

ANDY MELLON GIVES HIS TAX PLAN TO HOUSE

Balanced Budget By End Of '31 Is Goal Of Government's Tax Jump Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(A.P.)—A balanced budget at the end of the fiscal year of 1931 is the goal of the administration's tax increase program submitted today by Secretary Mellon to the House ways and means committee. "We are in the midst of a grave emergency. It is essential to raise additional revenue not just to cover current expenditures but to maintain the unimpaired credit of the United States government. Losses that will be suffered by every individual and every industry through continuation of the depression will exceed many times over the amounts to be contributed in additional taxes."

Mellon estimated the tax plan he submitted would return three hundred and ninety million dollars additional revenue during the current fiscal year and nine hundred and twenty million in the fiscal year of 1933, beginning July 1. "It would include a selective sales tax, increase in income and corporation taxes, super estate tax and increase in surtaxes. Mellon also estimated there would be a deficit of $1,417,000,000 in 1933 despite the increase in revenue. He recommended that the new taxes be terminated at the end of two years when the budget is balanced. Legislation to speed the nation toward better times yesterday took long strides in two directions."

The House applied itself to the foremost item of President Hoover's economic rehabilitation program—a proposal that two billion dollars of new credit be provided for the railroads and industry by the creation of a reconstruction finance corporation. Its members expected to vote on Thursday. The House worked on the second of Mr. Hoover's proposals, a measure to increase the capitalization of the Federal Land bank, by $100,000,000 and thus provide the farmer with new credit. It may vote today.

Each measure already had the approval of one branch of Congress. The Senate passed the reconstruction finance bill on Tuesday night and the land bank measure went through the House before Christmas. After the vote on pending have been taken, both measures probably must go to conference for adjustment of differences. (Continued on Page Three)

Boys and girls of Sanford and Seminole County are to be given a large share of the success of the contemplated visit of the Fourth Annual Air Tour to Sanford next Tuesday. If they cooperate with the sponsors of the affair to a fair degree.

From the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, office comes word that every child boy or girl who sells as many as five worth of tickets to the field, will be given a free airplane ride, and each boy selling the highest number in each school will be given an airplane ride free.

Construction Upon Lake Road Assured

Seminole County's delegation of road enthusiasts, headed by Senator J. J. Parrish, Titusville, and Representative George W. McIlroy, Sanford, today assured that construction of the Lake Road will begin within 90 days. Here is a copy of a telegram sent by Mr. Parrish and Mr. McIlroy to the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce last afternoon: "We are pleased to hear that the construction of the Lake Road is being pushed forward by the State Road Department. We are confident that the road will be completed within 90 days. We are in the midst of a grave emergency. It is essential to raise additional revenue not just to cover current expenditures but to maintain the unimpaired credit of the United States government. Losses that will be suffered by every individual and every industry through continuation of the depression will exceed many times over the amounts to be contributed in additional taxes."

SOLON DEFENDS PRESS HANDLING OF BEER HEARING

Calls Accounts Unbi- ased, Invites Evi- dence To Contrary

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(A.P.)—Chairman Metcalf of the Senate committee taking testimony of the Bingham 1 per cent beer bill yesterday defended newspaper accounts of the hearings against evidence that newspapers were withholding space to the "dry" side of prohibition.

The Rhode Island Republican anti-prohibitionist took this action in reply to a charge by Senator Brookhart (R., Iowa), a prohibitionist, that the press was giving "outlandish and unreasonable" publicity in opposition to the dry laws.

Brookhart also said he had been informed that newspapers had organized a "sort of racket" against dry organizations because the latter had "refused or neglected to buy space" in the papers.

Metcalf said in his opinion the press associations and correspondents representing individual newspapers had reported the beer hearings as "fairly as possible, but if it is true that there is some sort of news racketeering going on I want to invite those organizations who have such evidence to present it to this committee."

The Rhode Islander read his statement in a crowded committee room after six more witnesses had advocated the beer measure and (Continued on Page Five)

DINNER SAVES MAN'S LIFE

WAUPACA, Wis.—A hearty dinner, which A. P. Peterson ate recently, probably saved his life. He was unconscious after the meal and decided to walk down town instead of following his usual custom of sitting down to read. A few minutes later a stray bullet entered a window in the Peterson home, nicked his favorite chair and imbedded itself in the kitchen.

Seen as of great importance from an advertising, commercial and general health improving viewpoint is the proposed county-wide plan, set in motion by the Past and Publicity committee of the Seminole Agriculture Club today to stop the sale of free distillate by growers of cut, trimmed and sometimes cleaned celery which the picker takes aside in going through a celery field.

The club decided to use its best efforts to stop the practice of persons picking up cut or discarded celery when it learned that such celery was leaving this section yearly, most of it unfit to eat, all of it tending to lower the standard of Sanford celery.

Mr. Schmah, chairman of the committee, illustrates a point of the plan by stating that business men have been reported where tomatoes have been given or celery fields have been given or have purchased this discarded celery. When sampling it they often find it is rot, or other indications of a diseased condition, and immedi-

NELLIE ROSS IS SPEAKER AT PARTY RALLY

Says Economic Plight Of Country Vindi- cates Fundamental Democratic Ideals

ORLANDO, Jan. 12.—(A.P.)—Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former mayor of Orlando and member of the Democratic executive committee, today said that the present economic plight of the country vindicates the fundamental democratic principles that the country cannot be built from the top. Delivering the keynote address of the party rally at the Hotel Hamilton, she said: "There is no such thing as national prosperity. It is a local and a state, while one large group in any section of the country is impoverished."

Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College, Winter Park, speaking the keynote of the opening session of the two day meeting yesterday. He advocated a "bunkless platform" for the national party and declared that enforcement of present prohibition laws is impossible.

Harmony and optimism for the party's success in the approaching campaign pervaded the meeting which is a forerunner to the state-wide victory fund drive to be initiated in Tampa Thursday and the conference of the state executive committee slated for Jacksonville in February. Decision as to whether party delegates to national convention are to be instructed or instructed as to a presidential candidate is expected to be made at the latter meet.

Declaring present dry laws are unenforceable, Dr. Holt, who presided at the morning session, said: (Continued on Page Five)

State Reata Case In Trial Of Beckwith

The state has rested its case in the A. H. Beckwith embezzlement trial now being heard before Circuit Court Judge Wallace W. Wright, and early this afternoon both sides were preparing to argue the case before a jury.

Court convened this morning at 9:30 o'clock, beginning the third day of the trial. E. L. Burdick and O. R. Estridge were called as witnesses before the state rested, following which Beckwith's counsel made a motion for a directed verdict. Judge Wright denied the motion, and ordered the case to proceed. Mr. Beckwith took the stand for a few minutes before court recessed at 11:50 o'clock.

Prominent Society Woman, Maid Slain

MIDDLEBURGH, Virginia, Jan. 12.—(A.P.)—Mrs. Agnes H. Riley, 40, prominent society and housewife and her maid, about 65, were found murdered today, with their skulls crushed, in the Riley home near here. The bodies were found separately close to the house in wild disorder. Fingerprint experts are at the scene from Washington.

Steps Taken By Agricultural Club To Stop Distribution Of Bad Celery

Sanford celery is being sold in large quantities in the city of Orlando, and it is reasonable to believe that they are wary of all celery, particularly of Sanford celery, in the future.

"Farmers anxious to cooperate with the entire celery industry and other growers will not sell celery or none at all," Mr. Schmah said. "We are appealing to each of us in this section that he join in this drive to rid the county of opportunities to gain harmful advantage and lower the standard of Sanford celery. The club expects to maintain."

Mr. Schmah was hopeful that all growers will understand the basis for this appeal, and that all will see the reasonableness of having nothing but the best grades of celery given away or sold as waste to Sanford and Florida.

"Sanford celery having the distinctive flavor it has, and already being in demand in many northern markets, the fall in operation of all growers in this connection," Mr. Schmah said, "will not only stimulate sales, but increase the popularity of Sanford celery."

Great Success Attending Trade Body's Drive Which Got Started This Morning

Success in a large measure, it is said, is attending practically every stage of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce's 30 hour membership campaign which got under way early this morning after one of the most inspirational gatherings of outstanding civic and business leaders ever held in Sanford.

That 1000 members will have been enlisted by tomorrow night, is a foregone conclusion in the minds of each of the nearly 50 workers who met at the City Hall for breakfast and last minute instructions. They were uniformly bent upon to strive to the utmost in recruiting activities to day and tomorrow. By the noon announcements that every county town had doubled its quota for the actual drive began, and the

of the trade body, and the many of workers were confident that all hopes of recent weeks in connection with the drive will be realized.

REPORTS CALLED EXAGGERATED BY HAWAII OFFICIAL

U. S. Official May Be Sent To Island To Investigate Affair

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(A. P.)—Governor Lawrence Judd, of Hawaii, called the reports of the Honolulu crime crisis and the spectacular abduction and slaying of a young Hawaiian accused of attacking a naval officer's bride.

HONOLULU, Jan. 12.—(A. P.)—In the menacing calm of a city of 40,000 people, officials and civic bodies strove yesterday to ease public tension over the Honolulu crime crisis and the spectacular abduction and slaying of a young Hawaiian accused of attacking a naval officer's bride.

Outwardly the city was quiet, but it still bristled with augmented forces of the army and navy patrols any territorial police.

Already facing one federal investigation as the result of yesterday's sudden action by the United States Senate, local authorities selected a grand jury to handle the case of Mrs. Gertrude Fortescue, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., and two enlisted men of the navy charged with the murder of Joseph Kahahawai, the Hawaiian.

Sheriff Patrick Gleason, head of the widely criticized police department, said:

"I welcome an investigation from federal authorities and would be glad to co-operate in securing information they want. They start at something and the sooner they finish the better."

Governor Judd called members of territorial legislative committees together to discuss a possible special session of the law-making body to deal with the situation.

First results of the navy's decree boycotting Honolulu were felt Sunday and Monday. The naval transport Cheyenne, approaching the city, was ordered to go directly to Pearl Harbor instead of docking here. She left here also was denied the service men aboard the transport Henderson, arriving here Sunday.

The city echoed with criticism of Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, whose statement in Washington Saturday relative to the attack on the wife of Lieutenant Massie and other alleged assaults upon white women here was interpreted by many as having condoned the slaying of Kahahawai, one of five men accused by Mrs. Massie.

Outstanding in this criticism were the remarks of pastors of the leading churches who attacked what they deemed Admiral Pratt's justification of the killing. One minister suggested President Hoover should do everything locally possible to relieve Admiral Pratt of his high position.

The two principal elements in the silent conflict, the navy personnel and the group which naval officials referred to as the local law class, remained in the background as civil authorities moved to invoke the civil law against Kahahawai's alleged slayer.

Albert O. Jones, one of the enlisted men accused of murder, was transferred from city prison to the receiving ship at Pearl Harbor, where Mrs. Fortescue, Massie and the other enlisted men, J. J. Lee, previously were taken and put in custody of naval officers.

The four are being held in the custody of naval forces admittedly because of the fear of officialdom that violence might develop if they were in the city jail.

Massie was quoted by his attorneys as waiving any possible rights to trial by a naval court and preparations went ahead for disposal of the case through the territorial courts.

MAC SMITH HAS 2 GREAT ROUNDS TO LEAD TOURNEY

Records Sensational 69 And 68 In First Two Days Of Play

By BRIAN BELL.
HILLCREST COUNTRY CLUB, LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—(A. P.)—MacDonald Smith, after suffering up the Hillcrest Country Club's golf course Saturday with a sensational 69, added a 68 Sunday, his total of 137 for the first 36 holes of the Los Angeles open championship placed him 10 strokes below par and the same number of strokes as the field.

The great Smith's stroke might well have had a 50 instead of 69 Sunday. Three times his putts hit the back of cups and remained out, when they could easily have fallen in. Then on the sixteenth green after sending his tee shot well on, he allowed for a break of the green when the break was not there and had to take three putts, an unusual performance for Mac Smith, who is getting. This was the only hole where the Hawaiian man was over par.

Smith, who will celebrate his fortieth birthday this year, played as though he was out for a great round instead of shooting for the major part of $7500, his second shot, which might have been used for a medal in the first round Saturday, were just as straight Sunday, and his approach left him close enough on many of the tricky greens to get down with a "read in the hole."

His only real luck came when he holed out from directly off the green on the eleventh, for a hole there he had two putts.

There was a strain in the temporary winner's position, too. Dwyer, for the second time in two days, whiffed his way around the course in exactly the same manner as his 112 was equalled in Saturday, a continuation of the Smith, who did the same 112.

Dr. J. J. Dwyer, of Santa Ana, Calif., and Otto Dwyer, Santa Ana, two Californians, and Ben Kirkwood, the Irish, but star, won about the accomplishment a bit differently but a better round, 72, Dwyer following a 36 with 72, Dwyer and Kirkwood leading.

The first Sunday night was ordered for the final 36 holes competition Monday to 36, this time including all players who scored 141 and better for the first half of the play. George Van Sled, a professional favorite, barely slipped in with 142 and Tom Connors, the champion of the professional golfers' association, had an even closer call when he scored 143.

Seven amateurs qualified, Charlie Senner, Stanford student, having two divisions with 145, thanks to a great 77 Sunday. Edmund MacKenzie, Walker cup player, also secured a 77 Sunday, butting out a full round or shot for a two at the eleventh hole, getting a total of 147 strokes.

Six strokes back of the leader but "still in the money" were Gene Carson, New York, Clarence Clark, Bloomfield, N. J., Ky. Laffoon, Denver and two Texans, Ben Houston of Fort Worth and Dick Mett, San Angelo.

also into the character and efficiency of all territorial officials from Governor Judd down was called for in the resolution of Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, who was born in Hawaii.

Admiral Pratt recently charged that about forty women had been attacked here within the last year.

The grand jury which will act on the murder charge against Mrs. Fortescue and the three navy men will be composed of men of varied racial connections.

TO REVIEW PACKERS' DEGREE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(A. P.)—After spending most of the 12 years before judges, the packing conference decree is on the supreme court docket again. The court yesterday agreed to review a case determining whether the three the packing companies involved may handle groceries in addition to meat.

Plane Hangar Is To Be Built At City's Airfield

An official of the Standard Oil Co., sought permission to build a gasoline pump and tank on the field, to be operated by A. C. Jones, owner of a small filling station across the street from the field, but in view of the contract made with Mr. Goeringer, it had to be turned down.

Unless gasoline concerns other than the Texas Co., wish to allow Mr. Goeringer to sell their product at the field, no firm can install pumps or tanks on the field or bring their trucks there for a period of three years, under the terms of the contract. Aviators wishing gasoline other than that which is on sale, must send to Sanford for it, and must leave the field and bring it back to the plane themselves.

With aviation out of the way, the Commission discussed a number of routine matters of minor importance.

They awarded E. B. Randall, Sanford tailor, a contract to provide 10 uniforms for the police and fire departments at a price of $27 for a suit, including a coat and two trousers.

They ordered the $10,000 bonds of the City Bond Trustees reduced to $1,000 each, inasmuch as the Bond Trustees have but little responsibility and no funds in their control.

They granted the Sanford Woman's Club the use of several articles of linen, silver, and furniture at the Mayfair Hotel, to be used in serving the All-States Supper next Monday.

They learned that I. W. Phillips, owner of the wooden building formerly occupied by the Ferrell Hardware Co., on Oak Avenue, will have it removed within a few days.

They authorized City Attorney Fred R. Wilson to begin proceedings looking toward the City's securing possession of a two foot strip of land running along the entire length of the lakefront

Roosevelt's Predicament

For almost three years since the election in 1928 and the defeat of Al Smith for the presidency, Franklin Roosevelt has been regarded as the heir apparent to 1932 Democratic leadership. For a while it appeared that his nomination was inevitable. Even at present he is by far the outstanding candidate. But it is a long time before the Democratic convention in June.

As Walter Lippman points out in the New York Herald Tribune: "It is now plain that sooner or later some of Governor Roosevelt's supporters are going to feel badly let down. For it is impossible that he can continue to be such different things to such different men. He is, at the moment, the highly preferred candidate of left-wing progressives, the Senator Wheeler of Montana, and of Bryan's former secretary, Representative Howard of Nebraska. He is, at the same time, receiving the enthusiastic support of The New York Times."

Senator Wheeler, who would like to cure the depression by debasing the currency, is Mr. Roosevelt's most conspicuous supporter in the West, and Representative Howard has this week hailed the Governor as the most courageous enemy of the evil influences emanating from the international bankers. The New York Times, on the other hand, assures its readers that "no upsetting plans, no Socialist proposals, however mild and winning in form, could appeal to the Governor."

The Roosevelt bandwagon would seem to be moving in two opposite directions. There are two questions raised by this curious situation. The first is why Senator Wheeler and The Times should have such contradictory impressions of their common candidate. The second, which is also the more important question, is which has guessed right.

The obvious conclusion drawn from this predicament in which Roosevelt finds himself is that he will be the Channing Clark of the William McAdoo of 1922. When the convention meets in June, he will not have sufficient delegates to win the nomination. An effort will be made to put Al Smith over. That, failing this, delegates will turn as a compromise to Ritchie of Maryland, or Cox or Baker of Ohio.

England's Liquor Question

While prohibition is occupying such a prominent position in public and political discussions, it is interesting to note what England is doing and has done in regard to the liquor question. It might be wise to cite that what will work for one country may not work for another, but it can do no harm to study the methods which have cut the beer consumption in England since 1899 in half, and the consumption of spirits by three-quarters. In commenting on the report of the Royal Commission on Liquor Trade in England and Wales, the Christian Science Monitor says:

"First, no less than sixteen out of nineteen signatories were able to agree in their recommendations, subject to a few minor reservations. Second, except for one delegate who wants state ownership and management of the drink traffic, there is no indication of a desire for any rapid, far-reaching change. None of the 181 witnesses examined advocated prohibition, the merits and demerits of which, the commission carefully explains, were not investigated."

The commission was appointed by the Labor Government two and a half years ago. It is fairly representative of all shades of thought and contains several members who have been protagonists in the British temperance movement. When, therefore, even these members refrain from pressing some of the measures which have appeared again and again in temperance programs, their attitude cannot be attributed to lukewarmness. The explanation is to be found in a desire to carry public opinion with them.

"England today regards the drink question as being still a very serious social evil, but as certainly, less serious than twenty years ago. The majority report points out in this connection that between 1899 and 1929 the quantity of beer consumed per head of population was halved and the quantity of spirits diminished about three-quarters. The number of convictions for drunkenness fell from 209,185 in 1903 to 11,088 in 1929. The report says:

"A marked change in general social conditions has come about. . . . Drunkenness has gone out of fashion and a drunken person is not tolerated as he used to be. . . . By almost universal consent, excessive drinking in this country has been greatly, even spectacularly, diminished."

"This improvement is attributed by the commission to a great many different causes—partly to heavy taxation on alcoholic drink, partly to a reduction of licensed public houses or saloons, and limited hours wherein the sale of drink is permitted; partly to counteractions, such as sports and open-air amusements, cinemas and dancing, and partly to less easily definable moral causes."

"This is not to say that members of the commission look complacently on the situation or fail to recognize how much remains to be done. They would speed up the process of diminishing the number of saloons and require the licensing justices in each area to prepare within a short time definite plans of reduction. They would confer privileges on genuine hotels and restaurants in order to reduce 'perpendicular drinking' at bars that are bars and nothing else. They would provide more effective control over the supply of intoxicating liquor in clubs. And they suggest the formation of a national licensing commission with various executive and advisory powers."

30 BILLIONS IN DEFAULT

BY FERDINAND LUNDBERG

The world total of government, state and municipal obligations, both external and internal, which are in default stands at the staggering sum of almost $30,000,000,000, almost equivalent to the total national debt of Great Britain at par of exchange, according to a survey prepared for the Foreign Policy Association by Dr. Max Winkler, Wall Street economist and authority on international financial statistics.

The survey has not yet been released for general scrutiny, but will be generally available in a few days and will be forwarded to members of the Senatorial committee which has been investigating foreign financing of this country since the war. Many recent defaults not included in the figures disclosed by the Senate committee are contained in Dr. Winkler's report. It is understood, and are, chiefly those of Latin-American nations.

The defaults given by Dr. Winkler are for the entire world and are by no means held exclusively by American investors. It is probable, however, that the bulk of the defaulted obligations are held by American, British and French investors.

The defaults listed by Dr. Winkler are, all as of Jan. 1, and for the most part include only those concerning financial history of this country. Defaults of the nineteenth century, upon which hope of collection has long ago been given up, are not included, although obligations of the old Russian Imperial government are included. Most of the defaults given in the report have taken place since the war; many in the past year.

Of the total of $30,000,000,000 in default, a sum equivalent to $10 for every man, woman and child now alive in the world, the principal at par amounts to $19,732,501,400, and the accrued interest to $9,935,545,000. The total of interest has not been compounded.

Interest is accruing on this aggregate of government, state and municipal obligations at the rate of $1,200,000,000 annually, or $2,300 a minute, the report indicates. Every defaulted issue is listed in the report, which is thought to be the most thorough that has yet been made on the subject and to shed the most complete light on the stupendous total of dishonored obligations.

Although the detailed list of the defaults given in the Winkler report could not be obtained yesterday, it was ascertained that Latin American defaults not included in the recent Senatorial report would include a default by Guatemala on bonds held by the International Railways of South America, a subsidiary of the United Fruit Company, and a default by the Dominican Republic on sinking fund payments. A Brazilian and a Bolivian default not in the Senate Committee's report will also be included. The extensive default on Mexican obligations is included in the Winkler report, but was not included in the report of the Senate Committee which is interrogating influential American international bankers.

Approximately 75 per cent of the total amount in default is made up of Russian Imperial obligations that were repudiated by the Soviet government. The report makes clear that the obligations in default are by no means held largely by American investors, for instance.

BANKERS AT SCHOOL

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

The current hearings before the Senate Finance Committee on the subject of foreign loans have elicited much information of educational value to the public and its representatives. One hopes that it has proved instructive to our bankers as well, for they, too, have a lot to learn from the evidence.

One lesson in particular should be etched on their minds by this time and that is that too many of them in the recent orgy of foreign bond flotations forgot their obligations of trust and became mere chandlers of credit. It will be recalled that Mr. Otto H. Kahn, in his last appearance on the stand, admitted as much. "Whether high-powered salesmanship in connection with that has been overdone (in investment banking) may be open to two opinions," said the cautious Mr. Kahn. "My personal opinion is that it has been overdone. I will agree that there have been exaggerated proceedings."

There have been, without a question, and one form they have taken has been that of importing the foreign borrower to obligate himself for more credit than prudent dictated. Mr. Knute Frankfort, Belgian Finance Minister, has been quoted as thus describing the situation in Europe in the heyday of the American capital influx:

"This afternoon, on account of sickness, he has family. Mrs. Frankfort was deprived of the pleasure of accompanying the circle to the bank."

ing, frame and rule obligations exceed the amount of dollar obligations in default. The comprehensive character of the report gives some hint of the vicissitudes involved in foreign investments.

Preliminary information obtained yesterday on the report indicates that considerable interest will be aroused by the figures, and the conclusions drawn therefrom in the report. Dr. Winkler is vice-president of Barton, Gistrom, & Co., Wall Street investment house, and is recognized as an authority on foreign financial affairs, especially with regard to Latin American and Central Europe.

Dr. Winkler in the past has attracted the attention of the financial community by challenging the Department of Commerce figures on foreign financing in the United States. It has been Dr. Winkler's contention that the list of American investments abroad should be carried at par, and that all issues should be included. The position at the Department of Commerce, as understood in Wall Street, has been that issues like the Chinese and Mexican, whose market prices have approached the vanishing point, should not be included in the total of foreign investments, and that the market price should govern the tabulation of investments.

Dr. Winkler in a number of public statements has asserted that the amount Americans actually invest abroad, including investments in bonds, in factories and in foreign securities should be the amount taken as a guide in finding the total of American investments abroad. He has pointed out that if the market price is taken as a guide, the amount the United States has invested abroad will be about half of what it actually is.

Most of the obligations given by Dr. Winkler in his list of current world defaults are still held in the portfolios of bankers, insurance companies, investment organizations and private investors throughout the world. It is understood, although in many cases the owners have by now "written off" their losses.

Losses in Russian Imperial obligations are gradually being given up as lost, although each administration of the United States since the war has regarded the defaults by Russia on obligations held by Americans as one of the obstacles to diplomatic recognition of the Soviet government. No defaults on which compositions or reorganizations have been effected are included by Dr. Winkler in his total.

The bulk of the Russian obligations are held in France, which, until the revolution, maintained close financial and diplomatic relations with Russia.

The report of Dr. Winkler does not analyze the defaults on obligations from the viewpoint that the Senatorial investigators have adopted, relating to the diplomatic and foreign office connections with loans or the ultimate disposition of the funds obtained from investors. Senatorial investigators have attempted to trace the proceeds of loans floated in this country into ultimate military expenditures abroad.

There were two notable exceptions. We are glad to learn from the testimony of Mr. Grosvenor M. Jones, chief of the finance and investment division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, that he agreed with Mr. Kahn that the investment losses in the Russian bonds had been considerable. He said, however, that he did not believe the losses were as large as Mr. Kahn had estimated. He said that he followed the Russian tradition of the borrower seeking the lender rather than the lender seeking the borrower.

Whether the tradition is English or not (we are inclined to think it was universal before the advent of the New Deal), its authority over American finance should be re-established permanently. Little can be said for high-revenue salesmanship in any field, but less than nothing for its employment in banking and finance. We are much indebted to the American public for the lesson to be learned from this.

bankers will be well advised hereafter to accept the limitations of their craft in this respect or give up all idea of again becoming money lenders to the world.

Removal Of Judge Asked In Petition Of Bar Association

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 13.—

(A.P.)—Removal of Judge Thomas B. Robertson from the bench of the Hopewell, Va., corporation court, was requested in a petition sent to the general assembly yesterday over signatures of 14 of 21 members of the Hopewell bar.

A resolution requesting the assembly to investigate the conduct of Judge Robertson in connection with his sending J. W. Menpelo, Hopewell editor, to jail for five days on a contempt charge was adopted last week by 18 Virginia editors in session here. Menpelo was given a sentence of up to 30 days after he had failed to disclose the identity of the writer of a letter published in his paper.

It was said, however, that the petition filed with the clerk of the House of delegates yesterday was not based upon the Menpelo case but upon actions stretching over a period of years.

Containing 21 counts, the petition charged that Judge Robertson had been guilty of malfeasance in office; is "thoroughly incompetent"; is "fraudulently certified personal expense accounts," and "issued five contempt rules without cause."

Thus, sponsors of the reconstruction corporation bill thought it probable the measure would not reach President Hoover before the first of next week. If the House votes Thursday, conference committee probable will spend Friday and a good part of Saturday in reaching an agreement. Their work must be acted on by both branches for final approval.

The bill is virtually certain of passage in the House with a vote of seven members, two each to be appointed by the President and the Senate. The House is working on its own bill introduced prior to receipt of the Senate measure.

House, the Democrats on the House banking committee made clear in debate yesterday that they do not approve that type of legislation but that they are supporting it because of its emergency. On the other hand several changes were made by the Democratic control committee. They want the bill on acted as written by the Treasury and Gov. Eugene Meyer of the Federal Reserve Board.

Chairman Steagall inserted a provision setting up a board of seven members, two each to be appointed by the President and the Senate. The House is working on its own bill introduced prior to receipt of the Senate measure.

Essay Contest Of Buick Brings Many Rewards Over U. S.

The question, "Why does the new Buick Eight, at low prices, again confirm the Buick pledge: 'When better automobiles are built, Buick will build them,'" answered in one of more than 300,000 essays entered in a contest which began last November, yesterday afternoon brought sizable rewards to 49 of the contestants, according to Volie Williams, local Buick dealer.

Dr. F. N. Walker, of Akron, Ohio, is announced as winner of the capital prize of $25,000 for the best essay. Other awards are of $10,000 to Mrs. C. A. Hearty, Windsor, Ill.; of $5,000 to Annabelle Stone, Portland, Ore.; of $1,500 to John H. Schaefer, Buffalo, Ruth Aaron, Brooklyn, and Frank Darrow, Stockton, Cal., and three awards of $500 each, and 40 of $100 each.

The announcement was made in New York City, where the three judges, H. C. Forbes, editor of Forbes' Magazine, Foster Hunt, author and war correspondent, and H. T. Exall, advertising counselor and president of the Camp Hill Exall Co., held their final meeting. All answers were judged on soundness of reasons, rather than on literary merit. The final judges made their decisions from typed copies of the original letters of the contestants not knowing who the winners were until the numbered essays were checked back with the original.

Tea and coffee were poured during the afternoon by Mrs. S. R. Dighton and Mrs. Frank L. Weiduff. Refreshments were served by the Misses Mary Elizabeth Puleston, Camilla Puleston, Mary Dighton, and Frances Williston.

Representative Goldborough, Maryland Democrat, told the House he disliked the nature of the legislation, but said he would support it because "this is the best we can get to relieve the situation—it is a compromise, an emergency."

In the Senate, most of the discussion centered upon the "moratorium" provision in the bill, as passed by the House. It would permit the land bank directors to postpone mortgage payments in deserving cases.

To make this lenity possible, the Senate banking committee increased the measure from $100,000,000, as passed by the House, to $125,000,000.

From Senator Glass, Virginia Democrat, came the assertion that he had been informed "holders of farm loan bonds will sell them as fast as they can" if the extension provision remains in the bill.

He indicated this would result from the belief that a drop in value of bonds would follow public announcement that extensions might be obtained.

The Virginian quoted testimony by farm loan board officials by the banking committee that the provision would make successful administration of a bank "exceedingly difficult" and would lead those who are able to pay to seek postponements.

The bill as reported was defended by Senators Steiwer (R. Ore.); Carey (R. Wyo.); and Norbeck (R. S. D.), chairman of the banking committee.

NAVAL MEN WILL BE HANDED OVER FOR CIVIL TRIAL

Action Authorized By Adams In Hawaiian Violence Episodes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. — (A.P.)—Surrender of a naval officer and two enlisted men in the Honolulu circuit court for trial on a murder charge was authorized last night by Secretary Adams.

This was announced by the navy department after a long series of conferences in the capital from developments in crime-strewn Honolulu.

Admiral Yates Stirling called the secretary to approve an understanding with Circuit Court Judge Christy that the prisoners, Lieut. Thomas H. Masie and two enlisted men—would be turned over to the circuit court when requested.

The navy men, charged with the slaying of a young Hawaiian who allegedly attacked Mrs. Masie, are being held aboard the receiving ship "Albatross," where they were confined Friday after their arrest.

Mrs. Granville Fortescue, mother of Mrs. Masie, also is under arrest.

Earlier yesterday, a Secretary Adams said the navy was holding the men only for the civil authorities say that they would be turned over on demand. He added the department was to be notified first, however, so it could keep in touch with developments.

Treasurer Hoover at his regular cabinet meeting brought up the problem growing out of a reported series of assaults upon white women. Then, Attorney General Mitchell announced he would proceed to issue an order to investigate under a Sedition mandate.

Simultaneously, at capitol hill, criticism rang against procedure in the latest incident in the territory known over the world as the "paradise of the Pacific."

A House committee agreed that the territorial judge's charge to the jury that tried five men for attacking Mrs. Thomas H. Masie in Honolulu seemed a "thinly veiled insinuation to acquit."

It was the murder of one of these accused men, followed by the shooting of Mrs. Masie's mother, her husband and two other navy men, that brought the situation to a climax which was a magnet of official attention in the capital.

A proposal for separate Senate investigation, made by Senator McKellar, Tennessee, is pending in the Senate with early action expected.

HONOLULU, Jan. 13. (A.P.)—Honolulu was quiet yesterday after four days of suspense over the ramifications of the crime situation.

Enlisted men from nearby army and navy posts visited the city on leave Monday night for the first time since last Friday's sensational abduction and killing of Joseph Kahakawai, young Hawaiian accused of attacking the bride of a naval officer.

No disturbances were reported. Shore patrols of military and naval police cooperated with civilian officers to insure order. Members of the navy and army police force were assigned to each police patrol car. Most of the soldiers taking liberty in the city were in civilian clothes.

While United States Attorney General Mitchell took steps to carry out an investigation of the situation as ordered by the Senate at Washington, a special territorial legislative committee went ahead with possible plans for an extra session to deal with the matter.

Should a special session be called, it is expected legislation changing the office of the chief of police of Honolulu from an elective to an appointive position will be considered.

Among the navy's charges in the latest crime situation was the statement that the Honolulu police were inefficient, and that the department was dominated by politics because its head, Sheriff Patrick O'Rourke, is an elected official.

Answering reports of naval authorities that 40 women had been attacked in Honolulu within a year, Deputy City and County Attorney Griffith Wright said he had investigated and found seven cases involving violence and 33 cases not involving violence.

Prosecution of Mrs. Granville Fortescue, society matron; her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Masie, U. S. N., and two naval enlisted men on charges of murdering Kahakawai, occurred yesterday at Mrs. Masie's last September, availing organization of the county grand jury Friday in their the evidence.

Mrs. Fortescue, Masie and the two accused enlisted men, E. J. Ford and Albert O. Jones, are being held in the custody of naval officials at Pearl Harbor.

Circuit Judge Christy said he turned them over to naval authorities with the understanding they would be produced in court upon demand.

SHARKEY OFFERS TO FIGHT MAXIE IN CHARITY BOUT

Battle Would Be Held Next Summer Under Auspices Of Legion

BOSTON, Jan. 13. — (A.P.)—Jack Sharkey, heavyweight boxing champion, yesterday in the headquarters of the American Legion at the state capitol, offered to fight Max Schmeling, the champion, next summer, under the auspices of the Legion for the benefit of unemployed veterans.

Stephen C. Garrity, state commander of the Legion, immediately accepted Sharkey's offer.

Garrity dispatched a letter to Henry L. Stevens, Jr., national commander of the Legion, asking his cooperation in obtaining the support of Legion posts throughout the country.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13. (A.P.)—Lawyer Felman asked the New York state athletic commission yesterday to recognize him as the featherweight champion of the world, succeeding Christopher "Batt" Battalino, who failed to make the class weight for a title fight with the New Yorker here last Friday night.

The commission said "no" and Felman offered to compromise with the title of "defending champion" of the featherweight's. Again the commission shook its head and placed the matter on file.

The commission previously had informed Felman he had no claim to the title. Battalino, who failed here on the weighing-in scale, forcing cancellation of the 16-round match.

The matter of signing on contracts for the Max Schmeling-Mickey Walker heavyweight title match in Miami, Feb. 25 made slight progress yesterday, but not toward any penmanship on the part of the principals.

Jack Kearns, manager of the challenger, announced he had secured a suite of rooms in one hotel for the ceremony this afternoon. Representatives of Schmeling declared they had none the same at an entirely different hotel, but with the date for the signing not determined.

By now most of the observers have given up hope that the match will be signed anywhere.

"Henry's Wedding" To Be Presented Again

"Henry's Wedding," the three-act comedy, which has more than 100 Sanford persons in its cast and was presented at Seminole High School last night before an audience which nearly filled the auditorium, will again be presented, tonight, at 8:15 o'clock.

That the performance pleased the crowd gathered was evident in the gales of laughter and rounds of applause which swept the building time after time. The appearance of 33 well-known Sanford persons dressed to represent characters of the play, Nineties, brought considerable amusement, and was considered as one of the features of the show.

The proceeds of the performance will be turned over to the band fund of the Sanford Elks Club, sponsors of the performance.

The spike, which Mr. Grogan declares one of the finest specimens he has ever seen, has 12 uniformly sized grapefruit of a delicious flavor. It was taken from the Paola groves of the Umatilla Fruit Co., and is another indication of the productivity of Seminole County soil.

Hitler Refuses To "String Out" Term Of Von Hindenberg

BERLIN, Jan. 13. — (A.P.)—Adolf Hitler, national socialist leader, and Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, leader of the nationalists, refused last night to give their support to the government in extending for one year the term of office of President Von Hindenberg.

They informed Chancellor Brüning, who had hoped to avert the turmoil of an election this spring by having the Reichstag prolong the president's tenure, they could not be a party to the plan because they considered it a violation of the constitution.

It was understood that both the Nazi leader and Dr. Hugenberg were writing letters to Dr. Brüning explaining their refusal. The aged Von Hindenberg wanted to see him elected, but they insisted that it be done constitutionally.

Before the decision of the two leaders of the "nationalist" opposition was made public, there was talk of re-electing the veteran president in an ordinary election in which there would be no opposition candidate, except possibly a communist.

The president has let it be known that he will accept a new term only on condition he is not opposed.

Political commentators declared the refusal of the rightists to take part in the Brüning scheme to extend the president's term apparently was influenced by the fact that they did not want to assist the chancellor's government in any way.

Series Of Dinners Will Open Drive Of Democratic Party

NEW YORK, Jan. 13. — (A.P.)—Additional speakers were named Monday for the series of dinners to be held in more than 50 cities and towns from coast to coast next Thursday night to mark the public launching of the Democratic party's "preparedness drive" for the 1932 presidential campaign.

Democratic leaders have given the name "victory dinners" to the gatherings.

Melvin L. Traylor will share the platform with J. Quatt Shouse, national committee executive chairman, and Robert F. Carr, "victory chairman" for Illinois, at the Chicago dinner.

Mrs. Jessie Woodrow Sayre, daughter of the late President Woodrow Wilson, will join former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Gov. Joseph R. Ely of Massachusetts, and Mayor James A. Curley in addressing the dinner in Boston.

"Democratic preparedness for 1932," it was announced, will be the title of Governor Smith's speech, which will be broadcast from 9:30 to 10 P. M.

At the Jackson (Miss.) dinner, Governor Billie and Governor-Elect Mike Bennett Conner will be the principal speakers.

Charles H. Babin, New York victory chairman, will make the introductory remarks at the victory dinner here. John W. Davis, general chairman for the victory campaign, Governor Roosevelt, Senator Robert F. Wagner and Congressman Henry T. Rainey, majority leader of the House of Representatives, also will speak.

Cloudburst Floods Pensacola Streets

PENSACOLA, Jan. 13. — (A.P.)—The business section here today became a lake at some places four feet deep for a brief period as the result of a cloudburst which loosed eight inches of rain and broke all records. Most of the rain fell during a single half hour last night.

Many streets were still flooded at daybreak. Heaviest damage was done to streets paved with wooden blocks. The city guard notified a steamboat to ground off Panama City during the storm.

NELLIE ROSS SPEAKER AT PARTY RALLY

presented the prohibition problem might be solved through adoption of a system of government regulation of sale of liquor. He bitterly opposed return of the open saloon, however.

"Present conditions are intolerable," the noted educator declared in a frank discussion of the prohibition problem. "Past conditions are intolerable also. The only solution is compromise and it appears that compromise is government control."

"We are spending millions of dollars annually in trying to enforce a law that is unenforceable. Why not do as Canada has done—put sale of liquor under government control. That may be one way, I don't know, but it is for the party to consider. I do not claim to have the sanest answer to this problem. Certainly we do not wish to see the return of the open saloon, but it seems to me we might well regulate the sale of liquor in some manner such as Canada is now doing."

Tariff for revenue only, Dr. Holt said, should be a certain platform consideration. He declared foreign relations should be put on a new footing that would abolish European "jealousies and suspicions" and rescue the United States from its policy of total isolation. It would be "foolhardy and pointless," he said, if the United States refuses to participate in World Court discussions.

"Make Europe cut her armaments, and then we can forget with good conscience the reparations payments which we will never get any way," Dr. Holt advised.

Other speakers on the opening day's program were: Mrs. James M. Carson, Miami, who has been named by the National Democratic Executive Committee as general of the Florida army of party women who will participate in the national Democratic victory fund drive, opening Jan. 14; State Senator Franklin O. King, Orlando; W. G. Carlson, professor of sociology at the University of Florida; George W. Seaford, Inverness attorney; W. M. Pepper Jr., Miami, president of the Florida League of Young Democrats; and Circuit Judge W. W. Wright, Sanford.

Mrs. Carson described the work of organizing Democrats of Florida for the victory fund drive at which they expect to raise a minimum of $15,000, and declared Florida is one of three states selected by the national Democratic party as a laboratory for experimentation in the forthcoming political campaign. Other states, she said, are Delaware and New Jersey.

"Ours is a golden opportunity," said Mrs. Carson, "to demonstrate the efficiency of women in the coming campaign. We are charged with the definite responsibility of not only crystallizing sentiment among voters but of sharing in the financial setup so necessary to successful prosecution of the campaign."

In presenting a plea for a united front in the approaching campaign, Judge Wright referred to the election of 1928 when Florida deserted the Democratic ranks and went Republican for the first time since reconstruction days.

"Florida is going to reassert herself in 1932," Wright declared, "and place herself back where she belongs. Florida will be there in the ranks of Southern Democracy."

Pepper described the work of the young Democrats of Florida and said the state convention of that organization will be called following the national convention to effect a permanent body. At that time officers will be elected for four year terms, he said, who will guide the destinies of the organization, which is composed of both young men and young women.

Senator King warned that "Democrats are going to have to organize if they are going to win government back for the people." "The world is waiting for the sunrise," he said, "and we must have a renaissance of patriotism in this country."

He bitterly assailed the Republican administration and declared that "instead of having a government of the people and by the people we have a government of monopoly and by monopoly that is strangling the arteries of trade and commerce."

Seaford pleaded for unity and action in Democratic ranks and Carlton predicted victory for the party in 1932 national elections.

"UNLOCKS" HANDCUFFS

PORTLAND, Ore., "Unpickable, unbreakable handcuffs of hardened steel," advised the markets when police bought handcuffs. The cuffs lived up to their name when a pair stuck on Gus Miller, prisoner. It took several men with hacksaws and a locksmith to free him.

He said it should be thoroughly understood that only proponents of the bill have been heard thus far and that until the opponents have been called the news accounts obviously "must largely carry the side favoring the legalization of beer."

Those testifying yesterday were Representatives Clancy (R. Mich.), White (R. Ohio) and Karch (D. Ill.); Edgar Allen Poe Jr., relative of the poet, and Baltimore commander of the Crusaders, an anti-prohibition organization; L. S. Ray, vice chairman of the legislative committee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and E. J. Roche of the Central Labor Union of this city.

Clancy and White compared crime and other conditions in this country with those in Canada with its liquor dispensary system and said some change here was imperative.

With Bishop James Cannon Jr., sitting close by making notes of the testimony, Clancy said the Canadians did not understand why "we let Bishop Cannon and E. Scott McBride (Anti-Saloon League superintendent) dictate to our legislature and the President."

"The Canadians take care of their ecclesiastical racketeers more roughly than we do here they smack them down."

Representative White said he found on a recent visit to Canada that conditions were much improved under their system. Enactment of the Bingham measure, he said, would wipe out most of all of the speakeries and go a long way toward relieving unemployment.

Legalization of 4 per cent beer, Representative Karch testified, would help bankrupt cities wipe out their deficits through license fees. He said the American people would never submit to strict enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Solon Will Charge Mellon With Fraud

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. — (A.P.) Representative Patman, Democrat of Texas, told the House judiciary committee he intended to charge Secretary Mellon with fraud and corruption in behalf of his resolution to impeach the treasury head. "I not only allege he has been indirectly concerned in carrying on business but I believe I can prove he has directly concerned himself in carrying on that business," Patman said this is forbidden by federal laws.

Patman argued it was unreasonable to permit the manufacture of 12 per cent wine in the hope and to bar the making of beer of more than one-half of one per cent alcohol content both inside and outside the home.

He advocated legalization of cheap beer with low tax and low profits. He said he honestly believed in a change despite that he might be influenced by the "wet sentiment" in Baltimore.

Ray argued prohibition had built up a criminal element threatening the foundation of government. He said the Veterans of Foreign Wars favored 4 per cent beverages of all kinds and submission of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the states.

Legality Of Dry Law Again Being Attacked

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 13. — (A.P.) The woman's vote on the Eighteenth Amendment will be ground for an attack on its constitutionality in the federal court of appeals at Cincinnati.

William C. Klyne of Lorain, an attorney, charged in a demurrer filed in federal court here yesterday that 28 of the 36 states which ratified the amendment had universal suffrage. He contended the women had been authorized to vote under amendments to their state constitutions but not under federal amendment, and therefore could legally vote only on local or state issues.

Freight Rate Cut On Citrus Set For Jan. 25

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. — (A.P.) Citrus fruit freight rates from Florida points to destinations throughout the southeast will be reduced 25 percent on Jan. 25.

Railroads serving Florida yesterday filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission notice of the reduction in accordance with permission granted by the commission last week. The commission authorized the reduction on 15 days notice and the railroads posted the notice in Florida last Saturday. It thus complied with the law although it did not reach the commission until yesterday.

Carroll Varner Is Principal Speaker At Kiwanian Meet

Using as his subject a philosophical quotation from Henry Van Dyke, distinguished educator and historian, the Rev. Carroll Varner of the First Methodist Church, delivered an inspirational address before members of the Sanford Kiwanis Club and their guests at the Monterama Hotel.

"Think without confusion clearly, act from honest motives, purely love fellow men sincerely, and love in God and Heaven securely," was the advice which Rev. Varner passed on to the Kiwanians, elaborating each point.

Jackie "Hoo" Ray, young motion picture star, who was introduced as the youngest honorary Kiwanian in the world, entertained the Kiwanians with a mental test, after his father, J. G. Ray, had given an interesting talk on motion picture conditions in California, the possibility that a large portion of the industry may settle in Florida soon, and delight of a recent tour around the world.

Forrest Gatchel was introduced as a new member.

Mrs. C. O. Bates and Mrs. P. T. Thompson rendered a song as a portion of the entertainment program, with Miss Elizabeth Clark, a accompanist.

Present at the luncheon were:

Mrs. Bare, Mrs. Thompson, Rev. Varner, H. C. DuBose, L. A. Tate, Peter Thurston, Jackie Ray, J. G. Ray, Karl Lehmann, as guests; Kiwanians E. F. Dornier, F. S. Jamson, F. R. Wilson, E. B. Randall, F. W. Lawton, S. F. Doudney, J. D. Jinks, J. M. Stinebaugh, R. C. Moore, Howard Long, C. O. Bare, B. D. Caswell, S. J. Cox, W. H. Zachary, Forrest Gatchel, Howard Overlin, V. A. Speer, V. C. Fort, Dale Hanishe, J. G. Shanon, L. L. Marenzeller, Fletcher Bailey, W. T. Langley, H. W. Rucker, P. N. Whitehurst, Julius Dingfelder, J. G. Leonard, Walter Coleman, T. L. Dumas, E. I. Hoy, S. D. Higleyman, C. A. Rynd, Ray Fox, and Arthur Brannan, and Miss Clark, club pianist.

The selections were made after a survey of the entire state, and after conferences with the superintendent of public instruction, the principals of the two schools, the lunch room managers, the district directors of the P. T. A., and the vocational home economics teachers.

The principal purpose of the "A" lunch program is to promote the increased use of fruits, vegetables, and milk in the school lunch menu. Details of the plan are rapidly being completed under the general supervision of Mrs. W. I. Morgan, district director of the P. T. A., and every indication points to the success of the experiment, for all groups are co-operating.

New Lunch Program To Be Demonstrated

Two Sanford schools, the Sanford Junior High and the Sanford Grammar schools, have been selected as the scenes of two of five similar demonstrations to be made in the state of the "A" lunch program recommended by the State Parent Teachers Association and the State Department of Agriculture, cooperating with the educational authorities.

The selections were made after a survey of the entire state, and after conferences with the superintendent of public instruction, the principals of the two schools, the lunch room managers, the district directors of the P. T. A., and the vocational home economics teachers.

The principal purpose of the "A" lunch program is to promote the increased use of fruits, vegetables, and milk in the school lunch menu. Details of the plan are rapidly being completed under the general supervision of Mrs. W. I. Morgan, district director of the P. T. A., and every indication points to the success of the experiment, for all groups are co-operating.
