Earth Day 1993

SANFORD — Today marks the 24th observance of Earth Day. It is not a legal holiday, and neither business nor government offices are not closed.

The first observance of Earth Day was April 22, 1970. The motto of the day was "Give Earth a Chance." The original event focused on reclaiming the purity of the air, water and living environment.

The scope of the event has now been expanded to include all areas of natural resource conservation.

Paterson turns self in at jail

SANFORD — There are a total of 42 criminal counts facing suspended Lakeview Middle School band teacher Stephen Paterson, not 43 as reported in the Sanford Herald Monday due to reporter error. Paterson turned himself in this morning on two cases filed by the state attorney's office Monday. In total, four former band students have made sex-related allegations against the teacher prompting the filing of criminal charges. Paterson is free on bond on the first two cases. He arrived at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility about 9 a.m. He was to be arrested on the two new cases. Bond was set at $25,000 in each of the new cases.

Earlier, Paterson said he planned to post bond after being arrested. According to an arrangement between Paterson's attorney J. Cheney Mason and assistant state attorney Stewart Stone, Paterson was to turn himself in at the jail during business hours Wednesday.

Stone said it was an "informal, unofficial understanding," and he would not try to have Paterson's previous bonds revoked because the teacher arrived at the jail today rather than yesterday.

Teen AIDS risk rises

Study: Black youths most vulnerable

By KELLEY MITCHELL
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Teenagers in Central Florida and across the nation are the fastest growing age group for new AIDS cases, according to Donald E. Wesson, M.D., an associate professor of medicine at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

It is a crisis that is already upon us.

In a report from the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services AIDS Surveillance Unit in district seven, which includes Orange, Brevard, Seminole and Osceola counties, the number of AIDS cases jumps from six cases for the 10 to 19-year-old age group to 531 for 20 to 29-year-olds as of March 19 of this year.

In September of 1992 there were no cases reported in the 13 to 19-year-old age group, because there were fewer than five reported cases in the category. To maintain confidentiality the figure was incorporated into the 13 to 29-year-old age group. The number of cases reported in this category as of September 1992 was 379.

Central Florida AIDS Cases		Profile as of March 19, 1993
District VII		District VIII
Adult Cases	2,332	White	113
Pediatric Cases	34	Black	32
County Totals		Hispanic
Orange	1	Other	66
Brevard	1	District VIII
Seminole	10-19	White	11
Osceola	1	Black	11
State Totals		Mode
Adults	31,100	Gay/Bisexual Males	1,309
Pediatric	4,030	Injecting Drug Users (IDUs)	433
Florida Totals		Gay/Bisexual Male IDUs	108
As of March 19, 1993		Heterosexuals	267
Adults	25,785	Blood Product Recipients	88
Pediatric	863	Risk not yet determined	127

The toll has been proportionately greater in the African-American community nationwide, adding to the urgency for black teens to learn to decrease their risk of becoming infected with HIV, the virus that causes AIDS. In a study conducted by the Baylor College of Medicine following 565 females ages 12 to 20, the majority of black teens showed a greater fear of contracting AIDS than their Hispanic or white counterparts. They also felt they were more likely to be the kind of person to get AIDS than Hispanics or whites. See AIDS, Page 5A

AIDS babies need someone

By KELLEY MITCHELL
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — With the increase of AIDS cases in Florida and nationwide, more and more innocent are children becoming victims of the disease.

There is an organization in Central Florida, the only one of its kind in the nation, known as Serenity House Pediatric AIDS Foundation Inc. which caters to babies born to HIV positive mothers.

Their motto is that AIDS stands for All Infants Deserve Someone.

In 1988 Jim and Charlene White became foster parents for babies born to HIV positive mothers. They have adopted four of the babies as their own and have fostered over 100. Two of the adopted children are now HIV negative and two have full blown AIDS.

"About two-thirds of the babies born to HIV positive mothers turn out to be HIV negative within six months after birth," according to Mrs. White. "It is God's decision"

1993 Secretary of Year

Judge Alan Dickey confers with secretary Debbie Whitehead.

Whitehead is judge's 'right arm'

By NICK PFERFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Debbie Whitehead, secretary to Circuit Judge Alan A. Dickey, has been selected as Secretary of the Year by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

The announcement was made today during a luncheon meeting of the Chamber at Timacuan Country Club.

Whitehead was one of six names submitted for consideration to the chamber this year. The selection was made by Chamber President Larry Strickler, Vice President Robble Robertson, and Treasurer Brent Adamson.

"Debbie has been my secretary for eight years," Judge Dickey wrote. "She is one of the hardest working people I have ever met. Besides being my right arm at the courthouse, she balances her life between work and her husband and 3 year-old son with seemingly remarkable ease, with none of us ever feeling neglected."

Sophisticated pot operation discovered

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

GOLDENROD — An anonymous 911 call to the Seminole County Sheriff's Office about a broken window last night led deputies to discover a major marijuana growing operation.

Deputies seized an estimated 500 to 600 pot plants with an estimated street value of $500,000 from an unoccupied home in unincorporated south Seminole County. Two suspects are being sought for questioning.

"It was kind of a lucky break," said sheriff's spokesman George Proechel. Proechel does not rule out the possibility the anonymous caller broke the window and called deputies to alert them to the operation.

Proechel said a deputy arrived at 5446 Woodcrest Drive at about 9 o'clock. On finding a broken window, the deputy looked in.

"He saw a room full of marijuana plants with a sophisticated irrigation system," said Proechel. "There was a spotlight overhead on tracks so it could travel back and forth."

A search warrant was obtained and Proechel found the three bedrooms "full" of plants ranging from seedling size to two or three feet in height. Each room had a separate timed irrigation system and timed lighting on an overhead track designed See Pot, Page 5A

Only the shadow knows

Students follow business leaders around for day

By VICKI BOGNER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Sometimes it's tough to decide what you want to do when you grow up.

Some students, ready for college, are not sure what they should major in or even what courses they want to take.

Yesterday, 25 Seminole High School students spent the day in the "real world" with local professionals in the areas which interest the students.

The annual "Shadow Day" is sponsored by the school, the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis Club of Sanford.

"The idea is to give students the opportunity to experience the real world and to help them discover what careers they might want to pursue," said Jane Lane of the school district's community involvement office.

Shawn Stewart, a junior at Seminole High spent the day following his father Dr. Roger Stewart, a Sanford dentist through a schedule of patients, meetings and a business luncheon with the Kiwanis Club.

"It's been an interesting experience," said See Shadow, Page 5A

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Youth charged with killing pelicans

DAYTONA BEACH — A Lakeland teen-ager has been arrested in a wildlife investigation into the beating deaths of up to 38 brown pelicans in the Daytona Beach area.

Michael Frank Lynch, 18, was arrested Wednesday in Brevard County and charged with six counts of taking a species of special concern, said officials of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

The dead pelicans found during February and March were initially believed to have died of disease or malnutrition, said commission spokesman Vinard Hitt. But necropsies on six revealed they were beaten to death.

Lynch was being held on $7,500 bond. Five of the six counts against Lynch are first-degree misdemeanors, each carrying maximum penalties of one year in jail and/or a $1,000 fine. The other count is a second-degree misdemeanor punishable by 60 days in jail and a $500 fine.

Judge rules on free speech right

MIAMI — A former KKK member and white supremacist has no free speech right to hold a protest at the Holocaust Memorial in Miami Beach, a federal judge has ruled.

U.S. District Judge Shelby Highsmith ruled Wednesday that the city and the non-profit committee that oversees the Holocaust Memorial have consistently limited its use.

Henry Pritchard, who opposes the memorial and aid to Israel as un-American, had requested a permit for a protest at the site Saturday.

Miami Beach officials gave him a permit, but only for a site 400 feet from the memorial, which consists in part of an upstretched hand covered with figures of Holocaust victims. It also includes a wall with the names of thousands of those who perished.

Pritchard, backed by the American Civil Liberties Union, challenged the city's decision in federal court, saying it violated his First Amendment right to political speech on public property.

ACLU attorney Mike Fowler said he had not yet decided whether to appeal the ruling.

Torched tourist to appear for lineup

TAMPA — A black tourist from New York set ablaze in a New Year's Day attack will be asked to travel to Florida and try to identify two of his assailants in a live lineup, a judge has ruled.

Burning victim Christopher Wilson of Brooklyn has identified only one of three white suspects from photographs. Prosecutors had requested that he view a live lineup in an effort to identify the other two assailants.

Hillsborough Circuit Judge Donald Evans granted the motion Wednesday of assistant State Attorney Len Register to hold the live lineup.

Prosecutors plan to have Wilson in Tampa for the lineup on May 3. Wilson is at home in New York recovering from his burns.

Weather forces tent city to close

MIAMI — A tent city that opened with great fanfare for Hurricane Andrew's victims eight weeks ago is quietly closing, beaten by the force that created it in the first place — the weather.

Storms have forced the evacuation of the tent city outside St. Ann's Catholic Church in Naranja five times since it opened, and Dade County officials are giving up, shutting the facility over the next four weeks.

"The weather really has done us in," county homeless coordinator Andy Menendez said Wednesday. "It was definitely worse than anybody would have anticipated back in November when we were planning this."

New storms appeared to be approaching Wednesday night or Thursday, and the tents may have to be evacuated a sixth time, he said.

Fifty-two families, about 250 people, will have to be relocated, he said. Some already have apartments lined up. Others intend to leave the area, and the county will be seeking Federal Emergency Management Agency trailers for the rest.

Social services will continue for the families even when they leave, said Menendez. That includes employment counseling, medical appointments and FEMA applications.

Rollins College laying off 20

WINTER PARK — Pressured by dwindling federal financial aid, Rollins College is laying off about 20 employees.

Rollins is eliminating jobs to make the college more efficient and help save money during difficult financial times, Charles Edmondson, Rollins' provost, said Wednesday. The action will not affect faculty.

"The national economy is in stagnation or a slow recovery at best, and we're getting less help from the federal government," he said. "We can't continue to simply raise tuition costs. We must also do a responsible job of containing expenses."

"This is not a crisis, and this will not jeopardize the academic quality of the institution," he said.

Florida economists' report

Economic recovery inches slowly back on track

By Associated Press

GAINESVILLE — Florida's economic recovery is moving slow but is inching out of the doldrums, say University of Florida economists in their latest quarterly report.

"This recovery is different from the previous recovery in 1983," said senior economist Thomas Fullerton of the university's Bureau of Economic and Business Research. "Jobs are being created at a slow rate. As a result, growth in personal income also lags the previous recovery."

Yet, the first quarter 1993 non-agricultural employment estimate is expected to surpass its pre-recession peak.

"This is a clear signal we are moving out of the recovery phase and into the expansion phase," Fullerton said Wednesday.

Bad weather and proposed federal tax increases have contributed to the slow pace of recovery, economists wrote in The Florida Outlook, published quarterly by the bureau.

Already reeling from Hurricane Andrew, Florida's economic picture was further clouded by the March storm that swept from the Gulf of Mexico to Nova Scotia.

The storm helped depress construction and labor markets in some areas of Florida as well as the nation. However, Carol Taylor West, the bureau's forecasting director, said it is difficult to say whether the entire decline is storm-related and temporary or a sign of the tentative nature of the recovery.

In the first quarter of 1993, post-holiday proposals to increase personal income taxes for many taxpayers, contributing to a drop in consumer confidence.

Retired Floridians were particularly gloomy, partly because lower interest rates have meant a drop in investment income that many count on, West said.

Proposals to increase taxes on Social Security benefits also affect Florida disproportionately because of the large retiree base. Per capita Social Security benefits paid in Florida are 29 percent above the national average.

Florida also would feel the sting of additional taxes on the wealthy, Floridians filed 5.35 percent of all tax returns in 1990 but had 6.28 percent of returns with an adjusted gross income more than $200,000.

In Dade County, losses in jobs and population after Hurricane Andrew have yet to be recouped. The county lost 13,000 residents and 6,800 jobs. Miami was the only one of the six major metropolitan areas that did not grow in the third quarter of 1992.

"The effects of Andrew will be with us for years," West said. "People are just now beginning to think how to use what wasn't destroyed of Homestead Air Force Base to add to the area's economy."

Economists predict, however, that reconstruction of hurricane-damaged buildings, boosted by low mortgage rates, will help increase single-family housing starts in Florida by 31.7 percent this year.

A 6.2-percent drop in Floridians' personal income in the third quarter of 1992 stems mostly from uninsured hurricane-related income and property losses.

On the cutting edge

The laboratory of HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital is one of only eight beta testing sites in the United States to house a new instrument designed to aid in diagnosis and treatment of heart attacks. Robert McCord, M.D. Ph.D., left, and Lawrence "Larry" Vallario, M.D., an associate of Sanford Cardiology and director of the Cardiac Cath Lab at the hospital, check out the new Cardio REP. This instrument can detect the presence of increased levels of certain cardiac enzyme isoforms rather than isoenzymes within 1-2 hours after thrombolysis of a primary artery and resultant heart muscle damage.

Millionaire's simple life a contrast to his bequests

By RON WOOD
Associated Press Writer

DELAND — Archie Greenberg was not a typical millionaire. In his later years, he dressed in Salvation Army handouts, stayed at flophouses and walked everywhere. He also gave away millions to universities.

When Greenberg died last year, four days shy of his 93rd birthday, he left behind a financial legacy nowhere near as simple as the way he lived.

Four universities named as beneficiaries in a series of wills, are battling over the $8 million left in his estate.

"He certainly marched to his own drummer," said Thomas Dolan, an official of one of the schools, Clark University in Worcester, Mass. Greenberg received his master's degree in geography there in 1943.

His family built the Bancroft Hotel in Miami Beach's Art Deco section and Greenberg took over its operation in the late 40s. He retired in the 1960s and began a life of travel.

Greenberg was a shrewd businessman and a world traveler, but also frugal and reclusive, said Dolan, who knew him for 25 years.

He settled in Daytona Beach in 1975, lived in what Dolan called "a mediocre rooming house" and "an absolute flop house," and detested air conditioning.

He valued his privacy and spent much of his time in the public library reading financial publications and newspapers.

"You would never know he had any financial resources to speak of," said Debra Connors, who worked at Embury-Riddle Aeronautical University in Daytona Beach when Greenberg walked in off the street and wanted to donate $50,000.

After his death, Stetson College in Deland claimed it was the sole rightful heir under the last will he wrote, in 1961. His ashes were scattered over Stetson's 117-acre campus.

But Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass., and Embury-Riddle filed a lawsuit against the will, resulting in a three-day trial earlier this month on whether Greenberg was competent when he signed the document. A judge promised a ruling by April 30.

Myths from Holocaust should be laid to rest

By CAROLE FELDMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The myths have persisted for decades: The United States didn't know the Nazis were exterminating Jews; the Jews did nothing to help themselves.

The U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum should lay such notions to rest.

Through four floors of artifacts, photographs, documents and videos, the museum tells of Adolf Hitler's rise to power and his systematic killing of 6 million Jews.

There are names and faces, shoes taken from some of the victims, accounts from Allied soldiers of the horrors they saw when they liberated the death camps.

There are remnants of the Warsaw Ghetto and tree trunks from forests that sheltered resistance fighters to show how Jews dared to fight the Gestapo — people like Mordecai Anielewicz, who organized 700-750 residents of the Warsaw Ghetto against 2,000 heavily armed German soldiers.

"The museum is far more than a memorial to the Jewish genocide," Michael Berenbaum writes in his book on the World War II Holocaust, "The World Must Know."

"It stands as a testament, and perhaps as a challenge, to the central issue of any democratic society — the responsibility of individuals in a free society, and of a nation dedicated to democratic values, when human freedoms are placed at grievous risk."

The United States is not spared.

"What we demonstrate conclusively is what historians have known for a long time," Berenbaum said in an interview. "Loads of information was available."

But he said the information was suppressed during the war years because of the natural desire not to confront undesirable information and because some people didn't want to change policy.

"If you can suppress knowledge of the concentration camps, then you don't have to bomb them," he said. "If you can suppress knowledge of the fact that Jews are being wholesale systematically slaughtered, men, women and children, then you don't have to change a policy that was agreed on in 1941 — that victory should take priority and only then would we worry about the refugee problem."

Family resentenced in cocaine ring convictions

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

ORLANDO — Members of a Sanford family serving life sentences in federal prison for their 1991 convictions of operating a crack-cocaine ring were resentenced Wednesday.

All but one member of the Jackson family received sentences identical to their original ones. The resentencings were ordered by an appeals court which found U.S. District Judge G. Kendall Sharp did not properly ask for the defendants' responses after sentencing them in 1991.

Judge Sharp sentenced Robert Jackson Jr., 21, to 33½ years. He had originally been sentenced to life in prison. His father, Robert Jackson Sr., 45, and mother, Ethel Mae Jackson, 43, were resentenced to life in prison. Three other family members were also resentenced: Alfonso Junior Jackson, 36, received a 40-year sentence; James Edward Jackson, 19, 30-years and April Gordon, 26, 19½ years.

Ohio inmates free 5 hostages, end uprising

By DEB MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

LUCASVILLE, Ohio — Inmates at Ohio's toughest prison fled out into the yard and freed their five remaining hostages to end an 11-day uprising that left at least eight people dead. Two prisoners were unaccounted for.

The convicts had demanded and received live TV coverage of the surrender Wednesday as insurance against retaliation. They also held the five guards hostage almost until the end of their surrender, which took six hours.

The hostages emerged to "thunderous applause" from their colleagues, said Sharron Konegay, spokeswoman for the state Department of Rehabilitation and Correction.

Radio station WTVN in Columbus, citing unidentified sources, said a ninth body was found in the cellblock where the 450 inmates had been barricaded.

Corrections Director Reginald Wilkinson said he could not confirm the report but that two prisoners were unaccounted for early today.

In exchange for the surrender, state officials promised to review the inmates' complaints, including Muslim inmates' religious objections to tuberculosis testing and opposition to racial integration of prison cells.

The inmates also received a promise of no unlawful retaliation, but Warden Arthur Tate did not rule out prosecution or discipline.

"The inmates understand that when a guard has been murdered, no one is going to promise them no prosecution or discipline," said Niki Schwartz, a lawyer who brokered the surrender, which consisted of 21 terms signed by Tate.

Prisoners had originally made other demands, including Tate's removal.

Seven inmates and one hostage were known dead in the uprising that began on Easter Sunday at the maximum-security Southern Ohio Correctional Facility, 60 miles south of Columbus. It houses some of Ohio's most dangerous criminals.

Meanwhile, in Newtown, Conn., inmates at a state prison attacked other prisoners and guards, and 90 inmates holed up in a recreation area for about seven hours Wednesday night before surrendering. Fifteen inmates and three guards were reported hurt, one of the inmates seriously.

In Ohio, the uprising began with a fight that officials said may have been staged to lure guards to the scene. The inmates attacked the guards and used their batons to beat to death at least six fellow prisoners, officials said.

A seventh inmate was later found dead in an adjoining cellblock; the cause of death was not disclosed.

Eight guards were taken hostage; one was later strangled and two were freed unharmed last week.

The remaining hostages — Richard C. Bufington 45; Kenneth L. Daniels, 24; Larry Dotson, 45; Michael Henaley, 36; and Jeffrey Ratcliff, 26 — were released Wednesday night. They were hospitalized in stable condition.

Earth Day has grown since 1970

Concern for the environment has improved greatly since Earth Day first started in 1970. Many advances can be attributed to what could be considered as "Watchdog" committees.

A few conservation organizations were established prior to the 70's, such as Green Piece. They were often ridiculed by professional fishermen or hunters as trouble makers. They were depicted as being overly concerned about fish and wild life.

Today, conservation groups have gained respect. Through their actions, they have proven to be a valuable asset to our world.

They have helped preserve waterways and land areas. They have prevented certain animals, birds and fish from being destroyed.

Locally, conservation organizations deserve thanks for their efforts. They include such groups as the Friends of the St. Johns, Sierra Club, Friends of the Wekiva, and many others.

The Central Florida Zoo offers various classes in wild life preservation during the course of the year.

Schools are now providing ecological education to our children.

Even the general public is becoming more involved. Although law requires builders to establish buffer zones and water discharge areas around building developments, many are going beyond the requirements to help protect the land.

People are using more recyclable materials and following requirements for the proper disposal of cans and paper products. Citizens have accepted this as a method of avoiding serious ecological problems in the future.

We commend members of those clubs which are concentrating on preserving the environment. People should consider joining them in their work.

Thanks to the continuing action by such people, we have watchdogs who can be relied on to help preserve the future of our earth.

Let the buck stop at Humane Society

WANTED - 100,000 concerned citizens with two bucks, a 29¢ stamp, and a willingness to help - "two bucks worth." Come on now, two bucks won't break any of you. It most probably won't even bend any of you more than an eighth of an inch, if that. It's less than the cost of a pack of cigarettes but more than the cost of a decent beer.

Why? Well now, it's this way. The dogs and cats of Seminole County took a hard hit recently and lost their interim home to a raging fire. Many lost their lives as well. The Seminole County Humane Society is in deep yogurt financially and needs "our" (that's you and me) help...NOW, not next month or next year.

No, I have no business or financial (other than my two bucks nailed to this letter) connection with the Humane Society.

Yes, I am partial to dogs more than cats. I don't dislike cats, I just like dogs.

No, I do not have either of them at this time.

Yes, I have been "adopted" by many dogs over the last 40-50 years but not a single cat. Cats tend to be real choosy.

Well, what say you, all you guys and gals out there in readerland? Do you have two bucks that you can spare? Are you willing to help...two bucks worth? We're not talking $50 or $100. (They're both welcome if you can.) We're talking one less pack of cigarettes or one less bottle of decent beer for just one day for 100,000 concerned citizens.

Will you join in the effort? Only 99,999 more to go.

WILLIAM A. RUSHER

Is Clinton packing the high court?

Back in 1987, when the Democratic Senate dragged through the mud and ultimately rejected the Supreme Court nomination of Robert Bork, by common consent one of the ablest jurists ever named to that high bench, the whole process of selecting Supreme Court justices underwent a sea change.

Up till then, even the most partisan presidents had felt some obligation to nominate judges of indisputable quality, and senators had delicately refrained from asking nominees how they would vote on various controversial issues.

Now, thanks to Sen. Kennedy and the massed mud-guns of American liberalism, we can all loosen our neckties and kick off our shoes when it becomes necessary to fill a vacancy on the court. For as Lord Melbourne remarked (in grateful relief) about appointments to the Order of The Garter, "There's no damned merit about it."

The retirement of Justice Byron White reduces the relatively conservative wing of the court from seven to six at the very most, and enables President Clinton to increase the liberal minority from two (Stevens and Blackmun) to three.

Moreover, if (as expected) Justice Blackmun is the next to retire, Mr. Clinton may soon have another seat on the court to fill - although in that case he would be replacing one liberal with another, and thus would not affect the court's overall balance.

But liberals have not given up hope of re-establishing firm control over the Supreme Court. The behavior of justices is notoriously hard to predict. Both Blackmun and Stevens were appointees of Republican presidents (Nixon and Ford respectively), yet they are, as noted above, the two remaining pillars of liberalism on the court. And there are disarming indications that Justices O'Connor, Kennedy and Souter (the first two nominated by Reagan and the last by Bush) are tending to band together as a "center bloc" on the court, which would leave it divided like Gaul into three parts.

Q We can all loosen our neckties and kick off our shoes when it becomes necessary to fill a vacancy on the court.

with only Chief Justice Rehnquist and Justices Scalia and Thomas as dependably conservative.

That, however, may be unduly pessimistic. Justices O'Connor and Souter undeniably disappinted conservatives with their votes on the ticklish abortion issue, but on other questions their performance has generally been less offensive and may perhaps best be described as uneven. Only Justice Kennedy shows real signs of having "grown," which is the word used in New York Times editorials for "sold out to liberalism." And even in his case it's early days yet.

In addition, much may depend on the personality and views of the woman (I assume it will be a woman, and probably black) whom Mr. Clinton nominates. I had been hoping he would name Mario Cuomo, my theory being that that hard-charging liberal would quickly drive Justices O'Connor and Souter, and maybe even Kennedy, back into alliance with the court's three unabashed conservatives. But Cuomo, in Rush Limbaugh's felicitous phrase, "withdrew his name from consideration before he was not asked."

So I am reduced to rooting, in the same cynical spirit, for Marian Wright Edelman or Eleanor Holmes Norton.

MARTIN SCHRAM

Mario Cuomo is Manana Man

Mario Cuomo was in his greatest glory. He'd heard the lament of his immigrant parents that politics wasn't fit work for an honest boy. He'd endured three defeats. But on election night 1982, Andrea and Immacolata Cuomo's son was standing, at last, in the spotlight.

Tell it, Mario: "It was like a miracle. ... My mother's standing next to me. She's just a little thing. ... They had just introduced me as the first Italian-American ever elected governor of the state of New York. I put my arm around her and said, Well, Ma, how does it feel now?"

"And she said, in English, for a change, 'It's a no bad - but when you gonna be a judge?'"

Never, Cuomo seemed to answer when he told President Clinton recently that he'd incurred yet another Albany crisis of convenience. "I do not wish to be considered (for the U.S. Supreme Court)," he wrote.

But now comes Cuomo, on CNN, with a new wink-and-a-nod: Maybe it's not never - just manana.

"The question that I had to answer for myself was where can you best serve at the moment, not what would you enjoy most," Cuomo told CNN's Evans and Novak. Also: "... My conscience told me the best contribution I could make right now is to be in New York, and to strengthen New York as it comes out of this recession and moves into the recovery." And finally: "(Being on the court) would be the greatest privilege in the world. It would be much easier than what I'm doing now."

Mario Cuomo has made himself into our forever Manana Man. But wait - it's time to level with all those who, like Immacolata Cuomo, have been asking her son: When you gonna be a judge? Regretfully, it's never.

There will always be a crisis that compels a governor's attention.

I've long felt Cuomo's greatest contribution to his country would have come not as a president or governor, but as a Supreme Court justice. I share the view of the fellow who said: "I think Governor Cuomo would be a good Supreme Court justice because he is a legal scholar who also understands the impact of the law on real people." That was Clinton, in 1992.

Clinton may have picked Cuomo. Or he may have opted for someone else, which would have embarrassed the governor, after all the speculation. All deny that Cuomo was tipped off that he didn't have a lock on the job.

Predictably, Cuomo's withdrawal ignited a new round of old prejudice - speculation that he had something to hide. (Translation: He's Italian, so his family must have Mafia ties.) Everything I've seen shows Cuomo is clean and the whispers a contemptible slur.

On CNN, Cuomo did more than just reopen the courtyard gate for the future. Answering head-on three queries that make most politicians straddle or filibuster, he gave an impromptu demonstration of the qualities we most need on the court.

Should gay or lesbian couples get the same tax breaks married heterosexual couples get? "Do you think that gay and lesbian people are entitled to less rights than married people, who, in the course of their married life, perform various strange sexual conduct that defies ... our reason and Catholic standards? It is foolishness to say because they're gay and lesbian, they are lesser people."

Gays in the military? "You cannot exclude people from the military, deny them their right to fight for their country, because of their lifestyle."

Should abortions be paid for in a national health program? "I think you should fund the constitutional right to abortion in any health care plan. ... I think you will be required to eventually by the law. ... To the extent that it is legal, it ought to be available to everybody, the poor as well as those who (can afford to pay). ... A poor woman is given the constitutional right to use her own conscience in abortion, whether I like it or not."

We know the court needs his wisdom. But we know better than to pin our hopes on a forever Manana Man.

Q He'd heard the lament of his immigrant parents that politics wasn't fit work for an honest boy.

'Clear' stuff may be our ruination

Corporate America is on a "clear" kick, but The Curmudgeon's cagey readers are seeing right through it. Read on.

Dear Curmudgeon: What do you think of all the clear stuff that's been flooding the market? "Crystal" Pepsi and clear mouthwash and the latest crime against humankind, clear beer? I don't know how, but I'm sure the shysters are trying to hornswoggle us once again. - Clyde in Clearwater.

Dear CNC: Your instincts are well-honed, friend. In their never-ending search for new ways to sell us old stuff, the nation's marketing geniuses have decided we tend to associate clear things with healthy things. I fear they have erred, however, with transparent brew. The Curmudgeon has learned that the person who thought up clear beer is the grandson of the engineer who developed the Edsel and a cousin of the guy who dreamed up the new Coke. My advice is, save your clear beer bottles because they'll be collectors' items by 1995.

Dear Curmudgeon: Why do you poke fun at Bill Clinton for his sentient approach to problems? I think it's neat that he likes to go on retreats and share feelings. It's about time we had a president who is into New Age things. - Karen in Key West.

Dear Rip Van Karen: While you were asleep we had a president named Carter who once claimed he saw a UFO and another named Reagan who ran the ship of state in consultation with an astrologer. Point is, a lot of New Age rubbish is really Old Age garbage. Another point is, I do not object to Clinton's sensitive nature. I do object to the practice of "sharing" intimacies with people you hardly know on the premise it will help solve national problems. It's hip, but it's also hogwash.

Dear Curmudgeon: The Japanese won the car wars, but the natural superiority of Western ways is evident in the results of a study by Japan's own Health and Welfare Ministry. It seems Japanese men are 4 inches taller than they were 30 years ago, and Japanese women have shot up nearly 3 inches. Reason: A Western diet. Pizza, hamburgers and fried chicken are making the Japanese bigger, and they can thank good old American ingenuity for that. - Just call me Big Mac in Melbourne.

Dear Big: When I heard about that study, I visited a nearby fast-food restaurant and took detailed notes on the general physical appearance of repeated visitors to the breakfast bar, particularly those who partook abundantly of the biscuits with sausage gravy. The Curmudgeon's conclusion: That study is poppycock. American food makes you grow out, not up.

Dear Curmudgeon: I have been observing the high jinks of intoxicated students on spring break for many years and I long ago concluded the fraternity types were the worse. Now a study by the Council of Higher Education for Virginia has concluded that the Greeks drink more than their classmates. It's time to outlaw the animal houses. - Carrie in Cocoa Beach.

Dear Cocoa: What's with these studies? Doesn't anyone read People magazine anymore? The conclusion in this one seemed obvious, so I checked it out. Sure enough, one of the academics who worked on it also participated in federally subsidized studies of sky and water. He concluded the former is blue and the latter wet.

Q Corporate America is on a "clear" kick, but The Curmudgeon's cagey readers are seeing right through it.

whether they are negative or positive, medically the doctors can't explain why one is infected and the other isn't."

The Whites are working to build a complete facility to meet all the needs of these special children. Volunteer, donations and lots of prayers are needed to help the babies live a happy and healthy life.

"Our dream is to build Serenity House on about 10 acres of land and provide loving home care for as many of these infants as possible," said Mrs. White. "We want to have everything right there for them so they don't have to be transported in bad weather. We want their medical, therapy, pre-school and even a room we call the 'Cuddle Room' for parental visits."

In October 1990 the World Health Organization said there were 700,000 AIDS babies. By the year 2000 they predict there will be 10 million. Florida is number two in the nation for pediatric AIDS cases with 663 of the total 4,030 national cases here in the state. The Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services AIDS Surveillance Unit for District Seven, which includes Orange, Brevard, Seminole and Ocala counties, reported 23 pediatric cases in of Sept. 1, 1992. As of March 19 of this year, there have been 12 more cases reported, bringing the total to 34.

"We are number one in the nation for heterosexual AIDS cases," according to Mrs. White. "Which of course means there will be more babies."

Orlando has more pediatric cases than 43 other states.

In 1991 Serenity House was named the 518th Point of Light by President George Bush.

"We were very honored to meet the president and accept the award at a ceremony at Walt Disney World in September," said Mrs. White.

Jim and Charlene White open their home and hearts to hundreds of children and help them find a place in the world.

"We've helped place many of the children with adoptive parents but there are four we kept for our own."

"Michael came to us at 10 days old, weighing 4 1/2 pounds," she said. "He was born in a car on the way to the hospital. He was HIV, cocaine and hepatitis positive. His mother abandoned him at birth, they said he probably wouldn't live 30 days."

"Jasmine came to us when she was 10 weeks old. Although her parents were married they could not cope with her medical problems and abandoned her at the hospital and have not been seen since," according to Mrs. White. "At 10 weeks she tested HIV positive. Her foster parents would no longer touch her."

"We got Stephanie at six months old and seven pounds. She had already had pneumonia five times," said Mrs. White.

"She was diagnosed with full blown AIDS at 10 months. She is on an experimental drug program at the National Institute of Health (N.I.H.) in Bethesda, Md."

"Tiffany came to us at one month old. She was a very severe cocaine baby and also HIV positive," said White. "She was diagnosed with full blown AIDS at age three months. She was the youngest baby accepted into an experimental drug program at N.I.H. at four months old."

"We don't believe love cures AIDS, but it sure does give them a reason to fight," according to Mrs. White. "When babies are born with AIDS they rarely make their first birthday. Tiffany just turned two and Stephanie is three," she said. "They are the healthiest little sick babies you'll ever meet."

The Whites are looking for land, at least 10 acres, to build their dream for the children somewhere in Central Florida.

For those who would like to help make their dream come true or to assist with the children, call 578-AIDS.

2 Seminole volunteers earn Penney Golden Rule Awards

By VICKI DeCOMMER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Two Seminole County volunteers were honored Wednesday for their exemplary volunteer service in the community with the JC Penney Golden Rule Awards.

The Golden Rule Awards are sponsored by JC Penney stores and the Volunteer Center of Central Florida.

The awards are given as a means of thanking volunteers for all of their hard work throughout the year and to draw attention to the continuing need for more volunteers to help solve many of the problems in the community.

From Seminole County, Terry

Harding of the Seminole County Guardian Ad Litem program and Rebecca Crawford, who volunteers to help young people with AIDS awareness activities.

Harding serves as a Guardian Ad Litem to 11 children. As such, she represents abused and neglected children in the court system.

She is trained to help explain the system to the children and to provide the court with information and guidance that will allow the court to make decisions in the best interest of the children.

As a board member of the Guardian Ad Litem program, Harding has also been involved in the group's Christmas Santa program, the new guardian peer counseling program and a support and assistance program for fellow volunteers.

Crawford, 18, volunteers extensively in the community, but she is especially committed to teaching others about AIDS.

Through the Hope and Help Center, she speaks to high risk teens in public and private schools, at homeless shelters, in drug rehabilitation centers and at teen pregnancy programs.

She plans to attend Eastern Kentucky University and major in criminal justice.

While Crawford, Harding and the five others from Orange and Ocala counties, who were honored with the Golden Rule Award were given plaques, the agency for which they volunteer their time each received $250.

He said that he has always been interested in dentistry and eventually hopes to take over his father's successful practice, but he was glad for the opportunity to spend the day immersed in the profession he hopes to pursue.

The older Stewart said that this is the second year that he has taken a student to shadow him for a day at work.

"I think this job shadowing program is a good idea," he said. "It allows students to get a first hand look at careers."

He said the student who shadowed him last year is currently enrolled at Vanderbilt University and hopes to attend dental school there later.

Lane said the shadowing program has been a very popular program among students and professionals alike.

Guidance counselors at the school select the students who will participate in the program.

The students and companies that participated in yesterday's job shadowing were:

Judge gives case with racist overtones to NAACP executive

By Associated Press

FORT LAUDERDALE — A judge has appointed a black activist lawyer to defend a white youth accused of leaving a cross on a black family's lawn.

Broward Circuit Judge Mark A. Speiser gave the task to NAACP executive and criminal defense lawyer Johnny L. McCray Jr. last week. The Miami Herald reported today. Jaysa Rutter, 18, faces charges of felony criminal mischief and cross-burning on private property.

"This was not done as a joke," the judge said. "The nature of the crime indicates there's some racism there."

"The primary reason I did it — and I did it intentionally — is that I feel the best way to combat ignorance and prejudice is to confront it."

McCray said he was "amazed, surprised, shocked and curious" when Speiser gave him the case.

"It's an interesting situation."

the civil rights activist said. "A lot of people have asked me, 'Damn, Johnny, what did you do to the judge?'"

Rutter and a juvenile were arrested for allegedly digging a hole and erecting an 8-foot cross Nov. 8 at the Davis home of Earl Brown, who with his family had moved in just a week before.

Shortly before dawn, Brown heard noises and saw two shirtless boys running away. He called police, who showed up six hours later; they have said the office assigned to go couldn't find the home, then was asked to help on another call.

Rutter, who lives in the neighborhood, and the juvenile were arrested the next day after police learned the two allegedly had bragged about the cross. Rutter was assigned a public defender, but that office withdrew because it already represented his co-defendant.

This is not the first time Speiser has tried this tack. Two years ago, he gave another black criminal defense lawyer the case of James Kreager, an elderly man charged with contempt of court for yelling racial slurs at a court clerk; he ultimately pleaded guilty.

An appeal court reversed his conviction, saying Speiser should have let another judge try the case.

"It was all automatic," said Procheel. "It was one of the more sophisticated systems we've found."

Procheel said all of the plants were uprooted and bagged for evidence.

An investigation is continuing.

Longwood mayor doubts attorney will call for official investigation

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Longwood Mayor Paul Lovstrand does not think there will be an investigation into allegations a member of the city commission violated the city charter.

The commission Monday night agreed to ask the city attorney when she returns from vacation to look into what they can do to investigate the allegations that commissioner Steve Miller asked a city employee to report on other employees. City administrator James McFellin claimed that Miller had interfered with a city worker, in violation of the city charter, by asking the code enforcement officer, Bob Baker, to report on fellow employees.

"She's going to say there's nothing to this," Lovstrand predicted, referring to city attorney Becky Vose. "She's said it before."

Vose is on vacation and did not attend Monday night's meeting.

Both Lovstrand and Miller have cited the opinion of former city attorney Jerry Korman as their "guide" on the issue of interference. The opinion, dated June 20, 1985 dealt with whether it is legal for a commissioner to work with a city official. The situation involved a commissioner discussing plans with an engineer.

first degree murder and attempted robbery with a firearm. Scott is charged along with co-defendant Terrance Brooks in the Nov. 7 shooting death of Mark Edward March in Sanford. The two youths, who were 14 when indicted, are being tried separately.

Scott's attorney, special public defender Ian Golden, requested that Scott be transferred to attend classes conducted at the detention center.

Judge Alan Dickey earlier denied a similar requested filed on behalf of Brooks.

Assistant state attorney Tom Hastings opposed moving the youth to the juvenile facility citing statutes requiring individuals charged with capital crimes to be held in adult population jails. The youths are held in a separate juvenile area at the JEPFC, away from the adults.

In another case, Eaton denied a motion to dismiss one lewd and lascivious charge against suspended Lakeview Middle School band teacher Stephen A. Paterson. Paterson's attorney argued that the act alleged did not fit the criterion of the statute.

In the case in question, Paterson was charged with two counts of lewd and lascivious assault. One count alleges Paterson touched the youth's crotch and the second alleges the teacher took the boy's hand and placed it on his (Paterson's) crotch. Mason claimed the alleged touching of the teacher by the youth did not fit the definition of the charge.

Paterson has been charged with over 40 counts of sexually-related acts based on the allegations of four former band students.

AIDS

The study also revealed that black teens have higher rates of sexually transmitted diseases, and that approximately 20 percent of AIDS patients are in their 20s. This suggests that they acquired HIV as teenagers, since HIV typically has an incubation period of several years.

Other studies have shown that seven out of every 10 females and eight out of every 10 males in the United States have sexual intercourse by age 20. A Center for Disease Control survey says 21 percent of high school students report they had sex with four or more partners, making the chances of contracting HIV great.

Already, more than 50,000 Americans have died of AIDS and a much larger pool of Americans is infected with HIV, but have yet to develop symptoms.

In the state of Florida before 1980, there were no reported cases of deaths in Florida due to HIV or AIDS. By 1987, HIV/AIDS had become the 13th leading cause of death for all age groups in the state, rising to 11th in 1988 and ninth in 1989, according to the HRS Office of Vital Statistics.

In 1980, the most recent year for which mortality data are complete, HIV/AIDS was the eighth leading cause of death accounting for 2,239 resident deaths.

For 1990, HIV/AIDS death rates were 64.0 per 100,000 population for nonwhite males, 25.1 per 100,000 for nonwhite females, 23.2 per 100,000 for white males, and 1.6 per 100,000 for white females.

Jobs bill defeat: Clinton can't ignore Republicans

By ALAN FRAM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Jubilant Senate Republicans say their defeat of President Clinton's jobs bill shows he will have to deal with them when he tries to move health care and the rest of his agenda through Congress.

But Democrats say their decision to drop the package in the face of a month-long GOP filibuster leaves minority Republicans facing the wrath of voters for blocking job creation and perpetuating legislative gridlock.

Clinton suffered his first big defeat in Congress on Wednesday when Democrats, bowing to GOP pressure, dropped from the bill $3.2 billion for road building and $8.2 billion for job training and other programs.

After thus effectively killing a major leg of Clinton's economic recovery agenda, the Senate on a voice vote approved $4 billion for jobless benefits, the only part of the package that never had been controversial.

House action on the trimmed-down measure was possible as early as today.

"It's not a big defeat for me," Clinton told reporters as each side tried to put the best face on the vote. "It's a big disappointment to the hundreds of thousands of Americans who would have had jobs."

Clinton also tried to contrast the battle with the support Republicans showed for former President Bush's efforts to help American allies.

"The people who have voted for this sort of spending repeatedly to help other countries and wouldn't do it to help their own folks and did it when the deficit was going up — and I'm bringing the deficit down — they may have to explain some things," he said.

Republicans said they had the support of Americans tired of spending legislation that does little but cause swelling budget deficits and relentless tax increases.

"We believe the taxpayers won this time," said Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan.

And while Dole was reluctant to call the showdown a defeat for Clinton, he said the White House will have to seek GOP support on health care, campaign finance reform and other issues. The new president, flush with last month's lightning-quick congressional passage of his budget, did not try to woo any Republicans to support his jobs package.

"Sometimes, they ought to consult the Republican leader," Dole pointedly told reporters.

But Democrats took pains to remind voters that the GOP action bore a strong resemblance to the congressional standoffs that so disturbed the public last year.

"While the other side is congratulating each other on proving they are a force to be reckoned with, they have only proved that they are the guardians of gridlock," said Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va.

The bill's demise came after Democrats failed Wednesday for the fourth time to bill the Republican filibuster that had frozen the bill in its tracks since March.

The roll call was 58-43 — four votes short of the 60 needed. Sen. Richard Shelby, D-Ala., was the only lawmaker to cross party lines, and Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., did not vote.

After that vote, as Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, consulted with Clinton and other administration officials, Democrats and Republicans fruitlessly swapped proposed compromises.

Republicans offered a $6.5 billion package containing the jobless benefits money, plus some spending for summer jobs, road building and other projects. All the programs but the unemployment benefits would have been paid for with cuts in existing programs.

"I did not regard it as a credible proposal," Mitchell told reporters.

AAA issues highway warning: Speed trap on Interstate 4

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — AAA has declared a portion of Interstate-4, as a "Strict Enforcement" highway. The area starts immediately in front of the AAA headquarters in Heathrow.

AAA says it is made aware of strict enforcement of traffic laws because of letters received from members and local businesses. AAA defines "Strict Enforcement" as roads where traffic laws are rigidly enforced for valid safety reasons, such as dangerous conditions or a high number of accidents.

The I-4 area mentioned by AAA is from the Lake Mary interchange to the Kissimmee interchange.

Several miles of the Interstate near the northern end of the route fall under the jurisdiction of the Lake Mary Police Department.

Police Chief Richard Beary commented, "This is a serious area of concern for us. We find accidents are worse and injuries are more severe when we are dealing with a highway at the upper speed levels."

"In just this past year," Beary said, "We have already had several fatalities in just the few miles patrolled by the city."

"Strict enforcement is a legitimate response to traffic safety concerns," said Bill Dodd, Staff Director of Public and Government Relations for AAA Florida. "While such measures may be necessary, we also believe motorists have a right to know when they are in an area where traffic laws are strictly enforced."

AAA conducts investigations before designating a strict enforcement area. Guidelines for determining strict enforcement include: speeding tickets issued to motorists traveling less than eight miles per hour over the limit; tickets issued at a rate at least twice that of the rest of the state; and/or an announcement or confirmation by local law enforcement officials that traffic laws on a given stretch of road are strictly enforced.

The designation of a "Strict Enforcement" area remains for one year, and is investigated and documented annually to keep the designation current.

Court battle opens over King papers

By DANIEL BEEGAN
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON — Martin Luther King Jr. thought his personal papers would be safer at Boston University than they would be in the South. But his family says he changed his mind before he died and is suing to have the papers returned.

The trial began Wednesday after more than 20 years of negotiations between King's family and the school where the civil rights leader earned his doctorate in theology 1955.

Both sides acknowledge King signed a letter in 1964 naming the Boston University Library as the repository of his papers and saying he intended to give some of them each year as an outright gift to the university.

"In the event of my death, all such materials deposited with the university shall become from that date the absolute property of Boston University," the letter said.

Rudolph Pierce, an attorney for King's widow, Coretta Scott King, said King wanted his papers at a black college, but none in Atlanta had the facilities in 1964 to care for them.

Pierce said King feared for the safety of the papers because of threats against him and firebombings in the South. But "in 1966, with the encouragement of his wife, Dr. King changed his mind," Pierce said.

Lawrence Elawit, a lawyer for the university, said King never personally asked for the papers to be returned.

Boston University's Martin Luther King Jr. collection is made up of some 83,000 documents, including letters he received and others he wrote, the manuscript of a book, as well as drafts of speeches. It has been a resource for 70 doctoral dissertations and several major books, Elawit said.

Martin Luther King III said Boston University has about a third of his father's papers.

IN BRIEF

LOCALLY

Greyhounds, Patriots lead pack

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Lyman's boys and Lake Brantley's girls sat atop the team standings after the first day of play in the 4A-District 5 tennis tourney Wednesday at Sanlando Park.

Among the boys, Lyman holds a 13-11 advantage over Boone. Defending Class 4A state champion Lake Mary is tied for fifth with Winter Park (9 points each) behind Spruce Creek and Dr. Phillips (tied for third with 10 points each).

Lake Brantley's boys are seventh (8) ahead of Oviedo (6) and Lake Howell (tied for ninth with University with 4 points each).
After Wednesday, Lake Brantley and Spruce Creek were tied for first in the girls standings with 13 points each while Lake Mary and Winter Park were tied for third with 12 points apiece.

They're followed by Dr. Phillips (11), Boone and Evans (tied at 7), Lake Howell and Lyman (tied at 5), DeLand (4), and Oviedo, University, Kissimmee-Osceola, and Deltona (all with 3).

Scheduled for today are the singles semifinals and the doubles quarterfinals and semifinals. The finals will be played Friday.

AROUND THE STATE

Braves knock off Marlins

MIAMI — David Justice and Mark Lemke each hit two-run homers in the eighth inning Wednesday night to lift the Atlanta Braves past the Florida Marlins, 7-4.

Justice's homer on the first pitch from reliever Bob McClure (0-1) barely cleared the wall in right-center field to give the Braves a 5-4 lead. The homer also scored Terry Pendleton.

After a groundout and a walk to Greg Olson, Lemke hit McClure's pitch over the scoreboard clock in left-center.

For the second consecutive night, the Marlins drew a season-high crowd — 44,150.

Bussey signs with Buccaneers

TAMPA — Barney Bussey, a free agent safety who spent the last seven seasons with the Cincinnati Bengals, agreed to a two-year contract Wednesday with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

Bussey, 30, appeared in 16 games for the Bengals last season, starting four. He made 32 tackles and had one interception.

Celtics crush Magic

BOSTON — Shaquille O'Neal and the Orlando Magic teetered at the brink of elimination from a playoff berth Wednesday night after being trampled by the Boston Celtics.

While Boston clinched homecourt advantage in the opening playoff round with a 126-98 win, Orlando (39-41) must win its remaining two games to have a chance at the last available playoff spot in the Eastern Conference. Even then it would miss out on a tiebreaker if Indiana (40-40) wins one of its last two games.

Boston locked up the fourth spot in the East, going three games ahead of New Jersey with each team having two to play.

76ers shoot down Heat

PHILADELPHIA — Hersey Hawkins scored 20 points and recently acquired Thomas Jordan added 18 as the Philadelphia 76ers defeated the Miami Heat 107-97 Wednesday night.

The 76ers have won three straight at home, while Miami dropped its fifth in a row. Alec Kessler led the Heat with 17 points.

Kiwanis Orioles pad lead with rout of Woodmen A's

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Already the only team in the Sanford Recreation Babe Ruth Baseball League's American Division with a winning record, the Kiwanis Club Orioles continued to pull away from the pack with a 14-3 rout of the Woodmen of the World A's Thursday night at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

At Zinn Beck Field Thursday night, the Rotary Club Royals ripped into the R.E. Templeton Co. Inc. Blue Jays, 11-1.

The Orioles lead the four-team division with a 5-2 mark followed by the Royals (2-5), and the A's and Blue Jays (both 1-6).

All four teams and the National Division squads will play again Saturday. At Sanford Memorial Stadium, the Royals face the Korg USA Expos at 9 a.m. before the Blue Jays tackle the Knights of Columbus Cardinals at 11 a.m.

The Orioles and Moose Lodge Pirates play in the 9 a.m. game at Zinn Beck Field before the A's and Cubs square off at 11 a.m.

Ivan Byrd and Dee Quinn combined on a four-inning no-hitter for the Orioles, Byrd working the first two innings and Quinn throwing the final two as the A's scored their runs on a combination of walks, stolen bases, and Oriole errors.

Jason Flannigan led the Oriole attack with a double, single, and two runs. Joe Knight hit an inside-the-park home run and scored twice. Lorenzo Dixon hit two singles and scored two runs. Albert Harris doubled and scored a run.

Ivan Byrd, Quinn, and J.J. Bryant each had a single and a run. Bart Dixon scored two runs. Bruce Carter and Major Fisher each scored a run.

Hawks clip Seminole; keep title hopes alive

By RYAN ANDERSON
Herald Correspondent

WINTER PARK — It looks like the Seminole Athletic Conference is headed for a showdown.

Lake Howell trounced Seminole 9-5 Wednesday afternoon in a SAC contest, moving the Silver Hawks into second place behind defending conference champion Lake Brantley (reportedly a 5-4 winner over Lake Mary Wednesday).

Currently, Lake Brantley leads the SAC with a 7-2 mark. Lake Howell (11-7 overall, 5-2 in the conference) remains the only team mathematically able to catch the Patriots.

Seminole (16-7), which has now lost four consecutive conference games after starting 5-0, can still play a roll in deciding the SAC champion when the Tribe hosts Lake Brantley at 3:30 p.m. Friday in the final SAC game of the season for both teams.

Lake Howell has conference games remaining at Lyman (this Friday, 7 p.m.), Oviedo (April 28) and Lake Mary (April 30).

On Wednesday, the Silver Hawks capitalized on a lack of control by Seminole starter Rob Morgan in the bottom of the second inning, scoring a pair of runs on two bases-loaded walks. Lake Howell finished with nine runs on 12 hits, four runs coming with two out in the bottom of the fifth inning.

The Seminoles had taken a one run lead in the top of the second inning when David Eckstein plated Phillip King, who had been hit by a pitch to reach base. It would be the only time the Seminoles would have a lead.

"I think we came out and we swung the bats a little bit better than we had been," Lake Howell coach Birto Benjamin said. "We made good contact and I think, overall, that was the difference."

"Our pitcher and our defense both did great jobs. We had a couple of mistakes here and there, but you expect that. I think the overall key was that we were able to come out and put the bat on the ball."

Leading the assault for the Silver Hawks was Rob Stanton with three singles, two RBI, and a run scored. Chris Tolliver added two singles, three RBI, and two runs. Mike Knorst doubled, singled, and scored a run.

Joel Read chipped in with two singles and a run. Paul Glambalvo added a single, an RBI, and a run. Jaron Proulx doubled, had an RBI, and scored a run. Rich DiTore contributed an RBI single. Mike Ganci scored two runs.

For Seminole, Eckstein doubled, hit three singles, and had an RBI. Tony Duncan had three singles, an RBI, Despite giving up five runs on 18 hits Wednesday, Lake Howell pitcher Brian Gomes received enough offensive support from his teammates to beat Seminole.

The Mainland Buccaneers (4-12) took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first inning, only to see Lake Mary (20-6) explode for seven runs in the home half of the inning.

J.R. Spires led the 16-hit attack for the Rams by going 4-for-4 with four runs and two RBI. Winning pitcher Tiffany Deeb was 3-for-4 with three runs. Diane Duber added a three-run home run in the first inning, two runs scored, and four RBI. Liz Davidson also hit a two-run home run in the first inning.

Goodrich delivers SCC in 9th

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — While they may be out, they won't stay down.

Having been eliminated from a possible berth in the state tournament, the Seminole Community College Raiders pushed across a run in the bottom of the ninth inning to beat Central Florida Community College 9-8 in a Mid-Florida Conference baseball game Wednesday at Raider Field.

The two teams are scheduled to meet again this afternoon at 3 p.m. at Raider Field.

Trailing 3-0 entering the bottom of the third inning, the Raiders (15-24 overall, 8-16 in the M-FC), rallied to take an 8-6 lead in the bottom of the seventh. Central Florida came back with two runs in the top of the eighth to tie the score.

Catcher Ray Hagar opened the SCC half of the ninth inning with a double to center field. Jeff Bouley, pinch-running for Hagar, advanced to third on Pete Bezered's fly ball to right field.

After Demy Beamon and Isaac Cruz were walked to load the bases, Johnny Goodrich hit an infield single to score Bouley with the winning run.

The rally made a winner of Julio Linares, who relieved starting pitcher Bob Hathcock in the seventh inning with the score tied 6-6. Linares gave up two runs on five hits, including a home run to Matt Duncan to lead off the eighth. Hathcock surrendered six runs (three earned) on 10 hits through six innings.

Club joins organ donors

Judge Hitt tells women about his heart transplant

Judge Fredrick Hitt and Mayor Bettye Smith were the guest speakers at the general meeting of the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford on April 15.

Debbie Whitehead introduced Judge Hitt who is an organ donor recipient. In 1989, Judge Hitt suffered his third heart attack while stopped in traffic. His daughter, who had just completed nursing school, was in the car when his heart stopped. According to Judge Hitt, she saved his life. He underwent surgery for a triple bypass and was quickly back on his feet and back at work.

After 18 months, Judge Hitt was told he could not survive more than several months without a heart transplant. He was immediately evaluated at Shand's Hospital and placed on a waiting list for a heart. On Jan. 13, 1991, while at a movie, Judge Hitt was paged by the beeper he carried. Within 30 minutes he was on his way to Shand's Hospital to receive his donor heart.

On Feb. 1, 1991, Judge Hitt was home and on March 1, 1991, he was back at work as a county court judge.

The judge is a member of the Mayor Bettye Smith and Judge Fredrick Hitt Club of Sanford sign up as organ donors at a recent club meeting.

Organ Transplant Foundation of Central Florida as a support group in helping others. While the success rate of transplant recipients is high, availability of organs continues to be a major problem. Judge Hitt is certain he would not be here now if it were not for his donor.

Introducing Mayor Bettye

Smith was Sharon Roberts. Mayor Smith became an eye donor in 1958 and a universal organ donor in 1984. She stressed the need for becoming organ donors and to also give thought to children being organ donors. In honor of "the precious gift of life," the mayor proclaimed the week of April 18-24 as Organ Donor Awareness Week in Sanford.

The Junior Woman's Club of Sanford will have organ donor cards available at the Health and Safety Fair at the Sanford Civic Center and on Friday, May 14, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For further information call Sandy, 322-0729.

The handicapped important to communities

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from "Heartbroken," concerning the family who received a wedding invitation that did not include their adult, learning-disabled son.

You gave her some very sound advice: Such insensitive people need to see the error of their ways. In today's society, most people with handicaps are made to feel invisible. I see this invisibility as a stereotype that has been perpetuated throughout the ages.

In the "Middle Ages," such people were locked away in asylums and considered to be "evil" or "possessed." Even today, naturally curious children are scolded if they look at — or ask about — a handicapped person they see in public. This gives our children the message that handicapped people must not be spoken to, or even looked at in public thereby continuing this myth of invisibility.

Today, a large majority of handicapped people are important members of their communities. They have jobs, homes and families of their own. Society needs to be educated about all types of handicaps, because with education will come enlightenment, understanding and compassion for this diverse sector of our society.

SISTER IN DALLAS
DEAR SISTER: Thank you for a wonderful letter. All physically challenged and learning-disabled people should have a sibling like you.

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago — perhaps four or five years ago — you printed an article about drinking. It was rather short, but very powerful and went something like this:

"I drank because I wanted to appear sophisticated, but I became obnoxious..." And there were other reasons for drinking that were equally shallow. If you can locate it, please run it again, Abby. I have a dear friend who could benefit from its sensible message.

FAITHFUL READER, EVERETT, WASH.
DEAR FAITHFUL READER:

I believe this is it:
"I drank for happiness and became unhappy."
"I drank for joy and became miserable."
"I drank for sociability and became argumentative."
"I drank for sophistication and became obnoxious."
"I drank for friendship and made enemies."
"I drank for sleep and woke up tired."
"I drank for strength and felt weak."
"I drank for relaxation and got the shakes."
"I drank for courage and became afraid."
"I drank for confidence and became doubtful."
"I drank to make conversation easier and slurred my speech."
"I drank to feel heavenly, and ended up feeling like hell."

LONGTIME MEMBER OF A.A.
DEAR ABBY: Isn't this a lovely way of explaining the death of a loved one to a child? A little girl gave a wonderful explanation of the final years and death of her grandmother. She said to her mother, after the funeral:

"Mom, you always said that Grandma walked and talked a lot with God. What I think happened is that one day God and Grandma went for an extra long walk, and they walked on and talked on, until God said to Grandma, 'You are a long way from home and are so tired, you had better just come home with me and stay.' And Grandma went."

I hope my grandchildren will have this kind of comfort.

PHOENIX GRANDMA
DEAR GRANDMA: Thank you for a beautiful addition to this column.

Diverticular disease is related to age

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please provide information on diverticulosis.

DEAR READER: As we age, we often develop small out-pouchings or sacs in the lining of the colon. These cause no symptoms but occasionally become infected (diverticulitis), leading to abdominal pain, cramps, distension and tenderness, requiring antibiotics. Thus, diverticulosis is harmless; diverticulitis is more serious. There is no cure for diverticulosis.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Diverticular Disease." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I accidentally swallowed a small amount of gasoline from a car many years ago. I've read that once a petroleum oil product enters the lungs, it never disappears. Could this substance still be in my system?

DEAR READER: Gasoline evaporates quickly and leaves no residue in the system. However, acute hydrocarbon poisoning will cause choking, coughing, lethargy, convulsions and coma. Inasmuch as you had no symptoms following the ingestion, the gasoline now poses no risk to your health.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please discuss fibromyalgia.

DEAR READER: This is a complex disorder, characterized by muscle aches, tenderness and stiffness. The cause is unknown. Fibromyalgia predominantly affects females and is intensified by stress, fatigue, exposure to cold, and infections, such as viral illnesses. A substantial number of these patients are anxious, competitive and depressed. Symptoms are often worsened by occupational or recreational strain.

There is no diagnostic test for fibromyalgia. The disease is suspected from the medical history and confirmed when tests for other disorders, such as polymyalgia and lupus, are normal.

There is no specific treatment for fibromyalgia, although aspirin and other anti-inflammatory drugs (such as Motrin) lessen symptoms. Some

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

Here's more from British comedians Eric Morecambe and Ernie Wise:

"It was the corpse. He had a gun in his hand and a knife in his back. Who'd you think poisoned him?"

"Who?"

"Nobody. He'd been strangled."

Some bridge deals are so tricky that there is more than one way for declarer to kill his own contract.

Against six spades, West attacks with the club queen. Which is the best line of play?

Two clubs was a strong, artificial and forcing. After hearing about spade support, South cue-bid to try to uncover the diamond king in the North hand. He was unsuccessful.

You must combine your chances in spades and diamonds. In isolation, the best play in spades is to cash the ace and king. If the queen drops, you are home. But if she doesn't, you are in trouble because there is no way into dummy to take the diamond finesse.

You could take an immediate diamond finesse, but there are three dilemmas. Do you finesse the queen or run the nine? If the finesse wins, how do you continue? If it loses, isn't there a risk that East will be given a diamond ruff?

The best play, strange as it may seem at first, is to run the spade jack at trick two. If it wins, you are home. But if it loses, you can use the spade 10 as an entry to take two diamond finesces.

This contract was misplayed by the two declarers in the 1979 European Championships. Both ran the diamond nine at trick two and went one down.
