It's Been A Big Success

Deju's Reorganization Of Health Dept. Wins Award

By DIANE PETRYK Herald Staff Writer

When Dr. Jorge Delu was hired as Seminole County Health Department director in July 1979, he began to plan a total reorganization of the department. His reorganization was put into effect gradually during the following year.

Today, Deju is able to say the reorganization has been an unqualified success.

Things that used to fall through the cracks get caught now," he says. "It's worked even better than we expected." What did the departmental reorganization do?

It took apart disciplinary hierarchies and developed program-oriented units, Deju explains. That means that instead of a nursing section, dental section, nutrition section, sanitation section and so forth, the department is organized into five units identified by the services they provide. Those units are personal health services, community health services, environmental health services, special grant services and administrative support services.

Each unit is supervised by a section head, with the five section heads working under Deju.

Delu says this organization consolidates many programs so the director can work closely with five section heads instead of spending less time with many different supervisors.

In the past, for instance, nurses were concerned just with nursing functions. Deju says. Even while working in different departments, nurses were supervised by the same director of

"With the new style of organization, there is more emphasis on the goal of each service, rather than on the professional division types of personnel," he comments.

Now no one's going to refuse a task "because that's not a nursing duty," for instance, Deju says. "Everything gets Recently Deju's efforts at departmental reorganization were recognized by the National Association of Counties when he received the group's County Achievement Award. The award in the form of a plaque, is given in recognition of distinguished and continuing contributions to the cause of strong, modern county government in America.

While the year's changes caused some upheaval of normal routine, Deju says employees have been flexible enough to "hang in there" until the operation ironed itself out

In fact, he attributes most of the success of the program to the dedication of employees. And he says that, in turn, has brought about an increase in the quality and quantity of services provided to county residents.

The Health Department serves the community by providing preventive health services, as well as treating medical problems.

Contempt Citation Sought On Waste Site

The state Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) is scheduled to ask Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler to issue a "contempt of court" citation against City Chemicals Co. of Orlando at a 4 p.m. bearing today.

The DER is saying the Orlando-based firm failed to comply with a decision by Leffler ordering the company to file certain financial documents with the state agency and to begin the process of removing 3,264 drums of chemical waste from a Sanford site.

The two-acre site is located off Jewett Lane and Airport Boulevard in Sanford and has been in operation 11 months.

City Attorney Bill Colbert, who is working with the DER on the court action, said today DER officials were to come to Sanford today, meet with City Chemicals officials and visit the chemical storage site. Colbert said that since today's court hearing was set City Chemicals has furnished some financial information to the state and begun some degree of activity at the chemicals storage site. It substantial progress has been made, maybe some type of agreement can be reached with City Chemicals," he said, "If substantial progress has not been made, the court will be asked to impose sanctions against the firm."

Last week motions were filed with the court seeking the replacement of Royce Pipkins as lawyer for City Chemicals by Michael D. Jones of Altamonte Springs. Jones also has filed a notice with the court that City Chemicals will appeal Leffler's decision imposing a default against the firm to the fifth District Court of Appeal at Daytona Beach.

In his order, Leffler said the chemical waste represented fire and health hazards. - DONNA ESTES

Fire Damages Longwood Condos

By DARLENE JENNINGS Herald Staff Writer

A fire starting in a garage and spreading to one condominium and heavily damaging another in The Springs residential development in Longwood around 3:40 p.m. Saturday is estimated to have caused $250,000 in damage.

There were no injuries reported, however. The Seminole County Fire Prevention Division report says the fire started under "suspicious" conditions, and the cause of the fire is under investigation. Three people escaped from the burning condominiums, including one woman and an 11-year-old boy who had to maneuver from a second-floor balcony and around a wall to an adjacent apartment's balcony to escape. One car in a garage was destroyed.

Approximately 40 firefighters from four county fire stations and two from Altamonte Springs stations fought the blaze more than an hour before it was finally contained.

Firelighters reported they arrived at the scene five minutes after the call was received, but by then the flames had destroyed the garage and had already spread to the condominiums

According to fire investigator Ray Pippin, the blaze started in the garage and spread into the condominiums. Pippin said the fire was allowed to spread because some of the occupants of the building had left their doors open, permitting the flames to move more quickly.

"No accidental cause for the fire has been determined," Pippin said.

One condominium resident reported she heard an explosion prior to discovering the garage was on fire.

A United Way Agency

Catholic Services Assist The Needy

Professional counseling, problem pregnancy services, emergency financial assistance, foster care of children, resettlement of refugees, marriage preparation, placement of infants for adoption, coordination of community services for the poor are some of the varied programs a local United Way agency offers to all who live and work in Seminole County.

Catholic Social Services (CSS) first opened in Central Florida 19 years ago this month. Thomas Aglio, director, reports an enthusiastic optimism for the delivery of increased services during 1982, the 20th year of operation.

The flexibility of its programs enables it to respond to local needs as they arise, he said. For example, the everincreasing divorce rate has prompted the agency to beef up its marriage preparation program, which helps couples make wise decisions about their future and their readiness for married life. Increased demands for low-cost professional marriage counseling resulted in the addition of another

Realizing its commitment to serve the entire community, the agency serves all people regardless of religious preference. The majority of the clients are not Catholic. Several members of the board of directors and staff live in Seminole County.

The main offices of CSS are in Orlando at 3191 Maguire Blvd., across from Fashion Square Shopping Mall. Interviews are arranged in Seminole County for those unable to go to Orlando. ## Juvenile Arbitrators Honored

Herald Staff Writer

"There's a product in America that is 🎏 mass-produced by unskilled labor, and it's called children," Chief Circuit Court Judge Frances Ann Jamieson said at Friday's ceremony honoring the approximately 50 juvenile arbitrators at the Seminole County Courthouse. She told the group it is "people like you who care that make a difference with these children needing help."

The Seminole County Juvenile Community Arbitration Program, begun in 1978, is a program in which first-time juvenile offenders who committed minor crimes are allowed an alternative to court action, according to program manager Gayle Hair, Mrs. Hair explained that at the time of the arrest the police officer decides whether or not to refer the case to arbitration. Snead said there is a "very real problem" with the cutbacks in federal funding and it will be "up to the community" to decide the fate of the youth.

"We've got some great people," Mrs. Hair said. "People who have stuck with us from the very first day and new ones who are officially joining us today. Without you, the community, these children wouldn't have a chance, and I thank you all very much for making this program work."

Mrs. Hair presented third-year certificates of appreciation to Mrs. Verna Moore, Kenneth Morse and Stanley Stone for their continued narticipation in the program. First- and second-year participants also were recognized with certificates.

Special arbitrator awards were given to Irving Gussow, Lee Hoover, Cynthia Hutchinson, Richard Mamele, Gerald Rutberg, and Thomas Scarpello for their contributions to the program. Mrs. Hair also recognized various police and public institutions that have supported the program from the onset.

Sanlando Utilities Gets DER Awards

The Sanlando Utilities Corp. has been named "Best Operated Plant" by the U.S. Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) for both its water treatment and wastewater treatment plant facilities. "We believe that this is the first time a utility operation has won these awards simultaneously," said Bill Mustard, Sanlando executive vice president. "Naturally, we're very proud of this recognition."

Sanlando was judged by the DER against other facilities of its size - those producing and treating up to 10 million gallons of potable water per day and those treating up to five million gallons of wastewater per day. Criteria included water quality, certification levels and skills of plant personnel, and customer relations functions of the corporation. Quality of the wastewater treated at the plant, for instance, exceeds standards required by the State of Florida, Mustard said.

The Sanlando Utilities Corp. was started in 1970 to serve a south Seminole County subdivision of 550 homes. Today, the utility serves 20,000 people in Seminole and Orange counties from three plant sites. It eventually will provide water and wastewater treatment services for up to 50,000 people, Mustard said.

Polish Hard-liner Warns Solidarity: 'No Retreat'

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) - Prime Minister Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski replaced ousted Communist Party chief Stanislaw Kania and used his unprecedented power to warn Solidarity he would no longer "retreat" before union demands.

Jaruzelski, who added the party chief's job to his command of the government and armed forces, was given sweeping authority Sunday by the party's central committee, including the right to declare a state of emergency "to assure peace" in Poland.

Socialists Win In Greece

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) - Greek socialists, swept to victory in national elections, said they were ready to take office today to start on a program calling for withdrawal from NATO and the banning of U.S. military

Mideast Tensions Mount

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) - A key Egyptian newspaper warned today of a "decisive confrontation" with Libya within days and authorities tightened internal security by arresting 230 Moslem militants and dismissing 134 members of the army.

With tension rising on both sides, Libya's official Jamahiriyah News Agency charged that Sudanese helicopter-borne troops were preparing to invade Chad, which is occupied by Libyan troops.

Pope Uses Shield

VATICAN CITY (UPI) - In his first appearance at the window of his private apartments since his return to the Vatican, Pope John Paul II stood behind what appeared to be a bullet-proof glass lectern.

Looking up from St. Peter's Square, the thick transparent glass lectern shielded John Paul's entire head and chest as he delivered his Sunday noon blessing. Vatican sources said the pontiff has never before used a lectern during his Sunday appearances.

Discord Over Wagner Works

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) - A Cabinet minister and a parliament member added their voices today to the crescendo of controversy surrounding the largel Philharmonic Orchestra's attempts to play works by Richard Wagner, Adolf Hitler's favorite composer.

Scores of scuffling, shouting concert-goers prevented the orchestra from playing an encore of Wagner music at the end of Sunday evening's concert. Conductor Zubin Mehta's first attempt to play Wagner's works Thursday was similarly foiled.

Report Suggests Changes In Childbirth Practices

should walk or sit during labor to make childbirth easier and safer, rather than lie in bed and take drugs, a new medical report

The report, circulated Sunday by the American Foundation for Maternal and Child Health, challenges the practice of confining women to bed, giving them drugs to facilitate childbirth and using fetal monitors.

"The average pregnant woman in the U.S. approaches childbirth completely unaware that none of the drugs offered to her by her doctor or nurse during labor and birth has been adequately tested in regard to her baby's safety," foundation President Doris Haire said.

"Yet we know that many of the drugs given to the mothers during labor and birth continue to circulate in the blood and brain of the newborn infant for several days or suggested it would be better for women to walk or sit during labor - and to sit up during delivery - rather than being kept on their backs.

The report by the non-profit research foundation, issued in advance of its annual meeting today, was based on a sampling of opinion from authorities.

Ms. Haire said evidence from many experts points to the fact that, generally, activity would make birth better for both mother and baby - and that fewer drugs would be needed.

Medical evidence, she said, shows that confining the mother to bed during labor can prolong labor, increase discomfort and intensify the mother's need for drugs - as well as affect the fetal heart rate and condition of the infant.

To facilitate delivery, she said there are "birthing chairs" and "birthing pans" for women to sit on.

Reagan And Human Rights

The Reagan administration has stated that it supports human rights but that quiet diplomacy is more effective for influencing foreign governments than the vociferous human rights policy of the Carter era.

Now a recent meeting between human rights advocates and State Department people reveals that the government may be quietly downgrading the Human Rights Bureau.

Established by Congress and President Carter in 1977 the bureau's statutory functions include monitoring human rights in nations receiving U.S. aid. The department is considering a plan to transfer many of the bureau's functions to another section, curtail the functions that remain with the bureau, and change its name to the Bureau of Individual and Personal Rights.

Since the nomination of Ernest Lefever was withdrawn, after stiff Senate disapproval of his anti-human rights stance, no candidate for the post of assistant secretary of state for human rights has been proposed.

Is quiet diplomacy going to be succeeded by silence about repression and torture?

The complaints against the Carter human rights policy are well known. The U.S. reprimanded its Third World allies for rights violations, but seemed to overlook violations by our ideological enemies.

The fall of Nicaraguan dictator Somoza and of the Shah of Iran and the turmoil in both countries have been blamed by Reagan officials on Carter's insistence on demanding human rights even in nations undergoing rebellion.

Critics also fault the bureau for holding back aid to Chile and Argentina, and for interfering in Korea, when anti-government groups threatened overthrow of the regime.

These charges reflect a real weakness in the Carter human rights policy. But other analysts contend that the revolutions in Iran and Nicaragua were fed by decades-long violations of human rights and were inevitable. Thousands of political prisoners are alive today in Indonesia. Argentina and Korea because of the Carter policy. And the visible human rights defense raised America in the esteem of the world. Tragically, in a world habituated to rule by force and violence, the human rights policy was seen as weakness. The invasion of Afghanistan turned America's priorities back to military. strength.

U.N. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick argues that in blinking at torture committed by friendly authoritarian regimes, we can focus on the greater rights abuses of the totalitarian communists.

In a recent interview, she said, "I know of no country which has ever successfully carried out reforms while fighting a civil war.'

President Lincoln would disagree. For it was during the Civil War that he signed the Emancipation Proclamation, extending the basic human right, freedom, to the slaves.

Lincoln pursued both strength and freedom. So did President Roosevelt, who set the Four Freedoms as the goal of victory in World War II.

President Reagan, in meeting the Soviet threat, must continue America's dual commitment to strength and freedom.

Our present military buildup must be accompanied by a visible and effective human rights policy.

The first step is to preserve the Human Rights Bureau, and to nominate a new director worthy of confirmation by the Senate.

"'Lethargy, ennul and malaise' won't wash as a reason for not doing your homework!"

Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles ranks second in the state of Florida in the total number of continuous years of service in a management position in a single city.

He has been Sanford's city manager for the past 281/2 years. This is a record because historically city managers do not have a long tenure with a single city.

At the same time Knowles ranks first in the total number of years -33- of active service as a city manager. Prior to coming to Sanford in 1953, Knowles was city manager in Berwick, Me. and in Derry, N.H.

Sarasota City Manager Ken Thompson ranks first in the state in the most years of service to a Sanford was the only city in Seminole County with a city manager for some years. Casselberry tried the city manager system for a few years and had a total of three city managers before it abandoned that type government, opting instead for a full-time mayor.

Now, there are city managers in four other Seminole citles. They are: David Chacey in Longwood; Jeff Etchberger, Altamonte Springs;

Dick Rozansky, Winter Springs and Phil Kulbes, Lake Mary.

Charles Lytle, a Lake Mary merchant, has been appointed by Mayor Walter Sorenson and approved by the city council for a seat on the city's planning and zoning board. Appointed to the city's board of adjustment is Charles Elliott, a building designer.

The two men replace Bill Durrenberger, who resigned from the boards to run for Ray Fox's seat on the city council in the Dec. 8 city election.

Three council seats are up in the election. In addition to Fox's seat, ones held by Gene McDonald and Vic Olvera are also open. Olvera filed qualifying papers this past week. McDonald has said he will be seeking re-election while Fox says he hasn't made up his mind yet.

The deadline for candidates to qualify with City Clerk Connie Major at city hall is noon, Oct.

Those city residents who are not registered to vote may do so at either of Seminole Elections Supervisor Camilla Bruce's offices in the courthouse in Sanford or at the Interstate Mall in Altamonte Springs or at city hall. The registration books will close on Nov. 6.

The Lake Mary City Council has awarded a contract to Municipal Equipment Co. for a "skid mounted fire fighting unit" - a pump to be put on a fire truck - for $4,302. Some $5,000 was budgeted for the Item and Fire Chief Jim Orioles estimated the pump would cost about $4,500.

The U.S. Senate has adopted Sen. Lawton Chiles' proposal to withhold foreign aid funds from Haiti unless that government cooperates with the United States to halt the flow of illegal emigrants into Florida.

The proposal sponsored by Chiles, D-Lakeland, was adopted as an amendment to the foreign aid authorization bill.

The bill allows military and economic development assistance funds to be provided to Haiti only if the president determines that the country is cooperating in halting emigration from that county; is not aiding or supporting illegal emigration and that it will cooperate fully in implementing U.S. development in Haiti to provide job opportunities.

Transit System Crumbling

WASHINGTON (NEA)-"Don't cross the bridge, til you come to it," Henry Wadsworth Longfellow sagely advised more than a century ago-but if he were alive today, Longfellow might find the span in danger of collapse when he arrived.

In fact, several recent authoritative studies suggest that the nation's entire public transportation system-its highways, bridges, railroads, pipelines, air terminals and commercial waterways—is rapidly deteriorating.

"The United States is seriously underinvesting in (its) public infrastructure," warns the Council of State Planning Agencies in a report with the gloomy title of "America in Ruins: Beyond the Public Works Pork Barrel."

"Because of tight budgets and inflation, the maintenance of a growing number of... public facilities has been deferred," the report adds. "Replacement and rehabilitation of obsolescent public works have been postponed. New construction has been canceled, delayed or 'stretched out."

The American Transportation Advisory Council, a coalition of business organizations and trade associations, says the country's highway system is wearing out at an annual rate 50 percent faster than it is being repaired or replaced. One of the most important sources of revenue for highway construction and maintenance, the federal gasoline tax, has not been increased since 1965. The Highway Trust Fund currently has an $11 billion cash balance, but federal officials estimate that an expenditure of $14 billion annually is necessary for maintenance.

The number of passengers carried by scheduled airlines is expected to double during the coming decade, but airports in many cities already are incapable of efficiently handling current passenger traffic.

The capital outlays of the nation's railroads have exceeded internally generated funds every year since 1962, thus adversely affecting the industry's ability to finance necessary improvements, says the advisory council.

A massive infusion of $623 billion in public and private funds will be required during the 1980s, the council estimates, to sustain the efficient operation of the country's transportation system.

Serious deterioration of the highway network, including the relatively new interstate system, has been compounded by escalating construction and maintenance costs and increasingly tight budgets at all levels of government-local, state and federal-says the General Accounting Office.

Nowhere is the crisis more readily apparent than in the dismal condition of the country's 514,000 bridges, approximately 75 percent of which were built before 1935.

More than 3,700 of those spans have been closed because of life-threatening structural deficiencies, while almost 87,700 suffer from "overall structural conditions.

Lance The Libyan Boil

Vatican intelligence indicates the man who attempted to kill the pope had been processed through the Libyan terrorist academy.

We know that Libya has acquired large stocks of terrorist equipment from former CIA agents who now are in the weapons sales

The evidence now indicates that Libya and its dictator Muammar el-Qaddafi - if not actually behind the assassination of Egypt's President Anwar Sadat -certainly knew of it in advance.

The Egyptian plotter who masterminded the assassination has been identified by some as Saadedin Shazli, a former Egyptian general who was relieved by Sadat during the Yorn Kippur War, who is now in exile in Libya.

Qaddafi went on television from Tripoli to crow over the murder of Sadat, and he threatened future Egyptian leaders with assassination if they follow the path of peace with Israel.

Palestine Liberation Organization fanatics danced in the streets of Beirut, while the rest of the civilized world mourned the death of Anwar Sadat.

It has now been revealed by columnist Jack Anderson that Qaddafi is plotting the assassination of President Reagan. This plot, if true, would cap the whole thing off.

Qaddafi's targets have been the noblest of international leaders, men immediately and widely recognized for their courage and good will: Pope John Paul II, President Reagan, President Anwar Sadat. Qaddafl appears to be demonically driven to strike at obvious goodness.

President Sadat died because he had incurred the enmity of Arab fanatics by daring to move toward peace with Israel. It is not too much to say that he died for peace in the Middle East. Though he was not an Israeli, of course, it is also true to say that he died for the existence of the Israeli state. He saw that it has a place in the region, and that continuous hostility is in the interest of no one, neither in the Middle East nor the world.

four years ago, to travel to Jerusalem, speak before the Knesset, and begin the peace process. His personal initiatives made the Camp David meeting possible. Without his individual courage and statesmanship, there would have been no "peace process" in the Middle East.

Sadat for several years had seemed the only sane leader in a region whose leaders for the most part seem candidates for the lunatic asylum, and this applies to Menachem Begin. who stakes out territorial claims to the West Bank based upon the Old Testament.

But Egypt is the pre-eminent military power in the Arab side. Without Egypt's army, there can be no plausible plan for war against Israel. Sadat made that impossible, and that is why he died.

He also had the courage to throw the Soviet ambassador out of Egypt along with six other diplomats, and he gave 700 Soviets advisors one week to pack their bags and go home. Sadat was a patriot, and he did not want Egypt to be turned into a Soviet client state, He turned Egypt toward the West — and so he

Colonel Qaddafi is nothing but an international murderer. In 1959, when President Eisenhower recognized that Patrice Lumumba had become a threat to the stability of Central Africa, he gave the order: Get rid of him. Lumumba went.

It's time for a similar order from President Reagan, and no exploding cigars or trick wet suits this time.

What's Theory?

Our subject today is the theory of "authoritarian" and "totalitarian" regimes. You are undoubtedly aware by now of at least the general outlines of the differentiation between the two that is a prime directive of Reagan administration foreign

And if you aren't, where have you been? Certainly not following the news and opinion pages closely.

To refresh, the essence of the differentiation is that the authoritarian regime has its faults from a democratic point of view. but these are primarily limited to political control of its population. Whereas the totalitarian system exercises comprehensive control over all aspects of public and usually private life.

In practical terms, this means that we; the United States of America, a democracy dedicated to the principle of representative government and respect for human rights, can find interests and goals in common with the theoretically salvageable and authoritarian regimes while the totalitarian ones are beyond hope, natural and inevitable enemies.

OK so far. Now we come to the tough part applying the theory to specific governments. The first one is easy: In the Soviet Union the state has the last and unchallengeable word across the line - politically, economically, culturally. And seeks to extend its control beyond its own borders. Obviously totalitarian. En garde!

For contrast, let's take El Salvador. The military-civilian (mostly the former) junta is harshly suppressive of the opposition, not only the guerrillas challenging it with arms but what remains of the moderate political groups and critical press. All right, so it's authoritarian, but considering the circumstances, that can be excused and a strong case made not only for common goals but active U.S. support.

But they are not all that easy. What about South Africa, whose black population is as thoroughly and repressively controlled as any in the world? What about Zaire, as corrupt and inept a dictatorship as exists in the world? What about Poland, a country with a communist structure but with a population that insists upon behaving as if it should decide public matters for itself?

And what about the People's Republic of China, worshipping at the same philosophic shrine as the Soviet Union and essentially in accord as to how to run the political shop at home? The only real difference is a slight (4,000-mile) border dispute. As a consequence, the Soviet Union and People's China are bitter enemies. And People's China and the United States are friends, sort of.

But back to the authoritarian-totalitarian business, what seems to really come down to ... in the end is a handy way of differentiating between those repressive regimes that this administration is willing to do business with .

and those it is not.

Egypt Officials Involved In Arms Scandal

WASHINGTON - The sinister figure of fugitive ex-CIA agent Edwin Wilson lurks disturbingly in the background of a multimillion-dollar scandal involving the highest officials in Egypt today.

I have uncovered evidence that establishes direct links between the surreptitious award of a lucrative arms shipment contract and the men who are now the deputy prime minister and defense minister of Egypt. Another official deeply involved is the brother-in-law of Egypt's new president, Hosni Mubarak, who as vice president learned of the backroom deal but did nothing to stop it.

The company that was secretly given the exclusive contract to ship billions of dollars' worth of U.S. arms to Egypt was called Tersam. It is ostensibly headed by an Egyptian businessman named Hussan Salem.

But in a telephone interview with my associates Indy Badhwar and Dale Van Atta. Salem acknowledged that an Abu Dhabi merchant, Ali Shorafa, helped create Tersam. Shorafa happens to be a Palectinian, and he continues to have a hidden interest in the firm.

The tie to Wilson is through a former CIA official, Thomas Clines, who was deputy director of covert operations before his retirement in October 1978. Salem turned to Clines when Tersam's secret contract appeared to be in trouble; the Pentagon considered the company totally unqualified to handle the arms shipments.

Salem needed an American with good Washington connections, and Clines filled the bill. He was an old CIA buddy of Wilson; the two have been linked with companies secretly owned by the agency. At the time Salem came along looking for an American partner, Clines was already running a company with financial backing from his friend Wilson. The solution to Tersam's difficulties was twofold: The company was reorganized into the Egyptian American Transport Services Co., with Clines as a 40 percent owner. Then the firm's competitors for the julcy shipping contract were to be bought off or forced out of the running.

The experience of the last potential rival to Egyptian American Transport bordered on the melodramatic. It took place in September 1979 in a suite at the ritry Madison Hotel in Washington.

The businessman was confronted by Clines, who began bragging about his connections in the CIA and elsewhere. The visitor was impressed by the presence of armed guards and the Egyptian military attache, Gen. Abu Ghazala, who is now defense minister.

After Clines and the Egyptians got him to agree to a phony subcontract in return for his silence, the competitor was taken to a nearby room where more armed guards ushered him into the presence of the then-minister of defense, Gen. Kamal Hassan Ali, now deputy prime minister.

All asked the businessman if he was satisfied with the under-the-table deal. The competitor assured him he was, though ultimately the payoff was never consummated.

There is another mysterious link between the high Egyptian officials and Wilson, who jumped bail on charges of smuggling explosives to Libya and is now hiding out in Tripoli under the protection of desert dictator Musmmar Quddafi. Both Ali's and Ghazala's names were found in notes confiscated from a former Wilson mercenary arrested for the attempted assessination last year of a dissident Libran student in Colorado.

The suspect is known to have talked with Wilson before the Colorado shoeting, and investigators believe the notes were made at that time. The two Egyptian officials' names were misspelled but unmistakable. In one significant reference to Ali, the notes say, "Defense Minister often finishes up his official business in a few days, and then takes time to clean up personal business at (Egyptian American Transport),"

This astonishing notation supports evidence I have already reported that links Ali and Ghazala personally to the secret arms shipment deal.

It's not surprising that Wilson would know these men. For years, his job in the CIA was to infiltrate international shipping associations and learn all he could about arms shipments. His contacts throughout the Middle East were extensive, and he has maintained them since leaving the agency.

A final note on Wilson: The CIA denies my report that the renegade spy met in Rome last July with an agency official. But my sources insist that the CIA desperately wants to know what sensitive operations Wilson might reveal if he is brought back to face the charges against him. As one source said enigmatically, the agency is most afraid he'll blow the whistle on "CIA involvement in deaths in the Middle East which he is aware of - and CIA activities in Egypt."

Guess who's coming to dinner John Blak?

He's someone that's been there before. In fact, he was there just a week ago. Seminole linebacker Antonio Davis, who turned in an incredible 16 tackles, six assists and caused two fumbles, was picked by the Sanford coaching staff as its Sanford Optimist Club Player of the Week.

Blair, the Optimist's friendly president, will be more than happy to set the table for Antonio one more time this Wednesday when Sanford's most sports minded club gets together at the I-4 Holiday Inn.

The 5-foot-7, 170-pound Davis led the Fighting Seminoles' best defensive effort of the year - Friday's 7-0 blanking of DeLand. More importantly, Sanford's victory, coupled with Lake Brantley's loss to Spruce Creek, 14-7, gave Semisole a 3-0 conference record and a half game lead over Terry Manfredi's Hawks in the Five Star.

Davis was coach Jerry Posey's prime choice for a Headhunter award after viewing the films Sunday. Senior defensive tackle Bill Painter had another good outing. The 6-foot-3 strongman collected nine tackles, five assists and recovered two fumbles. The savage-hitting and alert Tribe snatched five of the six bobbles DeLand coughed

Seminoles

"Painter graded out about as high as anybody has all year," Posey said about the tall senior's 89 percent showing. Another Headhunter was defensive back Vince Edwards. He had four tackles, three assists and the game-clinching interception.

"Vince didn't have as many tackles as he usually does, but when the guys up front are doing their job, that's the way it works," pointed out Posey, whose fast-improving Seminoles have won four straight aince an openingseason loss to Titusville Astronaut.

The defense was working without its mastermind, coordinator Dave Mosure, who was taken ill during school and couldn't make the trip. Despite Mosure's absence, the Tribe remembered its lessons.

During the first and second quarters. DeLand could muster just 20 offensive plays with two of those being punts. The Buildogs were held to 77 yards rushing, while Sanford rolled up 199. Fullback Lenny Sutton led the way with 100 yards on 17 carries.

DeLand added 56 yards through the air to give the 'Dogs a measly 133 for the evening.

Sportswriter Joe DeSantis benefitted most by Oakland's 18-16 victory. He had his best week ever at 7-3. Joyce Tullis, wife of Lake Brantley coach Dave, was 6-4 along with Joan Bisceglia, Mike's wife from Lake Howell.

Lyman Hosts County Postal Run Tonight

One of the biggest cross country meets ever held in the state is over — and most of the Seminole County cross country coaches are glad of it.

Saturday, the DeLand Invitational was held at the DeLand Airport with over 30 achools running in each division. The meet is considered a prelude to the state meet, held Nov. 21 at the same site.

"It was just too big," admitted Lyman coach David Huggins. "It was like throwing a bunch of marbles out. In some races there were over 200 runners."

Huggins' boys team had the best country showing-11th with 203 points. Edgewater easily won the 4A hoys with 89 points, while Fort Worth's John I. Leonard was second with 140. Lake Howell placed 16th.

Greyhound sophomore Doug McBroom was the only area runner in the top 50.

McBroom placed 29th with a time of 16:25, "Doug tried to go out with the big boys," Huggins said. "He did all right, but he faded the last half mile."

Winter Park's Brian Jaeger was the boys winner with a time of 15:01 over the three-mile layout. Greg Green of Ft. Lauderdale Dillard was second (15:05) and Edgewater's Greg Doss (15:09) was third.

In the 3A boys competition, Rockledge whipped Niceville, 71-116, for the top spot. Trinity Prep freshman Tommy Matthews was 63rd in 17:03. Trinity finished 29th and Mike Gibson's Lake said Marshall, "The fail may have cost Mary group 32nd in the standings.

Turning to the girls 4A, Lake Brantley coach Jim Marshall is about to conduct a thorough inspection of runner Traci Cross Country

For the second time in a major meet, Marshall's number four runner fell or was pushed down and cost the Patriots points in the standings.

"She's just unlucky I guess," said Marshall Sunday evening. The Lady Patriots were seventh in the meet with 216 points, but Brantley had been ranked second in the 4A poll.

Miami Killian's Sharon Chiong edged Sandra Broasch by three steps to win the meet in 11:21. The two had been tied at 10:56 on the 4A honor roll.

The slow time aroused some speculation among the coaches that the course may have been long. "I don't think the course was accurate," said Marshall flatly, "Stern ran super. I and Lake Howell was third with 102.

Tonight, Lyman hosts the county schools in a Postal Run. The boys run two miles and the top five team places are added together. The lowest accumulated time determines the winner.

The girls ran a mile and the same procedure is used. Times from around the state are then compared to determine the best effort.

The girls junior varsity kicks off the meet at 0:30 p.m. at the Greyhound track in Longwood.

Bengals Earn Stripes, Clobbers Steelers, 34-7, For AFC Jungle Lead

By United Press International

When General Manager Paul Brown approved the unique design of tiger stripes for Cincinnati's helmets and uniforms, he didn't know the Bengals would take the idea literally.

The Bengals, who haven't growled over .500 since 1977, gave Coach Forrest Gregg a very thoughtful gift for his 48th hirthday Sunday - a 34-7 rout of the Pittsburgh Steelers that lifted them into sole possession of first place in the AFC Central jungle.

"We've got nine more games, but this was a big, big game for us because we've broken out on top," said Gregg, whose 5-2 club will play in New Orleans next week before finishing the final half of the regular season against opponents with a cumulative record of 34-22. "It was the best birthday present they could have given me and the best game we've played this year."

The Bengals received another outstanding effort from veteran quarterback Ken Anderson, who passed for 346 yards and two touchdowns. In beating the Steelers, 4-3, for the fourth time in the last five meetings, Cincinnati was also sparked by a pair of touchdowns from 250-pound fullback Pete Johnson, who scored on a 5-yard pass reception and a 3yard run. Charles Alexander ran 3 yards for another TD and Jim Breech added a pair of field goals.

The Bengals scored big early in the second half when rookie wide receiver David Verser grabbed a short pass, slipped away from a couple of would-be tacklers and sprinted 73 yards to the end

Cincinnati rolled up 494 yards while Pittsburgh - sporting the NFL's No. 1 offense entering the game - managed only 210 total yards, more than 200 below their average. The Bengals had 25 first downs to 10 for the Steelers and held the ball for 36 of 60 minutes.

Stork' Delivers Raider Victory With Blocked Kick 18-16

Wash

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) - Ted Hendricks can't understand all the fusa. True, he was a big factor Sunday as the Oakland Raiders snapped a three-game losing streak, a stretch in which the defense played well but the offense foiled to score a single point in 12 quarters. All Hendricks, nicknamed the stork for his gangly frame, did was recover a fumble that stopped a Tampa Bay drive deep in the Oakland end, blocked a PAT attempt after the Bucs' second touchdown and for a capper, blocked a chipshot field goal in the final seconds to save an 18-16 victory for the Ralders. As far as Hendricks was concerned, it was all in a day's work, and he was a little reluctant to take all the credit for the blocked field goal attempt by Bill Capece that would have given the Bucs a 19-18 victory.

"On defense," said Hendricks, "we operate as four guys against three and we try to create a mismatch. Matt Millen, John Matuszak and Howard Long put on the pressure that allowed me to penetrate."

Capece got off what seemed like a cinch winning field goal from the 20 but a second after the ball became airborne, Hendricks stretched out his 6-foot-7 frame and tipped the ball, causing it to fall short of the goal post by a yard or

LA-Montreal Try Again Today

MONTREAL (UPI) - It would seem that with all the born-again athletes on the Montreal Expos and Los Angeles Dodgers and all the Bible quotations coming out of their lockerrooms, at least one of them could have spoken to somebody in authority about the stuff that kept falling from the heavens.

The fifth and deciding game of the National League Championship series between the Dodgers and the Expos was postponed by steady windswept rain Sunday and rescheduled for today at 1:90 p.m. EDT.

Dodger rookie sensation Fernando Valenzuela and Expo Ray Burris remained the scheduled starters for today in weather that is expected to be appreciably drier but very cold and windy with a chance of snow. Temperatures are expected to reach no

Saturday morning Lasorda had promised the Dodgers: "There will be Game 5 on Sunday if it doesn't rain." And lo, the skies opened 50 minutes before game time Sunday and the deluge

did not stop until about 8:30 p.m. At 7:26 p.m., after a wait of 3 hours and 21 minutes, with the articifial surface turned to an overflowing sponge, NL President Chub Feeney consulted the weather office and sent some 40,000

Feeney was philosophical and comforting.

"Rain is what makes the flowers grow," he reminded reporters later. Lasorda was accepting.

"You get just as tired from sitting around all afternoon as you do from playing," he said. "But, it is the same for both teams. I don't know how the cold will affect us, we haven't played in it

The late 4:05 p.m. start time was due to the need to coordinate television coverage of a full Sunday program of professional football.

"We agreed to the late start at the suggestion of the network," said Feeney. "But we have no objection to that since it gives us better ratings."

Jackson May Miss Tuesday

NEW YORK (UPI) - There's a possibility that Reggie Jackson may not be in the lineup for the New York Yankees Diesday night in the first game of the World Series. Jackson, who always seems to make the World Series his own personal showcase, is still nursing an injured left calf muscle suffered in the second game of the American League championship series against Oakland and, since the designated hitter role will not be used in the World Series this year, he must be fit enough to play the outfield in order to make the starting lineup.

The 35-year-old alugger took batting practice Sunday but did not put any pressure on the leg.

"It feels all right but I can't do any hard running on it," said Jackson, who has earned the nickname "Mr. October" because of his past World Series exploits.

Yankees

"I've been taking whirlpool every day. "If they were using the dh this year, I'd be all right. But there's no dh this year. I've got to be able to play right field, and I won't know if I can run until the Monday workout, maybe even Tuesday night before the game."

Jackson wants very badly to play in the World Series, not only to add to his list of impressive statistics but to prove to owner George Steinbrenner that he is invaluable to the Yankees, Jackson, who can become a free agent after the World Series, incurred Steinbrenner's wrath again last Thursday night when he was involved in a fight with teammate Graig Nettles at a Yankees' victory party.

Nettles and Jackson have made their peace, but Steinbrenner has said that

Reggie will have to mend his ways if he is who their opponent will be - Montreal or to return to the Yankees next year.

Jackson said the incident with Nettles was closed as far as he was concerned and he felt it might even help the Yankees' cause in the World Series.

"It could have a positive effect," said Jackson, "It may cause us both to work a little harder. I've learned one thing bad press invariably goes away. I don't want any more bad press for myself or Graig. I think this will eventually wear off, especially after the way we both approached It.

"We were never very close, but I think this year we got a little closer."

Although the Yankees still do not know

Los Angeles - they aren't worried about facing either team.

"Montreal probably would have a little advantage over us in their park because of their speed," said Yankees' outfielder Dave Winfield, who played against both clubs when he was with San Diego. "But, with the hitting we have and the pitching we have, we can stop anybody and we can score against anybody.

"We really don't care who we play. The only difficulty we have is deciding which coat we're going to take out of the cleaners, cotton or wool."

Lemon said he would stick with his time-tested plan of going to his powerful close game. Since the postseason competition began, the Yankees' bullpen has given up only one earned run in 29 2-3 to block the plate in National League Playoff action.

Man Looking For Treat As Well As Treatment

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 60year-old, attractive, marriage-minded widow who's been dating a 65-yearold, well-to-do, fun-loving widower. He recently moved into my building, and every unattached woman in the building is after him.

He propositioned me once in a cute way, saying, "What's another slice off a loaf of bread that's already been cut?" I made it plain that I wasn't interested in any kind of relationship that didn't include marriage. He insists that marriage is not in his plans.

Now he has a new approach. He told me that his urologist told him that men who are not sexually active are 100 times more susceptible to cancer of the prostate than men who have sex regularly. Is this true, or do you think he's just trying to get me into bed? LAUDERDALE LIBRA

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm 80 and concerned about my lips, which seem to be dry all the time, especially in the morning. During the day the skin around my lips gets flaky which I can peel off in bits. I keep a container of water in my bedroom to moisten the air but that hasn't helped. Is this an allergy or a symptom? My blood pressure is normal and I'm seemingly healthy.
