hander for the "big game."

Viola, 16-12, hurled a six-hitter and struck out nine Tuesday night to guide the Minnesota Twins to a 5-1 victory over the Kansas City Royals and into sole possession of first place in the American League West.

The Twins, one game up on the Royals, will close the series tonight at the Metrodome but Gardner said Viola won the pivotal game.

"To me, this was the big game of the series," Gardner said. "We can go out here still in first place no matter what happens (Wednesday). The big thing is to win two out of three and three out of four the rest of the way and stay away from a sweep."

Mickey Hatcher had two RBI singles, while Kent Hrbek and Tom Brunansky smacked back-to-back homers to support Viola. Since the team has switched to a four-man rotation, Viola has a chance to become the Twins' first 20-game winner since 1979.

"The errors didn't beat us. Two home runs and Viola — that's what beat us," Kansas City manager Dick Howser said. "We didn't see Viola at home. We dodged that bullet. Until the ninth inning, he pitched the best game we've seen this season."

While Hatcher has provided the clutch hits, Hrbek and Brunansky have provided the power. Hrbek's inside-the-park homer in the seventh, his 25th homer of the year, chased Royals outfielder

Willie Wilson to the center-field wall. "I thought it was out. If Willie can't catch it, it ought to be a home run anyway," Howser said.

Brunansky notched his 30th, a solo shot, after Hrbek to open a 5-0 lead.

Hrbek acknowledged the fans by taking a bow from the dugout.

"This is my most exciting moment in baseball. It overtook my homer in New York," said Hrbek, who had homered in his first major-league game in the 11th inning to beat the Yankees.

Line Drive Leaves Angels Wobbly

A.L. Baseball

United Press International
A line drive to Don Schulze's head left the California Angels feeling a bit wobbly.

Schulze, a rookie right-hander, shrugged off Brian Downing's second-inning shot and pitched the Cleveland Indians to a 4-2 victory over the Angels.

"The ball didn't hit me smack on the head," said Schulze. "It deflected off my thumb. It didn't hurt that much. My thumb just got a little numb."

The decision, combined with Minnesota's 5-1 victory over Kansas City, dropped the Angels two games behind the first-place Twins and a game behind the second-place Royals in the AL West race.

"We know each game is critical," said California's Rob Wilfong. "We're taking each one as it comes. We sure don't want to go into Kansas City that last week three or four games behind."

Schulze, 3-5, scattered nine hits and three walks in going the distance for the victory. The 6-foot-3, 225-pounder showed no ill effects of the liner in outdueling rookie Ron Romanick.

Blue Jays 10, Yankees 3
At Toronto, George Bell and Jesse Barfield each belted two-run homers and Cliff Johnson went 3-for-5 with a two-run single, helping the Blue Jays snap a five-game losing streak. The game was spiced by a benches-clearing skirmish in the fifth triggered by a brushback pitch by Dennis Rasmussen, 8-5.

Brewers 14, Red Sox 6
At Boston, William Lazado belted a three-run homer and Robin Yount added a solo shot, helping the Brewers score nine unearned runs in the seventh. Cecil Cooper also chipped in with a three-run homer as Milwaukee pinned the loss on Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd, 10-10.

Mariners 4, Rangers 3
At Seattle, Danny Tartabull, in his first major league at-bat, chopped an infield single to score Darnell Coles from third base to cap a two-run rally in the bottom of the ninth that lifted the Mariners. Karl Beat, 1-0, pitched 1-3 inning to gain his first major-league victory.

Tigers 9, Orioles 2
At Baltimore, Darrell Evans rapped out four hits, including a homer. Larry Herndon batted in three runs and Dan Petry, 17-8, continued his dominance of the Orioles. The victory reduced the Tigers' magic number for clinching the AL East to seven. Bill Swaggerty, 3-2, took the loss.

A's 4, White Sox 1
At Oakland, Calif., Curt Young, 8-4, allowed six hits over eight innings and Dave Kingman knocked in his 114th run, leading the A's. Bill Caudill pitched the ninth for his 31st save. LaMarr Hoyt, the 1983 AL Cy Young Award winner, fell to 12-16.

FORMER BALLBOY SURPRISES MAYER

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — David Pate used to be run down tennis balls. Now he's running down tennis stars.

Pate, a former ballboy who was forced to qualify for a berth, upset two-time defending champion Gene Mayer 6-4, 6-2 Tuesday night in a second-round match of a $255,000 tournament.

The event is known as the Pacific Southwest Open. The 22-year-old Pate, a pro since 1983 and ranked No. 128 in the world, played what Mayer called "the best tennis I've ever seen anybody play, especially for someone with that low ranking."

The Las Vegas, Nev., resident never let the sixth-seeded Mayer get any rhythm, beating him with a powerful serve, penetrating volley and pinpoint passing shots.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Gale-Force Winds Break Open Sunken Freighter

OSTEND, Belgium (UPI) — Salvage workers waited for gale-force winds to subside today to inspect the broken hull of a sunken French freighter containing a radioactive cargo.

Spokesmen for Belgian and Dutch salvage companies said the Mont Louis, lying on its starboard side on a sand bank since it sank Aug. 25 after colliding with a ferry, broke apart Tuesday, rupturing a fuel tank that released oil into the sea.

A North Sea storm opened a 10-foot-wide crack in the hull Monday and gale-force winds and high waves Tuesday caused the vessel to snap in two, 12 miles off Ostend.

Walenkamp said divers would wait for winds to subside before going down to inspect the broken hull and determine the condition of its radioactive cargo, 30 containers of toxic uranium hexafluoride.

Moslems Threaten Boycott

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Two key Moslem Cabinet members threatened to boycott a Cabinet session today despite Syrian pressure to end a political deadlock that has blocked implementation of a peace plan outside Beirut.

Shiite Moslem leader Nabih Berri and Druze leader Walid Jumblatt said during the weekend they would boycott Cabinet sessions until the government considers political reforms giving Moslems equal political power in the Christian-led government.

The security plan, put into effect July 4, halted months of heavy fighting between Moslem and Christian militias in Beirut.

During the past week, Syria has pressured Berri and Jumblatt to stop blocking further progress on implementing the plan by deploying buffer forces between Druze and Christian militias in the Shouf Mountains overlooking Beirut.

Ironing Out The Details

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Leaders of Israel's two major political parties struggled today to resolve differences on a power-sharing government only hours before parliament was scheduled to vote on the pact.

The last-minute negotiations cast some doubt on forecasts that Prime Minister-designate Shimon Peres and his predecessor and agreed successor, Yitzhak Shamir, would sign an agreement today before the meeting of the 120-member Knesset.

Reports by the state-owned Israeli media indicated that Jewish settlements on occupied Arab lands and the awarding of a religious post in the Cabinet were at the center of the disagreements.

If the power-sharing arrangement is completed and given a vote of confidence by the Knesset today, it would end the political deadlock that began when elections July 23 gave no political party a parliamentary majority needed to form a government.

Sakharov's Family Demands Info

United Press International
Members of Andrei Sakharov's family visited the Soviet Consulate in Washington, demanding to know the fate of the Soviet dissident's ailing wife, Yelena Bonner, who reportedly was tried for "anti-Soviet activities."

Bonner's 84-year-old mother, Ruth Bonner, her daughter Tatyana Yankelevich and her son Alexey Semyonov spent 25 minutes Tuesday in the Soviet Consulate. Neither the general consul nor the vice consul would agree to a meeting, Yankelevich said in an interview, but the three spoke with the officer on duty who said he would transmit their demands for information to Moscow.

Between Superpowers

Meeting Should Ease Tensions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan says his forthcoming meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko may lead to "an easing of any suspicion or hostility" between the superpowers before they resume negotiations on nuclear arms.

Key Republicans are jubilantly interpreting the first high-level talks between Reagan and a Soviet leader as a sign that the Kremlin has decided that the president will be re-elected in November.

Reagan personally announced at a brief news conference Tuesday that he has invited Gromyko to the White House on Sept. 28 to discuss "a range of issues of international importance."

The president said he thinks the need to "get a better understanding between our two countries" should precede any resumption of dealings on specifics, if there can be an easing of any suspicion or hostility.

"The most important thing is what understanding I can reach with Foreign Minister Gromyko to convince him that the United States means no harm," Reagan said.

He said his goal at the session will be "to reduce the level of arms and to improve our working relationship with the Soviet Union."

Ronald Reagan

Andrei Gromyko

Reagan, referring to nuclear stockpiles, stressed the importance of trying "to see if we cannot lessen this threat hanging over the world, and for which the Soviet Union and the United States are mainly responsible."

Since Reagan took office, relations between the United States and the Soviets have deteriorated to almost Cold War status.

Americans Can Fight In Foreign Conflicts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee, says there is nothing the government can do to stop Americans who volunteer to fight in foreign conflicts.

Goldwater, R-Ariz., said he was satisfied by official assurances Tuesday that the government was not encouraging such volunteers or soliciting private aid as a way to get around congressional opposition to the war in Nicaragua.

Administration officials told the committee the government had no involvement with a group of U.S. citizens who volunteered to help rebels fight the Sandinista government of Nicaragua.

The committee also was told the leader of the volunteers asked the CIA last November to put him in touch with "guerrillas in Honduras to fight the communist Nicaraguan government," but the agency turned his inquiry over to the Justice Department. The Washington Post reported.

A Nov. 4, 1983, letter from Thomas V. Posey was presented to the committee as part of the administration's case that it was not involved in the civilian mission to the Honduras-Nicaraguan border area that cost the lives of two American participants earlier this month.

A government official said the main result of the letter was that the FBI opened a file on Posey and his organization, and later

Barry Goldwater
... 'nothing we can do about it' made it plain to him he could be in danger of violating the Neutrality Act.

The CIA said none of its officers were in contact with any member of the group prior to the ill-fated mission.

Pentagon May Sue Over Faulty Chips

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department considered today whether to pursue criminal or civil charges against the Texas Instruments Corp. because of suspected faulty microcircuits that may be components in dozens of sophisticated weapons.

A Pentagon official said Tuesday a bad semiconductor produced by Texas Instruments sparked a computer failure aboard the space shuttle Discovery in June, forcing a daylong postponement of the countdown for its maiden voyage.

Donald Moore, deputy executive director for quality assurance of the Defense Logistics Agency, cited the tiny, pronged electronic part as one of 15 million produced and "inadequately tested" by Texas Instruments.

Norman Neureiter, Texas Instruments corporate staff vice president, acknowledged that the firm made the vital failed semiconductor but denied that "testing irregularities" caused a glitch in Discovery's launch and blamed instead "random failure."

On the New York Stock Exchange Tuesday, the price of Texas Instruments' stock skidded 6 1/2 to 135.

Moore said the 15 million microcircuits that are "potentially suspect" as faulty are components in more than 50 weapons, including two late models of the B-52 bomber — America's primary airborne nuclear-weapons carrier.

Pentagon spokesman Michael Burch cited the possibility of a criminal investigation of Texas Instruments, which produces calculators, the Commodore home computer and other electronic devices for the commercial market.

Attempted Murder Trial In Second Day

The trial of a Sanford man charged with attempted first-degree murder and resisting an officer with violence started its second day today in Seminole Circuit Court.

Eddie Lee Bailey, 30, of 612 1/2 Cypress Ave., was charged after an incident in which a Sanford officer and a Sanford woman both heard the hammer click when a gunman tried to shoot them, according to court records.

If convicted, Bailey could receive 30 years. According to court records, police officer M.W. Reeves responded to the call of a disturbance at 89 Monroe Terrace at 5:35 p.m. May 12.

He entered the home of Joan White and discovered a man holding Ms. White with a gun pointed at her head. Reeves said Ms. White appeared frightened and was struggling to get away but the man yelled, "You're going to have to kill me, 'cause I'm going to kill this..."

The officer drew his service revolver and ordered the man to drop his gun. The suspect screamed again that he was going to kill Ms. White and dragged her into a bedroom.

The officer followed. "I saw him pull the trigger and heard the hammer fall," the officer said. "The gun, however, did not go off. I knocked the gun out of his hand."

Ms. White then ran from the gunman and bumped into the officer. The man retrieved his gun and began to struggle with Reeves. At one point, he pointed the gun at the officer and pulled the trigger but the gun failed to fire a second time.

UF Study Raps 'Reason '84' Amendment As Misleading

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Medical Association's constitutional amendment limiting some court awards in malpractice cases would put a price tag on "humane" treatment, according to a University of Florida study.

The analysis by Dr. Manning Dauer, a retired UF political science professor, said Tuesday the "Reason '84" amendment went far beyond limiting medical malpractice damages. Dauer said the proposed $100,000 limit on court awards for non-economic damages — such as pain and suffering, loss of companionship, or mental anguish — would be a fundamental change in civil law.

Dauer, who is not an attorney, said the damages limit "reverses the whole principle of the common law which is that law is concerned with more than dollars, law also relates to man's humanity to man.

"This limitation simply places a dollar value on what is humane," he said.

Dauer also said that, at a 4 to 5 percent inflation rate, the value of the $100,000 limit would be cut in half within a dozen years. Therefore, he said, new amendments would be needed periodically to raise the limit.

The university's political science department published a 22-page analysis of all nine constitutional amendments on the Nov. 8 ballot, without recommending approval or rejection of any of them. The study of the "Reason '84" amendment the FMA placed on the ballot through a petition campaign, however, took up more than one-fourth of the UF publication and was highly critical.

Dauer, who has been analyzing constitutional proposals for the university's Public Administration Clearing Service since 1946, said "there were a number of faults in the description of the amendment" given to voters by canvassers who collected petition signatures for the FMA.

The FMA spent $1.5 million through its "Reason '84" campaign committee to collect more than 440,000 petition signatures. On Aug. 7, the amendment was certified for the Nov. 8 ballot, but a legal challenge to the proposal is scheduled to be heard Friday in Leon County Circuit Court.

In his analysis of the amendment, Dauer said "Reason '84" is vulnerable to charges that "the title of the proposed amendment is misleading or that the signatures were secured by misstating the full scope of the amendment."

The amendment would impose a $100,000 limit on "non-economic damages" in all injury cases, including malpractice suits. Full payment of medical bills, lost wages and rehabilitative costs would be allowed, but payment for mental anguish, pain, suffering, loss of companionship or physical disfigurement would be limited to $100,000.

The amendment would also require courts to apportion damages among all defendants in a suit, so a surgeon would not bear the full cost of a judgment if others involved in a case lacked enough malpractice insurance to pay their share.

Negligence Suit Against Sanford Minister Dropped

A suit brought against a Sanford minister by a Hollywood woman who said his advice failed to keep her husband from shooting her and then killing himself, has been dropped.

Shelly Neufang, 27, failed to file an appeal after Broward County Circuit Court Judge Mark Purdy dismissed the lawsuit in June.

Neufang charged the Rev. George Dunn, director of the Sanford-based Seminole Baptist Association, with negligence after a 1977 incident in which she said Dunn failed to warn her that her husband, William, was dangerous and prone to violence.

Dunn, who was a police chaplain in Hollywood at the time, was counseling the couple about their troubled marriage. Neufang had just been released by the police when the counseling started, Dunn said.

After the first day of counseling, Neufang shot his wife, paralyzing her from the waist down, and then killed himself, Dunn said.

In charging Dunn with negligence, which is usually brought against manufacturers for faulty products, Neufang's lawyers tried to prove his counseling was bad.

Purdy ruled that "the dangerous propensities of William Neufang were best known to Shelly Neufang."

Neufang could not be reached for comment.

Dunn, who holds degrees in theology and counseling, said the suit has not affected his counseling abilities. But, he added, he now carefully screens his clients, referring those with psychological problems to those more capable of helping them.

"A man should do what he is trained to do," Dunn said.

Cook Of The Week

Gourmand's Food Calls For Pretty Setting

By Brenda Lowe
Herald Correspondent

"Pretty is as pretty does," is an apt adage for this week's cook, Carol Evans of Sanford. The perfect complement to beautifully prepared food, Carol says, is an equally lovely table setting. Candles are a must for all her dinners, but especially for dinner with her husband, Dave. Carol maintains that candlelight dinners definitely help to keep the romance alive in their marriage.

Carol is a Florida native, born and raised in Orlando. She says her parents were loving but firm, always encouraging her to give everything she did her "very best." True to her parents' teachings, Carol has done just that. Her first job was at McDonald's at age 14. Within 10 months, she was promoted to crew chief and within another year to assistant manager. Carol worked in that capacity for six years, with plans for college to pursue a career in management. After her marriage, five years ago, however, she says that she decided to devote her time and talent exclusively to home and hearth, which now includes a lively toddler.

Carol says that she never liked to cook until she observed her husband's sister preparing and serving gourmet dishes. "She made it look so fun and easy that I was instantly inspired!" says Carol. She asked her sister-in-law to teach her. From that starting point, Carol has learned from other good cooks, as well as from her collection of over 60 cookbooks. She adds jokingly that she has "come a long way from the plain spaghetti and meatloaf dinners," that she served regularly to her husband in the early days.

When Carol isn't entertaining, which she does frequently, she enjoys bowling and golf. She is active in her church and when there are tables to be decorated for any occasion, Carol says that she gets a call. She is happy to add that she has inspired other young women to "pretty up" their table settings, too.

Following are some of Carol's favorite recipes from her large collection. They are shared with

WILTED SPINACH SALAD

1 pound fresh spinach
1/2 cup sliced green onion dash freshly ground pepper
8 slices bacon, diced
1/2 cup fresh mushrooms, sliced
4 tablespoons wine vinegar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt

2 hard-cooked eggs, coarsely chopped
Wash spinach, discarding stems. Pat dry on paper towels, tear into bowl. Add onion, mushrooms and sprinkle with pepper. CHILL.

At serving time, slowly fry bacon in deep chafing dish or electric skillet until crisp-cooked. Add vinegar, lemon juice, sugar, and salt. Gradually add spinach, tossing just until leaves are coated and wilted slightly. Sprinkle with eggs. Serves 4-6. (Note: This is Carol's original recipe.)

BANANA DREAM SALAD

1 6-oz. pkg. lemon-flavored gelatin

4 cups water
1 number 2 can crushed pineapple
1 cup miniature marshmallows
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 egg, beaten
1 envelope Dream Whip topping mix
2 bananas
chopped nuts

Drain pineapple, retain juice. Add enough water to make one cup. Mix gelatin according to directions. Add pineapple, refrigerate until firm.

Slice bananas and arrange on top of gelatin. Cover with marshmallows. Add topping and refrigerate.

Topping:

Blend sugar, cornstarch, pineapple juice and egg. Cook until thickened, cool. Mix Dream Whip and add to cooled mixture. Pour over gelatin and sprinkle with nuts.

TERITAKI STEAK

1/4 cup oil
1/4 cup soy sauce
2 tablespoons ketchup
1 tablespoon vinegar
dash garlic salt and seasoned salt
Mix all together well.

1 pound flank steak, cut into bite-size pieces
Put cut-up steak in a pan, pour sauce over meat and marinate in the refrigerator for 4 hours, two hours on each side. Cut up one pound of bacon into thirds. Roll meat in brown sugar and wrap meat in bacon. Secure with toothpicks to hold bacon in place. Broil in oven for 10 minutes. Serves 4.

EASY CHICKEN WELLINGTON

2 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts, halved, skinned, boned
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon rosemary leaves, crushed
2 teaspoons freeze-dried chopped chives
1 teaspoon salt

Engagement

Cook-Landry

Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Cook, 2406 DeBary Ave., Sanford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sheryl Noel Cook of Camp Smith, Hawaii, to Joseph Adrian Landry, also of Camp Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Landry of Colona, Ill.

Born in Sanford, the bride-elect is the maternal granddaughter of Mrs. Arthur Lee Wilson of Sanford, and the late Mr. Wilson, a former mayor of the city of Sanford. Her paternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walter Cook of Sanford.

Miss Cook is a 1976 graduate of Seminole High School where she was a member of the Anchor Club and Tri-Hi-Y Club and she was on the yearbook staff. She graduated from Stetson University, De Land, in 1981 with a B.A. degree in Education/Social Science. She is currently serving in the Military Police, U.S. Marine Corps.

Her fiance was born in Moline, Ill. He graduated from United Township High School, East Moline, in 1977, where he was on the baseball and bowling teams and was a Big Brother of Rock Island County. He is serving as a training chief, U. S. Marine Corps.

The wedding will be an event of Sept. 15, at the First Baptist Church of Sanford.

...Cook Of The Week

1/2 teaspoon white pepper
1 can (9 ounces) refrigerated crescent dinner rolls
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon flour
1 1/2 tablespoons white wine
1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, liquid reserved
3 tablespoons cream

In fry pan, melt mayonnaise over very low heat. Add rosemary and chives. Sprinkle salt and pepper on both sides of chicken pieces. Place in fry pan and cook, uncovered over medium heat, 3 minutes. Turn chicken; cook about three minutes longer or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Separate dough into 8 triangles. Place 4 of the triangles on a large baking tray. Remove chicken from fry pan and place piece of chicken on each triangle. Top each chicken piece with triangle.

Stretch dough to cover; seal dough around chicken. Brush generously with egg. Bake, uncovered, in 375 degree oven about 15 minutes or until golden brown. To drippings in fry pan add flour; stir, bring to boil over medium heat. Reduce heat; add wine, liquid from mushrooms and cream, stirring constantly. Add mushrooms. Pour over chicken in dough when serving. Makes 4 servings.

Filling:
3 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese, softened
5 eggs, medium
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
1 teaspoon lemon extract

Beat cream cheese and sugar until fluffy. Add eggs one at a time and beat after each one. Add vanilla and lemon extract and beat again. Pour into crust and bake at 325 degrees for 35 minutes. Cool for 15 minutes.

Topping:
1 pint sour cream and 4 tablespoons sugar. Mix together and beat. Pour onto baked cheese cake and bake at 325 degrees for 15 more minutes.

Cool and refrigerate. (Note: Best if cooled for 4 hours or overnight.)

Most people enjoy entertaining but, these days, many are on a tight budget when it comes to both time and money, Carol says.

The answer to one problem is simple: no-bake baking. Build a collection of no-bake desserts and plan ahead. You save energy because you don't have to turn on the oven. You save personal energy, too, because such desserts are usually easy to make and you can put them together on your own terms — when it's most convenient, Carol adds.

Festive Black Bottom Pie is a good example. You can, in fact, make it a day or two ahead.

Since you're using highly concentrated unsweetened cocoa for that rich, fudgy base, the chocolate flavor will be extra intense.

FESTIVE BLACK BOTTOM PIE

9-inch baked pie shell
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup Hershey's Cocoa
1/4 cup butter
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1/4 cup cornstarch
2 cups milk
4 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons rum
1/2 cup sugar

Combine 1/2 cup sugar, cocoa and butter in medium bowl; set aside. Combine gelatin and cold water in small bowl; place bowl in pan of simmering water to dissolve gelatin.

Mix 1/2 cup sugar, cornstarch, milk and egg yolks in saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Cook and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat; blend 1 1/2 cups of custard into cocoa/sugar mixture. Add vanilla and pour into baked pie shell; chill.

Combine dissolved gelatin with remaining custard; add rum and set aside. Beat egg whites until frothy; gradually add 1/2 cup sugar; continue to beat until stiff peaks form. Fold gelatin/custard mixture into beaten egg whites. Chill 15 minutes or until partially set. Spoon over chocolate custard in pie shell. Chill. Garnish with chocolate curls or shavings before serving.

REFRIGERATOR ROLLS

1 package yeast
1/4 cup very warm water
MIX TOGETHER UNTIL YEAST IS DISSOLVED
6 tablespoons oil
6 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup boiling water
MIX TOGETHER UNTIL SALT AND SUGAR ARE DISSOLVED. Add 1/2 cup cold water, mix again.

Stir in 3 and 3/4 cups of unbleached flour. Dough should be easy to handle. Turn dough onto lightly floured surface; knead until smooth and elastic, about 5 minutes. Place dough in greased bowl; turn greased side up. Cover with warm dish towel and place in the refrigerator.

(NEXT DAY)
Pop dough and keep in refrigerator until ready to use. May keep up to 5 days in the refrigerator in an airtight bowl.

When ready to use, grease 2 cookie sheets and roll dough with greased hands into round balls and place on cookie sheets to rise 4 to 5 hours. Bake at 400 degrees for 8-10 minutes. Makes 18. This is a very good sandwich bread.

CHEESE CAKE

Crust:
1 1/2 cups crushed graham crackers
2 tablespoons butter, melted
2 tablespoons sugar
Mix together and press firmly in a 13 x 9-inch pan

Lakeview Residents Observe Hawaii Day

Mrs. Annie Grace French, right, 85, a resident of Lakeview Nursing Center and former dancing teacher in Valdosta, Ga., and Jan Cara perform in Polynesian dances and the hulu at the nursing center when Hawaii Day was celebrated. A native of Sanford, Mrs. Cara learned creative Hawaiian dancing and the lore of the Pacific Islands when she lived in Hawaii. According to June Miller, director of activities at the center, each month a different country will be saluted by the residents. A German Oktoberfest will be held in October. On Hawaii Day, authentic Polynesian foods were served under Carol Varga, dietary manager of the center. The bountiful buffet included Roast Pig, Polynesian Vegetables, Fried Rice, Frozen Fruit Salad, Banana Bread, Strawberry Glazed Chicken Wings, Coconut Cake, Mai Tails and Fruit Punch.

Gold Medal For Fatherhood Goes To 109-Year-Old Man

DEAR ABBY: I am a writer for the Baton Rouge (La.) Advocate and have a longtime interest in gerontology.

In a recent Dear Abby column, "Pennsylvania Dutchman" stated that his 24-year-old cousin had married an 81-year-old man. It was her first marriage and his third. Ten months later they had a son. "Pennsylvania Dutchman" stated that he had never heard of a man in his 80s fathering a child, and he asked you if this 81-year-old man had set some kind of record.

You replied, "Probably not. But if somebody out there can top this, I'll hear about it."

Well, I'm responding with an enclosure of an item from "Believe It or Not" by Ripley. It appeared on Nov. 11, 1970: "The oldest living American is Sylvester Magee of Columbia, Miss., who fought on both sides during the Civil War, became a father at the age of 109, and at the time this was written he is in excellent health at the age of 129."

"His birth, on May 19, 1841, has been officially attested by the state of Mississippi."

MIKE MULHERN

Dear Abby

all the names (including mine), as I have a whole slew of relatives still living in Saluda, and I wouldn't want them to think I thought this was corny. But I do.

NAME WITHHELD

DEAR ABBY: In doing genealogical research for our family history book, I found documents revealing that my husband's great-great-grandfather married his second-wife when he was 88. She was 31. Ten months later, when he was 89, they had a daughter. Three years later, when he was 92, they had a son.

He died at 93, and his two children received benefits on his Revolutionary War service — pensions and land grants. (This is documented in the Pension Bureau in Washington, D.C.)

Of course, being the legal husband of a child's mother doesn't necessarily mean that he is the biological father of her children, but legal documents and affidavits therein do, in this case, prove that there was a man whose wife bore children when he was 89 and 92.

VIRGINIA FACT FINDER

DEAR ABBY: In reference to the "Pennsylvania Dutchman," I can top him. In 1891, a local physician in the town of Saluda, S.C., married a young woman who was a first cousin of my grandfather.

The groom was 74, and the bride was 16. They had their first child when he was 75, and their fifth child when he was 86!

He died the following year, or they probably would have had more children.

The young widow subsequently married and lived to the ripe old age of 87!

Last you think I jest, this is documented and easily verified. The dates of the above-mentioned man and wife and all his children are on their tombstones in Travis Park Cemetery in Saluda.

'Tightrope' Still On Top

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "Tightrope" and "Ghostbusters" led the nation's box office poll again last weekend, but word of mouth and negative reviews caught up with Bo Derek's "Bolero," as the film dropped from its third place debut to eighth.

"Tightrope," Clint Eastwood's police psychodrama, held onto the top spot for the fourth straight weekend, grossing $4 million for a total to date of $38 million.

Warner Bros., which produced the film, scored the highest total box office of any studio this summer, with a total of $292 million between Memorial Day and Labor Day.

The take also set a record for the studio, which put out the summer blockbuster "Gremlins" and "Purple Rain," as well as spring hits like "Police Academy" and "Greystoke: The Legend of Tarzan, Lord of the Apes" that ran into the summer.

"Ghostbusters" — the biggest moneymaker of the summer and, so far, of the year — stayed in second place with $3.8 million. After 14 weeks, the Dan Aykroyd-Bill Murray farce has earned up a whopping $192.9 million.

"Purple Rain," rock star Prince's answer to "Flashdance," jumped two spots to third, with $2.5 million and $49.1 million after seven weeks.

"The Karate Kid," about a wimpy teen who beats up the senior class after learning martial arts, stayed in fourth, grossing $2.45 million. After three months, the sleeper hit has kicked up $72.8 million.

"The Woman in Red," starring Gene Wilder in pursuit of the perfect "10," climbed two notches to fifth, taking in $2.44 million. The ribald comedy has grossed $16.7 million during a month in release.

"Revenge of the Nerds," an "Animal House" about college whiz kids, stayed in sixth with $2.1 million. After two months, it has collected $31.8 million.

"Red Dawn," a right wing thriller about a Communist takeover of Middle America, rose one rung to seventh with $1.8 million. Its five-week gross was $32.1 million.

"Bolero," Derek's nudie saga of a virginal female matador, crashed to eighth, grossing $1.7 million for a 10-day "ole" of $7 million.

"Gremlins" stayed in ninth with $1.8 million. After 14 weeks, the monster comedy has collected $138.7 million.

"Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom" held onto 10th with $1.1 million for a summer-long total of $168.8 million.

No new films opened nationwide during the weekend of the fall season.

Simple Desserts

pudding Has Special Taste Of America

The Savarin makes elegant dessert

Puddings have a special place in our hearts. To everyone, from the very young to the elders in the household, these sweetly soothing desserts seem to guarantee that someone who cares is standing at the stove thinking of us. Today, we enjoy them with an appetite sharpened by nostalgia. And America has little to some of the very finest puddings.

Indian Pudding is one of the few absolutely authentically native American dishes that we have. A recipe is found in a cookbook published in 1796 at the expense of the author, Amelia Simmons, and it is clear that it was an established staple in the colonist's diet. Corn was not served as a vegetable in those early days but ground into cornmeal and combined with molasses (which added iron and vitamins) to make pudding. Thus, Indian Pudding was important nutritionally as well as a warmly satisfying dessert.

Seminole Indian Pudding brings this special treat up to date. Orange juice from Florida adds its sunshine flavor. Slowly baked, this dish is a marvelous finale for a meal.

The delicacy of Florida Orange Tapioca Pudding makes it a classic with a 1980's touch. Tapioca that no longer calls for hours of cooking now has a sophisticated air with the combination of whipped egg whites for lightness, orange juice from Florida for piquant flavor and succulent orange sections and golden raisins for contrast in taste and texture.

Try one of these puddings and share some sweet comfort from the kitchen.

There is a whole category of dessert lovers who would no more eat a piece of heavily-sweet layer cake, gussied up with whipped or butter cream, than they would skip dessert.

To these myriad diners a plainer cake is more attractive, although dry pound cake is not what they dream of, either. What will surely put the twinkle in their eyes are the following two grapefruit dessert cakes where all the fanciness lies in their delicious flavors.

A savarin, for instance, is a light ring cake soaked in a syrup rich with rum or fruit liqueur. The syrup permeates the butter, egg and yeast cake. When served, the center of the ring could hold a grapefruit shell, filled with whipped cream for those who care to gild the lily or with small pebbles to hold the stems of tiny flowers to create a lovely spring ambience.

Another simple-looking but delicious cake is the Cake Top Pudding, bursting with the lively, piquant, fresh taste of Florida grapefruit juice. The cake does look like a pudding, which forms the top layer, so it offers a wonderful surprise at first bite. During the alchemy of baking, part of the batter settles to make a bottom layer of pudding under the cake-like top.

SEMINOLE INDIAN PUDDING

- 2 1/2 cups milk, divided
- 1/2 cup yellow cornmeal
- 2 cups orange juice from Florida
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup molasses
- 1/4 cup light brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- 2 eggs, beaten

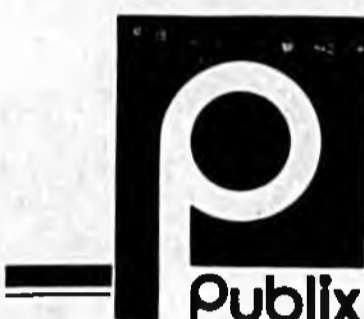

In top of double boiler scald 2 cups milk; gradually stir in cornmeal. Cook 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Gradually add orange juice; cook 12 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Add butter, molasses, brown sugar, orange peel, salt, cinnamon and ginger; mix well. Stir a little of the hot mixture into the beaten eggs; return to mixture in double boiler. Pour pudding into a 1 1/2-quart shallow, buttered, baking dish. Bake in a 350 degrees F. oven 15 minutes. Pour remaining 1/2 cup cold milk over pudding. Continue baking 1 hour longer. (Pudding will be soft on top.) Serve warm with ice cream or heavy cream.

Distinctive Taste

Octopus Slowly Making Its Way As A Delicacy To American Tables

VIRGINIA KEY, Fla. (UPI) — One look at the charbroiled octopus nestled on a warm plate at a local bayside eatery brought one thought to mind — It has got to taste better than it looks.

Surprisingly, octopus has its own distinctively pleasant taste resembling scallops, if anything, Dr. Gil Voss says the taste depends on how it is prepared.

Voss and his wife, Nancy, cephalopod experts at the University of Miami's Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science on Virginia Key, first ate octopus in Tarpon Springs, Fla., during World War II.

"Now every time I go to Tarpon Springs I get a plate of octopus, a bottle of white wine, a loaf of Greek bread and I'm quite satisfied," Voss said.

About four months ago Voss started Florida's first octopus farm by anchoring about 400 PVC pipes under 40 feet of water near Tampa. It has failed to yield a single octopus, but Voss says he is not worried because it's only a matter of time.

The problem, Voss said, is the octopus has a life span of about one year. The male dies after mating and the female dies shortly after spawning. The uniform water temperature this year caused all of the adults to reproduce at about the same time and die before the traps were in the water.

"Within a few months adult octopus should start showing up," he said. "It's a practical method and we've simply got to find the right time of year, the right temperature, the right depth."

Voss plans to put another 60 traps offshore near Palm Beach. He also wants to keep his traps in shallow water so stone crab fishermen can use their worst enemy for profit.

"I couldn't get anybody interested in this idea for years and then I started documenting the amount of octopus that was coming into the Port of Miami alone. More than a half million pounds a year," he said.

"Last year they were so plentiful they started wreaking havoc on the stone crabs. Fishermen were opening their crab pots and finding octopus," he said.

State officials and fishermen asked Voss for help and he was able to get a project grant from the Gulf and South Atlantic Fisheries Development Foundation.

A few Florida fishermen are developing the trade and the demand for the eight-legged mollusks is increasing, Voss said.

"Before, they were throwing away octopus they caught in stone crab pots," he said. "I had one fisherman call me recently to say he was paying all of the operating costs for his business on the octopus he caught."

The French, Italians, Greeks, Cubans, Spaniards and Japanese are far ahead of most Americans in the consumption of octopus. In Hawaii, fresh octopus sells for up to $9 a pound compared to $1.20 a pound in the continental U.S.

Like most cephalopoda, octopus is tough and must be boiled for at least an hour before it is prepared.

Although octopus ink has an anesthetic effect on predators and prey, it poses no danger in human consumption. In some dishes it is an essential part of the cooking process, Voss said.

"There is one done in the Yucatan where the octopus is simmered in its own ink," he said. "Actually it was one of the most horrible looking things I ever saw, but it was most delicious."

The octopus is hardly the man-killing deep sea monster seen in B movies.

The largest on record measured 31 feet and was of the octopus dofleini species found in Alaska, Washington, Oregon and Japan. Even at that size, in a tangle with a human it would have ended up chowder, Voss said.

The more common commercial variety is the octopus vulgaris which grows to about three feet in length, he said.

Voss, 66, is the senior staff member at Miami University's marine school. He has been interested in cephalopods since he came to UM as a freshmen student in 1947.

"Most people think they are slimy nasty things, but beauty is in the eyes of the beholder," he said.

Plum-Dinger Brunch Treat

A plum coffeecake fan is well worth the extra time it takes to assemble.

Make it as a weekend breakfast or guest brunch treat to serve with stirred eggs and sausage patties.

PLUM COFFECAKE FAN
plum filling
1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour

1 tablespoon sugar
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup milk

2 tablespoons sliced almonds powdered sugar glaze
Prepare plum filling and cool. Re-sift flour with sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in cream cheese and butter until particles are size of peas. Sprinkle with milk and mix to a soft dough. Turn out on floured board and shape to a rectangle. Roll to an 8-by-12-inch rectangle.

Spread filling to cover width of dough and 1/3 the length. Sprinkle almonds over filling. Fold the end of dough without filling over to cover half the filled section, then make a second fold. There will be 3 layers of dough with filling between.

Place on lightly greased baking sheet. (Because of the richness of the pastry, use of a double baking sheet may be needed for ovens that bake on the hot side.)

Starting from folded side of dough, cut 8 strips across the dough to within 1 inch of opposite side. Twist each strip slightly to turn filling up, curving ends to give a fan shape. Press strips to flatten slightly.

Bake in center of 350-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes or until pastry is golden brown. Cool on rack 10 minutes. Glaze with powdered sugar glaze. Serve warm or cold. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 coffeecake.

Plum filling: Coarsely chop 3 fresh California red plums to measure 1 cup. Combine in medium saucepan with 1/2 cup sugar and 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon. Bring to a boil over moderate heat and cook about 5 minutes until mixture is thickened and measures 1/2 cup, stirring constantly. Makes 1/2 cup filling.

Powdered sugar glaze: Blend 1/2 cup sifted powdered sugar, 2 1/2 teaspoons milk and 1/4 teaspoon almond extract together until smooth. Makes about 1/4 cup.

A sweet potato and its cousin, the yam, have many possibilities for seasoning other than baked with a dab of butter or margarine. Apple-Cinnamon Stuffed Yam is a delicious and easy part of a meal

Cooking For One

Stuff A Yam With Apples And Spice

An encounter in the supermarket last winter reminded me of the problems faced by those who are cooking for one. I met a young man who was learning to cook for himself. Like so many single men and women, he eventually realized it's more fun and economical to master a few recipes to share at brunches or dinners with friends.

His question was very basic. He was holding a sweet potato and asked simply, "What do I do with this?" A sweet potato and its cousin, the yam, are very nutritious and easy to prepare. The simplest way is to bake the sweet potato as one would a "baking potato" and serve it with a dab of butter or margarine. Here is a one-person starter recipe for apple-cinnamon stuffed yam to serve with chicken, fish or vegetables. For guests, make individual yams.

APPLE-CINNAMON STUFFED YAM

1 large yam or sweet potato (8 ounces)
 2 tablespoons chopped unpeeled apple
 1 tablespoon chopped pecans, walnuts or peanuts
 1 tablespoon apple juice or cider
 Dash cinnamon
 Apple wedge for garnish

Bake yam in a 375-degree oven for about 45 minutes or until tender. With knife, cut a thin horizontal slice from top. Scoop out pulp in bottom, leaving a 1/4-inch shell.

Mash yam. Stir in apple, nuts, apple juice and cinnamon. Pile into shell. Reheat if desired. Garnish with apple wedge to serve. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 serving.

YIELD: 6 to 8 servings.
FLORIDA ORANGE TAPIOCA PUDDING
 1/2 cup sugar, divided
 1/4 cup quick-cooking tapioca
 2 cups orange juice from Florida
 2 large eggs, separated
 2 oranges from Florida, peeled, sectioned, divided
 1/4 cup golden raisins
 In medium saucepan combine 1/4 cup sugar and tapioca. Blend in orange juice and egg yolks; let stand 5 minutes. Bring to a full boil over medium heat, stirring constantly, 6 to 8 minutes. Remove from heat. In medium bowl beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in remaining 1/4 cup sugar, beating until stiff peaks form. Fold tapioca mixture, half the orange sections and raisins into egg whites. Cool. Spoon into a 1-quart serving bowl or individual serving dishes. Garnish with remaining orange sections.
YIELD: 4 servings.
CAKE TOP PUDDING
 3 eggs, separated
 1/2 cup sugar
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
 1/4 cup all-purpose flour
 1/4 cup grapefruit juice from Florida
 1/4 cup water
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 In a small mixer bowl beat yolks with sugar at high speed until thick, about 5 minutes. Stir in butter, flour, grapefruit juice and water until mixture is well blended. Beat egg whites with salt until stiff, but not dry. Fold yolk mixture into whites. Pour into a 1-quart casserole. Set casserole in a pan of hot water 1/2 inch deep. Bake in a 350 degrees F. oven 40 minutes. Remove from hot water; cool. Chill, if desired.
YIELD: 4 servings.
GRAPEFRUIT SAVARIN
 1/2 cup scalded milk
 1 package active dry yeast
 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, divided
 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
 1 cup sugar, divided
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 3 large eggs
 1 cup grapefruit juice from Florida
 1/4 cup apricot liqueur
 Heavy cream, whipped
 Pour milk into a medium bowl. Cool to lukewarm (105-115 degrees F.); add yeast, stir to dissolve. Beat in 1 cup flour. Set aside to rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. In large mixer bowl cream butter, 1/2 cup sugar, malt and vanilla until light. Beat in eggs one at a time. Add the yeast mixture and remaining 1 cup flour. Beat until batter is smooth and elastic. Spread in a greased 10-inch ring mold. Cover; let rise in a warm place until double in bulk. Bake in a 350 degrees F. oven 30 to 35 minutes until golden brown. Cool in pan 5 minutes then invert on wire rack. Wash and dry pan. Simmer grapefruit juice and remaining 1/2 cup sugar, uncovered, 10 minutes; stir in apricot liqueur. Pour half the syrup mixture into mold; return cooler cake to mold; drizzle remaining syrup over cake until it is completely absorbed. (Pierce cake with food pick to aid in absorption.) Let stand several hours. Un-mold onto plate. Serve with whipped cream, if desired.

Hearing Loss A Cause Of Ringing In Ears

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR LAMB — I am afraid I am losing my hearing. I have a ringing in my left ear all the time. It's a wavering ring, sometimes worse than at other times. I have been to an ear specialist years ago and was told it's only wax.

DEAR READER — It is interesting that the ringing is in your left ear which is also the ear with the hearing loss. There are many causes for noises in the ear, but loss of hearing is one of them. And it is also true that wax in the ears, perhaps because it interferes with hearing, may cause ringing in the ears.

You know that if you are trying to listen to someone and loud music is playing that you will have trouble hearing them. The music masks the sound of the conversation. Our ears get a constant input of noise from our environment. We hear conversation because it is louder than the noise in our environment. When your hearing ability decreases you don't receive this environmental noise anymore, or at least it is diminished. That enables you to hear sounds you didn't hear before.

You should have a complete hearing test by an audiologist selected by your ear, nose and throat doctor. If there is a hearing loss that cannot be corrected otherwise, then a simple hearing aid may improve your hearing enough to get rid of the noise that is bothering you so much.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have read that some men who were unable to impregnate their wives found out that the problem was tight underwear. The briefs kept the testicles too close to the body and the body heat undermined the testicles' ability to produce the normal amount of healthy sperm cells.

If this is the case, would my switching to bikini-style briefs and taking hot baths augment my partner's and my existing system of condoms and spermicides? These two by themselves are not 100 percent effective.

DEAR READER — It is true that underwear that holds the testicles close to the body can decrease a man's fertility. Most men produce enough healthy sperm cells that this is not a significant factor. But for the man who has marginal fertility, avoiding this type of underwear may improve the number of healthy sperm cells he produces.

Now, I don't think that tight underwear is a very suitable means of birth control. I doubt wearing bikini briefs will im-

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
The game of bridge being what it is — somewhat less than an exact science — not one of us can say that we have not occasionally been in a completely ridiculous contract. But when it happens, don't just let your temper inflame your ulcer. Instead, look for some possibility, however remote, of making your contract.

At the Cavendish Invitational, held annually in New York, psychic bids are not perforce barred. Hence the bizarre weak two-bid by East. At favorable vulnerability, with a passed partner, East placed his own neck right on the chopping block, risking everything to upset the opponents' normal bidding methods. He certainly succeeded.

When South was raised to four no-trump, he eagerly bid six. Disappointed with the dummy, he won the opening lead with his jack of diamonds, cashed the ace of hearts and led a spade to the king. When this held, he took a heart finesse. The final result — down two.

Declarer has a right to be upset at the final contract, but he shouldn't let it addle his brain. If the heart queen is doubtless, he can bring the slam home, using the heart 10 as an entry for two spade winners. That he failed to see this play is understandable but not excusable.

Bicarbonate Of Soda Is The Household 'Genie' In A Box

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Health Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Robinson Crusoe had his man Friday. Aladdin had his genie and today Americans have that Jack-of-all-jobs — bicarbonate of soda.

It helps in the house, out of the house, on the road, under the hood, under the ground in septic tanks. In the mouth, in the stomach or even in a camper's shoes.

Used as an antacid, bicarb sports the GRAB rating from the Food and Drug Administration — Generally Regarded as Safe.

It also smothers fires and keeps the cat box from offending. It advances health by, among other things, clearing the air of other odors.

The people who make bicarb say there are 100 uses — at least.

Last year Americans used 816 million pounds of bicarbonate of soda, or baking soda as it also is called — about two-thirds in households; the rest, industrial. This year, consumption is estimated to be up 20 million pounds.

Statisticians at Dwight & Church Inc., the motherhip for bicarb manufacturer Arm & Hammer, say consumption last year was 7.3 pounds per household.

Bicarbonate of soda has been made in America since 1839. Prior to that it was imported and expensive. Rochester, N.Y., is where made-in-America baking soda first was concocted by Dr. Austin Church.

He teamed up about seven years later with his brother-in-law, John Dwight, in New York City in what became a multi-million dollar company.

Technology also is available ultimately to produce baking soda from sea water.

To provide an idea of what baking soda can do, its manufacturer has assembled a deck of cards featuring cartoons on one side and appropriate tips on baking soda use on the other.

"Horray! We're saved — from sunburn, prickly heat, bad breath and acid indigestion," man on tiny island with one palm tree says as he rips off the top of a wooden crate that floated within reach. The crate holds boxes of baking soda.

The other side of the card, keyed to the cartoon, says: "Baking soda's a lifesaver to campers and travelers. It's a whole first aid kit in a box..."

Tips on use are clumped into such categories as first aid, personal grooming and campers' companion.

For an insect bite, remove stinger, if present. Make a paste of baking soda and a few drops of water and apply to affected area. For sunburn, windburn or prickly heat, dump at least a handful of baking soda in a warm tub of water, then jump in.

For acid indigestion, drink one-half teaspoon of baking soda dissolved in one-half glass of water to relieve mild, temporary stomach upset.

To get rid of bad breath, add one teaspoon of bicarbonate of soda to a half-glass of warm water and swish through teeth or gargle. Bicarbonate of soda also can be sprinkled dry on a damp toothbrush to replace tooth paste.

Campers can deodorize boots and sneakers by sprinkling baking soda inside. It also cleans and deodorizes canteens, vacuum bottles and can be used to scour rust off iron cooking utensils.

If a pet picks up porcupine quills, mix two teaspoons of baking soda with one cup of vinegar and pat it on quills, wait 10 minutes, repeat the exercise, wait 10 more minutes. Then pull out quills.

There's even a way to make jewelry from play clay concocted with baking soda, cornstarch and water.

Other uses of baking soda detailed on the deck include small fire fighting, auto maintenance, interior car care, exterior car washing. Also: cleaning refrigerator, range, counterops, cooking utensils, house.

Baking soda originally was sold as a leavening agent for baked goods, Arm & Hammer historians say, adding that the first Arm & Hammer cookbook, titled "Valuable Recipes," was published in 1860 and "a million requests for it were filled."

BAKING SODA BISCUITS
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup vegetable shortening
1/2 cup buttermilk

Sift together flour, baking soda and salt into large bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal. Make a well in center of flour mixture; add all buttermilk at one time. Stir to make a soft dough.

Turn onto lightly floured board and knead about 30 seconds. Pat or roll to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut with floured 2-inch biscuit cutter. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in 450 degree oven for 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes about 12 biscuits.

Two Bean Casserole

Baked beans are favored by many. Here's a two-bean casserole that includes ham, pineapple and cheese, making it a one-dish meal. Serve with a fruit or green salad and pocket bread.

TWO BEAN CASSEROLE

- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1 cup diced onion (1 large onion)
- 1/2 cup diced green pepper
- 1 cup diced cooked ham
- can (16 ounces) white beans, drained
- 1 can (8 ounces) red kidney beans, drained
- 1 can (8 1/2 ounces) crushed pineapple, drained
- 1/2 cup ketchup
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
- 1/4 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

In a medium skillet heat oil; saute onion and green pepper. In 2-quart casserole combine sauteed vegetables, ham, beans, pineapple, ketchup, lemon juice, mustard and pepper sauce. Mix well. Sprinkle cheese over casserole.

Bake, uncovered, in a 350 degree oven 30 minutes until hot and bubbly. If desired, serve with additional pepper sauce.

Microwave Magic

Spices, Herbs Enhance Flavor Of Chicken

When buying chicken at the supermarket plan to use it that day or the next. If not planning to use it immediately it can be frozen in the package. Use it within two weeks, otherwise remove the original packaging and wrap in freezer paper or plastic.

A general rule concerning the amount of chicken for a serving is:  $\frac{3}{4}$  to 1 pound per serving of poultry under 12 pounds and  $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  pound per serving if it is over 12 pounds. This guide can be used when purchasing poultry parts, roasting chickens and turkeys. A  $1\frac{1}{2}$  pound fryer chicken serves two; a  $2\frac{1}{2}$  pound fryer has a better ratio of meat to bone and will serve four.

Wash the chicken well to remove bacteria and excess fat in the skin. If you want to reduce the fat intake remove the skin and fatty portions from the chicken before cooking.

A browning agent is most useful when microwaving a chicken. Kitchen Bouquet, Worcestershire Sauce, and Soy Sauce are some browning agents that give poultry an attractive brown color. Glazes, such as fruit preserves add color and flavor. Other spices and herbs can also enhance the color as well as adding interesting flavor. In addition, paprika, tarragon, and parsley are good used with chicken.

ORANGE BURGUNDY CHICKEN

1 broiler - fryer chicken, cut in parts
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup orange marmalade
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup orange juice
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup red wine
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
In a large shallow microwave safe dish arrange chicken parts skin side down with thick portion towards the outside. In a bowl mix marmalade, orange juice, wine and salt. Cover with waxed paper and microwave on 100% power for 15 minutes. Turn chicken and continue to cook 5-6 minutes or until a fork can be inserted in the chicken with ease. Let stand, covered, 5 minutes before serving.

For a quick chicken dish that utilizes Soy as a browning agent try this one.

SIMPLE SOY CHICKEN

1 broiler - fryer chicken, quartered
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup cooking oil
2 tablespoons soy sauce
In large shallow microwave safe baking dish place chicken. In bowl mix oil and soy sauce and brush on chicken. Cover with waxed paper and microwave on 100% power for 15 minutes. Turn chicken and continue to cook 5-6 minutes or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Let stand, covered, 5 minutes before serving.

This elegant chicken dish takes a little time in preparation, but is well worth the effort.

CHICKEN BREASTS FLORENTINE

2 whole chicken breasts, halved, boned, skinned and flattened

$\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon seasoned salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon paprika
1 (10 ounce) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and well drained

$\frac{1}{2}$  cup minced green onion
1 cup sharp cheddar cheese, grated

1 can cream of chicken soup
2 tablespoons light cream
1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce

2 tablespoons toasted buttered breadcrumbs

Sprinkle seasoned salt and paprika on chicken. In bowl mix spinach and green onions. Place 1 tablespoon spinach mixture on each chicken breast half. Place 1 tablespoon cheese on top of spinach mixture. Roll chicken, jelly roll fashion, and secure with wooden picks. Place in shallow microwave safe baking dish. Blend together in medium bowl soup, cream, worcestershire, the remaining cheese and spinach mixture. Microwave on 100% power for 2 minutes; stir and microwave more or until cheese is melted. Pour this mixture over the chicken rolls. Top with crumbs and sprinkle with paprika. Cover with waxed paper and microwave on 100% power for 15-20 minutes or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Let stand, covered, for 5 minutes.

Other herbs such as oregano and parsley can be used in this dish if you prefer.

LEMON - TARRAGON CHICKEN

1 broiler - fryer, cut in parts
2 lemons, thinly sliced and seeded

1 cup chicken broth
1 tablespoon tarragon
1 teaspoon salt

$\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon white pepper
In large shallow microwave safe baking dish place half of the lemon slices. Place chicken in single layer on top of lemons. Pour broth over chicken. Sprinkle with tarragon, salt and pepper. Place remaining lemon slices on top of chicken. Microwave, uncovered on 100% power for 15-20 minutes or until fork can be inserted with ease.

Drop cookies are especially easy for children to prepare. ABC Cookies feature "good for you" ingredients and an appealing chewy texture. Shredded carrots contribute vitamin A, while wholegrain oats add a healthy helping of B vitamins, minerals and dietary fiber.

ABC COOKIES

1 cup all-purpose flour
 $1\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon baking powder
 $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon salt
1 cup margarine
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar

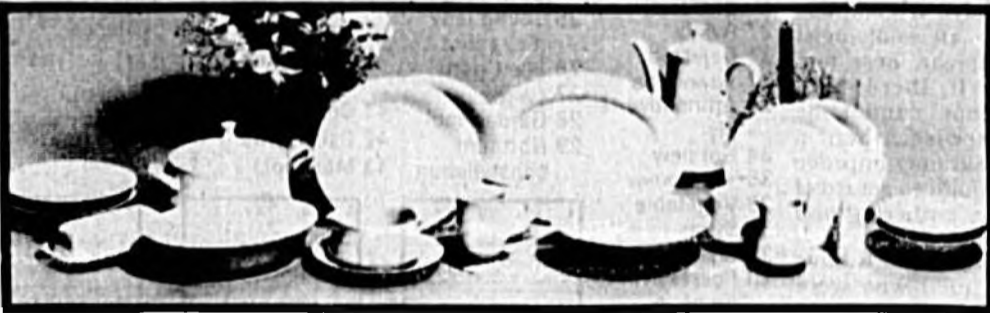

1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 $\frac{3}{4}$  cups oats (quick or old fashioned)

2 cups shredded carrot
1 cup chopped nuts (optional)
Heat oven to 350 degrees F.

Grease cookie sheet. In small bowl, combine flour, cinnamon, baking powder and salt. In large bowl, beat together margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in egg and vanilla. Add dry ingredients; mix well. Stir in oats, carrots and nuts. Drop by rounded tablespoonfuls onto prepared cookie sheet. Bake for 15 to 17 minutes; cool. Store in loosely covered container. Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

'84 Football Season Provides Perfect Opportunity For Party

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. Wednesday, Sept. 12, 1984-5C

Sharing good food among friends is the perfect complement. And the approaching 1984 football season provides the perfect opportunity for just that kind of friendly gathering.

Lawry's Foods, Inc., consumer affairs manager, Claudia O'Brien, recommends the following tips on perfect foods for the buffet: "Variety is the key. It is important to offer a medley of textures and colors."

CHICKEN MARENGO

APPETIZERS

This hearty appetizer is a perfect choice for a party buffet.

1 package (1 1/2 oz.) spaghetti sauce with imported mushrooms
1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
20 to 25 chicken drumettes
1/4 cup salad oil
1/4 cup Sauterne OR dry white wine

3 tomatoes, chopped
2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
In a large plastic bag, combine spaghetti sauce mix and bread crumbs. Shake chicken in seasoned crumb mixture. In a large skillet, fry chicken in hot oil until golden brown. Add Sauterne, tomatoes, mushrooms and remaining crumb mixture. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer, covered, about 20 minutes.

Makes 20 to 25 appetizers
PRESENTATION: Serve in chafing dish or on serving platter placed on warming tray.

HINTS: Prepare ahead and reheat just before serving.

CREAMY FLORENTINE DIP

Dips are great for parties. Make ahead so that time can be spent on other dishes that require last minute attention.

2 cups dairy sour cream
1 1/4 cups mayonnaise
2 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 1/4 teaspoons seasoned salt
1/2 teaspoon seasoned pepper
1/2 teaspoon dried basil
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder with parsley

1/4 teaspoon dried oregano
1 package (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and well-drained

In a medium bowl, combine all ingredients; blend well. Chill several hours to blend flavors.

Makes about 4 cups.

PRESENTATION: Serve with crisp raw vegetables.
HINTS: This dip may be heated and served as a sauce over fish or chicken.

FETTUCCINE SALAD

Pasta salads are popular, hearty and attractive — a perfect addition to a party menu.

1/4 pound fettuccine, cooked and drained

2 tablespoons olive oil
1/4 teaspoons seasoned salt
1/2 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons toasted sesame seeds
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder with parsley

1/4 teaspoon seasoned pepper
1/4 teaspoon dried basil
1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tomato, chopped
1/4 cup sliced celery
2 tablespoons sliced green onions

2 tablespoons sliced ripe olives
Minced parsley
In a large bowl, gently toss fettuccine with olive oil and 1/4 teaspoon Seasoned Salt; set aside. In a small bowl, whip cream until slightly thickened; add sesame seeds, seasonings and lemon juice. Toss fettuccine with cream mixture; add remaining ingredients, except parsley.

Makes 2 servings

PRESENTATION: Serve chilled and garnish with minced parsley.

EGGPLANT AND CHEESE CASSEROLE

A prepare-ahead casserole for your next party occasion.

1 package (1 1/2 oz.) spaghetti sauce mix with imported mushrooms
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1 1/2 cups water
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 large eggplant, peeled and cut in 1/4-inch crosswise slices
1/4 to 1 cup salad oil
1/2 pound Mozzarella cheese, thinly sliced
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Combine spaghetti sauce mix, tomato sauce, water, seasoned salt and onions; blend well. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, about 20 minutes. In large skillet, saute eggplant in hot oil, adding oil as needed. Drain well on paper towels. Pour 1/4 of sauce in 8-inch square baking dish. Cover sauce with 1/2 of eggplant and cheese slices. Repeat layers, beginning and ending with sauce; top with Parmesan cheese. Bake, uncovered, in 350 degrees F. oven 20 minutes.

PRESENTATION: Sprinkle baked casserole with finely chopped parsley, if desired.

ITALIAN SAUSAGE SANDWICH

This is a "knife and fork" sandwich.

1 pound Italian sausage, cut in 1-inch pieces
2 green bell peppers, seeded and sliced in lengthwise strips
2 cans (8 oz. each) tomato sauce
1/4 cup dry red wine
1 package (1 1/2 oz.) spaghetti sauce mix with imported

mushrooms

1 loaf unsliced French OR sourdough bread

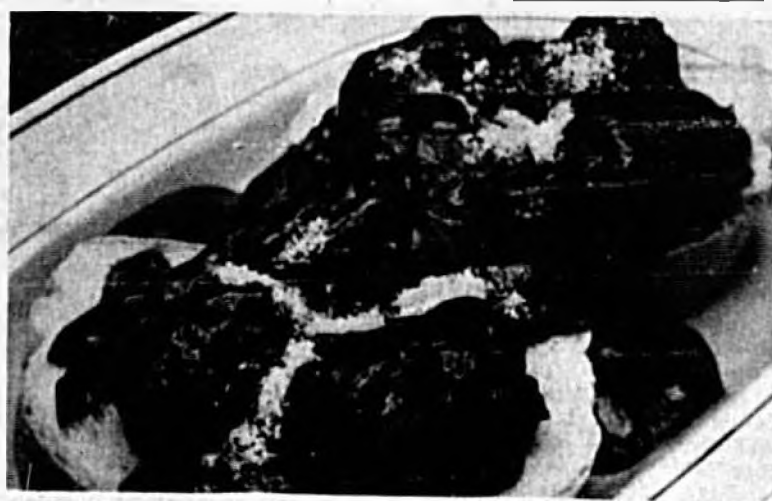

Grated Parmesan cheese

In a large skillet, brown sausage. Add peppers when sausage is almost browned and saute; drain fat. Add tomato sauce, wine and Spaghetti Sauce Mix with Imported Mushrooms; blend well. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer, covered, 30 minutes, stirring oc-asionally. To serve, slice bread in 1/4-inch slices. Spoon sausage mixture over bread and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese.

Makes 8 servings
PRESENTATION: For party service, serve sauce in chafing dish with sliced bread and Parmesan cheese in a basket and bowl respectively.

HINTS: Use mild or hot Italian sausage. This sauce is excellent over pasta.

Italian Sausage Sandwiches will score a hit with football fans after the game.
