Zero Weather Halts Battles In Korean War

Ground Action Slows As Freezing Rains And Icy Winds Hit Shivering Troops

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 14—(AP)—A frozen silence settled over Korean battlefields today. Temperatures of six above zero virtually paralyzed the northwestern front where, as estimated 900,000 Chinese Communists face the concentrated U. S. First Corps. It was even colder in the northeast. Ice-tipped winds swept down from mountain peaks on the quilted Chinese and on shivering American, many still in summer uniforms. The U. S. Eighth Army was rushing arctic clothing to the chilled troops.

Parks clad Marines pushed through frozen hills in the center of the line toward Changin reservoir and its great hydroelectric development.

Farther east, two regiments of the U. S. Seventh Division marched along ice caked roads in sub-zero weather toward the Manchurian border, 30 miles away.

Winds of 40 miles an hour made it difficult for the Korean men of the Seventh Division to breathe. Their hands and feet were numbed by the cold. A thermometer carried by a tiny wind-tossed plane showed them registered 21 degrees below zero. Associated Press Correspondent Tom Stone and the U. S. Army's 31st "Polar Bear" Regiment.

Shells and rockets carried heavy weapons and equipment through the mountain roads north of Pungsan. Red mortars opened up on the Yonpu three hours after they started the march toward Kapsan. The 31st Division's 10th Regiment reached the Pusan reservoir 35 miles southwest of Pungsan without seeing the enemy.

On the snow covered hills of the east coast, the South Korean Capital Division beat off a tanked North Korean attack with the help of the eight inch rockets of Marine planes.

NA U. S. Tenth Corps spokesman said the North Korean forces were in the Oranong River, 90 miles south of the Soviet border. Forty miles to the west, another unit of the Capital Division.

March Of Dimes Will Try For $50 Million

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—(AP)—The March of Dimes has raised its sights for next year and will try to collect $50,000,000 to fight polio—$20,000,000 more than was collected this year.

Announcement of the new and higher goal was made last night by Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, sponsor of the annual campaign.

He said the foundation must not only erase a $5,000,000 deficit it expects by the end of the year, but must be prepared for new and higher costs following three years of excessive polio outbreaks.

He said this year is now rated the second worst on record, and follows the two successive record-breaking years of 1948 and 1949.

At present, he said the foundation is helping a third time as many as 12 years ago.

O'Connor spoke at a meeting of the Foundation's state advisors on women's activities.

Not only is it now two and one-half times as frequent as one-half years ago, but 25 per cent of its victims are no longer children, but adolescents and adults. He said new studies may show this upper age group to be as large as 30 per cent.

Phone Pickets Riot As Police Enter Battle

Union Charges Lock-out In New York; Phone Company Begins To Retaliate

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14—(AP)—Striking telephone equipment workers fought police for 45 minutes today in an attempt to keep Bell operators from going to work at a west Philadelphia exchange. The Bell workers finally made it with police aid.

Seven strikers were arrested during the push-and-shove struggle in front of the Trinity Exchange. Twice the picketing strikers burst through police lines and prevented entrance of the waiting operators and other employees.

A third massed police attempt to force their way through the picketing succeeded, but it was a protracted struggle to keep the way open for employees who sprinted from across the street, darting through the line in groups.

Several persons were knocked over. Buttons were torn from police uniforms and the overcoats of strikers. The policemen, however, did not use night sticks.

The demonstration was the first attempt by the strikers, members of the CIO Communications Workers Union, to keep non-striking Bell workers from going to their jobs. The operators and other Bell.

Army To Call Up 40,000 Men Next January

McMahon Says Funds For Dispersal Of Federal Agencies Are Badly Needed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—(AP)—The Army today announced a call for 40,000 draftees in January. The new call brings the total Army request to 250,000 since the outbreak of the war in Korea.

The September and October draft requests were for 50,000 men in each month. The November figure mounted to 70,000 and fell to 40,000 for December.

All men brought into the service through the Selective Service system to date have gone to the Army. The Navy and Air Force continue to depend upon volunteers to build up their manpower.

The demand for trained troops in Korea has speeded the overseas movement of reserves, defense officials said. The maintained, however, that this has not broken down the priority system based on age and previous combat service.

Individual reservists and groups stationed in camps around the country have been complaining to their hometown newspapers and friends that they were being rushed overseas while other reservists with less World War II service were being permitted to stay in the country.

The reserve assignment program was announced by the Defense Department last month. This program set up a schedule for the gradual release of reservists and the special system to determine when men would be sent overseas.

Meanwhile Senator McMahon (D-Calif.) said Congress ought to speed up the program. President Truman's request for funds to move some government agencies out of Washington as a safeguard against any bombing attack.

McMahon, chairman of the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, said a state or federal money should be made at the "same duck" session now scheduled to convene Nov. 27.

The President asked Congress last August for $150,000,000 for the "dispersal" program. The lawmakers refused to include the money in the $7,000,000,000 emergency defense bill passed last September. They returned later in September.

The plan calls for constructing buildings for some key government agencies in nearby Maryland and other states.

City Decides On Move To Prevent Decay Of Teeth

Contract Is Let To Black Laboratories On Sodium Fluoride

Application to the City's water supply of sodium fluoride, in order to reduce tooth decay among children by as much as 60 to 75 percent was approved last night by the City Commission.

Although Sanford's water supply has traces of sodium fluoride, said City Manager McKibbin, it is only a fraction of what is necessary to limit tooth decay, and therefore a small, additional amount of the chemical is necessary.

The contract for the addition of sodium fluoride was awarded to the Black Laboratories at Gainesville. Dr. Charles Black, head of the firm, who on Nov. 6 told Rotarians here of the benefits of the sodium fluoride water treatment, is president of the American Waterworks Association.

The contract will have an effect on the taste of the water, and even if used of many times the proposed strength, could not be harmful, said Mr. McKibbin. Plans and specifications for the water treatment, however, must be approved by the State Board of Health, he added.

DO YOUR PART!

Loyal cooperation of every man, woman and child is needed if our town is to develop into a lucrative shopping center

HEY, FRIEND!

BUY AT HOME YOURSELF

Give local merchants a chance to serve you. When volume of business increases, so will variety and quantity of stocks in local stores.

URGE OTHERS TO BUY AT HOME

You will be rendering yourself and your friends a service by insisting that all loyal citizens spend their money here.

KEEP YOUR MONEY WORKING FOR YOU

When you buy in local stores your money does more than get you merchandise. It returns to you to be used again. Spent in other towns, it never comes back to you.

The Same Old Bill

We often hear some people say, "Money Talks," but the old five-dollar bill in my purse doesn't tell me where it has been and what it has done since I paid it for groceries a month or so ago.

It was crisp and new when I got it from the bank.

Now it is limp and soiled. It has been paid again and again for goods and service in my town. And I shall spend it here again.

So long as it circulates in my hometown, it helps my home-town people.

TODAY'S HIGHLIGHTS

God often reveals himself in hours of utter introspection and quiet: He still and know that I am God.—Psalm 46:10

Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, a so-called specialist on Far Eastern problems, proposes in this week that the United States should buy off the Communist Reds to make them behave even if it costs billions of dollars.

Noting that Professor Samuel F. Proctor has just written a book, "Napoleon Bonaparte Bloward Florida's Fighting Democrat," we wonder how many of you people remember that this Bloward used to be governor of Florida?

You do not have to go to Korea, or China, to run the risk of being shot. Look at what happened, or nearly happened, to President Truman a few days ago.

Underground gangs control the city of Tampa, says Daniel P. Sullivan, director of the Miami Crime Commission.

Schulberg's new book, "The Disenchanted" deals with the life of Scott Fitzgerald, popular writer of 1920 fiction.

Organized crime in this country is worse than it ever has been, says Senator Kefauver of the Senate Crime Investigating committee.

Christmas shopping this year looks like the best ever if merchants get out and hustle for business.

Christmas business last year in the department store field eclipsed the all-time high of the year before.

A good part of the rise in total business over the last two years has been accounted for by advancing prices.

Those rising prices may make totals higher but they also increase the sales resistance of each customer.

In many areas merchants started their heavier newspaper advertising schedules and sales promotions two weeks earlier than usual.

But don't get the idea that everything is lovely in the retail business. It isn't.

They haven't had much time to try to work them down, but they hope that when this Christmas comes they will be able to make a world, we suppose.

A Larger Vote

The vote turnout in the 1950 general elections was much smaller than that in the last presidential election, but substantially larger than the previous record for off-year elections, set in 1938.

There appear to be two reasons for the larger vote. In many places an intensive effort was made to increase the size of the vote, by party or non-partisan groups, or both.

Either means of stimulating a higher percentage of voting is essentially sound. People who go to the polls chiefly in response to urging are bound to take some interest in what goes on there.

Interesting contests not only draw more citizens to the polls but also cause them to be more thoughtful about their ballots.

Spain And The World

Some people can't leave well enough alone. Spain, after being barred from the United Nations since its organization and officially ostracized by UN action, has now been authorized entry to specialized agencies of the UN.

Spanish leaders apparently have failed to draw shrewd conclusions from the course of their case in the UN. The vote on lifting the sanctions and easing the ban was rather close.

President Truman has indicated that he has no plan to take advantage of the opportunity to send an ambassador to Madrid.

Nehru Sees The Light

Nehru is learning. The premier of India has been learning toward the Chinese Communists, perhaps because they are fellow Orientals.

Nehru has just had a shock. The Chinese Communists announced the invasion of Tibet after they had promised, says Nehru, not to take that step.

Russia would thus lose a powerful ally, powerful because of India's size and prestige in the Orient.

Nehru is learning the facts of life about Communism.

Christmas Shopping May Exceed All Records If Merchants Hustle

By HAIDER WINGET
NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Christmas shopping this year looks like the best ever if merchants get out and hustle for business.

Christmas business last year in the department store field eclipsed the all-time high of the year before. And this year is regarded by retailers as a certainty to set a new high dollar volume record at Christmas.

A good part of the rise in total business over the last two years has been accounted for by advancing prices.

Those rising prices may make totals higher but they also increase the sales resistance of each customer.

In line with that trend was the absence of scarce buying last week when the Chinese Communists revived fears that the Korean war would be extended.

Retailers have been through a lot in the past few months and they face a considerable array of uncertainties in the future.

At mid-year department store sales were bumping along about even with the year before.

Causes for the let-down are easy to find. People did their November buying last July and August.

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(AP)—A report made public last night by President Truman must be a job for anyone who, wanting his income tax cut, hoped this country might soon stop pumping help into Europe.

This report was given the President by Gordon Gray, former Secretary of the Army and now President of the University of North Carolina.

Last Mar. 31 the President asked Gray to study, and then recommend to him, what course this country should follow in giving economic help abroad in the future.

It can be summed up briefly: It calls for spending a lot of money for some years to come. Billions, in fact. But, of course, whether Congress will go along with this is something else. Here is the substance of the report.

The Marshall Plan for helping Europe was started in 1948 and was supposed to end June 30, 1952.

Its purpose, to help Europe get on its feet economically and so prevent a collapse which would open the doors to Communism.

But since this country started putting billions into Europe in 1948, relations with Russia have gone from bad to worse.

So, in addition to the Marshall Plan economic aid, this country started giving Europe military aid, too, and that cost more money.

Then in June, 1950, war broke out in Korea. In this fighting the U. S. realized how poorly equipped it was for a major war.

So here was the Marshall Plan, with two years still to go, and the defense program added to it. And a new question arose.

If Europe, getting on its feet, now has to turn some of its production from civilian goods to weapons, will its economy be damaged?

In these days of Confusion, one can expect almost anything to happen and usually it is the unexpected that happens.

With the thought in mind that these natives are more like brutes than civilized people, we are naturally aroused as we hear of the abuse of people by others that are supposed to be an older civilization by centuries than Americans.

Yet the races are vastly different, which should account for the savagery, but here at home, most people have a common thought in mind, that to live and let live.

Then to learn of atrocious acts against our aged and infirm in our local old folks home seems almost unbelievable, and as in the world, new forms of government are being imposed upon subjects unwanted.

There is no sense in trying to cram down peoples throats, ideas Religious or social that they do not wish, then punish them because they still wish to be their own free moral agents.

In my home state of Pennsylvania our old folks homes are paid by taxes, as they no doubt are here, and any work of the inmates is voluntary, this to eliminate any reproach upon the institution.

Being an inmate could fall any body's lot. It is one of those things that thro prolonged sickness or financial reverses at an age when one cannot begin all over. It is a disgrace to our fine country to have clouds of such nature hanging over the place where our dear helpless old people must exist.

In selecting persons for this important position only proven Christians should be considered, for it could be that some who are very able today, may in the future have to take advantage of the country's hospitality, who knows? I'm sure none of us would want to spend our last few days in a home where abuse has been tolerated. Most of us would take our chance on the street.

Nothing cuts this writer to the heart any more than to learn of some poor old man or woman being abused. I am not saying that old people do not prove to be a problem, nor do I contend that any person is absolutely guilty of all rumors heard, but if those were not partly true, the management needs an apology, if true, no grace should be given.

It's wonderful to pray for the inmates but prayer alone will not suffice. Our treatment toward our fellow man often brings evidence of whether love was shown, or whether it was our pay check we were most interested in.

Seminole County is an outstanding county in the state. It fine soil, its many beauty spots, and its vast resources make it a desirable place to live. Let's make it charitable, and live down this reproach.

Sincerely yours in Christ Rev. B. W. Miller (Miller Farms)

While he was a needless bridegroom, his bride found time to have an affair with a professional singer, complained Samuel H. Scripps, 22-year-old grandson of the late publisher, E. W. Scripps.

Superior Judge Thurmond Cleck granted Scripps an annulment yesterday of his March 1 marriage to Patricia Murphy, 22, an ice skater he met in a show he financed.

Scripps, beneficiary of a $13,322,000 trust, said he asked his wife for affection but that she refused. His complaint alleged she had been intimate with Robert Le Wandt, 25, of New York, named as co-respondent.

New Smyrna scored a 13 to 0 victory over the Celery Peds last Friday night. Lots of kids went to the out of town football games, and said that our boys made a wonderful show for S.H.S. Maybe this weekend when we play Dayton we'll beat their socks off! Don't ya boys hope so?

Guess all the students and visitors at school has noticed the bulletin boards done by some-ones taking Mrs. Aided by Mrs. Hlatz, these display cute and original ideas for football games, etc. Their work is certainly to be praised.

A juicy bit of gossip that you'll might ask our beloved biology professor is what magazine was he reading Saturday night at Mac Reynolds and enjoying so very much?

The Pep Club has started their year off with a bang! They have already sold 2000 worth of socks. This club is one you see marching with the band during the football games and standing by the auditorium doors during chapel. The president this year is Mary Jane Johnson vice president, Peggy Wilson; treasurer, Jo Ann Harrington; secretary, Catherine Lee; reporter, Carolyn Rosland; and chaplain is Elizabeth Carpenter. I know this will be another wonderful year for our Pep Club!

The Try-Hi-Y has appointed some industrious and enthusiastic officers. Pat Casade is the president. They have already had their annual Freshman party, where the members take a Freshman girl and become her sister. It was a Halloween party this time, and everyone had loads of fun. Sue Ann Radford won first prize for her costume. They really had a small year planned!

North Korean General Staff Tries To Regroup With Chinese Help

By HAI BOYLE
 WITH THE U. S. EIGHTH ARMY IN KOREA—(AP)—The United Nations is running up against world Communism in the first real test of the Red military theory of "ultra defense."
 The U. N. has defeated the North Korean foe in the field but behind the Czech, well-armed Chinese, the shattered North Koreans are trying desperately to rebuild a new army.
 That is the belief of some western American intelligence officials. It is a known fact that, although U. N. forces stripped the North Korean army of its muscle, the brain remained intact.
 A recent summary by General MacArthur estimated the North-

38th Parallel. It issued orders to high field officers to defend as long as possible, then pull back. The withdrawing forces were told to reassemble at Sinuiju, on the northwest rim of the Korean Manchuria border, and at Kanggye, a town only a short distance below the border in the north-central part of the peninsula.
 The North Korean general staff apparently is doing its best now to reorganize as large a fighting force as it can. It is an attempt to regain "face," also part of a Soviet-inspired program to admit final defeat.
 Stragglers from scores of defeated units in the south are being reassembled after they walk hand-ragged and sometimes without weapons, across the hills. The remaining youth of North Korea are being forced into the new units are under training on both sides of the border.
 The North Koreans have been compressed into about one-fifth of the country they once ruled. Instead of a population of 10,000,000 from which to recruit, they probably have left a population of 5,000,000.
 Therefore, the chief concern of U. N. commanders is not for the 60,000 troops the North Koreans still have in the field. The chief worry is the daily increasing "broken force" of 100,000 or more Red Chinese.
 Is China ready to try to bleed the U. N. to death in Korea by slowly sending in the almost endless manpower of that nation's 450,000,000?
 And if that massive power should be committed to battle would the Soviet Union also count the weight of its own 200,000,000 people to that same effect?
 On these fulcrums the world's teeter tottering today. It is wondering whether we are at the opening of an unbalanced world war—or whether the Russians and Chinese are going to threaten of war as a bid to win a diplomatic victory.
 American intelligence officials tend to feel that even if the entry of Chinese into North Korea turns out to be a bluff, it still suggests a big muscular step forward by Communist toward world rule by military means.

Soil Conservation News

By Leslie A. Jarosien
 Planning Technician
 U. S. Soil Conservation Service

A fine example of cooperative conservation has been demonstrated in Seminole District by the planting of a five-acre grass nursery, this plot contains coastal "35" Bermuda and pangola grass.
 Mr. William Lettler of Sanford made the land available for use by the district and he also did the preliminary clearing and stumping.
 Ed Caverton, district supervisor and Sanford resident, provided pangola grass planting material, the color for setting the grass and a roller for firming the soil around the sods.
 Longwood, provided tractor and "Top," Art and Wally Krohne, who live on Fairy Lake near Longwood, provided tractor and harrows for the final land preparation and planting.
 Clarence Henderson of Sanford worked with the district supervisor, SCS technicians, and others in promoting the establishment of a successful series of grass plantings.
 The Soil Conservation Service, at Doonville, provided the coastal "35" Bermuda sods.
 Next summer planting material of these grasses will be available for charge to Seminole Soil Conservation District operators for use in starting or increasing their improved pasture plantings.
 Homer Osborne of Sanford, who is chairman of the Seminole Soil Conservation District, wishes to express his appreciation and thanks to those who have made this nursery possible.
 Contoured citrus plantings are becoming increasingly popular as a soil and moisture conserving practice.
 Last week, N. C. Buckett of Winter Garden asked us to plan the layout for a new grove to be planted by Thompson Bros. This grove lies south of Winter Garden and is adjacent to an 80-acre SCS devised contoured planting now being set for Al Marshall of Orlando.
 In last week's mail we also received a request from Edmund

PHOTOGRAPHED, National Cat Week Queen Peggy Maria welcomed a group of out-of-town kittens who were flown in to the New York show to compete in a milk-lapping contest. You really can't blame the kittens for purring around Miami. (International)

A Chester Chester is a radio executive in New York and owns one of the largest groves near Mt. Dora. He will plant his second contoured grove, 40 acres in size, near the Orange Lake County line.
 Mr. McKinnon, operator of the Tabor McKinnon groves near Winter Garden, has a problem of protecting wind erosion on newly planted citrus land. Final land preparation will be completed in early February. McKinnon is looking for a plant to lessen the soil loss caused by the early spring winds. He plans to plant heavy sods at the start of the summer rainy season but wants to keep ground protected from February to June. We suggested he try sowing live grass which we know will grow on rocky sand land suited to citrus. One pound of sowing live grass seed will plant an acre and at the prevailing price of 65 to 70 cents per pound the cost of protection could be considered reasonable. The live grass rapidly attains adequate moisture in our soil and is easily eradicated by digging such as he plans to do before planting the citrus.

Mennen Williams Again Takes Lead In Close Election

DETROIT, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Democrat G. Mennen Williams, seemingly destined six days ago to be a one-term governor, enjoyed today a lead of nearly 9000 votes in Michigan's daffy election aftermath.

Williams' margin was his best since the original 6000-vote edge of his Republican rival, former two-term Governor Harry F. Kelly, slipped away in correction of a series of ballot counting bungles.

Since the start of the corrections, Williams and Kelly have alternately held the lead.

With the official canvass now complete except for only four of the state's 83 counties, this was the count:

Williams 935,171
Kelly 914,287

Election officials in the four incomplete counties admitted there still could be enough errors uncovered to change the rapidly shifting picture again. The canvass already had changed hands six times.

Canvassers felt, however, that the biggest mistakes had been rectified.

Still incomplete were the returns from Wayne, Detroit, Genesee, Oakland and Macomb counties, all populous ones.

When these are completed, probably in a couple days, the stage will be set for a recount that is widely expected to follow.

Whoever is behind at the time would have to ask for the recount under state law, and foot the $21,000 bill at $5 a precinct.

The most unusual, if not the largest, error came to light yesterday in Macomb county.

Eugene Haight, chairman of a township election board, explained that the vote on a referendum to permit the sale of colored oleomargarine inadvertently was put into the gubernatorial tally book.

With the correction, Williams gained 509 votes overall.

Its effect on the vote was overwhelmingly approved.

by two men in a maroon automobile.

The boy had been living with Roy E. Ricwine, Jr., co-owner of a half-mile dirt speedway, since his mother was divorced from her husband, Charles Collins, 26, more than a year ago. Ricwine had planned to adopt Eddie in proceedings scheduled to be heard next Monday.

State Police Sgt. Frank C. Russell said that police at Tampa and Torrance, Calif., have been asked to determine the whereabouts of Eddie's father and two sisters.

Russell said the father lives at the California address while the two sisters, James DeWitt Collins and Cecil Collins, both live in Tampa.

The policeman said the three men were sought for questioning after descriptions given by the school resembled the appearances of the father and either of the two sisters. No charges have been filed in the case.

"The descriptions were close enough to two of the three that we felt we ought to check up on their whereabouts," Russell said.

Russell said also a 13-state alarm has gone out for both the maroon car and a black car, seen by residents in the area over the past weekend. Both cars bore Virginia license plates, Russell said, but added the Virginia plates may have been used to mislead the police.

Meanwhile, the boy's mother was reported under doctor's care without result.

One specific example cited by the commission:

"Darius 'Racketeer' Sam Termini spent at least $263,913 on his home in San Mateo county, a few miles from San Francisco. He made all but one of his payments, totaling $165,478 to date, in cash. Termini would have to have not less than $900,000 income in one year to net $165,478 cash, after paying federal and state income taxes, the report said.

The commission described Termini, alias Sam Murray, as a godson of Charles Binaggio, Blain Kansas City political gangster.

It cited Termini managed various gambling places in San Mateo county from 1946 through 1948 for Emilio Georgetti, whom it called the gambling czar of the nation, for a reputed 10 per cent of the profits.

The commission declared the relationship between the criminal element and certain officials (named) in the Bureau of Internal Revenue "must necessarily make it difficult and embarrassing for Federal officials to undertake the prosecution of certain persons for income tax evasion."

It cited the case of Dorothy A. McGreeley as "a specific example of a business relationship between a known racketeer and a public official."

The McGreeley woman is a convicted madam, a major figure in the prostitution racket in California for years; operation in World War II of two large houses in Honolulu. On a number of occasions she was reported to the Internal Revenue Bureau as a suspected income tax evader.

"However, the McGreeley woman is also a partner in a business called Safety Step Sales company, and one of her co-partners is Ernest Michael Schino, chief field deputy in the office of the collector of Internal Revenue, northern district of California.

"We are informed by bureau officials that her income tax troubles have been settled by the payment of back taxes without penalty and without criminal prosecution."

Other cases cited:

1. Commission investigators tipped Internal Revenue agents to the "extraordinary income" of Georgetti; in two or three years, he purchased and cashed more than $100,000 worth of cashier's checks, all unaccounted for on his books. The inquiry was not followed up.

2. Los Angeles agents began an investigation into Cohen's income. Special investigators came from Washington at the request of Mayor Fletcher Bowron and others. After the publicity died down, the investigators were given other assignments. Cohen was not prosecuted or penalized.

3. In San Francisco, police discovered $300,000 in undeclared cash in possession of convicted abortionist Ima Burns and reported it to the Internal Revenue Bureau. Result: no prosecution, no penalty.

The commission was named three years ago by Governor Earl Warren to investigate organized crime. It went out of existence in July, but released its final report today.

blanket of snow.

Rescue organizers here began preparing to remove the bodies from their lofty resting place at the first light tomorrow.

Guides pushed through rain and snow all last night in search for the plane, starting as soon as news of the crash was received.

Earlier today guides had messaged that they had spotted the wreckage near the verticle north face of Mount Elbrus.

Photographs of Pope Pius XII, who had blessed the pilgrims shortly before they took off from Rome yesterday for Paris and home, were found scattered in a forest several miles from the scene of the crash—apparently carried by mountain gales.

Scraps of a diary written by one of the pilgrims told of the audience with the Pope and of reciting the rosary imploring the mercy of heaven before boarding the plane.

The radio message from the guides said: "The airplane seems to be completely destroyed. 'The wreckage of the fuselage is scattered in a mass of fallen earth at the foot of the north wall of Mount Elbrus at a spot looking over the Ister River.'"

The guides said they had seen the wreckage through a break in the clouds shrouding the mountain. They had spotted it, they said, from a 7,000-foot point called "The Cross of the Pilgrims."

Experienced mountain climbers here estimated the guides were a hard five hours march from the wreckage. They said the face of the mountain is a solid stone wall, 1,800 feet high and one of the most dangerous spots in the area.

Five ambulances were brought from nearby villages to stand by Far behind the lines a typhoon force of about two Red battalions—about 200 men—attacked South Korean troops in Pyongnan, 60 miles northwest of Seoul. The Communists drove into the town at 2 A. M. Tuesday. They were driven out in an eight-hour battle. At 10:30 A. M. the fight was still raging outside the town. South Koreans said they killed or captured 11 Reds.

Cavalrymen entering territory reported North Korean army officers of field grade (majors and lieutenant colonels) are going north having junior officers in charge of troops facing the U. S. First Cavalry Division.

The only sizable ground action reported on the western front was on the extreme right flank, east of the cavalrymen. One regiment of the U. S. Second Division was reported advancing against stubborn enemy resistance.

"HONEY BEAR"

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Nina "Honey Bear" Warren, polio-stricken daughter of Governor Earl Warren, will be released from quarantine and allowed to receive visitors in her hospital room tomorrow.

Dr. Junius H. Harris, chief of attending physicians to the golden-haired 17-year-old, said she will be permitted to receive four visitors a day.

With orders not to be disturbed, she was reported suffering from nervous exhaustion.

Increased driving visibility, pioneered by Studebaker in its earliest postwar cars, is carried on even more extensively in the 1951 models. One-piece windshields are now standard on all Chryslers and to safety touring. Also standard on most models are one-piece rear windows. Shown is the 1951 Champion 4-door Regal sedan.

Littlefield

Witnesses in behalf of the sheriff and constable who testified yesterday that they had bought bolita in the past but not recently, were not required to name or describe the sellers.

Several of today's witnesses testified they had bought bolita from a Deland pool hall since Sept. 6—the date of the Governor's deadline for a complete shutdown of gambling.

Attorneys for Littlefield introduced evidence that operators of the establishment had been arrested before Sept. 6 and now were under $500 bond.

R. L. Hart, 24-year-old Stetson University student who repeatedly addressed Governor Warren as "your majesty" while others stuck to the accustomed "your excellency," said the arrest hadn't stopped bolita selling in the pool hall.

When one of Littlefield's lawyers asked whether he had reported the sales to local law enforcement officers, Hart said he had nothing "but I thought very seriously of buying his majesty some and sending it to him."

He said he had played only a few cents a couple of times, and didn't get any ticket as evidence of the wager.

David G. Hargreaves, who once was a jailer for the sheriff, said he had bought bolita from a Negro named "Frog" every week since Sept. 6 in an alley in Deland where he always had been able to find him on Friday or Saturday. He told the Governor he had sent jail trustees out to purchase bolita for him in the past.

Mrs. Frances S. Gray, Deland store owner who said she is the daughter of the late J. R. Shadburne whom Littlefield had "fired" as a deputy sheriff, said she had bet $5 on bolita since Sept. 6 from a negro named Harry who lived at Lake Helen.

She also said she saw bolita sold to Mr. Bryan in front of her store. She declined to name the seller, but said she would give his name to the state attorney.

Norman Smith, sales manager for a Daytona Beach automobile firm, testified he had bought bolita in a curb service transaction from a place called the Black Cat in the Daytona Beach Negro section. Littlefield's attorney said they would show that the operator of the place was arrested for lottery law violations five days before the sheriff was suspended.

S. W. Martin, Jr., who works at a Deland filling station opened by another discharged Littlefield deputy, said he had bought bolita on the street as recently as 10 days ago and at the Deland pool hall.

He said he would "rather not" point out the seller, but would aid in his prosecution by repeating the testimony under oath.

There were indications that the hearing, recessed overnight, would take most of today.

Most of the first day was devoted to testimony in defense of the ousted officers that there had been wide open gambling in the county for a couple of years employees are members of independent unions. The strikers are employed by the Western Electric Company.

When the Bell workers reported at the exchange, some 150 pickets marched about the building in close formation. Six policemen stood guard.

Police reinforcements were summoned. When 25 policemen were on the scene, they ranged themselves against the building and moved forward in a body to make room between the building and their backs for operators trying to reach the door.

A half dozen or more of the waiting operators tried to slip down the narrow approach to the door. But the pickets surged into the policemen and the thin police line broke. Policemen and operators were shoved against the wall.

One girl, pushed against a fence, cried out: "I think my ribs are broken."

Policemen called more reinforcements, bringing the complement to 40. These formed into a wedge that broke through the circling pickets and again cleared a narrow passage.

Workers scampered down the line but the pickets again broke through and pinned workers in a milling mass of people.

In other areas bitterness spread as the huge Bell system struck back at disruptive hit-and-run picketing.

Leaders of the striking CIO Communications Workers of America (CWA) accused the company of a "discriminatory lockout" in New York in complaints to the National Labor Relations Board.

They said the company had turned away 15,000 long-distance operators and maintenance men across the country who would not pledge themselves to work "regularly"—that is, be ready to cross their union's sporadic picket lines.

The workers affected belong to the CWA, but not to its striking divisions.

One complaint was filed here and the other in Philadelphia.

NLRB officials said it would take at least two weeks to decide the matter, with at least 10 days more to get a court injunction if the union charge were upheld.

Bell called the lockout "strange" and said it was only trying to line up a reliable working force in New York City apprentices' 1,400 operators entered Bell's long lines center, and left the building in a huff. They charge they had been refused work when they said they would not cross picket lines.

A Bell spokesman said long distance service throughout the 14 cities where long lines offices are maintained was normal yesterday and this morning. He said only three offices—Buffalo, Pittsburgh and Memphis—were picketed.

The National Geographic Society says storms probably sank more Spanish treasure ships than did freebooters.

Elsewhere on the Washington scene President Truman described as "monumental" the foreign economic policies report made by Gordon Gray, former Secretary of the Army.

The report, made public Sunday, recommended a multi-billion dollar program of economic aid to Europe after the end of the Marshall Plan in 1952.

Mr. Truman's praise of it was in a letter accepting Gray's resignation as a "special" ambassador to the President. The White House made the letter public.

Democrats challenged the right of the state supreme court today to act on a Republican demand for a recount of the vote in last week's short term U. S. Senate seat election.

Attorneys for incumbent U. S. Senator William Benton filed a hearing that Republican petitions for a recount were presented under an unconstitutional state law. A contest involving a Senate seat, they contended, was one for the U. S. Senate itself to decide rather than the state supreme court.

Benton holds a lead of about 1,000 votes over Republican President Bush in preliminary tabulation of the returns. Today's hearing before three state supreme court judges resulted from Republican petitions charging discrepancies in the count.

C. of C. Board Names Former Lakeland Manager To Run Local Organization

Back To Work For The President

A SMILING CHIEF EXECUTIVE, President Harry S. Truman leaves the yacht Williamsburg after a week-long cruise on the Potomac River. Tanned and well-rested, Truman said he had reached no definite decision on recalling 91st Congress ahead of schedule. (International Soundphoto)

The resolutions committee composed of G. W. Spencer chairman and H. H. Coleman and W. A. Hitt presented a resolution expressing the gratitude of the Chamber of Commerce for the faithful and unselfish public service of the late Edward Higgins and outlining the numerous civic activities initiated and carried through by Mr. Higgins in a lifetime devoted to this city and county. It was unanimously carried.

A report on the activities of Mr. Whitney as publicity director was presented by President H. James and who presided over the meeting. Mr. Whitney also introduced Mr. Whitney to the directors, read the minutes of the combined Executive and Finance Committees which have been considering some 25 applications for the position of manager, and which recommended the employment of Mr. Whitney.

Tomatoes in the Ft. Pierce area were severely damaged during the hurricane of Oct. 18 but are in big demand in spite of their condition. Anderson, Sanford, and the Sanford State Farmers Market reported following a trip yesterday to the Ft. Pierce Farmers Market.

He declared that he had watched field inspectors examining about 1,800 field boxes of tomatoes prior to putting them on sale on the auction block.

"Not one lot of the tomatoes graded as U. S. No. 1," said Mr. Anderson, "and very few graded 20 percent." The principal defects were scars from wind blown sand and bruising from the storm, he added.

Demand was heavy for tomatoes, he reported, and the bidding for more than 45 buyers was brisk. Price variations were wide, ranging from $1.00 to $1.60 per field box. Proof that the auction was "hot", however, was the fact that the average sale price was $1.40 a box.

Auctions are held twice weekly at the Ft. Pierce Market, in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and at 7:30 o'clock at night. Bidding is heaviest at night.

The market is one-half mile long and of modern type, said Mr. Anderson. An up to date public address system enables the manager, M. E. Williams, to receive calls in booths located at different parts of the market.

Ft. Pierce and the lower east coast had a heavy downpour of rain yesterday, said Mr. Anderson. Sales of out-of-state produce at the Sanford Market from July through October amounted to $79,111 for 62,126 units, he stated. Cabbage was the largest item with 5,074 of the 50 pound sacks selling for an average of $1.50 a unit.

AP Reporter Asserts Russians Conduct War Of Attrition To Wear Us Down

ATLANTA, Nov. 15—(AP)—Communist China's decision to fight in Korea was directed from Moscow, Associated Press Tokyo bureau chief Russell Hines said today.

Having once started, Russia certainly will continue a program of "conquest and attrition to wear us down," said Hines.

The veteran far-eastern correspondent addressed about 500 newspaper managing editors at the 17th national convention of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

The news executives spent most of the morning scrutinizing—with praise for achievement and criticism for failures—the news report provided more than 30,000,000 readers.

The broad theme was for more digging underneath the surface, more and better explanations, to make the world's news both interesting and understandable.

Hines said we already have seen the starting of a prolonged war in Asia. Even solution of the Korean problem would bring no peace, he said.

Striking Maintenance Workers Attempt To Bar Operators From Exchanges

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15—(AP)—Police and pickets pushed and pulled one another today in a two-hour struggle outside a telephone exchange as striking CIO Communications workers sought to bar non-strikers from the building.

Four times police charged into the massed picket line. Each time they opened a narrow lane and a few workers slipped into the Broad and Rockland Streets building of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania.

Most of the working force of about 80 including operators of long distance exchanges and a number of local personnel were blocked from the building until after 10 A.M. Then the pickets went away at the order of Bureau Delbert, secretary of CWA local 72.

"Here are too many police and I don't want to go to get hit," he told a reporter. "We had an orderly picket line until the police came."

Reservists May Still Go To Korea In Spite Of 250,000 New Draftees

AP Reporter Asserts Russians Conduct War Of Attrition To Wear Us Down

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—(AP)—Although 250,000 men will have passed through the new draft bill by the end of next January, mobilized reservists are not yet home free from possible duty in Korea.

Explaining this, an Army official said: "The Chinese and Korean Reds are not fighting on our training schedules," and "Even the first 50,000 men drafted in September have not yet completed their 14 weeks of basic training."

The Army asked the Selective Service system yesterday to provide 10,000 inductions in January for the same number that will be drafted in December, but it is going long than the number being inducted this month.

The inductions to be drafted this month, the Army said, are limited in the number of new men they can take out of and some of the earlier draftees have finished training and can be moved out to replace reservists.

While this training is going on the Army has had to build up the fighting units in Korea to full combat strength and at the same time replace battle casualties.

Acheson Says Chinese Must Be Conciliated

Secretary Declares Red Intervention Must Not Develop Into Another War

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson declared today that the United States must do everything possible to prevent Communist China's armed intervention in Korea, but planning on the world scene is a study of the most realistic nature.

"Speaking of a combination of representatives of 40 nations today at the State Department, Acheson also said that the world is entering through a very serious period of history which seems to get increasingly dangerous as it develops."

"It seems to me," he continued, "that there can be no doubt that it can be avoided only if we exercise a great deal of common sense in our policies and in our leadership throughout the world."

The secretary's statement is being held in the State Department in order to provide background information to the press and to the public.

Other speakers were Undersecretary James W. Webb and Assistant Secretary Dean Rusk.

Webb said that the State Department is studying the possibility of a meeting of the Big Four nations in the near future.

Reynaud Demands Six Die In Crash Of Navy Airplane On Mountain Top

United Europe In Assembly Speech

PARIS, Nov. 15—(AP)—Ex-Premier Paul Reynaud today demanded the formation of a united Europe "even without England."

He clashed in a bitter National Assembly debate with Socialist Guy Mollet, Minister for European Affairs. He accused Mollet of following a policy of "Socialism First" in emphasizing British opposition to unification plans.

Reynaud said that the effort to bring all of Europe into a supranational organization would result in nothing being done at all.

"A united Europe," he said, "is the sole means of rearming Germany without danger. There are some people who think we have 20 years to make a united Europe. I do not know if we have 20 weeks."

Mollet came back strongly against what he called a "limited Europe." He opposed this, he said, "not only as a Socialist, but as a European and Frenchman."

Ex-Premier Paul Ramadier, another Socialist, also opposed Reynaud, who is an Independent Conservative. Ramadier warned against dividing the continent into what he called a "Vatican Europe" and a "protestant Europe."

Earlier today Defense Minister Jules Moch told the upper parliamentary house that about 50 percent of the troops for the proposed west European Army should come from France.

American arms, Moch told the Council of the Republic, are being delivered at such speed that nine French divisions soon will be fully equipped.

Already, he continued, three divisions are fully staffed on a war footing, three others are 50 percent staffed, another is in formation and one is "just born."

Moch spoke during debate on a bill to extend the compulsory military service period of 18 months.

Snyder Proposes 75 Percent Levy On Profit Excess Legal Gambling

Treasury Head Asks Tax To Pay For New War Expenditures

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder today proposed a 75 percent excess profits tax on corporations to raise the extra $4,000,000,000 that President Truman wants to help pay for the expanding defense effort.

Snyder said he is "confident" the proposal, a modified and softer version of the 85 percent excess profits tax of World War II, can be passed at the short session on Congress opening Nov. 27.

The Treasury chief appeared before the tax-writing House Ways and Means committee to back up Mr. Truman's plea yesterday for a $4,000,000,000 a year profit levy, retroactive to July 1, as "part of a sound program of defense taxation."

The committee called in Snyder to give details on Mr. Truman's request as it began hearings today. Sentiment has been building up for other methods of boosting government revenue, including for tax increases in individual income taxes and ordinary corporation taxes.

Snyder proposed that corporations, as in World War II, be given the alternative of figuring their taxes through a "base personal earnings credit" or as "invested capital credit."

Either system would set a level of earnings on which the regular corporate income tax, which ranges up to 45 percent, would apply and leave all profits in excess of that sum subject to the 75 percent "excess" profits rate.

Referring to Administration plans to present a higher and more comprehensive tax hike proposal to the next Congress that will convene next Jan. 3, Snyder said he would support the plan.
